Rejected Lover Shoots Teenage Bride and Self

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Robert Batch, 23, and a teen-age bride he abducted and held hostage at gunpoint since Saturday, were removed in an ambulance today from a barricaded house after two shots were fired.

The girl was shot in the chest and pronounced dead on arrival at the Doctors Hospital, in Cleveland Heights.

Election Judges Course Stated For Thursday

An instruction course for election judges of Gray County's 14 voting precincts will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday in the County Court Room.

Purpose of the meeting will be to familiarize election judges with an affidavit now required by law for voting on a tax bond. The affidavit is intended to show that the voter is the owner of property which has been rendered for taxation. Only registered voters who are property owners can vote in the Nov. 11 bond elections on the proposed $250,000 Perry LeFors Airfield and $850,000 Highland General Hospital improvement issues. Property owners must have their property registered on the tax rolls.

Voters will receive the affidavits when they go to the polls Nov. 11. They will write down a description of one item of property which has been rendered on the tax rolls rather than several or an itemized list. For example, a farmer need only write "Farm near Pampa" or if the property is real estate in an incorporated city the voter need only write "House and lot in the town of

More Rain Forecast For Most of State

Pampa and vicinity recorded only light rainfall yesterday and last night, but traces of snow fell and the mercury dipped to the freezing mark throughout the Panhandle.

A storm system that brought the Texas Panhandle the season's first snow whipped the Gulf Coast with 25-mile-an-hour winds, hail, and heavy rains today. A tornado accompanied high winds that lifted huge trucks off the highway near San Antonio Sunday night.

Four-inch-plus rains soaked parts of Central Texas. At least 10 deaths were blamed on the storms.

Rain was expected in every section of the state with colder temperatures tonight in the Panhandle. The mercury fell to —Rain was forecast for much of the state today, but cloudiness over the Panhandle is scheduled to start breaking this morning. The Amarillo Weather Bureau said temperatures would dip to near 20 or below tonight. Daytime temperatures are expected to range in the low 40s or mid 50s today and tomorrow. Clear days are forecast.

The researchers studied 484 high school sophomores in three East Texas counties. Sixty-one percent of the Negro males and 67 per cent of the Negro females said they want to live in a large city and almost the same percentages expected to make it.

Only 6 per cent of the Negro males and 4 per cent of the females expect to live on a farm. The move from the farms was further evidenced when only 16 per cent of the white males and 10 per cent of the white females interviewed said they expect to live on farms.

Based on the study and a similar research project in Florida, the two A&M staff members said the "rural to urban migration stream will continue in sizeable proportions indefinitely."

"What is more, we can expect that the concentration of Negroes into large urban centers will continue and that smaller cities and urban fringe areas can expect a continued influx of poor white youth," they said.

"Urban places will continue to be taxed by an influx of young people who are usually inadequately prepared to play a productive role in the urban labor force and who often find it difficult to adjust to urban patterns of living."

They said the most serious factor that is probably impeding solutions to the problem is the "general poor quality of education available in the low-income rural south, particularly in reference to Negro youth."

All were taken to the Wilford Hall Hospital at the base. No one was seriously injured.

Pampa School board will have a called meeting at 9:30 a.m. Thursday in the conference room to discuss revising two school policies.

Policies for discussion are tutors for homebound students, and a board decision on the request for a Pampa student to attend the Amarillo Speech and Hearing Center, which is part of the Amarillo Public Schools. Also on the agenda is a review of the school district's annual audit, according to Dr. John Damron, school superintendent.

Jets Battle Past Migs in Vietnam

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. jet bombers fought off Communist MIG fighters and for the sixth consecutive day ripped North Vietnam's Hanoi-Haliphong war machine, American spokesmen said today.

U.S. Army and South Vietnamese troops smashed a human wave assault by 1,200 Viet Cong, killing at least 148 guerrillas in a seesaw battle near Saigon, where Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was beginning a war zone visit.

U.S. spokesman said allied losses totaled two Americans and 14 South Vietnamese killed, plus 10 U.S. soldiers and 37 South Vietnamese wounded in guerrilla attack on a twin American bastion 75 miles north of Saigon.

U.S. jets also hammered North Vietnamese artillery positions, smashing at least 13, on the South Vietnam border. But U.S. spokesmen said the Communists still unleashed the greatest artillery barrage of the border war in two weeks.

They said 227 communist artillery shells slammed into the battered Con Thien outpost and the other Leatherneck bastions holding back some 30,000 North Vietnamese troops. Military spokesmen said at least two persons were killed and 22 wounded in the barrage which also set fire to a 10,000 gallon rubber fuel bladder.

U.S. spokesmen reported one Marine F4 Phantom jet was shot down while hitting North Vietnam. But its two-man crew parachuted and was rescued, they said. Hanoi radio claimed four American planes were shot down including a giant Air Force B52.

BULLETIN—A toronado dropped in the suburbs of this gulf coast city at the rush hour this morning, killing at least four persons and injuring as many as 300 others.

Western State Republicans Urge Uninstructed Delegates
DENVER (UPI)—Western State Republicans, their hearts in the West but their eyes on the White House, urged Sunday that uninstructed delegations be sent to the 1968 GOP National Convention.

GOP delegates from the Western states, closing out a four-day conference, passed the resolution unanimously.

An uninstructed delegation from the West, which has about 20 per cent of the national convention's votes, would make it difficult for any candidate to get the presidential nomination on the first ballot.

The action came following four days of speeches in which party leaders — ranging from Michigan Gov. George Romney to 1964 presidential nominee Frank Goldwater — explained President Johnson could be beaten.

1,500 Fight California Brush Fires

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Fires whipped by winds gusting at 60 miles an hour raced through parched brushland in four southern California counties today.

The two most serious blazes each had blackened 5,000 acres by early today. The flames had destroyed two homes and possibly six others. No injuries were reported as more than 1,500 men on the lines struggled to contain the three major fires still raging out of control.

"It's the weather that is really giving us the problem on the fire lines," said Marshall Ballard of the California Division of Forestry. "Wind intensity is running 30-60 mph and it's gusty. We're not going to get on top of the situation until we have a change in the weather."

The hot, dry Santa Ana winds were the same that swept southern California two weeks ago when a series of brush fires erupted in Los Angeles and Ventura counties. The flames charred 50,000 acres, gutted 24 homes and caused one death.

Two homes were destroyed Sunday in the Topan Canyon area in Los Angeles County. A division fire chief saw six other homes engulfed in flames while flying over the Glenview section of the canyon in a helicopter. About 600 Los Angeles city and county fire fighters battled the flames along a 2-mile front.

The blaze was first spotted by Fire Capt. Ed Hoagland who was flying over the area on a routine helicopter patrol early Sunday afternoon. Hoagland said he saw three young men run away from the fire, which at that time had burned over a quarter-acre of brush south of woodland hills.

The flames fed by 60 mph winds raced through the mountainous country in a westerly direction toward the Pacific Ocean.

About 5 p.m. Sunday, another blaze started near Corona, south of Los Angeles in Riverside County. By early today the flames had burned over 5,000 acres and had approached to within 3 miles of the Irvine Park recreation area in Orange County. Fire authorities said there were a few homes in the area but no evacuation plans were being made.

Another speaker, Rep. Robert Wilson of California, said the 1968 victory slogan might be "Vice, Vandilism and Vietnam," similar to the "Crime, Corruption and Korea" slogan that the Republicans used in President Eisenhower's successful 1952 campaign.

In passing the resolution urging an uninstructed delegation, the Republicans said they were following a position taken by GOP governors last June at a meeting in Wyoming.

"The practice of state delegations being instructed and irrevocably bound to a particular candidate tends to disrupt unity and be divisive within our ranks," the resolution said.

Veep Visits Troops Before Inauguration

SAIGON (UPI)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey today put on a Marine cap, helicoptered over Viet Cong infested jungle, awarded Purple Hearts to wounded U.S. servicemen and congratulated a Vietnamese official who bluntly told him about government corruption.

"What I like is that a man can stand up and say that. This proves that it's a free society. I bet you that can't be said in South Vietnam," Humphrey told newsmen.

Then Humphrey put on a dark business suit, went to Independence Palace and presented his credentials to represent the United States at Tuesday's inauguration of Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu as president.

"We have pledged our support to political progress in Vietnam. The inauguration of your government, which is the culmination of a free and open electoral process, is the symbol of that progress," Humphrey said.

Earlier, in the Leatherneck cap, a white golf shirt and green slacks, the vice president bounded through his first trip to the "front," his meetings with GIs and Vietnamese, with the hand-shaking, smiles and quips of a veteran political campaigner. Neither the heat nor the submachine gun bodyguards bothered him.

Humphrey arrived Sunday to a warm greeting by Premier and Vice President-elect Nguyen Cao Ky.

Friendly persuasion and reassurance was Humphrey's message today.

"I come as witness for those millions of Americans who trust in the steady progress being made in Vietnam...I bring a reaffirmation of the solemn pledge of American support for the Vietnamese people and its new government," said Humphrey at Tan Son Nhut Airport where troops with machine guns and grenade launchers stood guard on the roof. Ky told Humphrey he was "utterly welcome."

"But, he added, it might be best to warn the older children that any vandalism by them, if they are caught, will bring a severe penalty."

Halloween is actually the day preceding All Saints Day, a day honoring all Saints.

Tuesday night will be the night of pumpkins with candles in them, scary masks and costumes.

Fire Chief Ernest Winborn asked parents to observe some safety rules so that their children might be around to see an much trouble," said Police Chief Jim Conner.

Schools and churches will be holding parties for youngsters, helping to keep them off the street and out of trouble.

Upsets Spice Play in NFL

By United Press International
Even flat on his back, Tommy Nobis is prone to heroic feats. The freckle-faced middle linebacker from Texas, who astonished National Football League observers last season by earning a starting berth in the Pro Bowl game, is even surprising himself this year.

He did just that Sunday when he intercepted a pass while reclining on the ground late in the fourth quarter, got up and ran 41 yards for the winning touchdown as the Atlanta Falcons won their first game of the season, 21-20 over the Minnesota Vikings.

"I was lying on the ground, on my back," said the thick-necked 235-pounder. "I saw the ball lying on somebody's chest. I grabbed it, rolled over and jumped to my feet."

Emerges From Scramble

For the record, Minnesota, trailing 14-13, was in possession on its own 35 when Ron VanderKelen threw a pass over the middle. The ball was tipped by tackle Karl Rubke and a wild scramble ensued as it fell toward the ground.

Nobis somehow came up with the ball and slipped out of the pack as players from both teams stood transfixed. After hesitating a split second to see if he really were free, Nobis rumbled toward the Minnesota goal and carried a Viking defender on his back for the last five yards.

"The ball never touched the ground," he said. "There was an official right there. I'm glad I didn't have to run another five yards. That's the first TD I've scored, or at least I can remember scoring, since high school."

It proved to be the winning touchdown when VanderKelen and Bob Griese combined for a seven-yard touchdown pass seconds before the end of the game.

Nobis also set up the Falcons' second touchdown—a 10-yard pass from Randy Johnson to Tommy McDonald—with a second-quarter interception of a Joe Kapp pass and a return to the Vikings' 23. Johnson and McDonald teamed for a 41-yard score in the first quarter.

Another linebacker, Mike Lucci, started the Detroit Lions to a shocking 45-3 rout of San Francisco, Baltimore edged Washington 17-13, Los Angeles pinned Chicago 28-17, New York butlashed Cleveland 38-34, Philadelphia stung Dallas 21-14 and Pittsburgh opened New Orleans 14-10 in other NFL games.

CHARGERS FALL

By United Press International
Clem Daniels is starting to look like the best labor negotiator this side of Walter Reuther.

Daniels has just one client—named Clem Daniels—but he's putting together a strong case for him.

"The longer I wait, the more money I hope I'll get," Daniels said when he refused to sign a 1967 contract with the Oakland Raiders and decided to play out his option.

After his performance in the Raiders' 51-10 rout of the San Diego Chargers Sunday, Daniels' price must have gone up.

Daniels became the first AFL player in history to pass the 5,000-yard mark in rushing as he gained 94 yards in 16 carries to boost his eight-year career total to 5,006. He also caught four passes for 101 yards and scored two touchdowns.

The victory moved Oakland into first place in the Western Division with a 6-1 mark and dropped San Diego to second with a 5-1-1 mark. Oakland coach John Rauch beamed.

"We're now in a good position to win everything, we've played everyone and lost only to New York." But Gillman shrugged off the loss by saying, "there's no reason to panic, we're only a half-game back and the season is just half over."

In other action, New York maintained its hold on first place in the Eastern Division, dealing Boston a 30-23 setback that just about ruined its chance of being a contender; Houston stayed in the Eastern race with a 10-3 victory over Buffalo and Kansas City exploded for a 52-9 triumph over Denver.

Daniels scored on a 40-yard pass from Daryle Lamonica in the first period and punted one yard for a second one in the third period. Besides the TD pass to Daniels, Lamonica hit on a 70-yarder to Fred Biletrikoff and scored two others himself on short runs. Joe Namath's seven-yard TD flip over the middle to tight end Pete Lammons with 9:07 left in the game snapped a 23-23 tie and gave the Jets the victory over the Patriots. The Patriot defense did a fine job of keeping the pressure on Namath and forcing him to scramble even though he brought the Jets back from 10-0 and 20-14 deficits at the end of the first two periods.

had a chance after Lucci picked off a John Brodie pass and ran it back 31 yards for a TD in the first quarter. By the end of the game, Detroit had intercepted five passes and converted three of them into touchdowns and recovered a Brodie fumble to set up another score. Tom Nowatzke scored two touchdowns, one on a 19-yard pass from quarterback Karl Sweetan. Johnny Unitas marched the Colts 65 yards for a fourth quarter TD, scored by Tom Matte from the seven-yard line, and Lou Michaels kicked a 36-yard field goal to keep the Colts undefeated.

Surprise Play
was played in a driving rainstorm at Houston's Rice Stadium. A strange play called by Pete Beathard snapped a 3-3 tie in the third period and gave Houston the triumph. He called a handoff play to fullback Woody Campbell but then faked out his own team by circling left end and he dashing 21 yards to the Buffalo 13.

Three Tie On Grid Picks

Because West Texas State beat Arlington State Pampa News Sports Editor Ron Cross shook off two straight nightmare weeks of football selections and tied two of the season-long leaders, Bill Power and Chico Ramirez for the Pampa Daily News Football Selections.

All three Pampa News members guessed right on 21 of 25 games to finish with respectable, 21-4 records.

Cross missed Tascosa's 13-3 win over Palo Duro, Mississippi's upset of Houston, the Oklahoma State upset of Colorado and Illinois' mild upset over Ohio State.

Power missed the Houston, West Texas, Colorado and Ohio State games and Ramirez, the Houston, Arlington St., Colorado and Wisconsin-Northwestern contests.

Led Lehnich, who had tied for first two straight weeks, Tex DeWeese, who had his best week ever and coach Eural Ramsey all tied for second with 20-5 records.

Power missed the Houston, West Texas, Colorado and Ohio State games and Ramirez, the Houston, Arlington St., Colorado and Wisconsin-Northwestern contests.

Whitworth Wins Alamo Golf Meet

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Kathy Whitworth, fired her third consecutive one-under-par 71 Sunday to win the $12,500 Alamo Women's Open Golf Tournament with a 54-hole total of 213. It was the eighth victory for the LPGA's leading money winner.

Miss Whitworth came out ahead of runner-up Sandra Haynie by three strokes.

Miss Haynie, the women's tour's second leading money winner, tied Miss Whitworth for the day's low round with 71 to give her a three-day total of even par 216 over the Alamo basin course.

Miss Whitworth was tied with Ruth Jessen a stroke behind Mary Mills and Joanne Prentice going into Sunday's round, but the rest of the competition blew up in the last 18 holes.

Miss Mills fired a 76 to finish in a third place tie with Mickey Wright at 217. Miss Wright shot a 74 Sunday.

Miss Prentice shot a 77 and Miss Jessen a 76 to fall into a four-way tie for fifth place at 218 with Betsy Rawls and Pam Barnett.

The 'Wild' Teens Were Ever Thus

With social critics, as with anything else, you pay your money and you take your choice. According to Don Oakley of Newspaper Enterprise Association.

We are warned one, in the midst of "the most critical delinquency problem in the history of our nation." David Wilkerson, a young Pennsylvania clergyman, went to the slums of New York to found Teen Challenge, a center dedicated to working with juvenile delinquents. Similar centers have been established in a score of cities.

In 10 years of helping kids in trouble, he has dealt personally with an average of 800 teen-age narcotics addicts and a much larger number of other delinquents a year.

Telling about his experiences in a new book, "Parents on Trial," he claims that teen-age rebellion is a reflection of youth's loss of confidence in adult society.

Delinquency can strike any home, he has learned, not just impoverished slum dwellings. But well-to-do suburban delinquents are protected by their parents, says Wilkerson, and thus encouraged to commit more crimes.

They become "hidden delinquents," unpunished and unrecorded in crime statistics, while city children are sent to reformatories to begin the trail from one penal institution to another. Another commentator, however, dismisses the general hand-wringing over the state of teen-age morals as so much nonsense.

Today's kids are in great part the victims of garbled statistics that don't always differentiate between malice and mischief, says social historian Frank R. Donovan.

After a study of teen-age behavior from savage societies to the present, to be published as a forthcoming book called

'But Some Are More Equal'

The one-sided attack on private foundations and family trusts taken by those in power in Washington seems to be gaining speed.

Last week the Internal Revenue Service said it has been investigating what it calls widely promoted plans to avoid taxes through such foundations and trusts. The announcement came at the same time Rep. Wright Patman of Texas said his House subcommittee on small business is starting a congressional inquiry into the same matter.

First witnesses before the committee are to be representatives of the group known as Americans Building Constitutionally. This organization has been working primarily with conservatives in instructing them how to set up such non-profit foundations and trusts so they can legally avoid income taxes. The fact that Americans Building Constitutionally, which seems to attract those of the conservative or right-wing philosophy, is the first target comes as no surprise.

Patman and the Internal Revenue people seem to find the activities of the right-wingers objectionable but the antics of such outfits as the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions apparently are sacrosanct. Conservative church groups like Billy James Hargis' Christian Crusade and Carl McIntire's group are harassed for promoting right-wing activities, while the national Council of Churches enjoys immunity from the political pressure agencies.

It used to be that all people were treated equally under the law. But now as George Orwell's "Animal Farm," put it: "All animals are equal, but some are more equal than others."

BERRY'S WORLD

"Rumor has it that Howard Hughes is buying up the world."

PINE TREE FEATURES

THE "RIGHT" AMOUNT OF GOVERNMENT

A friend of mine came by the other day and said that he was preparing a paper about the government. He said government had gotten too big and he wanted to say something about it. I applauded his intention and told him I agreed with his opinion.

Well, he said this wasn't an opinion, it was a fact. I conceded it was a fact that government had gotten very large, but before I could say it was "too large," I'd have to know what the right amount of government is. If you're going to argue size, you have to have in mind some standard of size against which you can measure growth. He admitted that he couldn't do that, but he hastened to add that he couldn't take a position ruling out government entirely. Nonetheless, as he saw it, government was too big.

Again I agreed with his opinion, and I reminded him that he had a right to his opinion and that many people would share it. Once more he said he wanted to prepare his paper on facts, not opinions.

So I suggested that he cite as facts the various areas in which government has expanded. He could show areas in the Market which were once believed to be in the "private sector," which are now supposedly in the "public sector." He could list the things he thought government ought to do and then climb all over the government for having gone beyond the list he made. Or he might set down what he considered the right amount of taxation, dollar-wise or percentage-wise, and show that government had gone beyond.

Of course, I reminded him, all this is no more than opinion. One man may think that the government should provide police protection, laws on conservation, international dealings, and Social Security. Another may prefer to have the government omit the laws on conservation and would like an even larger standing army. A third might prefer to turn all international dealings over to the UN and put in a large welfare department to help the poor. All of these are opinions relating to the importance a person may place in a given area, as well as the effectiveness he believes the government shows in dealing in that area.

The same type of judgment could be exercised in respect to dollars. He might say that ten per cent of the gross national product is all that any government should ever take in taxes. But there will be others who will say that it ought not to exceed nine percent and others who will contend that it should go to twenty-five per cent in an emergency. But these are all opinions.

And I'm all for opinions. It's good to hear people express them. Of course, if you want to get down to basics you have to avoid the area of external effects and go to causes. You have to get down to principle.

So I suggested that he try to examine the concept of control within the political framework. The whole idea of a political government is that some men have some kind of right over the lives, money, and property of other men. Take away that concept and you can't have political government.

Now for a very long time people believed that this kind of right was ordained by God. He had his deputies on earth who were called kings. They had divine rights because God had granted them. And if that were true or had ever been true, then certainly you can justify government.

But in America we began our experiment with government by denying the existence of any divine right in the hands of any king. We said that each person had equal rights; none more or less than another. So government, we concluded, could only come about JUSTLY by the consent of those to be governed.

But in practice we forgot a little point. We apparently forgot that if all men had equal rights, then no man was required to be ruled by another through any MAJORITY procedure. He, himself, had to agree to it. If he didn't agree to it in any specific case, then the other party had no rightful power over him.

So then I asked my friend where the government would get its rightful power to take from him that portion of his

Egypt Still Getting Favored Treatment From Administration On Exports to U.S. of Extra-Long Staple Cotton

WASHINGTON — Someone high in the Johnson Administration is making it his business to be mighty nice to President Gamal Nasser.

Despite the bombastic UAR ruler's long record of virulent hostility toward the U. S., his curt severing of diplomatic relations on the slanderously false ground that U. S. planes aided the Israeli in their blitz destruction of his Soviet-provided airforce, and his default on a $2 million installment on a $6.5 million loan, the mysterious administration benefactor has—

In the four months since the break in official ties, permitted the importation of more than 12,000 bales of Egyptian extra-long staple cotton — thus handing Nasser some $3 million in desperately needed foreign currency.

Similarly, allowed shipment into the U. S. of millions of square yards of Egyptian cotton textiles. Detailed figures on these imports are not available. However, significantly indicative of their extent are Commerce Department records showing that 1 million yards of Egyptian textiles entered the U. S. in July, and that this total soared to 3.5 million yards in August — a gain of 350 per cent in one month. This enormous increase further enriched Nasser's empty coffers by upwards of $300,000.

Also despite the breach between the two countries, the State Department late last month extended until January an expiring trade treaty under which Egypt can unload in the U. S. up to 51 million square yards of cotton textiles annually. The Indian government, which strongly backs the Arabs, acted for Nasser in this backstage arrangement. Last year Egyptian textile imports totaled $2.9 million, up from $1.2 million the year before.

This very profitable and timely UAR trade has been strictly one-way. Since the break in relations, U. S. exports to Egypt have been virtually nil.

When Nasser, several months ago, was compelled to buy wheat, he turned to France — probably paying for it with dollars he got from his undisturbed sales of extra-long staple cotton and textiles in the U. S.

Since 1961 the U. S. has given and "sold" the UAR (for its currency which remains in that country) more than $800 million in surplus grain and other food.

STRANGE INTERLUDE — There are three wonderful facets of the Johnson Administration's covert solicitude for Nasser, as follows: (1) These dealings have been highly hush-hush. There has been no hint either from the White House or the State Department about the continuing UAR cotton shipments and extension of the trade treaty. (2) Money, property, or life which I happened to think was the right amount for him to give? He's working on his paper.

HUNT FOR TRUTH

By H. L. HUNT
FIFTY RED YEARS
Next month will mark the fiftieth anniversary of the takeover of Russia by the communists. At that time Lenin and his gang had fewer than 40,000 followers throughout the world. Today, half a century after the success of the first communist revolution, international communism rules nearly one billion human beings, approximately one-third of the world's population, and holds sway over more than a fourth of the land mass of the earth.

Most of the gains made by this international conspiracy did not come about as a result of military action, although in many cases force was involved. Infiltration, treachery and subversion are the weapons most often used by the communists to gain control of a country. Lenin himself, the father of modern communism, wrote that the communist conspiracy must work behind the scenes. That it has done and is doing in the United States and elsewhere.

So far this nation has been the one big obstacle in the road to communist world domination. That is why the United States is the main target of the anti-freedom conspirators. William Z. Foster, former titular head of the Communist Party, USA, stated the goal when he said, "Our aim is a Soviet America backed up by a Red Army."

The communist party in the United States is dedicated to the purpose of destroying our form of government and tearing down our religious institutions. Americans who love our Republic must take this threat seriously. After 50 years the communists are strongly organized against freedom, and their efforts to destroy it are zealous and unrelenting.

One hundred and nine Panhandle people saw the sunsets last week if they happened to look toward the west in the shank-time of the evenings.

One hundred and nine read their newspapers, wrote checks, looked up numbers in the telephone directory, watched weather forecasts on TV, checked time by the kitchen clock — and during the day looked out windows to see if "The postman's coming."

What's so remarkable about these 109 people? Possibly thousands over the Panhandle did those same taken-for-granted things unthinkingly.

The 109 are significant because they were looking at the world with "second chance" gifts of eyesight. Because of donations to the Hi-Plains Eye-Bank, sponsored by the Lions Clubs in Panhandle, these 109 can look at a sunset any night of any week.

This is the fourth anniversary of the Hi-Plains Eye-Bank, a letter from the bank to donors reports.

You will be proud to know you are one of 3,500 persons in the Panhandle of Texas who is registered with the Eye-Bank. And because of your thoughtfulness and unselfishness, you will enable someone less fortunate to enjoy the beauty which we see each day.

There are 58 eye-banks in the United States. Lions Clubs sponsor all but four, supported by other organizations.

Since eyes are so fragile and patient-need is often immediate, a ham radio system operates at certain hours across the country.

In Amarillo each day at 7 a.m. and 7 p.m., Herb Boring and C. D. Scott go on that ham network. If eyes have been made available to the Hi-Plains Eye Bank, and they are not needed here, this fact is made known. Perhaps there is an urgent demand in Maine or Arizona. Within hours via air, they are on the way. One afternoon last week an Amarillo doctor called the Hi-Plains Eye Bank with a request for an eye. At 7 p.m. the request went nationwide. The response came — and a delicate operation was completed.

There is no cost to the patient — except that of his medical costs. The eye itself is a gift of an unknown friend who had looked into the future.

The recent eye-bank letter to donors concludes: "The Lions of the Panhandle of Texas wish to express their appreciation to you for your participating in this project to serve your fellow man."

To the Panhandle Lions, a roar of gratitude for their king-sized role in backing the Hi-Plains Eye Bank.

In this land where you can stand on the cross-ties of a railroad track and see "til tomorrow," it's good to know there are those willing to make a precious investment that others may "see" that tomorrow.

Ethics Committee will not produce a code of conduct this year. The committee's staff has submitted drafts of various provisions, but the nine committee members are too busy with other legislative work to have time to give serious consideration to the formulation of a code. Privately they are saying the best that can now be hoped for is one by next spring. The prospects for such a code in the House are even dimmer. There it's doubtful if it will be forthcoming during the two-year duration of this Congress. A number of other Democratic congressmen will follow the example of Representative Morris Udall, D-Arizona, brother of Interior Secretary Stewart Udall, and break with the White House on support of its Vietnam war policy. Before Udall announced his split, he has assurances from a score of Democratic colleagues that they would follow suit that if you pull your mower there is a greater chance of slipping and pulling the mower over your foot. This is one of the special hazards of trying to mow a slope by pulling and pushing instead of traveling horizontal to the slope.

No Roach Can Help Kill Crawling Bugs

This is the time of the year when all of those crawling pests who have been playing merrily in the summer sun, look for some place warm to spend the winter... and guess where they are heading—into your KITCHEN. Prevent this invasion, now, with an application of long lasting brush on Johnston's No-Roach.

Johnston's No-Roach (comes in an amber bottle with a free brush attached) is different... and it's different for many reasons. No-Roach eliminates the need for frequent application of messy, unsafe sprays and powders. No-Roach is clean and easy to use and is harmless to pets.

No need to move dishes or food when you use Johnston's No-Roach, simply brush this odorless liquid around baseboards, sinks, tablelegs... behind cabinets and appliances... on shelves and inside cabinet doors.

Use Johnston's No-Roach in bathrooms and anywhere else cockroaches may breed. No-Roach dries fast to form an invisible path of death that kills cockroaches, ants, silverfish, spiders, all crawling insects—and best of all it continues to kill effectively for months.

No-Roach is available at Ward's, Ideal's, Furr's, and all other stores. Dist. by Panhandle, Kimbell.

Television In Review

By RICK DUBROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The revival of Western series on television this season has been a big bust, and it could be that the pioneer epics on video are heading for the last roundup.

It's not that the perennial cowboy stories have lost interest for all their past fans. It's just that when they're up against a slicker, bigger-budgeted piece of film like a television movie, only an occasional Western series such as "Bonanza" or "Gunsmoke" can stand the competition. Video's Western movies remain very popular, of course.

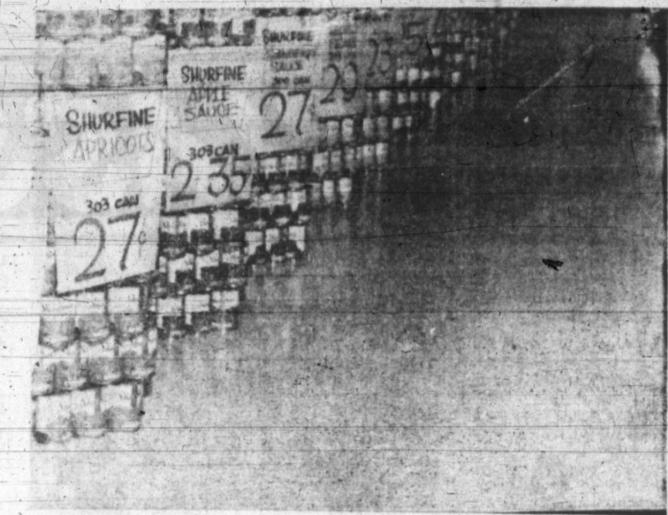

There was all the usual talk that television's Western series would go on forever when a new spate of these shows were scheduled for this season after being played down for some years. But the results don't indicate this, and there is little reason to predict success for them in the future.

African Cowboy Flops
—On Monday nights, ABC-TV's new Chuck Connors series, "Cowboy in Africa," has been a flop in the ratings. And the same network's holdover Western, "The Big Valley," with Barbara Stanwyck, has been far from the top of the popularity list also. The only Western, in fact, that is doing well on Mondays is CBS-TV's granite-like "Gunsmoke," which, after all, can't go on too much longer unless the makeup man is preparing a beard for Marshall Dillon.

On Wednesdays, ABC-TV's "Custer" has been a complete failure, and is considered a fairly good prospect for quick replacement—which should please the American Indians who protested the incredible glamorization of the frontier officer. Another Wednesday Western, "Dundee and the Culhane," has already been canceled. The only frontier piece that seems to have some firepower left in it on this night is BC-TV's "The Virginian."

On Thursdays, CBS-TV's new 90-minute Western, "Cimarron Strip," has failed to make anyone stand up and cheer, and isn't getting the ratings either. NBC-TV's "Daniel Boone," however, still seems to have some pull, but like "The Virginian," it may already have run out most of the years of its lasting power.

Friday's Offerings Fail
On Fridays, ABC-TV's "Hondo" has gone nowhere. And the same network's "The Guns of

Torginol Floors Offer Low Cost

For centuries man has tried by one form of experiment or another, to develop a seamless floor covering. A covering that not only remains beautiful, but also carries a durability and proves to be easy to keep and clean for hospitals, schools, doctor's offices and the child's playroom.

Finally after much trial and error, Torginol was introduced to the public. It found immediate success. Not only was it durable but it resisted cracking and gave the housewife a floor wax-free and easy and inexpensive to maintain.

Through numerous laboratory tests, the technicians learned that Torginol was unaffected by Will Sonnett, with Walter Brennan, is a question mark so far as popularity is concerned—and down in the ratings. CBS-TV's "The Wild, Wild West" outran its welcome on the premiere show and has been taking up valuable network space ever since.

On Saturdays, ABC-TV's "Iron Horse" has fallen off sharply in the ratings since being switched to a time slot opposite the NBC-TV movies, "Petticoat Junction" and "Manix."
