

State Governors in Middle of Battle over Taxes, Spending

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An administration hint that the $4.4 billion interstate highway program may be cut in half to save money today landed the 50 state governors in the middle of President Johnson's tax-spending battle with Congress.

Outraged cries from the states greeted Transportation Secretary Alan S. Boyd's statement Monday that the current economy drive in Congress "may have a profound effect on highway construction expenditures." Boyd wired the governors asking them to "consider and comment" on the possibility of up to a 50 per cent cut in federal aid roadbuilding funds. The comments were not slow in coming.

Angry Criticism
Republican governors were the most outspoken. California's Ronald Reagan called any such cuts "dishonest." Florida's Claude Kirk viewed the move as part of an angry President's plot," and New Mexico's David Cargo said it was "arm twisting."

Even Democratic governors expressed anguish over any talk of highway fund reductions. Utah's Calvin L. Rampton, noting that his state was already saddled with a copper strike, said the proposed cuts would further depress the state's economy. Virginia Gov. Mills E. Godwin Jr. wired Boyd urging that cutbacks be made in programs less essential than highways.

Rhode Island Gov. John H. Chafee and Montana Gov. Tim Babcock, both Republicans, pointed out that the interstate-highway program is financed through a self-supporting trust fund, not through congressional appropriation, thus cutbacks would have no effect on the anticipated $20 billion federal budget deficit or the need for a tax increase.

As for those at whom the hint was aimed—members of Congress—they reacted with cautious suspicion. And they made it plain that the cut, even if carried out, would not satisfy congressional demands for multibillion-dollar economies prior to any action on Johnson's request for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

Bill Remains Stalled
The tax bill remained firmly locked up in the House Ways & Means Committee, whose chairman, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., stood pat on his statement of last Friday that short-range spending cuts alone would not serve to dislodge the measure.

There was considerable feeling that the threatened highway fund reduction, plus an earlier administration economy order halting big new commitments by government agencies for construction and other major projects, smacked more of pressure on Congress than of saving money.

But despite all the talk about economy, the Senate rejected Monday on a 60-12 vote an amendment to a $4.2 billion public works appropriations bill mostly for "parkways" projects that would have saved $1.5 billion.

And the economy pressure apparently will have no visible effect on the farm program. House and Senate negotiators agreed to a $4.95 billion farm appropriation bill Monday, a bare $68 million less than the President requested.

Water Depletion Faces Irrigators

By JEFF HOLLADAY

People in the Texas and Oklahoma Panhandles, West Texas and Eastern New Mexico must work together collectively if the area is to retain its agricultural and industrial potential, John Kendrick, president of Water Association to Expand Resources (Water), Inc., told an audience last night in the conference room of the Agriculture Building.

"I've been a banker in Brownfield for around 30 years, and I can remember when land was selling for six dollars an acre—and my daddy said it would probably never see that price again. By the time he died it was selling for $25 a acre, and when I returned from World War II I heard people saying that some

2 Youths Buried Alive in Cave-In

PERRYTON — A 17-year old Perryton youth remained in good condition in Ochiltree County Hospital today while funeral services for two of his companions were pending.

Jackie Carnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Carnes, Perryton, suffered bruises on his back in a cave-in on the Hanley ranch southeast of here while Richard Thompson, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Thompson and James McDaniel, also 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Preston McDaniel, all of Perryton were buried alive.

The boys were digging in a cave when everything went black. They were found by M. A. DeArmond after he was alerted by McDaniel's parents the boys hadn't returned home. The boys had left home early Sunday afternoon and were found about 10 p.m.

School Trustees To Discuss 7-Man Board for Pampa

Pampa School Board members will consider Thursday proper procedures to use if the trustees decide to create a seven-man school board.

If the board chooses to create a seven-man board, all board members now serving would have to run for re-election, if they wanted to continue serving. After the seven trustees were elected, each would draw for places to determine how many terms he would serve. Dr. John Damron, school superintendent, said.

If the board decides for a seven-man board, it must publish its intent in the Pampa newspaper 90 days before the first Saturday in April, the regular election date, set by law, he said.

"Pampa is one of few cities in Texas with a five-man board. Most have seven. It takes a special election to create a five-man board, which this district did when it was created in 1917," Dr. Damron said.

Open Housing Marchers Battle Milwaukee Police

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Open housing marchers told to use Christian self-defense battled club-wielding police Monday night before scattering and meeting until early today to plan their next move.

At least 25 persons, including two policemen, were injured in the 43rd consecutive night of open housing demonstrations, and the second straight night of violence between police and demonstrators.

County Emergency Hospital said it treated 21 persons, including the two policemen, as a result of the violence. Police said nine adults and a juvenile were arrested on charges ranging from disorderly conduct to profanity.

The Rev. James E. Groppi, the white Roman Catholic priest who leads the open housing marches, had told his followers at a rally before the march to use "Christian self-defense" if they ran into the "police brutality," he said occurred during the disturbance Sunday, in which 13 persons were arrested and 42 injured.

The free-for-all Monday between police and 250 marchers erupted when police, equipped with riot gear and "carrying nightsticks," waded into the column, which was blocking traffic at an intersection in the city's north side Negro area.

Police, with raised nightsticks, had told the demonstrators to move. The marchers, who had been taunting the police and chanting "We hate cops," refused. Police converged on the marchers from four sides.

"We were going into a square (farm) and I noticed police coming directly into the group without warning and start swinging," said one of the marchers, the Rev. John Schaub, the white pastor of the Roman Catholic Jesus Church in downtown Milwaukee.

"They were swinging at anyone they could get," Father Schaub said. "The bottles were thrown after the police moved in."

As police advanced, the marchers, led by commandos of the Youth Council of the Milwaukee chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, swung forward and fists began flying.

After several minutes of fighting, the marchers scattered in all directions, some chased by officers.

Father Groppi, who has vowed the marches will continue until the city passes an open housing ordinance, was with the demonstrators. He was not hurt in the fighting.

The marchers returned to St. Boniface Catholic Church where Father Groppi is the assistant pastor and held a rally. March leaders remained to plan today's demonstration.

Paratroopers Battle 500 Commie Regulars

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. Military Command announced today 3,000 more American Marines had been sent to reinforce Leathernecks at the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ). It was a major tactical shift in preparation for what could be a decisive battle in the war.

A U.S. military spokesman said the situation in the northern provinces of South Vietnam posed the most serious threat of the war despite statements last week the 35,000 North Vietnamese troops in the DMZ had withdrawn, under heavy American bombardment.

Enough Signers Are Expected to Call Bond Vote

Petitions seeking to call an election on the proposed $850,000 bond election for modernization of Highland General Hospital continued to be circulated throughout Gray County today.

The petition is required by law to determine whether the election should be called.

Officials of organizations circulating the petitions explained the signatures were not to approve or reject the bond issue, but to simply call an election for Gray County voters to decide the issue.

Approximately 1,100 signatures, ten per cent of the qualified voters at the last regular election, are required to call the election. (See SIGNERS on page 3.)

The U.S. government has derived it is even considering any invasion of North Vietnam but Lt. Gen. Robert Cushman, U.S. Marine commander in Vietnam, said today the Marine reinforcement along the DMZ was made so "we can go on the offensive, and I hope soon."

Over North Vietnam, meanwhile, U.S. warplanes battled through a swarm of MIG jets to hit for the first time a huge center of Hiphong.

A U.S. spokesman said a MIG 21 shot down one U.S. Air Force F125 Thunderchief, the 693rd plane lost over North Vietnam. (See VIETNAM on page 3.)

Crewmen Abandon Sinking Freighter in North Pacific

KOLJAK, Alaska (UPI) — A Japanese merchant ship battled 20-foot waves in the storm-lashed north Pacific early today in a search for survivors of the 42-man crew of the sunken American freighter Panoeceanic Faith.

The Igahara Maru, in garbled messages to U.S. Coast Guard headquarters here, reported she had picked up "some survivors and some bodies." The exact number was not known in either instance.

Other merchant ships steamed toward the spot, about where the 8,175-ton Panoeceanic Faith went down Monday evening with 10,200 tons of fertilizer aboard.

Rescue efforts were hampered by winds up to 45 knots, but survivors were sighted scrambling aboard life rafts dropped by Navy and Coast Guard planes. The Coast Guard here said two crewmen were rescued in a life raft.

The Panoeceanic Faith was outbound from San Francisco to Yokohama on the Great Circle route when she radioted for help Monday, saying she was listing 12 degrees to port.

The skipper, Capt. John S. Ogles, 52, Alexandria, Va., said she was being pounded by waves of 18 to 20 feet and was taking water in No. 1 and No. 2 holds. She went down at 10:05 p.m. EDT, several hours after the call for help.

The Igahara Maru was the first ship to reach the scene, but four other merchant ships and two Coast Guard cutters were en route.

One of the vessels reported en route to the scene was the Soviet diesel ship Orekhevo, according to the Soviet News Agency Tass, in a dispatch from Vladivostok.

JUSTICES' ATTENTION AWAITED State Aid to Parochial Schools Supported

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Opponents of government aid to parochial schools have suffered a setback at the hands of the Supreme Court, but two more tests on the issue still await the justices' attention.

The court Monday refused to examine a pair of Pennsylvania cases challenging use of public school buses by pupils attending parochial and nonprofit private schools. The brief order said only that "a substantial federal question was not presented."

There was no way to tell whether the court was reaffirming the philosophy of its precedent-setting 1947 New Jersey decision approving use of state funds for transporting parochial school children, or whether it was merely unwilling to hear the Pennsylvania cases.

New York attorney Marvin Karpatnik of the American Civil Liberties Union was dismayed that the court decided not to hear the cases, but he said, "We are confident that it is only a matter of time before the court will recognize that this is a most substantial federal question."

The whole New York constitution may rise or fall on this," Karpatnik added.

The New York constitutional convention substituted the U.S. Constitution's freedom of religion guarantees for the old state constitution's outright ban on use of state funds, directly or indirectly, for support of church-connected schools.

Other church-state cases on the high court's docket test a New York state law permitting the loan of textbooks to parochial and private schools, and the use of federal funds under the landmark 1965 Elementary and Secondary Education act.

The Supreme Court took several actions important in the civil rights field Monday. The justices left standing as final a sweeping school desegregation order for six southern states, handed down earlier this year by a special 12-judge 5th Circuit Appeals Court.

Thus the Supreme Court, in effect, told the Deep South to get to work immediately on a completely integrated school system. The appeals court order had directed each state to bring about at once "a unitary school system in which there are no Negro schools and no white schools—just schools."

The opinion was directed to Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, and Texas and could affect an estimated 1,761,000 Negro pupils in those states.

But for the third time the justices passed up a chance to rule on the constitutionality of de facto school segregation, the kind that stems from all-Negro neighborhoods, mainly in the North.

OVER THE WILD BLUE YONDER — The All-Texas Air Tour came to Pampa yesterday in 45 planes carrying 125 persons. The touring high flyers will continue on to the South Plains tonight on another leg of their week-long, state-covering jaunt. Peter Bukofsky of Detroit, one of many out-of-state makers the tour, left, and Mrs. Pat Clark of Dallas are shown as they prepare to set foot on terra firma again.

Students Watch Atomic Program At Assembly

SKELLYTOWN (Sp) — Donald Jensen, who is associated with the atomic foundation in Oakridge, Tenn., presented an assembly program entitled "This Atomic World" to students and faculty of White Deer High School recently.

Jensen has a bachelor's degree from Texas A&M and a masters degree from Youngstown University.

The program, sponsored by Bob Burkhart and the WDHIS Science Club, was held in three parts. The first part for all high school students consisted of demonstrations and displays on atomic energy, the aspect of using energy from uranium to produce electricity, radioactivity of elements and fusion and division of certain atoms.

The second session was a special session for former and present biology, physical science and agriculture students.

The last session in the visual aids room was especially for students of physics and chemistry.

Chili Cookout May Be Hottest

TERLINGUA, Tex. (UPI) — The great "chili cook-out" set by two self-proclaimed chili experts two weeks from now no doubt will go down in history in these parts as the hottest thing since Judge Roy Bean quit hanging from a tree limb down the river apiece.

The great event is scheduled in this sleepy ghost town 10 miles from the Mexican border Oct. 21 and will pit Texas and world champion chili expert Wickford (Wick) Fowler against New York and world chili champion H. Allen Smith.

"Chili impostor" was the only descriptive term obtainable from Fowler when asked his opinion of Smith's chili cooking ability.

Fowler, a veteran news reporter who has been award correspondent in every conflict involving the United States since World War II, has gone on to greater things, and now is devoting fulltime to his "Two Alarm Chili."

His feud with Smith over who makes the best chili dates back at least to Sept. 22, 1966, when Smith sent Frank Tolbert of the Dallas Morning News, a tongue-in-cheek stinging essay on chili.

"I want you to know that I am without peer in the land when it comes to making chili," Smith, the noted novelist and humorist, wrote. "No man can touch me in this pursuit."

"My chili is, and always has been ambrosial, gusty, saporific and nectarous. All other chili that I have looked upon, or read about, is slop."

And that was what sent both Fowler and Tolbert into orbit. Soon the mails were nearly as hot as Fowler's two alarm ingredients with challenges being hurled all the way from Austin, Tex., to Mount Kisco, N.Y.

The result was the world champion "chili cook-out" two weeks from now at this dusty rambling border town that had a normal population of two at last count.

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor, who has three daughters, 14, 13 and 10, has me terribly upset. They seem to be a nice family, but the mother went to work recently and the girls are home alone most of the time. There are all kinds of boys flocking at this house, inside and out, running, hollering and wrestling with the girls. The oldest is the quiet type. She stays in the house most of the time with her boy friend. I hope I am wrong, but it sure doesn't look very nice, and the neighbors are talking. Everyone seems to know but the parents. They must not even have any suspicions because they're not the type to put up with such goings-on.

Should I call them? Or should I mind my own business?
WORRIED NEIGHBOR
DEAR WORRIED: You and the other neighbors could be wrong in your suspicions of the ker, Marcella and Ira Honaker; Leo Ford and children and R.V. Jennings and children.

"goings on" but do unto others if they were your daughters, wouldn't you want to be told in time to head off trouble?
DEAR ABBY: I disagree with "PAST 70," who feels that every announcement or invitation is a bid for a gift. And it's too bad that many are not sent because they feel as "Past 70" feels. Sometimes they are sent just to let friends know what is "going on" in the family. If there is no gift in my heart or if I feel that the acquaintance isn't close enough to justify a gift, I write a personal note of good wishes. That much I can do for a total stranger. And some of my nicest "thank you's" have come in response to a note I took the time to write. If they just wanted a gift, I will have politely put them in their place. And if they wanted me to know of a wedding, graduation or a new baby, I let them know that I was glad to have been informed.

KAY J. S.
DEAR KAY: You are right, of course. But you would be amazed at the number of people who find it easier to send a gift than write a personal note.

DEAR ABBY: I just finished reading the letter from the 17-year-old girl who signed herself "FAT AND LONELY." She had had only two dates in her life because she was fat. She met a popular guy at a party, but he only wanted to take advantage of her. He told her to "get wise, that any fat girl can be popular if she will just give in a little."

Abby, to think that this girl was actually considering it, makes me sick. Being "popular" is a sickness among teenagers today. That girl wouldn't become "popular" if she gave in — she would become "known." And who would want to be known for such un-Christian acts?

Somehow, I think this girl will make the right decision. She wouldn't have asked for your help unless she knew that what she was considering was wrong. I am only 18, and I know it's wrong. I know many other things in this world that are wrong, too, but it's real a wonderful place to live if you live for the right things.

By MRS. O. A. WAGNER

Overlooked last week: Mrs. Oscar Langley was back from taking treatments in the Scott and White Clinic and spent two weeks in the rest home here. She was back with us this week, and feels better.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Taylor and Mrs. Amelia Schwobe visited relatives in Meridian, Miss., Mena, Ark., Oklahoma City and Bartlesville, Okla. recently.

Was good to see Jay Evans out this week and feeling fine, after several long weeks in the hospital with broken ribs. Beware of ladders Mr. Evans. A guest this week was Miss Gloria Deanda.

The Altrusa Club always hosts the first meeting in each month and celebrates all the birthdays during the month. Those present were Mmes. J. E. Adair, Nettie Cornelson, W. R. Hamilton, Gladys Higgins, Muriel Kingerly, Lillian Reynolds, and Mr. Peter Marek, a new member. The women all received flowered ironing board covers, and Mr. Marek, a rain gauge. Mrs. Lillian Snow and Miss Lou Ella Patterson were co-hostesses assisted by Mmes. J. Flanagan, Lena Pearl Hobbs, Flossie Anderson, and Fidella Yoder.

Red Cross volunteers furnishing transportation for those needing it were Mmes. John Hessey, Lee Harrah, George Benham and A. D. Hills.

A note of thanks was read from the Hardy family. The serving table was decorated by a bouquet of mixed flowers donated by Mrs. Ann Kay, and the birthday cake by Mrs. Emily Coston.

Good for a smile? A Texas lad rushed home from kindergarten and informed his Mother: "I've got to have a pair of shooting irons, holster and belt." "What for?" inquired Mamma. "Don't tell me you want to take them to school." "Sure," was the reply. "Teacher said she wanted to teach me how to draw."

Licensed Vocational Nurses Association Division two of Pampa, sponsored a "note burning" ceremony and honored this year's scholarship loan winner in a recent meeting at Highland General Hospital.

Mrs. Joan Varnell burned a note symbolizing her repayment of a loan from the LVN division's scholarship fund. Mrs. Varnell, the first to receive the award, for the hospital's LVN school, repaid her loan by working a year as an LVN at the Pampa hospital.

Mrs. Wanda Heath, a student this year in the LVN school, has been awarded the annual $150 scholarship loan. She will finish her training next spring. A resident of 1101 N. Frost, she is the mother of seven boys.

The association finances its scholarship by rummage and candy sales and donations. During the meeting, Mrs. Laverne Furr reported on team nursing. John Hair spoke on the LVN convention in Houston Oct. 19-22.

Other attending the meeting were Helen Minarik, Louella Hall, Meda Hudgins, Laura Cain, Eva On, Doris Heller and Pattie Utzman. A guest was Alice Gordon.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Let's take note of a little paragraph Rep. Richard H. Poff, R-Va., ran across in a report issued by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).
 Poff reproduced it in a recent newsletter to his constituents. It says:
 "Action oriented -orchestration of innovation inputs, generated by escalation of meaningful indigenous decision making dialogue, focusing on multilinked problem-complexes, can maximize the vital thrust toward a nonalienated and viable urban infrastructure."
 Which prompted Poff to comment: "That little dud from HUD is about as clear as mud."
 Now we are all infatuated enough to recognize the paragraph as at least a semi-classical example of a lingual miscarriage commonly known as governmental gobbledegook.
 Not Unusual
 Similar gems of obfuscation are constantly being produced by every federal agency where meaningful indigenous decision-making dialogue is escalated. The paragraph itself is not especially noteworthy.
 What is noteworthy is a theory set forth by my friend Rogers, a newspaperman who has been exposed to his share of this sort of verbal harrassment.
 By dint of inductive reasoning and other cerebral exercises too numerous to mention, Rogers arrived at the startling hypothesis that all of these bumbling masterpieces of gobbledegook are written by the same man.
 The prevailing belief that any given bureaucrat is capable of dashing off glutinous sentences simply won't hold gelatine Rogers explained.
 The record will show that the typical bureaucrat speaks and writes clearly and concisely. When fog bank phraseology is required, he has to call in a ghost writer.
 Under The CIA
 According to the Rogers theory, the gobbledegook ghost-writer works in a small, unmarked office somewhere in the executive office building. To preserve his anonymity, his salary is paid through the CIA.
 Known only by his code name, "Mr. Frammis," he is at the beck of any federal agency needing his service.
 Rogers contends that the nature of Mr. Frammis work is revenge.
 Say an agency has been criticized by the newspapers or is under fire from a congressman. The agency does not counterattack overtly. Mr. Frammis is called in.
 He then prepares a press release or a report to Congress focusing on multilinked problem complexes with lots of orchestrated innovative inputs.
 Which translated means, "vengeance is sweet."

 Maj. Broome is a personnel plans advisory officer in the command's Joint U.S. Advisory Group. He entered the Army in 1956 after graduating from West Texas State University.
 His wife, Bernice, lives in Lefors.
BUSY BELLY
PARAMUS, N.J. (UPI)—Shapely, 23-year old Serena Wilson claimed a world's belly dancing record Monday after gyrating continuously for nine hours in the display window of a store celebrating its grand opening.
 The 4-foot-8-inch dancer, who measures 36-24-27, kept going from 1 p.m. to 10 p.m. before calling a halt.
 "My belly feels great," she said, "but my feet hurt."
ALAMOGORD, N.M. (UPI)
AMES, Iowa (UPI)—Authorities at Iowa State University were startled when they learned that the shrubbery on campus included a number of marijuana plants, some as much as four feet high.
 "I have no idea how they got started," said grounds superintendent Ben Schaeffer, "but I know how they're going to finish."
 Schaeffer ordered the plants destroyed.

Museums Recive Gift From Local Woman

Shelves of museum libraries all across Texas will soon be one volume richer, thanks to the generosity of a Panhandle woman, Mrs. Julia Spurlock.

Mrs. Spurlock noted refinisher of antiques, is donating a copy of her widely-acclaimed book, "Pass Thy Hand for the Finishing Touch", to each museum in the state.

The presentation is being made in conjunction with the dedication of the Carson County Museum tomorrow in Pampa. The museum is a project of the Carson County Historical Survey Committee headed by Mrs. Ralph Randel, chairman.

The generous gift is being made in the name of Mrs. John Connally because, as Mrs. Spurlock explained, "of Mrs. Connally's interest in the refishing of antiques."

Distribution will be coordinated by the Texas State Historical Survey Committee which maintains official contact with all museums in the state.

Charles R. Woodburn, of Amarillo and president of the Survey Committee, noted the volume, "would be a valuable asset to any museum or individual undertaking restoration of period furnishings for display purposes or personal use."

In simple terms interspersed with home-spun philosophy, "Pass Thy Hand" gives Mrs. Spurlock's complete, step-by-step instruction for refinishing cherished antiques as well as bargains in used furniture.

The author was thrust into the field of restoring and refinishing when her husband, O. M. Spurlock, presented her with twelve dilapidated pieces of Chippendale just before their wedding day, and consistently commemorated special occasions throughout the years with other antiques.

Reluctant to take on the expense of repair and refinishing by high-priced professionals she set about learning how to do it herself. In "Pass Thy Hand for the Finishing Touch," Mrs. Spurlock passes along the fruits of her labor and knowledge to others.

Record Peacetime Budget Requested By Soviet Russia

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet government today asked parliament to approve a record $123.5 billion peacetime budget to cover military aid to North Vietnam in its fight against the United States and to replace Arab planes, tanks and guns lost in the six-day war with Israel.

Passage of the budget, which included a $18.3 billion military appropriation, was a foregone conclusion.

The military appropriation was increased by nearly $4 billion over last year's figure.

Warn of New War
 The budget was outlined for the Supreme Soviet, Russia's parliament, by Finance Minister Vasil Garbuzov.

He presented it to the 1,517 delegates gathered in the Grand Kremlin Palace as the Soviet defense ministry publication Red Star accused the United States, Israel and Germany of "trying to draw mankind into the whirlpool of a new world war."

Foreign observers pointed out the defense figure did not necessarily represent the total amount earmarked for military preparedness. They said there were hidden items in the budget, such as provisions for research and development and possibly part of the foreign military aid to Hanoi and the Arab countries.

Soviet leaders have repeatedly stated that they will escalate their aid to North Vietnam in proportion to American escalation in South Vietnam.

Arab Aid Expensive
 Another expensive item for the Kremlin was to help the Arabs rebuild armies shattered by Israel's lightning blitz. Soon after the June war, the Soviet Union delivered supplies to Syria and the United Arab Republic and it offered arms to Jordan's King Hussein during his visit here last week.

But much of the record $121.9 billion this year was earmarked for the man in the street.

Nikolai Baibakov, the Kremlin's top planner, told the Supreme Soviet that for the first time in history the planned rate of growth of the consumer goods industry would be higher than that of heavy industry.

The budget let the agenda adopted as the two houses began meeting on the eve of the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

DISCUSSION OF LENGTHS
 DES MOINES (UPI)—Gov. Harold E. Hughes told state employees Monday he doesn't care how long a man's hair or beard is, but he is concerned about how short a woman's skirt might get.

"A beard should not lessen the effectiveness of a state employe any more than it does a college professor..." Hughes said, "(but) I might object if a miniskirt got a certain point on a state employe."

Jerry G. Killough Finishes Training

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif.—Marine Private Jerry G. Killough, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Killough of 1020 Prairie Drive, completed two weeks of training under simulated combat conditions in the fundamentals of day and night patrolling, employment of infantry weapons, survival methods and assault tactics at this Marine Corps base.

The individual combat training is given every Marine after his graduation from recruit training. Taught by combat experienced non-commissioned officers of the infantry training regiment here, it prepares the young Leatherneck to become part of the Marine air-ground combat team.

From this course, he is scheduled to go on to more advanced training before being assigned to his permanent unit.

CONTROLLED DICE
 SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—Eight vice squad officers broke down the door of an east side night club early Saturday and found 14 persons gathered about gambling equipment inside. Agents found electromagnets and other equipment in the walls and floor of the club, with which they said the roll of the dice was being controlled.

Series Goes Back to Boston

Hogs New Field General Making Name for Himself

BOSTON (UPI)—Now the Boston Red Sox figure they'll win the World Series exactly the same way they won their "miracle" pennant—by winning the last two games.

"Now it's just like the end of the season," trumpeted Boston Manager Dick Williams in the wake of Jim Lonborg's do-or-die 3-1 victory in Monday's fifth game in St. Louis that cut the Cardinals' lead to 3-2 in games.

"We did it before, and we can do it again," Williams told his players.

Still facing sudden death in the event of one loss that would give the Cardinals their eighth world championship, Williams picked rookie Gary Waslewski as his pitcher for the sixth game here Wednesday against St. Louis' Dick Hughes, also a rookie.

And Williams insisted that Waslewski, who was up and down to the minor leagues this season with control trouble, isn't "a gamble."

"Gary pitches just like Lonborg, and Lonborg has had pretty good success against the Cardinals," said Williams with a smile.

Williams pointed out that the Red Sox won the American League pennant by beating the Minnesota Twins in two "must" games on the last two days of the season. That's exactly the spot they're in now—they must win two.

If they do, it will be as big a "miracle" as the pennant. In modern times only two teams have won after trailing 3-1 in games.

With his three-hit masterpiece

Monday—the fewest number of hits (four) allowed by a series pitcher in two consecutive complete games.

"He certainly knows how to pitch," signed Cards' Manager Red Schoendienst.

Lonborg picked his own white line (onto the field), it's just another game," he said. They looked like beaten men in Sunday's 6-0 loss, perhaps ready to go quietly—but Lonborg stepped in and changed that. "I didn't feel any pressure," said the man who was called on to save his club.

"Once I walk across that white line (onto the field), it's just another game," he said. Two Cards errors helped, one by Mike Shannon and one by Roger Maris.

Shannon bobbled Mike Andrews' sacrifice, but in the third inning after Joe Foy singled and then Ken Harrelson singled to score Foy. In the ninth, after Boston loaded the bases on a walk to George Scott, Reggie Smith's doubt and an intentional walk to Rico Petrocelli, all off reliever Ron Willis. Elston Howard got the biggest little hit of the series—

Jack Lamabe—a pop-fly single that dropped behind first base.

Scott romped home with two hits, bawling around third behind him. And Smith made it, when Maris' high throw popped out of Tim McCarver's days rest. If Lonborg pitches the seventh game, it would be with two days' rest.

Williams said Lonborg may even-hurl the series' sixth game if that game should be rained out Wednesday and played Thursday.

"I understand a rainout is possible," he said.

Virus Flu Hits Sooners

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI)—Oklahoma's Sooners, hopefully on their way back to football prominence enjoyed during the 1950s, today faced serious problems every major college coach fears.

Nine starters on the unbeaten and unscored upon Sooner team were in the University infirmary, felled with an infectious virus flu. Coach Chuck Fairbanks, winner of his first two games as a head coach, said the virus "caused a high temperature and high blood count."

He said it took "several days" for a person to regain his strength after suffering the virus.

"I don't intend to make a big issue out of this, but it's something I'm very concerned about," Fairbanks said. "I feel like we'll have all of them back in time to play this weekend, but they're not getting the practice they need for the game."

Oklahoma meets arch-rival Texas at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas. The Sooners won 18-9 last year, but trail in the series 38-21-2.

Identified among the felled players were five offensive regulars and four defensive starters.

Fullback Mike Harper, Center Bob Craig, Tackles Bob Kalsu and Jack Portera and Guard Ken Mendenhall were hospitalized from the offensive unit, and Tackles Dick Paaso and John Tittsworth, halfback Bruce Stensrud and Monsterman Wayne Nelson were ill from the defensive team.

(UPI) — Johnny Pritchett, 19, Britain, stopped Milo Calhoun, British Empire middleweight 159, Jamaica (8) (Pritchett wins title).

DALLAS (UPI)—Sophomore quarterback John Eichel, being labeled the "upstart from Stuttgart," took only one game at the helm of the Arkansas Razorbacks to make himself noticeable among the Southwest Conference statistical leaders.

Eichel, who has replaced Ronny South as the Razorback signal caller, rode a 222-yard performance against Texas Christian to fourth place among the loop's rushers and fifth in total offense.

He had appeared in the Hogs' two losses prior to the TCU victory, and has 130 yards rushing and 183 passing for 365 yards total offense.

Texas' Chris Gilbert still is the rushing leader and is pulling away from the field with 372 yards in three games to 235 yards for runnerup John Scovell of Texas Tech and 218 for Razorback Russell Cody.

Texas' Aggie Edd Hargett is the total offense leader with 575 yards in four games, while Scovell has 481 yards, Bill Bradley of Texas 379, Gilbert 372 and Eichel 365.

Hargett also is the top passer with 39 completions in four games to 24 in three games for Scovell and 18 for Bradley of Texas. Bradley and Hargett have each thrown for four touchdowns, while Hargett's 616 yards by air is by far the league's best.

Trojans Ranked Best

NEW YORK (UPI)—Southern California, named Monday as the nation's top football team for the second consecutive week by the 35 member United Press International Board of Coaches, gets a chance to justify that honor Saturday when the Trojans meet defending national champion Notre Dame.

The Trojans, who surged to their fourth consecutive triumph with a 30-0 shutout over Stanford last Saturday, were awarded 27 of the 35 first-place ballots cast to amass 332 points.

and gain the coveted No. 1 ranking. The choice couldn't suit Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian, whose last-minute victory over the Irish, who went into the game with a 9-0 record.

Purdue leaped closer to the top by knocking off the Boilermakers, jumping from fourth to second. The Boilermakers moved past Houston, which fell 16-6 to North Carolina State, and UCLA, which lost prestige and dropped to third after an unimpressive victory over Pennsylvania.

Georgia moved from fifth to fourth with a 21-0 victory over South Carolina and Alabama, a perennial contender for the national title, rose to No. 6.

The Crimson Tide, seeking to regain some lost prestige after being tired by Florida State in their opener, dowed Mississippi 11-7 to advance four places in the ratings.

Colorado also rose, moving from ninth to seventh after beating Iowa State 34-0 while Missouri held on to its No. 8 slot with a 17-3 triumph over Arizona.

Horns Improving Royal Says

AUSTIN (UPI)—When Texas meets long-time rival Oklahoma in the Cotton Bowl Saturday, it will be the fourth time this season the Longhorns have played a team which had a near-perfect defensive record.

Neither Southern California, Texas Tech nor Oklahoma State had given up a touchdown before they played the Longhorns this year. And the Oklahoma Sooners are unscored on in two previous starts.

Coach Darrell Royal says he's impressed with the fact that the Sooners "have picked up" this year.

"I feel they've improved," he said. "They've got good receivers. They play an attacking defense, which makes for confusion.

"You can sum it up by saying they've got a good football team."

Royal said he was particularly impressed with the Sooner quarterback, O. B. Warmack.

"He's a good scrambler," he said of Warmack. "His confidence and deception have improved. He's a good runner, one you have to respect. I'd say he runs about like (Texas Tech quarterback) John Scovell."

The Longhorns blanked Oklahoma State 19-0 Saturday. And Royal said it was obvious "that we played better." He said he felt the Cowboys had a sound team "although they're not great."
