

Korean Revolt Begins as Red Troops Start North Evacuation

Rebel Band Of Soldiers Kills Police

SEOUL (AP)—A pitched battle between loyal and insurgent Korean soldiers was expected in the extreme southern part of Korea tonight after a rebel band of soldiers killed or captured 100 policemen at two towns. Martial law was declared in South Korea—the American Zone—by Home Minister T. Y. Yoon shortly after President Syngman Rhee returned from Japan.

The uprising began at Yosu on the south coast and spread quickly to Suichon, 12 miles away. Yoon said the rebels were led by Communist soldiers.

The two cities are about 180 miles south of the 38th parallel which divides the American and Russian zones of Korea. Police stations of both towns were burned. Loyal soldiers at Yosu were evacuated by the Korean coast guard.

The insurgent force was reported marching on Kwangju, capital of South Cholla Province. Troops and Korean police were sent to meet them. Government authorities expected a battle during the night but because of the remoteness of the area reports from there were not expected until later.

Yoon said the rebels may number 4,000. He said a Communist cell among 2500 Korean soldiers at Yosu was to blame for the uprising, which started after the arrest of the cell leader.

After subduing police at Yosu, the rebels, then 500 to 800 strong, commandeered a train and advanced on Suichon, Yoon said. By midday, he said, the Suichon police were overcome, and the insurgents headed for Kwangju by train and truck.

Ma, Gen. Orlando Ward, commander of the U.S. Sixth Division with headquarters at Pusan, told the Associated Press by telephone he was "reasonably sure" no Americans were involved in the fighting.

There were other developments revolving around politically explosive Korea: 1. Moscow radio announced Soviet troops have begun to evacuate parts of Northern Korea—the Russian Zone—in accordance with plans outlined previously.

Eight Amendments to State Constitution Offered Voters

IS IT THE SAME?—Gov. Earl Warren of California took a long walk of Florida orange juice on his arrival in Miami to address the annual convention of the American Legion.

(Editor's note: This is the first of three articles to explain eight proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution. These amendments will be presented to the voters of Texas on Nov. 2.)

By HENRY GORDON
Pampa News Staff
Election Day, Nov. 2 will mean more to Texans than voting for president, U. S. senator and governor. The state is also asking voters to act on eight proposed amendments to the state Constitution that will affect taxes, public servants and redistricting of the state by a five-man board, in event the Legislature fails to redistrict itself every ten years.

The wording of these amendments and what they will mean follow: The first amendment to appear at the bottom of the bed-sheet-like ballot is for or against "the Constitution amendment providing workmen's compensation for county employes."

If passed it will be known as Article 111, Sec. 60, and will read in the law books: "The Legislature shall have the power to pass such laws as may be necessary to enable all counties of the state to provide workmen's compensation insurance, including the right to provide its own insurance risk, for all county employes as in its judgment is necessary or required; and the Legislature shall provide suitable laws for the administration of such insurance in the counties of this state and for the payment of the costs, charges and premiums on such policies of the insurance and the benefits to be paid therefrom."

The voter will note that by the wording of the proposed amendment the compensation is not mandatory on the counties, but simply provides the Legislature with the authority to pass laws on administering the insurance on a uniform basis. It actually opens the door to the county commissioners courts to provide the insurance should they desire or deem it expedient to do so.

At present the county commissioners courts are not permitted to spend tax money on workmen's compensation. A workman cannot sue the county under the present set-up.

Proponents of the amendment declare the financial protection the insurance would afford in case of accident would furnish a city officials felt, however, that the buyer should have a personal record of taxes paid on his property, and that the buyer's name should appear on the tax rolls in preparation for the day when he will be a home owner.

City tax lists, therefore, have been revised to include the buyer's name, wherever it could be found, and such time taxes are paid a statement will be sent to the buyer in addition to the receipt sent to the mortgage holder.

Having the buyer's name on the lists, Jones pointed out, makes it very easy for the buyer to come in to the City Tax Department at any time and verify his property valuation for himself.

The statement sent to the home buyer will include the lot and block number, the assessed valuation, the tax rate, and the total assessed taxes.

"Many people ask what they should do with the statement," Jones said. "The answer is: 'Keep it for your own record.' It is neither a receipt nor a bill for taxes; it is only a statement that taxes have been paid."

Home Buyer To Get Tax Statement

Residents of Pampa who are buying their homes under a mortgage plan will receive statements of tax payments on their property, even though the mortgage holder, not the buyer, actually pays the taxes, Aubrey Jones, city tax collector, said today.

Under many mortgage plans, Jones said, part of the home buyer's monthly payments apply to the payment of taxes, and the bank or loan company that holds the mortgage pays the taxes instead of the buyer.

City officials felt, however, that the buyer should have a personal record of taxes paid on his property, and that the buyer's name should appear on the tax rolls in preparation for the day when he will be a home owner.

City tax lists, therefore, have been revised to include the buyer's name, wherever it could be found, and such time taxes are paid a statement will be sent to the buyer in addition to the receipt sent to the mortgage holder.

Dewey May Not Help Out GOP Senator

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey travels to New York today for a speech there tonight still keeping his own counsel about helping out in an important senatorial race.

The Republican presidential nominee was scheduled to leave Albany by train at noon for an address at the Herald-Tribune forum. There was no advance announcement of his subject.

The senatorial race in West Virginia. There the Republican incumbent, Senator Chapman Revercomb, is in what the GOP leadership regards as a close contest with his Democratic opponent, former Senator Matthew Neeley.

The Dewey throughout his campaign, has been concentrating on states where the Senate races are nip and tuck in an effort to maintain GOP control of the Senate. The Republicans now have only a six-vote margin—51 seats to the Democrats' 45.

But with less than two weeks remaining before the Nov. 2 election, Dewey still has given no indication whether he plans to lend Revercomb a hand.

Some of Dewey's aides say the fact Revercomb refused to cooperate with the GOP presidential candidate during the August special session of Congress has had no bearing on Dewey's consideration of whether to go into West Virginia. They say it's a matter of schedule making and nothing more.

During the special session Dewey asked Revercomb, chairman of a key Senate subcommittee, to go along on revision of a law providing for admission of European refugees to this country. The Democrats criticized as discriminatory against Jews and Catholics.

Revercomb refused, saying it was a matter that should not be handled in haste at a special session. Dewey has been reported to be irked at Revercomb for that reason.

Tomorrow night Dewey will speak in New York at a memorial dinner honoring the late Alfred E. Smith. There has been no announcement of his plans for Friday, but they are expected to keep him in New York.

Final rehearsals for the Pampa and Berger quartets were held last night at the Sam Houston School Auditorium. Conductor Ken Bennett has added the finishing touches to the numbers and says the group is "all set" for the jamboree.

Rain Needed To Control Wheat Pests

The damage of the false wireworms in Gray County this year will largely be determined by the moisture conditions during the remainder of the year, Ralph Thomas, Gray County agent, said today.

Many farmers in the county are afraid they will have to replant their fall wheat crops if the county does not get rain in the near future.

"If we would get a good rain soon," Nolan Cole, farmer, said, "it would enable the wheat to get a stand and get ahead of the false wireworms."

Meanwhile, E. C. Barrett, farmer, said the worms seem no worse on his farm this year than any other year. "Worms are always here," he said.

Thomas believes the worms are worse after a summer of heavy rain followed by a dry fall than at any other time. The ideal weather to keep the worms down is to have enough rain to keep moisture in the sub-surface with a dry crust.

The false wireworm, which is not quite an inch in length, often seriously injures wheat in the drier wheat-growing sections. The worm comes from the false wire beetle. The germinating seed in the ground and the young plants are often destroyed by the worm. The seed grain in the ground is nibbled, and the germ of the wheat is often eaten out.

The young wheat plants are killed over irregular areas in the field. In fact, the worms seem to miss some farms entirely and seriously damage others.

Two teams of Girl Scout fathers to assist are headed by J. W. C. Tooley and Noel L. Dalton.

All Girl Scout leaders have been requested to meet at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow at the Girl Scout House, Mrs. K. E. Thornton, executive of the Pampa Girl Scout Association, said.

New Contest Underway to Name the 'Mystery Voice'

Radio Station KPDN's weekly "Good Neighbor" program got off to its second mystery contest this morning with a "mystery voice" coming over the air from a spot inside the city.

The mystery voice was heard over the airways as well as in the LaNora Theater where the program originates. Two local women tried to guess the voice but were wrong. They were: Mrs. Clyde Batson, 514 N. Faulkner who guessed Luther Kelley, Mrs. Clara Wallin, 810 E. Scott, guessed Sheriff G. H. "Skinner" Kyle. She was wrong, but then Mrs. Wallin didn't know that "Skinner" is somewhere in the wilds of Colorado trying to shoot a deer or an elk.

Engineers of KPDN carried a portable broadcasting outfit to an office or room somewhere in Pampa to let the "Mystery Voice" broadcast in rhythm the following clue:

Tom, Tom, the piper's son,
Stole a pig and away he run,
The pig was fat, and Tom was best,
And he went howling down the street."

The above clue will be broadcast over station KPDN each night at 8:45 to give others a chance to unravel his identity.

'WANTED: 100,000 DIMES'

Crawford Atkinson Will Head March of Dimes Drive for '49

Crawford Atkinson, a city commissioner and well-known local businessman, will head this county's quest for March of Dimes funds for 1949.

The announcement was made by the Rev. Edgar W. Henshaw, county chairman of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Henshaw and Atkinson flew to Fort Worth yesterday to attend a regional meeting of campaign workers.

In view of the city's 20 cases of polio this year, and a county total of 29 cases, the officials said they felt this county should raise a minimum of $10,000 in the drive which will begin within a few weeks with the advance gift canvass. The county's funds amassed last year have long since been used, and local cases have been financed from National Foundation funds.

Of the 20 cases reported here, at least 12 were partially financed by the local chapter and the foundation; and some of those cases were financed entirely from polio funds.

The slogan, then, for this county is "Wanted: 100,000 Dimes." It was announced this morning from Fort Worth that Texas' quota in the 1949 March of Dimes is $1,250,000. The Associated Press quoted E. S. Stewart, A. B. I. n. e., state chairman, as saying the money could be raised in Texas "if every person in the state gives 18 cents."

There is no state-set quota for Gray County, but local officials expressed hopes that citizens "will open up their hearts and their pocketbooks and give generously because people in other communities have been generous to us in sending us money after our own money was gone."

The March of Dimes meeting, held at Fort Worth's Blackstone Hotel, included representatives from Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, and New Mexico. Reports from all sections were reviewed.

It was reported the worst polio year on record was 1916, with a total of 27,363 cases reported; and 1948 has been the second worst year, with more than 21,000 cases being reported. A record of 28,000 and 30,000 is indicated for the year, because polio has not subsided with cooler weather. Pampa's twelfth case was reported only six days ago.

Soviets Flee To U.S. Zone

VIENNA (AP)—A twin-engine Russian bomber with two officer deserters from the Soviet Air Force landed at the American air base near Linz Oct. 9, American sources said today.

The plane and one member of its crew, a sergeant, were returned to Russian custody. Two officers who said they were fleeing the Soviet Union were given refuge in the U.S. Zone of Austria.

The pilot and navigator of the plane said they were trying to escape for "political reasons" for more than a year, the U.S. sources reported.

The craft took off from a base in the Ukraine on what was supposed to be a routine training flight. The pilot said his maps did not extend beyond Linz.

He brought his plane down on the first airfield he saw after reaching the U.S. Zone of Austria, the informants said.

The one he picked was Hoerschlag Air Base at Camp Meunier, about 10 miles inside the zone.

HST Collects Material for Final Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman began collecting ammunition today for a final big city campaign onslaught.

Back home from a quick foray into Dixie territory, the President said he will stay close to the White House, transacting routine business and working on political speeches until he flies to Pittsburgh Saturday.

There he will make the first of a series of major addresses intended to woo the workers of populous industrial centers.

George Harrison, a vice-president of the American Federation of Labor and chairman of the Democratic National Committee's labor division, was the first to confer with Mr. Truman on plans for the stretch drive.

Harrison met the Chief Executive last night at the Washington Airport upon Mr. Truman's return from Raleigh, N.C. There the President appealed to Southern voters to stand with the Democrats or risk what he called a "Hoover cast" depression at the hands of the Republicans.

The President's argument delivered before a state fair crowd was that a vote for the States' See HST, Page 12

Atom Dispute To Big Five

PARIS (AP)—The United Nations voted today to turn the atomic energy dispute over to the Big Five and Canada with instructions to try for agreement on basic principles.

The 58-nation Political Committee rejected a Soviet proposal which would have outlawed the atom bomb simultaneously with setting up of an atomic energy control organization.

The committee also rejected an Indian proposal to send the U.N. Atomic Commission back to work on a treaty for controls on the basis of findings approved by the majority but rejected by Russia.

The vote on the Soviet proposal was 39 to 6 with seven abstentions. Only the six Soviet-bloc nations voted for it.

The vote to turn back the dispute to the United States, Russia, Britain, France, China and Canada was taken on a Canadian resolution. The vote was 41 to six, with ten delegations abstaining and one absent.

The five Soviet bloc states also voted with Russia against the Canadian proposal.

On the basis of this vote, the Canadian proposal is assured of easily winning the necessary two-thirds majority approval in the full General Assembly, all of whose nations are represented in the Political Committee.

The defeated Soviet proposal would have directed the Security Council to:

Commercial Airlift Picks Up on Coast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Pacific Coast maritime strike, now in its 49th day, has nearly dried up a $4 million-a-day water-borne commerce but has spurred a huge commercial airlift.

All dry cargo sailings have stopped, save a few ships which carry supplies for the Army. Oil tankers are not affected by the strike.

While paralysis set into shipping, the strike forced resort to the airlift. Pan American Airways reported to day a perishable food shipment to Alaska have increased about 100 percent and to Hawaii about 65 percent. The air shipment of food to Alaska now is at the rate of a million pounds a month and still growing.

Of the 375 dry cargo ships operated by West Coast American steamship companies, 222 were tied up as of Oct. 15. They lay idle in various ports from Seattle to San Diego, from Mobile to New York. The largest number in any one port was 61 in San Francisco.

What has been the cost to labor in wages lost? An exact statement cannot be made. But the 222 ships now idle have an average crew of 45 men who draw a total of about $39,000 a day.

West Coast CIO longshoremen, clerks, loaders and related dock workers were paid $57 million in wages last year. At that rate they have lost about $4 million in wages so far.

The effect on business is less easily figured. Here are some things that have happened as result of the strike:

The California Hawaii Sugar Company has laid off 800 employees. (See COMMERCIAL, Page 12)

Two Held in Road Wreck

Two men were being held in County Jail today, one of them charged with drunken driving, as the result of a wreck at 12:45 p. m. yesterday eight miles west of Pampa on the Berger Highway.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Earl H. Jordan who made the investigation and arrest said a 1939 Dodge coupe owned by T. C. Owen, 1107 W. Wilks, borrowed by C. A. Stanley, 705 Naida, Pampa, and Adolf Neuberg, Pampa, was traveling west on the Berger Highway with Stanley driving when the crash occurred. Stanley, Jordan said, veered over to the left of the road hitting the left side of the 1941 Chevrolet tudor sedan driven by Mrs. Helen Omler, Amarillo.

Mrs. Omler, Jordan said, had driven over into the narrow ditch to give the oncoming car "all of the road" but was hit and side-swiped from the left front fender to the rear of the car causing damage estimated at $500. The car was owned by Mrs. J. A. Jarrill, Berger, who was riding with Mrs. Omler at the time. The two women were enroute to the Texas State Fair at Dallas with exhibition items.

There were no injuries, Jordan added, but Stanley and Neuberg were brought to the County Jail to await further disposition of their cases.

Don't Be Too Hopeful— Food Costs Are Still High

By the Associated Press Don't get too hopeful that your food bill will drop sharply. Some prices are lower than they were a month ago.

But there has been no sharp break—and there is not likely to be because of government price supports.

Food industry experts also point to the high level of consumer spending at present prices. They contend that prices are not out of line with income.

Victor T. Norton, president of American Home Foods, Inc., told a food and beverage controllers meeting in New York that the same quantity of the same food that took 23 percent of personal income after taxes in 1935-1939, took only 21 percent of income in the second quarter of this year.

ent panicky ideas will change trade judgments about food prices generally if consumer buying from retail grocery stores continues as large as justified by spending power," the institute added.

Besides that, CCC support of farm prices will prevent corn, wheat, rice, dry beans, eggs, dairy products and other staple foods from dropping appreciably below bottoms the government is obligated to maintain through 1949.

Lakeland, Fla., reported that the first government estimate of citrus crops indicates consumers will get more oranges and less grapefruit this season. The outlook is for 2,000,000 less boxes of grapefruit than a year ago, and an increase of about 5,800,000 boxes of oranges.

The Bigger the Star, the Easier He Is to Dress, Says Costume Designer

By HAL BOYLE
 NEW YORK (AP)—David Folkes is spending his life creating something for people to look at and promptly forget.
 And he's happy when they do just that. Folkes is a 36-year-old Englishman who has become one of Broadway's leading scenic and costume designers.
 His type of work is highly important to the success of a stage play. But like most technical skills it is unappreciated by the average theatergoer. The man who buys the ticket doesn't ordinarily wonder who designed the stage sets or the clothing worn by the actors.
 "And that's the way it should be," said Folkes. "When the curtain goes up, the audience should be conscious of the locale, but their attention should then immediately be caught up in the action of the play."
 "Good scenic and costume design is only a means to an end—not the end itself. It's bad design if the audience is conscious of the setting for even one entire scene."

 Folkes has specialized in British period design, particularly Shakespearean settings, and has won four top awards. His costumes for "Brigadoon" and Shaw's "Man and Superman" twice won him Donaldson awards—theaterdom's equivalent of the film world's "Oscars."
 He recently did the scenery, costume and lighting for "Where's Charley," starring Ray Bolger. Stage costuming has its special problems.
 "Everybody has a different— an imperfect shape," said Folkes. "They all have to be disguised so that on the stage they have a perfect figure for their particular role."
 He has found men actors more difficult to costume than women. "They are more fussy," he smiled. "But the bigger the star, the easier he is to dress."

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Election officials of Duval County were cleared Monday by the grand jury of alleged election irregular-primary.

 The Duval County grand jury report said, "We have made a careful investigation in the manner in which the August primary was conducted. We have called many witnesses and have found no evidence of improper conduct."
 "On the contrary, we wish to congratulate the election officials on the orderly manner in which the election was handled."

 District Judge L. Broeter had charged the grand jury to investigate alleged charges of voting irregularities in Duval County.

New York Landmark to Have Face-Lifting After 65 Years of Colorful History

NEW YORK — After years of talking about it, New York now has started actual work on the modernization of its best known landmark—the 65-year-old Brooklyn Bridge.
 Under plans being drawn by Dr. David B. Steinman, noted bridge engineer, the historic structure is to be given an aluminum and—concrete face-lift that will add both to its looks and utility.
 Dr. Sherman, however, makes it plain there will be no change in the fundamental design. He considers the bridge "majestically beautiful" as it is.
 The preliminaries, just assigned by the city, will occupy a year. This includes the drafting of the plans and survey work.

It will be the first real going-over the bridge has had since it was officially opened by President Arthur on May 24, 1883.
 The Manhattan approach was altered, greatly for the better, four years ago, by the removal of elevated sheds which cluttered up the entrance, and shut off the view of the massive 272-foot arches and gracefully-arched 1995-foot span.
 This vastly added to the beauty of the structure, and provided a new thrill for the sightseers on whose program the bridge remains a "must."
 New plans include a twelve-lane concrete highway to take the place of the present inadequate two-lane affair.
 Steel structural parts are to be largely replaced by aluminum-type metals which will give added strength with no increase in weight.
 Approaches on both sides are also to be enlarged and beautified.
 When built, the Brooklyn Bridge was the largest suspension span in the world.
 It kept the distinction until the turn of the century, when it was passed by a succession of other spans flung across the East River.
 Now, it is eclipsed by such huge structures as the Golden Gate Bridge, linking San Francisco and Marin County with a single span of 4300 feet, and the George Washington Bridge, across the Hudson River, a 3500-foot span.
 Begun in the late 'sixties, the Brooklyn Bridge was delayed by a series of accidents, culminating in the tragic death of its guiding genius, John A. Roebling.
 His son, Col. Washington A. Roebling, took up the work, and, in the face of a wasting illness, contracted on a job, pushed the task to completion.
 The story of the Roebling achievement has been made into literature by Dr. Steinman under the title of "The Builders of the Bridge."
 He regards the Roeblings as true heroes of modern America, and the bridge as their enduring monument.
 "Because it has no rival, the structure was known for years merely as the "East River" Bridge. The board walk in the center was called "The Promenade."
 Next came cable cars; later to be supplanted by "L" trains; which, in turn, gave place to trolleys.
 People started jumping off the bridge almost as soon as it was done—some as a stunt, others bent on self-destruction.
 As late as 1929, Jack Latkowski, a stunt diver, did a perfect jack-knife off the middle of the bridge.

Fair Enough - - by Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK — The Ladies Home Journal announced in its October issue, and rather to our bloody delight, I think, that it has a secret poll of its editorial staff regarding the 69 editors had voted for Henry Wallace, the candidate of the Communists and the Kremlin for president of the United States. The wag who wrote this little confession did his best to make it as amusing as possible by passing it off as a merrily japed, but it struck me as a piece of calculated insolence to the stuffy, high-suburban lilywhite of big business, as Ful Piloni Luce has been calling the source of the biggest advertising revenue these last 25 years. After all these years put up the money for the beautiful color effects in the L.H.J. every month and for the salaries of those seven pranksters who are going to vote the Moscow ticket.

This magazine is one of the Curtis Publishing Company jobs and it has been a loudspeaker for the Great Gabbo since just after the first coronation of H.M. Roosevelt in 1933. She also runs a variable measure of daily prattle six times a week in a list of newspapers, but her journalistic talent rose and fell with the election. She has more or less often these days, you find it wrapped around the gutters and electric belts, as we used to say, or just didn't find it at all. I have been a professional, boy and girl, since 1910 and I have never seen worse copy in print than that for which the old girl grabbed her rake-off all those years, and the authors of such novelty goods included Jess Willard, Battling Nelson and Eddie Willard had days when he was comparatively pretty good, but the Ladies Home Journal has continued to run this stuff as a leading feature, which is okay except that now and again the editors in fairness to the customers ought to print a list of her Communist-front and party-line connections and activities and give us a tell about some office intimacies. What has been the total amount paid this great journalist since she enjoyed her attack of literary talent right after the election of 1932? Who selects the convenient questions that she answers or sometimes pretends to answer but cleverly doesn't answer? Such an honest and thorough review of "Rope"—"Skip The Rope?"

Despite the fact that it's a girl's name, Sid Luft and Lynn Bari are higher out than the baby in mid-October. Boy or girl, the child will be named Portland after Fred Allen's better half. My weatherman says rice will fall on Rita Lupino and the New York actor, Roger Anderson. Ditto for Virginia Grey who has given up waiting for Gabby and Dr. Ed Lemonick. (Bandleader and songwriter) Matty Malneck and his wife Boots, are tying something new. They've gone back to each other.

Wonder if any of the critics will use this murderous one-line review of "Rope"—"Skip The Rope?"

Edgar Bergen surprised by paying a visit to the amateur magicians' convention in Colon, Mich. They told him: "We didn't know you were interested in magic." Edgar laughed: "Who but a magician, and the grocery store, can be tried to do a ventriloquist act on the radio?"

Harold Russell, the armless veteran who won an award in "The Best Years of Our Lives," has written a book called "Victory in My Hands." Errol Flynn was the final selection as the model for the sculptured bust of Julius Caesar in "June Bride." Producer Hal Wallis finally got around to testing Marie Wilson for "My Friend Irma." Baby but still Betty Hutton as Irma with the possibility that Marie may play her girl friend.

Two more documentaries coming up at M-G-M. One is "Bread Upon the Waters," based on the poetry that burned down in Solo, Ohio. The townspeople pitched in to help the police rebuild. The second is "The Black Hand," story of how a New York policeman and an Italian American smashed the black hand society on New York's lower east side.

It didn't matter much that the President was absent from Washington. Long ago he turned over nearly all the business of government—including important decisions to the bureaus and departments. CONGRESSIONAL SCRUTINY The Department of State at last appears to be improving. It is doubtless better run in Truman's absence. Marshall has almost quit trying to appease Moscow. The general learns, but slowly, about human beings and their motives. It took him two years to see that a Communist in China is a Communist and that you can't do business with him. FOR VOTES Why he continues to try to do business with a Communist in Moscow, and will fly all the way to Paris to meet him at a United Nations table, might partially be explained by pointing out that Marshall's superior, Harry Truman, wants the pro-UN vote. If Truman wants the pro-UN vote, he will now perhaps expect no more out of the United Nations corps than the use of it as a propaganda Chafie McCarthy. Lots of people in Europe and America would tear their hair and scream if Mr. Truman's secretary of state

What should a business firm do when it finds that wage demands have put its expenses up higher than the income it can reasonably expect? This is the plight facing many businesses today. Some of them are taking flight to fairer climes. Perhaps you have heard of the textile factory that is leaving New England. No, it didn't decide to go to the South. It will leave the States entirely and go to Puerto Rico. It had to go somewhere. It had to stay in the black, or close down.

Our industries will not all go to Puerto Rico, but this incident is a handwriting-on-the-wall message addressed to all of us. When a business reaches the saturation point, where it cannot collect more income (in the form of new business, increased sales, or higher prices), then something's got to happen. If it cannot cut expenses, it must cut income. This situation is tough on little businesses especially, but it's dangerous even to big ones.

Maybe this thing explains our increasing rate of business failures. When the break-even point is so high and so close, even a slight drop in income or a step-up in expenses puts a company in serious danger. It doesn't make any difference, either, that the volume of business today is so big. Most of our companies have to do two to five times the amount of business they did before the war, just to break even.

This present glum prosperity of ours can deceive us. If we are going to depend for our prosperity upon round after round of wage boosts, along with less work and lower production, then we are headed for a severe jolt. So far, business has been able to pay the bill because it could sell goods at almost any price. This means that both wage and price increases have been made possible by inflation. This can continue to come out of inflation. But if they do, the whirlpool will finally engulf us.

A MUTUAL INTEREST American workers are smart. Their good sense is needed today as never before. They can do a lot to help industry get on a sound footing. They know we can avoid misunderstandings that are so common in every body sees that industry's problems are also America's problems. Labor can seriously consider the important things that are to the best interest of both industry and the general public, knowing that these are also very important to labor.

Take this inflation, for example. That old right, that always catches us higher out than the baby in mid-October, is being used to get us scotched. One solution is greater production. Labor knows a lot about production problems. Are workers any less interested in higher output, because high output is something that also interests the management and the public? No, they still want production to be high. Increased production, it is delivered goods to the public, softens the danger of runaway prices. High output also makes it possible for the company to pay continued high wages.

Some American workers have had experience with businesses that couldn't pay. A company that is in danger of folding up is no good as an employer. Therefore, the problem facing the boss in his effort to show more income than expense is also the problem of the workers. If a business gets on the run (it may not want to move to Puerto Rico), it indicates that something is seriously wrong. Ten to one, the income is not up to the output. Labor may have some of the answers.

A lot of Americans may be fooled by the seemingly endless bounty of business. Government, also, is expected to give and give. Yet, it doesn't make sense to expect either of them to keep on giving forever. Government actually never creates a dollar of wealth. It can give benefits only out of that which it receives. By the same token, our high living standards are actually the problem facing the boss in his effort to show more income than expense is also the problem of the workers.

Brothers are filming "Colorado Territory" just outside of Gallup, N. M.

UI and Bud Abbott and Lou Costello have kissed and made up. The studio just exercised its term option for two pictures during the coming season. The first picture is to be "The Black Hand," story of how a New York policeman and an Italian American smashed the black hand society on New York's lower east side.

It's happened again: Warner showed disrespect for the corpse. The Soviets never have been fooled by the UN, which, their agents in fact, introduced in the days when they thought they might put over a world dictatorship by selling gullible peoples the world government. The Soviets have used this body for two purposes: for propaganda and for stalling to gain time by luring Britain and the United States into blind alleys.

For political reasons, as elections approach, if for no other reasons, the secretary of state had to keep on meeting Reds at the UN conference table. The situation must be fatiguing and frustrating to the general who worshipped efficiency for so many years.

The latest proposal of the stalled Soviets is a new plan for atomic energy control. Vishinsky invented it; he said it's all over and work out a new world control plan. That would kill another year and give Molotov and Vishinsky repeated opportunities to sound off and keep their fifth columns in the West stirred up and angry at their respective countries and bleeding their hearts out for poor threatened Russia, to whom we will not give our atomic bomb.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER WASHINGTON — President Truman's Vinson-to-Stalin brainstrom threatens to have far more serious and disastrous repercussions than convincing independent and hard-boiled industrialists interested in world recovery that he cannot be trusted to manage grave foreign problems.

It may bring a negative to repeated White House suggestions that the wartime and postwar roll of secretaries of state issue individual or collective endorsements of his conduct of foreign affairs, particularly with respect to Russia. In that list of endorsers he would also like to include many distinguished men who served in diplomatic posts abroad.

SILENT — So far, however, such eminent Democrats and international experts as Cordell Hull, James F. Byrnes, Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., Dean Acheson, Sumner Welles, Joseph P. Kennedy and others of equal standing have remained silent. They have delivered no speeches for the national ticket, and they have issued no requests for Mr. Truman's reelection. Their silence is thunderous.

Indeed, the volumes written by Byrnes, Hull and Byrnes contain severe criticism of the very technique which Mr. Truman planned to invoke in bypassing Secretary Marshall by despatching the chief justice to the Kremlin for a personal interview with the Soviet dictator.

Mr. Hull frequently fumed when Franklin D. Roosevelt sidetracked him by sending such figures as Harry Hopkins, Joseph E. Davies and Mr. Welles himself on important foreign missions that should have been entrusted to the secretary of state.

Mr. Byrnes suffered even more severely when Mr. Truman appointed a Wallace speech that tended to undermine him in his negotiations at Paris.

Ironically, the unfortunate Mr. Truman figured that he could resort to the same sort of personal diplomacy because his more distinguished predecessor had set the precedent. But the diplomats listed above had learned from bitter experience and humiliation that international problems cannot be solved in that offhand manner.

Lonely — The abstention of such illustrious Democrats from the campaign serves to emphasize vividly and wistfully what a lonely and unhappy warrior Harry S. Truman is in the most important hours of his political career.

Rarely has a President of the United States presented such a pathetic figure as Mr. Truman's in his political career.

Interested — He has no big business man or industrialist-financier like Owen D. Young, John J. Raskob or Bernard M. Baruch to express confidence in his ability to handle domestic problems such as inflation.

Gracie Reports

Well, I see a London medical paper made a survey of kissing in England and discovered it was quite popular. Goodness, why not? Everything else over there seems to be rationed.

However, this paper is doing its best to promote the French style of kissing on both cheeks, because it says that method isn't so likely to spread colds. Dear me, I thought that kind of kissing was only given by French girls when they were awarded medals, but I guess, at that, when you kiss some people you ought to get a medal.

Personally, I'm a stickler for health all right, but I think there are worse things than having colds, and one of them is not being kissed. So, girls, if your beau won't kiss you because he says he has a cold, make him show you a doctor's certificate. Sometimes it isn't a cold he's got, but cold feet.

Don't Try to Play God

"Most of us, at one time or another," says Your Life magazine, "try to play God. Temporarily, at least, such an attitude satisfies the ego, but it can get us into all kinds of emotional anarchy."

While the thought had really never occurred to us that that is what so many of us try to do, it is worth considering. The remainder of Your Life's discussion is worth the time to read it.

When you try to be God, you infer that you know all the answers and are, therefore, capable of charting the life course of yourself, your family, and your friends.

It is hard to keep "hands off" other people's lives. It is harder to avoid criticizing the lives of others. But if you want to keep away from nervous tensions and emotional jangles—if you want to be popular, wanted, sought, and loved—you must sternly resist the temptation to play God. When you try to assume this role, you end up with an audience of one—yourself.

The drama of life has a long cast of characters, and it is impossible for you to change your make-up fast enough to play all of them. Play yourself—that fine, sensitive, intelligent, self-perfect your body, your habits of living, your mind and spirit—and leave the rest to the one true God.

Errors That Pass In The Proofs

Charles Hanson Towne, while he was an editor of the Delinquent, was once asked by a friend if he encountered any typographical errors in the magazine's proof sheets, and he promptly answered, "Yes, and such an error once almost cost me the friendship of the late Elia Wheeler Wilcox. She had sent me one of her most comic poems beginning with the line: 'My soul is a lighthouse keeper.' I sent the poem to the composing room and went on my vacation. When I returned, to my horror, chagrin, and amazement, the magazine had put it to press with a spelling correction and Mrs. Wilcox's opening line read: 'My soul is a light house-keeper.'"

Bid For A Smile

A bride-to-be was showing her friend a list of guests to be invited to the wedding. After her friend had read the names she looked puzzled. Bride-to-be: "What's the matter?" Friend: "Isn't it rather strange you have only put down the names of married couples?" Bride-to-be: "Yes, that was Jack's idea. Don't you think it's rather married people the presents will be all clear proof?"

MORE TIME FOR REDS

The rumor persists that the reason Harry Truman had Secretary of State Marshall fly back from Paris for a weekend conference was to stop the criticism of the President for having turned the government over to the bureaucrats, while attending only to his politics.

It was known that the President was for weeks out of touch with important events at home and abroad.

JOE LOUIS TO FIGHT IN JUNE

NEW YORK —(AP)— Joe Louis definitely will fight next June at the Yankee Stadium against one of three opponents — Lee Savold, Edward Charles or Joe Baksi.

The champ said to himself yesterday when he announced he was giving up his four-month "retirement." It was no coincidence that Louis made his speech after a morning conference with Mike Jacobs and Harry Markson, the new managing director of the Twentieth Century Sporting Club.

This action confirmed a statement of a month ago by Sol Strauss, then acting promoter of the Twentieth Century. Sol said Louis told him he would fight the Baksi-Charles winner if he thought the victor deserved a chance at the title.

The same "if" was contained in

Louis' formal statement, the first straight-from-the-shoulder announcement that he had changed his mind.

Here's what Louis said: "I'm going to give the Baksi-Charles fight Dec. 10 (at Madison Square Garden) the once-over and if it looks good I will fight the winner. If nothing comes out of that I might take on Lee Savold who's pulling a good comeback."

The mention of Savold might be most significant. At least the word buzzing around the fight mob last night was that Savold had a very good chance of getting the big shot.

Savold, an in-and-out of several years in the fight game, now lives in Paterson, N. J. After failing several times to make it "big," he was shuffled into the ranks of the also-rans. Last spring he capped a fine comeback by knocking out Gino Buonvino in one round, and he has maneuvered into an excellent position.

Playoff Money Received by World Champs

CINCINNATI —(AP)— The world champion Cleveland Indians awaited receipt of checks from Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler today for their record slice of the 1948 World Series melon.

Each of 30 Indians will collect $6,772.07 for their series victory over the Boston Braves in six games. The losers have divided their share so that 31 players will receive $4,570.73 each.

The Indians' individual shares top the previous record of $6,544.76 which the Detroit Tigers received in 1935.

The Cleveland team, in dividing $230,250.29, gave four club members half-shares, three one-third shares and four others quarter-shares.

The Braves, after voting 31 men including Jeff Heath and Jim Russell full shares of a $153,500.20 pot, gave one player three-quarters of the full amount, another a half share and two others quarter shares. Three employees were given $350.90 each.

Mary Rickert, the Milwaukee outfielder who joined the Boston club at the end of the season to replace injured Heath, was given $1,523.58 through an executive order by Chandler. Other members of the team had voted on shares before Rickert came with the club.

John Antonelli, young pitcher who reportedly was given a $75,000 bonus to sign with the Braves, was excluded from the spoils in the voting of Braves' players, but Chandler made use of his executive power to give the youthful hurler $571.34.

Antonelli was with the Braves most of the season but pitched only three innings.

Satchel Paige, Negro hurler who was bought by the Indians during the stretch drive, was one of the 30 Clevelanders receiving a full share.

Other divisions of the series money among players:

National League—second place St. Louis Cardinals, $1,341.52 full share each, third place Brooklyn, full shares of $608.72; fourth place Pittsburgh, full shares of $391.34.

American League—second place Boston, full shares of $1,191.71; third place New York Yankees, $778.88 apiece; fourth place Philadelphia, full shares of $415.32.

Harris Called Lineman of Week, SWC

AUSTIN —(AP)— Dick Harris, all-America tackle for Texas last year, was named lineman of the week in the Southwest Conference for his play against Arkansas last Saturday, the American Statesman reported yesterday in its poll of seven conference publicity directors.

Harris, who is playing his senior year at his regular center position, won the honors for his fine play on offense and defense. He spearheaded defensive play which stopped the Arkansas attack virtually cold and knocked big holes in the Razorback line when Longhorn backs were carrying the ball.

Runners up for the weekly selection were ends Billy Hix of Arkansas and Cedric Copeland of Texas A & M and Guard George Brown of Texas Christian.

Largest crowd in witness a pro basketball game last season is believed to be the 17,853 that watched the Chicago Stags of the Basketball Association of America meet the visiting New York Knickerbockers.

26 of 28 Texas teams appearing in 16 games Saturday.

Sul Ross, the leading team with five wins and no defeats, takes on twice-beaten University of Corpus Christi at Alpine.

Texas Mines, unbeaten and untied in four games, goes to Albuquerque to play New Mexico in a Border Conference game.

Baylor, the only undefeated team left in the Southwest Conference, engages winless Texas A & M at Waco.

All the conferences have "leveling up" games.

In addition to the Baylor-Aggie contest, Rice will be trying to stay in the conference race against Texas at Houston. Two other members of the conference—Texas Christian and Southern Methodist—will be battling for sectional games. TCU meets Oklahoma at Fort Worth, Southern Methodist entertains Santa Clara at Dallas.

Two of the four Texas members of the Border Conference will have games counting in the standings, Texas Tech taking on Arizona at Tucson and Mines meeting New Mexico, West Texas State plays East Texas State of the Lone Star Conference at Dallas in a day game as a feature of the State Fair of Texas. Hardin-Simmons rests this week.

In the Lone Star Conference, two of the three teams unbeaten in conference play have tough games. University of Houston meets Trinity and Southwest Texas State takes on Stephen F. Austin, North Texas State, the other undefeated eleven, plays winless Sam Houston State.

In the Texas Conference it's the same way. Unbeaten Abilene Christian and Howard Payne meet McMurry and Southwestern respectively. The other undefeated teams, Hardin, rests this week. Austin College goes intersectional, tackling Southwest Missouri State at Springfield, Mo.

The Texas College schedule for Saturday:

Southwestern vs Howard Payne at Georgetown (night).

Southwest Texas State vs Stephen F. Austin at San Marcos (night).

Sul Ross vs University of Corpus Christi at Alpine (night).

Texas A & I vs East Texas Baptist College at Kingville (night).

Harvesters Open District Play Against Bulldogs Friday Night

The Pampa Harvesters are expected to be in almost perfect physical shape Friday night when they encounter the Plainview Bulldogs in a District 1-AA clash in Harvester Park.

This will be the first time since their opening game that the Harvesters will be in virtually top shape. Injuries have hounded the locals since the 20-0 trouncing they gave North Dallas.

Lamar Lively, brilliant "T" quarterback, is still nursing an injured back which he received several years ago. The old ailment did not show up until the Vernon game, but has troubled Lively since that time.

Wesley Kleth, 140-pound speed demon, underwent a minor leg operation several days ago, but will also be able to see action in the tilt.

Friday night's contest will also mark the return of Harbord Cox to the green and gold line-up. Cox suffered a bone infection at the first of the season and has been out of action, except for a few plays against Wichita Falls, since the first game.

The game will be the inaugural tilt of district competition for both teams. Coach W. C. O. Harris charges last, 27-0, to a powerful Sweetwater team last week. The Harvesters were idle.

Equipose set the world's record for 1 mile at Arlington in 1932 in 1:24 2-5.

Breezy Breeze

NEW YORK —(AP)— Oklahoma's football team really had a breeze against Kansas State last Saturday. The wind was so strong that once when Oklahoma's Darrell Royal punted, the game had to be held up while the ball was retrieved from a distant Amsterdam, N. Y. in the Class C hedge. . . another time Umpire

Mutt Vols tossed his pink handkerchief on the ground to mark a foul and then had to chase it half the length of the field.

Cari Braun, scoring ace of the New York Knickerbockers of the Basketball Association of America, pitched this summer for Amsterdam, N. Y. in the Class C New York Yankee farm.

★ WE, THE WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

NEA Staff Writer

Here are some of the differences between a "perfect housekeeper" and a "good housekeeper":

On an especially beautiful day the perfect housekeeper decides it is a perfect day to hang out all the winter woollens or clean the basement. The good housekeeper decides to hurry through her work and take the kids to the park.

When the children bring home friends from school the perfect housekeeper starts right in along a list of do's and don'ts, the most important of which is "You can't let all those children in the house!" The good homemaker accepts the children in a friendly way, hunts up something for them to eat, and doesn't worry about crumbs.

KIND TO PAPA

When Papa puts his feet on the davenport the perfect housekeeper asks him to take his shoes off or put a paper under his feet. The good homemaker leaves him alone. When a repair or odd job needs to be done the perfect housekeeper decides it has to be done at once, whether the man of the house is in the mood to do it or not. The good homemaker realizes it isn't a life-or-death matter and lets him choose his time for doing it.

The perfect housekeeper can't relax if there is anything out of place. The good homemaker can.

The perfect housekeeper enjoys few spur-of-the-moment pleasures. The good homemaker can usually change her schedule to join in a last-minute plan.

Foundation Plans School Training

Supreme Court Ruling Puts Merit Raises Under Unions

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Can an employer grant a merit raise to an employee without consent of the union representing his workers?

There may be confusion over that question because of action on it by the U.S. Supreme Court this week.

This will explain what can and cannot be done. The information here is from the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB). To understand it, go back a bit.

A company in Tennessee had been signing a contract every year with a union of its employees. The contract covered rates of pay. But the company—in addition to the agreed-upon pay rate given all the employees—gave some of them higher pay in the form of merit raises. The union claimed the right to bargain on merit raises. The Supreme Court, in effect, ruled that the company must bargain on merit raises.

But other questions arise. This is a roundup of questions and answers, with the answers given by the NLRB.

Q. Can an employer now continue to grant merit increases to his employees if he doesn't have anything about that in his union contract?

A. Yes. Unless an employer has a contract covering merit raises or unless the union wants to bargain about them, he can continue to grant merit increases.

(This is important to remember since some employers may think, because of the NLRB ruling in the case above, that they no longer can grant merit increases under any circumstances.)

Q. But what of a case where an employer bargains with a union over merit raises and the bargaining breaks down? Can he then, with the bargaining suspended, go ahead and grant merit increases?

A. Yes, provided he doesn't do it to try to smash the union by winning workers away from it. Of course, if he did grant merit raises after bargaining broke down, the union might complain to the NLRB that he was doing it to break the union.

Q. Suppose a union represents only a majority of the employees in a plant, say only 51 out of 100. Can an employer give the non-union workers merit raises?

A. Yes, just as he's free to give his union workers raises—provided he has no union contract covering merit raises. But once he signs such a contract, anything in that contract that applies to his union workers applies to his non-union workers, too. Why?

Because when a union represents only a majority of workers in a plant, its bargaining covers all the employees.

Q. But suppose there's no contract covering merit raises and the boss hands out some. Can the union ask him for a list of those who got the merit raises?

A. Yes. The NLRB says the boss must supply such a list, even though he has done no bargaining and has no contract covering merit raises.

Production Of Oil Hits New Record

TULSA —(AP)—The Oil and Gas Journal's weekly oil production report carried a familiar ring—another new all-time record for the nation.

Daily average production for the week ended Oct. 16, the journal said, was up 42,730 barrels over the previous week's figures. This made the country's total daily average 5,587,705 barrels.

Two states, Oklahoma and Wyoming, hit new highs for the year. Oklahoma's output increased 1,500 barrels to 422,250. Wyoming's went up to 2,680 to 161,610.

California had the greatest gain. The coast state second largest oil producer, almost reached the figures it had before its refinery strikes, reporting an increase of 25,520 barrels to 937,500.

Other increases were listed for Kansas, up 11,800 barrels to 302,500; Michigan, 4,150 to 47,950; Montana, 1,280 to 26,310; and Mississippi, 1,195 to 126,400.

Florida gained 25 barrels to 825, Alabama increased 150 to 1,400, and Illinois was up 500 to 18,600.

Greatest declines were in the following states: Indiana, down 2,900 barrels to 23,500; Kentucky, off 1,200 to 22,900; and Colorado down 1,310 to 47,450.

Production was unchanged in Texas, 2,507,000 barrels; New Mexico 133,310, and Nebraska, 350.

Mrs. Roxie Angell, 62, of Alexandria, Ind., may soon trade her tomato-canning job for a mess of cabbage. She has said she will inherit part of the $2,000,000 John O'Banion estate, but she'll keep on working "at least until the end of the tomato-canning season."

Syria Lacks Funds For Refugees

DAMASCUS, Syria —(AP)—Syria has run out of money to feed 116,000 Arab refugees from Palestine now within her borders, the Interior Ministry said.

Fouad Bey Muhasen, director general of the ministry and chairman of the Syrian Refugee Committee, made this disclosure in an interview with newsmen accompanying the U. S. ambassador to Egypt, Stanton Griffiths, on a tour of refugee camps.

The Syrian official expressed fear that disorders would result and many Palestinian Arabs would die unless additional outside assistance were forthcoming immediately.

The largest member of the cat family on this continent is the spotted jaguar, weighing sometimes more than 300 pounds. He often kills one deer or livestock a week and is relentlessly hunted by ranchers.

Skunks, when tamed, are more affectionate than kittens. They have two coats, a soft undercoat covered with glossy guard hairs.

Oil Company Gets $250 Million Loan

NEW YORK —(AP)—A $250 million loan for oil development in the Western hemisphere has been arranged for by Shell Caribbean Petroleum Co. of New Jersey.

The loan, one of the largest in the history of corporate finance, is being advanced by nine United States insurance companies and one Canadian company. They will buy Shell Caribbean bonds at par for the amount of the loan.

The bonds, bearing 4-percent interest and maturing in 1968, will be the only funded debt of the company. Shell Caribbean recently was incorporated in New Jersey to take over part of the assets of the Royal Dutch Shell group in the Western hemisphere.

Thief Takes Watch Dog

A thief who broke into her house took the 13-year-old terrier and nothing more, she reported.

Market Briefs

WALL STREET
 NEW YORK —(AP)—Modest demand was enough to lift stock prices fractionally to around a point in today's market.

The improvement checked, for the time being at least, downward tendencies which appeared near the close of trading yesterday.

A considerable variety of stocks refused to go along with the advance and receded fractionally. Utility issues, in favor for some time, were among the laggards.

Several large blocks of stock appeared on the ticker tape in early trading but overall activity soon slowed to a walk.

Among the gainers were U. S. Steel, Republic Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodrich, Boeing Aircraft, Carro De Paso, International Nickel, Westinghouse Electric, Du Pont, U. S. Gypsum, International Paper, Chesapeake & Ohio, Illinois Central, Pan American Airways, and Gulf Oil.

Among the losers were Electric Power & Light, Commonwealth & Southern, Montgomery Ward, Philip Morris, Radio Corp., Southern Pacific and Goodrich (N.Y.).

Jester Says Texas Will Go Democrat

AUSTIN — (AP) — Gov. Beauford H. Jester said he is unable to predict Democratic Party unity in Texas but is nevertheless confident the party will win by a "comfortable margin" in the Nov. 2 general election.

Texas, and that's assured by the fact the anti-Truman forces are so divided among themselves—as Republicans, States' Righters and a small segment of Wallace followers. Then there's the Prohibition Party, and the Vegetarian Party," Jester commented.

'Lover Boy' Can't Keep Own Wife

Ellsworth (Sonny) Wisecarver, 19, of Las Vegas, Nev., started making headlines at age 14 by eloping with older, married women, but he can't seem to keep his bride of 18 months happy. Four years ago Sonny startled California juvenile authorities by eloping with a 21-year-old mother of two children. Two years later he ran away, married a 25-year-old mother of two.

Atom Powered Plane Passed Theory Stage; Ready for Drawing Boards

BALTIMORE (AP)—An Oak Ridge scheme has already been worked out for a mobile atomic pile. The means Uncle Sam is all set to begin designing a plane that might fly to any corner of the globe and back without refueling. The problems ahead are to devise the engine, body, and controls. And to build a shield to protect the crew from radiation.

Such a plane might have a practical unlimited flying range.

Not long ago a City College of New York professor said atomic airplanes would be flying around within seven years—the first vehicles of any kind to be propelled by nuclear energy. Now David M. Poole has told the Baltimore Society of Automotive Engineers that

He explained that our present aircraft even the newest types, are limited by the very heavy loads of gasoline required to carry them long distances. However, atomic fuel is as powerful as two million times its weight in gasoline.

personnel, and the result should be the same for the counties." Following the workmen's compensation amendment appears one of the most discussed problems in the state—"proper representation" in the state Legislature. It appears on the ballot as:

"For, or against, the amendment to Section 28, Article 111 of the Constitution of Texas providing for a board to apportion the state into senatorial districts and representative districts in the event the Legislature fails to make such apportionment."

The proposed amendment to the Constitution will read: "The Legislature shall, at its first regular session after the publication of each United States decennial census, apportion the state into senatorial and representative districts, agreeable to the provisions of Section 25, 26, 26-a of this Article. In the event the Legislature shall at any such first regular session fail to publish the publication of a United States decennial census, fail to make such apportionment, same shall be done by the Legislative Redistricting Board of Texas, which is hereby created, and shall be composed of five (5) members as follows: the lieutenant governor, the speaker of the House of Representatives, the attorney general, the comptroller of public accounts, and the commissioner of the General Land Office, a majority of whom shall constitute a quorum. Said board shall assemble in the city of Austin within ninety (90) days after the final adjournment of such regular session. The board shall within sixty (60) days after assembling, apportion the state into senatorial and representative districts, or into senatorial or representative districts, as the failure of action of such Legislature may make necessary. Such apportionment shall be in writing and signed by three (3) or more of the members of the board duly acknowledged as the act and deed of such board, and when so executed and filed with the secretary of state, shall have force and effect of law. Such apportionment shall become effective at the next succeeding statewide general election. The Supreme Court of Texas shall have jurisdiction to compel such commission to perform its duties in accordance with the provisions of the section by writ of mandamus or other extraordinary writs conformable to the usages of law. The Legislature shall provide necessary funds for clerical and technical aid and for other expenses incidental to the work of the board, and the lieutenant governor, and the speaker of the House of Representatives shall be entitled to receive per diem and travel expense during the board's session in the same manner and amount as they would receive while attending a special session of the Legislature. This amendment shall become effective on Jan. 1, 1951."

Generally known as the Moffett Amendment, this would make it a "must" for the Legislature to redistrict the state senatorially and representatively every ten years, placing the final responsibility upon the five-man board and the Supreme Court if the Legislature fails to redistrict itself. If the board also fails to accomplish the task within 150 days after adjournment of the session, then the State Supreme Court is empowered to issue a writ of mandamus and force the board to act.

State senatorial and representative districts have remained the same since 1920 and an effort for almost two decades has been made by the WTCC to have the state redistricted. Since that time the population has shifted to such an extent that most informed quarters are of the opinion that representation is seriously unbalanced. If passed by the electorate, the redistricting would mean that possibly no more than three or four seats in the House of Representatives would be gained by the 132-county area in West Texas. The amendment also makes it impossible for the Legislature to continue to ignore the present Constitutional mandate by the provision of taking the matter to the courts.

The redistricting, as feared by many, will not give the heavier populated centers additional representation since the Constitution now provides that these cities may have no more than eight members of the House regardless of redistricting. Most of these now have seven seats and would gain only one piece by it. This was provided for in the old Moffett Amendment in 1936 that limited those cities of larger populations to the eight seats.

But the president drew a hand with these sentences: "Everybody South and North knows that there's only one choice in this campaign. Either the standard Republicans will buy the election or the standard Democrats will win. Other parties apply don't stand a chance."

Eight tickets would be "wasted." Mr. Truman didn't mention that ticket by name. Nor did he refer to his civil rights program which led to the Dixie uprising. His audience remained silent when he said:

Today big-money Republicanism is on the march, and to beat it we've all got to stand together. That's where we Democrats belong together, shoulder to shoulder.

But the president drew a hand with these sentences: "Everybody South and North knows that there's only one choice in this campaign. Either the standard Republicans will buy the election or the standard Democrats will win. Other parties apply don't stand a chance."

This is a black market gang at work in Shanghai. Since only about 30 people can buy restricted quotas of scarce drugs, the "Yellow Ox" gang waits all night for drug stores to open, then buys the whole supply. Later, they resell them at black market prices. Same tactics are used for other rare items.

REVOLT

Russians are doing the right thing. As long as they do the right thing, we will cooperate. An aide, however, viewed the Soviet withdrawal as a "military necessity." He indicated the Russians didn't want to get caught in Korea in the event of a third world war.
2. Rhee, in a press conference in Tokyo, where he visited General MacArthur, said Koreans can settle their own differences "without civil war" if the Russians complete their withdrawal.
3. Police in Seoul arrested two men for questioning in connection with a thwarted plot to blow up the road under President Rhee's automobile. The assassination attempt was foiled Monday night, prior to Rhee's departure for Tokyo.

The Soviet government in a written statement to the U. S. State Department Sept. 18 declared the Russians intended to get their troops out of Northern Korea by the end of this year. Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov expressed hope the United States would do likewise in Southern Korea.

The United States rebuffed the Korean plea since the end of the war. Americans occupy the southern half.
The United States rebuffed the Soviet proposal Sept. 30 in a brief note saying "The United States government regards the question of troop withdrawal as part of the larger question of Korean unity and independence, concerning which its views will be presented at the appropriate time by the United States delegate to the General Assembly of the United Nations."

Soviet troops have occupied Northern Korea since the end of the war. Americans occupy the southern half.
Russia's Sept. 18 declaration of leaving Korea had been viewed in the West as a maneuver aimed at ultimately turning over the whole country to the Communists in the north.
Russia has trained and armed a Korean force which some estimates place at 200,000 men. American-trained constabulary and other security forces south of the 38th parallel are estimated at 80,000 at the highest. American troops in Korea total less than 25,000 men. The Russians have had much larger army forces in the north.

RAIN

The false wireworm is not limited to the Texas Panhandle. The worm exists in all states between the Mississippi River and the Pacific Coast, ranging northward into British Columbia. These insects pass the winter in the form of partly grown larvae or as adults. The adult insects become active early in the spring and lay their eggs in the soil, from 10 to 60 being deposited at one place. The larvae feed on the seeds, roots, and underground parts of the stems of the plants which they attack. Under favorable conditions they complete their growth in from 110 to 150 days.

Decoration Group Holds Meeting

The Commercial Decoration Committee for the community Christmas program, "Flight of Rudolph Claus," met at the Chamber of Commerce office yesterday to complete plans, R. M. Samples, chairman, said this morning.

Inaugurating a new plan this year, the committee decided an engraved silver loving cup will be awarded to the first place winner in addition to a $25 cash prize. A circulating trophy, it must be won three successive years to become the permanent property of the establishment. Second and third prizes in the commercial decoration contest will be $15 and $10 respectively. All establishments planning to compete in the Christmas program must have their windows ready to be judged Dec. 10, Samples said.

Judging for the event will be three out-of-town disinterested persons. No particular rules must be followed in the contest and any Christmas theme will be acceptable. However, originality will be in the establishments' favor, Samples said.

On the Commercial Decoration Committee are: Myrtle Simmons, Bunny Behrman, Bill Parks, Bryant Caraway, R. E. Hamm, Murray Sealey, Mildred Lafferty, J. J. Calhoun, C. L. Jones and J. C. Daniels.
