

Wounded Deputy Recalls Scene In Which Colleagues Were Slain

DALLAS (UPI)—"I started shooting," said the man with a three-inch scar on his left cheek. "I shot at everybody."

With those words, Rene Adolfo Guzman, 33, an ex-convict and imitator of Al Capone, confessed to the execution style slayings of three deputy sheriffs in the barren bottomlands of the Trinity River near downtown Dallas last Monday night.

Guzman and Leonardo Ramos Lopez, 25, were held in jail without bond Saturday, charged with killing the officers and wounding another. Both men were identified as the killers by Deputy A.D. McCurley, who escaped in the darkness as his fellow officers were gunned down.

In Guzman's confession, signed 16 hours after he and Lopez were captured Friday, he said the two men disarmed three officers who came to arrest them for burglary. A short time later, two more deputies came to help and they too were disarmed and tied up, Guzman said.

Guzman said he and Lopez loaded the bound lawmen in a car and drove them to the river bottom. He said one of the officers got his hands free and took a swing at Guzman. Guzman, a pistol in each hand, fired until the captives fell in the darkness, the statement said. Then he said he and Lopez jumped in the car and drove away.

Killed were Dallas County Deputies Samuel Garcia Infante and William Don Reese and Ellis County Deputy A.J. Robertson. Ellis County Deputy Wendell Dover, 49, was shot twice but is recovering.

"If there ever was a routine burglary interrogation it was this one," Dover said from his hospital bed in Ennis, 30 miles south of Dallas. "There was no hint of violence, no indication that anything was wrong."

Dover said he went outside to check a car believed used in a previous burglary.

"I have no idea what happened in there—how they got the jump on them," Dover said. "I was still bending over the car when I felt the gun in my back."

Dover was taken inside the house and tied up.

"Infante had been trying to talk them out of killing us. And he really tried to work on the tall man. He told him they had our money, three cars and guns, and why not take off for Mexico where it was safe."

"It was no use."

The lawmen were forced into a car and taken to the river bottom, Dover said.

"They told us to get out. Infante said 'this is it.' I was sure by then they were going to shoot us. Reese made a jump for the man who rode in the middle. He began firing with both guns. The other man started firing too. We scattered."

Dover said Infante and Reese were felled by gunshots, and that he and Robertson ran away in the darkness, with the gunmen chasing them.

"Run, Dover," Robertson said. He then was killed by a shot in the back.

"I was running up the bank when I was shot from the top of the embankment. I don't remember anything but more shots. I knew I was the last one on my feet. I couldn't say how long I laid there. Then I got up. I saw A.J. lying there and I eased down and felt his neck. He was dead."

During the four-day manhunt for the killers, the president of the Dallas Police Association said the death penalty should be mandatory for persons convicted of killing policemen.

"The electric chair should be dusted off and used for the purpose for which it was meant," said Sgt. Preston Parks. "The attitude we've taken by not executing anyone in over 10 years... is our way of telling the hoodlums that they can kill our policemen and we won't punish them too severely."

"It is error alone which needs the support of the government. Truth can stand by itself."

'Alert' Triggers Nationwide Jitters

ARRIVE HERE MONDAY

Rotary Club To Host Visitors From Chile

Seven members of a Group Study Exchange team from Chile who began a tour of West Texas on Feb. 1 will arrive in Pampa late tomorrow afternoon for a five-day visit in the city as guests of the Pampa Rotary Club.

They are due to arrive around 4:30 p.m. at St. Matthews Church, coming here from Wellington where they are spending today.

The Chilean group will be hosted at a dinner in the Pampa Club at 6:30 p.m. Monday.

At 10 a.m. Tuesday they are to attend an informal seminar in the Chamber of Commerce office. Mayor Milo Carlson and City Manager Mack Wolford will brief the group on city government. Judge Don Cain will talk on county government operation. Roy Sparkman, chamber vice president, will outline C. of C. activities and Don Lane will present an illustrated lecture on Pampa.

At 12 noon Tuesday the visitors from Chile will be guests at a regular monthly luncheon of Chamber of Commerce directors in Coronado Inn.

Following the luncheon they will go to Las Pampas Galleries at 1:30 p.m. for a cultural seminar. Tuesday night will be spent at the Shrove Tuesday Pancake Supper at St. Matthews Episcopal parish hall.

Wednesday forenoon the visitors from abroad will visit Spanish classes at Pampa Junior High and the Senior High School and be taken on a tour of facilities at the high school.

At 11:45 a.m. they will be taken to Baker Elementary School for a 12 noon luncheon and visit there until 2:30 p.m. when they will go to Carver Educational Services center for an orientation on Pampa's Independent School System.

The remainder of Wednesday will be "free time" when the visitors will have an opportunity to choose their own activities. Thursday will also be free up until Thursday night when they will be guests at the Rotary Club's annual Ladies Night banquet in Coronado Inn.

Friday the visitors will say goodbye to Pampa and leave for two days in Pahrump, three in Las Vegas and two in Dalhart.

Members of the group will be guests in the homes of Pampa Rotarians during their stay here. (See the Rearview Mirror column on the editorial page of today's Pampa Daily News).

The visit to Pampa by the Group Study Exchange team is part of a tour through the entire District. 573 of West Texas Rotary clubs. The West Texas District sent a team to Chile's District 476 in South America last May and June. Don Nelson, Pampa Rotarian, was a member of that team. Chile's District 476 team now is paying an exchange visit in West Texas.

The tour started in the Midland-Odessa area on Feb. 1 and will continue through the month of March.

Rotary International is sponsoring the Group Study Exchange project as an educational activity for the promotion of better understanding among peoples of the world.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS — Concerned wives of service men have formed a group in Pampa to encourage a letter-writing campaign in the area. It is hoped that it will aid in a nationwide effort to improve the lot of prisoners of war held by North Vietnam or its allies. Pictured from left; Mrs. James R. Tate, Mrs. Herman Blahak and Mrs. James Ayres, whose husband is listed as missing in action by the United States Air Force, as they coordinate the program here. (Staff Photo)

TO IMPROVE POW TREATMENT

Letter-Writing Campaign Launched In Pampa Area

A resolution in support of captured American and Allied fighting men, and those missing in action in the Vietnam conflict has been mailed to civic groups in Pampa as a part of a nationwide move to plead for humane treatment of captured troops being held prisoners of war in Vietnam and its allies. The resolutions should be signed and returned to a member of the committee in charge.

A group of concerned wives, including one whose husband was listed as missing in action on Jan. 3 of this year, are sponsoring the project as an Easter season effort in improving conditions believed prevalent in detention areas maintained by the North Vietnamese.

The resolution, which can be signed by all club memberships, is strictly humanitarian and non-political in nature.

It asks for the release of names and physical condition of all prisoners; and requests impartial inspections of prisoner of war facilities by international humanitarian organizations; provision of medical treatment of all prisoners; provision of a regular flow of mail, food, and comfort items; cessation of the use of prisoners for purposes of public degradation, political propaganda and mental torture to their innocent families.

A proposal to immediately negotiate through international humanitarian organizations for the fair and equitable exchange of prisoners of both sides.

Pampa school students will also be given addresses where letters may be sent tomorrow.

Leaders of the campaign in Pampa are Mrs. James Tate, wife of Major James Tate, serving with the Air Force in the Philippines; Mrs. G. T. Colpitts, wife of Captain G. T. Colpitts, serving with the Army in Da Nang; Mrs. Herman Blahak, wife of Major Herman Blahak, serving with the Air Force in Thailand; and Mrs. Brenda Ayres, wife of Major James Ayres, listed as missing in action by the United States Air Force. Mrs. J. B. Ayres, mother of the missing pilot, is also working on the project.

The members of this committee have expressed hope that everyone in the area will respond to the letter-writing campaign.

Mrs. Tate stated that her husband had reported that the mail flow from prisoners of war had tripled in 1970. The extensive letter-writing and petition campaigns to the government of North Vietnam were activated late in 1969. She further stated that it was the feeling of many that the campaigns were instrumental in the increased mail flow from POW's.

The postal department in Pampa advised the group that all letters bearing addresses indicating their content would be held over until March 15 and shipped out in one lot, reaching the destination in time for the Easter observances.

Persons wishing to write a personal letter are encouraged to call Mrs. Tate, at 669-2926, for available addresses.

Bumper stickers supporting the campaign are available at the Red Cross office in City Hall at no cost.

Questions concerning postage amounts also can be answered by calling Mrs. Tate.

Norther Blows Winter Back Into Texas Panhandle With Icy Blast

A typical Panhandle blue norther blow into the Top O' Texas late Saturday, dropping the bottom out of temperatures, and causing residents to move a little closer to the fireplace.

Weather forecasts late last night indicated the sudden descent of the mercury, was only a forerunner of a system which could drop up to four inches of snow on the area by this morning, with a 60 per cent chance for continued snow through today.

Shortly after 7 p.m. yesterday, the Amarillo office of the U.S. Weather Bureau advised that snow connected with the system which was expected to cross the Panhandle was already falling in Albuquerque and Las Vegas to the west, and north through Raton, La Junta and Pueblo in Colorado. Snow began accumulating in Dalhart, here in the Panhandle, shortly after 6 p.m. Saturday.

Sporadic sleet began falling in Pampa about 5 p.m. yesterday. Snow began falling about 8:30 p.m.

Travelers in the Top O' Texas area were issued a hazardous driving conditions warning as early as noon yesterday when weather watchers first announced the potential of the approaching storm.

Area residents were advised to expect no change in weather conditions through today when the temperature is expected to reach only into the upper 20's with a low tonight predicted to be around a chilly 17 degrees. Winds will be northerly through today, gusting 20-30 miles per hour.

Hazardous driving conditions were expected to persist until tomorrow when a clearing trend is indicated and the high is expected to peak around 40 degrees.

Problems Facing Oil Industry To Be C Of C Topic

Problems currently confronting oil and gas producers will be discussed by Granville Dutton, Dallas oilman, at tomorrow's monthly membership luncheon of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce in the Coronado Inn Starlight Room.

The program will be in charge of C. D. Zlomke, chairman of the chamber's Oil and Gas Committee.

Dutton, who is manager of unitization and joint operations for Sun Oil Co., also will present latest information on legislation affecting the industry.

The speaker is a professional engineer and a member of the Society of Petroleum Engineers and the Texas Bar Assn. He currently is a director of the SPE, has served on the Interstate Oil Compact Engineering Committee and the Technical Committee of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association's Water Conservation Committee.

Prior to the noon luncheon, the Chamber of Commerce Agriculture Committee will meet in the hotel's Cibola Room.

Foster Whaley, committee chairman, said members will begin preliminary arrangements for lining up buyers at the Junior Livestock sale on March 10, final day of the three-day Top O' Texas Junior Livestock Show, to be held March 8-10 at Pampa's Recreation Park.

Reservations for the noon luncheon, open to the public, will be taken at the chamber office until 10 a.m. Monday.

Mistake By Operator Called Human Error

By United Press International

A teletype operator at a civil defense command post accidentally flashed an authenticated national emergency "alert" message to broadcast stations across the nation Saturday, causing many to leave the air and triggering widespread public fear.

"It was just a simple human error," said the head of the Civil Defense National Emergency Warning Center where the message was transmitted over news service wires to radio and television stations at 9:33 a.m. EST during a routine test.

Louis Smoyer, director of the facility at the North American Air Defense Command (NORAD) near Colorado Springs, Colo., said the operator, W. Eberhardt, somehow put the wrong tape into the transmitter.

It was just a matter of grabbing the wrong one," he said in accord with their role in the Emergency Broadcast System (EBS) that constitutes one of the civil defense information networks: Other stations waited for confirmation of the emergency via another wire linking the White House with the four commercial broadcasting networks and their affiliates.

Finally, at 9:43 a.m. EST, United Press International and the Associated Press, whose broadcast wire had been preempted for transmission of the original message, received word from the Civil Defense Agency that the alert was erroneous. The two wire services advised stations immediately to resume normal programming.

Meanwhile, the alert had been broadcast from Maine to California and the calls from frightened listeners were pouring in.

Typical of those who telephoned police as well as stations was Corine Muldoon, 24, of Cambridge, Mass.; She told a Boston station she was getting ready to go to work when she heard the announcement.

"I couldn't believe it," she said. "I thought it was a joke. I thought I was dreaming. Then I switched the dial and some stations were playing music, so I didn't know what was happening. You can't believe how panicky I was. All I could think of was Laos, that Nixon had pushed the wrong button. I feel I lost about 10 years."

Near Hysterics
In St. Louis, newsman Bob Shea of station KXOK said his daughter was listening at home when his station went off the air and nearly was in hysterics.

For some listeners, it apparently was reminiscent of the famous 1938 "War of the Worlds" broadcast on the night before Halloween by Orson Wells and his Mercury Theater players. But most people seemed to react far more calmly to the emergency alert Saturday.

Despite the advisory information issued by the news services, some stations remained off the air until the Civil Defense Agency put out an official notice of cancellation. That came 44 minutes after the initial alert and read:

"Message authenticator: Impish-impish
"Cancel" message sent at 09:33 EST repeat cancel message sent at 09:33 EST
"Message authenticator: Impish-impish
"20 Feb."

"I thought I was gonna have a heart attack trying to open that damped envelope," said the news director of WEVA in Emporia, Va.

"I haven't felt that way since John F. Kennedy was killed," Stations Act

In the minutes that followed, stations started leaving the air. Some continued broadcasting.

The Federal Communications Commission said in Washington that it was investigating and would issue a report next week.

Tricia Nixon Is 25 Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Tricia Nixon will be 25 years old today, and she would just as soon forget it.

"I'll be a quarter of a century," she says.

Tricia flew with her parents Saturday to Camp David, Md., the Presidential mountain retreat, for a quiet birthday celebration away from the Washington spotlight.

Her sister Julie is spending the weekend with her husband, David Eisenhower, at Newport, R.I., where he is undergoing naval officer training, but Julie already has given Tricia birthday gifts.

Tricia is a very "private" person, more so than her father, and recurring rumors of her imminent engagement to Edward Finch Cox, a Harvard law student from Long Island, irritate her and reinforce her desire for privacy.

To cool speculation about her plans—those in the know insist she will be married in June—Tricia has stopped wearing a new diamond sapphire ring seen occasionally in the past on her engagement finger.

She is rarely seen in public with her friends. She tutors inner-city children at a local elementary school during the week.

Thompson Files For School Board; Dr. Cox Withdraws His Candidacy

Jimmy Thompson, president of Pampa school board, filed Friday for re-election, and so far, was the only candidate for the two available positions in the April 3 trustee election. The other incumbent, Warren Hasse, has not yet indicated if he will file for reelection.

Dr. Harbord Cox, who filed Wednesday for the school board, announced Friday he had withdrawn from the election, for personal reasons, according to Bob Carmichael, board secretary.

Candidates may file with Fomer Craig in the school business office or with Carmichael, until March 4. Absentee voting dates are March 15-30 in Craig's office. Election hours are 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., Saturday, April 3, in the Pampa High School Music Building.

Thompson, a Pampa resident since 1949, is a native of Clarendon and received his B.A. and L.L.B. Degrees from the University of Texas. He is a member of the First Baptist Church, and of the executive board of Adobe Walls Council

State Guard Sets Meeting

Radio, telephone communications and procedures will be discussed when the Pampa Security Unit of the Texas State Guard meets Tuesday at the National Guard Armory at 7:30 p.m.

The State Guard is designed to replace local units of the National Guard in the event the NG is mobilized, and will be utilized for service only within the state, according to a State Guard spokesman here.

The State Guard trains entirely for use during an emergency or disaster of a civil nature, and will be activated only by authorization from the Governor of Texas.

Presently there are vacancies for NCOs as well as enlisted personnel at the local level. Prior military service is not a requirement.

Speaker Traces History Of Panhandle Oil Fields

Lloyd Pippin of the Phillips Petroleum Co., Borger, took his listeners back more than a half century in local area oilfield history when he addressed a dinner meeting of the Panhandle chapter of the American Petroleum Institute Thursday night in the Pampa Country Club.

Pippin spoke on the "First 50 Years of the Panhandle-Hugoton Oil Fields" and traced the history and geological configuration since the field was discovered in 1918. His talk was illustrated with colored slides.

C. D. Zlomke, API chapter chairman, announced that the chapter's annual golf tournament will be held May 15-16 at the Huber Golf Course in Borger.

Arrangements for the tourney including flight sponsors, prizes and gift certificates are in charge of co-chairmen Pete Blanda and A. D. Pickett. Proceeds from the golf tournament, Zlomke said, will be used for an API scholarship to an engineering student interested in the oil industry.

The API's annual Spring Dance will be held at 8:30 p.m. on March 19 at the Pampa Country Club with music by Red Wedgworth and his Miami Stompers featuring vocalist Fredetta Chandless.

Arrangements for the dance and the API's membership drive will be in charge of a committee headed by API second vice chairman B. R. Nunn of Skelly Oil Co., Pampa.

Cities Service Employees Given Safety Awards

Nearly 14 years of accident-free work has earned special recognition for 11 employees of Cities Service Gas Co. The men, stationed at the Higgins Compressor Station, were honored at a company-sponsored dinner for working without a disabling injury.

In addition, 31 employees of the company's Pampa and Burnett Compressor Stations were honored for working 14 months without a disabling injury.

Supt. Carl D. Anderson, Sr., accepted safety plaques in behalf of all stations. Recipients from Higgins included: Virgil Dunkin, foreman; Leonard Barton, Alva Bernard, Wayne Brown, Jesse Bussard, Clark Cann, Elden Hostutler, Paul Ripstein, Merrel Satterwhite, Lester Stout and R.B. Willyard.

Employed at Pampa are: Harold Bruington, foreman; James Allen, Carl Anderson, Jr., Grover Austin, Jr., Leon Brown, Thomas Bruce, David Budd, E.E. Campbell, Leo Casey, William Clark, Don Egerton, Gerald Elshimer, Glenn Giblin, Larry Henken, Frank Holman, Harold Justice, R.L. Cates Urges Residents To Express Their Views On Issues In Legislature

State Representative Phil Cates, Lefors, asked members and guests of the Roberts-Gray County's Farm Bureau to encourage district residents to write to him concerning their feelings on issues in the State Legislature when he addressed an early Saturday breakfast held in Pampa.

Cates is serving on five committees in the Legislature including Livestock; Oil, Gas and Mining; Public Education, Conservation and Reclamation; and Youth.

Cates repeatedly pointed out his desire to hear from the people in the area. "This is the only way I can act in the best interest of the majority," he stated as he outlined legislative action passed, and pending in Austin.

Cates told the group that several possibilities of new developments in the oil and gas industry are pending, some of which could have a direct upgrade effect on the economy of this area.

He explained several legislation proposals directed at feedlot operations in the state, pointing out one issue in which he is especially eager in hearing views from local farmers, ranchers and feedlot operators.

This issue, if passed, would require feedlots to bond all incoming cattle. Representative Cates reported that he had made the motion that a bill improving retired teacher benefits and updating practicing teachers' retirement programs be presented for action on the floor.

Another bill pending legislation, he stated, would protect school principals from suits on grounds of policy items designed by local school boards.

In the conservation and reclamation committee, Cates stated that much work had been done concerning the Houston shipping channels and attention had been directed to problems of local water conservation districts.

The highlight of statements offered by the Representative were those concerning the youth of the state from 1961 to 1965.

'Stanley Cup '70' Shown At Meet Of Rotary Club

"Stanley Cup '70" was the title of the movie seen by members of the Pampa Rotary Club Wednesday.

Bob Mill, director of Public Relations for the Pioneer Natural Gas Company, spoke in behalf of the Amarillo Wranglers along with presenting the film to the club assembled for their noon meeting at the Coronado Inn.

The film showed highlights of the Boston Bruins taking four straight games from the St. Louis Blues Stanley Cup play in the world series meeting of the two best clubs in hockey.

The next meeting of the Rotarians will be a ladies night banquet next Thursday. A highlight of the evening will be seven guests from Chile joining Rotarians and their wives for dinner in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn.

The March third meeting will be held at the cafeteria of the Horace Mann public school.

Nation's Youngest College President Settles In

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
FRANCONIA, N.H.—(NEA) — There is a rope tow and a bunny hill right below the third-floor window of Leon Botstein, with the white Mountains of New Hampshire ranging to the west.

Botstein has been on skis on that hill once.

He is the president of Franconia College, on the site of a resort hotel on a promontory overlooking the north country village of 800 people.

He is also 23 years old, which makes him unique in the annals of American education.

"I call him Leon," says his svete secretary, Diane, who is seven years older and has been on the job a month.

In his office, which is furnished in makeshift modern — the building is old Catskills, rambling four-story frame — Leon Botstein is working on a hamburger, French fries and a cola, ordered up from the diner at the bottom of the hill. It is intercession, and he is working on a report for the Board of Trustees.

He has been president of the college for six months. It has 250 students in residence and 32 faculty members. The style of the school, both people and surroundings, is mod-informal. The shortest haircut belongs to Botstein, who keeps his black sideburns neatly trimmed but lets his kinky black hair grow freely upward and outward. He is clean-shaven, wears a tie and a herringbone sports coat. He could pass for 19.

Until a year and a half ago, Botstein was a university student himself. Now he has been on the Johnny Carson show and the Dick Cavett show. "That's something, he says, 'to tell one's grandchildren."

"One of the difficulties of this job is the public nature of it. Even if you get important in your own field, it never has the public dimensions of this. It's hard to know what the publicity about my age does for the school at large. It simply creates publicity about the school, and that's good. It's a plus which they hadn't counted on receiving."

Like many other private schools of its size, without large endowments, Franconia needs attention because it has financial problems. When he took the job last summer, Botstein said he wanted to be a "college president in the old sense, not out raising funds all the time, but a guy whose principal efforts are spent trying to shape the educational direction of the school." And how has this worked out?

"Thirty per cent of my time is spent either directly or indirectly working with the financial problems," he says. "At this point I wouldn't say the school is in danger of going out of business. But you have to make very important decisions that affect lives — about fundraising, about allocation of resources, about budgeting, about personnel."

Still, in his first semester, he taught courses in Russian, in Greek civilization and in chorus. An accomplished violinist, he also held a concert for the school last fall.

"There's not a lot of time," he says, "for reelection. It's very hard for a college struggling for basic survival to think in terms of 25 years into the future."

We'd like it to be a place where student and faculty share the responsibility of running it. We would also like it to be a place where new approaches to higher education are tried."

He will lecture on that subject in a symposium at Auburn University in Alabama on Feb. 25. Next semester, he will restrict his teaching at Franconia to a course on the future of American education. Obviously, he's a part of it.

You understand what Botstein is all about as an educator when he explains why a young person would enroll at Franconia College (two students now are older than their 23-year-old president).

"He or she would be part of a community endeavor," he says, "where students and faculty, and trustees as well, are actively involved together to help the college grow. One is simply not a student, a replaceable figure in a large student body, or even a small student body. There's no anonymity around here. We're interested in trying out new ideas."

Like his generation, Botstein is concerned with motivation and relevance.

"Too many colleges," he notes, "have become so vocationally oriented that they simply process individuals for a degree. A social or economic status is achieved which is comfortable but has never brought the student to thinking of the assumptions behind his or her goals."

Such eloquence led the trustees of Franconia to hire him last June. He was then a special assistant to the president of the New York City Board of Education. They met him when he visited his brother-in-law, a Franconia student. The president of the school resigned, and Botstein was enlisted to help find a successor. A month later, the chairman suggested he send his name in. His academic credentials were a bachelor's degree from Chicago and a master's in history from Harvard.

"I didn't expect anything," he admits, "but thought it would be fun. When the offer came, I didn't agonize. I was young and, you know, this is serendipity. You have to make a split-gut decision. You either get on the bus or you let it go by. I got on the bus."

"The risk here is high. If a job doesn't work when you're 50, you've got something built up behind you, as a teacher or in academics. But when you're say, 26 and you've been a college president and it doesn't work out well, it's an odd dossier with which to go looking for a job."

Latin America's Growing Nationalism Feeling Demands More Attention From Washington

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of eight weekly articles in which United Press International correspondents report on and assess great decisions facing the world in 1971. Today, U.S. Latin American Relations.

By GUILLERMO MARTINEZ BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—From all sides of the Latin American political spectrum, a growing feeling of nationalism is demanding more attention and respect from the United States.

In Venezuela the government of President Rafael Caldera made his demands known by raising taxes on oil companies from 52 to 60 per cent.

The Andean group—Chile, Peru, Ecuador, Colombia and Bolivia—recently adopted a regulation that requires all foreign owned companies to sell 51 per cent of their domestic assets in the next 20 years. In Chile, that country's new Marxist President Salvador Allende already has moved to expropriate American owned companies and banks.

Even the right-wing military government of Argentina recently adopted a "buy Argentine" law making it mandatory for government-run enterprises to buy local products "whenever possible."

Demand is Changing
 The cry "Yankee go home" is still heard throughout Latin America from those who insist all American development is in fact exploitation. But a new and more constructive demand is one that goes: "America, listen to us!"

Colombia's Adolfo Lopez Michelsen, a former foreign minister and a possible presidential candidate in 1974, puts it this way:
 "To improve its relations with Latin America, the United States should stop getting involved economically, militarily and politically in other continents where their interests are less pressing."

Michelsen's views are seconded by many Latin Americans. Victor Ferretiz, 33, a Mexican chemical engineer, expresses a popular viewpoint when he says:
 "We don't want aid as much as respect. The United States seems to pay attention to Latin America only when there is a revolution and it (Washington) feels its national interest is at stake. I don't hate the people of the United States. But, how can I respect the U.S. government when it comes charging in like a fireman to put out fires in Latin America without showing much concern with what has caused the fires."

Wealth Creates Division
 The difference in wealth between the United States and its southern neighbors is a major problem in seeking ways to improve relations in the western hemisphere. Some observers feel the United States will never be liked by Latin Americans until a more equitable economic balance can be struck. The proverbial rich cousin is never liked by his poor relatives.

Carlos Sanz de Santamaria, president of the Inter-American Committee of the Alliance for Progress (CIA), believes the economic difficulties can be solved.
 "The solution has two aspects," Sanz de Santamaria says. "It requires a larger share of the U.S. market for Latin products, and it demands a substantial industrial modernization in Latin America."

Easy to Outline
 The solution, while easy to outline, is difficult to implement, yet it stands at the very crux of the divergence of opinions between the Latin American nations and the United States.

In recent years the Latin American nations have been demanding less foreign aid and better prices and a bigger market for their products in the American market.

Latin America has already shown it will not go along compliantly with the dictates of the United States.
 First there was Cuba entering the Soviet orbit in the early 1960's. Then in 1970 Allende became the first freely elected Socialist president in the Western hemisphere.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A few weeks ago I went to a neighborhood movie and as I was leaving the theater I saw Sparky Lugg, a member of my bowling team, drive by. In the car with him was a woman who was not his wife.

The next day I called up Sparky and said, "Who was that lady I saw you with last night?"

"That was no lady," Sparky replied "that was an Oldsmobile."

At first I thought of Sparky was giving me an evasive answer. But now I'm not so sure.

In a lecture entitled "The Machine as a Sexual Object," which was presented this week at the Smithsonian Institution, Dr. George Basalla of the University of Delaware confided that men sometimes become emotionally involved with mechanical devices, such as autos.

Blurred Distinction
"The great American ritual of washing and waxing automobiles is basically a sexual pastime," he said.

I'll not attempt to retrace all of the ground that Dr. Basalla covered, but one point impressed me as particularly salient. He suggested that in some men's minds the distinction between the human female and the machine has become somewhat blurred.

I take this to mean that certain men may tend to think of autos as women. Or, in what probably could lead to even stickier situations, to think of women as autos.

If so, it goes a long way toward explaining a subsequent conversation I had with Sparky Lugg.

One night when we were having a beer after the bowling match, Sparky divulged that he and his wife Shasta had separated.

Domestic Accident
"I'm sorry to hear that," I said. "You always seemed perfectly mated. What caused you to split up?"

"To be honest with you, I've fallen in love with another car," Sparky confessed.

"Holy Hudson!" I remonstrated. "All of us have become attached to cars at some point in our lives. But that's no reason for getting a divorce."

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL, Executive Secretary ARC
We have three new Red Cross Volunteers working at the Highland General Hospital on Saturday and Sunday. These girls wear the blue and white uniforms and we are very proud of them for giving so much of their time to this work. They are: Lynn Ketchum, who will work on the first, third and fifth Saturday mornings; Janetta Webb, will work on the 2nd and second and fourth Saturday mornings; and Patricia Bradley, who will work on the first, third and fifth Saturday afternoons.

We had a thank-you letter from the VA hospital to the Lamar School for the clever Washington Birthday (Feb. 15 this year) tray favors and mats. Also to Horace Mann for the lovely Valentine tray favors and mats. These boys and girls work so hard to make the patients at the VA hospital in Amarillo happy. We want to add our thanks, too, for helping Red Cross continue this important work.

As the Easter season approaches, many families even some in our own town are in doubt as to the whereabouts, or in fact the existence, of their loved ones.

We wish to request of you that you take a few minutes of your time and write a letter to the communist regarding the treatment of our prisoners of war. Below is a copy for you to follow:

Prince Souphanouvong
Care of M. Sot Pethrasi
Neo Lao Hak Sat Representative
Vietnam, Laos

I am very concerned about the American Prisoners of war and those listed as missing in action in Southeast Asia. I think that we should know where our men are.

Would you please consider sending out an accurate monthly notice of our dead and captured, and release of our sick and wounded. There are many children who do not know if their fathers are dead or alive. WE CARE.

Sincerely, Sign your name and town.

Be sure and send this letter airmail with 2-10 cent airmail stamps on the envelope. If this helps, you will be glad you helped.

The Multi-Media First Aid Class had the first four hours of the class Saturday morning with Noah Quinn, FA Instructor. Quinn is an employee of Northern Natural Gas Co. at Skellytown. The second part of the class will be taught March 6 from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m.

We omitted the names of the Hospital Volunteers who worked on the third week but they are: Monday: Mrs. Fred Ammeter; Tuesday: Miss Mollie B. Richey and Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor; Wednesday: Lora Dunn and Ruth Moseley; Thursday: Miss Margaret Wilkerson and Mrs. Ruth Tarpley; Friday: Miss Lella Clifford.

This coming week, or the fourth week, we will have working at the Highland General Hospital: Monday: Mrs. J. Kent Hicks; Tuesday: Mrs. Lee Harrah and Mrs. A.L. Patrick; Wednesday: Mrs. W.A. Rankin and Mrs. Guy Andis; Thursday: Mrs. Robert Martin and Mrs. Chester Thompson; Friday: Mrs. J.B. White and Mrs. James Trusty. Thanks, girls, for your continued work with Red Cross.

Harvesters Sail Toward District Title

The hustling Harvesters have guaranteed themselves a tie for the District 3-AAAA title after defeating the Amarillo Golden Sandstorm 69 to 61 Friday night on the Sandies home courts.

The Harvesters were led in their efforts by 5'11" Marsh Gamblin with 17 points while high point man for district Mike Edgar was held to 14 after getting into foul trouble early in the game.

Edgar was benched after having two fouls called against him almost back to back early in the first quarter.

The victory holds a special place for the Harvesters as in their first encounter they downed the Sandies 100 to 74. The much improved Amarillo team cut the Harvester margin down to 8 points in the fourth quarter using a full court press and two or three on one situations.

The Harvesters were never in any real danger from the Sandies as the two brief one point leads the Amarillo team had were early in the first quarter.

Pampa seemed to have a little trouble getting the ball to bound in their arms from the backboards last night as elbows kept getting in the way. The battle under the boards kept both Amarillo and Pampa players skipping across the floor much like a stone on water. (SEE PHOTO PAGE 9)

Fighting under the boards was allowed and the tilt was truly a tilt as the contest looked more like karate instructions than basketball.

"The game was called loosely?" according to Robert McPherson, Harvester coach, "and I expected to have an injury at any time. We were lucky though as all of the boys showed up at practice sore and bruised but not really damaged."

"The game was a tough one on the team but I am really happy we won it."

The Pampa bench contributed a lot to the Harvester effort as Donnie Cain and Micky Sims came into the game at crucial periods and managed to keep the Harvesters' heads above water.

Donnie Cain was ushered off the courts late in the fourth quarter after belting an insult at Sandie coming down court. "I really can't blame Donnie," McPherson stated, "because it was rough under the boards and the referees were letting both teams get away with slugging it out. I guess however, that you can't do the same thing coming down court."

Cain played a good defensive game and gave one of his best showings of the 1971 season. Micky Sims was called for charging after an Amarillo player was used as a cushion when Sims fell to the floor after making a layup.

All in all both teams played good basketball, football, soccer, and should have promising wrestling squads after the basketball season ends.

Four of the Harvesters were in double figures in Friday's games: Gamblin with 17, Edgar with 14, Bunton with 11 and Cain with 13.

Pampa hit 53 per cent during the first half of play while the best the Sandies could do was 32 per cent. The second half was a repeat of the first with Pampa losing four percentage points for 49 per cent from the floor with Amarillo picking up 9 points for 41 per cent mark.

Improvement was needed by the Harvesters on the charity tosses as Amarillo hit 15 of 20 free throws while the Harvesters sank 15 of 29.

The final period of play was perhaps the most active as several fouls were levied by the officials on both teams. It was in this quarter that Cain was benched after his run-in with Amarillo's Airhart.

By outlasting the Sandies, Pampa has guaranteed themselves a tie for the 3-AAAA title. The Harvesters can win the district outright by a win over Borger Tuesday night and if they do lose and Palo Duro wins the playoff game will be held on neutral courts Friday night.

The outlook for Tuesday's match against the Bulldogs is a rough and tumble affair because Borger upset the Harvesters in the first half of district play 55 to 53 and defeated Tascosa 61 to 60.

"Any team that can down the Rebels has something on the ball," McPherson stated in a telephone interview, "and the Harvesters will have to hustle if we are going to walk away with the 3-AAAA title Tuesday night."

"If we play well and can keep our injuries under control and no one is sick we'll be O.K.," he continued.

Pampa will start the same five as in Amarillo's tilt against Borger but will rely upon the outstanding help on the bench to win the title.

Game time for the match is 8 p.m., Tuesday night in Harvester Fieldhouse. The support from Pampa fans is needed by the team to capture the district title. All of the Harvesters' games have been thrillers with no exception.

The Borger game is important to the Harvesters as they need this win to capture the 3-AAAA title outright. Edgar, Bunton, Sims, Gamblin, Cain, Haynes, Jordan, Knuteson, have all given good effort throughout the year. If the Harvesters defeat Borger, chances are looking good for state playoffs.

The Palo Duro Dons, the only team close enough to give the Harvesters a real battle for the crown will meet the Sandies Tuesday night in the Civic Center. Amarillo is a weaker squad but could give enough breaks, upset the Dons. Should Pampa lose to Borger the Title would be theirs only if the Sandies defeat the Dons.

The Shockers defeated the Sandie B team 50 to 33 in their 6 p.m. game Friday night on the Amarillo courts.

The Shockers led at the end of the first quarter 9 to 7 and increased their two point lead to seven at intermission leading 19 to 12. The third quarter saw the Pampa B team move into the lead scoring 16 points while Amarillo was held to seven. Jordan Rusty Edwards led the Pampa squad with 10 points while Amarillo's Johnson was high with nine.

Wayne Jones Elected To Babe Ruth Position

Wayne Jones, 1017 S. Banks has been elected the District 1 Director of West Texas Babe Ruth Leagues. Jones has served in the local Babe Ruth Leagues for the past 10 years as assistant coach, coach, player agent and for the past three years has been president of the Pampa Babe Ruth League. He was tournament director last summer when Pampa played host to the Regional Babe Ruth Tournament, and was awarded the 1970 Optimist of the Year Award by the Pampa Optimist Boys Club for his record of achievements with the baseball program.

WAYNE JONES

Jones will attend a "Summit Session" of Babe Ruth officials at Wellington, Kan., Feb. 26-28.

Jones is one of 60 Babe Ruth officials from the Midwest area scheduled to attend the Summit Session. These are being held around the country to give officials of the program a greater insight into the total operation of both the 13-15 and 16-18 divisions. Babe Ruth Baseball, the world's largest regulation teenage baseball program is observing its 20th season this year.

International Babe Ruth President Richard W. Case, Development Director Ronald Tellefsen and Secretary Jeanne Layton will conduct the workshop-type meeting.

Quail Wins District With Lefors Defeat

The Lefors Pirates lost the District 3-B Boys Invitational Basketball Tournament to Quail in the final round played Saturday night in Lefors.

Quail outscored the Pirates 99 to 65 by hitting 70.7 per cent from the floor while Lefors could boast a 65 percentile. High point man for the Quail team was Darrell Feester with 28 points and Lefors' top scorer was Valta Tarbet with 21.

Quail advanced an eleven point lead from the first quarter to a 19 point lead at intermission topping the Pirates 46 to 27.

In the third quarter the Pirates were out played by the fired-up Quail team and dropped 14 more points to the rear. Going into the fourth and final period of play the Pirates trailed 76 to 43.

The final period of play wrapped the game up for Quail along with the district 3-B title with a 99 to 65 victory.

Lefors had advanced to the final round after handing

Allison a 56 to 53 defeat. Quail moved into the finals with their 67 to 64 defeat of Samnorwood.

Jim Ryun Equals Seven Year Old Mile Record With 3:56.4 Time

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Kerry O'Brien couldn't believe it today as he tried to come off a cloud of joy after bettering both the indoor and outdoor two-mile records with a time of 8:19.2 in the San Diego Indoor Games Friday night.

"It's unbelievable," said the veteran Australian distance runner. "I'm stunned and happy. I think I now deserve the road runner of the year title."

"The way things were moving in the race, I knew I had a chance (at the record). It was a tremendous pace and a fantastic track."

O'Brien's amazing performance came after former Kansas distance star Jim Ryun had delighted the capacity crowd of 12,007 by equalling the seven year old mile indoor record of 3:56.4.

The distance races overshadowed the rest of the meet in which Randy Matson, making his final indoor appearance, put the shot 68 feet, 4 inches to best indoor champion Al Feuerbach who threw 66-9 1/2.

Kerry Pearce, a fellow Australian who originally set the indoor mark of 8:27.2 here three years ago, was second to O'Brien in 8:20.6, which bettered his old record. Frank Shorter of the Florida Track and Field Club was third in 8:27.2, fast enough for a new American record.

Pearce had stayed with O'Brien until the final lap and said he was "very happy" with his performance.

"O'Brien and I did not discuss the race before we ran," Pearce said. "I lack a little experience. I didn't have it in the last quarter."

The outdoor mark for two miles is 8:19.6 which was set by another Australian, Ron Clark, in 1968.

The performances by O'Brien and Ryun overshadowed another world record in the women's 600 yard run which Maria Szykora of Austria won in 1:21.5. The old record indoors was 1:22.3 set by Cheryl Touissant of the United States last year.

Ryun credited New Zealand

Dick Quax for setting up the race for him, declaring he was responsible for the ultimate time.

"Quax started picking it up and I didn't know if I could get him or not," Ryun said. "When he moved, I tried to go with him. My legs had felt a little flat-while warming up. I had felt tired all week."

Ryun, however, said his real interest was in outdoor competition and he added, "If I run well indoors, fine; if I don't, fine. It's the outdoors I'm aiming for."

Ryun, who started on a comeback this outdoor season at San Francisco, laid back in fifth or sixth place until the next to last lap as Chuck LaBenz of the Pacific Coast Club set a blistering pace, running the half mile in 1:54.5 and the three-quarters in 2:57.4.

Ryun had a margin of nearly 20 yards over second place John Mason thanks to a 56.4 final quarter. But the first four finishers all bettered four minutes. It was believed the best second, third and fourth place times for an indoor mile.

Mason was second in 3:58.0, LaBenz third in 3:58.1 and Quax fourth in 3:58.9 after moving up on the next to last lap in a spurt that set Ryun off with his burst of speed at the end.

Almost overlooked was Aussie Ralph Doubell's victory in the 1,000 yard run in 2:06.3, fastest indoors this year.

Olympian Lee Evans won the 600 yard run in 1:08.7; Lennox Miller captured the 60-yard dash in 6.1 seconds; Willie Davenport won the 60-yard hurdles in 7-1 and Bob Seagren pole vaulted at 17-1 as Kiyosni Niwa of Japan was second at 16-6.

White Deer-Clarendon Game Here Monday

The White Deer-Skellytown Bucks and the Clarendon Bronchos will be meeting in Harvester Fieldhouse tomorrow night to decide the Bi-District Championship.

White Deer advanced to the contest after defeating Sanford-Fritch in a one game playoff Thursday night. Fritch had won the round robin contest and the Bucks won the tournament forcing the district tie into the playoff game. The 67 and 47 victory brought the Bucks' season down to the Bi-District clash against the Bronchos.

Clarendon, the 2-A champs with a 24-6 season record after defeating Childress will be trying to better last year's showing. The Bronchos advanced to the state tournament last year and lost in the finals to state champion Kennard.

In tomorrow night's game White Deer-Skellytown will be the home team on the scoreboard and Clarendon will be shown as the visitors. White Deer fans will be seated on the West side of the gym with Clarendon seating facilities on the East side of Harvester Fieldhouse.

Admission for the game will be $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students.

Other important games in A-Class schools will be Farwell tangling with Lorenzo at Levelland Monday night. Channing will be meeting Adrian in Vega for an 8 p.m. game Monday for the district 1-B round robin title after tying for the crown.

In Class AA, Phillips will be meeting Childress in a 7:30 p.m. game at Clarendon Tuesday and Dimmitt of 3-AA will be battling Ralls of 4-AA at Levelland at 8:30 p.m.

is your league, club, civic organization or other sports-related function going to receive recognition in the Pampa Daily News?

Undoubtedly, it will — if your organization has the "newspaper habit."

What is the "habit"? Simply the understanding that if news is not volunteered — it cannot be reported. Or, another way, since The News depends almost totally on voluntary contributions on area sports activities — we cannot write about a project without the facts.

Coaches Are Overrated According To Cousey

NEW YORK (NEA) — "Coaches are overrated," said Bob Cousy. "I found that to be true in college basketball, and I find it true in the pros. A so-called good coach will not win if he has poor players, and a 'poor' coach will win if he has good players. Nowadays, a coach's main job is to establish mental harmony on the team. And he must do this through psychology. In fact, in years to come a team psychiatrist could travel with the trainer."

Bob Cousy

Cousy is in his second season as coach of the Cincinnati Royals. He was asked, if what he says is the case, then why not replace a coach with the psychiatrist?

"I don't know," he said. "I've thought of that myself."

Cousy added that he has no scientific background in psychology, but goes on "instinct." His instincts have told him that to get the most out of players, "you must give them your fullest attention and show them you care about them as individuals."

"When I first became a coach, at Boston College, after I had retired from playing with the Boston Celtics," said Cousy, "I found that I was so anxious to do well that I was over-coaching. I tried to cover everything in the textbook. The next season I eliminated all those fundamental drills and geared our workouts to bread-and-butter stuff, stuff we would use in games."

"Funny thing, after all the work I put in practice sessions that first season, I discovered what impressed my players most. A player told a friend of mine that the team liked it, that when there was a long-distance call for me that I never took it during practice." Cousy applies certain basic tactics to basketball, the same tactics that made the Celtics a great team for years. The necessities are: an aggressive man-to-man defense, a big man who does not even have to score as long as he gets the defensive boards, and speedy, quick men to get a fast break in motion. This is how the Royals have been playing, and according to Cousy, an important reason for the team's surprisingly fine showing this season.

"But you have to keep the game uncomplicated, because it is essentially an uncomplicated game," he said. "Only the coaches try to complicate it. But it is a game of intuition as opposed to discipline. That may be the major difference between basketball and football. The option of the set basketball play is invariably better than the play itself. And the more ability the team has, the less discipline. And vice versa."

"But you can't stuff this down their throats." And so Jerry Lucas who, according to Cousy, just could not play his way because of bad legs, and Oscar Robertson, who would not play Cousy's way because of a difference in attitude or temperament, have been traded off.

But the physical aspects of the game still are superseded by the mental, according to Cousy.

"I try to have a close-knit team," said Cousy. "I like the players to do things together off the court. And I like to show them I care about all their problems — their business careers, their love lives, racial situation, everything. I want them to know that they, and winning, come first."

And so when there are only 12 first-class seats on the plane, Cousy and the team trainer take coach seats. And even the "lowliest" rookie has a roomier airplane seat than the coach.

"And every man must be made to feel he is contributing," said Cousy. "For example, Moe Barr knows he is our fourth guard. Well we were playing in Madison Square Garden recently and there were two minutes left in the second quarter. I could have sent Flynn Robinson, our third guard, back in the game. But I felt that Moe might profit from the experience, and not hurt the team. He could talk about playing in the Garden for the rest of his life. It could be very destructive for a team to have even the last two guys bitching and moaning."

Cousy is so intense a coach that early in the season he had a fainting spell on the bench. "It wasn't serious," he said. "Just a lot of blood rushed to my head. But isn't that the natural state of coaches, being dizzy?"

Pee Wee Basketball

Saturday's play in the Optimist-Kiwanis Pee-wee Basketball games saw Austin's 6th increase their league leading record to a 12-0 reading with a 60 to 26 win over Wilson.

This leaves only one or two games left until the playoff tournament at the high school fieldhouse later this month or early next month. All games scheduled for next Tuesday night have been postponed due to the Harvester-Borger game. All coaches will be notified when the games and tournament will be scheduled as soon as possible.

Other games yesterday showed Houston beating Baker 71 to 49. Nell Lee led the scoring for the winners with 20 points. Rayford Young led all scorers for Baker with 32.

Fifth grade results were Austin 41 and Wilson 17. Tim Reddell was high for Austin with 15. Baker beat Houston in close one 14-12 to round out the days action.

Thursday's play in the 6th grade bracket was as follows: Wilson beat St. Vincent 35 to 31. Lamar romped over Mann 41 to 13 and Austin beat Travis 45 to 20. Bryan Batley led the scoring in the game with 20 points. Roscoe was high with 9 for Travis.

Fifth grade play Thursday had Travis beating Austin 21 to 14. Lamar nosed out Mann 23 to 21.

Laver Voted Top Position For January

NEW YORK—Rod Laver was named winner Friday of the January Hickok Pro Athlete of the Year award. Laver has won 10 straight tennis championships classic matches at the rate of $10,000 a match last month.

The left-handed Australian received 56 first-place votes from the national panel of Sports writers and sportscasters for 216 points and maintained a large margin over Lew Alcindor.

Alcindor the towering center on the Milwaukee Bucks collected 15 votes and 81 points.

Phil Esposito, the Boston Bruins high-scoring star and golfer Tom Shaw tied for third with 12 first place votes and 75 points each.

Following the Baptist-Tuna tilt the Pantex team will be entering the court against Stinnett for an 8:30 p.m. game.

The games in the tournament are scheduled as closely as possible to requests made by team captains. However, after the opening rounds of play there is no way of knowing which way a team will go so we must play as scheduled.

Game time is forfeit time. Each team is guaranteed to play two games in the tournament. Games will be played in 16 minute halves with 10 minutes rest between halves. NCAA 1970-71 rules will prevail with 5 personal fouls allowed. Teams should have jerseys with numbers on front and back. Game ball, officials, scorers and timers will be furnished by the tournament officials. Trophies will be awarded first, second and consolation winners only.

There is one sportsmanship rule that the tournament has in effect. Any player receiving in effect, Any player receiving two (2) technical fouls in any one game will be ejected from that game on that night. Any further difficulty from that person after ejection will cause the game to be forfeited. Team captains are held responsible for the actions of his players. No profane language will be allowed for the tourney is being played in the Youth Center.

For further information about the tournament you may contact the Center Director, George Smith at P.-D. Box 1164 or call 665-2012, 665-2622 or 665-4381.

Spring Training Opens For University Of Texas Horns

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Spring football training for the national champion University of Texas Longhorns will begin March 16 and end April 24, Coach Darrell Royal announced Saturday.

Royal said the Longhorns, with 33 lettermen returning from last year's Southwest Conference championship team, will work three weeks prior to the spring vacation, and two weeks afterward.

The final Orange and White intrasquad game will be April 24.

The squad will work out on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, Royal said. Texas lost 24 lettermen from the 1970 team that won 30 straight games before bowing to Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl.

Only tackle Jerry Sizemore returns to anchor the offensive line, while quarterback Eddie Phillips and Jim Bertelsen return in the backfield. Royal must find replacements for such seniors as fullback Steve Worcester, linebackers Scott Henderson and Bill Zapalac and defensive backs Rick Nabors and Danny Lester.

STRICKEN COACH BETTER

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—John Droon, stricken with a heart attack on Jan. 2, said Thursday he would remain away from his job as head basketball coach at the University of Louisville for the balance of the season. He plans to resume active coaching next season.

Lefors Girls Lose Regional Tilt To Spade

The Lefors girls lost an important regional game to Spade by a narrow 5 point margin Friday in a 53 to 48 defeat at Levelland.

The leading scorers for Spade were Christi Adams with 30 points while Piratette high scorer Suzan Klein had 22 points for the losers.

The score was knotted at 10 to 10 at the end of the first quarter with both teams playing good defensive ball. However, turnovers played an important role in the second quarter as Lefors let the ball go a total of 13 times in the first half to go to the lockers at intermission trailing 31 to 23.

Sixteen points compared to ten gave the Spade girls a wider margin in the third quarter as the fourth quarter started with Spade leading 47 to 33. The final quarter of play found Lefors playing hard catch-up ball but fouls kept the victory out of reach.

"I figure I'll need a full season in the minors just to get going in baseball again," he said. "A lot of these other guys have been playing ball since they got out of high school."

"Levias has what we call an infielder's body," Ed Katalinas, director of player procurement for Detroit, said. "He was quickness and speed. Now he has to condition his arm."

"We have to find out if he has major league potential. After three weeks or so, he'll know and we'll know."

H-S Cowboys Routed
ABILENE — The West Texas Buffaloes defeated the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys 106 to 88 here last night.

Ray Goldson and Steve Davidson led the scoring for the Buffaloes with 26 points apiece. West Texas led 45 to 39 at half-time. It extended their season record to 17 wins and six losses.

with a 13-point discussion, ranging from tips on working with the beginner, intermediate and advanced player to ideas on tennis court construction and equipment purchases, Kent said.

The afternoon workout will be conducted upon the 14-court complex across the street from the Activities Center.

"In case of bad weather, the entire clinic will be held in the Activities Center, which has four indoor courts," Kent said. Reservations can be made by writing: David Kent, Box 412, W. T. Station, Canyon, Texas 79015.

Levias Quitting Pro-Football To Try Detroit Diamond Scene

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI)—Little Jerry LeVias, tired of "jealous" quarterbacks and "getting belted around," said Saturday he's quitting the Houston Oilers of the National Football League and trying out with baseball's Detroit Tigers.

The super-swift LeVias, only 5-foot-10 and 175 pounds, spoke out against the Oilers and announced he was trying to make it as a second baseman in baseball.

"I've just lost all my feeling for football," the fleet flanker said. "I don't ever want to go back. I'm just a little thing, you know, and I'm a little tired of getting belted around all the time."

"It was a mistake to play in Houston those two years," he said. "The players there didn't give it all they've got."

"It's tough to play when you've got a quarterback who won't throw the ball to you because he's jealous of all the attention you've received," he said of the Oilers' quarterbacks, Charley Johnson and Jerry Rhome.

"And when I'd get hurt, the people wouldn't believe me. I've been disenchanted with football ever since I got to Houston," said LeVias, who was the Southwest Conference's first black player when he enrolled at Southern Methodist.

"If I don't make it with the Tigers, I may go back to school," LeVias said.

LeVias hasn't played baseball since he was a second baseman at Southern Methodist as a sophomore, when he hit .305. The New York Yankees, however, offered him a $30,000 bonus and a $12,000 annual contract after he graduated from high school, where he stole 52 bases in four years despite spilling springs with track.

Mike Garrett of the San Diego Chargers announced last year he was trying out with the Los Angeles Dodgers after the 1970 season but just recently changed his mind and will keep playing football. However, at 27, Garrett is four years older than LeVias.

The tryout was arranged at LeVias' initiative. He received permission from the Oilers with the condition that he may return to them next fall if he so desires.

"I figure I'll need a full season in the minors just to get going in baseball again," he said. "A lot of these other guys have been playing ball since they got out of high school."

"Levias has what we call an infielder's body," Ed Katalinas, director of player procurement for Detroit, said. "He was quickness and speed. Now he has to condition his arm."

"We have to find out if he has major league potential. After three weeks or so, he'll know and we'll know."

West Texas State University Tennis Clinic To Be Held

CANYON, Tex. — West Texas State University will inaugurate an annual Tennis Coaches' Clinic March 7, Coach David Kent, said today.

The free one-day program is designed "to help coaches get new ideas on tennis coaching techniques," Kent said.

The afternoon lecture and group work on the court will be coordinated by Roland Ingram, tennis coach at Amarillo High School; Jan Cannon, Amarillo College girls' coach; Kent, and the WTSU tennis team, which has several national title-winners.

The program will begin at 1 p.m. in the Activities Center

Steve Niles Scores And A&M Roars Past Tech

LUBBOCK (UPI) — Steve Niles picked up a loose ball near his own goal and sank a bucket with only one second left in overtime Saturday to lift Texas A&M past Texas Tech 66-64.

The home court loss knocked the Red Raiders out of the Southwest Conference title picture as league leader Texas Christian took an afternoon contest from Rice 102-87.

The win gave TCU a two game lead over the Raiders with four to play.

Basketball Tourney Starts Monday Night

NEW YORK—Rod Laver was named winner Friday of the January Hickok Pro Athlete of the Year award. Laver has won 10 straight tennis championships classic matches at the rate of $10,000 a match last month.

A team roster must be turned in at the receptionist's desk on the first night of your competition. Only 12 players are allowed on each team and no substitutes may be made after submitting rosters. Players may be on only one roster.

The lead changed hands several times in the 5-minute period, but with 1:10 left Niles attempted a hook from close range and the Raiders were charged with goal tending. The bucket gave A&M a 62-61 advantage which they never lost.

Following the Baptist-Tuna tilt the Pantex team will be entering the court against Stinnett for an 8:30 p.m. game.

The games in the tournament are scheduled as closely as possible to requests made by team captains. However, after the opening rounds of play there is no way of knowing which way a team will go so we must play as scheduled.

Jeff Overhouse of A&M led all scorers with 27 points. Niles and teammate Chuck Smith both had 14.

Gene Knolle and Williams were high for Tech with 14 each. The win gave the Aggies a 3-7 SWC record.

AMERICAN IN PARIS PARIS (UPI)—Promoters at the Sports Palace announced Thursday that world welterweight champion Billy Backus of Syracuse, N.Y., will meet Frenchman Robert Galois here in a non-title match March 15.

Nicki Sue Musgrave Pledges Vows With Jerry J. Jelinek

Nicki Sue Musgrave was wedding ceremony in the First Baptist Church parlor. The Rev. Dan E. Cameron, pastor, officiated for the Friday evening service.

MRS. JERRY JIM JELINEK
... nee Nicki Sue Musgrave

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Musgrave, 2200 Duncan. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Jelinek, 1416 Hamilton.

BRIDE
Given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I avowal" the bride was dressed in a full-length dress of white peau de sole with imported lace bodice and sleeves. The skirt was accented with a deep border of lace at the hem. She wore the traditional something old, new, borrowed and blue, and wore an heirloom diamond in her engagement ring that the bridegroom's mother wore at her wedding.

The bride's shoulder-length illusion veil was attached to a seed pearl and rhinestone headpiece of lace flower petals. The bride carried a white Bible with Frenched carnations and cymbidium orchids.

ATTENDANTS
Mickie Jo Musgrave, the bride's maid of honor, wore an avocado green bonded crepe dress with imported lace bodice and bone accessories. She carried a colonial nosegay of white pom pom chrysanthemums and Frenched carnations.

Harry L. Jelinek, the bridegroom's father, was best man. Ricky Musgrave and Jesse Musgrave, brothers of the bride, seated wedding guests.

Donnie Jones, pianist, played the traditional wedding march and the "Romeo and Juliet," love theme. The couple exchanged vows and rings before a mantel decorated with an arrangement of white carnations.

Allegro Group Has Program On Birds

Twentieth Century Allegro members met with Mrs. A. L. Hall as hostess during the program on birds of beauty and interest. Eleven members attended.

In her program, Mrs. Patton said "the origin of birds is traced to reptiles. The famous missing link between birds and reptiles is the strange half-bird-half reptile called archeopteryx. This creature lived about 190,000,000 years ago in what is now Europe and is even preserved in fossil form in slate deposits in Germany."

"Birds have been the subject for works of art since ancient times. African bushmen carved birds in large stones; Indians in Alaska used bird designs on totem poles; in Babylon and Egypt, artists used the hawk and falcon in designs," she said.

America has more than 1,400 different kinds of birds which require different kinds of food, climate and nest building material, she said, and discussed the life style and habitat of the American birds and of the flamingo, hummingbird, European stork and Midway Albatross.

She explained the albatross is more commonly known as the Gooney Bird and is a real morale builder on the military base at Midway Island.

"They are essentially sea birds; yet they build nests on lawns in front of homes in complete confidence," she said. "They spend three months at sea and can easily alight on water, but when they return to land they become a disorganized spectacle in landing on firm earth, because they approach in a long flat glide with too much speed. They usually land dishevelled and sprawled as they alight themselves. They seem embarrassed as all the other gooneys squeal and groan."

Hummingbirds are found mostly in the Western Hemisphere and are the only birds that can hover with their body motionless. They are also the only ones that can fly either backward or forward. The smallest specie measures 2 1/4 inches. In the United States their colors are mostly reds and purples, she said.

The rarest flamingo lives high in the Bolivian Andes at an elevation of 13,000 feet above sea level. It was thought to be an extinct specie until 1956 when a Chilean expedition found the lake of Laguna Colorado swarming with them, Mrs. Patton said.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Some neighbors (I'll call them Dick and Jane) have been friends of ours for almost three years. Last July we put a swimming pool in and invited Dick and Jane over for a swim. We invited another couple (also neighbors) at the same time.

Well, when Dick and Jane came over, they didn't bring any bathing suits, and when we expressed surprise, they said they enjoyed swimming in the nude and had often done so at other people's pools. The other couple brought suits, but agreed swimming in the raw might be "fun."

My wife exploded and said there would be no nude swimming at our place and they could either go home and get their suits or forget swimming in our pool. They left, and we haven't heard from them since. (The other couple stayed and swam wearing suits.) I personally am not all that hung up on nudity, and it wouldn't have bothered me one way or the other, but my wife has all sorts of inhibitions. Do you think we should have let them stay and swim naked?

NO NAME, PLEASE
DEAR NO NAME: No, Dick and Jane are entitled to their skinny dipping in the company of like-minded people. And your wife is entitled to her "inhibitions." Since she was the hostess, there was no reason for her to have to grin and "bare" it.

DEAR ABBY: Please don't laugh at my problem. I have one big dark hair growing at the end of my nose and my mom won't let me pull it out with tweezers. She said it would grow back darker and coarser. I said I didn't care, I'd just keep on pulling it out when it came back. Then she said, if you keep pulling out a hair growing in an odd place, it can cause cancer. Is this true? I also have a bad complexion problem and that dumb-looking hair on the end of my nose doesn't help much. Please help me.

K.S.
DEAR K.S.: Ask your mom to take you to a doctor (preferably a dermatologist) for your complexion problem. And while you are there, ask the doctor about the hair on your nose. (I'll bet he pulls it!)

DEAR ABBY: In answering the retired librarian who sits for the two darling preschool children of a young divorcee, you said she couldn't be blamed for refusing to keep the children if indeed it turned out that the mother's business was entertaining male visitors.

While I agree, the baby sitter should know where the mother is, in case of emergency, I don't see why the mother's means of earning a living are her concern. Would she prefer that the children hang around the apartment while the mother is

Artist 'Captures' Former First Lady

WASHINGTON — The portrait of Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis appearing on the front page of McCall's March issue was sold to the magazine by the former First Lady herself.

She did not accept any of the $75,000 paid for the painting. All the money went to artist Aaron Shikler.

However, the portrait, which he describes as a "pastel study, the last I made before starting to paint the final picture" is her property and in her possession. At present, it is hung in her New York apartment.

Mrs. Onassis had a very specific purpose in having this painting published in McCall's. It is her concept of how she looks and how she wants people to think of her. She feels Shikler captured her true image and real inner spirit. She deeply wants that portrayal engraven on the minds of people throughout the world.

This intensely held desire is due to the innumerable photographs, paintings, sketches and other representations of her that have appeared in newspapers, magazines and other publications around the globe for years. In her opinion, virtually all gave a distorted and crassly unfeeling image of her.

To counter that, she decided that Shikler's painting, to which she is warmly attached, should be published on the cover of a leading magazine.

The "pastel study" is virtually identical to the official oil portrait unveiled in the White House last week. Shikler started work on the latter in the winter of 1968. Mrs. Onassis posed a number of times in her apartment, where the artist made many sketches — some following her suggestions. She also posed in his studio in New York, where he finished the White House painting in February 1970.

The "pastel study," he says, "is just a little thing, about a tenth of the size of the oil portrait. Both show her inner strength. She has great inner passion, but it's strongly controlled. I tried to show that tension in the hands, strictly under control but ready to coil out."

The artist vigorously denies the Kennedy portraits are "impressionistic."

"Both are straight American representational," he says, "tempered by a vast study of European tradition. They most emphatically do belong in the White House. That's what I painted them for. I think they are lovely pictures."

UNTMELY HUG

CHRISTCHURCH, England (UPI)—Rafel Ciorra, 41, surprised a woman friend at an auction by creeping up on her and giving her a big hug. The woman jumped, Ciorra's hand shot in the air and the auctioneer took it as a bid signal for a carpet.

The auctioneer banged his gavel, Ciorra paid $12 and took the rug home only to find it did not fit. But the auctioneers agreed to take it back and Thursday sold it for $14.40.

Studies Show Women Control Family Money

By AILEEN SNOODY NEW YORK (NEA)—Another myth enshrouding the male-female role within a marriage has been exploded. And few husbands are being hurt by the shrapnel new research has thrown out.

For example, the assumption for years was that since a husband was the very local breadwinner he also bent his back over the family books. This is far from true. And this has been false for at least 40 years in millions of families.

A recent survey of more than 2,000 women coast-to-coast by a business machine company reveals that women keep tabs on inflow and outflow of family money in 80 per cent of the families.

Some women replying to the questionnaire had always worked. Others were housewives since the trip down the aisle, were retired or in-between jobs.

What tension has doing this bookkeeping brought to bed-and-board activities? Very little.

Again a contradiction in dissecting what makes a marriage tick. For example, studies of marital problems (normally based upon those seeking counseling) usually put disagreements over money and household management high on the aggravation list. A recent study by the University of Pennsylvania put the two conflicts at the very top, ahead of personality disagreements and sexual adjustment.

A New York wife feels such strife isn't necessary. She wrote on her questionnaire, "It is my belief that it matters little who handles the money in a family if there is sufficient (money) to meet the family's needs. . . . When expenses are greater than income there is trouble regardless of who pays the bills or who controls the pursestrings."

A North Carolinian commented, "My husband is most cooperative and we make all major monetary decisions together. I am very careful not to abuse his confidence in my business management."

Many wives did say they would appreciate more cooperation from their husbands and most felt the job was dumped in their laps without offers of help or any training.

ranged from five to 41 years. A large percentage of those married 15 years or more said they did the chore almost from the beginning.

Or, as one wife ungraciously put it, "I took over as soon as I learned he couldn't do it."

a strain on the relationship than financial chaos.

Some gripes did surface in the study. Really irksome to women were the men who refused to touch bankbook, adding machine or typewriter to write complaints to stores or banks but criticized any errors made. The Penn study notwithstanding, only 2 per cent of the wives answering a survey felt their social money job threatened their marriages.

Women's lib crusaders have maintained a discreet silence about the fact that in 80 per cent of American families, the wife tells the husband what they are spending and where.

BRIDAL BONUS

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Dottie Rebsch and Gerry Betsch will be rewarded for their honesty with a wedding cake.

They were visiting bakeries here Thursday to inquire about a cake for their June wedding. As they neared the Blue Rock Bakery, they saw a sack lying in a gutter.

The sack was filled with money and was identified as belonging to the Blue Rock Bakery.

They turned the sack in to bakery owner Rudy Engler, who gave them a small reward and told them he would donate their wedding cake.

ASPERMONT, Tex. — Rain-maker Homer Berry on the small amount of rain received Thursday:

"I accidentally stirred up a little mud Thursday but I promise the rain will caroom down like all get out today and clean things up."

Couple Exchange Vows In Mobeetie

MOBETTIE (SpI)—Beverly Rae Bolster and Jerry Doyle Grimes pledged double-ring marriage vows at Grace Baptist Church with the Rev. Melvin Garner officiating on Jan. 22. Mr. and Mrs. Gary Grimes, were the only attendants.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Bolster of Stratford. She is a graduate of Stratford High School and attended West Texas State University. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Grimes of Mobeetie. He is a graduate of Mobeetie High School and is employed by a feed company in Panhandle. The couple reside at Panhandle, and were honored recently in Stratford with a wedding shower.

Fun Totes Carry Off Gloomy Spirit

By JOANNE SCHREIBER

Looking for something quick, easy and fun to stitch? Try a couple of fun-totes—the perfect antidote to a gloomy winter day and a nice change of pace from your usual February stitching routine.

The Glamour Puss pajama bag and the Happy Note music tote are designed for fun-loving teens by J. Wiss and Sons and show what can be done with a little imagination, a little felt and a pair of scalloping or pinking shears.

The Glamour Puss pajama bag is made from less than a yard of hot pink felt, plus assorted scraps of felt for features, jewel buttons for eyes, and a floppy polka-dot bow at the neck. The scalloped outline and ear sections suggest fluffy fur. Use Glamour Puss as a pajama bag, curler bag or just as a bed decoration. It's an ideal gift for a young miss with a springtime birthday and an embroider a name, address or telephone number on the scroll instead of the music notes.

Projects such as these are ideal for youngsters beginning to sew, or for Girl Scouts or Sunday School groups to make as fund-raisers. If you have a zigzag sewing machine, the cat features and musical motif may be applied with a satin or other decorative stitch. Otherwise, they may be straight-stitched, blind-stitched or even glued into position.

Both pinking and scalloping shears may be used to finish seam edges, and one or the other should be in every sewing box. The new knits respond best to the nonbulky seam finish, such as a pinked or scalloped raw edge with a line of stay-stitching or zigzag stitching. Except for fun projects such as those shown today, pinking and scalloping shears should not be used for cutting out. Use them for finishing after cutting.

indispensable accessory for slumber parties.

The Happy Note music tote, cut with pinking shears and backed with buckram for extra strength, is big enough to carry favorite albums and sheet music. It, too, may be used as a pajama bag or ll-purpose tote. If you prefer, hand-

ABWA Members Schedule Annual Bosses' Banquet

The Pampa Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association will sponsor its annual Boss Night banquet Feb. 23. The members will honor their bosses and one boss will be selected as the boss of the year at the 7 p.m. banquet at Fellowship Hall of First Christian Church.

This year, for the first time, the boss of the Year's name will be drawn out of a hat. Each member will put her boss' name in a hat the night of the banquet.

The banquet theme is "We love America. The banquet committee's composed of Mrs. Shirley Nichols, Mrs. James Quary, Mrs. Norman Quick, Mrs. T.A. Mastin, and Mrs. George Shelton.

The Rev. Ralph Palmer will be the speaker. Candy and James Shelton will furnish the entertainment for the evening. Mrs. Eugene Franklin will be the master of Ceremonies.

NEW YORK (ED)—A hot tub, some magazines, a long, cool drink... and I'm in heaven! I could spend hours in the bath if the real world—in the form of a husband and two kids—didn't call so loudly. The ultimate luxury is a bath with Detchem's... named after the Tibetan Sorceress of Joy... fragrant oil that dissolves completely in the water to scent and soothe the skin. Just call me the Dalai Lama.

There are some beauty jobs that just aren't romantic... no matter how hard I try. Like taking off your make-up... can't stand to look in the mirror afterwards. Secret of the Sea Cleansing Cream does make it a tiny bit easier though... slathering on the cool, green-tinted cream and letting it go to work... good for you, too... saves you from the drying out of soap and water...

Shadows under the eyes may be great for Jeanne Moreau... but they don't work for me. Instead, I take a dab of Dorothy Gray's Under Eye Cover Cream... to lighten those dark blotches, make my eyes look bigger... Makes me look like I've just caught a fast 40 wink!

Pollution, they say, is everywhere and besides all the horrible effects it has, it's not exactly your skin's best friend, either... Found an invisible face mask... so to speak... in Saturra Algene Conditioning Face Emulsion. You can wear it under make-up, and it protects against weather and pore-clogging impurities. Now, I have happy pores...

Sorority Initiates Pampan's Daughter

Cindy Cambern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Cambern, of Pampa, was initiated into Kappa Alpha Theta national social sorority at Texas Tech University Saturday.

She was one of 31 college women to become members of the Tech chapter of the oldest Greek letter fraternity known among women. The sorority, founded in 1870, begins its second century with over 82,000 members. Scholastically, the Tech chapter ranks first out of 13 sororities on campus.

Actress-singer Doris Day looks pert and pretty under a purple felt padre silhouette (top) accented with a back-tied jersey turban by Adolfo II. Below, she looks flirty in an obloster Mousse swagger brim by Chesterfield.

Pretty Hat Makes Pert Silhouette

NEW YORK (NEA)—Who's the gal who always looks pert, fresh, well-groomed and forever young when evening television time rolls around? Doris Day, natch, and she happens to be 47 years old.

From the time when her hit recording of "Sentimental Journey" swept the country in the '40s to her current show on television, this singer-actress has been the epitome of the "I enjoy being a girl" philosophy. And she speaks on fashion and beauty with authority.

"Although fashion changes every year and every season, one important fashion rule never has changed," she said. "That is, begin at the top."

In that brief fashion one-liner Doris sums up the know-how of a full movie career and now in the new field of her weekly television show.

"Remember the old slogan," Miss Day said, "that a lady is lovely from top to toe? That still applies because in television and motion picture fashion we have found that the close-up is the most important point of the whole put-together look."

"The same rule applies to everyday life," she added. "When you are talking to people they are looking at your face, head and shoulders—actually a close-up."

Doris Day maintains that just as a good frame enhances a good picture, what you select to frame your face presents you as others will see you.

When you get up in the morning, before combing or make-up, select the all-important frame—your hat. With the proper coordination of your hat, hair and make-up you can give the illusion that suits your mood—be it femininity, efficiency or whatever. "It's all done by making your own close-up," she pointed out.

Plain common sense tells a girl that clothes alone will not give a complete fashion picture. It's what you do with the right hat that sets the mood and pulls it all together.

"There are no age or size barriers to the magic of the close-up fashion trick," Doris maintains. "Just remember that a long shot or full view includes everything around you, but a close-up mirrors you and you alone."

Birthday Parties

MOBEETIE (Sp)—The Mobeetie Arts and Crafts met recently in the home of Mrs. Goldie Gordon and honored Mrs. Charlotte Coward with a birthday party. Refreshments were served from a lace-covered table decorated with red valentines. A gift was presented to Mrs. Coward from the club.

Those present were Mrs. Charlotte Coward, Mrs. Claudia Quarles, Mrs. Novelene Simpson, Mrs. Bessie Galmor and Mrs. Goldie Gordon. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Claudia Quarles.

Mrs. Arlie Jeffus was honored with a birthday breakfast in the home of Mrs. Tommie Tyson. Those presenting Mrs. Jeffus with gifts and attending were Mrs. Thelma Dunn, Mrs. Elnita Atkins, Mrs. Mattie Williams, Mrs. Bessie Galmor, Mrs. Laura Hill, Mrs. Tommie Tyson.

A birthday dinner was held recently honoring Joe Kelley, Jeff Kelley and Mrs. Goldie Gordon.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kelley and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Don Schoon and Shonda, all of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Schoon of North Dakota, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kelley and Shara, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gordon, and Mrs. Flora May Kelley and Jeff.

POLLY'S POINTERS Here's Way To Preserve Prized Old Sheet Music

By POLLY CRAMER

By POLLY CRAMER
DEAR POLLY—Mrs. D.N. could save her old sheet music by applying it to a piece of wood for a wall hanging by using the decoupage method. Paint and hobby shops have instruction booklets and supplies and the music would be preserved permanently. Her collection of campaign buttons might be fastened to a velvet of hopsacking back that fits inside a picture frame. The 8-by-10-inch gag pictures could be put under a glass tabletop, or a glass tray with pictures between two sheets of glass would make a conversation piece.

want the fire to be on the ground. I was afraid of it spreading to nearby dry grass. I spotted our old metal wheelbarrow and put the trash in it, covered the top with an old window screen so nothing could fly in the air and then burned away. I made sure the fire was all out and later wheeled the ashes to the garden, dumped them where they will help fertilize the ground.

DEAR READERS—This Pointer is suggested only for those people who live where such burning is permitted. First check with your fire department.

POLLY—Use that last thin silver of soap to mark darts and other lines while sewing on washable cotton fabrics and the soap will wash right out.

WASHINGTON—Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien appealing for rebuilding in his party.

"You are being asked to set aside many time-encrusted traditions, to set aside some regional loyalties and prejudices, to put behind you the all too human tendency to reward and punish, to thank and to revenge."

Knit Yourself Ombre Poncho

By JUDY LOVE

Round and round she goes — and where she stops is when she has completed the best looking ombre shadow poncho in the world! You literally knit this handsome poncho-topper on circular needles, and it's sure to create admiring conversation wherever it's worn.

You start at the neckline on No. 6 dp needles, casting on loosely 22 sts on each of two needles, then 24 sts on your third needle, for a total of 68 sts. It's like working a sock pattern — that simple. You knit an easy rib pattern, change to No. 10 dp needles, and eventually work the entire poncho on 29-inch circular needles.

The result is an unusual versatile ombre striped poncho that's right over pants or skirts. The stripes meet and match both front and back exactly as they should in a good garment. (This custom touch is costly, when you buy it, of course.)

Shoulders are gently shaped, Norwegian sheep bred with Sletland Island sheep, is wonderfully soft to the hand, yet is rain- and snowproof. That's because throughout the easy-to-follow directions for your ombre poncho, just send 50 cents to Stitchin' Time, C-O Pampa News, Radio City Station, Box 403, New York, N.Y. 10021. Ask for leaflet S311, and be sure to include your name, address and zip code.

KNIT KNACKS

DEAR JUDY: I like many of your pretty patterns, but sometimes am disappointed because I can't find the yarn your directions call for. Can you help me solve this problem? Miss K. McN., Pearl River, N.Y.

Dashing and daring—yet graceful and flattering, this weather-resistant all wool ombre poncho is knitted on circular needles.

DEAR MISS K. McN.: I'm pleased you like the things I've picked for you to knit or crochet. I try to select patterns from companies with wide distribution, so you won't have any inconvenience in getting the right yarn.

Also, I am working on an interchangeable yarn chart for you, which will be useful. Keep those needles going!

MR. AND MRS. BILLY OVERSTREET
... nee Penny Brooks

Miss Brooks Weds Billy L. Overcast

The Carter Memorial United Methodist Church was the setting for the Dec. 5, 1970, wedding of Penny Brooks, to Billy L. Overcast.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond F. Brooks of Needham, Mass., the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Callan of Pampa.

The Rev. Oscar Guinn officiated at the double-ring ceremony which was followed by a reception at Hotel 123 in Dedham, Mass.

Given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I" avowal, the bride wore a white organza over taffeta gown banded with lace and seed pearls at the waist. Also featured were organza sleeves which had lace pointed cuffs and a train appliqued with lace and pearls.

Her chapel-length veil was designed of illusion. She carried a cascading bouquet of orchids, stephanotis, and holly.

As matron of honor, Mrs. Edward Nawrocki of Fairfield, Conn., was dressed in red velvet and carried a cascade of white chrysanthemums and holly.

Serving as best man was Peter F. Brooks of Needham, Mass., brother of the bride.

Two-year-old Leslie Ann Brooks niece of the bride was gownned similarly to the matron of honor and carried a miniature bouquet of matching flowers Registering guests at the reception was Linda Beabenotof of Needham, Mass.

The bride, a teacher, has taught school in Norwalk, Conn., Stephen Palmer School in Needham, Mass., and in Japan. Her husband, recently returned from Vietnam, has completed four years in the Navy. He graduated from Wheeler High School and attended one year at Southwestern State College before entering the service.

After a honeymoon to the East Coast, New Orleans and South Texas, the couple is living in Durango, Colo., where the bridegroom has entered pre-dental school at Fort Lewis College.

TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

The New Postal Service

Everyone, including editorial writers, yapped so long and so well about the perennial deficits of the U.S. Post Office Department that the government finally did something about it. The politically independent, corporation-type U.S. Postal Service officially takes over delivery of the mail in a few months. Already it has recommended to the Postal Rate Commission, another new body, that rates for first-class mail be raised from six to eight cents, air mail from 10 to 11 cents and post cards from five to seven cents. Postage for newspapers and magazines would also go up, and bulk mail (or "junk mail," if you will) would be socked for substantial amounts. Only parcel post rates would not be charged—not right now—since these were raised last November. Even if the commission were to deny the requests, which it won't, the Postal Service has the authority to boost rates up to one-third over present levels. What gives pause is the fact that the new rates will not do anything to improve efficiency. They are catch-up increases, designed to put the system on a self-supporting basis. Investments in new equipment and processing methods will come later. It is a good question whether the public, especially that part of it to whom pennies are very important, will be better off now that it will have to pay for postal service directly out of its pocket rather than indirectly through subsidies from general tax revenues. Businesses which use the mails heavily will, of course, pass on the added costs to their customers. But we asked for reform, and we're going to get it.

Youth Isn't Taking Over

Claims that youth is taking over the country by sheer force of numbers don't bear up under the statistics. True enough, the latest census found that the median age of Americans had dropped from 29.6 in 1960 to 27.6 in 1970, largely as a result of the continuing effects of the post-World War II baby boom. The median is a statistical dividing line. Exactly half the population is older than 27.6 years; half the population is younger. There have been other dips throughout the country's history, but generally the trend has definitely been toward a higher and higher median age. In 1820, for example, when the birth rate was far higher and life expectancy was far lower than it is today, the median age was 16.7 years. In 1870 the median was up to 20.1, and in 1920 it was 25.3. As the baby boom passes, the median again will start upward, reaching an estimated 30 years by the 1980s. A sharp decrease in the birth rate, coupled with break-throughs in extending life span, could boost it even higher.

At Other's Expense

We often have said that a people trained to believe they were entitled to "free" schooling at the expense of all tax payers would soon expect food, clothing, shelter and nearly everything else they believe they need, all to be paid for through tax levies. Now, we see, Mayor Sam Massell of Atlanta is asking why a city that provides "free" streets and sidewalks for its citizens, should not also provide "free" bus service. In his pitch for no-fare bus service, Mayor Massell said in part: "Not only will such a system serve the largest number of patrons — with proportionate relief to automotive traffic congestion—but a society that has free transit can get to the park to see a free art show, can get to the clinic to receive free medical attention, can visit friends and family and can get from a job and then to shopping places to spend their earnings." He concluded that "free" transit system "is just as essential to a community as police and fire protection or public schools." The official might have suggested "free" food and clothing as well, but he didn't. He also didn't suggest that the tax payers provide "free" barber shops and beauty parlors in every neighborhood, and free plumbing repairs. But, sooner or later, someone will come up with the proposals. About the only thing that hasn't been proposed somewhere and sometime is freedom from taxes. But that is out of the question with the politicians. As a wise man once said: Democracy is a condition in which everyone seeks to live at the expense of everyone else.

'Do As I Say' In Britain

Official controllers of the people apparently are the same in Britain as in the United States. A former resident mailed to us from London a page from the Dec. 16 issue of Punch. The page contained a column entitled "THEM" by Kenneth Robinson in which he reported discoveries of foibles among the bureaucrats. One of the accounts by Mr. Robinson sounds like bureaucracy at its utmost. He writes: "Michael Webster wants to build a bungalow at Bacton, in Norfolk, using brown-gray bricks. The county council have refused permission. They insist that any new building near the town's ancient priory should have red bricks. Yet the council themselves have just put up a yellow brick wall even closer to their treasured historic monument. Why? 'I think,' said the spokesman at a planning inquiry, 'it was a complete mistake.' "Refreshing honesty, no doubt, but a reminder that councils should set their own houses in order before telling other people how to design and build."

Quick Quiz

Q—What state has produced the most U.S. vice-presidents?
A—New York with eight.
Q—Who founded the John Birch Society?
A—It was founded in 1958, by Robert Welch. Welch named the Society after John M. Birch, a Baptist missionary and World War II U.S. Air Force officer.
Q—Are American cuckoos parasitic?
A—All American species of cuckoo build their own nests and rear their own young.

Q—How many eggs can an oyster spawn?
A—In one season a large Virginia oyster may produce as many as five hundred million eggs and during its lifetime it may liberate five billion.
Q—What animal is pictured on the State Seal of California?
A—A grizzly bear, symbol of determination, stands near the seated figure of Minerva, Roman goddess of wisdom.

TROUBLE IN POLAND

The surface of Poland is quiet but the high lords of communism in Eastern Europe are worried. Reports coming out of that troubled land indicate that the purge is still on even though the rioting of workers ceased several weeks ago.

The masses were protesting against price increases, which seems to be a world-wide ailment. But the Poles didn't confine their protestations to peaceful petition. They took to the streets and violently made their wishes known, a practice the communist bosses cannot afford to tolerate. After all, the communist dictators have proclaimed their socialist satellites to be utopias.

Intelligence experts in this country believe that the Kremlin will take even more drastic action in its slave countries since a further weakening of ties with the satellites would be extremely dangerous. But the danger of Russian intervention has not dampened the spirits of the angered Poles. They are still conducting slowdowns in the shippings and other industries.

As if the new Polish administration of Party Boss Edward Gierek didn't have enough troubles on its hands with rioters and general unrest, an increase in the hippie community has been reported. A corresponding increase in the clandestine use of drugs is also reported in this nation where 40 per cent of the population is under 40 years of age.

Republic USA has had its share of troubles but being a resident here is like living in the Garden of Eden compared with the misery of dwelling in a communist slave state.

Wouldn't you think that the little feller has had enough when he hears about his tax dollars being used to put up welfareites in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in Noo Yawk?

Imagine that! Not only was it a room, but a suite, at $70 bucks a nite! Probably you missed two points in the story, which is understandable because of the initial shock. . .

The welfare administrator disclosed it was not the first time "welfare clients" had been made comfortable in the Waldorf Astoria — it is done when all the other hotels are full. He says that the "clients" are customarily put up in hotels!

No wonder Noo Yawk, and most other cities are hollering for more money. The hotels are all full of welfare clients and the little feller is paying for it.

Now that there are no restrictions on crossing state borders, I have arrived at a conclusion on how to enjoy my vacation. I will go to Fun City, sign up for welfare, and get into the Waldorf Astoria.

Do you think that New York is the only place where welfareites are allowed to bask in plush surroundings at your expense? Guess again. It is a "rule," not an exception. Though there aren't many Waldorfs there are some pretty fancy hotels around that only those very affluent or those on the dole can afford. . .

The Erie Canal's success in transporting goods cheaply and quickly helped initiate an era of canal building in the United States. The World Almanac notes that on Oct. 26, 1825, the first boat left Buffalo, on the Erie Canal, reaching New York City Nov. 4. The canal was ardently supported by Governor DeWitt Clinton of New York.

LOCAL ROTARIANS and other Pampa civic leaders will have the welcome mat out for seven Chileans who will arrive tomorrow afternoon for a five-day visit as part of Rotary International's Group Study Exchange for the promotion of better understanding among peoples of the world.

The seven men will come to Pampa after spending a week in Lubbock and three days in the Wellington and Childress area.

They started their tour in Midland-Odessa on Feb. 1. Their junket to the U.S. is being sponsored by West Texas Rotary District 573 as an exchange for a District 573 Study Exchange group which visited Chile in 1970.

Due to arrive about 4:30 p.m. tomorrow, the Chilean guests will be taken to their host homes and then attend a dinner in the Pampa Club, followed by an evening at a theater performance of "The Diary of Adam and Eve" by the Alpha Omega Players in Robert E. Lee Junior High auditorium.

They will be entertained and make various visitations all through the week with a windup attendance Thursday night at the Pampa Rotary Club's annual Ladies Night banquet in Coronado Inn.

Perhaps we all should be grateful to Editor Ed Eakin of the Quannah Tribune. Thursday was Make-It-Rain Day in Quannah. Eakin brewed up some kind of a mysterious rain potion and placed it in a kettle on the court house lawn. It started raining almost immediately. If we can get Editor Eakin to give us the formula, we'll put a potful of it on the Gray County court house lawn.

TO THE phone caller who was unable to convince another local resident that Pampa had ever been "shook" by an earthquake:

If you had placed a bet on it, you would have won. Pampa was shaken up by an earth tremor back in 1936. It rattled dishes around town and knocked the southwest corner off the top floor of City Hall.

We remember it because having just recently arrived in Pampa from California, accusations were made that we had brought along one of those West Coast shaker-uppers. Pampans told us there never had been a local quake before. And, there hasn't been one since.

THERE'S A building out at Recreation Park that's been called the "County Bull Barn" for, lo, these many years. County Judge Don Cain thinks "bull barn" is not the proper name for it. He says he's going to change the name to "Community Building."

After all, the judge points out, the building is used for other things than just a hangout for the bulls during stock shows. It has a kitchen and is used occasionally to serve barbecue meals.

Now, who wants to say, "I'm going out to the bull barn to eat." It might ruin an appetite or two. Perhaps the judge has something there.

Buttermilk Will Not Kill Germs

Dear Dr. Lamb — I have heard that buttermilk would kill germs. I also have been told honey would build up the blood. I would like an answer to both these questions.

Dear Reader — O.K., here it is: Neither statement is correct.

Dear Dr. Lamb — You suggest walking is a good exercise. That might be O.K. for some people but what about people like me. I've got trouble maintaining my balance and I am sure there are lots of people my age that have the same problem.

Dear Reader — This is a problem. When there is disease of the arteries, it can affect the balance mechanism. A stationary bicycle or exercise might be all right if you don't have too much trouble getting on or off it. Some folks pedal while watching television. If you have lots of trouble you may need a walker — a sort of three dimensional crutch that you can take in front of you. If you have a friend without this problem, perhaps you could walk with your friend and use an arm for balance.

Dear Dr. Lamb — After a light lunch and while taking a nap on a couch, I sometimes am awakened by a rush of warm acidlike fluid from my throat into my mouth. What causes this action and how can it be counteracted?

Dear Reader — The acid secretions normally present in the stomach, combined with your meal have leaked back into your esophagus. Often this means that a short portion of the stomach is herniated or pulled through the diaphragm, making the normal closure mechanism of the stomach ineffective.

There are two things you can do. First, don't take a nap immediately after eating. Allow at least two hours to pass before lying down. Second, prop yourself up while taking a nap. People with this problem at night are often advised "to elevate the head of the bed."

You should also avoid eating large meals. A number of smaller ones throughout the day are better.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Would you please explain a peculiar lightheaded feeling that comes over me, especially when I become nervous or upset.

Dear Reader — One would need more information to be certain what your difficulty is. A frequent cause of this sensation in people when they are distressed is overbreathing. Normally, a limited amount of carbon dioxide is expired from the lungs. When too much is expired it affects the body chemistry. The acid base balance is upset. This leads to changes in the circulation.

There may be tingling sensations around the mouth or in the hands. The next time you notice this feeling try to learn if you are breathing faster or deeper than usual. You can also try a simple test on yourself by taking small breaths more

Egypt's Proposal to Open Canal Not Viewed as Desire for Peace

Robert Allen

JERUSALEM — In tending vineyards, according to an old Arab proverb, it is essential to know whether a man is really interested in grapes or just wants to stir up something with the caretaker.

This bit of wisdom is being used in the Israeli capital to explain the government's present stand on opening the Suez Canal and peace in the Middle East. Officials here have found no evidence so far that Egypt is really interested in the fruits of a lasting Middle East settlement.

Withdrawal to permit a reopening of the canal definitely does not constitute evidence of that sort in the view of Israeli officials. The proposal has not been rejected out of hand, however.

Mrs. Golda Meir, the Israeli Premier, says Sadat's initiative was "a feeler, put out in the hope that Israel would say, no" — and thereby sour world opinion.

Mrs. Meir and Her Foreign Office advisers complain that in one of his recent statements has President Sadat ever talked of peace with Israel. All his hopeful comments, they note, are directed towards peace in the "area."

Mrs. Meir adds acidly that when she commented (by way of exploring Sadat's proposal) that the Suez Canal has been closed to Israeli shipping since 1948, Cairo replied that Israel could use the canal after it resolves the long-standing and very complex problem of Palestinian refugees.

In the context of the proverb, and despite the optimistic appraisal of Secretary of State William P. Rogers, the Israelis get no scent of grapes from what has happened to date in the wake of Sadat's proposal.

'SADAT "FANATIC" — Mrs. Meir says that while Sadat has been advancing his Suez initiative on the world scene, he has been telling his people that fighting against Israel is an affair of "honor" in which Egypt will be the winner some other time if a new war falls. In a recent session with visiting newsmen, the Israeli prime minister described Sadat as a "fanatic," both as to religion and as to politics. She said the Egyptian president's extreme views have been well known since he was a Nazi sympathizer in World War II.

Decrying the Egyptian

president's saber-rattling call to a holy war, she asked: "How many Egyptians have to die for the hate of Israel?"

In the Middle East controversy Mrs. Meir told the American newsmen Israel and the United States agree fully on several basic points. First, that the issues should be resolved on the basis of an agreement mutually binding on the parties. That means that a settlement should not be imposed on the parties by the United Nations, the Big Four or any other outside group.

Also agreed, according to Mrs. Meir, is that no Israeli soldier withdraws from occupied territory until such a binding agreement is signed. Finally, according to Mrs. Meir, Israel and the United States agree that any guarantees in support of such an agreement must come after settlement is reached.

A JERUSALEM STATE? — Under these circumstances, Israel will stand fast in the territories which its forces occupied in 1967 during the six-day war. In talks with Israeli officials, however, there are the hints of Israeli positions which might emerge in real peace negotiations if they could take place directly or (and this is viewed here as very unlikely) under the auspices of UN mediator Gunnar Jarring.

Indications are, for example, that Israel will not withdraw from the Golan Heights and allow her border settlements to be menaced again from the Syrian bluffs overlooking the Jordan River. On the other hand, demilitarization arrangements might be devised which would permit at least a partial withdrawal from Sinai, the Jordan's west bank and the Gaza Strip — if such a settlement were to be enforced, by joint patrols by the nations involved. There are even private suggestions that Israel might acquiesce in the creation of a Vatican-like international state in the walled, old city portion of Jerusalem which includes shrines sacred to the Christian, Jewish and Moslem faiths. For the present, however, none of these ideas have any official standing.

It does not appear that Israel's position will change as long as Mrs. Meir and her government are convinced that the Arabs, to use her words, "think they will be able to destroy us."

John Connally Can Go Just About Anywhere From Here

By PAUL HARVEY

Three elections ago, Billy Graham said, "John Connally should be President of the United States." Maybe he will be.

John Connally can go anywhere from here. Handsome, experienced, articulate — a Democrat in a Republican Cabinet — his political horizon is limitless.

But first he must perform a miracle. He must maneuver inflation and unemployment into reverse simultaneously.

On his way to becoming Treasury secretary, Connally needed the approval of the Senate Finance Committee. He got it, 13 to 0.

And what's more, as one member of the committee expressed it, "Boy, did he take charge of that hearing. He overwhelmed us!"

Similarly he was confirmed without debate and without dissent by the full Senate.

An astute politician, whatever his ultimate objective, recognizes the necessity for winning all preliminaries on the way to the main event.

As John Connally sees his present primary responsibility as Treasury secretary it is to stabilize our fiscal affairs.

President Nixon had tried to retard inflation with recession. It didn't work. Connally, on the other hand, is not a "tight-money, high-interest" man. He believes low interest rates are essential to restoring the vitality of our economy. He aims for the realistic objectives of 4 percent unemployment and 3 percent inflation.

He believes deficit spending is necessary in our present economic situation.

The differences between the economic philosophy of Secretary Connally and that previously espoused by President Nixon are not basic; they are variations of emphasis and degree.

It is assumed that President Nixon intended with a per-Democrat as his Treasury secretary to intimidate characteristically hostile partisans on the Hill. Perhaps he well.

But what intrigues me, as a long-time fascinated observer of our predictably unpredictable political system, are the myriad options which will be open to Connally if he does this job well.

Let's remember that John Connally's track record still stands in Texas. A three-term governor, he is one of the most magnetic vote-getters in that state's history.

Yet his political philosophy is hybrid. Texas Democrats are sort of a third-party, anyway, and Connally's independence has been demonstrated so many times in the past that it is not at all out of character for him to emerge as a potential vice-presidential nominee for the GOP.

But if this is what Nixon is thinking about, what might Mr. Connally be thinking about above and beyond even that possibility? I don't know, of course. And he may be much too busy with the present to think about the future.

But if he dreams about it, imagine the limitless range for dreaming. Now only 53, within six years he could lead the parade to the White House for either party!

slowly. This may cause the sensation to clear more quickly. Do not hold your breath, however, since that may cause other difficulties.

American Quarter Horse Association Leads Field In Equine Registry In '70

The American Quarter Horse Association, the world's largest equine registry, started the new decade with records being set in all facets of the world-wide organization during 1970.

Registrations for owners of American Quarter Horses in this and 41 other countries totaled 90,877 which represents an increase of 37 per cent over 1969. This brings the total registration figure to well over 700,000 exceeding the combined total registered by the three associations.

Transfers of ownership, the barometer of activity within the industry, was up 17.6 per cent over 1969. The transfer total was 107,475, another new record.

The beginning of the new decade also saw the formation of the American Junior Quarter Horse Association as the youngsters held their first Annual Convention in Dallas in August. Presently, nearly 4,000 youth from 35 states and the province of Quebec, Canada, have joined AQJHA. Past President Lee Berwick, St. Joseph, Louisiana, called the event the greatest moment in the history of the American Quarter Horse since the Association was founded in 1940. The AQJHA will hold its First Junior Finals Show and Second Annual Convention in Dallas in August of this year.

More Quarter Horses compete at more shows, in more places, before more people than do all other breeds of horses combined. There were 1,520 AQHA sanctioned shows for adults last year in the U.S. and Canada, a gain of .06 per cent. Additionally, there were 1,249 approved youth shows, up 3.6 per cent. The total number of entries was 250,102, an increase of 3 per cent over 1969.

Next to the youth movement, Quarter Horse racing has probably been the greatest boom to the industry. 1970 was no exception as the number of races increased 12.9 per cent to 7,348. The total mutual handle took a healthy jump of 12.5 per cent to $102,858,245 with the gross purse standing at $9,427,886 for an increase of 11.4 per cent. The number of starters for Quarter Horse races in 1970 was 10,487 up 9.5 per cent.

The Association will hold its 32nd Annual Convention March 8-10 in Mexico City.

MOISTURE

Although the rain was light over the entire county, it was a relief to know that it at least it could rain again...most people had given up. The official report for Pampa was thirty-three one hundredths of an inch. Some areas to the south of Pampa received somewhat more. This will give the dryland wheat a new lease on life.

TOP O' TEXAS JR. LIVESTOCK SHOW

The Top O' Texas Jr. Livestock Show, the Hereford Breeders Show and Sale will be held March 7-10. Much planning is under way at the present time. Judges have been selected. Several preliminary meetings of the Agricultural Committee of the Chamber of Commerce have been held. Another meeting has been scheduled for Monday, at 10:30 a.m. in the Cibola Room of the Coronado Inn. This is our annual sales meeting for the Top O' Texas Jr. Livestock Show. The Agricultural Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and the Board of Directors meet to assist in selling the livestock for the comink sale on March 10. It is this enthusiastic committee that makes Pampa's sale one of the best in the state. We urge all agricultural committee members and directors of the Chamber of Commerce to be in attendance.

They hope to be in operation by the time of the Top O' Texas Jr. Livestock Show and Sale. This will assist a great deal in handling the custom-killed carcasses that are bought during the Top O' Texas Jr. Livestock Show and Sale.

CATTLE PRICES

Well, they're in price now! Light-weight cattle prices have really skyrocketed as well as fat cattle. Steers in the 500-750-pound category have probably experienced the best rise in prices for cattle this weight. We rather suspect that most people hope to get in finished, heavier cattle in 140 days and get out before the usual summer price drop. Well this one might fool them this year. The last Cattle-on-Feed report showed a slight increase in numbers on feed as well as placements. The six-state monthly Cattle-on-Feed Report showed that as of Feb. 1, the number of cattle and calves on feed was up two per cent from a year ago. The placements are what is scaring people, and probably has caused some justified concern.

Cattle and calves placed on feed in the six states during January were up eighteen per cent from the same month in 1970. The big jump in placements was in Texas where they were up forty-five per cent above the same period a year earlier. One optimistic thing I see in the report is the fact Iowa, where the heavy cattle are fed, had a drastic drop. Cattle and calves on feed in Iowa on Feb. 1 were eight per cent fewer than a year ago. Placements, likewise, were down three per cent less than one year earlier. Many times the people that interpret these reports place too much emphasis on cattle numbers rather than on beef tonnage. Iowa feeds cattle to the heavy weights...to me this is not as pessimistic as far as placements and numbers on feed would indicate by the overall total numbers on feed in the six states.

The noon membership luncheon will follow this meeting. Granville Dutton, manager of Utilization and Joint Operations, Sun Oil Company, Dallas, will be the luncheon speaker in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn.

MILO DISEASE

Leroy Thornburg recently called me for a copy of a recent publication put out by the Extension Service that has to do with the susceptibility of different milo varieties to Maize Dwarf Mosaic virus. We are mailing a copy to him and have a few extra copies available to others, providing we can find them in the stack of material that we still need to file in our new office located east of Pampa on Highway 60. We are still in the process of filing the material which we returned to the new office building. We hope to be straightened out within a week.

NEW PACKING PLANT

We congratulate Blake Laramore in establishing the small packing plant in Pampa. Some two years ago in a Chamber of Commerce brainstorming session one of the goals established by the Agricultural Committee was to obtain a small packing plant of this type to take care of the freezer trade in beef. Many residents of Pampa and vicinity had to take their beefs as far as McLean, Miami, White Deer, Claude, and other points over the Panhandle to have them custom processed. This is a much needed facility for Pampa and we are happy that Blake Laramore and his new partner from Amarillo decided to place this plant in operation at Pampa. The plant will be USDA inspected and is presently under construction and is being built to the latest specifications of the USDA with cleanliness in

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS

The Water, Inc., Annual Meeting was held in Hereford last Friday. Water, Inc. is at the cross-roads of its four year existence. Its influence in this area has begun to wane.

The defeat of the bond issue to implement the Texas Water Plan in 1969 brought the Lubbock based water organization to a state of crisis. This crisis brought on a thorough self-examination that resulted in the overhauling of the charter and by-laws of the organization. The revision of the by-laws supposedly would give a much wider representation to all the counties covered by the organization. There had been widespread criticism of the control of Water, Inc. by a small self-appointed group. The amendments to the by-laws permits any county with a current membership of 100 to have a director on the full board of Water, Inc. with full voting powers. A number of counties secured the necessary members of Water, Inc. and elected Directors. By-laws of Water, Inc. permits the appointment of a number of directors-at-large. This permits a situation under which the same people to maintain a power base for certain areas to the detriment of other areas.

The reasons that brought on the formation of Water, Inc. still exist. The critical water shortage still exists. Our area must secure outside water or we will surely see a big economic recession under way by 1980. Water levels are dropping and the underground reservoir is not being recharged. All of the High Plains of West Texas needs Water, Inc. and a way must be found to have it represent the whole region. Water, Inc. has 12 months to convince all of West Texas that certain power blocks have been eliminated. When this has been accomplished the task of getting all counties involved in the total effort will be made easier.

USGS MAKING STUDY

In 1970 the U. S. Geological Survey began the first part of a two-part study of the Ground-Water Resources of the High Plains of Texas. The USGS now has an office in the Hughes Building in Pampa to facilitate the study. This Ogallala groundwater study is in cooperation with the Texas Water Development Board.

Because ground water in the Ogallala Formation in the High Plains has been withdrawn over the years at a rate much greater than the rate of recharge, the aquifer has been seriously depleted in many parts of the High Plains.

Continued irrigation development will result in further depletion of the aquifer to the extent that significant segments of the irrigation economy will be forced out of business, unless additional sources of water are found and made available. The Texas Water Plan proposes the importation of water to the High Plains to supplement the dwindling water supplies in the Ogallala Formation. The methods of using the Ogallala Formation either as a source of water or as a storage facility will probably vary from place to place as a result of the variation in geologic, hydrologic, and hydraulic characteristics of the formation. Current investigations that will supply much of this needed information are now being carried on in parts of the High Plains. The objectives of this study are to supplement the present programs and to provide data for the management of the aquifer and improved water as described above.

GREEN PLANTS GUARD THE ATMOSPHERE — Green plants play a vital role in our every day survival and well-being. They are the great air purifiers of the world, reminds Everett Janne, Extension landscape horticulturist. They have the ability to take carbon dioxide from the air and convert it to oxygen which is vital to all animal life. In the process of photosynthesis, plants manufacture the basic carbohydrate materials ultimately used for food. Too, Janne says, plants, especially trees and shrubs, can improve the environment and have great esthetic value.

Our Natural Environment: Preserve And Protect It

By: Diane Cox

The black cloud outside the window hangs ominously, seemingly to never end. No foliage is to be found on the now dead vegetation. The water canister is almost empty. The week's supply is nearly gone. Will this be the scene in a few short years? The job before man is to preserve and protect his environment.

Pollution is the one largest problem now facing modern man. His natural environment has developed into his greatest enemy. The quest for supremacy in every code of engineering and science has left a scar across our land. Man's goals must be altered. His goal must now be to clean up his cluttered environment. The filth in the water and air of our land must be removed. Forests must be replenished; wildlife must be protected. The future of man is in jeopardy. What good is economic wealth without a land in which to enjoy it?

The wastes of factories, the pollution of air by automobiles, and the destruction of natural resources has put man in a position of environmental destitution. The governmental control of industrial pollution is beginning to restrict the waste which factories may emit. Auto makers are also limiting the emission of gases from new cars. These factors have influenced the slow change from destruction to replenishment.

Man has to learn to live in an environment which he has practically destroyed with his own pollution. The job of cleaning up these wastes is a sizable one. This tremendous job is necessary for the survival of mankind. Man must preserve and protect his natural environment.

Retail Food

Price Up Again

COLLEGE STATION — Retail food prices are expected to increase again in 1971, but the rise won't be as great as in the past two years, according to Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist.

To stretch your food budget, combine good judgment and market knowledge in selecting foods.

Attractive specials this week in the meat market on beef include chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef, liver, and round steaks and roasts. Pork values include end-cut loin roasts and chops, shoulder roasts and steaks, hams and picnics.

Chicken prices remain about the same as for the past weeks and the supply is still plentiful. Grade A large eggs continue to offer the best value for your egg money.

Best fruit choices include Texas grapefruit, oranges, tangelos, and bananas and avocados. Apples are still good values, by the pound or by the bag.

Vegetable items in ample supply and with low prices are carrots and sweet potatoes. Some markets are featuring special prices on tomatoes. Broccoli, cabbage, celery, turnips, rutabagas, yellow onions, and both red and russet potatoes are also good choices.

New Disease Threat To Area Horses

COLLEGE STATION—Encephalitis, or sleeping sickness, has long been a problem for American horsemen; and a relative of this disease from Venezuela may be a threat in this country.

Dr. William Sippel, executive director of the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory, says that the Venezuelan form of the disease has already been found in Mexico. This would not normally be a problem except that the vaccine for the common strain in this country has no effect on the foreign variety. Vaccines have not as yet become available in the United States.

Symptoms of the two varieties are similar. In the early stages, the horse may be paralyzed in muscle groups, such as the face or legs. Later the animal may stand with his head against a tree or wall, says Dr. Sippel. The afflicted horse may just start walking and go through fences or whatever else is in his path. Finally, the animal will get down and suffer hard convulsions just before death.

As is the case with the common Western or Eastern encephalitis, the foreign strain can attack humans. Dr. Sippel advises horse owners to watch for the symptoms and report the first suspicious signs to a veterinarian.

Household Work Still Full Day Despite Pushbuttons, Switches

COLLEGE STATION — Oh to be a housewife — to flip a switch here and there, punch a few buttons, then curl-up on a cushioned couch and let the Computer Age take over. Forget it.

The homemaker still has an eight hour workday, just like she did 40 years ago, says Miss Bonnie Lyerly, Extension specialist in home management at Texas A&M University. But the nature of homemaking work has been "modernized," Miss Lyerly adds. Mental work has replaced much of the physical work. The modern homemaker, then, is a decision maker who requires generous helpings of knowledge about goods and services available on the market. She must be skillful in buying, using and caring for goods and services. She is a marketer, record-keeper and manager.

And as usual, household work takes time. Dr. Kathryn Walker, associate professor at New York State College of Human Ecology, conducted a study at Cornell University to determine how much time a homemaker spends tackling the daily chores. The data, collected in 1967-68, was compared to information gathered in 1926-27 and in 1952. The study revealed the same amount of time for household work. Homemakers in 1926-27 used an average of 7.3 hours a day; in 1952, 7.4 a day; and in 1967-68, 8 hours a day.

4-H Horse Show Set For Fort Worth Exhibition

COLLEGE STATION — The top 4-H horsemen in Texas will gather for the ninth annual 4-H Horse Show July 29, 30 and 31 at Will Rogers Coliseum in Fort Worth.

The Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are joining in the production of this year's show. Billy Bob Watt Jr., assistant manager of the Fort Worth Stock Show, is serving as local show chairman. The three-day show is expected to attract between 350-400 entries and bring 1,500 people into the Fort Worth area, says B. F. Yeates, Extension horse specialist, who will serve as general manager of the show.

Tom Davison, assistant state 4-H Club leader, will assist Yeates in managing the show. Local support is being generated by Extension personnel and the 4-H youth sub-committee in Tarrant County.

Committee work has started to obtain class sponsors, plan a barbecue for the contestants, and prepare for additional activities connected with the show, notes the specialist. The state show has grown in both quantity and quality each year and the 1971 show will be no exception, according to Yeates. Originally, contestants could compete in classes consisting of halter, showmanship, western pleasure, reining, barrel racing, and pole bending. Yeates indicated that within the last three years events in drill competition, cutting, jumping, and English pleasure have been added to give the show a new dimension. Prior to the state show, contestants must compete in county shows leading to district competition. Twelve district shows are then held to qualify the top twenty in each for competition in the state show in Fort Worth. These 240 boys and girls make up the regular show.

Other 4-H'ers who are interested in participating in the state show may enter four additional events that have been added over the years. Statewide competition for these events begins July 29, the first day of the show, with the finals that night.

Regular show contestants will compete on Friday and Saturday, July 30 and 31, with their finals, the highlight of the show, scheduled for Saturday night. "Since the 1968 show was held in Fort Worth, we can call on the valuable experience of many who worked then to make this year's show the best ever," Yeates noted.

What do you suppose he'd say?

If George Washington returned and found everyone taking a day off in his honor, we imagine he'd be pleased. And then, we suspect he'd growl that maybe it would be better if everyone worked extra on his birthday instead. That may be the reason he was the Father of our country.

Rotary Drilling Fluids Topic For D&D Meet

Guest speaker for the Pampa Desk and Derrick Club monthly meeting to be held at the Coronado Inn Feb. 22 will be Doyle R. Henson, district superintendent for Baroid Division, National Lead Co. of Pampa. His topic for the evening will be "Rotary Drilling Fluids".

Doyle has been associated with Baroid for the past thirteen years, having worked throughout most of Oklahoma and coming to the Texas Panhandle in 1968.

He attended Oklahoma University where he majored in Petroleum Engineering, is a member of the AIME and API chapters in Pampa.

Doyle and his wife, Barbetta, reside at 2108 Lynn. They have three children, one married daughter living in Pampa, one daughter, a junior at Pampa High School, and a son in the seventh grade at Lee Junior High.

Play Acting:

An annual charade is about to be played out between Communist China and the Japanese business firms doing business with Peking. Japan and Red China have no formal relations but each year China requires the businessmen to sign a statement denouncing Japan's American-oriented foreign policy. The Japanese sign it to keep trade alive. This year's may be the rawest yet. The Chinese are demanding that the Japanese endorse their claim to Taiwan, and endorse kicking Nationalist China out of the United Nations. After it is signed, Prime Minister Eisaku Sato will denounce it, and go right on favoring the Taiwan Chinese. The charade is tolerated because of the big profits Japanese companies make in China.

French Plane Delivery:
Well-informed government sources in Paris say the French government will go ahead with the delivery of the 100 Mirage jet fighter-bombers to Libya despite a defiant statement by the Libyan President, Col. Moammer Khadafy, that he will disregard a French demand that the planes never be used against Israel. Four of the planes already have been delivered. French officials say that if any of the Libyan Mirages appear on the Israeli front, France will immediately stop delivery of spare parts.

Expensive Oil: The steep prices imposed on Western oil companies by Middle East nations have alarmed the French who say it proves that Western Europe, unlike the United States and Russia, is at the mercy of the Middle East and North African oil producing countries. Accordingly, France is urging its Common Market partners to get together at the earliest possible date to outline a policy on all forms of energy, including nuclear. France already has speeded up plans for construction of eight additional nuclear power plants to lessen her dependence on Arab oil, and is urging a speed-up in the exploitation of untapped oil reserves off Norway's coast.

LIKES ECONOMY

HOUSTON (UPI)—A slowdown in the wage-cost spiral was predicted Friday by Phillip E. Coldwell, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas. Coldwell said the Nixon Administration's policies should also bring a reduction of credit costs, but he warned that the full employment budget could be dangerous if it hits the economy consumer spending.

BOHAVENA HURT (UPI)—Heavyweight Oscar Bonavena was reported to be "recovering slowly" from a hand injury suffered in training for a scheduled bout with former champion Floyd Patterson.
