'Feed Lift' Scheduled For Snowbound Cattle

Governor Preston S. Smith, attending a governors' conference in Washington, yesterday ordered two additional Texas National Guard operated helicopters to an Amarillo post today where they were to be dispatched on feed delivery to snowbound cattle in the blizzard beaten northern Panhandle.

The aircraft will be utilized in a gigantic "feed-lift" to save cattle stranded in the storm, many of which have not been fed since last Friday.

Foster Whaley, Gray County Agriculture Agent, will coordinate Gray County's part in the feed airlift. Whaley has asked farmers and ranchers to notify him by calling, 669-2871 or 669-2795, night or day, when emergency airlift of feed is needed. Also in operation will be National Guard trucks equipped to break through huge snow banks to deliver feed to isolated pastures.

Ranchers are expected to provide the hay and workers to load it and kick it out, according to information relayed here by the governor's office.

A warming trend in the weather today was expected to aid in the feeding program, with large amounts of snow expected to melt by mid-afternoon.

Counties declared a disaster area include Gray, Lipscomb, Carson, Hemphill, Wheeler, Hutchison, Hansford, Roberts and Ochiltree.

The Governor's appeal to the Department of Defense for Army and Air Force assistance was necessitated when the Texas National Guard did not have sufficient equipment to relieve the stricken area.

The helicopters and armored personnel carriers dispatched for use in the area will work closely with the Texas National Guard, Department of Public Safety, Department of Agriculture and local government agencies in the Panhandle.

Top O' Texas ranchers are faced with a long crisis due to the storm which dumped up to 24 inches of snow on the area. High drifts have permitted cattle to walk over fences and stray miles from home pasture. Reports of strays have flooded local law enforcement offices.

Whaley reported that the death loss of Gray County cattle was dwarfed by the shrinkage loss which occurred when stranded cattle were unable to be fed. He estimated a five to ten percent death loss of lightweight, up to 300 pounds, calves shipped in recently from warmer climates.

"Native cattle fared very well," he commented. Feedlot losses have been confined to sick pens where cattle, weak from illness, were unable to keep walking during the storm and consequently smothered or were buried in snow, according to a Pampa feedlot operator.

Scattered and sick cattle are the big problem now, according to Whaley. Reports have been received that branded cattle have strayed as far as 50 miles. The big mix-up is further complicated by newborn calves separated from cows bearing brands or marks. "The really big job is still ahead," the agent advised.

City Just About 'Out From Under' Snow Job Of '71

Pampa was practically "out from under" today as far as snow conditions on city streets were concerned, according to R. B. Cooke, public works director.

"We have the street situation under control now," Cooke said, "with the exception of a few loose ends in outlying districts." The public works director said those were expected to be cleared up by this afternoon.

City cleanup crews worked through the night with snow removal around city schools which were able to re-open today.

Warmer temperatures this afternoon were expected to further melt snow and speed up traffic that had been slowed down although streets were open.

Snow was still piled in the middle of downtown streets but was expected to melt rapidly. Water from the melting snow seemed to be the biggest problem today. It was hampering pedestrian travel and many crosswalk intersections were almost impassable.

City officials said efforts now will be turned into city alleys in order to clear the way for trash and garbage collections. Many alleys still were clogged with snow today. Reports on radio and television early this morning indicated a 20 per cent possibility of more snow Friday. The National Weather Service forecast from Amarillo at 11 a.m. today said this had changed and currently there was no snow in sight.

Air Force To Save Marooned Cattle From Starvation

MEDICINE LODGE, Kan. (UPI)—Five C130 transports took advantage of thawing temperatures today to save 275,000 cattle from starvation. The cows were marooned in fields sealed off by heavy snows.

An Air Force spokesman predicted "Operation Haylift" will be completed on Friday. The cargo planes flew only five missions Wednesday because of a late start caused by snow-covered runways. About 1,200 bales of hay were hauled. Missions resumed at 7 a.m. today and were to continue until dusk.

Some 30,000 bales of hay will be dumped from the planes to hungry cattle in five South Central Kansas counties, where snow depth in fields ranged from two feet to 25-foot drifts.

Warmer weather augmented by southerly winds began a strong thaw Wednesday and even higher temperatures were forecast for today.

Sunday's blizzard, the worst to hit this part of Kansas in the 20th Century, blocked farm roads and whipped the snow into huge, impassable drifts in the Kiowa, Clark, Comanche, Barber and Harper counties.

Stockmen and farmers trucked the hay to bases at Great Bend and Medicine Lodge to be hauled and dropped into the fields.

Officials said the operation required daylight hours because the cattle cannot be seen at night even though the planes fly at low altitude.

Nixon Terms Mideast Most Dangerous Area

President Says Reds Trying To Dominate

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon today termed the conflict in the Middle East the most dangerous in the world and said Soviet attempts to dominate the area "must and will be resisted."

Despite the costly and frustrating war in Southeast Asia, it is Moscow's move as an ambitious global power seeking exclusive influence at America's expense that poses the chief threat of nuclear war, the President said.

In a book-length "state of the world" message to Congress, Nixon pointed to the Jordanian crisis of September, with its implications of a direct confrontation between Russia and the United States, as "the greatest threat to world peace" since he assumed office.

He put the Soviet Union on notice that despite America's unhappy involvement in Southeast Asia, the United States was not relinquishing its role of world leadership.

"There should be no misconceptions of the role we will play in international affairs," the President said. "This country is not withdrawing into isolation. With the Soviet Union we want a relationship in which the interests of both are respected. But, when challenged, the United States will defend its interests and those of its allies."

The President also promised to examine the possibilities of more contacts between the United States and mainland China, and referred to that country seven times as "Peoples Republic of China"—the first U.S. president ever to do so in an official document.

Viet Policy Commended
Nixon claimed the United States was embarked on a "consistent and unmistakable" policy in Vietnam that will reduce American involvement and provide a reasonable chance for political stability.

As examples of progress, he said, U.S. troop level and costs were approximately one-half and American casualties were approximately one-fifth of what they were two years ago when he assumed office.

While efforts to negotiate a settlement were getting no where, he said, the South Vietnamese forces now were assuming a much greater responsibility for military operations and approximately 80 per cent of the population was under control of the Saigon government.

But he warned that North Vietnam still has the potential for seizing the initiative in Southeast Asia and said that "high levels of American assistance and air operations" would be required as U.S. ground forces pull out.

Warning For Cambodia
He said his controversial decision to send U.S. forces into Cambodia last spring had been proved an "indispensible military success" which bought time and confidence for the South Vietnamese army and shored up a shaky Cambodian regime threatened by North Vietnamese aggression.

"In Cambodia we can expect sustained enemy thrusts against the government," he added.

The 65,000-word report, titled "United States Foreign Policy for the 1970s: Building for Peace," was under preparation for three months and is chiefly the work of the National Security Council staff headed by Dr. Henry A. Kissinger.

Nixon last year inaugurated the tradition of a comprehensive report to Congress outlining the philosophical underpinnings of his foreign policy. He termed 1970 a year of limited success. "This year, as any year, saw crises. We dealt with them without new war while winding down the war we inherited."

In the report the President not only reviewed the events of the past year but also put forth

Chilean Study Team To End Pampa Visit

The seven-man Group Study Exchange team from Chile, visiting in Pampa since Tuesday afternoon, will wind up their stay tonight as guests at the annual Rotary Club Ladies Night Banquet in Coronado Inn.

The team, on a goodwill tour of Rotary West Texas District 573, will depart Friday morning for Panhandle, Dalhart and Dumas. Two members of the team will visit Dalhart, two will go to Panhandle and three to Dumas.

The Chileans' schedule in Pampa was cut short due to the blizzard which hit Sunday. They were snowbound in Wellington and Childress and arrived here a day late.

Yesterday afternoon they were hosted by Mayor and Mrs. Milo Carlson in the mayor's home at 2211 Charles.

At 11 a.m. today they met with Chamber of Commerce directors in the Crown & Shield Room of Coronado Inn for a briefing on Pampa and the surrounding area. Don Lane,

Egypt Asks U.S. To Pressure Israel To Withdraw From Occupied Land

By United Press International
Egypt has asked the United States to pressure Israel to withdraw from occupied territory and publicly warned Egyptian armed forces are "fully prepared" to liberate the seized lands by force if Israel refuses to pull back.

Political sources in Cairo said today Egypt's next move in the Middle East struggle would depend largely on the U.S. response.

The Egyptian appeal was in a message which Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad sent to Secretary of State William P. Rogers, the sources said.

The inquiry followed Egypt's positive response to the proposals put forward by U.N.

chamber past president, presented "The Pampa Story," an illustrated talk.

At 12 noon the visitors attended a luncheon meeting of the Chamber board.

Following the luncheon, they sat in as observers at a regular board meeting. One of the main topics discussed at the business session was Texas' proposed Criminal Code revision.

The Chilean Study Exchange Group has been in the West Texas Rotary District since Feb. 1 when their first stop was the Midland-Odessa area. While in Pampa they were guests in the homes of Rotary Club members.

They will continue visiting district Rotary Club cities and towns through March to complete their exchange with District 573 which sent a team to Chile last May and June.

The study exchange is a project of Rotary International to promote better understanding among peoples of the world.

Experts Believe Calley Is Normal In Every Respect

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—The government called mental experts today to give opinions that Lt. William L. Calley Jr. not only was able to premeditate murder at My Lai, but "is normal in every respect."

Opening the rebuttal phase of the case in which it hopes to prove Calley guilty of 102 premeditated murders of villagers in Vietnam in 1968, the prosecution summoned to court three psychiatrists from Walter Reed Army Medical Center who examined him last month.

They comprised the Army Sanitary Board, whose report has not been made public except for the remark from the bench by Col. Reid W. Kennedy, the judge in the Calley court-martial, that it indicated the stocky little defendant was normal in every respect.

Medina To Appear
Their testimony to rebut that of defense psychiatrists was expected to take at least the rest of the week, and other rebuttal witnesses will follow. One of these was expected to be Capt. Ernest L. Medina, commander of the company in which Calley led a platoon.

Calley closed out the defense case as his own star witness Wednesday with an admission that he had fired pointblank into a group of civilians on Medina's order to "waste 'em."

He said Medina "was a very fine officer, and I respected him very much. I am now and always will be very proud to have served under his command."

In 8 hours and 24 minutes on the stand—only 3 hours and 26 minutes of it under cross-examination—Calley as the 40th defense witness said over and over that he followed Medina's orders in the field, and in briefings given the day before, to kill everything at My Lai.

Recalling Orders
Calley was reminded by Capt. Aubrey M. Daniel, the prosecutor, that he had testified Medina also told him to "hang onto" some civilians for use in walking ahead of the troops to clear mine fields.

Any assurance by Washington that the United States would put pressure on Israel to withdraw would encourage Cairo in its current bid to reach a settlement.

U.S. F4 Phantom Jet Shot Down By Reds

SAIGON (UPI)—Tank-led Communist troops today overran the South Vietnamese paratroop base on Hill 31 in Laos and shot down an American F4 Phantom jet fighter-bomber trying to come to the aid of the embattled outpost.

U.S. planes immediately moved in to begin "blowing away" the fallen base with massive air strikes.

Military sources said Hill 31 was overrun after three hours of heavy fighting on the third day of intense Communist pressure. The base, 15 miles inside Laos, was bombarded by Communist tanks which U.S. helicopter pilots reported had "surrounded the place."

The sources also reported that U.S. helicopter gunships accidentally killed nine South Vietnamese soldiers and wounded 31 others.

Two Texans Killed In Plant Explosion

LONGVIEW, Tex. (UPI)—An earth shaking explosion that rattled windows 20 miles away damaged the Texas Eastman chemical plant today and set fire to part of it.

An unidentified elderly man and another person were reported killed and workers at Good Shepherd Hospital said they had received 10 injured.

Among the injured, Bert Bernard of Longview was in very poor condition. The other injured, all in fair condition, included E. B. Stephenson, Billy Henson, N. O. Fox, Don A. Brooks and Patrick K. Kinsey.

The blast happened at 7:45 a.m. — 45 minutes after a shift change — in the polyethylene section of the plant. Polyethylene is a plastic material used to cover pipes and wires.

A fire sprang up but was brought under control within less than an hour.

The plant is four or five miles from downtown Longview. But the blast broke plate glass windows in Longview. Residents of Marshall, 20 miles away, reported feeling the ground shake.

the broad outlines for guiding the nation to what he termed a new era of partnership that "will test the capacity of American leadership and the understanding of the American people."

He characterized the new era as one in which U.S. allies would become increasingly self-reliant and help share the traditional American burden of providing aid and security to the poor and oppressed.

AGNEW GOES FORWARD

HILLO, Hawaii (UPI)—Mayor Shunichi Kimura said he will invite Vice President Spiro Agnew to bring his golf clubs with him when he comes to Hawaii next week to address the western region meeting of Counties.

The only requirement Kimura will make of other golfers that day is that they wear helmets. He added that in case there were any accidents, doctors traditionally take Wednesdays off "and are on the golf links."

Smith Said Not In Favor Of Revenue Sharing Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sources close to Gov. Preston Smith say the governor does not believe the federal government plans to hand over money to the states with no strings attached.

"Before, the source said, Smith is not now in favor of President Nixon's revenue sharing plan.

The source said he learned Smith's views on the topic when he attended a Wednesday breakfast with Smith, members of the Texas congressional delegation and Smith's predecessor and new Treasury Secretary John B. Connally.

The source also said the Texas congressmen do not appear to favor revenue sharing as Nixon has proposed it but they might be willing to back it if some changes are made in the block grant approach.

Smith told the delegation he would rather see the government assume the state's welfare costs than begin a revenue sharing program.

"It is illogical to believe the federal government is going to give us money without strings attached," the source quoted Smith as saying. "After the federal government raises the money in taxes and other revenue, I just don't see (money without strings) is in the wind."

Smith is in Washington attending the national governors conference and has been spending his time here lobbying in favor of federal takeover of state welfare programs. He has told the Texas delegation 10,000 persons were added to the Texas welfare rolls in the last couple of months because the rules of eligibility for welfare recipients has changed.

The Texas delegation generally agreed with Smith the federal government should do more for state welfare programs but were not altogether sold on the idea of a complete government takeover. They were said to be reserved on how the federal government would allocate welfare payments to each state and who could control the allocations.

Quite a few members of the delegation also support a job incentive program in the welfare system called "Workfare."

Schools Report Storm Absentees

Pampa schools averaged from 30 to 60 students absent today, the first day schools were open since the blizzard struck in Pampa last Saturday night.

"All public school buses made their routes today, and collected about 95 per cent of the student bus load," Claude Robertson, special services director said.

School parking lots were cleared and streets around schools were cleared today.

Austin school reported 36 out; Travis, 42; Wilson, 35; Baker, 70; Lamar, 66; Mann, 48; Pampa Junior High 67, and Robert E. Lee, 66.

St. Vincent's Catholic School and St. Matthews Day School reported few students absent, but no bus students were attending today at St. Vincent's School.

Voter Registration Response Light During One-Month Extension Period

Voter registration for the month of February has been very light in Gray County, according to assessor-collector Jack Back.

Registrations through January totaled 10,302, he reported. Back added that it was a good response for off-year election registration.

The registration deadline was extended to Feb. 28 by act of Texas Legislature this year.

Back commented that his office had received a wire from Austin to extend the deadline past the traditional Jan. 31 deadline but that he had not been notified of the legislative action which is reported to have stemmed from a federal court ruling that Texas registration laws were unconstitutional.

Back added that a federal ruling permitting 18-year-olds to vote had not become a state law in Texas, and that the young voters would only be eligible for federal elections this year.

He indicated that the light 18-year-old registration in Gray County could be attributed to this factor.

Gray County voters will have an opportunity to register in person at the tax office in the Courthouse until 5 p.m. Feb. 26

Houstonian Back From Paris Talks On POW Issue

PARIS (UPI) — Houston Mayor or Louie Welch returns home today frustrated in his attempt to meet with North Vietnamese officials to discuss the prisoner of war situation.

But while the mayor was in France trying to arrange a meeting and the delivery of a mound of petitions, the Houston City Council was also talking about the trip to Paris by 17 persons from the city.

Larry Kent, an insurance salesman and an unsuccessful school board candidate in 1969, said he was going to ask the North Vietnamese to release all Texans held as prisoners in return for Welch.

A number of persons cheered Kent but a city councilman called the suggestion "disgusting."

Kent accused Welch of acting out of self-interest in leading the 17-member delegation to Paris. He then read the text of the telegram in which he asked the North Vietnamese to trade the Texas prisoners for Welch.

Councilman Johnny Goyen called the suggestion "one of the most disgusting things I have witnessed in my 13 years on the council. I am shocked, disgusted and nauseous."

Welch, meanwhile, said he would arrive home at 8:31 p.m. today but may return to Paris at some future date.

"I have indicated a willingness to do so provided there will be an assurance that meaningful results will be obtained," the mayor said.

The 17 persons in the Houston delegation represented the 17 men believed to be prisoners of war in North Vietnam.

Welch said the delegation's attempts to meet with the communist diplomats has failed but not their drive to deliver the petitions. The delegation originally asked the communists for a meeting to discuss the prisoners, but the communists said the talks would have to cover a wider range of subjects.

Shortcut Desserts Add Winter Elegance

WASHINGTON D.C. — Dazzle your family (and company, too, of course) with sumptuous, nutritious desserts which can be made in a jiffy. What's the secret? Start with bakery products from your grocer's shelves and add a quick touch of imagination for your own "creation" with that-homemade look.

Two desserts use store-bought products which are taste-tested family pleasers — "Meringue-Nut Pumpkin Pie" and "Cherry-Almond Crumble." The "Meringue-Nut Pumpkin Pie" is a standard pumpkin pie covered with a meringue to which brown sugar and pecans have been added for a unique flavor. Meringues are simple to make and can dress up any kind of dessert. This pie is best when prepared shortly before serving time, however, since the meringue is delicate.

Follow these tips for successful meringues: Use clean, greatest-free utensils; have egg whites at room temperature; use just the amount of sugar specified in the recipe to prevent "weeping"; add sugar a little at a time to dissolve it easier; spread meringue from the edges of the pie to the center in order to seal edges; and, after baking, cool the pie in a draft-free, warm place to avoid shrinking.

The "Cherry-Almond Crumble" calls for pound cake from the supermarket bakery shelf as the key ingredient. In this recipe, the pound cake is crumbled into small pieces and layered in a baking dish with canned cherry pie filling. This easy dessert can be made ahead of time. It is delicious served warm either as it is or with ice cream or whipped cream.

MERINGUE-NUT PUMPKIN

PIE
3 egg whites, at room temperature
¼ tsp. cream of tartar
½ tsp. vanilla
one-c. firmly packed dark brown sugar

1 store-bought 8-or-9 inch pumpkin pie
3 tbs. finely chopped pecans

Beat egg whites and cream of tartar until foamy. Add vanilla; then add the sugar, a little at a time, beating well after each addition. Whip until meringue is glossy and forms stiff peaks. Place mounds of meringue completely over top of pie making sure it touches the inner edge of the crust all around. Sprinkle pecans evenly over meringue. Bake at 425 degrees for about 5 to 8 minutes, or until meringue is a golden color. Serve when pie has cooled.

CHERRY-ALMOND CRUMBLE

1 (12 oz.) loaf pound cake
2 cans (1 lb. 6 oz. each) cherry pie filling
½ tsp. almond extract
1 pkg. (4 oz.) silvered almonds
2 tbs. light brown sugar
4 tbs. butter or margarine

Crumble pound cake into bite-size pieces. Combine cherry pie filling and almond extract. Place half of the cherry mixture in a 9-inch square pan or a 2½-quart casserole. Cover with half of the pound cake crumbs and half of the almonds. Repeat with a second layer. Sprinkle brown sugar evenly on top and dot with butter. Bake at 350 degrees for about 30 minutes, or until cake is browned on top. Serve warm as it is, or with whipped topping or ice cream. Makes 8 servings.

BREAD BOOSTERS
Instant Bread Sticks
Keep extra frankfurter buns in your freezer to make quickie bread sticks which can dress up any meal. Just split frankfurter buns into fourths, lengthwise. Brush with melted butter or margarine and sprinkle poppy seeds or sesame seeds over top. Place on a cookie sheet and toast in 350 degree oven for about 10 minutes or until the bread sticks are browned on top.

Sweet Bread Pudding

1 pkg. (3 oz.) egg custard mix
2 c. milk
1 pkg. (10 oz.) store-bought honey pecan buns or other sweet rolls
¼ c. raisins

Combine custard mix and milk in a saucepan and cook according to package directions. Cut top layer (about ½ inch thick) from tops of buns; reserve. Cut remaining buns into cubes or small pieces. Add these and raisins to custard mixture. Pour into 1½ quart casserole. Arrange reserved buns on top. Chill in refrigerator about 1 to 2 hours or until custard is set. Serve as it is or with cream. Makes 6 servings.

Quick Cheese Puffs

Separate store-bought cloverleaf rolls into sections. Brush with melted butter and sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese. Toast under the broiler to brown. Makes quick hors d'oeuvres and also a crunchy accompaniment with a fruit cup.

NEW YORK (NAPS)—Cheese is really something to shout about. It's one of man's most versatile foods; ideal in all dishes from appetizers to desserts. And whether you vote for Swiss or cheer for Cheddar, you'll know it's not only good but good for you.

Cheese may be used as a substitute for part of the daily milk requirements for children and adults. Because of its high concentration of protein it can also occasionally serve as a main dish. Teamed up with meat, combined with vegetables or hidden in a dessert, cheese is added nutrition.

Here are two main dishes and a dessert which feature cheese. Yes, they're really something to shout about!

Hot Swiss Scalloped Potatoes combines that favorite taste combo — Swiss and ham — with thinly sliced potatoes in a casserole accented with green onions, dill and sour cream.

Shredded Cheddar shares the spotlight with ground beef in this Meal Whirl recipe, a meatloaf marbled with cheese and distinguished by the flavors of mustard, horseradish, dill and tomato.

Either of these dishes would make an attractive, nutritional meal when served with a green vegetable and salad. Top off with cold milk and Peachy Orange Cheesecake Pie. This velvety orange dessert rests in a graham cracker crust garnished with tart-sweet peaches. The custard-like filling is based on creamy cottage cheese and whipped cream.

HOT SWISS SCALLOPED POTATOES

1 c. (4 oz.) shredded Swiss cheese
½ c. sliced green onions (including tops)

1 tbs. dill weed
2 tbs. butter
2 tbs. regular all-purpose flour
1 tsp. salt
1 c. milk
1 c. dairy sour cream
6-7 c. cooked, peeled, thinly sliced potatoes (4 large)
3 c. diced cooked ham, cut ¼-inch thick (1 lb.)
½ c. shredded Swiss cheese
½ c. fine dry bread crumbs
½ c. (½ stick) butter, melted

In a small bowl toss together 1 cup Swiss cheese, onions and dill weed; set aside. In a 1-quart saucepan melt butter; stir in flour and salt. Remove from heat; gradually stir in milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cook 2 additional minutes. Remove from heat; stir in sour cream. In buttered baking dish layer one-third the potatoes, ½ the ham, ½ the Swiss cheese mixture and ½ the sour cream mixture. Repeat, making the top layer with last one-third of the potatoes. Combine ½ cup Swiss cheese, bread crumbs and melted butter. Sprinkle over top of casserole. Bake 20-35 minutes or until casserole is warmed through. Serve immediately.

MEAT WHIRL

6-8 Servings
1½ pounds ground beef
1 c. soft bread crumbs
1 egg
2 tsp. prepared mustard
1½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. prepared horseradish
½ tsp. pepper
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
1½ c. (6 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese
1 tsp. dill seed

In a bowl lightly mix meat, crumbs, egg, mustard, salt, horseradish, pepper and ¼ cup tomato sauce; reserve remaining tomato sauce. On wax paper pat meat into a 10x14-inch rectangle. Sprinkle with cheese. Roll from shorter side, as for jelly roll; press ends to seal. Carefully transfer

topped with peaches

Bake 45 minutes. Pour remaining tomato sauce over meat; sprinkle with dill seed. Bake 15 additional minutes; let stand 10 minutes. Remove to warm platter.

PEACHY ORANGE CHEESECAKE PIE

CRUST:
1 one-third cups graham cracker crumbs (16 squares)
2 tbs. sugar
¼ c. (½ stick) butter, melted

FILLING:
1 tbs. (1 envelope) unflavored gelatin
2 tbs. water
½ c. sugar
1 egg yolk
½ c. frozen concentrated orange juice, thawed
1½ c. whipping cream, whipped
1 egg white
2 tbs. sugar
Sweetened sliced peaches

To prepare Crust: In a small bowl mix together crumbs and sugar; stir in butter. Reserve 2 tablespoons crumbs for garnishing pie; press remaining mixture firmly and evenly against bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate, building up slightly around rim. Bake 5 minutes. Cool on wire rack. To prepare Filling: Soften gelatin in water. Meanwhile, in a 1-quart saucepan combine ½ cup sugar, egg yolk and orange juice. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened (about 3 minutes). Remove from heat; add softened gelatin; stir until dissolved. Cool. In a large mixing bowl beat cottage cheese until smooth; beat in gelatin mixture; fold in whipped cream. In a small mixing bowl beat egg white until foamy; gradually add 2 tablespoons sugar and beat until stiff. Fold into cottage-cheese mixture. Chill until mixture mounds. Mound into pie shell. Garnish top of pie with peach slices and reserved 2 tablespoons crumbs. Chill. Serve with sliced peaches.

MEAT COOKERY Quiz

Q. What is the name of this meat?
A. Tongue. The largest one at the top is beef. Second largest and below it is pork; next, veal; then the smallest, lamb.

Q. How are they identified?
A. By the characteristic shape and size, as indicated above. There are other differences, too, depending upon whether this meat is fresh, pickled, corned or smoked. Tongue also is available canned in glass, already cooked.

Q. How is tongue prepared?
A. Smoked, corned or pickled tongue may require soaking before cooking. All should be cooked slowly in water until tender. Beef tongue will take from three to four hours, but the others will take less. Cook fresh tongue by covering with water, allowing one teaspoon of salt for each quart of water. Spices and vegetables may be added as seasoning. Cover tightly and cook slowly until tender. When tender, plunge in cold water and remove skin; cut off roots. Serve hot or cold, cut in thin parallel slices.

DEAR ABBY: There is a young woman living next door to us who is in the process of divorcing her husband. She has two beautiful sons, ages 3 and 7.

These children have not been fed properly, Abby. Once when I returned from the market and was putting away the groceries, the older boy asked if he and his brother could please share a carrot. I gave them each a carrot which they devoured like they were starving to death. Since then I give them a good nutritious meal with milk and fresh fruits and vegetables every day.

I know for a fact that they have gone without lunches before I started to feed them. Their dinners consist of hamburgers from the corner drive-in. Their mother has a good job and could feed them properly, but she doesn't.

My husband and I don't mind feeding the boys but we won't always be living next to them, and the next neighbors may not want to be bothered.

Should I talk to the mother about the boys' nutrition? She is one of those hard, tough women who runs with a motorcycle crowd and may not appreciate my interest.

CONCERNED
DEAR CONCERNED: Talk to her anyway. Don't be critical of her, and don't give her any cause to feel guilty and defensive, and she'll not be resentful. You have nothing to lose and you could help those boys a lot by educating their delinquent mother.
DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a wife who gives her husband a birthday card with a note enclosed saying, "I owe you a present?"

HURT IN LOUISVILLE
DEAR HURT: It's better than being forgotten.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my sister. Brenda is 12 and I am 14. Our job is doing supper dishes every night. We have a system. I clear off the table and wash, and Brenda wipes and sweeps up. And we both put away. Doesn't that sound fair to you? Well, Brenda always gripes that her job is harder than my job, and she picks a fight, then my mother hears us fighting in the kitchen so she comes in and chases us both out and ends up doing everything herself. Brenda goes out and watches television and I don't even want to be in the same room with her, so I go to my bedroom. How can I teach Brenda a lesson?

DEAR JILL: Since the argument is always over whose job is harder—and you think they're equal, offer to switch jobs with Brenda. And if she still complains, tell her to keep her voice down. Kids have been using this dodge to get out of helping their mothers for years because they know mother would rather do it herself than referee a fight.

DEAR ABBY: Is it ever possible to forgive and forget?
TRYING HARD
DEAR TRYING: Yes. But don't dwell on what it is you're "forgiving"—or you'll never forget.

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — I have a pair of the new wet-look shoes but they scuff so easily. I would like to know how to prevent or cover up these scuff marks.
GWEN
DEAR POLLY and Nancy — I had a new mattress with a musty odor which I suspect came from its having been stored in the warehouse for some time. Sunning did no good so I used a good brand of household spray for odors. I sprayed generously through the small vents on both sides of the mattress. (Polly's note—Do not make up the bed until you are sure any dampness has disappeared. Repeat in a few days if necessary. I now spray all my mattresses occasionally, just to ward off any odors.)

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM
Los Angeles—Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, or your waistline is larger than 32 inches, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise. Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A feather-tipped panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem. The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation. "Suddenly Slim," in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga. They are available at Wright FASHIONS.

Pampa Youths To Participate In College Play

Two Pampa youths are participating in the Frank Phillips College annual Supper Theater production which will be presented today and Friday in the college's Fine Arts Building.

Ramona Tyrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Tyrell, 619 Powell and Joe Grayson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Grayson, 605 N. Sumner, will perform in a comedy sketch, "Bus Stop," as a prelude to the play "Miss Farnsworth." Pat Estes and Danny Bancroft, both of Berger are also in a prelude performance.

"Miss Farnsworth" by Willard Sims will be presented by the Mask and Mike Club of the Berger college. A play in the round, it is the story of a spinster nearing 50 years of age who has found the word of reality as a painful experience.

Others appearing in the "Miss Farnsworth" play will be Karen Gilliland as Miss Farnsworth; Jack Suttles, Hymie; Sam D. Cornelius as Ralph; Danny Bancroft of Berger as Mr. Johnston.

Clyde Hodges introduced the Grand Officers present, and presented Rue Hestand, co-chairman of the Masonic Ambassador Committee of District 2, who spoke on George Washington and the Masonic Heritage.

Pictures of the Eastern Star International Temple in Washington, D.C. were shown and narrated. About 60 attended from Pampa, and Miami.

Feminine Vanity Reaches It's Peak

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Need an operation to tell your friends about? Try an eyelash transplant.

It's painless and safe and doesn't require a donor. All you have to do is be able to afford it. This requires a minimum of: —Twenty-five dollars a month, or thereabouts, to keep the results fresh.

—Healthy feminine vanity. —A tolerance of beauty salons. —A disdain for women's lib, coupled with a taste for conspicuous consumption.

The eyelash transplant is nothing new. Movie stars and ladies of burgeoning income were taking advantage of it 35 years ago.

But the method is being popularized of late by Adrien Arpel, a depressingly to other women be a utiful brunette whose New York-based cosmetics firm is offering the transplant in 300 major cities in the United States and Puerto Rico.

The process involves treatment by a tweezer-armed, specially trained expert who glues synthetic lashes—one by one—onto whatever foliage you already have.

The gratifying result eliminates the frustration of dealing with the ordinary strip-type false eyelashes—"added lashes" they're called in the trade these days.

My own introduction to the eyelash transplant came under the tutelage of Billet Wageter, Arpel's New Orleans representative.

She conducted me to a private cubicle equipped with a couch. Here she removed my eye makeup and pulled up a small table arrayed with instruments suggesting minor surgery.

As she prepared a glue mixture that looked alarmingly like tar, we talked about the transplant.

"It's all psychological," she philosophized. "If a woman feels she looks her best, she performs better. Feminine vanity is as old as Eve. It's very healthy."

In due course, several dozen curly black filaments were affixed to my own lashes. It took about an hour and a half and was very relaxing.

All things being equal, the $25 set of new lashes lasts from three to five weeks. They fall out gradually, the same way natural lashes do.

The physical result is added length more than added thickness, an effect fairly subtle head-on, but quite dramatic in profile.

When the "New Me" walked into the office, my boss peered carefully. "Well?" he said. "Have you had it done yet?" It all seemed momentarily futile, somehow.

But facing a mirror the next morning in the pre-makeup stage that generally makes me wince, it seemed worthwhile again.

SALAD CHANGE OF PACE is pears — fresh pears that are in your market now at such attractive prices. Leave the peel on, but quarter the pear, removing the core, and serve it on your favorite green with a creamy dressing. Delicious! In the early eighteenth century, a Belgian priest who raised pears called them the "butter fruit." It's still an excellent description of this luscious fresh food.

Writer Describes Artistic Ability

By BETTY CANARY
I keep seeing ads urging, "Why not become a decorator?" Why not, indeed? I've had several years experience.

I know that off-white and ivory paint are basically the same color and choosing one over the other depends mainly upon whether or not you like a dirty gray or a dirty yellow look to a wall.

I know a French Provincial table when I see one. If the table has a leg that falls off at the slightest jar (I must remember to tell my next door neighbor she has to stop closing the door of her medicine chest), I can recognize it as my French Provincial table.

In my own home I have progressed through the more common type furnishings (Aunt Effie's Castoffs to Green Stamp Contemporary and have, through diligent study, learned to identify many other styles. There's Mediterranean, for example. Mediterranean is anything that's stained dark and can't be moved. It is not to be confused with Modern Mediterranean, which is usually stained gray and has curved wrought iron pieces attached to everything that isn't upholstered.

Danish Modern is one of my favorites and at one time I considered completely redoing our house in this style. Unfortunately, before I gave it up, most of the place looked as if FAKE SNAKE—Schoolgirls share the rage for reptiles in fall fashions. In this case, it's all-cotton corduroy turned into an authentic-looking rattlesnake print for a smashing tunic-pants combo. From Cincinnati's Buffy collection, the outfit has contrasting sleeves and turtle neck of brown cotton knit.

COLORFUL FAVORITE PANTSUIT

Use a bright print or a pastel solid for this attractive, easy-to-make jumpsuit; for a jaunty sportsdress use a wash-and-wear cotton or linen! You can also make a pretty at-home gown or short culottes, all from this one pattern!

Consult the Fashion Colorator for color, fabric, and accessory suggestions.

Harvesters Play Last 1971 Home Tilt Tonight

The Pampa Harvesters will be hosting the Borger Bulldogs tonight in a must win game in Harvester Fieldhouse at 8 p.m. The must factor enters when a win will give the Pampa team a clear shot at Plainview in Bi-District play.

A loss will place the Harvesters in a tie with the Palo Duro Dons forcing a play-off for the district 3-AAAA title.

Record books and rivalry do not mix and a good example of this illustration is the last game the Harvesters played in the first half of district play. The Pampa team was favored, ranked over, picked and other descriptive verbs of winners in the initial Bulldog contest.

The "Dogs" uncovered a bone and pulled a victory out of the hat ending the first half of district play in a four way tie. The Harvesters were still hanging on but by a thin straw.

The second half of play finds the Harvesters undefeated and gunning for the district crown. The team will have to play good ball against the Borger team to win.

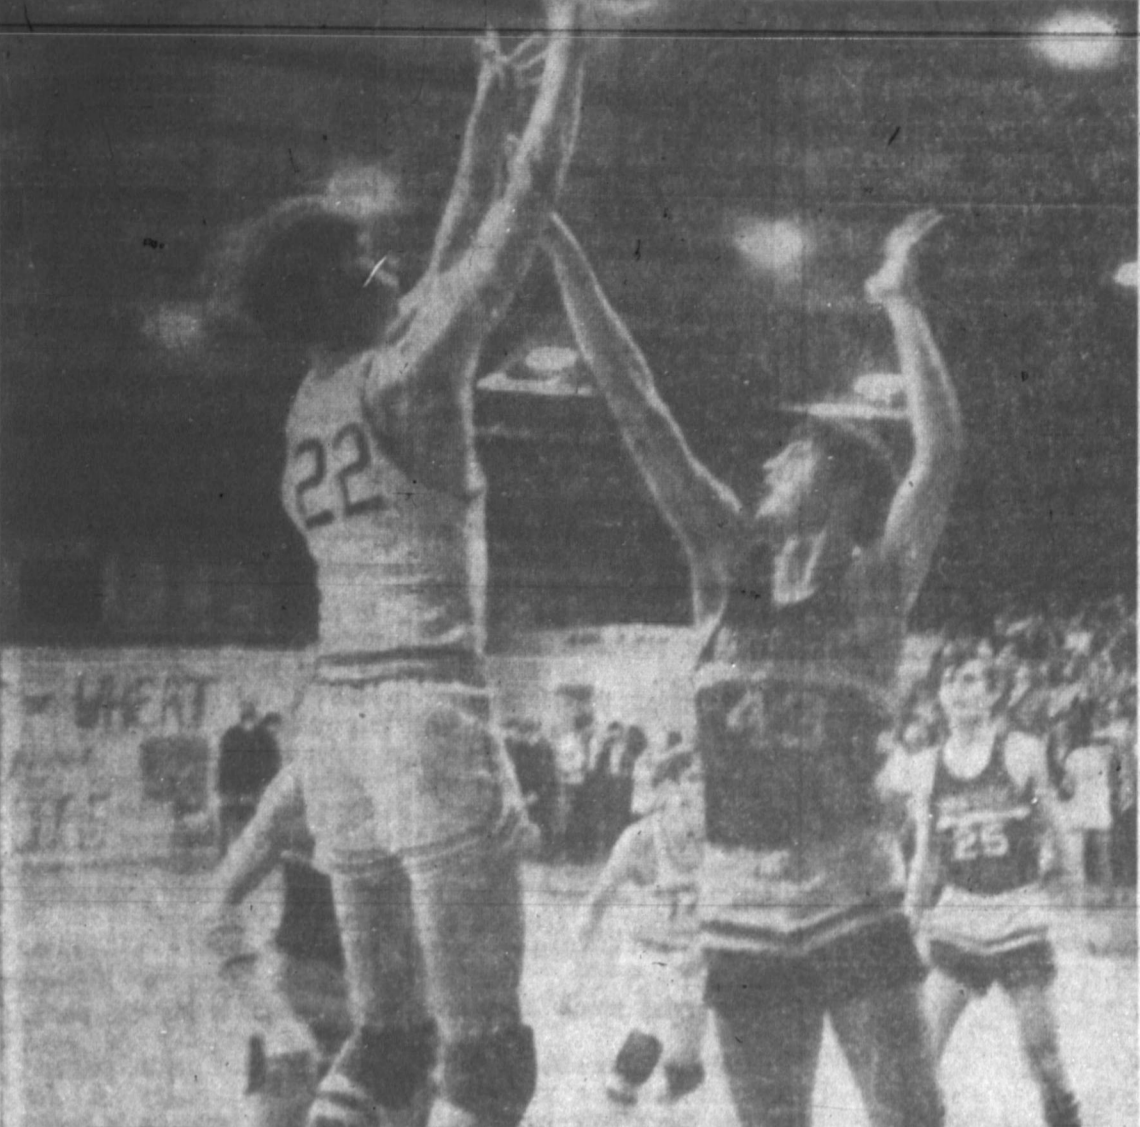

In Pampa's first clash with the "Dogs" an inbounded ball and a missed shot in the final seconds of play gave the Harvesters the loss. Both teams had been playing hard hitting basketball and the loss now goes down in the record books as too many mistakes and turnovers.

Tonight's game will be a different story as the Harvesters have matured and their ball handling abilities improved. There should be a lot of action and the fans will be kept busy trying to decide who works harder the coaches or team members.

Come to the game at 8 p.m. in Harvester Fieldhouse or better yet go early to the Shocker game at 6 p.m. and make sure you'll have a place to watch the last home game for the Pampa Harvesters.

Arnold Palmer's Weather Eye Looking At The Florida Wind

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI)—The whole field had its eye on Arnold Palmer, and Palmer had his weather eye on the wind today in the opening round of the 53rd PGA golf championship.

The big questions as a field of 146 began the 72-hole test over the 7,096-yard PGA National Club course was whether Palmer's first victory in 14 months last week means his return to rule all the pros—and how the gusting wind would affect the star's play.

"I feel my game is reasonably good right now," said Palmer, who at 41 is making another bid for the only major championship that has escaped him during his illustrious career. That could be the best news for his fans in "Arnie's army," and the worst for his foes.

Palmer, Florida resident Jack Nicklaus, defending champion Dave Stockton and Tom Shaw, the only player to win two tournaments so far this year, were the chief pretournament favorites, plus Masters champion Billy Casper, U.S. Open champion Tony Jacklin of England and Texas Miller Barber, golfs "Mister X" who ranks second to Shaw in 1971 money winnings.

Palmer, who has finished second three times in the PGA, including last year, admits that he wants to win this one, "very badly." He declined to reveal his score in his final practice round Wednesday, saying he was "just horsing around, testing out the grain of the Bermuda greens to see how they affect the roll of the ball from different spots."

The 29-year-old Stockton, who said he is "tired and rundown," shot a one-over-par 35-38—73 in his windup. He was a bit optimistic over his chances.

The wind has concerned all the golfers—in practice and Palmer turned forecaster.

"At this time of the year in Florida," he said, "the wind moves around the clock every few days. Thursday it should be from the southeast, but by Sunday it should be around in the northwest and fairly strong."

Gary Player, last foreigner ever to win the PGA championship and one of only four men ever to win all four of the world's top golf tournaments, says he's been playing golf all these years "with my hands tied behind my back."

"My only regret," said the doughty little South African, "is that I didn't move to the United States for 10 years, play the full circuit each year—and then retire."

The way Player has been doing it during the 15 years that he's been one of the top golfers around has been to come over from South Africa each spring and then return at the end of the summer.

"There's no man in the world who can play me at home and beat me," Player said. "I defy any golfer to go back and forth from the States to South Africa, a 10,000-mile round trip, and beat me."

Player, who says it takes him at least 10 days to adjust to the seven-hour time change between his home and Florida, arrived here just last Friday to begin preparing for the PGA, championships which began today at the PGA's home course.

He came off a hot streak, however, with wins in six foreign tournaments in a row—three in South Africa, two in Australia and one in South America—before losing the South African open two weeks ago by a single shot.

Player, defending champion Dave Stockton and gallery favorite Arnold Palmer—who has never won the PGA championship—all predicted Wednesday that 200 "or higher" should win here this week because of the wind.

Manning Has Feeling He Spoke A Little Too Soon

By JOE CARNICELLI
UPI Sports Writer

Red Manning has the feeling that he spoke a little too soon. Earlier this week, Manning was extolling the virtues of his eighth-ranked Duquesne team, winner of 19 of 21 games and 15 in a row.

"This is the best team I've ever coached," said Manning. "They work together and pass as well as any team I've ever seen."

Unfortunately for the Dukes, it didn't impress Boston College.

Turnovers The Key

The Eagles snapped Duquesne's 15-game winning streak with a stifling 67-52 victory over the Dukes that may have cast a shadow on their NCAA at-large possibilities.

Jim O'Brien scored 22 points and Boston College's tenacious man-to-man defense forced Duquesne into 10 turnovers in the first half alone. Boston College built a 30-19 lead at the half and nine more Duquesne turnovers in the second half prevented the Dukes from mounting any sort of rally.

Duquesne's Jarrett Durham was held to only seven points and the Dukes' 6-foot-10 twins—Barry and Garry Nelson—could combine for only 31.

Top 20 Action

In other action involving top 20 teams South Carolina (No. 7) routed Wake Forest 84-64. LaSalle (No. 13) held off American University 62-54 and Louisville, tied for 13th, was upset by Cincinnati 79-78.

Tom Owens, playing at home for the last time, scored 25 points and grabbed 18 rebounds to help South Carolina down Wake Forest. He scored the last seven points of the first half to help the Gamecocks, now 18-4, open a 46-37 halftime lead.

LaSalle, playing without Ken Durrett, its high scorer, converted 11 foul shots in the last four minutes to beat American. LaSalle, now 19-3, led 47-46 with 5:15 remaining before Bobby Fields scored four of the next six points and the Explorers held American scoreless for three minutes.

Steve Wenderfer scored 29 points and took down 19 rebounds as Cincinnati stunned Louisville. The loss was Louisville's fifth against 18 victories.

Elsewhere, St. Bonaventure crushed St. Francis of New York 105-65. Davidson routed Virginia Military 109-64. Missouri squeezed past Oklahoma State 69-67 in overtime. Holy Cross clobbered Georgetown (D.C.) 109-72. West Virginia downed Penn State 101-89. Duke beat North Carolina State 82-78. Miami of Ohio tripped Xavier of Ohio 86-72 and Air Force stopped Regis 74-70.

Assumption and Kentucky State, the nation's top two small colleges, both won in their battle for the small college championship to be decided next week. Assumption (No. 1) recorded its 22nd victory without a loss by ripping Clark 99-89 and Kentucky State, now 23-2, surged past Shaw (Mich.) 132-71.

Ed Giacomin Will Concede First Place

By MARTIN LADER
UPI Sports Writer

Being realistic, Eddie Giacomin is ready to concede that first place may be beyond reach for the New York Rangers this season.

But the Ranger goalie isn't too perturbed about this. Instead, he has even loftier ambitions in mind. They're called the playoffs.

"I'm not particularly concerned about first place any more," Giacomin said Wednesday night after he registered his third consecutive victory by a 4-2 score over the Philadelphia Flyers. "If it comes, that would be just extra nice. But our main concern is to hold on to second place and at the same time build up momentum to carry us into the playoffs."

The Rangers, who beat Philadelphia for the first time in 11 games stretching back to Jan. 9, 1969, pulled themselves to within seven points of first-place Boston in the National Hockey League's East Division.

Milwaukee Bucks Feel They Have Just Begun

By JOE CARNICELLI
UPI Sports Writer

The Milwaukee Bucks feel that they've only just begun. The Bucks became the first club to clinch a National Basketball Association divisional title this season Wednesday night when they clobbered the San Diego Rockets 139-104 to win the Midwest championship.

"It feels terrific," said Coach Larry Costello. "It's good to win the division. It means we open the playoffs at home. But now we have to point for the playoffs. We have to get ready."

The Bucks moved out to a nine-point halftime lead and exploded for 77 points in the second half to turn the game into a rout. Bobby Dandridge had 33 points to lead the Bucks while Oscar Robertson had 26 and Lew Alcindor, playing only 31 minutes, had 20.

In other NBA action Wednesday night, Atlanta ripped Portland 118-107, New York trounced Cincinnati 125-105, Boston stunned Los Angeles 116-96, San Francisco edged Detroit 117-115 and Seattle drubbed Cleveland 123-101.

Atlanta's victory coupled with Cincinnati's loss left the two clubs tied for second place behind Baltimore in the Central Division. Pete Maravich scored 13 of his 28 points in the third period to spark a 31-19 Hawk burst. Lou Hudson had 30 points for Atlanta while rookie Geoff Petrie had 25 and Jim Barnett 26 for the Trail Blazers.

Walt Frazier hit for 26 points and Bill Bradley added 24 as the Knicks rallied in the second half to storm past Cincinnati. The Knicks saw a 23-point first half lead dwindle to just one in the third quarter before Frazier and Willis Reed clicked off six straight points.

John Havlicek and Jo Jo White combined for 52 points as the Celtics beat Los Angeles to stop a three-game losing streak. Havlicek scored 28 points and White added 24. Wilt Chamberlain had 27 points to lead the Lakers but high scorer Jerry West was held to just one field goal and 13 points.

Jeff Mullins won the game with a field goal and a free throw in the last two minutes as San Francisco stopped the Pistons. Nate Thurmond had a career high 43 points for the Warriors while Dave Bing had 32 and Jimmy Walker 28 for the Pistons.

Seattle scored 13 straight points midway through the first quarter and romped past Cleveland. Dick Snyder, who had 24, and Don Kojis, with 22, combined for 21 points in the first quarter to give the Sonics a 10-point lead. Bobby Smith's 19 points were high for the Cavaliers.

Willie Mays Employing "Life Begins At Forty" Philosophy

By BOB DI PIETRO
UPI Sports Writer

"Life begins at 40."

That's the philosophy that Willie Mays seems to be employing as a wedge in his efforts to negotiate a multiyear contract with the San Francisco Giants.

Mays, the nation's most youthful 40-year-old with 628 lifetime home runs, is holding out for the first time in a major-league career that began in 1951.

Mays To Work Out

Manager Charlie Fox phoned Mays Wednesday and told him to come anyway to the Giants' Casa Grande, Ariz., training base. Usually it is against the Giants' rules for an unsigned player to work out with the team, but Fox wanted the class centerfielder to get in some work.

Mays, who reportedly earned $125,000 last year, is being represented in his contract negotiations by former San Francisco manager Herman Franks. Franks will arrive in Phoenix Saturday for a salary conference with Giants' owner Horace Stoneham and Mays.

Outfielder Bobby Bonds, infielder Tito Fuentes and catcher Dick Dietz also are among the unsigned. A Giants' spokesman said all three were close to signing and probably would be in camp by the weekend.

McNally Signs—$85G

Elsewhere along the signings-and-holdsouts front, left-hander Dave McNally, a 24-game winner last year for the world champion Baltimore Orioles and a member of the charmed 20-victories circle of each of the last three years, ended his brief holdout Wednesday by signing for an estimated $85,000.

The signing leaves Mike Cuellar, who also won 24 last year, as the only Oriole pitcher without a contract.

The New York Mets signed three players—veterans Donn Clendenon and Art Shamsky and rookie George Kazmarek—and now have only shortstop Ted Martinez left to sign.

Clendenon, a bright spot last year in New York's otherwise disappointing season, was given a pay boost to an estimated $80,000 from the $65,000 of a year ago. Shamsky received a raise from $40,000 to $45,000.

Wilbur Wood, a relief pitcher who appeared in 77 games last season, and outfielder first baseman Tom McCraw signed their contracts with the Chicago White Sox, while outfielder Jim Northrup came to terms with the Detroit Tigers just minutes before he was due to report to their Lakeland, Fla., camp.

That left the Bengals with only infielders Aurelio Rodriguez and Cesar Gutierrez unsigned.

The Cleveland Indians' fireballing left-hander, Sam McDowell, a 20-game winner in 1970, said Wednesday he would rather be playing "somewhere else than not at all," as he continued to hold out for a contract in the neighborhood of $100,000.

McDowell, in a statement telephoned from his Pittsburgh home to the Tribes' base in Tucson, Ariz., said he wanted to stay with Cleveland but didn't want to miss spring training.

ABA Eastern Division Race A Bitter Fight To The End

By United Press International

It looks as if the American Basketball Association's Eastern Division race is going to be a bitter fight to the very end.

The Virginia Squires hold a fairly comfortable 9½-game advantage, but only eight games separate the next five teams in the division and it should get closer.

Virginia lost in Wednesday night's action but the next four teams—Kentucky, New York, Carolina and the Floridians—won.

Carolina beat Virginia 144-137 in overtime, Kentucky downed Memphis 126-115, New York ripped Pittsburgh 134-108 and the Floridians edged Denver 112-110. Indiana beat Texas 117-113 in a Western Division game.

Bob Verga scored 10 points in the last four minutes of regulation time to tie the game and hit for seven more during the overtime to win it as Carolina stopped the Squires. Charlie Scott had 31 points for the Squires and Verga had 29 in only 29 minutes.

Louis Dampier and Jim Ligon combined for 13 consecutive points in the third quarter to boost Kentucky past Memphis. Dampier had 32 points for the Colonels and rookie Dan Issel scored 24.

Rick Barry scored 23 of his game-high 35 points in the first half to lead the Nets to a rout of Pittsburgh, New York's sixth victory in its last seven games. John Brisker led the Condors with 21.

Mack Calvin's 20-foot jump shot with five seconds left gave the Floridians their triumph over Denver. Calvin had 28 points for the Floridians and teammate Larry Jones had 26 while Larry Canon's 25 points were high for the Rockets.

Billy Keller, scoreless in the first half, scored 20 points in the second half as Indiana cruised past Texas. Mel Daniels had 27 points and Roger Brown 21 for the Pacers as they moved to within a game and a half of first-place Utah in the West. Gene Moore scored 29 for the Chaps and Joe Hamilton had 28.

Joe Louis Predicts A Frazier Victory Mar. 8

HOUSTON (UPI)—Former heavyweight champ Joe Louis predicts Joe Frazier will defeat Muhammad Ali if their title bout lasts longer than five rounds.

Louis also indicated Ali will have to force Frazier to change his style if the former champ hopes to win his crown back from Frazier.

"If you let Frazier fight the way he wants to, you can't beat him," Louis said.

Louis said the fight could be the greatest title bout in the history of the sport since it matches the slugging of Frazier against the boxing ability of Ali, also known as Cassius Clay.

"Clay's gotta keep him in the center of the ring and I don't think Clay can keep him there," Louis said.

Louis predicted Frazier will win if the fight goes longer than five rounds because "he's in better condition. I don't think no athlete can stay away from his trade three or four years and come back and not lose something, especially in his legs.

"I don't think he (Ali) can move for 15 rounds like he can for five," Louis said.

Louis said if he had to pick a winner today, he would go with Frazier. But he prefers to wait until the two are just about through with training. Louis has picked ALI TO WIN every one of his title bouts except the two with Sonny Liston.

"I still consider Clay the champion when they enter the ring," Louis said. "I like Frazier's style of boxing. Like Ray Robinson, he likes Clay because he is a classic boxer like Ray was. I like Frazier."

Louis said Ali's trainer Angelo Dundee told him Ali now weighs 217 pounds and will fight at that weight when he meets Frazier in the March 8 title bout at Madison Square Garden.

"I'd like to see Clay at 212," he said. "I have a feeling the extra four or five pounds will tell in the later rounds like they did against Bonavena."

Herb Washington Training For 1972 Munich Olympics

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—Every Monday, Wednesday and Thursday morning, Herb Washington forces himself out of bed at 6:45 a.m. and hurries over to Jonson Fieldhouse on the Michigan State campus for a one-hour workout.

The exercise in self-discipline is part of an intensive, seven-day-a-week training program he hopes will lead to a gold medal for the 100-meter dash in the Munich Olympics in 1972.

"Sometimes it's pretty grim getting up that early in the morning," he admits. "That is just not the time when you really want to run."

"Seven days a week can be a drag sometimes, too, because some days you just don't feel like working," he said. "But then when the weekend comes and you go to the meet, it seems worthwhile."

"A lot of people think sprinters are lazy," Washington added quickly. "They think we just jog around a little bit and don't do much else. Well, that is true of a lot of sprinters. But they are the guys who aren't winning."

His dedication is one of the reasons Washington's coaches are betting on him to make good on his hopes for a gold medal.

"All the superlatives fit him," says MSU track coach Fran Dittrich. "He's a good competitor. He's dedicated. He knows what he wants to do."

"He's got a good attitude which makes him easy to work with," Dittrich adds. "That's something you don't find in some of the top sprinters."

Washington's immediate goal is a world record in the 60-yard dash at the NCAA indoor track championships in Detroit March 12-13, when he defends the title he won last year by tying the world mark of 5.9 seconds.

Burma An Object Lesson

A blow-by-blow account of how a relatively prosperous country can sink deep into poverty through socialism is available in the case of Burma.

After eight years of military-Marxist dictatorship and more than two decades of socialism of one brand or another, Burma is stagnating at the point of bare subsistence. In fact, Burma is seemingly bleeding to death of self-inflicted wounds, says Adrian Scott of Copley News Service.

The sad story of Burmese socialism is a tragic reversal of the rags-to-riches theme. Today's annual per capita income of less than $67 for 27,500,000 Burmese is even lower than it was 30 years ago when it was a British colony with a growing middle class.

Signs of Burma's stagnation are everywhere. What was once one of the world's greatest rice bowls is now a patchwork of abandoned paddy fields. Burma was the world's largest exporter of rice. But, under socialism, rice was actually rationed in Rangoon, the capital city.

Farmers say that it is no longer profitable to grow rice because of low prices paid by the government's purchasing monopoly.

In the villages, there are now few signs of anything beyond the bare essentials of life. Most remarkable is the total absence of the transistor radio—probably the one product of modern technology that has most proclaimed the twentieth century in Asia. Hong Kong-made models are cheap enough to be bought by the lowest paid laborer in Asian countries where more freedom prevails.

With communist and socialist laborers—that evidently is a different story. As might be expected, because of the tight controls from the top, the gap between rich and poor is even greater in Burma than in less socialist countries. Government brass will pay as much as $19,200 for a second-hand automobile at a government auction. Meanwhile basic consumer items are nonexistent. The government has set prices on such necessities which are well below the market prices if one compares at foreign exchange rates—but the goods are not there.

Rangoon itself, once a charming and brilliant metropolis, is now shabby, reports Scott, saying this explains the general air of resignation.

After Britain put the Burmese people into the hands of the nation's elite in 1947, the country drifted along under various socialist theorists—with corruption and disorder a major "spin-off."

Most of the ineffectual regimes during the first decade of Burmese sovereignty were headed by U Nu, known more for his neutralism and theories of socialism than for any understanding of the real meaning of freedom and independence. He ceded power to General Ne Win in 1962, after years of Burma being described in the foreign press as "a nationwide riot." In March 1962, Ne Win seized total power.

This is when Burma, already on a slippery decline took a turn for even worse. Ne Win's policy was to implement the national socialist cliches which his predecessors were content to confine to their speeches. He initiated massive expropriation of personal property, ranging from banks to barber shops. He deported all foreigners.

He obliterated what was left of the Burmese middle class. Even a ricksha boy was prohibited from owning his own ricksha. As a result of applied socialism, Burma is now a poorer, less hopeful, and infinitely sadder place than it once was.

H. L. Hunt Writes

DIFFERENT KIND OF REVOLUTION

President Nixon's call for a "revolution" in streamlining the administrative machinery of the government has sparked a controversy among politicians and the populace. His call for the consolidation of some cabinet posts and other changes should be given a microscopic examination by the lawmakers as well as the electorate. If our elected representatives feel the sweeping changes will improve our national political and economic health, then they should be adopted in full or in part.

But the perils that beset us today call for "revolution" other than in the governing bodies. We need a revolution in the hearts and minds of men. For all too many years we have drifted away from the magnificent concepts of the founding fathers and the great men and women of later years who preached and practiced patriotism and the other principals that set this nation apart.

We have seen in this past decade an unprecedented vulgarly creep into our social and political system. Hooligans and misguided practitioners of change -the-system-at-any-price have taken to the streets and the soap box and the gutter to foment revolution and challenge the forces of law and order. They have no concept of what dire straits we would sink to if they succeeded in overturning the true covenants of the state and the church. Their positions in life would be even worse than those in Russia and the other communist nations for we are not tempered to the regimentation of the dictator-state. There would be no law, only chaos.

The good intentions of men alone can bring us back to our once proud posture. That emboldened compliance with the law and love and respect for the flag. We need dedication and patriotism more than superficial change.

Question Box

QUESTION: Can you tell me why the Jews want to leave Russia? Didn't the Jews Lenin and Trotsky (or Bronstein) set up the present form of government in Russia? It has been said the Czar and his family were murdered in cold blood, even without a trial.

ANSWER: We have no way of knowing what is behind the thinking of all individuals. We suspect they want to leave for several reasons - some because they are severely restricted by the Soviet government from practicing their religion; some because they would prefer to go to Israel where they will be with others of the same group. We believe there are many reasons why many people seek to leave Communist countries, all dealing with some aspects of individual freedom.

We have no evidence that Lenin was Jewish. In "My Life" Trotsky said he had been proposed by Lenin for the commissariat of the interior. Trotsky objected that "my Jewish origin" would be a weapon in the hands of the enemies of the revolution. Lenin responded in part, "Of what importance are such trifles?"

If both Lenin and Trotsky had been Jews, that does not prove that all Jews are like those two leaders of the Russian Revolution. It will be remembered that Trotsky was exiled because of his disagreement with the way the Soviets were running the country. All Jews are not alike, just as all people of other ethnic groups are not alike. Blacks, people with Spanish surnames, Orientals and Occidentals, include individuals who advocate socialism and others who seek freedom for themselves and all others.

If the questioner seeks to attach a stigma to Jews because some of them had part in the Russian revolution, he should apply the same stigma to all other ethnic groups because some members of the groups have committed acts not approved by others.

There is no such thing as group guilt, if one accepts the doctrine of individual responsibility. The South Vietnamese do not have our most-advanced M-60 tank, nor our more sophisticated helicopter gunships. We are training some ARVN men for such craft, but none are yet deemed ready. Long Distance Line

CAPITOL EYE

South Vietnamese Proving Mettle On The Battlefield

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The 1.1 million man South Vietnamese army (called ARVN) is a far better-trained and equipped force than even its friendliest appraisers might have guessed a year ago. Yet it could be rather severe hurt in the current Laotian invasion. What seems most impressive is the evidence, pointed to by senior U.S. defense officials, that the ARVN now has a considerable superiority in firepower over the North Vietnamese Viet Cong adversary.

Confronted by this potent weaponry, the Reds in recent months have either avoided engaging South Vietnamese forces altogether, or have fought brief, sharp, losing encounters and then broken off the battle.

This was the case at a key mountain pass on Cambodia's Route 4, and in several engagements southeast of Phnom Penh on the Chup plantation. All these cost Hanoi heavily in lives.

In their own populous and vital delta region, the ARVN has conducted three successful sweeps, including one in a mountainous border area and another in the U Minh forest. South Vietnamese Rangers protect the Cambodian border sectors west and north of Saigon.

It was a sign of South Vietnam's present relative stability militarily that its crack airborne division could be lifted away from the Saigon perimeter and thrust into the Laotian adventure aimed at cutting the Ho Chi Minh trail.

About half the ARVN's 1.1 million men are regular army, navy, air, marine and other forces, while the remainder are so-called regional forces (these latter are not to be confused with the so-called home defense units made up of men below and above draft age).

Pentagon sources say virtually all the 1-1 million today are fitted with M-16 rifles and that the regulars and some regional elements also have a useful array of mortars, machine guns, grenade launchers, 105- and 155-millimeter howitzers, good tanks and armored personnel carriers.

In the air the ARVN has T-28 jet trainers (more effective than any World War II fighter), A-1 fighters (propeller-driven but loaded with firepower, converted transports called "dragon ships," helicopters with door guns. This force is providing most if not all the air cover the ARVN's present stands in Cambodia at Chup and Snoul.

The South Vietnamese do not have our most-advanced M-60 tank, nor our more sophisticated helicopter gunships. We are training some ARVN men for such craft, but none are yet deemed ready. Our longer-reaching air weapons, the fighter-bombers and the B-52, are not likely ever to be put in South Vietnamese hands.

The gunships and the bombers, manned by us, are of course playing a major role in the Laotian thrust, as are South Vietnam-based U.S. 175-mm guns with a range of some 20 miles.

With the ARVN plunging into unfamiliar territory thick with hills and forest cover, and hence ideal for hidden enemy fire points, our strong air and artillery backing was deemed necessary for balance or superiority.

As indicated, even with this aid the South Vietnamese are expected to encounter rough going in their ground strike at the trail. The North Vietnamese may or may not choose major confrontation, but the trail as a manpower and supply lifeline is so crucial the Reds seem bound to try to chew up some of the invaders.

The dangers are obvious. Our support for the ARVN is a clear gauge of confidence in this army's greatly enhanced capabilities. Probably only severe reverses in Laos would dim this judgment materially.

Our military believes signs are ample of vastly improved ARVN training and top are ample of vastly improved defense regions are believed in good hands, with delta forces under Gen. Trung, rated especially strong. Offsetting factors are continuing poor leadership at lower levels, and a too-lively desertion rate.

Overall, the judgment of senior U.S. officials stands: "a very competent military force" performing in a "highly professional manner."

Your Health

By Dr. Lawrence Lamb

Gonorrhea: No. 2 Contagious Disease

Dear Dr. Lamb—I can walk only a short distance and I must rest. The pain leaves and I then proceed. Sometimes it comes from my ankles up and sometimes in the calves. I have never smoked. What do you suggest?

Dear Reader—Your description sounds like a problem in circulation to the legs, usually involving the arteries. When the muscles are unable to get an increased amount of blood when you walk, the pain develops. By resting the muscles catch up on the amount of blood they need and you can walk again.

The proper treatment depends upon where the disease in the arteries is located and how extensive it is. If there is a generalized blockage of the arteries from the hip to the feet, a limited number of things can be done. Sometimes the blockage is localized in a region of the hip and pelvis. These localized areas of blockage can be corrected by surgery and the legs returned to normal function. A careful study of the arteries in the legs is necessary before anyone can tell you if you would benefit from surgery or not.

You can certainly have this problem without smoking. It is true that smokers are particularly prone to this form of circulation problem of the legs and it is one of the ways that smoking can cause disability.

You probably know that the most common contagious disease in the United States is the common cold, but did you know that gonorrhea is now No. 2? That's right. It is exceeded only by the common cold. The disease is essentially out of control and the factors leading to this sudden development include ignorance, false modesty and overconfidence. This is a fine legacy for your younger generation!

If this is not the time for commonsense information to replace ignorance and bigotry — WHEN? Both the medical profession and the community leaders have failed to face the issue squarely — and that is why gonorrhea is No. 2.

Please send your questions and comments to Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Lamb cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Move for Social Security To Pay 20 Per Cent More

John Goldsmith

Robert Allen

WASHINGTON — The price tag is going up on that Social Security soon to be passed by Congress.

A serious move is afoot in the Senate to raise it to 20 per cent.

If anything comes of it, that would quadruple the hike as originally projected some nine months ago.

Last spring the House overwhelmingly passed a 5 per cent boost. But while sentiment for a Social Security increase was just as strong in the Senate, action was stalled in the Finance Committee by the effort of Sen. Russell Long, D-La., chairman, to combine this popular legislation with President Nixon's intensely controversial family assistance plan.

Finally, in December, shortly before the session was due to expire, the Senate approved a 10 per cent raise by an 80 to 0 vote.

But the bipartisan leaders of the House Ways and Means Committee, where the increase originated seven months previously, brusquely refused to consider the Senate's belated measure. As a consequence, nothing was done when Congress had to close down.

When the new Congress convened late last month, the Ways and Means Committee leaders had a change of heart and announced they now favored the Senate's 10 per cent figure.

At this point President Nixon recommended a 6 per cent hike.

That proposal is being ignored in both branches of Congress — by Republicans as well as Democrats.

The only question now is whether the Social Security increase will be 10 per cent or more — and if more, how much more. All sides are agreed that whatever the raise, it's to be retroactive to January 1.

WHAT'S BEHIND IT — As happened last year, the impelling force of a hike of more than 10 per cent centers in the Senate — specifically in the Finance Committee, in charge of this legislation.

There is considerable support in this key committee for upping the contemplated raise to 20 per cent.

Its backers are claiming that's favored by seven of the nine Democratic committee members. They also note as significant that five of the seven Republican committeemen are up for re-election next year.

Unquestionably that factor will play a role — especially with the Democrats vigorously pressing for 20 per cent.

Also certain to exert weight is a fiscal argument that Democrats already are propounding.

In brief — it's that a 20 per cent across-the-board hike can be paid without increasing Social Security taxes because of a stupendous accumulating reserve.

Citing Social Security Administration figures, the Democrats assert this reserve amounts to $38.1 billion as of today; will soar to $44.7 billion by June 30, end of this fiscal year, and to more than $53 billion by the end of next fiscal year, June 30, 1972.

This immense reserve is constantly growing despite a pay-out of more than $30 billion annually to some 27 million Social Security beneficiaries.

According to the Democrats, this Social Security reserve (or "surplus," as they call it) is covertly being used for various purposes. Although admitting they can't prove it, they suspect it's being applied as interest on the nearly $400 billion national debt, and to help finance the Vietnam war.

Interest on the gigantic national debt is now running around $20 billion a year — a huge debt in itself.

These dizzying figures will be tossed around freely when the House and Senate take up the Social Security issue in the coming weeks. They are bound to have impact — combined with the uncertain elections looming next year.

SENATE DROP-OUTS — Of the 19 Republicans up for re-election next year, two already are on the way out — one publicly, the other still un-declared.

They are Sen. John Sherman Cooper, Ky., a 20-year veteran, and Mark Hatfield, Ore., completing his first term.

In calling it quits, their methods are as different as the two senators are in ability, character, experience and stature as statesmen and in the esteem of their colleagues.

With typical candor and forthrightness, Cooper has announced he will not seek another term.

In contrast, Hatfield is openly backing and filling, although privately telling newsmen and others of his numerous "frustrations" in being a senator; of asking himself "whether what a man can accomplish in public office justifies the sacrifices in his personal and family life"; and that he is "seriously considering cashing in his chips."

With Hatfield admittedly certain to face a difficult primary fight in his own party, and very probably an even tougher election battle, political insiders are taking it for granted that what he is really doing is signaling his swan song. He is laying the ground for an announcement that he is throwing in the sponge.

Cooper, 69, is probably the most highly regarded and respected member of the Senate. Impeccably honorable and considerate, brilliant without ostentation, hard-working and conscientious, the tall, trim Kentuckian has been called a "senators' senator" — and rightly so. Throughout his two distinguished decades in Congress, he has always lived up to the highest traditions of an outstanding public servant.

He has never wavered or pussyfooted on an issue — no matter how tough and uncomfortable. Consistently he has pursued an independent course, voting in public as he talked in private — according to his views and judgment. At the same time, while firm and steadfast, he has never been abrasive or vituperative.

Following are two graphic illustrations:

In 1964, the Kentucky delegation to the Republican National convention, which Cooper headed, was unanimous for Sen. Barry Goldwater, with one exception — Cooper. He voted against the Arizona, yet retained the respect and friendship of both Goldwater and the delegates. Two years later, Cooper was re-elected by his biggest majority.

Similarly, although strongly opposed to the Vietnam war and last year co-author of the bipartisan Cooper-Church amendment, Cooper stands high in President Nixon's esteem. He is frequently consulted by him on foreign and domestic matters, and has more ready access to him than certain Cabinet members.

It is characteristic of Cooper that at the age of 40 he enlisted in World War II, rose to captain, was decorated and served on the staff of Gen. George Patton.

Hatfield, 48, notes in his self-penned biography in the Congressional Directory that he "nominated Richard M. Nixon for President, 1960." He carefully does not mention that he opposed him in 1968 — and as a senator has been one of his most persistent and caustic critics, particularly on Vietnam.

At times, Hatfield has been as stridently hostile on this issue as the most vehement Democrat. In fact, the Oregonian boasts of being a leading congressional dove.

Two other respects in which he has made his mark are: An enthusiastic relish for mod attire; a wary but distinct pro-Arab sympathy.

When the Nebru jacket fad was at its peak, Hatfield exuberantly sported an all-white costume at social affairs. He admittedly reveled in the off-beat garb. Currently, he is wearing snug-fitting trousers with flare bottoms, psychedelic-colored shirts and wide ties. In keeping with this youth get-up, his hair and sideburns are long.

On the highly explosive Middle East issue, Hatfield lines up squarely with another prominent dove — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., who makes little bones of his pro-Arab bias. Hatfield's attitude on this is unquestionably causing him political trouble in Oregon.

Undoubtedly it is one of the "frustrations" he is fretting about.

POLITICAL — Support for Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., for president is spreading. Latest development is the opening of national headquarters by the Collegiate Jackson for President. Committees in Atchison, Kansas.
