Reds Attack Six American Bases

Weekend Fires Claim 29 Lives In 4 States

At least 29 persons, including 13 children and teen-agers, died during the weekend in fires that struck an old apartment building in Seattle, and homes in Ohio, St. Paul, Boston, and New York City.

Many of the elderly tenants of an old Seattle apartment building, in which 12 persons perished, were forced to leap from windows to escape the flames.

Three young children died of asphyxiation and a fourth was seriously injured in a fire which broke out in a frame house in East Cleveland, Ohio.

The children were identified as Charles Walker, 6, Madeline Walker, 4, and Christo Davis, 2. Lloyd Walker, 5, was injured. The two mothers of the children were not at home at the time.

In Gallipolis, Ohio, Bert Yost, 64, his son Bobby, 17, and daughter Thelma, 24, and two neighbor children, Jeff Dobbins, 16, and Paul Kent Jr., 14, died in a fire that swept the Yost home.

Mrs. Yost and another son, Cecil, 22, were hospitalized. Firemen said the rural home was almost destroyed by the time they arrived.

Five St. Paul, Minn., children alone in their frame home perished in a blaze apparently touched off by a faulty gas stove.

Four of the victims were children of the Albert Leon Gartman family: Michael Shepard, 17, a stepson; Albert Gartman Jr., 13, Donna Kay Gartman, 10, and David Gartman, 9. Thomas Burnett, 17, who was visiting, also died.

A Chicago fireman, Otto Pospisil, 40, died of a heart attack while fighting a blaze in a furniture warehouse on the city's South Side.

Joseph LaMonica, 79, Boston, died of an apparent heart attack while fleeing his burning home Saturday night.

A 9-year-old boy died in a fire in Brooklyn, and a 3-year-old girl was killed in a blaze in Manhattan Sunday.

1971 UF Drive Chairman Named

The appointment of the 1971 United Fund Campaign Drive chairman for 1971 has been announced. Hank Donohue, UF board chairman, announced that Verl Hagaman, long-time Pampa resident and active member in the UF organization for several years, had accepted the appointment when the board met Friday to make quarterly payments to the UF supported organizations.

Payments were directed to the Red Cross in the amount of $4,125; Girl Scouts, $4112.50; Boy Scouts, $6,031.25; Milk Fund, $375; Salvation Army, $5200; Welfare Index, $137.50; and USO, $125.

Five Persons Die As Plane Explodes

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UPI)—An Air Force C47 twin-engine plane which had just carried 15 young cadets to the Air Force Academy exploded in a ball of flame Sunday as it attempted to land at the Cheyenne Municipal Airport. All five men aboard were killed.

"The plane exploded as soon as it hit the ground," said Ed Nation, an eyewitness. "You couldn't see anything but a ball of fire."

Nation said he thought the pilot intentionally dove into muddy ground surrounding the field to avoid a residential area. He said the plane appeared to be operating at full power at the time of the crash.

All five of the victims were stationed at nearby Warren Air Force Base. The base has no airport, but its planes use the municipal runway.

Officials said one of the victims, Lt. Col. Frank L. Trochak, 48, had planned to retire next month and move to his hometown of McAllen, Tex. Trochak was chief of base operations and training at Warren.

Also killed were Major Fabian Dauzvardis, 41, of Chicago, operations branch chief of the Strategic Missile Squadron; Major James C. Veach, 35, Pensacola, Fla., First Geodetic Survey Squadron; and S. Sgt. Paul Huston, 28, Vallejo, Calif., assigned to the Warren AFB hospital.

The name of the fifth victim was withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Veep Praises FBI Director

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew today praised J. Edgar Hoover as a "dedicated, steel-willed public servant with 20-20 vision" on national security and crime, and said criticism of the FBI chief has "an unpleasant political odor."

In the most detailed defense of the FBI director by a top official of the Nixon administration, Agnew said recent attacks on Hoover came mainly from Democratic presidential aspirants.

In a speech, he mentioned specifically Sens. George S. McGovern and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie.

"These opportunists are being aided and abetted by certain of their friends in the liberal news media who automatically shout 'right on' every time someone claims his civil liberties have been threatened regardless of the transparency of such charges," Agnew said.

The vice president, in the text of a prepared speech for the Southern Gas Association in New Orleans, said he was sure most allegations against Hoover (See VEOP, Page 2)

Rogers Leaves For Middle East To Speed Agreement On Canal

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers left today for a week-long tour of Europe and the Middle East in an effort to speed an interim agreement between Egypt and Israel on reopening the Suez Canal.

Rogers' special Air Force jetliner left from nearby Andrews Air Force Base in London, where he will hold talks with British Foreign Secretary Sir Alec Douglas-Home and attend the foreign minister meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO).

Officials said Rogers would tell SEATO members of recent developments in U.S. relations with mainland China and on President Nixon's troop withdrawals in Vietnam.

Following the SEATO meeting, Rogers will fly to Paris for a brief conference with French Foreign Minister Maurice Schuman before continuing to Ankara for the council meeting of the Central Treaty Organization (CENTO)—a loose alliance which links Great Britain, Turkey, Pakistan and Iran.

But the unusual diplomatic effort of Rogers' journey will come following the CENTO meeting when he swings through the Middle East, stopping in Jordan, Saudi Arabia, Lebanon, Egypt, and Israel.

The purpose of this journey, the first by a U.S. secretary of state to the Middle East since 1953, will be to emphasize America's deep desire to see progress on an agreement to reopen the Suez waterway and secondly, its hope for a permanent Mideast peace settlement.

Aides said Rogers does not expect his talks with high officials, including Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir, will result immediately in an interim agreement under which the Suez Canal could be opened.

The secretary, officials said, would be satisfied if it were possible to narrow the differences between the Egyptian and the Suez, which has been locked since the Arab-Israeli war of 1967.

Antiwar Organizers Try To Open Another Two Weeks Of Protest

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The multitude which marched on the U.S. Capitol during the weekend was reduced to only a few hundred, bed-rolled and bedraggled demonstrators today as antiwar organizers opened what they said would be another two weeks of more direct, and perhaps violent, protest.

The plans to tie up commuter rush-hour traffic, shut down whole segments of the government and trigger a strike in the bureaucracy seemed out-of-reach as the remaining demonstrators played frisbee across the street from the White House, warmed themselves beside campfires along the Potomac River or slept in the backs of camper vans.

The Peoples Coalition for Peace and Justice, steering the remaining part of the spring offensive, was planning to open its attack with a peaceful invasion of congressional offices. Welfare mothers, some women's groups and perhaps some of the antiwar Viet veterans who demonstrated last week said they would join portions of the lobbying.

The coalition is led by Chicago Seven defendant Renee Davis and generally is regarded as more militant than the National Peace Action Coalition, which fanned Saturday's march on the seat of government.

The coalition has been granted permission to use area around the Lincoln Memorial as staging and training areas, although technically no overnight camping would be permitted. The government has made no move so far, however, to clear the park areas of campers.

The demonstrators who poured into Washington Saturday were urged by blue and white stickers and flags to "Stay For May" or "Strike May 5."

The early May segment of the protest is being pushed by the May Day tribe, a segment of the coalition, also under Davis' control but containing more of Weather-type militants.

Jerry Gordon, national coordinator of Saturday's march, said the crowds here and in San Francisco were "peaceful and orderly, precisely as programmed and announced." He said the Washington crowd numbered in excess of 500,000, although the official police estimate was 175,000. An estimated 150,000 marched in San Francisco.

Whatever the figures, the crowd was one of the biggest ever seen in Washington, occupying the entire west lawn of the Capitol, spilling down the hill into the mall and backing up Pennsylvania Avenue toward the White House almost as far as the eye could see.

At the height of the mass sit-down 10 miles northeast of the Delaware border, traffic jams in front of the southern four-turnpike exits stretched out eight miles. State police shut down the southernmost 35 miles of six-lane toll road.

While thousands of motorists sat in their cars, demonstrators drank beer, tossed frisbies, strummed guitars and sang. They set a huge bonfire in the middle of the southbound lanes that went out after an hour.

Miss Abby Eddy, 38, New Britain, Conn., said: "A lot of us feel the march on Washington didn't do anything."

Miss Eddy, who was among a dozen demonstrators helping police to turn traffic around on the highway, said to a trooper: "Get your boys out of Vietnam and we'll give you back your turnpike."

Dozens of other protesters complained the demonstration in the capital did not win sufficient "recognition."

The youthful protesters said the caravan of sit-down demonstrators formed when Maryland state troopers expelled them from a restaurant-service area in Aberdeen, Md.

The caravan of more than 100 cars drove through the toll booths of the Delaware Memorial Bridge without paying.

Six GIs Killed, Scores Hurt In Raids, Clashes

SAIGON (UPI)—Six Americans were killed and 47 wounded in a series of clashes with Communist forces over the weekend and early today. Two of the battles were only 23 miles from Saigon, the closest fighting to the capital this year.

Communists fired 130 rocket and mortar rounds into six U.S. bases Sunday night and early today, wounding 30 Americans, the U.S. command said. Eighty of the rounds were dumped into U.S. positions in northeastern Binh Dinh Province, while the rest were scattered on other American bases.

U.S. Army engineers and armored units, supported by helicopter gunships, battled Communists Saturday in two separate fights 23 miles from Saigon. Six Americans were killed, 17 wounded and one was missing. Communist casualties were not known.

The first fight broke out when Communists attacked the U.S. Army's 20th Engineer Brigade while they were plowing away strips of jungle from near Highway 1. They called in helicopter gunships and artillery but the battle raged for four hours. Four Americans were killed and 13 injured.

The second battle was six miles to the northeast. Another band of Communists clashed with the 2nd Squadron of the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment eight miles north of Co Chi in a series of running fights that lasted for seven hours. Two Americans were killed, four wounded and one missing in action.

The cavalrymen also lost two Sheridan tanks and an armored personnel carrier. Communist losses were unknown, military spokesmen said.

In Cambodia, Communist forces opened up with mortars and rockets at three points across the country, but government spokesmen said there were no casualties nor damage.

Weekend B52 strikes on the last untouched Communist citadel along South Vietnam's west border may have thwarted a tank attack on the Ben Het border range base, military sources said.

Maj. Gen. Ngo Dzu, commander of South Vietnam's Military Region II, announced the B52 strikes in a briefing for correspondents at Pleiku on the Communist offensive in the central highlands.

After a Saturday night strike on the North Vietnamese Army's Base Area 609, straddling the Laos-Cambodian border just west of South Vietnam's frontier, a Communist gasoline dump blazed for two days. Dzu said. A second strike by the eight-jet U.S. Air Force strafefortresses Sunday night touched off a second gasoline dump, which still was burning today, he said.

"This makes it impossible for the enemy to launch an armored attack," Dzu said.

Frustrated Antiwar Protesters Block Traffic On Busy Turnpike

SWEDESBORO, N.J. (UPI)—More than 1,000 antiwar demonstrators, claiming they were frustrated because the nation ignored the weekend of peaceful rallies in Washington, D.C., blocked traffic on the busy New Jersey Turnpike for five hours Sunday night.

State police, outnumbered 10 to one by the singing, chanting protesters, broke up the protest with 80 arrests for disorderly conduct. But first, they dwindled the crowd by guiding the youths on a 15-mile march up the toll road. Those arrested were taken by bus to municipal court in Mt. Laurel, N.J., for bonding. Most were held in lieu of $50 bail.

At the height of the mass sit-down 10 miles northeast of the Delaware border, traffic jams in front of the southern four-turnpike exits stretched out eight miles. State police shut down the southernmost 35 miles of six-lane toll road.

While thousands of motorists sat in their cars, demonstrators drank beer, tossed frisbies, strummed guitars and sang. They set a huge bonfire in the middle of the southbound lanes that went out after an hour.

Miss Abby Eddy, 38, New Britain, Conn., said: "A lot of us feel the march on Washington didn't do anything."

Miss Eddy, who was among a dozen demonstrators helping police to turn traffic around on the highway, said to a trooper: "Get your boys out of Vietnam and we'll give you back your turnpike."

Dozens of other protesters complained the demonstration in the capital did not win sufficient "recognition."

The youthful protesters said the caravan of sit-down demonstrators formed when Maryland state troopers expelled them from a restaurant-service area in Aberdeen, Md.

The caravan of more than 100 cars drove through the toll booths of the Delaware Memorial Bridge without paying.

About 10 miles farther north, eyewitnesses said a converted school bus stopped and swung across the road so as to block two lanes of traffic. Cars stopped beside it and the occupants swarmed across the southbound lanes on foot, bringing all six lanes to a halt.

"They caught us by surprise," said a state trooper. "There were 1,000 of them and only five of us."

Charles Schell, of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., said: "It was wild. Everybody just started having a good time."

Nude Bodies Of 2 Women Identified

JACKSBORO, Tex. (UPI)—Police said today the nude bodies of two women found floating in a stock tank during the weekend had been identified as two Haltom City women, one the mother of a 2-year-old child found abandoned ten days ago.

They were Mrs. Deann Cloninger, 34, and Mrs. Edith Shores, 40, the mother of the orphaned child.

Police said they were working under the supposition that one or more men had forced the women to abandon the child in a packed car April 18 and then executed them.

The decomposed bodies, weighted with rocks and wrapped with bailing wire, were found in a small stock tank Saturday, six miles from town. Authorities, who had sent the fingerprints to Austin for identification, said the double murder was the first homicide in the county in a decade.

Mrs. Shores was identified by Cloninger on her arms and Mrs. Cloninger by a Haltom City detective before the fingerprints could be processed. Both women lived in the same residence in Haltom City, a Fort Worth suburb.

FROM CITY, COUNTY

Barnes Asks Opinion On Gas Tax Increase

By TEX DEWESE
Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, in letters to County Judge Don Cain and Mayor Milo Carlson has asked their opinions on how Gray County and the city of Pampa would react, as governmental units, to a proposed 2-cent increase in the state gasoline tax.

The proposal for the gas tax hike was offered by Sen. Don Kennard recently at a public hearing of the Senate State Affairs Committee.

Barnes explained the 2-cent increase would be combined with the transfer of certain responsibilities to the Texas Highway Department which would raise money for the state and ease the financial burden of city and county governments.

Under the proposal, Barnes said, the Highway Department would assume financial responsibility for 100 per cent participation on right-of-way costs rather than the 50-50 arrangements with cities and counties under and would relieve cities and counties of curb and gutter costs which they now pay.

Barnes stated further in his letter: "City and county governments are today facing serious financial difficulties caused by the near absence of feasible new sources of revenue."

"The approval of the discussed proposal will provide much needed revenue to cities and counties, as well as to the state government, so that these three levels of government can take advantage of the current trend toward decentralization of government responsibilities and can serve the people of Texas with the responsiveness and the vision which they richly deserve."

County Judge Cain said Barnes' letter had been discussed informally with members of the county commissioners court and he had written to Barnes telling the lieutenant governor the consensus was that Gray County would be in favor of the proposal.

"It would put more responsibility on the state for highway programs and less on the counties and cities," Judge Cain said.

The City Commission is expected to be given copies of Barnes' letter to Mayor Carlson at tomorrow's meeting in City Hall.

City Manager Mack Wofford said the letter copies would be given to the city commissioners for study and that no formal action was expected to be taken tomorrow.

Just what the reaction of motorists would be to the proposed 2-cent increase in the gasoline tax has not yet been determined.

U.S. Parole Board Schedules Hearing For Billie Sol Estes

U.S. Parole Board scheduled a hearing today for Billie Sol Estes, the Texas promoter serving a 15-year prison term for selling millions of dollars worth of nonexistent fertilizer tanks to farmers.

The board, which advanced the hearing date by eight months without comment, will hear Estes' second appeal for parole in a closed session.

Normal procedure is for the board to announce its decision—usually without giving any reason—late in the day of the hearing.

Estes, 46, has served six years in federal prisons for mail fraud and conspiracy to defraud. Members of his family, including his brother, Dr. John Estes, were to appear before the board to appeal for his freedom.

The board denied Estes parole Jan. 30, 1970, when he first became eligible after serving one-third of his term. As usual, the board gave no reason and set December, 1971, as the next date for review.

Chairman George J. Reed said the board advanced the review date in a decision last month. Reed did not say why the change of review date was not announced.

Estes and his associates in the Superior Manufacturing Co. were accused of selling nonexistent fertilizer tanks and related equipment for anhydrous ammonia to farmers.

Barnes Reveals Senate Tax Bill Will Include More Business Tax

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and his Senate tax writers reveal their revenue-raising proposals today but will probably skirt the main issue—how and how much to tax business.

Barnes indicated the Senate tax bill will include "substantially more" business tax than the $92 million, consumer-oriented revenue plan passed by the House.

But the lieutenant governor and his seven-member tax committee apparently have failed to hit on a magic formula for determining and levying business "fair share" of the $700 million in new revenue needed to finance the Senate spending plan for 1972-73.

Thirteen of the 31 senators have said they favor a corporate profits tax and several others reportedly are ready to go along with that proposal. But the House has already rejected a corporate income tax suggestion and the proposal faces determined opposition from some conservative senators.

The major alternative would be a sharp increase in the existing franchise tax.

"They'll have to decide between the franchise tax and the corporate income tax," Barnes says.

The franchise levy might stand a better chance of winning the approval of the 21-member State Affairs Committee which must clear the tax bill for floor debate. But once the committee approves a bill it can be completely revamped during the floor debate.

"Whether or not we have a corporate income tax will be decided on the floor of the Senate," Barnes said.

The House tax bill includes a $40 million hike in corporate franchise taxes. Liberal senators, however, have been talking in terms of assessing business for at least half of the mammoth tax bill.

Sen. A. R. Schwartz, D-Galveston, has proposed a 6 per cent corporate profits tax he says will raise $600 million over the biennium.

The Senate appears closely divided between proponents of high business-low consumer taxes and advocates of low business-high consumer levies.

Barnes indicated the major controversy might be skirted in the tax bill passed by the State Affairs Committee and the decision on corporate income or franchise taxes postponed completely until the floor fight.

"They may not come out of committee with a tax bill that would raise $700 million," the lieutenant governor said.

The main provision of the House tax bill—a three-fourths cent hike in the sales tax—would raise about $300 million. A similar one-cent increase in the sales tax on cars would bring in another $70 million during the biennium.

Those two increases, plus a two-cent hike in gasoline taxes which Barnes has proposed, would provide about $470 million of the needed revenue.

Barnes said he expects the Senate to go along with those three items and to okay some minor expansions of the sales tax to cover items such as labor charges on auto repairs.

Senators also appear to agree on mixing house proposals for a $50 million tax on jet fuel and a $10 million levy on mudshell dredged along the coast.

"I think the Senate by and large is going to be in agreement on all aspects of the tax bill except the corporate income tax," Barnes said.

One likely Senate tax proposal—a steep jump in beer taxes—is almost certain to draw opposition from the House.

There is little likelihood either house will accept a tax plan drawn up by the other. Differences eventually will have to be turned over to a 10-member conference committee to try to come up with a compromise.

The House and Senate will have to come to some agreement first on how much money is even needed. The $6.9 billion appropriations bill passed by the House would require $604 million in new revenue. The Senate spending plan would cost $694 million.

Gov. Preston Smith berrated the lawmakers in both houses Friday for exceeding his spending proposals. Smith said if the legislators would trim their budgets less taxes would be needed.

HANGING ON with two hands, Rusty, the Buffalo, N.Y., Zoo's baby orangutan, still managed to wave, and Mrs. Ruth J. Wehrlich of Williamsville, N.Y., recorded the scene.

Nixon Urges Public To Reject Dark Forecasts Of Gloom, Doom

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Saying "you have to be an optimist" in dealing with the nation's future, President Nixon declared firm confidence today in the soundness and health of America's economic system.

Nixon called on the public to join him in rejecting what he characterized as dark forecasts of gloom and doom.

In a prepared speech on the economy to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the President touched briefly on the Vietnam War—at a time of a round of major spring protests against his policies in Washington and elsewhere.

He stressed anew that the United States was ending its involvement in Indochina and pledged that it would use its strength "only to build peace with freedom, and never to destroy it."

"Faith in the American future has never been misplaced," Nixon told the businessmen's convention. "It is not misplaced today. In dealing with the future of this country, if you want to be a realist, you have to be an optimist."

There is no disrupting that—as antiwar protesters and others have charged—that "there are plenty of wrongs to be righted in our society," Nixon said.

around the world—is sound and healthy."

Nixon insisted that inflation was now under control and forecast a period of solid, sustainable economic expansion.

But he expressed concern that the agency could be damaged even if the allegations were refuted.

"If the FBI suffers from these attacks, all law enforcement in American will suffer," Agnew said.

"And we can ill afford that, particularly at a time in our history when the FBI and the police of this nation have their hands full maintaining order and preserving our institutions of government from those who tear down our society."

Agnew was speaking in the home state of House Democratic Whip Hale Boggs, who triggered fresh controversy over FBI activity and Hoover's leadership with charges of FBI wiretapping or surveillance of members of Congress.

Public Speaking Contest Set By Knights Of Pythias

Pampa Lodge No. 480 Knights of Pythias will hold its annual public speaking contest at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Pythian Lodge Hall, 315 N. Nelson.

Topic of this year contest is "What Youth Expects from a Fraternal Order." The contest which is open to all high school students.

Students of Mrs. Edw. Wiens, speech teacher at Pampa High School has been invited and L.A. Sparks, speech teacher at Panhandle High School, has advised Knight Floyd Sackett, chairman of the local contest, that his school will again have speakers entered in the contest.

Miss Raylene Biggs, Panhandle, won the local, regional and state contest, and placed third in the Section 6 contest last year. J.C. Hopkins will be in charge of the program. Light refreshments will be served by the Pythian Sisters after the contest. The public is invited.

District 2-TI Governor-Elect Will Assume Office In June

District 2-TI Governor-elect Floyd D. Sackett, Pampa, was the successful bidder for the office when Lions convened in Borger over the weekend for a special convention.

Vandalism Reports Top Complaints Received By Police

Vandalism reports topped the number of complaints received by Pampa police over the weekend.

A report of broken windows at Barrett Baptist Church was made after Del Ferguson, 333 Canadian discovered that several of the church's windows were broken. Value of replacement of window was set at $35.

Bruce Hooper, 2301 Rosewood, reported BB damage to his car windshield after church Sunday. The complainant told police that the 12 holes in the glass were apparently made with a BB gun while the vehicle was parked in the Fellowship Baptist Church parking lot yesterday.

One incident of theft over $50 was reported by the C.B. Hoover Oil Co., 821 W. Brown.

The police report indicated that six tires, tubes and wheels had been removed from a truck at that company. Value of the stolen items was set at $930.

The theft includes six tires, size 10 x 100, and six Erie-type wheels.

A 10-year-old girl delivered a hypodermic needle syringe containing unidentified yellow liquid to the police station yesterday. The child advised officers she located the item in Central Park.

Sackett, sponsored by the Evening Lions and Noon Lions of Pampa, has served the organization for several years holding several positions in Region III and on the local level.

A former Evening Lions member, Sackett served that club as president. He is presently a member of Noon Lions. Other honors credited to the governor-elect include positions as Deputy District Governor, Zone Chairman of Region III in District 2-TI; Development Award as Zone Chairman. He also has served as president of Amarillo Field Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa; president of Gray-Roberts Unit of Texas State Teachers Association; Chancellor Commander of Knights of Pythias. Sackett also served as a member of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, Gray County Red Cross Executive Board; Gray County March of Dimes Foundation Board and the Gray County American Cancer Society Board.

The governor-elect is principal at Baker School in Pampa, and will assume his new position with the Lions when Lions International convene in Las Vegas in June.

Miss Jennifer Edwards, 17, daughter of Mrs. L.L. Edwards, Borger, was selected as District 2-TI Queen during the Governor's Banquet Saturday night in Borger.

Runner-up for the honor was the representative of the Wellington Lions, Miss Leigh Nall.

Pampa Lions were represented by Miss Sidney Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Mills and a senior student of Pampa High School.

Accused Murderer, Burglar Suspects Escape From Jail

CARRIZO SPRINGS, Tex. (UPI) — An accused murderer and two burglary suspects escaped from an Oklahoma jail during the weekend, kidnaped a University of Oklahoma Student and forced the student to drive them to South Texas.

The student, Barry Davis, 22, of Tulsa, escaped from the desperados in Dilley, Tex., after being forced to drive at knife point for 10 hours.

The Dimmit County sheriff's office in Carrizo Springs became the headquarters for the manhunt Sunday.

George Archie Stidham, 24, and Tommy Bacon, 25, of Chantaw, Okla., and Jerry Miller, 23, of Shawnee, Okla., overpowered a guard at the Cleveland County jail in Norman Saturday morning.

"It was just a case of the jailer not being attentive," Cleveland County Sheriff Bill Porter said. "When he opened the door the guys rushed out, locked him in and off they went."

Stidham is charged with murder in connection with the shotgun killing of Jackie Jo Unsell, 19, of Oklahoma City. Bacon and Miller were being held on burglary charges.

Davis said he was driving to work and saw three men standing at an intersection. He said he stopped at a traffic light and the men asked him for a ride.

He said he told the men he was only going another block "but by that time they had the door open and were crawling in. One of them had a butcher knife. They told me just to keep driving, that they had just escaped from jail."

"I cooperated for about 10 hours until we got to Dilley," he said. "They let me out to go to the bathroom."

House Unit Unlikely To Create Single-Member Legislative Districts

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The chairman of the House Redistricting committee has announced it is very unlikely his committee will create single-member legislative districts for big cities.

"Multi-member districts are better," Rep. Delwin Jones, D-Lubbock, said Sunday. "I feel that a single-member district is a step toward ward politics." Jones said he will probably present his committee's congressional redistricting plan next week and the plan for redistricting the legislature according to the 1970 census by the middle of next month.

Sixteen of the 19 representatives from Harris County are objecting to the at-large method in which they are elected. They claim they should each have a district of their own.

But Jones disagrees. "Multi-member districts are better," Jones said. "A House member in an individual district would worry about only the immediate geographic area he was elected from. I think he would do a better job if he represented a larger segment. Problems of large counties overlap."

Jones said if the legislature fails to reapportion congressional and legislative districts by June 1, a board made up of the lieutenant governor, speaker of the House, attorney general, comptroller and land commissioner would be assigned the redistricting.

"I think it can be done this session," he said. "I would prefer that we do our redistricting that leaves it up to a board. I think we understand the problem better than a non-involved board would."

Jones predicts nine or 10 members of the current house will lose their jobs because of redistricting. He also predicted three incumbent U. S. representatives could be thrown together into one district. Those three are Democrats Omar Burleson and Graham Purcell and Republican Bob Price. But Jones said Purcell could be saved by running his "district far enough into Dallas county so that he would be removed from the West Texas area."

But this idea is opposed by 46 of the 52 representatives from Harris, Dallas, Bexar and Tarrant counties.

Choir Students Win Superior Contest Ratings

Pampa choir students earned three Superior ratings at the first annual Greater Southwest Music Festival conducted in Amarillo Friday and Saturday.

Pampa Junior High School Mixed Choir, directed by Mrs. Lonnie Richardson, received a Superior Rating in Class 3C. Pampa High School Boys Choir and Mixed Choir, directed by Bill Davis, both earned Superior ratings, the top award given in 4A classification.

Lee Junior High School Mixed Choir, directed by Mrs. Elena Donald, won a Division I rating. Lee Junior High School Girls Choir received a Division II rating in concert competition. Pampa Junior High School Mixed Choir also received the top award in its classification, a Division I rating. At Pampa High School, all three choirs competing, the Mixed Choir, Girls Choir and Boyr Choir, also received division I ratings in their classifications.

Out-of-state college music professors judged the 60 choral music students competing.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I just received an invitation to a surprise 25th wedding anniversary party for a couple call "The Johnsons," which is not their real name. We have no friends with the Johnsons many years. Here is the dilemma. About five years ago Johnson and I started living in an affair, and it's still on, but nobody is wise. I really love each other, but I know it's hopeless. My question: Should we go to the party?

DEAR ABBY: This is concerning the failure of a widow to return about a dozen irreplaceable books which her husband borrowed during his last illness. How does the owner get them back?

You suggested that she take some cookies to the widow then suddenly bring up the subject of the unreturned books. I say, nuts to your cookies approach. It's not honest. Just take a suitcase over there and ask for the books. A year is 50 weeks too long to wait for their return. Anyone who values a book should require a dated receipt for it. Every library does.

Yrs. Sincerely,
AN M.D. IN K.C.

DEAR M.D.: Thanks, Doc. Your prescription will no doubt effect a quicker cure than mine.

DEAR ABBY: I have a lovely home, beautifully carpeted throughout. Whenever I call a plumber to do inside work, a man shows up with muddy boots, smelling like a sewer. I think for the rates a plumber charges, he can show his customers a little more consideration.

I realize the plumber has a lot of dirty jobs to do, but is it necessary for him to come directly to a home for inside work after having been sweating for hours in a filthy sewer?

IRRITATED
DEAR IRRITATED: Almost all servicemen will remove their muddy boots at the door without being told. (And if you have to tell them, they'll accommodate you.) But you can't expect a plumber who has come from a dirty "stoppage" job to shower, change his clothes, and get a shine before going to your home. All you can do is specify that yours is an inside job when you call a plumber.

UNDECIDED
DEAR UNDECIDED: If I've been carrying on with Mr. Johnson for the last five years and nobody is wise, you are a better liar than you think you are. You'd be better off going to the party and pretending to be happy, than trying home and pretending to sick.

Former Addict Kicks Habit, Works To Prevent Drug Abuse

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI)—When he was 13, James P. Murphy started using marijuana. At 18, he was on the torture trail, trying to get off heroin. Today, he considers himself lucky. He kicked the habit.

Murphy, now 25, is director of Odyssey House, a highly regarded drug rehabilitation operation in New York. He also is co-chairman of an advisory task force that studied the drug problem for the White House Conference on Youth which opened in Estes Park, Colo. April 18.

The tall, lean, sandy-haired bachelor's contribution to the task force includes a recommendation that marijuana laws be enforced if the nation doesn't see fit to legalize use of the weed.

"The law against marijuana is not really enforced and many persons are breaking it," he said in an interview.

"Therefore, there is a growing atmosphere of total disrespect for all laws, especially among young persons, particularly among those who haven't really developed the maturity to know the different ideas that go into composing a law.

"What we, as a nation, must weigh is whether we accept the responsibility for legalizing marijuana or whether we give young people the message that we believe in the laws we create and therefore we will enforce them."

Murphy believes the only way the dilemma will be resolved will be through a national referendum on marijuana.

"Such a referendum should be preceded by a period of public education on the characteristics of marijuana and its dangers. I abused it and I don't intend to use it again. There is danger to those who do."

To Murphy the issues are a lot more important than whether someone should be allowed to use marijuana.

"You don't get much self-respect being a clandestine pot smoker in the closet," he said.

"If young people want to see the law changed, they should organize themselves — get 100,000 to go to the White House lawn and light up and ask to be arrested."

Murphy said there are two ways of changing laws. One is through lobbying and the other is to break the law openly and make a test of it.

Murphy, director of a staff of 110 and manager of Odyssey House's annual budget of $2 million, had been using heroin for two years before he entered a hospital in an effort to kick the habit.

"I found I had to change myself as a person," he said. "I had to ask myself what I believed in, what I was committed to. I got this from former addicts and I figured they knew."

Nice Party Favors
Made Of Seashells
By POLLY CRAMER

By POLLY CRAMER
DEAR POLLY: Jane could make many darling favors with her seashells. Small boxes of safety matches are easy to decorate and fun to do. Cover the top of the box with fine sandpaper to be the sand on a beach. Glue the shells on it in different designs. Small pearl beads can be put in shells to make them look like the real thing. Even stones out of old jewelry glued on next to the shells look like pieces of glass in the sand.

Put shells around small pieces of wood or branches. It looks like driftwood. Shells may be dyed to fit in any color scheme by simply dissolving any commercial dye and letting them soak in this until they become the desired color. Only use a small amount of dye. Do hope Jane enjoys using her shells.

IRENE
DEAR POLLY: Jane could use her shells to make flower arrangements which would make lovely party favors. In a medium-sized shell, place a little putty or modeling clay for the base of the arrangement. Several small shells arranged in the shapes of flowers and buds are attached to wire (the kind used for flower stems). Drill a hole in the shell and fasten wire in it. These wires, wrapped with green tape for flower stems, may be inserted in the putty or clay which can be painted after it hardens.

Wind chimes for the garden or patio are made of flat shells (four or five of them) and attached with transparent nylon fishing cord to a piece of bamboo not over 10 inches in length.

DECORATIVE DEN'S... for the great get-away

If you flip through your dictionary, you'll find that the word "den" is defined in a variety of ways: a place of secret activity; a holedoor or cavern used especially as a hideout; a wild animal lair. But in today's frantic world, the most common explanation of the den—that of a comfortable, secluded room—takes on extra meaning.

The twentieth-century style den is so much more than just another room. Modern day dens are, by the very nature of their purpose, designed for the utmost in livability. Geared towards relaxation, entertainment, and family togetherness, the den is cheerful, casual and colorful, never the type of room that says "touch me not" or one which requires kid glove care. Dens often function as the family home office, doubling as a cozy corner where a tired executive can curl up with a good book. As a home entertainment center, the den may well be equipped with a stereo system, a television or even a billiard table. And it is often the scene of card parties and other social get-togethers. But no matter how your family chooses to use their private den, it should be the one room in the house that has that extra special "homey" feeling, clearly reflecting your personal tastes and interests.

In many ways, the den is the easiest room in the house to decorate—and the most fun! With just a little imagination, any spare area, from the attic to the basement, to an unused maid's room, can be turned into a charming retreat that radiates warmth. The only real decorating guideline is a dedication to comfort, since the den is the one room in the house that clearly bespeaks "relax here!" And because the den is often used more than any other room, materials for wall coverings, floor coverings and upholstery should be chosen to withstand an added dash of wear and tear.

Since wall coverings play a primary role in the decor of the den, they should be selected with care. Obviously, the ideal wall covering is one which not only creates a feeling of overall warmth, but one that is also easy to maintain. Hardwood paneling is the perfect answer, both decoratively and practically, for den walls. Not only does it lend character to the entire den, but once it's installed, it requires only a light dusting to keep it looking beautiful for years to come. And, unlike wallpaper, should it nick or scratch, it can always be repaired.

Family den designed by Leif Pedersen, N.S.I.D. sports a profusion of decorative "collectables." Bleached oak floor stained white, contrasts with lustrous tones of antique hardwood furniture. Red walls and upholstery lend vivid color.

Built-in hardwood wall treatment helps make the most of small space where designer Leona Kahn, A.I.D., N.S.I.D., chose an elegant approach to a quiet retreat. A sense of luxury is reflected in the rich wood grain of the hardwood paneling and the mellow tones of the dark walnut flooring.

Den flooring should be easy to care for, too. Hardwood flooring in chosen of planks lends a rustic air and can be used to show colorful area rugs off to best advantage. Oak, cherry, maple, walnut and even pecan are some unusual possibilities for den floors, and can offset shag rugs in solids or mixtures of colors.

Furnishing the den is a simple job if you assign remember to consider comfort. Seating should be soft. Plush sofas and deep lounge chairs are very much at home in the den, but they should never be upholstered in formal fabrics such as brocades and silks. Corduroys, wools, sailcloths, cottons or an informal cotton velvet are the best choices to enhance your den decor. A ray print or bold stripes lends pep and personality.

Collections help give unity to the den's decor, no matter what shape or form they take. Photographs and paintings are obvious wall decorations, but a collection of antique ships, figurines, telescopes, wood wheels, bottles, sea shells or other assorted accessories which reflect personal interests give real charm to the den.

As the pace of contemporary life ever increases, a built-in escape hatch, earmarked for relaxation becomes that much more important. After all, everyone needs a place that's a bit homier than home.

Hollywood In Review

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The immediate aftermath of the "Patton" sweep of the Academy Awards is economically breathtaking.

On Friday, April 16, all 432 prints of the motion picture were in as many theaters across the country. On that Friday and the following Saturday and Sunday "Patton" earned $2.8 million at the boxoffice.

"And it's still going strong," said producer Frank McCarthy.

Only a decade ago it was assumed an Oscar-winning film could garner another million dollars. But "Patton" could exceed that figure tenfold.

"It's like having a brand new picture," the startled McCarthy said. "The film is doing better now than when we first released it."

If McCarthy is elated, it is understandable. He devoted 20 years and $12 million in a persistent effort to tell Gen. George Patton's story on the screen.

"Approximately half of that $12 million went to the Spanish army for equipment and soldiers for our battle scenes," McCarthy said.

He went further. "People told me when I was producing Patton the time for war pictures was past. But this was the story of a man in World War II. I didn't relate to Vietnam."

"To many of today's young people World War II is ancient history, just as the Civil War was remote to me when I was a youngster with two grandfathers who had been in the Confederate army."

Scribble Writing Now Part Of New Reading Revolution

NEW YORK (UPI)—A first grader in reading class thinks of a story he wants to write. He scribbles diligently on paper. Not one letter of the alphabet is on the paper. In fact, his scrawls look very much like continuous doodles.

But, then, child stands up to read his story to the class. He doesn't take his eyes from the paper as he reads—with great enthusiasm.

The scribble writing is part of a new reading revolution that already has caught on in more than 500 schools systems nationwide for a simple reason: It works better than anything to date according to stringent evaluation undertaken over the last several years.

At the center of this reading hurricane is Dr. Lydia A. Duggins, originator of the method.

Dr. Duggins is professor of education at the University of Bridgeport in Connecticut. Formerly director of the Reading Center at Columbia Teachers College and chairman of the Council on Experimental Research in Reading, she has set down her theory and technique in "Developing Children's Perceptual Skills in Reading" (Mediast Inc.).

Following publication of the book three years ago, the reading revolution gained momentum. Dr. Duggins, who discussed the method in an interview, said she comes from a long line of bookworms, that she long was distressed about reading methods forgetting that joy must be a part of reading.

The new method is based on Dr. Duggins' contention that auditory perception is the key to learning to read. Here is where the reading revolution started because, throughout the history of teaching, educators have believed that basal reader programs—endless repeating of words and sentences—provided the best way to teach reading.

"The trouble is," Dr. Duggins stated, "the child doesn't learn that way. This old idea in education, the idea that you're going to drill it into him, has caused so much of the stereotype and unhappiness."

"Actually, the child enters the classroom with a beautifully developed language, full of joy and ideas, and all the teacher has to do is bring it out of him and associate it with its printed counterpart. He's already spoken vowels. He's already wrapped his tongue around consonants. What you have to do is show the child he already knows these things and help him to make his 'talk' on paper (scribble writing)."

Dr. Duggins believes listening to the sounds is the only proper way to start the teaching of reading.

WORLD'S TALLEST BUILDING

New York's World Trade Center Will Fulfill Need Felt For Decades

NEW YORK (UPI)—Now that the World Trade Center on the shore of the Hudson River in lower Manhattan is filling up with tenants and no longer dazzles the public by its sheer size, questions are being asked. What will it really do for the port of New York and American exports? For business in general? Are the twin 110-story towers on the 16-acre site, currently the tallest man-made structures in the world worth the $650 million cost?

A business center housing 50,000 persons and visited probably by 80,000 others daily must generate new business or cut costs on existing business to justify such an investment.

The Center, hailed as a trade "supermarket serving the world," will do both, according to Guy Tozzoli, director of the world trade department of the Port of New York Authority.

The Port Authority, in persuading the New York and New Jersey legislatures to authorize the Center, contended it would fulfill a need felt for decades. That appears to be backed up by the demand for space in the two towers and eight other buildings. Although it will not be completed until 1973, leases already have been signed for 80 per cent of the space and a few tenants have taken 100-year leases.

Thirty-three of the 700 tenants are banks. Tenants were signed by renting offices in Zurich, London and Tokyo as well as New York. They range from importing firms with five employees to the biggest global airline and steamship companies, the U.S. Customs Service and many U.S. and foreign government agencies. There also will be eight acres of shops underground where almost anything from anywhere can be bought.

But the biggest accomplishment of the trade center will be its help to small firms, according to Tozzoli and others in the city's export-import community. It will make available to small and middle sized firms for the first time in New York or any American port the total international trading facilities a big company like General Motors can enjoy.

Virtually under one roof, small exporters and importers will find buyers and sellers, a variety of financial services and offices of nearly all important ocean and air freight carriers.

Little firms will have available within a short elevator ride the consulates, customs bureaus and trade bureaus of 35 nations and specialists in insurance, bonding, foreign insurance, banding foreign exchange and export credit.

Italian Designers Will Feature Plain Skirt That Covers Knee

FLORENCE, Italy (UPI)—Italian designers will feature the plain old skirt that covers the knee in their fall and winter ready-to-wear collections.

A UPI spot check on the eve of the Florence collections which run Monday through Wednesday found designers exhausted by the hemline war, weary of pants suits, not so hot on hot pants—and agreed on a hem that "covers the kneecap."

Some houses liked hems barely covering the knee, others an extra two inches. But two inches of difference was a far cry from the seasons where hip-high microskirts fought with maxis down to the ground.

The Fontana sisters stuck to the just-barely-knee-covering line of their January high fashion collection, which found favor with Greek royalty. Queen Anne Marie recently bought a suit with brown pleated skirt with white pindots and a jacket of beige and brown silk tweed. Queen Mother Frederica liked an evening gown covered with daisies.

The decision that a hemline covering the knee was a safe one appeared to influence the sharp drop in pants suits, which many women, especially in the United States, have been wearing while waiting for skirt lengths to stabilize. Some designers admitted to "one or two" pantsuits, others said they had none at all.

"I don't have any pants this time," Tiziani said. "Stores in the United States have taken a pretty bad beating on them. One buyer told me she had 500 pantsuits hanging in the store and no one buying them."

The question of hot pants was open, with a tendency to feel they may have run their course by summer's end. "Finished," said red-headed Renato Balestra with what sounded like a sign of relief when asked about shorts, known in Italy as pantaloncini or "little trousers."

"I don't think hot pants are hot right now" for high fashion. Just for cheap boutique sale," Tiziani said.

Some Rome designers said they still would show some hotpants. But mostly hotpants covered up with matching coats-dresses.

There will be exceptions to the hemline rule, of course, especially in the boutique collections. Indiana-born Ken Scott of Milan is on "Ken's Kimono kick" following a trip to the Orient.

Scott had said he would skip the Florence shows but sent his headquarters a cable from the Far East a few weeks ago informing them he had thought up a collection after all.

Start with an Audit

Advertising is a serious investment . . . art, engraving, typography and copy are costly. All are planned carefully to attract readers who are prospects for the merchandise or service. No business can afford to waste any part of this investment in any medium that cannot guarantee definite circulation and readership. "Waste basket circulation" in post offices, and so called throw-aways that usually travel to the incinerator are of little or no value to the advertiser.

Accounting Head To Address D&D

Members of the Pampa Desk and Derrick Club will meet tonight at the Coronado Inn to hear an address by Marlin Hawkins.

Hawkins will use "Auditing Can Be Fun" for his 7 p.m. speaking engagement.

A native of Dill City, Okla., he is presently manager of accounting of oil and gas for Cabot Corporation.

DANGEROUS HERBICIDE
LONDON (UPI)—The British Forestry Commission said Friday it reserved the right to resume use of a herbicide called 245-T despite complaints from farmworkers the chemical left them impotent.

A commission spokesman said use of the herbicide had not actually resumed but that "we just gave ourselves the right to do so if there is a need and we feel inclined."

KENNETH POTNER

Dunlap's Names New Manager

Kenneth Potner, 2329 Comanche, has assumed the position of manager of Pampa's Dunlap's Store in Coronado Center.

Potner has been manager of the chain's Farmington store since 1967, and will continue his career here.

Active in civic and community concerns in New Mexico, he was recently named recipient of a service plaque recognizing his work with the Boys Club of Farmington.

He served on the Downtown Improvement Board of Farmington, and with the Chamber of Commerce.

The stockholder in the Dunlap's chain has managed stores in Okeman and Holdenville, both in Oklahoma; Dennison, Brownfield and Del Rio in Texas, and in Farmington.

He and his wife are both active in the United Methodist Church.

Washington Window

By RAYMOND LAHR
WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford's surprising proposal to re-establish a between-conventions party policy group turns out to have a precedent.

During the final two years of the Eisenhower administration, the GOP National Committee sponsored the "Republican Committee on Program and Progress," headed by Charles H. Percy, then a young Chicago industrialist and now senator from Illinois.

Its outline of Republican party goals was published in fine print in a series of reports now vaguely recalled more because the project was undertaken at all than for its conclusions. It was the only move of this type taken by a party while its own president was in the White House.

"It is quite possible that some of the favorable publicity attached to the committee was obtained because of these special circumstances and the presidential interest in the project," said a 1966 Republican research report prepared for the National GOP Coordinating Committee.

In his speech to the Republican governors meeting at Williamsburg, a., Ford proposed resurrecting that committee, "perhaps in somewhat different form." Gov. Love of Colorado, who served on the committee, spoke up for Ford's idea and the governors voted to ask for White House reaction.

Ford acknowledged that party policy was primarily the responsibility of President Nixon. But he said "regular consultation and cross-fertilization of ideas among experienced and elected Republican leaders, both to promote and to produce party unity, is today sorely missed."

The coordinating committee was composed of more than 30 Republicans — congressional leaders, former presidential candidates, governors and others elected to public or party offices. With advice from a set of task forces, it produced guidelines of the 1968 Republican platform.

This committee functioned from 1965 to 1968 and, like all its predecessors except the Percy committee, served as a policy-making instrument for the party out of power. The late Everett M. Dirksen, while Republican leader of the Senate, resisted its formation in 1961 but then caved in after the Republican disaster of 1964 and helped to create it and joined at Williamsburg, a., Ford.

Foreign News Commentary

UPI Foreign News Analyst Window on the World Crystal Ball:

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong diplomats hint in private they are confident President Nixon will run into the same groundswell of public opinion by next election time as that which prompted President Johnson not to run again in 1968. Therefore neither will offer any concessions in the near future. They believe Nixon will have to make the first move.

Rising Defense Costs: Frenchmen have been told that after several years of regular military budget cuts defense spending will have to be increased again. The statement, made by President Georges Pompidou, did not reflect any impending military threat to France. Rather it reflects the view of French military men who say France's withdrawal from NATO three years ago revealed the weakness of France's national defense forces. They say only a sharp boost in defense spending can plug the loopholes.

Counterfeit Dollars: Counterfeiting has reached such proportions in Asia that one regional airline, Cathay Pacific Airways, refuses to accept U.S. $20 bills and over for inflight purchases of liquor, cigarettes and perfume. The airline will accept Philippine pesos despite widespread forgery in the island republic.

Common Market Impasse: British officials see little hope of getting talks on British entry into the European Common Market off dead center without a face-to-face meeting between Prime Minister Edward Heath and French President Georges Pompidou. The next membership negotiations are scheduled in Brussels May 11-12 but no one expects them to get anywhere. The Germans, still professing confidence that the British eventually will make it, say the breakthrough will come after July 1. The talks currently are under the chairmanship of France. It is on July that France relinquishes the chair to Italy.

Disillusionment: The high hopes attached to the Philippine constitutional convention beginning June 1 are beginning to fade. The non-partisan gathering will bring together 320 elected delegates who will rewrite the constitution, and the expectation is that the convention will introduce wide-ranging social, economic and political reforms to the country. Now there are charges that some of the delegates are being bought by vested political interests. An opposition senator, Jovito Salonga, has charged openly that some of the delegates, who are supposed to be above politics, are acting even worse than the politicians.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Strongly entrenched television series like "The FBI," "Ironside," "Bonanza" and "The Mod Squad" will be challenged head-on by tough new program competition in the season starting this fall.

"The FBI," a solid ratings-getter for ABC-TV, will run up against CBS-TV's early-evening Sunday Movies, as well as the new Jimmy Stewart series and the long-running Walt Disney program, both on NBC-TV.

"Ironside" and "Mod Squad," meanwhile, will match up against each other as part of a three-network dogfight opening the Tuesday night schedules. The third entry here is Glen Campbell's variety series.

Tuesday night has developed into a powerhouse for ABC-TV, with "Mod Squad," "Movie of the Week" and "Marcus Welby, M.D." — and the opposing networks, wiped out by this lineup, are going all out to beat it.

Therefore, NBC-TV moved "Ironside" from Thursdays to square off directly with "Mod Squad," and CBS-TV switched Campbell from Sundays to the same Tuesday time slot.

The "Movie of the Week," by the way, will get something of a challenge too, with CBS-TV transferring "Hawaii Five-O" to Tuesdays to oppose it.

As for NBC-TV's "Bonanza," it will still be up against ABC-TV's Sunday Movies, but in addition the competition now will include CBS-TV's new Glenn Ford series, about a proposed resurrecting that committee, "perhaps in somewhat different form." Gov. Love of Colorado, who served on the committee, spoke up for Ford's idea and the governors voted to ask for White House reaction.

Ford acknowledged that party policy was primarily the responsibility of President Nixon. But he said "regular consultation and cross-fertilization of ideas among experienced and elected Republican leaders, both to promote and to produce party unity, is today sorely missed."

The coordinating committee was composed of more than 30 Republicans — congressional leaders, former presidential candidates, governors and others elected to public or party offices. With advice from a set of task forces, it produced guidelines of the 1968 Republican platform.

This committee functioned from 1965 to 1968 and, like all its predecessors except the Percy committee, served as a policy-making instrument for the party out of power. The late Everett M. Counterfeiting has reached such proportions in Asia that one regional airline, Cathay Pacific Airways, refuses to accept U.S. $20 bills and over for inflight purchases of liquor, cigarettes and perfume. The airline will accept Philippine pesos despite widespread forgery in the island republic.

There are other interesting Mondays, CBS-TV's "Gunsmoke," NBC-TV's "Laugh-In" will be against each other for a full hour, the first time this has ever happened. Against them, ABC-TV has tossed in "Nanny and the Professor," which doesn't figure to have much of a chance except for a fluke.

"Laugh-In," though still rather formidable, slipped a good deal in the ratings this season, and with the loss of such regulars as Goldie Hawn and Judy Carne, and the reported expectation that Arte Johnson may also not be around, the series will never reach its former pinnacle.

"Gunsmoke," meanwhile, despite an occasional slip down the ratings ladder, continues to amaze experts with its steady, strong performance in the numbers game. With "Laugh-In" a leading example of the new "young adult" programming, and "Gunsmoke" basically aimed at traditional viewers, the matchup could be a highly revealing audience study in itself.

On Wednesdays, "Medical Center," which surprised almost everyone by shooting up high in the ratings this season, will be going up against two series with star movie names — Henry Fonda and Shirley MacLaine. Fonda's show is the returning "The Smith Family," a successful midseason entry this year.

JEANE DIXON Your Horoscope

TUESDAY, APRIL 27
YOUR BIRTHDAY TUESDAY: Expansive diversity characterizes your experience in the year ahead. Your temptation will be to scatter a great deal of energy over too broad a field. TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Being the rugged individual gets to be more rugged than it's worth Tuesday — why rough it alone, when it's more effective to go along a normal path and have the fun of argument?

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Real opportunity exists Tuesday, but not in directions you've been working toward. Seek out-of-the-ordinary expedients, neglected connections. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Objections crop up on all sides, but you can cope with all in due course, according to how well you have arranged your activities for the past several days. SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Up and over early resistance and you are assured of success, much better and more than anticipated.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Experiments should be set aside Tuesday in favor of steady efforts to fill in the gaps and details in going projects. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Financial questions find better answers now. Certain expenses can be avoided, others put into more favorable terms. Seek a complete change of scene in the evening. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): An easing of maternal problems, limitations comes unexpectedly, just when you are not quite set to take full advantage of it. There will be another chance of the nature, so keep your wits. PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Use all your energy to push others into action, cooperation, but do not fail to speak up about your own needs and projects.

Wall Street Chatter
NEW YORK (UPI)—During the recent market rally, there was notable profit-taking among many secondary issues and most stocks which have gained have had to struggle upwards, observes TPO Inc. Such behavior suggests that the market is still correcting itself internally with rotation among groups of predominate feature, the firm believes. This type of behavior is technically healthy and can "stubbornly endure for weeks."

In the last few sessions the pattern of odd-lot trading has remained the same as it has been for the last six months, says E. F. Hutton. "The odd-lot continues to view the first sign of weakness as the forerunner his rate of selling. The market is unlikely to retreat very far as long as this pattern prevails, it adds."

The market's supply of stock is likely to be augmented this year by a record volume of net new stock issues, possibly exceeding last year's $6 billion record by 15 per cent or more, says Abraham & Co. Meanwhile, also bearing on supply, the number of large-block transactions of the New York Stock Exchange can be viewed as evidence of intensified "distribution," a massive transfer of presumably low-cost holdings to new and obviously higher-cost ownership.

Shut Outs Routine For Forgotten Twin, Kaat

By United Press International
 Jim Kaat—one of two remaining original Minnesota Twins. Jim Kaat—a 25-game winner in 1966 with a major league record of 158-131. Jim Kaat—the Golden Glove-winning southpaw who completed only four of 34 starts last year. Jim Kaat—at the age of 31, the forgotten man of the Twins' pitching staff.

Suddenly Kaat is once again in the limelight after recording his second shutout of the season Sunday with a two-hit whitewashing of the New York Yankees, the Twins winning, 8-0.

Baseball experts, in the off season, talked about the magnificence of Jim Perry, the shining future of Bert Blyleven, the relief work of Ron Perranoski and the hopeful comeback of Dave Boswell and Luis Tiant.

If Kaat was mentioned at all, it was only in a negative manner. Despite a 14-10 record last season, his slim total of four complete games stuck out like a sore thumb. He had lost his zip and was now being referred to as a "junkie" who could no longer be counted on as an effective starter.

But Kaat has apparently decided to prove the experts wrong. After an ineffective relief stint on opening day, the veteran has started four games, completed two, both shutouts, and has a 2-0 record with a 2.89 E.R.A. He shut out the White Sox two weeks ago on 11 hits.

Kaat allowed only a third-inning single to Horace Clarke and an eighth-infield hit by pinch-hitter Ron Woods as Tony Oliva supplied the Twins' offensive punch with a pair of homers and a single, driving in three runs.

In other American League games, Detroit bombed Oakland, 10-2, Washington edged Milwaukee, 3-2, Baltimore defeated California, 7-1, Boston beat Chicago, 5-4, and Kansas City took a 6-4 victory over Cleveland.

In the National League, it was St. Louis 5, Philadelphia 4, Montreal over Houston, 2-1, Pittsburgh over San Francisco, 6-2, and Chicago downing New York, 9-3, in single games. Los Angeles split with Cincinnati, the Dodgers winning the first game, 4-2, while the Reds took the nightcap, 2-0. San Diego took the opener against Atlanta, 3-2, while the Braves captured the second game, 4-3.

Dick McAuliffe led the Tiger assault on Oakland as he drove in five runs with a homer and double while Mickey Lolich and Fred Scherman combined on a three-hitter. Bill Freehan and Willie Horton added Detroit roundtrippers.

Tom McCraw cracked the third straight hit in the 10th inning to give the Senators a come-from-behind victory over the Brewers. McCraw, who had doubled and scored the tying run in the ninth inning, singled the middle off reliever Dick Ellsworth to score Don Wert from third base, with the winning run.

Jim Palmer fired a six-hitter and singled in a pair of runs in Orioles' victory over the Angels. Palmer, now 3-0, beat Jim Maloney, making his first American League start.

Carl Yastrzemski hit a two-run homer and walked to force in the winning run in the eighth inning to give the Red Sox the win over Chicago. Don Eddy, the fifth of six White Sox hurlers, walked Yastrzemski to break a 4-4 tie after a walk to Phil Gagliano and singles by Louis Aparicio and Reggie Smith had loaded the bases.

Ed Kip Patrick hit a three-run homer and Jerry May a two-run blast in the first inning delayed victory over Cleveland. Kansas City scored all six runs of Steve Hargan, now 0-3, in the first inning.

Little Dribblers To Advance To Nationals

The Pampa Little Dribblers play Mercy Island Washington at 2 p.m. Thursday night in the National Tournament of Little Dribblers, Inc.

Little Dribblers is a national basketball program for youths ages eleven and twelve. Pampa was able to join the national organization with the aid of Bob Keller, Jr.

The Little Dribblers from Pampa defeated Levelland 28 to 27, Dimmit 53 to 39 and Dimmit 42 to 32 in the finals to win their district tournament. The victories gave them the right to compete in the National Tournament to be held Thursday and Friday.

The team will be practicing in the High School Gym tonight between 6 and 8 p.m.

Team members are Brian Bailey, Matt Hudson, Don Hughes, Ben Fallon, Randy Britton, Mark Ebemkamp, Frank Stowers, Gary Bolch, Steve Prichard and Kevin Kirby. Team manager is Brent Bailey.

The two coaches for the Pampa team, Melvin Bailey and George Bailey have high hopes for the team in national competition.

Other teams in Pampa's division are Mercy Island, Austin, Hobbs, Snider, Minneapolis, Lovington, N.M., and Huntville, Texas.

The National finals will be a double elimination tourney. All of the coaches and team members of Little Dribblers pay their own expenses for the district and national tournaments.

The team will be practicing in the High School Gym tonight between 6 and 8 p.m.

Dallas Quarterback Job Not Filled By Staubach

DALLAS (UPI)—Dallas Cowboys Coach Tom Landry says most of the team's problems this year will be on the offense and most of those problems concern the squad's passing attack.

Landry, who took his team to the Super Bowl with a strong defense, said neither end of the passing attack—the passer or the receiver—is set for the 1971 season.

He said last year's No. 1 quarterback Craig Morton will have to fight with Roger Staubach to remain the top choice.

The coach of the losing team in the Super Bowl made comments Saturday in his annual off-season appraisal of the Cowboys.

"There isn't any question about it," Landry said. "Most of our work is going to have to be offensively in preparing for this season. And most of our offensive problems were in the passing game."

"I feel that Staubach will make his first real challenge to the quarterback position," the coach said. "I think his knowledge going into his third year now will have increased sufficiently enough that he will make a major challenge."

"As far as Morton is concerned, we must assume that with his off-season operation he will come into camp with his arm ready to throw. And, if this is so, then we will feel that he will be what we anticipated in the past, and he will be efficient and operating effectively. We must go on this assumption."

Morton's elbow was operated on last month.

"But we do feel that Roger will make a very substantial challenge to the position. It will be only through the preseason games that we will be able to determine whether or not this challenge will be sufficient to take over the No. 1 spot."

Landry said to Eastern Division of the National Conference "is going to be the strongest it's ever been. I think Philadelphia has the major problem in our division because they don't have a seasoned quarterback. This is always a real handicap."

"New York, St. Louis and Washington will be tough. Washington has to improve because George Allen is a defensive coach. Where they were 14th in the league in defense last year, they're going to move up the ladder."

Milwaukee's Chances Good For Championship Title In The NBA

Milwaukee Bucks, combining their own overwhelming power along with an emotional let-down suffered by Baltimore, appeared in excellent shape today to capture the National Basketball Association championship in only their third year of existence.

Milwaukee routed the Bullets, 102-83, in a nationally televised game at Baltimore Sunday to take a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven final series. The teams move back to Milwaukee for the third game Wednesday and it wouldn't be too much of a surprise if the Bucks win it all in the fourth game at Baltimore next Friday.

But, before the Bucks get too carried away with themselves, it should be remembered that the Bullets have been in a hole before. They lost the opening game of their quarter-final series against Philadelphia and the first two against New York in the semi-finals before rallying to win both sets.

However, Coach Gene Shue admits that his team may be playing one series too many in quest of the championship.

Along with their physical and mental handicaps, the Bullets also are having their expected difficulties in handling Lew Alcindor and Oscar Robertson. Alcindor scored 27 points and had 24 rebounds Sunday and Robertson, in addition to scoring 22 points, held Bullet ace Earl Monroe to 11.

As for Alcindor, Costello said they were getting the ball into him much better in the third quarter, when the 7-2 center collected 10 of his points.

Jack Marin, who scored 22 points for Baltimore, said that the presence of Alcindor upsets a team's entire game.

"There is only one way we can beat them, by making jump shots," Marin said. "Milwaukee forces you into a trap and Alcindor takes away the middle. If I go right, the bug guy slides with me and he waits until I get to the rim. Then my man trails me a little bit so that I can't pull up with the jump shot. That's the trap. We wind up playing an offense-oriented game and it's not easy against him (Alcindor)."

Baltimore led only once in the game, taking a 24-22 advantage on a Fred Carter jump shot with 1:10 left in the first quarter. Robertson hit three quick baskets early in the second period, but the Bullets still were in contention at halftime, trailing 49-45.

Milwaukee broke open the game in the third period, outscoring the Bullets, 30-16, as Baltimore could hit on only seven of 22 floor shots.

Although Alcindor was able to say after the game, "I'm pretty confident we should win," Costello wasn't taking anything for granted. However, he did comment, "I'm just glad we're not two down."

of the 100-mile heats. Jim Dittmore of Palos Verdes Estates, Calif., was second. Wisell, driving a Lotus 60, covered 120 miles at an average of 77.5 m.p.h. to set the speed record in the Grand Prix de Pau.

Petty, the veteran from Randleman, N.C., also set a track record in winning the Virginia 500. He averaged 77.85 m.p.h. to break the mark set seven years ago by Freddie Lorenzen.

Petty, driving a Plymouth, finished just ahead of David Pearson of Spartanburg, S.C., in a Ford, while Bobby Isaac of Catawba, N.C., in a Dodge, took third. Petty won $6,225 as he recorded his eighth victory in 14 starts on the NASCAR circuit this season.

Farm Teams Will Be Picked Tues.

All Little league boys who were cut from the main teams should report to Optimist Park at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday. At that time they will be assigned to farm league teams.

If there are any questions concerning the farm teams call Bill Harwood at 669-2897.

Jack Nicklaus In A Class Of His Own As Pro Golfer

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus looks like he's in a class by himself as a pro golfer today.

At 31, he is at the height of his powers. He has all the physical equipment and the right mental attitude to become the greatest golfer in history.

He won the MONY Tournament of Champions going away Sunday as they say at the races. He had an eight-stroke margin, greatest in two years on the pro tour.

On a tough golf course with overgrown rough and narrow fairways and sometimes gusty winds, he shot 69-71-69-70—279, nine under par for the La Costa Country Club.

The $33,000 first prize put him over the $100,000 mark for the ninth consecutive year. He has won $102,930 this year, only a few thousand less than the No. 1 man, Arnold Palmer. At 41, Palmer must be considered on the way downhill.

Three pros tied for second eight back of Nicklaus. They were Gary Player, 70-71-74-72-287; Bruce Devlin, 72-70-72-73; and Dave Stockton, 71-72-72-72. Each collected $12,760.

Stockton played with Nicklaus in the last round and said, "Jack's like a foxy card player. He plays good enough to win. He's the greatest I've ever seen. If he entered 30 tournaments a year, I think he'd win eight or ten of them."

Nicklaus said he thought he played better in the masters at Augusta, Ga., where he tied for second with John Miller behind Charles Coody.

Coody shot a 75 in the T of C Sunday for a 290 total, good for a tie for seventh with Frank Beard and Litter, $4,930.

Gene Littler, three-time T of C winner, shot a final 71 which put him at even par 288 in fifth place and good for $6,770.

Bobby Nichols took sixth and $5,940 for his 71 and 289.

Palmer stayed stop the money pile by shooting a one over par 73 for a 295 total and $3,100.

year teamed with Finland's Leo Kinnunen.

The two drivers covered the 174 laps in four hours, 14:32.6 minutes, averaging 146.2 miles per hour.

Jo Siffert of Switzerland and Derek Bell of Britain took second, also in a Porsche 917K and third place went to Andre de Adamich of Italy and Henri Pescarolo of France in an Alfa Romeo 33-3.

Mosely took the lead when Mario Andretti dropped out with engine problems and the young driver escaped a near tragedy three laps later when his car spun on a slick spot and collided with another car. He limped into the pits but never lost his lead as his problems were quickly rectified.

The victory was worth $13,850 to Mosely and marked the first triumph for chief mechanic Watson since 1965.

Match earned $7,700 for piloting his McLaren Repco to victory at Riverside, Calif. He was runnerup to Ron Grable of Mountain View, Calif., and Sam Posey of Sharon, Conn., in each

Wide World Of Road Racing Kept Busy Over The Week End

It was old stuff for Pedro Rodriguez but a totally new experience for Mark Mosely.

Rodriguez, the veteran driving star from Mexico, teamed Sunday to win the sixth Monza with Britain's Jackie Oliver 1,000-kilometer auto race in a five-litre Gulf Porsche 917K. It was the second sports car victory this season for the Rodriguez-Oliver team, which also won the 24 hours of Daytona.

Mosely, a 26-year-old driver from Brownsburg, Ind., captured his first championship car victory when he piloted his A.J. Watson turbo-charged Ford Eagle to victory in the Trenton 200. He took the lead on the 36th lap and held it the rest of the way.

In other major races Sunday, Sweden's Reine Wisell won the 31st Grand Prix de Pau Formula 2 race in record time, Frank Match of Australia captured the $35,000 L&M Grand Prix for Formula A cars and Richard Petty took first place in the Virginia 500 Grand National stock car race.

The victory by Rodriguez and Oliver gave Porsche nine points and its fourth victory in five endurance races this season. It was the second straight Monza for Rodriguez, who won last of the 100-mile heats. Jim Dittmore of Palos Verdes Estates, Calif., was second. Wisell, driving a Lotus 60, covered 120 miles at an average of 77.5 m.p.h. to set the speed record in the Grand Prix de Pau.

Lee Trevino's Friends Looking Ahead To Tournament Of Champs

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI)—Lee Trevino, the Texas golfer who failed to qualify for the Tournament of Champions this year, is making plans for next year's Tournament after winning a $60,000 consolation prize Sunday.

Trevino put together four birdies and some steady putting to win the Tallahassee Open with a 15-under 273. It was his first victory since the 1970 National Airlines Open more than a year ago.

"Something has been happening to me coming down the wire in a tournament," Trevino said. "You can see that by how many times I finished second last year."

Sunday the jinx left Trevino and settled on Hubert Green, a Florida State University graduate and the hometown favorite, who started the day with a three-stroke lead over Trevino.
