

Easter, Passover Draw Biggest Influx Of Tourists To Holy Land

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Israel celebrated the beginning of Judaism's most joyous festival today while mourning Christians retraced through the narrow alleys of this ancient walled city Jesus Christ's route to death upon the cross.

For Jews throughout the world, today marked the beginning of the eight-day feast of Passover (Pesach) which celebrates the delivery of the Hebrews from 210 years of slavery in Egypt.

The Christian world plunged into its deepest mourning to mark the day Christ died upon the cross on Calvary. It culminates Easter Sunday with joyous celebrations marking his arising from the dead.

Tourist ministry officials said the two religious celebrations had drawn the biggest influx of tourists to the Holy Land since the 1967 Middle East war.

All hotels in Israel and Israeli-occupied Jerusalem were booked solid weeks in advance.

Passover commemorates the deliverance of the Jews from slavery in 1300 B.C. According to the Bible, Moses led the tribes of Israel from Egypt after God brought down ten plagues upon Egypt.

In their haste to leave, the Israelites carried with them dough which had not yet risen and leavened. During their flight, they baked this into flat cakes, matzoh, under the hot desert sun.

For the next eight days religious Jews will not eat or drink anything made from flour or from fermented grain. The beginning of the holiday saw the disappearance from market shelves of flour products and beer and liquor made from fermented grain.

"Of all debts, men are least willing to pay taxes. What a satire is this on government!"

Smith Raps Reports, Suggestion About Replacement Of Dr. Baum

AUSTIN (UPI) — Gov. Preston Smith has denied reports state Democratic leader Elmer C. Baum will be replaced, and says suggestion from Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr., D-Tex., for a replacement are "a little unusual."

"If anyone is dreaming that I will step aside and turn over the leadership of the Democratic Party to someone else, they had better wake up," Smith told a news conference Wednesday.

Authoritative sources earlier this week said Baum will resign as chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Smith said it is not true, and added Baum "is doing a good job."

Bentsen said if there is to be a change, Larry Temple, former White House aide to Lyndon B. Johnson and assistant to John Connally when he was Texas governor, would be "a good man for the job."

Lower Rio Grande Valley Gets Rain

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—Three counties, Chambers, Liberty and Orange, hold a unique ranking among the state's 254 counties this week.

They are the only ones now reporting that soil moisture is adequate for normal crop and pasture development, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said today.

Counties in the Lower Rio Grande Valley received from a half-inch to four inches of rain over the last weekend but because of their long rainless period only temporary benefits are expected unless general moisture arrives soon.

The overall state situation continues to worsen with the passing of each rainless day and the cold fronts and high winds are further complicating the drought situation.

Much dryland planting has been done but stands of major crops are being reported as only fair to poor and some replanting has already been done. Only irrigated crops are making good growth.

Pre-plant irrigation is heavy in the western and northwestern sections of the state as farmers fight back to put the needed planting moisture in the soil. The small grain harvest is expected, the service noted, to come primarily from the irrigated plantings.

Even where spring planted crops have come up to a stand, the young plants are literally fighting for their lives and rain must come soon if they are to survive.

Li. Gov. Ben Barnes agreed with Bentsen about Temple. Smith said Bentsen's suggestion "seems a little unusual to me."

The governor was asked to comment on statements attributed to Barnes that if a meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee were held now, Smith and Baum would be outvoted.

"I'd be inclined to doubt that," Smith said. "I can assure you the chairman will be whoever I want."

Smith said he believes news reports that Baum would resign and the governor would replace him with former diplomat Ed Clark were "planted stories." He declined to say who he felt planted them.

Several reliable sources told United Press International Monday Baum would resign his party post in May and Smith would name Clark, former ambassador to Australia, now an Austin lawyer.

Baum has also denied the reports even though a number of party officials have put pressure on him to step aside after he disclosed he and Smith made large profits on National Bankers Life Insurance stock deals in 1969.

Mutscher's Trusted Colleagues Chosen To Probe Stock Scandal

AUSTIN (UPI) — Five of Speaker Gus Mutscher's most trusted colleagues have been chosen to a House panel presumably to find out once and for all if the speaker, the governor and other state officials participated in the stock scandal.

The chairman of the investigating group is Rep. Menton Murray, D-Harlingen, who headed the 1961 statehouse investigation into accusations of a "breakdown in law enforcement in Jefferson County."

The Jefferson County probe was the last time the House conducted a major investigation.

Named to the panel with Murray Wednesday were four other supporters of Mutscher — Reps. Dewitt Hale, D-Corpus Christi; Jim Nugent, D-Kerrville; James Slider, D-Naples, and Clyde Haynes, D-Vidor.

"We're going to be thorough —but we're not going to jump at anything," Murry said. He indicated the committee would work deliberately without trying to meet any deadlines.

"We have to give first priority to the bills that are before us," he said.

Rep. Curtis Graves, D-Houston, who pushed resolutions calling for an investigation into the stock scandal, reacted to the announcement of the committee members with a loud laugh.

"It's an abortion," he said, most other House members were silent.

Murray said the committee ought not to get into anything that is involved in court suits, but he said that wouldn't bar investigation of the legislative background of two 1969 banking bills linked to the stock scandal.

The Securities and Exchange Commission said in a lawsuit Mutscher, Gov. Preston Smith and other state officials made quick profits on stock deals in exchange for favorable action on the two bills. No state officials are defendants in the SEC action.

In a 20-minute televised address, Nixon said the additional U.S. servicemen would leave Vietnam by Dec. 1, cutting American troop strength to 184,000. But he rejected demands of his critics that he set a definite date for an end to American involvement in the war, saying he intended to end the conflict "in a way that will redeem the sacrifices that have been made" by U.S. forces in more than 10 years of fighting.

"The issue very simply is this: Shall we leave Vietnam in a way that — by our own actions — consciously turns the country over to the Communists? Or shall we leave in a way that gives the South Vietnamese a reasonable chance to survive as a free people?"

"Vietnamization Has Succeeded" "My plan will end American involvement in a way that would provide that chance," Nixon said. "The other would end it precipitately and give victory to the Communists."

Nixon said his program of Vietnamization — strengthening South Vietnamese forces to assume the burden of fighting the war — "has succeeded."

American forces in Vietnam will be reduced to 284,000 by May 1. The rate of withdrawal since pullouts started July 8, 1969, has averaged 12,500 men a month. The rate between May 1 and Dec. 1 will be slightly more than 14,200 monthly.

Potential Democratic presidential candidates criticized Nixon's speech. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, considered the front-runner for the nomination, said he was "very disappointed" Nixon did not set a date to end U.S. involvement.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy also expressed disappointment in Nixon's failure to set a definite date. He said Nixon's "grudging and slight" increase in the troop withdrawal rate could not conceal the failure of the recent American-supported campaign into Laos. Kennedy said he also was "shocked the President did not devote 'one word' to the violence that this war has visited upon the civilians of Southeast Asia."

But Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, the Republican national chairman, said the President's announcement meant 365,000 Americans will have come home from Vietnam by Dec. 1.

Promise Of Job Prompts Youths' Visit To Pampa

Two youthful visitors to Pampa were called to attention of the police and juvenile officer yesterday when a local resident called to report that the two boys were living in an abandoned house near her home. She told officers that no utilities were on in the vacant house and she was afraid they were cold and hungry.

Officers answering the call transferred the boys to City Hall where they told police that a man had brought them to Pampa from Rising Star, Tex., promising them work, but he had not been seen again during their 5-day stay here.

A relative of the pair, one 17 years old, and the other 14 years old, was contacted by telephone and later called the police to report that bus fare home was being sent to the boys.

Two Thefts Reported To Pampa Police

Police reports early today listed two alleged thefts which are now being investigated by officers. Other incidents involved minor vandalism and domestic disturbances. There were no automobile accidents in the city limits.

Phil Mangham, 700 Hazel, reported the theft of his motorcycle frame and wheel from outside the Pampa Junior High Shop this morning.

The student told police that he was rebuilding the machine as a school project and had the motor and gas tanks inside the building, but forgot yesterday to move the Bultaco frame and wheels, with new knobby tires, inside the building after class.

This morning, the frame, valued at $150, was missing. Police reports state that a homemade rear fender and torn seat identify the stolen portion of the motorcycle.

Police were notified today by mail that a tire and wheel, valued at $45 had been removed from a pickup owned by Sargent's Casing Pulling Service, Liberal, Kans., while it was parked on W. Brown St. in Pampa the night of March 31.

Events In State Legislature

AUSTIN (UPI)—Events in the Texas Legislature Wednesday:

Ethics—A strongly worded ethics bill won tentative approval but observers speculated that House members may have intentionally loaded it down with such restrictive provisions that it cannot survive the Senate.

Environment — Representatives of state environmental organizations have urged Texas voters to reject proposition 4—one of four constitutional amendments to go before voters May 18—because they say it is a disguised version of the defeated Texas water plan.

Automobiles — Gov. Preston Smith signed into law the Texas Motor Vehicle Commission Act which he said would "regulate manufacturers and dealers and protect the Texas consumer." The act creates a six-man commission to hear complaints and grievances from car owners and car dealers.

Baum—Gov. Preston Smith said he is not about to turn over the leadership of the Texas Democratic party to anyone else by present chairman Dr. Elmer C. Baum of Austin. Smith said rumors Baum was about to resign were "planted stories."

Committee — Speaker Gus Mutscher appointed the five member investigating committee to look into alleged payoffs of state officials—including himself—in a statewide stock scandal. All five members are Mutscher's most trusted committee chairmen.

Osteopaths—The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill allowing the College Coordinating Board to contract with a private school for osteopathic doctors at Arlington, Tex., to underwrite some of the costs for students at the school.

U.S. Suffered Heavy Casualties Last Week In Viet

SAIGON (UPI)—The South Vietnamese command today reported 320 North Vietnamese killed in renewed fighting near First Base 6 along the Laotian border.

U.S. spokesmen announced the heaviest weekly American death toll since the Cambodian incursion last summer.

UPI correspondent Stewart Kellerman reported that a U.S. armored unit which covered the withdrawal of American troops from bases along the Laotian border had pulled out of Fire Support Base Vandegrift, 12 miles southeast of Khe Sanh.

In Cambodia, heavy fighting was reported Wednesday in the Pich Nil Pass area, 57 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, after North Vietnamese troops overran a Cambodian paratrooper battalion. Military sources in Saigon said the Communists lost 200 men to ground fire and air strikes.

Retired Harris Sheriff Airs Views On Law Enforcement

HOUSTON (UPI) —Former Harris County Sheriff Thomas Abernethy Binford has trailed a suspected killer all the way to Salem, Ill., before he caught up with him.

"He was shoeing a horse, just clinching the last nail," said Binford, now 90. "I let him file the hoof, then took his rasp away from him and said, 'Let's go, son.'"

"We come on home, and he was tried, convicted, sentenced, and I hung him."

The man, H. L. Walker, was the last person to be publicly hanged in Harris County.

I still believe in law enforcement, but I couldn't make it as a lawman today," Binford said. "Too many shackles on the police."

"I'd probably end up in the penitentiary myself," said the veteran sheriff, who built a reputation as a straight-shooting, straight-talking lawman and the last of the cavalier sheriffs of the old West. He was sheriff from 1918 to 1937.

Binford said he did not like his duty as an executioner.

"But I knew it was part of my job when I was elected," he said.

Sheriff Binford said the hanging rope was much more of a deterrent than today's electric chair.

"It's just a chair. But the gallows — why, a fellow looks up and sees that rope dangling — he thinks about it."

Binford said he has finally gotten out of the habit of spending his days downtown visiting the various courts to observe modern-day justice.

"Ain't got no business downtown now," he said. "Can't see well enough to get around. Miniskirts got my eyes. Plum wore them out looking."

Binford is particularly touchy about his age being mentioned in the press.

"Here awhile back," he said, "some newspaper columnist put in his gossip column that I'd celebrated my 95th birthday. I know he made an honest mistake, but at the time, I was going with this girl who thought I was just 70."

"She quit seeing me because she didn't want to date an old man," the sheriff said.

Guerrillas Quit Amman

By United Press International

Palestinian guerrillas faced with an ultimatum from Jordan's King Hussein left Amman today, taking their heavy weapons with them.

Hussein had set today as the deadline for the guerrillas to get their arms out of the Jordanian capital or face what he described as "cruel" consequences. Government forces and the guerrillas have been fighting for the past 13 days, the worst outbreak since the civil war in September.

A guerrilla spokesman said four convoys left earlier this week and witnesses in Amman saw other groups moving out of the capital today towards their strongholds in northern Jordan.

Texas Conservatives Oppose Constitutional Amendment

AUSTIN (UPI) — Conservatives groups in Texas are against a proposed constitutional amendment that would permit the Water Development Board to issue $200 million in water bonds.

The amendments will be considered with others in a statewide election May 18.

A joint statement Wednesday by the Lone Star Chapter of the Sierra Club and Friends of the Earth said they are against the proposal because it would raise maximum interest rate allowable from 4 to 6 per cent.

The statement said the Water Development Board's only approach to conservation is "more dams and ditches."

The conservationists called "an old trick" a section of the bond issue calling for $100 million in matching funds to build local sewage treatment plants.

"It is an old trick of water developers to force the public in a single vote to accept the bad with the good," the statement said. "Many environmentalists have decided to call a halt to this practice by voting 'no' to the proposed amendment, Proposition No. 4."

The groups said killing the amendment won't affect the state's ability to get the matching funds, since such monies could be raised by appropriation from general revenue.

Ethics Proposal Wins Tentative Approval

AUSTIN (UPI)—Texas House members have established a public voting record favoring one of the strongest ethics proposals ever offered in the legislature, but many of them say private they hope it never becomes law.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. Jim Nugent, D-Kerrville, was far-reaching in its original form, but in two days of debate, House members riddled it with amendments that some say would make it virtually impossible to get anyone to serve in the legislature.

It includes a stringent financial disclosure provision, another section limiting legislators from representing paying clients before state agencies, a section barring officials from taking any pay from clients or customers who may be registered lobbyists or who belong to organizations which have lobby lists, and a section preventing state officials from investing in businesses which could cause a conflict of interest for them.

Nugent said that section could bar legislators from owning insurance companies, serving as directors of banks, or engaging in similar businesses.

The measure won tentative 134-6 approval in the House Wednesday, and needs only one more vote to be sent to the Senate. But it is given virtually no chance of ever passing the upper house, which earlier balked at a less stringent proposal.

The Senate has passed its own version of the ethics bill, however, and that measure is still languishing in a House committee.

"The good bill that we had has been completely emasculated by the amendments that we have been putting on it," said

Rep. R. B. McAllister, D-Lubbock.

McAllister lost his bid to postpone a vote on the bill until after May 18, when Texans vote on a proposed constitutional amendment creating a state commission on legislator ethics and pay.

Rep. Neil Caldwell, D-Alvin, contended House members were deliberately "trying to kill the bill by making the requirements so stringent that no one would vote for the bill like this in its final form."

Easter Coloring Contest Winners Picked By Judges

Judges in the Pampa Daily News Easter Coloring Contest completed their difficult task of going through more than 2,400 cartoon entries last night.

Three first prize winners and three runners-up in each of the age categories will be announced in tomorrow's newspaper.

Following publication of the names, winners may pick up their awards from Western Auto Store, Duckwall's, Montgomery-Ward, and the Capri Theater.

Children Learn Quicker When They Have Chance To Express Themselves Through Visual Art

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A recent report to the Department of Health Education and Welfare by a group of Los Angeles educators points out that children learn quicker when they have a chance to express themselves through visual art and picture taking.

Not only is there a marked improvement in the child's ability to express himself artistically, the report concluded, but significant test data showed that their newly found sense of visual awareness enabled them to achieve higher reading and vocabulary scores. A study of five school districts in Los Angeles County showed that the visual awareness of an experimental group of nine and ten year olds in the fourth grade was superior to a comparable group not similarly stimulated visually. In the Iowa basic skills test, for example, reading comprehension for the experimental group showed a 8.7 point gain compared to a 6.9 point gain for the others over a complete school year.

It was also brought out that of the groups tested, those from lower socio-economic levels experimented more widely and exhibited a greater learning potential than the others. The children were tested in three areas.

First, they were given cameras and sketch pads and asked to see visual art data in a variety of environments—their way to school, to the park, the zoo. They then recorded their impressions with the cameras or their sketchbooks.

Second, they were asked to use their experiences during their walks as a source of ideas to which they could respond in various art media. They used crayons, paint and pieces of wood, plastic, cloth and yarn to give form to their ideas.

In the third area of study, the children learned to view and respond to works of art during three study trips to the Los Angeles County Museum of Art. There, they were accompanied by non-teacher volunteers who explained the art works and elicited their responses.

From results of the photographic experiments, the teachers concluded that photography proved to be a "valid and reliable instrument" in evaluating visual awareness.

One of the more surprising outgrowths of the study, both from the teachers' standpoint and that of the experimental group's was the emergence of the quick learning of the children from low socio-economic levels.

"This was totally unexpected," said Earl Owens, one of two consultants who assisted the director, Dr. Frances D. Hine, Owens said he did not know why the children from families of low socio-economic backgrounds improved their reading scores more rapidly.

"Children who have more restricted environments may tend to explore more," he said.

MCCULLOUGH RITES SET
HOUSTON (UPI)—O. J. McCullough, retired vice president of McCullough Tool Company and World War I veteran, will be buried at 10 a.m. Thursday. He died Monday. McCullough, a big game fisherman and member of the state board of corrections, is survived by his widow, a daughter, a son, a brother and six grandchildren.

JUDGE ENJOINS CITY
HOUSTON (UPI)—U.S. District Judge James Noel has enjoined Galveston from discharging sulphur from a wharf conveyor system into the Galveston Ship Channel. The ruling came Tuesday on a federal suit against the Galveston wharves. Noel fined the Port of Galveston $1,000 Monday. The port pleaded guilty to the sulphur - dumping charges March 15.

OPEN TO MALES
PASADENA, Tex. (UPI)—Nurse training at San Jacinto College will be open to male students for the first time in eight years, the school has ruled. The regents approved the policy change at the request of a nursing faculty member who said area hospitals are accepting male interns from San Jacinto.

REVENUE SHARES SET
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon's revenue-sharing plan, if approved by Congress, would give Texas the following amounts during fiscal year 1972: $171,026 for education, $23,094 for law enforcement, $92,958 for manpower training, $124,868 for urban development, $51,113 for rural development, $111,705 for general transportation, and $26,572 for urban mass transit.

About 60,000 Persons Expected To Frolic On Beaches Of Padre Island Through Easter Holidays

PAMPA DAILY NEWS
PAMPA, TEXAS
THURSDAY, APRIL 5, 1973

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND, (UPI)—Residents and merchants in Isla Blanca Park threw their arms and their beach towels Wednesday to thousands of young people swarming in for the annual Easter Weekend Surfing Contest.

"I've got a mob out here, but they're a nice bunch of kids," said Larry Allen, chairman of the Cameron County Park Board.

"Just because these kids have long hair doesn't mean they're not a good bunch by and large. Most of them are superb athletes."

Allen said more than 60,000 visitors were expected to flow into the park area through the Easter holidays.

"We've got a tent city, a regular tent city of about 500-600 tents, right now," he said.

"Jam-Packed" "We're jam-packed and I think it's wonderful," said Mrs. Low Miller, manager of the Chamber of Commerce in Port Isabel. She reported all of the island facilities and most of the neighboring accommodations were filled.

Allen said college students from as far away as California and Hawaii had come for the surfing event. He said the contest was started eight years ago by a Brownsville, Tex., youth and it "just grew and grew." "It's not one of the great surfs, but it is a difficult surf," Allen said. The Isla Blanca area is rated by the Texas surfing group as the best in the state.

Wednesday skies were clear blue and temperatures warmed into the 70s at the park.

"The kids are in the water surfing... people are fishing from the jetty... the sun is shining and it's just glorious out," said Mrs. Robert Middleton, manager of Jettie's Restaurant, which is located out over the water.

She Likes Kids "We're right here on the ocean and we can see kids sunning and the boats shrimping," Mrs. Middleton reported. She said the onrush of longhairs did not bother her at all.

"We like kids. We enjoy seeing them. They need to have a good time and somebody has to keep care of them," she said.

Police in Port Isabel said so far there had been no trouble from the youths except for a few unauthorized bonfires and some shoplifting. The Cameron County Sheriff's office said they would send seven extra deputies to watch the park area through Sunday although they did not expect any violence or widespread drug abuse.

"It's too beautiful to cause trouble," said Allen. "We've got the last of good unpolluted water. There are porpoises safe and healthy in the waters off the park so the surfers ought to be okay."

A COURTEOUS THIEF BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—After rolling a few games at a bowling alley, a woman from suburban Cheektowaga discovered in the parking lot that two doors from her 1966 sports car had been stolen.

She went back into the alley to wait a ride home and while waiting received a telephone call from the thief.

The caller said he wanted to

As one trailer park owner pointed out, "We're jammed but it's because we have marineology groups and vacationing families, too."

"thank you personally. I'm out of a job and I really need them."

Police said the doors were worth $400.

CAUGHT WITH THE CRATES SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—The Civil Service Commission has upheld the firing of a dogcatcher who contended he was totally disabled in an auto accident and should receive city medical benefits.

The ruling came after commission members viewed a 30-minute color film taken by a private investigator showing Able M. Gonzales, 52, lifting heavy crates while moonlighting at a produce market.

LUNCH AND A TRAIN RIDE BIRMINGHAM, England (UPI)—City Councillman James

James had lunch with Queen Elizabeth Wednesday when she visited Birmingham. Then he quickly changed out of the formal clothes and into his uniform as a British rail engineer and guided the royal train back to London.

MARSALA, Sicily (UPI)—West Germany's Wolfgang Rudy Neumann failed Wednesday in an attempt to cross the Mediterranean from Sicily to Tunisia by parachute towed by a motor boat.

Adverse weather forced Neumann, the world parachute soaring champion, to turn back after 25 miles.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is 18. She is marrying the boy she went steady with all through high school. He is 19. We are managing the wedding but must limit the number of guests to 125 because my husband has been out of work and we are not in very good shape financially.

I told the bridegroom's mother that she could invite 63 people and we were invited 62. She said that wasn't nearly enough for her as she is presently separated from her husband and she wants to invite her boyfriend and his family, which is very large. I told her in a nice way that she could invite whomever she wanted but not more than 63 people as we had to hold down the expense.

Guess what she said? "Either I have as many people as I want or I'll refuse to sign for my son!"

Guess what she said? "Either I have as many people as I want or I'll refuse to sign for my son!"

Abby, he is only 19 and he can't get married unless she signs for him. So what do I do now?

SAD MOM

DEAR MOM: Don't let her blackmail you. In some states the signature of only one parent or guardian is sufficient. Look into it. Also tell the lady (?) that if she wants to pay for her own guests she may have as many as she wants.

DEAR ABBY: A few weeks ago my husband died, and right after the funeral my children insisted that I go visit my sister in another town to get away for a while.

Today I came home to an immaculate, but very empty house. I have two wonderful daughters and I love them dearly, but sometimes I wish they wouldn't be so helpful.

They came in and cleaned my house from top to bottom. Every closet, every cupboard, every shelf had been scrubbed. My house shines from one end to another.

But what bothers me most is that they disposed of all their father's belongings. There is not a trace of him in this house. It's as though he never lived here. There are no socks to darn, no buttons to sew. My sons-in-law even divided up his tools. I suppose they did this so I wouldn't feel so bad sorting through his things and doing it myself.

LOOK THAT COUNTS

Black and white is always 'in-look' for a fashion, and it is used to the best advantage in this simple-line dress. Add a touch of elegance with black-jeweled buttons for a trim against the white inset. Make a second with the soft cowl-neckline that flatters.

Consult the Fashion Coordinator included in each Young Original for fabric, color and accessory suggestions.

B-139 with Photo-Guide is in New Sizes 8 to 18 (bust 31 1/2-40). Size 10, 32 1/2 bust. 2 1/2 yards of 45-inch plus 1/2-yard of contrast.

Send $1 for this pattern to: YOUNG ORIGINALS (Pampa Daily News), P. O. Box 438A, Midtown Station, New York, N.Y. 10018. Print name, address, with zip code, pattern number and size. Add 25 cents for first-class handling.

I could say something, but the deed is done, however well-meaning it was. But now I have nothing to do except dust and wash my own few dishes.

Thanks for listening, Abby. I feel a little better now.
LOST AND LONELY

DEAR LOST: I understand your feeling of uselessness, but I assure you your daughters meant well. They spared you what is usually the most painfully heart-breaking task a widow must face.

DEAR ABBY: On my next birthday, I will have to register for the draft. I am opposed to the war in Vietnam and I want no part of it. If necessary, I will go to prison. I can't honestly say my "religious convictions" are responsible for my feelings, which I understand one would have to swear to under oath in order to become a conscientious objector.

In order to become a conscientious objector, what steps must I take? I do not want to be in violation of the law by refusing to register. But I know positively that my conscience will not allow me to take part in this war. Can you help me?

FOR PEACE

DEAR FOR: After you register, request a special form for conscientious objectors from your draft board. You will have 30 days in which to gather character references from your neighbors, teachers, your clergyman and anyone who will vouch for your sincerity in this connection. Your draft board will then review your case and decide whether or not you qualify as a conscientious objector. (There are standards set down by the national Selective Service and the Supreme Court.)

If you are classified I.A. in spite of your objections, you can request a personal appearance and appeal it.

Quilting Members Meet At School

MOBEETIE (Spl) —The Mobeetie Mt. View Quilting Club met March 22 at the Totty School House with Mrs. Lela

Reperts as hostess. A thank you note was read from Earl Whitten thanking the club for the flowers they sent him during his illness.

Church of Christ Members Honor Widows Of Groom

GROOM (Spl) —Women of the Church of Christ honored the widows of the congregation with a salad supper at the community club. The table was decorated with a centerpiece of hearts and red roses and red and gold women as place cards.

Those attending the quilting bee were Mmes. Beatrice Street, Audrey Seitz, Mable Dickey, Myrtle Ford, Bulah Grimes, and Lela Roberts. The hostess for the next meeting will be Mrs. Audrey Seitz.

Those honored were Mmes. Hattie Terbush, Aleida Adcox, Eva McGinnis, Lucille West, Audie Martin, Emalea London and Devora Kincannon.

Spring Can Bloom With Bold Dresses

Spring is surely going to bloom bright and bold, if new dresses have their way.

The fashion plot favors femininity fun and excitement. Silhouettes, from the slim and supple curve to the full and flattering flare, seem simple — deceptively so, for colors, fabrics and details spark these basic shapes, enthusiastically.

Fabric overlaps, pockets, peplums, belts, skirt slits, fringing, top stitching, darts, shirring and seaming rejuvenate classic looks.

Two old favorites, the coat-dress and the shirtdress, return to the spring scene in new guises. For both, fresh treatments of the long, frequently full sleeve appear as distinctive features.

Fitted bodices of shirtdresses highlight their pinched-in, belted waists and defined waists lead the way to full skirts that take every cue for motion. Those important long sleeves are often puffed.

More shape defines the coat-dress—in fact, shape is a major trend in most spring dresses.

Supple fabrics such as crepe and jersey are draped along slender but curvy lines, while full-sleeved, full-skirted dresses show shape by fitted, shirred middiffs.

Empire looks define the waistline high, then give way to flowing lines.

Folklore fosters a variety of dresses flavored with nostalgia and with looks derived from many people and places — the peasant, the pioneer, the Old West, the American Indian, South of the Border.

The good little girl in her pinafore is a factor, too, in these fashion styles of long ago, brought up to date.

For every influence out of the past, there's femininity to match — witness a wealth of embroidery, ribbons, bows, demure white collars and cuffs and sleeves that are not merely puffed but leg o'mutton in shape.

Colors and patterns contrast with one another, lending modern impact to the looks of yesteryear. Geometric prints team with bright solids.

Polka dots coordinate with earthy color prints or paisleys. Print meets print head on, and it's a great-looking collision.

Poisonings Take A Heavy Toll

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—Every health department and hospital can list the case histories—the accidental poisonings of children.

Some of the little ones recover completely, some are disabled or disfigured for life, and some of them die.

"And the terrible tragedy of it all is that the numbers of such accidents are increasing every year," says one current publication during this, National Poison Prevention Week. "In fact, nearly two million children are endangered by accidental poisoning every year...the deaths may run into the thousands," writes Arthur S. Freese in "Protecting Your Family from Accidental Poisoning", published by the non-profit education Public Affairs Committee, New York.

Most of the accidental poison victims are children under five—the "explorers" who just naturally put anything in their mouths, regardless of taste.

And most cases stem from swallowing common household substances. Many medicines, particularly aspirin, are the cause of poisoning. Common household products such as kerosene lighter fluids and fuel oils, all perfectly safe when properly used, can be deadly if swallowed. Cleaning substances such as bleaches, lye, polishes and liquid waxes can all be dangerous. Even your cosmetic, nail polish, hair spray and permanent wave materials can poison.

Metropolitan Life Insurance's health and welfare division, listing the above as among the dangerous, offered this advice to parents:

"Try looking at your home with the eyes of a child...then put and keep all dangerous substances out of your child's reach. Under lock and key if necessary. And don't forget, children love to climb."

Author Freese details more precautions—store potentially dangerous products near the working place so they can be put back easily where they belong, and where they belong is out of a child's reach.

To protect both children and adults, never put dangerous products in containers that are ordinarily used for eating or drinking. Never leave pills in a drawer or purse, for children explore every place they can reach.

Use child resistant containers for medicine. Dispose of prescription drugs once they are no longer being taken—flush them down the toilet and discard the empty containers.

But if despite all precautions something poisonous is swallowed, call for help immediately. Freese stresses holding onto the remains of what's been taken or at least the container; it can provide clues to treatment. Try your own doctor first, then the local Poison Control Center (there now are some 600 of them nationally), the community hospital or the police.

Easter Season Offers Decorative Ideas To Surprise Children With Holiday Cake

ENGLEWOOD CLIFFS, N.J. — Use the Easter motif to make foods for children gay and bright, in tune with the season. Pastel colored Easter eggs and chicks made from No-Cook Fondant go with a simple cake baked in a ring mold and frosted with a puffy Fluffy Apricot Frosting.

EASTER EGG NEST CAKE

Prepare one-half package of cake mix or one half your favorite layer cake recipe. Bake in a well greased and floured 1-quart ring mold in a moderate oven (350°) for 25 or 30 minutes or until it tests done. Cool 10 minutes in pan; loosen with spatula. Remove from pan and complete cooling on cake rack. Spread with fluffy Apricot Frosting; sprinkle with green tinted shredded coconut. Fill nest with pastel colored eggs made of delicious No Cook Fondant. Shape chicks in a free form style from No Cook Fondant if desired. This cake may also be baked in a square pan (8 x 8 x 2-inch.)

FLUFFY APRICOT FROSTING

1 egg white
One-third cup light corn syrup
¼ cup apricot jam
Few drops almond extract

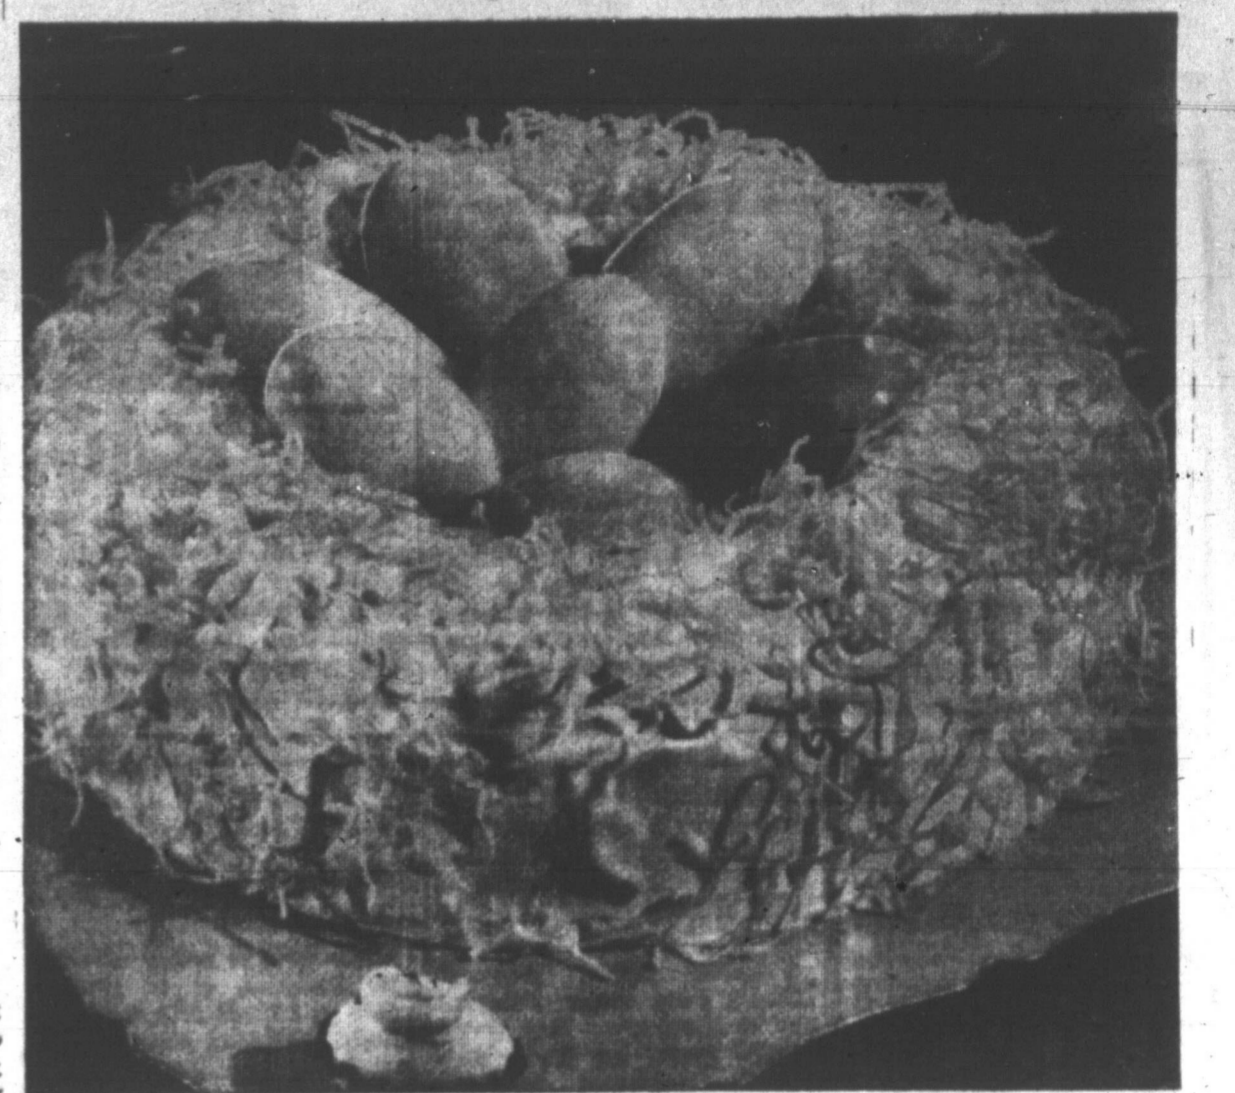

Beat egg white until stiff but not dry. Combine corn syrup and apricot jam; gradually beat into egg white. Continue beating until frosting stands in firm peaks. Fold in almond extract. Will cover small cake baked in a 1-quart ring mold. Double the recipe when making a standard two-layer cake. Peach jam makes a delicious frosting. Substitute for the apricot jam and use ½ teaspoon vanilla extract for flavor.

NO COOK FONDANT

One-third cup margarine
One-third cup light corn syrup
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup sifted confectioners sugar

Mix margarine, light corn syrup, salt and vanilla in large mixing bowl. Add sifted confectioners sugar all at once. Mix all together — first with a spoon and then with hands knead in dry ingredients. Turn onto board and continue kneading until mixture is well blended and smooth. Makes about 1 ½ cups sifted.

Divide among extract. Blend in egg batter. Pour into greased and tint into desired shades yolks, one at a time. Add sifted vegetable colors. Shape dry ingredients alternately with (inch) tube pan at 350 F.

EASTER EGG NEST CAKE

... to decorate party tables for holiday

FAVORITE TWO-EGG CAKE

2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup margarine
¼ cup light corn syrup
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon almond extract
2 egg yolks
Two-third cup milk
2 egg whites
One-third cup light corn syrup

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together; set aside. Blend margarine and sugar. Stir in into eggs of various sizes. Store in cool place.

Beat egg whites until soft peaks form when beater is raised. Gradually add one-third cup corn syrup, beating until stiff peaks form. Fold into (moderate) oven for 1 hour or in 2 (8-inch) layer cake pans at 375 F. (moderate) oven for 25 to 30 minutes, or until cake springs back when lightly touched.

MAN AND THE MACHINE

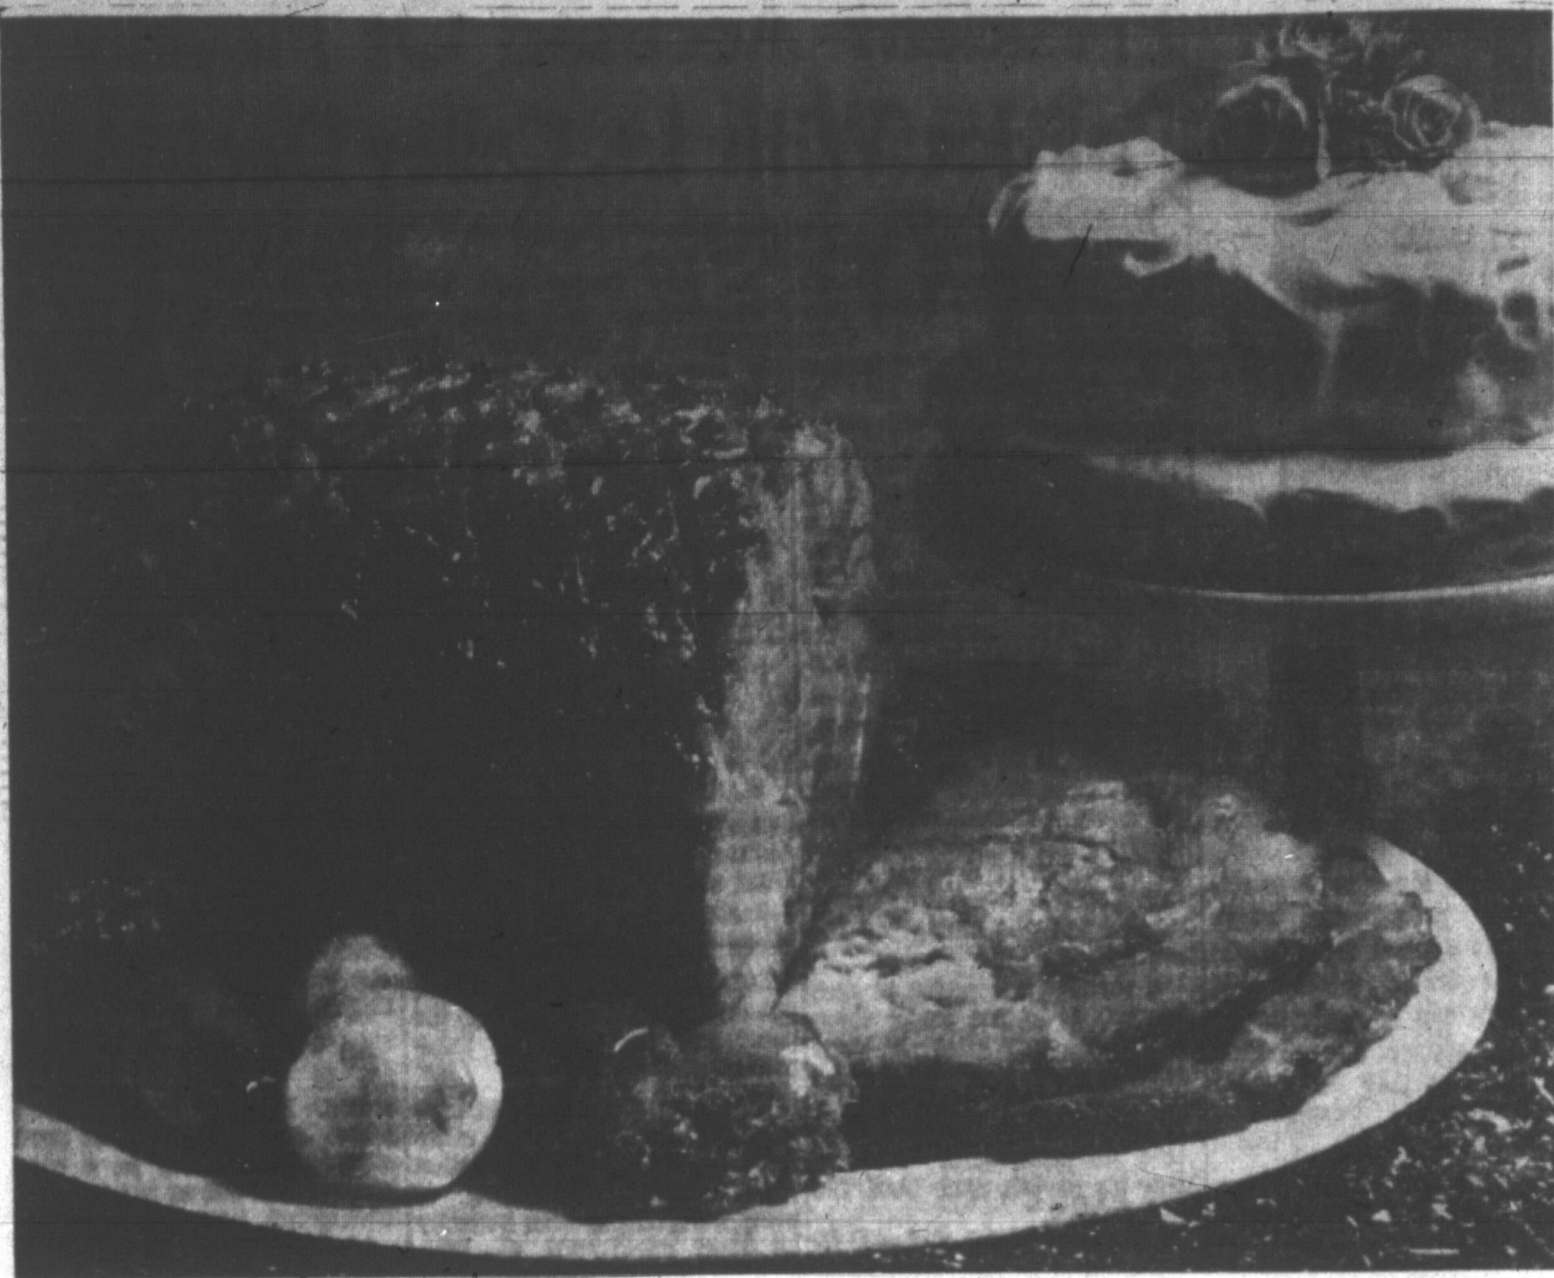

LONDON (UPI) — Herbert Low is quitting his job eight months before retirement because of the love of a bottle-making machine.

Low estimates he had made 10 million bottles on the machine over the past 18 years. Now his employer, U.G. Glass Containers, is to take it out of the production line.

"I loved that machine," Low said Tuesday. "Going on a strange machine would be like going into a strange country."

STAFFORD, England (UPI)

A jailbreaker Tuesday blamed the recent British postal strike for his action. Prisoner Ray Brint, 27, told a court he escaped to get in touch with his wife, who was planning to divorce him. He was jailed for an extra nine months.

BONNET CAKE TOPPED WITH ROSES
... Easter holiday ham shining with easy corn syrup glaze

Combine Traditional, Glazed Baked Ham With Pretty As A Picture Bonnet Cake

ENGLEWOOD CLIFFS, N.S.

When family and friends gather for traditional ham 'n bread on Easter at noon, shr-prise everyone with a specially decorated cake. It's ever so easy to do with standard mixes of your choice and this fluffy frosting recipe. Make the ham a spectacular success with one of the glazes shown here a rich, glossy mustard glaze, or an Orange or a Pineapple glaze.

EASTER BAKED HAM

1 ready-to-eat ham (about 13-pound)
1 c. dark corn syrup
2 tsp. dry mustard
Trim ham, then place, fat side up, on rack in roasting pan. Heat in 325 degrees F. (slow) oven about 1 hour and 15 minutes. Remove ham from oven; score making cuts about ¼-inch deep, about 1-inch apart across fat surface of ham. Mix corn syrup and dry mustard until well blended. Drizzle corn syrup and mustard mixture over ham. Continue baking, basting frequently, until ham is well glazed and heated thoroughly, about 45 minutes. Makes 25 generous servings. Glaze may be used for vegetables if desired.

Orange Glazed Ham: Pour about 1 cup dark corn syrup into a mixing bowl. Stir in 1 teaspoon grated orange rind and 1½ teaspoons dry mustard. Use its mixture to drizzle over ham as a glaze. Follow baking directions for Easter Baked Ham. Pineapple Glazed Ham: Pour 1 cup dark corn syrup into a mixing bowl. Stir in 1 ½ teaspoons dry mustard and 1 (4-ounce) can crushed pineapple. Use as glaze for ham and follow directions for Easter Baked Ham.

EASTER BONNET CAKE

1 pkg. cake mix (for two layers)
1 recipe fluffy white frosting flowers, candies or other decorations
Prepare and bake cake ac-ording to directions on package, making 1 (8-inch) and 1 (9-inch) layer. Cool on wire rack. Lightly frost top of 9-inch layer. Set 8-inch layer on top so there is an even border of the 9-inch layer showing. Spread frosting on top border and sides of 9-inch layer. Smooth with spatula. Spread generous amount of frosting on sides and top of 8-inch layer. Swirl with spoon or spatula. Decorate as desired to create an Easter Bonnet. Makes 8 servings.

FLUFFY WHITE FROSTING

2 egg whites
½ c. light corn syrup
½ c. sugar
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla
Combine egg whites, corn syrup, sugar and salt in double boiler top. Beat slightly with electric mixer or rotary beater. Place over rapidly boiling water and beat constantly until frosting holds stiff peaks when beater is raised, about 3 to 4 minutes. Remove from boiling water. Continue beating 1 minute. Add vanilla. Beat well. Makes enough to cover top and sides of 2 (8 or 9-inch) layers.

NEW YORK — City councilmen Matthew Troy Jr. and Monroe Cohen, discussing their proposed bill, which would legalize the wearing of miniskirts and hot pants in the city. "We are constantly on the alert to restore the fun to Fun City ..."

LONDON — British composer

Sir William Walton, commenting on the musical contributions of the late Igor Stravinsky after his death Tuesday:

"In all probability he was the greatest composer of this century and a complete law unto himself."

SALT LAKE CITY — Joseph

Fielding Smith, president of the Mormon church, admonishing the young to stand firm against modern day perils:

"I pray for the young and rising generation that they shall keep their minds and bodies clean—free from the immorality, from drug abuse and from the spirit of rebellion and defiance of decency that is sweeping the land."

Food Program Aids 7 Million Children

Administrator Edward J. Hekman of the Food and Nutrition Service has announced two significant achievements, as preliminary figures became available on food programs operation for February:

(1) An estimated 14.1 million needy people took part in the family food assistance program. This is the largest ever — 68 per cent more than February 1970 participation of 8.4 million people. (2) An estimated 6.7 million children from needy families received free or reduced-price lunches at school in February under the National School Lunch Program. This also is the largest ever — 43 per cent more than the February 1970 figure of 4.7 million children. Total participation in the National School Lunch Program was 24.2 million children, up 2 million from the 22.2 million children in February 1970.

Administrator Hekman said February participation in the Food Stamp Program climbed to an estimated 10.2 million people, a record for the program. This is two and one-third times the number taking part in February a year ago, when participation was 4.4 million.

Value of "bonus coupons" to participating families also climbed during February to an estimated total of $136.6 million. A year earlier, the value of bonus coupons issued was $54.9 million.

Families taking part in USDA's Food Stamp Program pay in about what they would usually spend for food. They receive additional free or "bonus" food coupons to bring their total food buying power to the level of USDA's "economy diet."

THE GENTLEMAN to the right has come a long way since his early film days as a toughie. In his first picture in two years, Marlon Brando plays an Irish manservant in "The Nightcomers." At left is producer Michael Winner.

Hollywood In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The trouble with television ratings is that they don't measure the really important thing: the commitment, or passion, with which viewers watch shows.

This thought comes to mind in the wake of the cancellation of such long-running series as ABC-TV's Lawrence Welk and the CBS-TV rural programs: "The Beverly Hillbillies," "Green Acres," "Mayberry R.F.D.," "The Jim Nabors Show" and "Hee Haw."

While Welk is hardly discotheque material, it is grossly unfair to include him with the strictly provincial series, as is fashionable in some quarters. His classification has more to do with age than with any geographical area, and the letters this reviewer has received since his cancellation reaffirm his appeal in the cities as well as rural towns.

The letters, which have literally flooded in, also expose the weakness of the ratings in not being able to truly evaluate viewer commitment. For there seem to be no fans like Welk fans. Through the years, it has been well known that even harmless written remarks about his manner bring numerous protesting notes from viewers who defend him heatedly.

If I were a sponsor trying to sell products to the older age group I would be very happy that Welk's representatives are working on plans to distribute his series on a non-network basis, and I would buy time on the programs as fast as I could. For when you have viewers as passionately committed to a show as Welk's fans are, you really can size up your audience pretty accurately — which many series can't.

In the end, does it matter very much that a huge audience has tuned in a show if it is watching it lackadaisically? And, in speaking of the commercial bottom line, does the large audience mean anything at all if it doesn't respond to the advertisements and buy the products? I personally would be willing to bet that Welk's viewers respond to the advertisements on his show — chiefly because his audience is so well defined, and also because it is loyal to all the program stands for including reliable old products that serve a specific need.

In short, a smaller, responsive audience — whether for Welk or more high-brow material — is surely more valuable in every way, creatively and commercially, than fancy statistics that prove only a large tune-in. If Welk is old-fashioned in his easy predictability, he nevertheless brings out in his special and definite older viewers a quality that youngsters can not only understand but admire: Commitment to a pleasure they fully enjoy and respond to passionately. The Beatles could ask no more.

On the other hand, I have been puzzled at receiving almost no letters protesting the cancellations of CBS-TV's rural series. And the awful thought occurred that perhaps the network could have canceled these programs years ago

President Accused Of Playing Politics With Lt. Calley Decision

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Influential Democratic senators criticized President Nixon's intervention in the Calley case Wednesday. One of them accused him of playing politics with the issue and said he should "keep his mouth shut."

The debate over the first degree murder conviction of Lt. William L. Calley Jr. for killing 22 South Vietnamese civilians at My Lai intensified after disclosure that the young army captain who prosecuted the case had written Nixon opposing his intervention.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., considered a likely 1972 Democratic presidential contender, told a news conference: "Reluctantly, I have concluded that the President is determined to play politics with the Calley decision and the entire My Lai tragedy."

"I realize the gravity of such charges. I do not make them lightly, but only after the most serious consideration," Bayh added.

Bayh, asked what Nixon could do now, said: "He can keep his mouth shut until the final review."

But Rep. Charles Gubser, R-Calif., a member of a special House committee that investigated My Lai in 1970, said the Calley jurors and the prosecutor, Capt. Aubrey Daniel III, should be ordered to keep silent in the case. He said Calley had been "admonished to make no statements to the press" after his conviction, but that day after day, the officers who served on the jury had been publicly defending their verdict and Daniel now has been "continuing the trial in the headlines."

Sen. Robert Taft, R-Ohio, one of six senators to whom Daniel sent a copy of his four-page letter to the President, defended Nixon's Saturday announcement that he would make the final review in the case. He said Nixon had "shown courage" in deciding to do that.

At the White House, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the President had read Daniel's letter, but would have no comment on it.

Sens. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., and Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., said Nixon should have remained silent.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The recent Senate investigation of military snooping on the home front examined only one end of the spyglass — the collecting of information.

Left untouched was the equally active function at the other end — the giving of information.

We know from the subcommittee hearings and other disclosures that information about individual citizens is being compiled in vast quantity by Army intelligence, the FBI, CIA, civilian credit agencies and maybe a half dozen other nosy organizations.

High-Priced Information
Yet almost nothing has been discussed about where this information is coming from.

In the absence of hard evidence, one must resort to surmise. So my conjecture is that somewhere in the land there is an educational institution known as the Shady Elm Inform School.

An inform school, which is not to be confused with a reform school or a charm school, recognizes there is good money to be made as a paid informer for one or more of the intelligence agencies.

All too often, these agencies have had to rely on amateur talebearers or the common garden variety of blabbermouth. Which are not your most reliable sources.

Students Receiving ROTC Training May Cancel Repayment Of Loan

Lt. Col. John C. Childs, professor of Military Science at West Texas State University recently announced that students participating in the National Defense Student Loan Program may cancel repayment of up to 50 percent of the loan if they receive a commission through ROTC and serve in the active Army.

Under the National Defense Student Loan, an undergraduate student may borrow up to $1,000 each academic year to a total of $5,000.

A repayment period and the interest do not begin until nine months after the student completes his studies. The loans bear interest at the rate of three percent per year, and repayment of principal may be extended over a ten-year period.

Students who participate in ROTC while in college receive $50 per month during their senior and junior years. Students who receive their commission and serve in the Army will also be eligible for cancellation of their National Defense Student Loan at the rate of 12 1/2 percent per year up to one-half of the total obligation.

Col. Childs stated that this is an ideal way for a young man to receive his education, serve his country as an officer, and get a tremendous financial break at the same time. Inquiries or requests for additional information should be

South Viet Troops Try To Fight Their Way To Beleaguered Base

SAIGON (UPI)—More than 2,000 fresh South Vietnamese troops tried to fight their way through jungle terrain to the beleaguered hilltop Fire Base 6 in South Vietnam's Central Highlands Wednesday night but were stopped less than half a mile away by heavy Communist gunfire.

U.S. and South Vietnamese helicopters succeeded in flying through heavy antiaircraft fire to get badly-needed food and ammunition to the more than 1,000 South Vietnamese defenders on the hill. It was the eighth day of fighting around Fire Base 6, which was once overrun and then retaken.

Officers on the hill reported the besieging North Vietnamese had deployed an entire antiaircraft unit around the artillery base to make the helicopter supply efforts even more difficult.

At least three more helicopters—two of them American and one South Vietnamese—were hit by antiaircraft or mortar fire. One U.S. helicopter crashed into the side of the hill, located just 10 miles from the Cambodian border and 12 miles from Laos.

South Vietnamese officers reported their forces killed 112 North Vietnamese troops around Fire Base 6 on Wednesday alone, with the aid of artillery and American aircraft.

The latest reported losses brought Communist casualties claimed by the South Vietnamese in fighting that began March 30, when Communist forces overran the base only to abandon it after a day, to almost 2,000 killed. South Vietnamese casualties were placed officially at 72 killed and 136 wounded.

Across the border in Cambodia, both sides claimed heavy casualties in a big battle Monday near Snuol, 125 miles northeast of Phnom Penh. South Vietnamese spokesmen said their forces killed 226 Communist but Saigon military sources claimed as many as 248 dead.

The Viet Cong radio said one battalion of South Vietnamese troops had been "obliterated" in the battle in Cambodia, and 29 Saigon troops captured.

Elsewhere in Cambodia forces launched a new drive to reopen vital Highway 4, the American-built link between Phnom Penh and the port of Kompong Som.

A command spokesman said eight Cambodian troop stations were committed to the new attempt, begun Tuesday but announced Wednesday. The Communists have held a seven-mile segment of the road in the Pich Nil pass area, 58 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, since March 25.

In Laos, the third of the Indochinese countries, Communist supply lines were pounded by American artillery shelling across the border from inside South Vietnam.

U.S. Air Force, Navy and Marine fighter-bombers made nearly 130 strikes against the Ho Chi Minh Trail complex in Laos' southern panhandle. B52 bombers also flew 12 strikes against the same supply network.

In South Vietnam's Central Highlands, more South Vietnamese reinforcements were brought into Pleiku, 50 miles southeast of Fire Base 6.

Estate Planning Seminar Planned By Texas Tech

LUBBOCK — Registrations are now being received for Texas Tech's Estate Planning Seminar for Women, a series of lecture-discussions on financial management to be held this month and next under auspices of the Texas Tech University Foundation.

Four weekly sessions are scheduled, from 2 to 4 p.m. each Tuesday, April 20 through May 11, in the courtroom of the university's Law School Building.

Speakers will include authorities in such areas of estate management as investments, wills, taxes, trusts and philanthropy.

Women interested in these and other aspects of estate planning are invited to participate, according to Edward R. Smith, seminar chairman.

SCLC Continues Boycott Drive Against A&P Food Store Chain

NEW YORK (UPI)—After announcing a nationwide boycott against the A&P food store chain Tuesday, the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy spent the day trying to get in to see the company president and part of the night in police custody.

Abernathy began Tuesday's campaign with a news conference at which he announced that the three-month-old boycott by "Operation Breadbasket," the economic arm of the South Christian Leadership Conference, (SCLC) would be extended from A&P stores in New York to stores across the nation.

The boycott will last he said until the A&P management, which so far has refused to meet with SCLC leaders to discuss complaints of job discrimination, "comes to its senses and negotiates with us on the meaningful and reasonable demands we have put forth," Abernathy said. The SCLC wants A&P to give more management jobs to blacks and to take part of its profits from black neighborhoods and invest them in community development projects.

Abernathy proceeded from the news conference to the building housing the A&P headquarters, where he learned that elevator services to A&P President William Kane's 22nd floor office had been shut off.

While about 50 SCLC demonstrators picketed outside in the rain, Abernathy took an elevator to the 23rd floor and walked down one flight to Kane's offices where he found the hallway door locked.

Undaunted, he tried to jimmy the lock with the key to his hotel room, shouting, "Kane, Pharaoh, Egypt, some of your subjects are out here."

TEXAS HARDEST HIT

Four Southwest States Plagued By Crippling Drought

By DONALD P. MYERS

United Press International

When a rainstorm blows in, a farmer gets the wet smell of it in his nostrils miles before the chill and the clouds and the winds come.

The smell of rain is like perfume and promises life in the season of spring.

To the rancher, rain brings grass to his pastures and food to his sheep and black Angus, Charolais, Santa Gertrudis and Hereford cattle. To the farmer, rain means melons, stands of sweet corn and harvests of cotton, grain sorghum and wheat.

And to both, rain is life, but life is hard times this spring across the plains of the Southwest, from Oklahoma through Texas and into New Mexico and Colorado.

A crippling seven-month drought in the fields may be felt all the way to the supermarket.

It's 20th Year

"If it started raining tomorrow and all summer, there wouldn't be enough wheat to make a loaf of bread," said Joe McDonald, who runs a grain elevator at Mangum, Okla. "We lose a crop to drought every 20 years or so. I suppose we'll just have to accept that this is the 20th year."

During the drought, winds have whipped across dry fields with the force some oldtimers remember from the "Dust bowl" days of four decades ago, when blowing soil filled the air and curtailed the sun.

"Pastures that ought to be lush and green at this time are brown and in some cases actually dying," said John White, Texas agriculture commissioner.

"At this time of the spring our total $4 billion income of agriculture is endangered. Every acre of pasture land, every acre of dryland farming is either retarded or just lying idle."

Clods and Tumbleweed

The drought has left little else but dirt clods and tumbleweeds across some Texas farmland and has spread even more danger of fires through the forests of New Mexico, already charred over 3,000 acres long before the tourist season.

"The situation is so bad that right now we have the same number of firefighters on standby as we'd normally have during the height of the fire danger in June," said Don Webb of the U. S. Forest Service in Albuquerque.

In San Angelo, a West Texas town of 63,884 population which used to call itself "the wool and water wonderland of the world," the town lake not only went dry, it turned to prickly pear and prairie grass and burned up.

"First it evaporated and then what was left went up in flames," said Mrs. Mary Olive, who runs a garden store.

"This really has been a crazy drought."

The folks in Stonewall County, also in West Texas, hired a rainmaker from Arkansas — retired Air Force Maj. Homer Berry — to bring five inches of rain to its 927 square miles.

They promised to pay him $2,000 an inch for five inches of rain but Homer left town last month after 30 days and only .65 of an inch.

Texas Gov. Preston Smith has asked President Nixon to declare 60 counties in the Panhandle and the South disaster areas because of the drought. Gov. David Hall of Oklahoma also has asked for federal aid.

'Real Bad'

"It is real bad. I don't think people realize how bad it is," said J. W. Potts of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Everything is dry except a small area in northeast Texas and another small area in southeast Texas. I have never seen a spring start worse. You have to go back 70 years to find so little rain."

New Mexico is suffering through one of its driest years in half a century.

"I started feeding my sheep last November and have kept it up all winter," said Roswell N. M., rancher James Wagner Jr., who has a herd of 1,500 sheep. "During a normal year I can keep them out on the range until January. He said the drought also is cutting into his wool production."

No Oil in Wool

"When there's no rain, the wool doesn't develop any oil," he said. "It makes the wool hard to shear, and what's more it doesn't weight as much when you go to sell it."

Charles L. Thompson, general manager of the Southeastern Colorado Water Conservancy District, said the lack of rain could hinder crops from the eastern plains through the Arkansas and San Luis valleys — source of a massive potato crop.

In Brownsville, Tex., across the Rio Grande from Matamoros, Mexico, the past five months have been the warmest and driest in the history of weather records, which date back to 1850.

Hurts Economy

The usually lush Rio Grande Valley of Texas produces much of the grapefruit, oranges, melons, radishes, onions and other fruit and vegetables that fill the market bins of middle America.

"When the farmer is hurt, it hurts the whole economy," said a banker at Altus, Okla. He said banks have repossessed farms and ranches whose crops either have died or failed to sprout or whose livestock has been culled or sold thin at low prices.

"The drought not only is hurting us now, but it will have a very serious effect on next year's calf crop," said Garwood Gerdes, a rancher from Giddings, Tex. "Cows are so thin now that many of them won't breed back."

"Many of these cows are going as packers and you get only 17 cents a pound because of their condition. If they were a little heavier and in better shape they would bring 24 cents as stockers," Gerdes said. "So you see we are losing 7 cents a pound."

Conditions Get Worse

Leonard Pruett, livestock specialist with the Colorado State University Extension Service in Baca County, said the drought is not critical — yet. His county borders Kansas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

"The conditions get worse as you go from here south, into the Oklahoma and Texas Panhandle," Pruett said. "We're a little better off than they are."

Jim Humphries, manager of the 163,000-acre Pitchfork Ranch near Dickens, Tex., said the only thing that will avert disaster is "a good soaker, then several showers."

Bob Miller, who runs an outdoor advertising agency in San Angelo, Tex., said he used to have a billboard up that read, "Pray for Rain."

Who Does

"But the church groups made me take it down," Miller said. "They said God didn't make it rain, which sure surprised me. If He doesn't I don't know who does."

Through the drought, the men and women of the soil have hope.

"We look at this one day at a time," said McDonald, the Mangum, Okla., grain elevator operator. "I'm not pessimistic. It looks bad right now and a lot of people have already abandoned the crop."

"But God willing, we'll have rain for Holy week, maybe Easter Sunday," he said. "We're a hearty, sturdy people and will come through it all right."

The island of Ceylon sits off the southeast coast of India, outside the main stream of world events, its voice scarcely audible outside the earshot of its own 12 million people.

It is easy to forget that Ceylon gave the world its first woman prime minister, on July 21, 1960, in the person of Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike and that, for better or for worse, Mrs. Bandaranaike must rank among the earliest of today's women's lib leaders.

While still the wife of a prime minister and not the prime minister herself she had dedicated herself to the rehabilitation of Ceylon's rural women, helping to provide them with know-how and financial assistance to set themselves up as handloom weavers, or makers of mats, baskets and handbags.

Many a young woman owes her independence from masculine domination to her.

Before Mrs. Bandaranaike demonstrated her own iron will, she was known along Ceylon's campaign trail as the "weeping widow."

Mrs. Bandaranaike inherited problems in which religion and language played prominent and divisive national roles—the differences between the Tamil and Sinhalese languages and the Hindu and Buddhist religions—along with chronic unemployment, rising dissatisfaction among the newly educated youth and the growing pains associated with the transition from colonialism to independence.

Events associated with the latter are the reasons for this essay.

A sudden announcement from Mrs. Bandaranaike declared that youthful gangs calling themselves "the Peoples Liberation Army"—have terrorized wide areas of Ceylon and plotted against Colombo, the capital, itself.

The gangs associated themselves with the Cuban revolutionary, Che Guevara, although no direct connection with Cuba is known. The government describes them as agents of reaction.

If they are as leftist as their slogans suggest, then they must be said to be carrying coals to Newcastle. When Mrs. Bandaranaike regained office last year among her first acts were to name Communists to her cabinet and to recognize North Korea, North Vietnam, the Viet Cong of South Vietnam and Communist East Germany. She also threw out the U.S. Peace Corps.

She did not renounce U.S. aid but her regime is about as leftist as it can get and still remain outside the Communist bloc.

Of God And Man

By LOUIS CASSELS

UPI Religion Writer

Christianity differs from all other religions in at least one particular. It is the only religion to take as its symbol an instrument of torture.

This action has always mystified non-Christians. The Apostle Paul found that the cross was "a scandal" to cultured Greeks of his time. Nineteen centuries later, one of the questions most frequently asked of this writer is: "Why do Christians call the day of Jesus' Crucifixion 'Good Friday'?"

Christians believe that Jesus accomplished something — not for Himself, and not just for His followers, but for human beings of all religions and races, in every era and area—when He voluntarily submitted to the cruelest death imperial Rome was able to devise.

What exactly did He accomplish? Here words become tricky, for we are dealing with a great mystery that can be approached only through metaphor and analogy. Words which are illuminating to one may merely confuse or offend another.

There is a moral law so basic to the order of the universe that even God cannot lightly set it aside. Its essence, intuitively perceived by men of every known human society, is that evil conduct deserves punishment.

It also is a fact universally perceived that all men are guilty, at some times, in some ways, to some degree, of reprehensible conduct. If a just and righteous God were bent upon strict enforcement of the moral law, every one of us would merit retribution.

The cross is God's solution to the dilemma of how to treat men mercifully without diminishing the authority of the moral law.

On the cross, the one blameless man who ever lived willingly accepted the role of scapegoat for all the sins of all men in all ages.

Jesus' death was an act of perfect obedience and perfect love. It was so good a deed it was sufficient to make atonement for all the wrongs of the world, and thus satisfy the moral law. We can escape the punishment we merit because Jesus already has borne it for us.

And what grounds have we for believing all this to be true? We have the Easter event. By raising Jesus from death to life, God demonstrated in the most convincing way possible the unique significance of the Crucifixion.

Pigweed (carelessweed)? Cocklebur? Sunflower? Morning glory? BANVEL GETS TO THE ROOT OF YOUR WEED PROBLEM. BANVEL TRANSLOCATES/SPRAYED 7th OF MONTH. 4 DAYS LATER. More and more grain sorghum producers find certain deep-rooted weed populations building up. Neither other weed killers nor cultivation give effective control of extra-tough and resistant pigweed (carelessweed), sunflower, cocklebur, morning glory, lambsquarter, purslane, other costly broadleaves. Banvel, the post-emergent herbicide, does control them. For one simple reason. Banvel translocates. Absorbed by foliage and roots, Banvel moves with plant fluids from leaf tip to roots, and back again. Destroys as it goes. Cost of Banvel? As little as $1.90 per acre broadcast. Spray 10 to 25 days after emergence of sorghum, when weeds are young, growing most actively. Sorghum, when used as directed, is completely tolerant to Banvel. Ask dealer or custom sprayer for full information on Banvel. Every container of Banvel carries the Velsicol guarantee of sorghum tolerance to Banvel. BANVEL from Velsicol. AFL-CIO Head Unleashes Attack On President's Economic Policies

WASHINGTON (UPI)—AFL-CIO President George Meany accused the Nixon administration Wednesday of trying to make labor "the scapegoat for the economic mess" it had created.

In his first public statement since President Nixon set up machinery intended to control labor costs and prices in the construction industry, Meany denied a White House claim that labor had voluntarily acquiesced to the establishment of controls. They were "forced" on labor, he said.

The gruff-spoken, balding labor leader testified before the Senate subcommittee on financial institutions. He endorsed a House-passed bill to extend for two years the President's authority to impose controls on prices, wages and salaries at levels not less than those that prevailed May 25, 1970.

But Meany quickly converted his appearance into an attack on Nixon's economic policies, as well as on Dr. Arthur F.

Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.

His words dripping with sarcasm, Meany said "Arthur, my good friend, the doctor, had performed 'an economic miracle' through money-control policies by driving up both prices and unemployment by the Fed's money-control policies. Economists thought it couldn't be done, Meany said.

"We want inflation ended," Meany declared.

"We want full employment restored. We are prepared to sacrifice to meet these goals as much as anyone for as long as anyone.

"But we will not be the scapegoat for the economic mess created by this administration's ill-conceived 'game plan.'"

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., chided Meany for the fierceness of his attack.

"This administration has been very conciliatory to organized labor," Tower said. "Some Republicans would say too conciliatory ... I don't think it merits this kind of thing."

Meany's chief charge was that the administration had applied a double standard by in effect forcing construction workers to accept pay increases of 6 per cent or less while putting off machinery to limit contractors' prices and profits.

ASKS AIR ROUTE

HOUSTON (UPI) — Texas International Airlines wants to fly a new nonstop route between Houston and Monterrey, Mexico. At present, the flight stops at McAllen. TXIA said in an application to the Civil Aeronautics Board Tuesday it would keep its stopover flight, but add the non-stop service.

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — School board officials made another attempt Wednesday night to end the bitter 10-week teachers' strike which has deepened racial tensions here and led to a melee in which two persons were arrested.

A series of fist fights broke out Tuesday night during the Newark School Board's public hearing called to ratify a two-year wage contract that could end the strike, the longest major city teachers' walkout in history.

About 20 speakers of the 150 who had signed to address the board actually got an opportunity to speak before a flurry of fights broke out in city council chambers where the meeting was held. The chamber was jammed to capacity by more than 750 persons.

The meeting was then adjourned until Wednesday night and moved to Symphony Hall which has a larger seating capacity.

Teachers' strikes continued in San Francisco and in five districts in Western Pennsylvania where hundreds of schools were forced to close.

At the meeting here, E. Wyman Garrett, a black former member of the school board, led an attack on the proposed two-year contract which most of the speakers denounced as a "giveaway" for the teachers.

"We are telling you honkies to run your schools on your side of town and we'll run ours on our side of town," Garrett said.

Louis M. Turco, city council president, said if Garrett's remarks "were not geared to incite a riot then no statements can ever be so construed." He called on Mayor Kenneth A. Gibson to take steps to ease tensions "because the climate is such that it can explode at any minute."

Teachers in San Francisco walked out 15 days ago when negotiators failed to reach agreement on a new contract. Mayor Joseph L. Alioto was optimistic a settlement could be reached before students return to school after the Easter vacation.

About 50,000 students were affected by strikes in Western Pennsylvania. The biggest walkout was in Erie, Pa., which has 1,000 teachers and more than 21,000 students.

By RICK DUBROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Movie stars are not necessarily guarantees of success for television series they decide to appear in regularly. A number of motion picture names will face tough competition when they bow in with their own weekly shows this fall.

James Stewart, for instance, will have rough network foes as he launches his half-hour NBC series. According to the early three-network schedule, he will be up against ABC's "The FBI" and CBS' Sunday night movie.

Glenn Ford also will get some heat. Unless the various network plans are altered, his one-hour adventure series on CBS, "Cade's Country," will face NBC's "Bonanza" and ABC's Sunday night movie.

Dick Van Dyke, who is returning to CBS after a considerable fling in motion pictures, will be up against the Saturday night movie on NBC as well as ABC's "Movie of the Week," a new series of 90-minute originals stressing suspense and drama.

Tony Curtis and Roger ("The Saint") Moore are teaming up in an hour comedy-adventure series for ABC "The Persuaders," and their competition will be CBS' "Mission: Impossible" and NBC's Saturday night movie.

David Janssen, formerly television's "The Fugitive," is coming back to video on CBS as a government agent in an hour series called "O'Hare, United States Treasury." Now a movie name as well, he will be up against "Room 222" and "The Partridge Family" on ABC, and NBC's "World Premiere" two-hour films, which will be replaced once monthly by a newsmagazine public affairs program.

Shirley MacLaine as Photog Shirley MacLaine will have a new half-hour ABC show, in which she plays a traveling photojournalist. Her network competition will be CBS' suddenly-hot "Medical Center" and a series of 90-minute mystery films on NBC.

Anthony Quinn will star as a mayor in an ABC one-hour series tentatively titled "The City." Opposing his show will be CBS' "Mannix" and NBC's "Night Gallery," a collection of bizarre tales.

Robert Young, television's current top star in ABC's "Marcus Welby, M.D.," figures to fly extraordinarily high in the ratings again because there won't be any network programming at all against the final half hour of his series on Tuesday nights.

WASHINGTON — Capt. Aubrey M. Daniel III, the prosecutor in Lt. William L. Calley's court martial, writing to President Nixon on Nixon's decision to intervene in the case:

"For this nation to condone the acts of Lt. Calley is to make us no better than our enemies and make any pleas by this nation for the humane treatment of our own prisoners meaningless."

NEW YORK (UPI)—The pendulum has swung full cycle, from an oversold position to what we now consider an overbought position, Edward A. Viner & Co. Inc. says.

The market seems to be finding good support in the 890-900 range on the Dow Jones industrial average, according to TPO Inc.

The market still looks like "an adolescent bull but one that is getting a bit exhausted," Harris, Upham & Co. says.

The stock market has been responding to Orwellian logic," Hoppin, Watson & Co. believes.

It observes that the market has been "taking heart from bad economic news and showing discouragement" when business begins picking up rapidly.

Astro's Jesus Alou Has The Hardest Job

HOUSTON (UPI)—Jesus Alou of the Houston Astros has one of the hardest jobs in baseball. He doesn't play regularly, but he is supposed to be ready to produce when something happens to a regular and he's called on to play.

It's even tougher this spring, because he hit .306 last season and has his reputation as a .300 hitter to uphold.

He upheld it well in a reserve role Wednesday night, going 3-for-3 and driving in the winning run with an eighth-inning single as the Astros beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1.

Alou entered the game in the second inning after Jim Wynn hurt his back swinging at a pitch in the first. Dodger right-hander Don Sutton gave up only six hits, but half of them were by Alou, including the line drive to right which won the game.

"He hit a slider knee-high six inches outside," a dejected Sutton said in the clubhouse. Alou, who is known for swinging at bad pitches, said it is difficult to stay in shape without playing.

"I wish I feel all the time the way I feel last night and today," Alou said. "Even if I did pop up last night (as a pinch hitter), I feel loose. That's the hardest thing to do—to keep loose."

Alou's single scored Cesar Cedeno, who reached second to open the eighth when second-luseman Bill Russell dropped his pop fly in short center field.

Alou's second single in the sixth led to the Astros' first run. He was forced at second by Bob Watson, but Watson scored on Dennis Menkes double into the left field corner.

Wade Blasingame, with ninth-inning help from George Culver, pitched a five-hitter. The only Dodger run came in the sixth when Maury Wills singled, stole second, went to third on a ground out and scored as Willie Davis beat out a tap off Blasingame's glove.

Sutton helped Houston that inning with poor base running. He had walked ahead of Wills' single and gone to second on the hit by the little shortstop.

Sutton slid back into second a fraction ahead of John Edwards' attempted pickoff throw, but the Dodger pitcher thought he was out got up and walked away. Shortstop Roger Metzger tagged him.

"The umpire (Tony Venzon) said 'yes sir, yes sir' and I interpreted him to mean I was out," Sutton said. "I couldn't see because I slid back head first and had my face in the dirt when he signaled."

I guess you ought to be allowed one mistake in your career so you'll appreciate the umpires more," Sutton said.

The Dodgers had a mild threat in the ninth when Wes Parker singled with one out and Richie Allen came in to pinch hit for Duke Sims. Culver, a right-hander, replaced Blasingame, a southpaw, whom Allen hit handily, to pitch to the right-handed Allen.

The Dodger slugger, who couldn't start because of a swollen toe, grounded a fast ball into a game-ending double play.

The Chicago Cubs open a four-game series against the Astros tonight with Jack Billingham, 13-9 last year, pitching against Ken Holtzman, 17-11 last season.

Jack Nicklaus Set Off For Victory In Augusta National

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus set off today on the second leg of the "grand slam." Nicklaus, who picked up his 11th major title six weeks ago when he won the PGA championship, was the favorite here as the 35th Masters golf tournament began its four-day journey over the famed Augusta National course.

Victory here this week would place the 31-year-old ace of the fairways halfway in his determined bid to become the first golfer ever to win all four of the world's major professional tournaments in the same year.

Three Time Winner

He would still have to win the U.S. Open in June and then successfully defend his British Open crown the following month—but that's the sort of challenge Nicklaus seems to thrive on.

He was the youngest Masters champion when he won here in 1963 at age 23, let the Masters scoring record with his 17-under-par 271 in 1965 and become the first amateur ever to win the Masters in a row when he repeated in 1966.

If Nicklaus should win here this week, he would tie Arnold Palmer as a four-time champion.

Nicklaus, lean and fit and declaring that his game is in the same shape it was when he went into the PGA championship, had a 1:03 p.m. EST tee-off time today.

Palmer Leading in 1971

Palmer, finding life begins at 41—his rejuvenated golf game has earned him almost $100,000 already this year—was paired with big Steve Melnyk, who is regarded as having a chance to become the first amateur ever to win the Masters.

As for the other serious contenders:

Defending champion Billy Casper, second here in 1969 and a playoff winner last year, was set to go off with U.S. amateur champ Lanny Wadkins.

South African Gary Player, only foreigner ever to win the Masters (1961) and winner of two tournaments and more than $76,000 in the six weeks he's been back in the states, starts with Gene Littler, the man who lost in that playoff to Casper as his playing partner.

And U.S. Open champion Tony Jacklin of England, the foreigner rated second only to Player as a contender here, and Miller Barber, the "Mr. X" of golf who wins mainly money, $68,884 worth already this year, were paired.

First tee time for the 1971 Masters, at 9:10 a.m., was reserved, as usual, for Scotsmen Fred McLeod and Jack Hutchison, the tournament's honorary starters. McLeod, now 88 years of age, won the U.S. Open way back in 1906.

Hutchison, the 1920 PGA champ, is 86.

The 6,850-yard, par-72 Augusta National is not quite up to its usual lush shape this year because of an extended cold spell. Weather is expected to be a factor this week since the cold will continue through the weekend and predicts a chance of rain for Sunday's final round.

The starting field of 77, containing a large number of amateurs, foreigners and oddsmen, will be trimmed to the low 40 scorers, and ties, at the end of the second round Friday.

The closing segment of the final two rounds will be nationally televised (CBS).

Other tee-off times: Palmer 11:58 a.m., Casper 12:28 p.m., Player 1:38 p.m., J.Jacklin 11:30 a.m.

Houston Free Agents Increase

HOUSTON (UPI)—Four-year Texas Southern veteran Leroy Mitchell says he and the Houston Oilers cannot come to terms and he is going to play out his option this season. He is a regular corner back.

"Nobody likes to play out his option, but I don't have any choice," Mitchell, 26, who came to Houston in a trade from the Boston Patriots in 1969, said. "We haven't come to terms."

He said he decided to play out his option two weeks ago.

"I don't know how the Oilers found out about it, but I got a registered letter from them saying I could play this year at 90 per cent of last year's salary," Mitchell said.

The Oilers said a similar letter was mailed to all unsigned players. The unsigned players get 90 per cent of last season's salaries and then become free agents after the season.

Big Red Machine Has Many Defects

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

There are so many defects in this year's model of the "Big Red Machine" that it may have to be recalled any day now.

The Cincinnati fans are finding it unsafe in any game.

The Reds, who started out last season with a 70-30 record before Wayne Simpson was injured, limped into the 1971 season with three regulars and two pitchers ailing. That's why it's not that surprising that the defending National League champions have lost their first two games.

Atlanta, which outlit the Reds 7-4 in the opener on Monday, outpitched the Reds 2-1 Wednesday night.

The Reds collected 10 hits—two each by Johnny Bech, Pete Rose and Hal McRae—but could manage only one run.

They left 10 runners stranded: Ron Reed went the first 8 1-3 innings and Cecil Upshaw got the final two outs.

Groom And Lefors Top Teams In 2-B Track

Groom won the Lefors District 2-B Invitational Track and Field Meet yesterday with a total of 163 points. Lefors placed second in the competition with 121 points.

High Point honors for an individual go to Mike Robbins of Lefors with 30 total in the day's events. Robbins won the Shot Put with a toss of 43'11" placed fourth in the discus, was second in the 120 High Hurdles, and third in the 330 Intermediate Hurdles.

The Relays were the closest races of the day with Groom and Lefors being separated by one tenth of a second in both the 440 Yard Relays and the Mile Relays.

Times in the 440 Yard Relay were Groom 46.7 seconds and Lefors 46.8 seconds. A repeat performance in the Mile Relay found Groom leading Lefors 3:48.5 to 3:48.6.

Harvesters To Compete In Andrews Invitational Meet

Harvester tracksters will be competing in Andrews Friday in a four-division-track meet. The Pampa squad will be facing some of their stiffest competition of the season in the meet as Odessa, Abilene, Lubbock, Midland and Big Springs are just a few of the state track powers entered.

The meet will start Friday morning at 11 a.m., with the prelims in the 440 Yard Relay, 100 Yard Dash, 120 High Hurdles, 440 Yard Dash, 330 Intermediate Hurdles and the 220 Yard Dash.

Finals are slated for six o'clock starting time with the meet closing with the Mile Relay at 9 p.m. Twenty-nine Pampa youths will be in competition at Andrews with all in good shape for the meet.

Odessa Permian and Abilene are toss up favorites going into the meet with the actual winner in the ranks. Pampa chances are good as this is their best season in the past 18 years.

The Harvester tracksters won the Dumas Invitational and are looking for many more surprises before the end of the season.

While being a smaller meet than the Amarillo Relays more records-state-are held by the schools entered in the Andrews Meet. Many of these records are expected to be broken.

Woman's International Bowling Congress Draws 25,000 Keglers

ATLANTA (UPI)—The Woman's International Bowling Congress, drawing some 25,000 female keglers and running for 44 days and nights, opens tonight with prize offerings of $294,090.

The tournament is so big that it is being split between two local bowling centers. Titles will be decided in the five-woman team, doubles and singles events.

Dorothy Fothergill of North Attleboro, Mass., is the defending singles titleholder. Miss Fothergill set a record of 1984 for all events last year and won the singles title with 695.

She also will play as a member of the Parker-Fothergill pro shop team from Cranston, R.I., which took the team title with 3094.

Defending their doubles title will be Judy Cook of Kansas City and Gloria Bouvia of Portland, Ore.

In addition to the 50 states, entrants are from Japan, Bermuda, Canada, Panama, Great Britain, Okinawa, Puerto Rico and Saudi Arabia.

exposed himself to a 10-year-old girl last November.

Instead, Rentzel, 27, chose to take his case directly to the judge. Courtroom sources expected a plea of guilty.

Rentzel, who is free on $1,500 bond, could receive up to 15 years in prison if he is convicted. However, since he does not have a criminal record, a conviction would probably mean a probation sentence.

He was charged Nov. 30, 1970, with exposing himself to the girl after driving up in front of her house and asking her directions.

Let's Not Give Up

For a nation that likes to think of itself as going some place, it is some coincidence that two of the current big stories should involve transportation, according to Don Graf of Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

These are, of course, the grounding of the supersonic transport by Congress and the less sensational, but in the long run possibly equally significant, fixing of routes for the new National Railroad Passenger Corporation, Railpax.

Millions of words have been written about the SST and, perhaps, the one thing that can be said for certain at this point is that many more are still to be written on an issue that is far from dead. It has long since become something much more than the plane itself, incorporating the bandwagon causes of the environment, economic policy, national priorities and bare-knuckle presidential election politics.

Students of the often mystifying workings of government will be long, if ever, in determining how much in what ways each contributed to the dramatic S-nate vote, and what the backlash effect of that vote in each area will be, in the end it should matter.

What does matter is what can be done immediately to rescue and put to productive use the human talent and technical facilities idled by the SST rejection. We could do worse than look to the ground.

Preoccupied with the progression from big jets to jumbo jets to almost SST in recent years, we have tended to overlook and short change the airports. Few have kept pace with the advances in planes, either in physical facilities or personnel. The strike two years ago of overworked and understrength traffic controllers was an irritating but dramatic demonstration of this. (Considerable changes have been made since, including a considerable expansion of the controllers corps.) Much needs to be done. Many a traveler fighting his way through jammed, inadequate terminals—not to mention the ordeals of ground transportation between the terminals and city centers—must wonder if the speed and comfort of the time in the air is worth it.

A channeling of planning, funds and talent into ground operations on even a much more modest scale than has gone into the SST would still be a significant beginning.

Another beginning, the initial Railpax network linking 114 cities with 1844 trains, looks at first glance like more of the same in the rail story of the past several decades. It is a reduction by half in the number of intercity trains currently in operation and has a number of intercity trains currently in operation and has a number of sizable cities anguishing—to great extent for prestige reasons—at being omitted, Pampa, for instance.

Service is not going to be noticeably improved at first, or for some time, and the structure and direction (is it eventually to be expected eventually to return a profit?) of the semipublic corporation created by Congress are still somewhat vague. But Railpax is a public recognition that rail service is a public interest and responsibility and starting operations May 1 at a rock-bottom low point it would appear to have nowhere to go but up—or, should it fail, to end passenger service to any significant extent for good.

There are those among us (the hopeful minority?) who may look for the best from the developments in the air and on the rails. There may be a day ahead when getting there will merely be an achievement in itself.

The Calley Case Lesson

The recent conviction of Lt. William Calley for premeditated murder of Vietnamese civilians may bring about shock waves that will last many years, and the military establishment may feel it most.

If Calley can be judged merely as an individual whose actions were criminal, then the Army might be able to wash clean because it will have expelled an undesirable member from its ranks and will have meted justice in its punishment. But in the minds of most, Calley cannot be considered as anything but a part of the military, and his conviction is the conviction of the military.

Much anti-American propaganda will be made of the Calley case. Those who hold the U.S. to be in error in the Vietnam war will have a field day. Calley will be adjudged merely as a scapegoat, and there will be voices calling for conviction of others, perhaps all the way to Lyndon Johnson who was commander in chief of the armed forces at the time of My Lai.

But more pressing problems will result for the Army itself in attempting to carry out military operation in Vietnam. It may be most difficult indeed to have soldiers carry out orders to kill the enemy. After all, no matter what the courts-martial rule, men on the firing line in Vietnam do not always find it possible to tell the "hostiles" from the "friendlies" and civilians from military, regardless of age or sex.

The withdrawal of American troops from Vietnam will help preserve the Military Establishment; it is not difficult to play the spit-and-polish game in a rear echelon garrison. But always hanging over the head of junior officers will be the fate of Lt. William Calley.

How the military will handle the situation is anyone's guess, but a lesson for all human beings has been presented in clear terms.

Political government's most ruthless power is unleashed in war, and those who blindly follow the lead of their political government are not always protected by the system. It obviously is true in war, and most certainly also is true in every other human activity over which politicians reign.

The lesson, then, is to resist placing a human life in the hands of political government. That, of course, sounds like one of those platitudes that fails to get at the now part of the problem.

But American civilians will not find answers in expediency in this case. They cannot condone murder merely to preserve the image of the Military, no matter how patriotic they are. And they cannot condone the throwing to the wolves of a loyal junior officer of the army.

The question, is Calley a murderer or a loyal officer, may never be fully answered to the satisfaction of all, but a jury of his fellow officers has judged him a murderer.

Which side to be on will be a dilemma for all Americans unless they recognize that political government never should have the power to commit individuals to engage in wars, large and small declared and undeclared, around the world.

The working American has a right to expect that the drop-out element will be compelled to re-enter—the mainstream of American life or be penalized. Working citizens can't be expected to carry the hippie elements on their back for years on end.

Today's peaceniks should ask themselves how their philosophy would have stopped Hitler and his Nazi legions. Certainly, peacenik attitudes only encourage aggression by the communist powers.

In terms of our domestic existence, the passive, inward-turning attitudes of today undermine the strength and well-being of the American people. The nation depends on active, responsible people. Cities need guardians around the clock—policemen, firemen and hospital personnel. Strangely, the social drop-out expects some people—key people in our society—to continue on the job. They expect a doctor to be available to treat them if they are sick. They expect a fireman to answer an alarm. They expect Social Security and welfare checks to be delivered.

The working American has a right to expect that the drop-out element will be compelled to re-enter—the mainstream of American life or be penalized. Working citizens can't be expected to carry the hippie elements on their back for years on end.

Sensing The News

DROP-OUTS FROM SOCIETY

One of the distinctive features of the 1970's is an inward-turning attitude on the part of many Americans. On the limatic fringe there is the phenomenon of the urban or rural commune where young people experiment in group living without formal ties or responsibilities. Strange new cults flourish in some of our major cities. The Manson trial in California lifted the lid on weird beliefs, and practices in the midst of our modern society. Everywhere one sees cars and carryall buses with the word "love" printed on the sides, as though the painted symbol would effect an extraordinary transformation in people's lives. In many areas of national life one witnesses a retreat from or avoidance of reality.

This is not to say the United States hasn't had its share of cultists or eccentrics in the past. Groups such as the Shakers, a religious sect that believed in a primitive communism, established communal settlements in the 18th century. But such cults never gained a wide following. Today, the hippie style of life is established nationwide. Some of the cultists are what's known as weekend hippies, affluent people who dress up in hippie gear on Saturday and Sunday and return to a straight existence come Monday. Even so, one wonders what is the cause of this strange charade.

In New Orleans recently, I saw youthful panhandlers begging for "loose change." I was startled to hear one college girl ask—in a no doubt unconscious echo of Depression days—"mister, can you spare a dime." The irony is compounded by the fact that this girl—or others like her—may have a Daddy who sends her an allowance to live like a hippie in the urban enclaves formed by persons who have dropped out of the producing society.

Perhaps the hippie style of life is the ultimate luxury in an affluent society. In societies where a stern struggle for life is the rule, the hippie is unknown. Dressing in beads, Indian head bands and fringed leather clothes can be regarded as a form of conspicuous consumption.

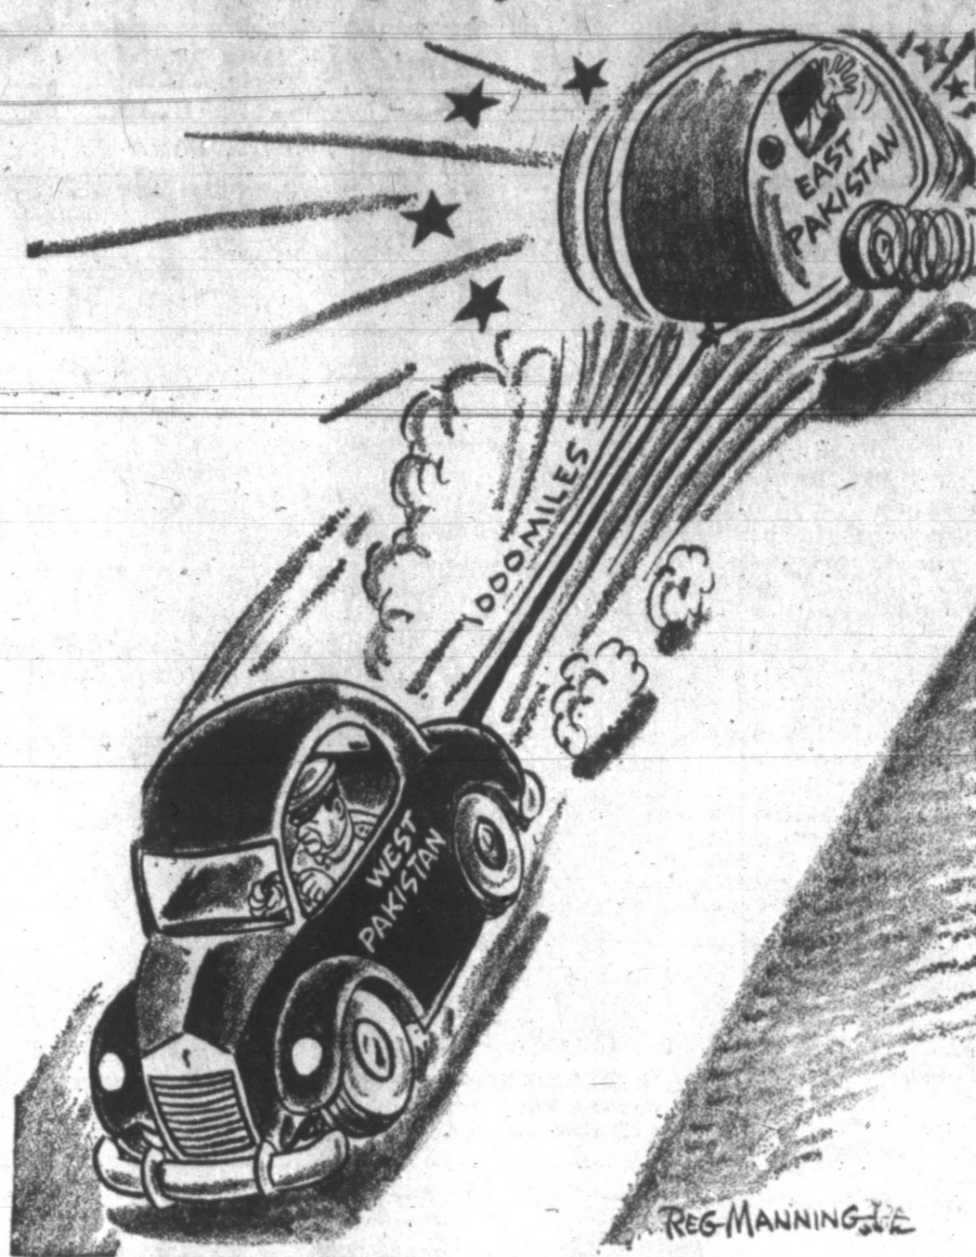

Whatever the psychological motivation—and the clothes indicate an inner dissatisfaction with reality, the United States can ill-afford continuing indulgence in the hippie outlook—the inward-looking attitude in any form. The nation's foreign policy is in disarray today because a very large number of people, including U.S. senators, believe one has only to chant "peace, peace" and the problems of the country are solved. The liberties of the American people can't be maintained by thinking "peace" but by defending them when they are threatened.

Some people in our country today have the notion that they can be passive in the face of threats and still enjoy the blessings of freedom. If such people are unwilling to fight for their country or pay taxes for defense, they can expect their land to be overcome and their personal existence threatened in the most direct way. This is lesson of history.

Today's peaceniks should ask themselves how their philosophy would have stopped Hitler and his Nazi legions. Certainly, peacenik attitudes only encourage aggression by the communist powers.

The working American has a right to expect that the drop-out element will be compelled to re-enter—the mainstream of American life or be penalized. Working citizens can't be expected to carry the hippie elements on their back for years on end.

STRAIGHT TALK:

How To Become A Liberal

By TOM ANDERSON

If one has the proper background, and will apply himself assiduously to the task, one can easily attain Liberalism.

Ideally the incipient Liberal should be an "intellectual" scion or scionette of inherited wealth (Third Generation preferably), have one or more (preferably more and more) degrees from leading Marxist centers like Harvard, Princeton and Berkeley; and be engaged in some "bleeding heart" non-profit tax-exempt or neo-government profession.

To be a certified Liberal, one must be able to pass the knee-jerk test. Weatherwise, every-other-day, spitting-in-the-wind Liberals like Richard Nixon are not really IN, and never shall be.

After one arranges one's degrees and establishes to the Establishment that one is to-the-manor (or is it manner?) born, one must learn the special Liberal vocabulary. Here's a sample: Love committed, meaningful, unthinkable, intolerable, relevant, agonizing, world-infernal, justice, complacent, crypto-Nazi, humanity, opt, ante-deluvian, archaic, moss-backed, dialogue, communicate, aspirations, pluralistic, crassly commercial, attuned, orchestrated, responsive, break-through, thrust, shibboleth, turbulent times, change, red herring awesome, mellowing, paranoid, vigilantism, come-to-grips-with, normalcy, disenfranchised, reactionary, neo-fascist, alienated, frustrated, escalating tensions, involved, exacerbate, arch-ultra conservative, estranged, dangerous, concerned, patronizing, lily white, WASP, grouping, ghetto, blighted, compassion, immobility, relate to, egregious, intellectual, establishment, rapprochement, suburban, methodological, conscience, intransigent, military-industrial complex, containment, revolution, meaningful protest, overdue reappraisal, mores, over-react, counter-productive, detente, priorities, racist, winds of change, Camelot, the Power Structure, over-kill, dehumanizing of raising expectations, superpatriot, mainstream, non-conformity, planned parenthood, accommodation, pragmatic, must address ourselves, exploitation, little old lady in tennis shoes, simplistic, out-moded, beautiful, limits of power, panacea, peaceful coexistence, restructure, creative, tension, crackpot, middle-class puritanism, modus operandi, unilateral disarmament, guilt-of-Hiroshima, sophisticated areas, greed, open-end, generation gap, tergiversations responding to a higher law, cynical power elite, now let me just say this, aware, McCarthyism, weefully inadequate, Bircher, middle-class values, underprivileged, euphemistic, articulating the concerns, tautological, imposing credentials, articulate the aspirations of the masses.

robber baron, responsive, developing nations. And above all viable, and relevant. And the budding Liberal must TALK—overlastingly, uninterruptedly, and above all, "intellectually." Never, but never, use a two-syllable word when a four-syllable word will do. Four-letter words are right-on, but be sure you learn the proper usage when verbalizing the nouns. Remember when Mark Twain's wife came out with an ear-shocker, designed to stop him from cursing so much? He replied: "You got the words, honey, but you don't know the tune!"

It is important to know the lute. Even the "Liberal" news media now admit that Bobby Kennedy, when Attorney General, agreed to let the F.B.I. tap Martin Luther King's telephone, thinking King would prove himself innocent.

Regarding X rays, the chest is most often X rayed because one can easily see signs of tuberculosis in the lungs. This is not true of many other organs like the kidney since all the X ray often does is to outline a shadow of the shape of the organ itself. The difference is that the lungs are full of air and a kidney, for example, is not. This is why it is better to do examinations of the urine to tell how the kidneys are functioning than it is to use an X-ray examination when one is looking for tuberculosis.

H. L. Hunt Writes

RUNNING BEHIND

The testimony of Admiral Thomas H. Moorer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, before the House Armed Services committee, should strike fear into the hearts of every person in this country, including the Doves and the street ruffians who preach unilateral disarmament and global love.

Admiral Moorer warned: "The overall strategic balance, during the last five or six years, has drastically shifted in favor of the Soviet Union. Our comfortable lead has now all but vanished." Here was the realist talking. He has the information and the responsibility of defending the nation.

We have blundered on several fronts. Our inter-continental ballistic missile force was frozen in the 1960's because our leaders stupidly believed that once the Soviet Union reached parity, the communists would also stop production. Well, they didn't. We also devoted our war energies and production to the effort in Indo-China which required tactical weapons. The missiles were forgotten and the war effort in South Vietnam was frustrated by political leaders in Washington who called, erroneously, the shots for the military. Meanwhile, the Russian submarine program practically caught up with ours—or surpassed it. Their equipment in the underwater arm will be newer than ours. The Soviets also are making their naval surface ships operational for warfare, something we are not doing. We lag in naval research as well as missile development.

Richard Nixon made much political campaign in 1968 about our lag in scientific research and development. But President Nixon has done as much as any of his predecessors in letting us lose the race with the deadliest enemy we have ever had—Soviet Russia.

Your Health

By Dr. Lawrence Lamb

Back Pains Occur For Many Reasons

Dear Dr. Lamb—I have previously had TB of the kidney. The doctors say it is cleared up. I still have pains in my back and kidney and wonder if this is normal. My urine has been checked and it shows nothing. Could there be anything else that causes this pain in the lower right side and back? I would also like to know why they just X ray the chest when they know I had TB elsewhere and why they don't check you where you have it.

Dear Reader—There are many things which can cause pain in the right side and back, including problems of the colon, particularly if someone is under emotional stress. Muscle pains and abnormality of the spine also cause difficulties in this area.

Regarding X rays, the chest is most often X rayed because one can easily see signs of tuberculosis in the lungs. This is not true of many other organs like the kidney since all the X ray often does is to outline a shadow of the shape of the organ itself. The difference is that the lungs are full of air and a kidney, for example, is not. This is why it is better to do examinations of the urine to tell how the kidneys are functioning than it is to use an X-ray examination when one is looking for tuberculosis.

There are some other examples where the X ray is useful in tuberculosis besides just tubercles. If tuberculous infection involves bone and causes enough erosion or damage to the bone, these changes can be seen.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Would you give a thought to an old lady of 78 with a health problem. I have pain in the lower jaw which comes on when I slide down in bed and have been asleep for some time. If I sit up for an hour the pain will go away. I have come to believe it has something to do with the blood. I have had all my teeth removed thinking it might end the trouble but it hasn't.

Dear Reader—Your theory about the pain in your jaw being related to circulation is not a bad one. It is true that heart trouble can cause pain in the jaw, rather than pain in the chest. It is also true that when the heart doesn't beat as strong as it used to, it can cause a small amount of fluid to accumulate in the lungs, particularly at night and can cause pain.

The fact that your pain occurs at night is related to your sleeping position, and is relieved by sitting up, suggests that this could well be the case.

Why don't you see your doctor for a heart checkup? He may be able to give you some medicine to get rid of any excess fluid you may have accumulated and give you some relief.

What's Policy on Red China? House Committee to Ask

John Goldsmith

WASHINGTON — The administration is due for a disconcerting surprise on the thorny and politically explosive Red China issue.

Rep. Thomas Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, is quietly setting the stage for a series of hearings on this momentous problem.

It will be the committee's first study of the matter in many years.

Foremost among those invited to testify will be Secretary William Rogers. The State Department chief recently made diplomatic history by announcing the removal of the 20-year-old restrictions on travel to Communist China by Americans.

This resulted in a furious outburst from the Nationalist Chinese. Winthrop Brown, deputy assistant secretary for East Asia, sent to Taiwan to explain the move, was publicly snubbed in retaliation. Instead of conferring with top officials, he was shunted to a vice foreign minister handling African affairs.

Rep. Morgan stresses that the sole purpose of the hearings, slated to get underway after Easter, is "strictly informational."

Also that they will be completely nonpartisan and objective. Says Morgan, who has headed the Foreign Affairs Committee for more than 12 years and is a practicing physician in private life:

"On the basis of recent developments and statements by top administration officials, including President Nixon, it is clearly evident important changes are in process in viewpoint and policy regarding Red China. That directly and vitally affects Nationalist China and our relations with that government. Clearly, it is essential that both Congress and the American people know exactly what is transpiring in this strategically crucial part of the world.

"The committee has no axes to grind. We are taking no position one way or the other. Our sole purpose is to ascertain what is going on; to learn what the administration is thinking, planning and aiming to do."

Information in Chairman Morgan's hands is that the State and Commerce Departments favor selling the 30 heavy earth movers to the Chinese communists. But the Defense Department is vigorously opposing this on the ground the vehicles could be used for military purposes—constructing airfields, anti-aircraft positions, and other installations.

The Pentagon's strenuous objections have been sufficiently weighty to hold up approval of the sale. Outcome of this inner administration split is conjectural.

A decision may be forthcoming following a review of a detailed study of the Chinese problem by the National Security Council, personally headed by the President. The two-volume survey is being analyzed by the Senior Review Group, comprising a committee of departmental undersecretaries under the Chairmanship of Henry Kissinger, special White House adviser on foreign affairs.

Government In Bedroom?

By PAUL HARVEY

Are these scientists saying now what tomorrow's lawmakers will decree: That certain people may not have babies?

Black Americans are being advised now that 1 in 10 of them has an inherited blood disorder known as sickle cell anemia.

Government is understandably timid about any sensitive subject involving an ethnic minority, so government is letting the Chase Manhattan Bank Foundation dispense this information and open clinics for nationwide blood testing.

Sickle cell anemia, imported from Africa, affects mainly Negroes. It involves a change in the molecular structure of the blood's hemoglobin.

Nearly half the victims die by the age of 20; few live beyond 40.

Of the 5 million black Americans, 1 in 10 is a genetic carrier—likely to transmit the disease to his or her offspring.

Correction

Editor:

Referring to my letter to the Editor in the April 4 Pampa Sunday News, I have been corrected as to the allowable weight of trucks and loads on Texas Highways.

Before writing the letter I called the local State Highway department and was told, correctly, that the allowable weight on highways was seventy-five thousand pounds, including the truck weight. My typewriter keys made an error, and it came out 7,500, obviously wrong.
