WEATHER

PAMPA AND VICINITY — Slight chance for scattered thunderstorms this afternoon and tonight. Possibility of rain 30 per cent. High today in mid — 80s. High Saturday — 78.

Monday Target Date To Stop U.S. Government

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Tens of thousands of antiwar protesters massed in the capital Saturday to try to paralyze the government, but President Nixon declared he would not allow demonstrators appealing for peace in Vietnam to break the law at home.

With more than 500 military police on guard just across the Potomac, a predominantly youthful throng estimated at 35,000 overflowed a "tent city" on the banks of the river in response to a call for widespread civil disobedience starting Monday.

The President, who was spending the weekend at the Western White House in San Clemente, Calif., told a news conference that he respected "their right to disagree" with his war policy.

But he stressed that "the right to demonstrate for peace abroad does not carry with it the right to break the peace at home" and the government "is prepared to deal with it" if the protest became illegal.

As the President issued his warning the protesters celebrated May Day at a rock concert presumably arranged to build esprit de corps as well as to minimize risks of confrontation with law enforcement authorities.

The People's Coalition for Peace and Justice and an affiliated group called the May Day tribe, organizers of the protest activity, have vowed to disrupt traffic on bridges and main arteries into the city and to block access to key federal buildings. They have designated 21 targets, including the Justice Department where more than 350 persons were arrested Friday.

The Pentagon announced that "a few hundred" MPs had been brought into Ft. Meade, Va., from Ft. Meade, Md., about 35 miles away. Defense Department sources said between 500 and 1,000 MPs were stationed at nearby Arlington cemetery, where they could overlook the demonstrators' campsite, and that about 4,000 more soldiers would be on hand by Sunday evening.

At the campsite, normally a polo field and wide open area between the Jefferson and Lincoln memorials, the crowd appeared to be swelling by the hour. U.S. park police had estimated that about 6,000 protesters spent the night there, but that figure was raised to 20,000 at mid-morning and to 35,000 by early afternoon.

Shoppers evidently were fearful of violence and shops were markedly free of customers even though Saturday normally is a busy day in the city.

Pampa Gets Only Light Rainfall

Pampa was under a severe thunderstorm watch until 10 p.m. Saturday, but threatening clouds moved out leaving only light rainfall.

The thunderstorm threat began to dissipate about 8 p.m. and the alert was lifted an hour or so later.

The weather bureau said there still remained a 30 per cent possibility of scattered thunderstorms this afternoon and tonight. Wind today was expected to be from 15 to 30 miles an hour.

This afternoon's high temperature was expected to climb into the mid-80s. Saturday's high in Pampa was 78.

Nixon Says U.S. In Midst Of Strong Economic Rise

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—President Nixon expressed confidence Saturday that the nation was in the midst of a strong economic upturn, but said he would consider a tax cut or other action if the boom fizzled out.

With birds chirping loudly in the background, the President met reporters for the second time in three days, standing outdoors under a big pine tree at his California home and said he would continue "an activist" role in the economy.

"If the economy continues at its present rate, then I see no need for a tax cut," Nixon told a questioner. "If it does not then we will act."

He said his administration would take action where he thought appropriate to stimulate the economy and said that if the recovery bogs down "we will act on the tax front and other fronts."

Violence Marks World Observance Of May Day

By United Press International
May Day was celebrated in most industrial nations of the world with a carnival atmosphere Saturday but there was violence in Manila and Paris and tanks rolled in an East Berlin parade.

Hundreds of thousands of persons, ranging from laborer to cosmonaut, marched in rain-swept Moscow ceremonies and cheered themselves hoarse for Communist Party chief Leonid Brezhnev and his Politburo colleagues.

In Manila, troops opened fire when youths trying to haul down the flag at the Philippine Congress building hurled homemade bombs at them. Four young people were killed and 32 injured. The incident happened after May Day marches by thousands of red-banded workers and students.

Price Seeking Lower Interest On Farm Loans

Congressman Bob Price has dispatched letters to the Secretary of Agriculture, Secretary of Treasury, and Director of the Office of Management and Budget requesting them to lower interest rates immediately on agricultural loans.

"There is an urgent need in the Texas Panhandle and other drought-stricken areas of the state and nation for low interest, long term credit for people in agriculture to escape bankruptcy," Price said in his letters.

IN NEXT TWO MONTHS

Over 30,000 American Servicemen Will Be Withdrawn From Vietnam

SAIGON (UPI) — Nearly 30,000 more American troops, including the last remaining Marine Corps combat units, will be withdrawn from Vietnam in the next two months, military sources said today.

Phase VII of President Nixon's troop withdrawal program began today and the sources said it will be finished by June 30, bringing a 29,300-man reduction in American man reduction in American forces.

The report came as the U.S. command told of a team effort by U.S. fighter-bombers and helicopter gunships against a bunker complex in which 21 Communist troops were killed and reported a Communist ambush that killed five Americans. Both Friday actions were near the A Shau Valley, the site of a two-week-old allied operation.

Passenger Train Service In Pampa Is Discontinued

"All aboard" was called out for the last time in Pampa early this morning as the Chicago-bound Santa Fe pulled out of the quiet, dark city after arriving for a short stop at 1:22 a.m.

The last train marked the end of passenger train service in Pampa, a service in effect since before the turn of the century. The discontinuation comes with the new system adopted by the Nixon administration to re-route and revamp the nation's railway system by cutting back passenger service.

Kent Starts Four-Day Memorial Observance

KENT, Ohio (UPI)—An antiwar play today opens the first of four days of memorial observances commemorating the deaths of four Kent State University students shot and killed by National Guardsmen last May 4.

"The war is going on and the people just accept it as fact," said Frank Huntington, describing his play. "They don't like it but they feel there is nothing they can do about it."

GREEN AND GOLD TREE — Pampa Garden Club members and Pampa High School seniors helped the city celebrate its own Arbor Day Friday by planting two Sumbrist Locust trees at high school. Barbara Brown and Mrs. James F. Malone, garden club president, help support the young tree as Mrs. James McCune watches Jill Donaldson start digging a place to plant it. Mrs. McCune is a member of the club's Civic Beautification Committee. The new trees have green and gold leaves, to coordinate with PHS colors of green and gold. Because of the weather, Panhandle clubs celebrate Arbor Day in April instead of the state designated January date. (Staff Photo)

County Commissioners Endorse Safety Plan, Airport Project

By ALETHA DAVIS
Gray County Commissioners endorsed the Traffic Safety Program submitted by Gov. Preston Smith when they convened Saturday morning to a scheduled meeting. The program, designed to promote safer driving and more effective traffic control was instituted by the Traffic Safety Administration and endorsed by the governor with the motto, "Drive Friendly."

A new agenda item was introduced by county surveyor, Gene Barber, who confirmed a report from the office of Congressman Bob Price Friday that a $55,000 Federal Aviation grant had been approved to match existing funds designated for use in enlarging and updating facilities at Perry Leffers Field.

Texas Aeronautics Commission had granted $25,000 to supplement a $30,000 figure remaining from funds voted in bond issues in 1967 for the airport and hospital. The $55,000 grant matches the figure, providing a 4,500 foot-long providing $110,000 for the project which will provide a 4,500 foot-long, northeast-southwest runway, 75 feet wide, diagonal to the existing north-south runway which is 100 feet wide, and 5500 feet long.

In order to cut down Gray County election costs in view of a light voter turnout for the May 18 constitutional amendment election, the court approved combining Precincts 2 and 7 through 14, into one polling place, the Courthouse. Other ballot boxes will be located at Leffers, Alanreed, Grandview, McLean and Laketon.

Election judges were appointed, including: Walter Elliott, Leffers; Precinct 2 and 7-14, J.E. Austin; Alanreed, Marvin Hall; Grandview, Gordon Ruthardt; S.A. Cousins, McLean; and Homer Powell, Laketon. Absentee voting official will be Jerald Sims.

Another new item introduced to the agenda involved a transfer of Highland General Hospital funds $25,523.23 was transferred from the facility's general fund to the construction fund to meet the next-to-final payment of a contract with Reed-Strickland Builders. The court acted upon recommendation by the county auditor, Ray Wilson and hospital administrator, Wesley Langham.

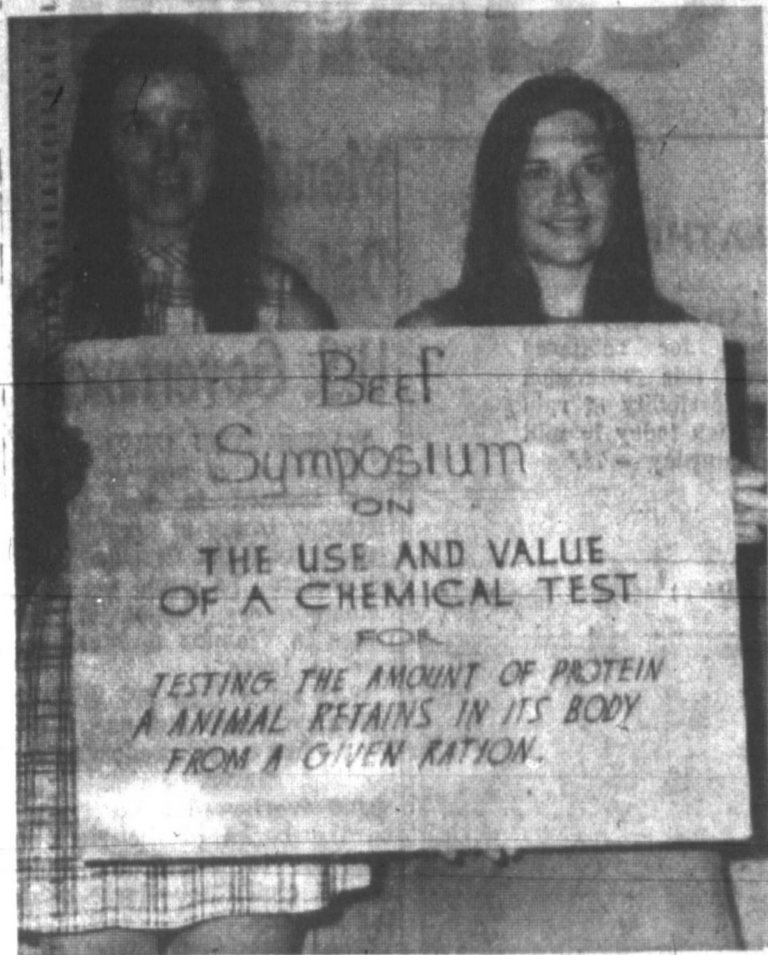

Annual Cleanup Campaign Will Be Launched Tomorrow

Pampa's annual Cleanup campaign will be launched tomorrow and run through the entire month of May. City trucks will start out Monday morning in Ward 1 and work there from Monday through Friday, May 7.

Fire Chief Finace Dyer, publicity chairman, said city workers will pick up any kind of trash or rubbish that is placed in the alley. Workers will not remove anything from private property. The cleanup trucks will move into Ward 2 Monday, May 10; Ward 3, May 17 and Ward 4, May 24.

The month-long cleanup campaign will end with the final pickups in Ward 4 on May 28. Pampans are urged to round up all trash and rubbish they wish to be hauled away and have it ready for the city trucks on Monday of the week they are scheduled to be in each ward. Here are the boundaries of the city's four wards: Ward 1 — Bounded on the South by Foster St. and Rham St., North to city limits, and bounded on the east side by Cuyler and Mary Ellen. Ward 2 — All of the area (See CLEANUP, Page 22)

Volunteer Labor Needed To Ready Camp Cibola For Summer Activities

If you believe in girls, if you have time and energy and enthusiasm, Quivira Girl Scout Council needs you. And they need you now.

Saturday, May 8, is the regularly scheduled work day at Camp Cibola. According to camping committee chairman, Pat Rion of Borger: "We have a great deal of work to do and only two short months to complete it before Established Camp starts July 11. If we do not complete our project, we will be unable to have camp for the Girl Scouts in the 10 county Quivira Council this summer."

That means that the anticipated 150 campers at Established Camp will miss out on an Established Camping program this year.

The projects planned include trimming trees, tying pipe, setting posts and starting repairs on the camp kitchen which include carpentry, plumbing and electrical work.

A number of state regulations must be met before camp time. These include safety regulations and sanitation regulations set out for Established camps by the State of Texas. Projects to be completed have been set up on a priority list of most important to be completed first.

Experienced members of the camping committee will be on hand to explain and supervise each project. Camp Cibola was purchased in 1970, and great strides have been made toward its development. However, to comply with state regulations and provide an adequate and enjoyable camping experience for Girl Scouts, much must be accomplished before July 11.

Farley is a candidate for graduation from Midwestern May 15 with a bachelor of arts degree. His major is political science with a minor in English, and he plans to enter law school at the University of Texas at Austin in the fall.

He has been on the Dean's and University honor rolls and has maintained a 2.66 grade point average on a 3.0 system, with a 3.0 GPA in political science.

He is from Pampa and attended MU in 1967-70 on a debate scholarship. He was national debate champion for Pi Kappa Delta, national honorary debate fraternity, in 1969. He has also received the Floyd Ewing and Harold academic scholarships.

Farley has been a member of Midwestern's Honors Program and was a semi-finalist in 1970 for a Rhodes Scholarship. He has been president of his class in 1968-69; the pre-law club; Pi Kappa Delta; and Phi Sigma Kappa, social fraternity.

Many willing hands are needed to fulfill the goal of Camp at Clarendon in 1971. Arrange your schedule and bring your tools and a sack lunch on Saturday, May 8. Also pack that intangible necessity for a successful work day—enthusiasm and the knowledge that this is a truly worthwhile project for all communities in the council, the director added. Camp Cibola is located approximately eight miles north of Clarendon. It is marked with a sign, "Quivira Girl Scout Camp" on Highway 70. Turn at the sign and turn left at the fork in the road, and continue to the camp.

Welfare Plan May Be Federalized By 1974

AUSTIN (UPI) — The burden of public welfare is likely to be taken off Texas' back by the federal government by 1974, according to House Ways and Means Committee Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark.

"We're out to lick this welfare problem," Mills promised a joint session of the Texas Legislature in a special address Friday.

Mills said his committee is working on a bill to provide a complete federal takeover of welfare costs and administration by July 1, 1974.

"There is not a person in this chamber—or anywhere else—who is satisfied with the present welfare system," he said, "especially the aid for families with dependent children."

He said his proposal would restore "self-reliance" and would curb "the present undesirable and alarming trend of

Pampan Selected To Receive Rotary Fellowship '72-73

Jan Farley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. Farley, 1830 Hamilton, was recently selected to receive one of the 52 Rotary International graduate fellowships in the nation for 1972-73.

The senior student at Midwestern University, Wichita Falls, will be notified in September where his fellowship will be as he may study at a university in Oxford, England; Paris, France; Leyden, Netherlands; Stockholm, Sweden; or Geneva, Switzerland.

Farley is a candidate for graduation from Midwestern May 15 with a bachelor of arts degree. His major is political science with a minor in English, and he plans to enter law school at the University of Texas at Austin in the fall.

He has been on the Dean's and University honor rolls and has maintained a 2.66 grade point average on a 3.0 system, with a 3.0 GPA in political science.

School Trustees To Study Budget

Pampa School Board will meet in called session at 7:30 p.m. Monday for a budget planning session and to review the district's teacher salary schedule.

Other agenda items are continued discussion of the proposed new vocational building, tennis courts, and school air conditioners.

Homar Craig, director of business services, is expected to report an analysis of projected income and possible expenditures.

Trustees were told in the last board meeting April 19, the district will be faced with a $150,000 deficit with the Aug. 31 payroll if the district continue the same level of spending.

Trustees are expected Monday to discuss ways to meet this deficit and have proposed reducing the teaching staff, "go the deficit spending route," close an elementary school and transfer students and teachers to existing classrooms for one year, or change the rate of tax assessment to raise enough money to balance the budget.

Firm's Foreman Gets Promotion

ROBERT BRANDON

Robert N. Brandon, 2204 Lynn, foreman in Cities Service Gas Company's Pampa pipeline division, has been promoted to superintendent, top ranking supervisor in the division, the company's headquarters office in Oklahoma City announced Saturday.

As division superintendent, Brandon will supervise employees who maintain a total of 323 miles of natural gas pipelines. The division office is located at the company's compressor station site southeast of Pampa.

Brandon, who holds a chemical engineering degree from Texas Tech at Lubbock, has been with the gas transmission company since 1948, serving the entire 23-year period in the Pampa area.

Brandon succeeds Howard Porter, who is being transferred to the Miami, Okla., division. Cities Service Gas Co. operates a 7,800-mile gas transmission system that delivers natural gas to local distributors in 500 towns in Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas, Nebraska and Missouri.

Drouth-Stricken Counties Eligible For FHA Loans

"DROUTH STRICKEN" The Department of Agriculture has advised Congressmen Bob Price that 235 counties in Texas, including all of the Panhandle units, have been declared eligible for FHA Emergency Loan through June 30, 1972.

The extended drouth has caused substantial loss to feedcrops, damage to pastures and in other areas making it necessary for many area farmers and ranchers to need emergency loans to complete their 1971 farming operations and credit for 1972 operations.

Funds will be available to eligible borrowers to finance crop production, pasture reseeding and other operating expenses. Application can be made, according to the congressman, through the local FHA office.

Cheerleaders Selected At Lefors Schools

LEFORS (Sp1)—Cheerleaders for Junior High School and Senior High School pep squads were chosen by secret ballot Friday at the Lefors School.

Miss Norma Lantz is teacher sponsor for the group which participates during sports activities throughout the school year.

New cheerleaders will serve during the 1971-72 school year. Head cheerleader duties were won by Sheila Taylor, senior. Senior representative will be Virginia Day. Junior cheerleader will be Lou Ann Sims, with LaWausa Ring representing the sophomore class. Jill Sims will be freshman yell leader.

In the junior high election, head cheerleader honors went to Jaylene Wallis, eighth grade. Eighth grade yell leaders will be Rhonda Ferguson and Pam Crutcher, while Lea Vincent and Karen Baker will represent the seventh grade class.

Pampa's Crisis Information, Suicide Prevention "Hotline" is temporarily not functioning between the hours of midnight and 8 a.m. due to installation of additional mechanical equipment for the service.

"We are doing everything possible to get this installation completed," said Don Losher, chairman of the Suicide Prevention-Crisis Information Center in Pampa.

Unemployment In Texas Dips

AUSTIN (UPI) — Unemployment eased slightly for Texas in March, but there are still more jobless workers than a year ago.

Unemployment dropped to 4 per cent in March, which compares to an unemployment percentage of 4.2 for January and February, the Texas Employment Commission reported Friday.

The number of jobless workers in March was reported at 187,000. But the March unemployment figure was still a 1-per cent jump over the March, 1970, figure.

FEDERAL AID PROGRAM

All College Students Are Eligible For 'Study Now, Pay Later' Loans

By JOAN DEPPA
 United Press International
 The good old tradition of working your way through college is being supplemented and supplanted by a relatively new one: "Study now, pay later."

Despite the fact that student loans are not available to all who apply, the number borrowing their way through college is rising. One reason is a shrinking part-time job market; another is the lack of funds for others types of student aid.

"Study now, pay later" will become the primary source of federal aid for all students except the very poor if the Higher Education Opportunity Act of 1971, sent to Congress by the Nixon administration March 4, is adopted.

Spread Funds Around
 The administration plan, which proposes to make an added $1 billion in aid available to one million students, would sharply reduce the amount of money available to any one student but theoretically would guarantee help to all students from families with incomes below $10,000 a year.

Only students from low-income families would be eligible for grant and work-study funds. The maximum proposed is $1,000 for a student whose family income is $3,000; a student with a family income of $6,000 would get $300.

To meet any costs above that amount, low-income students would be expected to borrow. Students with a family income above $10,000 would have only one source of federal aid, the guaranteed loan program.

Raises Major Question
 Loans play such a major role in the Nixon plan that discussions with college officials almost invariably raised the question: To what extent should students be expected to go into debt to go to college?

"The idea seems to be that students, particularly poor students, should pull themselves up by their bootstraps," Ted S. Cooper, executive director of the National Association of College Admissions Counselors, said at his office in Evanston, Ill.

"What the government seems to forget is that many of these kids don't have any boots. Asking a kid from a family with an income of $3,000 to borrow $1,500 a year is just not realistic."

The guaranteed loan program is popular, however, with many government officials because it requires a minimum amount of federal funds—and because students have proved to be surprisingly good risks.

Students Good Risk
 Nationwide, less than 1 percent have failed to repay their loans according to schedule.

Most educators closely acquainted with the problems in the guaranteed loan program said it needed to be made more attractive to banks.

A banker spelled out the reason why educators and the government agree that loans have a place in student aid, even when they do not agree how large a proportion of student aid, even when they do not agree how large a proportion of student financing should be through loans, or under what terms.

"It's the lesser of two evils," Thomas Sporer, second vice president of American National Bank and Trust Co. in Chicago, said about loans to students.

"It's better to get out of school with a debt than not to get out at all."

Proposed Beer Tax May Affect Legislation Over Pending Tax Bill

AUSTIN (UPI) — A proposed new tax on beer that comes to about half a cent per bottle might again deadlock the legislature over the pending tax bill and throw the state into a financial crisis similar to the one that caused two special sessions in 1969.

The issues are the same as the bitter tax fight in 1969: Will there, or will there not be an increase in state taxes on beer.

The Senate Thursday, like it did two years ago, finally passed and sent back to the House its version of new taxes to finance the ever increasing costs to run Texas state government and included a $1.70 per barrel hike in beer taxes.

Under leadership of Speaker Gus Mutscher and reportedly with the staunch insistence of the beer industry, the House in 1969 steadfastly refused to accept the higher beer taxes.

Industry Said No
 "The beer industry just flatly said no to any more taxes in 1969 and that was that," a source close to the legislative leadership said. Finally, after forcing a second special session, the beer industry agreed to place beer sales under the general sales tax and a tax bill was then passed.

But some senators still were smarting from this impasse when they began thinking about having to pass another record high tax bill this year for the 1972-73 state budget and they again put the higher tax on beer by a vote of 18-12.

After the Senate passed its tax bill Thursday, Mutscher released a statement saying the higher beer tax would not cause an impasse.

"Although the tax is punitive in nature, it is a relatively uncomplicated feature of the bill," the speaker said.

Raps Gas Increase
 But Mutscher was highly critical of the 2 cent per gallon increase on gasoline, saying the burden "becomes almost more than the motoring public can stand."

Despite his denial that the beer tax would not bring another impasse, some legislators — and especially some senators — insist that the higher beer tax is what worries Mutscher.

"He's just going to have to try and talk the beer people into accepting the tax or there'll likely be a special session in June," one senator said.

Mutscher said the House will decide early this week — perhaps Monday — whether to accept the Senate bill or reject it and ask for a conference committee to work out the differences.

Will Follow Speaker
 Quite a number of the House members privately favor accepting the Senate version with the beer tax, but if Mutscher opposes it a majority of them will go along with him.

One source said there could be a move to satisfy both factions. This could be worked out by the House concurring with Senate changes to the tax bill, then another bill could be introduced to reduce the beer tax hike to bring the total to $5 instead of $6 a barrel.

"The beer people probably would be happy to go along with a deal like that," one legislator leader said. "But whether or not it could be sold to the members on either side of the capitol is another question."

If you own an outboard motor sufficiently portable to carry in the trunk of your car, it will pay to take it along on vacation. According to figures from the authorities, you'll have to pay up to $25 per day for the privilege of renting a fishing motor — when you can find one. Boats, on the other hand, are plentiful and normally rent for about $5 per day.

Senator Believes Nixon Can Win Majority Of Young Voters In '72

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William E. Brock III, R-Tenn., is telling listeners that President Nixon can win a majority of new young voters in 1972 through emphasis on issues of interest to voters in all age brackets.

Brock, a pragmatic conservative elected from the House to the Senate last year three weeks before his 40th birthday, has a special concern for the youth vote.

He organized 23 fellow Republicans in the House in 1969 to visit 50 colleges for talk sessions to search for the causes of campus unrest. The group's report to the President recommended lowering the voting age to 18 and other steps to cool student discontent. "This generation is pleading for maximum individual freedom and responsibility," Brock told a reporter. "They see enormous growth in government as a threat to individual freedom."

"No President in 40 years has matched the record of this one to make government more responsive."

He referred specifically to Nixon Administration proposals for government reforms and cabinet reorganization and for sharing revenue to strengthen state and local government.

Brock also said U.S. troops would be out of Vietnam before the 1972 election, fulfilling the Presidential commitment to end the war, and meeting an issue of basic concern to youth. And with all the optimism of Administration spokesmen, he foresaw "full employment with a vibrant economy" by then.

"The President will be able to run on a peace and prosperity theme," he said. He expressed hope that whatever the national Republican organization does to persuade young people to vote for the GOP, it will "recognize that most youths are neither radical nor revolutionary."

"They are concerned and want a chance for meaningful involvement," he said. "That means more than stuffing envelopes."

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The civil war in Pakistan and China's sudden overtures to the outside world, especially the United States, have lent new importance to U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers' meeting with CENTO ministers in Ankara, Turkey.

Pakistan is a partner in CENTO, the Central Treaty Organization, along with Turkey, Iran and Great Britain. The United States is not a member but participates in a number of the organization's activities.

Pakistan's military participation in CENTO fell off sharply after Turkey and Iran declined to send military aid in the war with India in 1965. It has, however, maintained its membership both in CENTO and its sister organization, SEATO, its counter-part in Southeast Asia.

Since the dissolution of Pakistan would have a decisive effect on the balance of power in South Asia, the outcome of its civil war is of special importance to CENTO and even more especially to Turkey and Iran.

China also enters into the Pakistan considerations. Among the world powers, it is the only one to declare itself firmly on the side of the Pakistan central government. It did so in its warning to India to keep hands off in an internal Pakistani situation.

Other nations have taken a strictly hands off attitude, although both the United States and the Soviet Union have urged Pakistani President Mohammed Yahya Khan to find a peaceful solution as quickly as possible. The United States also has offered to participate in an international relief effort in East Pakistan.

It is possible the CENTO partners may ask Rogers about the extent of U.S. aid to the Pakistan central government in its efforts to suppress the East Pakistan revolt. The State Department recently acknowledged that Pakistan had been receiving about $2.5 million a year in ammunition under the heading of "non-lethal" military aid.

Lubbock Minister Plan To Fight Air Pollution

WAYNE BRISTOW

Evangelist Wayne Bristow of Lubbock will be conducting a Crusade sponsored by the First Baptist Church of Lefors May 3-9 at Shaw Field.

Nursery facilities will be available at all services which will be conducted daily at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Evening services are set for presentation at the field, with morning services at the church sanctuary, according to the pastor, Rev. Dudley Bristow. Services on May 9 will begin at 5 p.m.

At 34, Bristow is a veteran of more than 300 evangelistic crusades throughout the world. These campaigns have ranged from local church meetings to missions on major university campuses and massive area-wide endeavors. He recently participated in a nation-wide crusade in India.

A native of West Texas, Bristow is a graduate of Wayland College in Plainview and is an ordained Southern Baptist minister. He served two years as a pastor prior to entering a full-time ministry of itinerant evangelist preaching in March of 1963.

Married and the father of one son, Bristow often extends his ministry to include Bible conferences, personal evangelism clinics, youth retreats and radio and television. He is especially popular with student groups and always gives at least one night of every crusade to a youth emphasis.

During a recent crusade, the evangelist stressed: "The one great hope is that men will reject the world's clamor for the prostitution of their resources, and that they will plug into God through faith in Christ, thereby realizing the full potential of their humanity!"

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government announced Friday final air quality standards that are likely to force sharp limits on driving in cities and put tight restrictions on emissions by every industrial facility in the nation.

Administrator William E. Ruckelshaus of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), which issued the standards, said they must be implemented by July 1, 1971, and would change some aspects of Americans' daily lives.

"We've got to make some changes in transportation systems, in closing hours, and when we go to work," Ruckelshaus told a news conference.

He said big cities would have to promote "rapid transit, car pooling and staggered work hours" in order to reduce automobile emissions enough to comply with the standards.

"It may even require the closing of some sections of these cities to auto traffic at certain hours," Ruckelshaus said.

The standards establish limits for six major air pollutants—sulphur oxides, particulate matter, carbon monoxide, photochemical oxidants, nitrogen oxides and hydrocarbons.

Ruckelshaus said the standards for sulphur oxides and particulates would force massive changes in fuels used by electric generating plants and other industries, with a possibility the switch might force "some increase in electric bills."

High sulphur coal would be largely ruled out in some cities, he said.

For example, he said, "we estimate that to bring air pollution levels down to the standard for particulates in New York will require a 300 per cent increase in natural gas usage in the city."

Such a change, he conceded, would severely tax already limited natural gas supplies and would require significant federal action on fuel policy.

The 1970 clean air act required the EPA to work out antipollution standards and the timetable announced by Ruckelshaus.

Each state must submit to EPA by next Jan. 1 detailed plans for implementing the standards, including emission limits for every "stationary source" of pollution—meaning industrial facilities.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "If you had just one choice," writes a lady reader, "which performer would you say is the biggest television star of them all?"

It's not a tough question. If you are including occasional performers, the answer would have to be Bob Hope on the basis of the consistently astronomical ratings of his specials. But if you are talking about stardom week in and week out—probably the toughest popularity achievement in show business—the answer is Lucille Ball, hands down.

In fact, she doesn't even have much competition in that category.

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL, Executive Secretary ARC
The Emergency Care Training School is over for this year and we have heard many wonderful things about the school. We are sorry that more did not attend but the 65 or 70 that did attend the meeting sponsored by the State and by the Medical Association in Pampa found that the time was well spent. Several from out of town attended the meeting held in the Cabot Auditorium. Thanks to Cabot for furnishing the coffee for the Red Cross and for the janitor service who so kindly helped us the evening we served the members of the school.

Mrs. Majuanta Hills has been working in Groom, teaching the Modified Class in Mother and Baby Care to the Seniors at Groom High. The following received their certificates: Jan Ledwig, Pam Treadwell, Pam Ollinger, Margaret West, Janie Britten, Diana Britten, Tommy Eversen, Tony Howerton, Marsha Blackwell, Jacquelyn Watson, Anita Wieberg, Sydney Craner, Darlene Vaughn, Billie Ruth West, and Mary Nell Britten.

There will be a training school for executive Secretaries and Volunteer Consultants Thursday May 6 at 10 a.m. at the Chapter House at 1800 S. Harrison. It is hoped that Libby Shotwell, Skeet Wagner, Jackie Marlar, Ted Gikas, Majuanta Hills and any others interested in Red Cross work will attend the work shop. The study will be over at 3:30 p.m.

J. D. Ray, Fireman and First Aid Instructor has completed a Standard First Aid Class for Girl Scouts of Quivira Council. Those who received their cards are: Jeri Bohlander, Linda Busse, Jere Ann Carter, Vickie Carter, Dana Chisum, Donna Coufal, Kim Chisum, Debra McDonald, Becky Ellis, Sharon Farmer, Nicki Fletcher, Irene Haeshe, Marsha Holland, Sabrina Houck, Patricia Nolte, Stephanie Secrest, Jane Shaw, Theresa Walsh, Karen Hampton, and Barbara Whiteley.

Terry Lynn Duenkel and Manny Holden both First Aid instructors for Red Cross will begin a Standard First Aid Course Monday May 3, at 7 p.m. at the Duenkel Funeral Home. Persons in the community who would like to join this group are invited to be present.

HOUSTON (UPI) — Wade Blasingame of the Houston Astros will miss his regular start Friday night against the New York Mets because of a blister on the ring finger of his pitching hand and Astro Jack Billingham will miss his turn in the rotation the next night because of a muscle spasm in his shoulder. Both pitchers should be back in action next week.

HOUSTON (UPI) — Third baseman Eddie Henderson homered with two out in the bottom of the seventh inning Tuesday to send the University of Houston to a 4-2 win in the second game of a doubleheader against Lamar Tech. The Cougars also won the opener 5-3 on a home run by catcher Larry Martin.

Youth Center Wrapup & Schedule

SWIM LESSONS—The swim lessons for the month of May is listed below and parents should enroll in the near future. The Polywog swim class has been changed to 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. so those who have signed up should note this.

Classes will meet on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Fridays for 10 meeting dates with the classes lasting one hour. We are closed on Tuesday during the school year. All classes will be taught by Ruth Carter, our resident water safety instructor. Enrollment is free to Center members and $4 for nonmembers.

CALICO CAPERS SQUARE DANCE — The Center has an adult square dance club that meets on Saturday nights from 8-11 p.m. They teach newcomers lessons twice a year and have several jamborees. They have just had their graduation dance for some beginners last Tuesday night and they had a very big attendance.

Those graduating were Charles and Bobbie Brazille, Charles and Patsy Copeland, Dean and Donna Burger, Lewis and Dorothy Galimore, Keith and Jolynn Davis, Gerry and Jimmy McCabe, Bill and Joyce Smith, Billie and Francis Millisan, Jack and Betty Seals, Dean and June Wilson, Ann Thornburg and Don Brunson.

If you are interested in this type of activity, come out on Sat. night and visit the club. They will explain membership to you and give you guidance.

JUDO LESSONS—An unusual activity which is not publicized very much is our judo club. This club is under the direction of Paul and Sam Moot. All boys who are 8 years of age or older and girls who are 12 years of age or older are eligible to attend and participate. You need only be a Center member and follow the rules of the club.

We have several boys and girls who are currently learning this art and more are joining each day. If you are interested, please come to one of the meetings on Monday or Thursday nights from 7-8:30 and learn more about this club.

MEMBERSHIPS—Now the summer is coming up you will be thinking more about swimming. Now who do you suppose has an indoor pool for the public use. Memberships are always available either for six months or a year. This not only entitles you to free swimming, but full use of the gym and recreation hall too.

FIRST IN LINE INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UP) — Larry Biscaglia, 73, became first in line Wednesday for the Indianapolis 500 auto race for the 23rd straight year. Biscaglia drove his camper truck up to the entrance of the Speedway gates and began his wait until the race begins May 29.

The Center offers two types of memberships for those interested, the limited and unlimited. The limited membership is for those who like to play in the gym, swim, or use the recreation hall, but does not want to use the health facility. This membership is $5 for six months or $8 per year, this being for an individual. For a family membership the cost is only $12 for six months or $20 per year.

The unlimited membership gives you the same privileges as the limited, but in addition allows you full use of the new health facility. The health facility has all the exercise equipment, 2 handball courts and a sauna room. The cost for an individual is $65 for six months or $118 per year. For a husband wife combination the cost is only $90 for six months or $160 per year.

VOLLEYBALL LEAGUE — Scores this week in the mixed and men's leagues keeps us wondering if the leaders might not be the champions. In the mixed league Carlson and Craddock remained undefeated taking Electric Motor Service 70, 11-15 and 15-5 while 1st National Bank won by forfeit over Sharp's Motorcycle Sales. In the men's league undefeated First Baptist Church took Pampa News 15-8 and 15-4 while 1st Nat. Bank bumped Pampa Glass and Paint 15-4 and 15-6.

New Books On Shelves

WHIM TO KILL — Dell Shannon; the routine of the Los Angeles Police Department (Homicide) is always less than leisurely, but there is a rapid upsurge in crime.

THE CRUEL STEPMOTHER — Patricia Tracy Lowe, the poignant story of a woman's experiences and heartaches in a second marriage, raising her husband's child along with two of her own.

A FRIEND OF KAFKA — Isaac B. Singer; twenty-one tales by a master story teller of our day.

THAT MAN CARTWRIGHT — Ann Fairbairn; when a young Madison Avenue ad writer who inherits a newspaper in a small California town tells the truth in his newspaper about a bus accident which killed 14 migrant workers, he finds himself facing increasing hostility from the Establishment of the town.

THE SNOW-WHITE SOLILOQUIES — Sheila

MacLeod; the familiar story of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs takes a sinister turn in this provocative novel.

THE ORDEAL OF RUNNING STANDING — Thomas Fall; set in Okla., early in this century, this novel is about an American Indian and his wife who are caught between two worlds and must work out their separate futures as "white Indians."

CONCERNING THE DEATH OF CHARLIE BOWMAN — Michael Hammonds; a compelling novel about a drifter and a man obsessed with revenge, and the brutal crime that brought them face-to-face.

PATANYALI AND YOGA — Mircea Eliade; describes the philosophy and techniques of classical yoga.

NOVEMBER — George Simonon; applies formidable psychological perception to a family held together mainly by sharing the same roof and board.

Pampa Little Dribblers Win U.S. Title

Local Mini Cagers Take Mercer Island, 34-29

The Pampa Little Dribblers have won the National Title Saturday night 34 to 29 in a game played at Levelland. The team was playing without the aid of Kevin Kirby who injured his wrist in a fall Friday afternoon.

Spirits were high as the team entered play against Mercer Island, Washington as Pampa had defeated them earlier 41 to 25.

Pampa played a good game all the way with a wide margin early in the game. Things started to look tight in the second half as nerves started to fray.

Pampa loosened up, however, and came through with the win.

March Seventh the News carried a story about the Little Dribblers Inc. The opening sentence was: National Basketball Champions in Pampa?

This morning we have our national champions. The Pampa Little Dribblers defeated Mercer Island, Washington 41 to 25 in the first round of National competition. In the second round the Little Dribblers met Austin and came up with a victory.

The third round found the Little Dribblers still on a winning trail in the double elimination tournament. They downed Snider 52 to 25.

In the first half of play against Snider the team doubled Snider's efforts 16 to 8. Halftime found Pampa ahead 30 to 15, still double the best of Snider.

The third quarter Pampa opened up scoring nine points but holding Snider's entry to four. The final quarter gave Pampa the win 52 to 25.

Pampa's Little Dribblers chapter of Little Dribblers Incorporated became a reality after Bob Keller, Jr., donated the entry fees. Melvin Bailey, the man behind the team with his support and coaching has donated all of his time and efforts. Each team member must pay his own expenses and furnish his own transportation to all tournaments and games.

Pampa, advanced to the National Tournament after defeating Dimmit and Levelland (origin of Little Dribblers, Inc.), in regional play.

Still youthful in its founding, Little Dribblers, Inc., is for the age groups 9 through 12 with two divisions. One division called the American Division is for cities with populations of 5,000 or less. The National Division, which includes Pampa, is for cities of 5,000 or more.

Teams from Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Louisiana, Washington, Kansas, along with six other states participated in this year's tournament. The main purpose for Little Dribblers is to formulate an interest in basketball at the elementary school level and to teach the interested youths the basic fundamentals basketball skills, participation, encourages leadership abilities, cooperation in team play and physical fitness.

Relaxed Recruiting Rules For College Coaches Are Announced

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — The Southwest Conference faculty representatives Saturday relaxed the league's recruiting rules to allow coaches to attend high school practices and talk to high school coaches before and during the prep season.

The recruiting rule change was the major decision announced Saturday in advance of a meeting which will decide whether the University of Houston will be admitted to the conference.

Other than the recruiting rule change the conference officials boosted the amount of money a conference team can keep when it plays in an out-of-state bowl game, set up a playoff provision for this year's conference baseball race and voted to continue the current policy of weekly basketball telecasts.

The faculty representatives also raised the pay of football officials from $150 to $200 a game, and set next year's spring track meet and business session for April 27, 28 and 29 in Fayetteville, Ark.

The old recruiting rule specified that a Southwest

Conference football coach could not visit a high school coach or an athlete during any period except the 15 days immediately preceding that college's spring practice.

SWC coaches were also barred from attending any high school practice sessions except during that time.

The rule was changed to allow the coaches to visit a high school campus, talk to a coach and visit workouts anytime following Aug. 15.

The coaches are still not

Unknown Canonero II Wins Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Canonero II, born and bred in Kentucky where he was sold for $1,200 and then shipped to Venezuela, cut loose with a tremendous stretch run at Churchill Downs Saturday to win the 97th and richest running of the Kentucky Derby in a stunning upset.

So lightly regarded that he was grouped with five other horses in a pari-mutuel "field," Canonero II returned home to triumph by three and three-quarter lengths over Jim French and the rest of a near-record field of 20 Derby starters.

With Jockey Gustavo Avila in the saddle, Canonero II circled around the early leaders at the head of the long home stretch and pounded down the straightaway with a relentless fury to move further and further ahead with every bound.

Jim French, winner of the Santa Anita Derby, took second place by two lengths over a bunch of horses and a photo gave Bold Reason third place by a neck over Calumet Farm's Bold and Able, the pacesetter for the first mile.

Canonero II was the fourth field horse in history to win the Derby and he and his stablemates in the betting bargain paid $19.40, $8.00 and $4.00 across the board. Jim French returned $6.20 and $4.00 and Bold Reason paid $12.60 to show.

Canonero II, scoring his seventh victory in 13 starts, was timed in 2:03 1-5, more than three seconds off the Derby record of 2:00 for the mile and a quarter trip set by Northern Dancer in 1964.

For the first time in history they announced an official crowd, 123,284.

Previous field horses to win the Derby were Baden-Baden in 1877, Apollo in 1882, both of these in auction pools, Flying Ebony in 1925 and Count Turf in 1951. This was the 51st Derby in which there was a betting field.

Present plans call for Canonero II to be sent to Baltimore Crown in the Belmont Stakes in second leg of the turf's Triple Crown for 3-year-olds, on May 15. If he fares as well in the Preakness as he did in the Derby he will be sent on to attempt a sweep of the Triple Crown in the Belmont Stakes in New York on June 5.

Canonero II was the first Derby starter in history who had competed in a mile and a quarter race prior to the Derby.

Razorbacks Are In Trouble With Early Practices

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (UPI) — Bungled plays, fumbles and an overall sluggish performance was how Coach Frank Broyles judged the Arkansas Razorbacks intrasquad scrimmage Saturday.

"You can expect mistakes from the offense this early, but we just don't have enough consistency with our effort on both offense and defense," Broyles said. "We're not getting an all-out effort on every play, and the practice was very spotty, and we had too many mistakes."

The number one unit outscored the second team 26-13 as Arkansas ended the third week of spring drills.

Green Has One Stroke Lead In New Orleans Open Play

By M. GENE MEARNS NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Rookie Hubert Green, who has a short backswing resembling that of Doug Sanders, fired a three-under-par 69 Saturday to take a one-stroke lead over Lee Elder after three rounds of the $125,000 New Orleans Open.

Green, 24, playing in only his 15th tour tournament, holed a 45-foot putt en route to his 69 and a 54-hole total of 10-under 208.

That left him one stroke in front of Elder, who put together a five-under-par 67 for his three-round total of 207.

At 206 came Frank Beard, who had a 67 Saturday, and another stroke back tied for fourth were Miller Barber, who was tied with Green for the

Tailback Langehenri Scores TD For Underdog Whites In Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — Tailback Miles Langehenri scored three touchdowns and ran 167 yards on 33 carries Saturday to lead the underdog Whites over Charles Napper and the Reds 39-7 in the final Texas Tech intrasquad football game.

Langehenri teamed with rookie quarterbacks Joe Barnes lead going into Saturday's play. Wayne Vollmer and John Lotz, "I developed this short backswing because of the way I played the past four or five years," Green said following Saturday's round. "I developed it mostly myself and with a few bits and pieces here and there."

"I believe the most important thing in the game of golf is a foot before impact and a foot AFTER IMPACT."

"Miller-Barber, Gay Brewer, Lee Trevino, Arnold Palmer — none of them have good fluid drives going for them, but they all win a lot of money."

Elder birdied his first four holes then added one bogey and two more birdies for the round. But Elder still had his troubles, having to scramble for some spectacular pars.

Merger Discussed For NBA And ABA Despite Players

NEW YORK (UPI) — The merger discussions in pro basketball will continue next week.

The National Basketball Association and the American Basketball Association will hold a special meeting of its Board of Governors to hear a progress report from merger-committee chairman Abe Pollin.

On the same day, Wendell Cherry, chairman of the American Basketball Association's five-man merger group, will address his league's board of trustees.

The prime topics of discussion are expected to be the indemnity the NBA wants from each of the 11 ABA teams, a common draft and the possibilities of getting congressional approval for merger—a move that is opposed by the players,

Sandra Haynie Fires Best Ever To Take Lead In Civitan Open

DALLAS (UPI) — Sandra Haynie fired her best competitive round ever Saturday—a six-under-par 65—which moved her into first place by four strokes after two rounds of the Dallas Civitan Women's Open.

Miss Haynie, seeking her second tourney win in as many weeks, has a 96-hole total of 133 going into Sunday's final round of the $31,500 classic which offers $4,725 for first place.

Four strokes off the pace were Donna Caponi, who lost by a stroke in the 1969 Civitan to Carol Mann, and June Blalock are tied for second with 137s after shooting identical 68s on the second round.

Pam Barnett was in fourth alone at 138, also with a second round 68. At 139 were Susie Maxwell Eberling and Beth Stone.

Defending champion Betsy Rawls shot a 72 Saturday for 142.

Miss Haynie had her game rolling until she came to the 14th hole. She was 11 under par for the tournament, but ran into two consecutive bogies. "I just made some dumb mistakes that I was hoping to avoid," said Miss Haynie.

Arizona State University, which is one of the most fertile collegiate proving grounds for future major league baseball players, is at it again this year. The Sun Devils won 34 of their first 42 games, scoring 296 runs to their opponents' 132, outpitching them .327 to .236 and hitting 34 home runs to their foes' 11.

For the most times, five or more double plays in one game in a season the American League leads with nine, in 1970 and the National League trails with seven, in 1950 and 1962.

1971-72 SMU Football Has New Captains

DALLAS (UPI) — Quarterback Gary Hammond and linebacker Sherwood Blount will captain next fall's SMU Mustangs.

Hammond, from Port Arthur, is a two-time all-Southwest Conference choice, once at end and then as a tailback. Last fall as a running back, Hammond led the SWC in tandem offense.

Blount, from Dallas, will be playing his third season as a linebacker for the Mustangs. Last fall Blount received awards for grading highest among SMU linebackers, for making the most tackles of any Mustang, and being the best all-round defensive player.

Borger Bombs Pampa In Conference Play

Custer's last stand looked like a third grade picnic compared to the Borger Bulldog-Harvester baseball game played Friday afternoon in Borger.

The Bulldogs behind the three hit pitching of Jeff Maxwell slaughtered the Harvesters 14 to 1. The Pampa score came at the graces of Maxwell late in the sixth inning when a wild pitch went behind catcher Billy Grimmer, allowing Dan Hood to cross home plate.

Maxwell struck out thirteen Pampa players and only allowed two walks and two hits. Meanwhile, Russian roulette in the bull-pen found four Pampa pitchers going down before the Dogs.

Rick Harris started for the ill-fated Harvesters and allowed five hits and two runs before being relieved by Jeff Hogan. Hogan promptly struck out the first batter up and the bench sighed a short-lived sigh of relief. The next Bulldog was walked by Hogan loading the bases.

The situation was prime for take off and Borger did just that as Dillingham slammed a triple over the first baseman's head allowing three runs to cross home plate.

The Bulldogs weren't satisfied with three and came gunning for more. Hogan walked Williams who had singled his first time up giving Borger a man on first and third. Florer iced the game with his single bringing in Williams and Dillingham.

Cantrell struck out giving the Harvesters possession of home plate once again. The damage was done in the first two innings of play the Bulldogs had seven runs to their credit.

Borger slowed down to a crawl in the third only scoring one run by Robinson when he stole home. In the top of the fourth fireworks began to fly as one of the Pampa coaches was expelled from the game for heatedly disputing a call by the umpire.

The exchange of words came after Dale Ammons had reached third base after stealing second. The umpire had ruled time out had been called by the Bulldogs after Ammons had reached second on a steal. Borger did attempt to throw him out at third but the umpire is law in baseball, as Pampa found out.

In the fourth and fifth inning Pampa allowed six total runs to cross home as Larry Knutson came in after five Borger players had taken their turn at bat. Knutson came in with two outs and a wild pitch allowed Ammons to peg second base as Robinson attempted to steal second.

One homer in the big ball park was made by Cantrell of Borger in the bottom of the fourth with one man on. The ball went over the left field fence with a Harvester hitting the wall about as hard as the ball was hit.

Tee-Off Tid-Bits

By HART WARREN

And They're Off & Running— Thursday morning 37 ladies participated in Ladies Day play at the Pampa Country Club. Donned in shorts, skirts, slacks and windbreakers (?) they attacked the course using a little caution at first, then with animosity.

The ladies group lessons are half-way finished with the fourth lesson scheduled for 9:30 Tuesday. El Seml predicts that the majority of these ladies are going to be good golfers. Speaking about good lady golfers, how about Marge Fritsch shooting an 80 at Clarendon C.C. last Monday.

She beat my whole team low ball all by herself. I believe I'll lower her handicap, or on second thought maybe she'll play on my team! Ladies, Ladies everywhere! (Isn't it nice) more on the ladies in future articles.

Have you seen Carlton Freeman lately? If you haven't, call him and challenge the man of impeccable attire to a golf match-yes you can too beat a one arm man — maybe. Carlton throw away that sling and let's get you back to playing golf.

Talking about recuperating — Mr. Haskell Maguire is doing real well after his recent operation — ask him about his putting stroke and who put it on him like a stepchild last week!

Paul Howard lipped out a hole-in-one on number seven, a three par — shucks. Is it true that Coyle Winborn can actually scare the ball 250 yards off the tee box?

I wonder where Paul Coronus and his pet gorilla that he plays golf with has been? Congratulations to Max Hickey for his fine round of 67 on the Clarendon Pro-Am.

Overheard a conversation between Manny Holden and Ron Smith the other day — seems that Ron was telling Manny how bad he was playing — Manny said that he played worse than that, Roy said, no way.

A few more words and Roy told Manny to call his score for his round, just to see who played the worst. Manny said that he picked up on the first hole for an (x). Roy said "Well Old Buddy you are one up!"

May 15 and 16 the Uniroval Golf Company is sponsoring a "Hart Warren and Martin Reeves Day" Golf Tournament. Entry fee is $15 with handicaps used to determine the winners.

First place will receive a set of 1971 U. S. Royal Irons — second is a set of U. S. Royal Woods — third is a golf bag by Royal. All entries will receive a dozen U. S. Royal Balls just for entering — I set down and figured this out and we are paying you 24 cents just to enter (Sounds kinda dumb to me)

Come on out and play — but don't forget your tee-off-times.

Robertson Leads The Bucks To NBA Crown

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Oscar Robertson and two key injuries gave the Milwaukee Bucks the National Basketball Association championship Friday night as they completed a four-game blitz of the faltering Baltimore Bullets.

Robertson, who waited 11 years to play on a championship team, scored 30 points and was credited with nine assists in the 118-106 victory.

It made the Bucks, in the league for only three years, the second team in history to win an NBA title in four straight games. The Boston Celtics did it to the Minneapolis Lakers in 1957.

"Nothing he does surprises me," said Bullet Coach Gene Shue after Robertson directed a defense which held Shue's team to a 37 per cent shooting average.

Bucks Coach Larry Costello said Friday's game was the best performance by his club in the title series. "We executed on offense better," he explained.

With Robertson calling the plays and leading the scoring, the Bucks broke loose after a 31-22 first quarter score to go into the dressing room at halftime with a 56-37 bulge.

The Bullets ripped off three quick scores at the start of the third period to come within seven points, but the Bucks stifled that rally. "After that, I knew we had it," Costello said.

Low Alcindor had 27 points and continued to monopolize the boards. "Alcindor was ten times better than he was in college," said bedraggled Bullet forward Jack Marin.

Guard Fred Carter helped the Bullets with 23 points. But, Gus Johnson and Earl Monroe could manage only 23 points between them.

Johnson insisted on having his knees injected with pain killer so he could play. "The doctor didn't like the idea," said trainer Skip Feldman, "but it was up to Gus."

Monroe was hobbled by a pulled muscle in his groin. He sustained the injury in Wednesday's game and was little improved by last night. He was playing at less than 50 per cent," Feldman said. Monroe had to return to the dressing room in the third period to have his injury taped up again.

Chicago Black Hawks And New York Rangers Play Final Game Of Series

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago Black Hawks and New York Rangers meet on national television today in exactly what the coaches of the rival teams predicted—a single game to decide which club advances to the final round of the Stanley Cup playoffs.

The Rangers forced the seventh game of the best of seven series by winning at 1:29 of the third overtime in New York Thursday. It was the third overtime game played between the two teams in six playoff games.

"Now we're starting all over," Hawk Coach Billy Reay said.

Both teams had a day off Friday to partially recuperate from the strain of playing almost two games Thursday night. But both were scheduled for practice sessions Saturday, the Hawks on their home ice in the Chicago Stadium and the Rangers on their home ice in Madison Square Garden before embarking for Chicago.

Except for Francis' statement that "we'll be recovered" for today's game, there was no way to anticipate what kind of physical condition the teams will be in for the grueling end of their series.

The home ice should make the Black Hawks favorites, but each team won of three on the other team's rink during the regular season and each has won one of three on the other team's rink during the six playoff games.

The winner of today's game advances to the final round of the Stanley Cup, hockey's most valued trophy, against the Montreal Canadiens who qualified Thursday night by eliminating Minnesota, four games to two.

The Hawks called up goalie Jim McLeod for the deciding game against the Rangers.

McLeod, who replaces Ken Brown on the roster, led the Portland club to the Western Hockey League Championship.

Today's game, which will begin at 1 p.m. (CDT), will mark the sixth seven game series in which the Black Hawks have played, and only the third for the Rangers. The Hawks have won two of their previous five and the Rangers never have won a seven game series.

The Rangers in two tries, never have beaten the Black Hawks in Stanley Cup competition either. But Reay wasn't counting on that to pull the Hawks through.

"There's little to choose between the two teams," he said. "We're going to try to win it."

Ping Pong Is A Smash These Days After China Trip Boosts Interest

By BARRY TARSHIS

NEW YORK (NEA) — Ten years ago, after winning the U. S. singles table tennis championship, Marty Reisman complained to a magazine writer, "I'm more famous in Hong Kong than I am in New York, my home town."

Today, 41 years old and no longer on the tournament circuit, Reisman is still a bigger name in Asia than in the United States. But given the historic visit of the U.S. table tennis team to Red China earlier this month, the situation could very well change. Already, Reisman notices the difference.

"The place is busier now than it's ever been," Reisman reported a week after the Red China story started making headlines. The "place" is the Riverside Table Tennis Courts, a subterranean Ping-Pong parlor on the West Side of New York City that Marty Reisman owns and manages.

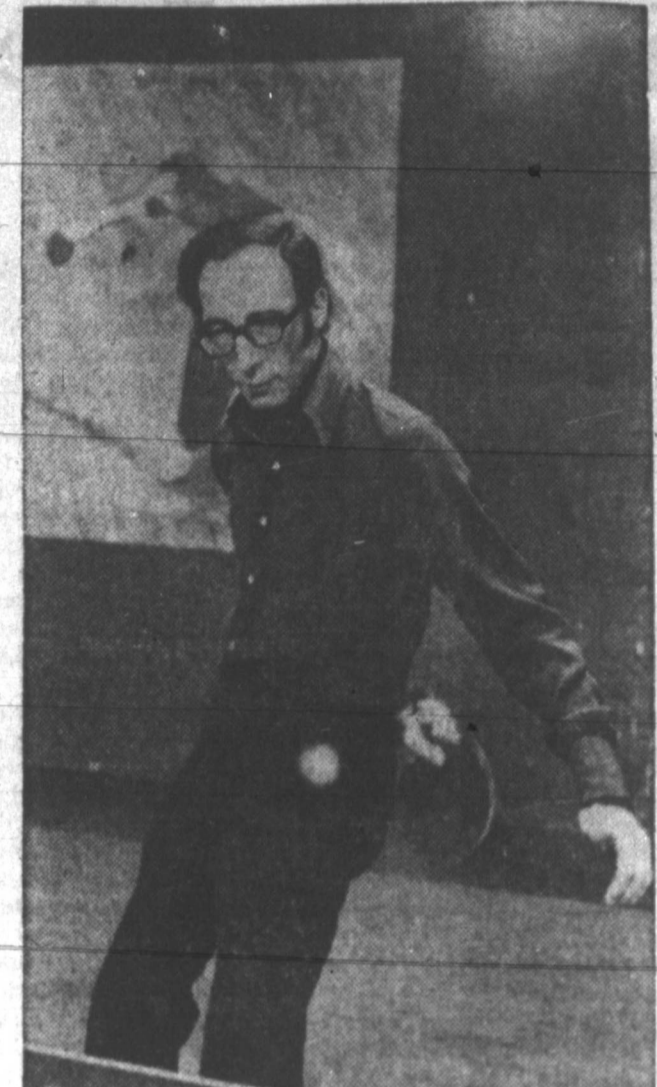

Reisman's underground lair is a kind of a cultural landmark — an off-beat, kinky place whose atmosphere is its very lack of atmosphere and whose charm lies in the fact that it doesn't even try to be charming.

Reisman himself is a lean, dark-haired man with a sloping forehead and the angular, bespectacled face of an underdressed astronomer. He has long been something of an iconoclast in local table tennis circles, primarily because he is the only world class Ping-Pong player who has yet to convert from the traditional rubber-covered paddle to the much faster sponge-covered paddle originally introduced to the game by the Japanese in the 1950s.

"It's not really the same game with the sponge paddle," Reisman argues. "It's taken away all the esthetic quality of the game. The proper strokes, the classic form. It's the racket, not the player that does the work. I have an open challenge out right now. I'll play anybody in the world rubber against rubber."

Year ago, even in match play, Reisman had a tendency to clown around a little if he were ahead — a habit that infuriated his opponents but prompted the London Times to label him the "Danny Kaye of table tennis."

He is still called upon from

damentalist, and a serious and philosophic student of the sport. "You have to admire," he says, "the way the Chinese were able to develop a championship team. They went about it in a highly intellectual manner."

"For many years," he goes on, "Europeans, especially Czechs, dominated world table tennis. Their game was based on defense. They use a lot of spin and tried to finesse their opponents into making errors."

"Then Dick Miles — he's been national champion many times — and I introduced the quick hit, which speeded up the game terrifically. In 1952, the Japanese came in with a game based entirely on power — the big forehand slams. Japanese champions used to spend hours lifting weights with their legs, so that they could be more mobile around the table."

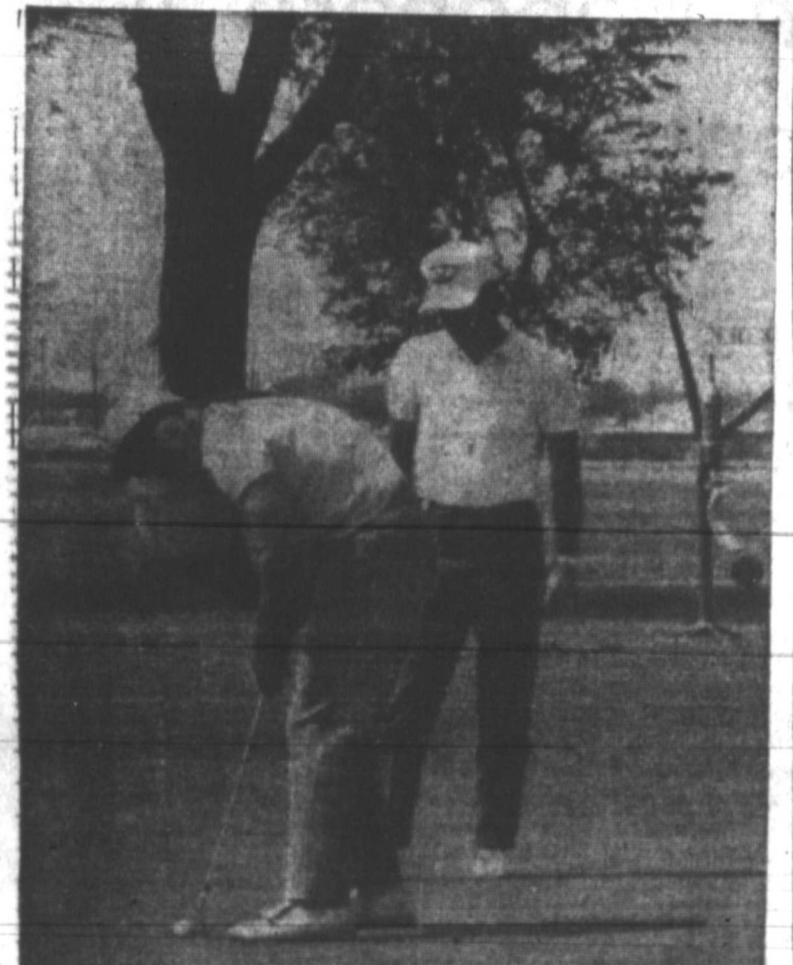

"The Japanese dominated the game through the 1950s, and the Chinese figured the only way to counter the power game was quickness. Their strategy was to play a stationary game — the idea being to hit back the slam on the rise. It takes amazing reflexes, but if you can do it, the ball goes back so quickly the slammer doesn't really have a chance to get set. The Chinese are the dominant table tennis power in the world right now."

Now that table tennis has entered the mainstream of the American consciousness, Reisman expects to be busier than ever, giving exhibitions and lessons and promoting the sport in general.

"The best thing about the whole business with Red China," he says, "is that now when people ask me what I do for a living, and I tell them, they won't look at me like I'm crazy."

time to time to give table tennis exhibitions (he can, for example, carry on a rally holding the paddle between his toes, and can hit a cigarette with a slam from the other side of the table); and once toured the world as the halftime attraction of the Harlem Globetrotters.

But clowning apart, Reisman remains a table tennis fun-

SHAVING STROKES

by Frank Beard

By Frank Beard
I Work With One Club
There are 14 clubs in your bag, and the temptation is strong to practice with every one of them every time you're on the range. It's especially fun to bash out long shots with the driver.

The average player should be trying to swing his way into a solidly repeating groove, and he would be better off sticking to one club, preferable a short iron like a 7-iron. Tony Jacklin, the U. S. Open champion, rebuilt his swing in the last two years, bringing his legs much more into play and slowing his tempo. He practiced many hours to make the changes, and he used only a 7-iron.

shorter club, he would not be straining for distance and would be better able to concentrate on making a firm, smooth swing time after time. I have to agree with him.

The wisdom in this viewpoint is even more evident early in the season, when your body isn't quite in tune for golf, and your swing is a bit rusty. And remember to ease into the new year gradually. Don't let your new resolve to practice more bring on early blisters and muscle pulls. Take it easy until you're in shape.

Soccer King Pele Eyes Future Coaching Jobs In United States

By JOE MARCUS
NEW YORK (NEA)—Negotiations are currently underway to bring the Peleled Santos of Brazil soccer team to the United States this summer for a series of exhibition games.

PELE BRANDISHES the World Cup, symbol of the world soccer championship, as he and his Brazilian teammates arrived in Paris for an exhibition match this spring. Pele has led the Brazilians to the world title three times.

This time Pele would be coming strictly as a player. But there is a possibility that next year Pele will return to the United States as a coach and adviser.

Ever since Pele, the highest priced and most revered athlete in the world, announced that this might be his last year of competition in his native Brazil, offers have been flowing into Sao Paulo for his services.

"Some of the offers are really amazing, as well as frightening," the 30-year-old Black Pearl said by telephone from Sao Paulo. "A couple of the offers came from my own country. There was this one group that wanted me to run for political office. It was a very nice gesture but let me say that I'm no politician. I don't want to enter that tough 'sport'."

Pele, who owns a great deal of real estate, film companies, a share of a large bank and various industries, doesn't seem impressed with several offers he has received to invest more of the estimated $2 million a year he earns from playing and endorsements.

"I have devoted my life to soccer," he said. "It would be foolish to say that I haven't been well-rewarded. I'm in a position now to buy anything my heart wants. But buying more industries isn't what I want. I want to try and give back to soccer a small portion of what it has given to me."

The Brazilian star, who has scored over 1,000 goals in his 14-year career, hesitated a moment and then said:

"A couple of offers I have received came from the United States. They talked about having me as a player and coach. This would suit me fine and I can work out the proper arrangements with certain people then there is a good chance that I will come over next year."

"I think the person I have to convince the most is my wife. We haven't really had that much time together although she does make several trips with me when we're playing friendly exhibitions in Europe. If I can assure her that I wouldn't be away from her that much she might go for such an agreement with an American team."

Several years ago three Italian soccer clubs offered Santos officials $2 million for Pele's services. The Brazilian government stepped in and stopped the negotiations, declaring Pele a national treasure who couldn't be sold. It is known that owners in the North American Soccer League have been toying with the idea of jointly buying Pele and using him whenever one of the loop's clubs play an international game.

"I'm not really interested in that type of arrangement," Pele said. "If I can work out an agreement with one club which wants me for my coaching and running clinics for youngsters as well as playing a limited number of games that I might agree. But I don't like the idea of playing for a different club each week."

Pele says that the rest of the soccer world would like nothing better than to see the United States become a power in the rugged field of international soccer competition.

"We all realize that foreign teams have drawn well in America when they're matched against other foreign teams," said Pele. "But think what a strong U. S. National Team could draw into places like the Yankee Stadium when they're matched against a top Brazilian, English or Italian side."

University Of Houston May Have Cinched A Berth In SWC Saturday

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — The University of Houston appeared to have a berth in the Southwest Conference cinched Saturday on the first day of the spring meeting of conference faculty fathers.

The prime piece of business during the three-day conference will be expansion to include the University of Houston. A vote on UH's admission is expected Sunday, but could be delayed until Monday.

The university, crosstown rival of current conference member Rice University, needs six of the eight votes to be admitted.

Only One Against
A poll taken Friday by the Houston Chronicle indicated only the University of Arkansas would vote against admission of the Cougars.

Texas Christian and Baylor had been cool on the expansion, but since a February meeting in Dallas between the conference and UH representatives, the schools have apparently warmed. Baylor's board of regents reportedly voted recently to support the acquisition. Harry Fouke, UH athletic director, said he is looking forward to the meeting Sunday.

Rice Is Sponsor
"I foresee no major problems," he said.

Rice University and the University of Texas at Austin have been the prime movers in supporting Houston's bid to join the conference.

A conference "expansion feasibility committee" has been studying Houston since a conference meeting in December. The committee is due to make its report at the spring meeting. A printed committee report already is in the hands of the faculty conference group.

If Houston is accepted the Cougars would be the first team accepted into the conference since Texas Tech was absorbed in 1956.

Steve Veriato Coasted To Southwest Conference Title

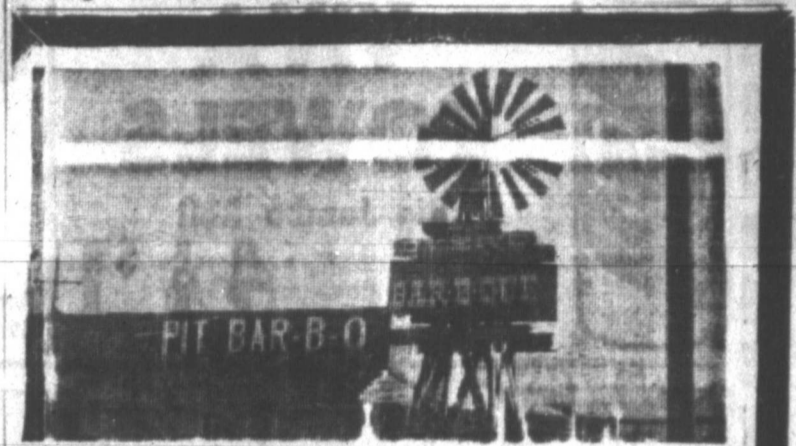

COLLEGE STATION (UPI)—Steve Veriato of Texas A&M coasted to the 1971 Southwest Conference individual golf championship Friday, becoming the first Aggie to win the title in eight years.

Veriato, a sophomore from Hawaii, fired a one-under-par 69 in the first of Friday's two closing rounds, and that gave him an eight-stroke lead going into the final 19 holes.

His 73 in the final round and the 72-hole total of 273 left him with a six-stroke victory over the charging Stan Algett of Southern Methodist.

Algett started the day in fifth place, but fired rounds of 68 and 69 over the par-70 Texas A&M golf course.

No Need For Sunglasses If You Are A Fish In Summer

Sun glasses may bring comfort to fishermen on bright days, but what can fish do about brilliant light? Unlike mammals and birds, fish lack eyelids to close, and they certainly don't have sun glasses. Nor can they contract or expand the irises of their eyes to compensate for light conditions.

The fact that fish usually prefer shade is an indication that direct sunlight bothers them. This helps explain why during summer, when the sun's rays strike water at a more direct angle, the best fishing usually occurs in early morning, late evening, or at night.

Studies by fishing experts indicate there is a relationship between the amount of sunlight penetrating the water, and the way fish behave. By understanding how fish react to sunlight, anglers can change their methods to suit conditions and have more success.

Early in the year fish seek shade under docks, bridges, overhanging banks, around large rocks and in similar places, all generally in shallow water. As a lake's water warms fish will move deeper where sunlight is diffused. How far down depends in part upon oxygen content. Remember that bass school in deep holes during the hottest part of day in summer.

Another factor the fishing experts found important in selecting where to fish on bright days is the wind. Wave-chopped water breaks up the sun's penetration, scattering and diffusing the brilliant light. Fish, even minnows, choose times such as this to come nearer the surface. Cloudy, windy summer days are often good times to fish in shallow water.

Remember that when you seek relief from the sun, fish are probably doing the same thing. Look for them where the sun's light can't reach.

Twentieth Century Forum Club Members Revive Ancient History Of Witchcraft

GETTING INTO THE SPIRIT — Two Twentieth Century Forum Club members, Mrs. Ernest Wilkinson, left, and Mrs. Jack Ward get into the spirit of their act of witchcraft and black magic as they sit with solemn, somber faces over flickering black and red candles on a black-draped altar. Mrs. Wilkinson's portrait of an ancient devil poses in the foreground. (Staff Photo)

Twentieth Century Forum Club members switched out of a bright, sunny afternoon Tuesday and walked into the midnight world of black magic as they attended Mrs. Ernest Wilkinson's April club program on "The Occult."

Members and guests were greeted by the hostesses, Mrs. Wilkinson and Mrs. Jack Ward, dressed in the spirit of their program in ankle-length black gowns, gold chains and dangling earrings symbolic of the "spirit-world mediums."

Seated around an altar of black and red candles in a skull candle holder, the guests were reminded "not to step on the magic circle of bleached bones encircling the altar."

Presenting the history of "The Occult," with its many spells, love potions and enemy destroying chants, Mrs. Wilkinson said "Black magic is no new thing. It was around in the 15th century, and is being revived today in the 20th Century."

"Black magic and the Occult have captured the imaginations of many contemporary people, in every nation. Increasingly thousands of Americans are active practitioners of witchcraft, spiritualism, magic and even Devil worship," she said.

Millions more are addicted to astrology, numerology, fortune telling and Tarot cards. The musical "Hair" heralded the Age of Aquarius, and the 1968 film "Rosemary's Baby" won a wide audience with its nightmare of power of witchcraft and evil over good.

"Witches use many methods to work their own magic and try to obtain power over others," Mrs. Wilkinson said. "They may work their magic alone or with a group, and may work in the nude with or without a male (warlock) leader. Some of the ceremonies are held before a black draped altar with black candles.

"For stronger magic a meeting will be held at a crossroad running North, South, East and West, usually under a full moon. To prepare for this, the participants may fast for two or three weeks. When demons are called upon by witches, this is done in a spirit circle nine feet in diameter, to keep the demons contained in the area," she said.

"Voodoo is a widely practiced area of Black Magic in several parts of the United States. This is blended by the practitioners with their Christian religion. Several of these people came from South America and brought their Voodoo magic with them.

"Satanism has a growing number of followers who have established so-called 'churches.' Many, including the San Francisco church of Satan have a reputation for orgy and perversity. It shows interested outsiders a film called Satanis which dramatizes the church's ritual — black robed men and women conducting a black mass with a nude woman serving as the altar," Mrs. Wilkinson said.

Anton Szandor, LaVey, Satan, Lucifer or Beelzebub, founder of the cult church, states his beliefs, as "We believe in doing in others before they do us in," he states. "We recognize that man at times is lower than the animals. We accept this and live accordingly. We believe in the power of magic."

The Occult is made of many beliefs and theories. The Tarot cards are ancient cards used to foretell wars and famines. The ancient rulers depended a great deal on the advice of the cards. Gradually cards were used for entertainment. The modern playing deck evolved from the Tarot cards. Wands became clubs, swords became spades, cups became hearts and pentacles became diamonds, the Tarot cards. All members in popularity as entertainment because, basically people are still superstitious about their fate and fortune," she said.

Mrs. Wilkinson and Mrs. Ward gave the group an extrasensory perception test, read palms and told fortunes from the Tarot cards. All members received a witch candle as a favor.

For the last study club meeting of the year Mrs. Holt Barber, club president, conducted a short business meeting as Mrs. Alta Lane reported on the Federated Women's convention. Members discussed the club's scholarship and heard a report by the scholarship chairman, Mrs. Bill Corman. Three new members were welcomed into the club.

Joan Hagaman, Charles D. Lynch Repeat Wedding Vows In Chapel

Joan Hagaman was united in marriage with Charles Don Lynch on Friday, April 16, in a double-ring, candlelight ceremony in the Chapel of the First United Methodist Church of Pampa. Rev. DeWitt Seago officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Veri Hagaman of Pampa. The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Lynch of Ryan, Okla.

BRIDE
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal wedding gown of candlelight pean de sole. The long sleeve elevated bodice was accented with pin tucks and re-embroidered Alencon lace. The full-length veil of English illusion, edged in French lace, formed the chapel sweep. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis centered with white orchids.

ATTENDANTS
Honor attendants for the couple were Paula Adams of Pampa and George Beauchamp of Wichita Falls. The matron of honor was dressed in a full-length green chiffon gown with a green velvet accented bodice. Her headpiece was a malines veil accented with a green velvet bow. She carried a nosegay of greenery and daisies.

The mother of the bride wore a mint green Alaskine dress and matching accessories.

Henry C. Lynch, brother of the bridegroom, of Norman, Okla., and Eddie Ellis, brother-in-law of the bridegroom of Pampa, seated wedding guests.

Jerry Whitten played selections of prenuptial organ music, including the Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin" by Richard Wagner and the Wedding March from "A Midsummer Night's Dream" by Felix Mendelssohn.

RECEPTION
The wedding guests were received at the Pampa Country Club. The bride's table was accented with a silver opergne with daisies and roses on a white satin cloth. A three-tiered cake was adorned with fresh daisies and roses.

Miss Mary Francis Vernon of Spearman, Miss Mary Sturgeon of Houston, Mrs. Gary Gwyn of Amarillo, and Mrs. Eddie Ellis, sister of the bridegroom of Pampa, assisted guests at the tables. Mrs. Rodney De Fever of Pampa registered guests at a table adorned with a memory candle.

Immediately following the reception, the couple left for a honeymoon trip to New Mexico. They will be at home in Wichita Falls after May 1.

PRENUPTIAL EVENTS
Among the prenuptial festivities were a luncheon held in the Crown and Shield Room at the Coronado Inn, hosted by Mrs. E.J. Dunigan, Mrs. Finis Jordan, Mrs. Jack Merchant, and Mrs. A.A. Schuneman; a luncheon at the Pampa Country Club, hosted by Mrs. Robert Cotter; a rice bag party, hosted by Mrs. Dudley Steele and Mrs. Ed McBride of Dallas in the home of Mrs. Steele; and a shower in the First Christian Church parlor was hosted by Mrs. Aaron Sturgeon, Mrs. Helen Sprinkle, Mrs. Lloyd Harvey, and Mrs. Hansford Ousley.

Sherry Watkins Says Vows With P.D. Pruett

Sherry Lee Watkins pledged wedding vows with Patrick Daniel Pruett in an evening marriage ceremony Saturday in St. Matthews Episcopal Church. The Rev. Sam B. Halsey, assisted by the Rev. Richard Saxey performed the double ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace E. Watkins Jr., of 1001-N. Sumner.

The bridegroom is the son of Cecil Pruett and Mrs. Betty Pruett of Borger.

BRIDE
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal floor-length empire gown of white Alencon lace and silk crepe fashioned into a cage effect with scalloped ruffle trim on collar and sleeve cuffs. Her elbow-length veil of nylon tulle with lace petals was accented with pearls. She carried a cascading bouquet of white roses.

ATTENDANTS
Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Fred Tinsley Jr., of Norman, Okla., who wore a floor-length gown of powder blue nylon organza and carried a nosegay of blue white carnations.

Best man was Gregory Jackson of Borger, with Fred Tinsley of Norman, Okla., and Richard Boyer of Borger as ushers.

Prelude music on the organ by Mrs. J.S. Skelly was "Romance" by Beethoven, "Arioso" by Bach and "If Thou Art Near," by Bach. Professional music was "Largo" by Handell and "Alleluia" by Mozart for the recessional. Special music was an interlude of "O Perfect Love."

Blue and white carnations in urns were placed on each side of the altar for the couple exchanged vows and wedding rings.

RECEPTION
For the reception in the home of the bride's parents, carnations and candle arrangement decorated a blue and white cloth covered table. The white three tiered cake was topped with blue bells.

Miss Louise Campbell of Amarillo assisted at the punch service as Miss Lori Campbell of Amarillo served cake and Miss Susan Campbell of Amarillo registered guests.

For the wedding trip, the bride traveled in a black and white stripe knit dress and wore the corsage from her bouquet.

The bridegroom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner Friday night.

The bride's mother wore a pink knit dress and coat ensemble with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue knit suit with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of white glamelias for the wedding.

Cotillion Club Studies Heritage Of The West

Twentieth Century Cotillion Club met in the home of Mrs. Ed Maglaughlin at 2547 Duncan as members discussed the annual spring luncheon which will be held as the last meeting of this Spring club year. It is to be May 4th in the Crown and Shield Room of the Pampa Club.

Mrs. Howard Wilmett was welcomed into the club as a new member. After the business meeting, Mrs. Jim Campbell introduced John McCarty, owner of the High Plains Art Galleries of Amarillo, who served as guest speaker.

Speaking on his impression of The West, McCarty said, "The West, the cowboy, and the expanding frontier are still with us. The West is always here and will always live, either in reality, in our memories, or in the songs and painting of our dreams."

His father had been a ranch foreman in Lampases, when McCarty first peeped through a fence at long horn cattle which were very gentle animals. He moved, with his family, to West Texas in a covered wagon at the age of seven.

"There were great herds of wild animals and the friendliest people in the world. The West became the wildest about 1925-1927 during the oil boom days of Borger, Pampa and Amarillo. There was killing then that never occurred during the earlier days and much of the wildness came from a breed never before seen in this section of the country," he said.

During the early days in newspaper, McCarty did much research into the lives of early Plainsmen such as Goodnight and others. Some of this is recorded in his books: "Prairie Nights and Yucca," "Wind in the Cottonwoods," "The Enchanted West," "Maverick Town," "Adobe Walls Bride." He also compiled two volumes of western plains poetry. McCarty brought paintings by Carl J. Smith and Kenneth Wyatt, artists of Western works and natives of northern Texas.

Mrs. Maglaughlin served refreshments to 15 members and the guest.

Jaycee-Ettes Sponsor Auction

Pampa Jaycee-Ettes recently held a bazaar auction. Each member hand made the items to be auctioned. John Warner, acting as auctioneer for the Jaycee-Ette Club, sold the items to the highest bidder. Project chairman, Mrs. Randy Haralson, assisted Warner.

Refreshments were served after the auction. Mmes. Ann Atkinson, Gene Hinds and Nathan Lancaster served as the refreshment hostesses.

Mrs. Haralson introduced the Area Club Has Sewing Program

The Lefors Sewing Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Walter Morris for an afternoon of crafts, sewing and visitation. Mrs. J.A. Hutchens worked on a white crocheted strand of beads.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. John Lantz, A. T. Cobb, A. M. Dickerson, George Fogleman, B. D. Vaughn, J. A. Hutchens and the hostess.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. E. D. Vaughn on May 13.

Varietas Members Set Luncheon Date

Mrs. Clyde Ellis was hostess Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. Eunice Pierson Bohot, president, presiding. It was announced that the Spring luncheon will be held at 11:45 a.m. May 11 at Furr's Cafeteria.

Rosli call was held on ecology, with each member presenting a current event, anecdote, personal experience, or suggestion regarding the lessening of pollution.

The afternoon's program topic was Public Affairs, with the subtitle, "We learn by doing things; we live by doing them for others." Mrs. Otis Nace was the leader of a panel discussion and spoke on "Courageous Leadership in Pampa." She gave a brief history of the founders of Pampa, followed by the qualities of leadership here from 1888 to 1971.

Mrs. Nace presented a paper prepared by Mrs. Sherman White on the topic, "Needs of the Church," in which Mrs. White discussed eight needs as increased loyalty to the church; increased services to the community through nurseries for all races; more neighborliness; opportunities for hobbies through the church; and adequate income are the same as when he was young. It is to be hoped that the senior citizens of America will soon be able to grow old with dignity.

Present for the meeting were Mrs. Lee Harrah then spoke on "Needs of Youth." She stated first that 85 percent of America's youth seem sincerely interested in the betterment of the country. She discussed the opportunities which are not available to young people.

stressing the field of science and stating that 90 percent of all the scientists who ever lived are still alive.

"Youth is impetuous, calling themselves the 'now' generation and demanding that their goals be met immediately. However, their principal goals appear to be concerned with involvement in social services that could result in helping the world to survive its many problems," she said.

Mrs. R.W. Lane concluded the program with her talk on "Needs of Senior Citizens," and quoted the statement, "It is not how old you are but how you are old."

She discussed the present Pampa facilities for care and entertainment of senior citizens, as well as national organizations that are devoted to this cause.

The elderly have the same needs as younger people in any community. Every 11th person in the United States is over 65 years old, and these people want to be given their continuing chance to contribute to the life about them. No one changes drastically as he grows older. His need for spiritual growth, good health, housing, and adequate income are the same as when he was young. It is to be hoped that the senior citizens of America will soon be able to grow old with dignity.

Present for the meeting were Mrs. F.A. Cary, Cecil Dalton, Mrs. L.B. Pennick, member of the state executive board, and Mrs. B.G. Gordon, past state president.

Miss Alma Wilson assisted by Mrs. B.R. Nuckols, and Mrs. Trullit Ross installed the following officers: President, Mrs. James Poole; Vice President Mrs. J.E. Tatum, and Secretary, Mrs. Jim Goff.

Others installed were Treasurer, Mrs. W.L. Morris; Lady of the Bounty, Mrs. W.K. Mackley; Outer Guard, Mrs. E.V. Ward; and Chronicler, Mrs. Carl Jones.

Music was provided by Mrs. Austin Ruddick accompanied by Mrs. J.E. Gunn. Other attending were: Mmes. W.A. Rankin, C.W. Stowell, Roy McMillan, W.L. Parker, Houston Price, M.Z. Morris, D.L. Mackie, Jarvis M. Johnson, G.M. Walla and J.R. Poston.

The next meeting will be in the City Club Room, May 24.

Kappa Kappa Iota Observes Birthday

Gamma Chapter of Kappa Kappa Iota Sorority met April 26 in the City Club Room. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Austin Ruddick, Mrs. W.K. Mackie, and Miss Alma Wilson.

Flowers and colors of the organization were carried out in the decorations on the refreshment table which consisted of a large gold candle surrounded by violets and decorated birthday cake in observance of the local organization's 21st birthday.

The business was conducted by Mrs. Price Smith. Reports of the state convention held in Odessa recently were heard. Points of interest from the convention were, the election of Mrs. L.B. Pennick of Pampa as state president-elect for 1971-1972; honors won by the scrap book, and Amarillo hosting the 1972 convention.

Those attending the state convention were Mrs. James Poole, incoming president, Mrs.

J.E. Tatum, vice president, Mrs. L.B. Pennick, member of the state executive board, and Mrs. B.G. Gordon, past state president.

Miss Alma Wilson assisted by Mrs. B.R. Nuckols, and Mrs. Trullit Ross installed the following officers: President, Mrs. James Poole; Vice President Mrs. J.E. Tatum, and Secretary, Mrs. Jim Goff.

Conclave Members Attend KKI Meet

Kappa Kappa Iota members of Pampa attended the annual state convention in Odessa recently as Mrs. L.B. Penick of Pampa was named president-elect of the state-wide teachers association.

Mrs. Glenn Duggan, national executive secretary, was guest of the annual convention. In the 50 years since it was formed the association has grown from eight conclaves over the nation to 450 conclaves with 10,000 members.

The Texas state president, Mrs. Kenneth Cable of Odessa and a former Pampa teacher and charter member of the Gamma Conclave of Pampa, chose as her convention theme "Kappa's Golden Year."

The convention members attended a Shakespearean drama "Julius Caesar" in the Globe of the Southwest which is an authentic replica of the Shakespearean theater.

During the business session officers were elected and were installed at banquet. Officers named were Mrs. Hazel Stande, Lubbock, president; Mrs. L.E. Penick, Pampa, president-elect; Mrs. Bobbie DeVinney of Fort Worth, recording secretary; Mrs. Nadine Denison, Brownsville, financial secretary; Mrs. Bill Zeithler, Midland, treasurer; Mrs. Bess Walton of Brownsville, historian; Mrs. Kenneth Cable, Odessa, executive board post I; Mrs. Jo Hardcastle, Amarillo, executive board post II.

Pampa women from Gamma Conclave attending the two-day convention were Mrs. James Pool and Mrs. J.E. Tatum. Gamma Conclave president, and president-elect, Mrs. L.B. Penick, state board members and Mrs. B.G. Gordon, a past state president.

The 1972 state convention will be held in Amarillo in April.

Area TOPS Club Meets In Lefors

The Three L TOPS Club held a salad supper at the regular meeting at the Civic Center to recognize the winners in the current weight loss contest.

Joy Lambert, the new leader, was in charge of the business meeting which began with Judy Wilmon leading the pledge. Jeanne Atchley was crowned weekly queen and received the fruit basket for a 3 1/2 pound loss.

The results of a six month wash cloth contest was announced. Joeldine Elliott was the first place winner with a loss of 17 1/2 pounds. Lou Story was second place winner with a 15 pound loss and Norma Lantz won third place with a 9 1/2 pound loss.

Mary White reviewed the state recognition day activities which were held in Amarillo April 31 and May 1.

Councilman Leonard Cain met to present plans for a possible summer recreation program for the youth of the community. In attendance were Mmes. Ben White, Danny Wilmon, J. W. Franks, John L. Lantz, Arnold Story, H. L. Klein, Bill Lambert, John Atchley, Nancy Bridwell, Miss Norma Lantz, and the two guests Mmes. Arlyn Howe and Neal Cates.

El Progresso Has New Zealand Study

Mrs. Glen Radcliff was hostess recently for El Progresso Study Club as the business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. J.P. Curtis. It was announced the next meeting will be a salad luncheon in the home of Mrs. Quentin Williams.

In keeping with the theme of the year, "Cultural Vistas at Home and Abroad," the program topic was "A Periscope View of the World Abroad" by Mrs. Glen Dawkins. She chose New Zealand as her subject and quoted Kipling who described New Zealand as "the loveliest, loneliest and most exquisite — the happy isles."

In describing the rugged mountainous country with its long sandy beaches she told of the fjords as majestic as Norway and the wild forest land that is called "bush."

She said, "New Zealand is smaller than Colorado with a million more people in it. The living standard is higher than any country other than the United States."

"Ocean winds give New Zealand a cool moist climate with little changes from Summer to Winter. The original settlers of New Zealand are a tall, handsome, brown-skinned people called Maori. They speak English and also their own Maori. They are famous for their great skill in weaving and woodcarving which adorns their churches, boats and houses," Mrs. Dawkins said.

Members attending were: Mmes. R.I. Bray, O.F. Curtis, Glen Dawkins, O.K. Gaylor, R.A. Keagy, Charles Lanehart, Kermit Lawson, Tom Perkins, A.D. Pickett, Quentin Williams, Roy McMillan and Ralph Palmer.

POLLY'S POINTERS Here Are Some Ways To Block Needlepoint

DEAR POLLY — To block her finished piece of needlepoint Mrs. E. E. J. should get aluminum or copper tacks (anything else may rust the canvas), a small hammer, brown paper (a cut-up grocery bag will do) and a wood board larger than the canvas. A breadboard is fine if large enough and you do not mind putting a few holes in it. Measure the desired outline of the canvas on the paper and draw a guide with a pencil (Polly's note — Tape this paper to the board.) Dampen the canvas with a sponge or sprinkle cold water until damp all through and all over. Lay canvas face down on the paper and see how nearly it matches the desired shape. Pull and stretch until piece is near the shape wanted and is even all around. Tack down the four corners about 1/2-inch away from where the work starts. Fit all around by pulling and stretching and gently nail the tacks in about an inch apart (many prefer 3/4-inch) all around. Put aside until thoroughly dry.

FRANCES — DEAR GIRLS — Olga wrote that she puts her dampened needlepoint on curtain stretchers and leaves it there to dry. A word of warning — always use needlepoint wool to do your work. Sometimes, as an economy measure, we may be tempted to use other wool that could look fuzzy after being blocked or one color may even "bleed" into another. If piece has become soiled during the working it can be carefully washed and rinsed and then blocked so as to have a fresh clean start. I find the easiest way to thoroughly dampen a piece is to wet thoroughly in cold water, roll in a turkish

Merten HD Has Program On Bath

Members of the Merton Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. T.G. Groves, 500 Powell, recently as Mrs. V. Smith, president, presided and welcomed Mrs. P.E. Graham as a visitor.

Officers elected for the new year beginning in June were Mrs. V. Smith, president; Mrs. L.J. Barker, vice president; Mrs. Chester Williams, council delegate and Mrs. N.A. Briden, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Barker gave the program on bathroom harmonizing colors and conveniences such as extra towel racks for guests, and extra storage space for bath articles.

Members will meet in Mrs. Willis White's home, 1008 E. Twiford, May 5.

Members present were Mmes. J.M. Hagn, Chester Williams, V. Smith, L.J. Barker, T.G. Groves and P.E. Graham, visitor.

Altrusans Attend International's Birthday Party

Members of the Altrusa Club of Pampa celebrated the 54th birthday of their international organization at an evening meeting recently in the Coronado Inn with the president, Miss Vermell Meador, presiding.

Mrs. Willard Henderson, Altrusa information committee chairman, and committee members Mmes. Wendell Cox, M.Q. Wilson, G.H. Anderson, Iri Smith, B.M. Behrman and Misses Rosemary Lawlor and Jimmie Lou Wainscott presented the program "Seven Wonders of Altrusa."

As each panelist presented an Altrusa wonder, Mrs. Henderson lighted a single white candle over a blue lettered Altrusa. A large standing candelabra entwined with greenery held the candles and letters. Mrs. Clay Coakton baked the celebration cake which was served to members and one guest, Mrs. Oma Dres.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: For five years, Tex (not his real name) accepted expensive gifts, hundreds of meals and a lot of money from me. Also my love and devotion, which he said he wanted for the rest of his life. He said marriage was out because he had been hurt by a former wife. I accepted that.

Suddenly Tex turned up married! He explained that several months prior he had gone to Las Vegas with a woman and he suffered heavy gambling losses, which his female traveling companion made good. Soon she began pressuring him for repayment. Having no funds, he offered her marriage and she jumped at the chance.

Since he was heavily indebted to me, too, I demanded payment, whereupon he went to the county attorney and informed him that since I was a consenting female over 21, that he (Tex) did not "twist my arm," and was not indebted to me for anything. Thus he cleared himself.

For me to have been publicly condemned as an immoral person by one who had taken everything a woman could give was indeed a humiliating experience. I am not asking for advice or consolation, Abby. I have learned my lesson. I just want to pass it on to other women who may find themselves in the same situation. Sign me "USED."

DEAR USED: There are two lessons to be learned here. A gift is a gift, and a loan without an "I.O.U." may as well be a gift. Also, she who sleepeth with dogs shall get up with fleas.

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure you've heard everything by now, so this won't shock you. I am a 23-year-old woman. Last year I took all my savings and had an augmenting mammaplasty—a breast implant of silicone.

I was sick of being flat-chested and wearing padded bras. I have no regrets, as I now feel so much more womanly and self-assured. I see nothing wrong with people having their noses bobbed or wrinkles removed if that's what makes them happy. Same for silicone breasts.

I am now engaged to a wonderful man. I fear that he would feel gypped if he knew my breasts were filled with silicone. He is sure to find out because they are very hard and some scars remain.

Is there any way to have the scars removed? Or should I swallow my pride and confess before we're married?

MARRIAGE OR BUST
DEAR MARRIAGE: Confess and get the opinions of several top notch plastic surgeons with regard to the scars. Some scars can be removed.

DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I have been planning our wedding for several months. We have set the date and arranged for the church and even set up our vacations from work. Everything was perfect until my mother and sister announced that they wanted it to be a double wedding!

Up until now, my sister and her boy friend never even talked about marriage. I'm sure my mother is the real force behind this as she liked to outdo everybody and this is her chance to put on a big show.

My fiance and I want our wedding to be "our" day, and we don't want to share it with another couple. My dad plus my sister's fiance and his family are all for the double wedding, so we are outnumbered.

I had planned on paying for my own wedding, and Dad was paying for the reception; now dad says he will pay for everything if I agree to a double wedding with my sister.

Originally my sister was going to be my maid of honor. Now she wants to be a co-bride. Whose side are you on, Abby?

BLUE BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: Yours! (I am not opposed to double weddings. I had one!) But such double-headed brides are only for those who want them.

DEAR ABBY: Hooray for that little old frugal lady who carries a plastic bag in her purse for her leftovers when wealthy friends invite her to high-classed restaurants.

I am also a widow on a tight budget, and my wealthy friends taught me to carry a plastic bag in my purse. I know a woman who not only takes home her leftover meat, but her uneaten rolls and bits of parsley as well. Why not? The whole lot would be thrown out anyway.

Another friend, whose entree was fish, was told by an arrogant waiter, "Why don't you roll it up in your place mat, lady?"

In these days of economic stress, it's good sense to save.

Classic Turtle Looks Younger

By JUDY LOVE

Have you taken a good look at kids lately? A long, hard gaze at how they look? You'll invariably see them in jeans—possibly worn and torn at the bottom; there's fringe on their jackets, stoles or anything loose. And long, straight hair on boys and girls alike. Thankfully, usually longer on the girls.

To every kid, no matter the age, the classic sweater is still absolutely it. Teamed with most anything, a good-looking, good-fitting sweater is basic in every young person's wardrobe.

Raglan sleeves, a professional, flattering and costly (when purchased) detailing, also are easy to work and then seams are sewn together.

To obtain easy-to-knit directions for these two sure-winners just send 50 cents to Sitchin' Time, c/o Pampa Daily News, Radio City Station, Box 503, New York, N.Y. 10021. Ask for leaflet S316, and include your name, address and zip code.

The basic pullover turtleneck is on absolute knit must in every young person's wardrobe.

KNIT KNACKS

Dear Friends: Last time I gave you a pep talk about the importance of stitch gauge in getting the proper sizing and fit when you're knitting or crocheting. You were promised some of my own recommendations for checking stitch gauge so stop knitting and read.

First start by casting on or chaining approximately 20 sts, using the yarn and needles specified. Work in specified pattern stitch for 4 inches. Now bind or fasten off. Steam the swatch you've just finished. Then, using a ruler as a guide, count the number of sts to 1 inch. If your stitch gauge is more sts to 1 inch then given in the directions, try the next size larger needle and again check your gauge. If your stitch gauge is less sts to 1 inch than that given in the directions, try the next size smaller needle and again check your gauge.

The important thing to remember is that the size needle used does not matter, as long as your stitch gauge is correct.

O.K! Start knitting again. JUDY LOVE

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI)—C. Thompson Lang, president of the Albuquerque Publishing Co., and publisher of the Albuquerque Journal, died of an apparent heart attack Thursday night at his home. He was 59.

Lang guided the Albuquerque Journal through its biggest growth years in the 1950s and 60s when it became New Mexico's largest newspaper.

Sunglasses Protect Eyes From Cloudy Air

NEW YORK (NEA)—During the continuing trial of nine Black Panther party members here last winter, there arose one of those uncomfortable moments at the witness stand when both defendant and prosecutor appeared to run out of conversation.

Suddenly the prosecutor snarled, "Tell me," he said, loudly, "are the lights in the courtroom too bright for you?" "No, they're not," the defendant said.

"Then, why," cried the prosecutor, "are you wearing sunglasses indoors, on a cloudy day? Tell me that!" The defendant only smiled behind his sunglasses.

As far as the trial is concerned, this exchange is pointless. But it raised, again, that interesting question: Why do people wear sunglasses indoors, on cloudy days?

There are lots of reasons, it seems.

Utilized, eliminating a lot of lawn care. A wood deck also puts a sloping lot to greater use.

One pleasant patio visited recently was set off with a screen of 1x2-inch slats nailed flat on a frame of 4x4-inch western cedar posts. An ell-shaped bench was built along the screen and the house wall, using 2x4 inch Douglas fir, with an open backrest of four 2x2-inch fir strips.

The large patio table, also built of Douglas fir, has 4x4-inch post legs with 2x4-inch horizontal supports, topped with 2x6-inch fir boards laid flat.

HOT WEATHER GARB
PULLMAN, Wash. (UPI)—A New York bank vice president believes that "hot pants" will become the summer attire for women employees in Gotham's banks.

Dr. William Wolman of the First National City Bank of New York said that when a woman asked him if the short shorts could be worn, he said he didn't know if they would be appropriate in a bank.

"What do you mean?" she retorted. "Hot pants are just pants suits seasonally adjusted."

WASHINGTON—Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., asking the Senate for emergency legislation to block the Amtrak takeover for seven months.

"The people in the heartland of this country are as entitled to railroad service as are the big cities on the east and west coasts."

Brunch Table Perks Patio

PORTLAND, Ore.—A sun-splashed patio offers a perfect setting for informal brunches, afternoon coffee klatches and supper parties.

With added lighting, this versatile outdoor living area even accommodates the spillover of large buffet dinner or cocktail parties.

Built-in benches for seating and a large table built of western wood makes patio serving easier, but there are several factors to remember when adding an outdoor living area to a house.

Placing the patio at a far corner of the lot, where there may be lovely shade trees, should be resisted. For a fully useful living area, access should be from the house right onto the patio, not a long hike away.

The area should be accessible easily to the kitchen, but a door off the living or dining room will cut down guest traffic through the kitchen.

Orientation may be dictated by placement of the house on the lot, but generally in the northern part of the country a patio is most livable on the south or west side of the house.

This offers earlier use in the spring and later in the fall. They're the hot sides in mid-Summer out; this may be tempered with sun screens or louvered shades of western wood.

In the south, where the season is naturally longer, an east or north exposure may be most comfortable.

On way to counter small or otherwise limited locations for a deck or patio is to be imaginative about the shape. A narrow strip across the back of the house or an ell-shaped area around a corner may be used or the entire back yard wearing sunglasses indoors, on a cloudy day, is more or less endless, in fact, Truman Capote reportedly thinks they're sexy. A college sophomore in Ohio says he always wears shades to class on test day. The professor can't catch his eyes wandering. And burglars and bank robbers and purse snatchers have found dark glasses a fantastic replacement for old-fashioned masks.

"Nine out of 10 bank robbers wear sunglasses," reports the New York City police department.

There are more genteel reasons for wearing sunglasses on a cloudy day, of course. Couturier Oleg Cassini, for instance, says they "give women a pretense of elegance." They almost always have. Since the 1930s, sunglasses have been associated with Hollywood movie stars. In the beginning, they smacked of affectation, but then Katharine Hepburn made a movie in 1932 called "A Bill of Divorcement" and suddenly every woman in the United States wanted to look like Katharine Hepburn. Fortunately for the sunglasses industry, among the things she wore in the movie was a pair of dark glasses.

In the early 1960s, Jackie Kennedy did as much for sunglasses as she did for the pillbox hat. And Americans took off on another dark glasses jag.

In keeping with the times, perhaps, the latest in shade fads is the non-sunglasses. Manufacturers now offer such tints as mint, mauve, demilambert, gray green, lavender, rose and orange.

People who live in cities like New York wear them for protection against air pollution. "Got some air in my eye this morning," is a common complaint here.

One final reason for wearing shades indoors, on a cloudy day however, has nothing to do with pollution. Someone once asked a famous Italian opera singer why she always wore sunglasses.

"My husband beats me," she said. "I always have black eyes."

'Sensuous' Fashions Create Style News

NEW YORK (NEA)—One of the newest fashion lights on Seventh Avenue is The Fifth Addition. A subsidiary of the Schrader Corporation, it was born into an already cooling economy about a year ago when many dress firms were giving up the ghost. But under the direction of Abe Goldner as president, it flourished and has now taken its place as one of our leading dress houses.

The spring-summer collection, designed by Triesteborn Vicki Rocconi, is in praise of the "sensuous woman."

Vicki makes her daytime clothes soft and fluid. One costume has a geometric printed silk dress with narrow pleated skirt and full sleeves under a long navy vest.

This young designer has an eye for soft colors, too, and many shades of blue, with staccato accents of red, orange and purple.

"Nothing was safe from my scissors," Vicki said, remembering her childhood. "I had the best-dressed dolls. I transformed everything I could get hold of, even my mother's best tablecloths, into wardrobes for them."

The fragile looking blonde always wanted to be a designer. While attending high school in Italy she studied design at Pellegrini Institute.

Here in the United States she graduated from the Fashion Institute of Technology and quickly moved into the Seventh Avenue scene and six months ago joined The Fifth Addition.

In discussing her fashion credo, she said she believed that total femininity should be the ultimate purpose of design.

Soft, feminine clothes are her constant goal. "In fact," she said, "a woman can't be too feminine."

Sorority Slates Talent Program With 18 Acts

Kappa Alpha Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha International is sponsoring a Talent Show May 8, at Pampa High School Auditorium at 8 p.m. Admission will be $1 adult; 75 cents children with proceeds to be given to Muscular Dystrophy.

Coordinator for the talent show is Mrs. Calvin Lacy. Mrs. Bob Rose is chairman with Mrs. Jerry Dennis and James Frazier co-chairman.

Eighteen acts will be featured with a Junior and Senior Division. Cash prizes will go to the three top acts in each division. The performers will be judged on ability, showmanship and performance.

Acts for the show will include a jungle dance, pillow dance, combo, baton, singing and dance acts, male and female jazz, and folk singing.

SLOW CARD

CEDAR CITY, Utah (UPI)—Postal authorities have a problem a little more vexing than snow and sleet.

They are attempting to deliver a postcard mailed 65 years ago from Minneapolis, Minn., and addressed to Mrs. Alga Larson, Carpenterville, Ill.

The penny postcard mailed in 1906, turned up mysteriously during routine pickups at corner mailboxes here, said Postmaster Frank Petty.

Carpenterville postal officials, contacted this week, report no person by that name lives there.

Wedded Bliss Ingredients

You know you have a good marriage if:

Your husband asks, "Are you having onions on your hamburger?"

Your wife never asks, "When are you going to tell off that dull-dumb boss of yours?"

After 10 years, she still tucks an "I love you" note into your suitcase.

After 10 years, you still look for the note. And read it.

She still laughs when you tell your famous story about how you met that bear on the trail when you were in Boy Scout camp.

He still murmurs sympathetically when you tell about losing out on your chance to be a star in the high school play.

When the eldest child turns 18, both of you still call each other by name instead of "Mother" and "Dad."

Even though he sometimes forgets the date of your wedding anniversary, he always remembers to kiss you good night.

She can tell at a glance what sort of day you've had and, when you need this sort of consideration the most, waits for awhile before telling you what sort of day she's had.

At a party, he whispers into your ear, "I'm glad you're the one I'm taking home!"

During an argument, neither says, "you always" or "you never" more than once.

During the past year, neither has ever said, "If it weren't for you, I'd..."

When the two of you see that first grandchild, she doesn't laugh and ask, "How's it feel to be a grandpa?" But, instead, says, "What a perfectly grand father you've turned out to be!"

ABWA Members Recognize Scholars

May has been designated as American Business Women's Association Scholarship Month by the proclamation of Gov. Preston Smith. The Governor's statement honoring ABWA is in recognition of the Association's progressive scholarship program.

Last year ABWA allocated over $280,000 through various local chapter scholarship programs. An additional $75,000 was awarded in grants and interest free loans from the national educational fund which is administered by the association's national officers.

ABWA, an educational organization founded in 1949, in Kansas City, Mo., has over 55,000 active members from all levels and fields of business. The association elevates the status of business women through appropriate training, improvement of employer-employee relations, and continued education.

Over 900 chapters throughout the nation will award scholarships this year, advancing the Association's 1971 theme — "Equality Through Responsibility."

The local ABWA scholarship recipients for the current award year are Kathy Jones student at Odessa Junior College and Terri King, a student of the Licensed Vocational Nurse School of Nursing at Highland General Hospital.

DIES FROM BURNS

DALLAS (UPI) — V. E. Brock, 47, of Benbrook, died Sunday of burns he received in a freak accident. Brock was standing beside his automobile at a Fort Worth service station when two cars collided on the street in front. One of the cars careened into the service station gas pump, knocking it off its foundation and spewing gasoline over Brock. The gasoline ignited and Brock received burns over 90 per cent of his body.

Lutheran Women Attend Program On Book Review

Lutheran Ladies Aid met in the Parish Hall for their April meeting. Mrs. Jerry Hildenbrand was in charge of the topic, a review of the book "I've Got To Talk To Somebody, God," by Marjorie Holmes. This was a story of a woman's daily conversations with God.

Mrs. Angeline Walker, president, conducted the business session. Plans were made to have a membership drive next September.

Members present were Mmes. Jerry Hildenbrand, Melvin Clark, Bill Clark, Hilmer Heinritz, Harold Brington, A.M. Stroebel, p.e. Klearner, Leon Richter, Lloyd Brummett, Robert Haianes, Tom Rogers, and Mrs. Angeline Walker.

Couple Says Vows In Houston Church

MIAMI (SpI)—Susan Lee Benton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fox Benton of Houston and Jerry Wayne Dodson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glynn Dodson of Miami were united in marriage on April 24, at 4:30 p.m. in a double-ring ceremony in the Chapel of St. John the Divine Episcopal Church of Houston. The Rev. Thomas W. Summers, rector of St. John the Divine, performed the ceremony.

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a floor-length antique white gown with long sleeves and high neck line. The dress was decorated with hand beading. A chapel train extended from the back waist line. The round white headpiece was beaded to match the dress. To it was attached the illusion lace trimmed veil that extended to chapel length. She carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

ATTENDANTS

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. John Benton of Houston, sister-in-law of the bride. Bridal attendants were Mrs. John Stephen Schuessler, Mrs. Donald Thomas Cheatham, Miss Sandra Moffett, all of Houston, and Mrs. Joe Wayne Holland of Colorado Springs, Colo., sister of the bridegroom.

The attendants were dressed in floor-length navy blue voile dresses with a large lace trimmed white collar. Each had her hair adorned with white daisies and carried a nosegay of white daisies.

Nieces of the bride and bridegroom, Miss Lizinka Benton of Houston and Miss Vicki Martin of Miami served as junior bridesmaids. They wore floor-length dresses of floral print with navy blue belts. They carried nosegays of daisies and had daisies in their hair.

Dr. Bobby Joe Wroten of Fort Worth served as best man. Groomsmen were Robert Harris Cleveland, Travis Lynn Wortham of Galveston, David Stuart Rae of Houston and John Temple Benton, of Houston, brother of the bride.

Nephews of the bride and bridegroom Fred Fox Benton III of Houston and Stephen Eugene Martin of Miami were the ring bearers.

After the wedding, a reception was held in the church garden.

Following the reception, the couple left for Charleston, S.C., where the bridegroom will be in school for five weeks. Later they will go to Tacoma, Wash., where he will do his intern at Fort Lewis.

The night before the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Glynn Dodson hosted the rehearsal dinner and Mr. and Mrs. A. G. McNeese, Jr. of Houston hosted a toasting party. Both were held at the Forest Club in Houston.

OPERATION FOR LAIRD

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird was to undergo a double hernia operation today that aides said would keep him away from the Pentagon until mid-May.

Laird entered Walter Reed Army Medical Center Wednesday. He was expected to be in the hospital about 10 days and then to recuperate at his home. Pentagon spokesmen said Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard would run the agency during Laird's convalescence.

Crochet Sweater, Pants Combination

By JUDY LOVE

Here you are, ladies, the hottest fashion news for 1971. Hot Pants are here, and it's high time you made the scene with your needles. Crochet this amazing little pair of Hot Pants with its own coordinated sweater-topper for yourself (Come on, why not!) or work it for your favorite size 8 to 14.

Who will wear Hot Pants this year? In a recent poll taken in a conservative eastern city, 84 per cent of women under 25 approve of the style and 69 per cent of women under 25 say they'll wear Hot Pants. For those older than 25, 56 per cent approve and 24 per cent claim they'll wear them. Incidentally, of the men polled for their opinion toward Hot Pants, 75 per cent approved warmly.

So for the look that Ali MacGraw likes, that Liz went on a crash diet to wear and that Jackie Onassis has already been seen in several times, here are your Hot Pants to crochet.

These brief little pants are worked quickly on an I or J crochet hook, depending on the size you crochet. Directions, designed by Bernat's young fashion director, Eleanor Bernat, insure a shaped leg for snug, proper fit. A self-belt is woven through sts at waistline and this ties, for further good fit.

The go-together strip-pattern pullover is a good looking sweater in itself, also worked easily on Size I or J hook. For both the pants and pullover you need only nine 2-oz. balls of Bernat Berella Sportspun. (2 color A, 1 each colors B and C, and 5 color D.) You'll like the bold striping on the body and follow-through of the pattern on the short sleeves of the pullover.

Always wear Hot Pants, by the way, with color-blending tights, not flesh-colored pantyhose. Add knee-highs or boots for a really right look.

ORIOLES LOSE

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Outfielder Frank Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles has been lost to the club through next Tuesday after being hit in the left hand during Tuesday night's game with the Oakland A's. It was announced Thursday.

So get with it, girls. Send for directions for your first pair of Hot Pants (I imagine!) and color-coordinated pullover to crochet. Easy instructions for sizes 8 to 14 are available from your paper.

KNIT KNACKS

Dear Friends — This letter is written to all of you who have requested help on sizing and fit. You know how often I've talked about getting the proper gauge — and I'm back. You simply must realize that the term "stitch gauge" is absolutely the most important part of your knitting and crochet directions. Unless you work to the gauge given, your finished work will differ from the size given in the directions.

If you're working on a knitted or crochet article now, stop and check your gauge. Does it measure exactly with the gauge given in your directions? If so, you're right on target. If not, stop right now. Check your stitch gauge according to the instructions given in your directions. Make whatever adjustments are necessary to get the right gauge. Then, and only then, go back to your work. Happy measuring.

Washable Slippers Travel With Style

NEW YORK (NEA) — Slippers have long been fashion's stepchild when it comes to packing a travel wardrobe. Different clothes call for different shoes, particularly with the continued emphasis on the leg. Yet footwear adds weight and bulk in tightly stuffed suitcases. And so women often leave their slippers at home and settle for going barefoot, a decision they quickly regret as they pad around unfamiliar hotel rooms.

Cuddle Pups, a new breed of slippers that double as casual footwear and are completely washable, are a unique way to sidestep this dilemma. Designed with cushion-soft, foam insoles to give the comfort of old-fashioned bedroom slippers, there's nothing fuddy-duddy about their lightweight, up-to-the-minute styling in the latest lounge and sportswear looks.

A double-banded sandal in white or natural with contrast stitching and a tricot-lined espadrille in red, white or blue designed with cork soles become the perfect accessory for swimwear, playsuits and the short shorts that will be seen around every pool and beach this summer.

For the "rich peasant" fashions or prairie girl styles that will abound in the months ahead there's a ruffled scuff in a red hearts 'n' flowers design and a dainty, pastel floral-striped mule.

A rubber-soled clog complements the new city shorts and Farmer Brown overalls and comes in solid colored canvas with contrast piping or in navy and white polka dots.

More dots, too, for a "T" strap silhouette that's also available in a bold flowered print for late day loungewear, ideal with a front or side-slit long skirt.

ROME—Edmondo Zappacosta, lawyer for Raffaele Minichello, on the scheduled release Saturday of his client after serving 18 months for the world's longest plane hijacking. "He will settle down in Italy and seek some job that will allow him to live a serene, quiet and anonymous life."

Cover Girl Makes New Lib Approach

NEW YORK (NEA) — When a beautiful blonde appears on the cover of Look Magazine in an organdy apron and little else, the words "sex symbol" pop into the mind. And since these are the two dirtiest words in the Women's Lib lexicon it's not surprising that the headline with the picture read, "I think Women's Lib is crazy. Why?"

The cover girl, Judy Black, Washington, D.C., models art major, Briarcliff graduate and mother of a 5-year-old son, said she doesn't think that at all. "But I do think the organized groups are doing more harm than good."

"They are too militant, masculine and humorless. We must seduce men by reason, not by militance," she added. "Given a just argument men will rally to a just cause."

She opposes such anti-Libbers as the "Pussycats," and "Fascinating-Womanhood" as well, feeling there's no need to sit up and beg for a pat on the head from your spouse or any other man. She's for day-care centers, abortion on demand, equal employment opportunities and equal pay. And she even feels a woman shouldn't have to give up her maiden name at marriage, thus losing her individuality.

After the magazine cover caused a bit of a stir, Miss Black began to speak her mind on the subject of women's liberation on radio and television and now finds herself the center of a new movement. The group is called TWO, to represent men and women working together to achieve human rights for all.

"My God," she said, "if we can't get together I don't know what's going to happen to this country."

The difference in Judy's approach is her belief that it's wrong to fight men. "They have the power to help. We should work with them."

Cover girl she is, but working hand in hand with a man is something this girl knows about. She hitched through the Sahara on the back of a lemon truck, eventually got to Guinea where she married her childhood sweetheart who was in the Peace Corps. While working there with him, she taught art to children and became involved in the Food for Peace program.

This amazing gal successfully climbed to the top of Mt. Rainier and whise in Guinea learned to fix car engines with hairpins. No Pussycat, she.

"I can't understand why male-female relationships have to go under because women want their rights as individuals," she said. And now she is devoting almost all of her time to show that she's right in her way of thinking.

The first thing she did was patent a new symbol to replace the clenched-hand female symbol now employed by other groups. Hers is a circle and a cross with a dove at the top of the circle — free to fly. "The dove represents the covenant between man and God and men and women," she explained.

TWO already has several thousand members and more join every day. "But we want intelligent people," Judy said, "not kooks."

There will be a quarterly newspaper, posters, the symbol used on belts, rings and neck chains, even records — and the proceeds from their sale will go to forming lobby groups to help get through legislation on issues important to the organization's aims.

"We would like to see stimulating day nurseries with teachers from every walk of life to teach children community interests."

"We're angry with the negative approach which degrades men. Who wants to carry a banner saying 'Don't cook dinner tonight. Starve a rat.'? I like to cook."

There's no point in being liberated," she said, "unless you have a creative alternative, such as helping to solve such problems as cancer or drugs. Woman could help if they were freed from the home. Some women are just not mothers. Others prefer that role to any job. Each should have the option to choose."

We'll never reach that goal, she feels by calling our husbands "male chauvinist pigs."

SUNSHINE FOR PEPPERS — Ten high school pep-ers sitting in the park on a sunny, windy afternoon were these officers and captains recently named at a Mother-Daughter Tea at the First Christian Church. Leaders of the Pampa High School pep squad for 1971-72 are Gaylene Winborne, head captain; Gwendolyn Bingley, president; Debra Reimer, vice president; Ruby Moultrie, secretary; Kathi Marchak, Lisa Laycock, Tonya Roberts, Christie Whaley, Linda Carter and Betty Duggan, captains. PHS Pep-ers List Officers, Captains

The Pampa High School Pep-ers announced their officers and captains for 1971-72 at a Mother-Daughter Tea at the First Christian Church. This tea was attended by all Pep-ers and special guests were Freshmen girls from Lee Junior High School and Pampa Junior High School.

Girls were elected to serve as leaders of this organization for 1971-72 were: Gaylene Winborne, head captain; TAIN: Gwendolyn Bingley, president; Debra Reimer, vice-president; Ruby Moultrie, secretary; Lisa Laycock, Ranya Roberts, Christie Whaley, Linda Carter and Betty Duggan.

These captains and officers will attend the All-American Drill Team and Pep Squad School which will be held during July at Southern Methodist University in Dallas.

The purpose of the Pampa Pep-ers is to promote school spirit and school pride. Some of the activities which they sponsored this year were decorating lockers of football, basketball, track, tennis, baseball, and golf players, decorating the PHS cafeteria for Christmas, sponsoring the First Edition of the Basketball Program, attending Pep Rallies and sports events in uniform as a group.

The outgoing captains and officers were awarded certificates of appreciation for their contribution to school spirit and school pride. Former officials were Debbie Adkins, head captain; Dana Martin, president; Carrie Rogers, vice-president; Betty Duggan, secretary; Susan Wilson, Debbie Fletcher, Thelma Moultrie, Gwendolyn Bingley, Gaylene Winborne, Joan Maxey, and Cathy Collinsworth, captains.

B&PW—Members Attend Program On Island Tour

The Pampa Business and Professional Club had their regular and program meeting in the Flame Room Tuesday evening as the president of the club, Elsie Cunningham gave an illustrated showing of her recent tour to the South Pacific Islands including New Zealand and Australia.

Members from Panhandle, Borger and Perryton were present for the meeting.

Plans were made for the rummage sale of the club to be held May 5 and 6th at 321 S. Cuyler. Also plans for the Mother's Day breakfast at 8 a.m. Sunday in the Coronado Inn.

'Safer 70's Seminar' Will Be Held In Amarillo May 13, 14

A two-day safety conference, called "Safer 70's Seminar" has been announced by Max Comer, President of the Panhandle Chapter of the American Society of Safety Engineers, Amarillo.

The Seminar will be held on Wednesday and Thursday, May 12 and 13 at the Holiday Inn West in Amarillo.

The Seminar, open to the public is designed to bring the latest accident prevention techniques and legal aspects of safety into perspective. A diversified program will cover facets of safety specifically fitting to any small business, the manufacturing industry, the transportation field and anyone or business concerned with employee accident prevention, insurance and the legal consequences of employee injury.

A banquet Wednesday evening will feature a talk by John Barto of Dallas, "The Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970." Barto, with the U. S. Department of Labor, will cover the scope of the new law and enforcement program. This new law is not well known but promises to have a tremendous impact on any business that falls within its wide coverage. Almost any business with five or more employees is included and faces a long list of regulations that have real teeth. This is an opportunity to become aware and avoid the enforcement phase of the law.

Comer as Chapter president will kick off the conference at 9 a.m. Wednesday speaking on "Attaining Enthusiasm for Safety." He will be followed by "Industrial Security and Its Relationship to Local Law Enforcement," Hugh Anderson, Sheriff of Hutchinson County; "The Loss Control Triangle: Industry-Insurance Broker-Insurance Company," Normand LaMontagne, safety consultant from Boston; "Preventing Accidents through Prediction and Analysis," H. J. Kolodner, director of safety, Celanese Corporation; "The Economics of Safety," Hank Donohue, vice-president, Cabot Corporation; and "Motivation and Communications," Dick Andrews, Safety Engineer, Cabot Corporation.

The Thursday session will get underway at 9 a.m. with "Traffic, What Are You Doing About It?" Joe Milner, chief of Traffic Law Enforcement, Austin; "Narcotics in Industry," Ernie Scholl, Narcotics Division, Austin; "Federal Qualification Regulations for Motor Carrier Safety," Leon Feazell, U.S. Department of

State Tax Increase Would Cost Taxpayers At Least $873 Million

Transportation, Lubbock: "Construction Safety and Its Relationship with Operating Industry," Tommy Chadwick, safety manager, Brown & Root, Inc., Houston; "Safety for Hospitals," Miss Dorothy Blumer, assistant administrator, St. Anthony Hospital, Amarillo; and "Accident Investigation Prior to Pre-Hearing and Trial," Tom Morris, attorney, Amarillo.

Registration for the entire conference is $23.00 with partial registrations available on request or at the door. Advance registrations for the full conference are available from Randy Geisler, Box 1101, Pampa, Texas, 79065.

"We have 'Put It All Together,'" says Comer. "Anyone interested in preventing injury and the resulting economics of safe employees can find answers and inspiration at the 'Safer 70's Seminar' on May 12 or 13 at the Holiday Inn West in Amarillo."

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Lawmakers are studiously avoiding mentioning it but the Senate tax bill now under consideration by the House will cost Texas consumers and businessmen nearly $1 billion over the next two years.

Senate sponsors described their revenue raising measure as a $682.3 million tax bill when it was approved Thursday. The comptroller later revised that estimate upwards to $684.6 million.

The tax increases actually would cost taxpayers at least $873.5 million, however.

The figures used by lawmakers include only the amounts that would be used for general revenue purposes.

Into Special Funds

Three-fourths of the proposed 2-cent hike in gasoline taxes would go into a special fund for more highway construction and one-third of the three-cent jump in cigarette levies would be put in a special fund for park development.

House Speaker Gus Mutscher criticized the gasoline tax hike when the Senate passed the bill, pointing out that it would cost motorists almost 50 cents every time they fill their car tank.

The increase drew only minimal opposition in the Senate, however, where liberals concentrated their efforts on an unsuccessful battle to adopt a corporate profits tax.

The major tax increase in the Senate bill — a sales tax jump of .75 per cent — also drew only verbal blasts. No amendments were offered to delete that proposal — now estimated to cost consumers an additional $321 million before September, 1973.

Six-Part Tax Bill

Latest estimates are that the six-part tax bill to be voted on by the House Monday would raise:

— $321.1 million by hiking the general sales tax from 3.25 to 4 per cent.

— $108.1 million by jumping motor vehicle taxes from $3.25 to $4.50 for each $1,000 worth of capital.

— $84.5 million by increasing motor vehicle sales taxes from 3 to 4 per cent and extending the levy to car rentals of a month or less.

— $28.8 million by upping beer taxes from $4.30 to $6 a barrel.

— $70 million by hiking cigarette taxes from 13.5 to 18.5 cents a pack.

Gas Tax Boost

— $260.8 million by jumping gasoline taxes from 5 to 7 cents a gallon and increasing diesel fuel levies from 6.5 to 7 cents a gallon.

Legislators listed increased revenue from the cigarette tax hike to only $46.6 million. The lawmakers had carried the gasoline tax hike revenue at only $102 million. Those are the amounts that would be used to meet the spending plans they have approved for 1972-73.

Tito Will Visit United States

BELGRADE (UPI) — President Tito will visit the United States later this year, a high U.S. administration official said Friday.

"We in our country are looking forward to President Tito's coming to America later this year," Robert Finch, President Nixon's special adviser, said in a statement to newsmen here.

Tito played host to Nixon when he became the first U.S. chief executive to visit Yugoslavia last year. At the time, Nixon invited Tito to come to Washington. Tito, who turns 79 on May 25, is in good health and still an eager traveler.

Finch and Donald Rumsfeld, another Nixon special adviser, are on a European tour. They came to Belgrade Wednesday to exchange views on various social problems with Yugoslav officials.

Four Men Indicted For Embezzling Nearly $7 Million

CHICAGO (UPI)—Four persons, including a former bank official and three officials of a discount company, were indicted Friday for embezzling nearly $7 million from the Cosmopolitan National Bank.

Named in today's 30-count indictment were Louis Steinberg, 48, former vice president of the Steinberg-Baum discount store chain; Frank Baum, president of the firm; Leonard Freedman, 52, general manager of the firm, and Donald Santowski, 42, former vice president and bookkeeper of the bank.

The indictment charged they embezzled $6,779,450 from the Cosmopolitan National Bank on the near north side of Chicago in a check-kiting scheme involving $28,033,675 in checks.

The indictment, returned by the March federal grand jury, charged that large checks, most of them for more than $100,000 and some for as much as $900,000 were written on Steinberg-Baum's checking account at the bank when there were insufficient funds to cash the checks.

The checks, the charges said, were made to other firms and were deposited in the checking accounts of those firms. At the same time, checks in the same amount were written on these accounts and the second checks were deposited back into the Cosmopolitan Bank, the charges said.

At the bank, these checks were intercepted and concealed so that they were not charged against the Steinberg-Baum account, the indictment said. Some checks were concealed for up to a year before finally being charged against the account, it was charged.

The amount lost by the bank was in 17 separate checks, it was charged.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE
Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Litter-Free Living

In connection with Pampa's Anti-Litter Campaign, it is interesting to note that the United States Brewers Assn. has made suggestions to the Texas Legislature for action on the litter problem.

It offers these suggestions:
1. Educate the public, especially the young people via TV shorts, school programs such as poster or billboard contests, and train the very young in the Head Start program.

2. Adopt an anti-litter slogan and insignia for use on litter cans, vehicles and correspondence.

3. Provide funds for additional strategically located dump sites because many dumps have been closed recently, leaving some people without easy access to a dump.

4. Encourage research and development and use of less permanent type containers.

5. Encourage volunteer groups, including youth organizations, to pick up litter.

6. Use unemployed and summer youth workers on part-time basis to clean up the roadsides, thus offering at least temporary employment.

One good thing about the suggested list was that there was no blatant demand for stills another law.

Train, yes, so that one may educate himself to appreciate and to desire clean, healthy situations. And the first trainer, not mentioned in the above, is the parent, whose example and precepts establish neat or slovenly habits in their children.

Littering is seldom intended malice, only self-indulgent laziness. And slogans, plus non tax-paid posters and billboards, may well contribute colorful, impressive emphasis on the values of living litter-free.

We are not convinced, however, that such training must be at the behest of governments, in schools, programs, or bureaucratically spurred research and development.

Anti-litter, like anti-war, begins in the individual's heart and mind. If a child is inspired by his parents' and other adults' examples to love order and to respect other people and all property, he will loathe, litter and keep things cleaner for everyone.

Adults, too, are obligated to keep reminding themselves of the anti-litter lesson: Get it out; put it back. Make a mess; clean it up. You can't have one without the other. For a better world, you can't enjoy the privilege of one without the accompanying responsibility of the other. Surely we don't need to pay state government workers to point this out to us.

ROARSU Rides Again

One of our associates in Freedom Newspapers has come up with a new designation for the current crop of collectivists. He has adopted the acronym, ROARSU, to designate the group. Here is his explanation and discussion.

The Royal Order of Authoritarians, Regulators and Social Uplifters (ROARSU) is at it again. Dedicated to the proposition that capitalism, private enterprise, freedom of choice, and voluntary exchange shall vanish from the earth, the members of ROARSU (found predominantly in politics, the bureaucracy, some echelons of the news media, and tax exempt "non-profit" organizations) fondly look forward to the day when everything is regulated and prescribed and nothing is left to individual decision. "Utopia! Heaven on Earth!" will have arrived.

Sadly, forgetting that life is individual decision-making and that decisions will be made by someone, charter members of ROARSU mistake slavery for "Utopia." Hell for Heaven, and living death for a responsible life.

For, instead of eliminating the necessity for decision-making, the regulators will have merely made it more difficult for the individual to choose and survive. With the power to carry out one's decisions transferred by regulation from the individual person, where it rightfully belongs, to individuals inhabiting the bureaucracies of government, where it does not belong, the area of choice and action left to the individual is progressively restricted and compacted. Government grows. The individual shrinks.

The current attack on private enterprise employment agencies is a classic example of how the ROARSU works. First, comes the propaganda campaign setting up a "straw man" as the ROARSU target. This "straw man," in the case of employment agencies, is a propagandized image of employment agencies going out and finding "helpless" unemployed people and herding them into their offices.

Wit And Whimsy

Nothing gives less of a thrill than receiving a personalized letter punched out by a computer.

The fellow who drives a bargain is in for a great many trips to the auto service center.

If you KNOW it's a secret — it no longer is.

Of course, it is never explained just how people with a will of their own are "forced" into employment offices against their wills; especially, when there is a "free" state employment office just down the street. Obviously, when a person looking for a job chooses a private employment agency in preference to a tax-supported competitor, the private enterprise agency, which charges for its services openly, is offering a service which the state agency does not provide; namely, a greater potentiality for finding the unemployed person a job.

Second, come the charges that the market place employment agencies, once they have their "helpless victims" in their grip, then proceed to "rob" them by charging "unfair" and "exorbitant" rates.

And, again, it is never explained just why an unemployed person seeking a job would voluntarily agree to pay the specified rate; unless, that is, he places a greater value on what he expects to get, a job, than on what he is being asked to relinquish, the specified rate charged. In which case, one is constrained to ask, what happens to the charges of "unfair" and "exorbitant" rates?

Plainly, if an unemployed person puts a higher value on what he gets than on what he gives up, the highly emotional terms used by the ROARSU have no meaning. And realizing this, of course, the haters of voluntary exchange never venture to explain just what an "unfair" or "exorbitant" rate is, anyway. Karl Marx, with his ridiculous "labor theory of value," were he still alive and kicking, would know exactly what they were talking about, nevertheless; i.e., socialization and regimentation of the means of production — communism, or fascism, take your choice.

Then, with emotions aflame, comes the third and final phase of the attack with vote-hunting politicians happily cooperating — the drive for legislation to put the employment agencies under government regulation and control — which rings down the bureaucratic curtain on another segment of freedom of choice and voluntary exchange.

But how do you tell a member of the ROARSU?

That's easy. When it comes to a choice between individual freedom of choice and government regulation, he will opt for regulation every time, even though he bashfully reaches out and grasps his companion's hand, murmuring "daring," as he opts.

H. L. Hunt Writes

FADISTS OF D-E-A-T-H

Fadists of illegal drugs have nothing to offer but sorrow and D-E-A-T-H. A more sinister danger to individual liberty and the institutions which support Freedom and our Republic would be almost impossible to imagine. A campaign to encourage or assist those trying to stamp out hallucinating drug evils is the most important task any Constructive citizen could take up right now.

The grasping tentacles of illegal drugs have reached into almost every U. S. college and university, many high schools and even into junior highs and elementary schools. Profits on such horror drugs as heroin are unbelievably enormous to the underworld of organized crime and international crime. Hallucinating drugs considered less harmful than heroin by some are utilized to break down resistance and lead the youthful "thrill seeker" into the completely addictive hard narcotics.

Profits created from new production of the good things of life are attacked and defamed as bad by the enemies of Freedom at home and abroad. Marxist opinion can see only evil in enterprise which has eliminated more hunger and disease than any other system, but opinion influenced by Marx strangely cannot bring itself to work against profits going to fadists of illegal drugs and organized crime which feeds on silly fadists.

Halting the killing of our young people by drugs would cut deeply into the profits of the international crime apparatus without harm to development and marketing of good, useful medicines which fight disease. The only harm to halting illegal drug profits would be to the criminal chain which reaches from the poppy fields of Red China and the socialist countries of southern Asia, and Turkey through the underworld laboratories in Marseilles, France, and the smugglers who pass the heroin on to U.S. pushers and fadists.

To join a campaign against people that had will help save your home, your state, Republic USA and the Free World.

With Some Reservation

By INJUN WOODY

Well, we have fought and fit thru the Supreme Court to stop segregation in the schools and on the buses and on the moon — only to be ignominiously segregated by the air lines. The United Airlines are segregating the Smokers from the Non-Smokers. O, the humility of being a second class citizen just because of a little old habit like that!

Now, when you fly United you may be sealed off in a glass cage, all by yourself, as though you had the plague. Soon there will doubtless be rest rooms for Smokers Only, in order that the vile contamination of tobacco will not rub off on the other upright citizens. . . .

Smokers must not be allowed to co-mingle with others who may or may not have habits — like drinking. They have no plans for segregating the drinkers inasmuch as that habit is widely accepted as being not dangerous or unhealthy or habit-forming like those beastly old cigarettes. It is just the users of tobacco who have been made the culprits, and I can foresee the day not far off when we will all have to sneak behind the barn again if we want to grab a few puffs. . . .

In a society such as ours we have to find some way of segregating somebody, one way or another. All you smokers go to the rear of the plane. . . .

Quick Quiz

CITY COMMISSIONER Leo Braswell, who was just re-elected to his second term, is one public official who has the intestinal fortitude to speak out in a public meeting and voice opposition to the current trend of loading taxpayers down by heaping taxes on top of taxes.

Braswell expressed his opinions at last Tuesday's meeting of the city commission. His targets were the state and federal governments.

The latest tax increase proposal to arouse the ire of the Pampa city councilman was the Texas Senate's $658-million record-breaking tax bill that has just been voted out of committee. By a vote of 22 to 9, the bill was passed by the Senate and a Senate-House committee is working to iron out differences in the two versions.

The Senate's bill would increase the state sales tax from 2.5 per cent to 4 per cent. With Pampa's one-cent sales tax. That adds up to 5 cents every time you spend a dollar on taxable items. The bill would increase the gasoline tax 2 cents a gallon which will hike the price per gallon to 40 cents. The motor vehicle tax will be increased from 3 per cent to 4 per cent. There will be a 3 cents a package boost on the price of cigarettes. The state beer tax will go up from $4.30 to $6 a barrel.

COMMISSIONER Braswell's remarks were triggered by a letter from Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes asking the mayor and city commissioners to let him have their opinions on the proposal to increase the gasoline tax by 2 cents a gallon.

The Gray County Commission recently discussed the matter informally and decided the tax increase would help them in their highway improvement projects by getting the state to pay right-of-way and curb and gutter costs.

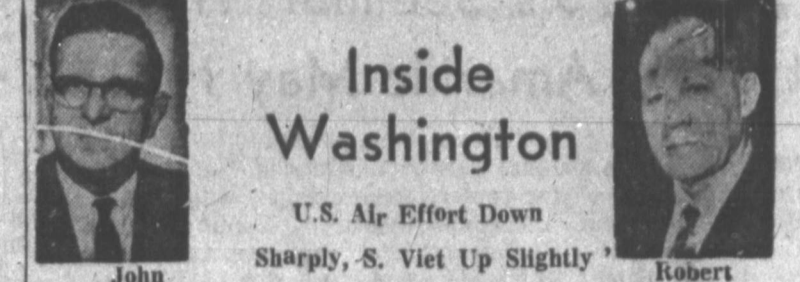

The city commission brushed the letter aside after Braswell said he thought it was time for state, federal, county and city governments to reverse the trend and start cutting taxes, instead of increasing them.

"There's no need for us to take action," Braswell said. "They'll pass it anyhow." It is his opinion that public officials all the way down from Washington through state, county and city need to use every possible method to cut expenses and economize to the hilt.

He believes the taxpayer has reached the limit on how much of a burden he can carry. The time is here to call a halt, says Braswell, and we suspect there are an awful lot of people who will go along with his line of thinking that taxpayers have had it.

And that kind of speaking out in public is just one small part of what is termed the beginning of a nationwide tax revolution.

TO THE letter-writer who preferred not to back up his opinions with a name and address and signed only "A Pampa Citizen," may we say that ordinarily we ignore unsigned letters.

WASHINGTON — As the United States winds down the air war in Indochina, the South Vietnamese air force has been stepping up its activities — but only gradually.

Statistics for the first two months of this year on tactical air sorties, strikes in support of ground troops, show that South Vietnam increased its sorties to about 6,500 as compared with 3,900 in the same 1969 period. The increase, however, represents only a fraction of the decrease in U.S. sorties over the same period.

In round numbers it is fair to say that the South Vietnamese took up about 10 per cent of the reduction in U.S. tactical air sorties. Administration officials say these statistics show that, in the foreseeable future, South Vietnam will not be able to fight in the air on a scale comparable to the recent U.S. effort.

The point is pivotal, of course, with respect to final and complete withdrawal of U.S. forces from Vietnam. While the U.S. scale need not be achieved, the fledgling South Vietnamese air force must be able to support its improving ground forces in actions such as the Laos incursion before all U.S. air units can be withdrawn.

Nixon's purpose is to be achieved — if South Vietnam is to have a chance to survive as a free nation after all U.S. forces are withdrawn.

That is why newsmen are now rebuffed when they inquire how long U.S. carriers will have to cruise off the Vietnam coast and whether U.S. air units will operate from Thailand after they have been withdrawn from Vietnam itself. The answer depends, in part, on progress of the South Vietnamese air force.

U.S. EFFORT IS DOWN — It will, of course, come as a surprise to some critics of the Vietnamization program that Vietnamization has actually scaled down the air war. Some critics have contended that withdrawal of U.S. troops has been accompanied by an escalation of U.S. air activity.

Administration officials have compiled impressive statistics to show that the pace of U.S. activity is down, and down very materially. The data was available to the White House when the President made his troop withdrawal announcement earlier this month, but in the end, Mr. Nixon elected not to respond to this critical thrust against Vietnamization.

We can report, however, that the statistics show that U.S. air units are being totally withdrawn.

Industry Wary Of Voting To Further 'Social' Aims

By RAY CROMLEY WASHINGTON (NEA) — Protesters have not made much headway thus far in getting colleges and universities to vote stock proxies to further particular social aims.

But there could be a time bomb here. The nation's private educational institutions own an estimated $8 billion worth of securities in industrial, rail and utility corporations.

Foundations own $16 billion. This ownership is most heavily concentrated in the shares of a few hundred major concerns.

If only a small number of these decided to vote in accordance with social objectives, the pressure for change could be enormous in some bellwether American companies.

Though the percentage of ownership by the colleges and universities in any one concern would be small, in a significant number of key companies it would be large enough to attract attention.

The officers and directors of the most major American enterprises are very sensitive to shareholder criticism. During the decade and a half of watching company reactions as a reporter for a national financial newspaper, the frequency of some shareholder complaint has constantly amazed me. And in many of these cases, the shareholders concerned owned very little stock.

Colleges and universities may be especially vulnerable to continuing pressure. A college or university which gives up government contracts, or severs its ties with a venerable research institution because research might not be in line with social objectives, is not likely to stand up indefinitely against charges that its investments are funding companies which are polluting the atmosphere, practicing unfair racial policies of producing types of war materials which vocal segment of the junior faculty, graduate students and undergraduates finds objectionable.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY DROUGHT DISASTER Word has been received by Evelyn Mason, county executive director of the ASCS office, that Gray County farmers are permitted to graze set-aside acreage through June 30.

Irrigation in this area, large quantities of grain were produced. As a logical sequence the commercial feed lots were developed. This has created a tremendous demand for replacement cattle.

Now rod has been received on the livestock feed program at this writing. I am sure Evelyn will notify you at the earliest possible date.

Stocks of the major feed grains are down drastically when comparing April 1, 1970 to April 1, 1971. For instance corn stocks are down almost five hundred million bushels.

ECONOMIC OUTLOOK We are facing in agriculture today one of the most paradoxical situations that I have seen in many years.

More than 300 members and guests of the agricultural credit organization from the association's six-county area of the northeast Panhandle attended the business meeting and barbecue.

Prices fell half into during a twelve month period. We have several things going for us now that we didn't have then.

Re-elected to the board were L. F. Etheredge of Canadian and M. Lawrence Ellzey of Perryton.

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS The year 1970 has gone into the record books as the driest year on record. Ninety percent of the dryland wheat and sorghum grain farmers did not harvest enough grain to pay for the seed and plowing.

The average city person who drove through the Texas Panhandle during the 1970 farming season was unaware of the lack of rainfall, they saw the fields of green luscious grain and took everything for granted just as they turn on the water faucet and water in the amount needed comes pouring out.

Those green wheat and sorghum grain crops in 1970 were being produced from water coming from thousands of irrigation wells. The water was being lifted to the surface from the Ogallala formation several hundred feet below the surface of the ground.

City wells and industrial wells were also pumping more than normally pumped. Homes and lawns were gulping up water in record amounts. The underground reservoir supplying the needed water is being depleted faster. This underground water collected over many centuries is not being refilled. Many seasons of heavy rainfall must occur before any of the moisture reaches the water table.

Water To Be Used Wisely All users of water, whether municipal, industrial or irrigators, are urged to use water, practicing all the conservation methods available. Great quantities of water are being used to produce the current wheat crop. Many tailwater recovery pits have been put into use to re-use the water when it reaches the end of the rows. Tail-water recovery pits are difficult to utilize on many irrigated farms because of the lay of the land and as a result lose considerable water. During the spring, summer and fall months many people voice complaints about what they consider waste of water.

The rules of the Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District taken from the Texas statutes, prohibits waste as such. The rules of the District also prohibits the pollution of the underground water. In many cases water seen running down a road ditch is collected on an adjoining farm-and is put to a beneficial use. Sometimes the same person owns both farms and has merely used the road ditch as a conveyance for the water.

Below we are listing some of the rules of the District concerning the use of water: 1. The escape of underground water from one underground reservoir to any other reservoir not containing underground water as defined in said Section 3c of Article 7890; 2. Willfully causing, suffering, or permitting underground water produced for irrigation or agricultural purposes to escape into any river, creek, or other natural water-course, depression, or lake, reservoir, drain, on into any sewer, street, highway, road, road ditch, or upon the land of any other person than the owner of such well, or upon public land.

Research is currently underway to determine the fertility requirements of high population cotton as is found in the narrow row method of production, points out Onken. Previous research has shown that conventional varieties adaptable to narrow rows will respond to fertilizer much as they would in conventional 40-inch rows. However, varieties bred specifically for narrow-row and high population may have higher fertility requirements. Such varieties will be on the market within the next two to three years. Much of the soil fertility research as regards narrow-row cotton was initiated last year through a grant to the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The grant supports a three-year program of narrow row cotton research in which varieties, row spacing, plant population, root distribution and root activities, fertilizer rate and irrigation timing and rate will be investigated. According to Onken, the studies will be conducted at three locations - near Welch in Dawson County, near Aiken in Floyd County and at the A&M Center. These sites represent the three broad areas of soils and climatic conditions on the South Plains.
