FOR SECOND TERM

Smith And Barnes Sworn Into Office

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Preston Smith, a 56-year-old West Texan who worked his way from a tenant farm to the governor's mansion, takes the oath of office today for a second term as the 29th governor of Texas.

Smith and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, a 32-year-old native of Central Texas who stormed into prominence as the state's leading vote-getter in recent years, take their oaths at noon on the steps of the state capitol.

The inauguration ceremonies are the highlight of a full day of inauguration activities, which began with a prayer breakfast and will end tonight with a series of six western flavored inaugural balls.

When the dancing ends, Smith will have to turn immediately to more sober thoughts—presenting his legislative and tax programs to a joint session of the House and Senate at noon Wednesday.

Smith, in state politics since 1944, has used virtually the same campaign tactics in every race: Get out among the people, shake hands and "meet the folks."

Smith and Barnes were officially declared winners of their respective races for re-election Monday as a joint session of the legislature canvassed the returns of the November general election.

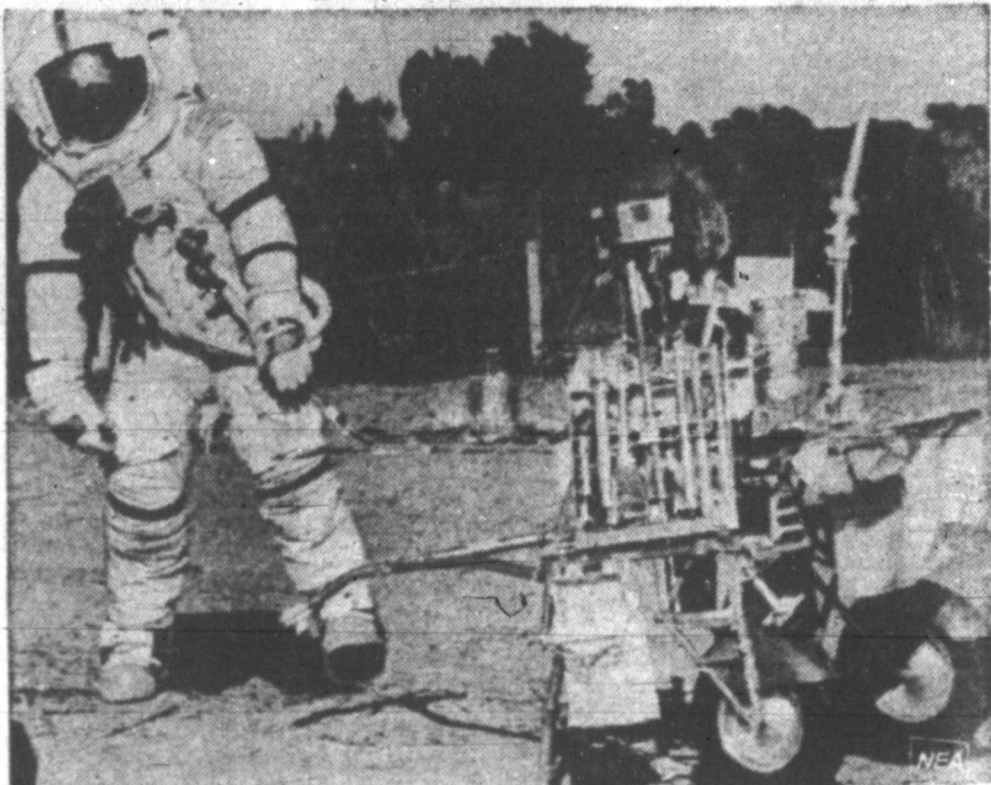

Final totals gave Smith 1,197,726 votes to 1,037,723 for Republican challenger Paul Eggers. Barnes finished with 1,461,242 to 716,593 for Republican Byron Fullerton.

The Texas national guard was to host a luncheon for the top state officials immediately after the noon inauguration, which was carried live by statewide television and radio.

At 3 p.m., Barnes and Smith were to lead a parade spotlighting Texas industry and tourism. The traditional line of floats, bands, military units and mounted riders came from throughout the state.

The inaugural activities turn decidedly western after the parade.

U.S. May Take Further Action Against Ecuador

UNIQUE FEATURE of the Apollo 14 mission is the Modular Equipment Transporter (MET), the first American wheeled vehicle on the moon. Flight-ready MET checked out by astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr. in familiarization session includes camera equipment, hand tools, sample container bags, measuring devices and other equipment for surface exploration and experiments.

U.S. Involvement In Indochina War Escalating Again

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. involvement in Indochina suddenly has begun to escalate again despite President Nixon's decision to let America's Asian allies fight their own wars.

In quick succession, the American military establishment here has started flying AH1 Cobra gunships, F4 Phantoms and B52 Strategic bombers in support of South Vietnamese operations on Cambodia's Highway 4, put helicopter-carrying ships off the coast of Cambodia, and started a daily airlift of arms and ammunition to the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh.

It has accepted for consideration a Saigon request that it pay for the salaries and per diem allowances of South Vietnamese troops fighting on Cambodian soil, and it has agreed to pay 100 per cent of the direct military costs of the operations.

The escalation apparently was decided upon after two top military officers and a high-ranking Pentagon aide visited Phnom Penh earlier this month. They apparently accepted the military view that a Cambodian army and the Communists, and thus about the relative chances for survival of the Lon Nol regime.

Throughout the autumn and early winter, while news accounts detailed the slow deterioration of the Cambodian army, the U.S. embassies in Saigon and Phnom Penh continued to submit optimistic reports to Washington, diplomatic sources said.

In Retaliation For Seizure Of Boats

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States has suspended all military sales to Ecuador in retaliation for the seizure of American fishing boats, and says it may take further action including suspension of economic aid.

The American action was another escalation in a long smoldering fishing dispute between Ecuador, which claims its territorial waters extend 200 miles offshore, and the United States, which recognizes only a 12-mile limit.

Ecuadorian gunboats have seized nine U.S. boats so far and have levied high fines against them on charges of poaching. Five of the boats were seized Monday.

Three boats were released after paying a total of $133,500 in fines, and six were still held. Another 20 boats were in the area where the nine were seized.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers summoned Ecuadorian Ambassador Carlos Mantilla-Ortega to the State Department Monday afternoon to inform him of the action. A spokesman said Rogers told the ambassador that "other legal provisions relating to such seizures are being reviewed urgently and that further action by this government under pertinent laws could not be excluded."

No dollar value was available for the suspended military assistance program, but it was understood Ecuador had planned to purchase some helicopters and other aircraft from the United States. Also suspended were credits Ecuador had sought for the overhaul of ships.

State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said the United States currently provides $29 million a year in economic aid to Ecuador. Although $3.5 million already has been committed this year, he said the State Department is considering suspending the remainder.

Britain Facing Postal, Telephone Strike Tonight

LONDON (UPI)—Private postal services employing everything from pigeons to housewives mushroomed throughout Britain today to fill the void caused by an imminent nationwide postal and telephone strike.

Organizers of the services, who are charging handsome prices to get customers' mail through, got the government green light for the emergency operations on Monday. Postal Minister Christopher Chataway told Parliament he was lifting the Post Office monopoly during the walkout, the first in the nation's history.

The Postal Workers' Union ordered its 230,000 members to walk off the job from midnight tonight to back a 15 per cent pay increase demand. The Post Office, a state-run corporation which also controls telephones and telexes, has offered 8 per cent.

The organizers of the emergency mail services were charging anywhere from 18 cents to $1.20 per letter and using a variety of modes of transport and collection.

New York City Police Refuse To End Strike

NEW YORK (UPI)—New York City policemen refused to end their wildcat strike today amid indications that National Guard troops might be ordered in to protect the city.

The policemen defied their union leaders and a state supreme court justice by refusing to work anything but emergency assignments. A spot check of key precincts showed that only a few men reported for work on the 8 a.m. shift and "only a trickle" appeared for the midnight shift.

The rank-and-file of the 27,400-member Patrolmen's Benevolent Association (PBA), rallying behind their slogan of "no parity, no work," ignored a plea from their president, Edward Kiernan to return to work.

Kiernan asked the men, estimated to number 25,000, to halt the strike after state Supreme Court Justice Irving Saypol agreed to begin hearings today on the pay parity issue.

The patrolmen began their job action last Thursday over the issue of parity which determines the relationship of patrolmen's pay to that of sergeants. They apparently were angered by a state court of appeals decision ordering a trial requested by the city to settle the issue. The city claims the parity provision in the contract is not a binding one.

The continuing strike action gave rise to fears that the skeleton force of officers, detectives and probationary patrolmen now protecting the city in long work shifts might become too exhausted to continue.

If this should happen, officials believed the only recourse would be to call in the National Guard to protect the city's 8 million residents. This could happen "in the next few days," they said.

The wildcat strike already had brought about a noticeable decline in criminal court cases since there have been very few arrests.

The situation was aggravated by sympathy work stoppages by transit and housing authority policemen and a brief stoppage by some correction officers.

The strike also had stymied any progress in mediation talks between the city and union officials trying to resolve the dispute.

Widow Seeks $10 Million From Space Craft Builder For Death Of Husband

TITUSVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—The widow of astronaut Virgil I. "Gus" Grissom, charging gross negligence and fraud, filed $10 million damage suits Monday against the builders of the space capsule in which her husband and two other astronauts died.

Mrs. Betty Grissom charged that North American Rockwell Corp. and three allied firms which built the Apollo command capsule "knew that the capsule was not safe and not effective as a space capsule" but withheld the information from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration NASA.

The capsule was swept by fire during a launch pad test Jan. 27, 1967, killing Grissom, Edward White and Roger Chaffee.

Mrs. Grissom, who lives in Houston, Tex., asked $3 million in one suit as executrix of his estate. She demanded a jury trial.

The lawsuits make no mention of White or Chaffee.

In Houston, Mrs. White said she had heard of the suit but had no comment on it and did not plan to join the suit. Mrs. White recently became engaged to a space agency employe. Mrs. Martha Chaffe, remarried in 1968 to Houston real estate developer William C. Canfield, could not be reached for comment.

Co-defendants in the suits are North American Rockwell Corp., Rockwell Standard Corp., Rockwell Standard Co. and North American Aviation Inc., all of Delaware.

Mrs. Grissom said the defendants "willfully ignored and suppressed the opinions of space experts" who questioned the capsule's safety and "deliberately and fraudulently" failed to inform NASA of potential fire hazards.

Her suits charge failure to warn of danger in the spacecraft, failure to protect a hazardous occupation, failure to take due care in control of the capsule, fraud and liability.

Mrs. Grissom was not present for the filing of the suits. Attorney William Whitaker of Orlando filed them, working with Houston attorneys Ronald D. Kriss and Kenneth D. McCoinco.

ECONOMIC FIGURES SHOW

1970 Worst Year For Combined Inflation And Recession Since '47

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The total output of the U.S. economy declined 0.4 per cent last year but prices increased by 5.3 per cent, making 1970 the worst year for combined inflation and recession since 1947.

The Commerce Department said Monday the Gross National Product (GNP), which measures the value of the nation's total output of goods and services, was $976.5 billion last year. That was an increase of 4.9 per cent over 1969, but when the figures are adjusted to eliminate the effect of price increases the "real GNP" registered a decline of 0.4 per cent.

That drop was the first full-year decline since the 1958 recession. Inflation pushed prices up .53 per cent during the year—the steepest rise since the Korean War year of 1951.

The department said the United Auto Workers' strike against General Motors was to blame for the gloomy figures.

Last year was worse than either 1968 or 1969 when both output and prices are considered. In 1968, output declined 1.1 per cent but prices rose only 2.6 per cent. In 1969, prices soared 6 per cent but output increased by a strong 7.9 per cent. In 1947, output slipped 0.9 per cent and prices, recently freed from World War II controls, skyrocketed 12 per cent.

Six-County Regional Meet Set Thursday

Judge Zook Thomas, Collingsworth county judge, has called a meeting of governmental officials and interested citizens in a six-county area composed of Gray, Wheeler, Donley, Collingsworth, Briscoe, and Hall, to discuss formation of committees to work in the areas of transportation, natural resources, recreation and open space, and environmental conditions.

Judge Thomas, Planning and Service Area 5 representative to the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission, is requesting participation in order that the Service Area may have an input into the regional plan. The meeting will be held in the Collingsworth County Courthouse at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

In related economic developments:

—Bethlehem Steel Co. bowed to pressure from President Nixon and rolled back a price increase that had totaled as much as 12.5 per cent to the 6.8 per cent announced Saturday by its biggest competitor, U.S. Steel. An administration spokesman said Nixon was "gratified" by the action but would not say if 6.8 per cent was acceptable to the President, who had denounced the higher figure as exorbitant and inflationary.

—The Federal Reserve Board cut its discount rate, the interest it charges for loans to commercial banks, from 5 1/4 to 5 per cent, the fourth quarter point cut in little more than 10 weeks.

The reduction followed by several hours a cut from 6 1/4 to 6 per cent in the bank prime rate, the interest which banks charge their biggest and best corporate customers. The prime rate reduction was the sixth in 10 weeks.

—The Commerce Department announced that privately owned housing starts increased in December to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 1.99 million units, the highest total since 1950. The December figure was up from 1.69 million in November and 1.40 million a year earlier.

—Albert, 62, moving up from the party leader's post to succeed retired Speaker John W. McCormack, had only nominal and last-minute opposition, from Rep. John Conyers Jr. of Michigan.

Contesting for Albert's vacated post as leader were Reps. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, who has been whip (assistant leader) since 1962; Morris K. Udall of Arizona; James G. O'Hara of Michigan; B. F. Slak of California; and Wayne L. Hays of Ohio.

The action was set for a closed-door caucus in the House chamber starting at 10 a.m. EST and continuing, possibly through numerous ballots on the leadership spot, into the afternoon. At a renewed session Wednesday the group will adopt a new rule modifying the seniority custom by which committee chairmen are picked.

House Republicans hold their pre-session huddle Wednesday. They also were expected to approve modest curbs on the seniority rule, and will settle a leadership fight of their own, in which Rep. Samuel L. Devine of Ohio hopes to unseat Rep. John Anderson of Illinois as House party chairman.

Official Names Group To Study County History

County Judge Don Cain announced today appointment of the Gray County Historical Survey Committee which implements state marking and preservation in this area.

Tracy D. Cary of Pampa is chairman. Others are Joe W. Shelton, Mrs. Fred Thompson, Mrs. Raymond Harrah, Mrs. Vera Beck, Mrs. Alice Short Smith, John C. Haynes, Mrs. George Ingram, Mrs. Marvin Hall, Miss Florence Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Welborn, Mrs. Alma Seitz, Mrs. Katie Vincent, Evan Sitter and Mrs. J. R. Holloway.

"Goals for the Seventies," a comprehensive historical preservation plan by the State Survey committee, is the county committee's focus for activities for 1971-72.

The committee will work with local historians, county commissioners courts, and tourist related organizations to insure preservation of Texas history, Cain said.

House Democrats To Pick New Head

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Democrats assemble today to elect Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma as speaker and one of five contenders as party leader, each of whom was still writing himself into the script as the winner.

Albert, 62, moving up from the party leader's post to succeed retired Speaker John W. McCormack, had only nominal and last-minute opposition, from Rep. John Conyers Jr. of Michigan.

Contesting for Albert's vacated post as leader were Reps. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, who has been whip (assistant leader) since 1962; Morris K. Udall of Arizona; James G. O'Hara of Michigan; B. F. Slak of California; and Wayne L. Hays of Ohio.

SUBMITTED BY COMMITTEE

Board Gets Recommendations For School Dress Code Changes

By WANDA MAE HUFF Staff Writer

Pampa School Board received seven recommendations Monday night to revise the school dress code, but postponed voting on the changes until the Feb. 15 trustee meeting.

Recommendations were submitted by a committee of six Pampa High School students, four faculty members and four parents, with Barry Bowman, PHS senior, as chairman.

After hearing statements from each member of the Committee for Student Affairs, trustees voted to table the recommendations to "determine how the committee's changes will affect the current dress code."

Three of the committee recommendations regulated length and condition of boys' hair, beards, mustaches and sideburns, one objected to "exposed sleeveless undershirts," and one requested girls be allowed to wear slacks sets, pant suits, and pant dresses.

The committee recommended that the section of the code referring to shoes and stockings be amended to read "shoes or sandals must be worn by students while attending school."

The committee added a recommendation to state "sponsors of activities such as athletics, band, choir, and advisors in special courses, such as Vocational Office Education, (VOE), Distributive Education, (DE) or any such course in which students are placed in training stations or employed will be allowed to set dress and grooming standards for their students."

The committee requested trustees remove any restrictions on length of a boy's hair, but require it to be kept "clean and neatly combed at all times."

The committee requested beards, mustaches and sideburns be permitted but that "they be kept clean, trimmed and well-groomed."

In the recommendation requesting permission for girls to wear pant suits, slacks sets and pant dresses, the committee suggested forbidding girls to wear jeans designed for boys, shorts, bare midriffs or see-through apparel.

Students on the committee are Barry Bowman, Barbara Brown, Nancy Dings, Kathy Gallman, Rick Harris, and Cheryl Janison. Faculty members are Mrs. Jane Wiens, Mrs. Ramona Hite, Harris Brinson and Bill Haynes. Parents are Mrs. Pete Erwin, Jack Felts, Mrs. John Spearman and Mrs. Theo Williams.

To help trustees determine exactly what the committee meant in its designations of slacks sets, pant suits and pant dresses, five feminine committee members modeled the ensembles and explained differences in style.

In other business, trustees approved Floyd Sackett, principal of Baker Elementary School as nominee for District governor of Lions Clubs.

Trustees approved naming the new PHS track the Randy Matson Track and the school's annual invitational track relays the Randy Matson Relays in honor of Matson, a 1963 PHS graduate. Matson is Pampa's Olympic Gold Medal winner and world shot-put record holder and was recently named Athlete of the World by Track and Field magazine.

Trustees heard reports on stadium seats, tennis courts, auditorium renovations, and authorized payment of $925 to R. C. Hodges Electrical Inc. for PHS science area.

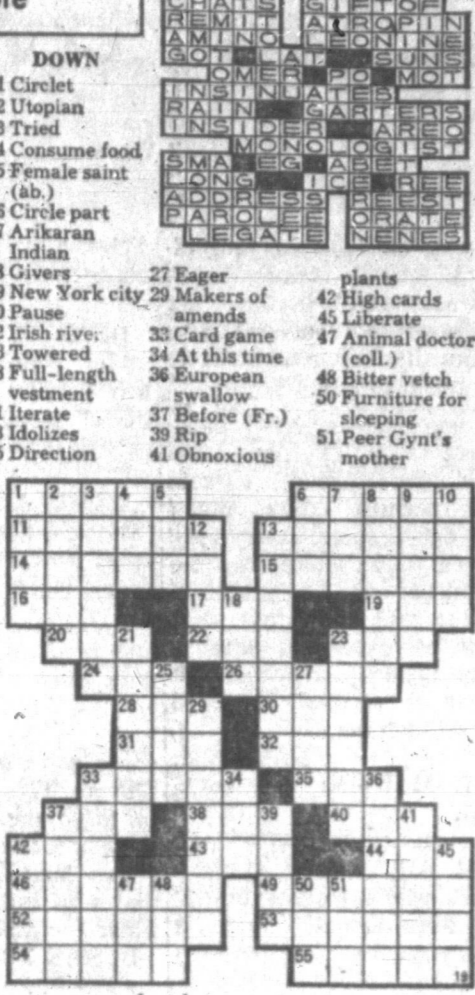

A motion to change grade reporting at PHS from six weeks to nine weeks failed by a split vote of three to two, with Jimmy Thompson, John Gikas and Warren Hesse voting no, and Dr. R. M. Hopmton and Bob Carmichael voting yes.

Personnel changes approved were William Schumacher's employment for Spring semester as PHS physics and electronics instructor and Sophie Vance's employment as bookkeeper in the school business office, to replace Beth Evans who resigned.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Houston's 2nd Largest Bank And Banks Lower Prime Interest Rate

By United Press International
Houston's second largest bank and banks in the Texas state capital Monday lowered their prime interest rate to 6 per cent, following the lead of major New York institutions.

Banks in Dallas delayed, at least temporarily, in matching the reduction.

One Houston banker said the lowering of interest rates was simply a matter of keeping up with the competition.

The prime interest rate lowering, second since last Friday and the sixth in the last two months, was initiated by the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York early Monday. The Chase Manhattan Bank, third largest in the nation, quickly followed suit.

Lowest Since 1967
First word in Texas came from the Austin National Bank, which, with its reduction from 6 1/2 per cent to 6 per cent, was offering its lowest prime interest rate since early 1967.

"By this move we hope to stimulate the economy of the Central Texas area," said bank president Leon Stone.

"We believe this will be of direct benefit to the business community as well as the individual borrower."

The Austin National Bank, with deposits of $219 million, is the largest bank in Central Texas.

Another major Austin bank, the Austin Capitol National Bank, later reduced its rate.

Texas Commerce Bank of Houston, the city's second largest, was the first bank in the South's largest city to drop its rate.

UN Mediator Cautiously Optimistic About Talks

By United Press International
United Nations Secretary General Thant said today he and U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring were cautiously optimistic about the outcome of the Middle East peace talks. And a dispatch from Cairo said prospects were brighter for extension of the cease-fire which expires Feb. 5.

But in Tel Aviv, Israel accused Egypt of sending four Sukhoi 7 jets across the cease-fire line again today in another violation of the cease-fire.

Thant told a news conference in New York, "I am still cautiously optimistic about the outcome of these discussions and this cautious optimism is shared by Ambassador Jarring."

Foreign New Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
In Australia, a top diplomat remarks that 75 per cent of Australia's diplomatic activity is concentrated on Asian affairs, 20 per cent on the United States and 5 per cent for the rest of the world.

New Zealanders sometimes refer to themselves as making up the United States' 51st state. It is part wistful, part jest.

But whether speaking in earnest or in jest, both "down under" nations are reassessing their roles in world affairs, with the United States as the greatest Pacific power looming ever larger and Britain, the "mother" country, smaller.

Role Declines
Defensively, Britain's Asian role has been declining steadily since early in World War II and is nearing the vanishing point as British forces withdraw from east of Suez.

British entry into the European Common Market could produce equally drastic economic change—New Zealand fears disastrously so.

Not as dramatic as Britain's declining defensive role in the Indian Ocean and its environs, Britain's changing role in world economics is—especially for New Zealand—a subject for anxious debate at the Singapore meeting of commonwealth prime ministers.

New Zealand industry is expanding but the country's standard of living still is heavily dependent upon its agricultural exports, high quality lamb, butter, cheese and wool.

Thirty-nine per cent of New Zealand exports in 1969 went to Great Britain. Wool and dairy products made up the great bulk by far.

Without special safeguards, and these now seem very doubtful, New Zealanders say British entry into the Common Market will cost them between $100 million and $150 million a year or more than 15 per cent of their total income from exports.

Economically less affected but left vulnerable defensively are the Australians.

From 40 per cent of their exports going to Britain as they did 10 years ago, the figure is now about 18 per cent, much of which would not be affected by Britain's common market try.

SHEER BLACKMAIL

BUDAPEST (UPI)—Two Budapest streetcar snow workers who had an idea how to avoid work on a cold night have been sent to jail for one year.

The snow cleaners met two girls, told them they were plainclothes policemen and that they suspected them of prostitution.

"If you will do the snow shoveling and, in addition, be nice to us, we will not report you to our headquarters," they told the girls.

The girls timidly agreed, but the case came before court when the men boasted about their adventure.

Inside Washington

By RAYMOND LAHR
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has come up with a new bill to meet at least one of President Nixon's complaints against the measure he vetoed on limiting spending for radio and television campaigning.

In his veto message, the President said the bill would discriminate against the broadcasting industry and plug only one hole in a sieve.

Mansfield's new bill would put ceilings on the amounts candidates for President, Congress and governorships could spend on "nonbroadcast communications media," including: "Newspaper, magazines and other periodical publications, newsletters and other publications of any organizations, billboard space and other outdoor advertising, posters, handbills, bumper stickers, lapel buttons, hats or other objects of wearing apparel upon which the name of a candidate or political party is prominently displayed, and public address systems including mobile public address systems."

The measure is cosponsored by Sens. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., manager of the vetoed broadcasting bill, and Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., author of an election reform bill which passed the Senate in 1967 but died in the House.

In effect, the bill would merge the vetoed measure with Cannon's bill and add the proposed limits on political advertising in other media.

The vetoed bill would have permitted candidates or their committees to spend no more than seven cents for each vote cast for the office in the previous election—substantially less than the sums spent by some candidates in 1970.

Mansfield's bill would retain the seven-cent limit and proposes another of 14 cents per vote for money spent on advertising in newspapers and magazines, on billboards and bumper stickers.

The limits would apply to spending by candidates and their campaign committees. The free speech guarantee of the Constitution would permit individuals to improvise their own bumper stickers or posters for display in their own front yards.

Although Congress has enacted no major election reform laws for 30 years, recent efforts have been aimed at eliminating existing unenforceable spending ceilings and requiring more effective disclosure of campaign contributions and spending. That was the thrust of Cannon's bill.

Mansfield introduced the new bill Dec. 30 as a gesture—three days before Congress adjourned. It is expected to be reintroduced soon after the new Congress convenes Thursday.

TRICK BACKFIRES
MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI)—Ruben Tiberio, 23, who was buried alive daily as the star attraction of a county fair, was crushed to death Monday when his glass coffin collapsed beneath weight of earth piled on him.

Police said fairgoers paid 15 cents to look at him in the coffin eight feet underground. The incident occurred at El Sauce 80 miles west of Managua.

Prints are bursting out for spring. Freedom to sing out in the sun, to stroll in the woodlands or to dance all night under the stars is reflected in the brilliantly printed midi dress (left) in a mosaic tile design by Gayle Kirkpatrick. Printed in earth tones, with a double flounced full skirt for ease of movement, it is perfect for today's liberated woman. The American Indian inspired Sant'Angelo's multiprinted dirndl midi skirt (right). The native handcraft prints encircle the hem in numerous bands of appliques and embroideries depicting totems and tribal symbols. The bright primary colors used are Indian in origin.

Educators Puzzle Reasons For Ability Differences

DENVER (UPI)—Elementary school girls mature more rapidly than boys, but does this fact mean that boys should start school earlier in order to catch up mentally?

Colorado educators, psychologists, social workers and parents differ on the answer.

One Denver elementary school principal said the problem is not how old a child is when he starts school, but what kind of preparation his parents have given him at home.

In general terms, boys lag behind girls through most of their 12 years of school. They may spurt ahead about age 9 or 10, but boys generally run second in physical and emotional maturity and achievement.

Some teachers and parents say boys, because of their general lag, should start school later than girls. Others are dead set against this.

United Press International talked with several authorities on preparing the child to get the most out of school.

Mary Jacobsen, principal at Denver's Sabin Elementary School, said parents have the responsibility to see their children — boys or girls — are adequately prepared for the classroom.

It is important to "encourage parents to more realistically understand their child's growth and development pattern," said Miss Jacobsen. She said such encouragement could best come from continuing and expanding parent education programs.

Some parents believe their children will be ready to learn and adjust to school life automatically once they enter the classroom—"like turning on a light switch," she added.

Mrs. Rosemary Hunsinger, a social worker at Denver's Kepner Junior High School, said a blanket hold-back of boys from starting school would hurt many. She said she would like to see an expansion of testing and analysis programs.

One dean of boys at a Denver-area high school said he is against holding "back boys from school.

"If educators make exceptions regarding the children's sex in kindergarten or the first grade, where should they stop?" he said. "Boys eventually catch up anyhow."

He said one solution would be to encourage more recreational activities for school beginners so the gap could be closed by communication.

Malcolm Geddis, director of the Lookout Mountain School for Boys, a Colorado training school for delinquent boys, sees the question in terms of the boy who goes wrong.

"I'm not sure that maturation has as much to do with a boy's delinquency as other factors," Geddis said. "It may have some bearing, but I don't believe it's a major cause."

He agreed with Miss Jacobsen that a child's home life determines how he will get along in school. But he said lack of parental guidance has left a void that schools are forced to fill.

"To me, the public school systems are not equipped to handle these kinds of problems," Geddis said. "They may feel it's not their job, but no one can do it."

"The schools are geared up for the middle for the average child," he said. "Those on either end are not well taken care of."

Lutheran League Schedules Retreat

The Lutheran Women's Missionary League held the monthly meeting in the home of Mrs. H. Mer Heimritz, 2124 Lynn Street, as co-hostess, Mrs. Robert Lemke, presented the topic entitled "The Church in a World of Cults."

Mrs. Melvin Herring announced a Christian Growth Retreat for all members would be held at the Youth Camp at Ceta Glen Canyon on Jan. 22 and 23.

Mrs. Angeline Walker presided at the business session. Other members present were Mrs. Joy Thomas, Harold Brumington, Jerry Hildenbrand, Melvin Clark, Lloyd Brummet, Orville Pereboom, Tom Rogers, J.P. Carlson A.M. Stroebel, and a guest Edetta Grange.

Children's Minds Coin New Phrases

NEW YORK (UPI)—Some observation on the American scene:

The speech of the young and their innocent coinage of picturesque phrases always delights anyone who makes a living thinking at the typewriter. Perhaps a gleaming of the latest from some of the wee ones in our family and those of our neighbors will help to brighten your winter-logged spirits.

There is Janet, one niece, aged five, who has to rank among all children as a master of phraseology. And watching television certainly has had its effect on her speech.

When she was talking with a small friend on the phone her mother overheard her say, "Turn your voice up. I can't hear you." Or, as she watched the line performance in Bardston, Ky., of the folk opera, "The Stephen Foster Story," turned to her mother said, "Gee, it's in color."

Or, Janet's friend in kindergarten was having trouble "learning her NBCs."

It was Janet who shopping in a supermarket told her mother that the overly ripe bananas were "polka-dotted" or remarking one summer evening that the lightning bugs were "turning on their blinkers."

It made my day when Janet's mother wrote of the remark of one of the child's kindergarten class who looked out and saw that a big snowfall suddenly had melted. "God sure did take it up in a hurry," he said. And the ending of the blessing at mealtime by another small one, "Father, Son and Holy Grapes."

Janet's older sister, Gail, at 12, is a whole different human being. She's quite well aware of the birds and bees routine, but Janet's older sister, Gail, at 12, is a whole different human being. She's quite well aware of the birds and bees routine, but I've been puzzling on how vast the generation gaps must be when it came to Gail's reaction to her mother's news that a neighbor, at 51, was expecting a baby. Her mother went on to elaborate a bit about the usually normal child-bearing years.

"Oh, fine," said Gail. "She can just use her wheelchair to double as a stroller."

This true story has absolutely nothing to do with children's figures of speech but with adult practice of following some families' wishes to "please omit flowers" when there's a death and asking instead that friends and relatives send a contribution to their favorite or a specific charity.

A friend was telling me of hearing of one instance where a check went not to, say, the American Cancer Society, the American Heart Association, or other.

Instead, the family requested that contributions be sent made "to the North Side Republican Club."

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I know I must have many sympathizers on this one. I need some up-to-date advice on how to look feminine and glamorous at the office without letting men think I am on the make.

If I dress attractively, in bright colors or in the latest styles, all the old creeps (never the nice eligible men) make passes at me. If I dress to repel the old creeps, I creep further into old-maidhood. I am 30. Can you help me?

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: "Nice, eligible men" never make passes at anyone. A guide to appropriate office attire would include a long list of don'ts: 'Don't strive for "glamor" in the office. Femininity, yes. Glamor, no! Don't wear skirts too short. Or low necklines. Don't wear anything skin tight. See-through blouses are a "no no." Leave the junk jewelry at home. Don't wear cocktail-type attire to work. Pants are fine if your office permits them, but only if they are well-tailored and have a matching jacket. "Lounging pajamas," jumpsuits or jeans with any old top are inappropriate.

If you follow the above suggestions, and the old creeps still make passes at you, better check the look in your eye.

DEAR ABBY: I think you were way off base in your attitude about the teen-aged girl who was "hurt" because her creative writing teacher began snubbing her after she wrote a love poem to him.

No one knows how many excellent teachers have had their professional careers ruined because they didn't clamp down some starry-eyed teen-aged girl before her infatuation got out of control.

It's too bad that girls such as your correspondent have to be hurt once in a while, but her teacher probably snubbed her in self-defense.

DEAR MARVIN: You could be right.

DEAR ABBY: I still carry my first wife's picture in my billfold even though there is absolutely nothing left between us.

This seems to be quite an issue with my second wife to whom I've been married for one year. My second wife gave me a picture of herself, but when I put it in with the "other" picture, she took it back.

I assured her that she has no reason to feel hurt as I couldn't care less for my first wife, but that doesn't seem to satisfy her. She refuses to give me her picture as long as I carry the other one. Now it's become a matter of principle with me. I don't like to be dictated to. Will you settle this matter?

SECOND TIMER

DEAR TIMER: I'm with "Wife Number Two" all the way. Get rid of "Number One's" picture. No wallet is big enough for both of them.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Dover waitress" who was so upset because of the small tips people left her:

I was a clerk in yard goods and ready-to-wear, back in the days when a clerk really waited on the customers. I dragged many a heavy bolt of yard goods down off the shelves, and I'd put them back up again. In those days my salary was $60 a month for a 50-hour week. I was happy, too. I wonder if that waitress ever tips a clerk when she makes a purchase. BESSIE B. (NOW RETIRED)

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
 HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Contrary to previous reports, the madcap entertainment special known as "The Super Comedy Bowl" was not merely on CBS-TV last week. It turned up again on NBC-TV Sunday, and this time the chief performers were the Baltimore Colts and Dallas Cowboys, heretofore not known for humorous specialties. They called it the Super Bowl, and it may have been a bowl game, but it wasn't super. There were so many fumbles, interceptions, deflections and other fouls that it looked as if the game had been produced by "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In." As things got messier and messier, you half expected to see Arte Johnson come out of a pileup with a fumbled ball and streak for the goal line, with Goldie Hawn in hot pursuit.

The two defenses gave the contest its chief source of respectability. But you could find more offense in a wisecrack by Groucho Marx. Both teams played well enough to lose, but only one of them made it. The game almost went into a "sudden death" status to decide that outcome. If it had, the general feeling in my neighborhood is that we would have had a decision by next Wednesday.

Very early in the game, what looked to be a fist fight broke out on the playing field. Suddenly there was a cutaway to something else, and details of the fracas were tactfully omitted from being presented to the viewing public of an estimated 64 million persons, who undoubtedly were felt to be unprepared for such nasty matters. Things got funnier after that.

Actually, Sunday's game really helped put pro football — and sports — back into their proper perspective. The fact is that Baltimore and Dallas are two genuinely excellent teams, and they just happened to have a very zany day. Television, however, has often seemed to make football such a source of phony reverence that we may frequently forget that it is, after all, merely a source of entertainment and pleasure. And the entertainment in Sunday's comedy of errors was truly worth tuning in for, in addition to deflating the reverential side of sports.

It was sad, of course, to see Baltimore's incomparable Johnny Unitas forced out of the game by an injury. And it was equally sad to see the splendid Dallas coach, Tom Landry, denied once again the championship after coming so close. Amid all the unintended humor of the game Sunday, one could not help feeling sympathetic to these forlorn figures.

Cowboy Champ Earns Car

"World Champion Cowboy" Larry Mahan earned both congratulations and a 1971 Ford Country Squire "World Champion Station Wagon" at the National Finals Rodeo in Oklahoma City. Mahan, called the "Dirt Right Cowboy" on the rodeo circuit, was presented with the Country Squire, his 15th as for the whole of 1971, by P. F. Martin, Branch Sales Manager of the Ford Motor Company in Oklahoma.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — As is apparent to anyone over the age of 1.37 years, America is in the midst of a cultural period that strongly emphasizes sex.

Books about sex dominate the best-seller lists and "X" rated films have taken over the movie theaters. But some students of the arts think that cycle is about over.

They see a new trend emerging, bellwethered by "Love Story," a highly successful novel that moves readers to tears rather than appealing to their prurient interest.

If that prediction proves correct, then here are some of the things we can look forward to in the coming months:

Team Will Make Study

A team of medical researchers, headed by Dr. Alfred Maudlin, will bring forth a book titled "Lachrymoe Behavior in the Human Male," popularly known as the "Maudlin Report."

Based on interviews with more than 47 men, the study will show that lachrymation among American males is far more frequent and widespread than previously had been suspected.

These findings will create a sensation, for in our society there are strong taboos against men crying.

A medical team composed of Dr. Elegiac and his assistant, Mrs. Mewl, will publish a controversial paper on "Human Lachrymal Inadequacy."

In their investigation of why so many people are unable to have a good cry, Dr. Elegiac and Mrs. Mewl will invite couples, both married and unmarried, into their laboratory and observe them in the act of weeping.

Ways to Help People

From this they will recommend ways of helping people overcome dry-eyedness.

A psychiatrist named Dr. David Snivel will write a book listing "Everything You Always Wanted to Know about Weeping But Were Crying Too Hard to Ask."

It will explain in terms the layman can understand how the tear ducts work and also clear up such mysteries as why teardrops run down the cheeks rather than up over the forehead.

The subject of premature sobbing will be discussed frankly and humorously.

Some one using the pen name "K" will write a book called "The Tearful Woman." It will encourage women to go ahead and cry their eyes out any time they feel like it. And what is more, enjoy it.

Hollywood In Review

By VERNON SCOTT
 UPI Hollywood Correspondent
 HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Pat Paulsen, still smarting from his razor thin loss to Richard M. Nixon in the 1968 presidential race, will enter the Oregon primary in 1972 for another crack at the White House.

"Nobody really knows how close the vote was," Paulsen said furiously.

"I only lost by 16 or 17 million votes. Maybe a little more. I may have lost the election for Hubert Humphrey. But things will be different in 1972."

Paulsen's crushing defeat has not changed the man an iota. He continues to be shifty-eyed, underhanded, and a past master of the half-truth, all of which he considers definite assets for any politician.

"The trouble with my last campaign was that nobody took me seriously," he added seriously. "Every time I'd say something people would laugh."

People Let Him Down

"So I was let down by the American people very hard, and very suddenly at the polls. But I could turn it all around in 1972, if the politicians in office followed the principles of the spirit of our founding fathers."

Paulsen's voice rose weakly but filled with passion.

"The idea was for a citizen to serve his country, and after four years he would return to the farm. But it has never worked out that way."

It was pointed out that President Nixon was not a farmer.

"No excuse," said Paulsen. He indicated willingness to buy a farm himself and retire to it after he is elected to the presidency.

Tours Country

Until then, Paulsen is touring the country speaking at colleges and universities where he finds students considerably more conservative than during his previous campaign visits.

"I talk about politics, astrology, ecology and sex education," Paulsen said, grinning sheepishly at the latter subject.

"They ask about my feelings regarding Women's Lib, and I say no one should be denied equal rights because of the shape of their skin."

The University of California in Berkeley refused to have Paulsen speak because he wasn't "intellectual enough."

"I suppose they mean that my lecture wasn't controversial enough because it didn't include a bomb," he sniffed.

WALL STREET CHATTER

NEW YORK (UPI) — There is no evidence the market will slide back to the lows of last year. Waddell & Reed, Inc. believes. In its support of the statement the company notes that considerable money apparently is on the sidelines and when weakness appears, "this money tends to come in...and support the market." The company adds that "there is very little that can damage the optimistic mood of the stock market at this time."

The "deteriorating" leadership and the "lagging" blue chips "have weakened the market's underpinnings a bit."

The market outlook remains sunny, according to the Alexander Hamilton Institute. The institute, while taking into account the considerable rise in stock prices since May, still believes there is "plenty of room for upside action." The company sees the "cash-rich" institutions as sources of potential stimulation.

"The market is advancing in an orderly fashion, making internal adjustments as it goes along," Standard & Poor's Corp. says. However, the company cautions that the advance "may be too steep to be sustained for very long." The firm feels "it would be too much to hope" that the upward pace will proceed much farther "without a more clear-cut corrective phase than has been seen to date."

INVESTIGATE LETTER
 LONDON (UPI) — Scotland Yard detectives today investigated a letter sent to the Daily Express threatening Prime Minister Edward Heath, currently in Singapore for the Commonwealth prime ministers' meeting.

The letter said the "Angry Brigade" was sadder than he added "we're getting closer."

The letter, mailed in North London Sunday, was similar in appearance to one sent to the Guardian on the night two bombs exploded at the home of Minister of Employment Robert Carr, a police spokesman said.

JEANE DIXON Your Horoscope

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 20, 1971
Your birthday Wednesday: The Sun moves into Aquarius at 12:14 p.m. EST. Babies born before that minute are Capricornians. Those born afterward are Aquarians. The time this change happens differs from year to year. Both Capricornians and Aquarians born today are confronted with broad challenges: What are you as a spiritually growing human being, and how much can you improve yourself and your world? Wednesday's Capricornians are the beauty-producing dreamers, while Wednesday's Aquarians are of the more practical empire-building type.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Start early, travel light; you pick up good ideas for quick results. Conferences with experts yield good results if you find the right questions. Spare the costs of a group amusement.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Diplomacy, bright smiles, friendly greetings open all sorts of doors. Bid, collection of sums due you are favored. The evening calls for a change of direction, romance.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Diplomacy, bright smiles, friendly greetings open all sorts of doors. Bid, collection of sums due you are favored. The evening calls for a change of direction, romance.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20): In financial arrangements the character of the people you deal with is more important than any other factor. Stay up with the latest information, for opportunity coming in your work.
CANCER (June 21-July 22): Organize purchases systematically. Meeting people of means and special skills brings promising new contacts. Take the initiative, see what can be developed.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Use your best persuasive arguments to best results. Include an associate or relative if feasible. Negotiate on major improvements of your home. Express your feelings toward your loved ones.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Make fresh starts early, use things for the first time. Begin new habits. You have constructive influence, your way, and should have good news to celebrate by evening.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Try to increase your working capital Wednesday by earnings, or outside support. Social prospects are active, line up a full schedule.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Come to terms with people who make policy. You have an extra edge in any determined action to improve your position. Family and associates are full of useful ideas.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Attend to official applications, searches for new resources or information. Letters what is owed you. Keep your sales resistance unusually high.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Make a balanced schedule early in the day and follow it. Let your friends be known, seek others of like persuasion, organize group efforts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Follow up results from recent experiments. Look for fresh contacts. Some people show energy beyond your estimates. Be willing to change your relationships.
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Get out early, catch up on the latest news. It's a deal-making day in business and many career-fields. You may have to improve some social arrangements.
