Your Horoscope

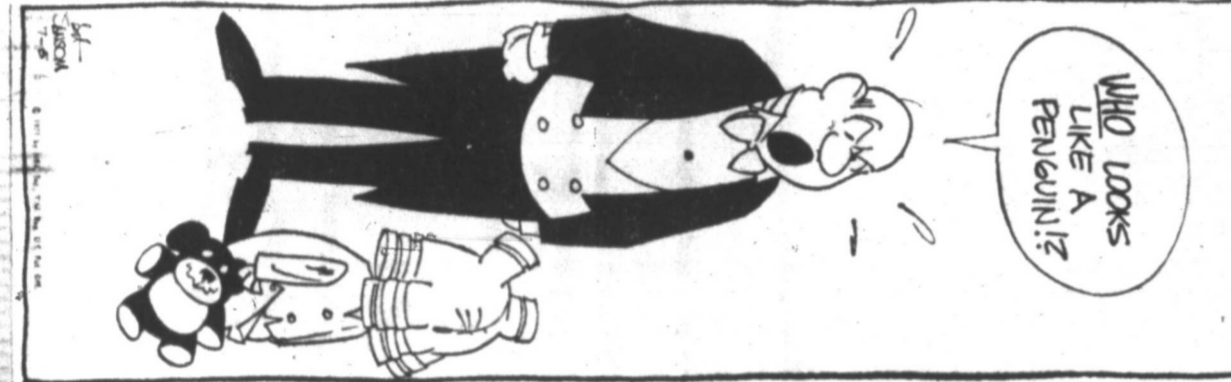

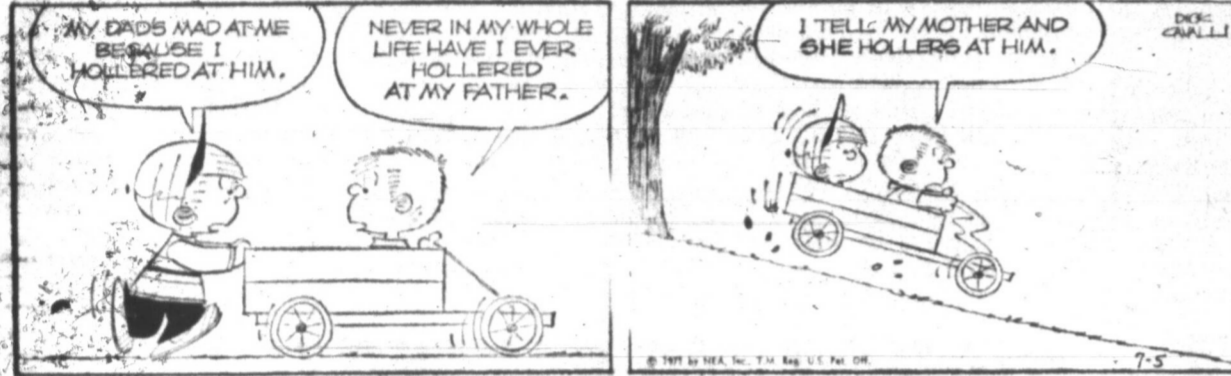

SUNDAY, JULY 4
YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: Read judgment becomes a way of life for all of today's natives, including our nation, in the coming year. At the moment there is a mixture of good, bad, and indifferent news for almost everybody, on all levels. Today's natives are industrious, particularly about petty details, easy-going, but with a changeable temper.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You have responsibility while others are free to loaf or play. Travel is the least favored form of action and should be off-schedule.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Scattering your time in so many diverse directions is complicated enough, but a last-minute invitation also influences your plans.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Your opinions find a varied audience, including quite a number who have paid you little attention in the past.
CANCER (June 21-July 21): Social activities fill your holiday. Make the rounds. You've neglected too many people and tomorrow will be busy doing something extra to make amends.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Deeds and facts speak for themselves. You need to do more than help others to see them.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Put aside career ambitions and give yourself a complete holiday. Even in possibly crowded conditions, personal hopes receive strong emphasis and encouragement.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Give yourself time and space to settle long-standing questions. An excellent opening exists for seeing things in larger perspective.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Only the very astute viewer will be aware of the tremendous potentials present in today's scene. Tomorrow will be a day of time to begin action on what you work up in your mind.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You needn't take everybody and everything all face value just as you can't get away with pranks very long either.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Overloaded schedules, too long commutes, and detailed approaches force simplicity as the day wears on.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Friends, family, neighbors show specific needs when you're least set to cope with them. Time spent explaining earthly relations sustained make it worthwhile.
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): If there's an awkward or inconvenient path available, somebody will try it. Be patient with yourself first, then with others.

MONDAY, JULY 5
Your birthday Monday. Developing your own will and initiative comes first in your success-pattern for the coming year. Attention to health-preserving habits, improvement in your local environment, and the most essential Monday's natives make effective custodians.
ARIES (March 21-April 19): -Bring criticism over five points is natural this morning but does not endeavor you to fellow workers. Take the broad view and conventional review method.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20): -Changes crop up unexpectedly all day. Surprises bear both gifts and surprises. Gather old friends about you in the evening. You are burdened with urgent chores and errands adding as if they'd be persistent work, whatever the cost in time and money.
CANCER (June 21-July 21): -Your own initiative should be the sole guideline Monday. Your tested skills and knowledge will give a testing job a busy day. You may cause misunderstandings.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): -Small issues show up suddenly as if they relate to major questions. Relax, take a second look, compare opinions, get things back into perspective.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): -Be wary about accepting anything Sunday that you may get it just as you described it. Flippant attitudes trigger unexpected. Virgo's attitude is not to be taken for granted.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): -Long study and review of your life and work come to definite presentation. Good or not so good, you've earned it; learn how these things build up and prepare for a livelier future.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): -Whether you're simply not skilled or not in a favorable position for effective competing, you may temporarily miss something interesting.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): -Pick up a heavy work load your day. You're full of tasks and details that you'll be glad of a social break.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): -Recent work comes into better focus and you can add many adjustments, finishing touches. A testing job gets underway well if you will really push.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): -Arrange your material systematically, know your story, then extemporize and proceed as the course of the moment requires.
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): -Challenge arises on all sides, on many issues you'd thought settled a done. State your case clearly.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The first problem reported aboard the Mariner 9 spacecraft since its launch—a design error—could force the craft to cut its scientific mission around Mars three months short.
The California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion Laboratory said Tuesday an error in the design of an electronic circuit was causing the attitude stabilization system to use nitrogen faster than planned.
A spokesman said the problem isn't expected to interfere with the unmanned, 2,200-pound craft's initial 90-day orbit of the red planet, scheduled to start Nov. 13, with television transmissions and tests of the Martian atmosphere.
But the difficulty could cut the craft's succeeding extended mission from nine months to six, the spokesman said, if the consumption of nitrogen used to fire stabilizing nozzles can't be cut down.

MANKATO, Minn. (AP) — Thieves lugged a safe weighing more than 400 pounds from the Minneapolis Concrete Products Co. office near Mankato to a worked out gravel pit to break open.
After they'd given the door a working over and removed it, they found nothing but old papers and records. The door wasn't locked in the first place, company officials said.
Sheriff LaRoy Wiebold said after relating the Tuesday incident, "If we can't catch 'em we might as well embarrass 'em."

IN PAY, BENEFITS

Federal Employees Close Gap On Private Industry

WASHINGTON (AP) — The poor civil servant of legend, hanging on to a government job only because of the security it gave him, has graduated into the affluent society.

Over the past decade federal employees have closed the gap on private industry, riding a high-speed escalator that has produced 10 salary increases since 1962 when the government launched a program to upgrade federal pay.

Among the results of that program:

- The average federal employee covered by civil service earned $11,065 during the last fiscal year, and a 6 per cent raise in January guarantees this year's figure will be higher.
- The annual average pay for the government's version of a middle management junior executive has increased $8,000; pay for the top grade under civil service, GS-18, has doubled to $36,000.
- The federal payroll also has doubled, to more than $50 billion a year, including $20 billion for uniformed members of the armed forces.
- Raises have become automatic under a formula based on a sampling of wages paid by private industry; if wages in the private sector go up, so goes government pay.
- Going strictly by this fixed formula, which follows inflation like the tail of a kite, another 6 per cent raise for civilian employees of the government is virtually certain next year.

This pocketbook boon was achieved deliberately under a program begun by the Kennedy administration to make government pay competitive with private enterprise.

The object was to recruit and retain better talent to run the government. That the salary gap has been narrowed is beyond question. The professional chemist who trailed his counterpart in private business by almost $5,000 in 1962 now earns $25,174 a year, or about $2,600 less than the private industry man. Given the fact that government fringe benefits generally exceed those of private industry, and the government man probably is ahead.

There is no way to document whether the program's goal of getting top talent has been attained. The Civil Service Commission insists that it has.

Since the federal government, with 3 million civilians on its payroll, is the nation's biggest employer, its wage rates have a definite impact on the general economy, and on wages in the private sector.

Merely by becoming competitive, the government has put pressure on private employers to meet the competition. Local government, on the other hand, finds itself struggling to keep up with both.

Increasingly, private employees are complaining they can no longer compete with government pay, even for clerical help.

Nevertheless, an interim report by a Civil Service Commission task force studying the entire pay picture says "comparability of federal pay should be more directly related to comparability with pay practices and labor market or employment characteristics in the nonfederal sector than is presently the case."

Setting government pay rates in line with private industry starts with a Bureau of Labor Statistics survey. Selected federal jobs are compared to jobs in private enterprise with similar duties and responsibility. From these benchmark jobs rates are set for other jobs in the same grades.

This simple-looking procedure is fraught with built-in problems.

Moisture Situation Better In South, Worse In North

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — There's still a need for general groundsoaking rains statewide since rains this past week were confined largely to southern and south central areas, said John E. Hutchinson, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Crops, pastures and rangelands are beginning to suffer, he said, although some crops continue to make fair to good progress but rain is needed to maintain this progress.

Livestock conditions range from poor to good depending directly upon the rainfall received, he said. Except for alfalfa, hay yields are averaging well below normal and rain is needed for regrowth.

"We are continuing to operate largely on a shower to shower basis," the director said and this is not a good situation. Irrigated crops on the other hand continue to make good progress under generally good growing conditions.

For a closer look at the agricultural situation in the various areas of the state, the district agricultural agents gave Hutchinson his mid-week summary:

PANHANDLE: The wheat harvest made good progress with yields from irrigated fields producing near normal yields. Dryland yields were on the low side. Grain Sorghum planting was about complete. Ranges were still below normal and some counties reported that cattle are still getting supplemental feed. Soil moisture over the area was short.

SOUTH PLAINS: Cotton and grain sorghum made good progress with the continuing warm and sunny weather. Scattered areas in southern parts of the district still need moisture for planting. Soybeans are being replanted on some cotton acreage that was hailed out. The second cutting of alfalfa was underway and yields were good. Livestock generally were in good condition due to the improvement made by rangelands. General groundsoaking rains would be welcomed.

Rolling Plains: Showers up to three inches fell in several counties but 18 counties are still short on moisture and only four have adequate moisture. The wheat harvest is complete, stubble22 g0-ing is underway. Cotton planting was complete in several counties and averages near 90 per cent complete in all others. Stands and growth ranged from fair to good. Guar and grain sorghum planting is continuing as is the potato harvest in the Munday area. Ranges have improved but rain is still needed for stock water and further improvement. Some livestock were still being fed and marketed.

NORTH CENTRAL: Soil moisture continued short to very short in all counties except Ellis where it was adequate. The small grain harvest was complete and yields were not good but were better than expected. Cotton growth was good but most is needing moisture. Insect situation is generally favorable though fleahoppers are causing damage in some areas. Grain sorghum growth is good but greenbugs are showing up in spotted infestations and some spraying is being done. Some reports of midge in late planted fields were noted. Pastures and ranges are below average.

NORTHEAST: Soil moisture short to very short and all crops, pastures and ranges need rain. There were a few showers but general moisture is badly needed. Hay yields were below normal by as much as 50 per cent in some counties. The dry weather is causing corn to suffer and red spider mites are also causing damage. Pastures are below average but livestock are in good condition considering the weather. Stock water is short.

FAR WEST: Soil moisture conditions are very spotted. Ranges have improved in the rain favored areas and livestock condition ranges from fair to good depending upon moisture received. Irrigated crops continue to make good growth. The second cutting of alfalfa is underway. General rains were needed for range and dryland crop development.

WEST CENTRAL: Rains and showers spotted and varying widely in amounts. Up to four inches fell in parts of Sterling County and some areas of Runnels County were washed out while others remain dry. Hay yields are light as immature stands are being baled. Cotton is growing but some trrip damage was reported in Taylor County. Grain sorghum stands are average to above and in most counties rain is needed. Some watermelons are being harvested in Mason County. The peach crop was listed as nil and pecan prospects not much better, especially in the southern counties. Pastures and ranges have improved and livestock are holding their fair to good condition.

CENTRAL: Rain is badly needed throughout the district; however, some locally heavy showers in the Blacklands have assured a good grain sorghum crop in these areas. Most grain sorghum is two to four weeks later than normal. Cotton in the Blackland counties continues to make fair progress. Peanut planting ranged from 70 to 95 per cent complete and those under irrigation are making good progress. Lesser cornstalk borers are increasing in the Comanche-DelLeon area where the soil is dry. The pecan crop will be short and peach yields are low and the fruit is small in size and quality is below average. Livestock conditions reflected the dry weather and the movement to market was listed as steady.

EAST: Scattered showers have failed to relieve the short soil moisture situation. Hay baling is continuing but rain is badly needed for regrowth. Corn is in the roasting ear stage and needs rain. Some vegetables are being harvested and are suffering from the lack of moisture. Showers helped pastures but they are still below average. Livestock are in fair to good condition. The market is steady to strong. General rain is needed.

SOUTHEAST AND UPPER GULF COAST: Scattered showers have helped some areas but soil moisture is generally short to very short and crops are reaching critical stages in their growth period. Cotton is making fair progress but boll weevils are increasing. Corn is and needs rain. Most grain sorghum is headed and needs rain to fill out the grain. The beginning harvest is three to four weeks away. Many rice fields are heading. About 85 per cent of the peanuts and soybeans have been planted. Peanuts are not growing due to lack of moisture but soybeans are making good progress but beginning to need rain. Hay being harvested showed improvements in both quantity and quality. Pecan prospects are for a light crop. Most livestock are in good condition and marketings are slow. Weed growth in pastures is heavy.

SOUTH CENTRAL: Showers were very heavy in the area around Gonzales but lighter in other scattered areas. Soil moisture as a result now ranges from very short to adequate. The rains will help late planted vegetable and hay crops and pastures and ranges. The stock water situation was also improved in the heavier rainfall areas. More rain is needed to keep pasture and range forage growing. Livestock are in fair to poor condition.

SOUTH: Parts of the area have received excessive rains since late last week with flooding along some of the rivers and streams of the heavy fall areas. Soil moisture in other counties remains short. Cotton continued to look good but some increase in bollworms and boll weevils was noted. Harvesting was increasing before the rains hit. Some grain sorghum harvesting was underway prior to the rains. Some has been baled for hay. The grazing situation was listed as critical on range but the rains should help though much was lost to runoff due to the lack of soil cover. Livestock are still being fed but some decrease in marketings was noted. A major concern in the southern counties now is the VEE disease among horses.

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II, who is seeking a pay raise from her subjects, has given up income worth $18 million pounds, or $108 million, since taking the throne 19 years ago, a government spokesman said.

Conservative peer Lord Aberdare told the House of Lords Wednesday that the money came from crown lands and was surrendered by the queen according to a 211-year-old tradition.

The queen has asked for an increase in her annual allowance of $1.4 million. Her request is being studied by Parliament.

AT FORT WORTH 64 Beauties Vying For Title Of Miss Texas This Week

FORT WORTH (AP) — The Miss Texas pageant marks a decade in Fort Worth this week with 64 contestants vying for the title and with the reigning Miss America on hand.

A record $6,500 in scholarships await the winner, finalists and others.

The 64 beauties began arriving Sunday for the week-long pageant, which, for the first time, is moving from Will Rogers Auditorium to the theatre of the convention center.

Phyllis George, Miss America, will appear as a dancer in each of three nights of preliminary competition as well as in Saturday night's coronation show.

Miss George, a Denton beauty representing Dallas here a year ago, is the first Texas representative to win the national title since Jo-Carroll Dennison of Tyler became Miss America in 1942.

Now Mrs. Russell Stoneham of Pacific Palisades, Calif., the 1942 Miss America returns this year as a member of the judges panel.

Joining Miss George as featured entertainers will be vocalist Joe DeVito; Miss Texas, Belinda Myrick of Odessa; and Maria Beale Fletcher, Miss America of 1962, mistress of ceremonies.

The former Miss Irving, Sandra Hogan, and the former Miss Richardson, Lisa Bryan, will appear as dancers.

Besides earning the right to represent the state in the Miss America pageant, the winner receives a $2,500 scholarship, a $3,000 wardrobe and a $500 fashion award.

Unless she follows in Miss George's footsteps in Atlantic City, she will reign a year as Miss Texas, appearing around the state as Texas' first lady of beauty.

Should she win the Miss America crown, the first runner-up will assume the state title, as was the case last year with Miss Myrick.

This marks the 10th consecutive year for the pageant to be held in Fort Worth.

A pageant spokesman said the state pageant and the 64 affiliated local preliminaries will have awarded more than $32,000 in scholarships this year.

The show will be telecast regionally by KTVT-Fort Worth beginning Saturday at 10:15 p.m.

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. (AP) — The son of Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., has been charged with using marijuana, authorities report.

James Hart, 20, was freed on a $300 bond Wednesday night after appearing before Mackinac Island magistrate Richard Bagby.

State police said they found part of a marijuana cigarette when young Hart and two other persons were arrested Tuesday night at a park for being minors in possession of wine. Police said the marijuana butt was "less than half an inch long."

Radio and Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Paris is a woman's town," says the Henry Van Dyke poem. And now NBC's Aline Saarinen will be making some television history by becoming the first woman bureau chief in the French capital—or any other overseas television news bureau.

Mrs. Saarinen, widow of famed architect Eero Saarinen, began her television career in 1962 as the "Today Show" resident specialist on culture—especially the arts—and manners and morals. Gradually her base broadened until, as a network news correspondent, she has been covering political conventions, campaigns, space shots and even had a tour of duty in Vietnam.

Eut the idea of being the woman to cover that women's town has been on her mind since a day when Fred Friendly, then president of CBS News, made her an offer.

"He asked if we could talk privately," she recalled. "We met at a very small, dark French restaurant on Ninth Avenue, and he asked me to be their Paris correspondent. I just said I couldn't because I was under contract to NBC."

Later she asked Reuven Frank, NBC News president, about the assignment. He liked the idea, but the mills of television grind slowly.

"When the offer finally came, it was like a second chance," she said. "Years ago President Kennedy asked me if I was interested in becoming Ambassador to Finland. I really regretted it when he changed his mind."

Mrs. Saarinen came to NBC after being art critic for the New York Times and, in 1958, was the author of the best-selling, "Prod Possessors," about great art collectors. Her husband died in 1961.

While the bureau is in Paris, she will be covering the whole country, the Benelux nations and will share Spain with the Rome bureau. She expects to be out of Paris about half the time covering politics, other hard news and features. Her conversational French is adequate, she said, and she has been taking a cram course to sharpen it.

SIMONS-GUILL

Victoria Kathryn Simmons

Mr. and Mrs. William V. Simmons of Stamford Conn. announce the engagement of their daughter, Victoria Kathryn Simmons, to Lt. Hugh Buckler Guill, U.S.A., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben H. Guill of Washington, D. C. Miss Simmons is a senior at Randolph-Macon Women's College, Lt. Guill, an alumnus of St. Albans in Washington, D. C., graduated Cum Laude from Washington and Lee University. His father is a former Congressman from the State of Texas, and was a member of the 81st Congress. Lt. Guill is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Buckler, and the late Mr. and Mrs. Hugh H. Guill, all of Pampa. The date of the wedding will be set upon the Lieutenant's return from Viet Nam.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A few years ago you printed a letter from a sergeant in Vietnam asking for pen pals. My son, Johnny, who was then 11, had a teacher who obtained the names of young men from our state who were serving in Vietnam, and she asked each child to write to a serviceman. I'm divorced and my "ex" ignores Johnny, so you can imagine my son's thrill when "his soldier" wrote back.

They corresponded for months, and at Christmas time I baked cookies for Johnny to send, and I enclosed a note expressing my appreciation to him for brightening my son's life.

In turn I received a lovely letter from the soldier saying how much he enjoyed Johnny's letters, and saying he had passed Johnny's name on to other soldiers who wanted a pen pal.

From time to time I'd send cookies, shoe laces and toilet articles to these servicemen, and Johnny saved up from his allowance to pay the postage. As it came time for each man to return home, I wrote making one request: "After arriving home and greeting family and friends, please let Johnny know you made it safely as he has been praying for your safe return."

Each one wrote back and promised he would, but not one kept his word. Abby, it nearly broke Johnny's heart. I have no explanation for him as to why each one broke his promise. Have you?

MRS. J. S.
DEAR MRS. J.S.: Perhaps some servicemen were simply negligent or thoughtless. Some could have returned home such physical and emotional wrecks that they didn't feel like facing anyone. And perhaps your son's pen pals were among those unfortunate 55,000 servicemen who never made it home.

DEAR ABBY: How do you tell a certain set of relatives to please leave their two poodles at home when they come to visit? They just left, and one of the poodles left his "trademark" on one of my silk chairs. This isn't the first time this has happened and I have had it. We have a new home with new furniture and carpeting and when their dogs have an accident (as they always seem to do here) they don't seem to be bothered at all.

These relatives have a lovely, expensive home of their own and are well able to refurnish if their things are ruined, but we have worked hard for what we have and we must make it last. What on earth can we do?

BAFFLED
DEAR BAFFLED: Tell those relatives that they are welcome, but not poodles who piddle, so please leave them at home.

During the 14-week period from Memorial Day to Labor Day Americans consumed an estimated 4.5 billion hot dogs! Last year, in the same period, 4.2 billion hot dogs were devoured.

Congressman Models Cosmetics For Television Makeup Show

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The congressman kept his cool until the eye makeup got in his eyes. That was a little too much and he called a halt to a rather uncomfortable appearance before the women's congressional club.

Rep. Burt Talcott, a handsome California Republican, had volunteered to be model for a class intended to show congressional wives how to help improve their husbands' appearance on television.

The instructor was Way Bandy, makeup director for a cosmetics firm. Charles of the Hitz. Bandy told his audience that carefully applied makeup was essential on TV. The subject, he pointed out, does not always look exactly as he expects to under the glare of lights.

Bandy first patted a lotion on his model's face.

"He's giving me a bath," the congressman commented.

Then Bandy mixed a combination of lotion and cream in the palm of his hand and applied it with meticulous care to Talcott's face. If the model were to appear on television the makeup would cover all visible skin—ears, neck, and hands. The demonstration was not so demanding.

"This won't look at all like makeup," he assured the silent, motionless Talcott. And from the audience, at least, it didn't.

Bandy used a cosmetic brush to apply face powder with extra attention to the forehead and nose, areas most likely to dampen under the hot lights.

If there had been dark circles under Talcott's eyes, which there were not, Bandy would have applied extra makeup lotion and powder. But the model's face had the healthy glow of an outdoorsman.

"A little golf helps," Talcott explained.

Next Bandy's attention went to eye makeup. This is a chore most women handle at least once a day, but it was a shock to a male congressman who isn't used to such refinements.

Mascara was not used. Perhaps this was because the bright lights might produce mascara-colored tears. Bandy wielded only an eye-liner pencil. "Eye-liner must be put under the lashes," he said, and rolled back Talcott's lids to demonstrate.

"Encourage your husband to have his lashes dyed," he advised the audience. "His eyes will look a little brighter."

He also recommended lip ice, to make the lips shiny.

But by now the model had grown restive. He appealed for a cleansing tissue—at once.

"I don't care about my face, it's my eyes," Talcott said. "I'm crying." Tears of joy, maybe, that it was over.

Two Ways To Prevent Zippers From Curling
By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—Gloria can keep the zipper in her turtle-neck sweater from curling if she sprays the inside with spray starch and then irons the tape.

—LYNDA R.

DEAR POLLY—Gloria wanted help with her curling zippers. I solved this by pinning them, wet, to my ironing board and leaving until dry. Stretch to the proper length, fasten through the tape top and bottom and allow to dry in this position. I use needles for pinning instead of pins to prevent any chance of rust.

DEAR POLLY—My priceless pewter pieces were long neglected due to my not knowing that there was such a thing as pewter polish. Now that is not really doing the job, especially in hard-to-reach places. Is there any other method of cleaning pewter? I would deeply appreciate hearing.

Caution on Weed Spray
 Mr. Winegeart was by the office last week and asked me to place a reminder in this column to caution those having aerial spraying done to consider the cotton farmers. Winegeart says he has up a good stand of cotton and would like to prevent any damage from weed spraying. Almost every year those having cotton in that vicinity have been hit with a weed killer. Usually this wrecks potential cotton yield. So please consider your neighbors.

Livestock Feeding Regulations
 Just ten years ago if someone had told a farmer or rancher he would have to get permission from some Government Agency before he could feed more than thirty head of cattle, the farmer or rancher would have said, "You are crazy." Well, they wouldn't tell you this now. Fact is, new regulations from a host of agencies are being applied from both the State and Federal level so fast you can't keep up with just what you can or can't do "down on the farm."

On the federal level they went back and picked up a law that was placed on the books in about 1890 that had to do with polluting streams. A few weeks ago we received information through The Texas Cattle Feeders Association that indicated even a small feeder would need a permit from this agency if the run-off water from any feedlot moved to a running stream.

Today, I received a new set of proposed regulations from Hugh Yantis, executive director, Texas Water Quality Board, that states a farmer feeding only thirty head of cattle must get a permit. There is another clause in the proposed regulations that states, "At the discretion of the Executive Director, any confined feeding operation may be required to comply with these regulations if in his opinion such compliance is necessary in order to achieve the policy and purpose enumerated, etc."

There will be a hearing in the State Highway Department Building in Austin at 9 a.m. on July 19, in order to consider and discuss this proposed order or regulations.

Over two decades ago the West Texas Chamber of Commerce saw the battle line shaping on the fight for who controlled the water. They pushed through the legislature bill that permitted the formation of Underground Water Districts. These districts have

LONDON (AP) — An American who describes herself as the Beatles' No. 1 fan claims she was socked in the nose by one of the objects of her devotion.

Carolyn Mitchell, 24, of Salt Lake City, demanded an apology from Paul McCartney for the incident she said occurred a week ago at his hillside hideaway near Campbelltown, Scotland.

Miss Mitchell said she was sitting on a neighbor's land when McCartney drove up and "started screaming and cursing and calling me things."

"He started hitting me and of Transportation was unable to put into affect a long list of new regulations that had to do with farm trucking.

There will be plenty more regulations proposed and imposed. The next thing you will hear about, as a farm employer, is safety. Some advance information has already been put out on this.

my nose began to bleed. He then pulled my hair," she said. "I think he's horrible," Miss Mitchell added. She said she had moved to London to be near the Beatles.

McCartney was quoted by the Daily Express as saying that although he told his fan to go away "in no uncertain terms," he did not hit her.

Police here said a report of Miss Mitchell's complaint would be sent to authorities in Scotland who will decide if charges are warranted.

NEW YORK (AP) — Unable to resist "such a delicious moment," Hermions Gingold, 74, says she has yielded to a proposal of marriage from a London antique dealer she has known for 20 years.

"He loves antiques and I think that's why he fell for me," the British comedienne said Thursday. She identified her suitor as Beaudoin Mills.

Leary, general operations manager Ford Tractor and Implement operations—North America, makes the presentation to Mrs. Simms looking on. Winner in the Grain Sorghum category, Simms is one of the 14 top U.S. farmers to receive the 12th annual Ford awards for outstanding agricultural accomplishment.

TANK WATER — The photo shows a water storage facility that was constructed with assistance through the Great Plains Conservation Program on the Aaron and Raymond Sullivan farm near MeLean.

SCS Endorses Tank Storage

The dry hot weather that the area has been having the past two summers has caused many of the livestock watering ponds to go dry according to Jim Roach of the Soil Conservation Service. Many of the ponds that are dry now have not been dry in several years. These dry times show why a steel tank rim or a corrugated galvanized tank rim with cement bottoms are so important to farmers and ranchers in this area.

A good livestock water well and a good water storage facility will normally supply drinking water for your livestock in the driest years. Also water storage facilities and wells can be placed in more convenient areas to distribute the grazing of livestock.

KETCHUM, Idaho (AP) — The widow of Ernest Hemingway will return here this month to hold a birthday party in his memory. Hemingway's eldest son Jack says.

The Nobel Prize-winning novelist took his own life here in Sun Valley on July 2, 1961. He would have been 72 on July 21. Jack Hemingway said Mary Hemingway will come to Ketchum from New York to hold a party for old friends of the author. "Papa would have liked the idea of all these people having this good time, rather than moping," he said.
