

Senate Queries Turn Up Viet Beauty's Role In Alleged PX Scandal

By JANE DENISON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — A sleek Asian beauty who wanted to open a combination brothel, steam bath and massage parlor for war weary GIs in Vietnam has been mentioned once again in the Senate's investigation of alleged corruption at post exchanges and service clubs in the war zone.

Madame Phoung — nicknamed "the dragon lady." The same woman was mentioned prominently in 1969 during previous congressional investigations of the same area. St. Martin said Mme. Phoung wielded her influence with Brig. Gen. Earl F. Cole to win a contract to build a pleasure spa at the U.S. Army headquarters base in Long Binh.

and the Pirate's comic strip," St. Martin testified. "The GIs at Long Binh had, fittingly, given her the nickname... She looked, dressed and acted like a dragon lady."

Soon after St. Martin became club and mess officer at Long Binh in October, 1967, he was taken for drinks to Mme. Phoung's villa by M. Sgt. William Higdon, Cole's hand-picked manager of the enlisted men's clubs.

and wanted her to win the job, St. Martin said. Personal Approach He said he was taken to a room and was about to take a shower when there was a knock on the door.

"She said, 'I have been instructed to remain with you overnight.' 'That's nice,' I said and invited her in."

saying she "was in a hurry to know" whether she was to get the contract. When he told her the decision was up to the club board of governors, St. Martin said, "the dragon lady" told him Cole wanted her to have the contract and that she was going to talk with the general.

JAPANESE FEAR ARMAMENT

Sato Declares Japan Must Rely On U.S. For Nuclear Protection

By MIMS THOMASON
President of United Press International
TOKYO (UPI)—Prime Minister Eisaku Sato said today the Japanese people fear that their rearmament could lead to another war.

I have absolutely no intention of amending Article Nine of the constitution. Sato said Japan will have a difficult time replacing U.S. military forces which President Nixon is withdrawing from Japan as well as other East Asian nations.

The leader of Japan's conservative government said in an exclusive interview that he never will repeal Japan's unique constitutional ban on war and the maintenance of regular military forces.

"The vacuum that will be created by the pullout of American forces must be filled by each country under the Guam Doctrine," the Japanese prime minister said.

The prime minister said his nation must rely on the United States for nuclear protection after most American troops are withdrawn from East Asia.

"We have to keep our self-defense strength commensurate with our national strength and the situation at home," Sato said.

"Our national strength is increasing and Japan's economy now is the second largest after the United States in the free world.

Final Population Figures Released For Area Towns

The U.S. Census Bureau's final population count in the 18th Congressional District shows Pampa's 1970 city population at 21,725 and the total for Gray County, 25,949.

The 1960 population count for Pampa was 24,694 and for Gray County, 31,535.

Japan, a nation of 103 million people, maintains small air, ground and naval self-defense forces of 258,980 men and, Sato said, spends only seven-tenths of one per cent of its gross national product on defense.

The final report released today through Congressman Bob Price's office shows McLean dropped from 1,330 in 1960 to 1,183 in 1970.

Article Nine of Japan's constitution, written after its World War II defeat, renounced war as a sovereign right of the nation and prohibited maintenance of regular military forces or other war potential.

The population in Letors declined from 864 to 816 in the ten-year period.

Sato's Liberal Democratic Party, a grouping of the conservative factions which have ruled since Japan's 1945 surrender except for a brief Socialist government, is studying possible constitutional changes.

White Deer shows a gain from 1,057 to 1,092 and Groom from 679 to 808. Skellytown dropped from 967 to 716 and Panhandle from 7,781 to 6,358.

Big Powers Make Effort To Extend Mideast Truce

Cease-Fire Renewed Twice Since August

By United Press International
The big powers are looking for a face-saving method of allowing Israel and Egypt to extend their cease-fire past the Sunday deadline and continue peace talks, diplomatic sources said in London today.

BATTLEFIELD HUMOR is displayed by American troops on the road to Laos, keeping Route 9 to the border open in support of the South Vietnamese operation. They tagged their 175mm gun "Undertaker."

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was holding preliminary discussions on the cease-fire with his top military and political advisers in Cairo today. The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said he would announce his decision Sunday.

The cease-fire has been renewed twice since it went into effect Aug. 7. Fighting Unlikely The London sources said soundings in Cairo and Jerusalem indicated neither side is likely to resume fighting even if there is no formal extension of the cease-fire, but the big powers felt an extension would help relieve tension along the Suez Canal.

Egypt has placed its forces on full alert in the canal zone and major increases in troop and weapons movements by both Israel and Egypt have been reported near the canal in the past two days.

Diplomatic sources said the big powers were considering an appeal for a cease-fire extension by either the Big Four or U.N. Secretary-General Thant as a method of saving face for Egypt and Israel.

Four GIs Kidnaped In Ankara
ANKARA (UPI) — Five armed men kidnaped four U.S. Air Force noncommissioned officers today and demanded $100,000 for their release, Turkish police said.

The Americans, stationed at Kepekli radar station near Ankara, were on patrol duty when the kidnapers stopped their automobile early today.

Four kidnapers forced the Americans into another automobile while the fifth kidnaper bound the Turkish driver of the American vehicle and drove off with it, a police spokesman said.

Police identified the abducted men as Richard Crasy, James Gulson, Jimmy Sexton and Larry Heaver.

They included: Mayor Milo Carlson for re-election, George B. Cree Jr. for re-election as commissioner in Ward 1, Leo Braswell for re-election as commissioner in Ward 3, and R.D. Wilkerson, seeking to fill a one-year unexpired term as commissioner in Ward 2.

Carlson, Cree and Braswell all will be seeking second terms on the council.

Red Delegates Boycott Talks

PARIS (UPI) — The chief negotiators from the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegations boycotted the Paris talks today to protest what they claimed were American threats to invade North Vietnam.

INSIDE LAOS

S. Viets Kill 383 Reds In '100 Per Cent Victory'

SAIGON (UPI) — The South Vietnamese command today reported government troops killed 383 Communist troops in a "100 per cent victory" inside Laos near Hill 31, the outpost overrun by North Vietnamese forces a week ago.

Military spokesmen said only three South Vietnamese were wounded in nearly 24 hours of fighting seven miles inside Laos, a little more than a mile southeast of Hill 31.

"This is a 100 per cent victory," said a military spokesman in Saigon. The battle was centered around a government camp four miles north of Highway 9. The casualty toll claimed by the Saigon government spokesman was one of the highest in nearly two years.

Ky: 'Need More Bombing' Vice President Nguyen-Cao Ky visited support bases for the Laotian drive just inside the border today and called for more B52 bombing raids and bombing of North Vietnam if the Laos campaign is to succeed.

"If we continue to have the necessary support from U.S. forces, I think it will be a Dien Bien Phu in reverse," Ky said. His reference was to the Communist Viet Minh defeat of the French in May, 1954.

South Vietnamese spokesmen in Saigon today revised an earlier report saying government forces killed 332 Communist troops Wednesday in fighting 10 miles east of the Laotian border. The spokesman said the Communist casualties were over a nine-day period in an operation in Kontum province 270 miles north-northeast of Saigon.

South Vietnamese casualties were listed at 14 killed, 64 wounded and five missing. Heavy U.S. Casualties The U.S. command said today

Church Trial Of Preacher Postponed

SAN ANTONIO — The church trial of the Rev. Wil Schaefer, former pastor of the First United Methodist Church in Laredo, Texas, has been postponed until March 11 to give his counsel more time to prepare his defense. The trial was formerly scheduled for March 4.

Announcement of the postponement was made by United Methodist Bishop W. Kenneth Pope of the Dallas-Fort Worth area who will preside at the trial at the request of the San Antonio Area Bishop O. Eugene Slater.

Bishop Pope said that the Rev. Jerry D. Smart and the Rev. Richard B. Lear, church-appointed counsels for Mr. Schaefer, requested additional time to prepare their defense. Mr. Schaefer is charged with immorality, disobedience to the order and Discipline of the United Methodist Church, and unministerial conduct.

"We want there to be no semblance of either side being at a disadvantage," said Bishop Pope. "I was glad to grant this request so that Mr. Schaefer may be assured of a fair trial."

The March 11 trial will be held at St. Mark's United Methodist Church in San Antonio, beginning at 10 a.m.

U.S. Senate Okays Voting Right Laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A proposed constitutional amendment to give 18-year-olds the right to vote in all elections was approved unanimously by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The House Judiciary Committee approved an identical proposal Tuesday, 33 to 2. The overwhelming committee votes virtually assured congressional action this year to submit an amendment to the states for ratification. Three-fourths of the states must ratify it for it to become part of the Constitution.

House To Give Second Approval To Tax Bill Inflated By Solons

AUSTIN (UPI)—A record tax bill inflated even further by eager legislators must be approved today before sneaking into the Senate where it is not expected to be welcomed with enthusiasm.

The tax bill, largest in the state's history, was pumped to a record $492.5 million Wednesday before the House gave it's preliminary 85-59 approval.

Just hours earlier, the House voted to raise $88 million in new revenue by more than doubling the resident tuition in state supported colleges, and boosting the rates nonresident students must pay by more than 150 per cent.

The House twice rejected proposed corporate profits tax plans and settled instead on a $132 million package based largely on sales taxes to finance the state for the next two years.

The original tax bill totaled $432 million. But Rep. Jim Nugent, D-Kerrville, won a lopsided 117-24 okay for his amendment to raise another $50 million by levying a 5-cent per gallon tax on jet fuel.

Rep. Nelson Wolff, D-San Antonio, tacked on another amendment to produce an additional $10.6 million by taxing mud-shell and gravel dredged off the Texas coast by up to 60 cents per cubic yard.

The tuition plan, sponsored by Rep. Grant Jones, D-Abilene, changes tuition charges from a flat $50 per semester fee to $7 per hour for resident students. The hourly fee would total $105 per semester for a normal 15-hour course load. Fees for non-residents were jumped from $200 per semester to $47 per hour, or $705 for the 15-hour course load.

Rep. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, and Rep. Tom Moore, D-Waco, both offered corporate profits tax proposals as alternatives to increasing the state franchise tax. Both contended the corporate profits levy would balance the tax bill between business and consumers.

The corporate profits measure got 61 votes—more than similar proposals have ever gotten in the House. Several House liberals said the vote puts the corporate profits tax within the realm of negotiation in conference committee should the Senate insist on such a plan.

Warming Trend Gives Texas Relief From Cold Effects

By United Press International

A warming trend gave Texans gentle relief today from the effects of a stormy cold front that brought snow and ice to northern sections of Texas and strong gale-force winds to the coastal areas.

The front powered into the Texas coast with winds up to 63 miles an hour Wednesday, churning up 30-foot seas.

Three shrimp boats with nine men aboard were lost in the high seas most of the day, but were found afloat in the evening. They were scattered across the Gulf more than 100 miles offshore. There were no casualties. Two boats had to be towed to shore by other vessels.

In North Texas, a warming trend melted most of the one- to three-inch snowfall, but some stretches of highway stayed icy-crustured. A woman in Fort Worth was killed in a traffic accident Wednesday blamed on the ice.

The snow fell as far south as Waco, but the cold front caused the most distress when it clashed with Gulf air, stirring up the strong gale along the coast.

The three missing shrimp boats all operated off the lower Gulf coast between Corpus Christi and Port Isabel.

The winds caused no serious injuries, but three Coast Guard sailors were dumped into the water when their vessel capsized during a rescue attempt. Coast Guard helicopter picked up Barry Ward, Bruce Asaro and David Baker from the ice-cold waters just north of Port Aransas.

Reports of boats in danger were received by the Coast Guard all day, according to Lt. J. P. Sutherland of the Corpus Christi station.

Sutherland said the gale also blew down Coast Guard radio antennas at Brownsville.

The winds also drove three barges into the Port Isabel causeway, and officials had to close it for six hours. It is the only waterway between the mainland and south Padre Island. No major damage was caused.

Power went out briefly at Port Isabel because the wind blew down some utility lines, and other reports of minor damage came in from around the city.

Pampa Man Accused Of Raping Local Woman Held In County Jail

Nelce LaVerne Johnson, 32, Pampa, is in Gray County Jail in lieu of $10,000 set by Justice of the Peace E. L. "Ed" Anderson when he was arraigned late yesterday on a charge of rape.

Charges were filed in District Court by a 30-year-old Pampa woman.

The woman allegedly was attacked by Johnson somewhere south of Pampa. An unidentified couple brought the woman to the police headquarters Tuesday night after finding her walking along Highway 70 some eight miles south of Pampa.

She told investigating officers that she did not know the man, but identified him yesterday from a police file photograph.

Don Bynum, an employee of a local cab company identified the suspect as the man he had seen with the woman earlier Tuesday night. Police reports state that the complainant had picked the suspect up at an E. Brown St. service station after he asked for a ride to a restaurant on E. Frederic.

She told police that the suspect drove around awhile and she wasn't sure of the location of the alleged attack.

Assistant Police Chief G. H. Wallace turned the case over to Gray County Sheriff's Department after the woman identified Johnson yesterday.

Deputy D. L. Day and Texas Ranger Bill Baten arrested Johnson yesterday at 3:40 p.m. and he was jailed following arraignment.

The woman told investigating officers that Johnson made her get out of her car following the alleged attack, and drove away.

Police located the car, with the keys in the ignition, near a local lounge shortly after the report was made Tuesday.

Events In State Legislature

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Events in the Legislature Wednesday:

Buffalo — The Buffalo may still roam, but the state of Texas now regards the almost once extinct bison no better than a cow. The Legislature approved two bills to delete buffalos from the list of game animals and repeal a state law requiring a special permit to sell, trade or kill one of the animals, thus putting the bison in a category as "domesticated animals."

Legislature — The House of Representatives twice rejected a proposed corporate profits tax and instead gave tentative approval to a $492.5 million package of selective taxes that includes new levies on jet fuel and shell dredging. The tax package came on the heels of an $88 million college tuition increase okayed during the morning session. This would give budget writers a total of $89 million in new revenue to cover proposed expenditures for the next year.

Loans — Senate critics complained a bill proposed by Sen. William T. Moore, D-Bryan, will more than double interest rates on some loans, permit exorbitant finance charges and place an unbearable burden on consumers. Moore's bill will remove the present 10 per cent "usury" limit on loans of $25,000 down and hike the present interest ceilings on loans of $2,500 or less.

A SERIOUS BLOW TO TEXAS

Pentagon Decides To Close Perrin Air Base

SHERMAN, Tex. (UPI)—The loss of Perrin Air Force Base will be a serious blow to the city but officials say the economy is strong enough to survive.

"The city will carry on because we've been here a long time and we're going to hang around a while longer," said Mayor S.E. Gillespie.

"Our Sherman economy is strong and diversified and will survive," Bell said. "We have already taken steps to survey what Perrin could be used for in event it was closed."

The Pentagon told Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., Wednesday it intended to close Perrin Air Force Base and reduce the number of persons at Ft. Wolters which is currently used to train helicopter pilots for Vietnam. It was also the installation where South Vietnamese helicopter pilots were trained as part of President Nixon's Vietnamization program.

Pentagon Decides To Close Perrin Air Base

Perrin Air Force Base was mostly used for F102 planes which are being phased out of the nation's defense system. The Air Force also said air traffic in that area is getting too congested and will be even more crowded when the regional airport opens in Grapevine.

Charles Cody, who runs a car dealership in Sherman, said the loss of Perrin will not be too serious a blow.

"Someone will occupy the facilities whether it is the Air Force or Braniff or a regional airport," he said. "I don't think it will run the economy because so much of the Air Force money went into their own pharmacy and commissary and most had their own housing."

Jane Vineyard, an assistant director in the school district's business office, said taxpayers will have to make up the money the district will lose in federal payments.

"And then we'll lose some students and teachers and cafeteria personnel," she said.

"I hate to see it go, but I'm a little biased," Mrs. Vineyard said. "My husband is a civilian employe at the base. This is a nice town. We've raised our two boys here and we want to stay."

Tower's office said the senator spent Wednesday "trying to find a way to make them change their minds" about closing the base. He said the senator hoped the base could be turned over to some other agency of the government.

Rep. Ray Roberts, D-Tex., also tried to get the Pentagon to change its plans. Perrin is located in Roberts' district.

"It'll hurt the whole city," said Sherman resident Scott Aston, 65. "I was sure surprised because I thought Sen. Tower or Congressman Roberts could keep the thing for us."

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Hardly a week goes by that some publisher doesn't bring forth a new cookbook and a new book of exercises. If you examine it closely, you will notice a cause-and-effect relationship in this situation.

The effect of the cookbook is to make you gain weight, causing you to buy the exercise book in an effort to reduce.

The effect of the exercise book is to stimulate your appetite, causing you to buy the cookbook in an effort to appease your hungry pains.

The total effect is to cause publishers to get rich.

There is, however, a way to break this cycle. It can be done by combining isometrics, aerobics and calisthenics with a collection of gourmet recipes.

New-Type Book Proposed
The result would be a single, all-purpose volume called "gourmets."

Each recipe in that book would be carefully balanced with exercise so that the number of calories in the dish would be offset by the calories expended during its preparation.

The following recipe is offered for illustration purposes only and should not be tried except at your own risk:

Crepes Push-ups
Ingredients: 1 cup pancake mix; 1/2 cup milk; 1 egg; 1 set dumbbells; 1 sweatshirt; 1 pair gym shoes.

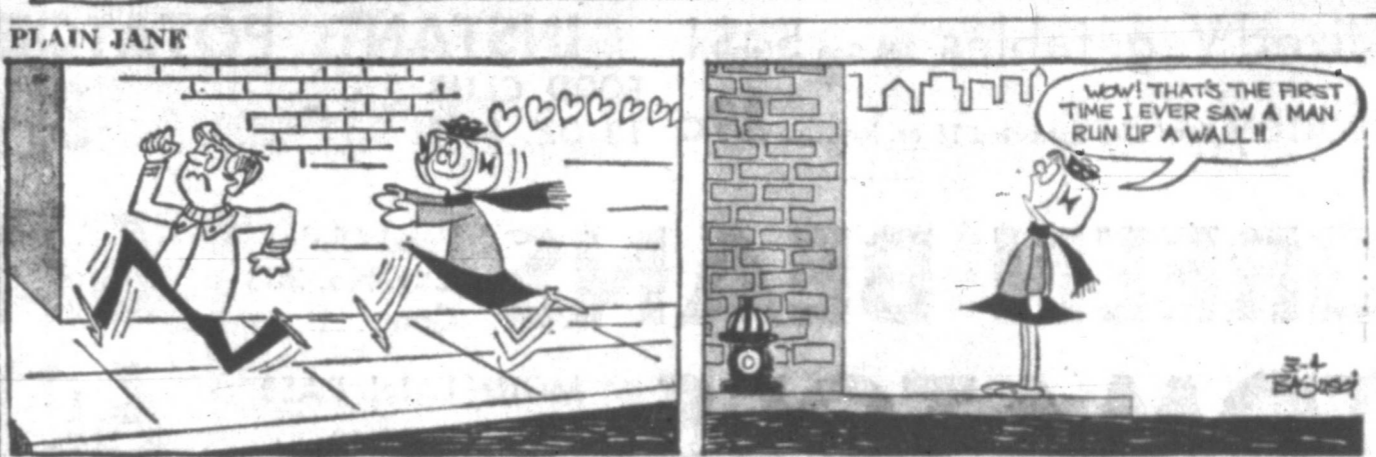

Put pancake mix in cup and place on kitchen floor. Don sweatshirt and gym shoes. Lower self to floor beside pancake mix and grasp handle of cup in teeth.

Diet Plus Exercise
Keeping knees and back straight, lift cup by straightening arms, turning head to side to avoid spilling pancake mix. Lower body until cup touches floor and lift again, this time turning head to opposite side. Repeat 250 times while oven pre-heats to 250 degrees.

Pour milk into bowl with pancake mix. Holding bowl with both hands, extend arms forward and bend at waist until bowl touches floor. Return to erect position and raise bowl overhead without bending elbows. Continue until giddy (approx. 10-11 mins.).

Break egg into bowl. Place handle of spoon in mouth and hold one dumbbell in each hand. Rotate head to stir ingredients in bowl, meanwhile rotating dumbbells with extended arms.

Spread butter in bread pan and place on floor. At count of one, bend knees. At count of two, pour small dab of mixture in pan. At count of three, straighten knees. Repeat until pan is full or bowl is empty. Place pan in oven and jog around kitchen until crepes turn brown or face turns purple (18-20 mins.).

Parmesan cheese and cornmeal make different dinner rolls.

Parmesan 'Ices' Dinner Rolls

A novice or pro in the kitchen will beam with the results of a recipe for Parmesan Pan Rolls. Grated Parmesan cheese is mixed into the yeast dough, plus corn meal. Rolls are brushed with a Parmesan butter sauce before baking to tempt all at the table.

This is a good recipe to prepare and freeze after baking.

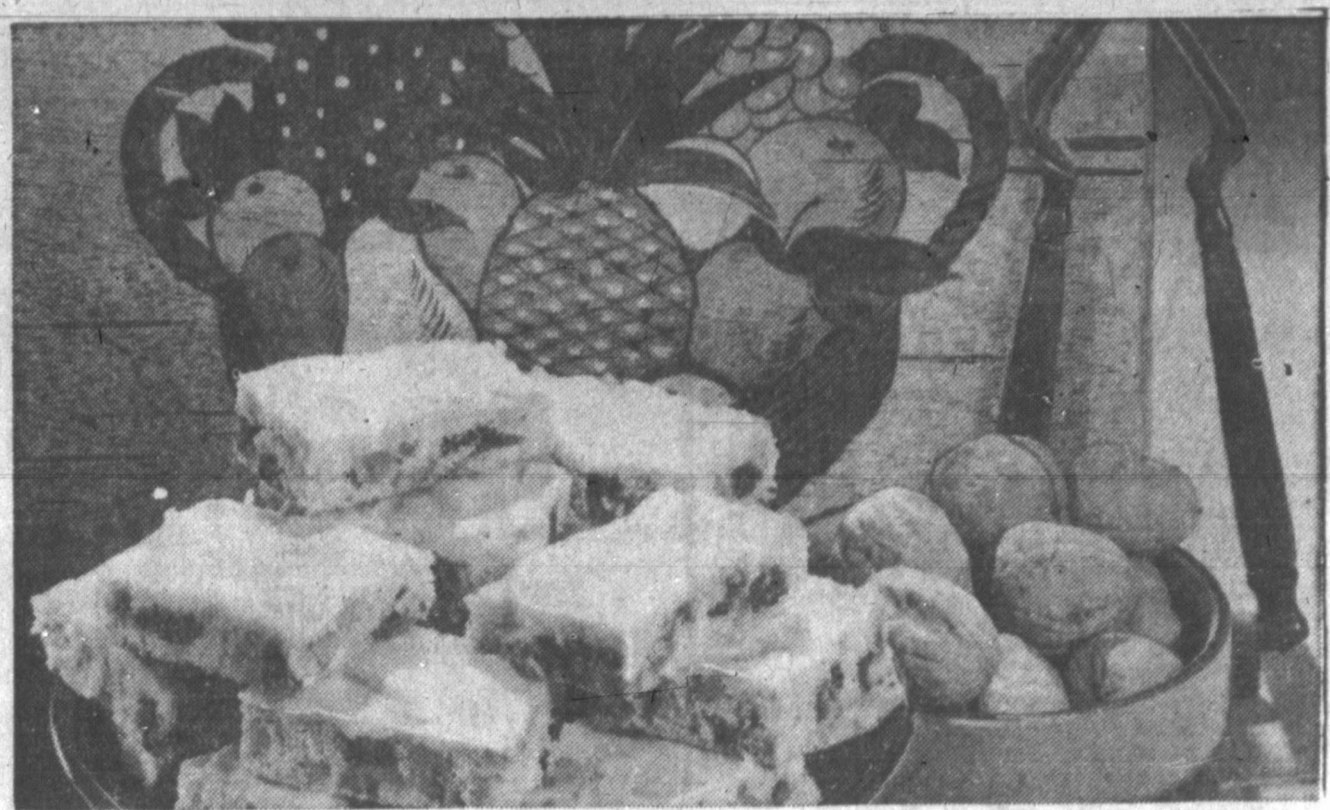

PARMESAN PAN ROLLS

Dough
2 cakes compressed or 2 pkg. dry yeast
1/2 cup lukewarm water
1 cup milk scalded
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1-3/4 cup butter or margarine
3 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon salt
4 1/4 to 4 3/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 cup enriched corn meal
2 eggs
PARMESAN BUTTER
1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
Soften yeast in lukewarm water. (Use warm water for dry yeast.) Combine milk, cheese, butter, sugar and salt in large mixing bowl; stir to melt butter. Cool to lukewarm. Blend in 1 cup flour. Add softened yeast, corn meal and eggs. Beat until smooth. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas. Knead until smooth and satiny, about 10 minutes. Round dough into ball; place in greased bowl; brush lightly with melted shortening. Cover and let rise until double in size, about 45 minutes. Punch dough down; divide in half. Shape each half into 18 balls and dip tops in Parmesan butter made by combining melted butter and Parmesan cheese. Place in two greased 9-inch round cake pans. Cover and let rise in warm place until nearly double in size, about 45 minutes. Bake in preheated moderate 375-degree oven 30 to 35 minutes. Remove from pan; brush with remaining Parmesan butter. Serve warm. Makes 3 dozen rolls.

TRIM SPARINGLY the various kinds of lettuce that come into your kitchen. Why? Because the darker green outer leaves often contain considerably more nutrition than the inner leaves. Discard as little of the outer leaves of lettuce as possible to get the most Vitamin A, Vitamin C and minerals for your money. Iceberg, Romaine and other types of lettuce are in good supply at your market now.

Fruit bars prove treats with walnuts, pineapple, bananas and sliced dates.

Glazed Fruit Salad Bars Make Versatile Breakfast

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor
Ever thought of having a Fruit Salad Bar for breakfast?

CAROLYN'S COLLECTIONS

By CAROLYN ANDERSON
CHICKEN ALMOND
1/4 c. onion, chopped
1/2 c. celery, chopped
2 tbs. butter
Can mushroom soup
1/2 c. chicken stock (May be made from Chicken Bouillon Cubes)
2 tbs. lemon juice
2 tbs. Soy Sauce
2 c. diced cooked chicken
two-thirds c. slivered almonds
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. black pepper
Extra Slivers of chicken
Saute chopped onion and celery in butter. Add soup and gradually stir in chicken stock. Allow to come to boiling point, stirring constantly until smooth and creamy. Add remaining ingredients and simmer about 20 minutes. Serve over hot cooked rice and garnish with slivers of chicken. Sprinkle with paprika. This will serve six. It freezes well.

This is a versatile use of what many think of strictly dessert fare. But, the nutritional ingredients make them a real pick-me-up for mom at mid-morning with her coffee or tea and a hearty child-filler when served with milk for breakfast. Save a few for company, too.

The Fruit Salad Bars are chockful of California walnuts, crushed pineapple, fresh bananas and sliced dates, then topped with a lemon glaze.

For attractive results prepare the bars in the manner of a cake and cool thoroughly before cutting into rectangles or squares. These may be made ahead and will stay fresh and moist when sealed in clear plastic wrap.

FRUIT SALAD BARS
1/4 c. shortening

2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
1 8-ounce can crushed pineapple
1/2 c. mashed banana
2 c. sifted all-purpose flour
1 1/2 tps. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. nutmeg

1 c. coarsely chopped California walnuts
1 c. sliced pitted dates
Lemon Glaze
Cream shortening, sugar, eggs and vanilla together well. Turn pineapple into strainer and drain well, pressing out all excess syrup with back of spoon. Add drained pineapple and banana to creamed mixture. Resift with baking powder, salt and nutmeg. Stir into creamed mixture. Mix in walnuts and dates. Spread in greased 10x15x1-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees 25 to 30 minutes. Cool to lukewarm, then spread with Lemon Glaze. Cool thoroughly before cutting. Cut into bars or squares. Makes 3 dozen bars about 2 1/2 x 1 1/4 inches.

LEMON GLAZE
Combine 1 1/2 tablespoons melted butter, 1 1/2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 tablespoon water, a dash salt and 2 cups sifted powdered sugar and blend until smooth.

Business Today

By LEROY POPE
UPI Business Writer
NEW YORK (UPI) — A gleaming copper-nickel-hulled 67-foot shrimp boat launched in mid-February was built by a Mexican company to be operated off Nicaragua in the Caribbean by Booth Fisheries, a Chicago firm.

The copper-nickel hull, resistant to barnacles and corrosion, is expected to enable the vessel to fish all year without loss of speed or time due to bottom fouling.

About the same time Union Carbide Corp. announced it was entering the shrimp fishing and packing business. It sent three Indian-based trawlers to the waters off Kuwait to supply shrimp to United States and Asian markets.

The shrimp market, which once catered to gourmets, is showing enough growth potential to attract big companies. It also has produced some touchy encounters between the United States and Mexico and the United States and Cuba.

In 1969, U.S. boats hauled in 317 million pounds of shrimp valued at $123 million. Another 190 million pounds were imported.

"The potential is fantastic," said B. V. Salenius, managing director of Union Carbide India Limited. "India could be just a beginning of our fishing operations," said James W. Wilson, a Union Carbide staff member in New York.

The growth of shrimping has accentuated hazards and the "shrimp wars."

Oil spills from tankers or offshore oil well leaks endanger baby shrimp if the oil residue is allowed to sink to the bottom after being treated with dispersant chemicals. Hurricanes can wipe out entire shrimp beds.

Arguments over jurisdictional rights to shrimp close inshore have touched off international disputes. There have been clashes between Mexican authorities and U.S. shrimpers who venture closer than 12 miles to Mexico's coast. Florida authorities seized some of Cuba's fleet of 150 modern shrimp boats just outside the 12-mile limit. But the federal court at Tallahassee ordered the state to cease interfering with Cuban shrimpers unless they strayed across the 12-mile line.

Fishery experts of 30 nations have a continuing program to survey and improve shrimp production and make shrimp and prawns a food for all mankind.

Scientists also are learning how to farm shrimp and make them grow fast and fat close inshore. When that happens at a commercial rate, the industry really should take off.

JOB ACTION WEDDINGS
LONDON (UPI)—A clergyman fed up with Britain's seemingly endless labor unrest announced today he is offering a special service to strikers: work-to-rule weddings.

"We will have no church heating, no organ, no choir, no bells, no lighting, photographs or confetti," said the Rev. Donald Pateman, vicar of St. Mark's Church in Dalston, North London.

"It is a case of an eye for an eye," he said. "These ruddy strikers get my goat by holding the public to ransom. I might be called unchristian, but the strike weapon is becoming far too strong."

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—What surely must be the most dismaying news of the year thus far was the recent report that the number of speeches delivered each week in New York City has almost doubled in the past decade.

According to estimates published in the Wall Street Journal, the weekly average is now about 11,000 speeches, compared to a mere 6,000 addresses 10 years ago. Current projections indicate that by 1980 the figure will nearly double again, reaching a rate of 20,000 speeches per week.

Although statistics for the nation as a whole were not given, there is no reason to suppose they would be any less consternating. Such evidence as is available suggests that the entire country is experiencing an oratorical explosion.

News of the big upsurge in lectern loquacity hit like a thunderbolt at the national offices of the Planned Peroration Society, a private organization dedicated to bombast control.

Wrong Impression
Franklin Spielcutt, director of the society, told me his group had been under the impression that platform volubility was leveling off and perhaps even declining slightly.

"This blows our whole antilocution program right out of the water," he said. "We had been relying primarily on educational campaigns to rally public opposition to rostrum garrulity.

"Obviously, however, that approach isn't working and stronger action is needed."

I said, "What do you regard as the main harm resulting from rampant speechifying?"

"At present, ecologists don't know for sure just what impact all of this hot air is having on the environment," Spielcutt admitted. "One long range effect may be the melting of the polar icecap."

Adverse Effects
"There is no doubt, however, that exposure to too many speeches adversely affects the human body, causing, among other things, acute exasperation."

PAMPA DAILY NEWS
PAMPA, TEXAS 4398 YEAR
Thursday, March 4, 1971

I said, "What bombast control measure is the Planned Peroration Society prepared to recommend?"

"We intend to throw our support behind the controversial project to develop a contravertibility pill," Spielcutt replied. "Research thus far indicates a breakthrough may be near on a pill that suppresses gradiloquence for periods of up to 24 hours if taken regularly."

"In preliminary tests, the pill even worked on U.S. senators and Women's Lib leaders."

"If these contravertibility devices fail to halt the rising speech rate, we'll have to ask President Nixon to try jawboning against it."

Dear Abby

By August Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My daughter and I are in total disagreement over a matter I wish you would settle. Becky (made-up name) is 19, which makes her an authority on everything. She attends college away from home. Becky now goes braless and says most of her girlfriends do, too. When Becky was home for vacation she wore a bra only as a concession to me, but she wasn't happy about it. I should explain that Becky is full-bosomed.

I told Becky that common sense should tell her that a full-bosomed girl needs to wear a bra for support, and if she goes without that support, in time all her muscles and tissues will be stretched and broken down and she will look like an old cow. Becky says I am all wrong and old-fashioned.

Abby, will you please tell her? She won't listen to me, and I don't want to be in a position of telling her, "I told you so," if she winds up wearing a size 42 Quadruple F cup by the time she's 30.

If I am wrong I will shut up. But if I'm right, I'd like her to find out before it is too late.

MIDWEST MOM
DEAR MOM: If Becky's bra size is 34 B or larger, she needs a bra for support. (P.S. More women look like "old cows" because they wore ill-fitting bras rather than none at all.)

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me who is right. I have a teen-age daughter who will soon be ready for dating. I have a sister-in-law who has a daughter the same age.

We were talking, and I told my sister-in-law that if a boy ever tried to take my daughter's virtue against her will, I would rather have her submit and come out of it unharmed than to put up a struggle and perhaps get killed. Even if my daughter were to become pregnant we could bear it together, but I would rather have my daughter alive in any shape.

My sister-in-law thinks I am out of my mind. What's your opinion?
A LOVING MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: I don't think you and your sister in law are communicating. I am sure your sister in law would rather have her daughter "alive in any shape," too. But if she actually would rather see her daughter dead than the living victim of a rapist, I think she should be out of her mind.

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to make a comment on the My Lai incident: I served in Vietnam at the same time as Lt. Calley. (Same division, same brigade, but different battalion.) What that man and his men are being tried for was, and probably still is, an everyday occurrence over there. I have seen so many of those peaceful people murdered, raped and beaten I thought I'd go crazy before I got out of that country.

No single similar occurrence in my unit was on so large a scale as My Lai, but if I were to total all the men, women and children we shot because they looked like V.C. in the age group between 15 and 40 or were too scared to stand still when we approached, you could double the number as were killed at My Lai. I am not defending Lt. Calley. I am only saying that if the Army and the people must judge that man and his men then they had better judge me and the three million other men that pulled time in that hell-hole.

I learned one thing. Life over there is no more worth the time and effort it takes to pull the trigger.
BEEN THERE
DEAR BEEN: Thank you, soldier. And to the American people as a whole, I say, "Judge not lest ye be judged!"

POLLY'S POINTERS Laundry Basket Makes Fine Sled

By POLLY CRAMER

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — I would like to know how to remove laundry marks from some good sheets my sister gave me. They all have either her name or initials on them.

DEAR POLLY — I take care of a one-year-old child who loves to go out in the snow. I did not have a sled to pull her on so I tied a string to one of those plastic laundry baskets. She fits in perfectly and it slides beautifully as I pull her through the snow. An older child might fit better in one of the large square baskets.

DEAR POLLY — Like Sue, I, too, wanted a basket of some sort to hold small items that were put in the dishwasher. I use a collapsible wire salad basket—the type that lettuce or greens are drained in. The top closes completely and the handles fold over. As I do a lot of canning I wash jar and bottle lids in this. If storage is a problem this basket also has the advantage of folding almost flat. The mesh wire is large enough to allow the guide posts in the washer to slide through and hold it securely.

DEAR POLLY — I had the same trouble as Sue with small items put in the dishwasher until I started saving the nylon mesh bags that things come in from the grocery or one could make them out of nylon net.

Just tie a knot in the loose end after inserting the items. Spread out on the upper rack and go. My glasses have a tendency to tip over in the rack of my dishwasher so to keep them from being broken I spread one or two of these bags across the rack, place the glasses on top and they are safe and stay upright better.

DEAR GIRLS — Minnie writes that she also uses the mesh bags but she hangs them from the top rack in her dishwasher.

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for those who use loose face powder. Put a clean puff in your powder box and then turn it over. Remove powder from this puff with another puff that you use to put it on your face. There is less spillage and you obtain an even amount of powder each time. Turn the puff in the box as you need more powder.

Bachelor Joins Liberation Battle For Women's Equality

By JAMES M. EVANS
Memphis, Tenn. (UPI)—Michael Alder, 27, and a bachelor, sees nothing unusual in his status as the only male member of the local chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW).

"The name, National Organization for Women, is a misnomer," said Alder. "If it were National Organization for Equality, I think more people would accept it."
Alder said he decided to take an active role in NOW with the belief that the liberation of women would lead to the liberation of men.

"The day of the boring wife is over," he explained. "If husbands and wives would each have their own circles of interest, then they would involve each other."
There would be less restrictive divorce laws as a result because women wouldn't be so helpless. If a woman has a career, a man wouldn't be burdened with helping her.

"In the long run, the young women will have to take more aggressive roles because they have less to lose," he said. "They are the ones who will benefit by it."

Alder said he visited the first meeting of NOW here "basically as a disinterested party."

"There were two other men there and we automatically sat together," he said. "We were on one side of the room the women on the other side I guess you could call it unconscious discrimination because we felt uncomfortable. Then I realized we were there for the same thing."

"Men, too, have to be willing to put their heads on the chopping block. Men are afraid of ridicule from other men if they work for women's liberation because women's lib supposedly takes power away from men.

"I don't see women taking over the world. I just see more of sharing equally."

Alder maintains that women should be allowed total freedom of expression.

"It's a shame that a woman has to spend her whole life and never have the opportunity to express herself," he said. "When she's 40 never had a career and is through raising her children, she has nothing to do."

He believes women's liberation is simply part of the youthful drive to "tell it like it is," but does not agree with other men that women who seek equality should face the draft with men.

"That's not the point, said Adler. "Women should be given the opportunity to compete in areas where they are capable, in a scholastic area rather than physically where they aren't able."

AMPLE ONIONS' is the cheery market message. High quality dry onions are attractively priced at your supermarket. How shall you use them? How about a savory beef stew, elegant French onion soup, fragrant poultry stuffing made with onions and sage, French fried onion rings to garnish hamburger or steak, and scalloped potatoes layered with onion.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market is beginning to advance and make it a selective affair—they give the market "character."

The stock market has a "rather ambiguous outlook," according to Hoppin, Watson & Co. The firm points to the "sluggish" response of business activity to the administration's massive stimuli. But corporate earnings should improve "sharply" and the consumer can be expected to spend more, the company believes. For the future the firm sees "some resuscitation of the 'performance'-type speculation—a constant feature in post-1965 markets."

Noting the uncertainty surrounding overseas oil operations and the proposed pipeline from Alaska's North slope, the Oil Statistics Bulletin says "the only thing we are...100 per cent certain of is that, as of now, well-situated Lower-48 crude producers... are sure to get higher prices. 'This,' the Bulletin says, should put them 'on top of the investment heap.'"

The market is experiencing "a mere pause in a magnificent upswing," the Dines letter says. The newsletter advises investors to postpone new buying "temporarily" but adds: "Do not short any possible decline because shorting correct-tions in major bull markets is not the way to make big money."

Bill To Increase College Tuition Wins Quick Approval Of House Unit

AUSTIN (UPI)—A bill that would increase the tuition of an average college student from $50 to $135 a semester has won quick approval of the House Appropriations Committee and goes next onto the House floor for debate.

The bill, by Rep. Grant Jones, D-Abilene, would charge $9 per semester hour—an increase of more than 150 per cent.

The committee approval drew sharp criticism from student groups.

The Texas Student Education Association, claiming 7,000 members, called it "one of the most unreasonable bills concerning tuition hikes." The group said the bill "places higher education on the inflationary list and provides an excessive increase in tuition rates at the expense of students."

The bill would increase the cost of out-of-state students from $200 a semester to an average of $705 a semester, based on the cost of a student taking 15 semester hours.

Junior college students would have to pay not more than 60 per cent of the cost in regular four-year state colleges.

The House has already passed one tuition increase, but it was for nonresident students only, raising tuition to $700 a semester.

A succession of visits by Soviet naval vessels to Cuban waters suggests a Soviet buildup in the Caribbean similar to that in the Mediterranean. Latin American ports may become regular ports of call for Soviet warships.

Beyond an agreement reported to have been concluded last Oct. 13 against servicing of nuclear-armed Soviet submarines in the Caribbean area, there is little the United States can do about a seemingly clear Soviet challenge in waters previously considered exclusively a U.S. domain.

The "agreement," whether written or unwritten never has been made clear, was an extension of that reached in 1962 between the then President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev whereby the Soviets withdrew nuclear missiles from Cuba and promised not to return them in exchange for a U.S. promise not to try to overthrow the regime of Fidel Castro.

Soviet warships have been plying Caribbean waters regularly for more than a year, occasionally undergoing repairs at various Cuban ports.

The first Soviet warships entered the Gulf of Mexico in July 1969, were back again in 1970 and have been reported in the same area on a number of occasions since, including the last few weeks.

Other Soviet forces have been reported south of Cuba in a position to maintain surveillance over a huge area traditionally used by U.S. naval forces for training.

Latest Soviet vessels to visit Cuba, as reported by the U.S. Defense Department early in February, were a submarine tender capable of servicing submarines armed with nuclear missiles, a guided-missile cruiser and a merchant tanker. The Soviet news agency TASS also listed a submarine as among those making a "business call" on Cuba.

It was last September that Washington, without previous public notice, suddenly warned the Soviets against attempting to establish a base at the Cuban port of Cienfuegos where U.S. U-2 spy flights had disclosed Soviet construction of two barracks capable of handling 100 men each, a football field and a communications center. At anchor were two Soviet barges that could handle radioactive waste and a submarine tender.

The Soviets ridiculed the U.S. warning and denied any intentions of building a Cuban base.

Drugs 35 Years Ago Questioned

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—The baseball commissioner looked the ballplayer squarely in the eye.

He was questioning him very carefully regarding one of his teammates.

"Now I want you to think, and think hard, whether you have ever been in the company of — when he was using marijuana?" The commissioner inquired.

"I don't remember," said the ballplayer.

"Your answer is unsatisfactory," the commissioner said. "Think awhile and I'm sure you'll remember."

"I don't remember," the player repeated.

History Repeated
"Then I'll tell you what you do," said the commissioner angrily. "You leave this office, take the elevator downstairs, walk around the block and keep walking until you do remember. Don't come back up here before you're ready to give me the answer."

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn? No.

It was commissioner Keneaw Mountain Landis with problems of his own 35 years ago.

The player in question finally did come back to Landis' office with an answer and his answer was no, he had never been in the company of this particular infielder at any time that he could swear he was using marijuana.

The episode comes back now in light of the seminars on drugs being conducted by Bowie Kuhn.

He really is beating an old horse.

No Hard Drug Use
During the more than 30 years I've been around baseball

I know of only a half dozen or so players who ever tried marijuana. Those who did usually did it for a lark.

As far as hard drugs go I don't believe it would be possible for a player to use them habitually and still perform. I don't think any ballplayer would be stupid enough to give himself a fix and then try to stand up there and hit against, say, a Bob Gibson.

"What I don't like," says Dal Maxvil, the St. Louis Cardinals' shortstop and player rep, "is that a lot of the drug articles I read in connection with baseball mention the word 'discipline.' That gives people the idea there has been an abuse. I've never in my life seen a player taking a hard drug and I hope I never do."

Dobson: 'Nothing Wrong'
Jim Bouton first mentioned ballplayers taking "greenies," —or pep pills—in his book and Chuck Dobson, the Oakland pitcher, tossed another log on the fire the other day when he said he uses them. Dobson said he sees nothing wrong in doing so.

Tom Seaver does.
"I took one greenie in my life," says the Mets' pitching ace. "Never again."

"I just don't need it," Seaver says. "I consider it a crutch. I took that one greenie in 1965 when I was a sophomore at the University of Southern California. When I had three finals coming up within a 72-hour period and had to stay up two nights studying I tried the greenie. What happened? ... I couldn't close my eyes for four days. It made me light-headed. I passed all three of those exams, but I'd never do what I did again. Especially playing ball. I figure the more control I have over my mental faculties, the better I'll perform."

Madison Gardens Will Have 'Fistic Dynamite'

By WILLIAM VERIGAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—The doctor who examined Cassius Clay and Joe Fraizer for their pre-fight physicals Wednesday predicts Madison Square Garden will be invaded by "fistic dynamite" when the two get together next Monday night.

Taking an impartial viewpoint, Dr. Harry Kleiman, physician for the New York State Athletic Commission, said after examining the fighters that Fraizer was "magnificent" and Clay was "amazing."

The two fighters underwent their examinations separately to avoid any confrontation until their meeting in the ring Monday night for the heavyweight title. After their exams, both men returned to their training camps, Fraizer to Philadelphia and Clay to Miami.

The 29-year-old Clay arrived at the Garden an hour after Fraizer had left and kidded his way through the physical. Near the end of the exam, he promised to remain in New York until the fight but then in a sudden change of plans, decided to return to Miami a few minutes later.

Still unwilling to concede that he is no longer champion, although he was stripped of the title in 1967 for refusing to go into the Army, Clay brought along his championship belt.

"I'll crawl across the ring on my hands and knees, give Fraizer this belt and call him the real champion if he beats me," Clay said.

The 27-year-old Fraizer has made a similar promise.

"Do I look in shape? Do I look like I'm fat? Clay asked the hundreds of reporters who had gathered at the Garden. He was standing when he asked the question and look quite trim, but when he sat down a roll of flab appeared around his stomach.

The challenger admitted he weighed 214 and one of his handlers said his weight was closer to 217, more than four pounds over his previous heaviest fighting weight.

Frazier has gotten his weight down to 207 and plans to taper off his workouts the next two days. He will box today and Friday before returning to New York.

Montreal Expos Fans Become More Excited As Wins Grow

By JOHN G. GRIFFIN
UPI Sports Editor

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—It's hard to see how Montreal's marvelous baseball fans could get any more excited than they were in 1970, but they probably will if manager Gene Mauch's plans for the Expos come true.

"We set 70 victories as a target last year and it became a sort of a rallying cry in Canada — 70 in '70," Mauch explained at the Expos' training camp here far away from the snows at home. "Well, we did it — we won 73 games in 1970."

"We think we can win 81 in '71."

There's no telling how the Montreal fans will react to that. Last year they spun the turnstiles of little Jarry Park 1,424,683 times to watch a team that finished last in the National League East, and that's a record for enthusiasm which, in itself, was one of the best things about the Expos last season.

Sober Caution
How long will it be before those fans will have a pennant contender to get excited about? Mauch doesn't answer that directly, but he speaks with sober caution.

"You can improve a team with trading, but you can't produce a pennant contender just by trading. You have to develop a pennant contender, and that's what we're trying to do."

The Expos made one trade during the winter — they acquired second baseman Ron Hunt from the San Francisco Giants for infielder David McDonald. Hunt, 30, an aggressive, all-out player, brings to the Expos a consistent bat — he hit .281 last year. Mauch's glad to have that bat, but he indicated Hunt isn't automatically his second baseman.

"Actually, right now I think Gary Sutherland is more familiar with the kind of game I want this team to play," Mauch said. "Right now I look on Hunt as a player who can help our offense."

Two Solid Pitchers
Well, what are the materials with which Mauch hopes to lift the Expos up to 81 victories — which would be a .500 season? First of all, he's got two solid pitchers, Carl Morton, the National League's "rookie of the year" when he won 18 games and lost 11, and six-foot-five Steve Renko, who was 13-11.

He's got three solid hitters — right fielder Rusty Staub, whose average dropped to .274 last season but also included 30 home runs; infielder-outfielder Bob Bailey, with 287 and 28 homers; and first baseman Ron Fairly, with 288 and 15 homers.

If Mack Jones can rebound from his 1970 form (.240 with 14 homers) to his 1969 form (.270 with 22 homers), then the Expos will have four solid bats. Add in Hunt and outfielder Clyde Mashore, who hit .308 with 27 homers for Syracuse of the International League before joining the Expos last September, and it could be that the Expos will not be last in the league in hitting (.237) again.

Infield Lineup
The Expos' infield will line up with Fairly at first, Sutherland or Hunt at second, Bobby Wine (.232) at short, and righthanders Bailey or Coco Laboy (.199) or lefthanded hitter, Marv Staehle .218 at third.

Except for Staub at right, there will be plenty of platooning in the outfield with righthanders Bailey, Adolfo Phillips, Mashore, and maybe Don Hahn, and lefthanders Jim Fairry, Boots Day, Jim Gosger, and Jones.

John Bateman (.237) is the first-string catcher, backed up by Jim Bocabella and Ron Brand.

What about pitchers behind Morton and Renko?

"We've got a group of fellows battling for starting jobs and they all look promising," says Mauch. "There's Bill Stoneman, Dan McGinn, Jim Britton, John Strohmayer, and Mike Wegener."

Ace Bull Pen
Mauch says Stoneman could be ready to "blossom out" any time. The righthander, who pitched a no-hitter in 1969, led the club in strikeouts in 1970 but was only 7-15 with a 4.59 earned run average. Britton is coming back from a knee operation that kept him out last year.

The Expos' bullpen is in better shape than many. Top firemen are Howie Reed, who was 6-5, and Claude Raymond, the club's only authentic French-Canadian, who was 6-7.

The Expos have a long way to go to contend for the pennant. They were 16 games behind Pittsburgh last year, and Mauch thinks the Pirates still are "the class of the division."

But they were only a half-game away from escaping the cellar. Eighty-one wins last year would have been worth fourth place last year.

And how do you think that would strike the Montreal fans this year, eh, Cherie?

Bi-District Clash Finds Pampa Underdog Against Plainview

Tonight the night... The biggest ballgame of the season for the Pampa Harvesters will be played in Amarillo Civic Center at 8 p.m. after being delayed once due to weather.

Both Pampa and Plainview are chomping at the bit wanting to get the show on the road.

Plainview with a 31 win 2 loss season and Pampa with its 19 win and 13 loss season are just about evenly matched on height and ability.

The Bulldogs have the edge on the record book after downing the Harvesters three times early in the 1970-71 season by scores of 55-44, 55-42 and 54-44.

Pampa will be starting five juniors in tonight's game: Donnie Cain, a 6'4" junior who has had a good season both on offensive and defensive ends; Long tall Mike "Easy Rider" Edgar measuring in at 6'5" will be the tallest Harvester on the court and is presently leading the scoring for the home team. Edgar punished the nets for 31 points against the Berger Bulldogs and is looking for similar results in tonight's encounter with the Plainview counterparts.

Gary Haynes, at 6'1" is a ball control expert with the defensive game his specialty. Haynes keeps a cool head and can hit the net when necessary.

Marsh Gambin the fourth member of the squad picked up the nickname "O' Reliable" after the start of the season due to his ability to come down with the needed play or points in tight spots. Gambin helped the Harvesters defeat the Tascosa Rebels with a 22 foot two pointer in the final five seconds of play. Gambin uses all the tricks and basics to keep the opposition guessing all of the time.

Richard Bunton, "Animal" as a local sports announcer described his backboard work — leading the Harvesters with 394 saves. Bunton is strong on the offensive end as well as the defense with his 13.7 season average.

Kopperl High School gave McPherson his start in coaching where he posted a two year 80 win 12 loss record. His 1966 team advanced to the Boy's State Tourney in Austin with a 36.2 record where they were downed by Deweyville 75 to 65 in the first round.

Now in his first season with the Harvesters, the Pampa squad has posted an 8-2 record and the 3-AAAA district championship with the important bi-district clash tonight at 8 p.m.

Plainview will be basing their attacks on the Harvesters' stronghold with a 2-3 zone defense and a fast break offense. The Bulldogs have coped with the full court press well all season long but then they haven't had to work for a lot of their victories.

Pampa has had a tough schedule and will be playing an even tougher one if they win tonight's game... that is a big IF for both teams as each can come up with the victory.

Coach Robert McPherson stated when questioned about the Harvesters chances, "I feel real good about tonight's game. I think we can do it. We have all of the potential but that doesn't matter. The winner of tonight's game will go to the team that wants it the worst."

"We have looked good in practice all week and have improved since our first games with Plainview."

Tonight's tilt will start at 8 p.m. in the Amarillo Civic Center. Admission is $1.00 for students and $2.00 for adults and tickets may be purchased at the business office at Pampa Junior High School, 126 W. Francis.

Be sure and attend the game as the Harvesters are in their best season for the past three years. The action will be fast and excitement will never be lacking as these two fine teams tangle in hopes of going to the Regional Tournament Saturday in Abilene.

Trouble In Red China

A letter from Hong Kong has just brought additional information in internal troubles in Communist China's southern provinces.

These reports on dissension deserve special attention at this time, of course, because insecurity in these areas adjacent to Laos, Burma and North Vietnam could make Peking leery of serious foreign adventures in the next few months.

The most significant part of the message from Hong Kong concerns the huge border province of Yunnan (whose capital is Kunming), strong point of southwest China and entryway into Laos and Burma and thence to northern Thailand.

According to these late reports a bitter fight is now in progress for leadership of the Kunming Military Region, a struggle that may have most of the top ranks of the party and military involved on one side or another.

Vying for power are Chou Hsing, Chen Kang and Wang Pi-cheng, deputy commander of the Kunming Military Region, and Chou Hsing, a former party secretary and governor.

The present infighting was set off by the death of Tan Fu-jen, political commissar of the Kunming Military Region and chairman of the Yunnan Provincial Revolutionary Committee on Dec. 18, 1970, from an unreported cause.

What is at stake is the control of the vast areas of southwest China. Tan was a Lin Piao man. If Lin Piao is to hold on to his place as Mao Tse-tung's titular successor as ruler of mainland China, he must keep one of his own men in this crucial post left vacant by Tan's death.

Historically, when internal problems have threatened their leadership, Mao and Lin Piao have invited put the solution of local internal problems first and left foreign activities on the back burner. This was particularly noticeable in the major days of the cultural revolution, when Red China called home virtually every ambassador abroad and kept most of them home in this very trying period.

The situation in Yunnan is especially touchy. The death of party-military strong man Yen Hung-yen in the winter of 1966-67 brought 18 months of factional conflict.

Some newspapers claimed 100,000 died in this fighting. Mao himself put the death figure at upward of 80,000.

Heed Signs, But 'Cool It'

What if they gave a war and nobody came?

Well, they did give a war the other day — "they" being a civilian employe of the North American Air Defense Command inside Cheyenne Mountain, Colo., who committed the fantastic booboo of pulling the wrong tape off the hook and sending out a national emergency alert to 1,200 radio stations.

And nobody came. That is, hardly anybody.

A few stations went off the air, as they were supposed to. Most, however, simply did not believe the message. Some never saw it because no one was minding the wire machines.

One commentator has likened the incident to the failure to heed radar warnings of Japanese planes approaching Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941. What if this had been the real thing? he asks.

It was nothing of the sort. And if our sole warning of a nuclear war is to be a sudden message from Cheyenne Mountain, then truly the world is no longer a rational place and we had better start digging holes in the ground right now.

Not Age But Competence

A resolution introduced in the Ohio Senate would bar anyone over 65 from running for state and local public offices. A similar resolution, placing the age limit at 70, has been introduced in the Ohio House.

If either one were to be passed by both chambers, it would go on the November Ballot as a proposed amendment to the Ohio constitution. (Out-of-consideration for the U.S. Constitution, the over-65 or over-70 ban would not apply to federal office candidates.)

Unfortunately, neither of those measures gets to the heart of the problem they are designed to solve, which is to improve government by preventing senile incompetents from occupying positions of power.

Women Truck Drivers

Some of the "male chauvinists" may not agree, but the Arizona Farm Bureau Federation had some complimentary comments about one phase of "women's liberation." The federation commented as follows:

"Two Oregon (wheat) farmers were faced with a labor shortage on grain truck drivers. High school and college co-eds

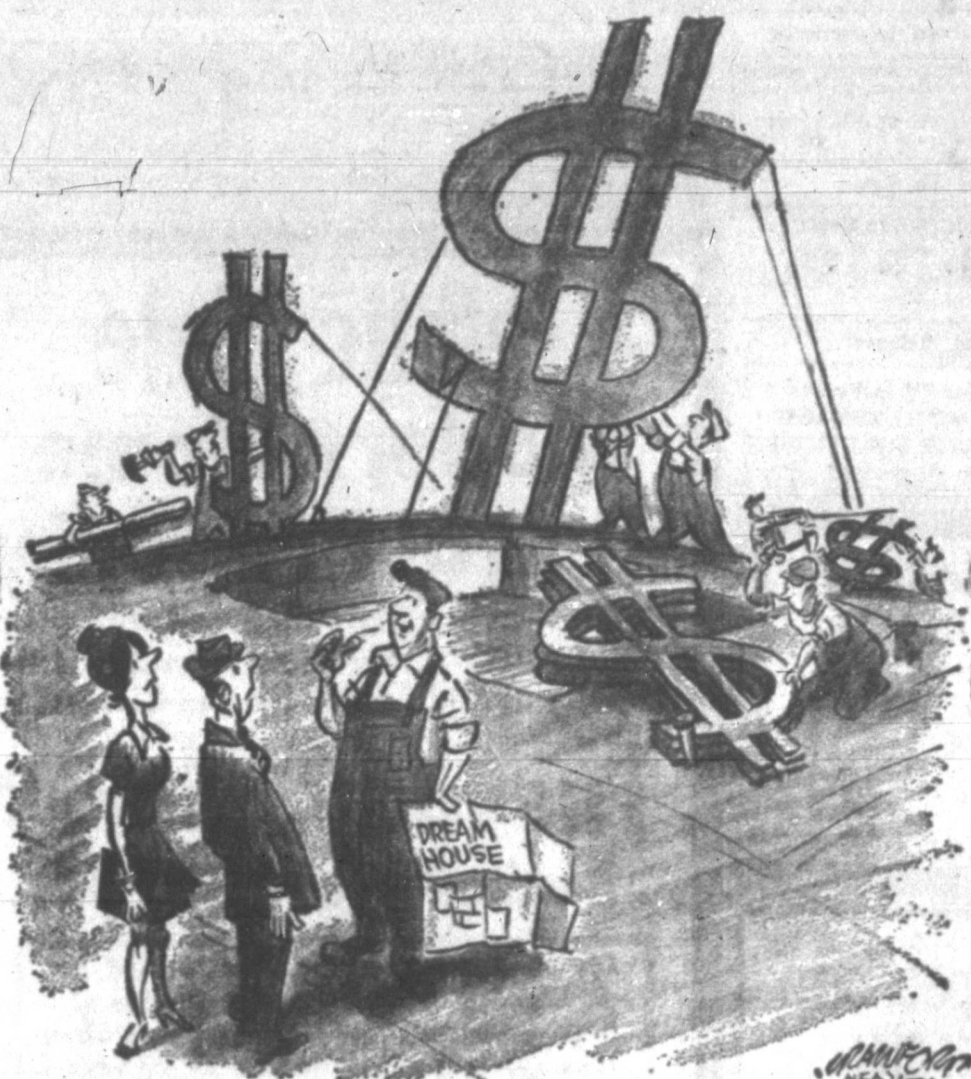

The trouble is that it is the people, the voters, who put such men into office in the first place. On both the federal and local levels, it is the people who elect not only creaky old men but who elect young men and keep re-electing and re-electing them until they, too, are creaky old men.

Obviously, then it is the people who are incompetent and not completely to be trusted with power to choose who shall govern or represent them — or so the "reforms" currently under consideration in the Ohio legislature imply.

A Founding Father like Benjamin Franklin might not agree. But then he was a creaky 81 when he helped write the U.S. Constitution.

were available and in desperation were employed as drivers. Now the farmers are convinced that women are better drivers (of grain trucks). They're the best drivers you can get; they don't drag race with full loads of wheat; they're more dependable and cut our truck repair bills in half," state the farmer employers.

STRAIGHT TALK:

Nixon And Welfare State

By TOM ANDERSON
Mr. Nixon says, "The present welfare system is a disaster." He would convert it into a national calamity. With coldly calculated artifice, "Nixon's One" who said, while campaigning on May 15, 1968: "One of the reasons I do not accept... a guaranteed annual income or a negative income tax is because of my conviction that doing so, first, would not end poverty, and second, while it might be a substitute for welfare, it would have a very detrimental effect on the productive capacity of the American people... that is why I take a dim view of these programs."

And that is one reason why I take a dim view of anything Nixon says. Nixon's "game plan" remains the same as always: play both ends against the center. If there were two Gods, Nixon would pray to both of them. The Nixon plan is Socialism, not solution. Socialism is the middle-of-the-road — Communism.

Don't buy the Big Lie that the Vietnam war is the main cause of high taxes and inflation. The real culprit is welfare, for which the spending between 1963 and 1971 ballooned 94 percent, while defense spending increased only 49 percent.

The government is already spending $72 billion of the taxpayers' money every year on so-called welfare. The Nixon plan would "relieve" state and local government of most of their welfare responsibilities, it is claimed. (Of course, Washington has no money until they confiscate it from local taxpayers.) Who would check to see that the money is spent wisely by the welfareers? Nobody. They can continue to buy liquor, T.V. sets, race horses, or whatever their big hearts desire. Would they have to work if offered a job? No. As Oscar Wilde said: "Work is the curse of the drinking classes."

The Nixon plan has a phony "workfare" provision, providing an "incentive" to work. So do present plans — which don't work. The welfare rolls grow because it is more profitable for millions of our people to stay on welfare than to work.

Won't Nixon's "work or else" provision take able-bodied people off welfare rolls? No. The stipulation is that the welfareer must accept a "suitable" job. What a laugh! There are millions of third-generation welfareers whose grandparents, parents, as well as themselves, have never found a "suitable" job. There is no suitable job for a bum. Our government has made bums out of millions of our people. Remember when welfare used to be called "charity"? And then, "relief"? Now it's a "right." Welfareers now strike, picket and riot demanding that Big Brother confiscate more of your money to give to them. The American Way of Life is becoming the welfare state of life.

The most controversial provision of Nixon's welfare plan (FAP), better known as guaranteed annual income. Our statesmen are now debating whether a family of four, with no outside income, will be "limited" to $1600 a year (plus $800 in food stamps), or to as much as $5500 advocated by professional welfare organizations. An A.F.D.C. mother with nine children would get $3400 a year, tax-free, plus food stamps and other assorted goodies from Big Brother's trough.

Another proposed "answer" would raise all family, would-be family, and live-in groups to $3,000 annual income through imposition of a "negative income tax" (which would give them whatever is necessary to bring their incomes up to $3,000). This would cost an estimated $12 billion even before the leeches start splitting off, amoeba-like to set up new "families," the do-gooders soothingly confide that retraining manpower (so that there will be no-Americans left to do an unskilled job will cost a mere $3 billion a year. Rent subsidies will take increasing billions to keep stum rats from being so disadvantaged. And there are countless more programs, limited only by the fertile minds of our politicians, to steal from those who have to buy those who "have not."

One of our few really great Congressmen, H.R. Gross of Iowa, has reported how ingenious bums can easily beat the system: Twelve people in Montgomery County, Maryland, six believed to be male and six believed to be female, each draw $55 a week in unemployment compensation. They pool this in a common kitty and in a four-week month their take exceeds $2,600. They rent a six-bedroom house, with swimming pool, sauna bath and other bare necessities, buy the best food and have enough left over for recreational activities — which break the monotony. They pay no taxes on unemployment benefits. They are eligible for Medicaid, food stamps, the pill, and a myriad of other benefits you provide them.

Millions of cattlemen, hogmen, chicken producers and welfareers now breed for profit. Dependent children have a cash value, like bull calves. So the less children a family can afford, the more it breeds. That's the American Breed Enterprise System. Regardless of what Congress does about it, Boondoggie Dick's welfare program is illegal. The Constitution nowhere grants the federal government the authority to take from the workers and give to the shirkers. Nelson Rockefeller, and other international Socialists, are agitating for a complete nationalization of welfare. Rome did that too — shortly before it fell. No nation, now or ever, was rich enough to feed all its idle people. When Rome began its welfare state, the end of Rome was near. —American Way

Demos Push Drive

For More $100-a-Monthers

Robert Allen

WASHINGTON — With jockeying already underway for an inside track to the 1972 presidential nomination, Democratic fat cats are being urgently asked to come to the aid of the party.

A new request for financial help has gone out from the Democratic National Committee. What is needed, according to the National Treasurer, Robert S. Strauss, is more well-heeled Democrats who are willing to ante up on a monthly sustaining basis.

That is the basis on which regular gifts have been financing most of the National Committee's operations for about a year. Such sustaining contributions enabled the national party headquarters to operate in the black during that period.

These gifts do not, of course, do anything at all to pay off the whopping campaign debt left over from the 1968 presidential campaign. When last heard from, that debt still amounted to about $9 million.

The National Committee's day-to-day activities, however, are being financed for the most part from gifts of at least $100-a-month supplied by some 600 members of a "Sponsors Club." That operation was initiated by Strauss last spring.

"PARTY AND COUNTRY" In a letter mailed early this month, Strauss has put the arm on potential givers who failed to join the Sponsors Club at that time. Strauss explains that he and National Chairman Lawrence O'Brien "are in the process of preparing our budget."

He notes, diplomatically, that a large number of Senate, House and gubernatorial campaigns had to be financed last year — and were financed to good effect — though it meant that some individuals had to pass up the Sponsors Club.

"Now," says Treasurer Strauss, "we must turn our efforts to recapturing the White House in 1972."

"The Democratic National Committee has become an effective, hard-hitting political organization and we are operating without waste or fat. This year, as we move toward the convention and fall campaign of 1972, our opposition continues to be better and better financed," says Strauss.

"I think you will agree with me that a continuation of our programs is essential for the future of our party and country," the treasurer adds in soliciting "$100 per month" contributions to finance the committee's day-to-day operation.

"I assure you we will do our best to spend it wisely."

MODEST MUSKIE — Preliminary maneuvering by Democratic candidates and non-candidates is proceeding according to the usual script.

Three hopefuls (including the favored non-candidate, Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash.) showed up at last week's midwinter meeting of the AFL-CIO Executive Council. That is an accepted ploy for the prospective presidential candidates.

The Democratic front-runner, Sen. Edmund G. Muskie, D-Me., and one of the dark horses, Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., have recently traveled abroad, and that is also a part of the regular game plan, followed by Richard M. Nixon, among others.

In Muskie's case, it appears that the broadening effects of travel are rather urgently needed. Reports from foreign capitals visited by Muskie in his recent trip do not suggest that the senator dazzled his hosts with his grasp of foreign affairs.

Both Muskie and the aides who accompanied him got rather low marks from officials with whom they met in at least one nation visited. One such official paraphrased an old Winston Churchill assessment in describing his talks with the senator:

"He (Muskie) was very modest in expressing his views on foreign policy here — but then, he seemed to have a lot to be modest about."

Note: Muskie and his campaign aides are well aware that the senator, who has focused on domestic issues in the Senate, needs a better grounding on foreign policy. That is why Muskie has taken a seat on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Further traveling abroad is planned, and it will be some time before Muskie as an open candidate for the presidential nomination, will have to express himself in detail on foreign problems.

The Manion Forum

By MARILYN MANION

Behind The 'Peace' Scenes Last week we reviewed in this column a recent edition of the American Security Council's Washington Report. The Report gave information of two semi-secret meetings held in 1970, both of which were run by "peace" groups and both of which mapped the anti-war, anti-U.S. strategy for the future. In January of 1970, a meeting took place near St. Jerome, Quebec, attended by several Communist groups and peace organizations. In November, in Stockholm, the World Peace Council sponsored the World Conference on Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia. Here are some excerpts from the Washington Report on the Stockholm Conference:

"After hearing one anti-American harangue after another, a commission of the conference presented a program of future action well in line with the aim 'to bring disaster to the United States.' The campaign will not be confined to the United States alone but we are its sole target. The slogan is an old one: 'For the withdrawal of American forces from Indochina.' According to the report, 'This campaign will take on different forms and methods and will have different durations according to national level, this campaign could be organized around a number of dates:...

"March 6-1st anniversary of the declaration of the central committee of the Patriotic Front of Laos for the solution of these problems. 'April 3-4—Day of Solidarity with actions in the United States against the American aggression in Indochina on the occasion of the anniversary of the assassination of Martin Luther King.

"April 30-Day of solidarity with the Khmer people (Cambodia) one year after the aggression by the American troops."

"The conference was unable to fill in at least one date because the two principal U.S. 'peace' forces, the National Peace Action Coalition, operated by the Trotskyite Socialist Workers Party, and the Communist party is participating, had not been able to agree on a date...

"The Trotskyites, who are rapidly overshadowing the Communists, both in their resolution of purpose and skill in organization, have fixed a date for their Spring protest. At a December 4-6 conference of the NPAC, a date of April 24, was fixed for 'massive anti-war demonstrations' in Washington, D.C. and San Francisco." According to the SWP's official paper, The Militant, in its December 18 issue, 1200 people attended the conference. In contrast, the Communist Party, in a recent all-out effort to stage a 'mass anti-poverty march in South Bend, Ind., was able to attract only about 75...

"While the Communist Party of the United States seems to be losing its relative influence within the revolutionary forces in this country, the various Communist groups operating at the international level have demonstrated once again in Stockholm that they view the struggle against the United States as one of worldwide scope. While the Trotskyites, New Leftists or a combination of these forces may wind up in a dominant position on the 1971 protests in the U.S., the strategy and tactics are still being mapped out on an international scale and Moscow is calling the shots."
