IN WAKE OF CAIRO PURGE

Soviet President To Hold Crucial Talks With Sadat

By United Press International
Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny confers with President Anwar Sadat in Cairo this week on how the Egyptian leader's purge of top government and political officials will affect relations between the two nations.

The exact date of the meeting was not announced. The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram said the Soviet delegation, invited to Cairo by Sadat, would arrive "within hours." The semi-official Middle East News Agency said Podgorny was expected "within the next few days" for a "friendly and unofficial visit."

Political sources today described the meeting as the most crucial encounter between leaders of Egypt and the Soviet Union since the 1967 Arab-Israeli war. They said Podgorny was certain to ask for assurances that Sadat's government purge did not herald a policy drift away from the Soviet Union.

SO LONG SOCKS — Jamie, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Dunham, 815 N. Frost, tells his friend "Socks" good-bye after his mother explained this morning that the time has come to find Socks (and her sisters) a new home. Jamie told his friendly good-bye but secretly hopes that nobody else wants a kitten. (Staff Photo)

Diplomat's Body Sent Back To Israeli Capital

ISTANBUL (UPI) — Turkish authorities said they have arrested two girls and a man in connection with the assassination of kidnapped Israeli Consul-general Ephraim Elrom.

The authorities identified the man as Omer Erine and the two girls as Kadriye Nizozgen and Julie Zaim, but gave no other details. Elrom, 59, was found Sunday by police troops during a massive sweep of the city during a 15-hour curfew. His hands were tied behind his back and he had been shot three times in the head.

The body of the Israeli diplomat, who had joined his nation's foreign service only two years ago in an effort to recover from the death of his son, was flown back to Tel Aviv where it lay in state and was then being buried today.

The Israeli government following a Sunday cabinet meeting called on the Turkish government to find and punish "the dangerous and depraved gang responsible for this horrifying crime."

Elrom was kidnapped a week ago by five gunmen. In later communications a group identifying itself as the left-wing "Turkish Peoples' Liberation" said it was responsible for the kidnap and would execute the Israeli diplomat unless their comrades held in prison were released.

Tornadoes Hit Whitney, Killing At Least One Person, Injuring 48

WHITNEY, Tex. (UPI) — A swarm of small tornadoes darting and diving like angry wasps, slashed through downtown and eastern Whitney Sunday night killing at least one person, injuring 45 others and causing extensive damage to the small lakeside community.

One person, an adult, was still missing today and 10 persons remained in area hospitals. Thirty-five others were treated for minor injuries and released. One person, James Carroll, 47, was killed when one of the tornadoes hit his trailer home.

"It was rough," he said. "I stood at my back bedroom window, my wife and I, and about five of these little stingers came out of a cloud. Then all of a sudden 'boom' and my house blew up."

"I grabbed my wife and threw her behind the bed and fell on top of her, the house was completely demolished. I grabbed a king sized mattress and wrapped her up in it and took her to another part of the house," he said. "I'm more nervous this morning than I was last night."

Department of Public Safety patrolmen and sheriff's deputies from surrounding counties patrolled the town on the shores of Lake Whitney. Only those persons having businesses or other property in the town were allowed past roadblocks set up by authorities.

Guardsmen Reinforcing Police To Stop Chattanooga Violence

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UPI) — Units of a 1,500-man National Guard force moved into duty posts around Chattanooga today in support of policemen exhausted by three nights of sniping, firebombing and looting by gangs of black "marauders."

A Negro carrying a .22 caliber pistol was wounded during Sunday night's violence that caused Gov. Winfield Dunn to order the soldiers into the Tennessee border city of 113,000 about 85 miles northwest of Atlanta.

Dunn dispatched two battalions of guardsmen to Chattanooga around midnight at the request of newly installed Mayor Robert K. Walker, who said his outmaneuvered police department was unable to cope with increasing lawlessness.

The soldiers, largely from the Chattanooga area, were mobilized during the early morning and moved into the streets around 7 a.m. EDT.

Dunn also sent 80 more state troopers into the troubled city, beefing up the state police force to about 140 men.

Walker, who has been in office only a month, said it was "remarkable" there were no deaths in the extended violence that police said "spilled over" from a disturbance at a soul music show at Municipal Auditorium late Friday night.

72 Persons Die As British Tourist Airliner Crashes

BELGRADE (UPI) — Firemen were unable to pierce sheets of flame hundreds of feet high to rescue the British tourists trapped aboard an airliner that crashed at Rijeka Airport, witnesses said today. Seventy-eight passengers died.

A special commission investigated the cause of the crash on the Rocky Adriatic island of Kerk today while efforts were made to identify the charred bodies.

The national news agency Tanjug said five persons, four of them crew members, scrambled safely from the burning wreckage of the Soviet-made T134 Sunday night. The plane belonged to Yugoslav Aviogetex Co.

Mariner 8 To Be Launched Toward Mars Saturday

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The rocket problems have been fixed and engineers are aiming toward Saturday for the launch of the second and last Mariner television satellite toward Mars.

"We're in good shape," a Space Agency spokesman reported Saturday night after the launch team successfully completed a day-long flight acceptance test on the Atlas-Centaur rocket and its 2,200-pound Mariner spacecraft.

Engineers set Saturday night as the earliest possible launch date for the Mariner, but a definite schedule will not be fixed until mid week, when top Space Agency officials review the overall status of the $77 million mission.

The Mariner is scheduled to swing into orbit around Mars in November to map its surface and inspect areas of scientific interest. Russia's heavy new Mars 2 spacecraft also is due to reach the red planet in November and it may attempt a landing.

If the second Mariner is launched successfully, the Space Agency said it will be called Mariner 8, assuming the name of the first Mariner destroyed shortly after launch May 8 when the autopilot engine control unit in the Centaur upper stage failed.

Controversial Draftree Proposal Faces Senate Vote Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The last time a U.S. senator proposed that draftees be exempted from duty in Vietnam, he lost the Senate vote 75 to 2 and later was retired by the voters.

That was on May 11, 1967, long before the war and all its consequences had attracted enough opposition to become a mainstream political issue. Only Sens. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, and Wayne Morse, D-Ore., who later were defeated in 1968, backed Gruening's amendment for an all-volunteer force in the growing war in Indochina.

Tuesday, the Senate will vote again. This time, it will be much closer. Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., believes he may have enough support to pass the controversial proposal.

Nelson has proposed an amendment to prevent any draftee from being sent to Vietnam after Dec. 31 on a combat assignment unless he volunteers or unless he has re-enlisted for another hitch in the service. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., who was vice president in 1967, is backing Nelson.

Senate Believes Army Operates 2nd Spy Network

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate investigators believe the Army operated a second spy network to keep watch on civilians different from the intelligence system already exposed by Congress, but functioning without the knowledge of civilian officials in the Pentagon.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., in hearings by his constitutional rights subcommittee, helped unveil the first spy system last year. It was set up after the Detroit riots in 1967 to ride herd on civilian dissidents.

Witnesses at the airport told Tanjug the plane struck the runway Sunday, rolled about 500 yards and burst into flames. Then there were a series of explosions that sent flames soaring hundreds of feet into the air and tore the plane apart, they said. Wreckage and baggage were scattered over an area 100 yards wide.

Fire trucks rushed to the scene but were unable to help the passengers trapped in the blazing fuselage.

Tanjug identified the survivors as the pilot, Milan Markicevic, captain Stavan Mandic, mechanics Ivan Cavajada and Viktor Tomic, and a passenger, Ranko Sarajcic.

An airport official told UPI by telephone "it was windy and raining when the crash occurred." He refused to give further details pending the results of the investigation.

Ex-Senator Calls For Formation Of Third Party

INDIANAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Former Sen. Eugene McCarthy, his voice shaking at the "most moving experience of my political career," Sunday called for a third party as a last resort to realize the goal of peace.

Speaking before 27,000 persons at a "Dump the War" rally in his home state, McCarthy said he hoped peace could be attained within one of the two major parties but he said, "If it cannot, let us have a new party and a new policy and a true America."

Communists Blow Up 1.5 Million Gallons Of Fuel

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist sappers blew up 1.5 million gallons of aviation fuel on the U.S. base at Cam Ranh Bay Sunday night in what was believed to be the worst fuel destruction of the Vietnam War, military spokesmen said today.

There were no injuries in the spectacular fire that took hours to control as the Army's support command base 185 miles northeast of Saigon.

Communist gunners later fired nearly 30 rounds of 82mm mortar shells into the base but caused no casualties or damage.

High Court Decides To Rule On School Religious Freedom

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court agreed today to decide whether states may require school attendance up to age 16 regardless of a persons' religious convictions.

Arguments will be heard by the court next fall or winter on the first successful challenge of a compulsory education law on religious grounds in any state. The court will review a decision by the Wisconsin Supreme Court which found it unconstitutional to compel Amish children to attend school beyond the eighth grade on grounds it interfered with their religious freedom.

Industry Happy With Arrangement On Major Holidays

UPI Business Writer
NEW YORK (UPI)—With a three-day weekend coming up for Memorial Day, American industry and business generally seem happy with the new arrangement that makes major holidays fall on Mondays even when they normally wouldn't.

"We like it fine," said a spokesman for General Foods which has more than 40,000 workers scattered around the country. "The change from the traditional mid-week holidays produced no problems whatsoever at Washington's Birthday, for example."

The Commerce & Industry Association of New York also said it had received favorable reaction from its members to the long weekend.

A number of big firms, including Lockheed Aircraft Corp., said the new arrangement didn't mean too much to them because some of their plants had been shifting the observance of Saturday, Sunday or even mid-week holidays to Mondays previous to now.

Inland Steel Co. of Chicago pointed out that for companies with continuous processing like steel, the changing of holiday dates couldn't have any real effect on actual production.

The significant thing is there have been virtually no complaints about the change.

The opposite usually is true. Travel agencies, the airlines, business, the oil companies and the resort people all see the coming Memorial Day weekend as money in the bank. They did quite well with the long Washington's Birthday weekend, and they hope to do as well Memorial Day.

For the resort industry, one big advantage of the long weekend is that it can mean a second chance. Take a seaside resort town. It's an axiom that rain on either Memorial Day or July 4 causes serious losses to such a community. Rain on both holidays is a disaster. But it is not likely to rain throughout a three-day or four-day weekend.

Strangely enough, it took the travel industry lobbyists more than 30 years to get the long weekend adopted. The campaign for it was launched in an article in Readers Digest in May, 1937.

Circled Globe

The first around-the-world voyage by an American battle force was the voyage of the "great white fleet" of the U.S. Navy in 1907-1909. President Theodore Roosevelt had a dual plan — to give the fleet unique training and to show the world the power that had defeated Spain.

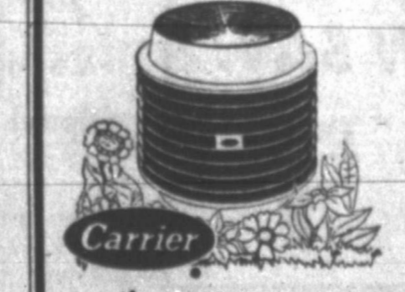

He set up one clinic in Bourton-on-the-Water and another in the nearby village of Stow-on-the-Wald, as he said "ask a few questions and make a few interesting tests." His aides handed out cards reading:

"There seems to be a lot of kidney stone or gravel and gout on the wold (a wold is a plain). The local doctors wanted to find out why this was happening and asked the field unit to help them.

"You may wonder what help you can be if you have nothing the matter with you—but it is only if we study everyone that we have any hope of finding out the ways in which those who are suffering differ from those who are not."

The magazine New Scientist gently railed at the lay press for treating the incident too humorously and then fell into the same centuries-old trap itself. It pointed out that if all else failed there was a patron saint of gout to whom one could pray—St. Sebastian, usually shown bristling with arrows. However, the magazine continued, he is also the patron saint of burial societies.

Window On World

Mideast Standstill:
Don't look for Israel to make any meaningful moves toward a settlement with Egypt in the next few weeks. There are two reasons. First, the upheaval in Cairo. Israel wants to wait and emerges there. Second, Prime Minister Golda Meir is off to Scandinavia next week and Foreign Minister Abba Eban is off to Africa. No major decisions would be made in their absence.

New Row over Oil:
Middle East oil sources are expecting a major new row—this time between Iraq and the foreign-owned Iraq Petroleum Company—to burst into the open any day now. The dispute centers on a company offer which would raise the price of Iraqi oil exports but which does not include the 10-cent low-sulphur premium Libya recently received. The company says Iraqi crude has a high sulphur content. Iraq says its oil possesses other compensating characteristics. Already experts are comparing the row to the France-Algeria dispute which ended in seizure by Algeria of 51 per cent of the French companies.

Of Interest to Soviets:
French President Georges Pompidou's state visit to Belgium is attracting close attention from Soviet-bloc chancelleries for two reasons. One is that Pompidou has scheduled a meeting with Supreme Allied Commander Gen. Andrew J.

HIPPIE who apparently has closed the generation gap all by herself may look familiar—particularly to anyone who has ever gone to the movies. It's Bettie Davis in disguise for a new picture, "Bunny O'Hare," in which the two-time Academy Award winner plays a grandmother turned bank robber.

Cheerleaders Named
SKELLYTOWN (Sp1)—Cheerleaders for the 1971-72 school year have been named at White Deer and Skellytown. Head cheerleader will be Vicki Cowan. Senior leader is Vicki Maddox; junior leader, Cindy Taylor; sophomore, Steve West; and freshman representative, Melinda Diggs. Miss Lometa Odem was named sponsor.

Skellytown leaders include Sandra Davis, head leader; Tina Simpson, assistant; seventh grade yell leaders, Nancy Mercer and Tammy Burditt. Sixth grade leader is Susie Fox. W.H. Evans was named sponsor.

Goodpaster, the first such since France withdrew from allied commands in 1967. As they meet U.S. Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. John D. Ryan will be touring French strategic air force and missile site installations in another indication of improving relations between the French and allied military.

Ounce of Prevention:
French government experts are working on a plan to liberalize the status of Martinique and Guadeloupe, French island possessions in the Caribbean. The islands, plagued by over-population and a retarded economic condition, were promised a larger measure of control over their affairs after violent riots during a recent visit of Pierre Messmer, minister of overseas territories.

Freedom of Press Test:
An Indonesian newspaper editor is on trial in Jakarta on charges of "sowing hatred" against President Suharto's regime. Teuku Hafaz, chief editor of the right-wing Nusantara Daily, has been carrying editorials and cartoons for the last two years criticizing government policies which he charges give preferential treatment to rich Chinese merchants, ignore official corruption and interfere in the internal affairs of professional and political organizations. He is being tried under a 1966 law guaranteeing the press right to "control, criticize and correct" government decisions and policies in a "constructive and corrective manner." The law was designed to correct abuses under the late President Sukarno who outlawed and disbanded newspapers at will and jailed newsmen without trial.

Skellytown 8th Grade Commencement Set
SKELLYTOWN — Eighth grade sponsors of White Deer Junior High, Mrs. J. B. O'Keefe and Vic Bates, will be in charge of graduation exercises scheduled for 8 p.m. in the elementary school gym on May 27.

Principal Alber Thomas will present diplomas to 31 eighth grade students.

Participating in the planned program will be; Pam Mesneak, Ron Williams, Tina Rhodes, Debbie Cooper, Charles Hensley, Ted Powers, Melinda Diggs, John Keeton and Deny Moss.

Science Today

By ROBERT MUSEL
LONDON (UPI)—A visiting doctor at a hospital near the village of Bourton-on-the-Water in the range of hills in the west of England known as the Cotswolds was astonished to find a high incidence of gout.

Since the days of the ancient Romans gout has been linked with high living—plenty of red meat and wine—and has provided the working class with a source of merriment since they believed they were laughing at an affliction of the wealthy.

This theory was reinforced by a Yale University study which found that business leaders tended to have excess uric acid—the guilty substance in gout. The good folk of Bourton-on-the-Water are making a living but few of them are in the supertax bracket so the Arthritis and Rheumatism Council sent mobile laboratories into the area to make a study of entire population in the hope of finding new clues to the disease. The study is under way.

Gout is not funny to its victims—it is exceedingly painful and Dr. Philip Wood of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Council found he was getting plenty of cooperation from villagers who sometimes limped over to be examined.

He set up one clinic in Bourton-on-the-Water and another in the nearby village of Stow-on-the-Wald, as he said "ask a few questions and make a few interesting tests." His aides handed out cards reading:

"There seems to be a lot of kidney stone or gravel and gout on the wold (a wold is a plain). The local doctors wanted to find out why this was happening and asked the field unit to help them.

"You may wonder what help you can be if you have nothing the matter with you—but it is only if we study everyone that we have any hope of finding out the ways in which those who are suffering differ from those who are not."

The magazine New Scientist gently railed at the lay press for treating the incident too humorously and then fell into the same centuries-old trap itself. It pointed out that if all else failed there was a patron saint of gout to whom one could pray—St. Sebastian, usually shown bristling with arrows. However, the magazine continued, he is also the patron saint of burial societies.

The Drug Of

For millions of people, use of a very common, readily available drug can mean going insane or can cause early death unless they completely and forever abstain from its use. The drug is alcohol and the disease is alcoholism. For most people it is a minor problem, but for these others their body cannot cope with it.

Alcohol can also react with many other common prescription drugs to produce very severe side effects. If you are cautioned by your doctor not to drink with a medicine, this could be the reason and you should not disregard this advice.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My sister is a nurse. She has performed a birth control operation on one of our brothers, a brother-in-law and on her own husband. This operation is called a "vasectomy." She does it right in her own home and says there is nothing to it.

My wife wants me to have it done, and I would like to, but I had rather have it done by a regular doctor in a hospital I inquired and found out it would cost $250, which I can't afford at this time.

If you were in my place, what would you do? Please don't mention my name or town or I could get into serious trouble.

YES OR NO

DEAR YES: You may get into serious trouble even if I don't mention your name or town if you allow your sister to perform a vasectomy on you. Your sister is no surgeon which would make the operation illegal, risky and barbaric. There may be "nothing to it," but one slip of the knife and you could wind up singing soprano in an all-make choir.

DEAR ABBY: I am 17½ years old, am a junior in high school, am 5 feet 6, and weigh 120 pounds. I have blue eyes and brown hair and am not very muscular.

My problem is that I can't get a girl. There are some girls that I like very much, but they don't like me that well.

I think my problem is that I am in ROTC and have to keep my hair short. Not real short, but a lot shorter than most girls like a guy to wear his hair.

Do you think I should drop out of ROTC, let my hair grow, and then see if I can get a

DEAR LOVE SICK: I don't recommend it because I think if you ask around you will find there are guys in ROTC who have girls. Maybe you're a late bloomer, but don't give up. There is someone for everyone.

DEAR ABBY: The young man who conscientiously objects to war needs more information than his draft board gives. Anyone who wants Conscientious Objector status should get in touch with a draft counselor. Such counselors can be found at any college through the chaplain's office, or through a Quaker meeting.

He should also send for the C.O. Handbook which is available for a dollar and is invaluable. Address: Central Committee for Conscientious Objectors, 206 Walnut Street Philadelphia, Penna. 19103. Please, Abby, be fair and print this.

Peace and good wishes J.D.P.: Hastings, Neb.

DEAR J.D.P.: Thank you for writing. Yours was one of hundreds bearing the same suggestion.

DEAR ABBY: Someone signed "PITY THE BABES" wrote that if a man gets a girl pregnant he would marry her to give the child a name, and if it doesn't work out they can get divorced afterwards. Maybe he doesn't know that it costs $3 to $4 to get married, but lit costs anywhere from $500 to $1,000 to get a divorce.

I agree with your answer, Abby. An unwilling bridegroom makes a poor husband and a miserable father.

Zoot Boots Accent Hot Pants Fashion

By JOANNE SCHREIBER

So you've stitched up a pair of Hot Pants — and another, and another, and another, complete with fringe and applique and rickrack. Now all you need is matching boots for each pair.

Don't rush out to line up a wardrobe of $30 boots. Instead, rush back to the sewing machine to stitch up a collection of zoot boots to add the finishing touch to your Hot Pants look. These over-the-shoe leggings require only some leftover fabric, a pair of zippers, trimmings to suit your fancy, and the special pattern available to readers of this paper.

If your legs are slim and lovely, make your zoot boots in any design you please. If your legs are heavier than you like, this is your chance for fooling your public trim your zoot boots with the accent-on-the-vertical, and your legs will look sensational.

With zoot boots, the emphasis is on the trim. Be sure that your color and design are matched in your Hot Pants so everything goes together. For ideas, just take a tour through the notions and trimming section of your department store or sewing center. You'll find fun braids, ribbons, rickrack and ruffles in zillions of designs and colors. You'll find individual motifs — animals, peace signs, flags, mottoes, hearts, flowers, initials, you name it — all ready to decorate your shorts-and-boots combinations. If you don't know about iron-on agents, this is your chance to find out how easy it is to iron these designs right onto your fabric.

Of course, you can create your own designs. Make cut-outs felt or fabric, and use your sewing machine satin stitch to attach them. Remember to back the pieces with lightweight if the fabric is soft and to trim away the excess after stitching. You might even make your own ecology sign with a blue scallop stitch of water, a green arrow stitch for a pine tree. Use buttons and glittery sequins to accent your handiwork. And don't forget stitching — crewel and cross stitch look great on zoot boots.

Zoot boots are made in two pieces, with a separating zipper up the back, a seam up the front, and elastic to hold it snugly under the heel of the shoe. There is a dart for the inside half of the leg (the outside is curvier). Be sure to get two separating zippers — the commonest mistake made by first-time zoot-booters is forgetting they have two legs!

When you order your special pattern, you will also receive sketches of exclusive design ideas and complete instructions for turning your design ideas into summer's brightest accessories.

For your own pattern and instructions, send 50 cents to: Zoot Boots, Stitchin' Time, C-0 Pampa Daily News, Box 503, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y., 10020. Be sure to include your own name, address and zip code.

VFW Auxiliary Installs Officers

New Officers of the Ladies Auxiliary to Pampa Post 1657 Veterans of Foreign Wars were installed Tuesday evening by Mrs. Carl Wright.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. Jack Boyd, Jim Clifton, J.W. Dart, Ann Eckroat, Carl Foust, John Forst, Anna Hutchens, Leon Hinton, Marion Kuhn, William Leonard, Jerry Ledford, C.D. Malone, George Mack, Edith Norris, A.L. Smily, Tony Smith, Harley Smith, Mack Taylor and Carl Wright.

Mrs. Marion Kuhn was welcomed as a new member transferred from Kansas. During the business session the Parade of Flags for Memorial Day was discussed. Any one having a casket flag was asked to take it to Memory Gardens.

Mrs. Tony read an article from Commander-in-Chief Rainwater about the office of management and budget having launched a new attack on Veterans Benefits. It has ordered the Veterans Administration to reduce the number of patients in its hospital system to 79,000 as a daily average, for the next fiscal year starting July 1. This is a reduction of nearly 7,000 patients, and equals to closing 14,500 bed hospitals.

Twentieth Century Culture Members Install Officers

Twentieth Century Culture Study Club met for luncheon and installation of officers in the home of Mrs. Joe Donaldson, Co-hostesses were Mmes. Jim Chase, G.L. Craddock and J.M. Stallings.

Following the invocation by Mrs. Craddock, Mrs. Cameron conducted the installation service.

"Since we are all concerned with eye-wear either for study, relaxation or profession, each of you will receive glasses in shape and color relevant to your office," she said.

"The Royal color purple best represents office of president. The octagon shape expresses the different points of interest your royal place demands, she said as he presented president's glasses to Nell Zachry.

"Pink compliments purple, is cheerful and gay, and should denote the soft and delicate aura. The perfect circle shape signifies the all-around vice president duties Bess Griffith you will perform this year.

"Blue is the color of the sea of words Ruth Hogan will write in her secretarial minutes, history and correspondence. The four points show variety of business, congratulatory, sympathy and illness letters you will send.

"First we think of green money and then the green of all growing plants and realize the two do go together. Dorothy Chase's are half-glasses, since you must have the co-operation of each member to complete your duty as treasurer.

"Yellow represents brightness and sunshine. Sonia Hood's egg-shaped glasses say that your words must cover accurately broad subjects in detail, but

Bluebonnet HD Installs Officers

The Bluebonnet Home Demonstration Club met recently in the home of Mrs. J.W. Dart for installation of officers.

Miss Jimmie Lou Wainscott, Gray County home demonstration agent, installed Mrs. J.W. Dart, president; Mrs. Jim Clifton, vice president; Mrs. Ed Wyley, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Clyde Gray, council delegate.

Miss Wainscott presented each new officer with corsages. During the business session Mrs. Gray was elected to attend the state meeting in September. Miss Wainscott showed films on "Conservative Buying."

Refreshments were served to Mmes. Jim Clifton, J.W. Dart, C.D. Malone, Harry Muns, Alta Mae McAlth, Bessie Galmore, Tony Smith and Ed Wyley.

Students Present Piano Recital

Mrs. Larry Allen sponsored a piano recital and served refreshments to guests attending the program by her 36 students.

Students participating in the program were Sarah Duncan, Amy Ellison, Karen Hampton, Dana Maloney, Melinda Park, Jeri Blewins, Sandy Warner, Cayle Hollis, Ann Jeffrey, Janet LaFon, Robyn Ford, Jimmy Jeffrey, Yoby Hollis, Rhonda McDaniel and Mike Warner.

Foreign News Commentary

By RAYMOND LAHR WASHINGTON (UPI) — In the zigzag of politics in the second half of the 20th century, President Nixon is trying to blow the Democrats out of the middle of the road.

Some of them flirt with the new left or search for groundbreaking economic or other domestic programs to make updated versions of Republican economics look reactionary.

Since the unimpressive Republican showing in the 1970 elections, the President has proclaimed himself a Keynesian economist and shifted ground so that there is no clear distinction between his policies and what was called the new economics in the 1960s.

And his Democratic rivals have filing cases full of proposals for spending more money faster in different areas to cure the nation's ills. Individuals and blocs of individuals have different ideas about where to raise the money — from the defense budget, from faster economic growth, new tax sources.

Demos Seem Budget
Whether the Nixon budget is called a full employment budget or any other name, its planned deficit of $11 billion for the coming year would have been regarded as heresy by most Republicans a few years ago.

But the national Democratic headquarters refers to it constantly and scornfully as too little and too late to solve the problems created by two years of administration efforts to cool off the economy.

At its May 13 meeting, the Democratic policy council asked for "a complete overhaul of estate and gift taxes so that massive concentrations of wealth cannot continue to be passed from generation to generation without taxation." It said even modest reforms would produce $3 to $4 billion a year and that inheritance levies running up to 25 per cent would yield $20 billion.

The council recommended tax reform of this type—pending consideration of uniform progressive taxation of all forms of enrichment." That phrase could have been borrowed from a more drastic economic policy resolution adopted two weeks earlier by the ultra-liberal Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) at its national convention. The same idea was advanced in a proposed "economic charter for modern Democrats" by John Kennedy Galbraith and three other ADA members on the Democratic party of a "Nixonomics" policy council.

Jackson Worries
"All forms of enrichment" would cover capital gains levies, oil depletion allowance and other devices known as "loopholes" to their critics and as "essential tax incentives" to their beneficiaries.

The proposed charter was referred to a special committee for burial, rewriting or other disposal.

JEANE DIXON Your Horoscope

TUESDAY, MAY 25
Your Birthday: Today, you begin what can be a "fun" year of excitement or unsettled conditions for which you seldom find an answer that works for more than a short period. A youthful spirit and the choices you have already made count. Intellectual and communication arts and techniques are heavily featured. Tuesday's natives are nearly always swift and dexterous in their movements, versatile in artistic talents.
ARIES (March 21-April 19): Much with little to recommend it has to be done in order to get at the important things. Most unfinished business turns out to be of value.
Taurus (April 20-May 20): Where you have a complaint seek the appropriate place and make it formal. Get matters straightened out as soon as you can. Routines of daily living are put aside for the moment but regained shortly.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): The temptation is to spend money to create favorable impressions, or to buy things that look fancy at first. Every friend who uses or distributes money has a different VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Somewhere along the line, you've left behind people you need to convince. Get back to them with basic questions and answers.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Discussions, rumors, news fly from all quarters. In the midst of all this you have something to do that is important at least to you, probably to others as well.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Let your intuition guide you away from needless complexities, time-wasting people. Those who merely wish attention sound more desperate than those who want and can use help.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Cooperation offered to those who need it but are not sure of how to ask for it, be an achievement. Where it is accepted, deal yourself in for a share of the program.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Being positive thoughts to bear on today's mood. Let your own wheels but, for a while, those of others near you, just to get things moving again.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): New information needs to be taken into account. Look and listen. Test theories against reality before going on to project them as settled fact.
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Personal concerns, relatives, the needs of vocational aspirations slow progress. hinder any travel effort. Take your time even when starting late, avoid carelessness and thus be sure of reasonable achievement.

4-H Corner

By RICHARD GUGGISBERG and JANA COLE
Gray County 4-H Council met May 15 in the Courthouse Annex. Lisa Friend, vice chairwoman presided. Reports were given on County and District sales. A bake sale was set up for June 18. Those attending were: Wayne Whaley, Cheryl Robbins, Lisa Friend, Melinda Spearman, and Doris Canton.
The candy sales are progressing very good. We are really proud of all the 4-ers who have participated. Please turn in the money as soon as possible.
We are getting ready for the Dress Revue. Thursday, several senior 4-H girls took a field trip to Amarillo to study fashion trends, and to get ideas for the garment they will make in their clothing project. Those attending were: Brenda Winters, Stephanie Eastham, Regina Atwood, Elaine Webb, Nona Nickel, and Doris Carlton. Mrs. V.C. Webb, Jimmie Lou Wainscott and Jana Cole also accompanied the group.

Power(less) Frustrations

Used to thinking of their resources in terms of abundance, Americans are re-having to get used to living with a chronic shortage in one vital area — power.

Ever since the great Northeastern blackout of 1966 demonstrated how limited and breakdown-prone generating and distributing facilities are, periodic power ministris have come to be taken almost as a matter of course.

The East in particular has been plagued by occasional area brownouts and periodic short periods when consumers, meaning primarily householders, are asked to curtail electricity usage.

And now for the bad news. More of the same is likely this summer. The Federal Power Commission has been forecasting shortages and possibly even major blackouts. It may not turn out as badly as predicted. We have lucked out in the past and may do so again. But avoiding its worse consequences is not the same as resolving a long range problem such as this.

What is to be done? The obvious response to a shortage — expanding generating facilities — unfortunately raises as great a problem as it would answer for it runs head on into growing public concern over pollution and the preservation of the environment.

Existing practical methods of power generation on a large scale, with coal and oil as basic fuels, also mean pollution on a large scale. Power plants are the largest source of sulfur dioxide, "probably the single most serious pollutant in the atmosphere today," according to Russell Train, chairman of the President's Environment Council. Heat water discharged by some plants into rivers and lakes is also an environmental problem.

There has been some effort to minimize power production's objectionable characteristic through mine-mouth operations, locating generating plants at fuel sources in the usually thinly populated coal-producing regions. Thus if this reduces the number of people directly affected and who complain, it does nothing to reduce pollution quantitatively.

Nuclear power is a long way from being an answer. It is yet accounts for only some two percent of electric power output and raises its own environmental and safety problems. Construction of a huge nuclear plant at Port Clinton on Lake Erie, to serve the Cleveland and Toledo areas, has run into considerable public-interest opposition. Environmentalists are fighting nuclear projects at Shoreham, N.Y.; Palisades, Mich., and Monticello, Minn.

What should help some is an industry-government effort to bring some order on a national scale into the selection of sites for new power plants, until now largely the preserve of private power companies and state agencies with a minimum of advance planning and coordination.

Measures now before Congress, one an administration bill, differ in details but generally call for longer-range planning, increased public voice in determining power policies and machinery to settle conflicts over plant sites.

Also general is an emphasis on environmental considerations in selecting sites. Hopefully, it will turn out to be more than lip service.

But with per capita consumption of electricity increasing at a rate five times greater than the population and an estimated 300 new plants needed to meet a predicted quadrupling in demand during the next 20 years alone, we aren't likely to be so lucky as to have our power and be able to enjoy an undefiled environment, too.

SST Guess-Again Game

Pick a number, any number — 85 million, 478 million, one billion.

These are some of the more prominent figures, in terms of dollars, being tossed about since the Congress on-again, off-again vote on the supersonic transport — chapter three in what would become a very long-run suspense serial — turned the SST issue into a numbers game.

The $85 million is what the House had voted to keep the SST program going, although at very low throttle, while $478 million is what proponents estimated as the cost of pursuing it to the point of completing and test-flying two prototype planes. And $1 billion is what Boeing Aircraft Chairman William Allen suggested as a more realistic cost of getting the planes into the air.

SST opponents came up with an entirely different, but equally overwhelming, array of figures.

It is a game, apparently, which any number can play, except possibly those earth-bound taxpayers without graduate degrees in calculus. After Congress' most recent dramatic vote rejecting the SST, it was noted that about all that could be said with certainty at that point was that the last had not been heard of the issue.

That is still the case. If anything has been demonstrated conclusively at this point, it is the marvelous capacity built into our legislative machinery for second and third and often more thoughts on a major issue. It can be a long journey, with many stops and much backtracking, to get a final decision.

The SST may or may not ever take off. But as the plane becomes as much, or more, a political matter as one of economics and technology, hopefully the public won't end up simply being taken.

Sensitivity Training

Sensitivity training is "at best harmless and at worst, very dangerous," said Dr. Andrew Emery, noted clinical counselor for the Hacker Psychiatric Clinics in Los Angeles.

"I have never seen any really positive results from sensitivity sessions, and I have seen many negative results where people couldn't take it," she said. "I don't think anyone has the moral right to invade another's privacy. In the pressure to reveal their hang-ups, some (sensitivity participants) go to pieces," she added. In addition, charged Dr. Emery, many sensitivity directors are insensitive and incompetent, and they tend to go after the weakest participants.

It is no wonder many firms and organizations have abandoned sensitivity sessions. The human mind and emotions are far too complicated to be exposed to such tinkering.

Question Box

QUESTION: Does the constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press mean that every individual who wants his opinions or his creative efforts published is automatically guaranteed his works will be printed? Or does it simply mean that the government cannot interfere with an individual's right to take a risk in publishing a newspaper, pamphlet, tracts, magazines, etc., or interfere with his right to try to persuade someone else to publish his works for him, no matter what his opinions or ideas may be?

ANSWER: It will come as a surprise to some to learn that the U.S. Constitution does not "guarantee." Our forbears apparently understood government, and they knew that the word "guarantee" cuts two ways. That is, anything the government "guarantees" the government also can "dis-guarantee."

Accordingly the language of the First Amendment is as follows:

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof, or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances."

So the First Amendment is simply a description of an area in which the Constitution pledges that the government shall not operate. The amendment confers no right. It merely takes into account the fact of a set of pre-existing rights and binds Congress not to legislate upon such subjects.

Our ancestors knew that if they sought to guarantee any right, they would work the direct opposite of their objective. For a guarantee is a positive action that would have injected the state into the matter of free speech, free press and religion. Therefore, they adopted a statement declaring that the government shall explicitly refrain from certain enactments. Hamilton argued that they should refrain even from the statement of restraint because anything they said involved them in the subject matter.

Since, therefore, Congress is prohibited from making laws that abridge a free press, Congress cannot require the owner of a press to publish something that he doesn't want to publish, nor can it prevent him from publishing that which he chooses to publish. This does not exempt the publisher from responsibility for what he prints.

The individual who does not own a press has many recourses if he finds himself in disagreement with a person who does. He has the radio, he has other newspapers, he has duplicating equipment of various kinds. A just and pertinent cause will attract adherents if capably stated, regardless of the type of paper the statement is printed on.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—What is the abalone?
A—It is a large, limpetlike snail found in various parts of the world. Only its foot is eaten.

Q—Why was the Septuagint so called?
A—The Septuagint is the oldest Greek translation of the Old Testament. Its name means "70," because of the belief that 70 scholars worked on the translation.

Q—Upon how many sources did Michelangelo draw for the scenes depicted in the frescoes painted on the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel?
A—Two — the Bible and ancient mythology.

"He Followed Me Home, Ma!"

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Frank's experience with the sex protests of women is typical. For women are perverse creatures. They resent the fact I dissect them scientifically in this daily column. For they like to gloat over the poetical delusion that they are unpredictable and mysterious to men. Malarky! Read below!

CASE Q-561: Frank M., aged 42, is a Presbyterian elder.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "when we first invited you to occupy our morning pulpit, I was deluged with phone calls. 'They came from women who expressed shock that we would ever bring you to our church.'"

"For they said you were a rank sexist and always attacking women."

"But when they learned you were to speak on the theme 'Jesus, the World's Greatest Psychologist,' do you know what happened?"

"Well, the very next day, these same women swamped me with telephone calls, demanding to know why we didn't have you lecture on 'Sex and Marriage Problems.'"

"How do you explain their illogical behavior?"

Frank's experience is about par for the course. All over the country this same reversal of attitude by women is reported to me.

Previously I mentioned just such an example, except it was the Real Estate Luncheon at Indianapolis.

Jane Steadman, the vivacious Program Chairman, invited me to come down from Chicago to address them on "Modern Psychological Strategy in Selling."

But as soon as many of the women members of the organization heard that I was to be the luncheon speaker, Jane said they phoned her in protest.

"That awful Dr. Crane!" they exclaimed.

"They did you ask him to speak to our club?"

But next day, when they learned the title of my speech, they again deluged Jane with phone calls, demanding that she have me speak on "Sex and Marriage Problems."

And when I reached Indianapolis at 11 a.m., Jane and the President of the organization took me aside to suggest that I split my noon address into 15 minutes on "Salesmanship" and 15 minutes on "Sex and Marriage," since so many members were demanding the latter topic.

But I replied that I couldn't do justice to either theme in such limited time, so I stuck to my original topic.

And at medical as well as dental state meetings, I have met the same paradoxical behavior by women.

Mrs. Crane used to chide me about stressing "Sex and Marriage Problems" unduly, so she urged me to omit any mention thereof in the title of my usual banquet speech.

But almost without exception, the President, plus the Program Chairman, would take me aside and suggest:

Your Health

By Dr. Lawrence Lamb

Doctor Follows His Own Advice

Dear Dr. Lamb — You stated in your column that it is best to avoid eating too much saturated fat and that the diet should contain mostly fish, chicken, turkey, vegetables, skim milk or low-fat fortified margarine and limited amounts of lean beef. More recently, in a column on goat, you said it was wise to limit the amount of fish, fowl and meat in the diet and get more of the protein from skim milk, egg whites, and low calorie (low-fat) cottage cheese, vegetables and cereals. This seems to be a contradiction of what is best. Is it best to eat or eliminate from the diet fish, chicken and turkey? Also, do you personally limit your intake of cholesterol and saturated fats? Do you ever eat egg yolks, pork or food made with saturated fats?

Dear Reader — You are combining answers to two different medical problems. The most common disease problem that our civilization has is heart and vascular disease caused by fatty deposits in the arteries to the heart, brain and elsewhere in the body. To prevent this problem most heart specialists feel you should limit the amount of fat and cholesterol in the diet. It is recommended that people use skim milk and nonfat dry milk powder, fish, fryer chicken (without the skin is better) and young turkey, with a greater abundance in the diet of vegetables, fruit and cereal.

While milk, butter, margarine made from saturated fats, or hardened margarine, cheese (other than uncreamed cottage cheese—excessively fat—meat of any type, such as bacon, and cholesterol-laden foods, such as egg yolks and organ meats like brain, should be used sparingly. Now the person with gout has trouble metabolizing animal protein. It is not just a question of his fat intake. For this reason certain types of protein also have to be limited in the diet. This is why it is probably better for patients with gout to limit the amount of fish and chicken they eat.

The use of skim milk, egg whites and uncreamed cottage cheese, vegetables, cereals and fruit is recommended. Even with a strict diet, many goat patients still have too much uric acid (the end product of certain proteins) in the blood. These people need medicine to control their gout problem.

Yes, I certainly do limit my cholesterol intake. Sometimes three or four months pass without my eating an egg yolk, even in food preparation. I almost never eat pork and make it a point to eat low fat foods. I am 5-10 and my weight varies from 135 to 140 pounds. Most of my fellow physicians consider me lean. The fat ones think I am emaciated.

Please send your questions and comments to Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D. in care of this paper. While Dr. Lamb cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Inside Washington

New 'Anti-Loafer' Draft in Cuba

John Goldsmith

Robert Allen

WASHINGTON — The media are saying nothing about it, but Washington and Havana are currently the scenes of dramatic and profoundly significant contrasts on the draft issue.

In Washington, still in the process of recovering from extensive battering and soiling of the communist instigated and directed "anti-war" disturbances and disorders, a bitter fight is being waged in the Senate against continuance of the draft. An assortment of anti-Vietnam doves, pacifists, ultra-liberals and other militants are furiously filibustering to defeat the House-passed bill extending the draft two more years.

Outcome of this fateful struggle is uncertain. The existing Selective Service Act expires June 30. Meanwhile in Cuba where, as in all iron Curtain countries, universal military training is permanent and mandatory, dictator Fidel Castro, the idol of radical U.S. youth, has put into effect still another draft system.

By arbitrary edict — with no debate, consultation or anything else — the bulky despot has proclaimed a so-called "anti-loafer draft."

Aimed at work shirkers and similar "social criminals," as they are officially branded, the purpose of this latest terrorism is to strike at the widespread and increasing absenteeism and idleness among workers.

That's nothing new in Red-ruled Cuba, but it is the first time Castro has attempted to cope with it by a so-called law. Under this new "law," violators are punished by being drafted for forced labor for periods of from six months to two years.

During this time they will be required to "do productive work" — as decided by the communist state. Currently, that means being sent into sugar fields to cut cane.

Right now, that is admittedly particularly urgent because the sugar crop is running seriously behind schedule. In a May Day speech, Castro conceded this year's crop is likely to be 800,000 tons less than his loudly fanfared goal of 7.5 million tons. That goal in itself was an acknowledgment of a major setback.

Last year the bombastic Cuban dictator vaingloriously announced a 10 million ton record. Somewhere between 6 and 7 million tons was finally squeezed out.

Sugar experts say Castro will be lucky to wind up with that much this year. Untimely heavy rains and mounting labor and mechanical difficulties are severely curtailing production.

CRIMINAL LOAFERS — Apparently there are a lot of "social criminals" who have run afoul of Castro's new draft.

In a May Day speech, labor Minister Jorge Risquet declared that in the short time the edict has been in effect, more than 100,000 Cuban workers have been arrested and sentenced under it to "rehabilitation centers."

Risquet made another equally revealing disclosure — that these culprits "represent only about one-third of suspected violators."

The Castro henchman warned that no mercy will be shown to those deemed guilty. Menacingly, Risquet declared the government intends to rigidly enforce the new draft regardless of how many are seized and sent to labor camps.

Representative Richard Ichord, D-Mo., chairman of the Internal Security Committee, commenting on this matter, noted that recently several large groups of radical U.S. youths went to Cuba to cut cane.

He cited these so-called "Venceremos Brigades" as graphic examples of "mindless absurdity."

"While these American youths are voluntarily going to a communist police state," said Ichord, "the terrorist rulers of that state have prescribed a new law that says in effect their workers have no rights, not even the right to decline to toil for little pay and comfort."

New provisions of Castro's key anti-loafer draft act are: "In the new society, work is a social duty for all able-bodied men and women.

"Loafing may take different forms, running from those who have no work connections and are dedicated to a life of idleness and crime, to those who try to disguise their lazy ways with occasional work, quitting one job — another, to those having work but repeatedly absent.

"The guilty will be sent to rehabilitation centers for a period of from six months to two years, during which time they will do productive work. The law will go into effect as soon as it is published in the Official Gazette."

PATRICIA YOUNG SAYS

Communism's Price Proves Too High

By PATRICIA YOUNG

By PATRICIA YOUNG Those pink powder-puff pundits who would have us believe that a "little bit of socialism is a good thing" for over 50 years.

Obviously haven't examined the realities of the system as it has existed behind the Iron Curtain.

Now if there's one thing any man or woman understands, it is what his wage packet is going to purchase each week — and how long he is going to have to work for the things he wants. Notwithstanding a lack of variety, shortages and outlandishly high prices, we can do no better than make a few simple comparisons. For instance, an average North American earns between 14 and 16 dollars a day for an eight hour day. The Soviet worker earns only $2.50 for his eight hour day.

Thus, it adds up to a Soviet citizen paying 13 times as much as a North American for a suit of clothing; 30 times as much for a pair of shoes, three times as much for a loaf of bread and six times as much for a quart of milk.

The lowest worker in the U.S.S.R. earns about $25 a month. In North America, the minimum wage is $1.50 an hour a $200 a month. The average North American lives in about 370 square feet for every man, woman and child. By law, the Soviet citizen is only permitted 79 square feet of space.

In Moscow, a man works 23.3 months in order to buy an automobile. In New York, he works only 4.1 months. For a pound of ground coffee, he works 500 minutes in Moscow, only 42 minutes in New York. For a chicken, 2.94 minutes in Moscow, 21 minutes in New York. For a chicken, 2.94 minutes in Moscow, 13 minutes in New York.

Needless to say, cost of housing, vacations and appliances all require that much more labor under the socialist system. The reason? A lack of accountability. When the work is accountable only to a vague complex of government which is a dictatorship accountable to no-one, little wonder that a man feels no pride in his work and does no more than he absolutely has to. Personally, I like the idea of the Italian factory owner who offered his disgruntled employees a free two week vacation in the U.S.S.R. His program was so successful that the Communist Party of Italy had to forbid their members from going.

If we will be just a little realistic, we must recognize that there is no revenue to share. The only thing the federal government has to share today is debt.
