South Texas Hit By Drought

Stricken Counties May Be Declared Disaster Area

AUSTIN (UPI) — This has been the driest winter in 20 years — drier even than the severe drought of the mid-1950s when empty lake bottoms burned hard as brick under the Texas sun.
As a result, there may not be enough water to irrigate South Texas citrus crops, which are just now starting to blossom. Dry soil has already prevented the planting of some crops, and there may be serious shortages of livestock water as well.
The Hidalgo County commissioners court asked Gov. Preston Smith Tuesday to have the Nixon administration declare the county a disaster area.
Several other South Texas counties have made similar requests, and Smith said Tuesday he is seriously considering it.
"If necessary, we will ask the President to declare the affected counties a disaster area so that they will receive the assistance they need," Smith said. "Similar action was recently taken to alleviate an agricultural emergency in certain farmland areas of Florida."
"We will certainly take whatever action is necessary to assist those people in South Texas who have been adversely affected by the drought," he said.
Such an emergency declaration would make South Texas ranchers and farmers eligible for low-interest, federal loans. Emergency livestock feeding might also be available.
Smith said he and Agriculture Commissioner John C. White may tour the South Texas drought area "within the next few days in order to personally survey the emergency situation, and determine what steps should be taken."
"The drought has persisted throughout the fall and winter," he said. "Although it has affected many areas of the state, South Texas has perhaps been hardest hit. It is in South Texas that the possibility for extreme economic losses appear to be the greatest."

Tricia And Edward Cox Become Engaged At White House Party

By HELEN THOMAS
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Tricia Nixon and New York socialite Edward Finch Cox became officially engaged Tuesday night at one of the swiftest parties ever staged at the White House.
The pre-St. Patrick's Day celebration wound up after 2 a.m. EST with movie star Fred McMurray playing the saxophone and Dennis Day singing "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling."
Blonde, blue-eyed Tricia, 25, in a long white chignon gown banded in ostrich feathers, danced several hard rock numbers with Cox, 24. Several of his Harvard Law School pals kept cutting in.
The evening combined an "Irish Evening of Entertainment," Pat Nixon's 50th birthday party, and the announcement of Tricia's engagement for the June 5 wedding. Sentiment and gaiety were the order of the evening—and nobody wanted to go home.
The President, with Mrs. Nixon smiling by his side, formally announced the engagement of his elder daughter to "Mr. Edward Cox" on the stage in the East Room. He did it with some humor, taking note that the news had broken long ago.
"I understand I'm supposed to make a surprise announcement," he said, grinning. "The difficulty is I find every time, I have a surprise announcement, it's leaked—and there seems to be no exception."
He added that making the announcement to the gathering of some 300, including Ireland's prime minister and Mrs. John Lynch "seems to be rather an anti-climax."
But the guests, who knew the secret beforehand, stood and applauded as Tricia and Cox took their bows beside her parents. They were joined by her fiancée's parents, Col. and Mrs. Howard Ellis Cox of New York.

Mrs. Nixon had decreed that this would be "Tricia's evening." But there was a huge cake with white and green icing inscribed: "Happy Birthday Pat."
On it were two little lovebirds for the happy couple.

Jury Deliberating Sentence For Calley

By H. D. QUIGG
FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—Six career men schooled in army discipline and tempered in the fire of combat sat in a narrow little room to do battle of another sort today.
They must decide whether to convict a fellow officer, Lt. William L. Calley Jr., on charges he murdered 102 civilians during a military operation in Vietnam.
The last words of advocacy they heard before the case was placed in their hands Tuesday night were those of the prosecutor: "You are the conscience of the United States Army, the conscience of this country."
And before that, the defense had told them: "This was not a one-man carnage... what you do here will never be erased from the page of history. I'm proud of the Army and it grieves me to see it being pulled apart from within... let this boy go free."
Was Calley a Pied Piper with a rifle who led villagers at My Lai to a ditch and "summarily executed unresisting men, women, children and babies?" Or was he "low man on the totem pole" of command, picked to be the Army "pigeon" for My Lai?

The jury heard the final arguments of the opposing sides. It heard the charge of the judge, Col. Reid W. Kennedy. Then, at 9:35 p.m. EST Tuesday, it got the case the third anniversary of the day the prosecutor said Calley "slaughtered his innocent victims."
Calley, 27, says he followed orders in leading his platoon to point blank slaughter in the incident more than a year and a half later shocked the nation.
It was the 49th day of the court-martial when the jury retired for the night after the charge. It scheduled a full day of deliberation today.
The room is 12-by-4 feet, the wooden table 3-by-4 feet, the

Mitchell Asked To Investigate Reports Of 'Wanton Shootings' IN TEXAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., has asked Attorney General John Mitchell to investigate reports that Mexican-Americans have been victims of "wanton shootings" by Texas lawmen.
The most recent was a "midnight raid" during a search for the slayers of three sheriff's deputies in Dallas resulting in the shooting of a Mexican-American couple and the beating of their teen-age son, Bayh said.
"I have received correspondence and telephone communications suggesting that police officers from the Dallas County, Tex., sheriff's department have terrorized large segments of the Mexican-American population in that city during the period Feb. 15-20 in search of some fugitives from the same ethnic group," Bayh wrote Mitchell.

"There are reports these incidents culminated in a midnight raid on the home of Mr. Thomas Rodriguez, in which Mr. Rodriguez and his wife were shot, their 14-year-old son beaten up, and the entire family of eight children placed in the county children's shelter," Bayh said.

Dallas Police Chief Frank Dyer today hotly denied Bayh's allegations.

Thomas Dewey Dies Of Heart Attack In Miami

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Thomas E. Dewey, crime-busting attorney, three times governor of New York and twice unsuccessful Republican presidential candidate, died Tuesday of a heart attack. He would have been 69 March 24.
His body was to be flown to New York today for funeral services. The cause of death was listed as a heart attack, although the full autopsy report would not be released until later today.
Dewey had planned to attend a White House dinner Tuesday night and a St. Patrick's Day celebration today. President Nixon held a moment of silence at the dinner in honor of Dewey.
A bellhop at the Seaview Hotel found his body face up on a bed in his hotel room. The bellhop went to the room when Dewey failed to meet a chauffeur-driven limousine which was to take him to the airport. Dewey's luggage was packed on the bed beside him.
The Miami Heart Institute said Dewey underwent a checkup on Feb. 2, but was not a patient at the time of his death. Dr. Richard Elias, who conducted the examination, said, "I found what his doctor in New York already knew, that he had coronary artery disease."
Duane Andreas, president of the Seaview and a close friend of the former governor, said he and Dewey had played 18 holes of Golf Tuesday morning. "He had a good game, a good day," Andreas said.
History probably will best remember Dewey as the man who as the Republican presidential candidate in 1948, lost in one of the biggest upsets in American politics.
Once before, in 1944, he had lost the presidency, but political experts had not expected him to win that time against the popular incumbent Franklin D. Roosevelt, in the middle of World War II.
But in 1948, with two minority parties expected to drain the Democrats and signs that President Harry S. Truman appeared unpopular across the country, Dewey seemed a sure winner after capturing the GOP nomination.
Several public opinion polls stopped taking straw votes because they said the campaign was too one-sided, and people began talking about President Dewey.
But he lost in a stunning upset blamed in part by experts on Truman's scrappy campaign, the revolt of the farm states, the decline of the third parties and Dewey's and the Republican party's complacency.

Ground-Breaking Set For City Auditorium AT 10 A.M. THURSDAY

An informal ceremony to break ground for Pampa's $1.2 million auditorium has been set for 10 a.m. Thursday, it was announced today by City Manager Mack Wofford.
On hand for the event will be representatives of the city, the M.K. Brown Foundation, Gray Pampa Foundation and M.K. Brown Memorial Auditorium Committee.
Scene of the ground breaking will be the auditorium building site just southwest of Coronado Inn at Coronado Dr. and N. Sumner St.
The construction contract has been executed with the J.W. Cooper Construction Co. of Odessa, the city manager said, and workmen already are on the job.

At a meeting in City Hall yesterday afternoon with Herbert Brasher, Lubbock architect, the type of brick to be used was selected and the architect was authorized to proceed with color coordination on the auditorium interior.
City Manager Wofford reported that, as they say down at Cape Kennedy, "all situations are go" as far as the auditorium is concerned.
"Everything has fallen into place," Wofford said, "and by this time next year we should be planning the formal opening and dedication."

Miss Davis Given Standing Ovation By Followers As She Enters Court

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UPI)—Angela Davis' attorneys offered the crux of her defense against murder charges Tuesday by arguing there is nothing illegal about buying guns.
Defense counsel Michael Tigar told a pretrial hearing delayed four hours by bomb threats that there is no evidence Miss Davis "gave or furnished" weapons to a teenager killed with three others in a courtroom shootout.
Miss Davis, 26, a black militant and avowed Communist, was greeted with a standing ovation and cheers of "right on" from her supporters as she entered the courtroom for arguments on a motion to dismiss murder, kidnapping and conspiracy charges against her.
The hearing resumes today with prosecutor Albert W. Harris Jr. continuing an argument which cut off abruptly Tuesday when he had the four guns bought by Miss Davis brought into court, unpacked and placed on the table in front of him.
Harris, who contended her indictment was valid if "there is enough evidence to raise a strong suspicion in the minds of reasonable men," looked at the weapons and started to refer to the shootout.
He was interrupted by defense attorneys who reminded the judge that the guns and some grand jury testimony had been sealed by court order.
Harris then asked that the order be vacated because it would be impossible for the prosecution to reply fully to Tigar's argument without the guns.

The judge ruled the order sealing the guns would remain in effect until he reviews it and told Harris: "You have tonight to regroup your forces."
The tall defendant, wearing a miniskirt, a multicolored blouse and round glasses, sat quietly taking notes and conferred with her battery of lawyers as Tigar and Harris debated the dismissal motion.
She is charged with conspiring with Jonathan P. Jackson, 17, and buying the guns he used in an escape attempt Aug. 7 in which a judge, a prosecutor and three jurors were kidnaped.

Turkish Police Nab Kidnaping Leader

ANKARA (UPI)—Deniz Gezmis, a 25-year-old university dropout who masterminded the kidnaping of four U.S. airmen, was captured by Turkish police today in a four-hour gun battle near Gemerek, 125 miles southeast of Ankara.
Gezmis was described as the leader of the Turkish People's Liberation Army and, as such, was Turkey's most wanted man. With other militant leftists he is accused of a series of bank robberies, bombings and attacks on political rivals.
He was brought to Ankara for questioning and told police he and his companions had planned to execute the four Americans kidnaped March 4 but were dissuaded by a letter one of them, Sgt. James Sexton, 22, of San Angelo, Tex., had written to his pregnant wife.

Young 'Traveler', Refusing To Talk, Puzzles Officials

A small blonde boy with "nothing to say," turned up at a North Hobart service station yesterday afternoon, apparently lost. The station operator notified police who picked the small boy up and took him to the County Welfare office after he refused to answer questions.
The long complicated task of finding out where he belonged was lightened somewhat when a visitor in the Welfare office happened to know an aunt of the boy. A telephone call brought her to the Courthouse to identify the four-year old youngster.
Officials first believed that he had managed on his own to travel the six-mile distance from his home west of Pampa to the N. Hobart address where he was found. Later checking revealed that he had been with his mother about an hour before he was reported as a "lost child, found."
At any rate, the young traveler kept the secret of where he had been and where he was going, refusing even to volunteer his name and went home with his aunt.
Officials are still puzzled about circumstances which led to the "found child" report when no "lost child" report had been made.
And the little fellow that is the center of all the attention still isn't talking.

Festive Irishmen Toast Shamrock In Song, Dance In Song, Dance

DUBLIN (UPI)—Festive Irishmen today toasted the shamrock in song and dance and plenty of drink.
Bands, skirling pipes and mini-kilted majorettes swirled through flag-bedecked cities and towns. Thousands of visitors and Irish exiles joined the nation's 3 million residents in the celebrations marking St. Patrick's Day.
There were Gaelic games, race meetings, local sports and even hikes. It was a public holiday. Everything was closed except for essential services—and pubs ranked high on the list of essentials.
They were open and doing a roaring trade as Irishmen swept worries under the rug and forgot about inflated prices that put the shamrock at twice last year's cost.
Hawkers pushing their carts through the streets and little boys with baskets on their arms were asking up to 15 cents a sprig.
In bars and homes across the Emerald Isle, the shamrock was "drowned" with honor—a ceremony that began Tuesday night and gathered momentum during the day.
In the capital, a giant industrial parade through the city center was the highlight of the official celebration.

Shamrock People Today Observe St. Patrick's Day

SHAMROCK, Tex. (UPI)—Shamrock's residents observed St. Patrick's Day today but postponed their annual celebration until Friday and Saturday.
The committee that planned the celebration decided that if it was held in mid-week, many admirers of St. Patrick could not attend.
About 30,000 persons were expected at the weekend celebration.
Shamrock, which has no greater Irish population than any other Texas Panhandle town of 3,300, has celebrated St. Patrick's Day since 1938, with the exception of a couple of years during World War II and one year during the Korean War.
The celebration beginning Friday night will include a parade, an old fiddlers' contest, a Miss Irish Rose contest and a Donegal beard growing contest.
Everybody who attends will get a shamrock, flown in directly from Ireland.

SCOTLAND'S SECRET revealed, or youthful curiosity satisfied, out-of-the-season shot, for a change of pace, as caught at the Thousand Islands International Highland Games, annual event at the St. Lawrence meeting point of the United States and Canada.

Only Two Ballots Cast Absentee In City Election

Only two absentee ballots had been cast up until noon today in Pampa's upcoming April 6 city election.

Deadline for absentee balloting will be April 2.

City Secretary S.M. Chittenden today reminded Pampans there will be only one voting place on election day—the City Commission room at City Hall.

Chittenden said Pampa voters lost their opportunity to have a voting place in each of the city's four wards when only 94 votes were cast in the election held last April.

A minimum of 400 votes is required to maintain the four voting places, the city secretary said.

There will be only one contest in the April 6 election. James Terry, a Cabot Corp. employee is running against George B. Cree Jr., who is seeking reelection as city commissioner in Ward 1.

Unopposed candidates will be Milo Carlson for mayor, R.D. Wilkerson for Ward 2 commissioner and Leo Braswell for Ward 3 commissioner.

License Plate Sale Slow In County As Deadline Nears

County Tax Assessor Jack Back said today that the sale of 1971 license plates in Gray County had been slow this year, pointing out that residents should remember the April 1 deadline for purchase of plates without penalty.

For the second year, persons owning cars registered in the county the previous year, have been mailed a registration card which may be presented to the tax office in the Gray County Courthouse when obtaining current license plates.

New car owners, or owners new in the county should bring the title and last year's license purchase receipt when applying for 1971 plates, said Back.

Ethics Bill In Bad Health After Tabling Efforts Fail

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Senate's bill might not be dead, but it certainly appeared in bad health today.

Sen. Ralph Hall, D-Rockwall, who is sponsoring the code of conduct for public officials, said Tuesday he would rather see the bill die peacefully than be emasculated by some of the changes his fellow senators have proposed.

Hall tried to table his bill after the Senate voted 17-11 for an amendment to allow legislators' law firms to represent clients before state agencies.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes blocked immediate action on the motion to table by getting the Senate to adjourn.

"Sen. Hall has worked very hard on this piece of legislation and I want him to continue as the author," Barnes said. "The ethics bill is not dead. We are going to pass an ethics bill or stay in session until we do."

Hall said somebody else could sponsor an ethics bill but he didn't want his name on one that's "a shell or something I don't believe in." The Rockwall senator left the door cracked for a possible compromise, however.

He suggested legislators might be barred from sharing in profits of law partners for legal work involving appearances before state agencies.

"My first and No. 1 intention is that I would like to prevent any member of this Senate and the House from practicing before state boards," Hall said.

The proposed code of ethics also would require public officials to disclose their sources of income, make public their assets and investments and reveal all loans from banks or other government-regulated institutions.

Officials also would have to report all gifts they receive worth $100 or more and file confidential copies of their income tax returns.

Violators would be subject to a fine of $10,000 and a 10-year prison sentence.

The bill was written to cover public officials who are elected statewide, members of the legislature and top administrators of state agencies.

12 Absentees Cast Ballots In School Race

Twelve absentee ballots were cast as of midmorning today for the April 3 school board election.

The school business office will remain open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and be open during the noon hour for absentee voters. Deadline for absentee ballots is April 30.

Six candidates are on the ballot, including both incumbents, Jimmy Thompson and Warren Hasse. Other candidates are R.N. Swearengen, D. W. Bond Jr., Irwin T. Winter and Ben L. Sturgeon.

Election hours are 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. April 3 in the Pampa High School's new music building. The election was moved to the new facility from its traditional place in Pampa Junior High School gym.

"The defense," said the prosecutor, Capt. Aubrey M. Daniel III, "says Lt. Calley was still a poor kid who was sent to Vietnam. Nothing has been said about the victims. Who will speak for them, gentlemen? The defense has said the boys were just a little bit more aggressive that day."

"Can you visualize what the victims felt at the end of a bullet's path? They were placed in a ditch like so many cattle. What can justify, gentlemen, the shooting in cold blood of an infant, a child, or any human being who is offering you no resistance?"

"What happened at My Lai is the truth. You can't hide it. You can't cover it up—it exists. All human beings are entitled to be treated humanely. The defense would ask you to legalize murder."

"How could we as a nation ask for humane treatment of our own while condoning inhumane treatment of them? The fact that they were Vietnamese is irrelevant. They were human beings. Lt. Calley has attempted to absolve himself of responsibility by stating that he did his duty."

"To make that assertion is to prostitute all the humanitarian principles for which this nation stands, to prostitute the true mission of the United States soldier."

George W. Latimer, the 70-year-old veteran of World War II battle in the Solomon Islands and the Philippines who is defense counsel, told the jury: "I do not believe history records an instance when the United States of America had a similar situation."

"You must chart a course for what should be done," he added. "You are in a situation where if ever the presumption of innocence held, the personal rights and obligations available to a man in the Armed Services should be extended to this accused man."

Latimer said that shortly after the My Lai mission, the company commander, Capt. Ernest L. Medina, was saying he, Medina, might go to jail.

"All of a sudden, things change," Latimer said. "Who becomes the pigeon? Lt. Calley, the lowest officer on the totem pole in this whole business. There is a difference between errors in judgment and criminality. I ask you gentlemen to give your honest consideration to this case."

"And I ask that you let this boy go free."

Mystery Surrounds Source Of Funds For UT Mansion

AUSTIN (UPI)—Most of the money for a plush new $907,000 mansion for the University of Texas chancellor is coming from a mysterious source which the UT board of regents has refused to identify.

A special Senate investigating subcommittee asked the regents Tuesday to identify that source in order to "remove the cloud of rumor, suspicion, mistrust and lack of confidence" surrounding the building of the controversial home.

The request was sent to Frank Erwin, former regents chairman; John Peace, the new chairman, and E. D. Walker, deputy chancellor of the university, in a letter by Sen. Mike McKool, D-Dallas, the subcommittee chairman.

Erwin revealed the source of $307,000 of the funds, but said the remaining $600,000 came from a foundation which wished to remain anonymous.

McKool said after four hearings by his fact-finding panel

"this subcommittee feels it is necessary in its work to secure the facts pertaining to the unnamed foundation and its $800,000 gift for the Bauer House."

"These facts are of such importance that this subcommittee feels it must exercise every diligence, every effort and every process which may be available to it," McKool wrote.

The Dallas senator said he realizes the foundation may prefer to remain anonymous as Erwin said, but McKool said it should realize that "under the circumstances disclosures must be made under judicial and legislative due process."

"This subcommittee feels this disclosure will actually be beneficial to the university and will remove the cloud of rumor, suspicion, mistrust and lack of confidence. This public disclosure undoubtedly will help clear the air."

McKool asked Erwin, Peace and Walker, or someone designated by them, to appear before the subcommittee at 4:30 p.m. next Monday and said the panel "does sincerely hope you will voluntarily disclose the facts."

One-Day Training Conference Set For Den Chiefs

A Den Chief training conference for the Santa Fe District, Boy Scouts of America, is scheduled Saturday at the First Christian Church in Pampa.

Scout officials today urged attendance of all active and prospective den chiefs in the district.

Den chiefs, it was explained, are boy scouts who assist adult leaders in the Cub Scout program and contribute to development of youngsters in the cub ranks.

"The conference will be a combination good time and training experience," one scout leader said. "It is intended to glamorize the job, build more enthusiasm and to develop higher morale among den chiefs."

Registration for the one-day training conference will start at 9 a.m. Saturday.

The day's schedule includes presentations, activity periods and projects.

Conference leaders will include den mothers, cub masters, scoutmasters, boy scouts and other scout leaders.

One of the day's highlights will be a luncheon program with an outstanding speaker. The conference is expected to end around 3:30 p.m.

Anti-Pollution Officials Urged To Do Something, Not To Complain

HOUSTON (UPI)—Echoing a state legislator's remark that Texas Water Quality Board officials are "apologists" for polluters, U. S. Attorney Anthony J. P. Farris said Tuesday state officials should quit complaining about federal antipollution enforcement and start doing some enforcing of their own.

"I'm a big believer in states' rights but states' rights carry state responsibility," Farris told the Texas Gulf Coast chapter of Sigma Delta Chi professional journalism society.

"We have platoons of nonacting state officials whether it be pollution, polls or pornography," he said.

Farris was especially critical of Hugh Yantis, director of the Texas Water Quality Board, because Yantis complained recently federal authorities are prosecuting pollution cases that could be left to the State of Texas to prosecute.

"Mr. Hugh Yantis has taken the attorney's office to task for use of the Refuse Act of 1899," Farris said. "We've used it 157 times since Jan. 29, 1969. We've handled no less than 41 criminal matters and 116 civil, and collected $76,500 in fines, all under the refuse act which Mr. Yantis just discovered was being enforced."

"I am not an apologist for industry of the (Houston) ship channel," he said.

The "apologist" remark was in reference to recent charges by state Sen. A. R. Schwartz, D-Galveston against state pollution control officials.

Twice within the last week Schwartz has made speeches charging the state water board with trying to cover up a staff report that said the Brazos River is "devoid of all aquatic life" below the spot where a Dow Chemical Company plant at Freeport dumps its wastes.

Water board officials have acknowledged that Dow is violating antipollution standards, but said the report Schwartz referred to jumped to conclusions about the damage being done to the Brazos.

It was then that Schwartz responded by calling state officials "apologists" for polluters.

Events In State Legislature

AUSTIN (UPI)—Events in the Texas Legislature Tuesday:

ETHICS—The Senate adjourned Tuesday to give parliamentarians time to sort out a technical tangle over who could carry Sen. Ralph Hall's proposed ethics bill if Hall wouldn't try to table his own ethics bill after the Senate voted 17-11 for an amendment he said "would cut the heart out" of the proposed code of conduct for public officials.

DROUGHT—Gov. Preston Smith said he may ask the federal government to declare portions of drought-stricken South Texas disaster areas.

MUTSCHER—House Speaker Gus Mutschersouly defeated an open challenge of his leadership Tuesday by placing a resolution calling for investigation of alleged payoffs of state officials in exchange for passage of two banking bills in a sudden-death committee. The House defeated 118-30 a move by Rep. Frances Farenthold, D-Corpus Christi, to get immediate action on the investigatory resolution.

CHANCELLOR—A special Senate investigating subcommittee asked officials of the University of Texas to appear before it March 22 to explain the origin of a mysterious $600,000 gift to help build and furnish a controversial million dollar home for the system's chancellor.

Police are investigating the theft of items from a car owned by Barbara Ferguson, 205 W. Craven.

The complainant filed the report with law officials at 1:35 p.m. Tuesday and stated that an eight-track stereo player and a car opener had been removed from inside her car while it was parked at 304 E. Browning.

Also missing from the 1964 model vehicle were the battery, alternator, radiator and one headlight. Value of the items stolen, according to police reports, was $200.

Purity And Power

By DAVID POLING, D.D.
The arrival of St. Francis signaled the end of the Dark Ages. Chesterton said that with the appearance of this man, came "a whole awakening of the world and a dawn in which all shapes and colours could be seen anew." St. Francis was to bring the power and purity of the Gospel into the common lives of thousands. As Olive Wyon has noted, "He brought new energy to the life of the Western Church. And he did this in great simplicity because he followed the Gospel, and what he gave to his disciples was a way of life, and not a code."
St. Francis, like Schweitzer, was to honor the Creator in all of Creation. The wind, the rushing stream, the songbird—all were part of his theology of praise.

St. Francis

O most high, almighty good Lord God; to thee belong praise, glory, honor, and all blessing.
"Praised, be my Lord God, with all his creatures; and specially our brother the sun, who brings us the day and who brings us the light.
"Fair is he, and shining with very great splendour: O Lord he signifies to us thee.
"Praised be my Lord for our sister the moon; and for the stars, that which he has set clear and lovely in heaven.
"Praised be my Lord for our brother the wind; and for air and clouds, calms, and all weather by which thou uphoolest in life all creatures.
"Praised be my Lord for our sister water; who is very serviceable unto us, and humble and precious, and clean.
"Praised be my Lord for our brother fire, through whom thou givest us light in the darkness; and he is bright and pleasant and very mighty and strong.

"Praised be my Lord for our mother the earth, that which doth sustain us, and keep us; and bringeth forth divers fruits, and flowers of many colours, and grass.

"Praised be my Lord for all those who pardon one another for His love's sake; and who endure weakness and tribulation.

"Blessed are they who peacefully shall endure: for thou, O most Highest, shalt give them a crown.

"Praised be the Lord for our sister the death of the body; blessed are they who are found walking by Thy most holy will.

"Praise ye and bless ye the Lord and give thanks to Him and serve Him with great humility. Alleluia, alleluia!—St. Francis of Assisi (1181-1226)

BANK LOSES $7 MILLION

FBI Agents Conduct Investigation Into Largest Embezzlement Scheme

CHICAGO (UPI)—FBI agents Tuesday investigated what could be one of the largest amounts of money—estimated between $6 million and $7 million—ever embezzled from a bank.

The embezzlement occurred at the Cosmopolitan National Bank and was discovered when a customer "confessed" the crime to a bank official Feb. 25, Donald D. Magers, bank president, said Monday.

The embezzlement scheme, which involved checks as large as $900,000 written on the customer's account, also involved a veteran member of the bank's bookkeeping department, Magers said. He said the employee has since been discharged.

Magers said the customer allegedly involved in the crime is a key executive in a Chicago merchandising corporation.

He said the exact loss of bank funds will not be known until an audit is conducted of the bank's books.

Magers said the bank loss was covered fully by United States Fidelity & Guaranty Companies.

FBI agents reportedly questioned the bank customer and the former employe, but no charges have been placed against them.

Magers said the embezzlement apparently occurred when the executive wrote checks on a corporate account in excess of the amount of money deposited to the account. The checks were only handled by the one bookkeeper involved, he said.

The bank has issued a statement to shareholders about the incident. The statement said the employee suspected of participating in the embezzlement had been employed in the bank's bookkeeping department for 24 years.

The statement assured shareholders the loss was covered in full and said reserve accounts are available to further protect the bank from loss.

Magers said the loss was substantial, but the bank was in a position to take care of it. He said bank assets total about $55 million.

Social Security Benefit Increase Okayed By House

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House waived any parliamentary delay Tuesday and voted approval of higher Social Security payments for 26 million Americans retroactive to Jan. 1.

The measure, which now goes to the Senate, raises benefits by 10 percent and requires no additional payroll tax deductions this year. Senate passage, which is assured, would send the legislation to President Nixon for signing—the first major bill to emerge from the new Congress.

The fast House action came by surprise. Only Monday, a House-Senate conference committee approved the benefits boost. Under ordinary procedure, the House would have not taken up the measure until Friday.

But through a parliamentary maneuver, House Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., got the House to accept the measure moments after the session convened at noon.

Golda Wins Vote Of Confidence

By United Press International
Prime Minister Golda Meir of Israel won an overwhelming vote of confidence Tuesday in a turbulent session of the Knesset (Parliament) with a program that rules out Israeli withdrawal from eastern Jerusalem, the Golan Heights, the Jordan River and Sharm el Sheikh.

Mrs. Meir won her vote 62-0. Twelve members abstained and 26 members of the hard-lining Gahal bloc stalked out before the vote when their motion for a secret ballot was defeated in a 45-minute shouting match.

In Washington shortly afterward, U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers put public pressure on Israel to pull back to its 1967 borders with Egypt.

"The climate has never been better" for peace in the Middle East, Rogers told a news conference and Israel, he said, does not need to hang on to conquered territory to maintain its security.

State Oil Production Allowable For April Set At 82.1 Per Cent

AUSTIN (UPI)—After hearing predictions from major oil company executives that the crude oil demand for 1971 will jump by 5 per cent, the Texas Railroad Commission Tuesday set state oil production allowable for April at 82.1 per cent—the third straight month at that level.

The allowable hearing came the end of the annual "State of the Industry" hearing in which members of the Railroad Commission hear reports from the heads of major oil producing and refining firms.

Twelve of the 14 major purchasers asked that the April allowable be left unchanged from March, one asked for an increase and one called for a cut. The April allowable will permit maximum production of 3,763,648 barrels daily, and estimated actual production of 3,111,000 barrels per day.

Total nominations for April were 3,411,778 barrels daily, an increase of 1,666 barrels per day from the March nominations. The U. S. Bureau of Mines estimated April demand at 3,300,000 barrels daily, a decrease of 35,000 barrels daily from March.

Officials of the major companies predicted the U. S. will have to rely largely on imported petroleum products to meet the expected 5 per cent demand increase this year, with domestic production remaining about the same as last year.

"To help fill this demand, domestic production of liquid hydrocarbons should reach about 11.5 million barrels a day," said Wayne E. Glenn, president of the Western Hemisphere division of Continental Oil Co.

More Imports Due
"But as has been the case in recent years, imports of crude and products will provide the greater share of the increased demand."

Glenn predicted higher oil and gas prices in the future because of increasing exploration costs, inflation and demands for more safety measures in oil and gas production to prevent pollution. Dr. C.F. Jones, vice chairman of Humble Oil Co. warned the commission that the nation is approaching a fuel crisis.

"In spite of its past accomplishments, the domestic oil industry now faces the greatest challenge of its history," Jones said. "For the first time our nation is facing a significant energy shortage."

Crude Stocks Higher
Railroad Commission chairman Byron Tamm said Texas crude oil stocks on March 5 stood at 110.4 million from February and up 7.4 million barrels from the same date a year ago.

April nominations by major purchasers included Amoco 420,000, Atlantic Richfield 230,000, Chevron 65,200, Continental 42,000, Diamond Shamrock 36,000, Gulf 225,000, Humble 566,000, Mobil 285,000, Phillips 95,000, Shell 160,000, Sun 225,700, Texaco 200,000, and Union of California 72,000.

U.S. SUPPORT PLEDGED

Rogers Urges Israel To Pull Back To Its 1967 Border With Egypt

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers strongly pressured Israel Tuesday to withdraw to its 1967 border with Egypt. He said Israeli security did not depend on "acquisition of territory" and pledged long-term American support.

Rogers, told a news conference that "the climate has never been better" for a Middle East peace settlement. But he acknowledged that differences between Egypt and Israel over an Israeli withdrawal from the Sinai Peninsula had brought an impasse to peace negotiations.

The secretary said that the 1967 boundary "should be the boundary between Egypt and Israel" provided that the two parties could negotiate a demilitarization of the Sinai Peninsula and satisfactory arrangements for the strong point of Sharm el-Sheik which controls navigation to Israel through the Gulf of Aqaba.

He gave his views shortly after Israeli prime minister won an overwhelming vote of confidence from the Knesset (Parliament) when she spelled out a peace platform that rules out Israeli withdrawal from the Golan Heights, the Jordan River and Sharm el-Sheik.

"It is not necessary to acquire territory to make adequate provisions for security" for Israel, Rogers said.

He explained that satisfactory security arrangements could include a united Nations peace-keeping force in which the United States, the Soviet Union, France, Great Britain and possibly some other smaller nations might participate.

When the Argentine military ousted Juan D. Peron in 1955 it was to abolish dictatorship and restore democracy. Today, after a decade and a half of intermittent military rule interspersed with unstable civilian governments, mounting violence, instigating political kidnappings and murder, and the rise of a Marxist government in Chile, there is a growing wonder whether Peronism was so bad after all.

time it might even be that Peron will have been permitted to return from his Spanish exile.

With exceptions already noted, most Argentine military men oppose Peron's return, and with good reason since they could become the objects of his revenge should he return to power. But more than they fear Peron, they fear imported communism.

Peron coddled those he called "the shirtless ones" and even though he and the top echelon among his supporters milked the Argentine treasury of an estimated $700 million, he left behind a reservoir of affection that today continues to control about one-third of the Argentine vote.

At the root of Argentina's problem is an economy which has not kept pace with the expectations of the ethnically European population. To keep up with the standard of living which Argentinians have learned to expect, many work two and three jobs.

But in the big provincial cities outside Buenos Aires, the capital, these jobs are not always obtainable.

It was in June, 1966, that Lt. Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania, dissatisfied with the efforts of an elected civilian government to restore economic stability, took over the government in a bloodless coup. In June, four years later, for similar reasons, and because Ongania had become known as anti-labor, he also was deposed and Brig. Gen. Roberto Marcelo Levingston, put in his place.

Ongania had halted inflation and, on the surface at least, given the country a healthy economy. But it had been accomplished through rigid suppression of political and trade-union activities, including a freeze on wages and prices.

Under Levingston a new tactic was attempted. A little inflation, it was decided, wouldn't hurt. Wages were increased and there was a vague promise of free elections in "four or five years."

In Cordoba this week it led to the second general strike of 1971, to looting and burning and to one rioter dead and dozens injured.

In government promises of elections sometime in the future, there also was a promise that Peronistas would be permitted to vote under their own banner and by that

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Have you any words of comfort or advice for a woman who is the same age as her husband but is often mistaken for his mother?

That is my problem. My husband always has been extremely young-looking for his age. He has a trim athletic build, a full head of hair and a boyish grin.

I am naturally big boned and have always had a weight problem. (I'm a good cook and I love to eat.) My hair started to turn gray when I was in my late 20s, but friends say it's "becoming."

I have to dress matronly because they don't make smart youthful dresses in my size.

When my husband is with our 18-year-old daughter everyone thinks he is her "date." When he is with me they think he is with his mother. What can I do besides feel sorry for myself?

ROCK OF AGES
DEAR ROCK: Enlist the help of TOPS, Weight-Watchers, or your friendly family physician plus the local health club, and get your figure down to where it should be. For every 20 pounds you lose you will look 10 years younger! And quit apologizing for your "matronly" wardrobe. If you can't find smart, youthful styles in your size, make some. Now, about your hair, Lady. Gray hair may be "becoming" — but it's not youthful. Don't wait until Monday to begin the self-improvement program. It's later than you think. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: Something has been gripping me for several months and I have decided to get it off my chest. My son and daughter in law live out of town, and they have an adorable family. The kiddies call me "Grandma" which I love, but I do not like it at all when my daughter in law calls me "Grandma." This I have told her several times, but she pays no attention. I visited them over the Christmas holidays and before putting up the stockings on the fireplace my daughter in law asked me what she should put on my stocking. I said, "Put 'Mother' on it; it's my son's house and I am his mother." So she said, "Well, it's also my house, and you are not my mother!" So I told her to just leave my stocking blank. And that is what she did. I felt very hurt. So how does a mother in law cope with a girl like that?

MOTHER IN LAW
DEAR MOTHER IN LAW: It's not easy. But you must dislike your daughter in law for other reasons than what she calls you. Think it over.

DEAR ABBY: I hope this will help "Heartbroken in New England" to understand: Our only child, a son (22 years old) was killed five years ago. Since then he has had three babies named after him. We feel very grateful and honored to know that these friends loved our son so much they named their offspring after him. We are,

STILL GRIEVING BUT HONORED

CONFIDENTIAL TO D.D.J.: 'Twas I who has said on more than one occasion that "love is a mental disease." In a very real sense it is. Perhaps that explains why so many marriages fail. They were contracted while both parties were out of their minds.

Guests Will Be Green With Envy

MARCH 17th is the day to pay tribute to the Irish, even if there's only the faintest bit of Irish in your ancestry.

Naturally, you'll wear at least a touch of green, so why not carry the celebration further... into the meals you plan for the day?

A touch of whimsy for your

St. Pat's day table would be a cheddar-swiss fondue in an electric fondue pot that will maintain the precise temperature required throughout the meal.

For serving, add a little green food coloring to the fondue and decorate the table with brightly colored leprechauns.

For dipping, provide lots of rye or crusty French bread cubes, cooked ham chunks, cocktail weiners or crackers for hand dipping.

Any remaining fondue may be stored in covered containers in the refrigerator for another party or be served as a sauce on cooked vegetables.

To round out the fondue festivities, serve cups of Irish Coffee with cookies or a special shamrock-shaped cake.

Crepe care
SIDNER SPRINGS, Md. (UPI)—Crepe is a very serviceable fabric if it is given reasonable care, says the National Institute of Drycleaning.

The majority of crepes dry clean satisfactorily but pressing must be done very carefully so as not to flatten the creped surface. Bias-cut crepe garments are more difficult to press than garments cut with the grain or straight of the fabric.

Highlights And Sidelights From The State Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN, Tex. — A blue-ribbon committee has been formed to lead the fight against income taxation.

Midland attorney Tom Sealy resigned from the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System to devote full time to directing the work of the statewide group.

Texas Association of Taxpayers started with an advisory committee of 300 prominent citizens. Sealy announced that a membership drive is getting under way.

"Our purpose is not obstruction, but rather an honest and open effort to help the Legislature develop a reasonable tax program and undertake whatever economies are possible in order to resolve this situation in the regular session," Sealy said. "We are united on one broad principle — that this should be done within the present tax structure and without enactment of either a personal income tax or a corporate income tax."

T.A.T. notes that business pays 34 per cent of the present sales tax and that 18 per cent of all state revenues come from natural resource taxes which many states do not levy.

Our organization, says Sealy, feels that "this is no time to strip income taxes on the people" in view of unemployment and the shape of the economy.

It will argue a corporate income tax is "simply the forerunner of a personal income tax."

Meanwhile, the House-passed $492.5 tax bill, made up largely of sales levy increases, arrived in the Senate without a sponsor. It was referred to the State Affairs Committee.

Sen. W. T. Moore of Bryan, chairman of the State Affairs Committee, indicated that he will not lend his name to the bill and that he is in no hurry to schedule hearings.

AD RULES SET — Advertising regulations for health insurance companies to follow have been drafted by the State Insurance Board, to take effect April 1.

Companies are instructed to stick strictly to the truth and to close loopholes that might deprive the policyholder of coverage.

Special participating policies drew close attention and were termed "unfair, inequitable, misleading and deceptive."

Tough rules drafted earlier by a Board attorney were discarded in favor of uniform regulations recommended by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners. Insurancemen favored the latter.

Ads must disclose the waiting period that is necessary before the effective date of the policy, any illnesses not covered and whether benefits listed require more than one policy for full coverage.

When existing ailments are not covered, the ad cannot imply that ones medical history does not affect the policy or the claim payment. Use of the phrase "no medical examination required" is thus limited.

Board plans to enforce these rules by cease and desist orders. Companies which ignore the order can be fined or have their license revoked.

TEXAS RATES LOW IN SAFETY — Texas was ranked in the bottom quarter of states in a federal evaluation of compliance with federal highway safety standards.

Gov. Preston Smith in a letter to Transportation Secretary John Volpe protested the rating and said that Texas' efforts to comply have been "misjudged or ignored." He said the Legislature is now considering all aspects necessary to compliance.

National rating is based on such things as motor vehicle inspection and registration, licensing, codes and statutes, traffic courts, driver education, emergency medical services, highway design, construction and maintenance and alcoholic beverages in relation to highway safety.

In a special message to the Legislature, Smith asked for an end to the misdemeanor probation for drunk drivers.

COURTS SPEAK — Supreme Court in a Montgomery County school bond election case held one must render property (real or personal) for taxation to be eligible to vote in such elections.

High Court, in a seven-to-two verdict, reversed the lower courts in a Reeves County case and concluded that a rancher does not have legal title to 160 acres of land even though he maintained fences for more than 10 years and kept his cattle there.

Supreme Court declined to hear arguments over whether two socialist candidates should be placed on Austin's city election ballot. Two refused to sign state loyalty oaths.

A malpractice case involving a worker's injury was ordered sent back by the Supreme Court for re-trial in Galveston.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin announced filing of anti-trust action in the federal court at Dallas, alleging conspiracy by major auto manufacturers to suppress air pollution control equipment.

AG OPINIONS — School districts are not authorized to place certified administrative staff personnel on a foundation school program roster in utilization of classroom teacher units allotments unless they meet the definition of "classroom teacher," Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

Ruling by Martin also clarified the pay grade classifications of superintendents and principals.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that: Amendments to the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act which would permit employers of one to three persons and non-profit organizations to pay lower taxes than other newly-covered firms are valid.

Harris County road law authorized transfer of responsibility for operation and maintenance of Washburn Tunnel and Harris County ferries to only the commissioner in whose precinct they are located.

Martin advised consumers that merchants are not required by law to take back merchandise returned by customers who have simply changed their minds about wanting it. Stores, he said, are liable for defective merchandise.

APRIL DRAFT CALL — Col. Melvin N. Glantz, state director of Selective Service, announced the April draft call in Texas is 1,033.

National call by the Department of Defense is for 17,000 men, all for the Army. April call for pre-induction physical examination in Texas will be 4,001.

Glantz also said 51 Texas medical doctors, four osteopaths and 32 dentists will be included in a separate special induction call for doctors and dentists. National call is for 1,631 MD's, 77 osteopaths and 538 dentists.

Selective Service announced reduction in its work force of about 15 per cent. Nationwide reorganization may require some local Texas boards in heavily populated areas to be merged.

APPOINTMENTS — Ron Jones, formerly of Dublin, was named interim executive director of Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Jones promptly relieved Robert G. Mauerman, who had been holding the position, of all duties at PWD.

Governor Smith announced the resignation of Dr. Charles H. Brown of Wichita Falls from the Texas Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

Sen. Bill Patman of Ganado will be legislative commissioner of Gulf States Marine Fisheries Commission.

SHORT SNORTS
Sen. Jack Hightower of Vernon will be governor for a day on April 3.

Bicentennial Commission recommended a program for Texas' participation in the nation's 200th anniversary celebration.

John Graves of Fort Worth is new president of Texas Institute of Letters.

Harlingen is the first Texas city to announce a "crime-stop" telephone number in cooperation with the new state program to report crimes.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes announced plans to organize

1,000-member Texas delegation to visit Paris, Stockholm and Moscow on behalf of American prisoners of war and servicemen missing in Vietnam action.

Technical Assistance Center here will serve eight model cities programs.

IRS: Bank Credit Cards Allow Tax Break

By RAY DE CRANE
A new ruling by Internal Revenue Service gives a break to taxpayers who itemize their deductions. They can take advantage of it on the returns being filed before the April 15 tax deadline.

At the same time the ruling appears to give more favorable treatment to users of bank credit cards than to those who pay department store bills on a revolving installment account or who borrow funds from a finance company.

Effect of the ruling is to permit users of bank credit cards to deduct as an interest payment on their tax returns the full 18 per cent annual interest they pay for the use of credit.

Even though the same 18 per cent rate may apply on department store installment accounts or on finance company loans, the users of such credit may deduct on their tax returns only a third of their charges.

While the Treasury Department ruling would seem to discriminate in favor of bank credit cards, such is not the case.

The key point is that banks call the 1 1/2 per cent monthly charge "interest."

Other lenders — such as department stores, loan companies and finance companies — refer to the charge as a "finance charge." In addition to interest, they say, it also includes a carrying, finance or service charge, a loan or credit investigation fee, or a similar charge.

Where it is not readily apparent what part of a finance charge is interest, IRS rulings have always provided that the deductible interest is limited to 6 per cent of the average unpaid monthly balance.

The Truth in Lending Act requires that all charges made for the use of consumer credit be stated as "finance charge" and be stated as an annual percentage rate.

In its new ruling Internal Revenue states that this requirement under Truth in Lending "does not convert such charges into interest."

On the other hand, the ruling continues, "neither does it make charges that are actually interest nondeductible for income tax purposes."

Banks treat the entire amount as interest. Most banks are now advising their credit card users of the ruling and telling them to deduct the full amount of interest on their tax returns.

Unless department stores determine the full charge is for interest, their charge customers will be restricted to one-third their finance charges when listing deductions on their tax returns.

More Than 3,000 People Pay Last Tribute To Young Jr.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Hundreds of the very high and very ordinary crowded the main nave of Riverside Church, its chapels and assembly halls, today to say goodbye to the man who tried to make of his life a bridge between them, Whitney M. Young Jr.

More than 3,000 people attended the funeral services for Young, the head of the National Urban League, who died while swimming in the ocean at Lagos, Nigeria, last week.

Among them were Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., James L. Buckley, D-N.Y., Edward M. Brooke, R-Mass., Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., Clifford Case, R-N.J., Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and George McGovern, D-S.D.

Attorney General John N. Mitchell and former Attorney General Ramsey Clark were there and the secretaries of agriculture, commerce, labor, housing and urban development, health, education and welfare and transportation.

Inside Washington

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Senior Editor
WASHINGTON (UPI) — We were standing in the rain, six of us, waiting for a D.C. Transit "express" bus that was scheduled to leave the Maryland suburbs for downtown Washington at 8:48 a.m.

At 9:15, the bus finally lumbered into view. "It's outrageous," muttered a lawyer who was going to be late for an important appointment. "But what can you do?" That despairing question, "What can you do?" is becoming the litany of 20th century urban man.

It expresses more eloquently than any angry outburst the deep sense of frustration and powerlessness that overwhelms the modern city-dweller when he perceives how dependent he is on things over which he has little or no control. Just getting to and from work can be a daily trauma once a city has reached a certain size. Even if your bus leaves on time, it may get tied up in a traffic jam or break down from lack of adequate maintenance. And there's nobody to blame or complain to except the hapless bus driver, who is not your persecutor but your fellow victim.

Housewives are spared the travail of commuting, but they have problems of their own. If the refrigerator or washing machine breaks down, she calls the repair man. If he happens to be in a gracious mood, he may tell her what day she can expect him. But it is useless for her to ask what time of day he'll arrive. So she has to sit at home all day, neglecting her other errands, while she waits for him to show up and perform the mysterious rites of mechanical adjustment for which he charges a fee that would be more appropriate for a brain surgeon.

Power failures sever the lifeline between urban man and the technological matrix of his existence. It's not just a matter of being plunged into darkness. That he could cope with, by lighting candles. But if he has a furnace with a electric-powered blower, he will have no heat until the power comes on. He can't cook on his electric stove, take a shower in electrically heated water, or make ice cubes.

Worst of all, he can't find out how long he's going to be in this plight. If he calls the power company, he'll either find it lines busy or he'll get an evasive answer from a bored employe who doesn't know, and apparently doesn't much care, when service is likely to be restored.

We could go on for hours listing the petty and not-so-petty vexations to which homous urbanus is daily exposed. When you consider how much we all have to put up with, the wonder is that we're not at each other's throats all of the time, instead of only now and then.

PRISONER WEDS
CHICAGO (UPI) — Judge Robert J. Salski was reading the wedding vows: "Do you, Robert Daniels, take Gloria Bruce to live together...I suppose, in your case, eventually...in sickness and in health?" Daniels said, yes, he did. Miss Bruce concurred. She threw her bouquet to a waiting reporter (male) and Daniels donned his handcuffs for a one-to-three-year jail term. Salski sentenced Daniels to the term Feb. 17 for burglary.

Texas-Born Star Dies In London Of Hemorrhage

LONDON (UPI)—Bebe Daniels the Texas-born star of screen, television and radio who appeared in more than 300 films in her lifetime, died Tuesday in her London apartment of a cerebral hemorrhage. She was 70.

Her husband, actor Ben Lyon, and their son and daughter, Richard, 36, and Barbara, 39, were at the bedside. "She was a wonderful woman who gave me 40 years of the greatest happiness any man ever had," said Lyon, who co-starred with Jean Harlow in Howard Hughes' classic film of the early 1930's, "Hell's Angels."

Ben and the woman who won the hearts of millions in "Rio Rita" in 1929 observed their 40th wedding anniversary last year. Miss Daniels, a one-time Mack Sennett bathing beauty, co-starred with Harold Lloyd, who died last week, in hundreds of short comedies. Other films in which she appeared included "Monsieur Beaucaire," with Rudolph Valentino, and the 1930's musical, "42nd Street."

The Lyons, known as "Hollywood's happiest couple," moved to London in 1936 to escape a kidnap threat against their daughter, Barbara. They intended to stay only briefly but the months stretched into years.

During World War II Lyon was a lieutenant colonel in the Britain-based U.S. Eighth Air Force. Miss Daniels was the first woman civilian to accompany Allied troops on the invasion of Normandy, and she was awarded the U.S. Medal of Freedom, the nation's highest award to civilians, for her work with the wounded.

Hearing On Needs Of Alcoholics To Be Held In Amarillo March 23

A public hearing on the needs of alcoholics and methods by which communities can face "the number one public health problem" as defined by President Richard Nixon will be held in Amarillo on March 23, 1971.

All Panhandle counties are asked to participate by the Rev. Alan Conley, chairman for Region 1.

Conley and three others were named by the Texas Commission on Alcoholism to prepare a regional report which will be incorporated into a "Texas State Plan" for submission to the Federal Government.

Other members of the regional committee are Mrs. Claudette Landis, a member of the United Way of Amarillo Budget Committee; Bill Cooke of Clarendon; Louise Evans, Coordinator for the Amarillo Mental Health-Mental Retardation Regional Board of Trustees.

Conley said the hearing will be held in Amarillo on March 23, 1971. He said the hearing will be held in Amarillo on March 23, 1971.

Ken Beahan of Austin, Executive Director of the Texas Commission on Alcoholism, who notes that a committee of 100 Texans have been named to direct the work of the regional plans. "This is the reason we have divided our committee of 100 into seven sectional regions of the state and have obtained a knowledgeable person in each of the state's planning regions to serve as a regional chairman."

The Rev. Conley is Vice-Chairman of the Amarillo Medical Alcoholism Committee of the Mental Health-Mental Retardation Board, which has been devising a comprehensive alcoholism treatment program for the Panhandle area.

A grant-in-aid from the National Institute of Mental Health has been approved for the Panhandle project, but the funding has not yet been made. Conley is also a past President of the Amarillo Council on Alcoholism.

The public hearing will be held in the City Commission Chambers at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, March 23. Invitations will go out to governmental and voluntary association leaders, but the public is urged by Conley to attend the meeting.

"We must present the problem, the programs we have underway to meet the problems, the other elements of a massive attack in our regional report," Conley said. Unless Panhandle residents are willing to contribute their time and talents to the writing of this State Plan, we cannot hope to have our own "grass root opinion" reflected.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—CBS-TV's official program schedule for next season confirms that the network, trying for a more contemporary flavor, has eliminated its numerous rural comedy series, including some longtime favorites.

Cancelled are "The Beverly Hillbillies," "Mayberry R.F.D.," "Green Acres," "Hee Haw" and the Andy Griffith and Jim Nabors shows.

Also gone from the new fall lineup are "Lassie," "Hogan's Heroes," "The Interns," "Family Affair," "To Rome With Love," "Men at Law," The Ed Sullivan Hour and the reruns of Jackie Gleason's "The Honey-mooners."

The overriding point of the new schedule is to free CBS-TV from its basic image, sometimes unfairly exaggerated by competitors, of being a network that appeals chiefly to children, old folks and rural viewers.

CBS-TV is all too aware of the growing number of persons concentrated in urban areas, as well as the young adult audience and its buying power. Nevertheless, the network is sticking with some of its veteran series. Returning are "Gunsmoke," the Carol Burnett and Glen Campbell variety hours, the Lucille Ball, Doris Day and Mary Tyler Moore comedies, "My Three Sons," "Mission: Impossible," "Mannix," "Hawaii Five-O," "Medical Center," "Arnie," "All in the Family" and the two weekly movies.

The Thursday movies will return as before, but the Friday motion pictures will be switched to Sundays—at 7:30 p.m. EST. In addition, the network has scheduled a new series of 90-minute, made-for-television films entitled "CBS Friday Movies."

As CBS-TV President Robert Wood says, the new lineup is marked by the most extensive program changes in the network's history. Because of the schedule's attempted image-altering, as well as the cutback on network prime time by the Federal Communications Commission, 13 of CBS-TV's current 29 series—almost half—are being eliminated. The entire Sunday, Tuesday and Friday night lineups are to be wiped out.

Amid this slashing, however, some of the retained series indicate the network's commitment to a new look. While letting go rural shows, CBS-TV renewed two comedy programs regarded on the borderline in earlier tentative schedules: The controversial "All in the Family," about a middle class family man full of personal prejudices, and "Arnie," about a blue collar worker promoted to executive status in his company.

Other positive aspects of the new lineup include the scheduling of "CBS Reports" for two hours once a month on Thursdays, and the return of the now-biweekly "60 Minutes" on a weekly basis, though not quite in prime time—6 to 7 p.m. EST Sundays.

Area Woman To Head TB Association

Mrs. Lillian Jordan of Pampa will assume duties as president of the Top of Texas Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association on April 1, following her recent election at a meeting of the Christmas Seal organization in Amarillo.

Another Pampa resident, Mr. Bert Nuckolls, served as president in 1968. "There is a tremendous amount of work to do," Mrs. Jordan said, mentioning that the TB Association is currently promoting community tuberculosis testing surveys throughout the Panhandle area in an effort to locate infected individuals and place them under medical supervision and on either preventive or curative medication.

"We hope to have the community tuberculosis testing program in Pampa this year," Mrs. Jordan said. "In order for Pampa to have the program, tremendous cooperation ranging from the medical community, social clubs to student volunteers will be needed."

She added that the State Health Department has approved the proposed Pampa project, and that similar public TB testing programs throughout the state have been markedly successful.

Serving on the association's board with Mrs. Jordan is W. K. Mackey, who is sponsor of a student group working in the organization's anti-smoking and respiratory disease activities.

Kingpin Flatly Denies 'Infamous, Reckless' Charge At Testimony

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The man pictured in Senate testimony as kingpin of a worldwide slot machine syndicate Tuesday denied as "infamous, reckless and ruthless" a charge he offered $50,000 to a former Army general not to talk about alleged military corruption.

Martin J. Bromley, testifying under oath before the Senate Investigations subcommittee where the charge was made last week, said in fact he has "never met... never seen... never spoken to" former Brig. Gen. Earl F. Cole, to whom he allegedly offered the bribe in October, 1969.

Army investigators testified last week that Cole, then commander of the post exchange system in Europe, had told them a "Jeff Bromley" had offered $50,000 "to take the Fifth Amendment and keep his mouth shut" at a meeting in Frankfurt, Germany, airport.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., acting subcommittee chairman, asked Cole if he knew that Jeff Bromley was an alias for Martin Bromley, and Cole said no.

"I have never used the name Jeff Bromley anywhere... I have never used an alias," Bromley said.

He said his main purpose in flying from London to testify before the subcommittee, which has been probing alleged corruption at military clubs and post exchanges around the world, was to answer that charge.

"It relates to the infamous, reckless and ruthless charge hurled against me in front of this subcommittee, i.e., the allegation that I offered a bribe to Gen. Earl F. Cole... until his name appeared in the newspapers in connection with this investigation. I never even had heard of Gen. Cole..."

"I think we have proof that will stand up in a court of law, or before this subcommittee or before God, not only that I wasn't in Frankfurt on Oct. 10, 1969, but where I actually was at the very hour (the witness swore I spoke to Gen. Cole."

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST WASHINGTON (UPI)—A reader in Bangad, Mont., writes: "You recently made reference to a rating system for demonstrators. It classified protesters as professional, semi-pro, amateur and duffer."

"Would you elaborate on this by listing some of the points on which demonstrators are rated?" Glad to. One important thing to look for in appraising demonstrators is the types of signs they carry. The form chart makes these distinctions:

Pro: Signs printed in four-color lithograph, offset press or silk screen process. Signs have handles, can be read from both sides and frequently are illustrated.

Semi-pro: Signs printed in black and white with home lettering set. Have handles and can be read from both sides, but no illustrations.

Amateur: Signs scrawled on brown cardboard box lids with marking pens. No handles or illustrations. Signs are held aloft and waved when in sight of cameras.

PROSPECTUS: Walter Alton, starting his 18th season as manager, solved his biggest problem—the lack of power hitting—with two off-season trades. He brought in Alton from Cardinals and Duke Sims from Indians, the type of hitters he has needed the last few seasons. If Alton plans to go out a winner, this could be his year. The Dodgers, always hungry, now have the fully balanced team they need to beat the Reds, whose leading hitters are likely to bog them down in the fatal syndrome.

PITCHING: Dodger staff is formidable. Bill Singer recovered from hepatitis last season, finished with 9-2 record and a no-hitter. Claude Osteen, 16-13 last year, is still around. So is Don Sutton (14-13). Best of newcomers could be Sandy Vance, 6-3 last season. Rating: A.

CATCHING: Sims joins Tom Haller and Jeff Tatum in the incumbents. Joe Ferguson, a 24-year-old, also a candidate. Rating: B.

INFIELD: Ken Fisher will stay at first after his best season—.311 average with 111 RBIs. With Tom Sizemore gone, Bill Graberwitz takes over second base. He hit .288 last year with 17 home runs and 84 RBIs. Maury Wills (.276 with 23 stolen bases) stays at short. Bill Sudakis (.264 with 14 home runs) at third. Bill Russell also plays third. Rating: B plus.

Joe Frazier Suffers High Blood Pressure

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Heavyweight champion Joe Frazier complained of being tired and was admitted to St. Luke's Children's Medical Center Tuesday when tests showed his blood pressure "on the high side."

Dr. James C. Giuffre, medical director, said the champ would be hospitalized "at least a week" for "purely routine" tests.

"The boxer has cancelled all scheduled public appearances since he won a grueling 15-round decision over Cassius Clay March 8 at New York."

"I hope and pray it's nothing seriously wrong with him," Clay said. "They say he's just tired. I hope it's true."

Clay remained solemn when he was asked if he would visit Frazier. "If he's just tired, he'd get a lot more rest not seeing me," he said.

"His problem is in no way the result of the fight," the physician said. "There is no detached retina. His eyes look a little bloodshot, that's all."

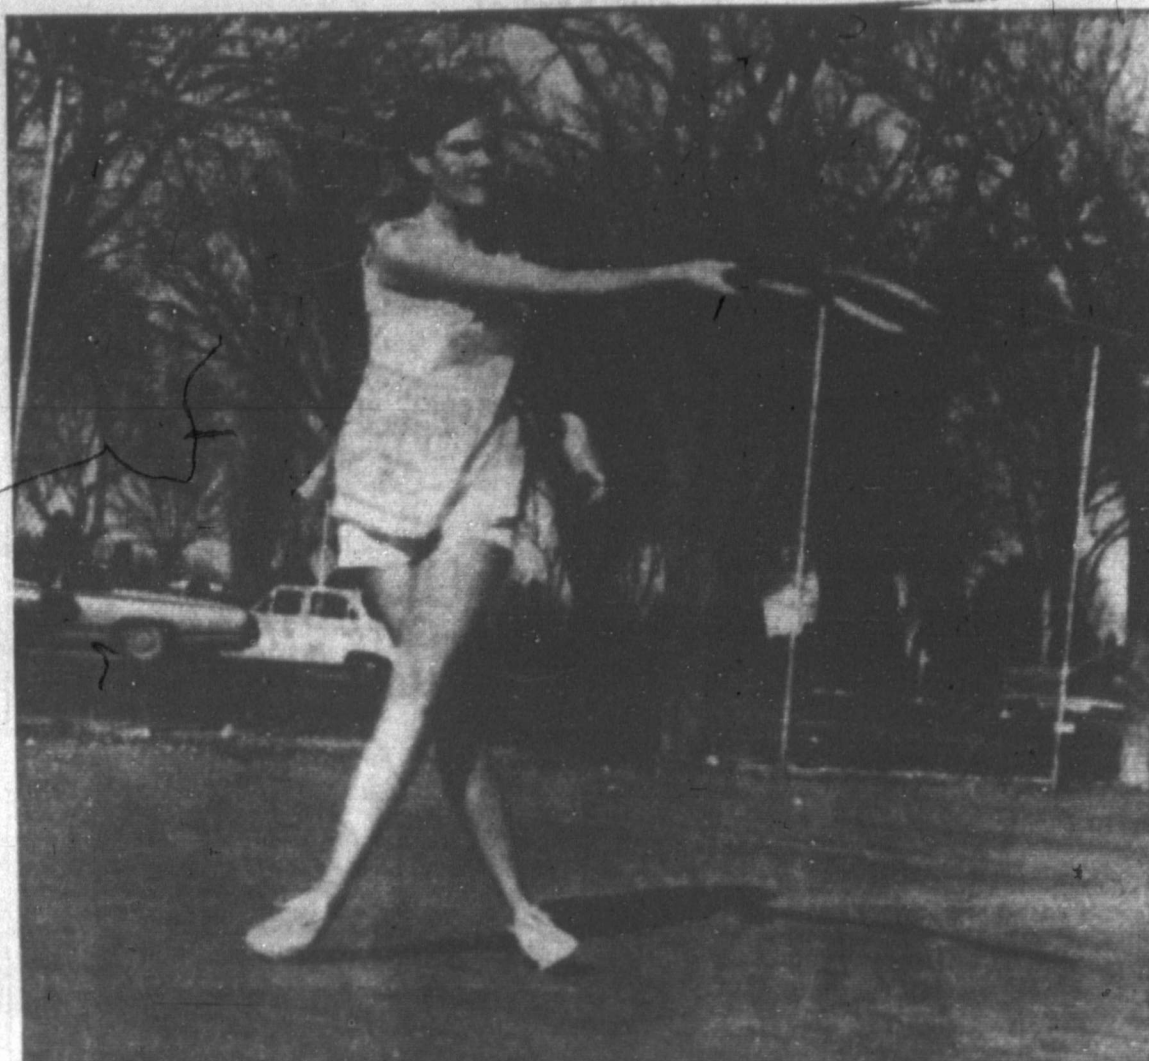

"I checked his blood pressure and found it was on the high side," Giuffre said. No medication had been prescribed.

The physician said the urea content of Frazier's blood "was high" but said the fighter "really needs rest and relaxation."

The doctor said he would perform the tests, including a complete blood profile to pinpoint Frazier's ailment.

Frazier's blood pressure was about 130 over 80 prior to the

Assumption Is Favored To Win NCAA Tourney

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (UPI)—Assumption of Worcester, Mass., ruled as the favorite today to win its first NCAA College Division basketball tournament.

The New Englanders, with a 25-1 record and the No. 1 ranking in the UPI College Division's final poll, displayed the best mark as they entered the tourney's first round.

First adversary for the Greyhounds was Southwestern Louisiana, the team with the second best record among the eight competitors, a 23-3 mark. Assumption and Southwestern Louisiana were to play the second afternoon game today following an opener matching Old Dominion, '19-3, and Puget Sound, 20-4.

Kentucky Wesleyan, 21-6, plays Cheyney State of Pennsylvania, 23-5, in the night session opener, followed by host Evansville, 19-8, against Hartwick of Oneonta, N.Y., 21-5.

Assumption's Greyhounds averaged 99.4 points per game during the regular season. Their key operators are guard Jake Jones, sophomore Mike Boylan and forward Serge De Bari, all of them 6-2 to 6-4 in

Playoffs Approach Indiana Pacers With High Hopes

By United Press International
Playoff time is fast approaching and the Indiana Pacers have that championship feeling again.

The Pacers, who won the American Basketball Association title last season, pulled to within a half-game of first-place Utah in the Western Division Tuesday night with a 130-119 victory over the Pittsburgh Condors. In the second game of the doubleheader at Louisville, Ky., the Kentucky Colonels, led by rookie Dan Issel's 39 points and 21 rebounds, crushed the New York Nets 122-104.

The Memphis Pros downed the Denver Rockets 128-118 in the only other scheduled game. The Pacers, one of the hottest clubs in the ABA the last four weeks, used a 39-point performance by Roger Brown to bury the Condors. Fred Lewis added 29 points for the Pacers while Mel Daniels had 25 and Warren Armstrong 23. Stew Johnson's 29 points were high for the Condors.

Issel scored 14 of his 39 points in the third period as the Colonels stretched a 62-60 lead to a 95-78 advantage. Darel Carrier had 25 points for Kentucky while Rick Barry led New York with 29.

The victory left the second-place Colonels 3 1/2 games ahead of the Nets in the Eastern Division race.

Steve Jones had 32 points and Jimmy Jones and Wendell Ladner added 31 each as Memphis cruised past Denver. Larry Cannon had 29 points to lead the Rockets.

Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Graham, said he didn't consider any other scholarship offers. He was contacted by 30 other colleges and universities, but didn't visit on any of the other campuses.

Tennis Team Lose Close Match To Phillips Squad

Close but not quite describes Pampa's first invitational tennis match yesterday afternoon as Phillips downed the Harvesters 9-7-2 in competition.

The Pampa boys squads were holding their own all afternoon losing only two of seven matches. Henderson and Ellis were the two Pampans upset by the Phillips squad. Meanwhile, Daniel and Kelly smashed Freeman and Cowan 6-0, 6-0 and Greckan and Dunn repeated the performances with a 6-0, 6-0 victory a few hours later. Daniel and Kellye downed Goswicks and Karnes 6-1, 6-2 in the final boys match of the day.

The four courts at Pampa High School proved to be short and all of the boys' matches were played in Central Park on the two municipal courts. Bad lighting there however forced an early close to the boys match.

The meet started at 4 p.m. and went until 8:45 p.m. and all were interesting matches.

In girls competition Susan Wilson downed Kathy Kilkuskie 6-3, 1-6, 6-4 in singles competition and Marsha Millican downed Lee Watson 6-3, 0-6 and 6-4. Sidney Mills lost her first singles match to Becky Moore 8-4, 6-1 and to Carol Kilkuskie 6-8.

Two draws were called because of the late time. Mary Moore and Vickie Rash locked horns with Fletcher and Fallon 6-4, 1-6 and 2-2 before time ran out. The other draw came between Fletcher and Linda Buckland of Phillips 4-6, 6-2 and 2-2.

Rekindle Faith In U.S.

In the depths of the Depression, Americans had "nothing to fear but fear itself." Today, faced with problems undreamed of a generation ago, it may be that we have nothing to despair of but despair itself.

says Meares, is a resurgence of faith in its ability to solve its problems, no matter how large they seem.

"We, the people, have to believe that if we could rebuild the devastated economies of Europe and Japan a generation ago, then we can surely rebuild the devastated hopes of our minorities today; that if we can back into the longest war in our history, then clearly we can get ourselves out of that war; that if we can kill the fish in our streams with pollution, then we can find ways of ending that pollution; that if we can believe in ourselves and reaffirm the faith of our founding fathers, then we can accomplish practically anything."

This is no call for Pollyannish complacency, however. The time has come, he says, to stop talking about the things that must be done and to start doing them. If you can't move the world, at least nudge a neighborhood.

In earlier days, if fire or storm destroyed a man's home, his neighbors rallied to the call for help to raise new beams and roof and walls, usually on the old foundation. This call goes out again today. And it demands a personal response from a neighborhood of millions in our complex national household.

"But first," says Meares, "we must recognize that 200 years of history and accomplishments have provided us with a firm foundation on which we can build today. There is, then, neither sense nor purpose in tearing down our society and starting over again from scratch. Instead, we must be willing to accept our values rather than deny them, be willing to acknowledge that while we do have miles to go before we rest, we have already come a very long way, indeed."

By contrast, our country was founded in a burst of confidence in man's ability to govern himself, and it survived its times of trouble because of the faith our people had in themselves and their country.

Sensing The News

By ANTHONY HARRIGAN
PEOPLES REPUBLIC

President Nixon told this nation and the world recently that he was renewing his offer to establish "dialogue" with communist China. Just what this dialogue would entail is not clear but presumably the Chief Executive would lay the groundwork for diplomatic recognition of Peking and its assortment of cut-throat dictators who have kept the mainland of Asia in turmoil since the end of World War II.

It is to be hoped that a long range, realistic approach to the problem of China will be taken by the administration in Washington. It is to be hoped further that we do not follow the lead of several other nations that recently have extended a handshake to Peking in diplomatic recognition which paved the way to profitable commercial ventures.

But a change in our attitude is in the offing. President Nixon in his speech to Congress and the world referred seven times to the Peking government as the "Peoples Republic of China." What people? Certainly not those who were driven from their homes to the bastion of Formosa by the vicious communist hordes of the revolutionists. Certainly not those millions who remain in slavery and half-starved on the Chinese mainland.

Our government has attempted dialogue with Peking representatives in Warsaw for a number of years in informal meetings. These conversations have led to nothing, just as our talks with the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese in Paris.

The nations of Europe tried dialogue and agreements with Hitler. These turned out to be one-way conversations and one-way streets. They would later call on the United States for salvation.

QUESTION: Why do U.S. bonds sold to buyers who pay with savings create less inflation than such bonds sold to commercial banks?

ANSWER: When individuals use their savings in the voluntary purchase of government bonds, they are in effect exchanging one form of government promise to pay for another. On such a sale, there would be no inflation, since there would be no increase in the total amount of circulating currency.

However, if a bank purchases the government bonds with newly printed Federal Reserve Notes, there is an increase in the amount of circulating "money." And when the bonds are used as a portion of the reserves of a bank, and a bank makes a loan, there is additional credit established. Under the fractional reserve privilege this inflation of the circulating medium can amount to considerably more than the face value of the bonds held in reserve.

Inflation is an increase in the amount of "money" available to purchase a limited amount of goods and services. Thus, unless there is an increase in production comparable to the amount of money and credit added to the supply, the result is more inflation.

Britain Moves To Offset Sea Threat By Russians

By LEON DENNEN
Foreign News Analyst

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (NEA)—Britain's Prime Minister Edward Heath is one Western statesman who has the courage of his convictions. His decision to sell marine helicopters to South Africa was condemned by "anticolonialists" in and out of the United Nations. But it put the spotlight on another strategic area where the Russians are expanding their sea power—the Indian Ocean.

Almost unnoticed, the waters south of Asia have become studded with Soviet warships. Only three years ago this would have been as big a surprise as the presence of the American Navy on the Volga River.

However, when Britain's previous Labor government decided in 1968 to pull out "east of Suez," the Russians, as always, were ready to plug the gap.

They quickly established naval bases in Yemen, Berbera, Somalia and Scotora, a strategic island at the entrance of the Red Sea.

After his recent visit to Washington, Heath agreed with the Nixon administration that it has become too dangerous to let Russia go unchecked.

He therefore ignored the United Nations embargo and decided to go ahead with limited arms sales to South Africa. This Britain is obligated to do under the 1955 Simonstown agreement.

"ITIS" Is the Tipoff To Inflammation

Dear Mr. Lamb — I would like to know what gastritis is and also colitis. Are they related in any way? Also, what are some of the foods it would be better not to eat? What is good to take for it?

Dear Reader — There are a few standard clues to medical terminology that are useful for everyone to know. One of these is the ending ITIS. Whenever you see this term used you can be certain that it means inflammation. Thus, gastritis is inflammation of the stomach.

Colitis is inflammation of the colon. Appendicitis is inflammation of the appendix. Laryngitis is inflammation of the larynx. Sinusitis is inflammation of the sinuses. Bursitis is inflammation of the bursae (the lining around the joints). Nephritis is inflammation of the kidneys (nephros refers to kidneys). Cystitis is inflammation of the bladder.

Inflammation does not always mean an infection, although that is one way to produce it. Inflammation can be caused by chemical trauma, mechanical trauma, burns and radiation, as well as infection.

Gastritis is usually caused by an excess amount of the acid pepsin juice normally secreted by the stomach. You can, of course, have an acute gastritis, like the person who has alcoholic gastritis after an episode of drinking too much alcohol. Colitis is often associated with poor bowel habits and sometimes nervous tension. Impulses from the nervous system, usually as a colitis. In both instances it is result of prolonged anxiety and stress, can at least contribute to the problem of gastritis and better to eat mild, bland foods and avoid those which are heavily spiced. Low-fat milk, uncreamed cottage cheese, vegetables, baked chicken and fish are usually tolerated. Some people with colitis have trouble with certain vegetables, but they will soon learn which ones to avoid.

Gastritis is often relieved by taking antacids usually those made with aluminum hydroxide which can be obtained in either tablet or liquid form in the drugstore without a prescription. Persons who have a persistent problem with either their stomach or their colon, however, should see a physician for a complete evaluation to determine the cause.

Please send your questions and comments to Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Lamb cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

If I had my druthers amongst bureaucrats, which I don't, I would druther pick that Rep. H. R. Gross of Iowa over the rest of the pack. I don't know if he knows more about their psychopathic moods than others do, but he at least is not afraid to point them out, usually to the delight of poor little fellows like me who can hardly believe their idiotic movements in never-ending circles.

But I will let Rep. Gross tell it as he is no slouch when it comes to explaining the foibles of the feeblies— "If there is anything dearer to a bureaucrat's heart than travel, and lots of it, it is writing memos to other bureaucrats. It turns out that the Office of Economic Opportunity has an absolute genius among its legions of memo wizards. . . . Wesley L. Hjernevik has sent a memo to Dr. Thomas Bryant of OEO's office of Health Affairs, and you can almost see the waves of terror that must have swept through the staff when they read: "It has come to my attention that your office is 16 letters overdue in responding to the director's correspondence. "Effective immediately all personnel in the office of health affairs are denied permission for any travel regarding official OEO business until health affairs' overdue-mail is brought down to 15 letters or under!"

Supreme Court
Wants Fun Fund

Robert Allen

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Supreme Court is breaking new and unprecedented ground.

For the first time in the 182-year history of the lofty tribunal, it is asking for an "entertainment fund."

The amount is not much—$5,000. But never before have the "Nine Old Men" requested that money for this purpose be included in their annual budget. The court also is seeking two other additions:

One is traditional and quite prevalent — a sizable increase in its budget. The amount desired is $955,000 in an overall budget of $4,491,000 for the fiscal year starting July 1. Its budget for the current fiscal year is $3,556,000 — up from $3,157,000 for the previous fiscal year.

The other addition is leased autos for the eight associate justices — at $600 each a year. This would be an entirely new departure. The chief justice is provided with a limousine and chauffeur — at a cost of $12,000 in the new budget. But the other eight justices have never been furnished autos. It is now proposed to supply them with leased cars for which they will provide drivers, oil and other operating costs.

Outlay for this innocation would be around $5,000.

These interesting background details were revealed by Justice Potter Stewart at a private meeting with the House Appropriations Subcommittee headed by Rep. John Rooney, D-N.Y. Stewart, 56, appointed by President Eisenhower in January 1959, appeared before the subcommittee as spokesman for the tribunal in making its budget presentation.

In previous years, Justice Hugo Black, 85, named by President Roosevelt in 1937, performed this function.

COOL RECEPTION — The $5,000 request for "entertainment" raised committee eyebrows.

The startled committeemen were clearly unsympathetic. Justice Stewart was questioned sharply on the reason for this unusual item.

"Last year Chief Justice Burger spent $2,000 out of his own pocket for official entertainment," explained Stewart. "The occasions for such expenses are becoming more frequent, and the court felt that in view of this it was proper to include a small fund for this purpose in the budget. We thought it would be unfair to put this financial burden on the chief justice."

This argument evoked derisive dissent. It was made bluntly clear that this line of logic left the committee cold.

"The chief justice gets $62,500 a year, and associate justices $60,000," a committeeman retorted, "while members of Congress get $42,500. You tell us that the court needs an 'entertainment' fund because the chief justice forked over

$2,000 for such expenses. Well, let me tell you something: "Members of Congress spend at least several times that for that purpose, and we get some $20,000 less pay. I don't think the chief justice is being financially overburdened. Furthermore, why should he bear the entire cost of official entertainment of the court? Why isn't that divided among the nine justices, and it would amount to only a little over $200 each. In all frankness, I'm unimpressed by the need for this fund proposal."

Other committeemen were equally skeptical about the necessity to lease cars for the eight associate justices. Pointed out one legislator:

"I provide my own transportation to and from my office. I pay for the car I drive, and see no reason why members of the Supreme Court, who are paid a lot more than I am, shouldn't do the same."

JUICY PAYROLL — Most of the nearly $1 million budget increase sought by the court is for additional employees and salary hikes for the enlarged staff.

That would be expanded to 248 from the present 221 permanent employees.

The proposed payroll has more high-salaried personnel than some government agencies. Examples: Administrative deputy is listed at $40,000; the court clerk, $34,000; deputy clerk, $29,500; court reporter, $28,000; librarian, $25,000; marshal, $25,000.

Also 14 jobs (an increase of one) with salaries ranging from $21,607 to $28,092; five (up from four) $18,436 to $23,970; ten jobs at from $17,393 to $22,611; four jobs (increase of one) from $15,611 to $20,294; two jobs, $13,294 to $16,707; four jobs, $13,996 to $17,026; seven jobs, $11,956 to $15,540; four jobs, $10,904 to $14,394; 14 jobs, $10,869 to $14,126.

Also 34 jobs (an increase of three) with pay scales of $8,908 to $11,581; 47 jobs, $8,120 to $11,600; 8 jobs (up from 7), $7,203 to $9,361; 15 jobs, $7,203 to $9,306; 17 jobs, $6,438 to $8,360; 22 jobs, $5,083 to $6,606; 27 jobs (an increase of three) paying $15,000; four jobs at $6,548.

In 1965, Chief Justice Warren tried to include funds in the Court's budget to lease autos for the eight associate justices — at $500 each per year. House leaders indicated willingness to go along on that, but President Johnson flatly said no — and that was the end of it, until it surfaced again at the Appropriations subcommittee meeting last week.

In the paragraph preceding the tribunal's budget in the big column detailing the entire federal budget, the Supreme Court is characterized as: "the only constitutionally indispensable court in the federal court system of the United States."

There is no explanation for this curious designation.

Evolution Of A Pro Golfer

By PAUL HARVEY

There's a new "golden boy" in the world of sports. With the emergence of fair-haired, clean-living, happily married Tom Shaw the evolution of the professional golfer is complete.

The first touring professional golfers were not really professionals. Some were country club pros but even for them the tour was more a vacation than a vocation.

Most participants came up from the ranks of caddies. Even for a consistent winner, there were not enough tournaments to keep him fed.

Club pros made a meager living; the tour attracted a motley assortment of mostly golf bums.

That is not to say that all were amoral, profane, hard-drinking workaholics—but many, if not most, were.

credit of that Professional Golfers Assn. that — despite inevitable, uncontrollable professional gambling on the big-blood tournaments—the participants have remained untainted, the events scandal free.

So now what began among amateurs as a gentleman's game has become mostly that again. At the same time, corporations of significance have been established in the names of the new heroes.

Interestingly, the men whose consistency made them millionaires also were otherwise exemplary. Gary Player, Billy Casper, Dave Stockton — each a testifying Christian sharing his earnings more than generously with his respective church and golf-related charities.

Jack Nicklaus' conscientious dieting and discipline inspired younger athletes.

Arnold Palmer, a few years engulfed in the world of big business and related cocktail parties; found it didn't pay disciplined athletes: Snaid, Hogan, Nelson.

With TV and the big prize money, and ever closer scrutiny by the PGA, the evolution was accelerated. It is to the eternal charge toward the top again.

Question Box

QUESTION: Why do U.S. bonds sold to buyers who pay with savings create less inflation than such bonds sold to commercial banks?

ANSWER: When individuals use their savings in the voluntary purchase of government bonds, they are in effect exchanging one form of government promise to pay for another. On such a sale, there would be no inflation, since there would be no increase in the total amount of circulating currency.

However, if a bank purchases the government bonds with newly printed Federal Reserve Notes, there is an increase in the amount of circulating "money." And when the bonds are used as a portion of the reserves of a bank, and a bank makes a loan, there is additional credit established. Under the fractional reserve privilege this inflation of the circulating medium can amount to considerably more than the face value of the bonds held in reserve.

Inflation is an increase in the amount of "money" available to purchase a limited amount of goods and services. Thus, unless there is an increase in production comparable to the amount of money and credit added to the supply, the result is more inflation.

UNABLE TO PAY DEBTS

One Of Nation's Oil Firms Asks Court To Re-Arrange Holdings

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — One of this country's best known oil tycoons has run, aground and for the second time is asking a federal bankruptcy court to help re-arrange his holdings.

John W. Mecom Sr., and his wife have filed a petition for rearrangement under bankruptcy laws, claiming that U. S. Oil of Louisiana Ltd. is unable to pay its debts as they mature. The Mecom's own all but 2 1/2 percent of the stock.

It is the latest in a string of bankruptcy petitions the millionaire oil man has filed since reaching the apparent pinnacle of his success six years ago.

Sources close to Mecom suggest rising oil production costs and high interest rates are to blame for the Houston oil man's decline, but others say he tried to go too far too fast.

Started in 1946 Mecom is the son of a rancher and rice grower and got his start in the oil fields in 1936. He was 25 years old when he and two friends raised $2,100, bought an old wooden oil rig and drilled in a "dry" field in Liberty County, Tex.

The field wasn't "dry," and it was this gamble that earned him the reputation of a "wildcatter" who didn't listen to reason. But Mecom insists he has never been a wildcatter. He said he found his oil by drilling deeper than other producers.

In two years, the field was producing so much oil Mecom sold his interest for $100,000—enough to finance a much more ambitious exploration appetite.

Entered Middle East Picture

In 1954 Mecom established himself in the Middle East and was joined in 1958 by Pure Oil Co., on a 50-50 basis for exploration and production in Yemen, Dhofar and the crucial states. Continental Oil Co. later joined the venture.

Then Mecom moved into the Lake Washington Field of Louisiana, expecting to recover millions of dollars worth of oil and gas reserves. He soon was producing as much as the law allowed and by 1964 was known as the third largest independent oil operator in the world. He estimated his own worth then at $15 million.

The so-far-successful oil man sold part of his Louisiana holdings to the General American Oil Co., of Texas for $27 million in 1960.

Bought Newspaper

The next year he bought controlling interest in a large metal manufacturing company in Houston, moved into the hotel business in Houston and San Francisco, and on Dec. 7, 1965 announced the purchase of Texas' largest newspaper—the Houston Chronicle. Mecom was installed as publisher.

Financial analysts say they have watched Mecom's lack of progress since 1966 when he began to have problems. A costly setback came in late 1966 when Jordan cancelled his 40-year oil concession in that country and seized his drilling rigs.

Mecom turned to sulphur mining in 1967 near Houma, La. He said he invested $2.5 million in that venture. The mines closed last April in the face of falling prices.

Refinanced Debts

Mecom obtained permission to refinance his debts in June 1968 but by last March it was clear that was not going to be enough to pay off his debts. His Louisiana and Texas holdings were $71 million in debt by the early part of last year.

In November 1970, Mecom filed re-organization petitions to prevent takeover of his Louisiana operations by creditors, Albert G. Reynolds of New Orleans was appointed trustee.

Last December Mecom and his wife filed a similar re-organization request for their personal finances in federal court in Shreveport, La.

The latest petition, filed this month in New Orleans, lists U.S. oil's assets and liabilities as $44 million each.

Glass Blowers Have Revolutionized Man's Life, Space Achievements

By DEAN C. MILLER
UPI Business Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—Glass blowing, an art believed to have originated in Syria 21 centuries ago, helps today's man walk on the moon, get information around in his pocket.

It's a specialized but vital part of our economy.

Thirteen glass blowers at a Motorola division in Phoenix, Ariz., annually produce more than $1 million worth of the microminiature electronic miracles called semiconductors.

Generic Name

That is the generic name for the solid-state transistor, resistor, diode and integrated circuit—the tiny, fast-acting components used in pocket radios, computers, cars, toys, appliances, electric switches, television sets and space vehicles. Glass blowers who turn out thousands of diffusion tubes, epitubes, quartz "boats" and crucibles have revolutionized man's life style and space achievements.

Quartz glass is used exclusively because it can withstand the high temperatures—1,400 degrees centigrade or more—necessary to melt silicon.

"You have to feel your way through," said William Schwartz, senior glass blower in Phoenix. "You tell how well you are doing by the color of the glass and the way it acts."

Once the silicon is in a molten state, impurities are added to give it a positive or negative base. A single crystalline bar of silicon then is "grown" within the furnace from the "doped" silicon, and paper-thin wafers are sliced from the cooled bar.

A wafer two inches in diameter can be processed photographically to produce, for example, up to 20,000 transistors.

Good Pay

Glass blowers make good pay, and they earn it. They have to know how to use a gas-fed torch, to handle turning wheels and glass lathes, to heat glass without breaking it and to join tubing.

Lung power is important. If the worker blows too hard he blows out the sides of the tube. If he doesn't blow hard enough, the sides will collapse. It's all determined by the heat on the glass.

Patience is another important job requirement, according to Carl Goetz, a glass blower at Phoenix. "You work around a lot of heat," he explained. "That, plus the need for intense concentration makes you become a little irritable."

Youth Indicted On Charge Of Causing Death Of Father

LACONIA, N.H. (UPI)—The teen-age son of a wealthy electronics industrialist has been arraigned on a manslaughter charge in the bizarre death of his father, apparently following a dispute.

James Wild, 18, of Gilford, was ordered held in lieu of $1,000 bail after he entered no plea Monday at his district court arraignment. A date for a probable cause hearing will be set later, officials said.

The youth was charged with second degree manslaughter in the death Sunday of his father, Norman Wild, 50, a co-founder of Sanders Associates of Nashua, the state's largest employer with more than $100 million in government contracts.

Young Wild was described as an excellent student at Laconia High School where he is a senior. He was arrested Sunday at a Laconia bookstore after about two dozen law enforcement personnel riding snowmobiles, criss-crossed Lake Winnepesaukee in vain searching for the youth for about two hours.

Police said the father and son apparently disagreed over use of the family car at their Gilford home at exclusive Governor's Island on the lake. As the boy started to drive off, the father reportedly jumped on the hood of the vehicle, authorities said.

The son drove more than 200 feet onto the main road, police said, and then stopped the car, causing the father to fall under the wheels of the moving car.

S. Vietnamese Troops Retreat From Positions Deep Inside Laos

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese troops retreated Tuesday by foot and by helicopter from positions deep inside Laos and moved closer to the South Vietnamese border. The U.S. command rushed U.S. artillery reinforcements to the border area to pound advancing Communist forces.

Altogether, 2,000 South Vietnamese withdrew from positions astride the Ho Chi Minh Trail inside Laos. One force of 700 was flown out under fire by U.S. helicopters from Fire Base Lolo, the fourth major fire base abandoned in Laos in the face of advancing tank-led Communist troops.

Lolo is nine miles southeast of the supply hub of Sepon, abandoned to an advancing Communist division last week.

The others withdrawing were thwarted in their efforts to reach a big Communist supply dump just south of Lolo. They fought their way back by foot to Fire Base Brown, four miles farther southeast.

The Communists had attacked Lolo with rockets, mortars and tank guns and U.S. helicopters braved heavy anti-aircraft fire to bring out the troops. The South Vietnamese spiked six artillery pieces before leaving and the equipment was later bombed by B52s.

U.S. fighter-bombers and helicopter gunships poured bombs, rockets and machinegun fire on the Communists during the evacuation, the front dispatches reported. The weather er lifted after a period of heavy clouds and fog.

The troops from Fire Base Lolo were flown to another base with the same name. Military sources gave no reason for naming the new base Lolo.

Lolo was third in a line of four fire support bases the South Vietnamese occupied, running southeast from Sepon. Fire Base Sophia was evacuated early this week. Troops remain on Fire Base Liz, midway between Sophi and the old Lolo. Brown is the fourth base in the chain.

South Vietnamese official spokesmen in Saigon and at northern operational bases refused to admit withdrawal from Lolo or any major fighting anywhere in Laos.
