ON FOUR FRONTS

Nixon Launches Attack On Illegal Drug Traffic

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is putting his political prestige behind a four-front "national offensive" against traffic in illegal narcotics.

After weeks of debate within the administration—one sticky point being whether to acknowledge and deal with the extent of drug abuse among American troops stationed in South Vietnam—Nixon drafted a special message on the subject for presentation to Congress today.

Besides asking for more money to combat narcotics trade and rehabilitate hard-drug addicts, Nixon wants to create a new White House office of drug abuse prevention to concentrate on research and education in the area.

He also formulated a specific plan for dealing with drug-addicted U.S. servicemen overseas and, perhaps less specifically, one for discouraging the production and transportation here of illegal narcotics harvested in foreign countries.

With public and congressional concern about the rise of GI drug addiction in South Vietnam, West Germany and elsewhere, Nixon proposes identifying and treating addicts-in-uniform before they are returned to civilian life. Congressional legislation will be needed to extend the service terms of some uniformed men and women if extra time is necessary to wean them away from narcotics before they receive honorable discharges.

At a June 1 news conference Nixon said "A national offensive on this problem" is needed. He promised to "step up our national program on four fronts."

After meeting with Nixon Tuesday, House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford cited what he termed the four main points of the Nixon plan:

1. A new attempt to dry up overseas sources of supply—a decade-old undertaking that has borne scant fruit heretofore. Ford noted the President dis-
2. Increased efforts to enforce the law effectively against sellers of illegal drugs.
3. A greatly-expanded campaign to detoxify GI addicts before they are discharged and put them in a readjustment program that could extend their terms of service.
4. An antidrug educational drive aimed principally at young people.

The new White House Office of Drug Abuse Prevention, as Nixon sees it, will concentrate on research and education.

If Congress approves, he will name as its head Dr. Jerome H. Jaffe, Chicago pharmacologist noted for methadone treatment of heroin addicts. He now directs a statewide drug-abuse program in Illinois.

Governor And Others To Face SEC Query

DRY SPELL — A dry spell increasingly reminiscent of the drought of the '30's has left much of the Southwestern United States parched this year. Crops are lost over wide areas, live-stock suffers and officials are seeking disaster relief from Washington. Even with sudden relief from heavy downpours, some experts estimate it will take three years for the worst hit areas to recover. Although bad, the situation is not as catastrophic as the 1930's, however, in large part because of the soil conservation lessons learned then and later.

House Unit Will Probe Information Practices

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee will investigate government information practices one congressman says "combine to censor news at the source and violate the 1st Amendment rights of free press."

Reacting to Nixon administration moves to block further publication by The New York Times of a top-secret Pentagon history of the Vietnam war, the House Foreign Operations and Government Information Subcommittee will hold hearings on executive privilege and classification procedures.

"We will call as witnesses to the hearings appropriate representatives from the departments of State, Justice and Defense, as well as the White House," said Rep. Ogden Reid, R-N.Y. "And it is our intention that their testimony will be open."

The probe was announced as congressional debate swelled

House Expected To Reject Move To Cut Off Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — An amendment to cut off money for the Vietnam war headed for a House vote today, given less chance of passage than a tougher move that failed in the Senate Wednesday.

Sponsors estimated 150 to 170 of the 434 House members would vote for the "Nedzi"-Halen amendment to prohibit spending for war weapons after Dec. 31, 1971.

Wednesday's Senate vote asserted that two amendments that would have cut off funds at year's end for all U.S. operations in Indochina represented a major victory for the Nixon administration. But even in losing, the idea of setting a firm date for ending American fighting in Southeast Asia picked up five votes over a similar measure defeated nine months ago.

In Wednesday's first vote, the Senate turned aside a last-minute substitute by freshman Sen. Lawton M. Chiles Jr., D-Fla., to set a June 1, 1972, deadline contingent on North Vietnam's release of all U.S. prisoners 60 days earlier. The vote was 52 to 44.

Then, by a count of 55 to 42, the Senate rejected the original amendment by Sens. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., and George S. McGovern, D-S.D., for a Dec. 31, 1971 fund cutoff. This would have provided a possible 60-day extension should North Vietnam fail to agree promptly to release U.S. prisoners.

Last year, the Senate rejected a similar Hatfield-McGovern amendment 55 to 39.

One immediate result of the Senate action was to increase chances of extended debate against the two-year draft extension, vehicle for the antiwar amendments.

Legislature Attacked For Failure To Pass Major Environmental Bill

AUSTIN (AP)—Two conservation leaders have scored the legislature for failure to pass even one major environmental bill.

"Texas continues to decline into a vast New York City or Los Angeles. We call that a setback," said Edward Fritz, chairman of the Texas Committee on Natural Resources, and Richard Shannon, vice chairman of the Texas chapter of the Sierra Club.

They said legislators supporting the legislation told them lobbyists for Humble Oil & Refining Co., Texas Chemical Association of highway contractors—heavy branch, certain chambers of commerce and the Texas Farm Bureau, among others, worked against the bills.

"We are further advised that the U.S. Soil Conservation Service and certain state agencies with jurisdiction over our natural resources joined the industry lobbyists in opposing our environmental programs," they said.

The state agencies are the Railroad Commission, the Water Quality Board and the Highway Department, they said.

Fritz and Shannon, who previously singled out Speaker Gus Mutscher for criticism, added three other representatives to their list of influential opponents of the bills.

Times Arguing Against Move To Halt Story

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times goes to court today to argue against a government move to inspect the secret Pentagon documents on which the newspaper based its articles on U.S. involvement in the Vietnam war.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Murray I. Gurtein scheduled a 10 a.m. hearing after the government Wednesday made a new effort to obtain the papers and "other classified documents" it believes are in the Times' possession.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Michael Hess asserted that examination of the papers "is important to the proper presentation of the government's case" in seeking an injunction against further publication of the controversial series.

Gurtein denied a government plea for recovery of the documents Tuesday when he ordered the Times to suspend the series for four days pending a Friday hearing on the injunction.

The Times said it would voluntarily surrender the documents. On Tuesday it expressed concern that through scientific tests the government might be able to trace the source that gave it the documents.

SEC Commissioner Disagrees With Judge's Action On Sharp

DALLAS (AP)—Texas Securities Commissioner Truman G. Holladay says a federal judge's grant of immunity from further criminal prosecution of Frank W. Sharp of Houston "completely wrecks" possible state criminal cases pending against Sharp.

Holladay said in an interview with the Dallas News Wednesday that criminal reference reports he filed with four state district attorneys in May involved alleged violations by Sharp of the Texas Security Act in connection with stock dealings of his insurance firms.

Convictions on the alleged violations carry a maximum penalty of a fine of $10,000 and or a prison term of 10 years, Holladay said.

Holladay also said that U.S. Atty. Anthony Farris of Houston "never consulted with us" about his negotiations to free Sharp of criminal prosecution in exchange for testimony about the Securities and Exchange Commission's investigation of stock manipulation.

U.S. Dist. Judge John Singleton granted Sharp immunity from prosecution Tuesday.

"Sometimes you will hear of immunity given for lesser principals in a case for conviction of the more important principals," Holladay said "But this is the first time I can recall where the action is reversed in favor of the kingpin."

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade of Dallas said he heard that Singleton's order includes immunity from state criminal prosecution of Sharp and said:

"I wouldn't think that he has that authority, but I haven't examined the law that closely. I am not going to let them push us off on the little clerks, typists and notaries and other people in the case."

Wade said his office also has criminal reference reports from Holladay on John Osorio, former state banking commissioner who headed several of Sharp's firms in Dallas during the alleged stock manipulations; and Quincy Adams, a broker who dealt with much of the shares of the stock as they were traded through Ling & Co. of Dallas.

He said he intends to present their cases to the county grand jury at a later date.

Two Local Youths Held In Jail

Two 17-year-old Pampa youths are in custody in Gray County jail in lieu of $1,500 bond each following arraignment on charges of burglary of a local dentist's office Monday night.

Police arrested Keith Bennett and James Michael Brantley last night after investigation of the theft. A part of the stolen inventory was recovered by police after one of the youths led officers to a cache east of Pampa.

Drugs, hypodermic needles, cigarettes, cash, and stamps were reported stolen from the office of Dr. Robert Lyles, dentist, early Tuesday morning.

The youths were arraigned before Justice of the Peace E. L. Anderson on burglary charges last night and remained in jail late this forenoon.

Legislator Says Smith May Face Indictment Soon

AUSTIN (AP) — The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission has ordered Speaker Gus Mutscher, Gov. Preston Smith and several others to appear before SEC investigators here next month.

They are scheduled to give additional depositions in an SEC stock manipulation case coming up for hearing in Dallas Aug. 30.

Most were questioned by SEC investigators late last year, before the SEC filed its stock fraud suit against Houston millionaire Frank Sharp and 27 other defendants.

Service orders for the deposition-taking give the following dates for appearances at the federal office building here:

Smith, July 9; Mutscher, July 9; Rep. Bill Healy of Paducah, House Appropriations Committee chairman, July 7; Dr. Elmer Baum, state Democratic chairman and former State Banking Board member, July 8; Sonny Schulte, a Mutscher aide, July 6; Rush McGinty, another Mutscher assistant, July 7; former Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, a defendant in the SEC suit, July 26; Eugene Palmer, Austin lawyer July 21; John Osorio, Austin lawyer and former president of National Bankers Life Insurance Co., July 22; Fred Tasto, Luling banker, July 8.

The SEC alleged that the defendants in the suit made easy bank loans and arranged speculative NBL stock profits for a number of legislators and state officials to encourage passage of two banking bills in 1969. Mutscher, Smith, Baum, Healy, McGinty and Schulte said they did receive loans from Sharpstown State Bank to buy NBL stock but denied any connection between that arrangement and the two bills, which Smith vetoed. None of the officials is a defendant in the SEC suit.

Rep. Henry Gonzalez said Wednesday he is "as positive as can be" that a Houston grand jury will indict Gov. Preston Smith, House Speaker Gus Mutscher, Texas Democratic party Chairman Elmer Baum and two other "well-known men." The indictments will "possibly come as early as tomorrow" (Thursday).

"In evaluation of the information I got, the Justice Department is not only demanding the indictments, they are confident the indictments are a foregone conclusion," the San Antonio Democrat told the Washington bureau of the Corpus Christi Caller Times and the San Antonio Express.

Gonzalez said his information came from a "rare and reliable source." The indictments will come in connection with the stock manipulation case of (See GOVERNOR, Page 2)

Smith's Cancellation Of TV Talk Stirs Up Widespread Speculation

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith won't be making his "state of the state" message on television tonight after all, and speculation about his reasons is widespread.

The governor unexpectedly canceled the address Wednesday afternoon, shortly after issuing a news release giving the stations on which the statewide telecast could be seen.

Smith had built up the speech so enthusiastically that many observers were not satisfied by his stated reason for canceling it—failure to complete all arrangements on time.

Some thought Smith had suddenly reconsidered some major announcement he might have been planning.

Others speculated there might be a new development arising in a federal stock manipulation case with which Smith's name has been linked.

Jerry Hall, Smith's press aide, handed newsmen a three-paragraph news release canceling the program only 30 minutes after issuing a statement giving details on the program.

The release quoted the governor as saying material for the program had not been compiled and "all necessary arrangements could not be made in time to meet the deadline for the show."

"No decision has been made as to whether or not the program will be re-scheduled," the release said.

Hall said he had no other information besides that contained in the release.

Smith's earlier statement listed 21 stations that would carry the address and quoted the governor as saying there would "certainly be some surprises" in the message. "Our unprecedented action in making the television address should be of vital concern to every citizen as well as to the leadership of state government...we have chosen this means of expressing certain things that need to be said following the adjournment of the legislature because it is the most effective fashion of reaching the majority of Texans. All our citizens deserve to know what we will be saying and why we are compelled to say it."

Smith originally announced the telecast Monday, shortly before his political arch-rival Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes disclosed—as expected—that he would run for governor next year.

Barnes went out of his way to score Smith for lack of leadership, saying the governor, had left Texas with a "void in pursuing greatness."

Smith has hinted about seeking a third term, but there also has been speculation he would not go for re-election.

Another big event happened Monday that some theorized might have affected Smith's decision to cancel his address.

Houston financier Frank Sharp proved the stock case was "nothing more than political harassment."

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission alleged in a non-criminal suit filed in Dallas community to further prosecution.

Sharp then went before the federal grand jury in Houston.

"He's not going to testify against anybody. He's just going to tell the truth," said Morton Susman, one of Sharp's lawyers.

Smith told newsmen at an informal news conference Wednesday morning that he planned to tape his address that afternoon.

And he said the Justice Department's deal with Sharp proved the stock case was "nothing more than political harassment."

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission alleged in a non-criminal suit filed in Dallas

Jan. 18 that Sharp and other defendants had arranged easy loans and speculative profits for key legislators and state officials to help pass two banking bills in which the defendants were interested.

Smith, House Speaker Gus Mutscher, House Appropriations Chairman Bill Healy, Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth, and State Democratic Chairman Elmer Baum each said they borrowed heavily from Sharpstown state bank to speculate in stock of the Sharp-controlled National Bankers Life Insurance Co. of Dallas.

Harold Barrett Ford Celebrates 10 Years Of Service In Pampa

Seven and a half acres of "Ford County" are right here in Pampa city limits under the sign of Harold Barrett Ford. The growing concern is now marking 10 years of excellent service to Pampa trade area patrons. The owner and personnel extend a warm welcome to browsers, prospective car buyers and the "just lookers."

In stock are the Mercury, Ford, Lincoln, Pinto and Mark III as well as good pre-owned cars.

Forty years of experience back Harold Barrett's concern here. During the 10 years of business in Pampa, the company has channeled $2 million in payroll into the community, now maintaining a personnel staff of 35 top people in all phases of the car business.

Over 100 new cars are on the lot in the show room, a $400,000 inventory. Forty-five used cars are also ready to go after a thorough check in the automotive department by top mechanics.

Harold says the secret to success here is the "right personnel", plus company guarantee, time and competitive prices. Service satisfaction means the customer returns.

Gene Barrett employs eight years of experience to back his position as used car manager.

Dub Norton, a 19 year veteran in the business, is shop foreman. Bill Harris, sales manager has been with Barrett three years and records over 20 years of experience.

HAROLD BARRETT

D.A. Hunt, nine year veteran of the company, is business manager. Don Snow, with 12 years experience, is service department head. Rob Brogden is in charge of the body shop and has 10 years working experience in that field.

The best equipment available in this part of the country allows Barrett Ford to claim as its success formula, a service department offering quality service.

Harold Barrett is a member of the Highway 60 Association, past-president of the Chamber of Commerce and is a current director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Bills Vetted By Governor Smith

AUSTIN (AP)—Several bills approved by the 62nd Legislature have been vetoed by Gov. Preston Smith, including measures on endangered species, appointment of a state liaison officer for federal park grants, Jr. college districts and waste dumping within 300 yards of a public road.

Smith disclosed the vetoes Wednesday.

The endangered species bill, sponsored by Sen. Don Kennard of Fort Worth, would grant authority to the executive director of the Parks and Wildlife Department that he already has, the governor said.

But it also would repeal all laws in conflict, he said, and these include measures to permit the taking of protected wildlife or fish for propagation, zoological or scientific purposes, to outlaw the importation of harmful tropical fish and to protect non-game birds.

The Texas Constitution empowers the governor not the Parks and Wildlife Commission—to appoint the state liaison officer. Smith said in vetoing a bill to give the commission that authority.

Further, he said, the bill would require the liaison officer to obtain approval of the full commission for each of his acts, causing delay and making the office virtually meaningless.

Smith's liaison officer, Parks and Wildlife Commission chairman Pearce Johnson, blocked efforts by a two-man commission majority to use federal funds to buy part of Mustang Island. The Mustang Island case is still tied up in federal court.

A bill calling for a countywide election to make a junior college district countywide for taxation purposes was vetoed because only the voters in the areas to be annexed should vote on it, Smith said.

The bill "would allow cities where junior college districts are located to impose such districts on rural areas without giving these areas an effective chance to voice their dissent," the governor said.

The waste dumping bill originally exempted cities that operated under State Health Department standards but the exemption was changed to persons operating vehicles on a public road, Smith said.

"Many of the garbage operations of the cities of this state would have been declared illegal," he said.

The governor also vetoed a bill to require competitive bidding on any contract calling for expenditure of $1,000 or more any political subdivision.

"This requirement is impractical and an unnecessary expense," Smith said. "Furthermore, it would seem illogical and unnecessary to require advertising in a newspaper for two weeks before a political subdivision could acquire an easement or right-of-way involving expenditure of $1,000."

Smith said he likewise has vetoed:

- HB 628—Abolishing, with certain exceptions, the office of county superintendent in all counties which have no common school districts.
- HB 1131—Authorizing a broad range of intergovernmental contracting.
- HB 1705—Relating to the appointment of an assistant district attorney for the 35th Judicial District.
- HB 1733—Relating to the method, number and seasons for taking shrimp from the part of Lake Sabine in Orange County.
- HB 1807—Relating to hunting spike deer and the use of a dog to hunt deer in Houston County.
- HB 1840—Relating to the interest rate on bonds of the San Patricio Municipal Water District.
- SB 392—Prohibiting the possession of certain paraphernalia for injecting dangerous drugs.
- SB 576—Authorizing the Parks and Wildlife Department to publish information on state parks, state historic sites and state scientific areas.
- SB 728—Adding a provision making the possession of an illegally killed game bird or game animal a violation.
- SB 821—Exempting Parks and Wildlife Department projects from Building Commission action.

Governor

Houston businessman Frank J. Sharp.

Gonzalez said if the indictments are returned it will be because of the "deal" made between the Justice Department and Sharp. Sharp Monday entered guilty pleas to "minor charges" and was given immunity from further prosecution by U.S. Dist. Judge John V. Singleton of Houston.

Sharp pleaded guilty to making false entries in Houston's Sharpstown State Bank records and for selling unregistered stock.

He received a $5,000 fine and three-year probation sentence.

Since then Sharp has appeared before the Houston federal grand jury and U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission officials. An SEC official claimed Sharp was allowed to enter pleas of lesser charges and received immunity from further prosecution for grand jury testimony.

Gonzalez said of the alleged arrangement, "Certainly it is a blot on American justice to let the biggest culprit of all go free in order to try and hound and prosecute on a selective basis. The pattern is clear that those chosen for prosecution have been almost exclusively Democrats."

"This just confirmed my thesis that this is a vendetta by the Justice Department against Texas Democrats," the representative said.

Gonzalez said Will Wilson, chief of the Justice Department Criminal Division, "was a lawyer for Frank Sharp at one time. He had a role dealing with one of those insurance companies Frank Sharp owns."

Shortly after the SEC investigation of the Sharp financial dealings became public, Smith accused Wilson of being behind the disclosure that Smith had purchased the stock.

(Wilson then said he was removing himself from any handling of the case.)

Gonzalez reiterated that he had "a lot of confidence" in his unnamed source.

Walking Measles

PERU, Ind. (AP)—two policemen found little Bobby Brown wandering around the city's west side. They discovered he had a high fever and took him to a hospital.

About three hours later the one and one-half-year old's father reported his son missing.

He wasn't too surprised to hear Bobby was in the hospital. He said the three other Brown children at home had measles, too.

Smith Signs Ethics Bill Into Law

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Preston Smith has signed into law bills setting out a code of ethics for legislators and banning worn-out tires from Texas highways.

A lawmaker could be sent to prison for five years if he violated the ethics proposal.

Smith said Wednesday by banning the old, bald tires, traffic deaths should be reduced and car insurance rates might be lowered.

The ethics bill, proposed after a "stock scandal" shook state government this year, requires all elected or appointed state officials and state employees earning $11,000 or more to file annual public statements of their financial activities the previous year.

Officials would be prohibited from using their positions to get "privileges or exemptions" for themselves or others. They could not engage in any business transactions or professional activities or take on obligations "in substantial conflict of interest with the proper discharge" of their duties.

A State Ethics Commission would be composed of six senators and House members elected by their colleagues, plus two persons each appointed by top judicial officials. It would investigate alleged breaches.

The bill was sponsored by Rep. Jim Nugent of Kerrville. The Tire bill was by Rep. Joe Allen of Baytown.

Three Pampans Win Music Scholarships

CANYON—Three Pampa High School seniors have been awarded Applied Music Scholarships at West Texas State University.

Scholarships were awarded to Gordon Allen Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Algren Miller, 505 Roberts; James Lynn Crossman, son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Crossman, 601 N. Sumner, and Thomas Dale Bevel, son of Mr. and Mrs. L.C. Bevel, 932 E. Francis.

Each year, several thousand dollars in scholarships are awarded by the School of Fine Arts for study in music, speech, and art.

UH Students To Have Professional Help Runaway Television

HOUSTON (AP)—Next fall student at the University of Houston who has trouble getting back his deposit on an apartment will have professional help.

The help will come from a lawyer the school will hire to counsel students on legal problems.

The counselor, yet to be selected, will advise students on standard legal procedures and their legal rights.

Tom O'Donnell, the student advocate who takes up students' problems with the university administration, started the idea.

Betty Canary MUSIC TO MOTHERS

A woman from Reading, Pa., writes to comment on a column in which I suggested "I love you" are the most beautiful words in any language. She says that "Hi, mom!" surely runs a close second. Of course, these are lovely words — what mother could possibly disagree?

Her letter did remind me of a time when "Hi mom," heralded exasperation and not joy for me. That's because, as a toddler, my youngest son inevitably used the words when I'd discover him busily engaged in one of his "projects." Let's be honest. He'd always say it when I caught him making one of his notorious messes. For example, the day I walked into the kitchen and found him stirring up a mixture of spices, detergent, vinegar, a whole bottle of catsup and other sundry items. (Every sundry item he could reach.) As usual, he looked up, weakly asked, "Hi? Mom?"

Of course, he was really asking, "Are you mother or ogre? And this isn't the kind of greeting our friend in Reading is thinking about."

"Hi, mom," are most beautiful words when you hear them, as I did recently, when you return home after a stay in a hospital.

They are the most welcome words in the world when a child walks through the front door after his first solo drive in an automobile.

"Hi, mom!" can completely dissolve a mother when they're spoken by a son who is calling from Vietnam via a radio-telephone hookup. American ham radio operators have devised so that soldiers can talk with their families back in the United States.

(But the same words can shock her into silence if they're spoken to her from a booth in the drive-in restaurant where she stopped in for a cup of coffee. Especially if she thought her child was at the movies.)

A friend says that "Hi, mom!" prefaced what she considers the best words she's heard in years. They were said over the telephone by her son-in-law and his next words were, "Your first grandchild is here."

A neighbor tells me the "Hi, mom!" her daughter sang out upon returning from her very first date was the most musical rendition she has ever heard.

regular monthly meeting recently as Mrs. George Reed, vice-president, presided in the absence of the president. One guest and 18 members attended.

Deryl Sehorn, weather observer for a Pampa radio station, was the guest speaker, and spoke on the atmosphere. The troposphere is up to 55 miles high and the thermosphere is up to 2000 miles high.

"Pollution causes carbon dioxide to go into the atmosphere," he said. "The heat from the sun mixes with carbon dioxide causing weather disturbances."

"We are destroying oxygen because plant life in the Sea cannot absorb the carbon dioxide. The ocean produces 70 per cent of the oxygen supply," he said.

He also said that you can have a weather report for any part of the country in a matter of three hours. This is due part to the effectiveness of radar tracking.

Mrs. Alpha Bradley, who gave a vocational talk, has been employed in several clothing stores and is now retired.

ABWA national headquarters reported more than $300,000 in scholarships were awarded last year.

Mrs. Ruby Cuipepper, president, was elected woman of the year.

Present were Deryl Sehorn, Mmes. N. F. Woods, Frances Bradley, Kenneth Plattner, Norman Dulaney, Don Elledge, Arville Hayes, John King, James Quarry, Vernon Graham, George Reed, George Shelton, Eugene Franklin, C. A. Herd, Patty Utaman, Elmo Hudgins, Jack Hollingsworth, Bill Bowen and Fred Richmond.

Bluebonnet HD Slates Meetings

The Bluebonnet Home Demonstration Club met recently in the home of Mrs. O. L. Wyley as Mrs. J. W. Dart, president, presided over the business meeting.

Members voted to hold one meeting a month during July and August, with the next meeting to be held in the home of Mrs. C. D. Malone on July 1. Mrs. O. E. Wyley, gave the program on making under garments... Patterns were distributed to all members.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. Jimmy Clifton, J. W. Dart, Clyde Gray, C. D. Malone, Tony Smith and O. E. Wyley.

Wide cuff bracelet watches still are getting a fair share of attention. Some taper near the end while others remain wide all around the wrist.

Right for pantsuits; watches that change from hanging pendants to encircling belt watches.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: There is an attractive woman in our social circle who certainly looks and acts the part of a "lady." Although she's a grandmother she is very young looking for her age.

This woman is married to a well-to-do man who treats her like a queen. She has a beautiful home, her own car, expensive clothes and plenty of money. The problem: This so-called lady has been telephoning several men in her social circle and asking them to meet her to discuss something "very important." Then she asks their "advice and counsel" on what to do about her frustrations over a loveless, sexless marriage.

Now a man would have to be stupid not to know what she is after. Men talk, Abby, and I'm afraid this is going to get back to her husband. He's a good friend of mine, a sweet guy, and deserves better.

Please print this. She might see it and realize she is on thin ice. This is no joke, I was—

"ALSO APPROACHED?" DEAR ALSO: And what if she doesn't see it? If you really want to do your friend a favor, tell his wife to cool it because people are talking.

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor's wind chimes are driving me batty! I listened to those chimes all last summer and if I have to listen to them again this summer I'll go mad, but that can I do? This neighbor has hung the chimes on a tree which is right outside my bedroom window. She has air-conditioning and I don't, so I have to raise my window when I retire and all I can hear is tinkling and clanging and jumping out of my skin!

Of what earthly good are those chimes anyway? I have a good relationship with this neighbor, who is very nice, and I don't want to get her angry with me, so please help me solve this problem peacefully.

GOING BATTY DEAR GOING: Tell your neighbor that her chimes are a source of annoyance to you, and if she is a "nice" person and she has a good relationship with each other, she will remove them promptly. It's as simple as that! (P.S. And if she's not so "nice" as you thought she was, and refuses to remove the chimes, there are laws against disturbing the peace.)

DEAR ABBY: I am afraid I am a pushover for young people. Three young employees who work with me have borrowed money from me to meet personal emergencies. The smallest amount was $200. No one of those who owes me has ever mentioned the debt, nor made any effort to repay even a part of it. One debt is two years old. (By the way, I didn't ask for any interest on my money, nor did I ask anyone to sign a note.)

All three co-workers are very friendly to me, and none seems embarrassed about his non-payments. I am far from wealthy and could use the cash myself as I shall be retiring soon. How shall I handle this? OLD ENOUGH TO KNOW BETTER

DEAR OLD ENOUGH: Try this "Look, my young friend, you have owed me $ for months. I've said nothing, hoping you would recognize the importance of keeping your credit good. You will hurt yourself in the future more than you hurt me now if you don't pay your honest debts. How about it?"

CONFIDENTIAL TO PRIVATE ANSWER.

PLEASE: A girl who doesn't know how old a girl has to be before she can leave home is too young to try it.

POLLY'S POINTERS

By POLLY CRAMER
Easy To Make Holders For Knitting Needles

DEAR POLLY—I want to tell you and our knitting friends how to make holders for needles, crochet hooks, stitch holders, etc. Make two matching ones — the larger for needles and the smaller for other items. They make such attractive and inexpensive gifts.

Cut a piece of corduroy, denim or other heavy fabric into a piece about 18 by 30 inches. Stitch edges under or cut with pinking shears. Leaving the 18-inch side as the width of the finished holder, fold along the side up to 13 inches. Stitch both sides close to the edges and then stitch pockets from 3/4 - to 1-inch wide all across the folded part, like a silverware holder. There should be 22 to 24 long slim pockets which will hold many long and short knitting needles.

At one side, sew tape about 18 inches long at two places for ties. To use, fold top flap down over tops of needles, roll toward side with ties. Wrap two ties around entire roll and make a bow.

Make the smaller roll the same way by using cloth about 7 by 18 inches, fold long side up 7 inches and stitch edges like the other one. Stitch in only 3 or 4 pockets and use ties about 14 inches long.

Curls, curls and more curls as hair fashion for spring and summer. And Alexander and Jacques Dessange are the curl kings of Paris.

And French women are taking to this softer look for hair styles in contrast to the wide shoulders and tailored suits of the couture designers.

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) —A group of women's liberation members are rewriting fairy tales to give male and female characters equal opportunities. They have already completed Snow White — who elects to work in the mines with the dwarfs rather than wash dishes.

Cultured pearls and diamonds have always been the best of playmates. This spring finds them enjoying the game of ringling the finger with wonder. The sheen, luster and fragility pearls are highlighted in gold settings of roughened textures shined over with diamonds.

Teen-agers prefer rigid necklaces instead of the regular necklaces. These come in silver or golden tones, in gold filled or sterling, dangling charms, monogrammed discs, butterflies, beating hearts, abstract mobiles, symbols and emblems of causes dear to their hearts.

Texas Chili Tops Chuckwagon Menus

Richard Bolt, 61, of Guthrie, Tex., is one of a vanishing breed. He is a chuckwagon cook and modestly says, "I never cooked anything I didn't like." His daddy was a chuckwagon cook, too, Bolt adds. "He came out here in 18 and 86."

Here is a "Texas Red" chili recipe, a favorite of Bolt's fellow range hands. He told researchers of the Mariboro Chuckwagon Cookbook that the original chili dates back to the 1800s when it was served by vendors on the streets of San Antonio. It makes a change of pace dish for dad to make during barbecue season and later.

"TEXAS RED" CHILI
 1/2 pound suet, finely chopped
 3 pounds round steak, coarsely cubed
 6 tablespoons chili powder

1 tablespoon ground oregano
 1 tablespoon crushed cumin seed
 1 tablespoon salt
 1/2 to 1 tablespoon cayenne
 2 large cloves garlic, minced
 1 tablespoon Tabasco pepper sauce (if you dare)
 1 1/2 quarts water
 1/2 cup white cornmeal (or 3 tablespoons masa harina)

Ask butcher for suet. In Dutch oven, fry suet until crisp, add steak cubes and brown. Add all seasonings and water and heat to boil. Reduce that, cover and simmer 1 1/2 hours. Skim off fat. Stir in cornmeal and simmer, uncovered for 30 minutes. Stir occasionally. Serve with cooked Pinto beans or on cornbread. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Hot Potato Salad Revives Appetites

What's a summer of outdoor cooking and picnicking without a reliable, hearty potato salad? A hot potato salad will revive appetites and go well with any meat or fish dish. It also is good cold as a leftover.

HOT POTATO SALAD
 2 tablespoons corn oil
 1 med. onion, chopped
 1/4 cup light corn syrup
 One-third cup vinegar
 1 teaspoon salt
 Dash pepper
 Dash paprika
 4 cups hot, diced, boiled potatoes
 2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Heat corn oil in skillet, add onion and cook over low heat until tender but not brown. Add light corn syrup, vinegar, salt, pepper and paprika. Bring mixture to boil. Pour over hot potatoes; add parsley and toss lightly. Serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

Desserts and snacks are a necessary part of the diet. However, they should be selected in such a way that they help provide some nutritive value as well as taste and eye appeal. Desserts which are made with milk and eggs — custards and pudding — are good additions to the menu. And snacks made from cereals, peanut butter, and raisins also contribute necessary nutrients.

Celebrate 25 Years With Turkey Specialty

There is a silver lining to many aspects of life's cloud. And 1.75 million couples who have weathered 25 years of marriage appear to have discovered it. They will celebrate their silver anniversaries this year. They are the survivors whose lives are chock full of marital memories that began in 1946. A record-breaking 2.3 million marriages took place that year as World War II veterans came home to start a new life.

According to legend the observance of the silver anniversary began more than 250 years ago in central Europe. Then the husband presented his wife with a silver wreath, an

The giving of sterling silver is traditional for the couple who usually share the occasion with family and friends at a supper.

1 can (8 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
 1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas
 1 jar or can (4 ounces) pimientos, drained and chopped
 One-third cup sherry, if desired
 2 tablespoons butter
 1 can (4 ounces) sliced almonds
 Combine turkey with soup, mushrooms, peas, pimientos and sherry in chafing dish. Melt butter in small skillet. Add almonds. Stir over low heat until golden brown. Sprinkle over top of turkey mixture. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

SPARKLING CRANBERRY MOLD
 1 package (6 ounces) lemon gelatin
 2 cups cold water
 1 cup boiling water
 1 cup celery, cut fine
 1 cup well-drained, canned crushed pineapple
 1 can (16 ounces) whole berry cranberry sauce
 1 cup chopped nuts
 Soften gelatin in cold water. Add boiling water. Stir until gelatin is dissolved. Place in refrigerator until slightly thickened. Add remaining ingredients. Turn into mold. Chill until firm. Garnish with salad greens. Serve with Lemon Mayonnaise. (To make Lemon Mayonnaise, add grated rind and juice of lemon.) Makes one 2-quart mold.

Good nutrition begins at the grocery store. Make sure that you buy foods which benefit your family the most. Your meal planning should include foods from the four basic groups: Meat, Cereal and Bread, Fruit and Vegetable, and Milk and Milk Products. Since these are broad categories, your choice is wide.

Orange-glazed chicken makes special Father's Day treat.

Make Chicken Dish For Father's Honor

An Orange-Glazed Chicken makes a special treat for your favorite guy on Father's Day. Since chicken is a low-cholesterol food item, serving it shows your husband your true concern for his well-being. This is a good budget dish and the orange glaze is easy to prepare from condensed chicken broth, orange juice and brown sugar. Serve with snow peas or green beans, a green salad and melon for dessert. This table attractive menu is low calorie too.

vegetable oil; pour off fat. Stir in soup, juice, sugar and mace. Cover; cook over low heat 4 minutes. Stir now and then. Add oranges. Cover; cook 5 minutes more or until chicken is tender. (If desired, garnish with parsley.)

U.S. Allies In Europe Face Growing Threat

Whose sea is the Mediterranean now? The Romans called it "Mare Nostrum"—Our Sea. More recently, the West's admirals have looked on it as NATO's private paddling pool. But now the Russian Bear has learned to swim and the Soviets are a naval force to be reckoned with in the middle sea. Their ships are modern, their supply lines short, their bases conveniently spotted on Arab coasts and the gateway weakly guarded.

(First of a Series.)

By TOM CULLEN

ANKARA, Turkey (NEA)—The "Sick Men of NATO" is the unenviable title Turkey and Greece have earned for themselves in recent months, and some time spent in both countries makes clear that the label is justified.

The sickness is political. In Greece, where the military junta has been in power for over four years, free elections are no nearer than they were in 1967. Turkey, too, appears to be headed for a military dictatorship as a solution to threatening urchins.

In both countries violent anti-Americanism exists. Rightly or wrongly, Greeks believe that the CIA engineered the plot which brought the colonels to power, and they bear a grudge against the Nixon government as being the junta's chief prop and mainstay.

In Turkey Americans are so unpopular that the U.S. Sixth Fleet no longer dares to visit Istanbul. Two years ago sailors from the carrier USS Forrestal were thrown into the Bosphorus. To make matters worse, Turkey and Greece are on the outs with each other over Cyprus, where the situation is unchanged from 1964 when Turks dropped napalm bombs on two Greek-Cypriot villages.

Overshadowing all else is the Soviet naval build-up in the Mediterranean. The Russian fleet is now present in the Mediterranean fleet is now present in the Mediterranean permanently and in strength, with a two-star admiral as flag officer. Its strength varies from 50 to 70 vessels, but they include the latest model cruisers and destroyers and nuclear submarines, some of which are equipped with long range surface-to-surface missiles.

This is only the tip of the iceberg, for another 60 to 700 Soviet vessels are based in the Black Sea.

"The Russian bear has learned how to swim," as Adm. W. F. A. Wendt, commander of U.S. Naval Forces, Europe, remarked recently. The bear's wake he pointed out, now extends from the Caribbean to the Sea of Japan, and from the Baltic to Cape Town.

The Russian dream of expanding southwards to the Mediterranean and to the warm waters of the Indian Ocean dates back to Peter the Great (1672-1725), who fathered the first Russian navy.

In less than 10 years that dream has come close to realization. In this short time the Kremlin has upset completely the balance of power in the Mediterranean, and succeeded in turning NATO's flank.

An American naval commander attached to NATO headquarters in Istanbul put it to me thus: "The Mediterranean was once NATO's private paddling-pool. Now, thanks to the Soviet presence there, it has become a pond for sitting ducks. Instead of pointing their guns north and east, NATO forces must defend themselves in all directions, including the rear — don't forget the Soviet MIGs parked on Egyptian air bases."

No NATO member is more apprehensive concerning the changed balance of power than Turkey, which shares some 2,000 miles of frontier with the Soviet Union, including the Black Sea.

Turkey has fought 13 wars with Russia in the past 300 years, and the Turks know that in the event of another war, they are marked down for invasion. . . . secure the southern flank, the Russians must force the Turkish Straits, which connect the Black Sea with the Mediterranean, and capture Thrace.

At the moment, Turkey's relations with Russia are excellent. The Soviets are building a $263 million steel mill for the Turks, plus an aluminum plant and an oil refinery. But they could change overnight.

WHOSE SEA NOW? To the Romans, the Mediterranean was "Mare Nostrum"—Our Sea. More recently, the West's admirals have looked on it as NATO's private paddling pool. But now the Russians are a naval force to be reckoned with. Their ships are modern, their supply lines short, their bases conveniently spotted on Arab coasts and their gateway to the Mediterranean weakly guarded.

This is why the Turkish government has been pressing the Nixon administration to increase military aid, which has dropped from $134 million annually in 1965 to $100 million at present.

Turkish officials I talked to like Faiz Meler, director general of the Mutual Security Office, are dissatisfied with NATO's effort in the Mediterranean. They say that the NATO "on call" force, which exists to show the flag in crisis areas for purposes of solidarity, is not enough. NATO should increase its forces in the Turkish Straits, Western Thrace and the Aegean.

The Turks feel they are entitled to criticize, for over one-quarter of their budget is earmarked for defense purposes, despite the fact that they have the lowest gross national product of any NATO country: their 600,000-strong army is at the disposal of NATO in times of emergency.

The closer one looks at the problem the more apparent it becomes that there is a potential conflict of interest between the United States and its eastern Mediterranean allies. The Greeks feel threatened by their neighbors to the north, Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia, while the Turks are preoccupied by the Russians and the Bulgarians. United States interests, on the other hand, are not bounded by NATO, but are global.

To the Pentagon the Mediterranean is not only vital to the defense of central Europe, but as a staging area for the Middle East. This is a source of potential agreement with Turkey and Greece.

In the event of direct American involvement in the Middle East would Turkey and Greece permit the American air bases located on their soil to be used in contingency operations?

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Air rainmakers reported showers fell to the drought-stricken land near Laredo Monday after they seeded clouds in the area.

A WC130 flew over an area from east of Laredo to San Antonio Monday, dropping 87 silver iodide "flares" in the second week of a month-long project to bring rain to Texas.

Showers fell after the modified cargo plane seeded two large cloud masses 15 to 30 miles northeast of Laredo, officials said.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market overcame early softness today and turned higher as investors apparently did some bargain-hunting.

The 2 p.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 3.43 to 910.63.

Advances held a narrow lead over declines among issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said investors began shopping around for bargains when it appeared that selling had dried up. They related early selling to concern by investors that higher interest rates would slow economic recovery.

In glamors, IBM was up 2 1/4 at 324. Polaroid was ahead 1 1/2 at 114 1/2. Xerox was up 1 1/2 to 114 1/2. Control Data was up 3/4 at 62, and University Computing was ahead 1/2 at 36 1/2.

Among the large-block trades on the New York Stock Exchange were parcels of 59,000 shares of White Consolidated at 26, up 1/2; 96,100 of Magnavox at 50 1/4, off 3/4; and 50,000 of Pan American Airways at 14 1/2, down 1/2.

On the American Stock Exchange, RSC Industries was ahead 1 1/4 to 4 and topped the most-active list.

HAPPY FACE was constructed as a decoration at a Chicago lakefront park, but was rapidly pressed into service as playground equipment. All it took was two boys with a little ingenuity and a boost from passers-by.

Hard Liquor Glasses Enjoy Good Business

DALLAS (AP) — A promising new market now that the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission has begun issuing licenses for public sale of mixed drinks is that of cocktail and hard liquor glasses.

Glass buying picked up 30 to 50 per cent after the first day permits were issued, but wholesale merchants say the rush won't come for several months. J. R. "Pat" Patterson, executive vice president of Huey and Philip Co., predicts the demand for new glassware will be "pretty heavy."

His supplier, E. Jeffrey Shields, branch manager for Libby Glassware, said the "proper use of the right kind of glassware will make their jobs easier, happier and more profitable."

"There are very few items in business that are seen, felt, handled and used as often as glassware service," he said.

Shields estimates that the average bar will need a minimum of 708 glasses, ranging from two-ounce sherry glasses to 11-ounce tumblers.

Price Of Lobsters Going Up

BOSTON (AP) — The price of lobster is going up and one reason is that lobsters like to eat lobsters about as much as people do.

Lobsters have gotten expensive because of interlocking economic and biological factors that can be simplified into one phrase: small supply and big demand.

Biological factors, such as cannibalism, help keep the supply down. The jetliner is responsible for starting much of the demand and for continuing it.

"Unless the lobster can be moved quickly from boat to table, they spoil," said Dr. Thomas Meade, professor of fisheries and marine technology at the University of Rhode Island.

"Before the airplane, it was all but impossible to get live lobsters to a place like Duluth," he said. "Now we can, and naturally there is a demand now in places like Duluth where there was little or no demand before."

In Boston, restaurants charge up to $9.50 for lobster—$1.50 to $2 above the prices listed on menus.

In Seattle, restaurant owner Victor Rosellini said he took Maine lobster off the dinner menu, carrying it as an à la carte item at $8.50.

"I don't want to sell it, it's too expensive," he said.

The increased demand and resulting reduction in the natural lobster population forced American lobstermen to change age-old methods of fishing.

Until the 1950s, lobstermen plied their trade in inlets and coves along the East Coast from Labrador to the Carolinas where they dropped their traps—small, wooden pots shaped like Quonset huts.

As the lobster population near shore dwindled, lobstermen went further out to sea, first trawling with nets and more recently dropping 6-foot, metal lobster pots as deep as 400 feet along the edges of the Continental Shelf.

The deep-ocean traps, anchored with buoys, have been getting in the way of the nets of Soviet-bloc trawlers, causing meetings on the high seas with Russian fishermen to set geographic limits to their trawling activities.

Now the off-shore lobster population is falling off and lobstermen are beginning to worry about conservation.

Many lobstermen favor raising the limit on the legal size for a lobster catch as a conservation measure. Others said raising the limit might be opposed by inshore lobstermen who must work a population of smaller lobsters.

Whatever is done to preserve and multiply the lobster population, it appears the lobster will have to do most of the work.

Lobster hatcheries have been operating in such places as Boothbay Harbor, Maine, and on Martha's Vineyard, Mass., for years with limited success.

Drouth Continues Hold In Crop And Livestock Production Areas

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Texas' lingering drought continued its hold in crop and livestock production areas over the past week, but the Panhandle and the South Plains region around Lubbock have had at least some respite.

The drought, while not setting any longevity records as yet, has farmers and ranchers wondering if it can be matched for sheer intensity. There are parts of the state which have had no significant moisture since last fall.

Panhandle: Dryland wheat harvesting is progressing and irrigated wheat is about ready. In a few areas, grain sorghum and cotton are being re-seeded because of damage by hail or heavy rain. recent showers has provided moisture for dryland sorghum seeding.

Ranges are greening, but more moisture is needed. Livestock conditions are improving a little.

South Plains: This region bore the brunt of violent weather in the past week, with hail and high winds destroying much cotton, corn and grain sorghum. About 75,000 acres of cotton were hailed out in Yoakum, Lynn, Swisher and Floyd counties. Wind blown sand damaged young cotton and sorghum.

Much of the farming activity includes re-planting. Soybean acreage will increase in some northern counties, since the late season does not favor cotton or grain. About 90 per cent of the cotton and grain sorghum acreage is planted in the district's north half.

Moisture is still short in most counties, especially those in the south and southeast. Ranges are below average, although recent rains have helped. Cattle continue in fair to good condition, and markets are steady.

Rolling Plains: The district received 1.5 to 3 inches of rain a week ago. Five counties have adequate moisture, but 17 counties still suffer from drought.

The wheat harvest is nearing completion, with yields averaging 8-10 bushels. Cotton and grain sorghum are being planted. Alfalfa harvesting continues. Ranges and stockwater are improved.

North Central: Most counties in this district are short on moisture. Light rains have improved ranges somewhat. Livestock are in average shape.

Small grain harvesting is 75 to 90 per cent finished, with some yields higher than expected. Cotton and grain sorghum are holding up fairly well but could use a general rain.

Northeast: All crop yields are down in this region because of the drought. Cattle are in fair to good shape, and cowmen are culling their herds to reduce the load on parched pastures. Stock water is declining.

Far West Texas: This country needs rain, as always. Ranges are short and dry, and light calves and light lambs are moving to market due to drought. Livestock are fair to good overall.

Irrigated crops, cotton in particular, are making good growth. Dryland areas are waiting to plant. The small grain harvest is well underway.

West Central: Strong winds and hot days are taking their toll of soil moisture, yet, the north half of Runnels County suffered hail damage to crops. Taylor is the only county reporting a wheat harvest, and yields are down. Most counties are a complete failure. Hay crops are suffering from moisture stress.

Nolan County reports cotton to a good stand. About 75 per cent of the district's cotton is planted, although acreage is reduced because of drought. Grain sorghum is up and growing well in Taylor County. A small pecan crop is predicted. There are no peaches, but Gillespie County reports apples are looking good.

Ranges and pastures are drying out, livestock are in fair condition, and ranchers continue to sell drought-hit animals.

Central Texas: Moisture is short to very short throughout the district. Limestone County farmers report that the drought is the most severe in their memory.

Cotton and sorghum are a little late in the blacklands and will need rain soon. Corn is silking and tasseling. Thirty-five to 50 per cent of the peanuts are planted, while the remaining acreage is waiting for rain to plant.

The pecan set is light. A fair quality peach crop is harvesting. Livestock conditions are average, but pastures are below normal for this time of year. Ranchers are culling and selling.

East Texas: Soil moisture is short to very short. However, livestock remain in good shape, and the market is firm. Corn is tasseling and needing rain. Peas are in the harvest stage.

Southeast and Upper Gulf Coast: This region, usually blessed with adequate rainfall, is hot and dry. A short hay crop is being baled, pastures are below average, and livestock are in fair to good condition. Animal marketing is increasing.

Cotton is progressing and grain sorghums are turning red, and rice is coming along nicely. Soybeans are all planted, but could stand a rain. A light pecan crop is in prospect.

South Central: The situation is described as "critical" here. Crop stands are poor, very little hay is being made.

Oil Companies Will Face Unprecedented Restrictions

AUSTIN (AP)—Oil companies who drill on submerged land included in the school land board's July 6 lease sale will face unprecedented restrictions designed to protect the environment.

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong said today 594,132 acres in 869 separate tracts will be leased for oil and gas development.

"For the first time, the school land board has coordinated environmental planning with the Parks and Wildlife Department for all bays and inlets included in the sale," Armstrong said.

Armstrong said the board asked the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department to review the bay and inlet tracts for lease, and to report on any possible hazard to the environment if drilling were permitted.

Other acreage for lease includes a large number of submerged tracts in the Gulf of Mexico which had been scheduled for bidding at an earlier sale in May. The state's submerged lease sale was cancelled when the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers called a temporary halt to underwater drilling last month.

Armstrong said the board had agreed to carefully consider restrictions recommended by the Parks and Wildlife Department.

In some cases, directional drilling may be required, and there may be some restrictions on channel dredging, he said.

Armstrong said many oil companies had expressed a willingness to cooperate.

"This aspect of environmental planning will give the oil companies notice about what to expect," he said.

The lease sale will include 24 upland tracts on 5,650 acres, 18 river bed tracts of 148 acres, 453 bay and inlet tracts totaling 211,726 acres, and 374 Gulf of Mexico tracts totaling 375,276 acres.

This is the largest amount of submerged acreage offered for lease since June 1965, Armstrong said.

Convicted Mail Thief Discloses How He, Partners Commit Crime

WASHINGTON (AP) — Testifying under heavy guard, a convicted mail thief told Senate pickets investigators Wednesday his lifetime in crime netted him and his partners approximately $100 million in stocks, bonds, jewelry, cash and cars.

The witness, Robert F. Cudak, named those he said were his associates and those who fenced the goods he stole.

Cudak appeared at a hearing in which photographers were forbidden to take his picture.

Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee, announced:

"This man has a problem of safety for his life and we want to keep our promise to him."

McClellan endorsed Cudak's sworn testimony, that he and his partners robbed the mails at least 125 times, as "not hearsay or imaginary."

Four plainclothes detectives stood between Cudak and the hearing room audience and uniformed policemen posted themselves in the rear of the room as he told the subcommittee:

"My share of the loot my partners and I stole in a four-year period came to approximately $1 million. I am penniless today. I gambled most of the money away as soon as I received my share from the fences."

Cudak said most of the loot was in the form of stocks and bonds for which he said fences were at first reluctant to handle.

"As we continued," Cudak said, "the loot from our airport thefts became more attractive to the fences who buy stolen goods, many of whom are controlled by or linked to organized crime."

Cudak said he hit the registered U.S. mails at John F. Kennedy Airport 90 times and stole mail at LaGuardia Airport about 10 times. Both are in New York.

"About July of 1968," he said, "we started traveling to other areas. We stole registered mail at the following airports:

"Newark Airport in New Jersey—four times, O'Hare International Airport in Chicago—four times, Cleveland-Hopkins Airport in Cleveland, Ohio—once, the Greater Pittsburgh Airport—once, the Miami International Airport—five times, the Ft. Lauderdale-Hollywood Airport in Florida—once, Tampa International Airport—once, International Airport at West Palm Beach, Fla.—once, Atlanta, Airport—once, McCarran Airport Las Vegas, Nev.—once and the Los Angeles International Airport—twice."

Cudak said his team of thieves once stole an entire truckload of first-class mail and parcel post packages.

Cudak is now serving a seven-year concurrent sentence on his conviction for two mail robberies—one in New York and one in Chicago—in which the total loot was more than $3.2 million.

Researchers at the University of Illinois hospital Chicago report that the propellants in atomizers that dispense drugs used by Asthma sufferers may cause abnormal heart rhythms, the National Safety Council reports.

Martin To Run For Re-Election To Fourth Term

AUSTIN (AP) — Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin, a recent heart attack victim, announced Wednesday he will run for re-election to a fourth term next year. He said making the race was a matter of "duty."

His announcement was made at a luncheon in Houston and through a printed statement released here.

Martin, 55, was released from the hospital 2-1/2 months ago, following a four week stay. He suffered a heart attack March 5.

"In the light of the scandals that have rocked our state government this spring—and the resulting investigation which my office has begun at the request of the legislature, I feel it a question of duty to make the race," Martin said.

The House adopted a resolution this Spring asking the attorney general to supervise gathering of facts for use by the House general investigation committee concerning stock deals by several high state officials in 1969.

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission alleged in a suit filed in Dallas in January that easy loans and speculative profits in National Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock were arranged for the officials to ease passage of two banking bills.

Officials who say they received such deals include House Speaker Gus Mutscher, Gov. Preston Smith, Reps. Bill Healy of Paducah and Tommy Shanon of Fort Worth and State Democratic Chairman Elmer Baum.

"While this is not the time to expound upon the stock fraud investigation," Martin said, "This I will tell you, and let it be clearly understood:

"We shall ferret out every bit of information—and when we do it will all be laid before the public. There will be no secrets."

Of his heart attack, Martin said, "I feel great; my doctors have assured me I'm as healthy as a horse—and I want to sure I'm ready to run like one."

NEW YORK (AP) — A painting by El Greco stolen from a house in Madrid in 1936 during the Spanish civil war, has been recovered in Manhattan, the FBI announced Wednesday.

The painting, titled "Asuncion de la Virgen," estimated to be worth $1 million, has been authenticated by Dr. Everett Fahy of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the FBI said.

John Malone, assistant director of the FBI charge of the New York office, would not say where or how the painting was found. No arrests were made but the investigation is continuing, he said.

The 22-by-43 inch oil reportedly was stolen from the house of Don Juan de Selgas y Maldonado in Madrid in 1936, when the house was invaded by Madrid socialist groups and prior to 1939 when Gen. Francisco Franco assumed control of that area.

In Madrid, the elderly Spanish widow, Manuela de Selgas, who is once again the painting's apparent owner, said Wednesday night, "I have waited 35 years for this, but I won't say anything now. I have a dinner engagement."

Friends said the Selgas house was stripped of paintings and furniture in 1936. They said Selgas, an art collector and financier, died in 1959.

Texas Railroad Commission Cuts Sate Oil Allowable By 260,815 Barrels

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission slashed the July statewide oil allowable Wednesday by 260,815 barrels a day from June.

The July allowable of 68.7 per cent of potential is a reduction of 6.7 per cent from this month and the third monthly reduction in a row.

The July market demand factor also is the lowest since a 62.9 per cent allowable which controlled oil production for part of last August.

Although maximum production next month is estimated at 3,367,115 barrels a day, actual oil production is estimated at 3,273,750 barrels daily, or just over what the major buyers requested.

Eight of 14 big crude oil buyers sought the same amount of oil in July as this month, four asked for less oil next month and only two wanted more.

Phillips 66 & Refining Co. made the biggest change, dropping its July nomination by 64,000 barrels a day from June.

Atlantic Richfield made a last minute reduction of 20,000 barrels in its request after a spokesman said a Philadelphia refinery unit was being overhauled earlier than expected.

Amoco Production Co. held its nomination steady at 420,000, but D. R. Ryan said Amoco "expected to be in the market for spot oil in addition to its regular purchases."

Commission Chairman Byron Tunnell said Texas' crude oil stocks as of June 4 totaled 108.4 million barrels, a decrease of 1.6 million from a month ago but an increase of 1.1 million over a year ago.

The statewide allowable started downward in May when it was cut from 82.1 per cent to 77.2, falling to 75.4

CANCER (June 21-July 23): Stick to your promises and resolutions a little longer. Consistent endeavor should continue. Leo (July 23-Aug. 23): Having fun is the name of the game. # Villanova May Lose All In Howard Porter Case

NEW YORK (AP) — The Howard Porter case has flared again and threatened today to wipe out Villanova's greatest basketball season.

The problem erupted anew Wednesday upon disclosure of papers filed in federal court here that say Porter did indeed sign a professional contract last December while still playing for the Wildcats.

If so, the Wildcats could have erased from the record most of the victories in their 27-7 season, including their runnerup finish to UCLA in the NCAA championship tournament in which Porter was elected the Most Valuable Player. They also supposedly would forfeit some $6,500 revenue from the tournament.

Villanova athletic director Art Mahan said the school would ask the NCAA to join in a thorough investigation and the university would abide by any NCAA ruling.

NCAA director Walter Byers was not available for comment in his office in Kansas City.

Warren Brown, NCAA assistant executive director, said he has been "advised of allegations but not read them."

"We're very interested in the situation. We are now trying to review all the documents involved, or alleged to be involved in the case."

Porter, reached in Chicago where he started training camp with the Chicago Bulls of the National Basketball Association, declined to comment and referred all questions to his lawyer.

The 6-foot-8 star, who averaged 23.5 points a game for Villanova last season, signed with the Bulls this spring, prompting a suit filed by the Pittsburgh Condors of the ABA, who claimed they had been given his signed contract by the league.

The latest development in the case was precipitated here when Federal Judge Edward C. McLean refused to seal the papers filed in the case of Pittsburgh against the Bulls.

Although Porter's attorney, Richard G. Phillips of Philadelphia, argued that leaving the paper unsealed "could do irreparable damage" to Porter and his alma mater, the papers were left open for anyone to inspect.

The papers included a document that said Porter signed with the ABA last Dec. 16 and that the contract was assigned by the ABA to the Condors. The contract, according to the documents, called for a salary of $350,000 at the rate of $50,000 a year for seven years, an "unrefundable bonus" of $15,000 or signing, a new car and another $10,000 bonus May 1, 1971.

One document bearing Porter's signature acknowledged the payment of the bonus of $15,000.

However, also included was a letter written by Porter to the Condors April 18, 1971, some three weeks after the Bulls picked him in the NBA draft and reportedly offered him a much more lucrative contract as his value increased following his tournament performance.

The letter said: "I am writing at this time to inform you that after careful review of my situation I have decided that I do not wish to play basketball in the American Basketball Association under the terms of the document dated December 16, 1970, which document you have in your possession."

The Condors later filed suit to get Porter back, and then Tuesday reached an undisclosed settlement that allowed the Bulls to keep Porter.

ABA Players Support Proposed NBA Merger

NEW YORK (AP) — The various contract provisions in professional sports that tie a player to a club are again in the spotlight because of the latest development in the proposed merger of the American and National basketball Associations. The ABA Players Association said Wednesday they support the merger because they feel it will bring them parity. The two leagues are seeking congressional approval of a merger. After Zeimo Bealy and Arlan Preblud, president and counsel, respectively, of the ABA players group, announced support of the merger, Charlie Scott, ABA players vice president said:

"We assume that the ABA option clause will be the prevailing clause in a merger agreement."

But the NBA players have said they are fighting the merger because their owners have refused to give them an option clause.

Larry Fleischer, counsel for the NBA players, said they will continue to fight merger until they gain the "right to freely negotiate for themselves."

Currently the NBA contract setup is similar to that of major league baseball, in that a player is the property of a club until he is traded, sold or released.

The ABA players, on the other hand, have an option clause similar to that of the National Football League in which a player can become a free agent by playing for a year without a contract at up to a 10 per cent reduction in salary.

However, Fleischer hit at the ABA option agreement, calling it a "meaningless statement. Nobody in the history of professional basketball has ever played out his option."

In announcing support of a merger, Bealy said: "The minimum salaries, per diem and pension benefits we have achieved in the ABA are not presently comparable to those achieved by the players in the older league and would not be attained as quickly without the stability of merger."

"The ABA has nearly doubled the number of playing jobs in pro basketball, but without merger some teams, I believe, would find it difficult to continue operations, thus quite a few of these opportunities for players to play professional basketball would be eliminated."

"We're sorry the ABA players took this position," said Fleischer. "We think it is shortsighted. But our fight is with the owners, not with the ABA players."

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — The field narrowed to the final four in the championship flight of the 38th annual Women's West Texas Golf Association tournament today.

Rebels To Play

The American Legion Rebels will play Borger tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. in Borger in their fourth scheduled district game.

Kansas City Hurting After Yankee Victory

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Stan Bahnsen tossed a four-hitter for his fifth straight complete game victory as the New York Yankees beat the Kansas City Royals 3-2 Wednesday night scoring the winning run on a bases-loaded fielder's choice in the eighth inning.

Jerry Kenney opened the eighth by beating out a bounce to short, Bobby Murcer looped a single to center and Roy White walked, filling the bases.

Ted Abernathy replaced loser Tom Burgmeier and Felipe Alou grounded to shortstop Rich Severson, whose throw to the plate was wide and late.

The Royals tied the game in the seventh on Cookie Rojas' sacrifice fly after Severson beat out a bounce to deep short and moved to third on Paul Schaal's single.

The Yankees had gone ahead for the first time in the sixth as White singled, went to third on Alou's single and scored on Thurman Munson's sacrifice fly.

Kansas City scored in the first on a walk, two infield outs and Ed Kirkpatrick's single.

The Yankees tied it in the fifth on singles by John Ellis, Gene Michael and Kenney.

Clemente's Home Run Gives Pirates Edge Over Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Roberto Clemente's tie-breaking two-run homer in the seventh inning lifted the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 6-4 victory over the Houston Astros Wednesday night.

Clemente's seventh home run of the season, an opposite field blast to right off loser Wade Blasingame, 4-7, followed a one-out single by Gene Clines, his fourth straight hit.

The winning rally came after the Astros, held hitless for five innings by Dock Ellis, 10-3, erupted for five hits in the sixth and wiped out a 4-0 deficit.

The Pirates has tallied twice in the third on a walk and hits by Dave Cash, Clines and Clemente. They added two more in the sixth on Bob Robertson's single, Al Oliver's triple and a wild pitch.

At Barbecue

Rick Harris To Be Honored Saturday

A reminder to all baseball and barbecue fans about the Optimist Club's annual Baseball Barbecue to be held this Saturday starting at 5 p.m. in Optimist Park.

Each year the club honors the boys in their baseball program with a barbecue and special clinic. Due to the adverse weather conditions forcing many rainouts and cancellations both by the Optimist teams and the professional teams the clinic had to be cancelled this year. However, the barbecue will be conducted to give special recognition to Pampa's youth.

level will be in competition for a scholarship and a tour of their state if selected Young Texan of the State for the Year, after all twelve months' nominees have been chosen.

After the program and barbecue four baseball games will be played in the ball parks with Pampa Hardware meeting First National Bank on the Babe Ruth Field.

Make plans to attend the barbecue and honor these outstanding young men. Tickets for the barbecue will be $1.50 for adults and $1 for children over seven.

This is our way of saying thanks to the people of Pampa and the Top O' Texas Area for the support they have shown during the past 10 years and would invite everyone in Pampa and the surrounding area to share in our celebration.
