ONE SHOT TO DEATH

Chattanooga Under Control

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UPI) — National Guardsmen kept Chattanooga under tight control early today following the fourth night of violence. A Negro was found shot to death in a street during a flare-up of gunfire and firebombing Monday night.

Authorities told a post-midnight news conference an investigation was being made to determine if the killing was connected with the violence.

Police said the man, in his mid 20's, was found lying in a street in the predominantly black Alton Park section where Mayor Robert K. Walker said there had been constant firing. He was shot in the lower abdomen.

State Safety Commissioner Claude Armour in charge of law enforcement in the troubled city, said there were "many reports of sniper fire" on police and state troopers. And a National Guard spokesman said there had been some sniping at the soldiers, whose only live ammunition is carried by officers.

Firemen attempting to extinguish a number of firebombings also were fired upon, police said. But there were no reports of injury to any guardsman, policeman or fireman.

Units of a 1,500-man National Guard force ordered to Chattanooga early Monday by Gov. Winfield Dunn patrolled the streets with police and troopers, enforcing a strict curfew from 7 p.m. until 5 a.m. Anyone on the streets had to show a pass issued by the National Guard.

Police said 36 persons were arrested Monday night, all but two for curfew violations. The two were charged with carrying pistols.

Walker said the trouble had no organized basis, but appeared to be instigated by gangs of black "marauders." The violence began late Friday night at a cancelled "soul" music show at Municipal Auditorium and "spilled over" into the streets.

FOR TENNIS COURTS

City Tables Action On School Proposal

The Pampa City Commission today tabled action on a proposal for joint school-city tennis court facilities when school representatives failed to appear at the council meeting.

City Manager Mack Wofford said the city wanted to hear the school system's proposed rules for use of the courts by the public before taking final action.

Wofford said he had understood a school representative would be on hand to explain the proposal.

The city had been asked to participate in the improvement of the present four tennis courts at Pampa High School and in the construction of four additional courts. Cost to the city was estimated at $15,000. Use of the city money would mean the courts would become available to the public.

City officials were waiting for an explanation as to how the courts would be administered, maintained and be made available to the public.

When the school representative failed to show up at today's meeting, the matter was tabled.

In other business:

The commission authorized the city manager to contact prospects for the sale of surplus Canadian River water.

City Manager Wofford said Pampa will have 1.24 billion gallons of lake water available for sale this year. Lubbock has been buying about $40,000 worth of water a year and 183 million gallons has been committed to Cities Service and Dorchester Co. Pampa will not be using the water until some time next year.

Three bids were received for the lease of city-owned land at the old Reeves Airport south of Hwy. 70. They will be studied and an award will be made at the next meeting of the council.

An ordinance to update traffic control signs was approved on first reading.

Commissioners received a report from the M. K. Brown Foundation explaining determination of the city's share of taxes on foundation income pledged to the city for construction of the M. K. Brown Memorial auditorium.

Commissioners approved payment of Estimate No. 2 in the amount of $47,070 to the J. W. Cooper Construction Co., Odessa, on auditorium construction to date.

Request of the lease of land near the city landfill to terminate the lease because of drought conditions was referred to the city attorney for legal study before taking action.

Red Commandos Raid Base, Killing One GI, Hurting 19

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist commandos moving under cover of a monsoon downpour charged an American base behind a mortar barrage before dawn today but were driven off by the defenders with the help of U.S. artillery and helicopter gunships.

The Communists hit a night defensive position of the 2nd Squadron, 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment, about 21 miles northwest of Saigon. The Americans were guarding plowing operations to clear Highway 1 between Saigon and Phnom Penh.

One American was killed and 19 wounded. South Vietnamese militiamen with the Americans lost one dead and nine wounded. The Communists left 13 bodies behind and one of their men was captured.

Lt. Col. John Ballantyne, 39, of El Paso, Tex., commander of the 2nd Squadron, told UPI correspondent Kenneth J. Braddock that the battle started about 3 a.m. today and raged until daylight.

Ballantyne said that at one point 50 to 70 Communists got to within 100 yards of the perimeter, which was ringed with tanks and armored personnel carriers.

The Communist attack came the day after U.S. engineers clearing the highway pushed their 30 huge Rome plows into the 15,000-acre Ho Bo woods to clear the jungle there. It had regrown since the last such operation in 1968.

U.S. B52 bombers pounded the Ho Chi Minh trail network in the northwestern corner of South Vietnam today, 45 miles north of the A Shau Valley.

Since the allied offensive in the valley area began April 14, the B52's have unloaded 4,000 tons of bombs on the infiltration route in an effort to keep communist forces from outflanking allied troops in the region.

Colonel Reveals Troop War Crime In South Vietnam

FT. MEADE, Md. (UPI)—Every large American combat unit in Vietnam has carried out mass slayings of Vietnamese civilians, according to the officer who commanded troops at My Lai.

Col. Oran K. Henderson, facing a court martial on charges that he covered up atrocities committed by his own soldiers, said Monday it is the troops' own reluctance to talk that has kept these incidents quiet.

"Every unit of brigade size has its My Lai hidden someplace," Henderson told reporters in an interview during a recess at his precourt martial hearing.

But he added: "Every unit doesn't have a Ridenhour." Ronald L. Ridenhour was the Vietnam veteran whose letter to the secretary of defense focused attention on the My Lai incident.

Henderson also disclosed that in December, 1969, he wrote Army Chief of Staff Gen. William C. Westmoreland saying he would take full blame for the actions of his troops at My Lai in order to save the Army further embarrassment.

The offer, according to Henderson, was rebuffed by Westmoreland with a "very blunt reply."

Senate Unit Seeking To Exempt Draftees From Serving In Viet

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Declaring no man should be forced to fight in a war the nation has disavowed, Senate draft reformers sought today to exempt draftees from fighting Vietnam against their will.

"Our political leaders are floundering around in search of a face-saving pretext to get out," said Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., "yet we go on drafting young men for combat giving them the alternative of going to jail. No young man should be required to stake his life to save face for the political leaders who unwisely blundered into this war."

Nelson, backed by three other senators including former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, has introduced an amendment to bar draftees from serving in Vietnam combat areas after Dec. 31 unless they volunteer. A vote was set for 1 p.m. EDT. Nelson, in remarks prepared for the Senate, contended 49 percent—or 14,331—of the Army's combat deaths in Vietnam since 1961 have been draftees. He said they had borne the heaviest burden of the war because few volunteers decide to serve in Army infantry, artillery and armor roles, the most hazardous duty.

The Wisconsin lawmaker argued that, since the U.S. troop ceiling in Vietnam will be 184,000 by Dec. 31, it was reasonable to ask the Army to supply sufficient combat soldiers out of its 700,000-man worldwide force of volunteers to take up the slack.

"If not, then something is wrong with the Army," he said. As it is now, the Army does not have to look for volunteers from among its professional soldiers, Nelson contended, "because it has an unlimited supply of draftees and it is easier to use them. Now is the time to end that system."

wants to make up the shortage of artillery-armor-infantry volunteers by offering a $3,000 bonus to men who enlist to serve in those combat jobs.

But Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who contends the bonus would entice poor men's sons to serve in rich men's wars, has introduced an amendment to strike out the bonus.

Black Panther To Get New Trial

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)—A Superior Court jury decided to acquit Black Panther leader Bobby G. Seale only three hours after getting the case, but, after one juror changed his mind, deliberated five more days hopelessly deadlocked, it was learned today.

Judge Harold M. Mulvey declared a mistrial Monday, the sixth day of deliberations. Sources said today the seven white and five black jurors never could reach agreement after the juror changed his mind on Seale's charges of conspiracy or those against his co-defendant, Ericka Huggins.

The state said it would move for a new trial. Mulvey was meeting prosecution and defense lawyers today to discuss application for the defendants.

Seale, 34, was charged with ordering the death of Alex Rackley, 24, whose mutilated body was found in a swamp in nearby Middlefield May 21, 1969. Rackley, an alleged informer, had been tortured with boiling water, interrogated, taken for a ride and shot.

Mrs. Huggins, 23, was accused of participating in the interrogation. Sources said the jury reached agreement on Seale's case by 5 p.m. last Wednesday, three hours after deliberations began.

The jurors were reluctant to send out a verdict because some apparently thought both cases should have been reported together.

Smith Creates Commission To Attract Film Producers

AUSTIN (UPI)—Gov. Preston Smith has created the Texas Film Commission designed to help attract Hollywood film producers to Texas and build the motion picture industry in the state.

"Texas has the variety of locations — mountains, seashores, lush forests, plains and metropolitan areas — which promote good location shooting," Smith said Monday.

"We also have a strong commercial film production industry centered in Houston and Dallas which is competitive in markets throughout the world."

The governor said he has named 39 Texans to the commission and appointed Warren Skaaren of his staff to be its director.

movie in Texas starring Karl Malden.

Juror, who has produced "Breakfast at Tiffany's," "The Great Race," and "The Pink Panther," said the new movie will feature Malden as a traveling gospel preacher who has spent his life on a Texas ministerial circuit.

He said the film, tentatively titled "Sunday Morning," will use students from the University of Texas, Baylor, Southern Methodist and Trinity.

Filming is scheduled to start next November, Juror said.

Malden, who portrayed Gen. Omar Bradley in "Patton," said he was enthusiastic about the Texas film industry.

10 Representatives May Lose Their Jobs

AUSTIN (UPI) — A legislative redistricting bill that will knock at least seven — and perhaps as many as 10 — state representatives out of their jobs should receive committee approval today as the 62nd legislature plunges into the final week of its regular session.

The chairman of the redistricting committee, Rep. Delwin Jones, D-Lubbock, denied persistent rumors the brunt of the "pairings" in the bill involve members of the so-called "dirty 30" who have consistently opposed House Speaker Gus Mutscher this session.

"That's not among the criteria," Jones said. But other House members, who were told they were "safe," indicated a number of the Mutscher critics would be put into new districts with other incumbents.

Jones said the bulk of the pairings, however, would come in West and Northwest Texas where rural counties have lost population to the urban centers.

A congressional redistricting plan that passed the House last week was stalled, meanwhile, in Senate committee. Sen. J. P. Word, D-Meridian, head of the Senate-Redistricting panel, said his committee was still redrawing the congressional boundary lines adopted by the House.

In developments Monday, the House waded through a lengthy calendar of local and uncontested bills, while the Senate bogged down for the day in a filibuster over beer taxes. Sen. Charles Wilson, D-Lufkin, staged an unsuccessful talkathon against a proposal to raise the beer tax only 70 cents a barrel, rather than the $1.70 originally approved by both houses of the legislature.

But Wilson admitted in ad-

Criticism Causes FBI No Concern

WASHINGTON (UPI)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, in a rare public appearance, has said recent criticism of him and the FBI has caused him no concern.

"It doesn't bother me at all," Hoover said Monday, "and I've been under that kind of pressure for 40 years."

Hoover was besieged by reporters when he appeared at a dinner honoring Martha Mitchell, wife of Attorney General John N. Mitchell. The dinner was sponsored by the American Womens Newspaper Club.

FBI spokesmen said they believed it was Hoover's first public social outing since 1968 when he appeared at a dinner for ex-FBI agents who had been involved in the capture of John Dillinger. He also poked fun at himself and his critics in an equally rare public speech.

Sporadic Violence Reported In Air Base

TRAVIS AFB, Calif. (UPI)—Sporadic violence which started out as fights between black and white airmen spread over this Air Force base Monday night, resulting in a $40,000 fire at the bachelor officers quarters, a fireman died fighting the blaze.

The violence was reported under control early today following the arrests of at least 122 airmen.

The Northern California base, the principal staging area for personnel going to Vietnam, was immediately sealed off and newsmen were barred from the grounds.

Base Commander Col. John Blake announced shortly before midnight that the situation was under control and the civilian police from nearby communities evacuated the base about 45 minutes later.

vance he would not try to kill the bill, because it also includes $41.3 million in new liquor taxes.

Both houses named conference committee members Monday who will try to work out a compromise on the controversial ethics bill. A conference committee on appropriations appeared to be nearing final agreement on the record $6.9 billion budget for fiscal 1972-73.

Redistricting and appropriations are two of the "must" bills the legislature must okay before the session ends at midnight Monday.

Rep. W. S. Heatley, D-Paducah, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said the conference committee needs only about four more hours work to complete the record budget bill. However, neither house is likely to vote on the measure until the closing hours of the session.

Most of the major questions still to be decided on the spending bill involve higher education, where the Senate version of the bill is $41 million higher than the House bill. But unless new revenue bills are passed, Heatley said the state will not have enough money to finance the Senate spending plan, thus giving the House a strategic bargaining position for its version of the education spending.

Girl Missing Since May 21

Crisis Center in Pampa is attempting to locate a 14-year-old girl who was reported as missing at 12:30 a.m. May 21.

The student, Michelle Godek, was last seen by her parents when she left for classes at Robert E. Lee Junior High May 19. She was reportedly seen in Central Park around 11 a.m. Wednesday, wearing white pants and an aqua printed shirt with a tan fatigue jacket. Anyone who has any information about the missing student is asked to call the Crisis Center, 665-3371, at any hour of the day or night. The caller may remain anonymous.

Swimming Pools To Open Saturday

Pampa's two public swimming pools will open next Saturday for the summer season.

The City Pool at 800 Sloan and the Marcus Sanders Pool at 438 Crawford will be open daily from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Swimming fees will be the same as last year, according to City Manager Mack Wofford.

White Deer Boy Receives KVII-TV 'Good Guy Award'

Mark Miller, 12 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Miller of White Deer received a "Good Guy Award" for saving the life of a five year old boy yesterday during a ceremony conducted at the auditorium of the White Deer Elementary School.

The award resulted from a nomination made by Felix Ryals, White Deer, to KVII-TV in Amarillo.

Bill Tell Zortman, newsmen for the station made the presentation.

The award came as a result of Mark's part in an incident which occurred May 2 in White Deer when one youth, 10-year-old Clyde Andrews, drowned in an effort to pull five-year-old Daryl Ledbetter from water collected in the closed White Deer pool.

water, instructing his older brother to search for aid.

On hand for the presentation were R.W. Standefer, superintendent of schools, Albert Thomas, principal of the White Deer Elementary School; Shirley White, Carson County Deputy Sheriff; Mr. and Mrs. Miller; and Mayor Horace Williams.

The mayor, representing the city, presented Mark with a season ticket to the pool.

Ironically, Mark had learned to swim at the age of five.

Police Check Theft, Vandalism

Police reports this morning included a theft and a vandalism incident.

Robert Morris, 737 Sloan, told police yesterday that car parts valued at $620 had been stolen from his 1969 model sports car parked at his residence. The parts included a four-speed transmission, a three-barrel carburetor, tachometer and other items removed from the area of the car which he is reportedly repairing at a location on the north side of his residence. Morris was unable to tell police when the theft occurred, except that the parts were discovered missing early yesterday.

Damage amounting to $51.95 was destroyed by vandals who used a razor or knife to slash a tire on an automobile parked at the high school parking lot yesterday. Larry Ellison, 2130 Dogwood, owner of the vehicle, made the report to police.

'Fishing' Reported Good In C-C Drive

Word from the Chamber of Commerce today was that "the fishing is good" in the chamber's annual membership Fishing Rodeo launched yesterday afternoon.

Fifty-six fishermen in 14 teams, each headed by a chamber director, moved into the fishing areas following a Monday noon eatfish luncheon in the Coronado Inn.

Jerry Sims, chamber finance director and Top Guide for the Fishing Rodeo, gave the team workers a last-minute briefing and cards were distributed to the "fishermen."

Sims said the chamber's goal for self-financing this year is $42,500, of which approximately $32,000 already has been raised in membership renewals.

Team workers will seek to renew members not already on the 1971-72 roster, as well as new business and individual memberships.

Prizes will be awarded the three teams with the greatest number of points. Renewals will be worth 20 points, new members, 30 points; and 40 points will go for each new business or individual signed for which no workers' cards had been issued.

First prize will be an all-expense weekend at the George Cree Ranch in Western Oklahoma. Second and third place teams will be presented with fishing rods and reels.

For the last place team, there will be something special, Sims said it will be a prize of which "no fisherman would be proud."

First "weigh-in" in the Fishing Rodeo is scheduled for 10 a.m. Wednesday at the Chamber of Commerce.

Second check-in will be Friday, May 28. A third check-in is scheduled for 10 a.m. June 2 with the final weigh-in Friday, June 4.

Cairo Purge Makes Soviet Union Nervous

LONDON (UPI) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, who for nearly 20 years stood modestly in the shadow of Gamal Abdel Nasser, has in a sweeping purge all but dismantled the intricate power apparatus of his predecessor, according to an authoritative diplomatic assessment reaching here.

The apparatus which Nasser built up in the years of his rule determined life and death in Egypt for two decades.

Little more than the memory of the leader remains. The image of Sadat as a leader in his own right, with new, independent ideas and policies, is assuming the dominant role.

With the key members of the previous administration out of action and on the way to prison and public trial, Sadat has set the stage for a new era of domestic and international policies, the assessment said.

Sadat Claims Plots
Sadat removed the exponents of the Nasser regime allegedly because of their unreliability and because they were plotting against him.

The cleanout has concentrated largely on the administration, the police and the secret police, leaving the army out of the purge, apart from Defense Minister Gen. Mohamed Fawzi. Whether this implies Sadat's trust in the army or whether he feels it wiser to leave the pillar of real power in Egypt untouched, will show itself in the months to come. The army has stood by quietly during the purges.

The key to Sadat's success or failure ultimately lies with the army as the all-determining factor.

More purges in lower echelons of the administration and police are anticipated. Even regional governors are expected to be carefully screened and at least some of them are to be replaced with Sadat men.

Domestically the purge is labeled as one aiming at the liberalization of the country after years of virtual dictatorial and police rule.

Strictly Domestic Affair
The international issue, centering on the Arab-Israeli conflict, significantly has not figured, at least publicly to any extent in the upheaval.

Nor has the attitude of the Sadat regime toward Russia and the West been spotlighted in the purges to any significant degree.

The Russians have become increasingly nervous, for fear that their close alignment with the Cairo regime may be undermined by the revamping of the government's structure and objectives.

The United States is more hopeful of better relations with Cairo as a result of the changes.

The Israelis are taking a wait-and-see attitude and seemingly are deferring major policy decisions on any possible settlement with Egypt until a clearer picture has emerged from the Cairo events.

IRS Makes Explanation

DALLAS (UPI) — The district office of the Internal Revenue Service reported Monday that numerous tax exempt organizations that depend on charitable contributions had dropped since a 1968 change in the tax law.

The IRS said there is no tax due on a gift under the new law, as some mistakenly interpreted the law, but the amount of the deduction had been reduced in some cases. The service stressed taxpayers could still get substantial benefits on income tax through donations.

Square House Museum Plans Groundbreaking

Persons in the Texas Panhandle interested in preserving history of the area, are invited to a groundbreaking at the Square House Museum in Panhandle at 4 p.m. Wednesday.

Ground will be broken for the Woody Wildlife Building to be located on the grounds of the museum complex, one block east of the Carson County Courthouse.

The building will house, in addition to the numerous items of wildlife now in storage, all small tools used by the pioneer farmers and ranchers now owned by the museum or on loan to it.

The Rev. Don Holmes of the First Baptist Church of Panhandle will be the ceremonial speaker.

ACLU SUES GOVERNMENT
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Civil Liberties Union has filed suit in U.S. District Court to force the government to dismiss misdemeanor charges against most of the 12,000 persons arrested during the May Day demonstrations in Washington.

The suit said the mass arrest tactics used resulted in illegal detentions. Of the first 2,000 demonstration cases to come to trial, 1,300 were dismissed or the charges were dropped. Of the balance only four persons have been convicted.

BUSES ROLL AGAIN
PARIS (UPI) — Negotiators for auto unions and the state-owned Renault factories reached a compromise Saturday at the giant Renault plant at Le Mans were to vote Monday on the agreement which guaranteed fixed salaries, promotions and increased classifications for certain specialists. Settlement was reached in a wage strike by bus drivers and other workers and city buses began rolling again in Paris.

Meet On Aging Opens In Dallas

DALLAS (UPI) — The State White House Conference on Aging, along with the annual meeting of the Governor's Committee on Aging, will open in Dallas at 9 a.m. Wednesday in the Sheraton-Dallas Hotel.

During the two-day session, policies and programs aimed to meet the needs of senior citizens on the state and national levels will be developed. These recommendations will be presented at the White House Conference on Aging in Washington, Nov. 29-Dec. 3, 1971.

Black Caucus Attacks Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Black Caucus said today House Black Caucus said Monday President Nixon had demonstrated in responding to their demands that his administration was "intent on justifying the status quo."

Ten members of the group gave their views at a news conference of a 115-page reply Nixon gave last week to their list of 60 demands aimed at bettering the life of Negroes and other minorities.

The caucus members said the Nixon reply showed the administration was not willing to commit the money and political push needed to carry out its own stated goals and programs for minorities.

"Time and again, throughout the 100 odd pages, the administration has shut off the possibility of new and we believe promising initiatives," the caucus said in a statement. "Too often it proposes no genuine alternatives at all."

"The predominant thrust of the administration's reply places one central fact in harsh perspective: national decision makers do not define the critical problems facing blacks, the poor, our youth and our nation in ways which may result in their solution and are not prepared to commit the necessary power and resources to achieve their own stated goals."

The answer, the caucus said, "constitutes less a response than a reply, couched predominantly in the form of bureaucratic reports intent on justifying the status quo."

Rep. Charles C. Diggs, D-Mich., said Sunday Nixon's reply was "very disappointing." Diggs, the caucus chairman, said Nixon's statement "was simply a modification of what the administration had already been doing."

Diggs and Reps. Augustus F. Hawkins of California and William L. Clay of Missouri said they and the other 10 members of the caucus found the Nixon report a "tragedy."

Hawkins especially was critical of the President's housing policy. Noting that Nixon has pledged to oppose "forced integration" of the suburbs, he said that is "a very disquieting type of statement."

"It is this type of statement that seems to inject racism into housing, that is causing lack of support among builders, among white citizens and certainly at lot of confusion among middle-class and low-income Negroes," Hawkins said.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 63-year-old man, in excellent health. My dear wife of over 40 years died four years ago and I am very lonely. I would like to find myself a lady friend, but I have a rather strange preference for heavy women.

I would like a woman who weighs anywhere from 250 to 300 pounds and with a huge bust. Her age could be from 50 to 65 years old. Where could I find such a woman? Is there a club in California I could join? I am not a prejudiced person. The lady could be any color.

BORN IN EUROPE

DEAR BORN: I know of no club that specializes in large women, but you should have no trouble if you have only one head. Just let a few friends know that you are in the market for a woman who is at least 250 pounds on the hoof, and wait for the stampede.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with a gentleman I'll call "John" for three years. He wants to marry me and honeymoon in Europe. My problem is that when I first met John, I told him that I was only a year older than he, which is not true. I will need a passport and visa, which of course will bear my real age. While traveling together, a passport will be very difficult to conceal from John. Should I tell him my real age now? Should I wait until after we are married? Or should I try to keep it from him as long as possible? He may not want to marry me when he finds out how old I really am.

ANONYMOUS, NATURALLY

DEAR ANONYMOUS: Tell him now and take your chances. If age makes that much difference to John, if you marry him first, he might terminate the marriage after he learns the truth.

DEAR ABBY: You said that you find "well-manicured" beards extremely attractive. For your information, you can no more manicure a beard than you can give your fingernails a haircut.

RAY Z

DEAR RAY: Landscape artists speak of "manicuring" a lawn, so if a lawn can be "manicured"—why not a beard?

Forty-four attended the regular meeting at Lovett Memorial Library recently.

Mrs. Gertrude Shaw is hospitalized in Worley Hospital. Mrs. Audie Kenricks was dismissed Thursday from Amarillo hospital. Mrs. Mollie Hethcock was dismissed last week from Highland General Hospital.

Red Cross Volunteer was Mrs. Margaret Wilkerson.

Those serving were members of Xi Beta Chi of Beta Sigma Phi, Mmes. Jean Zlomke, Mary Baten, Pat Lee, Marcia Stout, the Dovie Massie, Shirley Stafford, Pauline Vaughn, Linda Garner, Sandra Hanley, Aileen Moore and Valta Trusty.

Mrs. Genia Noland attended the funeral of an aunt in Haskell last week and visited a sister Mrs. Susie Smith in Corsicana and a brother C. C. Campbell in Electra and aunt, Mrs. Nannie Taylor in Wichita Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Cullison of McLean attended the World War I meeting in Pampa.

Mrs. Lucy Herliach was a business visitor in Amarillo last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cates went to Amarillo to attend the opening and dedication of the new air terminal.

Upsilon Chapter Conducts Honors Night For Members

The last meeting of the year was held by Upsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi at Citizen's Bank and Trust. After the business meeting was called to order by Mrs. Dean Wilson, president, the opening ritual was said.

Standing committee reports were given with a special report by Mrs. Bill Simpson, social chairman. A year-end party for members and their husbands will be a "Western Casino Party," at Pam Cell Hall, May 29.

Awards were given for perfect attendance this year to Mrs. Don Hufstelder and Mrs. Carol O'Neal. An award was also given to Mrs. Rodnie Winborne and Mrs. Dale Roth for their Sept. 14 table decoration consisting of a football-field sheet cake in Pampa colors and a huge football mum which was later given as the door prize.

Mrs. Ricky Moore and Mrs.

Carol O'Neal were given the best program award for their program on "History of Dress" Nov. 2. They showed sketches of early styles of feminine dress. Members modeled styles from different periods within the past century.

A Pledge Ritual was given to Mrs. John Lofton with Mrs. Dean Wilson presiding. The meeting was adjourned with all members repeating the closing ritual.

Mrs. Bronnie Vaughn presented the first part of the three part program with Curtis Thornton giving his speech entitled "This I Believe." Mrs. Dale Rath showed a personal painting and Mrs. Price Smith read from "Sonnets from the Portuguese." This program was entitled "The Good, the True, and the Beautiful."

The social committee hosted the evening using the theme "Time Is Up." The table was set with several different styles of clocks in assorted colors and sizes. Secret Sisters for the year were revealed as members exchanged gifts. Mrs. Jim Foster, a new transferee, attended the meeting.

Other members attending were Mmes. David Atkinson, Mike Case, Al Cross, Joe Weatherley, James Winkler and Darrell Danner.

Ways To Remove Sandpaper Stains
By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — Mrs. J. M. could remove the stained and greasy surface from her wooden chopping block by sanding with No. 000 or No. 0000 sandpaper and then wiping over the sanded area with a cloth soaked in non-toxic mineral oil that is available in most drugstores. Cuts may be removed in the same way. Water stains can also be removed with a cloth saturated with the same mineral oil.

VIRGINIA

DEAR POLLY — Mrs. J.M. can freshen, bleach and generally renew the appearance of her stained wooden cutting board by simply sprinkling with salt and rubbing it all over with the cut side of a lemon.

M.S.

GIRLS — Add a little sunshine to this if needed.

POLLY

DEAR POLLY and Mrs. J.M. — The directions that came with my new chopping block say that to keep it nice-looking go over it with a very fine steel wool and then wipe with vegetable oil. After each use, be sure to clean well with hot soapy water as bacteria can easily form on the wood.

ROBERTA

DEAR POLLY and Mrs. J. M. — Heaven forbid the use of H₂O (water) on a wooden chopping block. With a stiff brush, scour it with cornmeal. This may require a couple of scrubbing but it will be clean and smooth. How I love that column!

Selects Officers

The Sundowners 4-H Club met for their regular monthly meeting at the Gray County Court House Annex to elect officers. New leaders are: President, Dusty Morrison; vice president, Jay Spearman; secretary, Frank Morrison; reporter, Wayne Wahaley and council representative — Melinda Spearman.

Wayne Wahaley gave a report from the last County Council meeting and Melinda Spearman reported on the County and District Eliminations.

The program was presented by Melinda and Margaret Spearman who gave their demonstration about pollution. This demonstration will be presented at the State 4-H Roundup next month at College Station.

The next meeting will be the annual club picnic on the regular meeting day in June.

PLANE HITS BIRDS

PRESTWICK, Scotland (UPI)—An Air Canada DC8 jetliner flew into a flock of seagulls during a scheduled landing at Prestwick Airport Sunday and was taken out of service with a crippled engine.

One seagull was sucked into one of the four engines seconds before Flight 859 touched the runway, badly damaging the engine. The pilot made a smooth landing.

Legion Auxiliary States Annual Poppy Sale Date

The Karleya Crossman No. 334 Department of Texas met at the Furr's Cafeteria Thursday evening with 10 members present. The President, Mrs. Ruth Sewell opened the meeting with the group giving the pledge to the flag and Mrs. J.M. Turner gave the prayer for peace.

The group gave the preamble of the auxiliary and during the business session, reports were given and plans for the Poppy sale were made.

The Poppy sale will be Saturday, May 29 with members and friends selling the buddy poppy on the streets of Pampa. Tray favors were made by Mrs. O.A. Butts Sr., for patients at Highland General Hospital. Austin Elementary School made tray favors for the patients of the Veterans Administration Hospital in Amarillo.

The auxiliary members will place flags on the graves of the departed veterans in our local cemetery beginning at 6:30 a.m. and taking up the flags at 8 p.m. on Memorial Day.

Mrs. Frank Shotwell was appointed to be in charge of the flag raising ceremony the morning of Memorial Day. All persons were reminded to fly their flags at home on Memorial Day to honor deceased veterans. The next meeting will be the third Thursday of June, at Furr's Cafeteria.

Rural Water Development Receives Boost

An economic boost toward the development of rural Texas was announced last week by K. Lynn Futch, State Director of the Farmers Home Administration in Temple.

Futch pointed out that an additional $12,600,000 has been released for the current fiscal year, through June 30, for rural water and sewer system loans in Texas. He emphasized the need for rural residents desiring water and sewer system loans to move quickly. The State Office of Farmers Home Administration must have completed loan applications for review and approval before June 15, 1971. Mr. Futch also said that more money would be available for the new fiscal year of 1972 than was available in this present fiscal year of 1971.

Jerry Johnson of Nacogdoches, President of the Texas Association of Rural Water Corporations, urged existing systems to take advantage of the current supply of loan money. "Many systems that have been operating for several years now need additional loan money to provide new consumer service and now is the time to take advantage of the $12.6 million allocation for our state," commented Johnson.

Rural residents desiring additional information concerning the loan funds should contact their county Farmers Home Administration supervisor or the Texas Association of Rural Water Corporations in Austin.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—It is good to see that the Agriculture Department, which has been in a bit of a slump lately, is once again making rapid strides down the road to ecological pest control.

The quest for a way to do in harmful insects, without also doing in your Aunt Hilda, has been one of the most exciting chapters in the ever-thrilling saga of modern agronomy.

In the latest breakthrough, the department has developed an artificial diet for aphid plions, which, as you know, are the larvae of an insect known as the green lacewing.

The artificial diet is packaged in a capsule consisting of paraffin wax, candellia wax, polyethylene and polybutene.

Sounds Like TV Dinner
Which sounds something like a frozen TV dinner. At least the last one I had tasted like paraffin.

At any rate, the artificial diet will enable scientists to hear vast quantities of aphid lions in laboratories. Whereupon they will be released in the old cotton fields back home.

And since the aphid lion is a natural enemy of the bollworm, which is a natural enemy of the cotton boll, the theory is that the effect of pesticides will be achieved without messing up the environment. For which we may all shout "Hallelujah!"

Let us hope, however, that the department will not stop there. Let us hope it will carry artificial diets for insects far beyond the aphid lion level.

What I have in mind is carrying artificial diets for insects right on up to the human being level.

Human food, as you know, as become so synthetic and laced with additives that many of us go for months without consuming a morsel of anything in its natural state.

Regulations Being Prepared
The government, for example, is presently preparing regulations for the sale of vegetables processed to taste like meat. Presumably to be followed by meat processed to taste like vegetables.

Very well. If vegetables can be converted into a substitute for meat, there is no reason why trash cannot be made to taste like cotton bolls. And what a blessing that would be!

It would solve overnight the trash disposal problem now vexing American cities. For if trash tasted like cotton bolls, the stuff would be eaten by bollworms.

And just as many people come to prefer substitutes to the real thing, bollworms might do likewise. Thus riding cities of trash and cotton fields of insects in one operation.

Hollywood In Review

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Comedian Don Adams has murdered Maxwell Smart, Agent 86, in ruthless cold blood with the excuse it was either Smart's life or his own.

Professional life, that is. After five years of portraying the nasal, beady-eyed witless spy in "Get Smart," Adams faced an identity crisis. Would audiences believe him as anyone except the bumbling cloak and dagger misfit?

"That's why I had to do away with him," Adams said. "It was either him or me."

The showdown came with Don's role as a big city cop in "The Partners," a new situation comedy to be aired this fall by NBC. Because it is less farcical than "Get Smart," which expired last year, Adams must play his new part more realistically.

Plays Out-of-Style Fuzz
His character is detective Lenny Crook, the sort of fuzz who went out of style 20 years ago.

"Lenny is the kind of guy who hates crooks," Adams explained. "He is a dedicated man but he's human and makes many mistakes."

Adams makes few. He wrote the pilot script with Pete Falk and James Caan in mind as the two policemen. Universal Studios decided Adams and comedian Godfrey Cambridge would be funnier.

Universal was wrong. Two comedians playing for laughs wasn't as effective as a comedian and a relatively straight man. For that reason Cambridge was replaced by Rupert Crosse.

VAUGHN AUTO SERVICE CENTER

SPECIALIZING IN ALL FORMS OF AUTOMOBILE AIR CONDITIONING. SEAT THE HEAT AND STAY COOL WITH VAUGHN AUTO SERVICE CENTER

Cambridge, according to Adams, hasn't spoken to him since he was uncoupled, following a less than hilarious pilot film.

"The chemistry just wasn't right," Adams said. "But Godfrey won't even take my calls. I'd like to set the matter straight with him, to let him know there was no personal feelings involved."

Little Chance of Confusion
There is little chance that "The Partners" will be confused with "Dragnet," "Adam-12," "The Smith Family" or "Ironside," nor, for that matter, "Car 54, Where Are You."

"There's an honesty to this show," Adams said, "but we find legitimate excuses for cops to make honest mistakes. I don't play a clown like Maxwell Smart who worked for a fictitious organization (Control)."

"That's why I have to kill the Smart image. I talked in a normal voice, just as I'm doing now. I've abandoned all the old Maxwell Smart mannerisms."

Adams is more fortunate than most television series performers. He will be writing some of the scripts.

Smart is dead. Long live Lenny Crook!

BLAST KILLS FOUR
SEOUL (UPI)—Four persons were killed and six others were injured Saturday by an anti-personnel mine explosion triggered by a scuffle between a South Korean army sergeant and his company commander in the commander's Uijonbu home 15 miles south of Seoul. Sgt. Kim Hyun Su, 24, was killed in the explosion during an argument with Capt. Lim Sun Ho. Kim was protesting Lim's rejection of his application for duty in South Vietnam.

Air Conditioning Sales, Service Are Best From Montgomery Ward

Now is the time of the year to start thinking about your refrigerated air conditioners. The best place to get the best air conditioner is Montgomery Ward located in the Coronado Shopping Center, Larry Allen, head of this department, will help you decide what type or model to choose. Montgomery Ward stock the Signature Air Conditioner. The Signature has many more advantages compared to other brands.

The attractive styling makes the unit suitable for any room. The front panel combines a soft pleasing color with tasteful metallic accents to blend well with a traditional or contemporary decor. The Montgomery Ward Signature Air Conditioner has a special thermostat setting. After a constant room temperature has been reached, you may want to adjust the thermostat setting to suit your more particular requirements. The "fan" button lets the air circulate and filter room air. This setting can also be used during cold weather to help increase heating comfort.

The Signature has adjustable vanes in the air discharge grille which permit positive control of air movement into the room by direction. The filter in the air conditioner is especially designed to remove dirt, dust and pollen from room air. It can be washed with sudsy water or cleaned with a vacuum cleaner. One of the main qualities of the Signature Air Conditioner is that its construction is so durable. The rugged pre-painted aluminum cabinet will resist stains, rust and corrosion and will provide superior protection against all types of weather conditions. This refrigerated air conditioner meets Wards exacting standards for reduced noise and vibration. That means it will provide quiet comfort for your home or apartment during the hottest days and nights.

The Signature de-humidifies while it cools and it also saves work because filtered clean air can mean less dusting.

Larry Allen will also explain to you about the five-year guarantee. If your Signature room Air Conditioner fails within five years of purchase, Wards will repair or replace it free.

Go by Montgomery Wards, located in Coronado Shopping Center today and talk with Allen about your new Signature Air Conditioner.

Insurance Industry Divides On Idea Of Payroll Deduction

NEW YORK (UPI)—Should life insurance and mutual fund plans be sold to the "little fellow" on a payroll deduction plan?

The insurance industry seems to be divided on the question. One advocate of selling through payroll deductions is John W. Berglas of Planned Equity Corp., Los Angeles. Planned Equity has sold its combination life insurance and mutual fund payroll deduction plan to some 5,000 corporations in a number of states. Policies are issued by seven different insurance companies.

An individual Planned Equity investment plan is portable or convertible if the worker changes jobs. Typically it will include a life policy on both husband and wife, a small burial policy on each child, supplemental income protection in disabilities lasting more than six months, a retirement annuity option and a regular investment in mutual fund shares all paid for by a weekly payroll deduction.

Berglas has contended in speeches before various insurance trade associations that the industry no longer can afford to sell the small income family adequate protection on an individual basis.

He says the agent who goes around ringing doorbells or calling on the phone to sell policies to small income families simply can't make a living at it anymore.

So, Berglas argues, the insurance industry and mutual fund business must continue to develop a mass marketing technique based on payroll deduction selling.

The counter argument of many insurance brokers is expressed by Arthur Milton, a New York broker.

"How far," asked Milton, "can we stretch the payroll deduction system? Federal and state income taxes, U.S. savings bonds, hospitalization and medical care, union dues, automobile liability and group life insurance and, of course, Social Security taxes, already take a bite of 40 per cent out of some workers' paychecks."

"Soon we'll have some kind of national health insurance plan deduction, so I doubt if it makes sense to pile an insurance-mutual fund investment on top."

So Milton believes the mass marketing of life insurance-mutual fund plans, should depend on some other technique and he says many brokers and agents feel that way.

O'Rear, who resigned, was recently appointed general manager of real estate and services for the parent Cities Service Company and Galloway named to replace him as general manager-engineering, purchasing and services for Cities Service Oil Company.

SCHILLER REMARRIES
BONN (UPI)—Karl Schiller, West Germany's economics and finance minister, married Dr. Etta Eckel in a simple ceremony in Hanover Friday, a Bonn government spokesman said Saturday. Schiller, 60, was divorced from his second wife last year and has three daughters and a son. Dr. Eckel, 38, is a lawyer.

JOHN T. KING AND SONS — Serving the Panhandle since 1930, has undergone changes in areas of service and name, but has never failed to offer top-notch service to the oil industry. The company continues to lead in its field with "first" and "best" in all departments. (Staff Photo)

Forty Years Of Top Service Speaks For John T. King & Sons

John T. King and Sons, located at 718 S. Barnes, has been serving the oil industry since 1930. The company was then known as Stapp King Electric and Machine Co. where the first Pyle National Generators, run by steam and the old Robert Bosch Magneto were repaired. The ole timers will remember the type EK, Type R, and OC Wico magnetos were rebuilt at this time. Six years later the company became known as King Chemical Company with patent rights on the first paraffin solvents and paraffin scrapers that were popular in our present oil field for many years to follow. Since the end of World War II, John T. King and Sons have been serving the Panhandle field in various capacities and have met challenging changes with the advent of future automation in the field of oil field production and products.

John T. King and Sons, handles a complete selection of industrial magnetos, pumps, skids and industrial electronic automation equipment. One of the newer types of magnetos stocked by King and Sons is the Altronic, a magno used for larger industrial purposes. The firm also has Frank Murphy safety switches and electronic control units for field installation. Safety devices include United Engineer PKM and Keystone and Associated Well Sounders, Rockwell water meters, Worthington pumps, Fisher Controls, and Natural Gas Regulators are also found at John T. King and Sons.

King's represented as an authorized Central distributor for the latest type of ignition units that eliminates breaker-point, and impulse couplings, spark plug life extended, higher voltages available at low cranking rpm, shielded and low fire hazards, that are featured in the newest Altronic ignition system.

John T. King and Sons, more so than keeping up with changes that are sweeping our period of time, are finding newer ways and better ways of pleasing their old and newer customers.

Your Horoscope

WEDNESDAY, MAY 25
YOUR BIRTHDAY WEDNESDAY: Your social and political talents rise a bit at a time, and bring you into more local leadership. Consolidate your position and build reserves for a promising future. Most of what you do this year has no particular examples or textbooks to follow; you must figure it out from your own native endowment. Wednesday's natives have latent literary skills, can tell or write a good yarn, given reason for doing so.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Do the best you can with your own talents. Expect no miracles from yourself or anybody else.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Leave emotional bias, personal preferences out when trying to understand what people do and why. If you can ride out the subtle energies of a restless day, turn them into creative change.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Disagreements, criticisms are not the constructive approach to this exceptional day. Accept nothing that seems out of the way, simply rise above trifles and petty misdeeds.

CANCER (June 21-July 21): Most of your friends show glimpses of their grand illusion no two alike. There's little point in trying to get them back to your view of reality at the moment.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22): Fading work comes before something new and exciting - otherwise you might miss some context or background information.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Associates open doors for you casually. If you see opportunity, take it in stride at once. Move ahead if you fail to notice the present deals in time.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): There is temptation for over-optimism, spreading too thin over too wide a range of activities. Make a list of firm priorities and follow them implicitly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Idealistic contacts include introductions to people who have unusual personal skills and resources. See out with any history of favorable expression.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You either bring thinking and seeing to let people and obstacles force changes later. Think through matters in sequence one step at a time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Put what you have wanted long empty needs, into your project plans. Seek help for expansion later.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): For a while some areas of your life have slept, unused and fallow. Wednesday you may fill some long empty needs.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Being loved ones onward with you as subtle recognition. Keep usual run of amenities in conversation while you attend chores.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks are warring on Wall Street this spring, as "one rally after another buds, tries to bloom, but dies in the attempt," Spear and Staff observes. The investment community is worrying that the Federal Reserve Board may be "oiling the new rusty shackles of credit restraints," it adds. Certain interest rates, especially Treasury bills and the uncommitted reserves banks lend each other, and presumably banks soon will have to pass these higher borrowing costs down to corporate customers by raising the prime rate, it says.

One possible hurdle to continuation of the bull market is "investor recognition of the economic significance implicit in the administration's new policy of 'benign neglect' with respect to continually escalating wage hikes," Paine, Weber, Jackson & Curtis says. Investors have learned that demand-push inflation stimulated by an escalating wage-price spiral "should not be automatically presumptive of higher stock prices," it says.

Sixth Time In 7 Years Murtaugh's In Hospital

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—For at least the sixth time in seven years, manager Danny Murtaugh of the Pittsburgh Pirates must decide whether the delicate health of his heart can stand the strain of big league pressure.

Murtaugh, 53, troubled by heart disease for the better part of 10 years Monday checked out of one hospital and into another.

He left Christ Hospital in Cincinnati, where he had been under treatment since Thursday for pains in the chest and arms, and entered Presbyterian University Hospital here, for more tests from the physicians who have been treating his heart condition all along.

Murtaugh said Sunday night he felt "pretty good." But he said he'd be disobeying his doctors' orders to discuss his baseball future. While Murtaugh rests in the hospital, Bill Virdon, the Pirates' batting coach, is running the team, as he did twice in the last two years.

The decision Murtaugh is making now would be the sixth he's had to make since 1964. That year, he resigned as manager and entered the Pirate front office.

He agreed to return as manager on an interim basis in July, 1967, when Harry Walker was fired by the Pirates. But

Ken Dryden Wins New Car

CHICAGO (UPI)—Ken Dryden, goalie for the Stanley Cup winning Montreal Canadiens, Monday received a new sports car from Sport Magazine as Most Valuable Player of the playoffs.

It was the first presentation of a car by the magazine for the hockey playoffs, and a spokesman said it would be presented annually hereafter.

Dryden, 23, played only six National Hockey League regular season games with the Canadiens, but then set a record by playing in 20 playoff games.

Dryden, who played with a Montreal farm team most of last season while going to law school, still must take three law school exams between Aug. 15 and 30 to complete his second year toward a law degree.

He planned to work nine weeks this summer with Ralph Nader in Washington, perhaps specializing in developing a program to help rehabilitate returned Viet Nam veterans.

Pitch, Hit And Throw Contest Has Four Winners

Four Pampa youths will be competing in Amarillo June 5 in Giant Stadium as they advance in the Pitch, Hit and Throw contest sponsored locally by Phillips and the Optimist Club.

In Sunday competition the 9 year old division was won by Monte Covalt, 1131 Finley. Runner up in the 9 year bracket was Scott Allen Andrew of 1715 Holly Lane.

In the 10 year division Guy Wesley Langham, 1632 N. Sumner was first with Christopher Small, 1109 Sirroco the runner up.

The 11 year old bracket was won by Gene Douglas Kempf, 2228 N. Dwight with John T. Garcia of White Deer the runner up.

In the 12 year old bracket Randal Britton of 1229 Darby was first with Mike Knutson, 1033 Prairie Drive placing as runner up.

There were a total of 70 boys entered in the competition with the winners in each division advancing to Amarillo June 5.

The winners in Amarillo will advance to Houston to compete on a state level.

Three Cornhuskers Named To Coaches All-American

By MIKE WESTER
LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—Three members of the 1970 Nebraska Cornhusker football team head up a list of 12 players named Monday to participate in the 11th annual Coaches All-America football game in Lubbock June 26.

Halfback Joe Orduna, tackle Bob Newton and linebacker Jerry Murtaugh will join Nebraska head Coach Bob Devaney's west squad. Murtaugh and Newton were second team UPI All-America selections, and Orduna was among the honorable mentions.

Four other UPI All-Americans were included in the latest list: the nationally televised game set for 7:30 p.m. CDT in Jones Stadium.

Also announced were Arizona State split end J. D. Hill, North Texas State defensive back Leonard Dunlap, Stanford tight end Bob Moore and Tulane linebacker Rick Kingree. All except Kingree will play for the West. Kingree will head up the selections for Louisiana State Coach Charles McClendon's East team.

Also announced were Northwestern offensive tackle John

Americans Justify Their High Seedings

PARIS (UPI)—Americans, justifying their high seedings, today shaped up as the strength of the $95,000 French Open tennis championships.

On the opening day Monday, four of the five Americans seeded in the top 10 cruised through to second round, dropping only one set among them. That came in the match in which No. 2 seed Arthur Ashe of Gum Spring, Va., defeated Hungarian Geza Varga, 6-2, 6-1, 5-7, 6-1, in erratic style.

Otherwise, fourth-seeded Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., sixth-seeded Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., and Bob Lutz, No. 9 seed from Los Angeles, blasted their opponents without loss of a set.

Richey smoothly knocked out Massimo di Domenico of Italy, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2. Smith had little more difficulty in expelling Nikola Kalogeropoulos of Greece, 6-3, 6-2, 8-6, while Lutz hammered J. Hrebec of Czechoslovakia, 6-2, 6-4 and 6-1.

Ashe is spearheading the American drive to take the title and $8,700 first prize money from defending champion and No. 1 seed Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia.

Kodes is expected to have no difficulty in his first round match against W. Gasiorek of Poland, Zeljko Franulovic of Yugoslavia, last year's losing finalist and this year's No. 5 seed, anticipated an even easier passage into round two against a still unnamed player who will be chosen from among those still competing in qualifying rounds.

France's George Goven, No. 15 seed, was expected to advance also after completing his match today against Australian Stuart Ball. When bad light interrupted play Monday, Goven led, 6-1, 6-1.

Ilie Nastase and Ion Tiriac of Romania were named No. 1 seeds in the Men's Doubles Tournament today.

Ex-Masters Champion Only Golfer Under Par

By United Press International
Art Wall Jr., a 47-year-old golfing veteran who won the Masters back in 1959, the same year he was chosen Golfer of the Year, was the only player to beat par in the State of Texas Monday during local qualifying rounds for the U.S. Open.

Most of the touring pros who didn't already have exemptions for the Open underwent qualifying at two Dallas courses Monday or are scheduled for action at Memphis Tuesday.

Wall led the Texas qualifying with a two-under-par 69-71-140 playing one round each over the Northwood and Las Colinas Country Club courses.

Local qualifying rounds, to reduce the record field of entries of 4,349 to the 150 who will take part in the tournament proper at the Merion Golf Club, Ardmore, Pa., June 17-20, were scheduled at 55 sites around the country Monday and Tuesday.

The 784 golfers who survive the local qualifying, plus the 80 exempt from local qualifying, will advance to the sectional qualifying at 13 locations, on June 7-8. Of these, another 749 will be eliminated before the championship even starts.

Eighty players are exempt from the first stage of qualifying and only 35 are exempt from both. Totally exempt players are headed by Englishman Tony Jacklin, the defending champion, and others include the previous four Open winners—Orville Moody, Lee Trevino, Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper.

William Davis Quits NCAA Post In TTAC

LUBBOCK (UPI)—Dr. J. William Davis, the former president of the Southwest Conference who drafted the first national letter of intent recognized by the NCAA, has resigned from the Texas Tech Athletic Council.

Davis, also a professor of government at Texas Tech, sent a letter of resignation Monday to Tech President Grover E. Murray.

"I felt like I had served my term and that it was time to pass it on to somebody else," Davis said.

Davis said he will remain on an NCAA council he is serving on and will also continue as a full professor of government on the Tech faculty.

New Committee Named For Pro Football Hall Of Fame

CANTON, Ohio (UPI)—A new committee has been appointed by the Pro Football Hall of Fame here to select candidates for enshrinement from the pre-1943 era of football.

The "Old-Timers Committee" will select a candidate to be included in the annual final list of men selected for possible enshrinement by the entire 27-man regular board. Although the board would not be obligated to accept the "Old Timer" for enshrinement, it would give him special consideration.

The Hall will enshrine seven new members here July 31, bringing the number of Hall of Famers to 70.

Why A Gas Shortage

The fallacy of the government, attempting to fix prices or otherwise regulate the economy is showing up, once again, in the developing shortage of natural gas. The natural laws of supply and demand grind inexorably on oblivious to wishful thinking or legislated whim.

If a price is arbitrarily set BELOW where the free market would have established it, shortages of the product or service thus regulated soon result. This is so because artificially low prices stimulate demand while inhibiting production.

If, on the other hand, a price is arbitrarily set ABOVE where the free market would have established it, a glut of the product or service so regulated soon appears. Why? Simply because artificially high prices dampen demand while stimulating production.

Attending to the fact that government intervention in the market was responsible for the current shortage of natural gas in this country, William H. Curry, an independent geologist of Casper, Wyoming, noted that the Federal Power Commission, finally awakening to the damage it has done, now appears to be reversing its policy of holding down wellhead prices of gas.

But, also noted Curry, the results of such harmful interventions are not so easily reversed.

Although the reversal of the government's policy of holding down prices may make the funds available for a big exploration program, Curry said, "results may be slow."

Take Until It Hurts

The Steelworkers Union has received a blunt warning from the President's Council of Economic Advisors that it can only harm its own cause by pressing for unrealistic wage settlements in contract negotiations.

If the steel industry is forced to pay large wage increases, the council said, it will be vulnerable to foreign competition and "the result will be sharply reduced employment opportunities in the industry."

There is little optimism that the powerful Steelworkers Union will heed the words of caution. Similar exhortations over the past few years on excessive demands have had no visible impact on union leaders.

Construction workers' wages rose about 11 percent last year and demands are up for the next three years. Auto workers not only won a contract calling for increases four times greater than productivity gains, but insured protection against inflationary aspects of their own action by insisting on cost-of-living adjustments.

FOR DEMOCRATS

1972 Race Boils Down To Three

By BRUCE BLOSSAT.
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The May 15-16 weekend was a milestone in the 1972 Democratic presidential race. Suddenly, clear-eyed party men could see a small avalanche of new evidence that also-rans like Senators George McGovern, Birch Bayh, Harold Hughes and Henry Jackson are not moving up.

At this turning point, the nomination struggle is a three-man affair among Senators Edmund Muskie, Edward Kennedy and Hubert Humphrey. The rest are not really in it, even though they may be pounding around the country, building organizations, getting attention.

What is the fresh evidence? The Boston Globe's New Hampshire poll of 1,000 Democratic voters, showing Muskie beating McGovern 78 to 13, beating Ted Kennedy 64 to 29, and winning easily in a field of eight—with 46 per cent to Kennedy's 20, Humphrey's 14, McGovern's six. Bayh and Jackson registered two per cent, Hughes just one.

The field poll in California which shows Muskie beating Nixon, 45 to 44, Kennedy over Nixon 46 to 43, Humphrey losing to Nixon 45 to 41, and—significantly—the others not measured. Last November, a similar sampling had Nixon defeating all three of the listed Democrats.

The failure of McGovern, Bayh or Hughes to dent Muskie in a heralded four-candidate "confrontation" May 15 in Milwaukee. Muskie's talk in the key primary state of Wisconsin was no thriller but he scored on a punt while the others were grounding out.

The Gallup Poll, first in two months, showed McGovern nationally at five per cent (where he was in March), Jackson at two, Bayh and Hughes at one.

They have little reason to take comfort from the fact that this poll showed Kennedy moving past Muskie with 29 per cent to the Main senator's 21 and Humphrey's 18. If the also-rans are potentially hot properties, they should be gaining as Muskie falters—temporarily or otherwise. Kennedy is bad news for them. (As they go, this Gallup sample was small—only 550 Democrats were checked.)

The May 15-16 scoresheet also helps put some other recent evidence in better perspective.

On April 25, the Minnesota poll showed Muskie walloping Nixon 52 to 36 per cent, home-stater Humphrey taking the President 50 to 39, but neighbor McGovern of South Dakota losing to Nixon 43 to 38. Bayh and Hughes, again, were not measured.

About a week later, a canvass of Democratic district leaders in New York County (Manhattan alone) showed 14 for Muskie, nine for former U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark, seven for Hughes or Iowa.

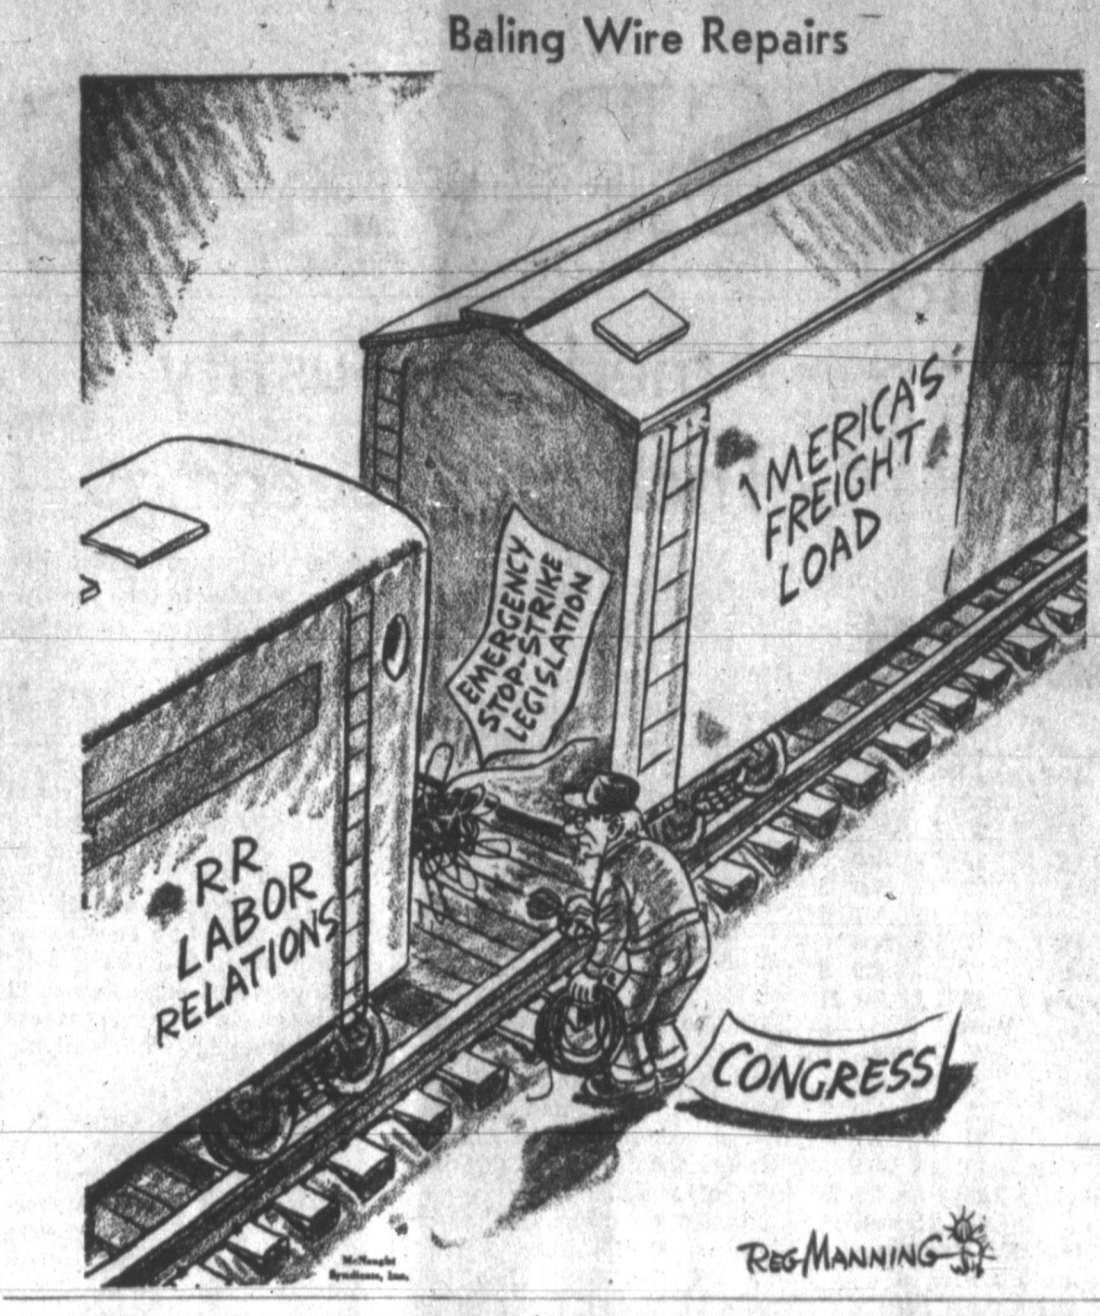

The Hughes figure is not bad, but the dreamy romance of some district chiefs with the nothing candidacy of Clark is devastating stuff for McGovern and Bayh. Note, too, the absence of Humphrey and Kennedy from the top dogs in the New York list.

A New York City Democrat recently polled a dinner-table cluster of Democrats with Columbia Law School backgrounds. They went 18 to 0 for Muskie over Nixon, but if Kennedy were the nominee, four said they'd vote for Nixon and two said they wouldn't vote at all. Humphrey would get them, 14 to 0, but with four abstainers.

No poll was involved when Muskie met not long ago with upstate New York Democratic leaders, but the word is he wowed them.

So, in late May, 1971, the sound conclusion has to be that the "wide open" appearance of The Democratic race is deceptive. The long roster of candidate names is real enough, but most of these fellows hold less turf than one of those postage-stamp Japanese truck gardens.

A couple of more weekends like May 15-16, and the also-rans may have to move into tree-houses.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Dreams are fascinating to psychologists. Do you dream in color or black and white? Are your dreams largely reproductions of existing situations? Or do you invent and create new scenes that have never taken place in real life? Unmarried girls often have symbolic sex dream about being chased by savages who hurl spears at them.

CASE Q-562: My father died in 1960, after having been a wheel chair stroke victim for two years previously. My mother was holding his right hand while I held his left and was feeling his pulse as it slowed down to a halt. Even then, I restarted his heart twice, but I knew it was futile.

For our medical code requires us to fight Death to the finish and never voluntarily relinquish a patient, regardless. Last night I dreamed of my father and saw him striding up and down in the living room, alive and protesting about the last political election.

He looked fine and I realized in my dream that he had come back to life.

"This is a miracle of God," I thought, for in my dream I realized that he had been dead 11 years and was now reincarnated.

I recall feeling ineffable delight at finding him alive and well again. But in my dream I kept wondering if the Almighty reactivated my dad's heart and previous physiological system.

"Or does God merely use some form of radiant energy to make us function after death?" I asked myself. So, in my dream, I decided to see if my dad's heart was still beating.

Thus, I took him by the wrist and tried to find the radial artery, but felt no pulse. Then I shifted my palpating finger and suddenly I felt my dad's heart beating.

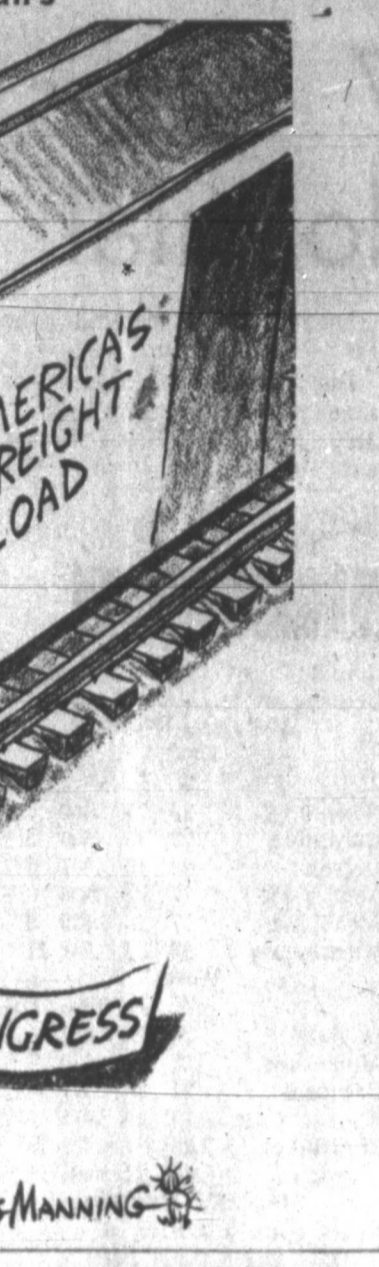

"Thump-thump-thump-thump" his pulse came through at a rate of about 70 per minute. But I didn't use my watch, for I merely had wanted to learn if his heart was still serving as the source of power in his new body.

So I quit counting its beats after the first four since my curiosity had been satisfied. Nothing else happened in my dream, for I then woke up. But I was gratified to find that even in my dream I was still being scientific and seeking data.

"But, Dr. Crane," you may inquire, "Don't you often dream of relatives who have died but in the dream you aren't aware they have long been dead?" Yes, that happens to most of us many times.

"But why do we fit such departed friends into current events without knowing they are no longer alive?" Well, our brain is not equally asleep all over its surface. Some spots may be partially active while others are dormant.

Toilet Training Is Important

Dear Dr. Lamb — Here are some questions I'd like to ask. Can a woman get pregnant again before her first period? My daughter is 16 months old. Is this a good time to try and potty train her? I have trouble losing my hair, when I brush it in the morning I get half a headful in my brush. This didn't start until I had my last baby four months ago. What can I do?

Dear Reader—You certainly can get pregnant again before your first period and nursing the baby won't keep you from getting pregnant again, either.

Toilet training is more important than most parents realize. It has a serious impact on the child's emotional development. It is best not to start too early and not to expect too much. Few children are ready for toilet training before age two, some later. The best approach is to let the child show you when he is ready, then with a little guidance he will make the change. You can help by making suggestions at frequent intervals or before the child goes out to play.

Above all, be relaxed about it and treat it for what it is, just another normal function of the body. This may prevent the child from developing an excess shame of his body or excess timidity.

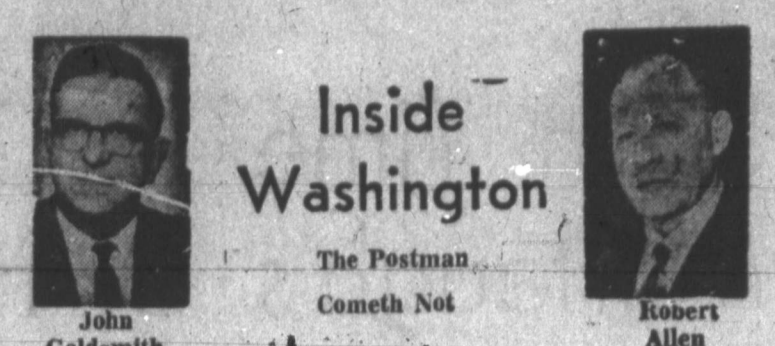

Some women tend to lose hair after a pregnancy. This only lasts a few months. In the meantime, don't do too much. Use a soft brush, don't brush too often, avoid tints, bleaches, excess shampoos and hair style that pull the hair.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Can you tell me if it is possible for a man to father a child after having a vasectomy a year and a half before? What are the odds?

Dear Reader — It is pretty odd. A vasectomy cuts the small tube that provides a passageway for the sperm cells from the testicles. It does not interfere with the normal functions of the testicles, however.

Immediately after a vasectomy, there may still be some cells stored in the tract that will flow out with the other fluid. But expecting to still find sperm cells in storage a year and a half later is expecting a great deal. Rarely, a vasectomy is not successful or the cut ends of the little tubes may reunite, but that is exceptionally rare.

Please send your questions and comments to Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Lamb cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Inside Washington

The Postman
Cometh Not

WASHINGTON — It is not just the wily effective mail rates which have provoked a wave of protest against the new Post Office Corporation and Postmaster General Winton M. Blount.

Nor is Blount's predecessor Lawrence F. O'Brien, now the Democratic national chairman, alone in heaping criticism on the Post Office in its new corporate guise.

The fact is that the recently reformed Post Office suffers all the pre-reform ills — poor service, bureaucratic red-tape and political infighting. Blount's rather abrasive activity has not helped to end any of them.

The increased postal rates effective Sunday, are simply symptomatic of the general malaise. The courts upheld Blount's decision to set an eight-cent first class rate and an eleven-cent airmail without waiting for review by the postal Rate Commission. No one has validated the postmaster general's good judgment in the matter, however.

In this and in a number of other operations by the new corporation Blount has disoriented many noses in Congress and elsewhere.

NO SALE ON HILL — It should be noted that Blount made a heavy-handed, wholly transparent attempt to curry congressional favor in advance of the imposition of the new mail rates. He publicly announced a special service to speed mail of senators and congressmen to their home areas.

In letters to the individual lawmakers Blount wrote that the new system was instituted "in recognition of the special importance of prompt delivery of your mail to your constituents." The congressional plan is supposed to guarantee overnight airmail and first class delivery, no later than the second day, even on the West Coast.

Special pouches are provided to the offices of cooperating senators and congressmen. Pre-cancelled stamps and special labels are supposed to allow the special pouches to bypass the main post office here and go directly to planes and trains.

Advance indications are that Blount has not made new friends or blunted any criticism with his special congressional service. Some lawmakers are not even participating in the plan, even though Blount says the special arrangement will save money.

In an election year some congressional leaders are frankly skeptical about a scheme which gives special handling to congressional mail amid deteriorating service for the voters — and at higher postal rates.

"I would rather my constituents receive the better mail service," says Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., who calls Blount's congressional service "characteristically political."

"PUBLIC CORP. & 'NOT GM.'" — Burke, a rather senior member of the important House Ways and Means Committee, recently unloaded a sharply critical statement on Blount, asserting that Congress intended to make a "public" corporation out of the old Post Office Department.

"This is not General Motors we are talking about," said Burke acridly, adding that congressmen have a right to an explanation when constituents complain about the corporation's service or its personnel policy.

"Just the other day, I made a routine inquiry on behalf of a constituent who complained that he desperately needed a summer job and time was running out and he had heard nothing from the Post Office," Burke recalled.

"Now to receive a refusal is one thing — and in this case, that is just what I received. But to add to injury, I was also sent a copy of Blount's latest edict in which he informs postal workers, and presumably myself, that henceforth any postal worker writing to a congressman on any matter was liable to lose his job."

Burke also scoffed at the idea that Blount has been trying to take partisan polit scout of the postal system.

Smaller World, Isn't It?

By PAUL HARVEY
In your future there is a smaller car parked in a smaller garage in a smaller house with a smaller lawn, whether you like it or not.

The smaller car you are going to like.

In an already overpopulated world the trend is already unmistakable: Families are smaller and almost everything they are using is concentrated, miniaturized, condensed, compact.

No more the big homes on sprawling lawns; the new people are moving into smaller, easier to pay for and easier to keep accommodations.

In 1970, 35 percent of American families who moved, moved into apartments. In 1971, 36 percent will. Already fewer than half of us live in single-family homes, and 20 per cent of the new ones are mobile homes.

The reasons are largely economic — cost and cost of maintenance. Increasing popularity of smaller cars is partly economic, partly pollution consciousness, but mostly something else.

The smaller car is more convenient, may be more "fun." In the industrial countries of Europe and Scandinavia and Japan where they get overcrowded or cost-conscious before we did the compact car evolved a generation ago.

American car makers are now imitating this trend but the "foreigners" continue to capture an increasing share of our own new car market.

In 1970, for example, the sale of smaller U.S. cars in the United States increased 9 percent.

The sale of small foreign cars in the United States increased 20 percent.

But whether foreign or domestic, the car that's now and next is less large, less streamlined, less expensive to own and to operate.

The president of Ford, Lee Iacocca, says, "The action is in the small cars."

U.S. News and World Report says, "The trend is unmistakable: Americans are turning away from the bigger autos."

Last year 30 percent of all new cars sold in the United States were compact; so far this year more than 40 percent.

Angel has a large car; I have a small one.

Hers coughs every time it passes a gas pump; I get 25 miles to each gallon.

Hers is so streamlined her 6-foot-2 husband cannot sit up straight in the driver's seat without bumping the roof.

In my smaller car with its functional interior there is more than enough legroom and headroom.

Once the car buyer learns that some smaller cars are larger inside, his resistance focuses on the safety factor.

One Swedish manufacturer has countered this criticism with roll-bar construction adapted from jet plane cockpits which makes his small car "safer" than most larger ones in both impact and rollover comparison tests.

Our young will adapt most readily to the smaller world. You and I will miss the larger families in large houses with private yards, front and back. But the smaller cars, for us all, offer a pleasant surprise.

By DANIEL C. RIKER
ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI)—
Despite a growing wave of anti-military sentiment in the United States and a swiftly attacked drug scandal this month, there is an optimistic spirit at the U.S. Naval Academy.

"We think we're in the right service at the right time," a senior midshipman said. "I'm optimistic about the future," said the school's articulate superintendent, Vice Admiral James Calvert. "I think the time has come for the navy and the naval academy."

These feelings must be shared by many others, because during the last two years the number of high school seniors who applied for admission climbed dramatically by more than 1,000 over 1968—the dropout rate among midshipmen has decreased as has the number of resignations by young naval officers.

Drop Has Reversed
Until two years ago both dropouts and resignations were in an upward spiral and had reached a point of "genuine concern" in the Navy.

The men who run the Naval Academy think major revisions in the curriculum in 1969 along with relaxation of some of the traditional rules and regulations governing the life of Midshipmen have played an important role in renewing interest among young people.

But as was shown early this month one rule the Academy has not changed to keep up with the times is a firm ban on drug use. Nine midshipmen were expelled for smoking marijuana. The expelled included, in all, three seniors (two of them honor students), two juniors and four sophomores.

All told, a total of 32

Midshipmen have been expelled in the past four years for using drugs.

Drop Has Reversed
Talking with Midshipmen, the impression is gained that one reason for the Corps' enthusiasm for the Navy is a general feeling the Navy will play an increasingly larger role in the nation's defense in the future and, as a result, offers considerable career opportunities.

"We're not likely to get involved in a land war overseas again any time soon," one Midshipman said. "That hurts the Army. And the idea of air power also has been hurt in Vietnam."

Among today's Midshipmen aeronautical engineering has faded as the academy's most popular major. Oceanography and political science have become top choices, and the Nuclear Fleet, rather than Navy Air has become the leading career selection.

Drop Has Reversed
Adm. Calvert, 50, a 1943 Academy graduate, was trained as a nuclear sub commander by Admiral Hyman Rickover and commander the "Skate" when it became the first sub to surface at the North Pole in 1958. He believes the trend of American foreign policy favors the future growth of the Navy.

Fashions For Fall And Winter Look To Past

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—Fashions for fall and winter look to the past. For what's newest in the New York collections for the next season is a recapture of the old, the modernization of styles that filled closets in the 1930s and 1940s.

Some observers have dubbed the trend a return for the "civilized" look, after all the costume get-ups, the kooky touches, the gimmicky fashions. Certainly the credit for the change must go in large measure to women themselves; they didn't hanker for some of the fashions no matter what the designers decreed.

Jerry Silverman, head of one of the big volume houses in the nation's garment center, summed it up this way: "Not knowing what to do, buy long or short (hemlines), or Bulgarian bride, or rich hippie, droves of American women haven't bought much. They have empty closets and we're going to fill them with lady-like clothes."

"That's what surveys indicate they want."

One of the first reactions showed in what happened to hemlines for fall and winter. The just-below-the-knee hemline is the number one length, with only a smattering of the midi or mid-calf and the mini with its thigh-high exposure.

As the major New York firms unveiled fall and winter collections the past two weeks for the nation's store buyers, these other nostalgia themes emerged:

Blazers. This classic jacket, either single or double-breasted, is a leading item for day, but goes right on into evening, too, in lush velvets and satins or metallic brocades. Morton Myles, designer for Malcom Charles, said one of the blessings of the blazer revival was the flattery it provides. "Figure-wise, a blazer covers all a woman's problem areas."

Return of the "jewel neckline," designed with a V-plunge or scoop neck as a setting for women's jewelry, real or costume. Mollie Parris showed a whole group of safe little black dresses, basics "so the ladies can wear their pearls again."
