13 PERSONS WOUNDED

Police Restore Order In Albuquerque Riot

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Police armed with automatic weapons and shotguns moved into a city park this morning and arrested the last holdouts of an estimated 500 young people who clashed with officers during a night of disorder in which at least 13 persons were wounded. Sunday afternoon after police apparently tried to make arrests for public drinking at the crowded park.

A state of civil emergency was imposed early today after businesses were burned or looted and police headquarters was stoned by the crowd of young people.

Under the emergency order, a curfew was in effect from 1 a.m. until 6 a.m., with all persons on the streets subject to arrest or questioning.

The latest violence came between 3 a.m. and 4 a.m., when two persons were hit by shotgun pellets after police drew a restraining line around a liquor store.

A third person had been wounded there earlier by an armed employee of the store.

Of the others wounded, one was hit by gunfire at crowded Roosevelt Park when the official statement on the trouble started. Police had no Roosevelt Park when the trouble started.

Hospitals in the city reported this morning that they had treated a total of 13 persons for gunshot wounds in connection with the disorder. Neither police nor the hospitals could say where all the shootings occurred.

The latest arrests came this morning when police moved into the park, where several youths had returned after a foray into the downtown area. They arrested about 30 holdouts there. The males arrested in the park had been drinking heavily, apparently with liquor looted from the store, police said.

Police also moved on a residence in the area where a volunteer medical aid team—dubbed MASH—had been treating wounded persons.

All members of the medical aid team were arrested.

City police said none of their officers was wounded, but that several were injured by thrown rocks or bottles.

They said 15 persons were arrested on charges ranging from public drinking part in a disturbance. All were released on their own recognizance.

Richard Moore, defense minister of the Black Berets, a Mexican-American group, said police "started putting on strong pressure and some of the guys got fed up."

"We want to talk with the officers who shot people in the park," Moore told newsmen.

"When the police opened fire there was no problem. We got our guns to protect ourselves.

Warm With Rain Is New Forecast For Pampa Area

Weather officials are forecasting warm and sunny days with scattered afternoon and evening showers for the Gray County area today and tomorrow after a week of strong thunderstorms punctuated with tornado activity in the area.

Pampa's most beneficial rain of the year came on the heels of a strong thunderstorm Friday night. A sunny humid day Saturday culminated with showers that dumped an additional .09 inch of moisture on Pampa. A trace of rain Sunday night brought the year's total to 6.02 inches.

Deryl Sehorn, weather observer, stated today the scattered showers forecast for late today and tonight will be widely dispersed, not offering the possibility for the measurable rain which fell over the weekend.

Frontal systems causing the evening storms and rains are weakening in the area. Sehorn said lessening the possibility of continued unstable weather.

Nixon Orders Efforts To Get Jobs For Vets

President Outlines Six-Point Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Voicing great concern for the growing number of Vietnam veterans returning to the unemployment rolls, President Nixon has ordered an intensive, six-point federal effort to get jobs or job training for ex-servicemen.

"This is an effort which I consider to be of the highest priority in federal manpower and training programs," the President said Sunday, "and of such importance that every available program should be used to the maximum . . ."

In a letter to James D. Hodgson naming the secretary of labor to direct the job-finding effort Nixon wrote:

"I am greatly concerned at any denial of civilian job opportunities to these young men who have borne the burden of fighting."

"I am also deeply concerned at the evidence that the most serious problem is experienced by those with educational deficiencies or other disabilities."

Hodgson told newsmen 370,000 Vietnam-era veterans don't have jobs, an unemployment rate of 10.8 per cent for those between 20 and 29 years of age. He said the jobless rate for that age group among nonveterans is 3.5 per cent.

The six points Nixon outlined for Hodgson:

- See that all contractors and agencies under federal contract list all job openings with the U.S. Employment Service.
- Broaden the employment training and counseling program operated by the Defense Department for servicemen in the last weeks of their duty.

—Veterans who haven't found jobs for three months or more should be given special consideration by the Labor Department and Veterans Administration.

—Increase cooperation with the National Alliance of Businessmen to open up industry even more to job-hunting ex-servicemen.

—Work to increase the number of veterans in special programs.

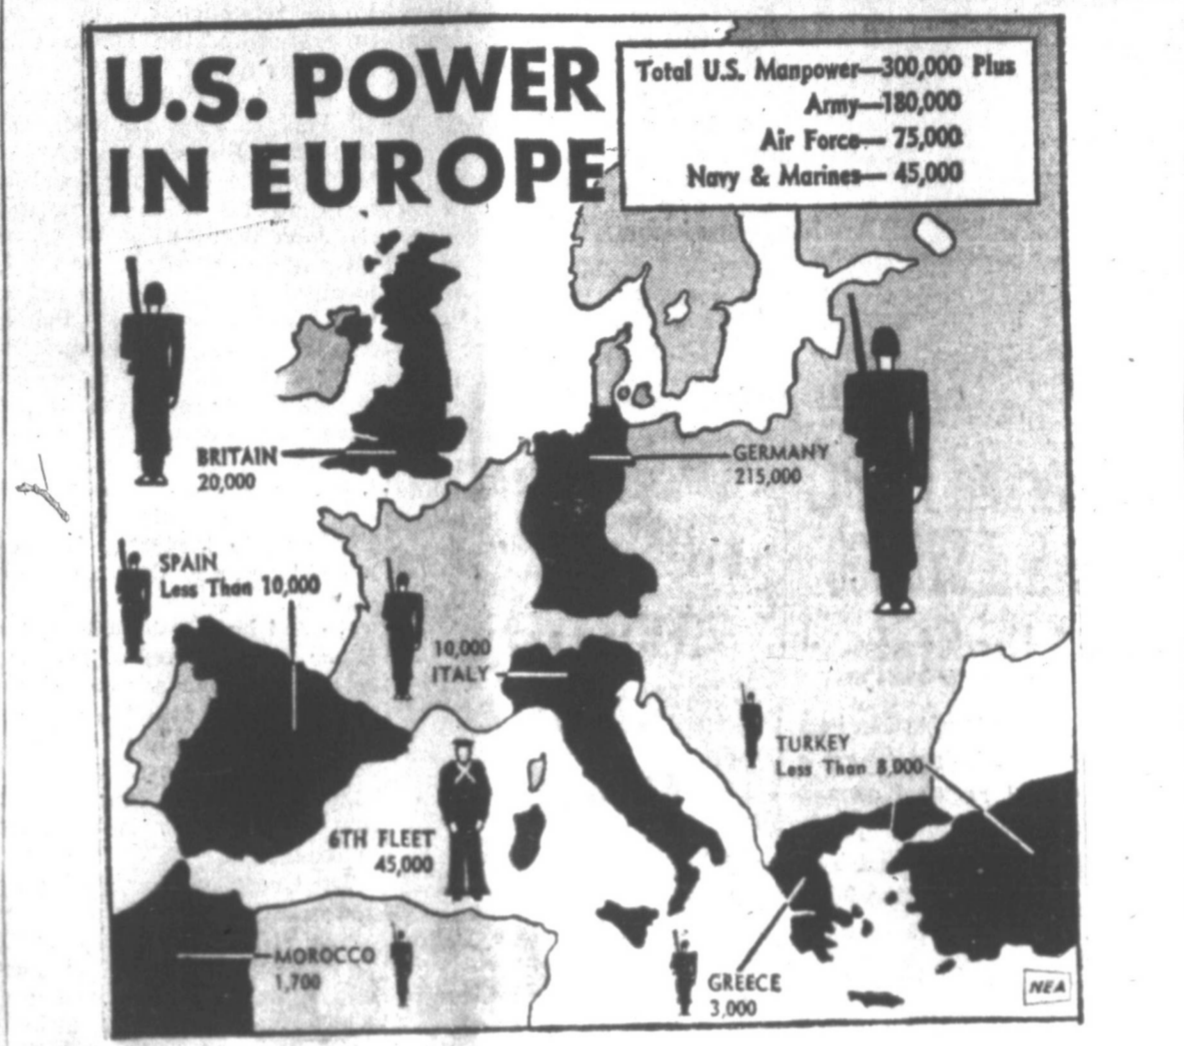

—See that "each returning veteran (is) reached and served by this effort" to make training and employment services more available.

Nixon also told Hodgson to work closely with James Oates, chairman of the Jobs for Veterans Committee which has been examining the problem in recent months.

The Labor Secretary indicated he would take full advantage of Nixon's call "upon all government agencies to draw fully upon resources at hand."

In fact, said Hodgson, if current resources are short "we'll ask for more money...no matter what it costs."

The extra money will be well spent, Hodgson said, in fact "it's a costs savings" since each new job found means less money spent in unemployment compensation.

A QUARTER of a century after World War II, American troops remain a powerful military force in Europe and a political issue back home. With infantry and armor concentrated in West Germany, other land, air and naval units are scattered from Britain to Turkey. Small detachments remain in Morocco, where U.S. air bases have been deactivated. The U.S. Sixth Fleet's long dominance of the Mediterranean is being challenged by a growing Soviet naval presence.

County Solons Authorize Payments Of Hill-Burton Funds To Company

Gray County Commissioners today authorized the final payment of Hill-Burton funds to Reid Strickland Construction Co. for work done on the Highland General Hospital expansion program. The $29,606 payment cleared the hospital debt with the exception of $2800 in architect fees.

Other business conducted today included approval of the Welfare report for May. Thirty families were aided with a county expenditure of $1,502.57. The treasurer's report was approved and all bills paid.

The court also approved investment of $6,079.31 into registered U.S. Treasury bonds from permanent school funds. The bonds will carry a six and one-half percent interest rate and reach maturity Feb. 15, 1978.

An increase in rates for county employees' insurance rates are outlined by a representative of Blue Cross-

Blue Shield. Gray County employees are currently insured under a contract for 12.46 per month. The proposed rate increase is $17.46, a $3 increase. Family rates and employee dependant rates will be increased proportionally according to the representative.

Gray County has paid out $18,842 in rates and benefits so far, for the Aug. 1, 1970-Aug. 1, 1971 contract, have totaled $25,632.

The court will consider any insurance bid when it convenes July 12. No decision will be made on insurance contracts until then.

Commissioners will accept bids for airport construction during a meeting June 21 and award the bid and officially accept the $55,000 FFA grant when it convenes June 23.

Meetings are set for June 12, 13 and 14 when the court will sit as a board of equalization.

Cambodians, Viets Battle Red Troops On Three Fronts

SAIGON (AP) —Cambodian and South Vietnamese troops battled Communist forces on three fronts in Cambodia Sunday and today.

In South Vietnam, North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces intensified their attacks in the central highlands and maintained their three-week-old siege of Vite Base 5, where fighting broke out 50 yards from the barbed wire perimeter.

North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong urged Communist forces in South Vietnam to step up the war. He told North Vietnam's new National Assembly that the U.S. program to train and strengthen the South Vietnamese war machine is failing. He said this has created "a very favorable opportunity for our countrymen and compatriots in the South to step up their military and political struggle."

In the Cambodian fighting, troops from the 9th North Vietnamese-Viet Cong Division launched new assaults in a down pour early today against Cambodian army bunkers around two hamlets in the Vihear Suor marshes 15 miles east of Phnom Penh. Fighting continued for more than eight hours, but there was no word of casualties or other details.

Four Men, Three Women Slain In Underworld Narcotics War

DETROIT (AP) —Four women and three men were shot to death today at a Detroit home in what police described as a gangland-type slaying apparently related to an underworld war for control of narcotics.

Police District Inspector James Bannon said all seven victims were shot in the head at close range. An eighth person identified as Robert Gardner, 28, was reported in critical condition at Detroit's Ford Hospital.

The dead were not immediately identified.

Police said the slayings apparently were the latest result of a narcotics war which has claimed about 25 lives in Detroit. A search of the house, Bannon said, turned up a dozen handguns, a quantity of suspected narcotics and narcotics paraphernalia.

All of the victims were found in the first-floor living room of the house. The four women had been tied up. Their purses were found in the room, untouched.

The bodies were discovered about 4:30 a.m. by Mrs. Gardner, who told detectives she took her husband to the hospital, then called police.

Detective Sgt. Donald Carter said there were no signs of a struggle in the house.

A witness, who was not identified, told police he saw two men run from the building shortly after the shots were fired.

The house where the shootings took place is located in Detroit's crime-and violence-ridden 10th Precinct. It is three blocks from the corner where Detroit's 1967 riot began.

Dan Smith, 37, who lives next door to the house, said the youthful occupants of the lower flat were quiet and kept mostly to themselves.

Inspector Bannon said the home was sparsely furnished and it did not appear as though most of the victims had been living there.

Police said that a couple living upstairs heard the shots but remained upstairs and did nothing because they were afraid.

Other neighbors were reluctant to talk to newsmen because they said they feared reprisals.

HIGH COURT RULING

Cities With Integration Orders May Close Down Public Facilities

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Supreme Court ruled 5 to 4 today that cities faced with integration orders may close down swimming pools and other public facilities, denying their use to both blacks and whites.

Turning down a plea by a group of Jackson, Miss., Negroes, the court said there is no illegal discrimination when neither blacks nor whites have the use of public facilities. All the Constitution requires, said Justice Hugo L. Black, is that the states do not promote separation of the races.

The pools ruling marks another turning point in Supreme Court rulings. It was a rare defeat for civil rights forces after years of almost uninterrupted victory in the high court.

The decision was forged by an alignment with Black of the two Nixon administration appointments, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice Harry A. Blackmun, and two conservative holdovers, John M. Harlan and Potter Stewart.

In dissent were Justices

William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr., Byron R. White and Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Black, speaking for the majority, said, "Neither the 14th Amendment or any act of Congress purports to impose an affirmative duty on a state to begin to operate or to continue to operate swimming pools. Furthermore, this is not a case where whites are permitted to use public facilities while blacks are denied access."

Black added: "It is not a case where a city is maintaining different sets of facilities for blacks and whites and forcing the races to remain separate in recreation or educational activities."

Rep. Price To Be In Pampa Saturday To Present Award

Senator Bob Price will be in Pampa Saturday to present the Young Texan of the Month award to Ricky Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harris. Harris has been named State winner for May and will receive special awards from the Young Texan Foundation.

The presentation will follow the annual Optimist Baseball Barbecue, set for 3 p.m. at Optimist Boys Club. The special barbecue dinner will precede four Little League and Babe Ruth League ball games, during which candidates for the Baseball Queen title will be introduced.

Admission for the barbecue will be $1.50 for adults, and $1 for children over seven.

The public is invited to attend the barbecue, sponsored each year by the Optimist Club in honor of participants and their coaches.

FEDERAL FUNDS

$16.8 Million Spent In County Last Year

Congressman Bob Price of Pampa reported from Washington today $16,829,707 in federal funds was spent in Gray County during 1970.

A final counting of federal expenditures in the 18th Congressional District shows a total of $427.7 million spent in the district's 28 Texas Panhandle counties.

Potter County (Amarillo) topped the list with $94,997,599. Hale County was next with $39,508,902.

The Panhandle congressman noted that the Federal funds represent assistance for water and sewer projects, hospitals, education, agricultural payments, education, agricultural payments, social security, veterans benefits, and military retired and active duty pay.

Man Killed During Exchange Of Gunfire

MIDLAND, TEX. (AP) — Police killed Michael R. Mathis, 26, Sunday after, they said, he drove to Big Springs where he killed a man and returned home with the body in the trunk of his car.

Mathis was shot to death during an exchange of gunfire with police while barricaded in his home.

Mathis' victim was tentatively identified by officers as Bob Johnson, about 28, of Big Spring. The case came to light when Texas Ranger Capt. Jim Riddle said he received a telephone tip from Mathis' wife that Mathis had cycled a man's body in the car's trunk.

Riddle led a force of Rangers, police and sheriff's deputies to Mathis' home which they surrounded after removing people from the area.

Pampam In Extremely Critical Condition

Leo Riddle, 2325 Navajo Rd., was reported in critical condition today in Northwest Hospital in Amarillo where he has been treated of injuries sustained in a motorcycle accident Saturday.

Amarillo sources said Saturday that the kickstand of the motorcycle ridden by Riddle, apparently released and hit the roadway, causing the cycle to go out of control and over the guard rail of the 140 Expressway south of Amarillo.

Riddle was thrown to the roadway below, sustaining head injuries and a broken back, police said.

Sharp Pleads Guilty In Financial Scandal

HOUSTON (AP) — Frank W. Sharp, whose stock and bank loan manipulations led to a Texas scandal involving millions, pleaded guilty today to two federal allegations.

Sharp was the key principal, the Securities and Exchange Commission alleges in a civil suit, in making deals with high state political figures to get banking legislation passed.

None of the office holders are defendants in any suit, civil or criminal.

Sharp, a tall man with thinning gray hair, was asked by the judge if he pleaded guilty because of his health.

"No, sir," Sharp said.

He was brought into court on a federal "information" which is simply a charge which bypasses the usual grand jury procedure.

Panhandle PRPC Awarded $20,000 Grant By State

AUSTIN—Panhandle Regional Planning Commission, Amarillo, was one of 21 regional councils awarded criminal justice planning grants for Fiscal Year 1971 by Governor Preston Smith Friday. The amount is $20,000.

The awards, totaling more than $450,000, were approved on recommendation of the Texas Criminal Justice Council, which oversees state law enforcement planning and administers funds from the U.S. Department of Justice under the Omnibus Crime Control Act.

The Panhandle grant will be used in implementing action projects outlined in previous plans and in updating the comprehensive five-year criminal justice plan for the counties of the Panhandle State Planning Region.

The Panhandle Regional Planning Commission employed a full-time criminal justice coordinator last Jan. 1. The old Public Protection Committee has been replaced by the Criminal Justice Advisory Board, with equal representation from each of the five planning and service areas into which the Panhandle region is divided.

Professional criminal justice planning services will be furnished to each unit of local government in all 25 counties, with the commission serving as a regional clearing house.

QUEEN ELIZABETH IN RED Even Royal Family Has Budget Problem

By TOM CULLEN LONDON (NEA) — News that Queen Elizabeth's household is running into the red at the rate of $240,000 a year has created none of the public furor that the Rolls-Royce bankruptcy did earlier.

Instead of appointing a receiver for Buckingham Palace, as he did in the case of Rolls-Royce, Prime Minister Edward Heath has quietly appointed a parliamentary committee to look into royal finances. The committee is expected to recommend that the Queen's pay be raised substantially, if not doubled.

Where, one wonders, are all the republicans, the antimonomarchists, the knockers of all things regal?

"This is how I would serve all kings," John Thelwall, the 18th-century radical, used to boast as he blew the head of foam off his beer. Where are the John Thelwalls of 1971?

Grumblers there are in plentiful supply, Cassandras who predict, "The British monarchy will not outlast the present Queen." Others take the line that the royal family will have outlived its usefulness if Britain joins the European Common Market. However, no one, least of all the British Labor party leaders, advocates abolishing the monarchy outright.

Headed by Harold Wilson, the Labor party is well-represented on the parliamentary committee set up to look into the Queen's finances. The Labor party is committed in advance to support any recommendation that the Queen's stipend be increased.

The Queen and her family are now costing the British taxpayer $1.4 million a year. If the committee's recommendations are approved that amount will be upped to at least $2 million. Is the taxpayer getting value for money?

According to a London newspaper's recent investigation, here's what the royal family did on a typical day to earn its keep.

At 11 a.m. the Queen held an investiture at Buckingham Palace at which she pinned medals on 176 chests. Afterwards she had a session with her dressmaker, Norman Hartnell, and Prime Minister Heath called to tell her what was happening in Parliament.

Prince Philip (Salary $96,000 a year) was far away in the Solomon Islands cracking jokes, looking at how the natives live.

Their eldest son, Prince Charles (he came into $240,000 a year when he reached the age of 21 in 1969), spent the morning jumping off a diving board at the Royal Air Force College at Cranwell, where he is learning to be a jet pilot.

What the Prince of Wales was learning to do was to "ditch," or to hit the water property after a parachute jump.

His sister, Princess Anne ($14,400 a year increasing to $36,000 when she marries), flew in a royal helicopter to Portsmouth, where she lunched aboard Lord Nelson's flagship, H.M.S. Victory with assorted bigwigs.

Their grandmother, the Queen Mother ($168,000 a year, kept an appointment with the Irish Guards, attended a private wedding, left for the steeplechase at Chetnam where her horse, Black Magic, fell at the second fence.

Princess Margaret, the Queen's sister ($36,000 a year, attended an opera gala that night in aid of the Victoria League for Commonwealth Friendship.

QUEEN ELIZABETH AT WORK, opening a session of Parliament with Prince Phillip. Are taxpayers getting value for their money? Can Britain still afford one of the richest women in the world?

The $1.4 million a year which the queen gets to run her household, which is called the Civil List, was fixed in 1952 at the beginning of Queen Elizabeth's reign. In reality, the Civil List represents a bargain struck between Parliament and the monarchy, whereby the Queen agrees to surrender the revenues from the Crown lands she owns in exchange for an annual stipend.

Inasmuch as the Crown lands include chunks of valuable real estate in the heart of London, plus 250,000 acres of the finest farm land in England, Scotland and the Channel Islands, the good deal.

However, the Queen, like every British housewife, is the victim of inflation. In particular, the wages of the huge staff needed to run Buckingham Palace and Windsor Castle have doubled in recent years, with the result that the Queen had to dip into her own pocket to make up a $240,000 deficit last year.

No one knows the exact size of Queen Elizabeth's private fortune, though $140 million would be close to the mark.

The Queen's private board includes masterpieces by Rembrandt, Rubens and Van Dyck, plus jewels, one of the world's finest stamp collections, and five tons of gold plate. Yet she cannot dispose of this treasure.

The parliamentary committee no doubt will inquire into the Queen's private fortune, but it will have to tread delicately.

"Above all things our royalty is to be revered," English Constitution expert Walter Bagehot warned a century ago. "If you begin to poke about it you cannot reverence it."

General Manager John W. Breen also announced that free agent Warren Walsh, a running back, had been signed. Walsh, a 6-0, 215-pounder played at Colorado during his undergraduate days.

3 Appearances In Panhandle Area

Congressman Bob Price has scheduled three appearances in the Panhandle June 18 and 19. Friends of the three-term representative have planned an appreciation dinner at the Kona Kai Restaurant in Dumas at 7 p.m. on Friday, June 18.

Saturday morning at 10 a.m. the 18th District congressman will be joined in Tulsa by National Administrator James V. Smith of the Farmers Home Administration for ceremonies marking partial completion of a program to upgrade the community. FHIA has made numerous loans in Tulsa for construction of new homes to replace sub-standard buildings.

Community leaders note that the $2.5 million in Farmers Home insured housing projects during the past two years has been a boon to the local economy and has stimulated construction of numerous conventionally financed homes.

Price will be in Pampa Saturday evening to honor the Young Texan of the Month selected by the Pampa Optimist Club.

Between formal engagements Price will be in several counties for informal visits with constituents.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: One thing I've always wished (and still do) is that, when someone dies, a friend or member of the family would go through that dead person's address book and notify everyone listed there that that person has died.

more the merrier, I accused my husband of writing it.

When he read your reply, the darned fool went to the phone and called his friend, the Chief of Police, and asked for "police protection."

You were right. A man like that is one in a million. He tells all our friends that our five kids have spoiled him rotten, and they have. The fight over who is going to shine his shoes, My Bud has brought so much love into this house, it overflows. He is firm, but fair and the kids adore him. He is one terrific man! Please don't publish the name of this small Florida town as I am not fixin' to lose this jewel.

BUD'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Don't worry. Your secret is safe with me!

DEAR ABBY: Recently you published a letter from an eligible bachelor who thought a woman with a ready-made family was most desirable, but his friends told him to steer clear of them.

You gave him a pat on the back, saying he was one in a million, and if the word ever got out about his attitude he'd need police protection. You were right, but I happen agree with his friends.

As a 35-year-old bachelor fell in love with a divorcee who had two teen-aged children, too, welcomed the thought of a ready made family. I soon realized that love was not enough. There were more built in disadvantages than I can list here.

Women with children are looking for a husband who is a great provider, a psychiatrist in residence, a long lost father a superb lover and a big truck into which to dump all their problems. These women have best pray to God. Only He can fill that bill.

POLLY'S POINTERS

By POLLY CRAMER

Clean Paint Lids Are Easier To Remove

DEAR POLLY — Donna cannot get the lids off her plastic bottles of oil paint because the tops were not cleaned after using. When this happens to me I simply hold the bottle in one hand and with an adjustable pair of pliers in the other gently remove the lid. Once it is off, clean the top well before replacing it.

CLIFFORD

DEAR POLLY — Donna could try submerging the cap and upper part of the plastic oil paint tube in turpentine until it loosens the hardened paint around the cap. This always works for me.

CHERYL

Polly's Problem DEAR POLLY — My fingernails tend to snag and break off when I am washing my hair. I have tried many ways to prevent this but without luck. Can anyone suggest a way I can get my hair clean and still save my fingernails?

D.H.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve concerns package labeling. Now that companies are required to list ingredients, they use blue print on a black background, purple on red or other combinations that are almost impossible to read. Those of us who must know the ingredients for health reasons find this very aggravating.

FLORENCE

DEAR POLLY — I found a wonderful use for a clothes sprinkler I no longer use as such. It is great for watering plants, washes all the dust off the leaves and makes them look fresher and healthier. Also I use carrot tops instead of ferns when making flower arrangements in the summer. I think they look very pretty and stay fresh for about a week.

MRS. J.O.

DEAR POLLY — I discovered that my husband had washed his work cap and put it on my wig stand to dry. It dried without wrinkles and the cap bill was perfect. With wigs so popular, most people have a Styrofoam head which certainly beats a pan or bowl when washing caps. My son came home on leave from the Marines with work hats to be washed and starched. I put them on the block and then used spray starch which was also great. Our thanks to my husband for thinking of this.

A GAS outdoor grill gives food a tangy outdoor flavor without the time and bother of charcoal fire. Char-broiled flavor comes from the smoke of meat juices dripping on hot briquets. Charcoal itself provides no flavor.

Permanent ceramic briquets in the gas grill reach cooking heat in a few minutes, and there is no long wait to start cooking. The heat is regulated manually so there is no need to move a grill up or down.

Your Horoscope

TUESDAY, JUNE 15

YOUR BIRTHDAY TUESDAY: Today begins a year of expansion and personal growth. Scattered coincidences and social experiences with memorable incidents, some of them embarrassing, most of them beneficial. Tuesday's natives tend to concentrate much effort on relatively few activities.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Relax and just be yourself; speak mainly for your own interests. Early diligence puts you way ahead.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Steady does it. A full, consistent day includes some troubleshooting, correction or wild ideas. No direct way of serving ambitions is evident at the moment.

GEMINI (May 21-June 30): Be a good winner, even where you don't see yourself winning. Care and courtesy become essential to all.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): The image you project now may make more difference to the world and your rewards than any real personal merit. Get in the habit of presenting a good appearance.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 2): Keep right on being serious-minded about people and fundamental issues. Casual joking is for those who aren't going anywhere.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Alone comes a suit here, so to speak, or with it in philosophic curiosity - see where it leads.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Maintain your own independent line of approach. Expect strong pressure to get you to join another set of people with different goals.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Now the drift is toward more responsibility than is reasonable under the circumstances. If you're not well rewarded, find a way ahead.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Picking up the pieces gets to be a general chore - do your share. Put people back on their hobbyhorses without criticism and go on about your regular pursuits.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Be alert to changes. Put your own innovations into working reality. A long busy day of reasonable high achievement is yours for the doing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Let praise and blame roll off quickly rather than made much of. So much remains to be done there's no time for garlands.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Work and business encounter hidden factors, perhaps deception or deception. Thorough examination of details should go along with any new obligation.

Wall Street Chatter

By JACK LEFLER AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Investors made a timid approach to the stock market the past week, and prices dipped in quiet trading.

Wall Street analysts said institutional and individual investors alike huddled on the sidelines in apprehension of further boosts of interest rates and a tightening of the government's monetary policy.

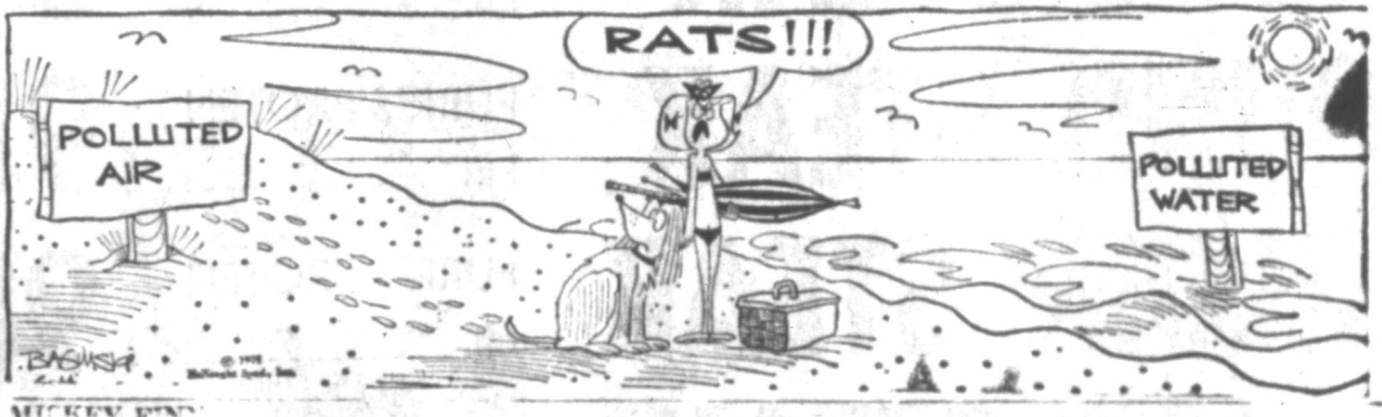

There also was widespread disappointment, they said, over indications that the rate of economic recovery was falling behind expectations.

The market sailed through Monday's session about on an even keel but hit a snag Tuesday, when the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials tumbled 3.05 points to its sharpest loss in two weeks.

A small loss Wednesday was followed by a moderate gain Thursday and a slight upward move on Friday.

All the major market averages showed minor losses for the week. The Dow Jones industrials dropped 5.68 to 916.47. The Associated Press 50-stock average slipped 1.8 to 324.3. The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,300 common stocks was off .15 to 55.80.

Big Board volume totaled 66,388,530 shares, up from 62,870,060 shares in the previous week, which was abbreviated to our sessions by the Memorial Day holiday.

Jack Nicklaus Stands Alone In U.S. Open Golf Championship

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Golf Writer
ARDMORE, Pa. (AP) —
Jack Nicklaus stands alone.

He is the man to beat, the dominant figure, the larger-than-life giant who looms head and shoulders above the rest of the field going into next week's United States Open Golf Championship.

"He's so good it seems like he can win almost anytime he really wants to," said 1968 champion Lee Trevino, in the front ranks of challengers to the blond superstar.

The 31-year-old Nicklaus, son of a Columbus, Ohio, pharmacist, will be gunning for his third National Open title when the 72-hole chase begins Thursday.

But Nicklaus, already firmly established as one of the greatest players the world has ever known, is shooting for more than the pay and prestige that go with the most coveted of all the world's golf titles.

A victory would be another major step toward his overall goal—surpassing Bobby Jones' total of 13 major championships.

"I grew up hearing about Jones and his 13 major titles," Nicklaus said. "There was a big portrait of him in our club. It was Jones, Jones, Jones."

"The accomplishment that would separate me from other golfers is to win more major championships than he did. That would be a quality achievement."

And he is within sight of it. Nicklaus is the only man to win all the world's major titles—the U.S. and British Opens, the PGA and Masters—at least two times each. He's won two American and two British Opens, took his second PGA Championship at Palm Beach Gardens, Fla. last winter, has won the Masters three times and owns two U.S. Amateur titles—a total of 11 major titles.

Nicklaus, a one-time fat boy now trimmed down to a rock-hard 185 pounds, sporting a new wardrobe and wearing his blond mane at mod length, has career earnings of $1,284,761, second only to Palmer.

But, impressive as that record is, he even has a little something extra going for him in this particular tournament.

He has won three times and finished second twice in only 10 starts this season, and tops the year's money-winner with $146,213. He took the week off last week to hone his awesome skills in his quest for his second major title of the year.

Principal first and second round pairings Thursday and Friday in the U.S. Open Golf Championship over the Merion Golf Club all times are:

8:45 a.m.-12:30 p.m.—Billy Casper, Bruce Devlin, A-Ben Crenshaw.

9:38 a.m.-1:28 p.m.—Bob Charles, Orville Moody, Arnold Palmer.

10:34 a.m.-2:22 p.m.—Charles Coody, A-Lanny Wadkins, Tony Jacklin.

12:30 p.m.-3:42 a.m.—George Archer, Julius Boros, Lee Trevino.

1:26 p.m.-9:38 a.m.—Raymond Floyd, Dave Stockton, Jack Nicklaus.

2:22 p.m.-10:34 a.m.—Bob Gogly, Art Wall Jr., Gary Player.

swimming team coach for the Olympics in 1968 was coach for the Pan American games in Brazil in 1968.

At the time of his death, he was chairman of the Southwest Amateur Athletic Union Swimming Committee, and held many other honors.

He coached more than 50 swimmers and divers who gained national recognition.

Survivors are his widow and four children: Roberta; Bill, a member of the SMU varsity swim team the past season; Alan, member of the freshman team; and Betty.

Funeral arrangements were not announced immediately.

He was alternate men's U.S. Olympic swimmer.

Red Barr Of SMU Fame Dies Of Heart Attack

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Alfred Richard "Red" Barr, 62, of Southern Methodist University in Dallas and one of the nation's outstanding swimming coaches, died of a heart attack Saturday.

He was in El Paso as coach of a group of swimmers at a meet.

Barr coached the SMU team to 15 consecutive Southwest Conference championships, including the title the past season. His swimmers won 17 titles in his 25 years of coaching at SMU.

Funeral arrangements were not announced immediately.

He was alternate men's U.S. Olympic swimmer.

announcing the completed schedule, pointed out that the Buffaloes will play 14 home games in Amarillo's Civic Center Coliseum and 12 on the road.

The Buffaloes played all of their home games in Amarillo this past season and drew record crowds, averaging 3,113 per game.

West Texas will be competing as an independent for the final time, but it gets a strong taste of Missouri Valley Conference basketball. The Buffaloes, who will compete for the MVC title the following year, play four MVC opponents, three of them in Amarillo.

The Buffaloes face North Texas State in Amarillo Jan. 6, Drake Jan. 11 and Wichita State University Jan. 17. They travel away from home to face Drake Feb. 1, Tulsa Feb. 17, North Texas March 2 and Wichita State March 4.

The Buffaloes open their season with a pair of home games, playing Fort Lewis State Dec. 1 and the University of Texas at Arlington Dec. 4.

Following those two games, they make a rugged three-game road trip.

West Texas State's Jan. 3 game in the Civic Center against Athletics in Action, an independent amateur team representing Campus Crusade for Christ, will not count on the Buffaloes' record. NCAA rules prevent games against independent teams counting on school's records.

Other home games are against Eastern New Mexico University, Weber State, Long Island University, Houston Baptist University-Southwest Louisiana, New Mexico State, Utah State, and Oklahoma Christian University.

The Buffs won 19 of 26 games last fall and from that team they return 11 of their 12 top scorers.

The only starter missing will be 6-7 Fitzgerald, who was third in team returning and fourth in scoring.

Returning will be the three top scorers — Ray Golson, Steve Davidson and Ralph Houston.

All games in Amarillo start at 7:30 p.m.

of Portland, Ore. Capt. Taylor's strong finish in the riding and swimming competition coupled with a first place in the 4,000-meter cross-country gave him an overall total of 4,421 points.

In third place was Capt. Chuck Richards, Tacoma, Wash., gold medalist and world record holder, with 4,361 points. Richards' performance was not up to his first place win of last year in the trials but proved strong competition in all events.

Fourth was held by Capt. Bill Matheson of Los Angeles, Calif., an early leader in the trials whose consistent performance in the eight days of competition put him only 50.5 points away from Richards, at 4,310.5 points.

Trailing Drum by 175 points was runner-up Capt. Scott Taylor.

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Dr. Vicente Alvarez of Buenos Aires, injured critically in an accident at the start of the Indianapolis 500, took a turn for the better Monday. His doctor said he was "definitely improved."

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians Thursday recalled outfielder Frank Baker from their Wichita farm club to replace pitcher Rick Austin, who will be on military duty this weekend.

Simpson Signs Athletic Agreement With West Texas State University

CANYON, Tex.—Mike Simpson, a standout hurdler and sprinter from Lovington, N.M., has signed an athletic scholarship agreement with West Texas State University track coach Bob Kitchens.

Simpson, running for New Mexico Junior College in Hobbs this past spring placed third in the national junior college track meet 120-yard high hurdles with a 14.4 clocking.

The 6-0, 160-pounder played football and ran track for three years at Lovington High School.

He ran the high hurdles in 14.5 and the 180-yard low hurdles in 19.2 his senior year to take second in both events at the state meet. He was an offensive end and defensive back as a starter three years in football.

Simpson also ran legs on Lovington's state championship 440-yard and 880-yard relay teams.

At New Mexico as a freshman, he ran 14.4 in the high hurdles; 55.1 in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles and ran the leadoff leg on the spring relay team. He earned third in the national juko meet this spring with a 15.5 time in the high hurdles and ran the intermediates in 33.5.

His top time in the intermediates came in the Wayland Invitational. He also ran on the spring relay this past spring.

Although he has never been entered in the 100-yard dash in the meet, he always runs a leg on his team's 440-yard relay and has several 9.8 times practice.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. G.D. Simpson of 714 South 4th Street in Lovington is a math major. He maintained a 3.0 grade average on a 4-point system at New Mexico College.

"Mike has the potential to be down around 14-flat in the 120-yard high hurdles and that gives us three outstanding hurdles," said Kitchens. Randy Thomas has a best time of 13.7 in the high hurdles and Carl Brown has run the 120 yards in 14.1.

"Mike will combine with Randy to give us two fine intermediate hurdles and we can certainly use him on our sprint relay," said Kitchens. Thomas won the Missouri Valley Conference 440-yard intermediate hurdles this spring.

New Mexico College coach Ross Black was high in his praise of Simpson.

"Mike helped us in so many events that we didn't spend a great deal of time working on the details of his hurdling," said Black. "I feel these times in both hurdle events can come down as coach Kitchens is a fine hurdler coach."

SHAVING STROKES

by Frank Beard

Coody's Putting and You

I couldn't have been much happier over the outcome of the Masters Tournament if I had won. Charlie Coody is a good friend of mine, and we frequently room together on tour.

Charlie credited his victory to putting. You can't play well at Augusta National unless you putt well, and Charlie certainly wouldn't necessarily recommend his style as a model, but I think we can all learn from it. Charlie crouches over the ball at address like a man searching for a missing contact lens, and he grips the putter clear down at the bottom.

He does these things because he has experimented and experimented and experimented.

and found that he is most comfortable this way. I've heard him say many times that everyone knows the fundamentals of the putting stroke, but the crucial objective is to get comfortable first. If you're relaxed, you aren't likely to jerk your stroke.

Three 10-Rounders Added To Flyweight Championship

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Three 10-rounders were added to next Friday's non-title match featuring world flyweight champion Masao Ohba of Japan against Mexico City's Rocky Garcia.

Promoters said Texas featherweight champion Kenny Weldon of Houston will meet Edmundo Lara of Monterrey, Mexico.

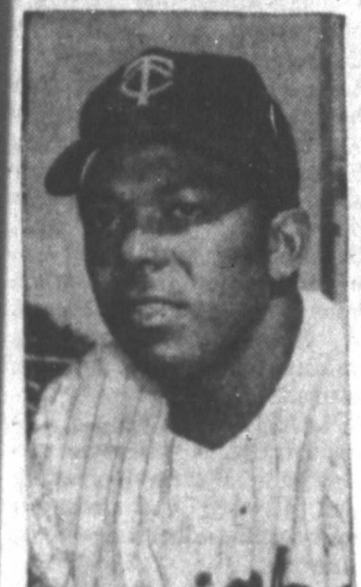

The other two bouts will pit featherweight Benny McCall of New Orleans against Jose Luna of Monterrey and Jesse Lara of Uvalde, Tex., against welterweight Raymond "Pink Panther" Boyd of Houston.

Ohba, of Tokyo, and Garcia, the Mexican flyweight champion, have been working out daily here for the past several days in preparation for their 10-round bout.

McCullough Transfers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Charles R. Clausen, 30, of William & Mary College, has been named defensive line coach at Ohio State University.

Clausen replaces Lou McCullough, who recently became director of athletics at Iowa State University. Clausen served as interior defensive line coach and offensive line coach and offensive backfield coach during his three years at William & Mary. He is a graduate of the University of New Mexico.

TONY OLIVA, one of baseball's most consistent hitters, is off to a good start again this year. The Minnesota outfielder came into the 1971 season with a .31 lifetime batting average.

Buffaloes Face Rough 26 Game Basketball Schedule

CANYON — West Texas State University's Buffaloes, hoping to improve on a 19-7 record, face a rugged 26-game basketball schedule for the 1971-72 season.

Coach Dennis Walling, in announcing the completed schedule, pointed out that the Buffaloes will play 14 home games in Amarillo's Civic Center Coliseum and 12 on the road.

The Buffaloes played all of their home games in Amarillo this past season and drew record crowds, averaging 3,113 per game.

West Texas will be competing as an independent for the final time, but it gets a strong taste of Missouri Valley Conference basketball. The Buffaloes, who will compete for the MVC title the following year, play four MVC opponents, three of them in Amarillo.

The Buffaloes face North Texas State in Amarillo Jan. 6, Drake Jan. 11 and Wichita State University Jan. 17. They travel away from home to face Drake Feb. 1, Tulsa Feb. 17, North Texas March 2 and Wichita State March 4.

The Buffaloes open their season with a pair of home games, playing Fort Lewis State Dec. 1 and the University of Texas at Arlington Dec. 4.

Following those two games, they make a rugged three-game road trip.

West Texas State's Jan. 3 game in the Civic Center against Athletics in Action, an independent amateur team representing Campus Crusade for Christ, will not count on the Buffaloes' record. NCAA rules prevent games against independent teams counting on school's records.

Other home games are against Eastern New Mexico University, Weber State, Long Island University, Houston Baptist University-Southwest Louisiana, New Mexico State, Utah State, and Oklahoma Christian University.

The Buffs won 19 of 26 games last fall and from that team they return 11 of their 12 top scorers.

The only starter missing will be 6-7 Fitzgerald, who was third in team returning and fourth in scoring.

Returning will be the three top scorers — Ray Golson, Steve Davidson and Ralph Houston.

All games in Amarillo start at 7:30 p.m.

ENTHUSIASTIC BUT futile leaps by Sonny Jackson of Atlanta, Bill Russell of Los Angeles and Al Kaline of Detroit all failed.

Pentathlon Trials Go To Air Force Officer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Capt. Loren Drum captured first place in the 1971 Modern Pentathlon trials at the end of eight days of grueling competition today.

The 27-year-old Air Force officer's consistency in all five pentathlon events brought him victory with an overall total of 4,366 points following the second round shooting competition at Fort Sam Houston's Pershing Range.

Capt. Drum, a Vietnam veteran and a native of Omaha, Neb., finished second in last year's trials and was a member of the 1970 U.S. team that participated in the CISM (C Conseil International du Sport Militaire) world championship in Stockholm, Sweden.

Trailing Drum by 175 points was runner-up Capt. Scott Taylor.

of Portland, Ore. Capt. Taylor's strong finish in the riding and swimming competition coupled with a first place in the 4,000-meter cross-country gave him an overall total of 4,421 points.

In third place was Capt. Chuck Richards, Tacoma, Wash., gold medalist and world record holder, with 4,361 points. Richards' performance was not up to his first place win of last year in the trials but proved strong competition in all events.

Fourth was held by Capt. Bill Matheson of Los Angeles, Calif., an early leader in the trials whose consistent performance in the eight days of competition put him only 50.5 points away from Richards, at 4,310.5 points.

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians Thursday recalled outfielder Frank Baker from their Wichita farm club to replace pitcher Rick Austin, who will be on military duty this weekend.

The announcement of the four-man team to represent the United States in the CISM world championships at Thun, Switzerland, July 5-12 will be made Monday at the U.S. Modern Pentathlon Training Center at Fort Sam Houston.

A Watchful Newspaper EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Freedom's Standard

Today is Flag Day. When Freedom from her mountain height unfurled her standard to the air, she wore the azure robe of night and set the stars of glory there."

This was the way poet Joseph Rodman Drake lyricized the advent of the flag, which was authorized by Congressional Resolution June 14, 1777.

There have been flag trappers and flag spitter upon-ers in recent years. However, as one of our associates phrased it, these in their curious negativism are the idolaters, rather than the flag wavers whom they deride, since it is the actual cloth with which they involve themselves, soiling, ripping and tearing it as though in itself the flag had power.

On the other hand, the flag wavers do not attach power to the cloth, but they hail, as did poet Drake, the spirit of Freedom which it symbolizes as the goal toward which this nation strives.

White House Wedding

The Edward Cox-Tricia Nixon wedding was the 16th such happy event to take place in the White House.

The nuptial history of the presidential mansion goes back to March 20, 1812, when Dolley Madison's sister, Lucy Payne Washington, became the first White House bride in a ceremony uniting her with Thomas Dodd, an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

President James Monroe spent $100 on candies, say the historical experts with the National Geographic Society, but little else in the way of show. Because of a clampdown on publicity, the only social notice was a 34-word newspaper account published two days later.

reportedly cost her father $10,000 for her wedding gown alone when she was married on May 21, 1874. But the bridegroom, an Englishman named Algernon Sartoris, made history of a sort by carrying his own bouquet.

Another virtually ignored ceremony was the marriage of President John Tyler's daughter, Elizabeth, to William N. Waller of Virginia on January 31, 1842. Newspapers reported the event in one sentence.

Not so when Lynda Bird Johnson married Capt. Charles S. Robb on December 9, 1967. At least 500 ladies and gentlemen of the press, radio and television were on hand.

The only president to be married in the White House was, of course, Grover Cleveland, who married 22-year-old Frances Folsom on June 2, 1886. Anticipating the women's lib movement by some 85 years, Cleveland deleted the word "obey" from his bride's wedding vows.

And for the record, the only son of a president to be a White House bridegroom was John Adams, son of John Quincy Adams, who married his cousin, Mary Catherine Helen, on Feb. 25, 1828.

No Time For Nonsense

A lot of knowledge about human nature can be picked up by a judge sitting on the bench. Federal Judge Simer Rifkind has something important to tell us about the right versus the wrong way to improve society.

right to shout down and drown out the voice of those with whom you disagree. "That the life of the scavenger pigeon is appropriate for civilized human beings, i.e., to sleep where you please, to feed on the bread others have labored to produce, and to practice none of the arts of civilization except self-indulgence.

"That sexual morality, family integrity, and responsibility for child-rearing are obsolete vestiges of a repressive society, no longer relevant to modern life... That public decisions should be taken, not by the constitutional organs of a democratic government, but by reference to a community sentiment as determined and expressed by self-appointed oracles...

"The nonsense that I believe can and should be stopped includes these notions: The proposition that the way to improve the human condition is to extirpate all of the operating institutions of society... That force and violence are appropriate means by which to accomplish the restructuring of our universities... That the right of dissent includes the

It Really Is Unresponsive

The ultra-libs are correct when they say the government is unresponsive.

What they omit to mention is the name of any large national government that is responsive.

That being the case, it appears that the objectives of the revolutionists may be classified as follows:

- (a) They desire to come to power so they can be the ones who are unresponsive; or (b) They want a bigger government so that the area of unresponsiveness will be enlarged; or (c) The new generation of Marxists-Leninists is endowed with qualities of responsiveness that the old generations of Marxists-Leninists never managed to exhibit.

That exhausts the possibilities as far as we can see, but, if anybody can think up an alternative, we would be happy to add it to our list.

U.S. Security Endangered

President Nixon's announcement of a joint agreement with the USSR to concentrate on negotiation of an anti-ballistic missile limitation pact at the SALT disarmament meetings indicates that the Soviets have scored an important victory in secret diplomacy at Helsinki and Vienna.

The United States has retreated from its initial position in the hope of obtaining some type of agreement with the USSR.

Here's the situation: The Soviets now enjoy numerical superiority in strategic missiles, whereas less than a decade ago — at the time of the Cuban crisis — the United States had overwhelming superiority. The Soviets also have an anti-ballistic missile (ABM) system that protects a significant part of their nuclear strike force.

The United States is only beginning to develop an ABM system. This will protect only four launch sites. The United States still has a lead in submarine-launched missiles, but the USSR soon will overtake the U.S. The Soviets are building missile-firing submarines on a crash basis, whereas the U.S. hasn't any missile subs under construction and none are projected.

If the Soviets can halt or limit America's ABM construction, it will have achieved a notable gain. Meanwhile, it is only reasonable to expect that the USSR will continue its massive military build-up.

U. S. Sen Strom Thurmond (R.S.C.) has warned that the United States has "set out upon a dangerous course." The President, he said, "is risking high stakes in the hope of obtaining a meaningful agreement on reducing the need for a massive U.S. defense posture." Sen. Thurmond is rightly concerned. It is obvious that the U.S. is on the verge of making concessions in terms of necessary defense systems in order to obtain a paper agreement with the Soviets.

When the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks were first announced, realistic Americans feared that the negotiations would be hurtful to the United States. The Soviets have a tradition of militant, purposeful negotiation aimed at advancing their cause. The United States has a dismal record of making concessions in the hope of maintaining "peace," a hope that has been vain when one views the chronicle of communist direct and indirect aggression.

The United States was spared direct attack in years past because it was superior to the Soviet Union in nuclear armaments. The U.S. also had the most powerful navy in the world. Today, the situation is very different. The Soviets are on the verge of military supremacy in ALL fields of armament. The Soviet Navy is large, modern and capable of world wide operations. The U.S. Navy, on the contrary, is short of new ships. More than 270 American warships have been decommissioned in the last three years. Adequate replacements have not been ordered because the liberal bloc in Congress refuses to appropriate the funds to give this nation the No 1 navy in the world.

The outspoken advocates of a strong defense — the Strom Thurmonds — are a minority in the Senate. The "dove" senators are prepared to see the U.S. become a second-class power in the world. In refusing to vote for needed defenses, the "doves" subject the country to the danger of a Cuban crisis in reverse. The Nixon administration, in bowing to Soviet diplomatic pressure in the SALT talks, also endangers America's security. The only hope for the United States is that the American people will voice a demand for a return to the strong national security policy that in decades past gave this nation a protection against Soviet military power.

Flag Day Signal — They'll Get The Message

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Clara Rippel is a devout sculptor in human lives! Although she is now a clergyman and has ably filled pulpits in the Methodist Church for 15 years, she previously worked as a counselor and community adviser in the slums of Indianapolis. Note her surprise when curbed by a police squad car!

CASE Q-579: Clara Rippel is a vivacious clergyman at Fountaintown, Indiana.

That village is within the 100-mile radius of our summer home in Indiana, where I donate my Sundays for pulpits. Since Mrs. Crane and I had arrived 30 minutes early, Rev. Rippel took me around to meet all the Sunday School classes and their teachers.

"Dr. Crane," she added, "I was recently driving through Indianapolis when a police car flashed its light and curbed my auto. I wondered what was wrong, for I hadn't run a red light nor was I speeding.

"A big policeman soon came up to my car, reached in and placed his hand on mine; then exclaimed, 'Why, Mrs. Rippel, I haven't seen you in over 15 years.' 'But I have always wanted to tell you that your faith in me really changed my life. For now I am happily married and we have a baby. I have long hoped to see you to let you know, so I trust I didn't shock you by curbing your car.'"

Boys Need Faith Although Rev. Rippel has occupied Methodist pulpits for the past 15 years, she had previously worked for the church in aiding destitute families at Indianapolis.

One after a boy, aged 16, walked into her office, for she always left her door open so teenagers could feel free to consult her. This youth weighed almost 200 pounds and was leader of a gang. He had always acted tough. Now he shut the door and sat down across from Rev. Rippel. She asked him why he had closed the door.

"Because I want to talk to you in private," he answered. Then he pulled a revolver out of his pocket and laid it on her desk.

"I'm going to use this tonight to kill my father," he explained. "For he beats up us kids as well as my mother." Rev. Rippel shook her head.

"No, you are not going to do that," she firmly but sympathetically replied, "for there is too much good in you to let you do such a bad thing." However, he still protested that he was intent on shooting his dad.

"Well," she continued, "you kneel down beside your blanket and pray as I have suggested. And before I leave this office, I'll also kneel down in our little chapel and pray for you, too. For you have a lot of good in you and it can conquer the bad."

He finally gave her the gun, with tears in his eyes, and left. Now, 15 years later, she was curbed by that police car. And the handsome driver thereof was this same boy!

He just happened to see her pass his squad car and hastened to tell her that her early faith in him had tipped the scales at that decisive crisis in his life.

"Friendly counsel at a teenager's 'crossroads' in life often pays rich dividends!

Lipoproteins Are Molecules

Dear Dr. Lamb—Can you explain to me what a lipoprotein is? My husband had a special blood test and his doctor said he had increased lipoproteins. Has this anything to do with cholesterol and what should he do about it?

Dear Reader—Lipo means fatlike. Fats don't exist in significant quantities in normal people in the blood except in combination with a protein. Fatty acids in the blood combine with glycerol to form a tripart particle called a triglyceride. Glycerol is actually an alcohol and chemically combines with three fatty acids.

This is where the "tri" comes in. Words in chemistry, like medicine and most disciplines, are really definitions. The ending "ide" designates a salt—hence you have sodium chloride, ordinary table salt from hydrochloric acid and sodium. The triglyceride technically is a salt from organic fatty acids and glycerol.

QUESTION:—Is compulsory support and attendance of government schools the primary cause of ever bigger government and the gradual depriving individuals of their God-given right to choose how to use their creative energies?

ANSWER:—When action is required by law, it follows that the political machinery which set up the compulsion must also set up the means for administering the law. An enforcement arm must be established along with procedure for punishment of those who fail to conform. The case of the Amish people who have refused to send their children to tax-supported schools in Minnesota is a case in point.

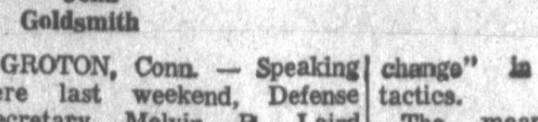

As to the second part of the question, the simple act of making a choice is the essence of life. When the right to choose is interfered with by political action, the individual is hampered in his development. It is through making decisions, good ones and bad that the individual really discovers who he is.

Inside Washington

Tactical Missile Subs Needed by U.S. Navy

GROTON, Conn. — Speaking here last weekend, Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird announced that the Pentagon is considering a new type of submarine armed with tactical missiles to fire against enemy ships.

The secretary added to a prepared text the comment that such a new missile firing submarine is "important to the future of the Navy." Those short remarks were the news in Laird's otherwise routine speech delivered at the keel-laying of the super-quiet attack submarine, Glanard, P. Lipscomb.

The secretary's comments did not come as a surprise, however, to many in this Thames River Community which is home for both the Navy's submarine training facility and the Electric Boat division of General Dynamics, which has turned over more than a third of the Navy's nuclear submarine office.

Even before Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, the Navy's nuclear submarine pioneer, stressed the need for such a sub in testimony released last month, submarine experts were telling one another that the United States must move, now, into an area of weaponry so far preempted by the Russians.

For the moment, Navy sources say the U.S. and Russia are operating about the same number of nuclear-powered submarines. Each nation has a few more than 90 such nuclear powered ships operating with its fleets.

While the United States is ahead with 41 nuclear-powered submarines of the Polaris-Poseidon type, equipped to fire ballistic missiles, but the Russians are catching up with their very similar Yankee class. As against two classes of Russian subs firing tactical missiles, however, the United States has no such vessels, and none now planned.

"QUANTUM CHANGE" — While Pentagon experts are just starting to whip up support for a U.S. submarine firing tactical missiles, it is quite accurate to say that the Russian tactical submarines are a central feature in a submarine threat which is viewed as probably the most serious ever faced by the U.S.—including the Nazi U-Boats early in World War II.

Talking with newsmen here last week, Vice Admiral Harold E. Shear, director of the Navy's anti-submarine warfare programs, said the new Soviet submarine types, including those firing tactical missiles, have brought about a "quantum change" in anti-submarine tactics.

The meaning of Shear's comments is pretty clear. Instead of worrying only about torpedoes, fired rather slowly at a range of a few miles by submarines which must elude screening destroyers, major warships must also worry now about weapons fired at missile speeds and boring in from distant launch sites a few feet above the water to deliver nuclear warheads.

It means, says Shear, that the old anti-submarine warfare problem, has now become an anti-aircraft problem as well. Some of the tactical Russian subs are known to fire relatively slow moving, air-breathing subs are known to fire relatively cruise missiles. The Russians claim, however, that their new, "Charlie class" submarines can fire tactical missiles while submerged, as the U.S. Polaris and Russian Yankee class submarines fire their strategic missiles.

POLARIS' SUCCESSES — Paradoxically, it was early successes with Polaris technology which diverted U.S. planners from adapting other missiles to submarines. The Navy had been working with the Regulus cruise missile in that context, and there was a proposal to use the Army's liquid-fueled Jupiter for sea launch. In 1956, however, breakthroughs were made in solid rocket fuels and in the miniaturization of nuclear warheads. On that basis, Polaris supplanted Jupiter.

Now Navy submariners are convinced that the Polaris-Poseidon submarines will be invulnerable to an enemy knockout blow for this decade. They look to the now planned Underwater Long-range Missile System (ULMS) to provide a more sophisticated ballistic missile potential about 1980. The submarine experts are convinced that the trouble prone Mark 48 torpedo is on the track at last and will improve the capacity of U.S. attack submarine in fighting against enemy subs.

There remains, however, the ability of Soviet submarines to launch a new sort of submarine attack against U.S. warships and the warships of U.S. allies. That ability of the Charlie Class Soviet submarines is presently unmatched by the U.S. sub fleet.

With Russian fleet units continually widening their area of operations, the implications of Laird's boast for a new type of U.S. tactical submarine is abundantly clear.

The Fall Of Abe Teitlebaum

By PAUL HARVEY The last time you heard of Abraham Teitlebaum he was sitting on top of the underworld.

Ab Teitlebaum was Al Capone's family lawyer, mouthpiece for the Mafia, had connections where connections pay.

In the late Thirties he had the nearest deal imaginable, was able to play both sides of the labor-management chessboard; no way he could lose.

The Chicago Restaurant Assn. paid him $125,000 a year to keep peace with the unions. Union leaders played dead in exchange for a payoff. So Abe Teitlebaum sliced up the pie, always saving a sizable slice for himself.

If a restaurant owner refused to pay, soon his front entrance was "eighty-sized" by pickets; his patrons went down the street and his business went down the drain.

When the owner had had enough, he had to crawl up to Abe Teitlebaum's opulent office overlooking Michigan Avenue to plead for mercy, make his payments — retroactively — and get forgiveness. Before he got back to his restaurant the pickets were gone.

SIXTH AND SIXTEENTH AMENDMENTS

SIXTH and Sixteenth amendments; profaning the Constitution he quoted.

When the senators demanded to know what he did for his $125,000 a year salary from the Restaurant Assn., he laughed at them.

McClellan threatened him with contempt. The Chicago Bar Assn. tried to disbar him. But Teitlebaum thumbed his nose at all of them and got away with it.

Now it's 1971. Abraham Teitlebaum lives in Los Angeles — on $196 a month from the Los Angeles County Welfare Department.

He sleeps in a $2.50 a night flophouse and shares a kitchen with 20 other men.

In the years between Teitlebaum's wife left him, his health failed, he went broke, still owing the government half a million in back taxes. But the government isn't even trying to collect any more.

Abe Teitlebaum has outlived his usefulness to the government — and to the mob — and to himself.

That old gang of his is still stealing, maybe $20 billion a year, but when they were through with him they were through with him.

Just in case you have imagined that there is honor among thieves, that the mob takes care of its own; the mob takes care only of itself.

People In World Power Politics Likely To Become Triangular Affair

LONDON (AP) — Hayley Mills, the child star who suddenly grew up, married 57-year-old movie director Roy Boulting in France this week.

"It just seemed to be the right thing to do," Hayley, now 25, told friends Thursday night.

The couple, now back in London, said they married at Cap d'Al in the south of France with two friends present. They said Hayley's parents, actor John Mills and his playwright wife Mary Hayley Bell, could not be present but sent good wishes.

Hayley hit stardom as the simple child heroine of Walt Disney's "Polynanna" and went on to make a string of Disney hits.

The romance with Boulting started in 1966 when he directed her in "The Family Way."

Hayley is Boulting's fourth wife. They announced after his divorce three years ago that they would marry but decided to wait.

Boulting explained: "There is a considerable disparity between my age and Hayley's, and I thought it would have been most unfair to act hastily."

EDITOR'S NOTE — For years two superpowers have been arrayed in a tug of war, Moscow vs. Washington. Now China is about to make it a three-way competition, and the original contestants must speculate how the pulling and hauling will go under the gathering clouds of potential destruction. Some things the development may mean are discussed in this analysis, first of two articles, by a writer who has closely watched Communist maneuvers as World War II turned into cold war and evolved into the era of ABM and SALT.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
One of these days—perhaps fairly soon—Red China is expected to lob and intercontinental ballistic missile into the sea.
It will make an enormous splash. As the innocent click of Ping Pong paddles did political ly, its ominous roar militarily will remind the world that the perilous game of world power politics has become a triangular affair. China has broken out of her shell and is taking a hand.

"The shadow of that missile arc will be permanent," says Dr. Ralph Lapp, a noted nuclear physicist long associated with the study of the problems involved with superweaponry. He feels Red China, unlike the two secondary nuclear club members, Britain and France, will be a truly credible nuclear power because of her vastness, staking a claim to superpower status.

This is bound to have an immense impact on the shape of things to come in the remaining three decades of the 20th century. China, believed by experts ready to test her ICBM when the moment is right psychologically, already is a spectral third party at SALT, the Soviet-American talks on strategic arms limitation.

China's missile will add a new dimension to what, for years, has been a two-way competition between the United States and the Soviet Union.

The world, not without some terrifying moments, survived the first quarter-century of the nuclear age. President Nixon expressed hope for a shift from confrontation to an era of negotiation. There is much talk of ushing European security, restoring Asian peace and fruitful concourse among nations.

But while there are hopeful signs, today's confrontation jargon remains frightening.

Today's world is one in which three huge nations eye one another with suspicion. If any of the three makes even a hesitant gesture toward another, the third invariably reacts with alarm.

NEW YORK (AP) — Twenty-three nations agreed this week to form a high-level trade study group aimed at preventing the possibility of trade wars breaking out and reducing tariff and trade quota barriers.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers attended the meeting of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development and pressed for the formation of such a group to combat protectionist trade forces.

Observers said the committee is expected to arrive at means under which the organization's members, most of the powerful Western nations, would be able to instigate new tariff cutting measures.

President Nixon lifted the 21-year-old ban in imports from Red China and issued a broad list of nonstrategic U.S. goods which may be sold there.

At the same time he struck down a requirement adopted in 1963 that at least 50 per cent of U.S. grain exports to Russia, Communist East Europe and the Chinese mainland be carried on American vessels.

Administration officials predicted this eventually would aid U.S. exporters in getting some $20 million to $300 million a year in wheat shipments that the Soviets buy elsewhere.

Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin, however, emphasized "we do not anticipate significant trade developments with either China or the Soviet Union in the immediate future."

Officials said the Chinese mainland now imports about $2 billion annually, including $1.5 billion from non-Communist countries, and exports about the same amount.

Among the items on the trade list which may be sold to Red China without a specific export license are most farm, fish and forestry products; coals; selected chemicals; agricultural, industrial and office equipment; household appliances; and electrical apparatus in general industrial or commercial use.

The Nixon administration's proposal to guarantee loans of $250 million to financially troubled Lockheed Aircraft Corp. ran into congressional difficulty.

Deputy Secretary of Defense, David Packard, gave only lukewarm support to the proposal which, observers said, hurt considerably its chances for passage on the Senate floor.

Earlier this week Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally urged that it was "critical" the bill be passed within 40 days. He said the British government would cancel its agreement to supply Rolls-Royce engines for the New Lockheed Tristar Airbus if Congress did not act by Aug. 8.

Lockheed says it needs the loan guarantees to help carry out its L1011 Tristar Airbus program which was jeopardized by Rolls-Royce Ltd., builder of the plane's engines.

In a separate development, the Defense Department announced it had reached a restructured contract with Lockheed over the controversial CSA cargo jet. Under the amended contract the company agreed to take a $200 million loss on the production of 81 of the planes.

The total price for the program now is estimated at $4.5 billion or about $1 billion more than was estimated originally for 120 of the planes.

This week Lockheed reported a profit decline in the first quarter of 1971. The company said net earnings fell to $4.5 million, or 50 cents a share, for the first quarter from $5.1 million or 45 cents a share for same time last year. Sales in the first quarter were $586 million compared with $521 million a year ago.

The Penn Central Transportation Co. widened its loss estimate to $240 million this year from the $188 million loss predicted earlier. Its 1970 net loss was about $425 million.

However, the trustees said the outlook for the railroad "is brighter than it was" when Congress late last year guaranteed $100 million of borrowing for meeting payrolls.

The Federal Trade Commission announced it would order all major industries to publicly prove their advertising claims.

The FTC adopted a resolution requiring all advertisers to submit to it on demand documentation to support claims regarding the safety, performance, efficacy, quality and comparative prices of products. It said the date would be made public.

The FTC said orders to file data will be issued about every three months. The first order will be directed toward the automobile industry.

The commission's action was prompted by a petition filed last December by Ralph Nader and consumer organizations accusing advertisers of making "vague claims which give consumers no real understanding" of the performance of their products.

In commenting upon the commission's action Nader said "if it's a first step it's an encouraging sign. If it's a full response to our position, it's inadequate."

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. has begun an advertising campaign which asks the consumer whether he wants to pay the price of new safety devices being considered by the federal government.

"You pay a lot more for the seat belts and shoulder harnesses in your car," says the headline on the Ford ad which

"We've learned from letters that people are reasonable and intelligent. We're trying to convey the idea that Ford Motor Co. is reasonable and intelligent, too."

He also indicated the ads may be of value in lining up support for Ford in its battles with government regulators over safety and exhaust emission standards.

General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp. spokesmen declined comment on the Ford ads, saying it would be improper for them to discuss their competitors' advertising.

Morrissey, however, predicted that other companies will switch to such ads. "I think this represents something you'll see a lot more of from now on out," he said.

Correct Problems Early
Have Your Child Tested

Three health problems that can often be the cause of a child doing poorly in school are speech deficiency, poor hearing and bad eye sight. Any or all of these can strongly inhibit the desire for a child to learn and to enjoy the friendships of companions at school.

Many schools will make arrangements for children to be tested for these problems as part of their program or you can ask your family doctor to do it for you. Don't take a chance on having difficulties interfere with what should be a happy time for your child.
