LOCAL C OF C SPONSORS 4TH OF JULY CELEBRATION

Training Class Is Filling

Pre-registration figures today show that the forthcoming Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce sponsored employees training course is more than one-third full.

The four step method of training employees will begin here July 20th. Officially titled "How To Train An Employee" the four day course will be brought to the area through the offices of the Distributive Education Program of the University of Texas and the Texas Education Agency.

According to Roger Albertson, C of C president, the meetings have been scheduled for 7:30 p. m. July 20 - 23. Meeting place has not yet been announced.

Because the class can not be over crowded, Albertson, urged all supervisory personnel who are connected with the training of employees to register at the Chamber of Commerce office now.

He pointed out that well trained employees enjoy their work, resulting in greater productivity and contented customers in all lines of business.

Sessions will be conducted by Mrs. Mary Frances Bowden, supervisory and management training specialist from the University of Texas. She regularly conducts similar programs throughout Texas, and has had broad experience in personnel administration, training in retail and (See TRAINING, Page 4)

Golf Lessons

Muleshoe Country Club will offer free golf lessons under the direction of the club's pro, Skinny Carter. The only change will be from 25 to 50 cents per bucket of range balls.

According to the club's officials the lessons will begin at 9 a. m. Thursday for men and the same time Friday for ladies.

EAGLE SCOUT — David Alsop received his Eagle Scout rank at a court of awards last week. Completion of requirements for 21 badges was necessary to obtain the grade. David has earned a total of 32 during his four years as a member of Troop 634, which is sponsored by the Muleshoe Volunteer Fire Department.

Shows You Can't Please Everybody

Much needed rain showers — approximately one quarter to one-half inch — dampened the Muleshoe trade area Thursday, and the weather forecasters predict more during next week.

The rain came at an almost ideal time for fledgling cotton crops and is expected to be of assistance in grain sorghum stands in the immediate area.

Reports of tornado being sighted in Muleshoe were shown to be unfounded when checked out through several sources. Gardeners and Muleshoe area Between five and six thousand persons from as far away as Lubbock, Amarillo and Clovis as well as most of the High Plains cities located within about a 50-60 mile radius of Muleshoe attended the Annual Muleshoe 4th of July Celebration.

What may have been Muleshoe's most successful 4th celebration featured a tremendous 45-minute fireworks display and more than 30 amateur talent acts from 15 neighboring towns and cities, according to C of C reports.

This year's affair was greatly improved by the installation of a professional high-fidelity sound system which enabled spectators to hear the actual tone and range of the celebrating acts.

Gil Lamb, KMUL, owner-manager, acted as the master of ceremonies and delighted the huge throng with his running patter of jokes and ad libs.

A complete list of winners and their hometowns was not available at the Journal's press time. However, a complete listing will be printed in Thursday's issue.

The affair was under the direction of Frank Ellis, committee chairman. He was assisted by Marie White, who took complete charge of organizing the talent part of the show.

Brief remarks were made on the real significance of the 4th by Rev. T. G. Kraft, pastor of the Y. L. Methodist Church. Kraft is well known in the Muleshoe area as pastor of the First Methodist Church here from 1946 to 1950.

Redistricting Case Appealed

An appeal challenging the decision on Moore County redistricting by Judge Harry Schultz, 69th District Court, was filed Tuesday in the Seventh Court of Civil Appeals in Amarillo. The suit asks that the ruling handed down be overturned.

Commissioner Dan Hatter and 14 other Moore County residents claim that one county commissioner is representing 75 per cent of the county's population while (See CASE, Page 4)

Farm Test Scheduled

Twelve strains and varieties of soybeans will be tested in the Muleshoe area as a part of the program of the High Plains Research Foundation in 1964. The experimental strains will be compared with the Lee, Hill, and HINN varieties. Jack Werner, new Assistant Agronomist of the Foundation, will supervise the planting, cultivation and harvesting of the varieties. The local test is located on the Troy Moss farm; Muleshoe, and on the Forest Textline farm.

The first Monday at the camp, which is located near Vadito, will feature a sing song around the camp fire. Tuesday's highlight will be a special evening event. Wednesday's feature will be "free" day.

Thursday the group will visit Santa Fe during the day and go on a moonlight hike that evening. The group will leave the camp about 1 p. m. Friday for the trip to Muleshoe.

Other features of the ramble will be fishing, horseshoes, Volleyball, Bad-Miton, and football. Those attending are requested to bring such personal equipment as flash light, Bible, fishing equipment, hiking shoes, camera, toilet articles and spending money, according to Peery.

MULESHOE'S MAJOR STREET REPAIR PROGRAM NEARING COMPLETION

RENOVATION — Muleshoe's major street renovating program is in full swing this week. The much needed and long past due improvement program cost tax payers $14,726.

Originally the city fathers had set aside $25,000 for the program in the city budget. Low bid at that time was in excess of $18,000. After re-advertising for bids the city was gratified to find that on reconsideration by one of the original bidders the price would be $14,726. What the city will do with the $10,274 saving has not been released.

HOW IT'S DONE — Mrs. Stanley Williams is showing how she made her hat with the roll brim over a wooden frame for shaping and the crown already shaped and ready to attack. The workshop was attended by a number of area women.

Yarborough In Washington

Dear Fellow Texan:

This was the anniversary week of the signing of the World War II GI Bill 20 years ago by President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

At that time, President Roosevelt said the GI Bill gives "emphatic justice to the men and women in our Armed Forces that the American people do not intend to let them down."

Fellow Texans, I am working for enactment of my Cold War GI Bill, co-sponsored by 38 other Senators, because we must not let our country down.

The Cold War GI Bill is patterned after the GI Bills of World War II and the Korean Conflict, which provided additional education and training for more than 11 million men and women. More than 5 million World War II veterans alone received home, farm or business loans, totalling more than $43 Billion. It helped to set off an economic boom unprecedented in history.

For many veterans the GI Bill is paying for itself at the rate of a billion dollars more in taxes a year because of increased taxes paid on the higher incomes that are a direct result of the GI Bill.

Seven million, eight hundred thousand veterans of World War II went to school under the GI Bill, followed by some 3½ million more from the Korean conflict.

In a discussion of the Cold War GI Bill on the Senate floor, I was pleased to hear Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon point out that passage of the bill would prevent hundreds of thousands of young people from being drowned in a pool of unemployment in this age of technology.

Senator Vance Hartke of Indiana, a champion of improved educational opportunities, joined in this discussion and said, "I know of no more pressing problem at the moment facing many of our young people than the problem of providing themselves with education and training."

We are working for the Cold War GI Bill as an act of justice.

Should Teens Drink?

By JOY MILLER

AP Women's Editor
NEW YORK (AP) — Is it just in his way to becoming a lush? There's not a loyal parent of teen-agers across the country who wouldn't bridle at the suggestion. The indignant protests would range from "But he's never had a drop in his life", to "My kid is learning to do it right; he drinks right along with me and holds it like a gentleman. But a great many nonetheless would admit it's a problem that has them worried. Not that they don't trust junior implicitly, but when he gets out with his crowd clude such matters as which particular beverage you drank when you were 15, 16 or even 5, at what times of the day you drank it, what was in your stomach when the alcohol arrived, where and with whom you first met alcohol and what both your father and mother thought about it." What can American parents learn from these studies? Dr. Lohli says:

"1. Set a good example. Even a toddler can detect drunkenness in a parent.

"2. Help give teen-agers a moderate attitude toward drinking. It's to be used and enjoyed as food, not as a stimulant or as a release from inhibitions and tensions.

"3. Most important is that they learn to practice safety devices: Never drink on an empty stomach; have diluted drinks instead of concentrated; space the drinks and know how much they can take safely."

The Texas Department of Public Safety appeals to all drivers to mark this Fourth of July weekend as a time to review their driving habits in light of the fact that traffic accidents are at an all-time high. Serious accidents are more frequent in holiday periods, and it is estimated that 32 persons will be killed in traffic from Friday, July 3, through Sunday, July 5. This doesn't have to happen! Tragedy can be averted by remaining constantly on the alert for dangerous situations, by not taking chances and by driving in accordance with laws of safety.

MEANS SEX HERE

What do authorities in the field say?

Here are some views of two experts which may engage teetotaling parents but make sense to others.

Dr. Giorgio Lohli, formerly director of Yale University's Clinic Plan and now director of uses the Italians as an example. The Italians, who consume more alcohol than almost anybody in Europe, have fewer alcoholics than anybody. This is frequently attributed to the fact that children are given a teaspoon of wine a glass of water as a matter of course at family meals.

Says Dr. Lohli: "Among teenagers in the United States, liquor is associated with adulthood and sex. The Italian youngster however, has been drinking wine for a long time and there's no special significance to it. As a matter of fact, he'd much rather stay sober on a date, especially if he's with a pretty girl."

LEARN FROM PARENTS

Dr. Milton Silverman, biochemist and medical research director of California's Department of Agriculture Wine Advisory Board, says: "Statistics show that the best risks for not becoming alcoholics are kids who grow up in strong family groups of moderate drinkers. Alcoholics or strong teetotalers are equally bad.

"Teen-agers, if they're lucky, learn about drinking from their father and mother. It's better than learning in a parked car outside a high school dance. It's very much like sex education that way.

The parent's example is extremely important, says Dr. Silverman.

"The kids see with their own eyes that liquor is used in moderation and their parents don't get stoned. When they're accustomed to seeing it this way, nobody makes a big thing of it.

"They don't get the idea that drinking excessively is comic or stylish, but instead that it makes you not socially acceptable.

The conviction that heavy drinking proves you're a man causes perhaps the most trouble, says Dr. Silverman.

France I say a father actually slug his son for not drinking. There a youngster starts working at 14 and has not accepted by his buddies until he can drink as much as they can. Heavy drinking is held almost a proof of virility.

"But it's equally bad when kids are told they'll go to hell. It's the old business of the forbidden fruit. The first time they get off the reservation, they start right in drinking."

A number of long term studies of drinking habits in Europe and this country show how cultural patterns, set early in childhood, affect the drinking habits of teenagers and adults.

From the findings, says Dr. Silverman, "it appears that the major factors in alcoholism in-

Tax Deductible Wardrobe?

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A plank sure to win the vote of career girls this election year is one advocating a tax write-off for the stylish wardrobes essential to maintaining their image and therefore their jobs.

Every now and then some smart Congressman wins wild applause from lady constituents with this popular proposal, pointing out that a social hostess' collection of beaded dinner gowns is just as necessary in her work as overalls are to the plumber.

Meanwhile Uncle Sam's tax boys continue to risk the wrath of the disaffiliated by interpreting the current law as they see it.

Recently singer Peggy Lee marched into her regional tax office and plunked a pair of beaded pumps on a collector's desk.

"How could I possibly wear these anywhere but on the stage?" she demanded.

But no dice. The shoes were not tax deductible, the performer was told. Nor were her two diaphanous coats with the white fox trim around the bottom.

"Our rule is that if the garment can be worn on the street it is not deductible," explains a spokesman from the New York office. But he admits Congressman wins wild applause that the definition of streetwear may differ with the individual tax auditor.

What of starlets who need glamorous garments in which to be seen and photographed in all the best places as a part of a glamorous personality build up?

Most theatrical personalities have two wardrobes, one a working wardrobe for just such purposes, and another for ordinary wear, says the tax representative. Many Hollywood studios provide these "for-show" clothes for stars. The use of each article paid for by the wearers themselves must be substantiated to come off the tax bill.

"It boils down to common sense," the tax man claims. "It is about the same thing as a

Wall Street businessman who wears a derby and a gaudy blazer for publicity purposes instead of his usual conservative pin-stripe suit. It's obvious he would not wear that thing all the time, so the matter of tax deduction is no problem.

Still, some society editors, fashion coordinators, and social hostesses fail to understand why their necessarily more elaborate wardrobes do not fall under the

New For Coffee Lovers

Coffee lovers will love the news of a new beverage lightener. Called Cremora, it has only 11 calories per level teaspoonful. It is a powdered non-dairy product that can be used to lighten coffee, tea or cocoa.

The coffee lightener requires no refrigeration. It is a handy product to keep on the pantry shelf and on the table. Easy to use, it can be sprinkled into the hot beverage or reconstituted in advance for use over hot or cold cereal or fresh fruit. When reconstituted it has the flavor and consistency of light cream.

The new coffee lightener is equally at home away-from-home. On motor trips, take along a jar of Cremora and a jar of instant coffee for easy-to-fix early morning or late evening coffee. Your husband will appreciate a jar of this lightener on his camping or fishing trips, too.

The Polls

Whatever public acceptance the public opinion polls enjoyed prior to 1964, they have now lost much of it in the eyes of a large segment of the population.

The latest debunking of the accuracy of public opinion polls came in the California primary this month. Despite the excuses and explanations, the hard truth is that ALL the major polls were wrong.

The alibi is offered that the polls indicated the primary election would be close, but this is practically always the case. And despite the often-seen emptiness of pollsters, to indicate things are tightening up at the last minute (which offers a post mortem alibi), the exhibition in California was a devastating one to the pollsters' reputation.

Goldwater would have won the California primary at anytime from May to June. In fact, Governor Nelson Rockefeller benefited greatly in the last week or ten days before the June 2nd vote by the bandwagon psychology created by the press and pollsters.

Most reporters filed stories of gloom at Goldwater headquarters in the last week of the campaign was effective and certainly caused some to join the Rockefeller headquarters.

This propaganda campaign effective and certainly caused some to join the Rockefeller bandwagon, to be on the winning side. The really significant thing is that this was not enough to defeat Goldwater, who still polled about 60,000 more votes than Rockefeller, who had the backing of Ambassadors and the tacit support of former President Dwight Eisenhower.

The polls are not absolutely accurate because they do not reach enough people (and can't) and because many will never reveal their innermost thoughts and preferences to an outsider who attempts to poll them.

Yarborough In Washington

Dear Fellow Texan:

This was the anniversary week of the signing of the World War II GI Bill 20 years ago by President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

At that time, President Roosevelt said the GI Bill gives "emphatic notice to the men and women in our Armed Forces that the American people do not intend to let them down."

Fellow Texans, I am working for enactment of my Cold War GI Bill, co-sponsored by 38 other Senators, because we must not let our country down.

The Cold War GI Bill is patterned after the GI Bills of World War II and the Korean Conflict, which provided additional education and training for more than 11 million men and women. More than 5 million World War II veterans alone received home, farm or business loans, totalling more than $43 Billion. It helped to set off an economic boom unprecedented in history.

For many veterans the GI Bill is paying for itself at the rate of a billion dollars more in taxes a year because of increased taxes paid on the higher incomes that are a direct result of the GI Bill.

Seven million, eight hundred thousand veterans of World War II went to school under the GI Bill, followed by some 3 1/2 million more from the Korean conflict.

In a discussion of the Cold War GI Bill on the Senate floor, I was pleased to hear Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon point out that passage of the bill would prevent hundreds of thousands of young people from being drowned in a pool of unemployment in this age of technology.

Senator Vance Hartke of Indiana, a champion of improved educational opportunities, joined in this discussion and said, "I know of no more pressing problem at the moment facing many of our young people than the problem of providing themselves with education and training."

We are working for the Cold War GI Bill as an act of justice.

Should Teens Drink?

By JOY MILLER

AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Is liquor in his way to becoming a lush? There's not a loyal parent of teen-agers across the country who wouldn't bridle at the suggestion. The indignant protests would range from "But he's never had a drop in his life", to "My kid is learning to do it right; he drinks right along with me and holds it like a gentleman. But a great many nonetheless would admit it's a problem that has them worried. Not that they don't trust juror implicitly, but when he gets out with his crowd

MEANS SEX HERE

What do authorities in the field say?

Here are some views of two experts which may enrage teetotaling parents but make sense to others.

Dr. Giorgio Lolli, formerly director of Yale University's Clinic Plan and now director of uses the Italians as an example.

The Italians, who consume more alcohol than almost anybody in Europe, have fewer alcoholics than anybody. This is frequently attributed to the fact that children are given a teaspoon of wine a glass of water as a matter of course at family meals.

Says Dr. Lolli: "Among teenagers in the United States, liquor is associated with adulthood and sex. The Italian youngster however, has been drinking wine for a long time and there's no special significance to it. As a matter of fact, he'd much rather stay sober on a date, especially if he's with a pretty girl."

LEARN FROM PARENTS

Dr. Milton Silverman, biochemist and medical research director of California's Department of Agriculture Wine Advisory Board, says: "Statistics show that the best risks for not becoming alcoholics are kids who grow up in strong family groups of moderate drinkers. Alcoholics or strong teetotalers are equally bad.

"Teen-agers, if they're lucky, learn about drinking from their father and mother. It's better than learning in a parked car outside a high school dance. It's very much like sex education that way.

The parent's example is extremely important, says Dr. Silverman.

"The kids see with their own eyes that liquor is used in moderation and their parents don't get stoned. When they're accustomed to seeing it this way, nobody makes a big thing of it.

"They don't get the idea that drinking excessively is comic or stylish, but instead that it makes you not socially acceptable.

The conviction that heavy drinking proves you're a man causes perhaps the most trouble, says Dr. Silverman.

France I say a father actually slug his son for not drinking. There a youngster starts working at 14 and has not accepted by his buddies until he can drink as much as they can. Heavy drinking is held almost a proof of virility.

"But it's equally bad when kids are told they'll go to hell. It's the old business of the forbidden fruit. The first time they get off the reservation, they start right in drinking."

A number of long term studies of drinking habits in Europe and this country show how cultural patterns, set early in childhood, affect the drinking habits of teenagers and adults.

From the findings, says Dr. Silverman, "it appears that the major factors in alcoholism include such matters as which particular beverage you drank when you were 15, 16 or even 5, at what times of the day you drank it, what was in your stomach when the alcohol arrived, where and with whom you first met alcohol and what both your father and mother thought about it."

What can American parents learn from these studies? Dr. Lolli says:

"1. Set a good example. Even a toddler can detect drunkenness in a parent.

"2. Help give teen-agers a moderate attitude toward drinking. It's to be used and enjoyed as food, not as a stimulant or as a release from inhibitions and tensions.

"3. Most important is that they learn to practice safety devices: Never drink on an empty stomach; have diluted drinks instead of concentrated; space the drinks and know how much they can take safely."

The Texas Department of Public Safety appeals to all drivers to mark this Fourth of July weekend as a time to review their driving habits in light of the fact that traffic accidents are at an all-time high. Serious accidents are more frequent in holiday periods, and it is estimated that 32 persons will be killed in traffic from Friday, July 3, through Sunday, July 5. This doesn't have to happen! Tragedy can be averted by remaining constantly on the alert for dangerous situations, by not taking chances and by driving in accordance with laws of safety.

Tax Deductible Wardrobe?

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A plank sure to win the vote of career girls this election year is one advocating a tax write-off for the stylish wardrobes essential to maintaining their image and therefore their jobs.

Every now and then some smart Congressman wins wild applause from lady constituents with this popular proposal, pointing out that a social hostess' collection of beaded dinner gowns is just as necessary in her work as overalls are to the plumber.

Meanwhile Uncle Sam's tax boys continue to risk the wrath of the distaff side by interpreting the current law as they see it.

Recently singer Peggy Lee marched into her regional tax office and plunked a pair of beaded pumps on a collector's desk.

"How could I possibly wear these anywhere but on the stage?" she demanded.

But no dice. The shoes were not tax deductible, the performer was told. Nor were her two diaphanous coats with the white fox trim around the bottom.

"Our rule is that if the garment can be worn on the street it is not deductible," explains a spokesman from the New York office. But he admits Congressman wins wild applause that the definition of streetwear may differ with the individual tax auditor.

What of starlets who need glamorous garments in which to be seen and photographed in all the best places as a part of a glamorous personality build up?

Most theatrical personalities have two wardrobes, one a working wardrobe for just such purposes, and another for ordinary wear, says the tax representative. Many Hollywood studios provide these "for-show" clothes for stars. The use of each article paid for by the wearers themselves must be substantiated to come off the tax bill.

"It boils down to common sense," the tax man claims. "It is about the same thing as a

Wall Street businessman who wears a derby and a gaudy blazer for publicity purposes instead of his usual conservative "rifle" suit. It's obvious he would not wear that thing all the time, so the matter of tax deduction is no problem.

Still, some society editors, fashion coordinators, and social hostesses fail to understand why their necessarily more elaborate wardrobes do not fall under the heading of legitimate business expense simply because they look like anything any chic woman would wear anyway.

But ladies always are hard to convince. The New York tax office remembers fondly the adamant wife who took her case to the Supreme Court before she was satisfied that her husband's long johns, worn under his policeman's uniform, were not tax deductible even though he might have frozen to death without them.

The justices ruled that what, if anything, is worn under the working uniform is a purely personal matter.

Most career girls won't argue this point. But any chic receptionist who snags her boss on her ancient desk at least once a day will cast her vote for the politician in favor of making her business clothing costs tax deductible.

New For Coffee Lovers

Coffee lovers will love the news of a new beverage lightener. Called Cremora, it has only 11 calories per level teaspoonful. It is a powdered non-dairy product that can be used to lighten coffee, tea or cocoa.

The coffee lightener requires no refrigeration. It is a handy product to keep on the pantry shelf and on the table. Easy to use, it can be sprinkled into the hot beverage or reconstituted in advance for use over hot or cold cereal or fresh fruit. When reconstituted it has the flavor and consistency of light cream.

The new coffee lightener is equally at home away-from-home. On motor trips, take along a jar of Cremora and a jar of instant coffee for easy-to-fix early morning or late evening coffee. Your husband will appreciate a jar of this lightener on his camping or fishing trips, too.

The Polls

Whatever public acceptance the public opinion polls enjoyed prior to 1964, they have now lost much of it in the eyes of a large segment of the population.

The latest debunking of the accuracy of public opinion polls came in the California primary this month. Despite the excuses and explanations, the hard truth is that ALL the major polls were wrong.

The alibi is offered that the polls indicated the primary election would be close, but this is practically always the case. And despite the often-seen at-empt of pollsters, to indicate things are tightening up at the last minute (which offers a post mortem alibi), the exhibition in California was a devastating one to the pollsters' reputation.

Goldwater would have won the California primary at anytime from May to June. In fact, Governor Nelson Rockefeller benefited greatly in the last week.

ek or ten days before the June 2nd vote by the bandwagon psychology created by the press and pollsters.

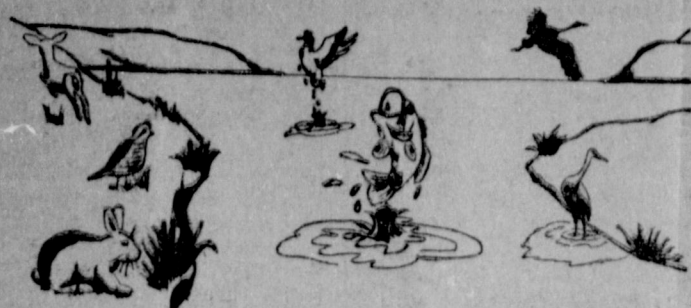

Most reporters filed stories of gloom at Goldwater headquarters in the last week of the campaign was effective and certainly caused some to join the Rockefeller headquarters.

This propaganda campaign effective and certainly caused some to join the Rockefeller bandwagon to be on the winning side. The really significant thing is that this was not enough to defeat Goldwater, who still polled about 60,000 more votes than Rockefeller, who had the backing of Ambroscio and the tacit support of former President Dwight Eisenhower.

The polls are not absolutely accurate because they do not reach enough people (and can't) and because many will never reveal their innermost thoughts and preferences to an outsider who attempts to poll them.

IT'S FOR THE BIRDS

How many hunters and fishermen are there in the United States and how much money did they spend on licenses during 1963?

A total of 19,831,44 fishermen and 13,999,375 hunters bought licenses to pursue their favorite sport in 1963. The purchases of licenses alone resulted in an expenditure of nearly $128 million.

Even though the number of licensed hunters and fishermen is large, millions of others also hunt and fish without being required to purchase licenses.

A national survey conducted by the Bureau of the Census in 1961 indicated there were more than 25 million sport fishermen and approximately 15 million hunters in the United States who participated substantially in these activities during 1960.

about 50 million people who fished or hunted that year. The number of fishermen and hunters undoubtedly was greater in 1963.

Some states allow landowners to hunt on their own property without buying a license. In many states, minors are not required to obtain a fishing license and only six states require a license to fish in salt water. Some states have counties such as our own Bailey County, where residents of this county are not required to purchase a license to fish or hunt in this county.

Some states require hunters and fishermen to purchase separate licenses stamps, permits or tags for taking different kind of fish and game. For example, a special stamp is required in several states to fish for trout. Hunters in several states must have special permits or tags to hunt such game animals as deer, antelope, or turkey.

In 1963 Texas had a total of 833,407 fishing licenses, tags permits, and stamps issued, at a cost of $1,74,546. Likewise, there were 526,018 hunting licenses tags, permits, and stamps issued at a cost of $1,600,133 to hunters.

Cook Cool With Cheese

With the hot weather upon us, one idea uppermost in our minds is how to keep cool. And, for homemakers, a good tip is to cook cool. Cheese not only offers many cool cooking ideas but provides good nutrition as well. A 1-1/2-ounce portion of whole milk cheese is equivalent to 8-ounces or 1/2 pint of whole milk.

For a cooling luncheon salad, try Frosted Pears as developed by the Borden Kitchen. To make twelve of these small frosted pears: Drain a 1 lb., 1 oz. jar of whole spiced sockel pears and reserve 1/4 cup of the pear liquid. Place the pears on paper towels to drain.

In a medium-size mixing bowl place two 3-ounce packages of cream cheese and allow to soften at room temperature. Whip the cheese until light and fluffy, then blend in pear liquid, a tablespoon at a time. Spear top of pear with a fork and roll each pear in whipped cream cheese, coating all but the stem. Then roll pears in 1 cup of finely chopped walnuts. Stand pears upright on a flat plate and chill in the refrigerator about 1 hour. Serve with fresh fruits and slices of melon. Add cheese slices or pasteurized spreads such as Pimento, or Vera-Sharp and you have the makings for sandwiches, too.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER FROM SENATOR JOHN TOWER
Committee Banking and Currency Labor and Public Welfare

Recently, I sent letters to President Johnson and to Mr. Stewart Udall, the Secretary of the Interior, urging them to take some sort of action to limit foreign oil imports into this country.

Excessive oil imports, much of it coming from countries where the cost of production is only a fraction of what it is in our country, have contributed greatly, in the opinion of oil experts, to the current distressing condition in the domestic oil and gas economy.

In an economy such as ours, one sick segment affects other segments, and while you personally may not work in an oil refinery, or on an oil rig, you are nonetheless affected by trouble in the oil and gas industry, just as you are by trouble in any other sizeable segment of our economy - such as the trouble that now plagues our domestic cattle industry because of excessive imports, or our domestic textile industry because of foreign imports, or our domestic lumber industry because of foreign imports, plus an unwieldy subsidy for foreign cotton buyers that has caused the domestic textile industry to end in trouble.

I am deeply troubled by the approach used by this Administration in tackling the problems of our country. There can be no doubt, for instance, that simple, direct action taken more than a year ago could have solved much of our problem with beef imports.

This action need not have been drastic, and would not have cost the taxpayer a penny. It could have been done, as I urged at the time, merely by establishing quotas on foreign beef imported into this country so farmers and ranchers could then stabilize their herds accordingly. This was not done. Indeed, the Administration fought it bitterly, and was successful in killing any legislation along this line.

The result was heavy importation into this country, while we already had a surplus of beef. Prices broke, and millions of dollars were lost to farmers and ranchers. Now the Administration has stepped in, with tax dollars, in a buying program it hopes will bolster the market. I would not be at all surprised if it does not now come forth in this election year with federal loans for hard-hit ranchers. All this could have been avoided by exercising proper discretion at the proper time.

The problems in our domestic oil and gas industry somewhat parallel that of the beef industry, although they are of longer duration. Domestic consumption of petroleum products has not gone down, but demand for domestic crude has gone down. Oil imports have made the difference. This has affected the economy of our state, including the amount of money going into our schools from revenue derived from taxes on crude.

Recently, according to news reports, the National Petroleum Council asked the Secretary of the Interior, Mr. Udall, to study the deplorable condition of the domestic oil producing industry. Other industry groups, including the Independent Petroleum Association of America, and the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association, have asked for study and action on the part of the Department of the Interior. This relief has not been forthcoming.

In fact, again according to newspaper reports, Mr. Udall rejected the request by the National Petroleum Council that a study be made of current conditions in the oil producing industry. Mr. Udall pointed out that he had requested the Interstate Oil Compact Commission to study the effect of state regulations laid for federal criticism of state regulatory agencies, such as our own Texas Railroad Commission, while the real culprit - excessive imports of foreign oil - gets off scot free.

The crowning blow to our domestic oil producing industry is yet to come. The Administration is evidently set to sell to Communist Rumania an entire oil refinery, completely modern in every respect. While we in the Senate have not been given an opportunity to look at the purported agreement between Rumania and this Administration, there are indications that Rumania may even be given credit for this purchase.

It is said that Rumania has promised she will not sell any of the finished petroleum products to the Soviet Union. Of course, Communist promises before, but as look quickly at what might happen. If Rumania does not export to Russia the products or sell her goods? If not to Russia, the remainder is represented by the three other commissioners. Judge Schultz ruled in May that the procedures available in the Commissioner's Court had not been exhausted and that the court, therefore, had no jurisdiction in the matter.

Notice of appeal was filed by Hatter and his attorney, C. D. Bourne, following the court's decision.

A similar situation to that of Moore County exists in Bailey County where three commissioners representing less than about 45 per cent of the county population control the commissioners' court.

The total population of Bailey County is about 9,000. Total population of Muleshoe is about 5,000. Yet the city has only one vote out of four. Outcome of the Moore County redistricting case may lead the way for Bailey County.

then probably to Western Europe, thereby replacing markets of our own, or of oil companies operating in the Mid-East. The net result is likely to be more with money put up by our own government. In any case, we will help build the economy of Yugoslavia. We can hardly benefit when we are faced with alternatives like that.

Bombsights Anyone

One of the nation's best kept secrets during World War I is now up for sale in the American market.

It's the Norden bombsight — some — thing the Air Force treasured during the global conflict.

Bombardiers loved it. They had only to make three major adjustments — for altitudinal bomb weight and sighting on the target — and it was "bombs away" with Norden doing the rest.

Norden sights were high-precision instruments with about 2,000 parts. Some 20 years ago, the sight would have cost a civilian $25,000, if he had been allowed to buy one.

By MRS. C. A. WATSON

Mrs. E. A. Parham accompanied by her nephew Gene Gaston and three children, Robert, Paig and Dyke of Sprinlake attended the Mayfield reunion at Cobb Park, Abilene over the weekend.

Mrs. Roy Farley of the Methodist Church at Lazbuddie entertained a group in her Sunday School class with a trip to Kings Manns Home at Hereford one day last week. Going with Mrs. Farley were: Susan Henry, Theresa Seaton, Leatrice Gail-Johnce Seaton, David Gallman, Gailman and Susan Farley. After viewing the home they went to the park and ate watermelon.

Congratulations to David Tarter on winning the letter B in baseball at Texas Tech last week. David is a 1961 graduate of Lazbuddie High.

Visiting in the Jack Templar home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Clark and children, Mrs. Erma Hempler and Mr. O. G. York, Mr. and Mrs. Cloyce Coven, Muleshoe, Mrs. W. J. Stratton, Amherst, Mrs. Kyle Phippen and daughter, Mrs. Frances, Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Templar, Clovis and Mrs. Naomi Morris, Lubbock.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhill's Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm claims to have some inside information on this week.

I never was much for trying to be first with the news, I figure yesterday's newspaper is as full of news as today's if you haven't seen it yet, or last week's too for that matter, but since editors seem to go for such things, I am pleased to enable The Muleshoe Journal to break the news worldwide that Premier Khrushchev of Russia is going to resign.

I don't know why all the wire services and radio and television commentators missed this too busy reporting — bathing suits I guess, but it's a fact, Mr. Khrushchev is going to resign.

Speaking in Denmark, last week, he said: "If Russia farm problems aren't solved in the next seven or eight years, I will resign."

This makes it definite. No country's farm problem was ever solved in seven or eight years, and as far as I can tell, not in seven or eight centuries either. I've never seen a farm problem that couldn't outlast any man or any country.

No farm problem is ever really solved permanently. Most of the time you just plow around it or move to town and take up bar-boring or open a law office.

However, I will say this for Mr. Khrushchev. You notice he didn't say fifteen or twenty years ago he'd resign from his party if it didn't solve the farm problem

Try 'Berti-Burger' At Dari Delite

When you want a good, tasty hamburger and a cold malt or shake the place to go is Dari-Delite drive in located at 210 North 1st St., in Muleshoe. Here you can find all types of sandwiches and fountain drinks made to taste good and satisfy your appetite.

The "Berti-Burger" is the featured item at this drive-in. It is a De Luxe Hamburger with all the trimmings and is named for the owner, Mrs. Birdie Purcell. She originated the burger which has become very popular in Muleshoe.

Since our society is built around the automobile today, the drive-in restaurants, succeed for that reason. People can buy and eat food "in the run" so to speak and save both time and money. They can drive and eat at the same time.

Teenagers especially, like the drive-ins and they are among the best customers. Their youthful appetites require a lot of food and they all like hamburgers and cokes. Their limited budgets also require them to save as much money as possible on food and the drive-in is the answer to the problem.

When you feel in need of a good, tasty-snack, go to the Dari-Delite and order a "berti-burger" — it will hit the spot and you will come back for more of the same.

If you want a sackful of sandwiches or hamburgers for a picnic lunch — just call 4829 and drive by later and pick them up.

Off The Runways

RAY DANIEL GETS COMMERCIAL RATING

Ray Daniel, local businessman and pilot, got his Commercial Pilot's License Wednesday.

An outstanding fact concerning the rating is that Daniel had been studying in the Commercial field only six days when he took the test and passed it under Federal Aviation examiner Robert Wisner, Lubbock.

His instructor, Morgan Locker, Muleshoe airport manager said "The concentrated effort brought great results and was perhaps more effective than training over a prolonged period of time. Daniel completed requirements faster than anyone I have trained."

Locker said

Flying his own Comanche, Daniel, a private pilot since December 1962 made a cross country flight to Abilene with the examiner, flying pilotage and dead reckoning and hit all four check points "on the nose". On the return trip, Omni and instruments were used. Some of the tests given him were chandells, lazy eights, stalls, emergency landings and landing and take offs on short fields.

GLIDER FLIGHT

W. D. Garland, Berger, made a glider flight and reached an altitude of approximately 10,000 feet.

Garland set a record on altitude here two years ago.

He said he had difficulty getting into a thermal and lost about 1,000 feet on a 3,000 foot tow before he got the craft on the upward trend.

"The thermals were so strong that I could have stayed there indefinitely," he said, but after 2½ hours, I had to shoot it down."

Sam Damron and Herb Griffiths flew to Amarillo taking a relative of Damron's there.

Jake Diel and Mark Grimsley flew to Amarillo on business. John Mock accompanied them to Hereford where he picked up his plane which he had there for inspection.

Berkley Pumps Sold By E. R. Hart Co., Inc.

REPORTER HERE

Fritz Thomas, Amarillo Globe-News visited the local airport this week for an interview with Morgan Locker about airport facilities. The reporter is writing a feature story on the airport in general and about the gliders in operation here.

Locker took Thomas on a demonstration ride, his first in a glider. The tow plane was piloted by Tommy Hudson, a commercial pilot from Arkansas.

One of the oldest and best known business firms in Muleshoe is the E. R. Hart Co., Inc., dealer in Berkeley pumps and water systems and Coleman Heating and Air Conditioning units. This establishment installs pumps and irrigation systems and does a turn key job. They also can have wells drilled through their connections with well drilling contractors.

Berkeley pumps come in several sizes up to 3 horse power. These pumps are famous all over the United States and have been on the market many years. They are famous for giving many years of excellent service. Six inch pipe is used on most irrigation systems and small units are used for household service, for either shallow or deep wells.

This company has mechanics that overhaul any type of pump and install them. They do all the plumbing work connected with water service. Otis Blaylock is the head mechanic and installed the first Berkeley pump in this area in 1938. Seven employees operate this organization.

Berkeley pumps can be bought on easy terms and his firm handles the financing for pumps and heating and air conditioning units. They are familiar with the water problems of farmers in this area and know how to solve them. They have all the equipment necessary to bring the water to the surface and distribute it over the land.

The E. R. Hart Co., has a complete line of plumbing supplies and pump parts. Practically any item a farmer needs for his irrigation system can be bought here.

Houston Hart is president of this firm and his brother Bill is Vice-president. E. W. Tucker is Secretary and Assistant Manager. The business is located at 210 East 3rd St., in Muleshoe and the phone number is 3-3300. Call this number when you need pump or irrigation service or heating and air conditioning units. They operate four service trucks to give prompt service to customers.

OVER CITY

Windy Young was flown over the city this week by Morgan Locker for an aerial view of the tops of the water towers.

Jerry Cardwell, Sudan, is a new student in pilot training.

Jerry Hudson, Arkansas, is taking training for making aerial agriculture applications in a Super Cub equipped with a spray attachment.

He made his solo flight Thursday morning. Locker is training him.

LAWMAKERS FACE TOUGH JOB - An already "tough" job faced by Texas lawmakers in the 59th Legislature will be complicated even more by "issues of high emotional content," Lt. Gov. Preston Smith feels.

These issues, according to the lieutenant governor, include: proposals to legalize parimutual betting on horse races, sale of liquor by the drink in eating establishments, control of oyster shell dredging on the Gulf Coast, an oil and gas "pooling" bill, further controls on water pollution, repeal of the poll tax and another proposed constitutional amendment to guarantee equal rights to women in property and business management.

EDUCATION STUDY GROUP - Gov. John Connally got a look at tentative recommendations of his Committee on Education Beyond the High School. But disagreements over financial details prevented the report from being a final one.

Committee members will meet again on July 12 - 14 to finish the job. Chairman H. B. Zachry promised the report will be presented to the Governor and Legislature by the August 31 deadline.

LAWMAKERS OF THE 58th Legislature appropriated $175,000 for the study aimed at pointing the way to number 1 ranking for Texas colleges and universities. Less than half that amount has been spent to date.

INDIAN SETTLEMENT OUT - Cherokee Indians, run out of East Texas in 1839 by a Republic of Texas army, have failed in an attempt to "recapture" claims to lands they were forced to leave. Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr gave the "no" sign to a proposed settlement of their claim to 2,500,000 acres of land in Smith, Cherokee, Van Zandt, Gregg and Rusk counties.

Cherokee Indian Nation, through general counsel, Earl Boyd Pierce, several months ago proposed that Governor Connally set up a historical fact-finding commission to review the claims.

For each acre of land the commission might find the Indians were unjustly ousted from, Pierce recommended one dollar be allocated by the state to a trust fund for higher education of worthy Cherokees. This money would draw five per cent interest annually, and at the end of 25 years, the Cherokees would return the corpus of the fund to the state, releasing all claims.

Atty. Gen. Carr concluded: the plan of settlement would require an unconstitutional appropriation by the Legislature, therefore neither he nor the Governor is authorized to pursue it.

FUNDS ASKED - Officials of the Attorney General Department have asked for more funds to prosecute cases involving slant-hole oil wells and Billie Sol Estes.

They reason that judgments already awarded in the suits have brought the state $577,000, or $3 for each $1 spent.

In 1963 the Legislature provided $82,000 to handle these suits in fiscal 1964 and 1965. Now, the department wants $100,000 for 1966 and 1967.

HILL - BURTON REQUESTS - Texas cities which have requested a total of $22,000,000 worth of Hill - Burton funds to finance community hospitals and health centers will have to wait until September for any action from the State Health Department. Even then some of them will be turned down.

Health Department won't decide which among the 39 projects to recommend until congressional action on renewal of the act is complete in September.

Hill - Burton allocation for Texas in past years has run just over $13,000,000 for a year. Health department officials do not think it will be any more this year.

SHORT SNORTS

Parks and Wildlife Department will open bids on July 1 for concession rights on the new Port Lavaca fishing pier.

Program for tracing brucellosis and qualifying for certification by backtagging is picking up, with 8,500 cows and culls backtagged in May plus the testing of 22,166 cattle at livestock markets, but current estimates are that Texas won't qualify for Modified Certified status until 1969 or 1970.

Fourteen cases of undulant fever have been reported to the State Health Department this year, compared to seven cases reported by this time last year.

UT's Bureau of Business Research reports Texas' building declined to a new low for 1964 during May, but retail sales rose seven per cent above the year's low in April.

Parks and Wildlife Commission will consider regulations for fishing and hunting in 152 regulator authority counties on July 10.

Texas High Department has appropriated $1,500,000 for installing safety devices on the highway system during 1964-65.

Letters to Editor

Dear Mr. Goodrow:
I have just read your piece in the Journal of June 28, "Time of Decision Here for Muleshoe." It has a candor, freshness, and honesty about it, and an eloquence, that is seldom found in any journalism, much less weekly journalism. I request permission to reprint it as is with full credit to you and the Journal. If permission is forthcoming it would help if I could identify you.

Thank you.
