WORKERS BACK ON JOB

Southwestern Bell, CWA Sign Contract

Pampa employees, along with 400,000 Bell System workers across the nation, removed picket lines at telephone facilities at 11:59 p.m. yesterday and returned to jobs at 6 a.m. today after a four-day strike against the company.

Local operators and inside workers had been off the job since July 14 when Western Electric negotiations with Bell broke off and Western workers put up picket lines here.

Outside workers, headquartered at the storeroom, were not affected by the Western picket line.

George Newberry, Pampa area manager, released a statement this morning from A.S. Alston, president of Southwestern Bell. Alston said, "The new three-year contract representing an increased cost of $386,213,000 was signed Sunday by Southwestern Bell and District six, Communications Workers of America.

The cost in Texas will be almost $196 million, more than one half of the company settlement.

The agreement is part of the nationwide settlement negotiated by the Bell System and the CWA. It is to be effective at midnight July 20. CWA ratification is required by August 14.

The Southwestern Bell-CWA agreement, signed after approximately four weeks of negotiations, covers 57,000 non-management employees in some 900 cities in Arkansas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri and a part of Illinois.

The national settlement brings wage and benefit improvements averaging about 31 per cent over the life of the contracts.

In the first year alone, wage and benefit improvements will average more than 16 per cent. The contract calls for additional wage increases in 1972 and 1973, plus cost of living adjustments.

Immediate wage increases under the new contract range from $4.50 at minimum rates to $25 a week at top rates.

Other major provisions in the contract include improved vacation treatment, a ninth holiday, Washington's birthday, improved medical benefits and pension plan improvements.

The contract also will permit a "modified agency shop" in two states where allowed by law, Missouri and Oklahoma. Employees in the bargaining unit of those two states would be required to pay dues to the union, whether a member or not. Employees who are not dues payers at present would be exempted.

Alston said the contract takes into consideration the high rate of inflation in recent years and is designed to protect employees from further increases in the cost of living.

"We feel the new agreement will help us attract and hold the quality of people we need (See BELL, Page 2).

Moscow Views Nixon Peking Trip As Power Play

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union indicated today it views President Nixon's visit to China as a power play "having nothing to do with a genuine care for peace or mutual understanding among nations."

The newspaper Literaturnaya Gazeta-Literary Gazette—the organ of the Soviet Writer's Union, printed the commentary, saying it was originally carried by the Bulgarian press agency, BTA, and was published in Sofia newspapers.

The article noted that the United States and China have been bitter foes for 20 years and said it is unusual that they should suddenly become friendly.

The Soviet press frequently quotes from foreign publications to comment on delicate matters without committing itself.

So far there has been no direct comment in the press, apparently because the Kremlin leadership has not yet formulated a position on Nixon's overtures to Peking.

School Trustees Reject Low Bids On Four Items

Totals reported today on band instrument bids awarded Monday by school trustees revealed the difference between four low bid items and the same items, awarded at a higher cost to Tarpley, was $39.50 instead of $260.50 as reported Tuesday.

Trustees, at a three to one vote Monday rejected the four low bids in favor of Tarpley's of Pampa, because of "consideration for a local taxpayer."

The total bids awarded to Tarpley's was $2,537. Bids awarded to May and Duncan of Midland were $2,447. The difference between four low bids of May and Duncan and bids on the same four items by Tarpley was $59.50.

Dr. R.M. Hampton voted against favoring a higher local bidder over a low bid from out of town. Trustees voting for the local bidder were John Gikas, Ben Sturgeon and Warren Hesse with Bob Carmichael abstaining.

Postal Service, Union Leaders Sign Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postal Union leaders have signed their first agreement with the new U.S. Postal Service, a $1-billion contract carrying more than $1.700 in pay increases for the average employee over the next two years.

Meanwhile, the United Steelworkers of America ordered locals to conduct strike-authorization elections. The first to do so, Local 2633 in Johnstown, Pa., approved a walkout. The union has told the nine major producers it will not extend the present contract beyond the 12:01 a.m. Aug. 1 expiration date.

Railroad and United Transportation Union negotiators kept at their bargaining trying to end a dispute largely over work rules. The UTU strike against the Southern and Union Pacific roads went into a sixth day, and a strike deadline still stands Saturday for nine other railroads.

Bell system telephone workers came back to work as they moved into the long mail ratification process. In New York, 26 local leaders voted not to return, having voiced dissatisfaction with vacation and pension provisions of the tentative agreement. In Phoenix, Ariz., more than 1,000 members of Local 8519 said they would stay off the job until the contract is ratified.

Some 1,000 Horses In Pampa Area To Be Vaccinated

Pampa veterinarians continued to work late yesterday in an attempt to administer VEE serum to area horses listed for the inoculations.

The USDA announced yesterday 8,000 doses sent to Amarillo would be available for veterinarians "from Tulia north."

Forty-four veterinarians were issued serum from an inspector's station set up in Amarillo by the Texas Animal Health Commission.

Restrictions on moving horses from present locations are still in force but horses needing vaccine can be moved to a vaccinating site and returned to original location, as a result of exemptions allowed Monday by government agencies.

Local veterinarians had reported over 1,000 horses listed in the Pampa area. Owners began calling as early as

IN TEXAS SINCE JUNE 29

1,182 Horses Have Died Of VEE; 72 Humans Affected By Malady

HOUSTON (AP)—A $4 million spraying program to combat mosquitoes carrying Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE) proceeded today in Texas while veterinarians in four other states started receiving vaccine to stop the disease.

Air Force planes operating from Ellington Air Force Base here were assigned to spray in the early morning hours in Chambers County, east of Houston, and Matagorda County on the Middle Texas Coast.

VEE vaccine was arriving, meantime, in Louisiana, Arkansas, New Mexico and Oklahoma as the inoculation of horses in Texas went into high gear.

The disease, which crept into the United States from Mexico, is fatal 50 to 80 per cent of the time in horses and causes a flu-like illness in human beings.

Dr. R. E. Omohundro, who heads a U.S. Department of Agriculture task force assembled in Houston to fight the epidemic, said 1,182 horses have died of VEE in Texas since June 29 and 1,500 other horses have been sickened.

He said 21 new cases were discovered Tuesday. All were in South Texas, where the sleeping sickness first struck from Mexico.

The Texas Health Department said 72 suspected cases of VEE in human beings have been reported and 12 cases, all in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, have been confirmed.

One suspected case was reported in Austin. Doctors said a University of Texas student recently returned from Port Aransas on the coast showed symptoms of the disease.

Omohundro said plenty of vaccine for horses was available and by next week the USDA expects to have 1.2 million doses in reserve.

"It looks like we're going to need about one million doses in Texas," he added.

Omohundro said previous estimates of 350,000 to 400,000 horses had been based on tax rolls, but it looks like there's a lot of horses in this state that aren't being carried on the tax roll."

So far, Texas has the only confirmed cases of VEE, he said, but vaccination programs are gearing up in Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

In Arkansas, 100,000 doses of vaccine were delivered Tuesday night and immunizations probably will begin Friday, state officials said.

Louisiana officials said 100,000 doses of vaccine were due in today—enough to vaccinate every horse in the state—and vaccination stations will be set up in all 64 parishes (counties). The program was expected to start Friday and last three weeks.

The Agriculture Department said in Washington that blood samples from horses which died in Louisiana were being studied.

In New Mexico, VEE vaccine was due to reach Albuquerque late today. It will be distributed to veterinarians by Friday, said Dr. Robert Pyles, a USDA veterinarian. He said there were no known or suspected cases of VEE in the state.

Oklahoma received 100,000 doses of vaccine Tuesday and

Senator Grover To Address Club Here Tomorrow

Senator Henry C. "Hank" Grover Houston, is expected to outline his strong opposition to moves by Senator Oscar Mauzy and the Texas Trial Lawyers Association, when he addresses Pampans tomorrow at 8 p.m.

Senator Grover will be speaking during a public meeting sponsored by Top O' Texas Republican Women's Club, in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Company.

Senator Grover is endorsing no-fault insurance legislation whereby the claimant's own insurance company would pay directly to the claimant for injuries sustained in automobile accidents. Under the plan it would no longer be necessary for an accident victim to proceed against another motorist or another motorist's insurance company, and to prove the other driver at fault to collect damages.

The TLA and Sen. Mauzy are backing a "comparative negligence" plan to substitute for the current "contributory negligence" which, Sen. Grover believes, would permit less than unanimous verdicts by juries in negligence cases. Sen. Grover added these changes would generate more lawsuits for trial lawyers and would produce higher and higher insurance claim payments, thus producing high auto insurance rates.

The fourth generation Texas stated in a Feb. 1971 release he believed his background and activities qualified him as a Republican Party's most logical choice for the 1972 gubernatorial election in Texas. The public is invited to attend the meeting.

Operation Backed By U.S. Gunships And B52 Bombers

SAIGON (AP) — With support from U.S. helicopter gunships and B52 bombers, 10,000-man South Vietnamese troops pushed a new operation in Eastern Cambodia today designed to prevent the North Vietnamese from disrupting the National Assembly elections in South Vietnam next month.

The task force encountered no immediate resistance. B52 bombing raids preceded the drive.

The commander of the operation, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Minh said he hoped to smash the North Vietnamese 7th Division, numbering about 4,000 men, which has long operated across the border from South Vietnam's Tay Ninh Province.

"Our mission is to cut off North Vietnamese infiltration into South Vietnam, to prevent the enemy from sabotaging the elections," said Minh. "We must provide security for the election campaign."

The legislative elections are scheduled Aug. 29 and the presidential election Oct. 3.

Minh said his forces are operating about 20 miles inside Cambodia and 10 miles north of Highway 7, between the towns of Krek and Mimot and northward.

Minh said the 10,000 troops involved in the operation were already positioned at bases inside Cambodia, but he sent in a 200-vehicle armored column to reinforce them.

Associated Press Correspondent George Esper reported from the front that Minh also was saturating the area with fire from 66 artillery pieces, including 105mm and 155mm guns.

It is the largest operation launched by Minh since he took command last February of the 3rd Military Region, the 11 provinces around Saigon. He had been criticized recently for allowing the North Vietnamese to push his troops into a defensive posture along Highway 7.

Minh called off a 3,000-man operation in the Parrot's Beak sector of Cambodia—60 miles southwest of the new operational area—earlier this month after it encountered virtually no enemy resistance. He pulled most of the troops out, leaving 500 men at a new fire base south of Highway 1. The battlefield lull persisted in South Vietnam.

Seven Million E. Pakistanis Flee To India

AGARTALA, India (AP) — The civil strife in East Pakistan claims its victims without discrimination—Hindus and Muslims, men and women, the elderly and the new-born.

The Indian government says there are now seven million refugees, and the number is growing each day by about 40,000—mainly Hindus crossing into India's West Bengal State after 200 mile treks from the East Pakistan interior. Previously, most refugees had come from villages along the 1,349-mile border with India.

The new arrivals are in worse health than the first wave because of their lengthy exposure to the monsoon rains, according to P. N. Luthra, a retired army officer coordinating the refugee relief program.

Kissinger Says No Agreements Made With Red China In Advance

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon and his national security adviser, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, have told Republican congressional leaders no agreements were made with Red China in advance of Nixon's planned visit to Peking.

Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said after the White House meeting Tuesday, "They made it clear there were no agreements or concessions of any type."

Meanwhile, the Toronto Globe and Mail reported Premier Chou En-lai says complete withdrawal of U.S. forces from Indochina must take priority over moves to improve Chinese-American relations.

The newspaper said Chou told 15 American graduate students visiting Peking the greatest cry of public opinion in the United States and elsewhere is for American withdrawal from Vietnam.

"It might also be said," he continued, "that this demand is even stronger than the demand to restore the relations between the Chinese and American peoples, because the people of the United States do not want to sacrifice the lives of American people in this dirty war. Isn't this so? Therefore, we believe the question to be solved first should be the question of Indochina..."

Chou said by withdrawal he means removal of all military forces and installations.

In another development, Secretary of State William P. Rogers talked with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin about Nixon's visit.

The State Department said that Dobrynin had an appointment earlier with Asst. Secretary of State Samuel De Palma regarding the United Nations, and Rogers asked Dobrynin to stop by his office afterward.

The visit to Peking was hailed both by Vatican radio and President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Philippines.

Apollo 15 Astronauts Receive Final Physical Examination

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 15 astronauts receive their final major physical examination today as police and civic officials prepare to handle the crush of more than one million visitors expected for Monday's moon launching.

David R. Scott, James B. Irwin and Alred M. Worden planned several hours with space agency doctors, who will determine their fitness for flight and gather medical data for in-flight and postflight comparison.

Exams on June 25 and July 12 found all three astronauts in excellent health.

Since July 6, they have been in medical isolation, which restricts them generally to three areas of the Kennedy Space Center—their crew quarters, the training building and the launch pad.

Only 102 persons here are authorized to work directly with them. All, including the astronauts, were immunized against nine common diseases.

The preflight isolation was instituted after exposure to measles forced a switch of one crew man the day before the Apollo 13 launch last year.

Following the physicals, Scott, Irwin and Worden planned to practice abort procedures in spacecraft simulators.

Meanwhile, the vanguard of a hoard of rocket watchers—mainly newsmen and tourists—is pouring into the Cape Kennedy area. More than 2,000 newsmen are expected to cover the start of man's fourth moon-landing expedition.

The Florida Highway Patrol estimated that 1.2 million persons would jam highways and vantage points along the beaches Monday. The largest crowd for any launch was the approximately one million who witnessed the liftoff of Apollo 11, the first moon-landing journey, two years ago.

Florida Highway Safety Director Ralph Davis said 20 troopers are coming from elsewhere in the state to aid the 24 who normally patrol Brevard County roads.

China Lobbyists To Rouse Public Against Seating Peking In U.N.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The China Lobby has the appearance of the Penn Central Railroad—it's large, still running but in serious trouble. And as many of the rail giant's problems stem from its friends, in the form of past management, so the lobby's troubles result, in part, from one of its old friends, Richard Nixon.

The lobby, once a force in shaping U.S.-China policy and now wedded into an organization called The Committee of One Million, was stunned last Thursday to hear its former ally had accepted an invitation to visit the Communist-governed mainland.

Although he speaks optimistically about his organization's goal, to keep the Peking government out of the United Nations, committee Secretary Lee Edwards acknowledges President Nixon's latest move didn't please him.

"We are a single-purpose organization," Edwards said in an interview, and the President's trip "means we have reached a critical point."

Enlargement Of EEC Believed Would Help American Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Britain's ambassador to Washington, Lord Cromer, says enlargement of Europe's Common Market would help the faltering American economy by opening new export prospects and by spreading the load of Japanese competition.

At the same time, Lord Cromer said any draft toward neo-isolationism or economic protectionism "on either side of the Atlantic" would provoke reprisals, cut trade, create more unemployment and embitter relations to the point of weakening the western alliance.

Cromer, a former governor of the Bank of England, expressed his views in an interview with The Associated Press shortly before today's opening in the House of Commons of a four-day debate on the question of Britain's prospective entry into the Common market.

One of the main factors that moved Prime Minister Edward Heath to appoint Cromer ambassador was to insure that he, with his banking and fiscal experience, would be in a position to help effect a smooth transition in the British-American economic relationship.

Questions and answers from the interview:

Q: Mr. Ambassador, will enlargement of the Common Market help or hurt U.S. trade with Europe at a time when this country is spending more than it's earning abroad?

A: "What are the facts? The U.S. trade surplus with the European Economic Community (Common Market) last year was $1.8 billion. Over the last 10 years it has averaged $1.2 billion. These figures reflect the greatly increased export opportunities for the United States which the dynamism and growth of the EEC has provided.

Q: But with Britain joining and competing more strongly, won't things become a lot rougher for American goods in a bigger EEC?

A: "This is what I mean by 'dynamism.' The rapid rate of growth of the Common Market countries has enabled the United States to increase exports to them nearly threefold since the market was formed. An economically united and politically stable Europe will prove a still better trading partner for the United States than in the past. Moreover the British tariff will have come down to the post-Kennedy Round average of 7.5 per cent on industrial goods. This is, incidentally, lower than the average U.S. industrial tariff.

Q: There are those here and in Europe who interpret U.S. moves towards economic protectionism as a drift into a new isolationism. If this worries you how do you think Europeans ought to counter the trend?

A: "Any drift toward neo-isolationism on either side of the Atlantic would be alarming. Economic protectionism would certainly provoke action and reaction across the Atlantic which of us to each other, not only creating the unemployment that protectionism was originally designed to prevent but also embittering relations between us. This would in turn weaken us in dealing with the other problems of this complicated and dangerous world.

Q: How do you look upon pressures for a cutback of U.S. troop levels in Europe?

A: "It is certainly arguable that we Western Europeans are now prosperous and strong enough to contribute a greater share to the common defense. The defense of the United States and of Europe cannot be separated without making both unviable.

American troops are necessary in Europe for your own defense and we in the Western Alliance have a joint interest having enough troops to be able to implement the agreed Alliance strategy designed to avoid for as long as possible the use of nuclear weapons ... It puts the matter in perspective to point out that of the 24 1-3 divisions committed to NATO, 20 are provided by the European members of the alliance and 4 1-3 by the United States.

Q: How about EEC's farm policy. Some say it will bring an annual decline of about $240 million in British purchase of American agricultural exports.

A: "It'll be natural for us, after entry, to buy more than we now do from the present Community. But we shall still need to import a great deal from the rest of the world. I predict we shall continue to need U.S. hard wheat which does not grow well in Europe—one of our major imports from the United States.

City Police Nab Five Local Youths In Drinking Party

Five Pampans including a 16-year-old girl, were arrested by Pampa police early today after a city resident called to report a beer-drinking party in the street in the 1200 block of Jordan.

The girl, charged with minor in possession, was released to the custody of her mother, police said.

Booked on charges of minor in possession or intoxication were Victor A. Teakell, 17, 110 S. Houston, charged with minor in possession and intoxication; Rudolph Jenkins, 22, 312 N. Wells, intoxication; Kenneth J. Cloud, 17, 823 E. Browning, minor in possession; and Ricky Eugene Young, 21, 515 N. Nelson, intoxication.

Police reports said bread wrappers containing what officers believed was air plane glue were also recovered from the area.

Texas Legislator To Discuss POW Issue With White House

HOUSTON (AP) — A Texas legislator with what he says is a proposal from the North Vietnamese which could shorten the Vietnam war said Tuesday he will meet soon with White House officials.

State Rep. Joe Salem, who met with a North Vietnamese negotiator Monday in Paris, said on arriving at Houston Intercontinental Airport Tuesday that a presidential aide had taken steps to set up a meeting.

"My press aide was told in a call with a White House aide that Secretary of State (William) Rogers or Mr. (Henry) Kissinger will be inviting me soon," Salem said.

In Washington, White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler confirmed that the President's office had received a cable from Salem and added, "I'm confident if he wants to meet with someone in the White House, some representative of the President will meet with him."

Salem, a Corpus Christi Democrat, made a 48-minute tape recording of his conversation with a North Vietnamese delegate to the Paris peace talks which he said contained a proposal about ending the war.

"I think there is a very important item on this tape," he said. "I don't want to reveal it now because I don't want to interfere with peace negotiations. I won't say the proposal on this tape will end the war or return any of our men, but it will certainly hasten the end of the war if what is proposed on here will be accepted by my government."

Salem, the author of a resolution adopted in the last session of the Texas Legislature condemning North Vietnam for its treatment of American prisoners of war, went to Paris to deliver the resolution and succeeded in obtaining an interview with a North Vietnamese official.

"I also proposed to go to Hanoi to bring back one or two Texans (prisoners of war) or as many as they would let me," Salem said.

"It was at this point that they made the proposal on the tape that I think is so important."

they were distributed around the state by night. Inoculations were starting today.

Oklahoma officials said there have been no confirmed VEE cases but a government laboratory in Atlanta, Ga., was checking several suspicious deaths of horses.

The spraying program will use planes from Langley Air Force Base in Virginia, Halbert Air Force Base in Florida and England Air Force Base in Louisiana.

Planes already have sprayed Cameron and Hidalgo counties in South Texas and now will spray from Cameron Parish in Louisiana to the Texas coastal area opposite Victoria, 125 miles southwest of Houston, an Air Force spokesman said.

"Each area will be sprayed twice, meaning the spraying of more than eight million acres," he said.

"At present the Operation Combat VEE task force is scheduled to be at Ellington four weeks and it may be decided later to spray the Lower Valley areas again," the Ellington spokesman said.

Dr. Ned D. Bayley, director of science and education for the Agriculture Department in Washington, said the United States has offered to extend the spraying into Mexico but Mexican officials said their program was adequate.

Movement of all horses out of the five states has been prohibited by the USDA and Colorado joined other states Tuesday in prohibiting importation of horses from the five, Colorado's Gov. John Love issued an executive order which also included Kansas in the ban.

In Phoenix, a state official said profiteers were exploiting the fears of Arizona horse owners and trying to make a fast buck by offering to sell vaccine.

Medina's Court-Martial Said To Be 'A Whole New Ball Game'

FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (AP) — The top Army defense lawyer for Capt. Ernest L. Medina says the captain's court-martial on charges of murder at My Lai will be "a whole new ball game" and not a rerun of Lt. William L. Calley Jr.'s trial.

"It will not be a rubber stamp or replay of Calley's," Capt. Mark Kadish said of his plans for Medina's trial, which starts Monday. "Many of the witnesses will be the same but the focus will be entirely different."

Medina is charged with the premeditated murder of 102 Vietnamese civilians during an infantry assault on My Lai in March 1968. Calley, one of Medina's platoon leaders in that assault, was charged with 102 murders and convicted of 22. His sentence to life in prison is being appealed.

In an interview Tuesday, the stocky, dark-haired Kadish, 28, declined to name the differences he anticipates, but said they "will come out during the trial."

"One thing, we expect it to be shorter," he said, with a laugh. Calley's 4½-month trial was the longest in military history.

Of Medina, Kadish said, "I think he's patriotic and one of the best Americans I've ever met."

The two often played tennis together before Kadish became too busy with the case.

"We are committed to it, intellectually and emotionally," he said of himself and his assistant, Capt. John Truman. Both will assist F. Lee Bailey, Medina's civilian attorney.

"Working on the case has done things to my historical perspective—not to mention me as an individual," he declined to elaborate.

Seventeen months ago, Kadish was a legal claims officer at the 3rd Army Headquarters, handling claims against the government. He had had six months experience in court-martial and no prior experience in criminal law.

"Why I was given the case, I don't know," said the captain, a native of Brooklyn, N.Y. "At the time, I was amazed. There were five senior captains available on this post. I don't know why they chose me."

Draft Lottery For 1972 To Be Held In August

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the nation's draft law remains in limbo, the 1972 draft lottery will be held Aug. 5.

"The young men who face possible induction next year deserve to know their relative chances of induction so that they are better able to plan ahead," said Curtis W. Tarr, Selective Service director.

Tarr said the lottery to determine the draft order for new 19-year-olds will involve one drum containing 366 birthdates and a second with sequence numbers from 1 to 366—since 1972 is a leap year.

A birthdate capsule and a number capsule will be drawn simultaneously from each drum. Thus, if June 4 is the first birthdate and 41 the first sequence number, those who became 19 years old on June 4, 1971, would be in the 41st group of men drafted in 1972.

Following complaints after the first draft lottery that odds favor the dates and numbers being drawn from the drums in relation to the order in which they are put in, Tarr said computers are being used to scramble 25 sets of lists.

The dates and sequence numbers will be selected by six young people from various parts of the country. Three observers will view the entire drawing, beginning with the stuffing of the capsules.

Document Shows Varying Figures On Worth Of Speaker Mutschers

DALLAS (AP) — Legal documents filed Tuesday by the Securities and Exchange Commission show (1) varying figures on the worth of House Speaker Gus Mutschers when he obtained a bank loan and (2) a former president of National Bankers Life Insurance Co. said the firm was "technically insolvent" last fall.

In a signed financial statement given the now defunct Sharpstown State Bank in Houston on July 15, 1969, Mutschers listed assets of $118,750 and liabilities of $21,550, leaving a net worth of $97,200.

A second statement, unsigned but bearing a pencilled notation that it was placed in the bank files two weeks later, credited the House speaker with $568,400 in assets and put his net worth at $331,700.

The SEC also filed in U. S. district court a memo quoting Sam Stock last Sept. 30, when he was president of National Bankers Life, as telling Houston financier Frank W. Sharp, that firm, controlled by Sharp, was in effect insolvent by about $2 million. Stock is quoted as saying the company risked being placed in receivership.

These and other legal papers were put on record in connection with the SEC's civil suit alleging stock fraud and manipulation by 15 individuals, including Sharp and Stock, and 13 corporations.

Trial of the case, in which the government seeks an injunction forbidding the alleged practices, is set for Aug. 30 before U. S. Dist. Judge Sarah T. Hughes.

The SEC also filed a copy of a March 19, 1970, letter in which Robert S. Stewart, then deputy state banking commissioner, told directors of the Sharpstown bank that the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. had threatened to stop insuring deposits of the bank because of questionable loans.

In its pending suit, the SEC claims that Sharp arranged for Gov. Preston Smith, Mutschers, State Reps. W. S. Healy of Paducah and Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth, state Democratic chairman Elmer Baum and others to reap quick profits by trading in stock of National Bankers Life. Loans from the Sharpstown bank financed the transactions.

At the time Sharp sought passage of legislation putting state banks under state instead of federal government regulation, lawmakers passed the measures during a 1969 special session but they were vetoed by the governor.

The Mutschers financial statement putting his net worth at $97,200 showed assets consisted primarily of a home and two rent houses at Brenham and a 200-acre farm in Washington County. SEC investigators indicated the second document, showing Mutschers owned real estate worth $420,000 plus $125,000 in bonds, was found in bank records.

No explanation was given for the variance in figures.

Relations Between Mills And Nixon Appear Breaking

WASHINGTON (AP) — Relations between President Nixon and Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, who holds a big congressional club over top-priority administration legislation.

The tension over policy is having a side effect on efforts of some of Mills' colleagues to push him as a serious candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. The Arkansas congressman no longer automatically brushes aside suggestions of his candidacy.

A long period of Nixon-Mills strain culminated Tuesday in a public put-down of Mills' role in arranging voluntary limitation of Italian shoe imports. It was delivered to newsmen by Nixon's international policy assistant, Peter G. Peterson.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is being married soon. She will have a formal church wedding followed by a reception. Toward the end of the reception she plans to change into her going away clothes, for which she has selected a HotPants outfit. Abby, I have nothing against HotPants, but don't you think she could have selected something a little more appropriate?

MOTHER: Possibly not.

DEAR ABBY: That anecdote you printed about the hippie couple taking advantage of government services and the protesting the establishment made a good point, but was somewhat inaccurate. I hope you give equal time to the other side.

In 10 weeks I'll receive a Master of Science degree, and I never could have made it without free clinics, government loans, a grant, and food stamps. I am grateful to the government for these services but cannot condone all the government does. That same government allows the right to free speech, assembly, and the right to dress the way I choose. Some people think anyone who wears Indian love beads and sandals is against the country. It just isn't so!

The youth movement has a violent minority (who, of course, are the ones we hear about on the news) that I can't agree with, just as the establishment has some narrow-minded citizens who would like to see all long-haired, bearded youths in jail or worse.

The real issues at stake involve so much more. (I've never seen a demonstration against the establishment; but lots for peace, women's rights, ecology.)

If only the young child could benefit from the mistakes of their elders, and the old could listen to the fresh ideas of the young! How can we ever work together for peace, the environment, etc., when people like you pit one side against the other by printing that story? "UNDER 25" IN LOMA LINDA. "DEAR "UNDER 25": It is not my intention to "pit" one side against the other, but the same freedom of speech which made it possible for "Over 30" to be heard, now makes it possible for you to be heard. Fair enough?

DEAR ABBY: Thank you from the bottom of my heart for recommending "A Doctor Speaks Out on Sexual Expression in Marriage" by Donald W. Hastings. Only by the grace of God did I wife and I manage to remain faithful to each other for 30 years. Our most intimate moments were marred because of my extreme insensitivity, and my beloved wife's shyness. In short, we were both extremely ignorant about sexual expression in marriage. Thanks to this excellent little book, we are finding life more beautiful every day.

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Sen. Robert Dole, chairman of the Republican National Committee, says President Nixon is "winding down the war and winding up the economy."

The war in Southeast Asia will cease to be a political issue in six months, the Kansas senator told a South Carolina GOP fund-raising dinner Friday night. He said the President will either negotiate a settlement or bring home most U.S. troops now in Indochina.

Dole also predicted the Republican ticket next year again would be Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and "I don't think there is a Democrat who could touch them."

Miss Wainscott Offers Remedies For Low Spirits

"Irritators," such as excessive noise, poor lighting or inadequate ventilation, that make you feel tired.

Try a change of pace — do something different during the day.

When you start to feel irritable, take a breather. Find a quiet corner and put your feet up.

If your daily activities are sedentary, try some exercise such as walking. And if you are constantly tired, week after week, see your doctor for a check-up.

Most people suffer from fatigue at one time or another. Miss Wainscott points out, but don't let it get you down. Remember, there are two kinds of fatigue — emotional and physical and both can put a damper on summer fun if not checked.

Feeling run down and tired lately — like you just don't have any energy? Beat the summer blahs by following these suggestions, says Jimmie Lou Wainscott, Gray County home demonstration agent.

Get plenty of rest and sleep. Stop racing around. Make a realistic schedule of errands and include rest periods.

Pretty Dresses Famine Nears End For 'Over 40'

By BETTY CANARY

DEAR BETTY — What does the woman who is 40 and wears size 9 do for clothes these days? The junior department devotes all its rack space to kooky outfits for teenagers. A woman can't wear knickers to church! I believe I have to maintain some dignity if my children are to respect me. If I wore a half-size I could find all kinds of feminine and pretty dresses for special occasions or just for those times when I'd prefer a dress to a pantsuit. The world is ruled by the big people! Let's not let them continue to shove us around!

—FORTY IN FLINT
DEAR FORTY — Help will be arriving soon at your store because prettier dresses are making a comeback. Whether the more feminine styles are a backlash brought about by women tired of being forced into zonky styles, I don't know. I'm just going to enjoy the new fashions. More and more women have turned to sewing, even designing their own clothes — not only to save money but to indulge their individual sense of style.

DEAR BETTY — Yesterday my 10-year-old son answered the telephone, talked a few minutes, then ran to his room where he locked himself in for a crying fit. The call was from one of my husband's girl friends' children! He asked my son if he wanted to go along on a ride on their boat. The boat happens to belong to us. My husband hasn't taken our son and me on an outing yet this summer. This isn't the first time something like this has happened and I feel so sorry for my son. How would you handle this situation?

SICK ABOUT IT
DEAR SICK — I'd stop sitting around being "sick about it." I'd not waste time being sorry for my son but would get professional help in trying to discover why I allowed such a sick situation to continue. Only you can decide if you want both of you to sink or swim.

DEAR BETTY — I'm sitting here having coffee while reading your column and you sound like the typical wonderful Jewish mother to me. Are you a Jew?

Profile Of Apollo 15 Astronaut

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — James B. Irwin Jr. decided 10 years ago he wasn't going to let a little thing like an airplane crash keep him from going to the moon.

Irwin, a 27-year-old Air Force lieutenant colonel, is the lunar module pilot on the Apollo 15 mission scheduled for launch from Cape Kennedy Monday.

"He started working for an astronaut assignment almost from the day he learned the country was getting into the manned space business."

"It just seemed like that's where the future was," says Irwin.

Irwin earned important astronaut credentials when he added a master's degree from the University of Michigan to his bachelor of science degree from the Naval Academy and then graduated from the Air Force Experimental Test Pilot School.

He was ready to apply for the space program in 1961 when a casual weekend training flight ended in near disaster and put him in a hospital bed unable to walk, talk or even remember.

Irwin was flying as instructor with a student pilot at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. They were cruising at 300 feet in a routine air traffic pattern one moment and spinning toward earth the next.

"The student was flying the airplane at the time," says Irwin.

"Apparently he stalled it out in the traffic pattern."

The light plane suddenly rolled into a spin, at too low an altitude for Irwin to recover control.

Irwin broke both legs, his jaw and suffered a severe concussion which wiped out his memory. Recovery was long and difficult.

Irwin was out of the hospital in three months, but he was still grounded. The Air Force, he says, has a rule that if a concussion results in a loss of memory the pilot is grounded for 12 months.

The Air Force pilot was flying again 14 months after the accident. And a few months later he graduated from the elite Air Force Aerospace Research Pilot School.

Irwin, the oldest son of a plumber, was born in Pittsburgh, Penn., and graduated from high school in Salt Lake City. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Irwin, now live in San Jose, Calif.

The astronaut said his father, a World War I veteran, encouraged him to go after a military career. Irwin applied for the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, but was accepted instead by the Naval Academy. He graduated in 1951 and took his commission in the Air Force.

Irwin met his wife, the former Mary Ellen Monroe of Corvallis, Ore., while he was in San Jose for the Christmas holidays.

They married in 1953 and have four children. Joy, 11; Jill, 10; James, 8; and Jan, 6.

Quiet, reserved and calm, Irwin and his family live quietly, spending most of his off hours in home-oriented activity. They live in a modernistic home which is surrounded by lush landscaping, the handwork of his pretty wife.

Japanese Businessmen Must Know Something That Americans Do Not

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — Numerous American manufacturers have said that they can't make a profit in the United States because of high labor costs and other factors. So they set up plants in Mexico, Hong Kong, Japan and other places.

So what do the Japanese do? They build a plant in America. There is nothing freakish about it. The parent Japanese company is a huge one and has proven it knows what it is doing. The American subsidiary is doing very well, too.

The plant is Mitsubishi Aircraft International (MAI). Mitsubishi, pronounced mit-suh-bee, is competing for the dollars spent for executive aircraft. And competing successfully.

The Japanese corporation's twin prop-jet MU2s climbed last year to second spot in the aviation business turboprop market, second only to Beechcraft.

Company officials, not unlike football coaches and a certain car rental agency, feel second place is less than desirable.

"We are expanding with an eye on the No. 1 position," said MAI President Makoto "Mike" Kuroiwa. He says they may make it no later than next year.

The company, a U. S. subsidiary of the Japanese industrial giant, Mitsubishi Heavy Industries Ltd., broadened its marketing base in June to now include Europe, Africa, North America and South America.

Kuroiwa said its Japanese-built airframe is the only such structure designed specifically for turboprop aircraft, which he said gives the MU2 an edge over competitors.

Kuroiwa does not consider the pure executive jet, such as Lear, a competitor. He said such jets are more expensive, cost more to operate and are not as practical as prop-jets for flights of 500 miles or less.

"Some big companies use both," he said.

The MU2s are something of an international aircraft, a "50-50" blend of Japanese and American manufacturing and technology.

"We bring in the airframe from Japan and then install American engines, American equipment and American avionics," he said.

The aircraft is designed as "all-weather, high-performance, high-speed corporate plane" capable of speeds of 350 miles an hour with a range of 1,500 miles.

MU2 owners have a choice of seating configurations ranging up to 14 places, including crew, but the standard seating arrangement is seven.

The fashionably decorated planes are assembled at Mitsubishi facilities at Mathis Field on the outskirts of San Angelo. The firm employs about 120 persons, including a dozen Japanese.

operating on the model and accessories the aircraft carries a price tag fluctuating between $300,000 and $500,000.

"Corporate and personal aircraft sales went up last year," a spokesman said. "Few companies, if any at all, suffered so greatly as did those two dozen or so American firms involved in the manufacture and sale of jet, turboprop and piston-powered aircraft."

In San Angelo, he said, "things were somewhat different."

Mitsubishi sold 41 of its aircraft, recording sales of nearly $20 million and increasing its share of the twin-engine turboprop market by 6 per cent.

The company is a significant contributor to the San Angelo economy. Its annual payroll is $12 million and the economic impact is padded by local purchases such as jet fuel.

While a Texas prairie may seem an unlikely site to assemble a Japanese aircraft, Kuroiwa explained that San Angelo was selected in part because it was near the Kerrville, Tex., operations of Mooney Aircraft.

"Seven years ago, when we contacted Mooney to act as our American sales agent, we moved into this market with the intention of staying put," he said.

"We've since dissolved our agreement with Mooney, plus American Electronics Industries and Butler Aviation, whom we were associated for short periods of time, and have been a Texas corporation now for the past two years.

"It is our fondest hope to become a contributing member of the Texas and American domestic community, as well as to become an integral part of the business aviation industry."

In stressing that MAI has found a permanent home here, Kuroiwa said, "This city accepted us and supported us and we are very happy and proud to be in Texas."

While certainly big business MAI represents only a fraction of the parent company's international holdings.

Mitsubishi Heavy Industries is a vast, worldwide industrial power in everything from building ocean-going supertankers to manufacturing cars such as Chrysler's Dodge Colt. Sales last year exceeded $2.2 billion.

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — While moves made in Washington receive most of the credit or blame for directing the course of the economy, less-publicized decisions made over the kitchen table have tremendous impact too.

The decision by millions of ordinary Americans to cool it, for example. Aware that the economy had overheated, as evidenced by higher prices in every type of store, consumers decided on direct action: they cut down on buying.

In 1970, more than $8.85 billion was owed on charge accounts. Latest figures for this year show the total reduced below $8 billion. In March it dropped all to $7.2 billion, although it has risen some since then.

Much of the energy that was diverted from buying was directed toward paying bills. In 1969, about $95 billion in installment credit was repaid. Last year it topped $100 billion. This year's rate is higher than that.

Unfortunately, there is a less constructive aspect of the picture. While many Americans are able to pay off their bills, an increasing number are not. Personal bankruptcies are rising.

Viewed over a number of years, there is nothing surprising about the bankruptcy picture. Because of ever-larger population, the number tends to grow over a long period of time.

In 1967, however, it appeared to have topped out. Bankruptcies in that year reached a high of more than 191,000. The figure fell in both 1968 and 1969, but now it is moving up again, and probably will top 180,000 this year.

One of the big reasons for personal bankruptcies, a falling stock market, may not be as much a factor this year as in the immediate past. The market is much higher than a year ago, even if it is well below recent highs.

However, a persistently high rate for unemployment is expected. Although the jobless rate was measured at 5.6 per cent in June, compared with 6.2 per cent a month earlier it is expected to be back in the 6 per cent area this month.

Commission rates on stock purchases aren't likely to drive any small investor into bankruptcy, even though some brokers claim that they are headed that way if they don't get better price for their services. But, as in other parts of the economy, the buyer has decided that he isn't going to accept higher charges without a fight.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bob Puiford and Ralph Backstrom, veteran National Hockey League centers who joined the Los Angeles Kings last season, signed their 1971-72 contracts Monday, the club announced.

WW II Heavy Bomber Crew To Hold Unique Reunion, Flying In Plane That Brought It Home

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — It wasn't easy finding them—the insurance salesman, the dentist, the liquor retailer, the druggist and the others.

But they all agree it was time and effort well spent. They're grayer and heavier now, hard to imagine as war heroes.

But for more than four months, during World War II they cast their fates, together, returning time and again into the jaws of Axis-held Europe in a Flying Fortress called "I'll Be Seeing You."

They flew long hours to drop their bombs on France, Belgium, Germany. And when their 30 combat missions were over, they were thankful for a chance at peacetime jobs.

Now these balding eagles, vintage 1944, are to be reunited next week in the Rio Grande Valley of Texas. But there will be more for these men than "hangar talk" and martinis.

Once again, they'll be airborne in a B17 Flying Fortress dressed out in its wartime colors and markings. The Flying Fort will be "bounced" by German Messerschmitts and saved by P51 Mustangs and other "little friends," as the bomber boys called them, all painted in their wartime camouflage.

The reunion is being hosted by the Confederate Air Force, which is headquartered here. The CAF is a nonprofit group of World War II pilots and aficionados who own the world's largest flying collection of World War II aircraft.

The former bomber men and their families will spend three days getting reacquainted, attending dinner parties and luncheons and touring nearby Matamoros, Mexico.

Highlight of the reunion, at least for the men, will be the nostalgic flight on a B17, Joe Cromer of Tyler, Tex., huff, Burlington, Iowa bombardier; dentist Michael T. Phillips, Norwich, Conn., navigator; insurance claims manager Douglas Stott, Mechanicsburg, Pa., engineer-top turret gunner; liquor retailer Goodman, Los Angeles; contractor Robert J. Coffin, Dodge City, Kan., ball turret gunner; restaurateur Eugene Clark, Seattle, Wash., waist gunner; and Vincent Villagio, Brooklyn, N.Y., supervisor for a decorative glass firm and former tail-gunner for the ship.

Trout, catalyst for the reunion, did six months of letter-writing, telephoning and "detective work" trying to locate names and vague faces.

He had more trouble than Uncle Sam did in putting the crew together the first time.

The crew formed in April 1944 where they trained at Dyersburg, Tenn.

Four months later, Aug. 25, 1944, their new Boeing B17 labored off the runway at Station 128, Deenethorpe, England. Destination: Henin-Leitard, Belgium.

"We were nervous and pretty scared," Cromer recalls. "It was our first mission."

Throughout their 30 missions together, none of the crew was wounded, "although some were knocked down when flak came tearing through the airplane. Their flak suits saved them," Cromer said.

"We saw planes shot out of formation ahead of us and behind us but we were never attacked by fighters. The Germans went after loose, sloppy formations and stragglers," he said.

The roughest mission the crew flew was No. 13.

"The target was Politz, Germany, near the Baltic Sea," Trout related. "They had 350 flak guns around the city and they used all of them."

"The sky was dark with flak bursts," Cromer said. "Our group suffered one of the most severe losses of the entire tour." Five crews failed to return and seven other crewmen were injured. The battle damage was so bad we couldn't put up a single plane for seven days."

The mission devastated a refinery which produced one-third of the Reich's synthetic oil, he said.

After the war, as service buddies do, the men of the "I'll Be Seeing You" went their separate ways.

Then, last September, Trout was rummaging through some yellowed military papers and happened upon the last known addresses of four crewmen.

He began writing letters, and 10 days later heard from Phillips.

Fired by his success at finding Phillips, Trout persisted, writing letters to the FBI, sheriffs, county clerks and other officials who might light the trail.

"I wrote a letter to President Nixon, asking him to have one of his aides search files for some information on Martin Goodman," he continued.

Trout said he finally received an address for Goodman. It was 23 years old.

Eventually, Trout located all of the crew except Stott.

"I had written to the sheriff at Warren County, N.Y., and gave him Stott's last known address," Trout related. "The sheriff personally interviewed some of the neighbors at that address and advised me that Stott had passed away several years ago."

"Then a gnawing fear struck me. Suppose Doug Stott was not really dead and we held the reunion," he said.

Trout checked with authorities at Glens Falls, N.Y., and was informed that no Stotts had died there in the past 10 years. Trout wrote to everyone in the Glens Falls area named Stott and received a letter from the "dead" man's mother and aunt.

Trout's letters were forwarded to Mechanicsburg, Pa., and he received an immediate telephone call from Stott.

"The report he received of my demise was exaggerated," said Stott.

Crew 4807 ceased to exist officially Jan. 6, 1945, after its 30th mission, to Kempenich, Germany.

But for a while here, there, surrounded by hulks of aluminum men and call airplanes, nine men will be "Back aboard the "I'll Be Seeing You," "The sweetest airplane ever made," says Cromer.

What Is The Difference Heat Exhaustion or Sun-Stroke

Heat exhaustion and sun-stroke are both caused by the same thing—over-exposure to extreme heat. But, they are very different and you should know how to tell them apart.

With sun-stroke, the skin is very hot and very dry. It is more serious than heat exhaustion and a doctor should be called at once. A cold water bath or sponging, ice on the head, moving to a shaded area and undressing can help until the doctor arrives. With heat exhaustion, the skin is cold and clammy. Move the person to a shady place, keep head lower than the body and loosen tight clothing while waiting for the doctor.

Radio & TV

AP Television-Radio Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The life of a television performer can sometimes be a case of feast or famine, as actress Patti Finley will testify.

When you're a regular in a series, the money rolls in. And when you're canceled the checks stop arriving.

In 1969 Patti made "From a Bird's-Eye View," which is now being shown on NBC. "I was Mrs. Gotrocks that year all over Europe," she said.

In 1970 she made exactly $1,750 and her only job was a guest shot on "The Mary Tyler Moore Show." She said, "People ask me how I lived. Cheaply. No, off my savings. It was not the best of years. I got all my U.S. federal income tax back. My accountant, who charged me $250 the year before, offered to do it free."

Patti—pronounced Pat—is now taping NBC's "The Funny Side," which will take a humorous look at the American way of life.

"If I hadn't got 'The Funny Side' I think I would have just given up," she said. But even at the beginning of this year things began to look up. She got another guest shot on the Moore show and did several commercials as "your average Mrs. Housewife."

She is also cast as a housewife on "The Funny Side." In fact, as the Middle America wife of a blue collar worker. Everyone in the cast will represent a stereotype. "We're trying to show the funny side of what's happening in America today," she said.

Patti, daughter of a Supreme Court judge in the state of Washington, got her start Off Broadway 12 years, then landed parts in "Kiss Me Kate," "Damn Yankees," "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" and other stage shows. Her big break came when she got the second lead in "Hello, Dolly!" during the show's second year and stayed with it through the fourth year.

Patti, who is only 5-foot-2 but has a laugh loud enough to start a landslide, said, "I was very commercial because I sang, danced and did comedy. I was saleable. I was standing on the right side of the door when saleability was handed out. But I worked and studied hard.

Airport Thief Says He Has Made 100 Thefts Totaling $100 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Promised immunity from prosecution, a self-confessed mall thief told senators yesterday he made and lost $400,000 in three years from 100 airport thefts he said totaled more than $100 million.

James V. Schaefer, 30, a lean tattooed New Yorker, told the Senate investigations subcommittee the loot ranged from millions of dollars in securities and a $100,000 diamond to "top secret" missile plans and Christmas cookies sent to soldiers in Vietnam.

Schaefer supported in almost every detail testimony given last month by Robert P. Cudak, said to have been the leader of the most spectacularly successful theft ring in recent times.

In his testimony, Bobby Cudak said he thought he had stolen property worth more than $100 million. Schaefer said, "I agree with his figures to the best of my knowledge."

Schaefer, now serving a five-year prison term, identified several persons he said were central figures in the ring. He said he believed—but had no evidence—that most of the fences receiving the stolen stocks, bonds, travelers checks, jewels and furs, were linked closely with organized crime.

Schaefer said he and a previous witness, William Riccihutti, stole $21 million in securities and travelers checks in a still officially unsolved robbery June 13, 1968 at John F. Kennedy airport in New York.

Riccihutti, took the Fifth Amendment scores of times when asked about the theft and other crimes in his appearance. The thieves were looking for valuable goods, of course, but Schaefer said they often found a type of material they could not fence.

"We frequently found government documents, some of them marked top secret," he said.

"I recall we found diagrams of what I believe was a Polaris missile, or at least a ballistic missile of some kind.

"Finding this material in the bags always scared us," he said, "we burned the missile diagrams and then we ran over the ashes many times with a truck. Other classified material we either burned or threw into the ocean."

As Schaefer told it, the gang of thieves concentrated on Kennedy and LaGuardia airports in New York, but at times ranged as far as the West Coast.

Schaefer said the thefts he recalled occurred in 1968, 1969 and 1970.

He said security at the Kennedy and LaGuardia airports, especially, was almost nonexistent.

The witness, who appeared under guard and testified under oath, has been serving his sentence at the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa. He has been granted immunity from further prosecution by the U.S. District Court in Washington.

Babe Ruth All-Stars Smash North Plains 28 To Nothing

Pampa's Babe Ruth All Stars steamrolled The North Plains All Stars 28 to 0 last night to move into the semifinals of the District I tournament tonight. Gary Davis twirled a one-hit shutout for the locals, allowing only a two-out single in the first inning and three scattered walks while striking out 14. At one point he retired 13 consecutive batters, and he personally threw out 5 other men at first base as he turned in Pampa's second stellar mound performance in as many games. Pampa slammed 12 hits and capitalized on 11 North Plains errors and 16 bases on balls as they ran their two-game run total to 46. Davis and Ed Townsley led the way at the plate as they both rapped 3 hits in as many trips to the plate.

Tony Frogge opened the second with a bunt single and moved to third on Townsley's infield single. After Frogge scored on a balk, Reeves drew a walk and scored along with Townsley when the North Plains team misplayed Johnson's bunt. Toddy Black walked before Davis smashed a long double to right which drove in Johnson and Black. Walks by Gary Harper, Phil Schaub, and Frogge forced in Davis with run number 9 before Harper alertly tagged up and scored on Townsley's foul pop-up. Schaub tallied the final run of the frame on Reeves' misplayed ground ball.

In the Pampa third, Toddy Black was hit by a pitch, and Bobby Hendricks was safe on an error. Both scored as a result of North Plains miscues. Davis walked and eventually scored before Harper, who had singled, stolen second, and moved to third on an error, was tagged out at home on an attempted squeeze play.

Townsley led off the fourth with his sixth hit of the tournament and Johnson was hit by a pitch. Both stole second and scored on wild pitches. Successive singles by Black, Hendricks, Davis, and Harper, a walk by Schaub, and a triple by Townsley resulted in five additional runs.

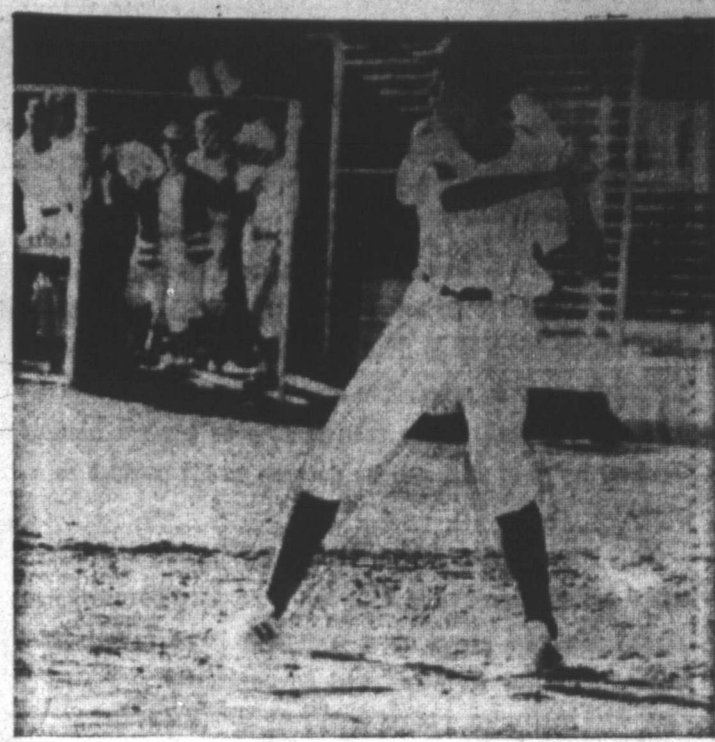

In the fifth Hendricks and Harper walked and Davis was hit by a pitch to load the bases. Dennis Edmundson lifted a sacrifice fly to score Hendricks, and Davis scored on Jimmy Davis' ground ball. Harper caught the North Plains infield sleeping and scampered home after the play was apparently over.

With one out in the sixth, Toddy Black singled, stole second, and then scored when an attempted pick-off went astray. Walks to Hendricks, Gary Davis, Harper, and Edmundson forced in run number 26. After Davis scored on a passed ball, Terry Moore reached first on an error. Jim Davis walked to force Harper across with the final run of the game.

In a consolation bracket game, the Top-O-Texas All Stars eliminated the Panhandle Okies from the tournament by defeating them 17 to 8.

Action at Optimist Park continues tonight as the local Stars meet Canyon at 6:30 and the Top-O-Texas clash with the North Plains team at 9:00.

Joe Frazier Favors Ellis Against Ali

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Joe Frazier, the world heavyweight boxing champion, revealed Tuesday that he will get a percentage of television receipts of a fight next week involving Muhammad Ali, the man he beat for the right to call himself the undisputed titleholder.

Just two weeks ago Frazier's comment on the fight next Monday in Houston between Ali and Jimmy Ellis was:

"Wow, a man fighting his own sparring partner. That's rough."

Frazier was deriding the fact that Ellis, former World Boxing Association champ, once trained with Ali when Ali was heavyweight king. But on Tuesday, Frazier participated in a special promotion of the fight. He answered the phone at his North Philadelphia gym. It was Ali. The two exchanged competitive remarks, with Ali's responses amplified on a loudspeaker for the benefit of the press.

Afterwards Frazier, who said he favors Ellis in the fight, denied a sportswriter's suggestion that he was "shilling" for the promoters.

Frazier admitted that he will get a percentage of the receipts at two Philadelphia-area arenas where the fight is being broadcast on closed-circuit television.

"I ain't no shill," he quickly added. "My people are promoting the fight here and I get a piece of everything they do. So I would like to see them do well."

Chuck Dobson Chalks His Sixth Win Up Over Indians

OAKLAND (AP) — Unbeaten Chuck Dobson of the Oakland A's chalked up his sixth victory of the season as he pitched a six-hitter to defeat the Cleveland Indians 6-3 Tuesday night.

Dobson checked the Indians on six hits, struck out four and did not walk a batter before two more hits chased him and brought in Rollie Fingers, who got the final out.

The victory snapped a three-game losing streak for the A's and keeps them 10 games ahead of the Kansas City Royals in the American League West race.

Oakland locked up the game with a pair of runs on four-hits in the fourth inning. Dave Duncan singled and Dobson chopped a single to left after squaring off to bunt.

Joe Rudi then singled to put Oakland in front 4-2 and Tommy Davis also singled to score another run.

The A's got their final-run game in the seventh when Mike Epstein hammered his 15th homer of the season deep into the right field bleachers.

Pampa Little League All-Star Team Advances

Pampa's American Little League All Stars advanced to the finals of their area tournament last night by downing Phillips 14 to 3. Mike Knutson gave up 3 hits and 2 walks while fanning 8 to garner the win. Gary Balch slammed a home run for the local team.

Monday the American Stars had downed Borger North by a score of 4 to 1. Winning pitcher Gary Balch hurled a three-hitter, striking out 13 and walking 3. Tommy Washington powered a home run in that game.

The American Leaguers face Borger South tomorrow night at 7:30 in the finals of the tourney.

Lee Trevino Ready With Confidence For Victory

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Lee Trevino comes into the Westchester Golf Classic armed with brimming confidence, an undiminished thirst for victory—and seven alarm clocks.

"I was on a late TV program the night before the first round last year, talking about my chances of winning," Trevino recalled today.

"And I slept right through my tee time the next day."

He was disqualified from the $250,000 event, the richest of the season on the pro golf tour.

"That was the most expensive hour's sleep I ever had," Trevino said. "I slept away a chance to win $50,000."

"Since then people have given me a bunch of alarm clocks, seven of 'em. I'll guarantee you I'll be there on time this year."

Trevino, unprecedented winner of the U.S., Canadian and British Open titles, and PGA champ Jack Nicklaus are the co-favorites in the 72 hole event that begins Thursday on the tight little Westchester Country Club course, a 6,700 yard, par 72 layout in suburban New York.

Heavy rains Monday postponed qualifying rounds until Tuesday, and only a handful of exempt players were able to get in a practice round.

Trevino hit balls on the practice range for about an hour, then went fishing.

Trevino, who has taken five titles and is the season's leading money winner with more than $196,000, has played in 13 consecutive tournaments but said he isn't tired.

Nicklaus, back from a week's rest, is the year's No. 2 money winner despite an abbreviated schedule and is anxious to meet Trevino's challenge to his role as the world's premier performer.

Arnold Palmer, out of action for two weeks, was scheduled to arrive today as the big prize lured most of the great names of the game.

The only top players missing are Billy Casper, South African Gary Player and England's Tony Jacklin.

The contenders include Australian Bruce Crampton, the defending champion and winner of last week's Western Open, and a pair of neophyte pros—Steve Melnyk and Lanny Wadkins, the current British and American amateur champions.

Both announced their change to a professional status last week, and will be playing in their first event as pros.

Duane Thomas Will Retire From Football

DALLAS (AP) — Duane Thomas, the recalcitrant Dallas Cowboy holdout, said Tuesday night, "I don't think I will play football any more."

Thomas told Dick Rosenhoover of KDFW-TV, "Football is not important at all. It's not a way of life."

The former West Texas State Football League offensive rookie of the year in 1970 has a three-year contract with the Cowboys. But he wants it renegotiated.

He said Cowboy officials were trying to "put the Super Bowl game off on me. They want me to win everything. Then they ought to pay me."

Ellis' Image As A Fighter Can Only Improve Against Muhammad

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The way Jimmy Ellis sees it, his image as a fighter has got to improve because it can't get any worse.

Ali, he'll probably say (Joe) Frazier took it all out of him. The former World Boxing Association champion said after a workout session. "The worst has already been written about me. It has to improve."

"There's got to be a time for Jimmy Ellis. And I'm going to be the better man on July 26." Ellis, who meets Ali July 26 in the Astrodome in a 12-round fight that is taking on championship proportions, has fought throughout his heavyweight career to establish his reputation as a champion.

But he's been plagued by detractors who say he can't punch, he starts too fast and then can't go the distance, he tries to wade in and mix it when he should stay outside and box.

"I think my punch is stiffer than Ali's," Ellis said, taking one at a time. "Ali throws a lot of punches, but most of my punches are deadly. And I throw a lot of rights."

As for the fast starts, Ellis doesn't apologize. "I must have been doing something right," he said. "It's taken me pretty far. I always start fast. I'd rather be the one dishing it out than taking it."

If you think Ellis tires in the later rounds, just ask some of his former opponents, Jimmy says.

"The guys I fight don't seem to think I'm tired," Ellis said. "How tired can I be when I keep tagging these guys in the later rounds. I got (Tony) Doyle in the 10th."

Ellis also said he liked to wade in and fight, rather than holding in. "It's just my nature," he said. "Sometimes they get onto me about it, but it's just the way I am."

"It's a lot of misinformation," says Jimmy's manager Angelo Dundee. "He started out and they said he was a three round fighter. He starts going the distance and they still call him a three round fighter."

"I tell Jimmy not to worry about it. What can you do?"

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Political Story In Two Parts

"For the first time in its 114-year history, the National Education Assn. is going to openly use its political power in a presidential election. An association leader made it clear at the annual convention in Detroit that the organization will probably work to oppose the re-election of Richard M. Nixon.

The association's unprecedented entry into presidential politics was launched by outgoing President Helen Bain with a fiery attack on the Nixon administration that received two standing ovations from the 7,000 delegates.

Mrs. Bain charged that "this is the most anti-education administration this country has had in many years."

Executive Secretary Sam M. Lambert followed up by declaring that "... Nixon is a 'hear nothing, say nothing, do nothing' education president, who had better lend a hand or we are moving two million voters and all their husbands, wives and friends to the support of another and different administration."

National School Public Relations Assn. news release.

President Nixon yesterday

signed the largest educational appropriation bill in history and prodded Congress to work speedily on four additional educational proposals he has submitted.

The new measure provides $5.1 billion for the fiscal year that began July 1, nearly $1 billion more than was voted in the last fiscal year. The bulk of the money will go for elementary and secondary education and for various programs in aid of higher education.

While Congress voted $7 million less for education than Nixon requested, it made a number of significant changes in programs he recommended. These changes will result in an increase of spending in the current fiscal year of $375 million over the amounts estimated in my January budget," he said.

"This increase will require offsetting reductions elsewhere in the budget to maintain fiscal stability," he said.

News wire item. Note: Contrary to certain nasty rumors, the National Education Assn. has not adopted as its official campaign song the ballad "More."

Reassuring Refunds

Money talks, and what it says about the safety record of the nation's nuclear power industry may be worth listening to.

Insurance refund checks totaling $1,017,609 have just been sent to 247 organizations engaged in the nuclear business who are insured for liability arising from the nuclear energy hazard.

The refunds were mailed by the Nuclear Energy Liability Insurance Assn. (NELIA) and Mutual Atomic Energy Liability Underwriters (MAELU) and represent 97.08 per cent of premiums placed in a loss reserve fund in 1961.

Under the rating system employed by NELIA and nuclear insureds is placed in MAELU, a substantial portion operation of a nuclear reactor of the premiums received from the loss reserve fund and, if not utilized for losses, is returned to the insureds after a lapse of 10 years.

Total premium refunds thus amount $2,567,736.

Spokesmen for the two 14-year-old pools, which insure every utility-operated nuclear power reactor in the United States and virtually all research and development reactors as well as other nuclear activities, say that neither pool has ever received a claim due to the of any type.

Politicians Cutting Costs

Salary cuts are not the way of the spending economy — especially when the salary in question comes out of the "public" purse. And in California, including Orange County, the trend has been upward rather than lowered salaries.

But United Press International has released a story reporting an effort to trim the salaries of the Illinois ship of state. Hoping to stabilize itself on the wild sea of inflation and debt, the Illinois House has voted to reduce the year salaries of Illinois Supreme Court justices from $40,000 a year to $17,500. The latter amount is what the legislators make.

The salary cut is subject to review by the Illinois Senate. Whatever the outcome, whatever adjustment is settled upon, it looks as though that adjustment will be downward, which sounds like the right direction. And it is heartening to see that some politicians somewhere are bent on spending less, not more. The people of Illinois should be grateful.

Question Box

QUESTION: — "Are men basically good or evil?"

Our Answer: The idea that a label can be affixed to human beings is the source of much political activity. We do not believe such tags can be applied. Man is neither good nor evil, but a mixture of the two in varying degrees.

He is not perfect, but can move toward perfection. To do so he must be free. He must be free to experience the recognition of the evil things he has done, to suffer the pangs of regret and remorse for such acts and to experience the peace and relief of paying for his error and never repeating it. Thus is character strengthened.

The license through which political government bestows a "public pardon" upon those who do evil and foolish things rewards ignorance and mediocrity and feeds the evil side of men.

An example of such pardons include the welfare checks which go to those who failed to provide for themselves. Such practices not only eliminate the penalty or failure (thereby reducing the individual effort to protect against it) but they tend to remove the opportunity for other individuals to offer a helping hand to neighbors in temporary distress — an opportunity to practice true benevolence.

Another challenge of the question is to understand what is meant by "good" and "evil." Many people seem to think that by taking money away from "everybody" and distributing some of it to "needy" people, man is doing something "good." It is in fact evil because it robs the individual of his manhood. It is not benevolent, but force, and it promotes hatred.

Sensing The News

By ANTHONY HARRIGAN

The Welfare Explosion

The U.S. Senate's forthcoming action on welfare legislation will have enormous and longlasting effects on American society. If the Senate approves the Family Assistance plan initially proposed by the Nixon administration and modified by the House Ways and Means Committee, the country will be burdened with a vastly augmented welfare proletariat. Under the legislation drafted by Rep. Wilbur Mills, chairman of Ways and Means, the nation's welfare population will at least double. Perhaps 25 million non-workers will receive a guaranteed annual wage at the expense of employed citizens and taxpayers.

A publicity juggernaut has cleared the way for H.R. 1, the Mills-Nixon proposals. It will be very difficult to block welfare expansion legislation or win approval for an alternative such as Senate bill 2037 drafted by Sen. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb.). The only hope of preventing enactment of the Mills-Nixon welfare expansion plan lies with making the public aware of what is at stake.

If the Senate approves a doubling of the welfare population, it will double the burden on the productive elements in the country. Workers must carry twice as many non-workers on their backs.

But that's only part of the picture. The Mills-Nixon bill will have especially serious effect on many semi-rural areas struggling to improve their economies. In June 1970, Fortune Magazine discussed the impact of a guaranteed annual wage plan on a basically rural county with some light industry. It is clear from Fortune's analysis that the impact would be devastating. A guaranteed annual wage plan would cause many workers employed at the minimum wage to give up their jobs and live on welfare. Such legislation, the article made clear, would undermine incentives for working.

Proponents of the Mills-Nixon plan may say that the solution is to increase the minimum wage. Experience shows, however, that minimum wage hikes eliminate jobs. A small motel or light manufacturing plant in a rural county can't pass on higher labor costs to customers without losing customers. The motel, for instance, can't raise its rate from $11.50 to $15 for a single without having many travelers decide to stay at another — and perhaps more attractive — motel in a larger community.

If the Mills-Nixon approach is approved by the Senate Finance Committee and the full Senate, the country will be saddled with a new army of drones that will be impossible to satisfy. The next Congress will be called upon to raise the guaranteed annual wage and provide additional benefits for non-workers. Congress is likely to be responsive to such demands, for the non-workers have the ballot. Indeed the Mills-Nixon plan will be a blessing to the Welfare Rights Unions that are active in the cities.

The guaranteed annual wage concept is the worst feature of the Mills-Nixon legislation. It takes the intended beneficiaries out of the mainstream of American economic life and, in the words of Prof. Arthur A. Shenfield of Rockford College, "leaves them marooned on islands of subsidized sloth."

Our society provides numerous ladders of opportunity for people who want to work. The federal government, in recent years, has done its best to knock down those ladders and provide a n escalator in the form of subsidized idleness. The food stamp plan, for example, is a slap at every thrifty, working family in the country. In towns and cities across the nation one sees able-bodied and often well-dressed men and women line up for food stamps — while classified ads for workers go unanswered and home-owners find it difficult to hire domestic help or even baby-sitters. The food stamp recipients even complain that they have to stand in line for the handouts Public officials, mindful of the voting power of the dependent population, hasten to provide quicker service and even vans to deliver food stamps to outlying areas. The working, taxpaying citizen doesn't get that kind of service from officeholders. The official solicitude is lavished on the indolent.

Lola's new boy friend is coaxing her to vacation with him at a nudist camp! For he argues that nudism promotes better health and less defilement of the libido. He is half correct! But who are the chief promoters of nudist camps — men or women? Why?

CASE R-515: Lola F., aged 28, is a pretty math teacher. "Dr. Crane," she began, "I have recently been dating an older business man. He seems very nice and has taken me to all the better eating places and the theater.

"But last night he urged me to spend my vacation with him at a Nudist Camp. He argues that nudism promotes better health and is the way God expected human beings to live. What are the medical and psychological facts about Nudism?"

Nudism Fallacies

(1) Nudism is NOT healthful but really promotes ill-health. For it exposes the bare skin to an abnormally high incidence of dangerous ultra violet light. The latter promotes more skin cancers!

Remember, a tanned skin is a sick skin! Tanning is a final attempt to reduce ultra violet absorption! God apparently clothed all other creatures except mankind with fur or feathers to ward off the direct sunlight from their skin.

But the Almighty then figured we'd use our superior human brain to imitate the fur or feathers of other creatures and thus use wool, cotton, linen, nylon or silk to protect our epidermis. Moreover, the nude body is more subject to insect bites, including those of the malaria-causing mosquitoes. Bare skin also gets scratched more readily and this invites addition infection.

(2) Nudism is usually promoted by semi-platonic men who wish to disguise their sensual interest in naked women under the guise of health. Actually, however, nude bodies are not as sexually exciting to the human male as semi-nudes. For the old adage is psychologically correct that states:

"Anticipation is greater than realization."

At burlesque shows, it is thus the act of disrobing which excites the male audience more than the final nude figures of the actresses!

Men are far more interested in disrobing their girl companions than in starting with a naked female, for the zest of conquest enters into such romantic preludes. Woman are also not as inclined to fondle their male escorts or try to disrobe them as vice versa. Why? Because the human female identifies sex with love and thus keeps it on a more idealistic or poetically romantic plane. But to a man, sex may often be linked with conquest, barter for an evening's dinner and theater, or even revenge. Sadism also is more typical of the masculine sex. Empirical observation will let you check on the above laws,

Temperature Tells Time of Ovulation

Dear Dr. Lamb—Can you please tell me how the doctor pinpoints ovulation in order to help a woman become pregnant more quickly? How would a 32-day cycle affect the time? Would ovulation occur at the same times as a 28-day cycle? If a man had a slightly lower sperm count, could it take longer for a woman to become pregnant, even knowing the time of ovulation?

Dear Reader—There are several ways to pinpoint ovulation. Taking the body temperature each morning before getting up will show a continuous drop in temperature to the time of ovulation, then a steep rise of 0.8 degree. The temperature stays at that level usually ovulation occurs 14 days before the menstrual period, but there is a wide variation. Some women have conceived just before or just after their period.

Yes, if the sperm count is on the low side, it often takes more effort to induce pregnancy. It is a simple matter of the more sperm cells there are, the more likely one will connect with the ova. There are measures that can be taken to help increase the sperm count in some people. Abstinence of three or four days before ovulation helps build up the amount of sperm cells stored and may help. It is a bit like the days of the American Revolution, when ammunition was in short supply and our soldiers were cautioned, "Don't shoot until you see the whites of their eyes."

Dear Dr. Lamb — I am 20 years old and have a problem with which I hope you can help me. I want to wear the new fashion, "Hot-Pants," but I have a few scars on my upper leg which make it difficult to wear them. My legs look terrible. Is there anything I can do?

Dear Reader—There is not much you can do about scars except to have plastic surgery. This isn't altogether out of the question, because you may have other reasons besides fashion for wishing to improve the appearance of your legs, but it is an expensive luxury. Cosmetic surgery is important in helping improve people's self-image and promoting psychic health in some people. Some plastic surgeons have called it instant psychotherapy.

You have a few other choices, leg make-up (which certainly has its disadvantages) long Hot Pants, or you might find some suitable long stockings, panty hose, leotards or opaque one-piece body stockings. Your scars probably don't look as bad to other people as you think.

Lost: $1.7 Billion In 'Pacification' Funds

Robert Allen

WASHINGTON—An unusual treasure hunt is being launched by a congressional committee. Purpose is to find out what happened to $1.7 billion in missing Vietnam pacification funds.

The General Accounting Office, watchdog of Congress, reported that after an exhaustive study it was unable to account for this huge sum. The money is part of $2.1 billion authorized for the pacification of South Vietnam over a three-year period — 1969-70.

Rep. Otto Passman, D-La., chairman of the Appropriations Subcommittee in charge of the foreign aid budget, is starting an investigation of the GAO's startling disclosure. A hard-bitten economist, the veteran legislator expressed "shock and outrage" at the findings, and declared his intention to withhold any further funds for this program until "this astounding mystery is cleared up."

"I'm starting a series of hearings at once to get at the bottom of this amazing matter," said Passman. "Every official in any way involved will be summoned before us and closely interrogated. The stupendous sum of $1.7 billion just doesn't vanish in thin air. That money went somewhere and we want to know the answers."

The U.S. agency responsible for overall supervision of the Vietnam pacification program is Civil Operations and Revolutionary Development Support — CORDS. Foremost among its responsibilities is the care of refugees and other war victims. Also under it is Operation Phoenix, which combats Vietcong subversion. POWERFUL BOOKING—Passman's forceful mood drew immediate strong support from Sen. Harry Byrd, Ind-Va., another leading economy advocate.

A member of two of the most influential committees of the Senate — Armed Services and Finance — Byrd voiced bafflement at the seeming disappearance of nearly $2 billion of Vietnam pacification funds.

"It seems fantastic," he said, "that the GAO can account for only $339.2 million of the $2.1 billion appropriated for this program. I consider it extremely important that before more tax money is doled out, we make sure the money can be accounted for."

Byrd caustically pointed out, "There is only one place the government can get funds to send around the world, and that is from the pockets of the wage earners of our nation."

"If the wage earners are going to be called upon to send $2.1 billion to Southeast Asia for a pacification program," Byrd continued, "then the government has an obligation to see that the money is spent properly and for the purpose for which it was appropriated." Chairman Passman is in the strategic position to crack the whip because Congress has yet to act on the multi-billion dollar foreign aid budget.

The bill authorizing a $3.4 billion budget for the current fiscal year is still under consideration by the House Foreign Affairs Committee, which is not expected to complete drafting the measure until later this month.

Only after the House has passed that legislation, will Passman bring out the bill actually appropriating funds. He is making it clear he is going to hold up doing that "until we've cleared up the mystery of what became of the $1.7 billion in unaccounted pacification funds."

Nixon Convinced Changes Should Take Place Slowly

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — To make sense of the President's foreign policy one needs to understand just how firmly convinced Richard Nixon is that all change must take place slowly.

That holds not only in Vietnam, where a too-rapid American withdrawal could lead to military disaster, but in Korea, too. There the presence of U.S. ground troops has little valid military rationale but considerable political significance.

The belief holds in Western Europe, where the wealth and manpower of our allies makes large U.S. military forces an anachronism. As stated by one presidential aide:

"No matter how bad a situation is and no matter how unwise or overextended our commitments, a sudden change even in the right direction can cause unforeseen, very bad results. The British withdrawal from the Middle East left a whirlpool. Belgium's quick withdrawal from the Congo left chaos."

Mr. Nixon is known personally to believe the U.S. on-the-spot military commitment in West Europe is too high and that Europeans are too dependent on this country, considering their present state of development.

He believes that with their population and industrial development it is now ridiculous that Western Europe should depend on the United States for anything more than strategic and nuclear backup.

The President feels the large on-the-spot troop commitment in Europe is part of the psychological pattern left from the days just after World War II when Europe was in ruins and helpless, save for U.S. aid and the U.S. military presence.

But Mr. Nixon's top advisers in the State Department have told him they fear a heavy cut in U.S. forces in Europe now could cause political disaster in some major West European countries and result in a calamitous realignment of power disadvantageous to the United States. By the same token, Mr. Nixon believes that as of now it is moot to argue whether we should have gone into Vietnam or whether it was wise to have committed 549,000 troops to the war. The simple fact is that the entry of this very large U.S. military force so changed the picture that a quick withdrawal now would be dangerous in Vietnam, in the immediate surrounding nations and in all the Western Pacific and Southern Asia. It would have widespread repercussions in West Europe, the Middle East and Latin America.

This explains in part why the President reacts so strongly to senators who urge setting an early date for leaving Vietnam or who push for rapid cuts in our European forces. Worldwide, the presence of U.S. troops has assumed a political meaning greater than their current military significance.

Thus the Nixon Doctrine of reducing our overseas commitments will be put into effect very slowly. Old commitments will be downgraded at a snail's pace. New programs will be developed without haste.

Barnes' Bid For Texas Governor Supported By Johnson, Connally

EDITOR'S NOTE—Ben Barnes was Texas' youngest House Speaker and youngest lieutenant governor. Now at 33 the Democrat is aiming for the governor's seat in 1972.

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — At 33, men are just awakening to politics, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes of Texas already is being compared to old pro Lyndon B. Johnson. Some say he's better.

Just eight months out of office, former President Johnson told Texas Democrats Barnes could be president some day if he wanted the job.

Barnes was flattered but later said, "President Johnson, I think, perhaps went too far in his remarks."

Johnson's statement was bold, but Barnes, as young as he is, appears to be the Texas Democratic party's strongest candidate for governor in 1972.

In announcing for governor against incumbent Preston Smith, 59, former U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, 68, and Uvalde rancher Dolph Briscoe, 48, Barnes said he "certainly had been interested in being U.S. senator from Texas," but he thought that in 1972 he could make his "greatest contribution" to the state as governor. He could become the youngest Texas governor since Dan Moody was inaugurated in 1927 at the age of 33.

Barnes has said that under Smith's administration "there has been a void in pursuing greatness," adding that his No. 1 campaign issue would be "the loss of faith and confidence in state government."

Barnes is well groomed and His curly light red hair goes along with his complexion, which is the type that sunburns and freckles easily.

Barnes blushes often, especially when he is told of an unflattering remark about him. He also reddens and twists his hands when an unexpected question catches him off guard—which is rare.

He discussed his political career—which started when he was barely old enough to vote—in a 2½ hour interview recently. It seemed a good time to ask him if he expected to pick up some "political scars" soon—something he has avoided in becoming the youngest House Speaker and youngest lieutenant governor in Texas history.

"I think my major political liability right now is that there's always a group on both sides of the political fence that have to hate people. I don't mean hate," Barnes said, "I hope it's never on a personal basis, but I think probably have inherited the political venom that Republicans in Texas had for Johnson and Sam Rayburn.

"I would say—and I don't want this to sound vain or wrong—that some Republicans consider me their No. 1 enemy in Texas right now, their No. 1 political enemy. I would say this is a scar from the standpoint that these people are working on me every day."

If Barnes is a Republican target, Johnson helped make him one. The former president let Barnes sit in on Cabinet meetings and exposed him to "top level people in the educational world and in the world of government" by appointing him to national commissions. He even sent Barnes to a United Nations session in Geneva, Switzerland.

Barnes apparently unlike Johnson, claims he has never felt ill at ease with the Eastern intellectuals. He says he has no "horror" of them. A Republican says it is because "he has more brass than a brass band."
