

Is Concern For Vietnam Veterans Coming Too Late?

(Editor's Note: Tom Tiede will be on special assignment for several weeks, writing exclusively about the problems, opinions and future of Vietnam veterans.)

By TOM TIEDE
NEW YORK (NEA)—The United States attitude toward its 2.8 million veterans of the Southeast Asian war can be put quite briefly: In the early 1960s the nation didn't know its soldiers were fighting in the middle 1960s the nation knew but didn't care much — but it may be time and neglect, the nation is beginning to know and care much — but it may be too late.

Not since the final months and immediate after-years of the Civil War has America treated its battle veterans so shabbily as it has in recent times. Then it was the losing veterans, the Southern soldiers, who were ignored and waved off. As that war neared end, rebel soldiers were often denied aid and assistance by confused and bitter Southern citizens; when the war was over, the rebel veterans often had to fight their way back into good graces and decent jobs.

Now again, it might be argued, our returning soldiers are losers. Or at least not winners. And this might explain the reluctance of the citizenry to honor them, the business world to welcome them, and the Congress to protect them.

So now again our veterans have to battle back into society. "Let me give you a personal example," says John Todd, a one-time helicopter pilot in Vietnam. "Before I entered the service, I was a good student, a very good student. I had taken one national college examination and scored over 600 — good enough for any school in the nation. But when I got back from Vietnam, I found that hard as I tried, I could not win acceptance to top schools. I submitted application after application, but could not do it. Finally, somebody advised me not to put my service record on my applications. They said to put down anything — that I was a drug addict for two years — anything. That way if my forms were read by an anti-war administrator I'd have a hell of a lot better chance."

Todd says he doesn't know if many veterans are having similar problems getting back into college. "But I've heard a lot of guys are." Todd, by the way, was shot down in Vietnam, "serving my country," leaving him almost totally blind. It is, of course, presumptuous and unfair to draw a conclusion here that many college administrators are purposely denying enrollment to men solely because they were in Vietnam. Yet there is no denying that it has happened at least occasionally — and that it can happen at all is part of a plight of today's veterans.

Further, there is mounting evidence that such things are happening in other aspects of the society as well. Bruce Kessler, a Brooklyn-born former Vietnam Marine says: "The whole country is full of examples where veterans have been and are being discriminated against. Take jobs. Today there are more than 300,000 Vietnam veterans out of work. Why is this? Some of it is due to the general economic situation, of course. But also I am convinced that many employers just don't want Vietnam veterans on the job. The employers aren't always being mean — just cautious. They hear all these stories circulated about Vietnam GIs and they simply don't want a bunch of dope addicts or baby bayoneters on the payroll."

Baby bayoneters? Dope addicts? Is this what American businessmen, American educators, American people think about the Vietnam veteran? Sadly, it sometimes is. Call it vogue stigma. It's the fashion to malign large forces of Vietnam soldiers for the actions of a few. Says Navy Lt. John O'Neill, San Antonio, Tex., who has served several tours in the war: "There have been many thousands of platoon leaders in Vietnam, but only one Lt. Calley. I don't know why it is so many Americans have come to believe that there is a little Lt. Calley in every returning GI."

So it is that Vietnam veterans have returned to not only an ungrateful nation, but a suspicious one. "Even my mother," says a recent returnee, "she kind of hedges around but I know what she wants to know: Is their blood on my hands?"

Doubted they are then, as well as unappreciated, or criticized, or forgotten. And the short-and long-range effects of it all is overdue for scrutiny. On the individual basis, probably such snubbery is not likely to be traumatic. A man returns from combat, a year taken from his life, and if he has a girl or can scrape up a job, or can possibly exist in school on veteran's benefits, he might accept the fact nobody gives a good damn that he obeyed the law and served.

But on a national basis, and in those individual instances where a return to normalcy is more difficult (say, for a handicapped Negro), public apathy toward veterans may be of significant harm. So much so that Bruce Kessler, the ex-Marine mentioned herein, has formed a counterforce: Vietnam Veterans for a Just Peace. The group has political overtones, but never mind that. Its primary worth is that it's trying to improve the now shoddy image of the Johnnies marching home.

Says Kessler: "The fellows in my organization are worried. Not only about the forgotten veteran, but for the nation which has forgotten him. Now, we believe that most Americans have no bad feelings for the veterans, that most people want to help the veteran as much as possible — but our point is that the people in our nation had better hurry up and do something to show this, or else..." He pauses. And adds: "Or else it will be too late to do anything but say we're sorry."

RENSSELAER, N.Y. (AP) — Robert Albright, the owner of the Albany-Rensselaer Paint and Glass Co. has a lot to smile about today, despite his missing front window. Wreckers working on a Hudson River bridge between Rensselaer and Albany set off a series of explosions Tuesday evening, razing a bridge tower, but taking with it some 100 windows in the two cities. Yet, none of the glass company's inventory, only a few yards from the bridge, was damaged. "Business looking up?" "I would expect so. Yes, indeed," said Albright.

West Texas State Herefords Go Into Experimental Feedlot

CANYO — Construction was scheduled this week on a 500-head capacity experimental feedlot at the West Texas State University Nance Hereford Ranch. Cost of constructing and equipping the feedlot was estimated at $18,000, said John W. McNeill, acting head of the department of animal science in the university's School of Agriculture.

Hartco Enterprises of Dumas was lot bidder on the project at $8,389.50. Construction is expected to be completed in about three weeks, McNeill said. He said two projects would be undertaken initially at the new facility.

One project will concern disease control and stress on stockfeeder cattle. Several veterinarians from Texas A&M University will work with West Texas State animal scientists on the project. The second project will seek to learn the long-term effects of liquid feed and supplement on feeder cows. Taylor-Evans Seed Co. of Amarillo will provide $20,000 over two years to finance the research. Effects of environmental change on stocker feeder cattle will be studied later, McNeill said. "We plan to get a good representation of cattle from various parts of the country," he said.

"By doing this we can determine how much affect environmental change has on cattle," McNeill said. "This will not only be a feedlot project, but we will go into the laboratory as well." Several students will assist agriculture faculty members in the project, McNeill said. "This project is not only an experimental project, but it will also be used as a teaching tool," McNeill said.

Why it is important to do this is indicated in this passage from Science and Health with Key to the scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy: "Prayer, waiting, and working, combined with self-immolation, are God's gracious means for accomplishing whatever has been successfully done for the Christianization and health of mankind.

The Weekly Message of Inspiration...

PAMPA CHAPEL

REV. E. K. CORNELL

"THE GREAT TRAGEDY OF TODAY, THE UNREPAIRED ALTAR"

One of the great tragedies of our present world is the breakdown of our family altars or worship centers. In Deut. 6th chapter, 7th verse, God instructed the people to teach their children the ways of God. Not only once a day or once in awhile, but when they got up in the morning, when they sit down to eat and when they went to bed at night.

The great need today is to repair our family altars and again teach our children the ways of God.

Are we taking time to have our daily devotions and prayer, or does your child say, "I've never heard my father pray"?

There is no generation GAP Spiritually speaking, the quality of devotions of a young person, who is truly consecrated to God should be no different from that of the oldest saint. This, I truly believe!

We are living in an age of permissiveness and moral laxity, which our forefathers fought. Nearly all restraints are gone. "As it was in the days of Noah".

The first thing Noah did after the flood-when the Ark came to rest on Mt. Ararat was to build an Altar. Gen. 8:20, Noah offered a sacrifice unto the Lord, Verse 21 says it was a sweet savor unto God.

In First Kings 18:20, Elijah said unto all the people, come near unto me. And all the people came near unto him. And Elijah repaired the altar of God.

What a great tragedy when we read recently, that on July 4th the beaches at all the lakes were full, Pala Duro Canyon was crowded, people everywhere seeking pleasure. Instead of taking their families to church, No wonder we have disturbed young people in our Nation today.

To legalize sin today, doesn't make it less sinful. Not only the drug and dope problem, but the free flowing of alcoholic beverages, abortion, the availability of the "Pill", lying, slander, cheating-all of these and more do not solve the young people's problem.

My young friend, Christ is the answer! Repair the altars in your home! It will do away with the Generation Gap! If it was necessary for Noah to build an altar to worship God and for Elijah to repair the altar, surely there is a need today for family worship.

Also, to put the altar back into our churches.

Take your children to church while they are still small! Train up a child in the way it should go, when it is old it will not depart from it.

First Christian Will Sponsor
Holy Land Musical Journey

Across a barren land, scarred by centuries of war and neglect, the spectres of ancient Israel appear, hover, and fade away. Suddenly there is movement of a different sort, and slowly, steadily, a startling transformation begins to take place.

Thus begins "HIS LAND," the thrilling story of Israel from ancient to modern times. "HIS LAND," a one-hour color feature motion picture, takes you on a journey through space, time and current events. You see graphically, the fact that Israel today is a living testimony to the words of the prophets when they proclaimed that Israel would take her place among the nations of the world.

In the company of Cliff Barrows and Cliff Richard, England's popular star, who sings a number of new Ralph Carmichael songs, some of which were actually written on location, you travel the vibrant streets and lonely solitary paths of this nation whose destiny is daily discussed in the counsels of governments all over the world... the same paths taken by Jesus and the prophets.

Missouri Synod Schedules Convention Debate Issues

About fifty Texans will be official representatives to the Lutheran Church — Missouri Synod's 49th Regular Convention, July 9-16, in Milwaukee. Thirty six of the group, half of them pastors and half lay delegates, will be voting representatives. Of the 1,500 delegates expected at the biennial meeting, 1,020 will have voting status.

A worship service in Milwaukee's Arena on Friday evening will open the Convention. The Synod's President, Dr. Jacob A. O. Preus of St. Louis, will give the first business session to order on Saturday morning, July 10.

Dr. Paul A. Zimmermann, President of Concordia College, Ann Arbor, Michigan, will deliver an essay in four parts during the Convention on the theme: "Sent to Reconcile."

During the Convention the Synod will debate and vote on such issues as to whether to continue the two-year-old pulpit and altar fellowship arrangement with The American Lutheran Church and whether to continue membership in the Lutheran Council in the U.S.A., a cooperative agency that serves the three largest Lutheran bodies in the country. Much controversy has developed within the Synod over both these issues.

Other Convention matters to come up for discussion will include the question of "doctrinal discipline," the sufficiency of the Lutheran, Confessional writings, whether to change the age for confirming and giving first communion, whether to create a free-standing evangelism board separate from the Board of Missions, and whether or not to adopt the newly-produced parish education curriculum, named: Mission: Life.

People In The News

VIENNA (AP) — Todor Zhivkov has resigned as premier of Bulgaria and the Bulgarian National Assembly has elected him state president a post created by a new constitution.

The Bulgarian news agency BTA said Wednesday that the chief of the Communist-dominated Fatherland Front was replaced as premier by Stanko Todorov, a 50-year-old economist and No. 2 party man under Zhivkov.

The Fatherland Front received 99.9 per cent of the vote in recent general elections. Zhivkov had served as premier since 1962.

PETROS, Tenn. (AP) — Brushy Mountain State Prison officials say James Earl Ray, the confessed slayer of civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., is free to mingle with other inmates of the maximum security facility.

They said Wednesday that the 40-year-old Ray, serving a 99-year sentence for the murder of King, "will be allowed the same privileges as other prisoners." Since his arrest in London in June 1968 Ray has been kept in isolation under tight security.

Ray has petitioned both state and federal courts for a new trial, without success, and grounds his guilty plea to the sniper slaying was entered under pressure from his attorneys. He was foiled in an escape try last May 30.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Mrs. Harry S. Truman is reported in good condition at Research Hospital in Kansas City.

The wife of the former president entered the hospital on June 21 for what is described as a routine medical examination. There has been no indication of the nature of the tests or when Mrs. Truman is to return to their home in near-by Independence, Mo.

Carr filed a protest with the BBC after it broadcast a report on a bomb explosion at his home last January which included a statement from an underground newspaper condoning the action.

Optimist Babe Ruth All-Stars Kick Off Season With New Queen And A Victory

Baseball fans were in for a professional showing of their baseball skills in downing the Optimist Parks as the Babe Ruth All-Stars gave a of approximately 300 people. Prior to the All-Star game the Babe Ruth queen was announced and introduced to the seven other teams in the league.

This year's queen is Leslie Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Evans, 2116 N. Russell.

Pampa will battle the Panhandle Okies at 9:00 p.m., the Okies consist of Guymon, Hooker, Tyrone and Goodwill, Oklahoma.

Awards were presented to the top team in city play and to their sponsor, Grant Supply Company. Grant's coach, Jim Tucker said, "I'm twice as happy about the trophies as I received both the sponsor and coaching trophy." Tucker is the 1971 All-Star coach and will be leading the team during their long climb to the World Series.

The winner of the 9 p.m. game will face N. Plains Tuesday night at 6:30 p.m. North Plains consists of Sanford, Fritch and Stinnett.

The District 1 Tournament for West Texas Babe Ruth Leagues will be hosted by Pampa from July 19-24. The first game will find the Top O' Texas team going up against Randall County. Perryton, Booker, Follett and Darruzzett are represented in the Top O' Texas while Canyon is Randall County.

According to Jim Tucker, coach of this year's All-Star team, "We looked a little rusty last night but I think that the rough spots were caused from lack of practice more than anything else. All in all our chances for going all the way are looking real good."

BASEBALL ACTION moves fast as shown by the unidentified runner trying to beat the throw to first base. His efforts were in vain as shortly after the picture was taken the tag was made. The All-Stars won their exhibition game 11 to 3. (Staff Photo)

Pittsburgh Pirates Find Another Talented Jewel

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The talent-rich Pittsburgh Pirates found another jewel for their collection after crowning Cincinnati.

Rookie Bruce Kison, a 21-year-old diamond in the rough with a singing fastball, pitched the Pirates to a 7-1 knockout of the Reds with late relief help Thursday night.

Kison, called up last week from the minors to fill in while Bob Moose is on a two-week army reserve hitch, is getting a closer look from manager Danny Murtaugh after his first major league victory.

While Pittsburgh boosted its National League East lead to seven games over idle New York, San Francisco turned back Houston 4-2, Philadelphia stopped Montreal 7-5 and Chicago tripped Los Angeles 4-2 in other action.

In the American League, it was Detroit 3, New York 1; California 7, Minnesota 4; Oakland 4, Chicago 2; Boston 5, Cleveland 3; Baltimore 7, Washington 3 and Milwaukee 2, Kansas City 1.

Kison earned a shot at the big time with a 10-1 record at Charleston of the International League. The first time out last week, he gave up three runs in a five inning job against Chicago.

The 6-foot-4, 180-pounder was better Tuesday night, holding the heavy-hitting Reds to three hits and no runs through seven innings before issuing a two-out, bases loaded walk in the eighth. In came Dave Giusti, who silenced Cincinnati for his 18th save.

Bob Robertson's two-run homer highlighted a four-run first inning that gave Kison a 4-0 cushion more than the Pirates needed.

Bobby Bonds' two-run double keyed a three-run third that carried San Francisco past Houston behind John Cumberland's six-hit pitching. Bonds had earlier singled, stole second and scored on Dick Dietz' single to pull the Giants into a 1-1 tie in the second.

The triumph ended a four-game losing streak for the swooning Giants and cut short a six-game winning string for the Astros.

Tim McCarver delivered a three-run homer with two out in the eighth inning to power Philadelphia.

Clemente Draws His 11th All-Star Game

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pittsburgh Pirates' star Roberto Clemente drew his 11th All-Star Game assignment today as Cincinnati Reds' Manager Sparky Anderson completed the National League squad.

Clemente, four-time league batting champion, will take a .310 All-Star batting average into next Tuesday night's game at Detroit. He finished fifth among National League outfielders in voting by baseball fans that determined the starting line-ups.

Anderson named 12 players to complete the 28-man squad. Catcher Manny Sanguillen of Pittsburgh, first baseman Nate Colbert of San Diego and outfielders Bobby Bonds of San Francisco and Willie Davis of San Francisco Giants.

The others named were infielders Don Kessinger and Ron Santo of Chicago, Lee May of Cincinnati and Felix Millan of Atlanta, and outfielders Lou Brock of St. Louis, Pete Rose of Cincinnati and Rusty Staub of Montreal.

Rose, who scored the winning run in the 12th inning of last year's All-Star Game, was named to the National League squad for the sixth time. Santo has been selected seven times.

Anderson also announced that managers Walter Alton of Los Angeles, Danny Murtaugh of Pittsburgh and Preston Gomez of San Diego will serve as All-Star coaches. The team trainers will be Leo Hughes of the San Francisco Giants.

The Poor Letter 'E'

Someone has decided that the letter E is the most unfortunate letter in the alphabet. It is always out of cash, forever in debt, never out of danger, and always in hell. No little credit is due, however, in that it is never in war and always in peace.

Marxist Mind Warfare

As we observe the course of communist conquest, we immediately discover that for every country which comes under communist rule, the loss of freedom is always unexpected. There has always been the element of surprise. In other words, no country today ruled by the Communist Party expected to go communist. WHY?

The communists do this by getting non-communists to carry out their will and intention. Every conquest has come about by exploiting four principles. We shall state them and then apply them to the present position of the United States.

The School Ruling

The U. S. Supreme Court decision that bars gifts of tax funds to parochial schools is by no means comfortable. What it means is, you can properly be taxed to support atheist instruction, but you cannot be taxed to provide direct aid to Christian, Jewish, Hindu, Moslem or other sectarian instruction.

HOW TO ADDRESS OUR LAWMAKERS

You may want to write your senators and representatives in Washington and Austin. Here are their addresses: STATE Rep. Phil Cates, House Office Bldg., Austin, Texas.

Question Box

QUESTION: A school district is picking out textbooks. One trustee accuses the other of censorship. Does a trustee become a censor when he objects to a book?

ANSWER: The question, is whether the refusal to buy a book is an act of censorship. On the one hand, it can be argued that if tax-supported schoolmen, being also public officials, strain information that students are to receive they are taking on themselves the role of censors.

According to Webster's Third New International Dictionary, "Censor" means "to subject to a censor's examination; often to alter, delete, or ban completely after examination."

The steady increase of cars on the highway necessitates the ultimate of alertness even in the most favorable of circumstances. Every 20 seconds, says the automobile club, the average motorist is called upon to make a driving decision.

No amount of spirits can cheer the mangled or dead victim of the drinking driver who turned his automobile into a lethal weapon. The drinker can help save 32 million people by turning his car over to a sober chauffeur.

It is the beginning of existence, the commencement of ease, and the end of trouble. Without it there would be no meat, no life, and no heaven. It is the center of honesty, and although it starts off in error, it ends by making love perfect.

Husbands also hold a totaly wrong notion about the sexual passion of women, for prostitutes since the time of Abraham had hood-winked men.

Operation Golden Eagle Underway

Operation Golden Eagle is now in full swing in National Park Service areas, Frank F. Kowski, director of the National Park Service's Southwest Region, under the Department of the Interior, announced today.

Operation Golden Eagle is the Federal Recreation Entrance Fee System for calendar year 1971 as authorized by Congress.

The Golden Eagle Passport, which sells for $10, provides year-long access to all designated Federal recreation areas where entrance fees are charged. It admits the purchaser and all persons accompanying him in one private non-commercial vehicle.

Park visitors who do not purchase the annual permit are charged $1 to $3 per day for motor vehicle entry to such areas. All visitors to National Park Service areas, including Golden Eagle Passport holders, who use special facilities and services such as developed campgrounds, guide service, and elevator service are charged additional fees. Camping fees range from $1 to $3 per night, depending on facilities offered.

Some changes in group camping fees were made, effective July 1. All NPS areas $5 per group to ten persons, and 50 cents per person over ten. Currently, in effect in several areas, these fees will apply in all NPS campgrounds in the southwest where group fees are charged.

However, all visitors under 16 years of age are exempt from paying fees, as are groups of persons on educational, scientific, and therapeutic visits sponsored by bona fide institutions. For example, an organized school group accompanied by an instructor, studying observation practices, natural history, geology, ecology or similar subjects would be exempt, while a school picnic would not. Sponsors of groups would make advance arrangements since some areas require reservations for group camping.

Revenues in the Land and Water Conservation Fund are earmarked by law for outdoor recreation. Revenues from sales of $10 Golden Eagle Passports, daily permits, and other fees are used to provide additional lands for Federal recreation areas; or are apportioned to the States where they are matched by State or local funds to provide near-to-home outdoor recreation.

A directory of Federal recreation where the 1971 Golden Eagle Passport is valid, and the Passport may be obtained at most entrances or visitor centers in Federal recreation areas. They may also be ordered from Operation Golden Eagle, Post Office 7763, Washington, D.C. 20044.

ROM (AP)—Italy's 60,000 government tobaccoshops, the only places where cigarettes are sold legally, were closed to day by a 24-hour strike.

The tobacconists complained that the government charged too much for tobacco and was opening too many new shops. They said the only way to beat the competition of the black market was to lower prices.

Senate-House Conferees Will Try To Reach Compromise Over Draft

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate-House conferees say they'll try again Monday to reach a compromise over a bill to extend the draft another two years.

Despite falling Wednesday to break a deadlock over Sen. Mike Mansfield's amendment calling for total U.S. withdrawal from Indochina, leaders of both chambers expressed optimism.

"I am quite hopeful we can settle this next week," said Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate conferees. Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of the House group, agreed.

The old draft law expired on June 30. Many points of difference, except for the Mansfield proposal, have been settled between the House and Senate for a two-year renewal.

NEW YORK (AP)—Although fringe benefits account for more than one-quarter of many paychecks, it is unlikely that many of the recipients could pass a true-false quiz on the subject.

The absence of knowledge is particularly obvious in regard to private pension plans, which are now estimated to total $130 billion in assets, a sum whose management and mismanagement is causing concern in Congress.

Yet the information is available, but not always in the right places. Funding reports, are made to the Securities and Exchange Commission, to the Labor Department and to accountants and lawyers.

But in many cases the employee directly concerned gets no report until he requests one. Who is to blame? Clearly there is a certain apathy on the part of workers.

But management must assume much of the blame. It simply has not found a clear, easy method of communicating the intricate details of its plans. Its attitude appears to be difficult rather than enthusiastic.

"Even if an employee did get the information, I am not sure it would be meaningful," said James Altwood, senior vice president and pension expert at Equitable Life Assurance Society.

The communication of pension information is "perfunctory rather than meaningful," he believes. What should the employee ask for if he does decide to call the personnel department or write to the home office? Altwood feels some of the most important questions are concerned with benefits.

—When do you become covered? Sometimes the program doesn't cover the new employee during his first years of service. Sometimes an employee isn't covered for disability benefits until he attains a certain age.

—When are you vested? When are your rights to benefits ironclad, even should you leave the company's service?
