WHITE HOUSE SAYS

Deficit For 1972 To Be $18 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is on the way to piling up the worst back-to-back deficits in federal government operations since 1945-46.

But administration officials shrug off the two deficits, expected to total more than $40 billion in fiscal 1971 and 1972, saying they are fiscally responsible.

The reason, they say, is that the budget spending is pegged to the amount of tax revenues the government would expect to receive in times of high prosperity.

In fiscal 1945, the federal deficit, ballooned by wartime spending, was $45 billion. As peace returned, the deficit dropped to $18 billion the following year.

The treasury Department reported Wednesday the deficit for fiscal 1971, which ended June 30, climbed to $23.2 billion, second highest one-year deficit of the post-World War II era.

Officially, the White House says, the deficit for fiscal 1972 will be $11.6 billion. But administration officials have acknowledged publicly it will be closer to $18.6 billion.

The largest back-to-back deficits in the past 25 years were those in fiscal 1967 and 1968 when President Lyndon B. Johnson was in office.

But the Nixon deficits are more responsible than those, say administration officials, including Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, a Democrat and close political associate of Johnson.

The fiscal 1971 budget actually showed a $2.5-billion surplus on a full-employment basis, Connally and George P. Shultz, director of the Office of Management and Budget, said. It was the third year in a row a full-employment balance or surplus has been achieved.

"This record is in sharp contrast to that of fiscal years 1966 through 1968, when full-employment deficits totaled more than $40 billion," he said.

Full employment is defined as a 4-per-cent jobless rate. The unemployment rate during the fiscal year averaged 5.7 per cent—and got bigger as the year went along.

Draft Proposal Still Deadlocked In U.S. House Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — House negotiators have offered a no-deadline substitute for disputed Indochina war-pullout language but still see little hope for an early break in Congress' deadlock over the draft.

House Armed Services Chairman F. Edward Hebert, D-La., refused to disclose the counterproposal Wednesday but said it does not include the Senate's nine-month deadline for U.S. troop withdrawal which is attached to the draft bill.

"The House conferees will not tie the President's hands," Hebert said.

But he said House-Senate conferees trying to compromise on a two-year draft-extension bill have not even been able to agree on when to meet so the House contingent could offer its counterproposal.

"If we can't get it (a compromise draft bill) out by the end of the week," Hebert said, "there's no hope for it."

Final draft action before September appears doubtful in any case. Antiwar senators have vowed to filibuster any compromise without a war deadline and Congress starts a month-long recess at the end of next week.

Hebert denied reports the White House helped the House write an acceptable war-pullout counterproposal, but readily agreed he has talked with Nixon administration aides.

"We always talk to them, on every bill," Hebert said. "They had no special, direct hand in this."

Leader Mike Mansfield—who wrote the Senate nine-month war-pullout amendment and who has power to cut off the threatened filibuster against a compromise—said he has not seen the new House proposal.

Statewide Rains Put Crimp In Area Drouth

Forecast Says More Expected For Tonight

BY TEX DEWESE

With still more showers and thunderstorms expected tonight in the Panhandle area, Pampans today were happy over a .35-inch early morning thunderstorm that brought the two-day precipitation to 1.10 inches.

A cool front that sent the temperature down to 58 degrees overnight turned on the spigot locally and in nearly every section of the state.

It marked at least a temporary end to a six-month long period of drouth in the Pampa area and a long, crippling dry spell in many Texas areas.

Pampa's total rainfall for the year so far is pegged at 8.20 inches. Normal precipitation to date is 12.33 inches.

The new supply of downpours started Tuesday night and caused smaller streams to rise out of their banks and cover roads in low areas and underpasses, principally in North Central and Northeast Texas.

One of the latest flood threats covered Hansford County here in the Panhandle where thunderstorms turned loose rain at the rate of 1-inch per hour during the night.

Deryl Sehorn, local meteorologist for the U.S. Weather Service, reported this morning local rainfall brought Pampa's total for the year to 8.20 inches. That's 4.13 inches short of the normal 12.33 inches for the year to date.

The only month of the year when Pampa has come close to normal precipitation was July with 2.33 inches. An exception was February when blizzard conditions boosted the month's total to 2.90 inches.

Local precipitation amounts for the year were: January, .13; February, 2.90; March, .07; April, .66; May, .41; June, 1.85; July 2, 18, and the year to date, 8.20 inches.

Overnight rains caused flood warnings to be issued in Dallas, Tarrant, Collins, Kaufman, Van Zandt, Rockwell, Hunt and Rains counties.

Dallas, for example, measured 2.27 inches Wednesday night, closing some streets for a time.

While the cool front held temperatures noticeably lower in Pampa and northern areas south headed toward the 100-degree mark again today.

Pampa's high today and tomorrow was not expected to get out of the 70s.

The noonday forecast from the U.S. Weather Service in Amarillo called for a 50 per cent chance of more thunderstorms late today and tonight and 30 per cent tomorrow.

Continued cool weather also was forecast with today's high in the upper 70s and the overnight low in the upper 50s.

Apollo 15 Astronauts Entering Moon Orbit

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 15 astronauts, their commander a newly qualified space plumber, zeroed in on the moon with a brief engine burst today and were ready to fire into lunar orbit using a new technique that will require split-second manual control.

As the astronauts make their maneuver at 11:04 a.m. EDT nudged the spaceship onto a more precise path that will take it within 65 miles of the moon's surface later in the day.

Scott, who used a wrench Wednesday night to fix a water leak in the cabin, reported "I guess you can see it was a nice smooth burn."

Apollo 15 was 14,294 miles from the moon, traveling 2,691 miles an hour.

The one-second course change close approach to the moon, they will execute a new engine ignition procedure to shoot into orbit.

The new firing procedure is necessary to bypass a short circuit that developed in the engine system shortly after Scott, James B. Irwin and Alfred M. Worden were launched from Cape Kennedy Monday on their moon-landing expedition.

Astronaut Richard Worden commander of the Apollo 15 backup crew, worked out the technique in a computer-driven simulator here and passed up instructions to Apollo 15 Wednesday night.

First trial of the procedure is set for 4:05 p.m. EDT today when Apollo 15 sweeps behind the backside of the moon and fires into orbit about 70 miles above the surface.

Issue On Closing Riverbed To Be Discussed Here

A tour is planned by the group tomorrow if questions raised during the session cannot be resolved by the commissioner.

Doug Coffee, moderator for the open session tomorrow, said Armstrong will probably tour the riverbed to gain knowledge concerning the situation.

Representative Phil Cates, Lefors, said he will attend the meeting. Cates made a tour of the upper Canadian earlier this week, and indicated sightings of wild turkeys and deer in the riverbed area north of Lake Meredith.

Interested persons are urged to meet for the session tomorrow.

Bob Armstrong, Texas Land Commissioner, is scheduled to arrive at Perry Lefors Field at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow. Armstrong will conduct a question and answer session in the Gray County Hangar for problems posed by the closing of the Canadian River to hunters. He is visiting the area through efforts of the Canadian River Sportsmen's Association, organized to fight the Parks and Wildlife Commission's action which closed the riverbed to hunters.

Congress Urged To Write Laws Dealing With Air, Rail Strikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress must soon write new legislation dealing with national transit labor problems "or get ready to go into the dispute-settling business on a massive scale," says Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson.

"I urge you to resist the temptation to believe compulsory arbitration and free collective bargaining can somehow lie down together like the lion and the lamb," he told the House transportation subcommittee Wednesday. At the core, each is at war with the other. There must be a choice."

Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe was called to testify today.

The subcommittee, at hearings on a batch of bills to set up new permanent legislation dealing off frequent emergency congressional intervention in plane and train disputes, faces a difficult job, said Commerce Committee Chairman Harley O. Staggers.

"I hope they have all the wisdom in the world to come up with it," the West Virginia Democrat told Hodgson. "We've been asked for some permanent legislation... it's going to be a little bit hard to come up with some kind of answer."

Staggers approved of Hodgson's decision declining to discuss the current selective-strike situation. The chairman said strikers and management should have an opportunity to work out their own affairs under Hodgson's encouragement of a voluntary settlement instead of a compulsory solution by Congress now.

Hodgson, urging approval of the Nixon administration's proposed emergency public interest protection act, said: "The public will no longer tolerate national emergencies caused by transportation labor disputes."

Reds Rap U.S. Role In S. Viet Election

PARIS (AP) — The Viet Cong charged today that the elections in South Vietnam are being "feverishly" rigged "under the direct supervision of the American Embassy in Saigon."

The charge was made by Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, the Viet Cong foreign minister, at the 123rd weekly session of the Paris peace talks. She said American assurances of noninterference in the presidential election in October is "pure hypocrisy."

The session marked the final appearance at the talks of 73-year-old Ambassador David K.E. Bruce, the chief of the American delegation, who is retiring Sunday. He will be succeeded by William J. Porter, now U.S. ambassador to South Korea, and in the interim the U.S. delegation will be headed by Philip Habib, who has been chief deputy to both Bruce and his predecessor, Henry Cabot Lodge.

Neither Mrs. Binh nor Xuan Thuy, the chief North Vietnamese delegate, referred to Bruce's departure in their prepared speeches to the conference.

"In the provisionally occupied zones of South Vietnam," said Mrs. Binh, "fraudulent electoral maneuvers are feverishly being prepared under the direct supervision of the American Embassy in Saigon."

VEE-Carrying Mosquitoes Out Of Control In California

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — where it is fatal about 60 per cent of the time. It affects humans less severely, somewhat like influenza. Plans were made to organize "an army of veterinarians" to immunize all of the state's 400,000 horses.

Representatives of the state's health and agricultural agencies met Wednesday to seek new ways to control Culex tarsalis mosquitoes.

Richard F. Peters, director of mosquito abatement for the California Department of Public Health, said that after a quarter-century of using increasingly potent pesticides, the chemicals are no longer effective and the insects are multiplying rapidly, especially in the state's irrigated, agriculturally rich valleys.

The mosquito can carry Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE), which is sweeping Mexico and Texas, and another variety of sleeping sickness of ten fatal to humans, Peters said.

"There is a mosquito crisis in the San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys," he said. "We have a mosquito explosion in these areas and it is likely to spread to other parts of the state. We are greatly concerned."

The meeting dealt first with the threat of VEE to horses.

VEE has not reached California, but Peters predicted it will be caused of traffic from Mexico.

Culex tarsalis is known to carry two other kinds of sleeping sickness. One, the St. Louis strain, affects only humans, mostly adults, and usually is not fatal.

The other, Western equine encephalitis, is often fatal to humans, health officers said.

An outbreak in California in 1952 affected some 800 persons. Fifty died and another 50, mostly very young children, survived with permanent brain damage.

U.S. Makes No Secret Of Financial Support For War In Laos

WASHINGTON (AP) — Day by day and leak by leak, the secret war in Laos is becoming more and more difficult to hide.

Successive administrations, Democratic and Republican, have refused to discuss the extent of U.S. involvement in Laos, a small, land locked and officially neutral country whose borders touch China, North and South Vietnam, Cambodia, Thailand and Burma.

The question is not whether the United States provides military and economic aid to the neutralist government of Laos, but whether Americans are actually engaged in fighting.

The official response, as enunciated by President Nixon when asked during a Sept. 26, 1969, news conference about American involvement in the war, is: "There are no American combat forces in Laos."

A year later, an Associated Press dispatch from Saigon quoted a military source as saying casualties for U.S. Special Forces troops in Laos were 1 or 2 killed and 3 to 10 wounded each month.

Asked about the figures, a U.S. command spokesman in Saigon said, "There are no U.S. combat troops in Laos."

Slowly, over a long series of hearings, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has disclosed some of the U.S. involvement in Laos. Other information has come from such sources as the Pentagon papers, present and former government officials, and field dispatches.

Among the disclosures: —There are 4,800 Thai troops led by a Thai general and supported entirely by U.S. funds fighting in Laos despite an act of Congress prohibiting support of mercenaries.

—Cambodian troops, trained by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency have been fighting in Laos. Forty Cambodians were killed and an undisclosed number wounded in recent heavy fighting for the Bolovens Plateau.

—Current budget figures show the United States spending $80 million for military and $52 million for economic aid to Laos. The correct figure, congressional sources claim, is nearly $500 million most of which is channeled through the CIA.

—Congressional source estimates $2 billion is being spent each year bombing that part of the Ho Chi Minh Trail, principal Communist supply route from North to South Vietnam, that runs through Laos.

—Since 1964, the United States also has conducted bombing raids in support of the Royal Laotian Army. While the number of sorties is classified, Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., has said "a handful" in 1964 increased a hundredfold in 1965, then nearly doubled again in 1966.

—As of Jan. 27, 1971, according to the State Department, there were 1,034 Americans in Laos, including 385 employes of the Agency for International Development, 244 with the military attaché's office, and 300 employed by Air America and Continental Air Services International, two air lines supported by the CIA.

—Since 1961, the CIA has had an undisclosed number of agents working principally with Meo tribesmen in northern (See LAOTIAN, Page 2)

Baum, Aides Of Speaker To Tell Grand Jury About Stock Scandal

AUSTIN (AP) — State Democratic chairman Elmer Baum and two aides of House Speaker Gus Mutscher begin telling their side of the Texas stock scandal to the Travis County grand jury today.

The battle over two banking bills rushed through the legislature in a special session in 1968 was recounted for the jury Wednesday.

Dist. Atty. Bob Smith said Wednesday's six witnesses were not implicated in any way in the investigation. He declined to put the "no implication" tag on today's witnesses: Baum and Mutscher aides Rush McGinty and Sonny Schulte.

Smith also wanted to present former Sharpstown State Bank president Joseph Novotny to the jury today but was unsure if a subpoena had been served on him.

In addition to these 10 witnesses, Smith wants the jury to hear Houston financier Frank Sharp and Austin lawyer John Osorio.

Sharp will not be available until after Aug. 17—the date picked by a Houston federal judge to terminate the judge's previous grant of immunity for Sharp against inquiry by state officials.

Travis County Sheriff T. O. Lang has been looking for Osorio without success "since last Thursday or Friday," Smith said.

The grand jury issues indictments at 3 p.m. each Thursday. The district attorney said it was inconceivable that any indictments would be issued in the stock case today.

The district attorney listed Wednesday's witnesses for newsmen: state Sen. Charles Wilson of Lufkin, former state Sen. Jack Strong of Longview, Rep. Charles Patterson of Taylor, state Sen. Bill Patma of Ganado.

SEC Denies News Reports In Sharp Case

DALLAS (AP) — The regional administrator of the U. S. Securities and Exchange Commission denied published reports Wednesday that there are any backstage deals to absolve Houston tycoon Frank Sharp in a civil stock fraud suit.

Gerald Boltz said the "only kind of settlement which the SEC will even consider with regard to Frank Sharp is a final judgment of permanent injunction as requested in our complaint."

The Dallas Morning News reported in a copyright story Wednesday that Morton L. Susman, one of Sharp's lawyers, had said he and the SEC were discussing "a settlement to dismiss the case against Mr. Sharp and all his companies."

Sharp, whose Sharpstown State Bank in Houston closed up after a run by depositors, is one of 28 persons named in the SEC suit which alleges a plot to defraud through manipulation of National Banker's Life Insurance Co. stock.

Sharp has already received immunity from criminal prosecution in exchange for his testimony before a federal grand jury at Houston.

But U. S. Dist. Judge Sarah T. Hughes ruled at Dallas that the immunity Sharp received in Houston does not clear him of possible civil prosecution.

Some of the defendants in the case have entered consent decrees which in effect short circuit a full trial by their acceptance of the injunction sought by the SEC. They did not, however, have to admit any wrongdoing, but merely accept the court's order.

The SEC is insisting on a trial for Sharp, according to Boltz. "While we have accepted consent decrees from other defendants without admissions of violations, we will insist upon a permanent injunction and findings by the court with regard to Sharp."

Harriman and Roger Hillman, a State Department specialist in the area during the Kennedy and Johnson administrations, say the United States adhered meticulously to the requirement for total withdrawal.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, Democratic leader and a recognized authority on Southeast Asia, said in an interview: "The CIA was in Laos before the Geneva accords and they stayed after 1962."

When the North Vietnamese resumed their offensive a year later, Souvanna Phouma, now Laos' prime minister, asked the United States for supplies and ammunition to help his forces counter the Communists. He also asked the United States to say as little as possible about the assistance.

United States aid flowed into Laos, but the focus was changing. South Vietnam had become the Southeast Asian crisis point, and American policy makers began to view Laos in relation to the Vietnam war.

According to a State Department source: "North Vietnamese utilization of the trail area overwhelmed other concerns."

On Dec. 10, 1964, Souvanna gave his government's permission for the start of U.S. air strikes against the Ho Chi Minh Trail.

In an interview, Harriman said the North Vietnamese who had about 10,000 troops in Laos "did not keep the Laos agreement for a single day." Intelligence sources believe the North Vietnamese eventually reduced their forces to about 5,000 troops without bothering with checkpoints.

GI Reported Shot, Killed By Police In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Fellow officers said city patrolman shot and killed a soldier Wednesday while the serviceman was struggling with another policeman.

They reported Spec. 4 George Licon, 21, of El Paso was slain after he seized the gun of patrolman Lawrence Halliburton during the scuffle and it was fired three times.

Patrolman Leonard Paccone told of firing after seeing that Halliburton's pistol had been taken from him.

A medical examiner said Licon was shot three times in the back.

Dist. Atty. Ted Butler said no charge would be filed because he considered it a case of justifiable homicide, but the matter will be taken before county grand jurors.

Licon was assigned to the 78th Engineer Co. at Ft. Sam Houston in San Antonio. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Enrique Licon of El Paso. His wife, Maria, 20, said the soldier had been stationed here since last August.

Police gave these details: Licon grabbed Halliburton's pistol while it was still in the holster and one shot blew out the bottom of the holster. Halliburton's leg was bruised, apparently grazed by the bullet.

Paccone said Licon fired the officer's gun twice as he fell after being shot.

The shooting occurred early Wednesday morning after Halliburton responded to a call about a suspicious person.

Licon was asleep at the steering wheel of a car and began fighting when Halliburton tried to awaken him. Paccone arrived as the struggle broke out.

ADMIRING TROPHIES — Three young Pampa swimmers, Krista Marlar, 9, her brother, Jerry, 12, and Reid Stegar, 5, examine trophies which will be presented to winners of the Red Cross Swim Meet. Registration for the amateur youth swimming contest is 6:15 to 7 p.m. at the city pool. Contestants may enter eight events. No admission fee is required for the contest. Parents of the three contestants are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Marlar and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Stegar. (Staff Photo)

Amarillo Man Sought By Police For Alleged Theft

Pampa and Amarillo police are looking for an Amarillo man believed to be involved in the theft of coins owned by Mrs. Earl Russell, 829 E. Scott. Mrs. Russell told officers yesterday she had shown part of the coins to a man she said lived in Amarillo. She discovered the money gone shortly after 6 p.m.

Listed as stolen were 11 fifty-cent pieces, 13 silver dimes, and odd coins which brought the total to $40.

No arrests had been made late this forenoon.

School Board Names Nine New Teachers

Pampa School Board elected nine new teachers in a called session today and opened tennis court bids for the school district and city of Pampa.

In the only action item, new teachers were elected with unanimous vote, with one board member, Ben Sturgeon, absent due to illness.

After opening tennis court bids, bids were referred to a joint meeting of Supt. Dr. James F. Malone and City Manager Mack Wofford for tabulation.

Trustees heard reports on the state boiler inspection team's visit and discussed ways to correct boiler problems at Pampa High School and two elementary schools.

"We will determine if the boilers can be repaired with local maintenance crews, or if it will be necessary to require the Mitchell Company from Houston to return and complete their work to the satisfaction of the state inspection team," Dr. Malone said.

The Houston firm worked on two PHS boilers, and one each at Pampa Junior High and Houston Elementary School July 28. The junior high and elementary school boilers were approved by the state inspection team, but the twin boiler system at high school was not.

The board authorized administrators to advertise for sale surplus equipment in the high school metal trades shop, and to seek a dietitian on a consultant basis to assist in menu planning and food inspection.

Among the nine teachers approved today were three elementary school teachers, Mrs. Wilma Beanland, Mrs. Ann Kirksey, and Mrs. Darlene Sokolosky. Others approved were Mrs. Claudette Deason, at Houston Elementary, special education; Jerry Pope, Pampa Junior High history and ninth grade basketball; Miss Lydia Miller, PHS Spanish; Walter D. Miller, Austin Elementary physical education and Pampa Junior High eighth grade basketball; William H. Reader, Pampa Junior High vocational education for handicapped and Mrs. Lorene Cash, tentative special education.

Burglary Reported

Police investigated a residence burglary last night at the home of Mike Shedduck, 621 1/2 Lowry.

Shedduck called officers shortly before 9 p.m. to report his home had been broken into sometime while the family was away between 7 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.

The home reportedly appeared to have been searched after burglars broke a lock to enter the front door.

The complainant listed a clock-radio, valued at $35, a ladies wrist watch, valued at $45, and $125 in cash missing from the home.

Reader, Pampa Junior High vocational education for handicapped and Mrs. Lorene Cash, tentative special education.

Rehearsal times are 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Monday Aug. 16 through Friday, Aug. 20, to review marching and concert routines.

Darrell Garrison, the district's new band director for elementary and high school, will assist Harris Brinson, Harvester band director, with rehearsals.

The pre-school rehearsal is to prepare the band for its first half-time performance at the home game Sept. 10 between Pampa and Hereford football teams.

Band members will not wear uniforms to pre-school rehearsals but are asked to bring their instruments, Brinson said.

PARIS (AP) — David K. E. Bruce, outgoing U.S. negotiator at the Vietnam peace talks, called today for immediate negotiations on a general, internationally controlled cease-fire throughout Indochina.

Bruce, 73, made the proposal at the final weekly session of the peace talks he will attend. He is due to leave Paris Sunday and is scheduled to be replaced soon by William J. Porter, U.S. ambassador to South Korea.

The cease-fire proposal has been consistently rejected by the Communist negotiators since it was first put forward nearly two years ago.

Annual Meeting Of Baptist Group Ends Tomorrow

The 68th Annual Session of the Original West Texas Baptist Association and its auxiliaries, hosted by the Macedonia Baptist Church, will conclude tomorrow with 9:45 p.m. evangelical service.

The week-long session has been guided by Rev. S. R. Roberts, Lubbock, moderator. Representatives of churches throughout the state and association officers are special guests.

Rev. T. James Odom, former pastor of Macedonia, has been speaking daily since the session began Tuesday. He will conduct a devotional tomorrow at 11:30 a.m.

Special sessions were included in the schedule for laymen, ushers and youth groups.

The session was designed around the theme, "Keeping The Christian Religion Agile In A Corrupt Social Order."

The annual "Women In White" service is scheduled for 7 p.m. today. Participating women are asked to meet at St. Mark's Methodist Church at 9:45 p.m. to prepare for the march to Macedonia Baptist Church.

Birth Control As Blacks See It

NEW YORK (AP) — A study of black families has found that a majority of those in the reproductive age range do not accept the idea that birth control programs are an attempt to eliminate blacks from the population.

Some militant blacks have argued that family planning programs are aimed at black "genocide," the deliberate elimination of a cultural group.

But the study also found that a significant minority—among men 30 and under—did agree with the thought that encouraging birth control on blacks is an effort to eliminate them.

Further, the study found significant feelings of racial consciousness among blacks and recommended community control of birth control services and the inclusion of young black males in policy making and executive functions.

As for attitudes toward birth control methods, both abortion and sterilization were rejected by large numbers of those interviewed.

The study was conducted in 159 black households in a medium-sized city in New England, not identified, by researchers at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, and reported in a publication of the Population Reference Bureau.

Authors of the study are Dr. William A. Darity, head of the school's public health department; Dr. Castellano b. Turner, assistant professor of psychology, and Dr. H. Jean Thibaux, assistant professor of public health.

The Population Reference Bureau noted that government population policy—"or nonpolicy"—has resulted in birth control activities being confined largely to bringing to the poor the same ability to control family size the rest of society has.

"Inevitably," the bureau said, "that has meant that official birth control centers have been concentrated in poor communities, a disproportionate share of which are black. This concentration has led some militant blacks to proclaim that family planning programs are aimed at black 'genocide'."

In one phase of the study, individuals were asked to respond to the statement, "All forms of birth control are designed to eliminate blacks." Fourteen per cent agreed.

"It is significant to point out here, however," the report said, "that 29 per cent of the males 30 and under agreed with the statement while 100 per cent of the males over 30 disagreed with the statement."

In response to the statement, "Encouraging blacks to use birth control is comparable to trying to eliminate this group from society," 2 per cent agreed and 72 per cent disagreed. However, among men 30 and under, 47 per cent agreed. Of men over 30, 27 per cent agreed.

200 Million 1971 JFK Half-Dollar Remain Unused

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly 200 million 1971 Kennedy half dollars are gathering dust in government coffers, going largely unused for reasons the Treasury Department can't fully understand.

"I can't understand the population," said Mary T. Brooks, director of the U.S. Mint, shaking her head. "They're not using them."

The situation has reached the point Federal Reserve banks are calling commercial banks to spark demand, figuring if the public knows there are plenty of new half dollars, bearing the likeness of former President John F. Kennedy, demand will pick up.

"There are vending machines by the thousands sitting in warehouses," Mrs. Brooks said in an interview. "The owners are dying to use them if the banks would use the half dollars."

But commercial banks say they are not ordering the coins because the public demand is too weak.

"I can't understand it," she said. "The half dollar weighs exactly the same as two quarters and there would be less rattling in the pocket. They're much less trouble."

The 1964-69 Kennedy halves, which were part silver, never were in general circulation because the public stashed them away as collectors' items even though more than one billion were minted, she said.

Congress last year gave the Treasury authority to mint an unlimited number of the new copper-nickel coins. But there was a full year, 1970, in which the public became unaccustomed to seeing the half dollar.

"If the country knew there were plenty of them around, they'd probably start hoarding them, too," Mrs. Brooks said.

But neither the part-silver nor the nickel-copper coin is worth much for collecting, she said, because of the large number minted and because the value of the silver in the older coins is less than the face value.

Mrs. Brooks said more than 300 million of the 1971 halves have been minted since April, with a little more than 100 million in circulation as the Mint rolls out more of them every day.

She said everywhere she goes, she asks businessmen if they have any Kennedy halves. "They tell me, 'Why, they're not making them any more.' And I reply, 'I beg your pardon, I just got through making 300 million of them.'"

Houston Channel Called World's Most Polluted Body Of Water

By GODFREY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

What can you do with a daily thousand pounds of deadly cyanide you no longer need? Dump it in the nearest waterway? Bury it deep in some hole in the ground? Hide it away in the environment?

What about other hazardous wastes—arsenic, mercury, cadmium, ammonia, phenols, sulfides, radioactive material, or even plain old oil and grease? The way things are right now much of all this finds its way into the Gulf of Mexico. It drifts down rivers and streams.

The ship channel is currently the object of a federal enforcement conference between the EPA and the state of Texas. That conference is now in recess while it assimilates the volume of information provided by six days of testimony, and the two sets of officials, state and federal, try to work out their admitted differences over just what should be the final conclusions and recommendations.

Gordon Fulcher, chairman of the Texas Water Quality Board, which he claims is "No. 1 in the nation," has not taken kindly to EPA intervention. He calls the federal agency's enforcement conference for cleaning up pollution in the ship channel and Galveston Bay "a fiasco."

"Their data is erroneous and badly documented," Fulcher said. "They came to this conference on the sham pretense of saving the shell fish industry, and it backfired on them."

Federal officials, claiming that the Texas board has been something less than tough with polluters, brought what may be the first suit under the 1899 Reclamation Act against Arco Steel Corp. to enjoin it from dumping about 1,000 pounds of cyanide a day into the Houston ship channel. Final legal arguments will be heard in this trial Monday.

The EPA also objected to the Texas Water Quality Board giving permission to Arco to drill two cyanide disposal wells in the Frio Sand, 7,000 feet below the surface.

Arco contended the Frio formation is safe to use because it is overlaid by impenetrable shales. A government witness objected that there are 16 wells in the area that have not been adequately plugged and there could be a threat to the Houston water supply.

While the problem of disposing of deadly wastes daily grows more acute, with federal and state officials apparently sometimes taking opposite sides, there is confusion in the EPA itself.

EPA administrator William D. Ruckelshaus has admitted no reliable guidelines for industrial waste discharges have been developed.

Some regional administrators are confused and stalling on permits in the pipeline until they get clarification from Washington. Others, using their own judgment, may be in trouble with the companies they seek to regulate.

Water quality standards were set in 1967, but Lee thinks the real crunch will come next year.

"The enforcement of these standards is just beginning to make itself felt through combined state and federal action," he said, "and broad deadlines have been established for enforcement some time in 1972. So the test will come then. Through various methods, we are keeping on the pressure to try and ensure that those deadlines are in fact met."

If EPA supplies the technical expertise, it is the U.S. Corps of Engineers that is supposed to apply the regulations. In this part of the country its southwestern division covers an eight-state area. Two of its five district offices are in Texas, at Fort Worth and Galveston.

Raymond L. Michero, public information officer, says 10,000 permit application forms were taken up but so far only 1,316 of the requests are actually being processed. Many of these represent more than one source of waste discharge.

Processing is cumbersome because, besides the EPA, the Department of Interior's Fish and Wildlife Service, the Department of Commerce's Oceanic and Atmospheric Agency, the Texas Water Quality Board and several other bodies must each have their say.

"It could be weeks yet before the first permit is issued," said Michero, who added: "We know there are still a lot of applications that need to come in. District offices are getting letters off to known dischargers that should have filed but didn't. That's our next step."

"Meanwhile," he said, "everybody who discharges into a stream or a lake is technically in violation. They are supposed to have a permit to do so."

Citizens who report unlawful discharges are entitled to claim half the fines imposed if their information leads to conviction.

Huge Heroin Ring Smashed

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — U.S., Thai and South Vietnamese narcotics agents have seized a huge quantity of heroin and opium in raids from Saigon to the Gulf of Siam and arrested the leader of a ring supplying drugs to American soldiers in Vietnam.

The raids took place Sunday and Monday and were believed to have cracked the ring. Raiders arrested 25 persons.

The news was announced in Bangkok on Wednesday by Gen. Nitya Bhanumas, secretary-general of the Thai Narcotics Board. Seized were 97 pounds of pure heroin and 660 pounds of smoking opium, valued at $4 million on the Saigon wholesale market.

Nitya said that in an investigation he directed last month informants reported the ring was led by a wealthy Chinese merchant in the Cholon section of Saigon, Tap Vinh. He was arrested.

Administration Urged To Take Action To Protect Children From Hazardous Toys

By MIKE SHANAHAN Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — Demonstrating toy rockets, dolls, pistols, goggles and blankets he says can cut, bruise, or burn a consumer advocate said Wednesday the government fails to watch over an industry he said has refused to regulate itself.

Boston attorney Edward M. Swartz, author of the book "Toys that DON'T Care," said an independent government commission is needed to protect children from hazardous toys.

The Food and Drug Administration has been discouragingly slow with respect to their approach to dangerous toys," Swartz said at a Senate Commerce Committee hearing.

Holding aloft a doll he said was purchased in a well-known toy store on New York's Fifth Avenue, Swartz said, "one can still find dolls with sharp hairpins and easily swallowable accessories."

Picking up a foot-long dart, he said "lawn dart sets are still being sold for the entire family, despite recent government warnings and orders that their use be limited strictly to adults."

Still untouched by regulation, Swartz said, are toys which could be psychologically damaging.

He demonstrated a framed pendulum with a blade designed to simulate medieval torture chambers.

As the blade swings down, he said, a plastic doll splits in half.

Showing slides of burn-scarred children, Swartz described a comforter-blanket made of rayon and filled with synthetic fibers.

"A baby girl and boy, ages 1½ and 2 were on a comforter when it caught fire and melted into a napalm like substance which clung to the exposed hands and faces of these children," he said.

Among the other products he displayed were:

—A Toy model of the Apollo rocket made by Processed Plastic Co. of Aurora, Ill. It ejected its nose cone three feet into the air with enough speed to knock out an eye, he said.

—A toy pistol distributed by World Toy House Inc., St. Paul, Minn. Swartz fired a plastic and rubber projectile which traveled about 25 feet.

Turning to product safety in general, Swartz said there are still highly flammable night clothes being sold.

A problem, he said, has been the tendency of federal agencies to operate on what he called a "body count psychology."

He said many "industry and government spokesmen seem to demand an actual body count before determining a toy or other products to be dangerous."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gary Hanekamp spent the weekend digging for gold in a city park and found none. City officials weren't surprised.

Hanekamp, a 30-year-old drapery installer, got permission to dig at Elysian Park when a metal detector gave a weak but encouraging reading. He agreed to share any gold with the city.

After two days Hanekamp and a few volunteer helpers had blistered hands and two broken picks. A park official said an underground water pipe probably caused the detector reading.

11 Organizations Drop Support Of President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eleven leaders of conservative political organizations and publications said Wednesday they are suspending their support of the Nixon administration.

Their statement criticized Nixon overtures to Red China "done in the absence of any public concessions by Red China to American and Western causes."

It also cited "his failure to call public attention to the deteriorated military position in conventional and strategic arms" and what it called Nixon failures to respond to Soviet advances into the Mediterranean and to warn against West German policies.

The signers included the chairman and vice chairman of the New York Conservative party, the executive director of the Young Americans for Freedom, two officers of the American Conservative Union and the three top officials of the National Review, including editor-in-chief William F. Buckley Jr.

The statement said "We do not plan at the moment to encourage formal political opposition to President Nixon in the forthcoming primaries, but we propose to keep all options open in the light of political developments in the next months."

It claimed the defection "is an act of loyalty to the Nixon we supported in 1968." The signers said they would seek out others to decide how best to "effectively register our protests."

The statement briefly touched on domestic matters but said these "pale into insignificance alongside the tendencies of the administration in foreign policy."

and boomed when lead and silver were found in the 1880's. Now, with 7,000 population, its mines are still working, supplying some of the rarest metals on earth.

A Rich Market

LONDON (AP)—Vegetable, flower and fruit crops in Britain, not counting potatoes, will have a farm market value this year of $542 million, the Central Office of Information reports.

British farmers dedicate 700,000 acres to horticulture, exclusive of potatoes, 470,000 to vegetables, 207,000 to fruit, 38,000 to flowers and nursery stock and 4,500 acres to glass greenhouses.

Bentsen Proposes Legislation To Restore Congress Authority

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen, D-Tex., said today if Congress had shared fully in the decisions that led to the war in South Vietnam, the divisiveness now besetting the nation might have been avoided.

"The point is, if Congress had asserted itself, if the proper constitutional procedure had been followed, if the elected representatives of the people had acted by consensus, the nation would have been provided a powerful unifying force," Bentsen told the Senate.

Bentsen proposed legislation he said is designed to restore Congressional authority over the commitment of U.S. forces overseas.

Under his bill, when the President commits troops, he would be required to report promptly to Congress the reasons for his action.

PAMPA, TEXAS 68th YEAR Thursday, July 23, 1971

JEANE DIXON

Your Horoscope

FRIDAY, JULY 30

YOUR BIRTHDAY FRIDAY:

This is the year to begin anew wherever you are, casting aside old habits and old problems no longer seem to apply, and you're on your way with a great deal of help, even more than you need in some areas.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Cooperative feelings must show. Take the initiative and smile when you do it. No faking is available and quite a threshold of personal reserve must be surmounted.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Realize there will be at least three reasons for every question and every objection you encounter—and make a success of negotiation, politicking.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): What you need to know pops up bright and early and you're on your way with a great deal of help, even more than you need in some areas.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Any confiding you do is in the wrong direction and your story isn't correctly understood. It's better to ponder a while longer, find a deeper explanation.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Healthy self-interest is never out of season. Think where you fit into the scheme of things, and what you stand for, and what you're not.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Whatever else happens, hold on to your impulse; pause for a split second, reflection before answering provocation.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): A sudden transition. Jack's reality, a second opinion; compare with available alternatives and you'll see it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Expect few bumps, a bit of rough going in Friday's experience. Stay near home base learn something unusual.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Where there's a flaw there's an attendant. Get to the source quickly; do what you can.

APRILCOIN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): It's a seller's day. Put a whopping good value on whatever you offer, particularly on spur-of-the-moment dealings.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Prompt reactions are the sensible approach for you. Set definite limits on what you undertake to do and get moving early.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Present your results, answer questions, enter debates in good spirits. The outcome will not be what anybody expects, but long-range benefits to you are strongly indicated.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Kentucky is known as the Bluegrass State because of the prevalence of Kentucky bluegrass. The World Almanac says the grass is believed to have been introduced by early colonists and is one of the finest pasture grasses in North America. Bluegrass grows short and sometimes has a bluish green hue.

MEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — After 34 days and a dozen flat tires, John Fay peddled up to his parents' home Sunday at the end of a 3,500-mile bicycle ride from San Francisco.

"It just came on me as something to do," explained the 25-year-old Fay, who had been working as an antipovier volunteer in Oakland, Calif. He started the trip June 23.

"It was a fantastic experience, the greatest experience of my life," he said. "You learn a few lessons, living with yourself first of all, and all the different people you meet."

Fay said the toughest part was the long climb up the Rocky Mountains and the Sierras.

TIME WAS when a ballplayer could get a lot of attention by holding a mere five baseballs in one hand, as Cincinnati pitcher Bob Purkey did here, above, when he was one of the aces of the Reds' staff in the early '60s. Now, however, Johnny Bench, also of Cincinnati, offers proof positive of progress by palming seven balls after receiving a fan letter forwarded to him by a sportswriter.

Speed Biggest Factor In Favor Of All-Stars

By F. RICHARD CICCONE
CHICAGO (AP) — There is a popular theory that football games are won between the lines but the recent College All Star battles indicate they are usually lost in the secondary.

The All Stars haven't knocked off the professional champions in this midsummer classic since 1963 and each year it seems that a Joe Namath, Bart Starr or Len Dawson has amazing success in passing against the collegiates.

This year, the All Stars have a host of speedy talent ready to stop Baltimore and Earl Morrall, the 38-year-old quarterback who came off the bench in the Super Bowl and led the Colts to a 16-13 triumph over Dallas.

Blanton Collier, retired coach of the Cleveland Browns, making his debut as All Star mentor, has four cornerbacks to patrol the airways and he says "they all have speed."

This speed—belonging to Len Dunlap of North Texas State, Clarence Scott of Kansas State, Isaac Thomas of Bishop College and Norm Thompson of Utah will be on display—and on the spot—Friday night at Soldier Field in the 38th renewal of the series. The pros hold a 29-9-2 series edge. The game will be televised nationally by ABC at 9:30 p.m. EDT.

It will be up to Dunlap, Scott, Thomas and Thompson to stop Baltimore's receiving corps of Ray Perkins, Roy Jefferson and Eddie Hinton.

Dunlap and Thompson share an NCAA record for returning interceptions for touchdowns while Scott's coach at Kansas

State, Vince Gibson, called him the man the finest defensive player in the nation.

A man who may take exception of that remark will be safety for the All Stars. He is Jack Tatum, twice an All American and the anchor of Ohio State's defense in 1968-69-70, three seasons in which the Bucks lost only twice.

Tatum will be responsible for shutting off Baltimore's tight ends, John Mackey and Tom Mitchell.

Record Winnings At Stake At 75th Cheyenne Rodeo

DENVER, Colo.—The richest rodeo in history is underway this week at the 75th annual Cheyenne, Wyo., Frontier Days rodeo, which runs through Sunday, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said here today.

A record amount of prize money, $96,700, is at stake in six association-sanctioned events bareback, saddle bronc and bull riding, calf roping, steer wrestling and steer roping.

The previous high money mark for a rodeo was set in 1970 at the famed Houston Astrodome rodeo, where $86,491 was up for grabs.

Third Tennis Camp To Start At West Texas

CANYON, Tex.—A group of 80 youngsters will report Sunday for the third West Texas Tennis Camp of the summer. The session will run through Saturday, Aug. 7.

This is the third consecutive session of the summer conducted by West Texas State University tennis coach David Kent which will operate at full capacity.

Kent, who directed his Buffalo netters to a Missouri Valley Conference title and a 21st finish nationally this past spring, is assisted in the camp by several area tennis coaches—including assistant camp director Roland Ingram, who is the Tennis coach at Amarillo High School.

The camp director said he may add an adult session next summer to his three youth camps as he has had so many additional requests for such a session.

Nearly every top cowboy in professional rodeo is entered at Cheyenne, and competition is stiff, the association said.

Most of the cowboys arrived in the Wyoming capital directly from two major rodeos in Utah—Ogden and Salt Lake City, where prize money totaled nearly $46,000.

The closest race for the lead in an event this week is in calf roping. Ernie Taylor, Hugo, Okla., won $625 at Ogden and Salt City to close in on Phil Lyne, George West, Tex.

Lyne, who also leads in the all around category, is first in calf roping with $13,919, $1,115 ahead of Taylor, who moved into second place.

Babe Ruth All-Stars Plaster Dumas 17 To 1 In Tournament

Pampa's Babe Ruth All Stars got their offense back in gear last night, scoring in every inning to romp to a 17 to 1 victory over Dumas.

Mike Coulter twirled a nifty four-hitter to chalk up his third win in tournament play. The fourteen-year-old righthander fanned 10 and walked only two while giving up 3 singles, two of them the infield variety, and a sliding double on what appeared to be a single.

Pampa's defense, which let them down on Tuesday, stiffened yesterday as the only Pampa error was charged to Bobby Hendricks when what appeared to be a good throw to second caromed off a sliding baserunner into center field. Dumas, in contrast, committed 5 miscues.

Pampa exploded out of the blocks to a 6 run first inning lead. Toddy Black legged out an infield single to start things off, and Jody Johnson followed with a powerful triple to left-center field. Ed Townsley reached first when his grounder bounced off the third baseman's glove after Johnson had scored on a wild pitch. Bobby Hendricks slammed the first pitch to him to the center field wall for a triple, scoring Townsley. After Gary Harper walked, Gary Davis greeted the Dumas relief pitcher with yet another triple to center, driving Harper and Hendricks home. Phil Schaub's single plated Davis with run number six.

Hendricks slapped a two-out single in the second, stole second, moved to third on an error, and scampered home on Harper's base hit.

In the third Coulter was safe on an error and Jim Davis walked before Dumas misplayed Johnson's infield tap and allowed them both to score. Dumas' lone run came in the fourth as Coulter lost his control temporarily. After back-to-back walks, shortstop Johnson fired to third for a force out on a ground ball.

When Schaub relayed the throw to first, the other runner advanced from second to third. A sacrifice fly to right field resulted in the tally.

The locals retaliated with 5 Johnson's double, a popup to markers in the bottom of the frame. Hendricks' third hit and walks to Harper and Gary loaded the bases before Phil Schaub was hit by a pitch force in a run. Coulter laid down a beautiful suicide field.

When it was all over, Bobby Hendricks was the leading hitter, going 3-for-4 with a triple and 2 RBI's. Jody Johnson was 2-for-4 and Gary Davis, Phil Schaub, and Jim Davis 1-for-2, all four with 2 RBI's each.

Pampa is now one of four teams remaining in the tourney. The local crew collides with Lubbock at 8:30 tonight, and Lamesa tangles with South San Antonio at 6:00.

icide squeeze bunt to score Harper. Jim Davis then rapped a two-run single and later scored on Johnson's sacrifice fly to right.

With two out in the fifth Dennis Edmondson struck out but was safe as the Dumas catcher dropped the ball and then fired it into right field. Singles by Schaub and Coulter drove Edmondson home with the fifteenth run.

Rick Leverich opened the sixth with an infield single and moved to third on Jody

Passing: Number 1 Cowboy Project

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. — (AP) — The No. 1 project in the Dallas Cowboy training camp is the passing game, and Coach Tom Landry was heartened by what he saw Wednesday in a controlled scrimmage against San Francisco.

"We just feel a lot better about our passing game now," he said. Landry said quarterbacks Craig Morton and Roger Staubach were "farther along than they've been."

In the series of skeleton drills against the 49ers, Staubach hit 23 of 43 passes but had 10 tosses dropped. Morton completed 25 of 45 with five drops. Staubach had one interception and Morton two.

Landry said "Roger appears to do better in individual work and Morton does better in team work. What is happening now will have an influence on our final decision at quarterback."

UK Participation In EEC Opposed By Labor Party

LONDON (AP) — Former Prime Minister Harold Wilson led Britain's Labor party into opposition today against joining the European Common Market on terms negotiated by the Conservative government and called for a national election on the issue.

The Labor party's national executive committee approved, 16-6, a resolution proposing entry on the conditions worked out with the Common Market in nearly a year of tough bargaining.

Partly officials said the resolution was written by Wilson although it was moved by another member of the committee who was not named.

Vice President Back From Trips To 11 Countries

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four cabinet members headed by Secretary of State William P. Rogers welcomed Vice President Spiro T. Agnew back to the United States Wednesday at the end of his round-the-world trip.

Besides Rogers, Agnew was greeted at Andrews Air Force Base in nearby Maryland by Secretary of the Interior Rogers C. B. Morton, Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin, and Secretary of Welfare Elliot L. Richardson. Also on hand were the ambassadors of all countries visited by Agnew except Spain.

He left immediately for the White House to report to President Nixon on his 11-nation, 31-day trip.

Radio & TV

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Apollo 15, scheduled to land beside the moon's Hadley Rille, will last longer, range farther and send back more spectacular television pictures than any previous moon expeditions.

After landing in the Apennine Mountains Friday, astronauts David R. Scott and James B. Irwin will ride their lunar rover across an area of about 25 miles in three separate excursions.

The lunar rover is equipped with a color television camera that has a self-contained power pack and antenna. ABC, CBS and NBC plan extensive coverage of all the activities during the 12-day journey.

The Apollo rocket lifted off with flawless precision Monday morning and in the cloudless sky, the space ship could be seen 275 miles down range until it had virtually reached orbital altitude. It was in view for six minutes, the longest time a rocket had ever been seen down range.

NBC estimated that more than 25 million people saw the liftoff.

Two moon rides will be televised Saturday and Sunday at times that will insure a large audience around the world. The pictures will go by satellite to Europe, Japan and South America. The third moon ride comes early Monday morning a few hours before the astronauts leave the moon.

If all goes well, the most spectacular pictures will be the first view of a launch from the moon. The liftoff is set for between 1-1:30 p.m. EDT Monday.

"We hope to park the rover about 300 feet uprange and show the liftoff," said Sam Russell, an RCA systems engineer who helped build the $100,000 camera. This new camera, mounted on the rover, will show more detail and is designed to eliminate the ghosts into the sun without being knocked out, as happened to the Apollo 12 camera in November 1969.

The rover camera can be completely controlled from earth, leaving the astronauts free for other duties. Each time the vehicle stops, an astronaut need only aim the umbrella-like antenna at the earth.

Even after the spacemen leave the moon, the camera will be of value. It will have power to operate for several weeks. Russell said, "There is an eclipse of the sun by the earth on Friday Aug. 6. The camera can look at the sun and the reflection of the sunlight will give the earth a reddish ring."

RACIAL ISSUE TO BLAME

Many Ranking Military Officers Relieved Of Duty Or Disciplined

DETROIT (AP) — A number of high-ranking military officers have been relieved of duty or otherwise disciplined for failure to obey the new military civil rights regulations, a Defense Department official says.

Deputy Asst. Secretary of Defense Frank Renter said Tuesday he could not name the officers, but that they included those who "wear stars, bars, oak leaves and birds on their shoulders," and that a "ballpark estimate" would put their number "closer to 10 or 12 than to 100."

The regulations, effective Dec. 14, 1970, covered the broad spectrum of race relations in the services.

"I don't have the documentation," Renter said during a news conference at the convention of the National Urban League, "but from the information that comes through us at the Defense Department I know that action is being taken. The sanctions are being vigorously applied, and that's good."

He said one case involved a captain who refused to shake hands with a black officer and "otherwise made no secret of his dislike of black people."

Philadelphia Reveals 500 Persons Run Stolen Security Trade In U.S.

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A Philadelphia man who said he handled up to $50 million in stolen stocks and bonds in a 12-year career today linked major underworld figures to the stolen counterfeit security racket.

The securities were siphoned to a large number of American and foreign banks as collateral for loans and their officers were often, but not always, aware the deals were fraudulent, the witness said.

The witness, Edward H. Wuensche, 40, now a government informant and prosecution witness against some of his former associates, said a hard-core of 500 persons runs the stolen security trade in the United States.

He appeared before the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

Testifying under a grant of immunity from further prosecution, Wuensche said he placed $5.25 million of counterfeit bonds of Washington County, Tenn., on the Devon Bank Chicago as collateral for a large loan. However, he did not say the bank knew the deal was illicit.

He said the bogus securities were placed through a Dr. Sidney DeLove who he said is the president of the Cook County Federal Savings and Loan Association of Chicago.

He said the loans were made to a Thomas H. Redmond and were based on a counterfeit $2 million sewage bond, a $1.5 million gas revenue bond and a $1.75 million cable television bond.

He said another deal, made in the fall of 1969, involved a $95,000 loan from the Long Island Trust Co. secured by a stolen $100,000 Federal National Mortgage Association bond. Again, he did not say the institution knew the transaction was crooked.

He said the loan was made to a security dealer named Emanuel Reifler.

He said other fraudulent security transactions were made in Los Angeles, Miami Beach, Philadelphia, New Jersey, the Netherlands, Switzerland, and the Sheikdom of Kuwait in the Middle East.

Spicy Nut Squares Make Meals Special

Summer is the season for light meals. And light meals create the perfect opportunity to use richer, more filling desserts like Spicy Nut Squares. Their spice 'n sweet goodness and cake-like texture complement many Summer dishes, such as luscious fruit salads.

Besides desserts, Spicy Nut Squares make coffee get-togethers more enjoyable. These squares are made from one of 11 coffeetime convenience mixes. Though tasty coffeetime treats by themselves, these mixes bake up into many creative variations.

The base for these dessert squares is a nut bread mix and sour cream combination. In place of a frosting, a spicy syrup is poured over the top of the cake after it's baked to

SYRUP
1 1/4 cups water
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons honey
1/4 orange
1 stick cinnamon

SQUARES: In large (3-quart) mixer bowl, combine dry bread mix, nuts, cinnamon, soda, eggs and sour cream. Beat 3 minutes at medium speed, scraping sides of bowl often. Turn into generously greased and floured 13x9-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool cake in pan 20 minutes. With wooden pick, pierce cake generously. Pour hot syrup over cake in pan. Let stand 1/2 hour. Serve with whipped cream.

TEMPTING SUMMER DESSERT
... fresh apricots make memorable mousse

Apricots Offer Ideas For Summer Desserts

This year's crop of apricots are in the market waiting to be served up in all sorts of scrumptious desserts to brighten the Summer scene. Poetically called the seeds of the sun by Persians in ancient times, these golden-skinned beauties have a short season so enjoy them while you may. To help keep their beautiful color and protect their delicate flavor, pick up a can of Fruit-Fresh when you're shopping. This marvelously convenient ascorbic acid mixture is a joy to all of us who like to present foods looking their best. Apricots, peaches, nectarines, pears, apples, bananas and other luscious fruits will stay bright and looking "just sliced" without any worry about darkening.

One of the most refreshing desserts that's come this way is this easy Apricot Mousse. It's a real tempter. If you're looking for something different in the salad department, how about Apricot Danish Salad?

APRICOT MOUSSE:
1 tablespoon unflavored gelatine
2 cup water
12 ripe apricots, pitted
1 tablespoon ascorbic acid mixture
Juice of 1 lemon
1/2 cup sugar

2 cups (1 pint) heavy cream whipped

Soak gelatine in water for 5 minutes. Put over low heat and stir until dissolved. Combine gelatine, apricots, ascorbic acid mixture, lemon juice and sugar in a blender. Whirl until smooth. Freeze until mushy. Fold apricot puree into heavy cream. Blend thoroughly. Freeze until firm. Spoon into sherbet glasses and serve topped with fresh apricot slices brushed with 1 teaspoon Fruit-Fresh mixed with 2 tablespoons water. Add a sprig of fresh mint to garnish. Makes 1 1/2 quarts.

APRICOT DANISH SALAD
2 teaspoons Fruit-Fresh
1/4 cup water
8 ripe apricots, pitted
Salad greens
1 pound creamed cottage cheese
1/4 cup crumbled Danish Blue cheese
French dressing.
Dissolve Fruit-Fresh in water. Brush apricots with Fruit-Fresh mixture. Arrange salad greens on 4 salad plates. Put mound of cottage cheese in center of each. Top with apricot halves allowing 4 halves for each salad. Sprinkle with crumbled Danish Blue cheese and pass French dressing.

When you bake bread remember yeast is a living plant. Too much heat can kill its action; not enough heat can slow down its action. For best results, dissolve the yeast packet from Hot Roll Mix in warm (not hot) water. To test the temperature of the water, drop a little water on the inside of your wrist. Warm — not hot — water feels comfortably warm.

Yeast dough which is ready for shaping is easy to handle, but may be slightly sticky. Use small amounts of flour on the board or pastry cloth. Dusting your hands with flour also helps.

Yeast rolls are sufficiently proofed when the dough looks and feels light when touched gently. A slight impression should remain. If rolls recede slightly or collapse when pressure is applied, they have been over proofed.

Wrap yeast breads in foil before storing in a well ventilated bread box.

SPICY NUT SQUARES

Soak additional spicy richness throughout the cake.

SPICY NUT SQUARES
SQUARES
1 package nut bread mix
Two-third cup ground nuts
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon soda
2 eggs
1 cup dairy sour cream

stirring frequently, until mixture boils. Then simmer gently for 15 minutes, without stirring. Remove orange and cinnamon stick.

Meal On Skewer Sparks Summer

It is rather nice to be able to cook dinner without any pots and pans... well maybe just one. When dinner is prepared by grilling and glazing frankfurters and canned vegetables over charcoal, it really becomes a no-cleanup affair.

Call it lazy or not, having canned vegetables handy in the cupboard makes it easy to fix a meal on a skewer. Since they are already cooked, it is just a matter of enhancing the flavor and appearance of the vegetables and meat with a simple glaze.

Complete the meal by using other foods which are prepared and packaged for convenience. Open jars of pickles and olives and arrange them with slices of tomato on a paper plate. Serve iced tea which is already sweetened, assorted cookies and a cool lemon sherbet. Use paper products and all that will need washing will be a saucepan, the skewers, a can opener and a few pieces of flatware.

MEAL ON A SKEWER
1 can (3 oz.) broiled mushroom crowns
1 lb. frankfurters
1 can (8 oz.) whole white potatoes, drained
1/4 c. butter
2 lbs. catsup
1 top. bottled browning sauce
1/4 top. seasoned salt

Drain mushroom crowns reserving broth for use in soup, sauce or gravy. Score frankfurters lightly in a spiral from end to end. Place three 12-inch skewers parallel on a flat surface about 1 1/2 inches apart. Lace a frankfurter onto skewers crosswise. Place a mushroom crown on one skewer, a carrot on the next and a potato on the third. Add a second frankfurter crosswise and a row of vegetables.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Veal loin chop.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?
A. It comes from the loin section of veal and is similar in muscle and bone structure to a beef Porterhouse steak, a pork loin chop or a lamb loin chop.

Q. How is it prepared?
A. Veal loin chops are braised. If sliced thin, they can be panfried. All cuts of veal are tender, but this meat does not have sufficient fat for broiling.

To braise, brown chops on both sides in 2 to 3 tablespoons lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season. Add 1/4 to 1/2 cup water, cover and simmer until tender. Chops cut 1/2 to 3/4 inch thick require 45 to 60 minutes cooking time. To pan fry, brown chops in a small amount of fat. Season. Cook at a moderate temperature, turning occasionally until done. Remove from heat and serve at once.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a wife and the mother of teen-agers, but my biggest problem is my parents! They have never got along, and I hear it every day from both sides. Especially my mother. If she isn't here complaining in person, she's on the phone. She starts out with, "Now I don't want you to think less of your father, but as our daughter you have a right to know what's going on." Then she proceeds to tear him to shreds. (I'm not the only one in the family she complains to, but I am the favorite wailing-wall.)

I have sat them both down and begged them to get professional help and quit running to relatives, but they don't want help. They'd rather complain and make everyone else as miserable as they are.

Abby, I may lay awake nights worrying about my teen-agers, but my parents will never hear a word. Why should I burden them with my problems? They aren't going to solve them for me. On the other hand, I try to keep my parents' problems from my husband and children. I feel like a sponge being sopped from both sides and never allowed to drip.

I know a daughter can't disown her own parents, but if only they realized what they were doing to me, maybe they would let up. In the meantime, how can I keep my sanity—or what's left of it?

DAUGHTER: If you really want to preserve your sanity, you will shut off your parents' complaints in whatever ways are necessary. And don't feel guilty!

DEAR ABBY: With so much talk about controlling the population by means of the men having vasectomies, I want to ask you a question: How come I had this simple little 15-minute operation done in a doctor's office in 1952 and it cost me only $25, and today they are charging $250 for the very same operation?

Just because doctors have a license to practice medicine doesn't mean they have a license to steal.

DEARBORN, MICH. DEARBORN: Nothing is as cheap today as it was in 1952. But if the doctor who performed your surgery for $25 is now charging $250, why don't you ask him?

DEAR ABBY: Because it is a habit to read the death notices in my hometown paper, I turned to the obits in the newspaper while traveling through that city.

In funeral notices I saw someone I had known died at the home of a "Sally So and So, a very dear friend, after a lingering illness."

Not that it's any of my dang business, but is it now considered proper to announce to the world that one's sleeping partner has succumbed? Or do you suppose "Sally So and So" was using the obits to let the local townspeople know that she was looking for a relief pitcher?

TEXAN: DEAR TEXAN: How do you know what the sleeping arrangements were? Perhaps "Sally So and So" was indeed a "dear friend" and nothing more.

German Actress Makes U.S. Debut, Stars With Steve McQueen

NEW YORK (AP) — Elga Andersen, blonde, blue-eyed, small-boned but with all the right curves, wandered about her flower-filled New York hotel suite — singing, answering the telephone, explaining how she turned a pair of old jeans into hot pants and talking about how lucky she is.

A lot of women would agree with her, since Miss Andersen, a German-born actress, recently made her American film debut in "Le Mans," starring opposite none other than Steve McQueen.

But her luck didn't start there. It began with her first film role. "I had never thought of being an actress," she explains, her German accent unmistakable, but her English perfect. "I'd thought of being an interpreter, maybe a dancer. But a friend introduced me to a director, Marcel Camus, who was looking for a girl to star in his movie. He had drawn a picture of her and I just looked like it."

The film was "The Pioneers," and from there Miss Andersen went on to "Elevator to Death," with Jeanne Moreau, "The Black Monicle," all French films.

"It was very tough at first," she says, settling down on the couch and stretching her long legs onto the coffee table. "Everything new is that way if you don't like to be an amateur. I was projected right into a lead, and it was very confusing."

So confusing, in fact, that after a few more films, Miss Andersen called a halt to her career. "I stopped for two years, because I just had to think about it. I didn't want to be 50 one day, and be emotionally 25," she says. "I had to step back and look at myself, decide what I really wanted. It's most important not to get involved in a huge ego trip."

She says she learned she has to relax. "I don't think you can do anything in life unless you can do that," she says, and relaxed she looks — dressed in faded jeans and a T-shirt, a red beaded belt around her waist.

"It's all a question of balance," Miss Andersen adds. "You always need in your life a door in the wall where you can go." She says her door leads to deep-sea fishing and skin diving, pursuits she's done well in, since not long ago she caught a world-record-sized kingfish, and since she learned skin-diving on her first trip underwater.

"In Acapulco there was a diving school," she says. "They showed me how to dive and I understood right away. I went down 100 feet, didn't hear for a while, but I loved it."

But she hasn't had much time for diving or fishing lately.

IN FINE PORTER
Celeste Consumer Information Director
Disposables

NEW YORK (ED) — In keeping with the increased concern for the quality of our environment, many large industries are considering what happens to their products after consumers have finished using them. This kind of thinking is currently being pursued by manufacturers of nonwoven disposable products.

Nonwoven disposable fabrics are produced by bonding together a mat of natural or man-made fibers. Their convenience has found them a variety of special end-uses, such as disposable diapers, sheets, pillowcases, blankets, medical-surgical drapes and gowns, industrial and household wipes and industrial uniforms.

Industry is aware of the environmental problems that evolve from additional wastes. Research is under way to develop effective methods of disposing of nonwoven disposable products after they are used.

A leading manufacturer of home appliances is currently marketing a compactor, similar to but smaller than those used in automobile junk yards, that can compress garbage at a ten-to-one ratio. The compressed packages can be used as landfill.

Another potential method of handling disposables may be reclaiming and recycling them back into use. Pulping, a reclaiming method that is in use for paper disposables, may find wider applications for other nonwoven products. In this process, used paper-like disposables are beaten with water to form a renewable pulp.

A new development in disposables is a type of rayon paper that disintegrates in water and can be flushed away. Part of the success of any of these and other methods developed in the future depends on consumers understanding the importance of discarding used textile disposables separately from other household waste.

SKELLYTOWN (SPL) — Skellytown Home Makers Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Bob Heaton on North Main St.

Members having birthdays for June and July were honored. Those having birthdays were Mmes. Gertrude Huckins, W.S. Berry, Floyd McCoy and Bob Heaton. Each member brought gifts for the honorees.

The game gift was won by Mrs. Miles Pearson, and the hostess gift by Mrs. Eetty Parr.

The next meeting will be Aug. 3, in the home of Mrs. Gertrude Huckins.

Attending were Mmes. Floyd Bruditt, Ethel Hunt, Don Easley, and daughter Jane, Jim Ruth, Ralph Fox Sr., Oscar Gould, Miles Pearson, Gertrude Huckins, Carolyn Rutherford, son Stevie, W.S. Berry, Floyd McCoy, and one guest Mrs. Betty Parr from Pittsburg, Calif.

Rho Eta Chapter Attends Social

Members and husbands of Rho Eta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority attended a watermelon social recently in Central Park. Tennis and croquet equipment were provided for recreational entertainment.

This was the second of three summer socials on Rho Eta's calendar for this season. Those attending the social were Messrs. and Mmes. Jack Eddins, Gary Clark, Dick Handley, Tommy Hill, Dwight Turner, Mmes. Gary Clark, Georgia Mack, Johnny Mark, Jay Manning, and Randall Phillips.

Farewells were extended to Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Turner, who are leaving Pampa to move to Amarillo.

POLLY'S POINTERS Make A Swag Lamp From Egg Cartons

By POLLY CRAMER
Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I would like to know how to clean bed pillows filled with feathers and covered with old-fashioned blue-and-white ticking.

MRS. R.O.J.

DEAR POLLY — and Mrs. I.M.S. — I made a swag lamp from styrofoam egg cartons. Use eight matching cartons, remove lids but leave flaps on the ends where they are attached to the bottoms. Cut out the indentations where the eggs were. Start with two carton bottoms, place glue heavily on the two flaps that will hold them together. Be sure they are lined up, then staple together so they dry in the proper position. Continue until all eight cartons are glued together. (Polly's note — Our reader did not say so but I am sure the cartons were arranged so there are two on each side of the four-sided shade.) When glue is thoroughly dry set cartons up and carefully draw a pattern on plywood for the top your lamp. Cut out like the pattern.

Mark center of top and make a small hole in center for the light chain to go through. Spray paint gold, black or any desired color. After I inserted my top inside the shade I placed a few small tacks to hold it firmly in place even though it was glued. Spray paint in cartons, top and all, with at least two coats of paint and then apply spray varnish on the outside and top. Then it is time to add the stained glass windows which are glued on the inside to back each hole that has been cut out. I used real glass which my husband cut from factory scraps. A swag lamp kit can be purchased at a hobby shop to hang this from the ceiling.

CARMELTA DEAR GIRLS — Real colored glass may not be obtainable easily for all of you but use lining of colored cellophane or colored marbles could be glued in the holes. Some think half marbles that can be bought at hobby shops look prettier than whole ones. Be sure to make the holes for any designs before starting to glue the carton halves together. The more holes, the more light and sparkle.

POLLY

Remove yeast breads and rolls from baking pans immediately after you take them from the oven, and place them on wire racks to cool.

Breads — dinner rolls — sweet rolls and coffee cakes may be frozen satisfactorily up to 3 months. Glazes, icings or frostings with confectioners' sugar do not freeze well. Put these toppings on after you thaw breads.

Scissors work beautifully for cutting warm coffee cakes. They help to preserve the delicate texture of freshly breads.

BUSINESS MIRROR

Consumer Hoards Money In Fear Of That Proverbial Rainy Day

NEW YORK (AP) — For many weeks now the nearly official line among business economists has been that the consumer has the money to spend but is lacking the willingness to do so.

He fears inflation. He worries about his job. He is concerned with rising taxes. He is, therefore, in no mood to begin new endeavors. Instead, he hoards his money in fear of that proverbial rainy day.

As a result, retail outlets complain that sales are sluggish. Seldom have they had to put forth more effort to spark enthusiasm. And all the time they must fight the tendency of shoppers to buy down to lower price goods.

That's pretty much the consensus. It was recently and typically expressed this way by the Morgan Guaranty Survey, a monthly publication:

"Consumer income—butressed both last year and this by a series of government actions, including increased Social Security benefits, federal pay hikes, and the end of the income surcharge—has been sufficient to fuel a more vigorous expansion in retail activity than has actually occurred. What's been lacking is not the means but the will to spend.

There is no shortage of statistical evidence to "prove" that the means are there. Personal income rose $6 billion in May. The rate of personal savings is at a 20-year high of 8.4 per cent of take-home pay.

That's what the statistics show. The mail suggests something else—a credibility gap involving the statistics, a growing belief among ordinary people that "they must be talking about somebody else."

Surveys show that regardless of those statistics, a lot of Americans can't discover the increase in personal income, nor can they find those big savings the statistics indicated they have.

"Did it ever occur to you that we consumers are not buying because we don't have any money left after taxes to buy with?" Thus begins a typical complaint from a writer who considers herself an "ordinary" American.

"I need a new refrigerator. Mine is 17 years old and almost shot. I can't afford to buy one. My breakfast set is falling apart after 17 years and we can't replace it.

"My husband is a teacher and makes about $15,000 a year after many years on the job. We don't have stocks or extra property. We have only a home, and we are still paying for it.

"There is nothing left after we have fed our three growing sons. We don't have any loopholes where we can escape federal income taxes, state income taxes, estate tax on purchases, real estate taxes—you name the tax, there are more of them.

"My husband and I are in our mid-40s. We suffered through the big depression and my husband was injured in the war. We have never really enjoyed any of the luxuries so many people have had all these prosperous years.

"But we are in the majority, and we are really the common consumer you people talk about. I say again, investigate. We are not buying because we do not have any money to buy with, not because of worry about inflation but because we can't buy first quality any more. We are reducing our standard of living because we can't do anything else.

"I recently made a plea for consideration of what taxes are doing to us mentally as well as physically, mistakenly thinking our senator would be concerned. His reply was that it really is too bad that we are having a rough time, but that all there was left to do was to lower our standards.

"Why don't you people print the facts, that people are not buying because someone else is spending the money they earn, and that what's left goes for food—and I mean plain food."

And that concludes a common complaint from an ordinary American who feels that the statistics, the averages, the alphanumeric picture drawn by the computer, fail to portray conditions as they actually are.

Leading Business Indicator Index Falls By 5-Tenths Of One Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's leading business indicators, which tend to foreshadow future movements in the economy, declined in June after seven consecutive monthly advances.

The drop in the index of leading indicators pointed to a slackening of the economic expansion although a Commerce Department official played down the one-month decline.

The department said the leading business indicator index fell by five-tenths of one per cent in June, with six of the eight indicators in the series showing unfavorable changes.

In the past, the Nixon administration has said that increases in the leading business indicators proved that the economic expansion is strong and continuing.

But a Commerce Department economist, Asst. Secy. Harold C. Passer, said: "The interpretation of these movements must be based on the pattern over several months rather than the change in a single month."

Passer added, "Thus, the dip in June does not alter the fact that a strong uptrend has been underway in the leading indicators since last October."

The only indicators improving in June over May was the average workweek and the ratio of prices to labor costs.

Declining were indicators for building permits, new orders for durable goods, industrial materials prices, contracts and orders for plant and equipment, stock prices and initial claims for unemployment insurance.

The department said the index of leading indicators now stands 9 per cent higher than the low recorded last October when the economy was depressed as a result of the General Motors strike.

Making the biggest impact on the index were declines in industrial materials prices and building permits.

The index for new building permits showed a drop of 5.7 per cent while industrial materials prices declined by 2.3 per cent.

But a Commerce Department economist, Asst. Secy. Harold C. Passer, said: "The interpretation of these movements must be based on the pattern over several months rather than the change in a single month."

Passer added, "Thus, the dip in June does not alter the fact that a strong uptrend has been underway in the leading indicators since last October."

The only indicators improving in June over May was the average workweek and the ratio of prices to labor costs.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices firmed a bit today in moderately active trading today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 4.60 at 876.10.

Among issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, declines outnumbered advances by about 2 to 1.

Analysts said an accumulation of discouraging economic news was responsible for the broad decline. They said, however, that a technical rally could develop if the market got support in the 870-875 level of the Dow industrial index.

Glamour issues were mixed.

U.S. Steel continued to top the Big Board active list, trading down 1 1/2% at 29 1/2, its low for the session.

Lockheed was up 3/4% to 10 3/4. The financially ailing aircraft corporation won a preliminary vote of confidence in the U.S. Senate today which indicated the administration's corporate rescue bill had enough support to pass if debate can be curbed.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was off 1.4 to 314.8 at noon. Industrials were off 2.2, rails were down .9, and utilities were off .5.

On the Amex, noon prices included:

Imperial Oil, off 3/4% to 26 3/4; Syntex, down 3/4% at 61 3/4; Artico Enterprises, off 3/4% at 33 3/4; TWA's warrants off 3/4% to 14 3/4; Champion Homebuilders, off 3/4% at 27 3/4; and Southwest Forest Industries, up 3/4% at 17 3/4.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, July 29, the 210th day of 1971. There are 155 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1940, the all-out Luftwaffe blitz against Britain began.

On this date—

In 1883, Italy's fascist dictator Mussolini was born in Dovia, Italy.

In 1914, transcontinental telephone service began with a conversation between New York and San Francisco.

In 1920 air mail service between New York and San Francisco began.

In 1905 Britain's new prime minister, Clement Attlee, replaced Winston Churchill at the Potsdam conference.

In 1946 a peace conference opened in Paris after World War II, with 21 nations in attendance.

In 1967, scores of American servicemen were killed in an explosion and fire aboard the U.S. aircraft carrier "Forrestal" off North Vietnam.

Ten years ago: President Kennedy's disarmament adviser, John McCloy, flew back from Moscow to Washington, interrupting a meeting with Soviet deputy foreign minister Zorin. He reportedly told Kennedy the Kremlin was angered by the U.S. stand on Germany and the Berlin question.

Five years ago: It was announced that an American reconnaissance plane missing over South America had been found wrecked in the mountains of Bolivia.

One year ago: The House of Representatives repulsed an attempt to change the seniority rule by which members move to positions of power solely through length of service.

Today's birthdays: Actor Robert Horton is 47; lawyer Melvin Belli is 64.

Thought for today: All modern men are descended from a worm-like creature, but it shows more on some people—humorist Will Cuppy.

LONDON (AP) — The London Transport Authority invited a group of city councilmen and police for a bus ride to prove the safety of a new bus route which residents along it had protested. Midway in the ride, the bus ran into a parked car.

"We are reconsidering the scheme," said a spokesman for the transport authority.

How Much Do You Know About Cassette?

NEW YORK (NEA) —The sounds emanating from the more than 35-million cassette tape players now in use may not in the future be the jangle of the Rolling Stones nor the smooth tones of Andy Williams. They and their like will still be played, of course, but the really impressive sounds will be telling you how to arrange flowers, speak Spanish, do your income tax and manage your money. In fact, those handy cassettes are doing all of this—and more—right now.

The wonder and promise of the cassette are its unprecedented convenience and versatility. Records are bulky to store, can not be recorded without extensive equipment and are not really portable. Reel-to-reel tapes are somewhat inconvenient to handle and even the four and eight-track tape cartridges which can be found in so many cars are limited mostly to prerecorded music.

Cassettes, are free of all these shortcomings. They approach the ultimate in personal communications. Anybody can record or play one anywhere at any time. They are small and inexpensive—you can buy blank cassettes for under $1 and pre-recorded cassettes start at about $2. Most important, cassette players are also small.

They are free of all these shortcomings. They approach the ultimate in personal communications. Anybody can record or play one anywhere at any time. They are small and inexpensive—you can buy blank cassettes for under $1 and pre-recorded cassettes start at about $2. Most important, cassette players are also small.

More than 35 million cassette players have been sold in the last five years and more than 100 companies are now manufacturing them. You can buy anything from a battery powered portable to a complex home stereo player—recorder.

Of even greater interest to owners of cassette players is the fact that more than 200 companies, large and small, are producing prerecorded cassettes. Just about anything that you can buy on a record, reel-to-reel tape or a tape cartridge is now available on cassettes. In fact, because a small number of cassettes can be produced very inexpensively and quickly and titles that do not sell can be erased and the cassettes reused, the variety of offerings available is already greater than that of any of the other media.

For the educator, the cassette has special attractions. Whether he employs it to present a prerecorded lecture on drugs or poetry or uses it as part of a complex programmed course in mathematics, the cassette allows a teacher to make the most of his generally overcrowded day.

Never before has there been a means of entertainment, education and communication that is so personal and convenient. And the best is yet to come. New equipment is being constantly developed to improve the quality of reproduction and new cassette titles are issued daily. Within a few years, the available to further expand our videotape cassette will be horizons.

SAN FORD, Maine (AP) — An unidentified man came into the emergency ward of Henrietta Goodall Hospital during the weekend, complaining of a moth in his ear.

A skeptical nurse peered into the man's ear with an otoscope and there was the little creature buzzing around inside.

A physician repeated the examination and, attracted by the otoscope's light, the moth fluttered out of the man's ear.

'When Visiting E. Germany, Keep Your Mouth Shut,' Says Visitor

BERLIN (AP) — When visiting East Germany, keep your mouth shut says an American student who spent 18 months in an East Berlin prison.

"If you spend 10 minutes in East Germany talking with anybody, the chances are you'll open yourself up to a charge of slandering the state," said Mark Huessy of Jericho, Vt., a 22-year-old junior at Pomona College, in Claremont, Calif.

"It can include anything from criticizing a policeman to saying the trains don't run on time—which they don't—because of poor planning.

"Everybody knows that a country like that has political laws, but you don't realize how they work until you are subjected to them."

The secret police arrested Huessy on Jan. 4, 1970 in a East Berlin subway station. Within a few hours he realized he and his contacts in the Communist capital had been under surveillance. Huessy, fluent in German, had spent several months in East Berlin talking to people about his two specialties—the late Brotheroid the renowned playwright, and anti-Nazi resistance.

"I can only assume they actually thought at first that I was a spy," he said, recalling he was investigated first on espionage charges. These were later reduced to charges of slandering the state and hostile agitation.

"Miscarriages of justice happen in any country, but the East Germans were dishonest about admitting they had made a mistake," Huessy said. "They arrested me on a false charge. Having established it false, they investigated me enough to prove to themselves I was guilty of a very minor and technical violation—slander."

The charge of hostile agitation was added because "they decided to make a serious crime of it," he claimed.

Huessy was convicted last Sept. 21 and sentenced to seven years in prison. This was reduced on appeal to five years. He was freed on probation July 16 and returned to West Berlin with the five other Americans then in East German captivity on various charges.

Huessy said he was accused at his trial of making 16 statements that were slanderous to the East German regime and designed to incite resistance to it.

He said he never made at least 10 of them, including one that the regime would collapse if the Soviet army moved out.

Julie Wilson's Goal Is To Learn How To Accept What Life Offers

NEW YORK (AP) — "World here I come. Have beaded gown, will travel."

That is the new slogan of Miss Julie Wilson, now appearing at the Rainbow Grill here, who in any popularity contest among her peers would rank as one of the best-liked performers in show business.

As a screen, television and super club star, she has shown her skill at handling audiences. Now she has decided to see if she can handle her career all by herself.

She felt that career had reached some kind of crisis earlier this year when there occurred a lull in it that periodically frightens most stars.

Only the year before she had starred in two Broadway shows. Unfortunately, "Jimmy" lasted only three months and "Park" only three days.

"I was ready to quit show business three months ago," Julie recalled. "Nobody called, nobody offered me a job. I hadn't been on television recently, and unless you're on television everybody thinks you are dead or retired."

"I decided that if agents can't do it for you, you have to do it for yourself. I decided to be my own agent and manager. I figured that nearly 30 years of show business must have taught me something."

After an amicable parting with her agent, the singer set out to do her own booking. She has been phenomenally successful. She has made a couple of television appearances, has signed up for a series of top supper club bookings, and is considering another Broadway show.

Her office? It's a three-bedroom ranch house she recently bought in her home town—Omaha, Neb.—where she feels her two sons, Holt, 7, and Michael, 6, will be able to grow up in a freer and less fearful atmosphere.

"The kids are my life," she said. "Anyway, all you need for an office is a telephone."

A lifelong capacity for friendship is one key to Miss Wilson's successful upsurge. Nobody who meets the breezy, down-to-earth, hazel-eyed singer is likely to forget her.

People In The News

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Christina Onassis, 20-year-old daughter of Aristotle Onassis, has married 47-year-old Joseph Bolker, a Hollywood real estate man.

"I did not know who it was until I got there," said District Court Judge Carl Christensen, called to a local law office Tuesday to perform the brief civil ceremony.

"I asked, 'Is this the famous Onassis family?' and she said, 'I am the daughter.'"

There were half a dozen spectators, apparently none from the family of the Greek shipping magnate who is married to the widow of President John F. Kennedy.

The judge said the couple flew here from Los Angeles and returned after the ceremony. There were unconfirmed reports they were honeymooning in Mexico.

YUBA CITY, Calif. (AP) — Juan Corona replied with a terse, "Not guilty, sir" 25 times at his arraignment on charges of hacking to death 25 transient field workers.

Corona, a farm labor contractor, used the same words Tuesday each time Superior Court Judge John Hauck read a count from the grand jury indictment accusing him of killing the victims and burying them in orchard graves.

Jury selection was set to begin Oct. 5 after Dr. Thomas Leavenworth, Sutter County medical director, testified Corona should be recuperated from a mild heart attack by then.

Corona waived his right to a speedy trial, complying with Leavenworth's advice.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Three thousand GIs at two remote bases in Alaska recently signed a petition asking for a visit from Bob Hope and "Girls! Girls! Girls!"

The comedian, who has been entertaining troops for nearly 30 years, got the message. When Hope takes off from Los Angeles International Airport tonight for Fairbanks he'll take 130 girls, USO volunteers from 17 to 25 years old.

Hope will include Fess Parker, the Sunday's Child vocal trio and the Celebration rock group. They'll entertain servicemen at Eielson Air Force Base and Ft. Wainwright and return Sunday.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Wayne has sued Paramount Pictures for $1.7 million over the sale to television of "True Grit," which won the veteran actor his only Oscar.

Wayne's suit, filed Tuesday in Superior Court, contends that Paramount sold too cheaply, short-changing Wayne's residual share of the profits.

Paramount should have known, Wayne says, that he "stood a good chance" of winning the Academy Award for 1969, which would increase the value of the film.

But instead of selling "True Grit" separately or with a select group of films, Wayne says, Paramount let it go in the fall of 1969 to the American Broadcasting Co. with 24 other films in a $15 million package.

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Patricia Jo Cornell, daughter of U.S. Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. John D. Ryan, and her husband have been convicted of possession of marijuana.

Mrs. Cornell and her husband Carlyle each were fined $50 Tuesday in Lancaster County Court. The marijuana charge is a misdemeanor.

Both also were bound over to District Court on felony charges of possession "with intent to sell, manufacture, deliver or dispense" phencyclidine, a small-animal tranquilizer known as "PCP."

Conviction on the felony charge could carry a prison sentence of up to five years. No arraignment date was set and each was released on $1,500 bond.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower has been given the first "Ike" silver dollar.

The new coin—bearing the late president's likeness on one side and the insignia of the Apollo 11 moon mission on the other—will be released for general circulation this fall.

Mrs. Eisenhower received the coin from President Nixon at a ceremony Tuesday marking the nation's return to the use of the silver dollar. It was the first silver dollar minted in the United States in 36 years.

Although the coin Mrs. Eisenhower received is made largely of silver, the dollar coins to be released for general circulation will be made of copper and nickel, with no silver.

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Frank Sinatra's complaint filed against the New Jersey State Investigation Commission has been dismissed by a federal judge.

The retired singer, currently on a European vacation, filed the complaint on Nov. 23, 1969, seeking to quash a warrant for his arrest and a subpoena that he appear before the commission to tell what he knew about organized crime in the state.

The arrest warrant was issued when he refused to testify.

But the complaint became moot after he finally appeared before a secret session of the commission on Feb. 17, 1970. The commission chairman, William F. Hyland, said Sinatra had "cooperated fully."

The dismissal Tuesday was considered routine.

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — U.S. Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe and Gov. Stan Hathaway helped wield the axes which brought down a large billboard along Interstate 80 west of here.

After the two gave it a few ceremonial whacks Tuesday, kicking off the federal government's new billboard removal program in Wyoming, a highway crew pulled down the sign.

State officials later admitted that when the highway crew arrived at the site they found the sign — advertising a national hamburger firm's product — already had been cut down.

They had to replace it for the ceremony.

Govt. Foot In The Door

The battle of Columbia Broadcasting System with Congress over the television documentary "The Selling of the Pentagon" is a classical example of how the government, once it gets its foot in the door, uses the leverage thus gained to widen the opening and eventually take over the whole shebang.

The "foot in the door" in the case of CBS and other electronic news media, is the federal government's licensing authority, which it has used for years as a means of imposing indirect censorship on such media.

Plainly, if the Constitution of the United States means anything, the freedom of the press from governmental meddling and censorship, set forth in the First Amendment, applies to television and radio in the same way that it applies to newspapers. But, just as plainly, making use of the precedent provided by federal licensing of television and radio, the government does not see it that way.

This was made quite clear by Rep. Harley O. Staggers (D-W. Va.), head of a group of congressmen seeking to initiate contempt proceedings against CBS' president Frank Stanton for airing the documentary "The Selling of the Pentagon," when he quoted Chief Justice Warren E. Burger as saying: "After nearly five decades of operation, the broadcast industry does not seem to have grasped the simple fact that a broadcast license is a public trust subject to termination of breach of duty."

Without saying so in plain words but, nevertheless, chillingly plain, what Congressman Staggers was saying to Stanton and to all licensed media was that, the government was displeased with the documentary and was holding the threat of license revocation over their heads.

The bone of contention at the moment was a demand by the group headed up by Staggers for access to the raw material used in producing "The Selling of the Pentagon." But, obviously, there was much more than that involved. For, in demanding such access, the group of probers was trying to establish the "right" of the government to news media sources of information.

In refusing to divulge such "raw material," to show Congress "edited-out" material or to discuss "editing activities" that went into the making of the controversial documentary, Stanton made it clear he was aware of the fundamental issue at stake.

The case, he pointed out, along with the probers' attempt to hold CBS in contempt for refusing to divulge its sources of information, "... may reach landmarks in defining news liberty." And, "I respectfully submit," he added, "that where journalistic judgments are investigated in a congressional hearing, especially by the committee with jurisdiction to legislate about broadcast licenses, the official effort to compel evidence about our editing processes has an unconstitutional chilling effect."

And that, of course, was an understatement. For at issue is nothing less than the right of the press to publish the news without first obtaining governmental approval prior to publication. As the governmental attempts to strangle the New York Times, and other newspapers make startlingly plain, the licensing and control of one segment of the news media lead to attempts to control and take-over all the rest.

Unfortunately, like the Times and the Post, CBS has been guilty for years of advocating the use of governmental power against others. Now, as with the two leading newspapers, the shoe is on the other foot—and, understandably, it pinches.

When will it finally be learned that confided power, intended to be used against others, can be, and more often than not, is, turned against oneself?

Liberty Or Dependence

Are we ready for Liberty? Freeman Magazine offered one of its ideas on Liberty, which provides food for thought on the question. It is an excerpt from William Graham Sumner's "What Social Classes Owe To Each Other."

The two notions — one to regulate things by a committee of control, and the other to let things regulate themselves by a committee of control, and the other to let things regulate themselves by the conflict of interests between free men — are diametrically opposed; and the former is corrupting to free institutions, because men who are taught to expect government inspectors to come and take care of them lose all true education in liberty. If we have been all wrong for the last three hundred years in aiming at a fuller realization of individual liberty, as a condition of general and widely-diffused happiness, then we must turn back to paternalism, discipline, and authority; but to have a combination of liberty and dependence is impossible.

How About Brand X?

"From Those Wonderful Folks Who Gave You Pearl Harbor" is the whimsical title of a recent and rather humorous look at the world of Madison Avenue. The title derives from an only partially facetious suggestion that it would serve admirably as an advertising theme for a new line of Japanese television and radio sets.

In reviewing the current crop of proposals from the politicians for "providing" health care for all the citizens of the Republic we wonder whether special merchandising techniques might not be appropriate. Any or all of these womb-to-tomb schemes for government subsidized socialized health care might appropriately be billed as coming "From Those Friendly Folks Who Gave You The Welfare Mess." Or perhaps "Direct From Triumphal Operation of the Post Office Department..." How about "If You Liked Urban Renewal You'll Love Our Health Plan?"

The point, of course, is that when we are asked to buy something it is often wise to investigate the record of the one who offers it to us. In this case the politicians are "offering" us cradle-to-grave health care, complete with glowing promises of the benefits that will flow to one and all.

But the track record of these politicians, and the bureaucrats who administer their schemes is only too painfully apparent. And time after time the scenario is the same. It should be realized that a free, unfettered and unregulated medical profession would offer the best progressive health care possible. Private free-enterprise, medical insurance is available to, and indeed utilized by, the bulk of the people in the country. It is not perfect, but what is? The politician thrives by finding something wrong.

Sensing The News

Confiscation In Chile
 Nationalization of American-owned copper mines by Chile's communist-dominated government hasn't resulted in significant protest or retaliation by the United States. Apparently the confiscation of property belonging to Americans doesn't particularly excite the powers that be in Washington.

Current inaction is in line with the weak diplomatic posture the Nixon administration has adopted in Latin America. The administration obviously was unprepared for the communist political takeover in Chile and lacked contingency plans. The liberal-dominated U.S. Senate seems indifferent to the spread of communism in this hemisphere. U.S. Sen. J.W. Fulbright (D-Ark.), chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, is too busy trying to condemn the United States for its Asian policy to have time left over for considering communist conquests in this hemisphere.

Yet as far back as seven years ago well-informed statesmen warned of the threat to Chile and to American investments in Latin America. Former U.S. Sen. George Smathers of Florida said in a speech on May 20, 1964, that Salvador Allende, now Chile's Red president, was a "close friend of Fidel Castro" and would nationalize U.S. properties if he gained power.

Unfortunately, the Johnson administration was no more active than the Nixon administration is today. As a result, Allende finally gained power. Chile could have been saved from revolutionary rule, as Brazil and Argentina have been saved from revolutionary rule, by vision and will were lacking in Washington. The U.S. failed to use its power to influence events and preserve freedom and security.

Confiscation of American-owned copper mines in Chile is a disaster for the Chilean people. These companies have provided thousands of jobs for decades and helped support Chile's economy. Nationalization certainly won't enrich the Chileans. Nowhere in the world has nationalization of privately-owned mines, refineries and plants resulted in increased prosperity. On the contrary, nationalization means inefficiency, a decline in investment in new equipment, lower productivity and scanty earnings.

And if the Soviets are brought in to operate the Chilean copper mines, one can be sure that there won't be any more pay raises or fringe benefits. That's not the way communism works.

Americans, however, should be indignant that their own government apparently isn't more concerned about the loss of American property. Chilean promises of compensation are empty. Share holders have no reasonable expectation of regaining their investment in the Chilean mines.

Ironically, the nationalized facilities represented significant Chilean-U.S. collaboration in years past. In the post-World War II period, the U.S. extended large loans to Chile for construction of power-generating equipment and development of a steel industry. Private citizens in the United States invested more than $750 million in copper, nitrate and other industrial enterprises in Chile. The economy of Chile would have collapsed years ago without the substantial input of U.S. capital. Has the Chileans encouraged U.S. investment and maintained favorable conditions for private enterprise, the country's economic life would have stabilized.

In the last decade, the U.S. government should have been defending American private investment as the best way for Latin America to achieve prosperity. But the administrations in power either pushed government aid programs — as was the case with the Kennedy administration's alliance for Progress — or was weak and ineffectual in stressing reliance on free enterprise — which is the sad story the Nixon administration.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Dorothy Dix wrote the most popular print feature in American journalism till this "Worry Clinic" was launched. It exceeded her, probably because I cover a wider range of "human interest" material, since I shoot at 5 major instincts whereas she stressed but 2. But she really humanized American journalism!

CASE R-522: Lillian D., aged 22, is a Journalism student with a propensity for the women's "liberation" movement.

"Dr. Crane," she challenged, don't you think the greatest newspaper writer of this century was a woman?"

To which I replied that if very well could be, but whom did Lillian have in mind?

"I'd nominate Dorothy Dix," she fervently replied. I have worked up my term paper on her and the more I read about her, the more I feel she deserves first place. For newspapers were stodgy and lacking in human interest copy prior to her 'Advice to the Lovelorn' column.

"To what stress was placed on dry topics like the usual rehash of what goes on in congress, day by day. Or the stock market and baseball, with very little attention to love, family and psychological problems."

"Newspapers were produced by men who simply put on the pages the usual things men were interested in. But women and children were left out, to a great degree."

"Then the New Orleans newspaper launched Dorothy Dix. She produced a revolution in newspaper content, for she used her column to advise people in their most basic instincts, namely, love, marriage problems and children."

"As a psychologist, don't you agree with me that Dorothy Dix thus changed the entire concept of what a newspaper should contain?"

Bravo, Dorothy Dix! Yes, I agree. Dorothy Dix deserved a Pulitzer Prize! Her column rated first place on reader polls and attracted the heaviest letter input of all syndicated newspaper features prior to this "Worry Clinic."

marital problems after the ceremony.

The next big yearning of readers is for ego inflation, so I include one case per week on how to win friends, become more attractive, "date bait," etc.

Another case deals with psychosomatic medicine and my Applied Psychology, as in business or the professions of education.

This "Smorgasbord" format thus strikes all the 5 major human interests every 6 days, with a double shot in the Dorothy Dix category.

Before launching my column, however, I decided I better acquire an M.D. degree to go along with my Doctor of Philosophy, so I would then be trained in both "body and mind" dilemmas.

As you might guess, editors say the mail pull to this smorgasbord psychological menu is the heaviest in modern journalism.

(Always write Dr. Crane in care of The Pampa Daily News, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of all booklets.)

H. L. Hunt Writes

Let Reds Oppose Each Other

Most anything would seem to be better than endless meetings with communists in Paris, which everyone has found is getting us nowhere. There has always seemed to be a possible advantage to our country in having communists disagree with each other, so it has been encouraged to do battle in their advancement of communism and who would lead it. Other diplomats have said they want to keep down any open breaks between the Chinese and Russians because trouble between Red China and Soviet Russia could bring on World War III.

President Nixon's proposed trip to Peking could be a matter of him carrying out a deal Henry A. Kissinger already has made. No communist government has ever proved itself to be very trustworthy about carrying out any agreements, but there could be advantages to the U.S. if this is clearly recognized and the opportunity used to disturb the communists' efforts to dominate the world.

Constructive statesmen and seasoned patriots could feel better about the events about to unfold if President Nixon were receiving close counsel from eminent men such as the generals trained by MacArthur. A great nation cannot continue long abandoning its allies in favor of its enemies. What ever comes of the Kissinger plan for China, it already is robbing the non-communist Nationalist Chinese government on Formosa of essential prestige.

Clearing House

Get something you would like to "get off your chest"? That's what the "Clearing House" is for. It has been suggested there should be more letters to the editor, that people should speak their mind. So, in the public interest, write to the editor and "get it off your chest."

WHAT DOES THE PING PONG BALL KNOW?

A prominent man, I forgot his name, was hailed on the street. "Hey, Mister, what time is it?" The man just kept going and pretended he hadn't heard or seen anybody or anything.

"Is it your policy to never honor a stranger with a civil answer to so common a question as that?" his friend berated him.

"Well, yes," he said. "If I stop and give that stranger the time of day and start a conversation with him I would probably end up inviting him to my house for dinner which might start something and end with his wanting to marry my daughter, and I don't want my daughter to marry a man that can't afford a watch."

Still, you are supposed to be courteous even if small courtesies at times bring in the unexpected. So, cautiously we venture nothing more than a friendly ping pong game: After all, what does a ping pong ball know? There is no way it could bounce us into trouble. Still, that now famous Chinese American game looms up red and fiery in the western sky.

Already the game calls for Nixon to go to China. In turn he will invite Chinese officials to come here and they will invite our businessmen like Mr. Ford over there, which would inevitably result in a situation where we, when we need repairs for our house, car or lawn mower have to send to China because everything will be stamped "Made in China."

China is just waking up in time because we are about to run the Japs and the Germans nuts making stuff for us. We certainly need new, dependable workers before organized labor with government aid prices us clear out of the market.

Inside Washington

Must U.S. Pay Soviet Millions for U.N. Embargo? — Byrd

WASHINGTON — Congress is going to have the chance to determine whether the U.S. continues to pay millions of dollars annually to Russia for vital supplies of metallurgical chrome essential for key weapons production — because of complying with the United Nations embargo against Rhodesia.

Sen. Harry Byrd, Ind.-Va., is forcefully setting the stage for a showdown vote on the issue of paying this UN-imposed tribute to the Soviet — at a cost last year of $137 million and certain to be higher this year. Since the UN embargo in 1966, Russia, which now provides 60 per cent of U.S. chrome needs, has hiked the price from $25 to $72 a ton — 188 per cent.

The punitive embargo was levied against Rhodesia by a bloc consisting of communist, black African and Arab states.

Prior to the sanctions, Rhodesia was this country's largest single source of metallurgical chrome that is critical in the manufacture of jet aircraft, missiles and nuclear submarines. There is no U.S. production of this indispensable ore.

As a consequence of the UN embargo, in which Russia played a leading role in the Security Council, not only has the Soviet gained a highly lucrative trade asset, but now has a potentially crippling hand on U.S. weapons output and the communications and transportation industries. Says Senator Byrd:

"The constant increase in price of this essential ore is bad enough, but what concerns me most — and what prompts me to introduce my bill — is that the United States has placed itself in the position of dependence upon Russia for a strategic commodity, to me, that is dangerous and wholly illogical. It just doesn't make sense."

Last year the U.S. imported a total of 703,000 tons of chrome — of which 409,000 tons came from Russia, 135,000 tons from Turkey, 97,000 tons from South Africa, and 62,000 tons from other countries.

LINE OF ATTACK — Sen. Byrd's bill proposes a direct attack on this grave problem.

It would amend the 1945 act under which the U.S. joined the United Nations to "provide that the President could not prohibit imports of a strategic material from a free world country as long as the importation of the same material is permitted from a community-dominated country."

A number of Democratic and Republican senators are co-sponsoring this remedial legislation. Also, former Secretary of State Dean Acheson is vigorously supporting it. He strongly urged its enactment at hearings held earlier this month by a Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee.

It was opposed by the State Department — which reportedly is covertly lobbying against it by trying to prevent a showdown vote in the full Senate.

With Congress due to shut down next week for a month's vacation, this significant test is unlikely before fall. But Byrd will definitely force a roll call vote because under Senate rules he can offer his measure as an amendment to pending legislation.

Exactly when that will be done is not being disclosed.

LEAKY EMBARGO — From available information, the U.S. apparently is the only big country taking the sanctions against Rhodesia seriously.

Latest UN reports disclose that a number of nations are disregarding the embargo — foremost among them Switzerland, Portugal, South Africa, Zambia, Botswana and Malawi. Another 25 UN members have declined to even answer inquiries about the matter from Secretary General U Thant. Many others stated they had never had any trade with Rhodesia to begin with.

On top of all that, enforcement of the boycott has been largely a bust.

Last year a special UN committee reported more than 60 violations, and since then numerous other infractions have brought the total to well over 100.

The State Department raised three main objections to Byrd's bill — Rhodesia is ruled by a minority; it threatens world peace; the embargo is effective; Byrd derides the first two arguments as "positively ludicrous" and "obviously absurd," and the third as patently unfounded. He also bluntly stresses the senselessness of "continuing to depend on communist Russia for a material vital to our national defense."

"We are spending billions of dollars for weaponry as a protection against possible Russian aggression," points out the Virginia legislator. "Russia is the number one reason — and indeed almost the sole reason — for our huge defense expenditure."

As for Rhodesia being governed by a minority, Byrd caustically notes: "If the United Nations were to impose economic sanctions on every country ruled by a minority, it would have to begin with one of the most prominent members of the Security Council — the Soviet Union, where 240 million people are ruled by a tiny handful of communist party leaders."

And as for Rhodesia threatening world peace, that's so asinine it's not worth answering. "No one actually believes that," snorts Byrd.

"My legislation does one thing and one thing only," he asserts. "It simply provides that the President could not prohibit imports of a strategic material from a free world country if imports of the same material are permitted from a communist-dominated country. I firmly believe that is fair and proper and just, and it is my determined intention to ensure that the Senate is given the chance to register its will on this vital question."

SPACE CONTRADICTION — The U.S. leads the world in space exploration; but it has only a small tin hanger in which to display its history-making craft and other equipment.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, a licensed pilot, indignantly wants to do something about that. He is trying to get Congress to provide money for a National Air and Space Museum that was formally authorized way back in 1966.

Plans for the museum are drawn up and ready and waiting. But the project has been stalled for five years because the Senate committee in approving the authorized bill included in its report a hobbling comment, "Appropriations should not be requested unless and until there is a substantial reduction in our military expenditure in Vietnam."

Actually, this statement is merely a declaration and does not have the force of law. But it has been observed as such by default.

Sen. Goldwater, in his drive to get funds to start construction of the Air and Space Museum, told a House Appropriations subcommittee the pronouncement is no longer binding. He contends its effectiveness has lapsed. He also noted that since the statement, Congress has voted money to renovate two Smithsonian display buildings — the National Portrait Gallery and the Renwick Gallery.

Sen. Goldwater also forcefully stressed that when the Wright Brothers' 1903 Kitty Hawk plane was returned to the U.S. from England, an explicit promise was made to the executor of the Wright estate that a "distinctive museum" would be erected to house the historic craft.

"Some 23 years have gone by since that pledge was made," Goldwater declared, "and it's still unfulfilled. That's not very creditable to us as a nation."
