BALL IS ROLLING

Taxpayer Response Beyond Expectation

Response to the announcement that a taxpayers organization is being formed in Pampa and Gray County has exceeded expectations, according to Mrs. Audria Sandford, chairman of the organizing committee.

"We are more than encouraged by the response," Mrs. Sandford said today. "Care is being exercised in getting started so there will be no slackness."

Mrs. Sandford said many persons have called expressing encouragement and a desire to help in the circulation of applications for membership.

The application forms are expected to be delivered from the printer soon, she stated, and will be distributed in Pampa, Lefors, McLean and throughout the rural areas in order to reach every property owner in Gray County.

In an announcement Wednesday, Mrs. Sandford said the purpose of the organization was to enlist the aid of city and county taxpayers in keeping a check on city and county officials involved with public spending taxation.

Date of the first public meeting of the organization will be announced as soon as possible, she said.

Legal counsel will be available she said, to guide the organization which she described as a "direct action group" with no political connotations and representing no special interests or any particular area of the city or county.

"This will be an organization with no other aim than to represent property owners concerned with the continued increase in taxes and public spending," Mrs. Sandford said.

Taxpayers wishing to join or lend any kind of aid were requested by Mrs. Sandford to contact her by writing to P.O. Box 1555, Pampa, or calling 669-2816.

Barnes Denies Allegations Of Part In Stock Scandal

Sharp Links Lt. Gov. With 2 Banking Bills

DALLAS (AP) — Convicted Houston businessman Frank W. Sharp has linked Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes with passage of two new controversial banking bills in a deposition given the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission.

Sharp testified that a former business partner, John Osorio, told him that "Barnes was smarter than the others, that Barnes takes only cash," it was revealed Thursday.

Barnes, a candidate for governor, immediately denied the allegations and said they constituted another in a series of attempts "that have been made to destroy me politically."

The allegations were recalled Wednesday by Sharp in a conversation he said took place with Osorio shortly after passage of the two banking bills in 1969.

News Director Eddie Barker of KDFW-TV said sources told him that Sharp testified Osorio said in a 1969 conversation that Barnes "delivered as he said he would."

Sharp wanted enactment of the banking bills which would have exempted his Sharpstown State Bank in Houston from Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. Regulation. Gov. Preston Smith vetoed the measures after opening a special legislative session for them.

Sharp pleaded guilty earlier this year to charges arising from the SEC probe and a Houston judge assessed him a probation three-year prison term and a fine. The financier received immunity from further prosecution in exchange for grand jury testimony.

The Dallas News said in a copyrighted story today that Osorio was now living in New York, saw a copy of the deposition Thursday.

A source the News said related that Osorio scribbled in the margin of the transcript beside the mention of Barnes: "Cheap trick Part of the SEC scrip." Nature like this ever took place with Ben, (said John Osorio).

The news also said Sharp told the SEC this week that state Sen. A.H. "Babe" Schwartz of Galveston got a $30,000 loan from a Sharp-controlled bank in consideration for dropping his opposition to a banking bill in 1969.

"The facts show that nothing could be father from the truth," Schwartz said Thursday night. He said he got two $15,000 loans in 1968 with two Sharp-controlled banks in Dallas, and still is paying off the combined note.

Schwartz said he never met Sharp until 1970.

Osorio, a former president of the Sharp-controlled National Bankers Life Insurance Co., is one of 23 firms and persons, including Sharp, who has been linked to a massive stock-fraud scheme by the SEC in a civil suit filed in Dallas Jan. 18.

"Did Osorio tell you that he had to take care of a prominent political figure in Texas to get the banking bills through the legislature?" an SEC investigator asked Sharp, according to sources at the deposition-taking.

"I do not recall Osorio saying," Sharp was quoted as replying at first. But then, the sources said, he added:

"I do recall that after the banking bills were passed and before Gov. Smith vetoed them, Osorio was in my Houston office and that Osorio stated that Ben delivered as he said he would."

Sharp then reportedly told the SEC he stopped Osorio and took him outside to continue the conversation because his office was "bugged."

Sharp then told the SEC, according to the sources: "I asked Osorio if I was financially obligated to Ben Barnes for passing the bills and Osorio replied: 'No, I have already taken care of that.'"

Sharp said he told Osorio, "Okay, as long as I don't know anything about it," the sources said in testimony Thursday.

Sharp quoted Osorio as telling him: "It takes $20,000 to $25,000 a month for Barnes to keep his boat afloat."

The Houston financier also made reference Thursday to a $60,000 loan he alleged was made to Barnes by Dallas Bank & Trust to win his support (See BARNES, Page 2)

Dozen Persons To Testify Aug. 18 Before House Unit Probing Fraud

AUSTIN (AP)—Subpoenas are on the way for up to a dozen persons to testify Aug. 18 at "intensive hearings" before the House General Investigating Committee, which is probing an alleged stock scandal involving high Texas officials.

Rep. Menton Murray of Harlingen, committee chairman, said the subpoenas would be served on 10 or 12 persons "as quickly as possible."

Whether the hearings will be open "depends on how many get served and who they are," Murray said. He failed, however, to explain how the list of those served would determine whether the hearings will be public.

He declined to give the names of those who will be subpoenaed, but the list was believed to include Houston millionaire Frank Sharp, a key figure in the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission's stock fraud investigation.

Murray said a list of those subpoenaed will be released after all are served.

The committee concluded a two-day meeting behind closed doors Thursday.

Murray's formal statement said the five-member panel "heard a number of witnesses, including heads of state agencies, in their probe of possible involvement of state officials."

Included among the witnesses, he said, were representatives of the state banking and insurance departments.

A committee member said the group already has talked with House Speaker Gus Mutscher, who appointed the panel.

The SEC alleged in a civil suit filed in Dallas that quick profits in National Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock were arranged for certain state officials in 1969 to help get two bills passed that would provide private bank deposit insurance. The SEC said the bills were designed to exempt such banks as Sharp's now-defunct Sharpstown State Bank, but they denied there was any connection between the stock transactions and the bills.

The FDIC sued Mutscher in a state district court in Houston Thursday, seeking recovery of $332,000 on his unpaid loan from Sharpstown. Mutscher's collateral for the loan—17,000 shares of NBL stock—crumbled in value.

NBL is now in receivership.

American Dollar Continues Plunge In Europe Market

LONDON (AP) — The dollar continued its plunge on the European money markets today reaching a record low in West Germany where the American currency came under its greatest pressure.

Dealers reported the dollar was being hit by preweekend nervousness that usually accompanies a monetary crisis.

Another factor creating uncertainty in Europe was the Wall Street Journal's poll of leading American businessmen indicating a possible devaluation of the American currency, financial sources said.

In Frankfurt trading in the dollar opened at 3.387 marks from Thursday's closing of 3.3850 marks, after a half hour, it had dropped to a record low of 3.3740 marks, and slipped even further in the next half hour to 3.3715 marks.

In London the dollar stood at 2.4197 to the pound sterling compared with $2.4194 at Thursday night's close. The rate was almost touching the pound's ceiling of $2.42 and the Bank of England was reported prepared to make further massive purchases of dollars to shore up the ailing American currency.

Financial sources estimated that the bank bought in about $250 million on Wednesday when large-scale support for the dollar became urgent in London.

Dealers reported many inquiries from speculators on the London market but relatively little business was done because of the mood of uncertainty.

In Zurich, Switzerland, the dollar rate dropped sharply to 4.03-04 Swiss francs, well below the voluntary support level of 4.06 at which the Swiss National Bank offers to buy, transferring the equivalent to blocked accounts.

Swiss banking sources said the national bank has possibly taken in as much as $2 billion since the crisis started last week. These sources estimated that the bank bought up to $800 million on Thursday alone.

Mrs. Jack O. Miller will narrate the fashion parade and Miss Brenda Box, Amarillo, holder of the "Miss Texas Universe" title, will emcee the presentation of contestants.

Mrs. David McDaniel is style show chairman and has completed arrangements for the fall and winter showings of formal cocktail, daytime, western and sportswear ensembles.

Contestants will appear Saturday night in sportswear, swimsuits and formals. No talent segment is included in competition. Beauty, poise, and personality will be scored by a panel of out-of-town judges.

Girls in the contest are between 16 and 21 years of age.

Each merchant participating in the style show is permitted two showings.

For the first time this year a "Miss Congeniality," selected by popular vote by contestants, will be announced.

Title winner for this year's pageant will receive a cash award of $250.

Preliminary judging will begin at 10 a.m. tomorrow when judges meet with individual contestants for a three-to-five minute interview at Pampa Country Club followed by luncheon with Mrs. Jean Martindale in charge of arrangements. Officials have suggested contestants choose a luncheon dress with appropriate heels for these events.

Gray County Commissioners yesterday quickly moved through a six-item agenda before going into an executive session to discuss a proposed ambulance service contract with Metropolitan Ambulance Service in Amarillo.

Metropolitan representatives are expected to present a written proposal to Gray County and Pampa officials during a meeting scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Monday.

Other business undertaken by commissioners included: Payment of bills and salaries and approval of the Welfare report Gray County aided 25 families at a cost of $1200 in July.

Mrs. Mary Dwyer, Precinct 4, McLean, reported on a drug seminar she attended as a representative of the county last week in Amarillo.

The seminar was conducted at the psychiatric pavilion by the Amarillo Police Department, and dealt with community drug problems and possible solutions directed by officials and leaders of cities and counties.

Commissioners also discussed the coming Board of Equalization meeting set for 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Commissioners concurred many questions are being raised by taxpayers concerning tax guidelines undertaken this year at the county level and stressed the importance of taxpayers attendance of the meeting Tuesday.

A 15 percent across-the-board raise in county taxes was approved early this year in view of deficits facing the county. Court action late in 1970 approved the raise but did not establish the amount. A three-per cent discount will be available to those taxpayers making payment before Oct. 1.

Questions concerning valuation notices received this year by county residents will be considered when the board convenes Tuesday.

Nixon Accused Of Doing Nothing Toward Providing U.S. Leadership

DALLAS (AP) — President Nixon is "trying to be all things to all people, and, as a result, is doing nothing toward providing the leadership of our country," U. S. Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., told Texas AFL-CIO leaders.

Bayh, a Presidential contender, said Nixon's efforts to control inflation was a "dismal failure" and proposed a presidential commission on price and wages.

The commission would be made of business, labor and government officials to work out details of "an effective incomes policy."

Bayh was the third Democratic senator to take a swipe at Nixon's economic policies. Sens. Edmund Muskie of Maine and Henry Jackson of Washington addressed the convention Wednesday.

The Indiana senator also proposed an expanded public services work program, an additional 13 weeks of federal unemployment compensation, post-employment of social Security tax increases, a speed-up of personal income tax cuts and an increase in the minimum wage to $2 an hour.

Bayh also blasted Nixon for his stand on busing.

"He's been for busing and against busing," Bayh said. "The President should not play one group of Americans against another. We must put aside this animosity and hatred. The polarization caused by the Southern strategy of Nixon is just to get votes, not govern a country."

The senator told the press he had not gotten any official results of an investigation he asked into the shooting of a Dallas couple during a police hunt for two men later convicted for killing three sheriff's deputies in Dallas County.

Bayh said he had no plans to meet with any Dallas city or county police officials while here.

The fight for control over the Texas AFL-CIO was centered Thursday on a proposed constitutional change on voting for officers which was defeated on a recount.

The amendment would have permitted separate ballots for president and secretary-treasurer.

Roy Evans, who's stepping down from the secretary-treasurer job to run for president of the 220,500 member organization, wants separate ballots.

The first count showed that 88,006 for and 87,912 against, a 94 vote margin.

Officials of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce reported today they had been in telephone conversation with J.L. Tillery, regional manager of Western Union for this area and have been assured full Western Union service would be restored in Pampa by the early part of next week, possibly by Monday.

Plans call for the Western Union office to be open from 8 a.m. until 12 midnight with full service.

Tillery expressed his regret for the inconvenience of not having service here for the past few days.

He said much of the delay had been attributed to the strike which had been underway recently.

Definite location of the office was not known at the time of the telephone conversation, according to E.O. Wedgworth, manager of the local Chamber of Commerce.

Why is Pampa's per capita one-cent sales tax collection several dollars less than Borger, Amarillo, Plainview and other cities of comparable size in Texas?

That was a question puzzling City Manager Mack Wofford today.

Wofford has just received a report from the Texas Municipal League on 1970 sales tax receipts from all cities in the state where the tax is being collected.

Pampa's per capita collection last year was $13.97, based on an approximate 22,000 population.

This means that much was collected from each man, woman and child in the city.

Borger's per capita tax for the same period was nearly $4 more — $17.84.

The per capita figure for Amarillo was $17.83 and for Plainview $18.08.

"I haven't been able to figure out," Wofford said, "why Pampa is that much less than our neighboring cities."

Fogger Doubles Efforts To Kill Off Mosquitoes

Recent rains have caused an increase in Pampa's mosquito population — and an added problem for City Hall.

City Manager Mack Wofford said today many complaints about mosquitoes have been coming in since the rainfall of the past several days.

As a result, he said, the city's fogging machine has been placed on double duty.

"We're operating now on two shifts instead of one," Wofford said.

The fogger is making the rounds through city alleys from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and from 6 p.m. until midnight.

The city manager also asked cooperation of residents in getting rid of mosquito breeding places.

Cutting weeds, cleaning up debris piles and eliminating standing water will help keep down the mosquito population, Wofford said.

TEXAS STOCK FRAUD

FDIC Files Second Suit Against House Speaker

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. has filed a $332,000 suit against Texas House Speaker Gus Mutscher in connection with the liquidation of the defunct Sharpstown State Bank.

It was the second suit filed by the FDIC in as many days. A $170,000 suit was filed Tuesday against professional golfer Doug Sanders.

The suit against Mutscher alleges the Speaker owes $332,000 on a $340,000 loan from the bank, for which he pledged 17,000 shares of National Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock as collateral.

Including penalty, interest and collection fees, the overall amount the FDIC is seeking from Mutscher could exceed $400,000.

Mutscher was testifying before a federal grand jury here when the FDIC filed the state court action. The grand jury is investigating the collapse of the financial empire of Frank W. Sharp.

Mutscher, Sanders and a number of state officials were named in SEC documents filed in Dallas as having purchased National Bankers Life stock, in most cases with money borrowed from the Sharpstown Bank. None were named as defendants in the SEC action.

The FDIC took over the Sharp-controlled bank after Sharp, the bank and the Sharp-controlled National Bankers Life Insurance Co. were among the 28 defendants named in a Jan. 18 civil injunction suit filed in Dallas by the Securities and Exchange Commission alleging stock manipulation.

Mutscher said after testifying here Thursday before the grand jury that the suit against him "reflects that I have lost a substantial amount of money investing in National Bankers Life Insurance stock."

Mutscher spent about two hours with the jury Thursday afternoon. He followed Dallas stock broker J. Quincy Adams and former State Sen. Jack Strong of Longview.

Adams is alleged to have been the Ling and Co. broker who "made the market" in NBL stock. He is a defendant in the SEC suit against Sharp, NBL and others.

Strong was the original Senate sponsor of the banking bills Sharp is said to have proposed which would have provided a state deposit insurance corporation.

The state action against Mutscher claims the Speaker borrowed $340,000 from the bank prior to Oct. 7, 1970, on which date he was reported to have renewed the loan and pledged the 17,000 shares of stock as collateral.

The suit alleges Mutscher has made no payments on the loan since making payments on Nov. 16, 1970, of $7,992 on the principal and $437 on the interest.

The FDIC pointed out that the insurance company now was in receivership and "to the best of plaintiff's (FDIC) knowledge, said collateral has no value at this time."

The FDIC also is seeking 8 1/2 per cent interest to the maturity date of last Jan. 5, 10 per cent interest until the loan is paid, and 10 per cent of the total principal and interest as collection fees.

Mutscher has acknowledged he made a profit on an initial transaction involving the insurance company stock but has said he later lost $250,000 on another transaction.

The SEC action in Dallas also alleges that Sharp sought to influence Texas officials to support proposed state banking bills which later were vetoed by Gov. Preston Smith.

GEORGE W. SCOTT... hotel president

Scott Is Named Head Of Pampa Hotel Company

Crawford Atkinson resigned yesterday as president of the Community Hotel Co. of Pampa and George W. Scott was elected by the board of directors to succeed him.

Atkinson's resignation was submitted with his statement that pressing business prevented giving sufficient time to the job.

The board went on record expressing appreciation for his service as president during the past 12 months.

Scott assumed his new responsibilities immediately and pledged his efforts to the hotel in providing the best of service to stockholders and Pampa citizens.

The board of directors also heard reports on operations and suggestions for improvements at the hotel, including the refurbishing of rooms and public facilities.

A nominating committee comprised of Frank Culbertson, chairman, Clinton Evans and Mrs. Donna Cornutt, was pointed to prepare a list of 16 names to appear on a ballot from which eight directors will be elected by stockholders. They will serve 3-year terms.

Terms of the following directors expire this year: George Scott, G.B. Cree Jr., F.E. Imel, Jim Nation, Lee Fraser, Kirk Duncan, Dr. R.M. Bellamy and Dr. M.C. Overton Jr.

Ike Silver Coin Sale May Reach Over $100 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government hopes to earn more than $100 million from sale of the Eisenhower silver dollar, making it the most profitable U.S. coin ever minted. It also may be the last made of silver.

The profit will be stretched out over several years as the U.S. Mint disposes of some 150 million Ike silver dollars to collectors and others interested in buying it at a premium.

Mary T. Brooks, director of the mint, says she hopes the sale will net the Treasury well in excess of $100 million, although she said she can provide no exact profit estimate.

"It goes to the taxpayer, right into the Treasury," she said. "The mint isn't trying to make any money."

The silver dollar, first minted in the United States since 1935, is being sold at two prices to the public—$3 for mass proposed uncirculated coins and $10 for the highly polished, high-relief proof coin.

According to Mrs. Brooks, orders for the silver coin bearing the likeness of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower "are coming in by the millions."

"We hope to make $1 each on the uncirculated dollar," she said. The mint plans to strike 130 million of those.

She would give no estimate of profit—or loss—on the $10 proof coins, which are minted by hand, polished with diamond dust, and sealed in a plastic case.

"We're very modest in our prices on our proof coins," she said. "A proof coin we sell for $5 here goes for $12 and $15 overseas."

In the past, the Treasury has picked up no more than $4 million a year from its proof-coin sales. And, the total profit last year on both proof and uncirculated coins for collectors was about $9 million.

The Eisenhower proof dollar should double in value quickly, Mrs. Brooks said, with the uncirculated dollar coin, doubling in value in five years.

She said it probably will be the last silver coin ever minted in the United States.

The Ike silver dollar is a limited issue. The mint hopes to start mass-producing this fall the Eisenhower copper-nickel dollar designed for general circulation, and to discourage collecting of the copper-nickel coin, the mint plans to strike an unlimited number.

AUG. 21 MAGIC DATE

Nixon And Top Aides To Discuss Creation Of Wage-Price Board

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is widening belief in the administration that September 21 is the magic date for a turnabout in President Nixon's anti-inflation policy.

On that day Nixon will discuss with his 18-member National Commission on Productivity a recommendation for creating some form of wage-price review board—or perhaps separate boards for basic segments of industry.

The meeting was mentioned by Nixon at his Aug. 4 news conference. He emphasized he would reject any wage-price control proposal that would invite "a new bureaucracy with enormous criminal powers to fasten itself on the American economy." He said he had never seen a control plan without that flaw.

But Nixon still left open the way to adoption of a purely voluntary program for reviewing pending major wage settlements and price decisions. Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur F. Burns has been plugging for such an "incomes policy" for months.

The commission will look at industries in which major negotiations are pending, Nixon said, "and in addition to that we will consider a recommendation on wage-price boards."

Nixon's avowed skepticism that any workable stabilization policy can be achieved by persuasion led many congressmen to express doubt that the proposal would get beyond the debate stage.

But now a number of officials are convinced a White House decision for greater price-wage intervention has been all but made in principle, and that only the scale and structure of the effort remain in question.

"I don't believe the President would have mentioned the Productivity Commission in this connection unless he was preparing to raise some recommendations with them," one ranking administration official said.

An abrupt reversal of position by Secretary of the Treasury

John B. Connally was cited by another source as convincing evidence of a new official line. When Nixon named Connally his chief economic spokesman late in June, Connally told newsmen at the White House: "He (Nixon) isn't going to institute a wage-price review board. He isn't going to impose mandatory wage and price controls. He isn't going to ask Congress for any tax relief. He isn't going to increase fiscal spending."

Yet on Aug. 4, when 13 Republican senators broke with administration policy and introduced a bill to create a wage-price review board, Connally issued a two-page statement saying the administration welcomed "a full-fledged debate" in Congress on the issue.

Nixon said the slipping competitiveness of U.S. industry, as exemplified by the recent steel wage settlement—and the immediate steel price boost of 8 per cent—was a basic cause of his increased concern over inflation.

Civil Rights Commission Blasts Nixon's Policy On School Busing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Civil Rights Commission says school-desegregation efforts may be seriously undermined by President Nixon's policy that busing should be used only as a last resort.

"What the nation needed was a call to duty and responsibility for the immediate elimination of the dual school system, and for support of all those school officials who are faithfully carrying out their legal obligations," said the commission, headed by the Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, president of the University of Notre Dame.

President Nixon this week directed federal agencies to work toward desegregation wherever possible without resort to busing.

"Unfortunately, the President's statement almost certainly will have... the effect of undermining the desegregation effort," the commission said.

"The President does not offer an alternative to implement the desegregation of the nation's schools. Had he presented an effective alternative, the statement would have found acceptance among those who have waited 17 years after the Supreme Court decision (on school desegregation) to see the law of the land implemented."

The commission said effects of Nixon's Aug. 3 antibusing statement on the Austin, Tex., school desegregation case will be to erode the position of school administrators who have put themselves on the line to implement the law.

Nixon said at that time that he favors no more busing than required by law.

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, meanwhile, announced in Montgomery he was ordering the transfer of a white student who had been assigned to a predominantly black school 22 miles from her home.

He said he was trying to "help the President carry out his wishes." Wallace asked Nixon to join him in ignoring court orders for desegregation "if he is against busing, as he says he is."

The commission said busing has become an emotion-laden word—meaning more than just a mode of transportation.

"What is at issue in this matter," it said, "is not to use the President's phrases—busing for the sake of busing or even busing solely for racial balance. The major issue is the kind of education available at the end of the trip."

HYANNIS, Mass. (AP) — Acting in response to a complaint filed by a lawyer for Rose Kennedy, owners of two firms that take tourists on boat tours of Hyannis harbor have agreed to turn off their loudspeakers when passing the Kennedy compound.

A Secret Service agent complained to the owners of one of the firms that the voice of the tour guide carried across the water even though the boat was a mile off shore.

The agent also complained that a guide had given vivid descriptions of the assassinations of Mrs. Kennedy's sons, President John F. Kennedy and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

the bills, the sources said. Sharp owned controlling interest in the bank at the time.

Barnes' office acknowledged that there had been a loan but denied that it was in any way connected with the bill.

That loan his offices aid, was made in January 1970 and was repaid fully five months later.

"It was just a personal loan," sources close to Barnes said.

Radio and Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Reaction to 1971's most controversial television program continues with no middle ground: Viewers either love it or hate it. But any resemblance between the character of Archie Bunker of CBS' "All in the Family" and the veteran actor who plays him, Carroll O'Connor, is purely physical.

Archie is the embodiment of all the prejudices that have come to mean bigotry and racism. His appearance in a television series has been hailed on one side as healthy exposure while others suggest that he reinforces the narrow minded.

O'Connor won his bachelor's degree from the National University of Ireland, and his master's from the University of Montana. While his politics are liberal, his outlook generally is liberal and cosmopolitan.

"I'm not a member of any political party," O'Connor said, almost reluctantly. "I really don't care much for politics, and I just don't know what words like 'conservative' and 'liberal' mean anymore."

When Roosevelt was president, a lot of people thought that a liberal was pro-labor, pro-welfare and wanted to take care of people and a 'conservative' was pro big business and anti-welfare. Now it is all mixed up."

O'Connor, rehearsing for one of next season's "All in the Family" episodes added: "I grew up in New York. I never heard Archie's kind of talk in my own family. Mine was a family of teachers—my mother, an aunt and an uncle. My father was a lawyer and was in partnership with two Jews, who with their families were close to us. There were two black families in our circle of friends. My father disliked talk like Archie's—he called it the hallmark of ignorance."

Youth Committee To Hold Meeting

A Youth Advisory committee meeting is scheduled for 10 a.m. Monday at the Scout Service Center, 815 N. Banks, according to James Beistle, Post 112, youth coordinator.

The group will draw up a plan for a program planning conference slated for October.

Object of the group is to bring vitality of the program to potential coordinators.

Beistle said investigating interest among potential coordinators will promote greater Scouting opportunities for more youth.

Explorers from the Texas Pampa handle and Oklahoma Panhandle are expected to participate in the new promotional program.

Should Car Drivers Be Required To Use Color-Coded License Plates Identifying Their Driving Skill?

NEW YORK (AP) — Should automobile drivers be required to use color-coded license plates that identify them as good, poor or potentially dangerous drivers?

An Indiana professor who suggests the system be tried claims that several friends are dead "because they made average responses to situations where the cars around them were operated by much below average drivers."

He concludes: "They would be alive now if they had a chance to see in advance what they were really up against."

Should installment credit rates be determined by the risk the borrower represents instead of being regulated at about the same percentage for all?

A New York professor thinks it would cut down the number of deadbeats who don't pay, and he believes it would also make the industry more responsible in granting credit to those who might not be able to handle it.

These are two novel suggestions for old, old problems that have defied conventional thinking and which have, meanwhile, run up a toll in personal and financial tragedy.

Modern societies are overloaded with situations such as these that seem only to get worse.

Dr. Richard N. Farmer, professor of international business at Indiana University finds it odd that license plates identify the automobile but tell nothing about the driver. "We are all anonymous to our fellow drivers," he says.

Farmers proposes that each driver be issued reflective plates with magnets attached. "No moving vehicle would be legal without these plates attached front and rear. The proper plates would belong to the driver, not the vehicle."

He would color-code them red, yellow, green and blue. In the red category would be "dangerous drivers, including all categories of persons who might reasonably be expected to be dangerous on the road."

To get out off the red category, he suggests, "a person would have to demonstrate that he deserved it. Such evidence would consist of usual driving tests, physical examinations, a clean moving violators record and similar evidence."

Prof. David Caplovitz says that the price of credit based on a borrower's credit rating. This, he said, would encourage the granting of credit to obviously poor risks and would encourage prompt payment.

State High Court To Act On Redistricting

AUSTIN (AP) — Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert said today the court would act quickly on a case challenging the new House districts drawn by 1971 legislature.

The attorney general is appealing Dist. Judge Herman Jones' decision that the redistricting act violates the Texas Constitution.

"This case can be heard and will be heard within 48 hours after the appeal has been per-fectured in this court if it is an emergency matter, and I assume it is," Calvert said at a news conference.

"I think I can safely say that once the case is orally argued we can give them a decision within not more than 10 days or two weeks," Calvert added.

He said he had spoken with Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin about the appeal Wednesday.

"I think he said it is unlikely they will be ready before Sept. 1," Calvert said.

Jones ruled Aug. 2 that the House redistricting plan was unconstitutional because it unnecessarily split some counties between two or more legislative districts.

Woman, 30, Selected To Run For President In '72 Election

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Socialist Workers party announced today that a 30-year-old woman will be its 1972 presidential candidate and a 20-year-old black man will be her running mate.

Neither of the candidates—Linda Jenness of Atlanta, Ga., and Andrew Pulley of Chicago—meets the constitutional requirement that presidential and vice presidential candidates must be 35 years old.

Referring to the age requirement, Mrs. Jenness said: "Let me assure you if a majority of the people elect me as president, they will see I am put in office."

The two were chosen by a national committee of the leftist organization in February and formal adoption of the ticket was made by party delegates in Cleveland Wednesday.

In speeches prepared for delivery at a rally later today, the two candidates attacked policies of the two major political parties, they also announced their support for planned antiwar demonstrations Nov. 6 in several cities as well as rallies Nov. 20 in Washington and San Francisco for repeal of abortion laws.

Mrs. Jenness was the party's candidate for mayor in Atlanta in 1969 and ran for governor of Georgia in 1970.

Pulley was a leader in a military antiwar group, GI's United Against the War, the party said, and served 60 days in a military stockade in an Army crackdown against the organization. In 1970, he ran for Congress in California's 7th Congressional District.

David Selner of Cleveland, a party spokesman, said the Socialist Workers party's philosophy "is basically different" from that of the Socialist Labor Party "because we have to participate in the on-going struggle for social justice."

He said the Labor party had not joined with the Workers' party in "the current radicalization of youth" and "in building the women's liberation movement and other movements on campus."

Selner said most of the party's support has come from the young, but that it expected to gain support from older voters because of the stand on issues such as the war.

The party drew 55,000 votes for its 1968 presidential slate.

ROSEBURG, Ore. (AP) — Someone apparently has kidnapped a baby goat from the herd which forecasts the weather for this southern Oregon city.

Sheriff's deputies have been looking for the kid since a resident reported Wednesday that she saw a young man carrying the animal away from the herd of seven on nearby 1,200-foot Mt. Hebo.

Roseburg residents check the weather by watching the goats through binoculars. If they're near the top of the mountain, it means fair weather, but if they stay at the bottom or go back down after going up, it generally means rain.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A cofounder of the Black Economic Development Conference, just back from a visit to North Vietnam, says the North has adopted a policy of trying not to fight black American soldiers.

Muhamma dKenyatta was part of a three-member delegation that spent last month in Southeast Asia. He attributed the statement of policy to North Vietnamese officials.

CHICAGO (AP)—Family vacationers traveling by automobile this summer will do about 57 per cent of their driving on the interstate highway system and they will cover more miles in less time than it took 10 years ago.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my husband. We have been married for 10 years and have three children, ages 4 through 9.

My husband will not discipline the children. It is all left up to me. The only time he will do any correcting is if I am not at home. I work in a factory, eight hours a day, five days a week, and I am tired when I get home. When the kids fight among themselves, I yell at them, then my husband gets mad at me for yelling at the kids, but if they are fighting and I ask him to make them stop he says, "Leave me alone."

Now he tells me he can't stand my yelling at the kids all the time, and if I don't quit it, he is going to move out of the house.

I love him and want him to be happy, but I'm being pulled between knowing the kids need to be yelled at, and trying to keep my husband home. Please help me.

DEAR GLENDALE: If I'm unable to do justice to the meal in a restaurant, I ask for a doggie bag, and I have no qualms. (I also have no dog, and the leftovers are delicious!)

DEAR ABBY: Below is a letter I have just received from my daughter-in-law, who is old enough to know better.

Dear Mother: I am writing to thank you for a belated birthday gift you sent your only grandchild, Andrew. It was very nice of you to have sent such a generous gift, but I wish to express my feelings about your tardiness in sending gifts. I can understand a slip-up in the mails occasionally, but even that is no excuse for you, as you have nothing in the world to do but amuse yourself, and you are constantly shopping for yourself, so buying a gift well in advance of a special occasion should be no big chore.

I notice that when you send your son (my husband) a gift, it always arrives on time, but all gifts to me and Andrew trail in late, which makes a birthday gift rather pointless when it arrives after the birthday. I think it is better to convey my true feelings to you than to feel this way and remain silent.

Well, Abby, there it is. I am still in shock. What would you do about such a letter?

HER MOTHER-IN-LAW
DEAR MOTHER-IN-LAW: I would ignore it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO CON-
NIE: The biggest problem in the world could have been solved when it was small. What are you waiting for?

POLLY'S POINTERS Decorative Buttons Replace Cuff Links

DEAR POLLY—For a birthday gift my sister gave me a blouse that needed cuff links and I had none. I found that four decorative buttons and string work fine. Find four matching buttons that will be pretty with your dress or blouse and with shanks on the backs. Make sure they are of a size that will easily slip through the buttonholes. Slip the string through the shanks of two buttons, tie it so the buttons are about 1/2-inch apart and snip off the ends. Do the same with the other two buttons. Push them through the holes from the inside and rave beautiful cuff links.

SALLY

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY—What can I do to keep our fish pond clean? We clean it about three times a year but it soon becomes muddy-looking again.

—M.E.

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is with the offer that is often on cereal boxes stating one can buy a toy for a certain price with proof of purchase seals and so on. I have two children and the offer often expires before we can save enough of such seals, tops or whatever, which disappoints the children. Please, manufacturers, lengthen the time of such offers so there will not be so many disappointed kids.

—MRS. C.L.

DEAR POLLY—Gladys really does not need to remove those snap fasteners that will not close on her children's pants.

Take a pair of tweezers and bend the prongs on the prong sockets. This works wonders.

—SUSANNA

DEAR POLLY—Gladys, who has trouble with snap fasteners colsing after washing her children's clothes, might try my method as I do not think she can remove them without damage to the fabric. She could try taking a hammer and pounding a bit on the protruding portion of the snap. This flattens it some and the "head" expands enough to snap tightly. I always found this worked beautifully on tots' gripper snaps.

—BETTY

An Australian seaman recently recounted a tale of service during World War II. It seems that sailors in the U.S. Navy always had more nicely faded Levi's that those of his Australian shipmates. Bleach being at a premium, only American sailors were able to get their hands on "the great whiteners," while he had to rely on the elements — salt water and sun — to do the job.

Suits will enjoy a rebirth. We applaud new interpretations making much of the bolero or the short jacket, both indicating the natural waist, and often topping the scissor-pleated skirts or culottes.

The tuxedo look is strong, both in daytime and evening versions, even the long skirted costumes. You'll find this both in dress and pantsuit concept.

Astrology Parties Offer Ideas For Fall Celebration

No matter what occasion you're celebrating with a party this fall, the astrology fad, stronger than ever, fits right in. Birthday, anniversary, post-honeymoon bash, or just plain hijinks, you can make the Zodiac a fun theme because everyone has a sign and enjoys talking about it. If you can't remember your astrological sign there are plenty of paperbacks to freshen your memory.

First, get your bar in order under the "refreshment" sign. After a summer's outdoor wear and-tear check the state of your icebucket and glassware. Now that the season of long, cold drinks is over be sure you have short glasses for the sippers, the people who enjoy the flavor of vodka on the rocks, for instance. A fine Polish vodka such as Wyborowa tastes like an already-mixed dry martini, with an olive in it, and is sipped very cold or on the rocks. This is a good way not to have to mix up batches of martinis when you're a harried hostess. And according to the makers of another luxury spirit great for sipping, Wild Turkey bourbon, small on-the-rocks or straight down the hatch glasses are preferable without false, heavy glass bottoms. A straight-sided shot glass or old-fashioned glass is best because this luxury 101-proof Kentucky bourbon, as an example, is so smooth it goes down very easily; if the eye sees a true measure it is simpler to judge 'sipping speed.'

Now go to work with stencils, black crayon and silver artist's paper cutting out quarter moons, stars, comets and planets to suspend mobile-style. Use a dark blue cloth scattered with silver stars for your buffet table or make one of crepe paper. Fashion pintags for each sign of the zodiac and include a major characteristic, thus: Sagittarius — enthusiastic; Pisces — clever; and so on. Inquire birth months at the door as guests arrive.

JEANE DIXON Your Horoscope

SATURDAY, AUG. 14
Your Birthday Saturday: Being out an external crisis becomes almost a hobby this year. You get so accustomed to mobilizing inner strength that it prevails and thrives well. The keys to any success are your regular meditations and prayer. Saturday's natives include enthusiastic fishermen and missionary types.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Saturday is a poor market for your shemes. Perhaps you haven't made the details clear enough or perhaps the proposal you offer is entirely too clear.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): To the bold and active go the gains from Saturday's scramble. You have a better than average chance. Speak up early! Whatever you learn must be applied quickly.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): State your views firmly, submit questions and assume part of the responsibilities for updating the situation.

CANCER (June 21-July 21): It isn't quite your turn yet, though probably you are urged to start something new. Be the first to get in on a brilliant scheme.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Person affairs thrive, become so alive and busy they may displace career effort, regular work altogether. Pursue romantic attractions from economic reality. It's possible, but not very probable that you can discard financial considerations successfully for a while.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23): Life glides so smoothly that you are tempted to let it do so. Be sure you have prepared adequately for Sunday and haven't missed some subtle turn.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): The steady fast and systematic succeed Saturday while those who rush in and demand instant results are disappointed, stir incoherence for all.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): There is no probability of winning an argument. See that you are not provocative, back away for the moment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): An arrangement of local environmental condition ends. Take advantage of the changes to shift your own position.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): If hair promises given now come true, it'll be a grand weekend. You have to pitch in and help.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Expenses rise in odd guise of coincidence. Children, young people in general contribute both problems and a share in their solution.

Quotable Quotes From U.S. Women

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"I did what I thought was right."—Paulette Morin, 22-year-old student, who tore down an anti-Nixon placard and argued with an anti-Nixon group during the President's trip to Maine.

"Students, women, minority groups and many, many disillusioned older white voters are looking for new blood—somebody who can look at the problems we are faced with differently."—Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., who says she has received favorable reactions to her announcement she might run for president.

"All people are consumers. It's no longer the other fellow who has to worry about how to spend his pennies."—Bess Myerson, New York City commissioner of consumer affairs.

"If we have to take these people out of jail ourselves, we will take them out."—Bernadette Devlin, Catholic member of the British Parliament from Northern Ireland, on the internment of suspected members of the Irish Republican Army.

"Living is fun and learning is living. The big thing they're teaching in college now is that a degree doesn't mean anything if you stop learning."—Kathryn Crosby, in an interview.

"I'd like to have my music interest people more in learning about the American Indian. I often find many people from other countries know more about Indians than people here."—Hote Casella, who gives concerts of Indian music.

LifeStyles Turn To Modern Look

It's a mood, a life style more than a color or a shape or design. Modern means bold slashes of color. Modern means the search for purity of native craftsmanship. Modern means man's relationship to a technological environment. Modern means smooth forms, an escape from today's reality.

These are some of the many facets of modern. The uses for modern area rugs are as diverse as the moods.

The smooth, clean look of modern furniture is a natural complement to the modern rug — either the tubular look of chrome or the free floating forms of plastic modules. But the graceful, traditional piece... these are the tactics that bring forth the drama of the new look in rugs.

ZION LUTHERAN CHURCH

Rev. Melvin G. Herring

"ALL TOGETHER NOW PRAISE THE LORD" Hey there, Christian, I almost didn't recognize you with that mournful expression. You blend in with the crowd so well. I don't expect you to be different physically. Eyes, ears, nose, mouth, legs, arms, different shades of skin coloring that's standard equipment. Clothing bell-bottoms, grey flannel, mini, midi, maxi that's standard equipment. Problems, misfortune, illness-again, standard equipment. You look like everyone else. But you're supposed to be different. You're supposed to be full of joy-JOYFUL. I am not putting you on. There was a man named Luke, who a number of years ago wrote, "I have GOOD NEWS for you. A great joy will come to all people: the Savior, who is Christ, the Lord, was born for you today in David's town." (Luke 2:10-11)

Another writer named Peter put it this way, "You don't see Him now, but you believe in Him. And a joy, unspeakable and wonderful, fills you with delight as you get what by faith you're looking for-salvation." (1 Peter 1:8). Then there was Nehemiah's quote, "The joy of the Lord is your strength" (Nehemiah 8:10) And let's not forget Brother Paul of Tarsus, "The Kingdom of God is... joy in the Holy Spirit." (Romans 14:17)

Don't take my word for it... open your Bible and read about the local, national, and international situation in Bible times. You'll wonder what they had to be so joyful about... And yet they were.

Well, here we are back to today. Open your newspaper, turn on your radio, watch your television-it looks like a repeat performance. It's a pretty sick world we live in-and even though many times we doubt it-God is still in control.

Believe, my friend, that JESUS CHRIST IS ALIVE AND WELL. THAT HE CARES FOR AND LOVES YOU. HE'S YOUR REASON TO BE JOYFUL. ALL TOGETHER NOW - PRAISE THE LORD AND ONCE AGAIN, PRAISE THE LORD!

"Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ" -Romans 5:1

Court Decisions On Texas School Desegregation Less Than Uniform

By GODFREY ANDERSON
 Associated Press Writer

With some classes due to start only 10 days from now, the desegregation of public schools in Texas was mired in even greater confusion this weekend.

Court decisions seemed less than uniform and to some it looked like Washington headed several ways at once.

Judges in Dallas, Corpus Christi and Tyler agreed that Mexican-Americans were a distinct ethnic minority. A fourth federal judge in Houston decided they were not.

Some decisions of federal judges have been stayed, overruled or reinstated by higher courts. In one case, U.S. Dist. Judge William M. Taylor Jr. of Dallas voluntarily stayed his own motion ordering busing after taking time out for reflection—"away from the hue and cry" as he expressed it.

With busing a key issue, President Nixon said he will ask Congress to prohibit the use of federal funds for that purpose. That means the school districts must pick up the whole tab. Schools Supt. George Carver said this will cost Houston alone almost $60,000 a year.

Nixon wants school desegregation carried out wherever possible without busing youngsters long distances from their homes, according to White House officials. And he has warned federal agencies that heads will fall if his wishes are not carried out, the same sources said.

With the U.S. Supreme Court supporting busing and Department of Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Elliot Richardson saying HEW has no program to "support, promote or require" busing to achieve racial balance, Texas officials are confused.

Dallas Mayor Wes Wise sought a meeting with the President which he comes to Dallas to address the Veterans of Foreign Wars Aug. 19. In doing so, he openly wondered if the President "is so insulated, he is not getting good information" on the busing issue.

Austin Schools Supt. Jack Davidson was quoted as saying "Man in White House speak with forked tongue."

Eight Texas school districts were ordered by HEW in mid-June to comply with the Supreme Court's last ruling and remove "last vestiges" of dual systems by start of the new school year.

The eight were Amarillo, Big Spring, Corsicana, Goose Creek, Grand Prairie, Marshall, West Orange Cove and Victoria. The Justice Department has said it will not take the eight to court unless asked to do so by HEW.

The Justice Department is plaintiff in other cases in Austin, Corpus Christi, Midland and Odessa. It was not involved in the Dallas case, where the plaintiffs were 21 parents of minority pupils who alleged there was still discrimination in the city schools. Judge Taylor upheld them and produced his own desegregation plan when the school board failed to offer one he thought acceptable.

Although some judicial decisions are under appeal and could yet be overturned before school opening day, most school boards hope to keep scheduled starting dates. But Dallas put back opening two weeks to Sept. 7, and Corpus Christi postponed start of the school year until Sept. 1.

AUSTIN: The proposed compulsory busing plan of HEW was rejected by U.S. Dist. Judge Jack Roberts, who favored a plan submitted by the Austin school board. HEW is now appealing the judge's decision to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

DALLAS: Judge Taylor stayed until Jan. 10 his own ruling which would have involved the cross-town busing of some 14,500 high school pupils. But he ordered the school board to go ahead with integrating facilities on a 75-to 25 per cent white-to-black basis and arranging for television confrontations of classes at the elementary level.

Meanwhile, school board vice president Eugene Smith proposed a constitutional amendment which would establish autonomy in local school districts for their own affairs.

"I've been told the odds are a million to one for passing such an amendment, but I've enjoyed tackling other impossible jobs before, sometimes with a degree of success," he said.

HOUSTON: Schools open Aug. 25 under the same plan as last year and Mexican-American leaders have said they will have their children boycott classes and attend "huelga" or strike schools as they did then. Last year some 3,000 Mexican-American children attended such schools until court intervention.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The values of a friendship outweighed the cost of three chickens, so Police Court Judge Glenn McDonald dug into his own pocket to reach a settlement between two neighbors.

Palestino Rodriguez had been charged by his neighbor, Ernest J. Harlan, with stealing the chickens. The judge asked how long the men had been friends. They said 15 years. He paid $6 for the chickens and the two friends left the courtroom together.

GREENSBORO, Ind. (AP) — Some 40 dairy cows invaded this small Indiana town Wednesday.

The cows broke loose from the Arnold Underhill farm, marched a half-mile along a highway, lumbered through the center of town and turned south on Main Street.

Volunteer firemen, farmers and some of the town's 500 residents rounded up most of the cows after about two hours.

There was no apparent damage, but sanitary engineers weren't talking.

People In The News

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon was joined by several of his top staff members for a Tuesday night cruise on the Potomac River and it appeared to be a political gathering.

With him on the yacht Sequoia were Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and Henry Dent, Nixon's special counsel. The presence of the two indicated the cruise may have been political since Mitchell was Nixon's 1968 campaign manager and Dent is one of the President's top political advisers.

Others on hand included Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's chief adviser on national security affairs and evangelist Billy Graham, a personal friend.

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Singer Tom Jones as denied charges that he gave a professional boxer a beating.

Jones denied in Circuit Court any knowledge of the alleged dispute with Michael J. Maret of Miami Beach, Fla., which allegedly took place after a singing engagement at the Dane County Coliseum here June 7.

Maret, a boxer, is seeking $60,000 in damages for his alleged injuries.

SHELburne, Mass. (AP) — Comedian Bill Cosby has bought a 15-room home only 20 miles from Amherst where Cosby plans to enter the University of Massachusetts School of Education this fall.

Cosby, 34, originally said he planned to give up show business for a teaching career, but later said he will do some television specials and other projects.

He and his family are expected to move into the home about Sept. 1.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Darryl F. Zanuck, the 66-year-old founder of the 20th Century-Fox movie studio has been sued by his long-estranged wife over a 1957 financial settlement.

GI's Estimates Of Drug Users In Viet Far Exceed Reported Findings

NARD GAVER
Associated Press Writers
SAIGON (AP) — The Military Police sergeant looked us over, his eyes shaded by his shiny helmet liner.

"You wondering if these guys turn on with scag?" he asked, and then answered the question himself: "Climb in, I'll show you around. I'll point them out."

We were in Newport, the port area which is the largest remaining American logistics installation in Saigon. A half-dozen U.S. flag ocean-going freighters were unloading at docks lining the Saigon River.

We visited Newport because on the previous evening at the Starlight Bar in Saigon's gaudy Hai Ba Trung Street, a GI from Tennessee told us about Newport.

"We all use the stuff openly there," he claimed. "The officers are on it; the MPs are on it. Come out tomorrow and I'll show you around."

We met the friendly MP inside the gates. We climbed into the back seat of his jeep, discreetly out of view. We got the tour.

"See those guys that just walked in the gate?" the MP escort asked. It was a group of young GIs in wrinkled tropical fatigues, and they kicked at the dust with their toes.

"I'll bet you they've got heroin vials on them. But you know something—why should I bust them? They are probably either on the amnesty program, or will go on the program if I bust them anyway. I'll have to bust nearly everyone in the place, and who the hell wants that?" our MP guide asked.

As our jeep swung on the main dock, we asked him, "But how many of the guys do you figure are on the stuff?"

He pondered the question briefly. "We have about 300 people here, on dock loading supervision, on maintenance. I'd say 200 are using something or other, and nearly 100 are on scag, on heroin, on the hard stuff," he said.

His estimates far exceed the reported findings of various investigators. In the first two days of a program to screen GIs being sent home, 7 to 9 per cent showed evidence of using heroin. The figure later dropped to 3 to 5 per cent. On the basis of several questionnaire studies, a congressional mission figured 15 per cent were using heroin. There are about a quarter-million American servicemen in Vietnam.

"Look," our guide told us. "Many of the MPs, my own guys, are on the stuff. There are officers on it, I know them. I'll point them out..."

The jeep turned onto a pier where the "Seatrain Florida" out of New York, and the "Rappahannock" were moored.

"No one ever checks what goes up the gangways into those ships," said our guide. "The crews could be taking tons of scag back to the states maybe they are."

We swung off the docks into a stretch of roadway alongside a high wire security fence. The tumbled shacks of an outer Saigon suburb seemed to be pressing like the sea against the fence.

"Stick around here after lunch, this is where the guys come to use the stuff. They trickle over here in twos and threes. They want a little privacy to turn on."

Later our jeep pulled up outside the main mess hall, a one-story prefab shimmering in the heat. "Just look at them," said our MP guide as two soldiers stepped out of the mess hall door. "What do you think?" he asked.

The two were heavy-lidded, sluggish. They stopped to take deep breaths. They swayed on their feet. "They ain't been on booze," our guide said knowingly.

As another group of GIs came outside they were joined by a fresh-faced young lieutenant smoking a pipe. They gathered around him familiarly. "That guy started on the pipe a month ago; we think he has heroin in it, but then what do you do?" our guide said.

"But where does the heroin all come from?" we asked, and the MP said, "Just look outside the gate, at those Coke stands and fruit stands a few hundred yards up the road. They were moved from our gates after some bad publicity, but they are still there... The police arrest a few sometime and beat them up to please us, but some one always replaces them."

We walked over to the guard box at the entrance to the maintenance compound. We poked our heads inside the stuffy little room and a young dark haired youth blearily looked up.

"How are you kid?" we asked. His lips moved but the words that came out were incoherent.

He had a loaded M16 automatic weapon in the box with him.

He's never off drugs, our guide told us.

Heroin Pipeline To Viet Begins From Laos Perfect Opium Town

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following dispatch, which profiles a heroin-processing center in Laos, is by an Associated Press reporting team which has been studying drug traffic in and around Vietnam.

By PETER ARNETT and BERNARD GAVER
Associated Press Writers
BAN HOUEI SAI, Laos (AP) — The heroin pipeline to Vietnam begins here—a sleepy Mekong River town with a single dusty street and a deceptive air of innocence.

With the Mekong River swirling on one side, the steep, jungle mountains rising on the other, little Ban Houei Sai sits remote and seemingly lost amid the geographic jigsaw puzzle that has China, Burma, Thailand and Laos all meeting within a few miles.

It was this distant location that made Ban Houei Sai a perfect opium town. Not even the decade-long Laos war intervenes. Bombs fall and bullets crack on the other side of Laos, near Vietnam. Here in western Laos the air is still and peaceful.

Narcotics agents of half a dozen nations point to Ban Houei Sai as a major opium and heroin center. You fly in by chartered plane from the Laotian capital of Vientiane 400 miles to the southwest, expecting to find a small industrial town.

But not one chimney is smoking. There is only the steady splashing of the river as it slips at the boat landing where ferries run across to Thailand at the opposite bank only a mile away.

The suggestion that human misery is manufactured here seems ridiculous.

Yet you know that the intelligence appraisals of half a dozen countries cannot all be wrong. The evidence begins to accumulate.

There are the Meo tribespeople, milling around the marketplace, who grow the opium poppies. They scrape off the sap to sell to itinerant Chinese traders, who pass it on to the rebel military bands. The bands annually assemble large caravans of pack mules to carry the opium to Ban Houei Sai.

American officials in Vientiane said big caravans pulled into the hills north of Ban Houei Sai in April and May of this year, unloading tons of raw opium.

A Chinese store in town offered evidence of what the local industry is—rows of neatly molded bronze opium weights measuring up to half a pound and shaped like ducks and guardian lions, used by traders to measure the Meo harvests.

The largest heroin refinery in all of Southeast Asia was in a village at the edge of the town, according to a report by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency. It was capable of processing 100 kilos of raw opium a day into heroin, a production great enough to provide the total estimated demand by American GIs in Vietnam. The white powder is smuggled in kilo packs across the river to Thailand on its way to Vietnam. A kilo is 2.2 pounds.

But where was the refinery? Blank stares greet inquiries among the local population, but there is mention of a sawmill along the rutted road outside of town and our American informants had told us a sawmill was used as a cover for the heroin plant.

Great teak logs were being mangled with chain saws at the mill, and smoke curled up from charcoal kilns. The workers were friendly enough but they ignored our inquiries about heroin.

We hitched a sampan ride to the thatched roof village of Ban Houei Tap a few hundred yards further on across a stream. The refinery was reportedly in that village but all we saw was a dog stretched in sleep in the hot noon sun, and a sarong-clad woman who giggled from a doorway and offered to sell us a plastic vial of blue stones which she claimed were sapphires dredged from the river.

We headed back into town. But as our chartered aircraft rose from the airstrip we directed the pilot give us an aerial look at Ban Houei Tap.

And there was the refinery, or what was left of it, nestled halfway up a small hill above a stream, a discreet path leading to it from the village half a mile away. But the three buildings used to house the apparatus and store the dope seemed burned to ashes, and only the foundations were standing. Foxholes dug around the jungle clearing were unoccupied.

We asked our American informants in Vientiane if it had all been an optical illusion. "No," we were told. "The Chinese who control this stuff deliberately burned that refinery down last week—you might say one result of our pressure. But they moved out all the apparatus and the dope before the fire, and are now in business in the village of Ban Quang a few miles upriver," the Americans said.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — If Gov. George C. Wallace decides to run for president next year, he may test his strength by entering some presidential primaries.

Emphasizing that "no decision has been made," Wallace told a news conference Wednesday that primaries in Florida, North Carolina and Tennessee "are being given consideration."

He said one factor in his decision to again become a third-party candidate would be the issue of school busing to achieve integration.

Russians Praise American Hippie

MOSCOW (AP) — In official Soviet eyes, the American hippie is a promoter of peace and international friendship.

But the Soviet hippie is a bum.

Soviet television screens have shown American policemen brandishing nightsticks in breaking up antiwar demonstrations by long-haired demonstrators.

The KGB, or secret police, don't like Russian hippies even when they want to protest "the imperialist (American) aggression in Vietnam."

The story is told of a Moscow hippie leader named Solnyshko, or Little Sun.

"He thought up the idea of joining with our hippie friends in the West," an informant said.

"Solnyshko told his friends that the local trade union council had given the okay for the demonstration, maybe to persuade those of his friends who were less inclined to invoke the anger of the police."

"Anyway on June 1, about 150 Moscow hippies gathered near Red Square. Their plan was to march up Gertzen Street to the American Embassy."

"They got started with Solnyshko leading them and carrying a placard that read 'Make love not war' in English."

"But when they turned into Gertzen a detachment of militia and KGB were waiting for them!"

Saved By Helmet

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Patrolman Jimmie Jones says his helmet saved him from a bare-headed collision—with another helmet.

Jones said he was wearing his helmet while operating a traffic light control when a telephone lineman dropped his hardhat.

"It hit me squarely on the head and almost knocked me down," said Jones, whose only complaint was a slight headache.

Crashing Noise

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Residents of a Lafayette neighborhood said they heard a loud crashing noise overnight and in the morning saw the remains of a television set scattered on the lawn at the home of Rita Page.

Miss Page said she got angry at something she saw on television and heaved the set through a window.

You Never Look Behind Or Someone Is Gaining

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

There is a famous philosophy credited to Satchel Paige that advises you never to look behind because someone might be gaining.

But the Baltimore Orioles, leading the American League's East Division by a comfortable eight games, might be tempted to take a peek over their shoulders anyway. There are interesting things going on back there.

For example, there is Detroit's Mickey Lolich, hidden by the Vida Blue excitement all season, but suddenly on the threshold of 20 victories for Detroit.

And then, there are the New York Yankees, enjoying the best record in the division since the All Star break with a 19-11 log that has them two games over .500 for the first time all year.

The Orioles, unconcerned by the shenanigans behind them, whipped Minnesota 8-2 Thursday night to maintain their AL East lead. Detroit took over second place with a 4-3 decision over Milwaukee-Lolich's 19th victory of the season. The Yankees made it eight victories in the last 10 games by sweeping a doubleheader from California 3-0 and 2-1 with the second game going 11 innings.

In the National League, Atlanta ripped Houston 10-3, St. Louis edged Pittsburgh 3-2, Philadelphia stopped Los Angeles 3-1 in 13 innings and San Diego turned back New York 3-0.

The Orioles jumped on Minnesota's Jim Kaat for three runs before a man was retired in the first inning and coasted over the Twins for a sweep of their three-game series.

Don Buford slammed the first pitch for a home run and Merv Rettenmund added a two-run shot later in the inning. Andy Etchebarren also homered off the Orioles and Jim Palmer fired a four-hitter for his 14th victory.

Lolich pitched a six-hitter and the Tigers broke a tie in the eighth inning with Bill Freehan's triple the big blow to beat Milwaukee.

The victory was the Tigers' 13th in the last 17 games and left Lolich with a 19-8 record. The Tiger left-hander has never won 20 games.

Jim Northrup singled and rode home on Freehan's triple to break the 2-2 tie in the eighth.

Mike Kekich limited California to four hits in 11 innings and Bobby Murcer's two-out, two-strike single drove in New York's winning run in the second game of the doubleheader.

Gene Micnae, batting for Kekich, had doubled and came around to score on an infield out and Micnae's hit for the deciding run.

In the opener, Roy White ripped two singles and a double and Fritz Peterson won his 12th game. Peterson allowed nine hits and had the leadoff man on base in seven of the nine innings but kept the Angels off the scoreboard.

Bert Campaneris ripped three singles, driving in two runs and scoring two as Oakland whacked Boston, completing a sweep of their series and tumbling the Red Sox to third place in the interesting East.

Tommy Davis drove in three runs and Dave Dnucau homered for the A's, who lead the West division by a fat 14 games.

Ted Uhlaender cracked three straight hits and rookie Kurt Evacqua tagged his first major league homer, leading Cleveland past Chicago.

Mike Paul and Alan Foster combined for the six-hitter as the Indians beat Wilbur Wood, 14-9.

Kansas City used the six-hit pitching of Ken Wright to trim Washington in the first game of their doubleheader with Tom Burgmeier coming out of the bullpen for the final out. Cookie Rojas drove in the Royals first run with a single and then tripled and scored the second one.

It was the second straight shutout against Washington and the Senators' scoreless string stretched to 24 innings before rookie pitcher Pete Broberg walked leading off the third inning of the nightcap and came around to score.

Washington got two runs in the inning with Lenny Randle, Jeff Burroughs and Dick Billings bunching singles behind Broberg's walk. Broberg and two relievers combined for the six-hitters.

Dousing Of Torch Ends 6th Pan American Games

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CALL, Colombia (AP) — The flaming torch atop Pascual Guerrero Stadium will be doused in tropical twilight today ending the sixth Pan-American games—again dominated by the United States but spiced by fast coming Cuba.

Uncle Sam's athletic forces slipped slightly from their medal grab at Winnipeg in 1967, while Cuba, showing obvious Soviet training, impressively replaced Canada as the usual runnerup in the quadrennial games.

Including Thursday's historic cycling triumph by John Howard, an Army GI from Springfield, Mo., and a silver medal finish by the Yank Women's basketball team, the USA harvested 104 gold medals, 73 silver and 40 bronze, for an overall total of 217.

That compared with 120 golds, 63 silver and 42 bronze for a USA 225 total in the Winnipeg Games. Despite a defeat by Jamaica's Don Quarrie in the sprints, U.S. men's track power exploded for 12 of 16 gold medals. Uncle Sam's swimmers swept 14 of 15 events, plus both diving gold medals.

Cuba which unveiled a world record triple jumper in Pedro Perez and upset the Yank men's basketball team made tremendous gains since 1967.

With the USA cagers eliminated, Brazil Thursday won the men's basketball title by shading Cuba 63-62, with Puerto Rico taking the silver medal and Cuba the bronze.

The Cubans, who also dethroned the USA in basketball and men's and women's volleyball, and cracked American monopoly in wrestling, piled up 31 golds, 49 silver, and 24 bronze for 103 medals.

That contrasted with a weak Cuban Winnipeg performance of only 8 golds, 14 silvers and 26 bronze and 48 overall.

Although Canada's feminine stars fared well in track and field, swimming and equestrian competition, the Maple Leaf squad wound up with 18 golds, 20 silver and 40 bronze and 78 overall.

As a token force of some 3,000 athletes from 30 nations in the original field were slated to parade in the colorful closing ceremony, the USA still buzzed over the unprecedented triumph in the 196-kilometer individual road cycling race by the 23-year-old Howard.

John Schlee Has Slim Lead In Massachusetts Golf Classic

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — John Schlee, winless in five years on the pro golf tour, nursed a slim lead in a bunch back while Ken "Hawk" Harrelson was the "peoples choice" today entering the second round of the $165,000 Massachusetts Classic.

Schlee, a 32-year-old one-time Memphis state star, fashioned a brilliant six-under-par 34-32-66 without fanfare while Harrelson drew the cheers while carding a 73 Thursday in the first round of the 72-hole tournament at Pleasant Valley Country Club.

A resident of Dallas and tutored by Ben Hogan, Schlee had seven birdies and a lone bogey in launching a bid for his first tour victory. The PGA Rookie of the Year in 1966, his best showing was a second place finish in the St. Paul Open that season.

Although he needed just 30 putts in touring the 7,212-yard, sun-baked, wind-swept course, Schlee credited improvement in his driving, thanks to Hogan, his showing.

Schlee who earned nearly $35,000 this year, moved into a one-stroke lead over Tom Weiskopf, the Kemper Open champion who had a 34-33-67 in the morning before the rain soaked layout dried under a hot sun.

The pair faced plenty of stiff competition entering the second round with the starting field of 150 due to be cut to the low 70 and ties at the halfway mark.

DeWitt Weaver was alone with 68, but Bobby Mitchell, Lou Graham, Joel Goldstrand, Rod Funseth, Bert Weister and Ray Floyd were just another stroke back at 69. Over-all, 58 players had par or better in the opening round.

In the absence of Lee Trevino, Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player, Harrelson was the darling of the fans, many of whom got to like him as he helped the Boston Red Sox to the American League pennant in 1967.

Traded by the Red Sox to Cleveland in 1969, the colorful Hawk quit his $75,000-a-year baseball job with the Indians recently to try his luck in pro golf. He earned $210 in Akron last weekend and is playing at Pleasant Valley on a sponsor's exemption.

A noncard playing pro, Harrelson will try to earn his PGA card, and the right to compete on his own starting next month.

Harrelson, playing with Jack and Bob Lewis, attracted a huge gallery. Admittedly "scared to death," he bogeyed three of the first five holes, but settled down and was two-under par the rest of the way.

Harrelson joked, talked baseball and gave the peace sign throughout the 18 holes. The fans loved it. So did the Hawk.

San Francisco Increases Lead As Phillies Defeat Dodgers

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants, who have had a hard time beating anyone recently, took a day off and let the Los Angeles Dodgers beat themselves for a change.

It was a lift for their spirits, to say nothing of their lead in the National League West. While the Giants didn't play, they improved their lead to four games over Los Angeles when the Dodgers fumbled over a 3-1, 13-inning loss to the Philadelphia Phillies Thursday night.

The Los Angeles loss was good news to San Francisco, which had lost eight of 10 games and wasted most of a 10-game lead to the hot Dodgers.

Only three other games were played in the National League Thursday night as the Atlanta Braves crushed the Houston Astros 10-5, the St. Louis Cardinals nipped the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2 and the San Diego

Padres turned back the New York Mets 3-0.

In the American League, Baltimore smashed Minnesota 8-2; Cleveland clouted Chicago 6-2; Detroit trimmed Milwaukee 4-3; New York took a two-night doubleheader from California, 3-0 and 2-1, Oakland stopped Boston 9-2 and Kansas City beat Washington 2-0 in the first game of a twin bill before dropping the nightcap, 2-1.

Despite Thursday night's loss, Los Angeles shortstop Maury Wills feels the Dodgers will eventually catch the skidding Giants.

The Dodgers didn't look like winners against the Phillies, though. They had a 1-0 lead in the eighth when second baseman Steve Garvey's error opened the door for the tying run.

Then they wasted scoring opportunities in the extra innings before Philadelphia's Don Money put it away with a two-run double in the 13th.

Rookie Earl Williams unleashed two homers in a four-hit night and knocked in four runs as Atlanta buried Houston under a 16-hit offense.

Williams had singled his first two times at bat before blasting a two-run homer in the fourth and a solo shot in the fifth, 20th and 21st circuit clouts of the year. Williams also had a run-scoring single in the second inning to help Ron Reed coast to his 12th victory in 20 decisions.

St. Louis took advantage of shortstop Gene Alley's error to score three unearned runs in the third inning and made them stand up behind Steve Carlton's pitching.

Alley booted Dal Maxvill's leadoff bouncer and Carlton singled up the middle. Ted Kubiak forced Carlton at second, but Ted Sizemore doubled for one run, another scored on Matty Alou's bouncer and Joe Torre knocked in the winning run with a bloop single.

Royal Was Almost SMU's Head Coach

LUBBOCK (AP) — Texas Coach Darrell Royal has disclosed in Longhorn Football '71 Magazine that he would have gone to Southern Methodist as head football coach in 1956 if Athletic Director Matty Bell had followed up an earlier telephone call to clinch the deal.

Royal was head coach at Washington at the time and later that year was hired by Dana X. Bible of Texas.

Royal told sports writer Burle Pettit: "I was interested...very interested in going to SMU and I told Matty so. I sure wanted that job—the appeal of coming back to the Southwest, of coming to Texas."

Bell telephoned Royal in December of 1956 but never followed up the contact and later hired Bill Meeks.

Royal was asked if he has ever wondered what would have happened if he had gone to SMU and he answered: "Sure, I thought about what the difference could have been right now if I had gone to SMU. And had Darrell Royal stayed at Mississippi State what a difference it would have been. Or for that matter, if I was still up in Canada."

"Yes, you have to be at the right place. "I never have been under any false illusions. When we finished up that 30-game winning streak I didn't bust too many chest buttons. Royal has won two national championships since he has been at Texas and numerous SWC titles as the Longhorns start their 15th season.

Canadian River Rehearing To Be Heard In Austin

A group of Panhandle ranchers and landowners and representatives from the Canadian River Sportsmen's Association will be meeting with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission today in an effort to reach an agreement about the disputed Canadian Riverbed.

Robert Carp, president of the CRSA will head the sportsmen's efforts to keep the river open to the public for hunting, and contends if the river is closed to the public, it should also be closed to the ranchers.

Don W. Morrison, an unofficial spokesman for the landowners, has voiced the opinion that too many troubles stem from the hunters on the Canadian River, and there are no self-supporting qualities in the riverbed. Morrison in a letter to the chairman of the Parks and Wildlife Commission June 25, 1971, stated:

"I was in the riverbed this day and found no continuous stream of water and only a few small holes of water which are drying up. This condition is not self-supporting to wildlife. I was particularly looking for game or game tracks but I did not find any in the river bed."

Texas Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong on a July visit to the Panhandle with the Parks and Wildlife Department voiced his opinion on the situation by stating, "I think it is a shame that this land can't be put to public use. Especially in an area where there are so few public parks and recreation areas."

Football Roundup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Quarterback Dennis Dummit was passed over by all the National Football League teams during the draft, but he'll guide the Los Angeles Rams against the Cleveland Browns Friday under the watchful eye of his former college coach.

Tommy Prothro, Dummit's coach at UCLA and now field boss of the Rams, probably will let the 6-foot-0, 180-pound rookie call the signals in the second half, but is quick to add that Roman Gabriel remains the club's No. 1 quarterback.

Dummit sparkplugged the UCLA offense his last two years and Prothro was influential in the Rams signing the quarterback as a free agent.

Cleveland Coach Nick Skorich plans to use sophomore Mike Phipps at quarterback. Phipps spearheaded three long scoring drives last Sunday as the Browns bowed to San Francisco 38-24.

Meanwhile, Fran Tarkenton, star quarterback of the New York Giants, reached an agreement with the team. The scrambling signal caller's signing of a one-year pact ended the four-day-old dispute that started when he walked out on the Giants in Houston.

Wellington Mara, club president, said Tarkenton could face disciplinary action "as Coach Alex Webster sees fit."

Tarkenton said he was "very happy with the signing. I'm sorry for what I did on Sunday. I admit it was a hasty move."

In Friday's other exhibition clash, the Miami Dolphins host the San Francisco 49ers in a nationally televised game. Still smarting from last week's 27-10 setback by Cincinnati nati Dolphins Coach Don Shula plans to spice Miami's ground attack with Jim Klink and Larry Csonka.

The two running backs reported late to training camp because of a contract dispute and saw only one quarter of action each against the Bengals. The lethargic Miami rushing attack netted only 24 yards in the game.

Nine exhibition games are slated for Saturday—Chicago at Baltimore, Cincinnati at Detroit, Houston at St. Louis, Atlanta at Kansas City, Pittsburgh at Green Bay, New Orleans at Dallas, Washington at Denver, New York Jets at Oakland and Minnesota at San Diego.

Determined not to have repeat of last Saturday's fiasco when rookie center Danny Ryczek high-snapped the ball over punter Mike Bragg's head against San Diego, Washington Redskins Coach George Allen persuaded George Burman to come out of retirement.

Burman centered for the Los Angeles Rams and also saw duty as an offensive guard and tackle.

Sunday's preseason game pits the New York Giants against the New England Patriots. The slate of 13 weekend games ends Monday with Buffalo at Philadelphia.

Norm Snead, who has called signals for losers during most of his 10 NFL years, will start with the winning Vikings against San Diego. Minnesota has compiled 12-2 records for each of the past two seasons.

The Giants and Rams traded offensive tackles, with Rich Buzin going to Los Angeles and Joe Taffoni assigned to New York.
