Thieu Decides To Run For Re-Election Oct. 3

By RICHARD PYLE
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu told provincial officials and campaign aides today that he is going to run for re-election on Oct. 3 even if he is the only candidate. Vietnam Press, the government news agency, announced that Acting Premier Nguyen Luu Vien had notified officials throughout the country that the voting would be held as scheduled.

The U.S. government is believed to have favored the proposal put forward by Ky that both he and Thieu resign and new elections be held within 90 days. But aides to Thieu reported Tuesday that despite pressure from Bunker, the president rejected Ky's plan and was determined to hold the election on schedule, regardless of the consequences.

U.S. officials have suggested privately that a one-man race in which Thieu was the only candidate could lead to reconsideration of the Nixon administration's Vietnam policy, possibly including a reduction in aid.

The meeting today at the Majestic Hotel was Thieu's first public appearance since the political crisis developed last Friday with the withdrawal from the race of Gen. Duong Van "Big" Minh, who also claimed the voting was being rigged.

Arriving at the hotel, Thieu smiled confidently and waved at the large crowd of newsmen but made no statement. Aides said he would have nothing to say to the press. Thieu has not commented publicly on the election since Minh's withdrawal.

The meeting was attended by Sen. Tran Van Huong, Thieu's vice presidential running mate; Premier Tran Thien Khiem, the vice presidential alternate; provincial councilmen loyal to Thieu, campaign workers and other civic and religious leaders from all of the 44 provinces and the major cities.

Red Forces Step Up Their Attacks In South Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces stepped up their attacks in South Vietnam today, blowing up a major ammunition dump at the big U.S. base at Cam Ranh Bay, and shelling five other American units.

The South Vietnamese Command reported 26 enemy attacks in the past 24 hours, including eight rocket and mortar bombardments. A communique said nine civilians were killed and 21 wounded in two shelling, an ambush and a bombing.

Informed sources said less than a dozen Americans were wounded and none were killed.

The U.S. Command warned that more intense enemy activity was expected as the Saigon government prepared for legislative elections Sunday.

"The U.S. Command has received indications that the enemy may be planning a high point of activity during the next few days," said a communique. "This high point could begin at different times and could involve increased attacks by fire, ground attacks and increased terrorist activities."

The 220,000 American troops in Vietnam went on an increased readiness alert at dawn Tuesday and were confined to their bases except for official business. U.S. spokesmen said one purpose of the alert is to keep Americans from being targets of hostile political demonstrations.

Viet Cong sappers were believed responsible for the massive explosion that wrecked the ammunition dump at Cam Ranh Bay and halted Air Force flight out of the base for nine hours.

The explosions ended during the afternoon, 12 hours after the first blast. But fires were still burning at dusk, and ordnance experts had been unable to enter the area to assess the damage.

A spokesman for the U.S. Command, Maj. Robert O'Brien, said the dump contained all kinds of ammunition, from bombs to artillery shells, and serviced the Army, Navy and Air Force.

He said the exploding shells caused some minor damage to buildings in the area. But he refused to say how the loss of the ammunition would affect operations in the region.

Union Labor Leaders Plan To Fight Freeze

SCHOOL CROSSINGS — Motorists have been asked by Pampa City Police to observe school crossings and zones. Classes in all county schools resumed Monday. Busy intersections are manned by crossing guards and marked by cross-walks. Cleo Edwards, shown here escorting students across Browning at Woodrow Wilson School, is one of many crossing guards in Pampa. School zones will also be under radar control police said.

Rail Unit Considers Itself Free To Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Labor leaders are pressing plans to fight President Nixon's wage-price freeze in the courts, Congress and on picket line if necessary despite the government's move to ease mortgage interest rates.

"We don't think the action on interest rates does a thing," an AFL-CIO spokesman said of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board's action freeing $1.8 billion more in private and federal funds for housing mortgages. "It doesn't meet the test of equity," the spokesman said.

AFL-CIO President George Meany and President Leonard Woodcock of the 1.5-million-member United Auto Workers union called a meeting today to map a joint campaign in Congress against the freeze and other aspects of the new economic program, especially the proposed 10-per-cent business investment tax credit.

Defending the administration's economic plan Vice President Spiro T. Agnew told a Miami news conference Meany and Woodcock "will see the programs were absolutely essential for preservation of the American competitive edge." A week before the President's announcement, Agnew said, Meany was asking for action against inflation.

The AFL-CIO, with 13.5 million members, has demanded that interest rates, profits and all other forms of income be frozen also.

The AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks said it would consider itself free to strike Nov. 13 if its 190,000 railroad members don't get wage hikes negotiated before the freeze and if profits and dividends are not controlled.

In other economic developments: Treasury Secretary John B. Connally spelled out exemptions from the 10-per-cent import surcharge for products restricted through quotas or licensing. They include beef, veal and mutton, certain oil products and petrochemicals, cotton textiles, sugar, some milk and dairy products, and chocolate.

The Cost of Living Council in its fifth series of policy rulings, said welfare payments are not frozen but school lunch prices and profit-sharing programs are.

A high administration official said a simple extension of the freeze until April 30 is not possible because of inequities, but other sources foresaw limited curbs after Nov. 12.

Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans said he agrees with the heads of 11 large U.S. corporations, with whom he met, that Nixon should "impose a mandatory wage-price control system after the 90-day period."

The U.S. dollar weakened in Europe's money markets but the chief complaint of Europeans and Japanese at a meeting of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade in Geneva was aimed at the import surcharge.

About 100 lawyers from most of the AFL-CIO's 120 unions and most major independent unions are scheduled to meet Thursday to study labor's chances of going to court to fight the wage freeze.

"We'll probably consider first whether there is a basis on which to attack the whole thing in the courts," one union lawyer said.

Failing that, they will explore grounds for challenging the freeze on specific types of wage increases and fringe benefits, he said, and consider how unions can protect themselves on wage increases originally due during the freeze—"whether to

U.S. Praises Berlin Accord

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers called in the U.S. ambassador to West Germany today for a first-hand account of the historic East-West agreement on Berlin.

U.S. officials rated the proposed Big Four pact on civilian access to West Berlin a significant step forward in easing tensions around what has been a longstanding flashpoint in the cold war.

The U.S. envoy, Kenneth Rush, flew into Washington Tuesday night.

The agreement reached Monday by Rush and ambassadors from Britain, France and the Soviet Union followed 17 months of Berlin negotiations. It is expected to be approved by the home governments in about two weeks with little or no change in wording, then formally signed by the four.

It will be up to West and East Germans to work out nuts-and-bolts details of carrying out the access agreement. After that, the big powers will pass on the new setup before it takes effect.

Fighting Between Tanzania And Uganda Continues

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — Uganda army troops advanced nearly 10 miles into neighboring Tanzania during border clashes with Tanzanian soldiers, a high government source said today.

He reported the fighting continued late Tuesday night but was unable to say how many Ugandan soldiers crossed the border or whether the contingent remained inside Tanzania.

The two eastern African nations have skirmished since Maj. Gen. Idi Amin deposed Uganda President Milton Obote in a bloodless coup last January. Tanzania has refused to recognize the new government.

Obote took refuge in Tanzania and is a personal friend of President Julius Nyerere. Amin has accused him of attempting to stir up trouble in Uganda with Nyerere's help.

Soledad Brothers Demand Probe Of San Quentin Abortive Escape

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Stripping off their shirts in an effort to bolster charges that San Quentin prisoners are being beaten, the two surviving Soledad Brothers have demanded an independent investigation into the abortive escape try in which six men died.

The cuts and bruises the men claimed to have suffered were not readily visible to spectators in the courtroom where the incident took place.

In a tumultuous hearing Tuesday, a judge rejected pleas of the Soledad Brothers' attorneys that the court order black legislators admitted to San Quentin "to see what is happening."

George Jackson, 29, the third of the Soledad Brothers, was shot and killed in last Saturday's escape attempt after three white guards and two white convicts were slain in the prison's maximum security Adjustment Center.

Jackson was held in the center with John Clutchette, 28, and Fleeta Drumgo, 28, for trial on charges that they killed a white Soledad prison guard in January 1970.

"If you don't act in some manner to get these men (black legislators and black community leaders) into that prison, you can blow this country so wide apart it will never be recognized," John Thorne of San Jose, Jackson's attorney, told Superior Court Judge Carl Allen.

"I don't see that to be my function," Allen replied.

Clutchette and Drumgo, who had limped into the courtroom, at one point stripped off their shirts and sat bare-chested as their attorneys charged they were beaten in the Adjustment Center.

"They told me I'd be dead in three days," shouted Drumgo, a thin and short black man.

"There are broken arms and busted heads out there," Clutchette told the judge.

Allen declined a request by Floyd Silliman of Salinas and Richard Silver of Carmel, defense attorneys, that the two strip down in Allen's chambers. They said the judge could then see the cuts and bruises they said the prisoners had suffered. None was readily visible to spectators in court.

The hearing ended when Allen recessed until 9:30 a.m. Thursday the start of arguments on 14 pretrial motions in the case against Clutchette and Drumgo.

Allen is a San Francisco judge assigned temporarily to hear the pretrial motions.

Amid repeated defense charges of San Quentin brutality and demands for an outside investigation, Allen granted a prosecution motion dismissing the murder indictment against Jackson "because he is deceased."

Perryton Youth Attempts To Take Own Life In Jail

A 16-year-old Perryton youth in custody at City Jail caused a few minutes of excitement yesterday when Reggie King, Pampa, delivering evening meals to prisoners reported the youth had a belt or blanket around his neck in what appeared to be an attempt to hang himself.

King alerted the dispatcher and an officer was called in for aid.

When officers reached the youth they found the torn strips of blanket tied to a bar, but the boy had cut the makeshift rope from his neck.

Chief of Police Jim Conner said this morning the boy had been released to his father and returned to Perryton where Ochiltree County authorities will handle the case.

The youth was arrested for burglaries which occurred Monday night in Pampa. The youth allegedly burglarized Pampa Tent and Awning, Stapletons Boot Shop and Jones Cleaners of about $25.

Atty. Gen. And 13 Policemen Deny Charges In '69 Panther Raid

CHICAGO (AP) — "I've done absolutely nothing wrong," State's Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan says of a special grand jury indictment charging him with conspiracy to prevent prosecution of eight policemen who killed two Black Panther party leaders in a weapons raid.

Hanrahan, hand-picked by Mayor Richard J. Daley to run for the politically powerful state's attorney office in 1968, was named in a long-suppressed indictment made public Tuesday along with 13 other police officials. The indictment was returned by a special Cook County (Chicago) grand jury.

Daley echoed Hanrahan's statements.

"Where's the evidence? Where's the obstruction of justice? No one with any sense would answer a question like that today," the mayor said.

The Dec. 4, 1969, raid in which Fred Hampton and Mark Clark were killed was embroiled in controversy from the outset.

Raiding officers said they drew gunfire when they attempted to serve a search warrant at Hampton's West Side apartment during the predawn hours that day.

They said more than 200 rounds were fired at them from the apartment and that in returning the shots Hampton, 21, and Clark, 22, were killed. They said they found 19 weapons in the apartment.

Black Panthers contended the racial raiding party opened fire without provocation and that Hampton was killed as he slept.

A federal grand jury which investigated the case in the spring of 1970 said police had fired at least 90 shots into the apartment, but that evidence presented to it indicated only one shot could have been fired (See ATTY. GEN., Page 2)

Loans For Rural Dwellers Benefit Urban Residents

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional auditors charge many government loans designed to provide rural residents with outdoor recreation facilities are benefiting primarily city dwellers.

For example, the General Accounting Office told Congress Tuesday, a $275,000 Farmers Home Administration loan to develop a golf course, clubhouse, swimming pool and tennis court in a completely rural county of 38,000 serves just 1 per cent of the residents.

Another case, GAO said, involves a $245,000 loan for a similar project in a rural county of 10,500 although the project serves just 4 per cent of the population.

The GAO report agreed with findings of an Agriculture Department inspector-general's study last year.

The auditors said loans went to projects which "served only a small percentage of the residents of rural areas; served primarily urban, rather than rural, residents; had membership restrictions which limited the use of recreational facilities to organization members only, and had fees that were beyond the ability of many rural residents to pay."

Out of 682 organizations loaned a total of 190 million,

Alabama Schools Asked To Follow U.S. Court Order

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Sam C. Pointer Jr. has ruled that two Alabama school systems must follow through with court-ordered desegregation plans despite executive orders to the contrary by Gov. George C. Wallace.

Pointer also noted Tuesday a 1963 advisory opinion from the Alabama Supreme Court, requested by Wallace, saying that the governor—as chief executive of the state or ex-officio president of the State Board of Education—doesn't possess the authority to open, close or preserve schools, but is responsible only for maintaining peace.

All other responsibility is left to local school boards, which are responsible to the courts, Pointer said.

Calhoun County and Oxford city school boards requested the hearing Tuesday, saying that they were caught between decrees from the court and counterorders from Wallace.

They also asked Pointer to clarify the validity and legality of Wallace's orders.

Hitchhiker Shot, Remains Critical In Area Hospital

AMARILLO (AP)—A 25-year-old Japanese hitchhiker remained in critical condition in an Amarillo hospital today after being shot twice by a man who had given him and his wife a ride.

The wife of Tus Tamu Takahashi of Tokyo gave this account through an interpreter to Potter County sheriff's investigators:

The couple had been hitchhiking from New York to Los Angeles when they were picked up Monday in Columbus, Ohio, by a man in a camper-type van. She described him as being either Mexican-American or Indian.

They stopped for the night just off U.S. 66 five miles east of Amarillo.

The wife was dozing in the rear of the van when she heard a noise about 6 a.m., awoke and saw her husband bleeding from the head.

She struggled with the man, who had a gun, while her husband staggered about 50 yards from the van. The man then went over and shot Takahashi twice in the chest.

The couple was then left stranded and later picked up by a motorist and taken to an Amarillo restaurant where police were summoned.

Law enforcement officials later found part of the couple's clothing 25 miles west of Memphis, which is about 100 miles southeast of Amarillo.

At first it was thought all of the couple's money had been taken but authorities found $600 in the wife's pocket and a $100 bill in her husband's clothing.

Also in the clothing authorities found $1,400 in traveler's checks and the couple's passports. Two cameras were believed taken.

Rep. Purcell Says He Will Seek Re-Election In Present District

AMARILLO (AP) — Rep. Graham Purcell, D-Tex., said today he will seek re-election in his present 13th district rather than the 24th which he considered at one time.

This means that Purcell's home base will remain in Wichita Falls.

Had he decided to run in the newly created 24th District, he would have had to move his residence.

The new 24th is composed of Denton County—one of several Purcell represented in the past—and portions of Tarrant (Fort Worth) and Dallas counties.

The 13th District as reapportioned stretches from Clay County, just east of Wichita Falls, to the northwest to include the upper Panhandle and a portion of the South Plains.

In an interview Monday night, Purcell said he had been assured of financial support in Dallas should he run for the new 24th District but he had not yet obtained such assurances in Wichita Falls and other cities in District 13.

Purcell said he made his decision about 4 a.m. today.

The old District 13 contained 20 counties, with its eastern boundary including Cooke (Gainesville) an Denton counties and a small portion of Dallas County.

The new 13th District contains 35 counties and excludes Cooke, Denton and the part of Dallas County.

Purcell said he would hold a news conference at 4 p.m. today in Wichita Falls.

Purcell's decision is expected to put him on a collision course with Rep. Bob Price of Amarillo, a Republican who had no opposition in either the GOP or Democratic parties in 1970.

The new 13th District as reapportioned includes 22 counties of Price's old District 18 and 12 counties of Purcell's old District 13.

Purcell is now in his sixth term. He took office after a special election held in January 1962.

Price was elected first in 1966.

HONG KONG (AP) — Eleven of the 25 vessels grounded last week by Typhoon Rose have been refloated, but the U.S. Navy supply ship Regulus is still on the docks with three large holes in its hull, the Marine Department said today.

The 8,000-ton ship is not expected to be refloated for at least another week.

Grocer Ordered To Donate $20,000 Or Go To Prison

CINCINNATI (AP) — A federal judge who said he wasn't sure it was legal, Monday ordered a grocer to donate $20,000 to charity or go to prison for three years for tax evasion.

"There is some doubt whether this condition of probation is entirely legal," said U.S. District Court Judge Timothy S. Hogan, who also fined John F. Wetterich, 60, $10,000 and court costs.

The Internal Revenue Service charged Wetterich reported a taxable income of $26,000 for 1967 while his income was $50,700. The IRS said Wetterich, who owned and operated a delicatessen, also owned race horses, rental property, farms, a laundromat and other investments.

Judge Hogan, noted Wetterich annual net income of $30,000 and his annual contribution to charity of $250 said:

"That's disgraceful, that's just disgraceful."

"Rather than having money be your god, it's better to spend a little and you ought to give away a little money for a couple of years as a condition of your probation."

Wetterich was sentenced to three years in prison, suspended on the condition he contribute $10,000 to charities of his own choice in 1971 and 1972 and furnish the probation department with proof.

Judge Hogan said that Wetterich would go to jail if he failed to make the charitable payments or in the event the condition of probation turned out to be illegal.

For most 3-year-olds, this would not be a major accomplishment. However, for Elizabeth and others like her at the University of Texas Speech and Hearing Clinic, it is a giant leap.

Eight months ago, Elizabeth couldn't hear or communicate. Now she wears her own hearing aid and is learning to identify sounds.

She is only one of more than 1,000 clients who re seen each year for evaluation and approximately 150 per semester who are admitted for systematic therapy.

Primary purpose of the clinic, according to its director, Dr. Lennart L. Kopra, is to furnish opportunities for observation, demonstration and supervised practice for university students training as speech and hearing clinicians.

Peking Attacks U.S. Dollar Policy

TOKYO (AP) — Red China's official news agency said today President Nixon's new dollar policy was an unpopular measure "of U.S. imperialism" and has brought about the gravest postwar monetary crisis in the capitalist world.

The New China News Agency in an English-language broadcast said "the crisis is still developing."

In its first comment on the Nixon policy laid down Aug. 15, the agency asserted that Nixon's measures are meant "to fleece the American working people and to shift the worsening U.S. financial and monetary as well as economic crises onto other countries."

"These unpopular measures of U.S. imperialism reflect the seriousness of the U.S. economic crisis and the decay and decline of the entire capitalist system," the agency declared.

The agency charged that "the U.S. monopoly capitalist clique is still trying to resort to power politics and extraordinary measures to maintain the declining position of the dollar empire...."

"Because of the weakness of the dollar, its prestige in the international market has greatly sunk," the agency said. "The slightest stir in the air would send people dumping the dollars and rushing for gold and other currencies."

Prison Revolt In Seoul Kills 38 Persons

SEOUL (AP) — The death toll in the bloody mutiny by 24 convicts rose to 38 today and five persons were still missing, the Defense Ministry reported.

The ministry said the convicts were "special military prisoners" on Shimli island, in the Yellow Sea 15 miles offshore.

After killing at least 13 of the 23 military prison guards on the island Monday, they hijacked a fishing boat, landed in Inchon, and commandeered a bus in which they rode to Yongdungpo, an industrial suburb of Seoul. The bus ran up on the sidewalk, and troops and police surrounded it. Firing broke out, and the escapees began exploding grenades.

The blasts killed 14 convicts and a 5-year-old girl, and wounded the child's mother, two other civilians and three of the convicts.

Amid the initial confusion, the Counter-Espionage Operations Command announced that the convicts were North Korean agents. This caused the U.S. and South Korean military forces to go on an alert until the report was corrected.

FHLBB Plans To Free $800 Million To Increase Availability For Lending

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government moved Tuesday to put more money into the housing market in an effort to stabilize interest rates and make more money available for lending.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board announced plans to free $800 million by savings and loan associations to increase the availability of funds for home loan lending.

It did so by reducing the minimum liquidity requirements, the amount of cash and securities that federally insured savings and loan associations must keep on hand, from 7 1/2 to 7 per cent.

At the same time, the board's companion corporation, the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp., announced it was putting $300 million into purchases of government-backed mortgage loans in an effort to subsidize interest rates.

That action will reduce by three points the amount that sellers must pay on FHA-VA loans when mortgages are sold in the secondary market through the mortgage loan corporation.

In addition, the corporation is increasing its activity in purchasing participations in conventional loans by putting another $700 million into the conventional loan market.

The board said that action will reduce interest rates on conventional loans from 7 1/2 per cent to 7 per cent.

Preston Martin, chairman of the Home Loan Bank Board which regulates the savings and loan industry, said the action is meant as a signal to mortgage lenders that the board is determined to provide sufficient funds for mortgage lending, thereby reducing upward pressure on interest rates.

He said the board's action "is in lieu of a freeze on mortgage interest rates."

President Nixon's 90-day wage-price freeze excluded interest rates. The administration said including interest rates could dry up the lending market.

He said the board's action "is action because mortgage interest rates on conventional loans showed an increase in July, rising by 15 basis points.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Matador Adrian Romero is as quick with his wit as he is with his cape.

The 20-year-old bullfighter from Mexico City, who earned two ears and two laps around the arena in Tijuana, Mexico, Sunday, was asked at a luncheon Monday whether he is ever afraid in the ring.

"The state of California is small compared to the size of my fear," Romero joked. "I'm the biggest chicken I know."

If that's the case, what does he like about it? With a smile he replied:

"The things I like best about bullfighting are the big money and the small bulls. The smaller the bulls, the better I like it."

Speaker Says His Investment Has Nothing To Do With Legislation

HOUSTON (AP)—The Houston Chronicle said in a copyrighted story today that Texas House Speaker Gus Mutscher has testified that when he began investing in National Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock in 1969, he was not aware that his top aides also were buying the stock.

The Chronicle also said Mutscher testified that the investments had no connection with legislation sought by Houston financier Frank W. Sharp that would have established a state bank deposit insurance corporation.

In conflict with Sharp's previous testimony, the newspaper said, Mutscher testified he did not originate the legislation and that he never asked Gov. Preston Smith to open a special legislative session for its consideration.

All investments by Mutscher and his associates were made with loans from the Sharpstown State Bank, owned by Sharp, who also had controlling interest in National Bankers Life. Both firms are defunct.

The Securities and Exchange Commission alleges that Sharp used a stock profit scheme to influence public officials in the passage of the banking legislation.

The accusations are contained in a civil suit seeking a permanent injunction against Sharp, nine firms and 14 individuals, to halt alleged violations of federal securities laws. None of the political figures mentioned in the allegations is a defendant in the suit, which goes on trial in Dallas next Monday.

The controversial bills were passed by the legislature Sept. 9, 1969, but were vetoed by Smith.

The governor, also an investor in National Bankers Life through a partnership with State Democratic Executive Committee Chairman Elmer Eaum, has testified he was not aware Sharp wanted the bills passed until well after his veto.

Sharp had testified he called Smith shortly after the veto and expressed his anger at the act. Smith said his records on incoming calls reflect no conversation with Sharp.

Sharp also has testified Mutscher told him he convinced Smith to open the special legislative session consideration of the banking bills.

Both Smith and Mutscher, in separate July 9 depositions, said they never discussed the legislation with each other prior to its passage, the Chronicle reported. Neither deposition has been made public.

The Chronicle said Mutscher stated in his deposition that he and his aides had discussed investing in National Bankers Life for some time before he decided to do so and he had discussed the potential of the company with Sharp. He said he had no understanding, either that he would make a profit, or that Sharp would get assistance in passing legislation.

Substantial blocs of the stock were purchased July 22, 1969 by Mutscher; his father; two administrative assistants, Rush McGinty and F. C. Schulte; and the speaker's chief House lieutenant, Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth.

Most holdings were then sold to the Jesuit Fathers Inc., of Houston at prices well above the market level Sept. 11, 1969 at a profit for the investors.

Mutscher said he placed an order through McGinty for National Bankers Life shares for himself and his father but did not know his associates also were buying stocks at the same time.

Observers Say Dollar Devalued

NEW YORK (AP)—Has the United States devalued the dollar?

The U.S. government says no. Foreigners are inclined to agree that the dollar hasn't been devalued but says it should be. And the foreign currency exchange markets have not rendered a conclusive answer.

Nevertheless, some observers and involved parties are saying openly that the dollar has been devalued. What's the difference, they say, if other currencies are forced to revalue or the dollar is devalued? The distinctions aren't clear.

In fact, it's largely a matter of formality. The United States hasn't officially devalued and isn't likely to do so despite growing pressures from abroad.

Officially, the only way the dollar can be devalued is to raise the price of gold from $35 an ounce. That was the price the United States guaranteed for the dollar; but that convertibility has been abrogated.

It means that for the time being, the United States declines to convert into gold the dollars held by foreign central banks. Without this link, the dollar becomes what traders are willing to pay for it. It is floating.

In all probability this means that the value of some foreign currencies will rise in relation to the dollar. The feeling is that the rates were out of proportion for years.

Confirmation of this, however, did not come from foreign exchange transactions in the first day of trading since President Nixon's pronouncement on Aug. 15. Very little movement was noted, although the tempo picked up on the second day.

Monetary analysts feel that eventually—nobody seems to know when—the Japanese yen will rise by about 10 per cent, the German mark by a somewhat smaller percentage, the French franc by maybe 3 to 5 per cent and the British pound by 1 or 2 per cent at most.

If other currencies are therefore worth more in relation to the dollar it has the very same effect as devaluation—but only in relation to certain currencies. It could develop that the dollar may rise in relation to other currencies, although certainly not those of major nations.

In his news conference Aug. 16, Treasury Secretary John Connally gave this explanation: "Now in my own judgment, the dollar is going to rise vis-a-vis some currencies of the world. It may decline vis-a-vis other currencies in the world. But to say that it is a devaluation, I think, is a premature judgment."

The distinction is this: If the United States had raised the price of gold it would have meant that all currencies that are convertible into dollars would be worth more—because the United States would give more gold for them.

In using the tactic it did, the United States permitted itself to be selective. And it avoided the stigma that goes with outright devaluation, which usually is associated with failure.

The U.S. tactic was to toss the ball to the other nations and let them do something with it. They had been highly critical of the United States and had long been insisting that it take action.

The action they had in mind however, was for the United States to restore the dollars' value by a harsh domestic program to reduce inflation.

Now that the United States has acted, foreign nations must decide what to do. They must revalue their currencies or recognize that inevitably the marketplace will do it for them.

Hughes Urged To Come Out To Settle Empire Crisis

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Howard Hughes' $300-million gambling empire in Nevada faces a crisis which top state officials say can be resolved only if Hughes surrenders his precious privacy to meet with the governor of Nevada.

Hughes left the state eight months ago and is reportedly living in the Bahamas. In the wake of his departure, the directors of the Hughes Tool Co. fired Robert Maheu, who for four years had been responsible to the state for the operation of Hughes' seven casinos in Las Vegas and Reno.

"I am afraid that the problems will never be laid to rest until a personal meeting can be arranged...between Mr. Hughes and one or two members of the gaming control agencies and the governor of Nevada," commission chairman Jack Diehl recently wrote Ra and Holliday, top executive of the tool company.

Hughes has been a recluse for two decades. People close to him say there is no possibility he will meet with the governor or anyone else, even to save his casinos.

The key to the licensing problem is the inclusion of long-time Hughes attorney Chester Davis of New York City as an officer of Hotel Properties, Inc., state sources said.

Davis, 51, was the man most visible during the turbulent days of the Maheu firing. His brusque manner then and since may have often state gaming officials, who were already concerned about being in the dark as the reins of power shifted in an organization vitally important to Nevada's major industry.

Davis reportedly failed to note on his application for licensing that he was born in Rome. Whether by accident or intention, the Gaming Commission could withhold his license.

SHIP IS A MUSEUM

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Her top speed was about 40 miles an hour and in 1937 she traveled from New York to Southampton, England in three days, 23 hours and 40 minutes for a record North Atlantic run. But now the Queen Mary is in the harbor here as a museum of the sea.

The 1,019-foot long ship once carried 1,957 passengers and a crew of 1,174.

and that of Hotel Properties because of the missing information.

The man in the middle is Gov. Mike O'Callaghan, an ex-Marine serving his first term. "I am getting fed up with the intrigue that surrounds the entire matter," O'Callaghan said last week. "I'm tired of the shadowboxing."

Iceland - One Of The Most Civilized Nations

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Remote Iceland, which has one of the highest standards of living in the world, also has one of the highest standards of public sanity.

The capital of Reykjavik, for instance, doesn't allow dogs within the city limits, no matter how pure the pedigree. Man's best friend can sniff around the fjords and geysers, but he's banned from city streets until he masters the skills of indoor plumbing.

The city also sets aside an octagonal-shaped house way out on the point of a lagoon in a public park where budding bassoon, flugel horn, viola or what-have-you virtuosos can practice their riffs and arpeggios without maddening the crowd.

Reykjavik further coddles the eardrums of its 80,000 inhabitants by keeping its jet airport at Keflavik, 35 miles away, despite constant piercing screams from the international carriers who call at this half way station between continents.

Iceland challenges society to enjoy itself responsibly by combining one of the world's toughest driving-while-intoxicated laws with two potent national drinks. Brennivin, a fiery, innocent-looking schnapps, would jar a polar bear from his floe. Ansi, meaning donkey, mingles a home-distilled aqua vitae with ginger ale to induce in-stant sagas. At the first pop of a bottle top, the police are usually on patrol in the nearest parking lot ready to administer a balloon test, followed by a mandatory blood test, followed by anything from revocation of license to a stiff jail sentence if the imbiber ventures near a vehicle.

Iceland has one dry day a week, Wednesday, when only wine is drunk.

Thanks to the encircling Gulf Stream, erroneously named Iceland has a cool, temperate climate that the meteorologists call oceanic.

Answers To Freeze Questions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cost of Living Council has issued these questions and answers on implementation of President Nixon's wage-price freeze. The answers, provided Monday, represent policy positions by the government in carrying out Nixon's order:

Q. Are service charges and other fees charged by banks (for example safe deposit boxes) subject to the freeze?

A. Yes.

Q. Can the rate for renewal of insurance policies be increased?

A. Yes, if the rate increase was announced prior to Aug. 15, and a substantial number of transactions occurred at the increased rate. No additional increases in rates are permitted during the freeze.

Q. Can the fees or charges which a state or local government charges for services provided by the government be increased?

A. No, fees for water, gas, sewer and similar services may not increase. But fees for licenses or legal penalties, such as traffic tickets, may be increased.

Q. If a firm has a range of salaries for the same job, what wage or salary can be paid to a new employee?

A. The employee may be paid any salary within the range which the qualifications of the applicant justify as long as the average wage paid by the firm in this job classification does not increase.

Q. Are wage increases permitted during the freeze for workers whose wages are closely tied to increases for other workers that were negotiated before the freeze?

A. If the following conditions prevail, the increase may be granted:

1. The agreement to which the increases are linked was reached before Aug. 15;

2. Prior to Aug. 15 work was performed by the workers whose wages are closely tied to the increase reached before the freeze that would be eligible for payment at the new rate.

3. The increased wage rate for the workers whose wages are closely tied to negotiated increases was scheduled to go into effect on the same day as the negotiated wage increases as a matter of established practice;

4. The workers are employees of the same firm;

5. The company is able to demonstrate that this procedure is an established practice.

Q. Are previously planned increases in pension benefits for those retired before the freeze or those about to retire allowed?

A. Yes, but no unplanned increases. For example, a scheduled increase in pensions which is planned for Oct. 1 may go into effect. A person who retires on Oct. 15 may also receive this increase.

SCLB OF Little Conern This Year

COLLEGE STATION — With most of the corn crop except that on the High Plains now mature, the ravages of Southern Corn Leaf Blight (SCLB) can be dismissed for another year. But the disease should not be written off by producers, cautions Dr. Wendell Horne, plant pathologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Although there is still some possibility of blight damage to corn on the High Plains, the disease has been of little consequence in the state this year, points out Horne. The hot, dry weather during late spring and early summer hindered the development of the disease in most instances, even though most of the corn planted was of the susceptible type.

According to Horne, the potential for the disease was present this spring. Sufficient disease spores were available but weather conditions hindered wide-spread development of the blight. Odds are that the disease will again be around next year so producers should not be complacent.

In addition to the High Plains, cases of SCLB have been reported this year in South, South Central, and East Txxan Nationwide, 31 states have reported blight cases. The disease is generally more widespread over the Corn Belt than last year, but it is not as serious.

Horne also points out that the blight will not affect grain sorghum. This bit of information should bring some relief to sorghum producers who are concerned about SCLB infecting their crops.

Area Bank Robbed:

MCALLEN, Tex. (AP) — A gunman described as "spooky looking" robbed the McAllen State Bank at gunpoint shortly before noon today and fled with an estimated $35,000.

Bank officials said an employee of the bank chased the man but was unable to overtake him because his car "conked out."

No shots were fired. Officers throughout the Lower Rio Grande Valley converged on the area.

A bank spokesman said the man was described by a teller as being an "Anglo male, between 30 and 40 years of age," wearing sun shades and patches about his face.

Perhaps it is a sign of the times that if you want an un-circulated Eisenhower dollar with 40 per cent silver content, it will cost you $3.

Never since 1800, the earliest date of the Bureau of Labor Statistics' consumer purchasing power estimates, has the dollar bought less.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—In the uptight television world, James Stewart is an island of calm. During almost four decades of film making and close to 100 pictures, he has learned to concentrate on his job—acting—and let trusted associates do the rest of the work and worrying.

NBC nailed one of Hollywood's perennial favorites as the star of its new series, "The Jimmy Stewart Show," figured to be very rough competition in a Sunday night spot between the network's Disney hour and "Bonanza."

Stewart, 63, seems solely interested in his involvement in a new medium. On a recent morning he was relaxing between scenes wandering contentedly around the set, finally alighting in his mobile dressing room parked close to the sound stage.

"This isn't as hectic as they say it is," he said. "You do have to work fast. It's a deadline racket and you don't have much of a chance to cover yourself or to experiment. The things you have to depend on are instinct and experience."

NBC is counting heavily on Stewart's great appeal to audiences of all ages. Jimmy himself thinks that he has a whole new generation of fans picked up by all those old movies in circulation.

With most people involved in television selling their new product with the fervor of used-car salesmen, Stewart's soft understatement is refreshing.

"It's really nothing very new," he said. "We're making a family show with comedy—and a little wild humor through it."

He plays a professor—"forgetful and sort of mentally uncoordinated"—with wife and a couple of children, even a grandson.

"Most times we take a trivial, but typical family situation and build a half hour around it," he said.

In recent years Stewart has made pictures only when a script appealed to him and has done a lot of leisurely traveling with his wife, Gloria. Having committed himself to the series, Stewart now puts in a 10-hour working day, arriving at the studio at 8 and leaving at 6. His evenings and his weekends are jealously protected from occupational invasion. Saturdays and Sundays he usually plays a little golf and flies his plane.

"I've loved airplanes all my life," he said, "and I learned to fly in 1935. I missed flying when I retired from the Air Force in 1968, so I bought a tiny plane. Mostly I just fly around—I don't go anywhere."

AUSTIN (AP)—The University of Texas School of Communication registered 968 undergraduate students during the summer sessions this year, marking the largest summer enrollment in its history.

Last year, 702 students were enrolled in the two summer terms, according to Dean Wayne Danielson.

In a tally taken by the dean's office it was noted that there were 545 males and 443 females registered during the summer terms.

The Department of Journalism had the most students with 422, and the Department of Radio-Television-Film was next with 231.

THE BIG STORE CORONADO CENTER

By Abigail Van Klee

DEAR ABBY: I am a bright, well-educated girl, just turned 30, and I work as a secretary for a fascinating gentleman who's 57. I've been around a bit, and ever since I've known this man (some seven years) I haven't met anyone my own age who is as attractive. They haven't the sophistication, sense of humor, ability to enjoy life—you name it, he has it. I guess I'm in love.

I've seen this man thru a couple of superficial office affairs—nothing alarming. His wife is his age, charming, knowing, and holding on. He's been giving me some pretty long looks lately, and I don't know how much longer I can hold out. I know I'll never find another job as good as this one, and I doubt I'll ever find a man as attractive.

Should I try to win him? Or would that be dirty pool? I've heard that no woman can keep up a really good marriage. What do you say?

DEAR CONFEDERATE: It's not only "dirty pool," it's asking for a kick in the pants. You could probably get your name added to his list of "superficial office affairs," but your chances for anything lasting and "real" look mighty slim from this side of the typewriter.

DEAR ABBY: I have a rather large rump and my husband doesn't like me to wear a girly die. I am far from "firm," and I feel so sloppy without one, but every time I wear a girly my husband starts in on me.

This has caused a slight rift between us. What should I do?
RUMPELSTILSKENS
DEAR RUMP: Wear panties. They'll sort of bring everything together.

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to marry Mr. Wonderful in three months. Well, yesterday I found out that he has been seeing a girl who works at the union to which he belongs. When I asked him if it was true, he said it was, but she was only his "pipeline."

of information about what's going on.
He said he wouldn't stop seeing her and calling her at home and I was silly to be jealous of this girl as she means nothing to him.
Do you think I am being silly to ask him to give up his pipeline?

CONFUSED
DEAR CONFUSED: If she's only his pipeline, yes.

DEAR ABBY: Here's the situation: Last winter my boy friend and I took out a marriage license, but lots of things have come up since then and we have had to put off getting married for awhile yet. In order to save on rent we are living together. Doesn't our marriage license prove that we are serious about our relationship and not just fooling around? I mean, in a way isn't it just as good as being married?

TWO IN LOVE
DEAR TWO: A "license" to marry is just that and nothing more. It may indicate that at one time you were seriously considering marriage, but it's not "as good" as being married.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a girl who would come to another girl's wedding dressed like a bride herself? Well, that's what happened to me, and needless to say, it spoiled my wedding day.

When somebody asked her why she wore her own wedding gown to my wedding she said, "That's all I had to wear." She even wore the flower girl crown she got married in, but thank heavens she left off the veil. Nevertheless, she looked just like a bride, and I was very unhappy when I saw her.

What should my attitude toward her in the future? I used to consider her a friend.

BALTIMORE BRIDE
DEAR BRIDE: It is hard to believe that she couldn't have found something else to wear to your wedding. Anyone who is so hungry for attention that she would try to upstage the bride is a very insecure girl. Pity her.

DEAR ABBY: Apropos "litter" after weddings: I've attended several weddings where wild bird seed was passed among the guests to throw at the bride and groom. It solved everyone's problem: nothing to clean up afterwards, no waste, and a gay spirit prevailed.

WILLIAMSTOWN
DEAR WILLIAMSTOWN: One might say such weddings are "for the birds."

SIX-IN-ONE-HAMMER — Mrs. D. B. Jameson, left, Pampa Altrusa Club president, and Mrs. C. L. Sullins, right, club finance director, explain the six-in-one-hammer to Senior Citizen Joe Shelton, one of Pampa's pioneer residents. The hammers are part of the organization's drive, which begins today, to finance its many civic projects, which includes the Senior Citizens center that meets each Thursday in Lovett Memorial library. Six-Point Program Outlined By Pampa Altrusa Women

Members of the Altrusa Club of Pampa will be selling a useful "Six-In-One Hammer" as its fund-raising project for the coming year. The Altrusa Club, dedicated to community service, has been active in Pampa since 1952. This year the club has set up six special projects as its main goals for 1971-1972.

For seventeen years the Senior Center has been the most popular project of the club. Every Thursday the retired and "golden age" citizens of Pampa meet in the social hall city library for an afternoon of fun and games. On the first Thursday of each month all those having birthdays that month are presented a gift from the Altrusans. Fellowship, visiting and refreshments have made Thursdays a special day for the senior citizens of Pampa.

A Career Clinic, to assist with school students in selecting a career or profession, has been held in Pampa High School for many years with the Altrusa Club as a co-sponsor.

A vocational fund to assist a woman who needs to learn a profession or skill in order to support herself and her family, has been a part of the Altrusa program for many years. Several women in Pampa have received financial assistance for training through this project. On the international level the Altrusa Clubs have helped women in foreign countries to

Each year a Pampa High School Senior is selected to receive a $500 scholarship from the club, and each month a senior girl is chosen to be the Altrusa Girl-Of-The-Month, receiving a gift from the club and attending meetings that month.

This year Altrusa Club is adding the Suicide Prevention and Drug Allet program to its list of projects. Mrs. Marion Jameson, president of the Pampa Club, has announced that the theme for the coming year will be "Turn Concern into Action" and club members have been challenged to give more of their time to specific needs of the community.

MILK IN BAKING — Buttermilk and home-soured milk can be used interchangeably in baking, remind Extension foods and nutrition specialists. If a recipe calls for sour milk or buttermilk, you can prepare the amount you need from sweet milk by adding one tablespoon vinegar for each cup of milk, then letting the mixture stand 5 minutes.

WHIPPED CREAM — Start with a chilled bowl if you're planning on whipping cream, suggest Extension home economics specialists. Cream is easiest to whip when the bowl is chilled between 35 and 40 degrees F. Whip cream rapidly,

Beauty Hints Given To Make-Up Users

Young make-up users often encounter some difficulty when trying to make-up their eyes, according to famed beauty fashion authority Max Factor. He suggests the following simple advice to help them achieve the most beautiful effects.

First, shape the brows neatly by stretching the skin between two fingers and plucking the stray hairs in the direction of growth. To define them, use a sharp eyebrow pencil and lightly draw on tiny hairline strokes along the brow from inner to outer edge. Brush the brows down for a softer effect. If your eyebrows are naturally thick, a brush-on coloring provides wonderfully natural results.

Apply all eye shadow shades accurately by tilting your chin up and looking down into your mirror, fully exposing the eyes with color. To line your upper lid, tilt the chin upward, look down into the mirror and stretch the eyelid slightly outward with a finger. Draw a narrow line as close to the roots of your own lashes as possible.

Apply mascara to the top of the upper lashes, then sweep them up from underneath with two or three light coats. Touch-up the bottom lashes. If you are using a wand-type mascara, rotate the wand as you sweep it through the lashes.

Especially ideal for all youthful eye make-up users is the Pure Magic collection which includes a complete array of hypo-allergenic, fragrance-free eye beautifiers in the softest, prettiest colors imaginable.

Mary Mixon Family Reunites In Lefors

MOBETTIE (Special) — A reunion of the Mrs. Mary Mixon family was held in Lefors honoring her on her 87th birthday Aug. 15.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bonds of Leedy, Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Leavett and Randall of Tulsa; Mrs. Fred Mixon and Michael of Fritch; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Worthington of Burkburnett; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wodall and children of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Jay Wallis and family of Lefors; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Galye and James of Oklahoma City, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Bunk Allen of Briscoe; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mixon, Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Mixon and Mrs. Mary Mixon all of Mobeetie.

FRENCH FRIES — If your French fried potatoes are often soggy and greasy, the frying fat is probably not hot enough, suggest Extension foods and nutrition specialists. The temperature of the fat should be 375-385 degrees F.

POLLY'S POINTERS Use Corn Meal To Clean White Plumes

DEAR POLLY—Mrs. A.A.W. wanted to know how to clean and curl white plumes. We had a millinery store many years ago and the following is the way we treated ostrich plumes from ladies' hats: Put plain cornmeal in a large sack, insert a plume and gently shake as you would for coating food. When the plume is clean, take the back of a silver knife and gently pull the feathers from the center out to the end the entire length. This will recur them.

MARGARET

DEAR POLLY—Years ago we cleaned the ostrich plumes from our hats by using a soft brush and cornmeal. After brushing all the cornmeal from a plume, we curled it by holding it over the steam coming from a tea kettle of boiling water. Hope this works for Mrs. A.A.W.

MRS. G.D.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I am using plastic bread wrappers to crochet a mat but my hook gets gummy with the plastic finish that rubs off on it. This slows the work considerably. I have tried dipping the hook in alcohol, rinsing in alcohol. I find the powder is best but it only lasts for a few stitches so this crocheting is no pleasure. If anyone else has had this problem, I would appreciate knowing how it was solved.

MARGARET

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is with the small openings in salad dressing bottles. Too much expensive dressing is wasted because it cannot be gotten out.

EVELYN

DEAR POLLY—Mrs. J.M. can place a hot iron on iron-on patches and they will lift off as easily as they went on if they are removed before they cool.

MRS. B.M.

DEAR POLLY—This may sound silly but I wonder how many people have thought of using a big toe to hold a string or twine in order to get a good

Biography Of Cosmetic Tycoon Rated "Opinionated" By Magazine Reviewer

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA)—When the pot calls the kettle black the situation can be funny. And it was very, very funny when James Brady reviewed for Women's Wear Daily Patrick O'Higgins' biography of Helen Rubinstein, "Madame." Brady piously called the book "bitchy" and "opinionated."

One wonders if Mr. Brady was able to keep a straight face as he wrote his righteous criticism. For "bitchy" and "opinionated" could aptly be the names on the street signs of the twin roads WWD has trodden for many a moon. "Madame," published by Viking in unis already in its third printing. And it brings to life the tiny, dominating, cosmetic tycoon who died in her 94th year in 1965. She comes alive as an infuriating but loveable blend of princess and peasant — a lonely, self-made millionaire who was absolute monarch in her family-managed empire and who trusted no one's genius but her own. And no one who reads it will ever again think of Helena Rubinstein as simply the name on a jar of face cream.

But this is not a review of the book, though delightful it is. For the story behind the biography stems from O'Higgins, the man who wrote it after having spent 14 years, until her death, as Madame Rubinstein's traveling companion, secretary, publicity man and "Lord-High-Everything-Else."

O'Higgins met Madame through a mutual friend while he was working as travel editor of the magazine, "Flair." The magazine was folding and Madame gave him a job at Rubinstein — although he admits that for months "he didn't know what he was supposed to be doing there."

Patrick was born in Paris, and with a name straight from

Squashshooters Club Has Weekly Meeting

MOBEETIE (Special) — The Mobeetie Tops Squashshooters met Monday in the Lions Hut with Mrs. Dorothy Mixon, leader in charge. The club collect was led by Mrs. Rosalee Keelin, with the club pledge led by Mrs. Lois Hudson. Mrs. Willene Waters led the songs. Mrs. Margaret Knight was hostess. The program was led by Mrs. Dorothy Mixon.

Those present were Mrs. Margaret Knight, Mrs. Velma DeSpain, Mrs. Roselee Keelin, Mrs. Margaret Trout, Mrs. Dorothy Mixon, Mrs. Lois Hudson and Mrs. Willene Waters.

the could god the question had to be asked, "how come an O'Higgins got himself born in France?"

"It wasn't planned that way," he said. "My mother was buying hats in Paris and misjudged her time." And his Celtic family made up for that accident of birth. He was educated in England and served in the Irish Guards during World War II.

Patrick claims he wrote the book to make money, naturally. But that he was equally promoted to write it because he loved the tiny, imperious woman for her fabulous jewels, her bowler hats that matched every costume, her eagle's profile and her feuds with Revlon's Charles Revson whom she called "The Nail Man," and Elizabeth Arden, dubbed by Madame Rubinstein as "The Other One." And he wanted to share his hectic adventures in her employ with others who would appreciate her complex personality.

"Making someone come alive in difficult," he said over a delicious lunch he had cooked himself. "I wasn't being bitchy — but she WAS a character."

"The toughest thing was that I not only had to find my voice but I had to find her's too. The dialogue was hard for me to handle."

"First," he added, "there was Madame who never spoke a sentence of over five words, and then there was me who talks up a storm. And it was my first book," yet he mastered the dialogue and now a movie based on his book is being considered.

O'Higgins, who since he left Rubinstein has been an editor and feature writer for Harper's Bazaar, Status and McCall's, reacts like a surprised kid to the success of his book.

"There was a girl reading it on the bus the other day," he said, "and I had to restrain myself from going over to her and saying, 'I'm Patrick O'Higgins!'"

Of Madame, he said, "Her driving force was survival and that's why she lived to be 94."

How he survived the 14 years in her service is a small miracle in its own right. By you laugh your way through such hilarious antics as Madame and O'Higgins at the airport struggling to enplane for Paris — Patrick burdened with stringed hand luggage, Madame's fur coats thrown over his shoulders while she prodded him on the rump with her make-up case rrying, "It's only another 50 yards. Don't give up."

O'Higgins has been criticized for focusing attention on the fact that his millionaire boss carried her lunch to work in a brown paper bag. Yet a rich and successful business woman once defined sophistication like this: "When I was young, it seemed natural to me to carry my lunch in a paper bag. As an adolescent it became an embarrassment. But now I can do it with complete aplomb and no embarrassment at all. And that, to me, is sophistication."

When Madame Rubinstein died, she left O'Higgins $5,000 in cash and $2,000 a year for the rest of his life. Perhaps not a lot of money but Patrick said, "Why should she leave me more? I was an employe, not a relative."

Women's Wear concurred its review of his book by saying that the moral would seem to be that old ladies who hire charming young men as their companions should take creof them in their wills or books like "Madame" can be the result.

Yet O'Higgins ends his book by saying of Helena Rubinstein, "Not only have I missed her — I always will."

And that reads more like affection than bitchiness.

STORING CHERRIES — Don't wash cherries before storing, advise Extension foods and nutrition specialists at Texas A&M University. Fresh cherries are very perishable and should be refrigerated as soon as possible after buying. Leave stems on the cherries until preparing them for the table. The fruit should be eaten within two days.

Baseball Marks Fall To Record Breaking Aaron

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Just about every time Hank Aaron plays, it seems that he breaks a record.

It seems that way because he does.
Aaron, who passed Ty Cobb on the all-time list of total bases Monday, barked by Tris Speaker Tuesday night in career runs scored as he helped the Atlanta Braves beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 15-5.
"Records just mean that I've been playing a long time," said Aaron, whose 37th homer of the year produced his 1,822nd lifetime run and placed him in sixth place.

And he has his sharp hitting eye on more production.
"I said before the season I'd like to hit 40 homers," said Aaron, "but I probably should pass that now."

Does he think he can hit the 50-homer level, something he's never accomplished in his 14-year career?
"No, I have no ideas of 50," said Aaron, modestly.

Elsewhere in the National League Monday night, the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Houston Astros 2-1; the Cincinnati Reds stopped the Chicago Cubs 5-4; the Los Angeles Dodgers whipped the Montreal Expos 6-4; the San Diego Padres downed the Philadelphia Phillies 2-0 and the San Francisco Giants trimmed the New York Mets 3-2.

American League scores: Milwaukee 6, Cleveland 5; Minnesota 3, Detroit 1; Baltimore 1, Chicago 0; Kansas City 5, Boston 4 in 13 innings; New York 1, Oakland 0 and California 2, Washington 1.

Among his varied accomplishments since he joined the major league with the old Milwaukee Braves in 1954, the 37-year-old Aaron has hit 629 home runs.
That puts him in third place behind San Francisco's Willie Mays, who has 644, and Babe Ruth, who had 714.

How does "Hammerin' Hank" feel every time they flash his record-breaking deeds on the scoreboard at Atlanta Stadium?
"I don't mind—as long as they don't flash my age," quipped Aaron.

Actually, Aaron has been tired of late although you'd never know it by his long-ball pace of five homers in six days that's boosted his RBI to 96 and his batting average to .322.
Mike Linn and Marty Perez joined Aaron in their hitting party that produced 21 safeties against the Pirates' shell-shocked pitching staff. Lum drilled a three-run homer in the second inning and Perez belted a three-run blow in the third before Aaron unloaded in the fourth.

The Cardinals took advantage of Pittsburgh's loss to move up to a tie with Chicago for second place in the National League East, five games behind the front-running Pirates.
Reliever Al Santorini came in with the potential tying run on third base in the ninth inning and threw a double-play pitch to Doug Rader to end the game. The clutch relief job from the squad Tuesday, including veteran Willie Townes, a defensive end. Townes was once a regular on the Dallas Cowboys' Domsday Defense, but lost his job to Larry Cole.

With the Giants, Webster felt Townes would not be effective unless he reduced his weight 285. He couldn't get below 275, so now he's gone.
Another veteran to get the ax was safety Goldie Sellers, who was dropped by Houston. The Oilers also signed much-traveled place kicker Booth Lustig and dealt defensive lineman Russell Price to Miami for a draft choice.

The Los Angeles Rams cut loose wide receiver Andy "Rabbit" Vataha, a 170-pounder who was Jim Plunkett's favorite target at Stanford.
The Battle of Texas—an exhibition game between Dallas and Houston in the Astrodome—will be played Thursday night, but for Roger Staubach it will be something more. Staubach is battling incumbent Craig Morton for the starting quarterback job at Dallas, and Coach Tom Landry has named him to start against the Oilers.

Staubach has played well during preseason games thus far, while Morton was inconsistent in last week's 16-15 victory over Cleveland. A strong performance against the Oilers would greatly enhance Jolly Roger's chances of gaining the starting berth, although Landry has indicated he is in no hurry to make his choice.
Webster out four players

Football Roundup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
New York Giants Coach Alex Webster, who's had his share of troubles lately, got some more bad news Tuesday.

Ron Johnson, who rushed for 1,027 yards from his halfback position last season, will be sidelined for the remaining three weeks of training camp because of a thigh injury which will require surgery.

The injury, a deep bruise on his right thigh, was suffered two months ago when Johnson was playing a pickup basketball game in Ann Arbor, Mich. Some blood which collected within the tissue has not cleared up, so doctors will have to operate to drain it off.

Dr. Anthony Pisani, Giants' team physician, said Johnson might be ready to play in the team's final preseason game, or in the first game of the regular season against Green Bay one week later.

So Webster, whose team dropped its first three exhibition games and who has watched players—including quarterback Fran Tarkenton, the key man in the team's offense—come and go in training camp, now has to worry about his running game, too. Bobby Duhan will start in place of Johnson when the Giants meet Philadelphia at Princeton, N.J. Saturday, but Les Shy, Joe Morrison and top draft choice Rocky Thompson should also see action at halfback.

Jack Nicklaus Looking For Better Season Next Year

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus is nearing the end of his play for this season and already is looking forward to next year and, possibly, another assault on a sweep of golf's Big Four championships.
"I'm only going to play maybe one more regular tour event this year—and that's only maybe," Nicklaus said today before teeing off in the first round of the unique $200,000 United States Professional Match Play championship.
"I've got a pretty heavy European travel schedule this fall," he said.

"And 1972 could be a big year for me, with the Big Four championships being played where they are, and I sure want to be sharp for them."

The Masters, of course, is at Augusta, Ga., the U.S. Open at Pebble Beach, Calif., the British Open at Muirfield in Scotland and the PGA national championship at Oakland Hills, near Detroit.

"They're all courses I like and that I play reasonably well," said Nicklaus, who, admittedly, was seeking a never-completed sweep of those four titles this season.
He got off to a good start with a victory in the PGA, but finished second to Charles Coody in the asters, lost the U.S. Open in a playoff to Lee Trevino and finished sixth behind Trevino in the British.

But it's been one of the best seasons ever for the Golden Bear.

He's the No. 1 seed in this five-day tournament, has won four times, has finished ninth or better 13 of his 15 starts and, with a leading $205,568 in money winnings, is closing in on his own single season record of $211,556.

Single rounds, with half the 64-man field being eliminated each time, are scheduled today, Thursday and Friday. The quarter-finals and semi-finals are set for Saturday with the two survivors meeting for the $35,000 first prize Sunday on the 6,973 yard, par 72 Country Club of North Carolina course.

Nicklaus went against former PGA champion Ray Floyd in his first round match. Arnold Palmer, No. 2, played Australian Bruce Devlin. Gary Player of South Africa, the No. 3 player making his first start in this country in two months, faced Homero Blancas.

saved the game for rookie Regis Cleveland.
Pete Rose ripped three doubles and scored three runs and Woody Woodward slammed three hits to lead Cincinnati over Chicago.

Morton-Staubach In A Toss-Up For Starting Position

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboy quarterbacking situation is building up more drama than a television soap opera.

Coach Tom Landry field another barrage of questions Tuesday on who was making the most ground in the battle between Craig Morton and Roger Staubach.

He left questioners with absolutely no clues. No inflection in the voice; no blinking of the eyes; no idea.

Landry said Morton didn't lose any ground because of an inconsistent performance in Friday night's 16-15 National Football League exhibition victory over Cleveland.

"Morton's finish made up for his inability to move the team earlier," said Landry. "He handled himself well under pressure—that's an important quality."

Landry was grilled about his failure to give Staubach, the No. 2 quarterback in 1970, a chance in the game.

"It's hard to pull a quarterback when it's his game," Landry said. "Morton was competing to win the ball game and I just had to let him have the chance."

Landry announced that Staubach will start Thursday night against the Houston Oilers in the Astrodome "Texas Championship" battle.

"I don't know how long Roger will play," Landry said. "I expect Morton to play some."

Landry said he has been impressed with Morton's ability to throw hard. Morton underwent an off-season operation to remove bone chips from an elbow. "I think Morton's arm is fine," Landry said. "He has no after effects from his operation. The arm isn't sore."

Landry has said he will not choose his No. 1 quarterback based on statistics alone.

But when pressed about how the two competitors are doing on the imponderables Landry smiled and answered: "I'm very much satisfied with both quarterbacks."

Quarterback Praise Flows Freely In SWC Practice

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Quarterback praise flowed freely Tuesday on Southwest Conference training fields, as the second big day of fall workouts resumed with classes just around the corner.

The most lavish praise came from SMU mentor Hayden Fry, who said much-traveled Gary Hammond "looked very good" at quarterback for this early in the season. Hammond, a senior, was an All-Southwest Conference performer at end his sophomore year and at tailback last season.
"Gary was on target with his passing and I don't believe I saw a receiver drop the ball all day," Fry said.
Baylor coach Bill Beall praised the passing work of all three of his quarterbacks. He said backup men Randy Cavender and Chuck Dossert "seem improved over last spring," and added that starter Si Southall "was throwing very well."

Texas A&M Coach Gene Stallings was enthusiastic about the battle for the starting quarterback job that is going on in Aggieland between junior Lex James and sophomore Mark Green.
"The main difference is experience. Mark is doing a good job, but he hasn't been in front of 70,000 screaming fans. Lex is in good shape and is the more accurate because he has thrown a lot more," Stallings said.
At the University of Arkansas, Head Coach Frank Broyles said his team looked out of condition in Tuesday's scrimmage.

Scoring Machine Will Be Getting Overhaul

HOUSTON, (AP) — The nation's leading total defense and scoring machine over the past five years is being overhauled in hopes of keeping up the pace for the 1971 football season.

"We haven't been this unsettled with our lineup in the past five years," said University of Houston coach Bill Yeoman, the master mechanic of the Cougar's veer-T offense.

Yeoman developed the veer-T in 1966 and that's the same year the Cougars started their phenomenal success drive. For the five-year period, Houston has averaged 466.7 yards and 34.80 points per game.

Yeoman's big problem this season is finding replacements for some parts that didn't wear out—they graduated.

Four offensive starters are gone, led by All-American split end Elmo Wright, the Kansas City Chief's first round choice. Others are center Benny Fry, right tackle Craig Robinson and tight end Earl Thomas.

The Cougars are even more unsettled on defense. Five starters return but they are at new positions, designed to fill costly graduation losses.

Yeoman adds another sour note to his overhaul plans. "We're not what we've been ability wise for the past five years and we're not as firm in playing time of the returnees as we've been for the past five years."

Pat Orchin, a 5-foot-8-inch, 220-pounder from Baytown, will take up Wright's split end position. "He's a good little competitor with respectable speed and good hands," Yeoman said.

Riley Odoms, 6-4, 225, will replace Thomas. Luke Stungis and sophomore Ken Baugh are after Robinson's tackle job and center is up for grabs. The rest of the offensive line includes David Bourquin and Steve Cloud at guards and Charlie Moore at left tackle.

The Cougars return their 1970 backfield intact and the quality is there to produce if the line gives them enough support.

Yeoman says the biggest question mark is whether quarterback Gary Mullins comes all the way back from a knee injury suffered before the 1970 season. "If he comes all the way back, it's got to help our offense," Yeoman said.

The Cougars have one-two punch in running backs Robert Newhouse and Tommy Mozisek. Mozisek led the team in rushing with 935 yards last season and a 6.1 average per carry.

Newhouse started slowly last season while recuperating from an off-season auto accident. But in each of the last five games he rushed over 100 yards, Junior letterman Robert Ford of Belton is the flanker.

Operating on the theory that experience on defense is best, even if it means a new position, Yeoman moved tackle Mike Bolin and end Bob Kyle to linebackers and Kent Branstetter from end to tackle during spring drills.

The Houston defense will anchor around Frank Ditta, a senior middle linebacker, who set a school record 177 tackles last season, and Ronnie Peacock, who led the team in interceptions with five and made 81 tackles.

The Cougars' 1971 defensive look includes Butch Brezina and Eric Muegge at ends and Steve George and Branstetter at tackles. Bolin, Kyle and Ditta are the linebackers. Peacock and his brother, Randy, are at the corners and Burl Fuller and Nick Holm at safeties.

"Our secondary is an area of concern because we open with Rice and we know they'll test our pass defense," Yeoman said.

The Cougars, newcomers to the Southwest Conference, open with a long-awaited showdown with the Owls Sept. 11.

"I know they've got some outstanding kids over there because I tried to recruit some of them," Yeoman said.

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE
Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Deception Worst Policy

What is a president to do when his best judgment conflicts with public opinion, especially at election time?

What is he to do when significant public questions cannot be debated rationally because too many of us are irrational?

Should he just drift as President Buchanan did on the eve of the Civil War, waiting for the public to tell him what to do? Or should he act on the basis of his best judgment deceiving the public as necessary?

The questions are asked by the Rev. Arthur C. Tennes, writing in the National Observer. They are not answered by him.

"There is no simple answer," he says. "A president will be judged by historians not on whether he deceived the public but whether he chose the best policy. Deception itself is not the real problem; the real problem is presidents making the right decisions."

Lyndon Johnson wasn't the first president whose promises (something about not sending Americans boys to fight a war for Asian boys) were not in step with the truth, Tennes reminds us.

Woodrow Wilson ran in 1916 on a platform that boasted "He kept us out of war." Five months later he asked Congress to declare war on Germany.

In 1940, Franklin D. Roosevelt promised that American boys would never fight on foreign soil, even as he was working to get the United States in World War II.

"A president has a responsibility to represent the view of the people," says Tennes, "but this is not his total responsibility. What national policy should be cannot be determined just on the basis of popular sentiment at a particular moment. The majority is not just to be an errand boy for the popular whims but to give us the benefit of his wisdom and experience."

He cites the 1964 election in which "a host of supposedly well-educated and intelligent people" were so terrified by Barry Goldwater that they could not deal with his ideas on Vietnam in a rational manner.

Thus it is suggested that President Johnson had no choice but to pose as a dove in public while planning in secret to implement the very escalation Goldwater was honest—and stupid—enough to talk about.

Yet what might have happened had Johnson been a little less the consummate politician and displayed a little more faith in the ability of the people to make wise decisions when presented with all the available facts, had he admitted that there were, indeed, only two alternatives in Vietnam—abandon the country or go to war, and that he was already preparing contingency plans for the latter?

The public would have been so stunned and sobered that the hysteria generated over Goldwater would have evaporated and a rational debate on the choices facing the nation could have commenced.

Johnson could have led that debate, giving us benefit of his wisdom and experience.

But, according to Tennes' thesis, democracy is really an impractical form of government, and "the consent of the governed" is just one of those fancy phrases to be swept aside when it comes to important matters.

Run that on by again, slowly.

WASHINGTON

China Urges Hanoi To Talk With U.S.

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The diplomatic representatives of a major Western nation in mainland China have reported in dispatches to their government that over the past several months they have sensed a change in Peking's attitude toward the Indochina war.

These men report Peking has been pushing Hanoi to negotiate, to find some formula for an agreement with Washington and Saigon.

For some time now the war in South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia has been counterproductive for Peking. What China wants in these three countries is the build-up of strong local Communist parties or other pro-Peking groups.

But for several years in South Vietnam and in Laos, Hanoi has been sacrificing the local Communists to strengthen its own hold in these regions.

This was particularly noticeable in the Tet fighting in early 1968 when Hanoi gutted the local party structure to secure the bodies needed to carry out the series of sensational (but costly) attacks.

Hanoi's bombing in Cambodia cost the Chinese a major base of support. Today in Cambodia, native Communist units and native Communist political interests are sacrificed to the needs of North Vietnam's armies. In Laos, the picture is the same. The local Pathet Lao is in sad shape.

There is evidence Peking now believes the war in Laos, Cambodia and in South Vietnam as now fought is weakening the local Communist parties. Mao has repeatedly warned Hanoi on this point.

What China wants, apparently, is to circle back to the late 1950s and early 1960s. This can best be accomplished if North Vietnam's regular troops are removed along with the U.S. forces and conventional warfare brought to an end.

A strong faction, even in Hanoi, favors this course.

China's own spectacular development of the H-bomb apparently has made her leaders especially apprehensive. For the first time Peking realized the awesome power of this weapon.

China can do little about the Russian forces on her western frontier. But she can, perhaps, do something to reduce the strength of U.S. forces near her eastern borders—in Japan, South Korea, Okinawa, Formosa, South Vietnam Thailand and the Philippines.

An end to open war in South Vietnam, and other steps for better relations with the United States, might induce Washington to cut back further American forces throughout the western Pacific.

Now these things happened to them as a warning, but they were written down for our instruction, upon whom the end of the ages has come. Therefore let anyone who thinks that he stands take heed lest he fall. —I Cor. 10:11, 12.

Danger — if you meet it promptly and without flinching — you will reduce the danger by half. Never run away from anything. Never! —Sir Winston Churchill.

Even my bosom friend in whom I trusted, who ate of my bread, has lifted his heel against me. —Psalms 41:9

True friendship is like sound health, the value of it is seldom known until it is lost. —Charles C. Colton, English writer.

Do not wait for extraordinary circumstances to do good actions; try to use ordinary situations. —Jean Paul Richter, German author.

You shall sow, but not reap; you shall tread olives, but not anoint yourselves with oil; you shall tread grapes, but not drink wine. —Micah 6:15.

The surest way not to fail is to determine to succeed. —Richard Brinsley Sheridan, English dramatist.

In the morning sow your seed, and at evening withhold not your hand; for you do not know which will prosper, this or that or whether both alike will be good. —Eccl. 11:6

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Read Dr. Hulse's "Test for Teen-Agers" You can be 21 years old, yet still rate as a kindergarten, emotionally. And you may be only 12, yet have the emotional age of an adult. Jesus was only 12 when he argued with the wise men of the Temple! So test all teenagers on the Rating Scale below!

CASE R-545: Dr. E. Duane Hulse is the versatile "Flying Parson of Wisconsin."

He is thus a superb orator because of his many personal contacts with life. For example, he is also a professional magician, plus a talented deer hunter and also a scientific fisherman. As a Navy Chaplain or "Sky Pilot," he has rapport with military men, too. And he entertains his Youth Groups as a banjo player.

So I am not exaggerating when I call him "versatile." For he also has served as a former school teacher and deputy sheriff!

"Dr. Crane," he began, "you are doubtless familiar with the statement that teen-agers will suddenly lose their juvenility and mature fast when they get a job and start paying taxes. Well, I want you to look at this clever list of suggestions by which teen-agers can get along harmoniously with their parents. It came from the bulletin board of a Jewish synagogue in Evanston."

(1) Don't fear to talk the language of your parents. Try using even such strange sounding phrases as, "I'll help you with the dishes" or even surprise them by an occasional "Yes."

(2) See if you can't understand their music! Play G.I. Miller's "Moonlight Serenade" on your stereo until you become accustomed to the sound!

(3) Be patient with your under-achiever parents. When you catch your dieting Mom sneaking salted nuts, don't shout your violent criticism. Instead, smile graciously and tell her you like fat mothers!

(4) Encourage them to talk about their problems. Little things like earning a living and paying off the mortgage seem very important to parents!

(5) Be tolerant of their appearance. If your Dad gets a close haircut, don't feel personally humiliated. Remember, it's important to him to look like his peers, too!

Well, Dr. Hulse's list would be an excellent Sunday School topic if a teen-agers class could spend the entire hour expanding it. For far too many American youth have been granted adult privileges without having earned the right thereto! Unwise parents often subsidize their liberality with a free "allowance," so they squander such "adult" money in juvenile or Prodigal-Son fashion. Only earned money has real meaning!

whether as teen-agers or Congressmen!

You may be old enough to have a driver's license but you have not earned the right to an automobile till you can either pay for one out of your own earnings, or "rent" the family car by your chores and then, you are still a "dole" or dependent juvenile unless you at least keep the car washed and pay for the gas bill on your dates!

A lot of supposedly independent youth in America are merely indulged juveniles, whose papa financially does the courting for them via his lush checks to pay for fancy dinner dates, theater tickets and an auto!

Only former Boy Scouts, newspaper carriers, honor students at school and those who earn their own spending money, are really entitled to be considered grown-up!

So send for my "Behavior Tests for Teen-Agers," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents and compute your emotional age.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Pampa Daily News, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

H. L. Hunt Writes

RED MISSILE PROGRESS

Two stories out of Washington recently provide ample warning that the Soviet Union and communist China are moving ahead in the development and deployment of ballistic missiles. Intelligence obviously obtained by our spy satellites is that the Russians are ahead of our Defense Department predictions on the construction of silos that will house two new generations of missiles of intercontinental range. And the Chinese have accomplished the deployment of intermediate range missiles and are running slightly ahead of our intelligence guesses on their entire program of operational ballistic delivery systems.

New silos in Russia are capable of housing the 25-megaton SS-9. The missiles installed in China are of sufficient range to reach the Soviet Union, Japan and India. Thus, it is seen that our antagonists, with whom we have doubtful negotiations working, are moving full steam ahead in preparation for nuclear war.

These new developments in the heartland of our avowed adversaries come some time after the President's Blue Ribbon Panel on relative military strengths reported that we were running behind and warned that we are becoming a second rate power. It is no wonder that some groups who are consistent constructives are advocating changes by the electorate in the elections next year. We have seen in the last three years too many promises of an improvement in our military and civilian strength go unfulfilled.

Your Health

By Dr. Lawrence Lamb

Dear Dr. Lamb—I am 37 years old. When I was about 12 years old, I was shot with a "BB" gun above the eye. I am quite certain the shot (copper) remained in the skin because I used to be able to feel what it felt like. I have had rheumatoid arthritis for over 14 years and have had many medical examinations but never mentioned the shot before. My question is — could the copper in the shot in my system be in any way related to the rheumatoid arthritis or what effect, if any, could the copper have on the system? My health seems to be generally poor.

Barnes has since been investigated remorselessly by the feds-by the FBI, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., the Internal Revenue Service and the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC). Early this year, Barnes' friend and mentor newly arrived in the Nixon administration, secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally, asked Atty. Gen. John Mitchell what was going on. Mitchell replied that Barnes seemed clean.

Indeed, the investigations resulted in no charges, nor did the messy financial scandal involving Houston developer Frank Sharp, which entangled several Texas Democratic leaders including Gov. Preston Smith, seem to touch Barnes.

As Barnes' political agents spread out across Texas this summer, they were dismayed to find many voters equating Barnes and Smith as equally culpable in the scandal despite no such evidence. Nevertheless, Barnes' polls showed him a comfortable winner for Governor.

Comfortable, that is, until Wednesday, Aug. 11, when Sharp testified in Houston behind closed doors before SEC investigators. The central figure in the scandal, Sharp had become the government's star witness. In return, some 80 counts against Sharp were dropped as we let off scot free with five years probation on two counts to which he pleaded guilty and was granted immunity from self-incrimination.

The universal political conclusion: the Nixon administration let the scandal's biggest financial fish get away to hunt for possible big political fish.

When the SEC hearing began, however, SEC interrogators suggested immunity granted Sharp before a Federal grand jury might not apply to the commission's proceedings if so, snapped Sharp's lawyer, he would take the Fifth Amendment. Word as quickly gotten to Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst in Houston that day. Kleindienst DID apply to the SEC.

Sharp then exploded his political bombshell, asserting that an associate, John Osorio, told him "Ben has delivered for us" on a banking bill and "he deals only in cash." At that dramatic point, the proceedings adjourned. The testimony was promptly leaked to the press.

Next day, Sharp testified that Osorio told him Barnes "had been taken care of." But he added he knew of no money changing hands, had nothing to do with it himself and had never met Barnes. This week in Dallas, Osorio repudiated Sharp's testimony under oath. Barnes has categorically denied receiving any cash, loan or stock in his tangential connection with the bill.

Such fragmentary testimony could scarcely stand up in court, but it has transformed the political scene. Yarborough, ready to run for the Senate against Tower, now is determined to oppose Barnes for Governor. Republicans are drooling at the prospect of Yarborough winning the primary and conservative Democrats turning against him and the whole party ticket in it.

It could happen. Barnes' supporters agree he has been horribly damaged by Sharp's testimony; they disagree only as to whether the damage is irrevocable. Nobody expects the government will ever come faintly close to indicating Barnes, but its political impact is lethal enough without bothering about legal niceties.

"For you shall go out in joy, be led forth in peace; the mountains and the hills before you shall break forth into singing, and all the trees of the field shall clap their hands." —Isaiah 55:12.

Because the road was steep and long — and through a dark and lonely land, God set upon my lips a song, and put a lantern in my hand. —Joyce Kilmer, American Poet

He said to them, "Because of your little faith. For truly I say to you, if you have faith as a grain of mustard seed, you will say to this mountain, Move hence to yonder place, and it will move; and nothing will be impossible to you." —Matthew 17:20

It is unconstitutional, un-American, and immoral to draft any person to serve in any undeclared war. And it is criminal to send a man to die in a war we never had any intention of winning. We should have "War Crimes Trials," not in Nuremberg, but in Washington, not for foreigners, but for Americans. —Tom Anderson

Mental Warfare Engages Us

When you use words to mean the opposite of what they normally stand for, your purpose must be to confuse, befuddle, frustrate or inhibit. This deliberate misuse of words has been characteristic of soviet leaders for many years, but especially during and since World War II.

For example, "peace" means war. When a nation defends itself against Communist "liberators," it becomes an "aggressor." If it fights back with real vigor, then it is guilty of "escalating" the conflict. To attribute any kind of aggression to the Communist attacker is to be guilty of "slander," and in some cases to call a Communist a Communist is to risk character assassination as a "McCarthyist" and a spinner of "foul fabrications."

Alas, it is not merely foreign Reds who pursue the line that any kind of attack is the best defense. Their mental and moral warfare has been carried on inside every country with some highly respected organs of information and opinion using the strangest talk or defeat-talk or weird diction in their news and editorial columns or broadcasts.

Mental warfare is the name for it. It is waged mentally and morally.

Record Shows Warren Burger's Favored Projects Moving Ahead

WASHINGTON (AP) — At the start, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger pledged himself to judicial reform, to moving the nation's courts into "the super-market age."

"I intend to take an active part," he said at a judicial conference in July 1969, a week after being sworn in. An examination of his record after 26 months on the job shows that some of his favored projects, including prison reform and establishment of a national center for state courts, are moving ahead.

Additionally, Congress has been responsive to Burger's proposals for more money. The budget is up $478,700 this year, on top of a $700,400 boost in Burger's first year.

The justices have 31 clerks where two years ago they had 22. Congress has yet to show interest in Burger's idea that he be invited annually for a report on "the state of the federal judiciary" and the chief justice has had to settle for the American Bar Association as a substitute audience.

He's had better luck at the White House, persuading President Nixon through the intercession of Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell to publicly promote the state court center last March as "one of the most exciting projects in the recent history of our American judicial system." It was launched three months later.

At the core of Burger's reform proposals is the conviction that judges, particularly top judges, should not have to spend their time on administrative details.

There has been little public disagreement at a time when at a time most Americans have either experienced delay in the courts or read about it, although some House members grumbled last month about providing Burger with a $40,000 administrative assistant, a $22,897 legal assistant and another secretary.

The bill passed. Senate approval is considered a cinch. More important, last year Congress authorized the hiring of one administrator in each of the 11 federal judicial circuits at a salary of up to $36,000.

Finding candidates for the jobs has been difficult. None of the posts has been filled.

The new National Center for State Courts was launched in June with a $25,000 grant from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration. A board of directors was named this week. The center is designed to help the states pool ideas about modernizing their courts. The Federal Judicial Center performs this function for the U.S. courts.

Burger has also called for upgrading legal education with practical experience for students. "Some people suffer," he has said, "because lawyers are licensed, with very few exceptions, without the slightest inquiry into their capacity to perform the intensely practical functions of a counselor or an advocate."

The ABA picked up the theme quickly with an announcement of a $900,000 study conducted by W. Willard Wirtz, a former secretary of Labor, but the sponsors failed to obtain the expected funding. Now a special committee has been appointed by the ABA to reconsider the idea.

One method of change Burger favors is to have clinics at the law schools to bring students directly in touch with clients and their problems. In 1968, Congress authorized $7.5 million a year to set up clinics but has never appropriated a cent.

Congress is moving slowly on another Burger suggestion—creation of a judiciary council to report to the President, to Congress and to federal judges "on a wide range of matters affecting the judicial branch."

Prison reform is one of Burger's principal objectives. He has called existing prisons "noncorrecting correctional systems" and joined a reform campaign advanced by Bernard G. Segal, a Philadelphia lawyer, when he was president of the ABA.

Senate hearings may begin next month.

Backed by a $250,000 Ford Foundation grant, the ABA has set up a Commission on Correctional Facilities headed by former Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey.

Among the major projects of the Commission are providing volunteer lawyers to serve as assistant parole officers and encouraging correctional workers to enroll in junior colleges.

Stans Says Some Type Of Control Needed After 90-Day Freeze Ends

By JOHN STOWELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans said today he favors some type of control system on wages and prices after expiration of the 90-day freeze period put into effect by President Nixon.

His statement was similar to one made earlier by Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally.

Stans told newsmen that 11 of the nation's top business leaders are willing to accept wage and price controls after the freeze is over and oppose going back to the pre-freeze status quo.

control system is needed after the termination of 90 days, but I'm not prepared to say what that will be," Stans said at a news conference.

Asked if that would include mandatory controls, Stans said "Yes." He said the businessmen feel that any wage-price stabilization plan should fall between the two extremes of doing nothing or instituting permanent wage and price controls along the line of those that existed during World War II.

Stans said, however, he is not in a position to say what form of mandatory control system will result after the 90-day freeze expires Nov. 12. He said that is up to the Cost of Living Council, of which he is a member.

Dollar Buying Strong In Bank Of Japan

LONDON (AP) — The U. S. dollar weakened sharply in European foreign exchanges today but showed increased strength in Tokyo as the Japanese government again refused to raise the value of its money.

European dealers reported signs of big money operators entering the market to unload dollars and a downward trend for the American money appeared to be developing.

But a dollar buying spree developed in Tokyo and the Bank of Japan was forced to shell out about $110 million to satisfy demand.

Japan's acting foreign minister, Toshio Kimura, ruled out a unilateral increase in the value of the yen. He said any change should come as a result of talks among leading countries directly involved in the present monetary crisis.

This was the picture in major exchanges at mid-afternoon: London—One dollar bought 40.88 British pence, 40.98 pence at the closing Monday and 41.33 on Aug. 13 before the crisis. This amounted to a cut in the dollar's value since Aug. 13 of 1.11 per cent.

Rome—The dollar bought 615 lire on the Milan money market; 617.50 Monday, and 620.50 on Aug. 13. This was a devaluation of the dollar of eight-tenths of one per cent.

Amsterdam—The dollar was worth 3.454375 guilders at the close and 3.483125 Monday. This was a 4.58 per cent devaluation of the dollar from the Aug. 13 rate of 3.62 guilders.

Frankfurt—the dollar bought 3.3940 West German marks, today, 3.4250 Monday and 3.4225 on Aug. 13, a devaluation of the dollar by eight-tenths of one per cent.

Attention also centered on Geneva, where Nathaniel Samuels, U.S. deputy under secretary of state, was defending Nixon's new 10 per cent import surcharge at a special meeting of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, or GATT.

GATT is the 80-nation organization created after World War II to work for tariff reductions. The surcharge on import duties is a violation of its rules.

However, 11 nations have taken the same action as a temporary measure when they were beset by deficits in the balance of payments of the foreign trade balance. The U.S. surcharge also is designed as temporary measure.

Soviet Sailors Friendly To Students On Summer Cruise

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Texas Maritime Academy cadets and Texas A&M freshmen said they encountered no language barriers and found Europeans friendly "just like Texans" on their 13,000-mile summer cruise this year.

A 48-hour exchange with the crew of a large Russian research vessel was the highlight of the 10-week "Summer School at Sea" operated by Texas A&M, most said.

The Soviet-American friendship is credited to John Meeks of San Marcos, academy senior. Discussing the trip shortly after the "Texas Clipper" docked at the Mitchell Campus here recently, Meeks said the A&M training ship tied up in front of the Soviet ship at Las Palmas, Canary Islands.

"I took Russian in high school and decided to walk over to ask to see the ship," Meeks related. "They were about the finest people we met on the whole trip."

Meeks reported the Soviet captain of the 183-foot vessel, the "Priliv," invited him aboard, showed him the oceanography and meteorology equipment and invited him to a meal of squid, shrimp, caviar, and vodka.

The Russian captain and two of the scientists aboard spoke English but the rest of 50 men and women aboard apparently were meeting their first American Meeks said.

"I returned to the Clipper with an appointment for Capt. (Alfred) Philbrick (Clipper captain) to meet with the Soviet captain," he explained. During the next two days the Russians and Aggies toured each other's ships, exchanged meals and movies and held a ping-pong match between the two captains.

Meeks said the Soviet ship had a male and female crew, yet none were married to each other. They told the cadets the research vessel was making a South Atlantic cruise to compile data on summer storms.

"There was no language barrier whatsoever," Meeks said. "In fact, there was no language barrier the whole trip."

Tony Brocktrup, Houston Junior, speaks German and he was able to communicate with many of the Russian crewmen. He said the Russians enjoyed the two American movies "Texas Across the River" and "The Great Race."

Both sides did some trading. One cadet exchanged a watch for a Russian-edited dictionary of Russian-to-English, English-to-Russian. Each Soviet crewman was given an academy patch and some received wind breakers.

Lenin pins were presented to the cadets. C. Robert Bigler Jr. of Fairfax, Va., said 80 girls from a school in Cork, Ireland, were guests aboard the converted oceanliner for a dance.

"We had a great time," Bigler said. "The girls all spoke English but most of us had a hard time understanding the Irish brogue."

Carl Sanders of Houston, a sophomore on his first cruise, admitted he didn't know what to expect in Europe.

"In Rotterdam, two of us were on a street corner and a couple of little girls came up and asked for our autographs. We gave them each a nickel and some pennies.

"The girls told their friends and dozens of little kids came out of nowhere and asked for autographs," Sanders continued. "Some of the other cadets couldn't understand why kids followed them everywhere. We didn't make that mistake again."
