American Dollar Under Pressure

By LOUIS NEVIN
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — The dollar came under fierce pressure abroad today and major European money exchanges closed awaiting clarification of President Nixon's action to defend the U.S. Dollar.

Exporters from Europe to the Orient expressed concern about the effect of the 10 per cent surcharge on dutiable goods not subject to import quotas.

The closing of money markets, triggered by Nixon's decision to suspend settlement of international transactions in gold, left many American tourists abroad hard-pressed to buy foreign exchange.

They felt the devaluing effect of the financial measures when they had to pay premiums at commercial outlets.

In Japan, which will certainly feel the impact of the measures, the Central Bank supported the dollar at its official rate of 357.37 yen and the foreign exchange was still open.

Britain, West Germany, Switzerland, Sweden, Norway, Italy and South Africa among others closed their foreign exchange and gold markets. France, Belgium and Luxembourg had a bank holiday for the Roman Catholic Feast of the Assumption.

In Frankfurt, shares of companies likely to be affected by the surcharge dropped sharply, including sub automobile makers, as Volkswagen. The Swiss Cabinet was told the surcharge would affect about 90 per cent of all Swiss exports to the United States, which totaled $455 million last year.

An international monetary conference appeared to be shaping up to study charges in the international system set up in 1944 at Bretton Woods, N.H.

Generally, American tourists in Europe took the crisis in stride, although the cashier of one of the Paris' most exclusive hotels said: "There's a real panic."

Tourist agencies and banks met the situation in different ways. Some imposed limits on the amount of dollars they would accept. Others devalued by the dollar by 10 per cent "to protect ourselves."

Reaction to the President's economic package was mixed. The West German government welcomed it.

Economy Minister Paul Nyboe Anderson, of Denmark, however, called for "immediate negotiations among leading nations to prevent unnecessary disturbance of international trade."

Robert W. Waddell, 34, lifelong resident of Pampa, was killed instantly Saturday night when his car skidded on a rain-slick highway 21 miles north of Pampa and slammed into a tree.

Mr. Waddell was born in Pampa Oct. 5, 1936 and graduated from Price College in 1954. He graduated from St. Louis University in 1958 with a B.S. degree, and married Joy Womack in Dallas on Aug. 27, 1960. ### U.S. B52s Pound Reds Along DMZ forces who drove South Vietnam claimed about 200 North Vietnamese and two American Sunday, many of them by U.S. planes and artillery, in the fourth day of fighting just below the DMZ.

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52s and fighter-bombers today pounded North Vietnamese forces who drove South Vietnam Marines from a mountain outpost with heavy losses and shelled other government bases along the demilitarized zone.

Incomplete reports said 33 South Vietnamese troops were killed or missing and 13 South Vietnamese and two American advisers were wounded.

The hardest fighting occurred on 1,500-foot Mt. Nui Ba Ho, nine miles south of the DMZ and 21 miles east of the Laotian border, where an estimated 5000 North Vietnamese attacked a company of less than 200 South Vietnamese marines.

The marines abandoned the outpost, and U.S. fighter-bombers, helicopter gunships and artillery hammered the North Vietnamese positions continuously. Half a dozen B52s struck before dawn today, dropping 180 tons of bombs within half a mile of the mountain while fighter-bombers attacked the mountain itself.

Rains Friday netted the area 1.02 inches of rain, with .09 inches recorded Saturday morning. More rains fell Sunday afternoon, night and early today to bring the total up to the one and a quarter inches mark.

Tokyo Officials Say Import Tax Blow To Japan's Export Trade

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese officials said today that President Nixon's new import tax will be a heavy blow to Japan's export trade.

Chief Cabinet Secretary Noboru Takeshita told a news conference that his government hopes the 10 per cent surtax will be lifted as soon as possible. He said the government has no plan to revalue the yen upward, and the Bank of Japan will buy dollars in case there is excessive selling on the Tokyo foreign exchange market.

Other officials and business leaders predicted that the emergency economic measures Nixon announced Sunday night would seriously affect U.S. Japanese trade, which in 1969 totaled 4.9 billion in exports to the United States and $3.5 billion in goods shipped the other way.

An official at the semi-official Japan External Trade Organization said the import surtax is "one step short of a total suspension of imports on the part of the U.S."

A Finance Ministry official said Nixon's action could have deflationary effect on the Japanese economy, which has been sluggish for some time. The willingness of Japanese businessmen to invest in new plants and equipment may be seriously curtailed, he added.

Officials of the Ministry of International Trade and Industry said the Japanese government would not take any action in retaliation for the import surtax, at least for the time being, but Shige Kurebayashi of the Fuji Bank termed the surtax a "partial revaluation of the Japanese currency for a full upward revaluation of the Japanese currency is likely to increase."

Foreign Ministry sources said their department was shocked by the President's announcement. They said the government had been planning to urge against any extra import charge when the Japan-U.S. Committee on Trade and Economic Affairs meets in Washington next month.

Financial and banking leaders said the U.S. economy must be at its worst ever and the new policy will no doubt cause a serious impact on the international monetary situation. Prices on the Tokyo Stock

Nixon Takes Action To Combat Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's largely voluntary wage, price and rent freeze for 90 days raised more questions than were answerable immediately.

Principal hope for clarification of some points appeared to be the noon news conference today called by Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally.

But there was little indication firm answers to all questions raised by Nixon's Sunday night announcement would be available for many days.

Because of these essentially voluntary nature of the move there were no quick and solid answers to all the questions which began flooding Washington after the Presidential address.

Among the unanswered questions: What about contracts under negotiation? What about contracts providing for automatic wage increases?

What about salary agreements—such as those for professional football players—not now in effect but related to last season's pay?

What about purchases contracted for earlier but not yet paid for?

President Nixon, declaring that "America is at her greatest when she is called on to compete," has imposed a largely voluntary 90-day wage-price freeze and invited world re-evaluation of exchange rates—ANGES THAT AMOUNT TO changes that would amount to devaluation of the dollar.

In a hastily arranged television and radio address to the nation Sunday night, Nixon pictured his far-ranging program—much of which he put into effect immediately—as a bid to cut unemployment, stem inflation, protect the dollar and make American goods more competitive with foreign products.

The President historic announcement that the United States is abandoning its long-standing policy of selling gold to foreign governments at $35 an ounce, and the wage-price freeze, were among the measures that took immediate effect.

So too was a "temporary" average surcharge of 10 per cent on many imported products, which should result in corresponding hikes in the amount Americans pay for Volkswagen and Toyota autos, Grundig and Sony electronic equipment and a host of other items. Exempt would be such quota-subject imports as petroleum, coffee, ores, cotton textiles, sugar and Nixon also proposed new tax breaks for consumers and businessmen, including repeal of the 7-per-cent federal excise that adds an average $200 to the cost of a new car. But Congress must act on these recommendations.

He asked Congress to postpone implementation of his high-priority revenue-sharing and welfare-reform proposals for three months and one year respectively. Congress has shown a reluctance to approve either measure.

On his own, Nixon promised to cut federal employment by 5 per cent, impose a six-month freeze on federal pay hikes scheduled for Jan. 1 and take other steps designed to reduce spending by $4.7 billion.

The surprise moves, which Nixon claimed were the most comprehensive in four decades in the economic sphere, were viewed as the president's reply to Democratic critics who contend the state of the economy—not Vietnam—will be the major political issue in the 1972 election.

It was noted, too, that Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally who collaborated closely with Nixon in drafting the package, was trotted out to brief newsmen on the development. This could only have the effect of adding to speculation that TEXAS Democrat Connally may supplant Spiro T. Agnew as the 1972 GOP vice presidential candidate.

Congress was out of town for visited with her parent, Mr. President made his announcement.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., who as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee ranks as most influential tax man in Congress, called Nixon's new economic plan excellent and predicted favorable committee action on the President's call for reinstating the investment tax credit to spur business spending.

Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, the only announced Democratic candidate for president, called the new program "economic madness.... The President has shown a total lack of confidence in the American economy."

Nixon's 8-Point Plan, If Proves Successful, May Help Him In 1972

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's economic block-buster buys political time and will enable him to run in 1972 on a record of having moved firmly to the defense of the nation's economy.

If the President's eight-point plan works, the results should certainly be known before the November 1972 balloting. The economy issue could be defused entirely.

"If it doesn't work—well, the old policy wasn't working, either, and the new plan at least tries out some of the steps Nixon critics have been advocat-

Further, the actions announced Sunday start a new time cycle during which the administration can say, "Let's see what happens" without it sounding as repetitive as the optimistic forecasts the White House has turned out for months.

Democrats have made no secret of their attempts to force the economic issue to the force forefront for '72. Even so loyal a Nixon troop as Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said Saturday that if Nixon is to win re-election, "H'll have to win the fight against inflation."

Demands for wage-price controls have grown, first from Democrats, then from Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur Burns and most recently from some Senate Republicans.

Against this background, Congress scheduled hearings for the administration would participate.

Now, by freezing wages, prices and rents to 90 days, he has pre-empted those hearings, which likely would have produced new cries that the administration was not doing enough to stop inflation.

Even the early reaction to Nixon's economic speech showed a new divergence in the Nixon opposition. Sen. William Proxmire, D-

Wis., chairman of the Joint Economic Committee and frequent critic of Nixon economic policies, said he supports the program, although he said elements are overdue and may not go far enough.

But Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., the only announced seeker of the Democratic presidential nomination, called the program "economic madness and in the free enterprise system."

As with his China initiatives, Nixon has embarked on a course of action which, if it works, should be worth plenty of votes.

However, even total success won't make every voter happy. Persons who travel abroad, for example, aren't likely to applaud having to pay more for accommodations and services overseas. Federal workers who don't get pay raises or even lose their jobs — won't be happy either.

But buyers of new domestic cars, if they save $200 as the President wants, and veterans who trace new jobs to new tax incentives, should like what they're getting.

If the wage, rent and price freeze lasts only 90 days, many voters may have forgotten about it by election day in 1972. But a long-term freeze could cost the President votes, since workers, psychology is that the pay raise they should get would inflation someone else caused, not bring about inflation for anyone else.

From another political viewpoint, the economic policy changes thrust Treasury Secretary John B. Connally even more into speculation about Nixon's 1972 running mate.

Connally had been named earlier as Nixon's chief economic spokesman. The role now assumes more prestige since Connally can talk about action taken instead of action delayed, as he had to do in June when the administration decided to wait longer before implementing any new economic strategy.

Connally is known to have worked especially closely with the President in devising the new steps. If they work, Connally's position seemingly improves even more, and as a running mate, he could effectively trumpet the success.

If the new policies fail, it may matter little from a standpoint of his re-election chances who Nixon has for a running mate.

Secretary Laird Addresses VFW Meeting In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird delivered the opening address today at the beginning of the 72nd national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Most talk, however, was of a planned visit Thursday by President Richard Nixon who, VFW officials said, will make closed-door remarks to delegates their families and guests.

T.Y. Chao, chairman of Nationalist China's vocational assistance commission for retired servicemen, told VFW delegates Sunday that admission of Red China to the United Nations would only encourage Maoist aggression. Additionally, Chao declared, America would lose faith and support of her Asian allies. Chao said he understands President Nixon's motives in visiting mainland China, but he said he sees in store for Nixon "only humiliation, insult, blackmail and distortion."

Captain Medina Trial Resumes
By KATHRYN JOHNSON Associated Press Writer
FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (AP) — The trial of Capt. Ernest Medina, charged with assault and murder of 102 Vietnamese civilians during the My Lai raid in March 1968, resumes today. It has been in recess since July 28 while nearly 50 witnesses were being summoned. The 34-year-old Medina, who won the Silver Star for heroism in combat in Vietnam, will be tried before a jury of five officers, all of whom served in Vietnam. The wiry, black-haired captain, of Mexican-American extraction, will be tried on a non-capital basis. The maximum sentence jury could give him, therefore, would be life imprisonment. While the captain is charged with premeditated murder, the Army says he is not accused of personally killing all of the 102 persons. Maj. William Eckhard, the Army prosecutor, has said Medina is accused of acting as a "principal" to the killings, one who "counsels, commends or procures another to commit an offense." Medina, a Montrose, Colo., resident, was the commander of Charlie Company when the American Division staged an infantry assault on the Vietnamese village March 16, 1968. One of his platoon leaders that day was Lt. William L. Calley Jr., who was convicted March 29 at Ft. Benning, Ga. of 22 murders. Calley was tried on a capital basis but the jury set his sentence at life. His case is under review. Two-thirds of the witnesses the Army plans to call against Medina also testified in the Calley court-martial, which lasted 4 1/2 months. Capt. Mark Kadish, one of Medina's Army lawyers, says he thinks the trial will take four to six weeks. Calley testified at his trial stand to deny he gave such the eve of the assault and told his troops to kill everything in the village. Medina took the state to deny he gave such an order. Medina also said he spent most of his time during the My Lai assault at a radio position just outside the hamlet. He said units of his company entered the village in the belief that they would find only enemy soldiers. The military judge is Col. Kenneth Howard, who presided at the trial of another My Lai defendant—Sgt. Charles Hutto, who was acquitted of charges in connection with the massacre.

Most European experts consulted underscored the importance of Nixon's declaration that "we will press for the establishment of a new international monetary system" and that "it is determined that the American dollar will never again be a hostage in the hands of international monetary speculators." The United States was reported last week to have proposed to the International Monetary Fund a widening of the band in which currencies are permitted to fluctuate. Under present rules a currency may move only within a range of 1 per cent above or below its dollar parity. Thus the British pound may only fluctuate between $2.3860 and $2.4240. The Americans are reported to want to widen the band to 3 per cent on either side of parity. The official soviet news agency that the dollar crisis has nothing to do with U.S. economic strength and asserted: "In reality, the rise of the dollar is only a reflection of the very deep crisis of American capitalism."

Chicanos Hold Rally To Boycott Schools

HOUSTON (AP) — About 2,000 Mexican-Americans held a rally here Sunday to boost a planned boycott of Houston public schools by Mexican-Americans this fall. Romauldo Castillo, chairman of the Mexican-American Educational Council here, asked the crowd to urge all Mexican-American parents to keep their children at home when school opens Aug. 26. The boycott was called two weeks ago in response to a federal court plan to order the busing of children who attend 22 elementary schools in the Houston district, the nation's sixth largest. The council says the desegregation plan mixes Mexican-Americans with negroes but does not affect many anylo children. There are about 36,000 Mexican-American pupils in the 240,000-pupil district. Castillo said he was disappointed in the crowd of 2,000 at Moody Park. He had predicted 6,000 would attend. Later, in an interview, Castillo said strike schools would be set up a few days before schools open to provide education for children boycotting the system. Leonel Castillo, founder of the council, said at the rally that the school board has the right to expand the pair of schools to bring anglos into the desegregation effort "but they don't choose to do so." Also speaking at the rally was the Rev. C. Anderson Davis, executive director of the Houston chapter of the NAACP. He called upon Negroes and Mexican-Americans to unify to bring integration. "We cannot get what we're asking for until there is a coalition between minority people," he said, Anderson said while the NAACP has not endorsed the boycott, "we're not against it."

Mrs. Nixon Promotes 'Parks To People' Plan In 5 States

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Richard Nixon is off today on a cross-country trip promoting the President's "Parks to the People" program by turning over $10.5 million worth of federal land in five states for recreational use. The first stop on the three-day trip in nearby McLean, Va. Accompanied by the President's top domestic adviser, John D. Ehrlichman, Mrs. Nixon will drive from the White House to take part in the McLean ceremonies, transfer 230 acres of federal highway department land near the George Washington Memorial Parkway to the National Park Service. Ehrlichman will make the formal speech, citing the administration's efforts to give unused federal properties to state and local governments for public leisure-time use, particularly in areas near congested cities. Mrs. Nixon will present the official certificate of transfer to National Park Service Director George Hartzog so the acreage can be put to public use for walking and biking trails, base ball park and picnic spot.

After that, the President's wife will take off from Dulles Airport for Battle Creek, Mich., for afternoon ceremonies turning over 2,937 acres or about one-fourth of the land at famed Ft. Custer Military Reservation. With an overnight stop in Minneapolis, Mrs. Nixon will visit Fort Snelling, Minn., and Camp White in Medford, Ore., Tuesday and Border Field, Calif., Wednesday for similar activities. Altogether she will officiate at the turnover of 4,243 acres of federal property. At the windup Wednesday she'll go the Western White House at San Clemente, Calif., for a two-week stay. Nixon will join her there Thursday after a three-day speech making cross-country trip of his own. Mrs. Nixon is flying aboard a Boeing 707 jet of the presidential fleet, accompanied by her staff and 14 newsmen. Her press secretary, Constance Stuart, said the first lady's trip is NOT political. But Frank Leonard, director of publications for the Republican National Committee, went along to give Mrs. Nixon's journey a splash in the GOP's publication "Monday."

Sharp Tells Probers There Was Tacit Understanding On Loan Deal

HOUSTON (AP) — Frank W. Sharp has told government investigators here that there was a tacit understanding that he would loan money and sell stock to key Texas politicians in exchange for passage of legislation he favored, the Houston Post said in its Saturday edition.

Quoting unnamed sources, the Post said the disclosure came as Sharp wound up five days of testimony before Securities and Exchange Commission investigators looking into a stock scandal that has rocked the state.

The testimony came in closed session at the federal building here. Although newsmen were not allowed in the room, lawyers for many of the other 27 defendants named in an SEC civil suit charging stock manipulation were allowed to attend.

Leaks from the deposition taking have involved Deputy Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and state Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston as being involved in the case.

The Houston Chronicle, in a copyright story Friday, quoted Sharp as saying Wilson, a former Texas attorney general who now heads the Justice Department's criminal division but was Sharp's attorney in 1968, helped Sharp to evade the loan limits of Sharp's Sharpstown State Bank to buy National Bankers Life Insurance Co. of Dallas.

The SEC civil suit charges that stock of NBL was manipulated.

But the Post Saturday quoted sources as saying that Sharp denied that Wilson advised him on how his bank could finance the acquisition of the insurance company. The Post said Sharp acknowledged that Wilson had been the go-between in the move to buy the insurance company from former Gov. Allen Shivers. But Sharp said it was Joe Novotny, president of the bank from 1969 to 1970, who suggested the way to handle the financial transaction.

On Thursday, a Dallas television station said Sharp recited a conversation he had with John Osorio, former president of NBL, in which they discussed assorted but undefined financial favors done for Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes in an effort to pass legislation urging a 1969 special session of the legislature which would have allowed the now-defunct Sharpstown State Bank to escape regulation by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

Barnes had flatly denied the charges, saying, "I have never known Frank Sharp. I have never borrowed any money from the Sharpstown bank, I have never owned any National Bankers Life stock, and I most certainly never accepted anything of value in connection with any legislation that has been pending before the Texas Senate."

JEANE DIXON Your Horoscope

TUESDAY, AUG. 17
Your birthday Tuesday: Finds you in midstream, but attaining natural growth efforts in normal directions. Limitations are largely external, economic. Concentrate on study, prayer, meditation and the serenity you may achieve soon.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23): An invitation comes your way and very likely you can take full advantage of it, some people have to know quickly for best results.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Crisis is a normal state of your affairs at present. Act directly without hesitation once you've reflected and given intuition a good chance to come through.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Being stopped or rejected hurts the pride but provides priceless learning. Thus you can see how to avoid worse a little further along the way.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You have extra opportunity to explain your projects and get support organized. Put in a full day; leave no available contact unworked.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): The last minute will be soon enough to accept bids for your time and attention; once you promise it's difficult to back out.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You may rearrange your finances—Tuesday with good results, but do not assume this should be the final settlement. Further change later is almost certainly needed.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Much is achieved by simply getting down to business and keeping up a steady effort. Seek a complete switch, another place, another viewpoint.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Put your pride aside and seek really competent advice now, especially on legal questions. It's an excellent day for medical check-ups.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Scores naturally tend to level now; those who've been shut out get in, those spoiled by being in too long are reduced or turned out.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Be sociable without becoming a pest. Distribute your attentions in gentle good humor.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Taste is downright destructive now. Think, check conditions, discipline your restless mood, particularly if driving or handling heavy equipment.

Work-Study Program Helps UT Students Work Through School

AUSTIN, Texas (SpI) — A direct of the Student Financial Aids Office. Carpenter explained that 86 per cent of the wages in the program is supplied by federal funding, while the employer of the student worker supplies 20 per cent. That brings the total projected payroll to $907,700.

The federal allocation to UT Austin for the program from January 1, 1971, to May 30, 1972, amounts to $755,917, the largest sum for that purpose ever made available to the University, according to Ed Carpenter,

Texas Countryside Is Constant Wonderland

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer

One of the great things about Texas is that no matter what sort of trip you take by car, the countryside flashing past is a constant wonderland.

It is if you really look.

The route, for instance, from the hot pavement of the Fort Worth and Dallas region, through Waco, Temple, Austin, San Antonio and on to Corpus Christi is filled with marvels.

Then back through Victoria and you're passing new and fascinating scenes.

This column's annual rush into the outdoors and fresh air was through just that territory.

Since J.W. Potts is retiring from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, perhaps we'll steal some of his expertise on farming to lead off.

For about two decades, you have been reading Potts' report each week from College station on the Texas farming and ranching situation.

So to the farm report:

Texas has one of the greatest mesquite and Johnson grass crops on record this year. The cacti aren't doing bad either. This applies everywhere.

Beyond that, the crop situation depends on where you are at the moment.

Somewhere southwest of Austin, the late and unlamented drought left its scars. Some corn and other crops never got more than six inches tall. Evidence is plain that many fields were abandoned for the year.

Somewhere around Sinton on the route to Corpus Christi, what could be the world's greatest crops began to appear—even before the latest round of rains.

Fields of grain sorghum are so beautifully uniform that they appear to be one gigantic red-orange tableland. It is being cut. Cotton could hardly be better, although just the sight of it can arouse bitterness in an old country boy who once crawled up and down the rows picking the lint. They do it mostly with machines now.

Really, the country around Austin can appear beautiful, including grasslands, even in a drought. You run into a lot of German place names in that territory.

On the return trip, too, German names appear from Victoria north.

And in the countryside near Schulenburg, Weimar and such places, the views should be in a picture book—the manicured pastures, the rolling hills, green valleys.

Which poses this question: Does it rain more on descendants of Germans than on other people in times of droughts.

Adding to the picture-book views around Austin are church steeples peeping out from the hills here and there—isolated, away from any community.

Perhaps the rural church really isn't dead.

Then for contrast you see in the distance a vast gash in the earth. Strip mining is not unknown to Texas.

Route 77 was a new one to this column.

Along some of the stretches of highway, strenuous efforts are being made to get rid of mesquites.

And where this is done, grass grows bountifully.

Somehow it came as a surprise to find highway signs around Victoria warning "Watch out for Deer."

You never think of deer on the coastal plains—only in the Hill Country northwest of Austin. But deer once were everywhere in Texas. Perhaps they're coming back.

Deer on highways are not much of a threat in the daytime in the hot summer. Like everyone else, deer prefer the coolness of shade, even if it is only the shadow thrown by a mesquite.

There aren't any hills around Victoria, the map asserts. No hills, that is, until you try to pass someone on a two-lane highway.

When you attempt that, you'd think you'd missed the highway and ended up in the Rocky Mountains small edition with just enough mountain so that you can't get around sluggards on the road.

Not everything has turned out well for everyone in Texas, highway marker tells the motorist he is passing through the town of Hope.

But Hope was lost. It consists of one filling station, store and living quarters, as far as the driver can see. The establishment is closed and abandoned.

Literary note: It isn't an "epidemic" when an animal disease is widespread. It is an "epizootic." So says the dictionary.

But might as well try to halt the ocean's tide as to convince people they should speak of an "epizootic."

This brings to mind the seemingly thousands of horses on pasture around Victoria—sleek, vigorous, seemingly happy grazing on the tall grass.

This was during the height of the horse encephalitis epizootic.

Which led a youngster to roll down a car window as he passed the equines and shout:

"Don't forget to get your V-E-E shot!"

Nearly everybody likes horses.

COLUMBIA, Md. (AP) — Comedian Jack Benny, famous for his thrift, has been awarded a citation or 30 years of promoting the sale of U.S. Savings Bonds.

Jesse Adams of the Treasury Department's Savings Bonds Division gave the 77-year-old comedian a miniature Liberty Bell Wednesday and described him as the most frugal man since Benjamin Franklin.

Nursing Program Will Be Set Up At West Texas

CANYON, Tex. — A $20,000 special appropriation has been made to West Texas State University for tuition scholarships for its new baccalaureate in nursing program, Dr. Ray A. Malzahn, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, said Sunday.

The appropriation was approved by the recent Texas Legislature which earlier in the session authorized the university and Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo to coordinate the nursing degree program.

Mrs. Eunice M. King, director of nursing for the Amarillo Hospital District, was named by the West Texas State Board of Regents as acting head of the baccalaureate program.

Malzahn said guidelines remain to be established for awarding the scholarships. He added the $20,000 was for one year since the second year of the appropriation bill was vetoed by Gov. Preston Smith.

The legislative enactment granting the tuition scholarships to nursing students at West Texas State also provided grants to Texas Woman's University, the University of Texas System and Prairie View A&M.

The act states: "Each such scholarship shall be granted only after a review of the economic circumstances and need of the individual student and may be in an amount deemed necessary to cover any part, or all, of the tuition of such student."

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: First let me say some of my best friends are homosexuals, so I have nothing against them, but how about this? I received an engraved invitation in the mail inviting me to a wedding between two such people. It read:

"You are cordially invited to a celebration of love of (name withheld) and (name withheld) on Sunday, the twenty first of August at two o'clock, Metropolitan Community Church, 625 Polk Street, San Francisco, California."

Abby, when did they pass a law making marriage between two people of the same sex legal?

FLABBERGASTED

DEAR FLABBERGASTED: A celebration of love is simply a ceremony and does not constitute a legal marriage.

DEAR ABBY: The other night my boy friend took me to a nightclub to see one of our favorite entertainers. Unfortunately we couldn't enjoy the show because of a loud drunk in the audience who kept shouting and making a disturbance.

The manager threatened to put him out if he didn't quiet down, but it didn't help much. Finally the entertainer told the loud drunk to shut up. At that point my boy friend became so exasperated he took a piece of ice out of his drink and threw it at the drunk, hitting him on the head.

I told my boy friend it was up to the management to handle the drunk, and even though they didn't do a very good job of it he had no right to take the matter into his own hands.

My boy friend said he paid to see a show, and if anyone tried to deny him of that right, he was justified in handling the matter himself. Who is right?

HAVING WORDS

DEAR HAVING: You are.

DEAR ABBY: I've been a faithful Abby reader for years and have never known you to flub so miserably as when you answered, "Alone by the Phone."

A trucker's wife said her husband always promised to call her at a set time. She didn't have a telephone, so she'd go to her neighbor's and wait for his call. If he didn't call that night she'd go back three and four nights a week!

All you said was, "Most truckers are dependable. You must have picked a lemon."

In my opinion, she's a bigger lemon than he is. The idea of imposing on a neighbor for hours at a time, three and four nights a week — waiting for a phone call! Where was your sympathy for the poor neighbor? And where were her children all this time? Does she take them to the neighbors while she waits by the phone? Or does she leave them home to fend for themselves?

I'd have said, "Get yourself a telephone!" And use those long evenings sewing, or baking cookies or putting up pickles. And for goodness' sake, give your son suffering neighbor a break!

KATIE IN ORLANDO

DEAR KATIE: You sound more like Ma Bell. You're right. I should have told her to get her own telephone. But I still say he picked a lemon.

Italian Maids Joining Unions

ROME (AP)— Italy has a two-pronged maid problem. In the first place, there's a shortage of domestic help. And then — what maids there are have become increasingly organized and militant.

Other countries have had problems finding maids for a century. The French have had to employ legions of Spanish and Portuguese girls for home chores. In the United States, a maid is usually a luxury for the wealthy alone.

But in Italy, maids were readily available just 25 years ago.

It was not unusual for rich families to have 100 or more domestic employees, living in servitude, earning meager wages and ill-protected by the half-law.

In 1946, Marcia T., a capable young widow from the countryside, found a job as a live-in maid, sleeping in the kitchen, for 2,000 lire monthly. At the time, a pair of shoes cost 500 lire and a kilo of bread on the black market about 100 lire.

We were treated like slaves," Maria recalls. "Even shop girls looked down on us because we were 'serve', servants."

Now the word "serve" is no longer used. A maid is known as a "domina," which in Italian means woman or even lady. Those belonging to the Catholic workers' union, ACLI, have even chosen to be known as "collaborators of the family," COLFA for short.

Wages and working conditions have improved dramatically. A 1958 law, revised in 1970, regulates relations between employers and servants. It guarantees social security benefits and holidays for maids.

Salaries are sometimes higher than those of a woman factory worker or shop clerk. A maid earns from $128 to $192 monthly, plus room and board. Ten years ago a good salary for a live-in maid was $48 dollars a month.

Furthermore, employers now have to give their maid an extra month's salary at the end of each year, known as the "tredecimima," the 13th month. They must pay food costs for vacations and days off, pay for social security, and give the servant half a month's wage for every year of service when she leaves.

In spite of the tremendous improvement — due to both a general rise in the standard of living and to the 1958 law — Italian families now have trouble in finding service.

Newspaper advertisements show that for every three persons looking for domestic help only one maid is offering services. Employment agencies — seldom advertising as such — are often regarded with suspicion both by servants and employers. And their fees are high.

The major reasons for the shortage probably is that some still consider the job of maid as degrading.

"One of our maids left us because her fiance thought her work was beneath her," an Italian professional man laments.

In a country that holds the world record for strikes, a few maids have begun drifting toward organized labor. The Italian federation of auxiliary employees, FILAI, groups about 2,000 maids out of about a million in the country. FILAI belongs to the big Communist labor federation.

The union presses for a national contract for maids, and helps members who believe they have been mistreated by employers.

"Strikes are one of the things we have to do," says Franco della Rosa, secretary of FILAI. "But they are a little difficult to organize." There has not been one yet.

For some, the union drive is a dilemma.

Carla Faccincani, of the Catholic workers' group, says: "To bring unions into the home could represent a disagreeable novelty and have a negative influence on relations between maid and family. But to leave this category outside union rules could worsen the situation of some employees."

Employers, meanwhile, formed an association two years ago to protect its members. The secretary general of the Rome branch, Franco Nardeschi, says there is an average of one law suit a day between maids and their employers. Often they deal with allegations of stealing, or of unfulfillment of agreements.

To face the maid shortage, Italians have begun to employ foreigners — a revolutionary novelty for this country. About 1,000 maids in Italy come from the Capo Verde islands or from Ethiopia. Others are "imported" from Spain and number around 2,000. Many people also try to get girls from Northern Europe.

DO SUNTAN LOTIONS DO ANY GOOD?

Beached? Beware! An umbrella and a floppy hat aren't enough. The sun reflects off the water and sand with a greater intensity than it does in your backyard.

New York (ED) — Plenty! Remember the time you sunbathed without protection? You probably left the beach looking like a lobster and feeling like a dried prune. But a good suntan lotion — plus knowledge about your skin and how the sun affects it — will prevent your vacation from coming to a painful end.

You've probably heard of melanin, the substance which determines skin color. Brunettes have more of it than light-skinned people, so their skin is better able to withstand the sun. If you take the sun in small doses, your skin will actually thicken... more melanin will be produced... you'll begin to tan.

Only trouble is most people spend hours in the sun right off. The result is often a good burn. Fifteen minutes is long enough for your initial exposure, and ten minutes is plenty for the children. Think you're safe if the sky is overcast? Not really — the ultraviolet rays can penetrate the clouds.

A beach umbrella won't provide optimum protection, either. Water and sand strongly reflect the sun's rays. The right tanning product is the best solution to your "burn-me-not" sun prayers. Coppertone comes in lotion, cream, oil or butter — each designed to promote a rich, deep tan and to help prevent sunburn.

Apply your suntan product generously, and reapply it when you come out of the water. It's well worth the extra minute or two it might take. If you're still afraid of burning, avoid the beach from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., when the sun's rays are strongest.

Are all these precautions necessary? Your mirror will tell you. If a glowing, coppery creature returns your gaze, you'll know the answer.

Which one to pick? Creams are best if you're in-and-out of the water all day; lotions are the most popular with medium-skinned brunettes; oils work well with the easy tanners; butters are for fast tanners, but they're not for the thin-skinned.

Cloudy days, lots of haze, equal less suntan lotion? Wrong. Invisible ultraviolet rays can penetrate the cloud cover, so be sure to apply suntan lotion. And, never lie facing the sun unless you're wearing high-quality sunglasses.

POLLY'S POINTERS

DEAR POLLY—Where can I direct complaints against a mover who refuses to take responsibility for damaging appliances? The move was insured for $14,000 aside from the mover's regular insurance. All we have gotten so far are promises.

discoloration from a glass oven door. Do remember this is inflammable. When using a soap pad as Norma suggests do be sure it is dampened.

DEAR READERS—Our Pet Peeve is from Betty, my helper who is disappointed when unusually good Pointers are not signed and cannot be used.

DEAR POLLY—To make fashion doll coat hangers I use soft margarine tub lids, trace around a professional hanger with a ballpoint pen and cut out with a razor blade.

DEAR POLLY—Evelyn wanted to know how to clean the glass door on her oven. I also had this problem. Since I use baking soda for so many jobs, I tried it. Sprinkle it liberally on the glass and use a dampened sponge for rubbing. A weekly baking soda scrubbing will keep it clean with minimum effort. This does not scratch the glass.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Despite three years in the nation's highest office, President Nixon is "still what his close friends know him to be," his youngest brother says.

DEAR POLLY—I use a soap pad to clean my oven door. Then I wipe it with a cloth dipped in vinegar and dry it to a sparkle.

Edward Nixon, 41, of Lynnwood, Wash., told newsmen Thursday at a showing of unpublished photographs of Nixon's first two years as president that his brother stands on the "middle ground, where a president has to be" to satisfy the public.

Richard Nixon became interested in politics as boy and told his mother after reading about the Teapot Dome oil scandals of the 1920s that he wanted to be an honest lawyer, said Edward Nixon.

"He's attained a position which for him is natural," added Edward, who works for a Seattle oceanography firm. The showing of photographs was at the California Museum of Science and Industry.

LONDON (AP) — The state-owned British Broadcasting Corp. has caused a minor stir by distributing pictures of Princess Anne in a bathing suit.

Taken by BBC television cameramen, the pictures were issued Thursday as illustrations for reviews of a BBC booklet on the princess' safari in East Africa earlier this year.

One shows Anne walking with a companion along an Indian Ocean beach in Kenya, wearing a one-piece bathing suit. The photo is of the type the royal family has always barred photographers from taking.

Apocrine And Eccrine Everybody Has Them

Your body has millions of tiny useful eccrine sweat glands which prevent the body from overheating by secreting a clear odorless liquid that is mostly water. In areas where this liquid can not evaporate, the underarms and on the feet, the sweat can be noticeable and uncomfortable. But, this wetness alone does not cause body odor.

Body odor can come from the less numerous apocrine glands which work mainly in the underarm area. These glands secrete a complex organic fluid that is broken down by normal skin bacteria to form a smelly substance. An anti-perspirant works against both odor and wetness. We carry a complete selection of these products and can recommend one to you that is non-irritating.

Doctors To Ask Court To Ease Curb On Therapeutic Abortions

WASHINGTON (AP) — A major segment of the medical profession is trying to persuade the Supreme Court to ease restrictions on therapeutic abortions.

Headed by the current president of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists and two past presidents, 178 doctors and medical professors told the Court late Friday that laws in 12 states are unconstitutionally interfering with their right to practice their profession.

Moreover, they said in a friend-of-court brief, the legal conditions these states set for induced abortions deprive pregnant women of medical treatment and lead to such "anti-social" results as unwanted children and death at the hands of unsold abortionists.

Next term the Justices will rule on these restrictions in a case from Georgia. State law specifies that at least three physicians and a hospital committee approve the operation, that it be performed in an accredited hospital and that it be "justified" on several grounds. These grounds include that continuation of the pregnancy would "endanger the life" of the woman or "seriously and permanently injure her health" and that the patient be a resident of Georgia.

The states with similar laws are Arkansas, California, Colorado, Delaware, Kansas, Maryland, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oregon, South Carolina and Virginia.

An induced abortion is a relatively minor surgical procedure, so far as risks to the patient's physical or mental well-being are concerned, the brief said. Even the most perilous surgery does not require agreement by as many physicians, it added.

"In no other sphere of medical practice could a physician perform a medical procedure believed to be in the patient's best interests and requested by the patient, complete the treatment with total satisfaction to himself and the patient, and nonetheless face license revocation and 10 years in state prison," the brief said.

The doctors presented statistics showing induced abortions to be about 23 times as safe as ordinary childbirth.

As for "unwanted" children, the brief cited a study in Sweden that some 28 per cent of such children received psychiatric care by the time they were 21 and 18 per cent had become delinquents.

The doctors also argued that state laws do not advance any "rational moral value." They said there was no evidence limited access to abortion curtails promiscuity.

Contaminated Fish Food, Eggs Seized By FDA

WASHINGTON (AP) — On the heels of an announcement it has started seizing Bon Vivant canned foods, the government says it has found contamination in 7,000 dozen eggs and a quarter-ton of fish food and is seizing all of it too.

The Food and Drug Administration said the eggs and catfish feed were tainted with polychlorinated biphenyls (PCB) that have been linked with birth defects and liver damage in test animals.

The FDA emphasized it does not consider the eggs and catfish feed to be a health problem, but conducted the seizure only because PCB levels violated the federal tolerance of five-tenths parts per million.

Nader Attacks New Federal Air Pollution Guidelines

By MIKE SHANAHAN Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ralph Nader has assailed federal air pollution guidelines for state as a watered down product of Nixon administration infighting.

The Environmental Protection Agency, as required by the Clean Air Act of 1970, released the new regulation for use by the states in drawing new pollution controls. The idea is to provide healthy, breathable air nationwide by mid-1975.

The author of the act, Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Minn., said he'll act on Nader's charges by investigating the guidelines released by EPA administrator William D. Ruckelshaus.

In a phone interview, Nader said Ruckelshaus authored a set of strong regulations which included high standards for auto exhaust emissions, state inspections of cars now on the road and strong requirements for new pollution control equipment in industry.

But when the proposed regulations reached the Office of Management and Budget, they were heavily watered down, he said.

"This is the Cambodia of the environmental movement," Nader said in reference to President Nixon's decision to send American troops into Cambodia in 1970. "Where do we go from here?"

The guidelines are so weak, Nader said, they "violate the intent of the Clean Air Act of 1970."

Nader said attempts by Ruckelshaus to include proposals that the states limit highway construction in areas of heavy pollution and a permit system suggesting the states require polluting industries to obtain licenses were eliminated.

"This is the first White House decision to repudiate the policies of Ruckelshaus," Nader said. He said White House Assistant Peter Flanagan and Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans were instrumental in revising the regulations and making them public on a Friday when Congress is out of session to reduce criticism.

Muskie said his subcommittee on the environment will look into how the new guidelines stack up against the 1970 antipollution law.

"Every concerned American should be disappointed and disturbed, as I am, about reports that the White House has watered down proposals of its own anti-pollution agency for the implementation of the 1970 Clean Air Act," he said.

Ruckelshaus was unavailable for comment on Nader's charges but EPA issued a statement with the guidelines which said they would "provide for the achievement in a reasonable time of air quality levels that are protective of personal comfort and well-being, vegetation, materials, animals, weather, visibility and soil and water."

NEWEST FAIR LADY for Rex Harrison is Elizabeth Harris. The couple, departing London for the actor's villa at Portofino, Italy, has marriage plans.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Muhammad Ali has received a new passport.

The former heavyweight boxing champion's passport was lifted when he was convicted of draft evasion in 1965. The Supreme Court subsequently ruled that he was exempt from service as a conscientious objector.

With the new passport issued Wednesday, Ali plans an exhibition tour of the Caribbean and Latin America. "My long-range plans is to whip Joe Frazier," he said.

The President will go to the II NEW YORK (AP) — A $4-million damage suit has been filed by actress Katharine Hepburn against three firms in connection with a radio commercial for creamed herring in which she claims her voice was imitated without her permission.

Wilson Helps Cards In Defeating Houston 16-7

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Larry Wilson executed the St. Louis Cardinals' first "big play" of the Bob Hollway regime, and Houston's coach Ed Hughes conceded it decided the game.

Wilson, bursting around right end, blocked a Dan Pastorini punt for the only touchdown the Cardinals needed to trim the Oilers 16-14 Saturday night.

"The best thing about the game? We won," Hollway said following the pre-season National Football League skirmish.

"It didn't surprise me we were a little erratic on offense and made mistakes," Hollway added. "You've got to figure that because it was our first game."

"If I had any disappointment it was that we never established our running game. But Houston has always been among the league's best against the rush."

The Cardinals, ridden by penalties, yielded to an 80-yard Houston touchdown march in the second quarter before Wilson's big play.

Rookie George Jakowenko unlocked a 7-7 deadlock with a 38-yard field goal five seconds before the half and veteran Jim Bakken booted third-quarter field goals of 15 and 25 yards for a 16-7 lead.

"I think you win games by doing things like that," Hollway

The only anxious moments added the tall first-season Cardinals coach, "and Larry demonstrated he could do it. He's got a good feel."

Spurs Edge Closer To Amarillo's Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Dallas-Fort Worth Spurs edged up on the tail of West Division leader Amarillo Sunday, beating Amarillo 2-1 and 5-4 in twin bill Dixie Association action.

The double wins pushed Dallas-Fort Worth to just one game behind Amarillo.

The Spurs drew first blood in their first contest when Leon Brown drilled a ground ball to shortstop Augusta Austin who dropped the ball, permitting a run to score. Jesse Jefferson, now 11-8, took the win for Dallas-Fort Worth while losing pitcher Gary Ryerson posted a 12-8 record.

In the second game, the Spurs' Steve Turigliatto belted a two-run homer in the second to break up a 2-2 tie. Amarillo chalked up two runs of their own on a seventh-inning homer by Gary Thomasson.

San Antonio's Ron Massey scored in the top of the ninth with two outs to break up a 1-1 tie with Albuquerque, giving the Missions a 2-1 victory. Massey scored on a double by Jack Null.

Arkansas and Asheville split a double header. Arkansas won the first 3-2 but lost the second 5-2. A single by Asheville's Ken Hottman drove in Bruce Miller with the first game's winning run.

In other games, Montgomery beat Birmingham 9-7; Shreveport took Columbus 3-2; Shreveport outdistanced Charlotte 4-1 and Jacksonville and Savannah were rained out.

Cowboys Lick Wounds With Victory Salve

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys were licking their physical wounds today with a very happy victory salve after snagging their second pre-season victory in as many outings.

Three Cowboys were ailing today but their 36-21 win Saturday night over the New Orleans Saints numbed the pain pretty good.

Quarterback Roger Staubach was to have his bruised ribs X-rayed along with Lee Roy Jordan who took a rough bruise above his knee.

Tight end Mike Ditka is nursing a broken hand but doctors say he'll be able to continue workouts.

The Cowboys wasted no time on New Orleans with Staubach hurling extra-yardage passes and three touchdown missiles of 69, 81 and 10 yards.

Staubach, battling for the quarterback post with Graig

Morton, zeroed in on Bob Hayes with a 69-yard scoring shot. The game was only five minutes old.

Austrian Toni Fritsch, a soccer-style kicker, kept the stadium of 72,000 fans roaring with spectacular field goals of 46a and 50 yards.

Cowboy kicker David Conway booted a 49-yard field goal to wrap up Dallas' second-half scoring.

Saints quarterback Edd Hargett saw action only in the first half, completing three of 14 passes for a net gain of 48 yards.

Sharp-eyed Cowboys intercepted three of his aerials.

It was New Orleans that dominated second-half action although both teams kept the substitutions coming.

Archie Manning found himself trapped on six occasions, losing 68 yards.

Wynn Wants To Start Helping The Astros

ATLANTA (AP) — Outfielder Jim Wynn of the Houston Astros says it's "about time I started helping this club some."

And Wynn did just that Sunday as he banyed a seventh-inning single to score two runs and lift the Astros to a 5-4 decision over the Atlanta Braves.

"I used to be considered a dangerous hitter," Wynn said, "so I sort of expected to be walked when I came to bat with two runners in scorig position and the pitcher up next. But I would pop up again like I've been doing so often."

Wynn's sinl to left scored Houson's Denis Menke and Bob Watson. The next batter, pitcher George Culver, popped out to end the inning.

Houston jumped to a 2-0 lead in the second when a single by Watson was followed by Doug Rader's home run. Atlanta made it 2-1 in the fourth when Ralph Garr scored on a single by Earl Williams, then tied it in the fifth when Sonny Jackson doubled home Mary Perrez.

The Braves took a 4-2 advantage on a pair of solo homers in the sixth. Henry Aaron opened the inning with his 32nd home run of the year, extending his hitting streak to 22 consecutive games. Williams, one out later, blasted his 22nd homer of the season and the fourth during the four-game series with the Astros.

Houston cut the margin to 4-3 in the seventh when Menke scored on a long sacrifice fly by pinch hitter Larry Howars.

Culver, 5-6 notched the victory while Recil Upshaw, 9-6, was charged with the loss.

Dallas Wins Southern Title In North American Soccer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Dallas Tornado shut out the Washington Darts 2-0 Sunday, extending its late-season drive for the North American Soccer League Southern Division championship.

By the victory, the first-place Tornado, which has lost only twice in 11 games, pulled 20 points ahead of the third-place defending champion Darts and 10 ahead of second-place Atlanta.

Tony McLoughlin scored for Dallas in the 34th minute on a perfect center by Jim Benedek. Dallas' second goal came in the 80th minute on a low, hard shot off a pass by McLoughlin.

Frank Broyles Knows There's No Substitute For Experience

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Frank Broyles has borrowed a page from Darrell Royal's play book to give Arkansas' short yardage attack more versatility.

Broyles has incorporated the Wishbone-T which Royal has used with such great success at Texas the past three years.

For most of 1968, 1969 and 1970 Arkansas could, an did, turn to tailback Bill Burnett in most short yardage situations. Burnett was virtually unstoppable on the goal line, scoring 49 touchdowns.

Naturally, the Razorbacks' attack in close became stereotyped.

Broyles says the Wishbone, which the Razorbacks used a great deal in spring practice, gives the offense "broader striking areas."

"The Wishbone forces the defense to defend the width of the field," he said.

There were some who said the Wishbone did not lend itself to a passing attack. With Joe Ferguson at quarterback, any offense lends itself to a passing attack.

Ferguson, a 6-foot-2, 175-pounder has been getting rave notices since his high school days at Shreveport, La., Woodlawn. At Woodlawn, Ferguson broke the passing records of Terry Bradshaw—the first-round draft choice in the National Football League in 1970.

"Joe has a great arm with extreme accuracy," says Don Ereaux, the Razorbacks' offensive backfield coach. "He is capable of throwing the ball outside as well as anyone I have seen on any level."

"Ferguson is an exceptional passer," says Broyles. "He has quick feet and quick hands and can scramble with the football. He also worked very hard on running the option play and did a good job with it this spring."

Besides 48 of 86 passes for 744 yards last year, Ferguson gained valuable experience in lengthy map-up roles behind Bill Montgomery.

Ferguson will be throwing to Jim Hodge, a teammate at Shreveport, and Mike Reppond, a junior letterman, this fall.

Hodge started at flanker as a sophomore last year and caught 16 passes for 397 yards—an average of almost 25 yards a catch. Reppond, who made an excellent impression in the spring, caught nine passes for 164 yards as a reserve in 1970.

Besides the overhead route, the Razorbacks will be able to score on the ground with the likes of Jon Richardson, Russ Garber, Dicky Morton and Skip per DeBorde doing the ball-carrying.

Richardson, a game-breaker, averaged more than four yards a try last year while racking up 441 yards and 11 touchdowns. Garber started at fullback last year and gained 409 yards on 81 carries. Morton, a shifty sophomore from Dallas Kimball, will relieve Richardson and DeBorde is expected to be the third back when the Razorbacks go to the Wishbone.

The running backs will operate behind a strong and experienced offensive line that includes tackles Tom Mabry (6-6, 248) and Mike Kelson (6-4, 238) and guards Glen Lowe (6-4, 245) and Tom Reed (6-3, 230). Two sophomores, Ron Revard and Stuart Freeland, finished the spring in a deadheat for the center position.

Any rundown of Arkansas' offensive firepower must include kicker Bill McClard. McClard converted 50 of 51 extra points last year and connected on 10 of 15 field goal attempts.

The question marks are on defense.

"Our defense is very inexperienced," Broyles said. "Many of them missed spring practice and our coaches have not had a chance to work with them."

"Our offense is going to have to keep the ball a lot in the early games to keep the pressure off of our defense until they can gain some overall game experience and know what it takes to play good football," Broyles said. "I don't believe in spring training that our defensive ends and tackles really know what it took to be a good college football player."

At the end of spring practice, the depth chart showed Ronnie Jones and Steve Cox at defensive end and Archie Bennett and David Reavis at defensive tackle.

Jones, a linebacker for two years, played defensive end for three days in the spring and Nox, a sophomore, missed about half the spring with an injury.

Bennett was a reserve center last year and Reavis was a defensive end.

The linebackers may be two sophomores and a fullback.

Danny Rhodes, an exceptional sophomore from Brazosport, Tex., will be the strongside linebacker.

Red China And U.N.

A funny thing happened while you were watching the moon. You became an ally of Communist China.

Remember Communist China? That's the government that sent its hordes over the Yalu river about 20 years ago and killed your uncles, fathers, brothers in Korea.

So what, you ask. Are we not allies with Japan and Germany? And look how many Japanese and Germans killed.

The difference is that the governments of today's Japan and West Germany are not the same as those which waged war against the United States 30 years ago, today's Germany and Japan do not make war, and their commitment to a peaceful coexistence was made before American politicians let down their guard.

The matter of Red China is a different color.

There has been no change. There has been no commitment toward peaceful coexistence on the part of Mao or Chou En-Lai. This is the same government which has the United Nations branded an aggressor for its Korean action. Yet, the President of the United States will lead the charge to bring Mao's China into the United Nations.

This is a most interesting problem. Does this mean the U.N. will remove the aggressor label? Will the history book be rewritten? Surely the U.N. cannot invite an aggressor into its brotherhood.

The U.N., of course, has a solid history of non-accomplishment. It is supposed to be the body that settles disputes and punishes aggressors, but there is no settlement of the Korean dispute. There is no settlement of the Arab-Israeli dispute, and there is that matter in Pakistan.

The American people can discount the U.N. since they have no voice whatever in its deliberations.

But when a President of the United States disregards his commitment to his own nation, the madman requires more explanation and assurance than has been given.

We are aware, of course, that many people applaud the President's China move. A recent survey by opinion research corporation of Princeton, N.J. claims that 67 percent of those questioned think the President's decision to visit Red China is a good thing. The research company said it asked 1,002 persons.

We find that easy to understand. Certainly if two people have disagreements, talking them out should be helpful.

Individual people of the world are all basically friendly. They like to laugh and play and enjoy the companionship of others. It is important to remember that people do not make war, only political governments make war, so the individual people questioned about the President's trip to China react as individuals.

But a political leader with the experience gained as President of the United States should realize that talking with communists has been going on for many years, and the only accomplishments America has to show is the loss of the lives of thousands of its young soldiers, loss of investments by American businessmen abroad, loss of American ships and participation in the enslavement of millions of people.

Without a single commitment from Red China, the U.S. will support them in the next U.N. membership bid.

What have the governments of the Soviet Union, Yugoslavia, Romania and Red China done for us lately?

In the same edition which announced that the United States would support Red China's entry into the U.N., was the following:

WASHINGTON — Communist Chinese forces have installed long range radar-directed anti-aircraft weapons along a road they are building in Laos, according to a report made public by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"The report . . . said between 14,000 and 20,000 Chinese were in the region and estimated that from 3,000 to 7,000 of them were anti-aircraft crew members."

Anti-aircraft . . . that's the outfits that shoot down American planes.

CAPITOL EYE:

Blacks Seek Voice In Convention

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Too little attention has been given thus far to the mounting prospect of a national "black political strategy" which could thrust one or more black leaders into the 1972 presidential primaries to gain maximum bargaining power at the Miami Beach convention.

When New York's black Rep. Shirley Chisholm recently said she might enter one such primary, it was only the tip of the iceberg.

Beneath the surface, things are bubbling. The staff of Rep. John Conyers, one of Michigan's black Democrats, makes constant inquiries on 1972 primary details at the Democratic National Committee. Similar checks have been made at least three times by Berkeley's militant black Rep. Ronald Dellums. Another who shows interest is Rep. Louis Stokes of Ohio, brother of Cleveland's retiring black mayor, Carl Stokes.

An aide to Conyers says memos fly back and forth at steady pace among members of the House "black caucus" and other leading blacks. The topic is largely unchanging — how to cast the biggest possible weight in the 1972 presidential process.

In the opening days of August, Conyers laid the whole thing out in a Washington speech (to the National Dental Association) which got slim notice. After proposing that there be at least one black entry in the coming primaries, Conyers said:

"This would stimulate registration and encourage black citizens to run for delegate seats to the national convention in large numbers than we have before."

"Blacks would then be in a position to exert maximum leverage in the decision-making that would take place in and out of the conventions."

With America's blacks having voted overwhelmingly Democratic since 1936, what galls today's black leaders most is the idea of being taken for granted. One voiced irritation heatedly to a top Michigan Democrat:

"We're not just here for the taking."

Review of the 1972 primary setup has persuaded Conyers and others that they can make a significant dent. (In Maryland, Tennessee, Florida, Indiana and Wisconsin, delegates are chosen on a congressional district basis, with some at-large delegates.) The presidential winner in a given district gets those delegates.

North Carolina has a proportional representation system for choosing. With its substantial black population, it, too, might be a fertile field for black delegate hunters.

New York, though lacking a presidential preference test, will be choosing all its 1972 delegates in congressional districts. The delegate candidates can't indicate on the ballot whom they favor, but black aspirants in heavily black areas could easily signal their intended support for Shirley Chisholm or Conyers.

Pennsylvania, New Jersey, West Virginia and Illinois could provide another harvest of black delegates.

What do the black leaders want if they manage to gain a new bargaining strength through a "black political strategy"?

Of course, full application of McGovern-Fraser commission reforms on delegate selection. These are designed, among other things, to assure ample black representation at the convention from both primary and non-primary delegates.

The blacks also figure a good show of strength will compel the party's 1972 nominee to broaden his voter appeal, recruit more black staff people, adopt a platform "fairer" to black America. Clearly, they have the potential for a good try. Their strength of will is still in doubt.

"But Consider The Alternatives!"

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Don claims it is harder to quit tobacco than to diet. The American people can quit tobacco than to diet. Do you readers believe that? But when I mentioned the sexual hazard of cigarettes 700 Doctors the very next week sent for the booklet below. The remote threat of a shortened lifespan didn't motivate them as much as dread of premature impotence!

CASE R-537: Don B., aged 38, is a chain smoker. "Dr. Crane," his wife began, "Don's blood pressure is too high so his physician ordered him to quit tobacco. He told Don that he would die from 5 to 7 years before his time. And Don recognizes that fact, but still he can't seem to leave his cigarettes alone."

"I told him I'd go on a diet if he'd stop smoking, which I have done. And I have lost 20 pounds but Don couldn't stay off his tobacco. He says it is harder to quit smoking than to diet. Is that true? And how else could I prod him into giving up his cigarettes?"

It is actually easier to quit smoking than to diet! For tobacco is not a necessity, whereas we must always consume some calories. The dieter, therefore, must taper off whereas the tobacco (or liquor) addict can stop entirely.

But we physicians find that it is harder to taper off than to quit tobacco or liquor altogether. That's why Alcoholics Anonymous (A.A.) urge their members never to taste whiskey or ingest even one swallow of alcohol.

Oddly enough, the threat of shortening one's life at the far end, seems to exert maximum effects, but when I addressed the Pennsylvania dental convention a few years ago, I happened to mention that tobacco not only curtails our lifespan.

But it apparently causes another, radical effect long before we pass the age of 40. For smoking seems to produce prematurely platonic husbands!

We physicians often find a chronic cigarette addict to be impotent by the age of 35 or 40. Yet his older brothers who are non-smokers, may be virile mates till they reach old age! When I mentioned this sexual hazard of tobacco, the very next week I received over 700 requests from those doctors for the booklet below!

Which means that an immediate threat of sexual impotence was far more effective in making men quit cigarettes than the remote shortening of their lifespan at the age of 65. Smoking is usually just an outlet for pent-up energy.

"If I don't get a cigarette," many soldiers would say in World War II, "I feel like I'll blow my top!" Children resort to chewing gum to obtain this same relief from inner tension. For the muscles of chewing thus drain off nervous energy from the brain and make kiddies feel calmer. Same is true of tobacco, for the act of waving one's arm for 5 minutes while using a cigarette, thus reduces the nervous "pressure" in the brain.

Smoking thus is a form of tranquilizer, but its medical ill effects produce cancer, coronary attacks, emphysema and impotence. Instead, chew gum! Or play with your key ring. Or flip a coin repeatedly to keep that same arm in action without the hazard of the cigarettes.

Send for my booklet "How to Stop Smoking," for it can help insure you against a platonic marriage and also add at least 5 years to your lifespan!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Pampa Daily News, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

H. L. Hunt Writes

ALL-AMERICAN SPIRIT

The astronauts of Apollo 15, Scott, Irwin and Worden, again have exhibited those outstanding traits of bravery, skill, endeavor, dedication and self-reliance which have characterized the patriotic citizenry of this nation from its earliest colonial times.

The personal and scientific triumphs of these three brave men will fill pages when the history of our time is written. They have pioneered a new place, explored more of an unknown land, discovered geological secrets of the universe. The entire flight, from initial blastoff through exploration on the moon surface and splash down in the wide Pacific, was made in full view of the onlooking world, without censorship or concealment, a feat which the communists and their adherents have not, do not, and dare not attempt.

Perhaps the greatest contrast between our freedom-oriented nation and the repressive communist nations occurred at that critical and emotion packed moment when Scott and Irwin blasted off from the moon's surface. None will forget that when the blastoff occurred in full view of the world's curious eyes, the stirring sounds of the U.S. Air Force Hymn suddenly filled the air.

Scott, Irwin and Worden, each U.S. Air Force officers, possessed the gusto and initiative to so announce their personal pride in their branch of the armed services and their homeland. No member of a communist service would have dared such an expression of confidence or freedom. Many who were gathered around TV sets exploded into cheers at this thrilling moment. This was the All-American Spirit, may it long survive!

Question Box

QUESTION: — Who receives the interest on the national debt? What consideration was put up by the lenders in order to receive this interest. H.B.

ANSWER: — Government financing at the federal level is a highly complex matter, because there is more than one way in which the government borrows buying power.

In part, one can say accurately that, when all the bureaucratic garble stripped away, if a debt is owed the interest on that debt goes to those who lend the money.

And that is the common supposition. In at least one method of government borrowing, however, the interest is paid to parties who do NOT lend the money.

This type of borrowing occurs when the government goes to commercial banks to acquire additional buying power. In such cases, the government gives the bank a bond. In return the bank adds a specified figure to the government's checking account. So far, all this amounts only to a paper transaction. The government has handed the bank a piece of paper (a bond). The bank in turn has altered the arithmetic on its ledgers to indicate they will handle so much more of the government's checking.

Thereafter, the bank draws interest on the bond. The government writes checks on the bank. The bank is also able to lend more purchasing media to other customers by virtue of its additional paper asset (the bond).

The question is, where did the additional buying power come from? Obviously it did not come from the bank, for the bank did nothing except change its books? The answer, as perhaps the reader already has recognized, is that the bank-government transaction created purchasing media which had the effect of cheapening dollars held by the public. That is inflation.

In this type of borrowing, therefore, the public is the "lender." Because revenues are used to pay the interest and these taxes are collected from the public, the lender is also the party that pays the interest.

In a word, in the case of a large segment of the public debt, the real lender receives no interest on the loan but, in fact, pays the interest to the transaction partner of the borrower.

BATTIN' AROUND

Growing Forests Renew World Supply Of Oxygen

Editor's note: C.R. Charlie Batten is a writer, photographer and public speaker with both a theoretical and working knowledge of natural resources and the principles of economics that govern their efficient and beneficial use. Contrary to the currently prevailing statist trend of thought, he believes that the profit motive, enlightened to the latest and continuing scientific and technological discoveries, and operating under the disciplines inherent in a free market and the private enterprise economic "system," offers the best and, in fact, the only practical and moral solutions to our conservation, environmental and ecological problems.

Batten received his forestry degree from the University of Idaho in 1950 and, for four years thereafter, conducted extensive research programs in forest tree growth, mortality, regeneration and erosion control, as well as more general forestry work, for Potlatch Forests, Inc. of Lewiston, Idaho. In 1954, he moved from northern Idaho to St. Paul Minnesota, there serving as forester for the Chicago and North Western Railway Co. for the next six years; during which time he supervised tree planting and other forestry operations on railroad lands and made in depth studies in the railroad's territory so as to promote the full and most economical use of forest resources.

In 1960, Mr. Batten joined the American Forest Products Industries, Inc., the predecessor of the present American Forest Institute, as district manager in Denver, Colorado. In the fall of 1968, he was promoted to regional manager of API with headquarters in Chicago, in which capacity he coordinated the education and information programs of member woodusing industries over a seven-state region.

Leaving API in April of this year, he returned to Boulder Colorado where he now makes his headquarters and home. Batten is a member of the Society of American Foresters and of the Outdoor Writers association of America.

Thus, it will be seen, Mr. Batten brings a wealth of technical knowledge, buttressed by wide and varied practical experience, to the broad general area in which his weekly column, of which this is the first, will deal.

One thing we can say for certain about the current national interest in ecology and the environment is that we are learning how little we actually know about the life support systems of space ship earth. We are bombarded by so much conflicting information that it is difficult if not impossible for the average citizen concerned about increasing pollution of air and water to know who or what to believe.

For example, ecologists generally agree that the amount of oxygen in the earth's atmosphere is decreasing and the amount of carbon dioxide is increasing because of the burning of various fuels and consumption of power. But there is disagreement as to the ultimate effect of the increase in carbon dioxide. Some scientists are concerned about the "greenhouse effect" which they predict will cause a warming of the Earth's surface; melt the polar ice caps, and flood the ocean shores.

Others are concerned about the opposite effect. They fear that we will enter into a new ice age.

Instead of speculating as to the ultimate result, let's spend our energies trying to learn how to reverse the trend, and replenish the oxygen supply.

Here, again, we are suffering from lack of knowledge and conflicting information.

There are those that say the only solution is to reduce our consumption of energy. This means getting along without electrical appliances that we now take for granted, and perhaps going back to the "good old days" of the hand-powered washing machine and the bicycle. But this does not promise to be a very popular method, and at best only slows down the depletion of oxygen without doing anything to replace it.

Others turn to the oceans, pointing out that more than half of the world's oxygen supply is other plant life in the seas. Some turn to the vast forests of the Amazon basin. Everyone who has ever studied biology in high school knows that oxygen is produced by photosynthesis in the presence of chlorophyll, and after all, where is there more chlorophyll than the oceans and the Amazon?

However, the oceans and the Amazon basin have one other thing in common: They have developed over eons into mature bio-systems. This means that they are relatively stable and are not producing surplus organic material. Oxygen consuming animals and decay organisms are using the oxygen as fast as it is produced.

Agriculture is our major photo-synthetic based industry, but the pressures of farm to mouth subsistence in most of the world returns most of its plant material production back to carbon dioxide and water in less than a year's time, thus consuming as much oxygen as it produces.

But that branch of agriculture known as forestry presents an opportunity. Wood in use is relatively durable — it is not immediately used up by oxygen consuming processes. Oxygen produced in the growth of wood is therefore largely surplus and serves to replenish the earth's supply.

A well-managed, rapidly growing forest produces as much as four tons of wood on each acre every year, and in doing so consumes about 6 tons of carbon dioxide and manufactures about 4.4 tons of oxygen. This is enough to supply the oxygen needs of 18 persons for one year.

Inflation, Recession Challenging Many Traditionalists' Thinking

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Even the more traditionalist economists suspect today that some of the old equations of their trade may not be as tight as they had believed. Many knots are appearing.

Causing concern and some perplexity are the existence in recent years of rising prices in the midst of recession, prosperity unaccompanied by profits, price increases during an absence of orders, rising wages amid joblessness.

These apparent contradictions don't completely upset the theories, but they certainly indicate that modern economics have developed some characteristics that the theorists didn't foresee quite clearly.

As noted an authority as Arthur Burns, who as chairman of the Federal Reserve Board has had to contend with these idiosyncrasies, believes that we may have to try new approaches in guiding the economy.

Better than any industry, steel illustrates the odd behavior of both prices and wages.

In the first week of August steel production dropped 51 per cent from the previous week to 947,000 tons, the lowest output for a nonstrike week since the 1930s. Shipments for the entire month were expected to be only one-half normal. More than 85,000 workers were idle.

Such a setting suggests, according to the formula, that prices would be stable or falling because of lack of demand, and that wages would be tending in the same direction for a comparable reason.

That was not the case. Under threat of a strike, labor had just won a 31 per cent wage increase, its best ever. And the industry had raised prices 8 per cent across-the-board, its biggest ever.

While this defiance of market pressures may not have been entirely successful—Bethlehem Steel, for one, shortly afterward announced a delay in implementing its increase—it is evidence enough to question the formula.

On a larger scale, the general existence of inflation and recession challenges the thinking of many traditionalists.

If demand is sluggish, as it is in many industries today, the theorists maintain that prices must be lowered to attract attention. But throughout the past recession, prices continued to rise sharply.

There are more puzzles, too. When prosperity reigns it is generally assumed that profits are high. But consider the profit of business, as expressed by George Hagerdorn, vice president and chief economist of the National Association of Manufacturers, who noted recently:

"During the years 1966 through 1969, when the nation was thought to be experiencing a boom of unprecedented proportions, profits did not rise at all. In fact, when profits are measured in terms of their real purchasing power, a decline of 15 per cent was recorded."

Many explanations are offered but few are proven.

Whatever the reasons, they all contribute to the rising demand for some form of administered wages and prices to impose order where the market's self-regulator has failed.

KEY SOVIET industry, the Rostselmash agricultural machinery plant turns out combine grain harvesters on an assembly line basis. Called "Niva," the combines are also exported to some 39 nations. The plant, at Rostov-on-Don in south Russia, accounts for some 80 per cent of Soviet output of the equipment.

Smith Appears In Line-Up

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The attorney for Clarence Otis Smith says Smith will appear in a county jail line-up Monday which will be viewed by a witness to the California campsite murders.

Brownsville lawyer Harry Lewis said Kenneth Garbe, one of three survivors of the July 12 double slaying, would come here sometime Sunday with Dist. Atty. Harold Berliner of Nevada County, Calif.

The tall, balding Smith, 43, is accused of wielding the knife that killed Californians Donna Fitzhugh, 28, and John Simmons, 29, in the attack at a campground on the scenic Bear River.

A U.S. magistrate set a $30,000 bond for Smith Friday on a federal charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for the murder. Smith earlier was placed under a $70,000 state bond as a fugitive from justice.

The FBI took custody of Smith here Aug. 7 after his arrest by Mexico City authorities. Smith disappeared from his Auburn, Calif., home July 22.

Saturday hours are from 1-5 and Sunday from 2-5 p.m. We are closed on Tuesdays. Swimming is from 7-9:30 weekdays, 1-4:30 on Saturday and 2-4:30 on Sunday.

The gym and recreation hall is open at 4:00 p.m. and may be used freely usually up until around 7:00 p.m. when our organized activities such as judo, volleyball and basketball take up the gym and sometimes the recreation hall. Persons should always check our daily schedule which appears each week in the paper.

MEMBERSHIPS Because we do not work a fiscal year as far as memberships is concerned, anytime is a good time to purchase a membership for that individual or family. You get a full six months or a year's use from your membership.

We have two types of memberships to consider and it entitles you to full use of the recreation hall, gym and swimming pool. It also allows you to take the swim lessons free of charge. For an individual membership the cost is only $5 for six months or $8 per year, for a family the cost is $12 for six months or $20 per year.

We have another membership called our unlimited one. This gives you the same privileges as the limited, but it allows you use of the new health facility. The cost for an individual membership is $65 for six months or $118 a year. For a husband-wife combination plan the cost is $90 for six months or $160 per year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House says President Nixon will go to Illinois next Wednesday to sign legislation designating the only home Abraham Lincoln ever owned as a national historical site.

Nixon will sign the bill in the Old Capitol in Springfield, near the Lincoln home which has been maintained by the State of Illinois.

The legislation authorizes the Department of the Interior to pay $2 million to acquire the Lincoln property and to spend $5,860,000 to develop it.

After signing the measure, the President will go to the Illinois State Fair for a brief visit.

The Illinois trip, the White House said Wednesday, is being sandwiched in between two other presidential trips, to New York on Tuesday to address a Knights of Columbus meeting and to Dallas on Thursday to speak before the Veterans of Foreign Wars.
