U.S., Viet Reciprocate Red Release Of POW

SAIGON (AP) — The United States and South Vietnam set a North Vietnamese lieutenant free in Cambodia today in a surprise move reciprocating for the release last week of an American sergeant.

"We have no assurance whatever at present that this reciprocal gesture will lead to the release of additional American prisoners," a spokesman for the U.S. Embassy said. "That, however, is the goal toward which we are working." The POW who had been held by the South Vietnamese, was flown by helicopter into the Fish Hook area of Cambodia 100 miles northwest of Saigon.

The U.S. Embassy said he was freed "in response to indications that the enemy would welcome such a release at a given time and place." This indicated that there had been advance communication with the North Vietnamese.

The Americans said the POW was released in "an area under enemy control," the same general area where the Viet Cong released Staff Sgt. John C. Sexton Jr., 23, of Warren, Mich., last Friday.

They said the American helicopter crewmen sighted no enemy when they landed the lieutenant and then took off.

Sexton had been a Viet Cong prisoner for 26 months and was allowed to go free somewhere along the Cambodian border. He walked for eight hours to reach the South Vietnamese camp at Loc Ninh, 70 miles north of Saigon.

Sexton told American interrogators that the Viet Cong did not tell him why he was being freed and did not give him any messages to bring back.

He said that during his captivity, while "constantly moving," he often saw other American prisoners but did not know where he or the others were held. U.S. officers believe it was in Cambodia, some distance from the border.

The U.S. Command announced that Sexton would be flown to the United States Tuesday after being released from an Army hospital.

Fighting continued today in the Cambodian border region around Krek and Fire Base Alpha although enemy shelling tapered off during the night. It was one of the quietest nights since the North Vietnamese launched an offensive there Sept. 26, field reports said.

GEORGE NEWBERRY announces retirement

Southwest Bell Manager Here To Retire Nov. 1

George H. Newberry, Southwest Bell manager here for a total of 21 years, will retire Nov. 1.

Newberry in effect will leave his post Thursday as he completes his vacation period prior to retirement.

No successor as manager has been named.

Newberry and his wife, Jessie, plan to continue living in Pampa at present.

Newberry is ending his second 10 1/2 years as manager here after a break of almost four years.

He originally was manager from February 1947 to September 1957 when he moved to Fort Worth as coin collection supervisor. Newberry returned to Pampa in May, 1961.

He joined Southwestern Bell in September 1955 as a directory salesman in Dallas. He moved to Oklahoma City in 1957 and back to Fort Worth in 1963 where he worked until coming here in 1967.

Newberry is active in civic affairs, particularly United Fund and Boy Scouts. He has held a number of posts in the administration of the Adobe Walls Boy Scout Council including his current position as first vice president and general chairman of the Long Range Planning Committee. He holds the Silver Beaver Award, Order of the Arrowhead and Best Scouter Award from the Adobe Walls Council.

Newberry is chairman of the budget committee of the United Fund and was director of the UF for a total of nine years — 1948-50, 1952-54, 1962-64.

He also is active in the Chamber of Commerce and was a director of the Salvation Army in Pampa.

Newberry was named Outstanding Citizen of Pampa in 1954.

The Newberrys are parents of a son, Richard, who is a dentist in San Antonio.

Dr. Baum Resigns As State Demo Chairman

AUSTIN (AP) — Dr. Elmer Baum said today he is resigning as chairman of the state Democratic party.

Baum said he has sent letters to all members of the State Democratic Executive Committee and will make a formal announcement later today.

"I said I am resigning," Baum said but gave other details would be in his announcement.

The letter to Simpson, who is member for the 17th senatorial district on the committee, was dated Oct. 8. It was believed other committee members had received similar letters.

Baum's letter said: "After nearly 30 years of service to the Democratic Party in Texas—26 as precinct chairman and three as chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee—I have reached the point where it becomes necessary to devote more time to my personal and professional commitments.

"The years have been filled with a full measure of friendships and enjoyment, of progress and achievement.

"I will treasure for ever these memories of service, but I recognize that the forthcoming important months will make increased demands on even more of my time than I can possibly give, and, therefore, I must reluctantly resign my post as chairman of the State Democratic Committee, so that a new chairman can become fully acquainted with the wide range of his duties before the statutory meetings of the SDEC in 1972."

In a letter to Texas City attorney James P. Simpson, a member of the committee, Baum said he had reached the decision that he must devote more time to "personal and business commitments."

There have been previous reports that Baum planned to resign, but he denied them.

Smith also has denied reports that he was urging Baum to resign. One report said Smith wanted Austin lawyer-lobbyist Ed Clark, former ambassador to Australia, to replace Baum.

There have been other reports that Sen. Lloyd Bentsen Jr. and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, with the backing of former Gov. John Connally, want Larry Rupp, former White House presidential aide, as the new Texas chairman.

The new chairman will be named by the 62-member state committee although the governor, as titular head of the party and the man who appointed many of the members of it, exerts considerable influence.

Baum, 59, was named state party chairman in 1968. He had been Smith's Austin campaign manager in all his statewide races since 1962. He is a native of Nebraska but has been a resident of Austin since 1943.

Baum and Smith's names were linked in news earlier this year when both acknowledged making a combined profit of $125,000 off a quick buy and still venture in National Bankers Life Insurance stock with an unsecured loan from Sharpstown State Bank. The insurance company is now in receivership and the bank is defunct.

Smith and Baum were not named defendants in the civil suit filed by the Securities and Exchange Commission. They are named as defendants in a civil suit filed by some stockholders of the Sharpstown State Bank.

Both denied any wrongdoing in the SEC case.

Smith named Baum to a two-year term on the State Banking Board in 1969 but the 1971 Senate indicated it would not confirm the appointment and Baum resigned May 5, 1972. Smith said he did not ask Baum to resign.

Baum also served 18 years as a member of the State Board of Health.

Four Local Youths Charged With Thefts Out On Bond

Four teenage boys are out on bond after being charged with the Sept. 25 burglary of an Alnreed home and a filling station-cafe, according to Sheriff Rufe Jordan.

Jimmy Shelton, Gray County deputy at McLean, investigated the thefts assisted by Shamrock Police Chief Frank Whitehead and warrants for the four were issued.

Two 17-year old boys from Erick, Okla., Phillip Leroy Barker and Tony Ray Dorrell Leonard Ramos, 19, Shamrock and Jimmy Dean Thomas, 18, Shamrock, were arraigned before Justice of the Peace G.L. "Nat" Lunford.

Three of them were charged with entering the home of J.F. Bryant at Alnreed where eight new automobile tires were taken. The same night all four of them broke into a Texaco service station and cafe taking a jack, other tools and some money. The Thomas youth was not involved in the thefts at the Bryant home.

All four posted $1,000 bond.

USDA May Overhaul School Lunch Program

Move Would Benefit Poor Family Children

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is working on a plan to overhaul entirely the complex and politically sensitive school-lunch program, partly as an effort to muzzle a growing chorus wanting free meals for all pupils regardless of need.

The project, still in the "think tank" stage, was disclosed in an interview with Asst. Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng, who oversees the government's lunch and other food programs.

Lyng was unwilling to go into detail about the new plan. But he said, "It is important that the legislation be worked out with the interested people. If we can't do that, I don't think we'd move."

Lyng said he has no timetable in mind but other sources in the Agriculture Department said the plan may be introduced early next year.

The new plan is expected to include tougher controls over states and school districts to head off what the administration sees as slipshod handling of school-lunch money. Officials say schools too often wind up paying meal tabs for richer children at the expense of the neediest.

That has been the thrust of new rules proposed the past two months.

On Aug. 13 the Agriculture Department announced a plan to guarantee a minimum federal reimbursement to the states of 35 cents for each free or reduced-price meal served, compared with a national average last school year of about 42 cents.

In the face of stiff opposition in Congress, the department last week backed down and announced the minimum will be 45 cents. As a condition, however, the money will be paid only for feeding children from families with incomes at or below federal poverty standards.

For example, children from family of four with an income of $3,940 a year or less would qualify. Until now, free or reduced-price meals had been made available to children as long as they were qualified under state poverty guidelines, in many cases higher than the federal levels.

Some 7.3 million of the nation's 24 million children served by the school lunch program last year received free or reduced-price meals. The latter cannot cost a child more than 20 cents. The average expense of serving a lunch is about 53 cents.

Had the new rule been in effect last year, an estimated 594,000 children would have been excluded from the free-lunch program.

Including the 10-cent boost, the government will give states this school year about $750 million to help pay for all lunch programs. About $325 million of it will be for feeding the needy.

"We aren't finished yet with the program," Lyng said. "We are going to work hard to get it further simplified from the states' standpoint, but I think it has to be on an output basis: You perform, you do this, and we will reimburse you."

Some critics say the best way to simplify the school-lunch program, which officials admit is a hodgepodge of laws and funds, is to make school lunches free to everyone. But Lyng is opposed to the free-for-all lunch concept.

Only about half the nation's 50 million school children participate in lunch programs, either by choice or because none is offered at their schools.

Lyng, defending the new rule limiting free or reduced-cost meals to poverty-level children, explained:

"The way it was before, when you gave somebody a block of funds, the more lunches they served they less they had per lunch."

"We're saying now that no matter how many lunches you serve for free this is what we're going to pay."

Lyng said the guarantee, however, requires some kind of a lid—thus, the rule excluding children above the poverty level.

Asked if the poverty-level rule was a compromise or deal worked out in advance with rural members of Congress, since it would apply mostly to big-city children, Lyng said: "That's not true. That was a decision made by the executive branch without any commitments on the part of any member of Congress."

AWARDS PRESENTED — Kay Fancher, chamber of commerce president, is shown here as she presented a plaque of appreciation to Mrs. Thelma Bray, chairman of the chamber's Civic Improvement Committee, which sponsored Pampa's Beautiful Yards and Grounds Contest this summer. Awards also were presented at Coronado Inn today to 18 winners of first, second and third places in six contest divisions throughout the city. (Staff Photo)

U.S. Farm Goods May Find Market In Red China

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department said today there is a possibility of U.S. farmers selling wheat and cotton to Red China in the next few years if that country continues current trade patterns.

A major problem, the report said, is a similarity of farm crops produced by the United States and China. But China does not consistently produce enough for its own use and has to import some major items.

The report was issued by the Foreign Agricultural Service and was written by Steve Washenko, U.S. territorial officer stationed in Hong Kong.

Church Explosion Claims 5 Lives

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP) — "We heard a noise in the pipes about five minutes earlier," said Diane Slaughter, then "the wall above us fell in."

Tons of debris showered down on 14-year-old Diane, her 10 classmates and a teacher in a Sunday school classroom beneath the boiler room of First Baptist Church.

The explosion of the boiler claimed five lives Sunday—four teenagers and Diane's teacher, 30-year-old Michael Murphy, married and the father of one child. Fourteen of the 140 persons in the Sunday school wing of the church were injured.

The dead included Ricky Morris, Gary Holley and Carol Joy, all ninth graders, and Heather Dawson, a high school sophomore.

The explosion came less than half an hour after services had ended in the main church building. A few persons remained there, listening to organ music, and religious classes were in progress on all three floors of the Sunday school wing of the church.

Diane's class was in a basement room, directly beneath the street-level boiler room of the 152-year-old church in downtown Marietta. The classroom wing was constructed 13 years ago.

WANT TO QUIT? Smokers Clinic Set For Pampa Nov. 1-6

A program to help Pampa residents who want to quit smoking is in the planning stages for Nov. 1 through Nov. 6.

The withdrawal clinic, to which all individuals who wish to quit smoking, are invited free of charge, will start at 7 p.m. Monday, Nov. 1 at Pampa Junior High school with respirator tests to measure the vital breathing capacity of smokers. The tests will be repeated at a future date to determine the amount of improvement in the breathing of those who quit.

Starting with Emphysema Day, a project of the Pampa Junior TB and Respiratory Disease Association, student volunteers conducted a smoking survey of Pampa, emerging with a profile of statistics on smoking habits which showed that many smokers wish to quit, but need help in doing so. The profile also showed smoking is a serious health menace among the student-age population.

A team of physicians and lay persons has been coordinated for a step-by-step withdrawal program through cooperation of the Seventh Day Adventist Church, giving the individual exact procedures to follow during the five-day program.

"The program doesn't just tell you to quit smoking," said Chairman Mrs. Dave Einkelstein. "It tells you how to actually do it. And that is what the smoker desperately needs."

THRD student sponsor Bill Mackey said students solicited a little more than $300 to help finance the program. "We had hoped to raise a thousand dollars to fully finance the costs of the Pampa program," Lillian Jordan, TB Association president, said. "But whether the costs are defrayed or not, we think this is an important health project, and is the first of its kind in Pampa."

Anyone wishing to participate in the withdrawal program may enroll by calling Mrs. Dave Einkelstein at 5-9633, or Mrs. Lillian Jordan at 9-6103.

Mutscher Says Quest For Plane, Cash Motivated Him To Buy Stock

DALLAS (AP)—Texas House Speaker Gus Mutscher says he got involved in National Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock because he needed an airplane and money.

Mutscher, who has failed to quiet his critics by stepping down as they insist he must, is currently under a Travis County Grand Jury indictment alleging he conspired to accept bribes in connection with banking legislation.

Mutscher said Saturday he needed an airplane and cash to place himself "in a more independent position financially."

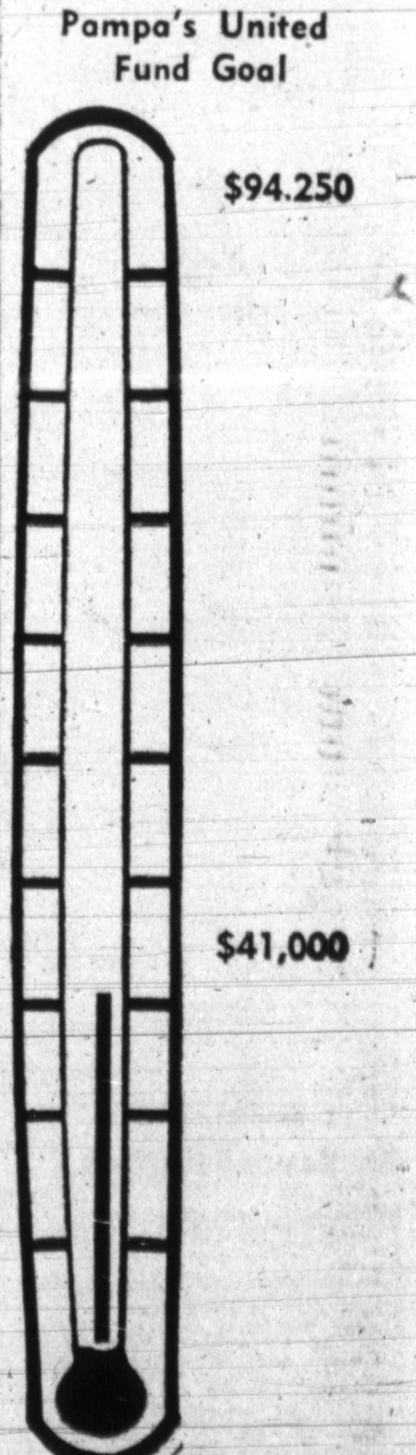

"I was trying to buy an airplane so I could meet some of the requests (for public appearances) around the state," he said.

United Fund Reaches 43% Of Total Goal

Leaders of Pampa's United Fund effort reported Saturday that 43 per cent of their goal had been reached.

Workers are supposed to report twice each week on the progress in their particular area. The last report meeting revealed a total of $41,900 dollars pledged to date.

Drive officials noted that the chief problem at present is to get all workers to make these report meetings.

Your Horoscope

TUESDAY, OCT. 12
 Your birthday today! A great amount of what you do this coming year has little to do with material gain, but rather with the pursuit of a dream for which you are devoting the best years of passion and determination. Today's galaxies have a propensity for organizing in such a way as to bring everything into line, and you will find this to be a very favorable time to do so.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Cooperation brings more readily. Present your accounts with courtesy and assurance. It's a long day—give yourself an extra rest break.

TARUS (April 20-May 20): Move promptly to cover your share of group finances. Keep matters simple; never mind expending extra money until after you have thought them all thru.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Mark this day as a family-friends-neighborhood day. Make the most of the experience for sharing hobbies, comparing notes, etc.

CANCER (June 21-July 21): Your choices are excellent for a comfortable marriage. Good news furnishes an opening for your best skills at persuasion.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 21): Whatever else you do, avoid impairing a friendship by misuse or presumption. There's planning and arranging to be done.

VIRGO (Aug. 22-Sept. 21): Trans-formation: time not yourself in a fresh context. Try a different approach, particularly where your previous system hasn't produced good results.

LIBRA (Sept. 22-Oct. 21): A brand new start is ever so much easier than working out the awkward neglected corners of old jobs. A good balance is the hardest of all to find.

SCORPIO (Oct. 22-Nov. 21): Younger people are busy may include somewhat. Patience must be its own reward for the moment.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Optimism openly expressed attracts support. Steadily pace your way thru favorable conditions.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Constructive changes are in the air. Anticipate them where you can, be ready to make a fair trial of unfamiliar ideas, materials.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Part of your mission should be given over to others for the time being. Select what and how much "openly" for the best balance rather than spread yourself too thin.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Compromise is inevitable to the winner you can see where the adjustment can be made ahead of it and go on in cheerful cooperation.

DEAR ABBY: I recently met a very attractive older man. He is 36 and I'm 24. He's talented, intellectual and successful. He has been married and divorced twice.

I am a virgin and intend to stay that way. He knows this because I've told him so.

I was completely fascinated with this man until he lent me a book of poetry in which I found a list of 36 girls with whom he had been intimate. He rated them "one star, two stars, three stars and four stars." On the bottom of the list he had my name written in pencil with a four star rating. That turned me off fast.

Two questions: What kind of man would keep such a list? And what kind of man would have left it in the book?

TURNED OFF IN L.A.

DEAR TURNED OFF: A very immature man would have kept such a list. And a concerned cad would have left it in intentionally, which is probably what he did.

DEAR ABBY: I have four children, one of whom is a Mongoloid. I'll call him Johnny, but that's not his real name.

I recently received an invitation to a wedding and reception. It was addressed to my husband and me and family. However the following P.S. was added: "Please leave Johnny at home. He is a darling boy, but he might feel out of place."

I think this was inexcusably rude. I would like your opinion of this. After all, Johnny is human too.

JOHNNY'S MOTHER: DEAR MOTHER: Rudeness is only the absence of manners. Your friend lacks much more. Namely, understanding, compassion and judgment.

Pledges Welcomed By ESA Sorority

A preferential tea and pledge pin ceremony highlighted the meeting of Kappa Alpha chapter of Epsilon Sigma International, Thursday in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Company.

The ceremony was conducted by Mrs. Ray Woodridge, president.

Pledges receiving pins were Mmes. Alvin Bicknell, F.G. Vaughn, Ed Bailey, Ray Floyd, Maxine Dunham, Buster Grayson and Charles Browder.

Members present were Mmes. Fern Berry, Hunter Chism, Horace Henley, Irvin Hungerford, Milton Jones, Glenn McConnell, Joel Plunk, Robert Rose, Tommy Sells, Norman Sublett, Jerry Thompson, Ray Woodridge and Bob Yost.

Next meeting will be a social in the home of Mr. Irvin Hungerford, 2106 Christy, at 8 p.m. Oct. 21.

Quotable Quotes

But here's what I don't like: When Mrs. Tricky wants a baby-sitter to hire, she never asks Helen. Always somebody else. But Helen is good enough for her kids to play with — which really amounts to sitting for free.

Is there some way I can let Mrs. Tricky know she shouldn't send her kids over here for my daughter to watch if she's not qualified enough to hire for pay?

HELEN'S MOTHER: DEAR MOTHER: Yes. You could tell her. But better check with Helen first. Maybe she enjoys playing with children without pay.

DEAR ABBY: To the man who complained it's a "woman's world" because people always ask how the mother is when a baby is born: When men start giving birth to babies — people will ask how the father is.

Giants-Cowboys Will Clash Tonight, 8 P.M.

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys two-quarterback system undergoes the microscope again tonight against the New York Giants in a nationally televised National Football Conference game and there will be some 70,000 critics in the Cotton Bowl and at least two in the television booth.

Quarterback Roger Staubach gets the nod this time for the 8 p.m. CDT (ABC-TV) kickoff in coach Tom Landry's continuing game of musical quarterback. The week before it was Craig Morton as the No. 1 man under as Washington won 20-16.

"I would like to eventually establish a No. 1 quarterback at Dallas," Landry said. "But neither Staubach or Morton has established himself."

Frank Gifford, who played with Landry on the 1956 National Football League championship New York Giant team, and Don Meredith, who played quarterback under Landry until Meredith retired in 1969, will be television commentators on the game and both disagree with Landry's system.

"I love Tom Landry but I may not like some of the things he does," Meredith said Sunday night. "I do not envy his position in naming a No. 1 quarterback. I disagree. I believe it is important for a team to function under one man it's important for the team to know that the position belongs to somebody."

Gifford said: "Tom is a good friend of mine but I don't believe in the two-quarterback system and I have the championship ring with two quarterbacks in 1956—Don Heinrich and Charley Connerley."

"I kept feeling as a player we were just in a holding pattern until Charley came in for Don. As a player, I just didn't like it. But Tom feels that is what he should do."

The Giants will have no trouble in deciding their quarterback—Fran Tarkenton, who can run a team ragged when he's hot.

Both the Cowboys and Giants boast 2-1 records and trail the unbeaten Washington Redskins, who are 4-0 in the NFC Eastern Division.

The Giants have whipped Green Bay and St. Louis, losing only to Washington.

Dallas has beaten Buffalo and Philadelphia.

Landry fears Tarkenton who has always gives Dallas fits.

"He's the key... if he's working effectively he'll give you a long evening," Landry said. "We have to be prepared for him."

And the Giants have to be prepared for two quarterbacks.

Second Game Of World Series Will Be Palmer Vs. Johnson

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — Pat Dobson had a comfortable seat in the Baltimore dugout instead of the bullpen today as the Orioles and Pittsburgh Pirates clashed in the rain-delayed second game of the 1971 World Series.

That was the major consequence of the morning-long rain Sunday that forced the first World Series postponement since 1962.

Dobson, one of the Orioles' quartet of 20-game winners, had been ticketed for duty in the bullpen during the Series. A team ordinarily needs just three starting pitchers, but the rain eliminated the usual travel day and that earned him a start in Wednesday's fourth game at Pittsburgh.

"I can't see this hurting us," said spunky Earl Weaver, manager of the defending World Champion Orioles. "Now we'll just have to play four days in a row and that means they'll see four 20-game winners."

Weaver stuck with Jim Palmer to start today against Pittsburgh's Bob Johnson, who won only nine games during the regular season but beat San Francisco as an emergency starter in the pivotal third game of the National League playoffs.

"It will be Mike Cuellar for Baltimore and Steve Blass for the Pirate in game No. 3."

Weaver indicated he originally planned to bring back Dave McNally, the first-game winner, for Wednesday's fourth game but decided to shift to Dobson after the rainout.

"By pitching Dobson,

McNally can get an extra day's rest," said Weaver. "Maybe that will make his fast ball better."

McNally's fast ball was just fine in Saturday's opener as he throttled the Pirates on three hits and retired 19 consecutive batters during a 5-3 Baltimore victory.

The muscle in that game was provided by Merv Rettenmund's three-run homer and solo shots by Frank Robinson and Don Buford.

Robinson, the aging outfielder, was the center of a humorous scene in the dressing room Sunday when there appeared to be some debate over whether the scheduled second game would be played at night instead of at 1 p.m., EDT.

"If it's at night, I can't play Tuesday," cracked Robinson, who often stays out of the lineup for day games following night games.

"Don't worry about that," snickered Weaver. "He's doubled back before and he'll be in there."

The debate over starting time began moments after Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, standing at the Orioles' dugout under a huge umbrella held by Pat Santarone, the head groundskeeper, announced the postponement.

"The second game will be played at 1 p.m. Monday," the commissioner said after touring the drenched outfield. Just then, Jerry Hoffberger, owner of the Orioles, rushed over to Kuhn saying: "Can't we do it at 7? Then we can get some people in here and get a television audience."

The rain-cost baseball what is usually its largest television viewing audience of the year. In fact, the World Series schedule was changed three years ago to provide the sport with a minimum of two and a possibility of four weekend viewing dates.

Hoffberger's outburst sent Kuhn into a high-level conference with other top baseball officials and, for half an hour, there was no word whether the game would be played during the day or at night.

Soon Brooks Robinson, Most Valuable Player in the 1970 series, grew impatient. "Are we supposed to wait around?"

Robinson asked reserve outfielder Curt Motton.

"Only if you want to know what time the game is," answered Motton. "But you can go. They'll call you and let you know... unless they want me to play third base."

The Pirates, citing the travel to Pittsburgh for Tuesday afternoon's game, protested a night contest. Kuhn agreed and the decision was announced. Except for the change in assignment for Dobson, the rainout had little effect on the plans of the two managers.

"It makes no difference to me," said Danny Murtaugh, who watched the rain from the Pirates' dugout. "But we're not used to this kind of weather."

The Pirates had just two rainouts during the regular season while the Orioles had 19 games postponed—14 of them at home. Baltimore also was rained out in the opening game of the American League playoffs.

"We've been playing on wet fields since July," said Weaver. "There was some suggestion that the Orioles might have erred in not having the outfield covered by tarpaulins."

SWC Championship Race Finds Hogs And Horns Hooking It Up

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
That nationally televised shootout between Arkansas and Texas Saturday will go a long way in deciding the Southwest Conference championship but it's between two waddies with bullet holes in their Stetson's in the Top 10 rankings.

Third-ranked Texas lost 48-27 to Oklahoma Saturday and Arkansas earlier dropped a 21-20 shocker to Tulsa.

So that leaves it strictly a family feud with Arkansas already getting a valuable preview of Texas' wishbone-T in a 35-7 thumping of the Baylor Bears Saturday night.

Baylor Coach Bill Beall tried to surprise Arkansas with the triple option. He put Godfrey White and Matthew Williams in the same backfield.

"They hit those two bombs... we got behind... and we had to leave our game plan," said Beall.

Arkansas' quarterback Joe Ferguson hit Mike Reppond with bombs of 40- and 39 yards.

Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said he was surprised Baylor used the wishbone.

"We were not ready for it but I thought we adjusted well," he said. "If we don't get a couple of easy ones (touchdowns) all first, then it is some contest."

Texas is glad it doesn't have to go up against the wishbone this week after what Oklahoma did to the Longhorns with the offense Saturday.

"I think Oklahoma has a super football team," said Texas Coach Darrell Royal. "They have such fantastic speed... we couldn't slow them down."

Oklahoma Coach Chuck Fairbanks said you can't win with a system alone.

"A good offensive system helps, but we have pretty good players," he said.

Texas appears a bit more banged up than Arkansas going into the game although Razorback halfback Jon Richardson's status is up in the air because of injury he suffered several weeks ago.

Reserve quarterback Donnie Wigginton has a rib cartilage separation and halfback Don Burris suffered a dislocation of the collarbone against Oklahoma. Linebacker Glenn Gaspard has a sprained ankle.

The status of No. 1 Texas quarterback Eddie Phillips was questionable although he played against Oklahoma after Wigginton left the game. Phillips didn't move with the same quickness he displayed before pulling a hamstring muscle.

Arkansas now holds a 2-0 SWC record and Texas is 1-0.

Texas Tech played perhaps its finest game of the year in downing Texas A&M 28-7. In other games, Texas Christian and Oklahoma State tied 14-14, and the Air Force routed Southern Methodist 30-0.

Red Raider Coach Jim Carlen said "I thought we played our best overall game of the year, but we still had too many mistakes, especially on penalties. That's unreal—106 yards in penalties. I believe that might be the most yards any team mine has been penalized."

Running back Doug McCutchen said of the victory which gives Tech a 1-1 SWC mark: "This is what we've needed. It should help us the rest of the year."

Southern Methodist is at Rice and Texas A&M is at TCU in other SWC clashes Saturday aside from the Texas-Arkansas confrontation.

Boston College is at Texas Tech and Houston hosts Villanova on Friday.

Evened Score Gives Corso A Reason To Smile In MVC

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Lee Corso has evened another score.

In 1969, his Louisville team was slaughtered 69-19 in Memphis by Memphis State. Things were so gory the Louisville coach waved a white towel at Memphis State coach Billy Murphy to call off the hounds.

Saturday, Louisville defeated Memphis State 26-20 in Memphis in a crucial Missouri Valley Conference game.

"I feel like we were Custer going back to the Little Horn... only this time we scalped the Indians," Corso said.

Howard Stevens, who stands only 5-foot-5 and weighs 165 pounds, gained 175 yards on 30 carries and broke it open in the second half with a 62-yard scoring run.

In other MVC games, Tulsa shot down Virginia Tech 46-39. Drake downed Northern Iowa 28-0. New Mexico State and New Mexico fought a 35-35 tie. Akron ripped North Texas State 20-6, and UT-Arlington ambushed West Texas State 13-0.

The Tulsa-Virginia-Tech game was a duel between quarterback Todd Starks of Tulsa and Don Srock of Virginia Tech.

Tulsa Coach Claude Gibson said "People came out to see if we were for real" after the 20-0 upset win over Arkansas.

"Offensively, they saw it all," he said. "It's unfortunate they didn't see our defense perform as well as it could. A few people thought we would be 3-1 at this time... but here we are."

HEART ASSOCIATION FOR TEXAS MEETS — Dorothy Francis studies one of the displays at the annual meeting of the Texas Affiliate of the national heart organization. Agenda for the San Antonio meeting included general assembly, scientific sessions and nurses institute.

Texas Heart Group Has Annual Session

The Texas Affiliate of the American Heart Association conducted its annual assembly, scientific sessions and nurses institute Sept. 22-26 at San Antonio.

Delegates heard reports on state-wide activities of the association and various honors and awards were bestowed.

Some 120 heart fund drives garnered $1,328,012 and bequests added another $134,000. These funds are being used for education, research and community services. Memorials of any amount may be established at the local level. In Pampa, these are sent to Dorothy Francis, 1112 Duncan.

In the field of community services, the most effective programs of the year were in the area of hypertensive heart disease with 9,164 persons screened in 58 high blood pressure clinics.

In the area of professional education some 10,000 doctors and nurses participated in continuing programs; more than 7,000 articles appeared in periodicals and 113,700 messages were on radio and television.

The Dwight D. Eisenhower Lay Volunteer of the Year Award went to Wesley R. Brown, Houston. The honor goes to the non-medical worker who makes an outstanding contribution in the areas of education, community service, fund-raising and volunteer participation and leadership.

Dr. Sidney Schnur, Houston, is the new president and Dr. P. W. Wilson, Houston, is president-elect.

Dr. John Derrick, outgoing president noted that more than one million lives are lost each year to heart disease. He pointed out that it will take the continued effort of all members of the Heart Association to bring this killer under control.

United Fund Helps Salvation Army Take Care Of Many Needy Families

The Salvation Army, well known for its help in times of national disaster, also meets an everyday need in its own community. The Salvation Army through the United Fund in Pampa is out to open new ways of hope for people in need, first with love and compassion, counseling and planning.

The lonely, homeless transient man seeking employment or trying to run away from his problems, or a man who needs a helping hand or a second chance.

Seldom a day passes and never a week, but that The Salvation Army 701 South Cuyler, offers a helping hand to a resident or someone just passing through the city.

The man who came running to our office just as we were closing, his car broke down and needed a fuel pump, this was secured, and the man installed it himself and was on his way. He will look back at Pampa as a community with a heart, that helps when they needed it most.

The 13-year-old boy who went to camp, and got to fish, and ride a horse for the first time in his life.

Panhandle Water

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Felix Ryal's popular column each Sunday contained considerable good material yesterday and rather than cut it the remainder was carried over.)

I'm a strong believer that the best government is one in which the people are the least governed, but I feel very strongly that it becomes the general public's business when you are marketing a product that is dangerous to the health and safety of the general public.

No, we cannot brag that Texas was last in this endeavor.

WHEAT SOWING

Most farmers had finished sowing wheat when Friday's rain set in. At the time of this writing (Friday) the moisture had been very light. It was great on older, crusted wheat ground and even better on newly-planted wheat. A half to three-quarter inch would have been better. This will be the best wheat pasture season in a decade for those that had wheat planted by mid-September. Wheat planted after this date will afford very little pasture this fall or winter. Next spring it could be the best you have.

MILO HARVESTING

Jack Osborne, Pampa, has been harvesting some milo for C.W. Osborne, north of Pampa in Roberts County. This is the only milo I've heard of that has been harvested. An early freeze at this point would hurt most of the dryland milo and some of the late-planted irrigated. However, it would be a help to some of the irrigated where two-thirds of the milo is ready to cut and a small per cent of what is left is still extremely green.

CATTLE PRICES

The fat market has turned very dull the last few days. This will not dull the stocker calf market. I was visiting with one eastern order buyer lately and he remarked the bigger runs would end in two weeks if they had an early frost. I see nothing but a steady movement upward in prices of light weight stocker calves that are already way too high in relation to the going price of yearling and fat cattle.

Hollywood's Studios Looking To Real Estate For Revenue

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—In search for survival, Hollywood's film studios are looking to real estate for much-needed revenue.

Most big studios were started a half-century ago, when Los Angeles land was dirt cheap. Values have greatly increased, and now the film lots represent some of the choicest parcels in the metropolitan area.

Since studio facilities are not needed as much as cash, some companies plan to sell or develop their properties.

The film community was shocked recently to learn of an agreement by which Columbia would sell its 11 1/2-acre studio and 34-acre location ranch and move in with Warner Bros. The urgency of the economy was underscored when Columbia's annual report was released; a loss of $28 million.

Paramount also sought to share quarters with a rival and has been negotiating with both Universal and 20th Century-Fox. The talks were dropped last month, and Paramount will seek other devices.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Tony's nuisance habit makes him (and millions of others) miserable. Indeed many grown men are washed out of military service due to enuresis (bedwetting). And we encounter it occasionally among college students! For it is a first cousin to the similar act of ignoring your alarm clock. Stop it by the device below.

CASE R-585: Tony G., aged 12, is disconsolate.

"Dr. Crane," his worried mother began, "Tony is still an occasional victim of bedwetting. So he is terrified about going to Boy Scout Camp or of visiting his cousins.

"Oh, he may spend the day with them but when they urge him to stay overnight, Tony tries to concoct various excuses why he must get home.

"So he is becoming somewhat of a recluse.

"Dr. Crane, I have read that emotional problems of the parents will cause a child to wet the bed.

"Others state that enuresis is hereditary.

"But can't something be done to free Tony from this terrible fear that depresses him?"

ENURESIS STRATEGY

Actually, in most cases bedwetting is merely a first cousin to an adult's ignoring his alarm clock.

If, for example, you ever start disregarding that jangle of the morning alarm, you can soon sleep right through it.

And ten vov that the clock never rang, though your wife may have seen you reach out and shut it off!

Bedwetting is exactly analogous to this ignoring of the alarm clock.

So quit debating whether it is due to heredity or feuding between parents and other psychiatric malarkey!

For millions of kiddies live in homes where parents often feud, yet they are not guilty of enuresis!

Besides, it can be checked in just ONE night!

At the outlet of the urinary bladder is a circular muscle (sphincter) that acts as the shutoff mechanism.

Babies haven't learned to make this sphincter muscle obey their conscious wish.

So their bladder empties itself as soon as it is fairly full.

But by the age of 4, about 75 per cent of children have taught their bladder to obey their brain.
