Six ECM Nations Call For Dollar Devaluation

BRUSSELS (AP) - Closing their ranks for negotiations with the United States, the six Common Market countries have agreed on a uniform monetary policy including a call for Washington to devalue the dollar. The stand is expected to have considerable impact on Wednesday's meeting in London of the group of 10 leading industrial nations and the Sept. 27 meeting in Washington of the 118-member International Monetary Fund. The United States will take part in both conferences dealing with President Nixon's new economic policies. Differences between France and West Germany had blocked previous attempts by the Common Market finance ministers to agree on a uniform policy. The ministers' communique Monday night represented a compromise. The West German economics and finance minister, Karl Schiller, rejected an initial draft on grounds it was too elaborate and should be devoid of references to the dollar. But the ministers made clear their intention regarding dollar devaluation when they called for a realignment of major world currencies, "including the dollar." French satisfaction at the meeting's outcome was expressed by its finance minister, Valery Giscard d'Estaing, who said: "It does not baffle a delegation to express its particular satisfaction by affirming that its thesis has won. But now it has become a community viewpoint." The Common Market is composed of France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg. In Washington, President Nixon's deputy press secretary, Gerald L. Warren, had no comment on the action. He said

Treasury Secretary John B. Connally "is going over there and I am sure he will adequately describe the administration's view." The six-point package adopted by the ministers included proposals from the Common Market Commission to replace the dollar as the basic currency of world exchange linked with special drawing rights to the International Monetary Fund. But the ministers said "international liquidity should continue to be based on gold and to a growing extent on instruments collectively created and managed on an international scale."

Anti-American Demonstrations Erupt In S. Viet

By GEORGE ESPER Associated Press Writer SAIGON (AP) - Angered by the killing of a Vietnamese youth by an American soldier, Vietnamese on motorbikes threw firebombs at U.S. vehicles in Hue in a new wave of anti-American demonstrations, U.S. officers reported today. In Saigon, a U.S. Navy petty officer was severely burned after two youths on a motorbike hurled a homemade bomb into his pickup truck outside Navy headquarters. It was the third firebombing of American vehicles there in five days. Also in Saigon, a group of disabled South Vietnamese veterans demonstrated in front of the U.S. Embassy for improved benefits, and a group called Catholics for Peace urged the removal of American "occupation troops" from Vietnam. No incidents were reported. Field reports said five firebombs were hurled at U.S. military police vehicles and trucks and cars belonging to American civilian contractors during a four-hour demonstration Monday night in Hue. About 90 Hue University students staged another demonstration this morning. U.S. officials said it was peaceful.

FOR AMBULANCE

New Service Starts In Pampa Tomorrow

Pampa's new ambulance service will become effective at midnight tomorrow. The city's two funeral homes will discontinue service and it will be taken over by Metropolitan Ambulance Service of Amarillo. The Pampa City Commission today held a public hearing on the Metropolitan contract and authorized the approval of rates and granting of a permit. City Manager Mack Wofford said Metropolitan will operate from 329 N. Hobart. Rates for city calls will be $30 between 6 a.m. and 10 p.m. and $35 between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. plus a $5 charge for oxygen if needed and $5 for any special handling of patients. Metropolitan officials said they will have two ambulances in service and one on standby.

In other business today, the city commission: Made payment to A.E. Mitchell Co., water treatment plant contractors, for $33,797; final payment of $28,640 to the Foran Construction Co., for water distribution lines, and $94,545 to J.W. Cooper Construction Co. on the municipal auditorium. Work on the auditorium, incidentally, is running ahead of schedule, according to City Manager Mack Wofford. Completion date has been set at April 10 next year. Authorized the city to advertise for bids to sell the water storage tank just south of Central Fire Station. Approved the third year payment of $140,460 to the CRMWA on Pampa's contract for construction of the Canadian River Dam and approved payment of August city bills totaling $41,735.

County Solons Study Report On Area Ambulance Service

A report on preliminary efforts to provide ambulance service for the city of McLean and surrounding county areas headed the agenda at a Monday session of Gray County Commissioners Court. County Judge Don Cain met Saturday with Boyd Meador, mayor of McLean and their discussion was based on a tentative 50-50 ratio of financial responsibility between the county and that city. Meador and Mrs. Mary Dwyer, precinct 4 commissioner had met with Creed Lamb of Lamb's Funeral Home regarding emergency service for the area in question. Lamb currently furnishes ambulance service there. "The discussion was favorable and prospects are good that Lamb Funeral Home will agree to provide the service needed in that part of the county," Judge Cain reported. He noted that details of further developments will be disclosed when full agreement is reached. McLean city commissioners must decide on the matter then it is on the agenda of county court for Oct. 1, when that panel will act on it. Commissioners approved the county welfare report Monday. A total of 32 families were assisted at a cost of $1,955.55. The E.D. Baker Corp., Borger, submitted the first monthly estimate on work on the northeast-southwest runway at Pampa airport. The figure was $11,315.25. Total figure for the job for which the firm is under contract is $110,000. This is the same company that did the construction in 1968 under a bond issue voted for the work.

Other business at Monday's meeting was limited to routine discussions requiring no action at the time. Pampa UF Appeal Division Starts To Work Today The Professional Division of Pampa's United Fund Appeal began work today. The division headed by co-chairmen Cameron Marsh and Dr. Raymond Hampton has a goal this year of $9,000. To achieve this amount, the division has been separated into six groups, each with a leader. Cameron Marsh will be working with school personnel. Reverend Marty Hager will be in charge of contacting churches and ministers for their assistance in United Fund Sunday set for September 26. Dr. Bill Walsh will head the group working with local dentists. Medical Doctors will be contacted through Dr. Hampton's team. Harold Ormer and Bill Chambliss complete the leadership of the division. Ormer's group will be working with local attorneys and their staffs, while Chambliss will do the same with local accountants. Other divisions, scheduled to begin work soon are: Government Employees, Mack Wofford, chairman; Commercial, Ira Loftin, chairman; Industrial, Joe Rosenbaum, chairman; and (See PAMPA, Page 2)

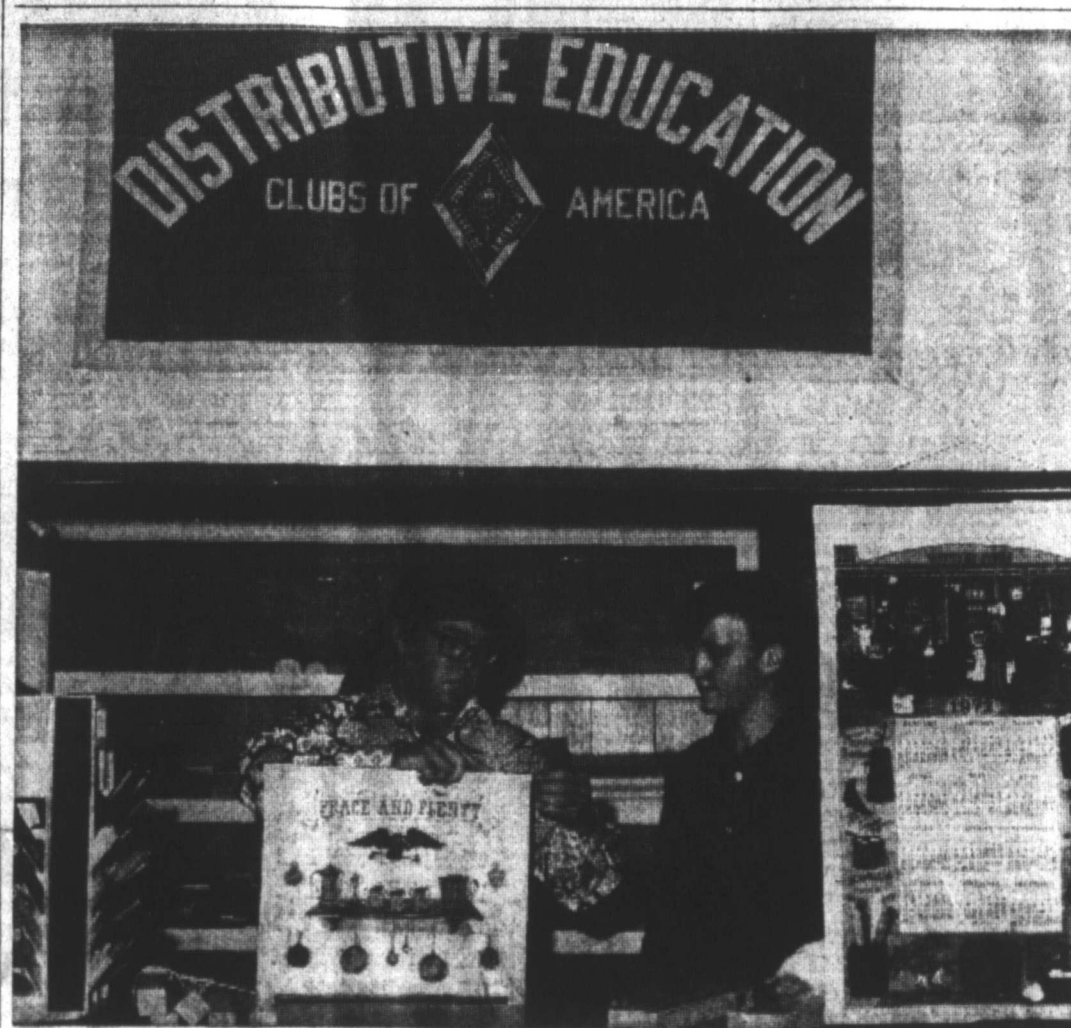

County Officials To Attend 3-Day Meet In Austin

Four Gray County officials are making plans to attend the twenty first annual Attorney General's Law Enforcement Conference Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Stephen F. Austin Hotel, Austin. They are Judge Don Cain, Sheriff Rufe Jordan, County Attorney John Warner and District Attorney Guy Hardin. Judge Cain will participate in a panel discussion Friday afternoon with Richard Bowers, Brewster (Alpine) County attorney, presiding. Bob Flowers, chief of the attorney general's law enforcement division, will sit on the panel. Sheriff Jordan explained the conference as a means of reviewing legislation passed in the preceding sessions and discussing additional measures needed and means of getting them through the next lawmaking session. He said that, as a law enforcement officer, the meeting of minds with others throughout the state had been very fruitful in the past. Crawford C. Martin, current attorney general will host the conference.

AT PUBLIC HEARING

Mayor, Ex-Mayor Mix It In Budget Debate

By TEX DEWESE A word tiff between Mayor Milo Carlson and ex-Mayor E. C. Sidwell added color to this forenoon's meeting of the Pampa City Commission. Sidwell appeared at the public hearing on Pampa's $2,198,462 operation budget for fiscal 1971-72 and asked that it be reduced 25 per cent. The end result was that the commission turned down Sidwell's recommendation, decided to leave the budget as it is, and is expected to give formal approval at the next council meeting when a tax rate ordinance also will be up for action. The tax rate is expected to be left at its current rate, $1.72 per $100 of property valuation. Sidwell told commissioners today's city budget is approximately $1 million higher than it was nine years ago and keeps going up at the rate of about $100,000 a year. This year's city budget is approximately $90,000 above last year's. Sidwell said he thought it was time to call a halt and start cutting the budget instead of increasing it. Mayor Carlson told the ex-mayor the commission had given thorough study to the budget and had cut everywhere possible. Sidwell said he thought Pampa should forget about using Canadian River water and, instead, sell it to industry or to other member cities in the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority. "Mixing lake water with our underground Ogalala water will mean that our present water supply will be polluted," Sidwell said. Sidwell also attacked the proposed 10 per cent increase in Pampa water rates as set up in the 1971-72 budget. That, however, cannot become effective until the federal government lifts the wage-price free. City Manager Mack Wofford explained. Sidwell also deplored the city plan of furnishing water to non-taxpayers outside the city limits. Mayor Carlson said the city makes a profit on selling water to these consumers because they pay a 50 per cent higher water rate than city residents. "Your current operation discriminates against city taxpayers," Sidwell said. "I recommend your budget be reduced 25 per cent." Mayor Carlson said: "I wish you would show us how to do that. We are just wasting time here. I think we've made up our minds on the budget and will leave it like it is." Sidwell said: "I think you are creating more problems, but I intend to come back again and discuss them as I think interested taxpayers should." With that, Sidwell left the council chambers and the mayor closed the public hearing.

Incident Draws Varied Reaction

ATTICA, N.Y. (AP) - Officials set about the task of putting Attica State Prison in order today after bloody clashes in which a battery of peace officers and National Guardsmen as pitted against the baseball bats, knives and gasoline bombs of rebellious inmates. Thirty-seven men died. Nine of the dead were hostages-part of the group of 38 guards and prison employees held for four days by the convicts inside the prison walls. It was a dark, rainy but quiet day today in this western New York village where the sound of gunshots, helicopters and exploding tear gas grenades were heard Monday. Officials were trying to identify the dead inmates, piece together an account of what led to the bloodshed, and put the prison system back on its routine. Relieving guards and other personnel who had been on extra duty during the long hours of trouble, securing adequate supplies and preparing meals were priority considerations, they said. But state officials were faced early in the day with a federal court order forbidding them from interrogating any of the subdued inmates until attorneys could counsel with them. U.S. District Court Judge John Curtin scheduled a hearing on his order, which also instructed prison officials to admit doctors and nurses to inspect medical care being given injured prisoners. Attorneys for the state withheld comment until the hearing later in the day. State correction officers at Sing Sing Prison in Ossining locked prisoners in their cells until after the funerals of the slain Attica guards. Officials said the move was a safety measure. And in Baltimore, Md., there was a brief uprising this morning in the City Jail, where inmates barricaded themselves in the cafeteria. They were quickly driven out with tear gas and returned to their cells. State Corrections Commissioner Russell G. Oswald, who ordered the assault Monday, said autopsies had showed that two of the slain hostages had been killed prior to the time state police, guards, sheriff's deputies and National Guardsmen moved in to smash the rebellion by some 1,200 prisoners. He would not say how much earlier the two had died. One of them had been emaciated, he said.

Public officials penologists and private citizens reacting to the bloody end of the inmate insurrection at Attica Prison have divided sharply over whether the use of force was necessary. President Nixon, in a telephone conversation with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, expressed support for the governor's response to the four day rebellion that ended with nine hostages and 28 inmates killed. Nixon particularly supported Rockefeller's refusal to grant the prisoner's demand for complete amnesty for any criminal acts committed during the uprising, aides to the two men said. One authority on prisons, Dr. Vernon Fox, who once spent four days "talking down" a riot at Michigan State Prison, charged that New York officials mishandled the situation.

Taxpayers League Meets To Select Board Members

The newly-formed Taxpayers League met Monday night to nominate members to seven board positions, according to Richard Swearingen acting as chairman of the organization. He reported 13 nominations for the seven positions. Ballots will be printed and mailed to the 250 members of record with instructions to vote for seven of the nominees. When all ballots have been returned another public meeting will be scheduled at which nominations can be made from the floor, as well as balloting when nominations have been completed. Thus members of the board will be named by the combined process of printed membership ballot and open voting at a public meeting. Swearingen said there are no dues connected with league membership. The only requirement is the status of tax-paying resident of Gray County.

City Jail Prisoners Rebel At Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) - An estimated 200 to 300 prisoners barricaded themselves in a cafeteria at Baltimore City Jail today and police moved in with tear gas to force them out. The uprising occurred just one day after a rebellion was put down at a state prison in Attica, N.Y., where 37 persons were killed. Inmates there had held 38 persons hostage since Thursday. According to Baltimore police, inmates took possession of the cafeteria about 7:15 and refused to come out. Police said they moved in with tear gas about one hour later. Some 50 police said the inmates had no hostages. The City Jail has a predominantly black population of 1,200 inmates. Police reportedly pulled back within two hours after the uprising began.

"Everything is secure here," reported a prison official at 9 a.m. Prison officials and city police never deemed the situation important enough to notify state officials. Howard B. Parks, deputy warden at City Jail, said the uprising was "a follow up" to the Attica uprising. "To my knowledge the only cause was the thing in Attica," Parks said. "It's a wonder it's not more widespread throughout the country." Parks discounted speculation that the uprising was stirred by militant forces. "There's not a strong militant force in the jail," Parks said. "Or if there is, I haven't felt it." By RICHARD SHAFER Associated Press Writer

Democratic Governors Urge Nixon To Curb Firm Profits, Dividends

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) - Milliken said any talk of a Democratic governors' critique on profits is premature, citing President Nixon's new and Republican governors are economic policy as inequitable, not in any event about to endorse a Democratic statement accompanied by restrictions on the administration, profits, dividends and interest. Twenty of the 29 Democratic governors and 20 of the 21 Republican governors are on hand for the 63rd National Governors Conference today, and seek its adoption on Wednesday. But Republicans can block it easily since approval would require a three-quarters vote. Marvin Mandel of Maryland, the Democrats' new chairman, said "I have nothing to say about the critical statement 'is it,'" said Gov. William G. Milliken of Michigan, vice chairman of the Democratic governors, and it will be presented to the President."

Number Of Birth In U.S. Declines In 1st Half Of '71

WASHINGTON (AP) - The number of births in the United States dropped in the first six months of 1971, puzzling and surprising population experts at the Census Bureau. Census officials had expected the number of births this year would easily exceed those of 1970. Now they're not so sure. And, although it's too early to say, they're wondering whether an important new trend is developing in population statistics.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We are in our kitchen and have been married only three months. (This is my second marriage, and his, too.) We have a lovely apartment, however, mirrors and pictures are still on the floor, resting against the walls because my husband refuses to have them hung. He is afraid if the large mirror is hung on the wall it will come down on his head. He refuses to let me put up the usual decorative things around, removing them to a corner of the dining room on the floor! I have made several attempts to put these things out, only to find that he has removed them, so I have just given up. A beautiful rubber plant was thrown out because it was an "eyesore."

What sort of problem do you think I have on my hands, Abby? And how would you cope with it? He wants me to invite people over, but I am reluctant because the place looks as though we moved in only last week.

DESPERATELY UNHAPPY
DEAR UNHAPPY: If your husband is hung up on hanging things for fear they will come down on his head, assure him that there are professionals who can hang them safely. If he still refuses, add this to his refusal to keep decorative objects in sight where they belong, and consider the possibility that his mind isn't functioning properly. All big problems were once small. Get your husband to his doctor for a checkup.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter was recently married at a beautiful church wedding, and this is what happened:

We planned on 210 guests for a sit-down wedding dinner. We engaged a fine catering service and had placecards for everyone. Well, 44 extra guests showed up!

Thirty had received invitations but failed to reply to our R.S.V.P. to let us know they were coming. And we had 14 children who were not invited but were brought by their parents.

Of course there were no places for 44 extra, but some stayed anyway and ate in the kitchen, and some got mad and left in a huff.

Abby, when an invitation is addressed to Mr. and Mrs., don't they know their children are not included? And shouldn't people know enough to respond to an R.S.V.P. invitation? Please print this. A lot of folks need educating.

LOVELY WEDDING

DISASTROUS DINNER
DEAR LOVELY: R.S.V.P. invitations are ignored out of laziness—not ignorance. And those who take their uninvited children along are beyond educating.

DEAR ABBY: "UNDER 25" in Loma Linda stated in his letter that he could not have gotten his master of science degree without free clinics, government loans and food stamps.

Since I am a part of the government body which helps subsidize these various handouts, may I point out that many of us who are over 25 did not expect the taxpayers to be so full of "brotherly love" to keep us publicly endowed with food, medical care or schooling. Many of us worked very hard to get an education and a business.

"Under 25" also suggests that some of us are not very tolerant of their sloppy attire, long hair and love beads. We who wear "beads" of perspiration from working for a living, care not that others choose to dress differently.

If "Under 25" wished to place a raisin in his navel and disguise himself as a cookie, we couldn't care less. However, we DO object to having to pay for the raisins. Sign me.

They are, from the left, Mrs. Morris Brinson, secretary; Tracy D. Cary, president; Mrs. Frank Schaffer, treasurer and Mrs. Lois Fagan, vice-president.

Year's Programs Announced By Pampa Music Teachers

The Pampa Music Teachers' Association met recently in the White Deer Land Museum, with Tracy D. Cary, president, in charge. December will be the group's Christmas party, while January's program will be entitled, "The Fine Arts in the Church." "The First Piano Recordings and Techniques" will be the topic for February.

Teachers are Performers. Too! In March will be highlighted with a recital in Tarpley Recital Hall, with each association member performing. In April, honor students in band and voice will be honored at a recital in the City Club Room.

In October, the Pampa association will attend a district meeting in Amarillo at which the president of the Texas Music Teachers' Association will be honored, Cary pointed out.

In November, "Making Music A Family Affair," will be the program, with Dr. George Umberson of West Texas State University as guest speaker. The event will be open to parents and students as well as

Highlights And Sidelights From The State Capitol

By BILL BOYKIN
 Texas Press Association
 AUSTIN, Tex. — A major court decision last week left up in the air the question of how Texas is to achieve a valid reapportionment act for both houses of its legislature before next year.

The decision left unanswered how the bill should be corrected or if it should be redone before 1973. Basic questions are these: Should House reapportionment and state Senate redistricting (left untouched by the Legislature) be the subject of an emergency special session? Should the five-member Redistricting Board take on the job, since no valid reapportionment was done by the Legislature in the first regular session after the 1970 census? Should the Legislature forget about reapportionment before 1972 elections and wait until the 1970 census statistics are all complete and published? Gov. Preston Smith and Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin once more are on opposite sides of a controversy.

Smith says the Redistricting Board has the "duly constituted responsibility" under the constitution to redistrict, and a special legislative session on reapportionment would be unnecessarily costly.

Martin stated in a brief before the Supreme Court a special session "would seem the only correct possibility, but this, too, could become the subject of litigation."

A High Court ruling in another case challenging the Redistricting Board's authority may hold the key as to whether it can proceed, whether the Legislature must take over now or check the task until 1973.

A note of urgency is injected into the issue by the fact the Board is directed by the constitution to do whatever it is going to do by late October. Furthermore, legislative candidates appear to face a November 7 deadline for establishing residence in the district they choose to represent.

Aftermath Of Foothills Terror Clouds Days Of Woman Victim

POMONA, Calif. (AP) — "I get nervous at night when I hear a sound or see a shadow," says Marie Parker quietly.

She does recall the panic of the attack. "This guy came kind of running over the rocks. He came from the Kenneth Garbe tent (a 20-year-old Applegate man wounded with his wife in the attack). I saw he had a knife and I think Johnny (Simmons) saw him at the same time because we both jumped up from our seats together."

but I don't recall now if it was my back or my head that was hurt." Witnesses later told police Mrs. Parker fought like a maniac before being knocked down by the killer, who leaped on her and tried to cut her head open with the knife.

Mrs. Parker said she worried that there would be trouble after arriving at the campgrounds. She said Mark came up to her and Mrs. Fitzhugh and said, "that man is on the hill looking at us through binoculars again."

"We have reason to believe that someone was watching us, but don't ask me why," Mrs. Parker says. Police searching outside the campsite area found blood-stained clothing, a large homemade knife and a .41-caliber pistol in an old cistern.

Clarence Otis Smith, 43, an ex-garbage collector, was arrested Aug. 6 by the FBI and is now in Brownsville, Tex., awaiting extradition to California. He was indicted by the Nevada County Grand Jury on two counts of murder and one count of assault to commit murder in the attack.

Mrs. Parker is hopeful about the future. "We have to pick up the pieces of our lives and start again," she says. "I'll go camping again with my family, but not to a public camping ground."

"I can talk about it now and I don't have it in my mind." But she still shivers at a sound in the night or a darkened shadow outside her window.

The man and Johnny met between our tent and the Garbe's Johnny always carried his .41 caliber pistol. He shot, but missed and the guy started on him.

"I was standing right next to Johnny. I remember he fired once. If he hit the guy it would only be a flesh wound, he was aiming low."

"Donna ran into our tent to get a 22 rifle. The man was at the back of our tent slashing at it with his knife. Mark (Mrs. Fitzhugh's 11-year-old son) stood in the doorway looking out. I yelled for him to get back into bed."

"Donna ran to the man and pulled the trigger, but the gun didn't fire. My husband found later that moisture had penetrated the box of shells and only half of them would fire."

Mrs. Parker doesn't recall the killer's attack on Mrs. Fitzhugh. He apparently struck her and then turned on Mrs. Parker.

"People tell me I tried to hit him with a rock. I might have, but I don't remember that. I guess if I did that's when I got close enough for him to hit me."

"I remember getting up after he knocked me down and I hurt."

Living with the Parkers is Sam Fitzhugh, husband of the dead woman and Mrs. Parker's brother-in-law.

The Fitzhughs and the Parkers went to Bear River on a two week outing. The women's husbands were away hunting for gold when the attacks occurred.

Mrs. Parker recalls little of what the killer looked like or her attempt, recounted by witnesses later, to try to hit the man with a rock.

San Antonio's Harte-Hanks, Inc. Purchases Newspaper In Michigan

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Purchase of the Ypsilanti, Mich., Press by Harte-Hanks Newspapers Inc. of San Antonio was announced today by Houston Harte board chairman of the group.

Acquisition of the 16,000 circulation afternoon paper, located in a college community just west of Detroit, is the third out of state purchase by Harte-Hanks since June. Total daily circulation of the group in 18 markets in four states now exceeds 500,000.

The purchase price was not disclosed. The seller was Panax Corp., publisher of a group of daily and weekly newspapers in Michigan.

Robert G. Marbut, president of Harte-Hanks, said Ypsilanti is a growing community of 30,000 with its own economic identity in close proximity to a metropolitan market and that this fits the pattern of recent Harte Hanks acquisitions in Hamilton, Ohio, and Farmingham, Mass.

Ypsilanti is the home of Eastern Michigan University which will have more than 20,000 students this fall.

New publisher of the Press will be Wayne Powell, 33, currently publisher of the Corsicana Sun. His newspaper experience, after graduation from the University of Alabama, has been at Hagerstown, Md.; Bedford, Ind.; Beaumont and Corsicana, Ala.

Panax Corp. President John McGoff, in a statement, said, "Harte-Hanks has a long and proud tradition in the state of Texas and we welcome them to the family of Michigan newspaper publishers. We regret, however, that we relinquish the press since we consider its future to be a bright one."

Mexico International Rock Fiesta Draws Fire From Newspapers, Church

VALE DE BRAVO, Mexico (AP) — Some newspapers called Mexico's first international rock festival a scandal and at least one official of the Roman Catholic Church condemned it from the pulpit.

Organizers and those who were there asserted it was a grand success.

About 150,000 people walked, drove or hitchhiked almost 200 miles from Mexico City to this tiny lakeside mountain village for a music festival over the weekend—the first successful attempt to bring the woodstock wave to Mexico.

Soldiers and state police made no effort to interfere unless the physical safety of an individual was directly involved. They stood by calmly as the young smoked marijuana, danced naked or made love under a canopy of towering pine trees.

"The scandalous music festival ended in perfect order," bannered the newspaper El Heraldo. The official government newspaper, El Nacional, treated the festival more calmly, relegating it to the back page.

The bishop of Tehuantepec, whose diocese includes some of Mexico's poorest people, condemned the festival while appealing for help for his flock. He spoke in a suburban Mexico City church.

No accurate figures were available on the number of dead, arrested, injured or overcome by drugs during the festival just outside this poor village of about 8,000 residents. Reports of dead numbered from one to four, all accidental. Arrests were few and those detained were released shortly.

Organizers planned to include an auto race in Sunday's program but called that off when became apparent the multitude could not be kept off the race roads.

U.S., Russia Reach Accord On Nuclear Arms Accident

LONDON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union have reached agreement on how to prevent any nuclear arms accident from escalating into atomic war, the Observer newspaper reported Sunday.

In a dispatch from Moscow, the British paper said details of the agreement were not available but it was believed to provide for joint U.S.-Soviet investigation of any nuclear accident.

The agreement was understood to include assurances that neither Moscow nor Washington would unleash any retaliatory strikes before the two countries could consult on the nuclear incident involved, the paper said.

What would constitute an accident was not explained, but presumably it would include the unintentional detonation of a nuclear weapon or similar incidents that might arouse suspicion by the other nuclear power and risk touching off retaliation.

Without citing any source for its information, the Observer said the agreement called for well-defined procedures to be followed in such an event and for immediate U.S.-Soviet consultation.

The paper said the agreement was reached in Helsinki at the strategic arms limitation—SALT—talks between the two superpowers. It said there was a felling in Moscow that the agreement could lead to progress on more important issues at the SALT talks.

The agreement probably will be signed in New York or Washington by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers, the Observer said.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Indian government says Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's fall travel schedule will include a trip to the Soviet Union.

Mrs. Gandhi will visit Russia for three days starting Sept. 27, the government said Sunday.

The Prime Minister also plans October and November visits to Austria, Britain, the United States, France and West Germany.

Good Samaritan Becomes Debtor

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rick Stauss dropped out of his jet set life in 1967 and began giving away his personal fortune of several hundred thousand dollars on crash pads for long hairs, music festivals and other ill-fated ventures.

He said his somewhat baffling spending spree was all in the name of bringing peace to the world by midsummer 1972.

Today, Stauss, a trim 51, his young and attractive wife, their 3-month-old son and a host of followers face eviction from the $1,650-a-month hilltop house he rents overlooking Los Angeles.

He owes about $7,000 in back rent. A $360,000 apartment house—the last of his once sizeable holdings—will be auctioned soon to satisfy other creditors.

A banker who watched Stauss' fortune dwindle said until one year ago Stauss could have written his own ticket in any bank in town, "but he got carried away with being a Good Samaritan. Today, no bank would loan him a dime."

But Stauss, a World War II German refugee who made his fortune in foreign films, stocks and real estate, said he has no regrets about giving his money away with no strings attached.

"Some people say I was exploited, ripped off, burned, cheated, but I don't see it that way," he said in an interview.

Why Do Some College Graduates Choose To Labor With Hands?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three years ago Dan Dinello wanted to be a philosophy teacher when he graduated from the University of Illinois. Instead, he is a janitor.

Jeffrey Plack, a 21-year-old San Franciscan, studied premed at Berkeley then graduated as a history major, Class of '71. Today, he's a machinist.

John Blumberg of Orange, N.J., is a Lehigh alum with a master's degree in engineering. Recently he gave up a $14,000-a-year civilian job with the Navy and plans to buy a farm in Canada.

Why do these college-educated Americans choose to labor with their hands? What satisfaction do they find in swinging a mop or feeding metal into a machine or tilling the soil?

"I realized I'd never get along with the AMA," said Plack, referring to the American Medical Association.

"If you're not learning anything in your job, it's not worth anything," said Blumberg.

While most college graduates still follow traditional career patterns, others are opting for a life in which wall-to-wall appliances do not define a man's success, and security has little to do with income. These dropouts from the affluent society hardy form a corporal's guard, but sociologists and college officials view them as the forerunners of a significant trend.

For most, the jobs are temporary, a romantic fling until the job market improves; a gig to pay the rent and save a few cents for travel. A handful view the change as permanent.

"Having more money than your parents does not necessarily make your life better," Dinello said. "If I really wanted to be a philosophy professor, I'd go ahead and be one."

So five days a week, the 24-year-old Dinello hitchhikes from his three-room apartment in Madison, Wis., to the University of Wisconsin where he mops floors from 10 p.m. until dawn for $80 a week.

"It gives me eight hours to think," said Dinello, adding that "I wouldn't work for a business, corporation or bank simply because I don't want to be involved in large institutions which stabilize an ongoing mass society I don't care to participate in."

Plack said his job on the production line of a machine company gives him time "to daydream, to fantasize."

He said the $67.50 a week he earns "is plenty to cover my expenses."

Asked why he took the job, Plack said, "First of all, there's difficulty in getting a white-collar job. And what you have to go through isn't worth it. I'm not ready to get into grind. I don't know if I ever will."

Blumberg, who is 27 and has held down an engineer's job for three years, said he wants "to try and find out what's a necessity and what isn't."

So, he said, he's sold his sail-motel.

"With the realization that you don't need these things, I won't miss them as much," he said.

What about the Lange-flo buckle ski boots still in the corner? Maybe some ski-bumming this winter? He smiled.

Blumberg hasn't bought a farm yet, though he said he has "some money—not enough to live on forever—and plans to pick a site in Canada because land is cheaper there."

It's not the income, status or job which is important, said Blumberg, who has never farmed, but "a life where there's really a purpose, where what you do tomorrow might make a difference in what you eat."

Bennett M. Berger, a sociologist at the University of California and author of "Looking for America," said the prospect that a significant minority of middle-class children will not be as economically secure as their parents is unprecedented in this country.

"The so-called good jobs often require work and personal commitment. A lot would prefer to do work in which they're psychologically turned-off so they can pursue their 'real' work in their spare time. One of the things manual labor does is allow you to keep the private self to the self."

While the percentage of college graduates turning to manual labor is small, college placement officers say it is symbolic of a shift of values among today's students.

"Many have seen a kind of bankruptcy and hypocrisy in their parents' lives and are dissatisfied with them as social models," said Robert J. Ginn Jr., placement counselor at Harvard University.

"The feeling many of them have when they graduate is that they can read Merleau-Ponty (an existential French philosopher), but they can't fix a doorlock. They want to get away from the traditional career in a competitive, profit-making situation."

'Respectable Looking Man' Robs Bank

FORT WORTH (AP) — A man described as "respectable looking" robbed the Fort Worth National Bank Monday of $100. The FBI shortly thereafter arrested a man who reached Dallas by taxi. The money was recovered.

J. Gordon Shanklin, Dallas FBI agent-in-charge, identified the arrested man as John Allen Gibbs, 31, of Fort Worth. He was to be arraigned later before the U.S. magistrate.

Shanklin said Gibbs was arrested in a Dallas hotel in a cooperative investigation by the Fort Worth police and the FBI.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A motion for mistrial in the second murder case of Charles Manson was denied as the trial resumed after a two-week recess.

Manson, sentenced to death earlier this year for the seven Tate-LaBianca murders, is now on trial in the slayings of stuntman Donald "Shorty" Shea and musician Gary Hinman.

Manson's attorney, Irving Kanarek, asked Tuesday for a mistrial because of recent publicity over arrests of Manson followers in an attempted robbery that ended in a shootout.

Meanwhile, in the trial of Charles "Tex" Watson, being tried separately for the Tate-LaBianca murders, a second physician testified Tuesday that Watson has brain damage probably caused by drugs.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mayor Sam Yorty says Marxist nations such as Romania appear willing to grant concessions to American investors because they realize they are falling behind capitalistic countries in business.

Yorty, recently returned from a global trade tour, told a luncheon audience Tuesday he found officials in Romania very eager for investment capital from free nations.

EX-AID SAYS

Barnes, Connally's Friends Tried To Force Smith To Quit Politics

AUSTIN (AP) — Ben Barnes and close friends of John Connally tried for months to cut Preston Smith out of politics completely, says a former paid campaigner for Smith.

Jerry Conn, an Austin public relations man, wrote in an academic paper recently that Smith, as lieutenant governor, "simply was not on the Connally team. He did not want to be on the team and they did not want him."

During the latter part of Connally's final term as governor, "his young protege, Ben Barnes, who had become speaker of the House, combined with Connally forces to try completely to cut Preston Smith out of politics," Conn said.

Conn said Harold Dudley, a former aide to Smith, "recalls that in the latter Connally years it was quite lonely around the Capitol for Preston Smith and his supporters and staff. Few of them were around the Capitol and there were so many Connally and Barnes people."

"Dudley was paid by Smith out of his own pocket. Smith's official lieutenant governor's staff included only four full-time secretaries and one student who came in to clip newspapers. There were no official paid staff members in the lieutenant governor's office when Smith went out in January 1969."

Conn was director of public relations for Smith during his successful 1968 race for governor and was in charge of advertising when Smith was re-elected in 1970.

He recently completed a thesis on Smith's 1968 race for a master's degree from the University of Texas.

Conn, 33, said for those helping Smith to escape Connally's shadow, "It never ceased to be amazing at how the shadow seemed to grow longer and longer."

"This was especially manifested through the press. It seemed that Lt. Gov. Smith could only get moderate press coverage out of a full statewide tour, and yet Gov. Connally seemed to be able to generate enthusiastic response throughout the press corps by anything he did."

Conn quoted another Smith aide, Otis Green, as saying this was because Smith's "dull and colorless image" was contrasted to Connally.

"How did Connally obtain that colorful reputation?" Green asked. "Was it by the way he spoke, the way he looked? The reason he's colorful is because of what happened to him (in Dallas) in his career."

Connally was seriously wounded Nov. 22, 1963, as he rode in a Dallas motorcade with President John F. Kennedy, who was assassinated.

"It didn't seem that he (Connally) ran away with his elections anytime before that," Green said.

Conn said Smith "went along with suggestions for publicity, but he seemed generally to expect the worst." Conn said his reporter friends asked him, "What are you doing working for that old fuddy-duddy? He's not going anywhere."

Conn said Smith's "difficulties with the press stem to come from a maverick or obstinate streak in him, plus an independence that disliked being put on the spot by reporters who, he felt, were not as knowledgeable and responsible as he."

Conn said it "particularly bothered Smith" in 1967 that after Smith had been in state government for 18 years a Houston poll showed Barnes was known by more people than Smith.

Dudley even thought Smith might hire a New York or California firm to try to change Smith's image "from an old bald-headed politician to something with more color and glamour."

But, Dudley said, "I had been studying him for an extended period of time and felt that it couldn't have been done and that it would have been extremely expensive to try. In the final analysis, and in the long run, he had the best image there was under the circumstances, because I felt the people wanted a steady hand on the wheel, a conservative..."

Basically, Conn said, Smith was elected because "he could hold his opponents to a stand-off in the largest counties and then pile up a victory lead in the medium and smaller counties."

Governor Okays Criminal Justice Grants For PRPC

AUSTIN — Three criminal justice action grants totaling $103,891 for the area served by the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission has been approved of Governor Preston Smith.

The money will come from the Criminal Justice Council, which oversees statewide law enforcement planning and administers funds from the U.S. Department of Justice for crime control projects in Texas.

Largest of the three awards goes to Collingsworth County, $45,302 for consolidation of the county's law enforcement agencies. Under the project law enforcement costs will be shared by the City of Wellington, which will contribute 40 percent, and Collingsworth County, 60 percent.

The grant will enable complete consolidation of the law enforcement effort county-wide, similar to that effected with CJC funding in Hardeman County earlier this year.

The Hardeman County project, only other one of its kind in the state, has been acclaimed widely and is yielding results, according to recent reports.

Goals of such projects include upgrading of personnel and equipment and providing additional services.

Local matching contributions of $10,970 in kind and $26,703 in cash will be applied to the Collingsworth County project.

Panhandle Regional Planning Commission was awarded $4,009 in second-year funding of the law enforcement academy serving the 25-county Panhandle Region. Two basic certification classes and 39 other classes and seminars will be held at Amarillo City College for 900 Panhandle officers. Local match will be $22,500 in kind.

Second grant to Panhandle Region, $13,500, will be used for research and development of a model building code designed to prevent burglary in private residences and business buildings.

The code will be developed specifically for the Panhandle region, but guidelines will be developed to use as a model for other areas.

Emphasis will be on developing practical, low-cost criteria to increase volunteer compliance.

Matching contribution of $4,500 in kind will be provided.

Counties of the Panhandle Region are Gray, Dallam, Sherman, Hansford, Ochiltree, Lipscomb, Hartley, Moore, Hutchinson, Roberts, Hemphill, Oldham, Potter, Carson, Wheeler, Deaf Smith, Randall, Armstrong, Donley, Collingsworth, Parmer, Castro, Swisher, Briscoe and Hall.

The award was among 39 action grant applications and one for a planning grant considered by the Criminal Justice Council at its monthly meeting. Applications were for a total of $2,705,274.

Stock Defense Lawyer Questions Political Motivation Of Immunity

By GODFREY ANDERSON
 Associated Press Writer
 DALLAS (AP) — A defense lawyer questioned today the possible political motivation which caused the Justice Department to grant Frank Sharp immunity from further prosecution instead of putting him in prison.

The query came at the start of the third week of testimony in the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) injunction hearing seeking to prevent fraudulent stock dealings.

Revelations in connection with the SEC suit have brought the names of major state politicians into the case after they made large, quick profits in stock deals.

Sharp, expected to testify later today, was in the back row of the spectators area with his lawyers when a motion for dismissal of the case came from lawyer Tim Timmons, representing J. Quincy Adams, a Dallas broker who is one of the defendants.

The motion was denied. Sharp hung his head and studied his hands while Timmons spoke.

Timmons said he would seek to impeach (question the truthfulness of) Sharp as a witness by testifying his credibility and "seeking to elicit the actual reasons, understandings, grounds and basis for the arrangement made between the defendant Sharp and the Department of Justice."

Sharp, accused of widespread, questionable security deals, was given a three-year suspended prison sentence and a fine of $5,000 in return for immunity from further prosecution. The guilty plea and sentence were in U.S. District Court in Houston.

Timmons spoke of what he called "devious and covert meetings" between Sharp and representatives of the Justice Department "possibly resulting in perjury being committed in this and other proceedings."

He called for all documents regarding the agreement to be made available so that he could make "a determination of the actual purpose of the furtive surreptitious agreement made here and the possible political motivations causing senior officials of the U.S. Department of Justice into granting Frank W. Sharp, who is clearly kingpin, principal architect and key figure in this case, immunity from further prosecution after the defendant Frank Sharp had entered a plea of guilty or nolo contendere to minor offenses of federal law, resulting in a subsequent fine and the granting of probation without any incarceration in a federal penal institution."

Willard Herbert, representing John Osorio, another defendant, and Robert Cady, representing David Hoover, also a defendant, joined with Timmons in his motion.

U.S. District Court Judge Sarah T. Hughes, who had remarked earlier that the court also was not aware of the details of the agreement the Justice Department made with Sharp, adding "and is not a party to it," overruled the motion.

A second motion by Herbert on behalf of Osorio was also rejected on the grounds that it was not relevant in this case because no criminal prosecution is involved. He asked that the SEC produce all evidence that might be favorable to Osorio.

Osorio winding up his testimony earlier today, said under cross-examination that after the Sharpstown Realty Co. and Joseph Novotny took over the South Atlantic Corp. from former Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner-Carr, there was a problem regarding a news release the accuracy of which was questioned.

Osorio said Novotny went to see SEC officials in Washington and also met with Will Wilson, who, he said, "thought it not as serious as we thought it to be."

Wilson is a former Texas attorney general who now is an assisting U.S. attorney general.

'Don't Encourage Infant Too Much'

By D. M. KREISHER
 NEW YORK (AP) — For those parents whose infant is just starting to mumble those first precious words, a warning: Don't encourage him too much.

For every time you say to each other, "Oh, how cute it will be when Julius can talk," you'll probably wish later for a return to those days of goo and dada.

Reason enough is the fact that one of the first things a child learns to say is: "What's that?" This, or some reasonable facsimile usually is accompanied by a vague wave of the hand or insistent point of a finger toward some animate or inanimate object just within sight.

From first awakening to final "night-night," it comes like a scratched record: "Whas at? Whas at?" taking in everything in the house at least twice, and most of the things visible out the window. It also covers most major and many minor sounds that resound into his tiny world.

His curiosity is boundless, but his memory is short.

It's a bit unnerving to have this chip off the old block on whom you lavished so much attention only last night greet you on awakening with a pointing finger jabbing and a surprised "Whas at?"

And your long, patient explanation of what you're doing covering your face with cream and slashing yourself with a razor will be rewarded the next morning with a wide-eyed stare and a breathless "Whas at?" when you lather up again.

If you are one of those souls who can't quite get going until after the second cup of coffee you may not enjoy these post-reville games of "20 questions." And how many different ways can you explain those dribbles of blood on your chin.

If the questions aren't enough, the second part of the little one's vocabulary usually is a demand. His first full sentence may well be: "I want that!" again with a gesturing hand that may indicate any number of things, or nothing at all he could conceivably want.

The "Whas at?" and the "I want" may alternate so fast you can't remember whether you're explaining something or fending off his latest demand.

Father may think it is tough enough to stand the brunt of these elementary conversations during his limited time at

Loan Fund Made Available For Printing Course

AMARILLO — A revolving scholarship loan fund has been established to give financial help to those students interested in attending a two-year printing program at Texas State Technical Institute in Amarillo.

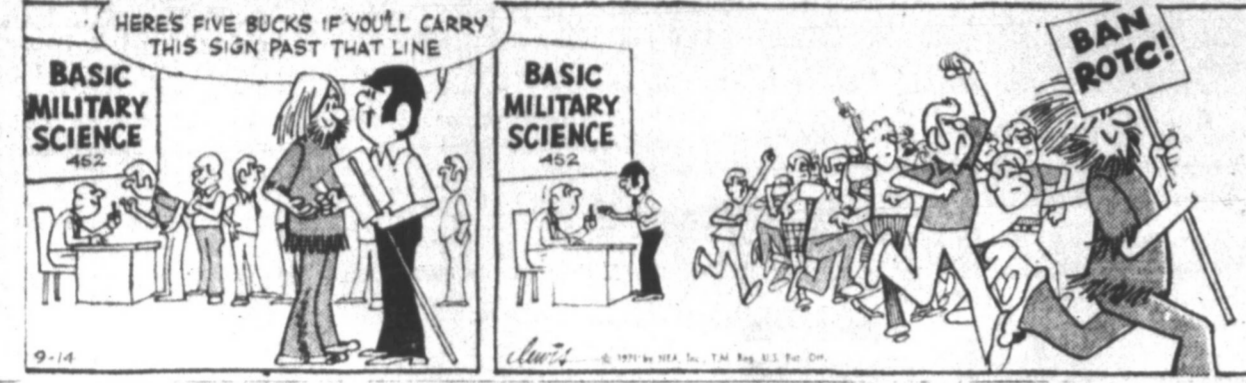

The fund was set up by members of the printing industry located in Panhandle and South Plains cities, said O.W. Dunkle, owner of Stewart Printing Company at 315 S. Main in Perryton. Dunkle is a member of the TSTI Printing Program Advisory Committee.

"The revolving loan fund was established to offer financial help to young people interested in entering the printing industry," said Dunkle. "It isn't a giveaway program," he said. "We expect all of the loans to be repaid when the student completes the two year training program and begins work."

The graphic arts industry is in need of hundreds of people who have a basic understanding of printing in a variety of specialized fields, he said. These include layout, design, artwork, press operation, camera (offset) operation or the operation of other types of equipment used in the graphic arts industry.

BUILT IN APPLIANCES — Built in Hotpoint Appliances are displayed here by Top O Texas Builders and Tinney Lumber Co. new manager Don Tinney and salesman Jack Gist. Posing was done in the display room in Tinney Lumber Co. on Price Road.

Home Building, Remodeling Tinney-Top O' Texas Merge

If you are planning to remodel your home or build a new one, the man to see is Don Tinney of Top O' Texas Builders and Tinney Lumber Co. which are in the same building on Price Road.

Don Tinney is the new manager of Tinney Lumber Co. and has employed approximately 20 trained men to help with your building problem and assist you at finding what you need in which place.

Don himself is well qualified to assist you with your decorating problems.

Tinney Lumber will now have available a full line of decorator-style wallpapers on the special order basis. Also, now available, will be custom draperies and window shades, as well as decorative hardware, beautiful framed mirrors, hi-styled lighting fixtures, folding screens, room dividers, and furniture.

Tinney Lumber Co. encourages women to stop by and discuss their decoration problems with Don Tinney, and while there, they might look over the fine line of built-in Hotpoint appliances they have in stock, if they are considering kitchen remodeling in the near future.

Don Tinney, manager, Jack Gist and Mel Chandler, salesmen, invite all their friends to drop by and see all the changes being made at Tinney Lumber Co. and Top O' Texas Builders on Price Road.

New Line Of Christmas Gifts In Now At Holmes Gift Shoppe

Dorothy and Leon Holmes, owners of Holmes Gift Shoppe, 304 South Cuyler have their complete line of Christmas items for home decor.

Mrs. Holmes is featuring Romertopf cooking pots and Bing and Crondall plates for unique Yuletide gifts. The Romertopf pots are the sophisticated version of an ancient clay cooking method making headlines in newspaper food features and editorial columns throughout the country. The reason is a Romertopf pot cooks food in natural juices retaining vitamins and minerals which would otherwise be cooked out. The ridged bed drains fat from the cooked foods. Another handy feature of the pot is that it can double as a beautiful serving dish.

"We handle anything in the gift line for the Home" said Mrs. Holmes

John T. King & Sons Show Over 40 Years Of Service

John T. King and Sons, located at 718 S. Barnes has been serving the oil industry since 1930. The company was then known as Stapp King Electric and Machine Co. where the first Pyle National Generators run by steam and the old Robert Bosch Magnets were repaired. The ole timers will remember the type EK, type R, and OC Wico Magnets were rebuilt at this time. Six years later the company became known as King Chemical Co. with patent rights on the first paraffin scrapers that were popular in our present oil field for many years to follow. Since the end of World War II, John T. King and sons have been serving the Panhandle field in various capacities and have met challenging changes with the advent of future automation in the field of oil field production and products.

John T. King and Sons handles a complete selection of industrial electronic automation equipment. One of the newer types of magnets stocked by King and Sons is the Altronic, a magneto used for larger industrial purposes. The firm also has Frank Murphy safety switches and electronic control units field installation. Safety devices include United Engineer PKM and Keystone and Associated Well Sounders. Rockwell water meters, Worthington pumps, Fisher Controls, and Natural Gas Regulators are also found at John T. King and Sons.

U.S. Economic Gains Abroad May Be Slow

NEW YORK (AP) — The new U.S. international economic program which was decided upon swiftly and unilaterally depends now for its success upon a series of bilateral agreements that may be painfully slow and knotty.

The shock of the announcement Aug. 15 that the United States was floating its dollar and imposing a 10 per cent surcharge on imports left almost every foreign nation unable to react in word or deed.

King's represented as an authorized Central distributor for the latest type of ignition units that eliminates broader point, and impulse couplings, spark plug life extended, higher voltages available at low cranking rpm, shielded and low fire hazards, that are featured in the newest Altronic Ignition system.

John T. King and Sons, more so than keeping up with changes that are sweeping our period, of time, are finding newer ways and better ways of pleasing their old and newer customers.

HAVE CATERING; WILL TRAVEL — Have catering, will travel is the motto which is displayed on the side of Harvester Pit Bar-B-Que catering van as it sets out side the building at 1404 North Banks.

Atmosphere At Harvester Pit Allows No One to be a Stranger

Braddocks no one is a stranger. Friendly service accompanied by great Bar-B-Que, gives you the 'just relax' feeling.

Harvester Pit owned and operated by Jerry, Kay, and Terry Braddock serves ribs, beef, ham, and sausage immersed in a special sauce

NEWPORT, VI. (AP) — Funeral services will be held Wednesday for Sen. Winston L. Prouty, (R-VI) who died Friday of stomach cancer.

The service at the United Church of Newport will be followed by burial at Pine Grove Cemetery. A memorial service will be held Tuesday at Georgetown Presbyterian Church in Washington.

His widow has asked that instead of flowers, donations be made to the Winston Prouty Memorial Fund, which aids the North County Hospital in Newport.

created by Kathleen and the late H.L. Braddock.

Two special features of Harvester Pit are the fine Catering Service for parties and picnics and the Party Room for wedding rehearsals and company parties. This special room seats up to 120 people. The catering service includes steaks, chicken, ribs, beef, ham, sausage, pork chops or custom cooking of any kind.

Hours are from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday, catering its available any day, any time, including Sunday.

Terry, Jerry, and Kay Braddock invite everyone to come on out to, 1404 North Banks, have some Bar-B-Que and enjoy a friendly conversation.

Prize Winners Announced In News Football Contest

The first week of The Pampa Daily News' annual Football Guessing Contest saw Larry Andrus, 813 Bradley nose out Lloyd Wolfe, 412 N. Zimmers, for first-place honors. Wolfe won second place.

Both Andrus and Wolfe missed only three games.

The winner had to be determined on the basis of the Pampa Harvester-Hereford score.

Andrus picked Pampa 36 to 7 while Wolfe thought the score would be closer at 31 to 23.

The Pampa Harvesters won their season opener over Hereford 20-7.

Third place found four contestants tied, each missing four of the fifteen games.

G.A. McClure, 2321 Rosewood, was declared winner of third place on the basis of his score on the Pampa-Hereford tie-breaker. He picked Pampa to win 26 to 7.

Others who missed only four games were J.D. Alexander, McLean; Bill Smith, 2808 Rosewood; and Bill Morris, 301 Miami, both of Pampa.

Elsewhere in today's News is the contest page for this week.

Read the rules, circle the teams you think will win, fill in the two tie-breaker scores and get your entry to the News office before 5 p.m. Friday.

You may be in the winner's circle next Tuesday.

Renfro Likes What He Sees From Bench

DALLAS (AP) — Mel Renfro has been doing a lot of observing from his seat on the Dallas Cowboy bench and he likes what he sees.

The veteran defensive back, hobbled for two weeks by a leg injury suffered in a pre-season game at Houston, says the explosive offense the Cowboys are displaying should be just the tonic for another Super Bowl visit.

"The showing of the offense during the pre-season is going to help the defense and the team as a whole," Renfro says. "Boy, I tell you the attitude is good. The last part of last season made us all believers. It's hard to lose that feeling. We know we can do it now."

The Cowboys won their last seven games before losing to Baltimore 16-13 in the Super Bowl. Dallas relied almost entirely on a ground-oriented offense and defense. The Cowboys haven't lost since, winning all six exhibition games.

"The passing really looks good now," Renfro says. "Now they can't load up on us."

Quarterbacks Craig Morton and Roger Staubach have been sizzling and Coach Tom Landry said Monday he still hasn't made up his mind on his starter for the season opener Sunday at Buffalo.

One thing is certain — Renfro will be back in the starting line-up.

Jenkins Playing For Arkansas

John Jenkins, former Pampa High School Football Star, led the Arkansas Razorbacks in the fourth quarter of their California defeat.

Jenkins recorded two touchdowns and a field goal for his playing time in the 51 to 20 victory.

Nebraska Leads AP Poll

By BEN THOMAS

Associated Press Sports Writer Nebraska's back on top and Coach Bob Devaney says it's a nice feeling.

But he's still more concerned about the end of the college football season ... not the beginning.

The Cornhuskers, following their 34-7 conquest of Oregon last Saturday, vaulted past Notre Dame Monday in the first weekly Associated Press poll. It was the same position that Nebraska held at the end of the 1970 campaign, following their Orange Bowl triumph.

"It's nice to be No. 1 but doesn't mean much at this stage," Devaney said in Lincoln, Neb., where his team is preparing for Saturday's game with Minnesota.

Notre Dame was No. 1 in the preseason rankings and Irish Coach Ara Parseghian let it be known then he didn't give a hoot about polls until the end of the season. He wasn't available for comment Monday. Notre Dame was idle last Saturday, opening this weekend at South Bend, Ind., against Northwestern.

Nebraska garnered 31 first-place votes from the nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters. Notre Dame got 10 votes for No. 1 with five going to third-ranked Texas and a pair each to No. 4 Michigan and No. 7 Auburn. The Cornhuskers got 931 points to 829 for Notre Dame.

Devaney called his team's showing against Oregon "as fine an opening game as we have ever had since I've been at Nebraska."

At Minneapolis, Coach Murray Warmath of Minnesota said his scouts concur with the consensus.

"They deserve to be rated No. 1," said the coach whose team tangles next with Nebraska. "All they have to do now is show it on the field."

Texas and Michigan came Ohio State, Arkansas, Auburn, Tennessee, Alabama and Oklahoma. The second ten is composed of Georgia, Colorado, Stanford, Penn State, Syracuse, Arizona State, Southern California, Michigan State, South Carolina and Houston.

The Top Twenty teams, with first-place votes in parentheses, records and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

1. Nebraska (31)	1-0 931
2. Notre Dame (10)	0-0 829
3. Texas (5)	0-0 672
4. Michigan (2)	1-0 630
5. Ohio State	1-0 546
6. Arkansas	1-0 541
7. Auburn (2)	0-0 437
8. Tennessee	0-0 364
9. Alabama	1-0 314
10. Oklahoma	0-0 285
11. Georgia	1-0 229
12. Colorado	1-0 194
13. Stanford	1-0 167
14. Penn State	0-0 123
15. Syracuse	0-0 99
16. Arizona State	0-0 95

17. Southern California	0-1 70
18. Michigan State	1-0 60
19. South Carolina	1-0 58
20. Houston	1-0 46

Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Air Force, Duke, Florida State, Georgia Tech, Louisiana State, Minnesota, Mississippi.

Harvester Movies Will Be Shown Tonight At 7:30

Motion pictures of last Friday night's football game between Pampa and Hereford will be shown at tonight's regular meeting of the Pampa Harvesters Booster Club in the high school cafeteria, according to Bud Hogan, publicity chairman.

Al Fraser, president of the Booster Club, said the meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. and urged Pampa sports fans to turn out and show their support of this year's district title-bound team.

Head coach Swede Lee will narrate the motion pictures of Pampa's 20 to 7 win over Hereford.

Employees Of Skelly Oil Units To Be Honored September 16

Employees of Skelly Oil Company's Medicine Lodge and Minneola natural gasoline plants will be honored at a banquet here tonight in recognition of their having worked a total of over 35 years without a lost-time injury.

Bud R. Nunn, Pampa, manager of Skelly's northern natural gasoline plants district, said approximately 30 employees and their spouses are expected to attend the dinner at 7 p.m. in the Comanche Restaurant.

As of Sept. 15, Skelly's Medicine Lodge plant, which employs nine people, had compiled a total of 518,468 hours without a lost-time (disabling) injury, and the six employees at the Minneola plant had worked 166,621 accident-free hours.

The last disabling injury at the Medicine Lodge plant occurred Jan. 1, 1946, prior to Skelly ownership. Skelly employees at Minneola have never suffered a lost-time injury. The plant was put on stream in March, 1960.

"While we think both of these plants' safety records are outstanding, we feel that Medicine Lodge's record is really amazing," Nunn commented. "Just imagine an entire plant staff working for 25 years without an accident."

Plant superintendents Claudy J. Shahan, Medicine Lodge, and Joseph P. Meng, Minneola, will be present at the dinner to accept 25-year and 10-year plaques, respectively, presented to their employees by the Natural Gas Processors Association.

In addition to plant employees and their wives, the dinner will also be attended by Nunn and William Ledbetter, district administrative assistant, both from Pampa; and R.C. Eckard, Skelly publication editor; Johnson R. Porter, natural gasoline plants industrial relations director; James R. Freckle, public relations representative; and Wayne E. Wright, safety director; all from Tulsa.

As part of its safety program, Skelly entertains employees and their spouses at a steak dinner every two years if the plant has less than 50 employees and has worked two consecutive accident-free years. Plants with more employees earn the same award when they complete 100,000 manhours without an injury.

The Medicine Lodge and Minneola plants are located in the company's northern district, headquartered in Pampa, and are the only Skelly-based natural gasoline plants in Kansas.

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC's "Laugh-In" returned Monday night for its fifth season—a lot of people had said it couldn't keep up its furious comedy pace for one.

This time, there were some signs of fatigue, or maybe age. The pace has slowed to a walk. The format is basically unchanged but the elements of surprise and enthusiasm seem diminished. It is still a mixed bag of sight gags, blackout, one line jokes, all hung around the conventional team comedy of Dan Rowan and Dick Martin.

The opening show had the assistance of Raquel Welch, whose revealing decolletage was the most remarkable aspect of her performance—and Martha Mitchell, wife of the U.S. attorney general.

Mrs. Mitchell, who tended to giggle, was provided with an assortment of dismal gags designed to tie into her Washington image. Asked when she thought Supreme Court justices should retire, she replied: "About 9 o'clock in the morning—just before court is open."

Replying to a question about her husband's reaction to her activity, she replied, "John and I have an understanding—I don't tell him how to run the Justice Department and he doesn't tell me how to run the rest of the world." It sounded more like something from a comedy writer's typewriter than native Mitchell wit.

The producers of "Laugh-In" later in the evening showed a pilot program for a sort of global "Laugh-In." Called "It's a Wacky World," the hour jumped around Europe, the United States and Mexico with short segments demonstrating various types of humor.

Terry of McLean, to Andrews where Mrs. McCarthy visited her son, Charles McCarthy and family and the Terrys visited their daughter and her family Mr. and Mrs. G. Burton and children in Odessa.

LONDON (AP) — Actress Mariene Dietrich says nudity has no place in the theater.

"If you can't do it without being nude you ought not to do it at all," Miss Dietrich told newsmen Sunday as she arrived for a charity performance at London's Drury Lane Theater.

The 67-year-old actress also said actress Elizabeth Taylor, whose son recently became a father, is welcome to the title of the world's most glamorous grandmother.

"It's her crown now. I have had it. She can wear it for a while," Miss Dietrich said.

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP) — Pope Paul VI says two women have been selected as advisers on social justice for the third World Synod of Bishops which opens in Rome on Sept. 30. He did not name them.

Some 200 bishops are expected to be on hand to deal with two primary topics, the priesthood and the Church's role in social justice.

Although women sat as observers during the Second Vatican Ecumenical Council, presence of the women advisers at the bishops synod will make the first female participation in such a Church assembly.
