Red China In U.N., Free China Out

Solons Move To Cut U.S. Money For U.N.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fight to slash America's money to the United Nations for expelling Taiwan was shaping in the Senate today with more advance votes lined up against it than for it.

Sen. James L. Buckley, Con-R-N.Y., announced immediately after the 75-35 U.N. expulsion vote Monday night that he is drafting legislation for a "major contribution."

An effort to tack the fund cut onto the foreign aid bill before the Senate in the next two weeks is a possibility, his office said.

"This will do no more than reflect a major downgrading of the U.S.N.'s role in the eyes of most Americans," Buckley said in a statement issued in New York.

Buckley and 20 other senators issued a declaration last month that the United States should "reassess its financial and moral support of the United Nations" if Taiwan was ousted, but 32 senators issued a letter Monday denouncing a fund cut.

Sen. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., charging America was handed the defeat after paying 35 per cent of the United Nations' support, joined Buckley's drive.

Senate and House Republican leaders Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Gerald R. Ford of Michigan issued a statement over the weekend saying the United Nations could not expect the degree of its present support if it expelled Taiwan.

But the 32 senators repudiating Buckley's cut included Republican National Chairman Robert Dole of Kansas and all four major potential Democratic presidential contenders—Sens. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, George S. McGovern of South Dakota and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

Three-fourths of the House, 336 members, joined 67 senators in urging that Taiwan be kept in the United Nations but only 23 House members joined the 21 senators in suggesting U.S. money be cut if Chiang Kai-shek's government was expelled.

Congress has already appropriated America's $107 million for the United Nations and related programs this year but a small amount of U.N. program money is in the foreign aid appropriation still in Passman's subcommittee.

It is the House-passed $3.2 billion authorization for this appropriation that is now before the Senate.

War Protesters Planning March On White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-war protesters, their first day of demonstrations virtually washed out by rain, plan to march on the White House today to serve President Nixon with an eviction notice.

Rennie Davis, a leader in the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice, sponsor of the protest, told about 400 youths Monday night permits for the march had been denied.

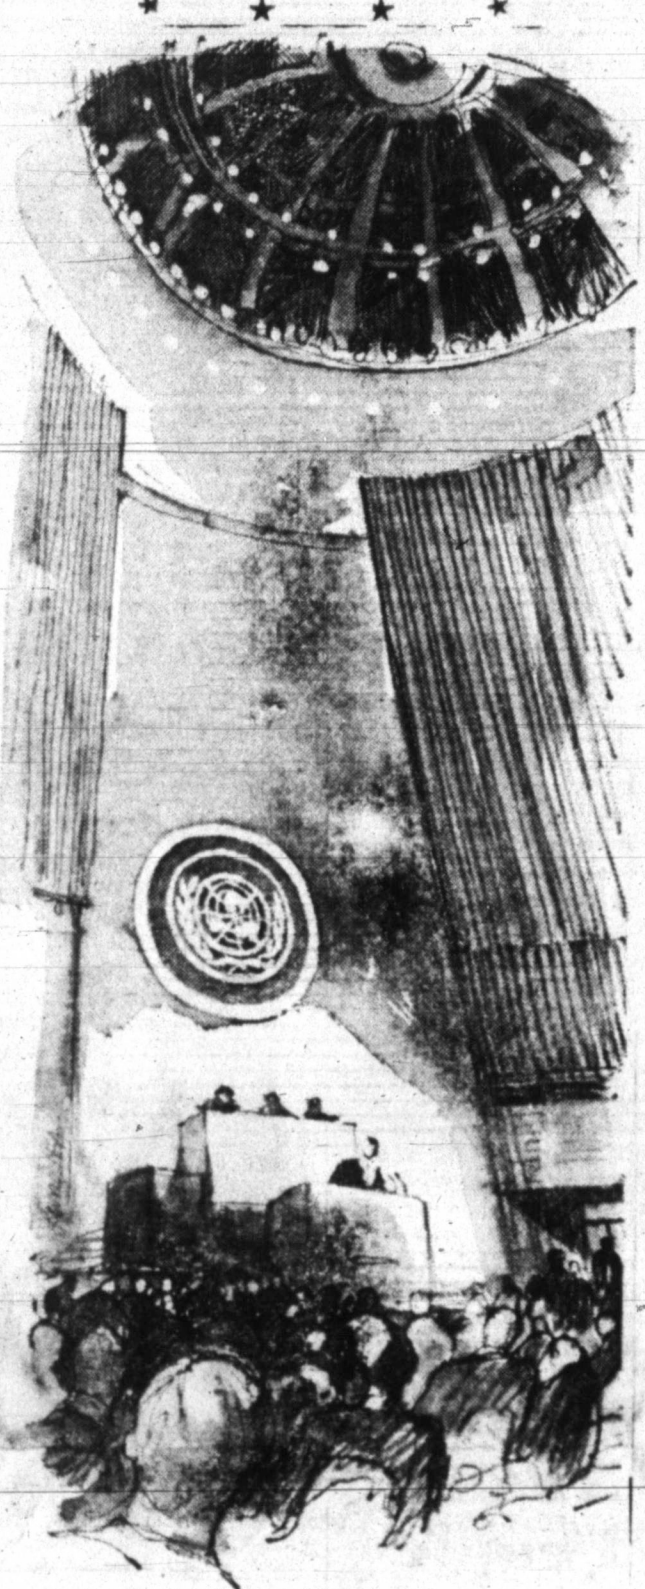

The crowd roared its approval when asked if they should march anyway and Davis declared: "We should figure on massive civil disobedience at the White House."

In Birmingham, Ala., 100 extra policemen watched as 10,000 persons marched before 250,000 spectators in what was billed as the nation's largest Veterans Day parade. Only minor incidents were reported.

Davis was one of several speakers who addressed the activists Monday after their planned rally at the Washington Monument and a candlelight march near the White House had been rained out.

The group also planned to receive a trans-Atlantic phone call from the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong negotiators at the Paris peace talks before the march to the White House.

But the chilling rain, which started about noon and continued into the night, sent the young demonstrators scattering to various churches and universities in Washington and it was almost 6 p.m. before they could be assembled again.

Taiwan's Expulsion Said Major Defeat For United States

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly voted Monday night to admit Communist China to the United Nations and expel Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist regime in a major defeat for the United States.

By a vote of 76 to 35, with 17 abstentions, the assembly adopted an Albanian resolution recognizing representatives of the People's Republic of China as "the only legitimate representatives of China" to the United Nations and expelling "forthwith the representatives of Chiang Kai-shek."

Earlier in the night the assembly voted 59 to 55, with 15 abstentions, to reject a U.S. resolution to make expulsion of the Nationalists an "important question" requiring a two-thirds majority for adoption.

Among the U.S. allies who broke with Washington and voted against the U.S. resolution were Britain, Canada, Denmark, France, Norway and Pakistan, Belgium and Italy abstained.

As it turned out, the Albanian resolution got more than a two-thirds majority. Its adoption killed a rival U.S. resolution to provide "dual representation," for both the Communists and the Nationalists, a situation Peking said repeatedly it would not accept.

The Nationalists did not wait for the final vote. After defeat of the "important question" resolution, Foreign Minister Chow Shu-kai led his delegation out, ending the Chinese Republic's 26 years as a charter member of the United Nations.

"We have severed our connection with this building," said a member of the delegation from Taiwan.

Less than an hour after the Albanian resolution was adopted at 11:17 p.m. EDT, Secretary-General U Thant cabled the text to Peking as notification that the People's Republic was finally in after 22 years of trying.

There was no immediate response or comment from Peking.

From the rostrum, Vice Foreign Minister Reis Maile of Albania called the outcome "a victory for the peace-loving peoples and a great defeat for the United States of America."

Sir Colin Crowe of Britain termed it a "return to reality."

U.S. Ambassador George Bush told reporters: "The U.N. has crossed a dangerous bridge, the bridge of expulsion... I hope the U.N. will not relive this moment of infamy."

Bush said Nationalist China would survive outside the United Nations, but American public reaction would be bad and he did not know what Congress would do.

With the help of the State Department and U.S. embassies abroad, Bush had lobbied furiously for votes, especially for the "important question" resolution. Other sources—American and Chinese Nationalist—charged that five countries reneged on promises to vote for the "important question" resolution: Oman, which stayed away, and Morocco, Tunisia, Qatar and Cyprus, which abstained.

2-NIGHT OBSERVANCE

Council By-Passes Halloween Decision

City commissioners decided today they wanted no part in telling Halloween Trick-or-treaters whether to ring doorbells on Saturday or Sunday night.

After being advised by City Atty. Bob Gordon the city had no authority to change the Sunday observance of Goblin Night to Saturday night, the matter was dropped.

City Manager Mack Wooford said he had been flooded with pros and cons for both Saturday and Sunday night.

Apparently Halloween this weekend will be a two-night observance.

The middle-of-the-road approach to the problem, officials indicated, was the best way to handle it.

In other business commissioners:

Accepted a $10,000 bid of Jack Melson of Amarillo for removal of the surplus water tank, erected in the 1920s adjacent to Central Fire Station.

Accepted the resignation of Shelby R. Cogsdell from the City Traffic Commission and postponed naming of two new members until the next meeting.

Appointed a committee of five to act in an advisory capacity to plan and coordinate dedication of the M.K. Brown Memorial Auditorium.

Committee members appointed were Mrs. George B. Cree Jr., chairman; Mrs. William Arrington, Mrs. Fred Thompson, Homer Johnson and E.O. Wedgworth. The committee will meet at 10 a.m. Thursday in the Chamber of Commerce conferen room.

Arrangements also were made for city commissioners and representative citizens to visit the auditorium and water filtration plant next week.

The council authorized the transfer of a city taxicab license from James H. Lewis to Tommy R. Lockhart, effective immediately.

Approved on final reading an ordinance establishing traffic control signs at 19th and Christy, Wilks and Love, and Brown and Love Streets.

Authorized receiving bids on Nov. 23 for the purchase of a cab and chassis with packer body for the sanitation department.

And authorized Pampa's two directors on the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority to advise the CMRWA board Pampa has no objection to changing from a fiscal year to a calendar year for the authority's operations.

IN KILLEEN, TEXAS

Over 100 Antiwar GIs, Civilians Jailed For Veterans Day Protest

KILLEEN, Tex. (AP)—Police jailed more than 100 soldiers and civilians, plus a few women, for staging a Veterans' Day anti-war protest march in this Central Texas Army town without a parade permit.

Bond was set at $200 each and most of those taken into custody remained behind bars this morning.

Most of the servicemen were from the Army's big Ft. Hood reservation near here.

A soldier who was not arrested accused police of handling the marchers roughly and threatening them. Killen Mayor James Lindley said there was no physical abuse and no threats were made.

Riot-equipped officers halted the marchers after they had paraded about a block.

"It was really a bad scene," asserted Pvt. Bill Cecil, 20, of Frederick, Md., a former chairman of the Ft. Hood United Front which he said is no longer active. "They jumped in and started dragging people off, shoving them with night sticks and threatening to shoot us."

"At the police station we had photographers to record everything, but the police ran them off. They threatened to blow off one photographer's head if he didn't leave."

Mayor Lindley said, "I was at the police station and I saw or heard no threats."

An unidentified policeman said Police Chief Charlie Mitchell instructed him to say there would be no comment.

Cecil said there were eight women, one of them pregnant, among those arrested. Most apparently are wives of soldiers.

Police reported 118 persons were taken into custody and there was no rush to post the $200 bonds set for them on charges of parading without a permit.

AP NEWS ANALYSIS

U.N. Decision Won't Affect U.S. Relations With Taipei

WASHINGTON (AP) — The expulsion of the Nationalist Chinese from the United Nations is a major defeat for the Nixon administration, but the United States might obtain some benefits in the long run.

As a point of fact, the 76-35 vote Monday night throwing the Taiwan government out of the world organization will not affect relations with the Nationalist regime.

The United States has a defense treaty with Taiwan as well as other diplomatic and commercial commitments. These will be maintained, according to U.S. officials.

These officials also point out the United States still recognizes the Chiang Kai-shek government, and will continue to do so, while there are still no official U.S. relations with the Communist regime on the mainland.

And while the U.N. defeat is harsh medicine for a world power to swallow some diplomatic sources say the final result may be a healthier world climate.

They explain the absence of the Nationalists from the U.N. may make it a bit easier for President Nixon in his effort to improve U.S. relations with Peking, even though his administration fought hard against Taiwan's expulsion.

"It's one less obstacle the mainland government can bring up when Nixon goes to Peking," one official of an Asian nation said.

The vote also makes it likelier Peking will accept the U.N. seat, a goal Nixon sought by sponsoring a resolution calling for membership for the mainland government.

Even the tough U.S. fight to avoid expulsion won't be held against Nixon too much, another diplomat said, pointing to the mainland trip taken by presidential adviser Henry Kissinger while the membership debate was going on.

The administration still has problems, some of which may be intensified by the U.N. vote. One will be convincing Taiwan it means what it says in reaffirming previous commitments.

Another will be handling a budding congressional move to cut back the large American financial contribution for the United Nations.

A bill to that effect is being prepared by New York's Republican-Conservative Sen. James Buckley. And, while the administration was ambivalent about such a threat earlier this month, officials recently have said they would oppose such a reduction.

Harvester Band To Compete In Marching Contest

Buses left Pampa Junior High School this morning and Pampa High just after noon bearing bands to compete in the Fall Interscholastic League Marching Band competition.

This event coupled with concert and sight-reading contests in the Spring contribute points toward championship rating and a possible "sweepstakes" winner.

The Harvester Band will be competing against all 4-A school bands in the Panhandle region. However, the contest is not to "beat out" other schools but rather to achieve a certain point standing. Thus it is possible for more than one school band to achieve championship rating and to win the sweepstakes—all the events staged for the year.

West Texas State University, Canyon, is traditionally the host for both the Fall and Spring events.

AT MOODY FARMS

Man Hurt While Unloading Liquid Feed Under Pressure

A man identified by officers as Charles Fleetwood, 28, 608 Lefors, was injured about 8 a.m. this morning while unloading liquid feed under pressure at Moody Farms east of the city.

Although the truck bore the legend "Flammable," officials at Moody Farms identified the liquid load as an additive to livestock feed similar to molasses in makeup and viscosity. The substance is extremely responsive to weather conditions and the shaking action of a moving truck in building up pressure. To unload it through the hose customarily attached, the filler lid on top of the tank must be opened.

Fleetwood was in the process of doing this when the pressure knocked him from the top of the truck tank to the concrete floor. Workers said the pressure was not unusual; just that the victim caught it full force. One spectator stated he had seen the liquid go four to five feet in the air upon removal of the tank cover.

Worley Hospital officials list Fleetwood in satisfactory condition following X-rays, examination and preliminary treatment. He will be hospitalized overnight.

There was no damage to the truck or facilities at the unloading area other than the mess made by the surging liquid.

Reaction To U.N. Vote On China

By The Associated Press The Nationalist China's expulsion from the United Nations gave new impetus today to demands that the native Taiwanese be given a voice in Chiang-Kai-shek's regime.

The defeat of the U.S. attempt to save the Nationalists and at the same time invite Peking into the world organization also put new pressures on the Japanese government of Prime Minister Eisaku Sato, which joined in sponsoring the unsuccessful U.S. resolutions.

Peking was silent on the U.N. action. A Foreign Ministry official, reached by telephone from Tokyo, said his government didn't give out information over international telephone calls.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, reported that the General Assembly had adopted "the resolution restoring the legitimate rights of the People's Republic of China in the United Nations," but the vote came too late for editorial comment in Moscow morning newspapers.

Havana Radio said the assembly action was "the worst diplomatic defeat for the United States in the history of the United Nations."

The only official comment from the Nationalist government on Taiwan was a six-page statement made to newsmen in New York by Foreign Minister Chow Shu-kai. He said the Republic of China had denied its rightful place in the United Nations and the U.N. Charter had been violated.

Other Foreign Ministry officials in Taipei expressed shock and disappointment they had hoped the expulsion would be postponed until next year.

U.N. recognition of Peking's control of the mainland was a blow to the Nationalist regime's contention that it represents all China, and to its position that national elections cannot be held in Taiwan because it can't also hold them on the mainland.

DEAR ABBY: Forty-two years ago, a man caught my eye and I caught his, but we were both married at the time so there was nothing we could do about it. I moved away but I never forgot Mac. And he never forgot me, and when he came to see me the other day I just about fell over dead!

My husband had died only three months before. Mac said he had kept track of me all these years, that his wife had died four years ago and he was just waiting for me to be free.

Here's the catch. Mac wants me to come live with him. No marriage. He has plenty of money and I could sure use an easy life because mine has been hard, but I am not going to live in sin with anybody no matter how much money he has.

Mac is 73—and has grown children and grandchildren I am 69 and am in the same situation. He suggested we go away for a trial weekend, but sin is sin. How can I get him to offer marriage?

CHRISTIAN WOMAN: DEAR CHRISTIAN: You may not be able to. But don't hand out any free samples or you'll never sell the package.

DEAR ABBY: I am in love with a 15-year-old girl. I would like to ask her out but I'm afraid of what her parents might think because I am 25, and used to date her older sister. (I am also a good friend of her brother.) The older sister went away to college and I find the younger one extremely attractive and remarkably mature for her age.

I've been tempted to call this girl but have hesitated because I don't want to upset her parents by courting a daughter when they might think it is too young for me. I would appreciate your thinking.

IN LOVE BUT 'TOO OLD': DEAR "IN": "In love" with a girl you've never even dated? Wouldn't it be more appropriate to say you are "very much attracted" to her? I suspect you miss her older sister and think the younger girl would make a handy substitute, but I think you ought to find someone nearer your own vintage.

DEAR ABBY: A member of my husband's social club was invited to our home for dinner. Later in the evening he discovered a large snag in his suit coat, and expressed much concern over it, but could produce no evidence as to what he had caught it in. He did make a point of saying, "I didn't have it when I first got here."

This man insists that we are obligated to have it repaired or replace the coat since it happened in our house. Are we? "BEING TAKEN" IN S.F.

DEAR BEING: Call your insurance agent and ask him if you're covered for this type of accident. (If you aren't, and your signature reflects your feelings, ignore the fellow, and let him sue you for damages.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO PHILADELPHIA BULLETIN READER: The person who says he isn't interested in politics is like a drowning man who says he isn't interested in water.

Are YOU registered to vote? If you don't know where to register, telephone either the DEMOCRATIC OR REPUBLICAN headquarters. They will tell you. Then find out who is running for what, and try to learn as much about the candidates as possible. (The party headquarters will be glad to provide you with such information.) If he is running for re-election, find out all you can about his voting record. How "absent" was he, and how did he vote when he voted. Finally, VOTE!

Your Horoscope

By JEANE DIXON
WEDNESDAY, OCT. 27

Your birthday today! Fresh beginnings in all areas of your everyday life are ahead—also generally auspicious, sometimes opportune at first. Today's path is smooth, pleasant, happy—yet nearly always arise in restless compulsion to correct what they feel is unjust, or incomplete.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Matters can now settle into place. What seemed impossible turns out fairly easy, given whole-hearted effort.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Make no more decisions that pertain to your interests. It's insurance against future recrimination. To keep everybody happy is impossible or difficult.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): There's no great need to appease others. Do what you intend to without prior advertising or explanation.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Details must be attended. No short cuts work here, except that you may form out a few routines beyond usual channels.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Putting things in their right place goes to be a rather delicate art. Make sure no message is delayed or neglected.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Some of the nights and souls of today may not please you, but you've got to come to terms with changing reality.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Be alert to that you volunteer for no more than a last share of whatever the main responsibility may be. Shortcuts of consideration will make that quite enough in itself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Quick thinking puts an extra moment of advantage, especially without your reach. The day unfolds with satisfaction from visible results.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Conservative ventures offer less glamor but more certain productivity. It's time to see new people, bring in more ideas.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You can do better by spreading out all the odds and chances amongst as many others as will help. The earlier you begin, the better.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Whatever open issues, lingering doubts remain high priority. Make sure you understand their progress now. Get clear of them as the first order of business.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Your to find and hold to the middle of the road comes out well as a moderate level. You learn some unexpected nature of your own mental functions in passing.

IN MUCH OF TEXAS

Prolonged Wet Weather Hurts Cotton Crop, Other Harvests

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Heavy rains that pelted much of Texas last week continued to put a damper on harvesting and other field operations over much of the state, said Dr. John E. Hutchinson, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Rains of up to 10 inches fell in several locations in North Central Texas. Flooding streams and rivers were a common sight in that area and in the south. The cotton picture is somewhat brighter on the High Plains where favorable weather has boosted the crop along with grain sorghum and soybeans. In many other sectors of the state the cotton crop has received considerable damage from insects and prolonged wet weather.

Early planted small grains are making good progress but armyworms continue to cause some damage. Planting is in progress where field conditions permit.

The pecan harvest is getting underway in some areas and this year's crop is expected to be light, notes Hutchinson. Production is estimated at 25 million pounds, or 34 per cent under last year.

District agricultural agents port the following conditions in their respective districts.

PANHANDLE: Weather was favorable for wheat planting and the early crop is providing good grazing. Grain sorghum is being harvested with good yields from the irrigated crop. Harvesting of corn for grain is about 7 per cent complete and the sugar beet harvest is just beginning. The beets are providing good yields and sugar content. The latest cutting of alfalfa is also in progress. Ranges are providing moderate to good grazing.

SOUTH PLAINS: Favorable weather is pushing the early cotton crop to maturity but the late crop is progressing slowly. The grain sorghum harvest continues in full swing with good yields. The crop is more than 50 per cent harvested in many counties. Most of the late grain sorghum in the southern portion of the district will be harvested in the next two weeks. Ranges are in excellent condition for winter grazing.

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State University researchers have reported what could be a tulip breakthrough—frozen spring bulbs that bloom in fall.

"Eskimo" tulips bloomed in early October at the university after being frozen since January.

"We just postponed spring until fall had arrived," said Dr. August De Hertogh, horticultural researcher in charge of an eight-year Dutch bulb project.

ROLLING PLAINS: Some cotton is being harvested but more warm, open weather is needed to mature much of the crop. Late harvest is expected over much of the district. Grain sorghum harvesting is continuing with below average to average yields. The pecan harvest is also getting underway in a few counties. Small grain planting continues with armyworms inflicting some damage to the early crop. Guar is maturing rapidly.

NORTH CENTRAL: Heavy rains of up to 10 inches fell during the week causing widespread flooding. The surplus rainfall continued to add to the woes of many farmers who are unable to complete their cotton harvest and small grain planting. Ranges and pastures continue to make good progress and livestock are in good condition. Most of the hay crop has been harvested.

NORTHEAST: This is one area of the state that continues to be dry. Wheat and oats are up to good stands but need more moisture. Most of the cotton has been harvested with low yields. The sweet potato harvest continues while most peas are now harvested. Pecans are beginning to fall and the crop looks good. Pastures and ranges look good but need adequate fall grazing. Livestock marketing is heavy.

FAR WEST: Unfavorable weather continues to slow the maturity of both cotton and grain sorghum although some harvesting is in progress. The pecan harvest is beginning in some parts. Small rains are making good growth and are providing some grazing while ranges and pastures continue in good to excellent condition.

WEST CENTRAL: Rains fell over the southern portion of the district, continuing to delay and reduce the cotton harvest. Boll weevils have also taken their toll of the cotton crop. Late grain sorghum looks good and pecans are beginning to fall. This year's pecan crop will be short.

Wet fields have hampered the peanut harvest and yields are expected to lag behind those of previous years. Small grains are establishing good stands and ranges and pastures are in excellent condition. The outlook for winter is good.

CENTRAL: Continued rains have caused severe losses in both yield and quality of the pecan crop in the West Cross Tim-

SOUTHWEST: Moisture is adequate to surplus over the district due to recent rains. Dry weather has delayed the harvest of small grains. Some early planted oats are being infested by armyworms. Wet weather has delayed the harvest of peppers, eggplant and cucumbers. Livestock is in good condition with pastures and ranges above average.

SOUTH EAST AND UPPER GULF COAST: Wet fields are still delaying the harvesting of cotton, corn, soybeans and peanuts. The grain sorghum harvest is about complete and the second rice crop is being cut. Pecans are beginning to fall and the crop is short. Some wheat is being planted for fall and winter grazing. Livestock is in good condition although mosquito and fly populations are heavy.

SOUTH CENTRAL: Showers caused some delay in field activities but the cotton and corn harvest are nearing completion. The peanut harvest is getting underway and will gain momentum as the weather improves. The fall oat crop is about 75 per cent planted and some armyworms are causing damage. Harvesting of pecans is underway and the crop is light but of high quality. Cattle are in generally good condition. There is still some shortage of stock water.

Radical Son Tarnishes Pride Of Noted Yankee Family

EDITOR'S NOTE—The Bingham family of Connecticut are a noted family in the state; noted for quiet money, noted for their forebearers, noted for a sympathy for the underdog and a willingness to help. Now they are noted for something else: a son of the family is wanted for murder, the violent outbreak last summer at San Quentin. What, then, if anything, led a concerned patrician from the Ivy League to the most wanted list?

By BERNARD GAVZER
AP Newsfeatures Writer

It was shortly after 6 p.m., Saturday, Aug. 21. Stephen Mitchell Bingham ran his Yamaha "Dirt Scrambler" with its high tailpipes across the sidewalk at 407 North Street, not far from where Oakland runs into Berkeley. He maneuvered the cycle onto its stand, came up the paint-worn porch steps and entered the house he shared with others in a community.

"Don't keep dinner for me," he said.

"I've got a meeting I've got to make."

He walked out, leaving behind his motorcycle, license 2A2706. He hasn't been back.

Where is he and why has he disappeared?

The State of California charges that Stephen Mitchell Bingham, 29, radical storefront people's lawyer, Milton Academy '60, Yale '64, one of distinguished Connecticut Yankees, disappeared because four hours earlier that day he participated in murder at San Quentin.

It alleges that Bingham used his status as a lawyer to visit George Jackson, the militant black convict who attracted world attention with his impassioned book, "Soledad Brother: Letters From Prison." During the hour they were together, says the state, Bingham managed somehow to deliver an automatic pistol to Jackson. And within 40 minutes after Bingham left, Jackson was to die, and so were three white hostage guards and two white inmates.

What happened behind the walls of San Quentin? What in Steve Bingham's life brought him there and to a murder-chance?

"Steve is in the generation of the youngsters; and the best," says his mother with enormous pride. "He is in that generation of young lawyers who have no thought of fine offices but who give of themselves to help the helpless, fighting poverty and injustice."

Seated in an enclosed veranda of the 18th century family farm home in Salem, Conn., Sylvia Bingham, a graying, light-knit woman, put a match to her first Kent of the day, puffed deeply and spoke of her Bingham.

During the Depression, her husband, Alfred Bingham, founded "Common Sense," a journal which called for the "building of a new united political movement" and professed a belief "that a system based on competition for private profit can no longer serve the general welfare." It proposed a basic $5,000 income for every family. In 1932, some detractors called it "Commie Sense."

"We were very idealistic," says Mrs. Bingham. "I guess you could say that Steve comes to his concern for other people quite naturally."

In rock-ribbed Republican eastern Connecticut there are folks today who still can't see how Alfred Bingham and his brood could be Democrats considering that his father was Republican governor of Connecticut and also a U.S. senator.

Jonathan Bingham, Steve's uncle, is also a Democrat and a member of Congress. He and his brother, Alfred, co-authored a deeply-felt study of unrest in the nation, titled "Violence and America."

The uncle and others in the family seem to find special significance in the fact that Steve was a long distance runner. Steve captained the track team at Milton Academy, was on the freshman-track team and ran the varsity cross-country at Yale. "Anyone who runs the mile has to have a lot of physical courage," says Jonathan Bingham.

By his sophomore year at Yale, Stephen began opting out of organized sports and into political action.

Steve joined the Yale Young Democrats. He served on the Student Advisory Board. And, as a senior, he was executive editor of the Yale Daily News.

Life might have remained tranquil and orderly except for the appearance of Allard Lowenstein, a peripatetic dynamo of vast energy and enthusiasm. The wave of civil disobedience challenging segregation in the South had begun. Freedom Riders. Sit-ins. The black man of the South must get a vote, must have a voice in his political destiny. So said Lowenstein. Writing in his column of commentary, Steve Bingham urged students at Yale to take part.

"Until the black people of Mississippi and the rest of the South—and North—are free, we shall not be free." He acted on his words and headed South.

"There were a lot of kids who came out of the Mississippi experience with a sense of America that was utterly poisoned," says Lowenstein, a former congressman. "They had great personal bitterness and viciousness. But not Steve. He never was hate filled."

By now Bingham had decided on the law.

"My two older sons," says Mrs. Bingham, "are both Ph.D.'s in higher and drier things. Douglas is a geologist and Christopher is a mathematics professor. Their sister, Alfreda, is married to a college professor."

Steve headed West and there met a young blonde, Gretchen Spreckels.

After six months, with Steve in his first year of law at the University of California, they were married.

"Steve's thing was involvement," Gretchen says. "He had to do something, actually he was always questioning, always asking whether it was best working in the system or out of it. But I think it was this that steered toward the Peace Corps."

They were in the first Community Development program in Africa and assigned to Sierra Leone.

George Taylor, who was director of the program there, says young Bingham at the time often quoted from "The Lonely African" by Colin Turnbull. "Turnbull had a great deal to say about the futility and inherent evil of the white man in imposing certain standards upon the African. Steve felt that while we were giving Africans what we thought was good, we were doing insurmountable damage by destroying his pride."

The young Bingham stuck out until fall of '67 and went back to their modest cottage in Berkeley, where Steve resumed his law studies.

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS

West Texas is an area that normally has less than 20 inches of rainfall annually. The U.S. Weather Bureau Office Amarillo and the weather men for the three television stations make an honest attempt to predict when the rainfall will occur. When a new weather man takes up residence in the Texas Panhandle, he soon discovers that predicting weather in this area is sometimes painful. He finds himself in the same situation as the travelers who discovered a suitcase setting on the side of the road where culverts crossed under. Seems that some college boys were putting themselves through college by trapping wild game for the hides. One morning while running the steel traps, the boys discovered they had a big bobcat caught by one front paw. To get him out of the trap without getting clawed, they put an empty suitcase down over him and closed it with the one paw sticking out in the steel tray. They then sprang the trap and closed the suitcase with the bobcat inside. As a prank, the suitcase was set on the shoulder of the road near the end of the culverts. They hid in the end of the culverts and waited to see what would happen. Along came a car with five city slickers in it. The car ran by the suitcase, came to a sudden halt, and backed up. One of the occupants in the rear jumped out, grabbed the suitcase, and quickly got back in the car. The occupants of the front seat wanted to see the contents of the suitcase. Naturally, the driver was the last one to unload from the car with the suitcase.

The dictionary defines meteorology as the science dealing with the atmosphere and its phenomena, especially as relating to weather. A meteorologist is one who has a degree in meteorology. The next time a weather man, in his broadcast, tells you that he is a professional meteorologist, you will know that he has a degree in the science of the atmosphere.

Sometimes I read Ann Landers. Last week a frustrated husband wrote to her about his wife being able to predict the weather. Their friends looked on his wife as a nut for making predictions about changes in the weather and for saying it was going to rain. The husband stated that her predictions usually were fairly accurate, but, nevertheless, he wanted guidance on how to stop her from making these predictions at parties and group gatherings as he was tired of the sarcastic looks and comments received. He just plainly and simply did not want people to think he was married to a nut.

APPROPRIATION OF WATER

The Water Conservation District gets numerous inquiries as to whether or not a landowner can dam up a draw or a creek. The using or taking of water from a creek such as Red Deer Creek, White Deer Creek, Spring Creek or McClellan Creek is regulated by the Texas Water Rights Commission Article 7520 makes it a misdemeanor subject to continuing fine and or imprisonment, for any person to willfully take, divert, or appropriate any of the water of the State of Texas, or use such water for any purpose without first obtaining a permit to appropriate such water; except only that a person may construct on a non-navigable stream on his own property a dam or reservoir impounding not more than 200 acre-feet of water, provided that such water is used for domestic and livestock purposes.

OVER $1.8 BILLION

Operating Costs 1972 Feed Plan To Be Higher Than Estimated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government costs of operating the 1972 feed program may be somewhat higher than first estimated as further details are made available by the Agriculture Department.

The program, announced last Monday, was estimated then to cost a "target" of about $1.8 billion, although officials, under questioning, admitted the tab could go higher if more land is needed to be taken from production next year.

Right now, however, the goal is for farmers to take from 1972 production about 38 million acres normally planted to corn, sorghum and barley.

That compares with 18.2 million acres "set aside" from production under the feed program this year. Barley was not included for 1971 but will be in 1972.

According to working plans being prepared by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, the 1972 feed program could be at least $132 million higher in cost than the $1.8 billion target mentioned last Monday.

The corn production goal for 1972 under the program is 4.5 billion bushels, compared with the record 5.4 billion estimated this year.

According to ASCS staff planners, the new feed grain program includes a goal of getting 18.7 million acres of corn base acreage committed under the 1972 set-aside rule of 25 percent. The requirement was 20 percent this year.

That would cost approximately $1.2 billion. In addition, another 7.4 million acres of corn base is hoped for under optional, voluntary commitments by farmers to take additional land from corn output. Estimated cost is approximately $312 million.

Grain sorghum set-aside is targeted at 5.8 million acres in the 25 percent requirement, with another 2.3 million aimed for under the optional steps for a total cost of around $313 million.

Barley under both the 25 percent and optional plan is planned for about 4.0 million acres of base land out of production at a cost of about $106 million.

Highlights And Sidelights From The State Capitol

By BILL BOYKIN
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN, Tex. — Ballot order has been selected for 14 proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on at the November 7, 1972, election.
Major changes, including authorization for a constitutional convention, four-year terms for major state officials, higher state bond interest ceilings and equal rights for women are included in the list.
The amendments, in the order they will appear on the ballot, follow:

1. A salary raise for legislators from $4,800 to $8,400 a year.
2. To abolish Lamar County Hospital district.
3. To provide for compensation of all justices of the peace on a salary basis.
4. To establish a constitutional revision commission and call a convention to revise the state constitution in January, 1974.
5. To allow tax exemptions for disabled veterans, their surviving widows and children, widows and children of armed forces personnel killed on active duty.
6. To provide a minimum $3,000 property tax exemption for resident homesteads of those 65 and over.
7. To guarantee that equality under the law shall not be denied or abridged because of sex, race, color, creed or national origin.
8. To provide four-terms for governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, comptroller, treasurer, land commissioner, secretary of state and other statutory state officers.
9. To allow soil and water conservation district directors to hold or be compensated for, more than one office.
10. To require that proposed constitutional amendments be described twice in clear language by statewide newspaper publication (633 papers).
11. To fix an annual salary of $22,500 for speaker and lieutenant governor.
12. To permit state employees to serve on local governing boards.
13. To set a six per cent weighted average annual interest rate for constitutionally authorized bond issues.
14. To allow counties to reduce their permanent school fund and distribute money to independent and common school districts, on a per-scholarship basis.

DEMOCRATS ELECT
Feuding Democrats settled a row over election of a new chairman with unexpected calm.

At a Dallas meeting the State Democratic Executive Committee named Roy Orr, 39, mayor of DeSoto, chairman rejecting Gov. Preston Smith's preference for Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

Orr won by a razor-thin 32 votes to 30 over the veteran statewide official. Backers of both argued that their man would be the best choice to unify the state party for election-year battles ahead. White had backing of liberal and some moderate and conservative members of the committee. Orr drew support of most SDEC conservatives and some moderates.

Both candidates, the winner and the loser, pledged future cooperation with all factions.
Orr succeeds Dr. Elmer Baum of Austin as SDEC chief until the September, 1972, state party convention.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Do you agree with Dr. Peterson? He believes that pioneer Dr. Rush was right in saying no single group of men should ever be allowed to monopolize the health field. Though I am a member of the AMA, I feel a rival medical association would be desirable. Same goes for law, dentistry, and even the Post Office!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
PH. D., M.D.
CASE S-502. Dr. Maurice W. Peterson might well be called the "Modern Paul Revere of Medicine."
As President of the Association of American Physicians and Surgeons (AAPS), he is opposing the current medical monopoly by the AMA.

You readers know the psychological dangers from monopoly, whether in politics (as Russian voting), or in religion, business and medicine. The AMA long fought the control of medicine by Uncle Sam.

"Now," says Dr. Peterson, "the AMA is saying in effect that government intervention can't be stopped."
Therefore, the AMA feels it should promote its own plan of government subsidy and control.

At the recent AAPS convention in Chicago, Dr. Peterson warned that the monopolistic AMA is betraying doctors!
"The AMA," he added, "is now saying we must collaborate, abandon voluntary ethical procedures and become part of the compulsion machinery that treats doctors as paid government agents."

It is an axiomatic psychology that monopoly tends to become despotic.

Where there are two or more competing organizations, stores or factories, prices are usually less, service is better and the customers get more courteous attention.

You readers thus know that when there is only one grocery store in your area, the clerks are not as smiling and cheerful as when a rival store is just across the street!

Even our Post Office has too long been a monopoly, which is why it is still so inefficient despite several jumps in first-class postage rates the last few years.

If private firms were allowed to bid for the right to handle first-class mail (plus parcel post, etc.) notice what would result:
(1) Those firms would PAY taxes instead of soaking us for heavier postage rates to make up constant deficits.

Remember, government bureaus don't pay taxes but go deeper in debt, which means higher taxes on private workers.

(2) Mail deliveries would be speedier!
(3) Postal rates would be lowered, not raised!

Indeed, the United Parcel Service now offers faster service at lower rates on packages than we get from our Post Office.

Even now it delivers packages faster than first-class letters by the Post Office!
And makes a profit, while PAYING taxes!

(4) Customers would get smiling treatment and more courteous service.

"If monopoly is psychologically bad in politics, religion, and retail merchandising, then why should the AMA or ADAMA monopolize medicine and dentistry?"

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Pampa Daily News, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover postage and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Texas Civil Air Patrol Commission (new) — Louis C. Ways, George E. Haddaway and D. Harold Byrd of Dallas; John A. Goolsby Jr. and Frank T. Cox of Austin; William I. Williams Jr. and Luther C. Boghard of Tyler; Claude L. Chambers of Irving and Mike A. Burkholder of Pecos.

State Board of Barber Examiners — Thomas J. Hallum of Burnet.
Joe Reeder Jr. of Knox City was named 50th district judge succeeding Lewis Williams of Knox City who resigned.

COURTS SPEAK — The State Supreme Court affirmed lower court findings that state employers are constitutionally banned from city-council service.

In another new decision, the High Court set a hearing November 3 in the controversy over whether 588 acres were legally acquired at Odessa for a new University of Texas of the Permian Basin campus.

Third Court of Civil Appeals here held a law preventing vending machine owners from holding financial interests in taverns is constitutional.
The death penalty conviction of a Refugio County man for slaying a sheriff and a deputy sheriff in 1969 has been upheld by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

DISASTER AID APPROVED — Texas Employment Commission will pay disaster unemployment compensation to persons made jobless by tropical storm Fern September 9-September 30 in 14 South Texas counties.

Counties covered in the assistance plan are Aransas, Bee, Brooks, Duval, Nueces, Refugio, San Patricio, Jim Wells, Hidalgo, Starr, Willacy, Jim Hogg, Live Oak and Calhoun.

Special aid determined in accord with U.S. Labor Department regulations will correspond in amount and duration to benefits paid under the state unemployment insurance program and manpower development and training act. Maximum is $45 a week for 26 weeks.

Eligible include those who no longer have jobs or a place to work as a result of the storm or who were unable to reach work, who were injured or who were made heads of households as a result of deaths in the disaster.

ALLOWABLE REDUCED — For the seventh consecutive month, Texas Railroad Commission reduced the statewide oil allowable.

A cut of 7 of a per cent sets the November production factor at 62.5 per cent of potential. The allowable has been slashed 19.6 per cent since last April.
A maximum production of 3,275,749 barrels daily will be permitted under the November controls, compared with 3,305,129 this month.

BOND SALE OFFERED — A total of $31.5 million in veterans land program bonds will be offered for sale November 1.

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong said sale of additional bonds is necessary to continue the program under which 20,000 applications for low interest rate land purchase loans have been made since last February. The interest ceiling on the bonds is 4.5 per cent.

APPEAL FILED — Texas is appealing U.S. Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe's decision to impose a 10 per cent penalty on the state's share of highway construction money from the federal trust fund.

The threatened cut — because Texas has not enacted a billboard control law under the highway beautification act — would cost the state about $24 million a year. The appeal to Volpe, noted legislative efforts to comply with the federal requirement and asked a decision on the penalty be withheld until the next regular legislative session.

SHORT SNORTS
The Legislative Redistricting Board barely made its October 23 deadline for reapportioning the House of Representatives. The new Senate districts were announced a week earlier.

Enrollment in Texas junior and senior colleges reached an all-time high of 479,807 this fall. The School Land Board will offer 401,847 acres of state land for lease at its oil and gas lease sale December 7.

John W. Berry of Conroe received the 1971 Lady Bird Johnson Highway Beautification Award and $1,500 cash prize.

Agriculture Commissioner White says pink bollworms and too much rain are threatening the Texas cotton crop.

Store Mower And Get Out Chain Saw

Radcliff Electric says the household head who plans to save money may do so by having repairs on the old lawn mower or chain saw done this fall when the growing season comes to a halt instead of waiting until spring.

Radcliff Electric does repairs on all makes of mower including Briggs and Stratton, Lawson, Tecumseh and Wisconsin. If you made a good deal on a lawn mower in a garage sale two or three years ago, it has returned double its investment and is a little tired. Do not go to another garage sale. Buy a new engine at Radcliff's and have it running like new. It's a great way to beat inflation and the "freeze."

Radcliff's services are not limited to lawn mowers and chain saws. This business also repairs all magnetos, CVA pumps and can service any pump for John Deere, International, Case, Minneapolis Moline, Oliver and also Ford tractors.

Complete diesel injection service is offered by Radcliff's. They specialize in Rossmaster and American Bosch diesel units.

Frustration prevails when you start cutting winter firewood for the fireplace and your chain saw does not function properly. The same problem can strike next spring when the once stored mower will not "kick over."

See the complete line of Homlie chain saws at Radcliff Electric, 519 S. Cuyler or call 669-3395.

ANY PROBLEM ABOUT INSURANCE.—Harry Gordon, and Pat Edmiston, both of the State Farm Mutual, are always ready to help you in insurance problems. State Farm is not limited to auto insurance alone. It covers such fields as home, life, health, and boat. (Staff Photo)

Today In History

In 1936, the first quiz program on radio to attract national attention, "Professor Quiz," began its long run.

Ten years ago: It was announced that U.S. Gen. Maxwell Taylor would go to South Vietnam to study means of helping that country against attacks by Communist guerrillas.

Five years ago: The U.S. government said it had some evidence that American pilots imprisoned in North Vietnam were receiving decent treatment.

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Shapely bank teller Lorraine Butler told police a gunman ordered her to turn over $15,000 in cash Wednesday and then kissed her on the hand before he left.

The chivalry-minded bandit, described as about 25 years old, made off with money from a Sarasota Federal Savings and Loan association branch minutes before police arrived.

The A's got Patterson, 27, back for an undisclosed amount of cash. He was sold to the Cardinals in late June. His record with St. Louis was 0-1.

Pampan Recipient Of Scholarships From Foundation

"PAMPAN RECIPIENT"
BROWNWOOD (Spl) — Five Howard Payne College students—all members of the school's newly formed Institute of Christianity—have been named recipients of scholarships from the Paul Alta Cates Religious Foundation.

The students are Tim Crosby of Brownwood, Elzie Teague of Pampa, Gary Landes of Rotan, Mark Long of Houston and Dale Moreau of Kerrville.

The students, who rank in the top 5 per cent academically among approximately 165 students involved in the institute program, are all majoring in theology at Howard Payne.

They are also members of the school's honors and pre-graduate studies program, designed for superior ministerial students who want to pursue terminal degrees.

The honors program is open only to junior and senior ministerial students who have and maintain an academic level of at least 3.0 (based on a 4.0 system) either at Howard Payne or at a college from which they may have transferred.

In the fall, the five students were admitted to HPC's Institute of Christianity.

Rep. Price Urges Solons To Back Bill Amendment

Congressman Bob Price has written the House members on the House-Senate Conference Committee asking that they support a Senate amendment to the Military Procurement Bill which would remove the restriction on bringing chrome into this country from Rhodesia.

"Chrome is a necessary ingredient in the building of America and in the maintenance of our national safety and security. Does it sound reasonable, then, to seek chrome, not from our friends, but from our enemies?" Price asked.

The Congressman was referring to the fact that as a result of a law prohibiting importation of goods from Rhodesia because of their racial policies, the United States presently buys chrome from Russia instead.

"It does not make sense to shun Rhodesia, which has always been our ally while buying lower grade chrome at a higher price from Russia, an avowed enemy," Price said.

"We have singled out the Rhodesian people as the target of our wrath but we have not turned away from those nations that are run by dictators who deny all the freedoms we cherish so much," he added.

Price told the Conferees that by accepting the amendment "we will be eliminating the discriminatory treatment of Rhodesia. We will no longer be saying that two wrongs make a right."

LSD Drove Daughter Into Leaping To Death, Parents Tell Reporters

AUSTIN (AP) — LSD drove a young woman into leaping to her death Sept. 29 from the University of Texas tower, her parents told a reporter.

She was Moment Armistead, 22, and with her she carried a note stating that she had escaped from the Austin State Hospital. It added that "living was hell for me."

Her story is told in a 24-page supplement dealing with this city's drug problems which was published by the Austin American-Statesman.

"Her father and mother feel that although she herself stepped off the ledge, she was pushed off by LSD," the newspaper reported.

"They say she had at least 10 LSD experiences and this was her downfall."

These details were given by the newspaper.

Miss Armistead was in her second stay at the hospital and told her mother she was sure she would recover "even though it might have to be small steps

Billy Graham To Preach At Vatican's Backyard

By PATRICK O'KEEFE
Associated Press Writer

ROME (AP) — The Rev. Billy Graham, the American evangelist, said today a "spiritual void" in Rome made this center of Roman Catholicism ripe for one of his Christian crusades.

At a news conference here, Graham said he had long been invited by Rome area Protestant churches to come to preach and had come to develop plans for a rally in 1973.

However, he said, he had not been in touch with Vatican officials, and had not sought an audience with Pope Paul VI.

Asked what Catholics might think of his preaching in the Vatican's backyard, the evangelist replied: "In my work, it seemed, tremendous change came with Pope John XXII. For the first time Catholic people all over the world felt
