

White House, Senate Deadlocked Over Aid Plan

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — White House lobbyists are trying to pry from Congress as much money as they can to rescue the foreign-aid program.

But Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he is prepared to see the whole program halted if that is what it takes to force a total overhaul of the foreign-aid system.

The United States, he said, is spending twice as much on military as on economic and technical assistance, and "we ought to stop, look and listen," then reform the program.

Mansfield said in an interview he would not be averse to seeing it lapse while reform is considered.

The White House said it is essential that Congress adopt a resolution to continue foreign-aid spending authority past Nov. 15, the date it is due to expire.

Mansfield said he remains opposed to any such resolution.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, who also wants a new look developed in U.S. foreign aid, said he would agree to a 30-day extension of the current program to provide time for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to fashion a new one.

"The Senate has rejected the old program, and the administration must come to terms with that fact," Church said. He said the Senate will not approve any carbon copy of the $2.9 billion foreign aid bill it rejected in a surprising 41-27 vote last Friday.

Church also said military aid should be substantially reduced, with the use of U.S. military appropriations in Indochina forbidden for any purposes but withdrawal. The administration is bitterly opposed to such a restriction, which was defeated earlier by the Senate.

"I think we can pass it," Church said Monday.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird met with President Nixon for an hour Monday, and said afterwards rejection of the foreign-aid program would jeopardize the U.S. program of withdrawal from South Vietnam.

"The success of the American withdrawal action from Vietnam and the whole negotiations field will be affected by such an action," Laird said.

He said economic aid to South Vietnam is essential to create the conditions for U.S. withdrawal. The bill the Senate rejected included $565 million in aid to go along with the $1.8 billion in military assistance provided South Vietnam in separate legislation.

White House legislative strategists had hoped to gain from Congress a four-month extension of the current program, through next Feb. 15.

But Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the House

Appropriations Committee, said Monday he would approve only a "quickie, stop-gap" resolution to extend spending authority through Dec. 15, or through the end of the current session of Congress.

So the White House lobbying team changed signals and accepted that timetable, but planned to press for another continuation resolution if no new foreign-aid bill is enacted in this session.

White House sources said

President Nixon does not plan to send Congress a new foreign-aid message now, because time is too short.

The continuing resolution envisioned by Mahon would authorize aid spending at a rate equal to about $2.9 billion annually, the level of the rejected Senate bill.

White House sources said their strategy could not be as high an aid-spending level as can be obtained in the House.

ELECTION DAY

Two Governors To Be Elected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Voters in Kentucky and Mississippi elected governors today, four states chose legislators and scores of cities selected mayors in a warmup to the political heat wave waiting around the turn of the calendar.

Such races as Kentucky's choice of a governor and New Jersey's taste in legislators were being watched as potential bellwethers of the electorate's mood on the eve of a presidential year.

But the best clue probably lay in key mayoral races from Philadelphia to San Francisco where issues have been developed akin to the national interests.

In Philadelphia, former Police Commissioner Frank L. Rizzo, the Democratic nominee, has paced a law-and-order campaign which made him the favorite in today's voting over Republican Thacher Longstreth, who has picked up moderate and reform Democratic dissenters.

But, in Boston, Rep. Louise

Day Hicks, who has campaigned for law and order and built a national reputation four years ago with an antibusing campaign, was an underdog to Mayor Kevin White. Both are Democrats.

In San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto, under indictment in connection with an alleged fee-sharing arrangement, was fighting for a second term and his political survival.

Alioto was challenged by Board of Supervisors President Dianne Feinstein, who wants to make San Francisco the largest city in the country with a woman mayor; former San Francisco Chronicle executive editor, Scott Mewhall; restaurant owner Harold Dobbs; stockbroker Fred Selinger and six others.

Carl B. Stokes, Cleveland's first black mayor, declined to run again, but he took a special interest in the bid of independent Arnold Pinkney, black president of the school board.

American Awarded Nobel For Physics

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Dr. Dennis Gabor of Stamford, Conn., inventor of the three-dimensional lensless system of photography known as holography, was awarded the 1971 Nobel Prize for physics today.

The winner of the chemistry prize will be announced later today, completing the 1971 selections for the awards established by the will of Alfred Nobel, the Swedish inventor of dynamite.

Dr. Gabor, 71, is on the staff of the Columbia Broadcasting System's laboratories in Stamford. A native of Hungary, he moved to England in 1934, married a British woman two years later and is now a British citizen.

Dr. Gabor is the third scientist working in America to win a 1971 Nobel award of $88,000.

Germany and the prize for literature to Pablo Neruda, the Chilean poet.

The Royal Swedish Academy of Science cited Dr. Gabor for "his invention and development of the holographic method," the idea for which he has said came to him as he watched a tennis match. As the tennis ball flew back and forth at great speed, he wondered if the three-dimensional image he was watching from various spots around the court might not be captured on film.

The process he developed in 1948 at the University of London uses a laser beam, the concentrated stream of light that does not spread out the way a flashlight beam does. The three-dimensional image of an object is recorded on a photographic plate when the laser is aimed both at the object and the plate. The image is a recording of various light waves, not a visual image, and when the laser beam is again aimed at the plate, the image appears in three dimensions.

DEATH TOLL RISES TO 3,400

Tidal Wave Swallows 10,000 Families

By MYRON L. BELKIND
Associated Press Writer
NEW DELHI (AP) — The tidal wave and cyclonic storm that struck the Bengal coast last weekend devastated an area of 1,000 square miles where nearly five million persons lived.

The United News of India, in a dispatch from one of the hardest hit districts in eastern Orissa State, reported that 10,000 families were feared to have perished in the coastal regions and that two million persons were missing.

The official death toll was 3,391, most of them East Pakistani refugees who had been moved to the offshore island of Jambu, about 200 miles southwest of Calcutta.

However, this figure was based on sketchy preliminary reports from the few villages and islands that had managed to make some contact—often by runners—with the state government in Bhubaneswar.

Press reports said that bodies were floating in the flood-swollen rivers in many rural areas.

Orissa Revenue Minister Pratap Chandra Mohanty said the entire districts of Cuttack and Balasore, with a combined population of about 4.6 million, had been devastated by the cyclone and the floods that the 16-foot tidal wave touched off.

The storm did most of its damage, according to initial reports, in the low coastal areas known as the Orissa rice bowl. The entire crop, that was due to be harvested shortly, was destroyed.

Officials said the salt water flooding the area was also

Members of the advisory committee recently appointed by the City Commission to assist in planning the dedication of Pampa's M.K. Brown Memorial Auditorium next April got a close-up look as they toured the structure this forenoon.

Advisory group members on the tour were Mrs. George B. Cree Jr., Mrs. William Arrington, Mrs. Fred Thompson, Homer Johnson, E.O. Wedgeworth and City Manager Mack Wolford.

Also making the tour were City Commissioners Leo Braswell, R.D. Wilkerson and Arthur J. Rohde.

Purpose of the tour was to acquaint the advisory board with the auditorium and

The building is scheduled to be completed by April 10 and the contractor reports construction running ahead of schedule.

Following the auditorium tour, city officials went to the site of the city's new filtration plant on Kentucky Ave. for inspection of progress being made there.

Queen Is Heavily Guarded

LONDON (AP) — Four thousand extra police were called to duty in the heart of London today, doubling the usual force, for a massive security operation to protect Queen Elizabeth II in the wake of two terrorist bombings.

More than 500 Scotland Yard agents and police were assigned to watch over the sovereign during her coach ride with Prince Philip and Prince Charles to open the new session of Parliament.

Two bomb blasts shook London Saturday and Sunday nights. The first damaged the 620-foot Post Office tower, the second ripped into an army barracks in Westminster District.

Three helicopters patrolled the royal route, and police launches with frogmen guarded the Thames river approaches to the Houses of Parliament. Four times on Monday police combed the labyrinth of cellars beneath Parliament where on Nov. 5, 1965, Guy Fawkes was nabbed as he was about to set off barrels of gunpowder underneath the queen's

60 U.S. Senators Favor Formula

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — China and India would join the United States and the Soviet Union as the big powers in the United Nations under the weighted voting system proposed by Sen. Alan Cranston.

The California Democrat told a news conference in Washington Monday he has introduced a resolution in the Senate calling on the U.S. government to work for a conference to revise the U.N. charter and, particularly, to change the one-vote, one-vote system in the General Assembly.

Noting that countries representing only 4 per cent of the world's population constitute a majority of the U.N. voting power, Cranston said: "One suggestion is distributing the votes in accordance with population, with ceiling and basement limits. There might be one vote for every country with populations up to 5 million and one vote additional for every 5 million people after that up to a ceiling limit."

The senator suggested a maximum of 30 votes, and under his formula that is the number China, India, the United States and the Soviet Union each would have. But, the Soviet Union would have 10 additional votes—nine for the Ukraine and one for Byelorussia. There would be a total of 462 votes in the 131-nation Assembly, with 87 nations retaining one vote and 44 getting additional ones.

Cranston said his resolution has the backing of 60 senators, but there was no indication of the Nixon administration's reaction. Even if the Senate approves it and the administration looks favorably on it, the proposal could not be introduced in the General Assembly before next September.

IRS Rules Studied At Tax Seminar

An income tax seminar for farmers, ranchers and tax accountants got underway at 10 a.m. today in the Court House Annex east of the city.

Foster Whaley, county agent, said the program is an annual affair conducted to bring those attending up to date on IRS regulations and pertinent information.

The welcome address was given by County Judge Don Cain. J.D. Skaggs served as emcee and introduced speakers and their subjects. These included:

E.E. Simmons, CPA, discussing tax accounting; Foster Whaley, "A Record System That Works," "Basis and Tax Management," by Ed Garnett, Amarillo specialist on farm management; "Tax Management Alternatives," by J. Michael Sprott of the Texas A&M University Extension Service, and Fred Thompson of Pampa, speaking on "Self-Employed Retirement."

One of the letters strongly endorsing Rehnquist came from Herbert L. Ely, state Democratic chairman in Arizona and a lawyer who wrote he had been active in the civil rights movement there and had served as counsel for the Arizona branch of the American Civil Liberties Union.

"If I were a senator, even given my own political biases, I would confirm the President's nomination," Ely said in his Oct. 28 letter to Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., the committee chairman.

"William Rehnquist's superb intellect and competency cannot be legitimately questioned," Ely said. He also wrote, "I have absolutely no evidence to suggest that he is a bigot or a racist."

The principal issues raised by opponents of Rehnquist's nomination concern his positions on civil rights and

Court Nominees Backed By ABA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communications received by the Senate Judiciary Committee are overwhelmingly in support of President Nixon's Supreme Court nominees, Lewis F. Powell Jr. and William H. Rehnquist.

The committee is to start its hearings Wednesday, and Rehnquist, an assistant attorney general and former Phoenix lawyer, is expected to be questioned first.

Less opposition has surfaced to the nomination of Powell, a millionaire Richmond, Va., lawyer and former president of the American Bar Association, than to Rehnquist.

The ABA's committee on the federal judiciary, which has been investigating qualifications of both men, is expected to notify the Senate panel of its position before the hearings start.

Walter E. Craig of Phoenix, whom Powell succeeded as president of the ABA, wrote the Senate committee that he could think of no two lawyers

Cutter, Code Book for Car Keys Missing

Pampa police are investigating an unusual theft that occurred over the weekend at Tex Evans Buick, 123 N. Gray. Taken were a Curtis Key Cutter and a code book for making keys for General Motors cars up to 1971.

New car code books were accessible but not taken. In fact, official opinion at present is that the thief or thieves knew what they were after.

According to the official report, there was nothing else taken and there were no visible signs of forced entry into the business establishment.

Local Youth Has Loaded Gun in Car

A Pampa police officer on patrol Monday night spotted a car without a front license tag. According to his report, he investigated and found an out-of-date paper dealer's tag. He also noted this vehicle had a similar tag removed by police just days before.

The driver, a Pampa youth, was arrested and the 1972 model car was driven to the station by another officer. There, according to the official account, a routine search of the vehicle turned up a loaded automatic pistol under the driver's seat with the butt protruding.

Complete charges in the affair are pending appearance in court.

Starve On 10 Meals

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A New York food consultant says Americans are doing "an incredible amount of eating" that stretches into eight, nine or even 10 meals daily. But he says they aren't getting needed nutrition.

The reasons are that American mothers are clinging to hopelessly outdated ideas of "three square meals a day" and the American food industry is doing "a rotten job" of advising homemakers, he said.

Dr. Paul Fine made the comments Monday at an American Medical Association, symposium on nutrition. Fine is the general chairman of the three-day conference which he hopes will lead to better education of both food buyers and manufacturers.

"Very few mothers are aware of the incredible amount of eating that goes on today," Fine said. "The loss of iron control over eating is new and the breakdown is much more rapid than people realize."

In general, Fine blames the breakdown on the accelerated pace of U.S. living.

"The battle is hopelessly lost. We must re-educate mothers. Too often they take the attitude with their family that 'I'll catch them at dinner, only she doesn't catch them at dinner. Even the idea of the daily family dinner gathering is breaking down.'"

"We must work within the framework of reality and reality is that constant eating is going on all day."

Most of the new responsibility, Fine said, falls on food manufacturers and he says, "manufacturers are doing a rotten job."

"Most of the food industry operates on a product-by-product basis, with no interest in food itself. They have no commitment to the idea of food, or even to their products as food."

"They should help the housewife to find the proper place for their product, not just sell it," he said.

Fine concedes that the manufacturers have a problem.

"You can't sell nutrition," he said, "but you can sell food."

County Solons OK Loan Move

Gray County Auditor R.C. Wilson established an optimistic mood for Monday's County Commissioners Court meeting. Judge Cain told the panel that Wilson advised they could authorize repayment of a $50,000 loan negotiated Oct. 1, at the Nov. 11 meeting.

The loan was made by the county's depository, First National Bank to provide operating funds for a brief period until tax collections provided necessary income to operate and repay the loan.

At the time the commissioners authorized the move, Judge Cain pointed out that the county had been more fortunate than previously expected in that the borrowing move came some 60 days later than anticipated.

In other business bids were opened for the purchase of four truck chassis and Johnson, Inc., International truck dealer, had submitted the low figure. Precinct Two is disposing of six trucks replacing them with four new units. Only chassis are being purchased for installation of existing dumping equipment from the old trucks.

The low bids were $2,661.28 for three of the new chassis and $2,861.25 for one of them. The difference of some $200 on the one unit was in the condition of the trade-in.

Due to a misunderstanding regarding disposition of the extra units, they will be advertised again for sale to highest bidders.

Other business included the routine payment of salaries and bills approved by the auditor.

Pioneer Declares Dividend

Directors of Pioneer Natural Gas Co. met yesterday in San Antonio and declared a 20 cents per share dividend on common stock.

The dividend will be payable Dec. 2 to stockholders of record Nov. 16.

Burton P. Smith, Pioneer president, reported company earnings for the first nine months of 1971 were higher than for the comparable period last year.

Consolidated net income for the first three quarters of this year was $6,886,757, Smith said, compared to $5,571,710 in 1970. Per share earnings this year are 92 cents, up 17 cents over last year.

For the third quarter of this year, Pioneer's income was $1,665,135. The figure for the same period of 1970 was $1,457,203.

Third quarter earnings were equivalent to 22 cents per share, up 2 cents over the 1970 period.

The third quarter financial report will be mailed to stockholders about Nov. 12.

Pollution Trial

HOUSTON (AP) — Trial began Monday in federal court in what appears to be a pollution test case involving Humble Oil and Refining Co.

The firm is charged with a misdemeanor violation arising from the sighting of an oil slick allegedly issuing from its offshore drilling rig near Redfish Reef.

Humble has asked for a jury trial and apparently is laying groundwork for a constitutional challenge to a section of the Rivers and Harbors Act. Oil firms generally plead no contest and the maximum penalty is a $2,500 fine.

BAKER PRINCESS—Mona Parsley, third-grade student at B.M. Baker School, was elected school princess during the PTA's recent Fun Night activities. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sammy Parsley, 845 Denver.

Students To Skip Lunch For Refugees Abroad

WASHINGTON (AP) — Students in more than 700 colleges and 12,000 high schools will skip lunch today so some East Pakistani refugees in India will not go hungry.

"The students will handle the fast the way they want to on their own campuses or in their own high schools," said Cynthia Diggle, director of education for Oxfam-America, Inc., sponsors of the fast.

"If a student wants to, he can donate what he normally spends for lunch to the program," she said.

The money raised will help some of the 9 million people who fled from East Pakistan to India, Mrs. Diggle said.

Oxfam, Mrs. Diggle said, is "basically an international relief and development agency working in more than 30 developing countries—primarily in Asia, Africa and South America."

Although the fast has been used by Oxfam for a long time, this is the first time a large-scale fast has been planned in the United States by the 30-year-old British-based organization, she said.

"It is, at this time, an American project," Mrs. Diggle said. "Other Oxfam groups in other countries have their own projects to aid the Pakistani refugees."

The student fast is co-sponsored by Project Relief of Providence, R.I.

"We really can't say at this point how much money we will raise," Mrs. Diggle said. "But we have emphasized to students that $1 would feed one refugee for about one month."

Coal Strike Moves Into Second Month

The nationwide coal strike moved into its second month today with mounting economic consequences in the key coal states and no hint of progress in contract talks.

In the month-old East and Gulf coast dock strike, negotiators have agreed to move their talks outside New York City to escape the pressure of daily obligations and concentrate on bargaining.

No decision on a site for the talks was reported and the first session at the new location was not expected before Wednesday.

As the coal strike passed the one-month mark, thousands of miners became eligible to receive federal food stamp assistance.

West Virginia Welfare Commissioner Edwin Flowers said Sunday that the stamps had been stocked at welfare department offices throughout the state in anticipation of a flood of applicants.

So far the strike by 80,000 United Mine Workers members has cost an estimated $450 million in lost wages, sales and taxes in the 20 states most affected by the walkout.

Judge Rejects Request To Halt N-Bomb Blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge today turned down requests by environmentalists to halt a huge underground nuclear explosion set for this week on Amchitka Island in Alaska.

U.S. District Judge George L. Hart Jr.'s ruling frees lawyers for groups protesting the blast to file an immediate appeal to a higher court.

Hart, who was asked by attorneys for the Committee for Nuclear Responsibility what he planned to do about their request for an injunction, also ruled on a parallel issue. That involves disputed and secret documents which conservationists say can prove their contention that the five-megaton explosion can trigger earthquakes and tidal waves, kill wildlife and permit radioactive leaks.

Hart ordered the Justice Department to turn over some of the documents to environmentalist lawyers, while others were to be kept secret under the legal doctrine known as executive privilege.

As the legal maneuvering continued, it appeared likely that both the issue of the documents and whether the blast would go off at all would reach the Supreme Court before Thursday. Some sources have said that when the explosion is due to be set off, 6,000 feet underground by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Rep. Price For Speakership Favored By Conservatives

AUSTIN (AP) — Nine conservative House members, including some former staunch backers of Speaker Gus Mutscher, declared their support Monday for Rep. Rayford Price of Palestine for speaker of the 1973 legislature.

Rep. Don Cavness of Austin, spokesman for the group, said two other—Reps. Joe Golman of Dallas and John Allen of Longview—also would announce their support for Price.

"This does represent a group of more or less veteran house members who haven't taken a position in the speaker's race," said Cavness.

Those declaring their support for Price were Cavness and Reps. Frank Calhoun of Abilene, Neal Solomon of Mount Vernon, Hilary Doran of Del Rio, Jack Blanton of Dallas, A. C. Atwood of Edinburg, Honore Ligarde of Laredo, Renal Rosson of Snyder, and Leroy Wieting of Portland.

"My personal feeling is that we have put him in a real, strong position," Cavness said.

Those who commented said they would support Price for interim speaker if the House deposes Mutscher, who faces bribery charges, at the next special session of the legislature.

Cavness, Calhoun, Solomon, Doran and Blanton attended a news conference here.

The added support apparently means a showdown speaker's race, with conservative House leaders split between Price and Rep. Jim Nugent of Kerrville, who has not yet made a formal announcement. Nugent was endorsed by more than 25 conservatives at a meeting in San Antonio last week.

Liberals generally are backing Rep. Price Daniel Jr. of Liberty.

"My feeling is that each of these names adds a supporter or a publicly known supporter" to Price, Cavness said.

Area Woman Given State Top Honors

PANHANDLE — Mrs. Jo Stewart Randel of Panhandle, has been named recipient of one of the highest history awards in the state—the Ruth Lester Award for Meritorious Service in Historical Preservation.

Given annually by the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, the award recognizes an individual who has made a highly significant contribution toward preserving the heritage of Texas. The award was bestowed Oct. 30 at the annual meeting of the Survey Committee, in Del Rio.

Mrs. Randel is chairman of the Carson County Historical Survey Committee and Vice President of the Texas Historical Foundation. Among her outstanding services to the cause of historical preservation are years of labor in researching local history, compiling and indexing archives, marking significant sites, sponsoring history appreciation programs, and presenting educational lectures in the schools and to adult groups.

Also she has given aid and advice to neighboring counties in their historical activities and has helped educate the public at large in the lore of her region.

During her years of service as a county historical committee chairman, she supervised the compilation and writing of A Time to Praise, a two-volume history of Carson County. This book won the first annual book award of the State Historical Survey Committee in 1966.

Through her leadership efforts, a dugout, a windmill, an oil rig, a pioneer's square bungalow, a railway caboose, and other distinctive artifacts of this country's frontier heritage have been installed in a museum complex.

Cable TV Growing

Cable television—or CATV, as it is still usually called—is a country bumpkin that's making the city slickers sit up and take notice.

Beginning as an electronic arrangement in which strategically located antenna picks up commercial television signals and relays them by coaxial cable to home sets in outlying areas (whence the name, "community antenna television"), CATV had 70 operating systems in 1952 with a total of 14,000 subscribers. Today there are some 2,500 systems all over the country serving nearly six million subscribers.

As William T. Knox, director of the Technical Information Service of the U.S. Department of Commerce, points out in an article in Scientific American, cable television originated at a time when there were few television stations in the United States, and most of them were in big cities.

It is still predominantly a nonurban phenomenon: 35 per cent of the television homes in small towns and 23 per cent in rural areas receive their television signals by cable, but only 1.6 per cent of homes in major metropolitan areas do. An exception is San Diego, where a system has 40,000 subscribers.

But as it has grown in popularity, and as its potentialities came to be appreciated—one system carrying 40 channels is being planned in Akron—the role of cable television has become a major public issue.

In 1968, the President's Task Force on Communications Policy put forward the concept of the "wired city," where all television signals would be placed in cable systems, thus freeing for other uses the space now taken up in the electromagnetic spectrum by broadcast television. Not only that, but the task force proposed a two-way system which would handle all of a city's tele-communication needs.

In the wired-city concept, cable television could provide many services in addition to the current standard program fare, says Knox. Some examples:

First-class mail to the home from the post office. Library texts. Business or personal transactions. Press services and computer data. Merchandise displays and information. A watching service that would sound an alarm in case of trouble at a subscriber's premises.

With cable television, a political candidate could direct a television appeal to his constituency alone. Indeed, campaigning via cable may be the cheapest form of campaigning of all, thinks Knox. Another possibility is the rapid polling of public opinion.

Among those most excited by the prospects of cable television are educators.

"The instructional and public service possibilities of multiple-channel cable TV facilities for the transmission of all kinds of information and the exchange of ideas stagger the imagination," says Dr. Paul B. Salmon, executive secretary of the American Association of School Administrators.

For instance, a child in his own home, with a dial telephone apparatus and a few pushbuttons on his TV set, could study math by communicating with a central computer.

An eminent scientist or high government official could sit in his office and share his wisdom by cable with all the schools and homes in the area at one time. With an abundance of channels available, cable television could zero in on audiences within specific geographical areas, targeting, say, English language courses on a Puerto Rican or Cuban neighborhood.

High school and college instruction could be cabled into homes for the benefit of dropouts or adults, and into prisons. Town meetings of the air, in the best new England tradition, are a real possibility. Combined with the use of satellites, cable television could acquire an even more dramatic reach.

Cable television. It could be a revolution.

Imbalance In Europe

The recent Berlin agreements have been hailed in some quarters as evincing a sincere desire by Russia for better relations with the West. High hopes have been placed by western leaders on the continuing Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT). Moscow also continues to profess a desire to discuss mutual balanced force reductions in Europe.

All this sounds good. But what the Berlin agreements will amount to in practice remains to be seen. The marathon SALT talks, just possibly, may turn out to be a calculated Russian delaying tactic to gain decisive nuclear superiority over the U.S. And if Russia really wants to cut back its forces in Europe, why does it not match the reductions we already have made?

Instead the Russian buildup continues without the slightest sign of letup, and the West goes drifting along as usual. Facing facts is always a lot more painful than cultivating hopes. Failing to provide adequate defenses against a potential aggressor could be more painful still.

Very little public notice has been given to the ominous Russian buildup in Europe, where the military balance is slowly but steadily increasing in favor of the eight Warsaw Pact nations. Defense Secretary Laird has warned that Russia's relentless drive for world supremacy in naval and nuclear strength could be successful by the mid-1970s. His warning is corroborated by the report of the International Institute for Strategic Studies that Russia's evergrowing military preponderance over the West, especially on the crucial central European front, is now unmistakable.

Unorganized Union?

Fulton Lewis III is joining TV commentators William F. Buckley Jr. and M. Stanton Evans in lawsuits to remain unorganized.

Conservative like the other two, Lewis claims he has a right to appear regularly on television without becoming a member of an organization. Defendant is the Federation of Television and Radio Artists (AFTRA). It appears Buckley who was first to bring suit will soon have enough commentators on his side to start a union to remain unorganized.

Keeping Troops in Europe 'Best Deal'

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — This town has virtually ignored an important study which casts severe doubt on the loud claims of some U.S. lawmakers that we could save vast sums by bringing home at least half of our troops in Europe.

While the Senate last spring was beating down a troop-cutting proposal advanced by Sen. Mike Mansfield, people like Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota were saying the move would save $7 billion yearly.

Experts at the responsible, thorough Brookings Institution, a private research organization, knocked that figure silly at the time. But, even though the Mansfield proposition lost, the emotional sounds from the troop-cutters drowned out the careful rebuttals.

Now Brookings is back, with a well-researched review of the issue of U.S. troops in Europe. It got about as much attention as would a scholarly discussion of wind currents at Tierra del Fuego.

Brookings' man on the financial aspects of the troop issue is Edward R. Fried. In 42 pages, he pretty well demolishes the argument that bringing the boys home will save us billions.

Fried doesn't say it, but it can be said: The troop-cutters' contention is misleading to the point of gross irresponsibility.

What he does say is this: "The only way to effect large budget savings in military expenditures for NATO... is to deactivate troops assigned to NATO or oriented to meet European contingencies.... In other words, saving money depends not on reducing force levels in Europe but on reducing the total U.S. force structure."

The cutters, of course, are not saying "cut the Army." They simply propose to shift the station of some 150,000 troops from Europe to the United States.

Fried's detailed analysis of all the factors involved suggests to him that such a move "could, in the end, cost more money." He believes that keeping our present 300,000-man force level in Europe may be "by far the best budgetary bargain."

Your Health

By Lawrence

Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—My problem is one that has stumped doctors where I live and no one seems to be able to help me. The problem is with my neck. Whenever I put the slightest bit of internal air pressure on it, it expands greatly. For instance, when I blow my nose this happens. I wouldn't mind so much but I am also a trumpet player and when I play my neck swells at least three inches all round the sides and in front. Besides being embarrassing, I also worry if it is hurting me in some way. I worry that sooner or later something might burst. Could you tell me why this happens and what to do about it? This would be very important to my career.

Dear Reader—You have a small leak at the top of your larynx that is connected to an air sac in the neck. The sac is like a deflated balloon until you start blowing. The internal pressure from blowing causes the leak to expand and the sac fills and, as you describe it, the sac is confined to the front and sides of the neck. It is fairly common in trumpet players.

Because the neck skin is loose it is easy to have the ballooned-out appearance you describe. It is not likely to hurt you but since it is important to your career, why don't you go see an ear, nose and throat specialist? He would be the one concerned with your type of problem.

The internal peak pressure at the level of the larynx while playing a trumpet is often enough to support a column of water over seven feet high.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I read your article on scaly skin spots which you said should be treated. I have one on my forehead, about the size of a dime. It was previously much larger and I had it removed by a dermatologist in the VA hospital in May, 1967. It was pronounced a mild "keratosis" and non-malignant. A small area came back and is rough to touch. It has persisted for about six months now.

You mentioned that there were a number of salves that remove the spots by a "chemical burn." Would you be good enough to let me know of any of these that I might be able to procure without a prescription? I would be most appreciative of your advice as it is very expensive and virtually impossible to get a doctor.

Dear Reader—I wish I could. The truth is that all such spots treated with a salve should first be seen by a doctor. Some spots are from other causes. All of the salves that are worth anything for this are prescription items and you will need to see a doctor for proper treatment. If a spot like the one you described comes back it definitely should be seen and usually treated again.

Inside Washington

Kissinger Asks Peking's Help in Release of POWs

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — The release of U.S. prisoners of war held by North Vietnam and the Vietcong was discussed by Dr. Henry Kissinger with Premier Chou En-lai.

The White House envoy made an earnest plea for Peking's "friendly offices" to prevail on Hanoi to consider arrangements for the liberation of all POWs held by both sides.

Also brought up by Kissinger was the freeing of four airmen long imprisoned by Red China on espionage charges.

The release of these POWs is considered virtually certain as a result of the President's visit to Peking. In official quarters, it's deemed highly probable these men will be freed either before this historic trip or shortly thereafter.

Kissinger raised the sensitive POW question on the specific instructions of President Nixon as part of his unpublicized worldwide effort to secure the liberation of U.S. airmen and other POWs held by the Communists. It can be authoritatively reported that every diplomatic and other channel that might be helpful is being used.

For example, in the President's talks with visiting prime Minister Indira Gandhi, he asked her cooperation in this humanitarian drive. A similar appeal will be made to Marshall Tito when he comes here next month.

Significantly, Kissinger broached the POW matter at a meeting with Chou attended by two of the latter's closest military and diplomatic advisers.

They are Marshal Yeh Chien-ying, 73, and Chi Peng-fei, 63, both, like Chou, veterans of the Communists' famed "long march" and high in the party's and military councils. Yeh and Chou first met at the Whampoa Military Academy, near Canton, in the mid-1920s, and have been closely allied ever since. Chou is known to depend extensively on Yeh's military advice.

Chi, a former top army political commissar, is a foremost Peking diplomat. He was the first Red Chinese ambassador to East Germany. He has also represented his country at Geneva and other foreign conferences. For a number of years, he has had the official title of deputy foreign minister.

Something Stirring
While White House and other knowledgeable authorities are extremely guarded in what they say about the POW endeavor, they evince what might be described as "hopeful optimism."

They flatly refuse to say anything about a backstage report that a Communist proposal regarding the liberation of POWs was brought by Sgt. John Sexton, who was suddenly and seemingly inexplicably freed after being held prisoner several years. It is noteworthy that when he first returned home, Pentagon officials said Sexton would hold a press conference—but none has taken place yet!

Members of Congress who have lately discussed the POW problem with President Nixon say he has guardedly hinted at likely "important developments."

There have been no clues as to what they might be. But the legislators came away with the distinct impression there is "something big in the works" and the President feels encouraged about it.

Short 'n Snappy
Rep. Bella Abzug (N.Y.), militant New Leftist, strident women's-libber and incessant denouncer of South Vietnam, ran into an unexpected rejoinder from a male colleague which remarkably silenced her—to the undisguised delight of the House.

In one of her frequent harangues, Mrs. Abzug, in characteristic bellowing tones, belabored the recent South Vietnamese elections as "rigged," etc., etc. When she finally concluded, Rep. Wayne Hays (D-Ohio), noted for his razor-sharp tongue and searing wit, observed sardonically: "The gentlewoman from New York seems to be an expert on fraud in the election of South Vietnam. I wonder if she is equally expert on how honest elections in North Vietnam are." Ha

The House roared with appreciative laughter. Mrs. Abzug, for once, had nothing to say.

Chunky and hefty, the "gentlewoman from New York" is referred to in the cloakrooms as "bellowing Bella." She affects floppy, wide-brimmed hats of various hues and types—which she carefully doffs before entering the chamber after blunt warning she would be evicted if she wore a chapeau in violation of House rules.

The Philippine Islands have just demonstrated an all too common example of how large-scale beneficiaries of U.S. foreign aid manifest their appreciation.

Since World War II, the U.S. has poured more than $2 billion in economic aid into the Philippine Islands. As is frequently the case, they are clamoring for more on the contention enough hasn't been done for them. But when it comes to reciprocating—that's another story.

Recently, a big industrial expansion program was launched in the Philippines. The first major order was for $160 million in machinery and equipment.

This large chunk of business went to Japan, which ravaged much of the Philippines during World War II and hasn't given it a cent in economic or any other kind of aid. U.S. industry and taxpayers who have dished out more than $2 billion in economic assistance, were left out in the cold.

Dear Abby

Dating wives give singles competition

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We single girls would have more dates if the married women would stop going around with the single men.

I am only 20 and have no intentions of getting married in the near future anyway, but I enjoy an occasional date to a nightclub or movie, which is hard to get because most eligible men are dating married women.

My 18-year-old cousin, whose husband travels a lot, never stays home one night when her husband is away. She takes off her rings, makes a date with an eligible man, and goes her merry way, while I sit home waiting for the telephone to ring.

There is one guy who dates me one time, and her the next. Should I tell him she's married? JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: No. I.P.S. The chances are, he already knows.

DEAR ABBY: I'm the type of person who would never drop in on anyone (not even my own mother) without some kind of advance notice. To me, that is the epitome of rudeness.

At 6 P.M. one Friday evening this summer, I received a phone call from relatives who were "passing thru." They were "in the neighborhood," and asked for directions to my house, obviously expecting to spend the night.

Fortunately we had no plans for the weekend, and enjoyed visiting with them, but I was amazed to learn that they had traveled 1,000 miles and stayed with friends and relatives all along the way. They said they were "lucky" that everyone they called was home and "not busy."

When they mentioned that they might stop again on their way home, I asked them to please phone when they were about 100 miles away so I'd know when to expect them.

A week later, at 10 P.M. they rang my bell! [No advance notice.] This time I was unable to conceal my irritation.

I recently received a note thanking me for my hospitality and apologizing for not phoning in advance. They gave the impression that they were welcomed with open arms by everyone except me. The excuse they gave for just dropping in was that they were on vacation and they didn't want to have to be at a certain place at a certain time. Frankly, I think that's a lousy excuse.

I am fond of these relatives and don't want to alienate them, yet I do not like "drop in" company. Am I too uptight about it? Or do most women agree with me? IRRITATED HOSTESS

DEAR IRRITATED: Most women prefer a little notice in order to prepare for guests. And I think it's an imposition to pop in on folks unexpectedly. What if they've made other plans?

DEAR ABBY: For the lady who was concerned because her son wanted to quit college to enroll in a trade school because he liked to work with his hands. In John Gardner's book, "Excellence," he emphasizes the need for everyone to perform his task to the best of his ability, no matter how humble that task may be. He offers the following example:

"An excellent plumber is infinitely more admirable than an incompetent philosopher. The society which scorns excellence in plumbing because plumbing is a humble activity, and tolerates shoddiness in philosophy because it is an exalted activity, will have neither good plumbing nor good philosophy. Neither its pipes nor its theories will hold water."

Mrs. Cameron Gives Talk On Exercising

El Progresso Club met recently with Mrs. Ralph Palmer, 2404 Comanche, with Mrs. Glenn Dawkins, vice-president, in charge of the business meeting. Mrs. Richard Bray introduced Mrs. Darrell Cameron, who gave the program entitled, "Figure It Out, Or Does It Show," the second step in the club's "New Image" study.

Mrs. Cameron performed a skit, entitled "Doc Cameron With The Health and Exercise Insurance Company," a take-off on an old-time medicine show. She gave a demonstration, also, of several exercises, with the active participation of club members.

Mrs. Cameron suggested that everyone follow a pre-arranged program of exercise, adjusted to the individual needs and followed daily.

Next meeting will be at 2 p.m., Nov. 9, with Mrs. Verle Hagaman, 1143 Harvester.

Attending were Mmes. Richard Bray, Darrell Cameron, J.F. Curtis, Glen Dawkins, O.K. Gaylor, Verle Hagaman, R.A. Keagey, Charles Lanehart, Roy McMillan, A.D. Pickett and Ralph Palmer.

Skim for Skin Many experts claim that skim milk is full of organic protein which is healthy for the skin even if you don't drink it. So taking advantage of the cosmetic value of natural substances, many lines have begun to add skim milk to their other ingredients. Skim milk, with its absence of fat, can be used as a nongreasy cleanser or an over-all skin care treatment.

Club Women Discuss Relationship To God

Twentieth Century Culture Club met recently in the home of Mrs. V.L. Hobbs, 101 West 19th, with Mrs. Ross Buzzard as co-hostess.

Mrs. L.J. Zachry, president, reminded the members of the guest-day tea, to be held Nov. 9, in the Flame Room, Pioneer Natural Gas company.

Mrs. E.E. Shelhamer introduced Mrs. Doyle Osborne and Mrs. G.L. Craddock who gave a program on "Who Am I?" Each woman explored the subject in terms of woman's spiritual relationship with God.

Mrs. Craddock gave several quotes from the Bible which demonstrate God's love for man and His desire for communion with man.

She stated that in wanting God enough to find Him, to know Him, to receive His blessings, a woman must learn to keep the channel open, to be in constant contact with God; so, as she seeks, she strives to understand the meaning of prayer.

She quoted a prayer from the book, "I've Got To Talk To Somebody, God," by Marjorie Holmes, which was entitled, "Help Me To Help My Children." It was a prayer for patience, understanding and wisdom in rearing children.

Mrs. Osborne stated that many of us are hesitant to mention our faith in public, perhaps because Emily Post said there are two things that should never be discussed at social gatherings, politics and religion.

She told the women that Adele Rogers St. Johns, the author of the book, "Tell No Man," believes that talking about our belief in God to others not only helps them, but makes our own faith stronger, and makes us feel closer to God.

She explained that Marjorie Holmes' prayers are actually conversations with God. She explained that Miss Holmes describes a modern woman's pains and delights in today's frenzied world of rearing children, holding down a job, having friends, facing tragedy and keeping house.

Mrs. Osborne read several prayers from the book by Miss Holmes, one a poignant appeal for help in dealing with an aged parent.

Mrs. Craddock concluded the program with the prayer, "I'm Tired of All the Experts," from Miss Holmes' book.

Other members attending were Mmes. Fred Brook, Rufe Jordan, Myron Marx Jr., and J.M. Stallings.

WASHINGTON, N.C. (AP) — "Samantha," the friendly fugitive sea lion, is on her way back to Florida.

Samantha escaped from the Seaman Marine Institute at Key Colony Beach in the Florida Keys about six weeks ago.

She turned up on the Pamlico River near Bath, N.C., on Oct. 11, when she jumped into the boat of Billy Bosman and has been in this area since then.

The institute learned of the 6-year-old, 165-pound sea lion's whereabouts when a Tampa, Fla., resident saw an item in the newspaper about Samantha and telephoned the institute.

Your birthday today: Revision is constantly required as you develop thru the forthcoming year of definite action. Nothing happens by sheer chance, although almost any effort does bring immediate results. Today's natives have a knack for showmanship, often enjoy presenting appearances, reversing their real circumstances.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Don't permit personality clashes to hinder your career today. Settle minor questions as you go but keep going.

Cancer [June 21-July 21]: Expect many subtle changes in yourself and others. Furthermore, be willing to look at things beyond your usual routine; keep growing!

Leo [July 22-Aug. 22]: Most of the suggestions you offer seem already rejected. Your friends are more inclined to miss the point than usual.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: A punctual start in good humor and determination puts you over the top fairly early.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: It's time to have good reliable company with you in, considering strange ideas or speculative business questions. Group opinions have special value.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Just because you've been thru something a few times doesn't mean you mastered it or did the only things needed. Think!

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Any favorable change may begin by seeming to be something you're not sure you want. Seize the chance to clarify your position.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: No matter how well you've done your work, you probably missed a point or two. Put them into correct order without fuss.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: You can and should be firm and specific now, but you must resist the temptation to shout. There's more at stake than meets the eye.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Be prepared to make fairly large adjustments at short notice, skipping much of what you'd planned to do today.

Mrs. Bray Presents Talk On Federation

Mrs. Richard Bray presented the program, "Today's Woman in Federation," at the recent meeting of LaCultura Club, in the home of Mrs. Max Lovell, 2114 Williston.

In 1868, when the New York Press Club was honoring Charles Dickinson, a writer, Jennie June Croly sought admission and was refused solely because she was a woman. Mrs. Bray told the group, Jennie Croly called a group of women together, and they organized the "mother club" of the Federation, she said.

The original meeting for the formation of the Federation was held in New York in 1890. Mrs. Bray pointed out. From this meeting of delegates from 61 clubs in the United States, the membership has grown to over 11 million women.

Mrs. Bray explained that some 40 years ago a national president defined the Federation as "a group of organized women in every community, which can be depended upon to promote all movements leading to a betterment of life."

She said, also, that the noted speaker, Evelyn Openheimer, said that "no group has been more ridiculed and caricatured than the club woman, yet no group has contributed more vitality and variety to the cultural scene in this country."

Mrs. Bray pointed out that a number of resolutions have been passed due to work by the Federated Women's Clubs. They include one on water pollution, passed in 1900; a uniform divorce and marriage law, passed in 1922; and narcotic restriction laws, passed in 1923. Currently a resolution, backed by the Federation, has been passed asking local merchants to handle only returnable bottles.

"The true club woman has never been a self-centered, social-seeking individual," Mrs. Bray concluded. "She does not look back with nostalgia, but ahead with faith. She profits from the past, is inspired from it, but is realistic in knowing she must move ahead."

The next meeting will be at 10 a.m. Nov. 9, with Mrs. Carl Adcock, 1710 Grape.

Members attending were Mrs. Mmes. Carl Adcock, Charles Arledge, Walter Colwell, David Damm, Ralph Dozier, Robert Elliott, Lee Foxworthy, Jim Johnston, Michael Kuralt, Max Lovell, M.C. Meador, Don Wilson and Imre Nagy.

Voting Pointers Told To Republican Ladies

"Voting At All Levels" was program presented by Mrs. Forrest Hills at a recent meeting of the Top O' Texas Republican Women's Club, in her home, north of city.

She stated that it is imperative for voters to be "educated voters," starting at the local level. Some facts about Pampa, presented by Mrs. Hill, were that, at the present time, there are eight acres in Pampa city parks; 160 acres in Gray County recreational areas; 21,239 persons in the city; 5,541 children make up the school population; 40 percent of appraised value is the basis of city and school taxes; and 12 1/2 percent of appraised value is the basis for county and state taxes.

She urged members to register, to accept the responsibility of educating any eligible 18-year-old voters and to acquaint each household of registered voters with the necessity of attending precinct conventions immediately following the closing of the polls on election day.

The disadvantages of a permanent voter registration were discussed. Other matters mentioned included the Mindszenty Report of 1966, which reported the admission of Red China to the United Nations was probable if the United States did not continue strong opposition.

The Child Control Bill was brought to the attention of the membership by Mrs. Hills. She concluded with the request that letters be written to government officials regarding outstanding legislation and problems facing the country.

Mrs. Vernon Stuckey, president, announced that Mrs. James F. Malone, 1915 Holly Lane, will present a review of the book, "I've Only Got Two Hands," at 10 a.m. Thursday in the Flame Room of Pioneer Gas company. Mrs. John Skelly and Mrs. A.D. Hills are co-chairmen of the coffee and book review. Mrs. Stuckey stated the event is open to the public.

It was announced, also, that installation of officers for 1972 will be held Dec. 1, in the home of Mrs. W.B. McIntire, 1900 Grape.

A Lovelier You

YOUR COLOR BUY-LINE

By Mary Sue Miller

(Fourth in a series of five special columns: "Beauty Boutique: Shop Here.")

In all fashion few aspects can create as much loveliness for you as color. A flattering choice is based on an art principle: complimentary shades bear the same undertones. Thus colors that enhance your skin bear a trace of its coloring. The possible exception is jet black; not considered a color. In terms of fall fashion shades, a few examples:

Blond Skin (fair, blue veining) — Deep purple, blue plum, magenta, amethyst, royal and cadet blue, blackened brown, spruce green, dark gray, green (greeny beige), reds with blue cast, oyster white, matte black.

Brunet Skin (ochre tones, light to dark) — Earth colors, russet, rust, sienna, copper, curry, amber, red purple, and plum, Spanish red, teal, electric blue, silver-gray and mid-gray, nude and camel, creamy white, black with color touches.

Titian Skin (pink to ruddy) — a contradiction, needs playing down — Navy and denim blue, winter pastel blues and greens, dark green, Oxford gray, green and taupe, blue plum, darkest brown, gardenia white, dense black.

Beauty Tip: The same color theory applies to your makeup. Be guided by it. That way you do your own best thing. There's no percentage in wearing a fashion shade that makes you look like a spook. In every season a plethora of colors are individually flattering.

Tomorrow: The Art of Shopping.

New Turf Is Under Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Witnesses before the House subcommittee on commerce and finance have told Congress injury seems a high price to pay for artificial turf no matter what its advantages.

Manufacturers of the synthetic playing surfaces were to appear with their responses today.

But on Monday, the subcommittee heard Dr. James G. Garrick of the Division of Sports Medicine at the University of Washington say "synthetic playing surfaces offer a myriad of advantages, ranging from more effective land usage to a dependably level field surface."

But, he added, higher injury rates "would seem a high price to pay" regardless of the advantages.

A number of witnesses called for a halt in use of the artificial turf until studies were completed on its relationship to injuries, particularly in football.

Speaking for the National Football League's Players Association, Ed Garvey said, "Club owners should stop installing these surfaces until we know the answer."

Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the NFL did not appear, writing in a letter: "This office... has never been involved in either the purchase or promotion of artificial turf and is therefore not in a position to offer expert testimony...."

Garrick studied high school players in the Seattle area last fall and said he found the injury rate on synthetic fields was 50 per cent higher than on various grass fields.

He suggested further studies, concentrated on traction and injuries.

Garrick said, "It is suggested that with better traction on dry synthetic turf, players are able to strike each other with increased force."

Ali Cleared Of Charges

HOUSTON (AP) — A state district court judge has set aside a $100,000 judgment against former heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali.

However, District Court Judge William N. Blanton denied Monday a request for similar action on behalf of a codefendant, Andre Cameron.

Miss Alvanuta Delodge, 26, a Houston saleswoman, claims that Cameron beat her with his fists and with a pistol when she went to Ali's room at a Houston hotel last July to get something at his request.

She was treated at a Houston hospital for a three-inch cut over her eye.

She claimed Cameron was acting as Ali's employe and she sued the two men for $400,000. They did not answer her suit and she was awarded a $100,000 default judgment in early October.

In the Monday ruling, Blanton granted a request to set aside the judgment against Ali and ordered a new trial for him early next year. He ruled Miss Delodge's petition did not establish that Cameron was acting as an employe of Ali at the time of the incident.

In sustaining the judgment against Cameron, Blanton rejected Cameron's claim he could prove Miss Delodge was intoxicated and creating a public nuisance and that he did nothing to contribute to her injuries.

Sports Briefs

PAOLI, Pa. (AP) — Directors of the Class AA Eastern Baseball League have approved a transfer of ownership of the Elmira, N.Y., franchise to two men who plan to operate the club for the Cleveland Indians, officials of the league said Monday.

Roy Jackson, president of the league, said the Kansas City Royals agreed to sell the franchise to Kenneth Horschbarger Jr. and Carl Fazio, who will operate the club in 1972 under a working agreement with the American League Indians.

Huskers On Top

There was no change this week in the standings of the nation's top seven college football teams, but top-rated Nebraska opened up some breathing room on Oklahoma, Penn State closed in on fifth-place Auburn and Notre Dame returned to the Top Ten.

Nebraska defeated Colorado 31-7 Saturday and the defending national champion Cornhuskers received 34 first-place votes and 1,050 points from a nationwide 55-man panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Runner-up Oklahoma pulled down 17 first-place votes and 1,010 points following a 43-12 trouncing of Iowa State. Nebraska's lead a week ago was only 1,044-1,020.

Third-place Michigan received two of the remaining four top votes, with one each going to No. 5 Auburn and No. 6 Penn State. Michigan, which demolished Indiana 61-7, polled 840 points to 782 for fourth-ranked Alabama, a 41-10 winner over Mississippi State.

Last week, Auburn led Penn State by 637-557, but this time the margin is down to 617-595. Auburn trimmed Florida 40-7 while Penn State drubbed West Virginia 35-7. Georgia, No. 7, posted its third consecutive shutout, blanking South Carolina 24-0.

The top seven teams are all undefeated and tied.

Notre Dame, which skidded from sixth place to 12th a week ago after bowing to Southern California, whipped Navy 21-0 and made it back up to eighth. Arkansas, last week's No. 8, was upset by Texas A&M 17-9 and dropped to 18th.

Ohio State held off Minnesota 14-12 and inched up from 10th to ninth, replacing Colorado, Nebraska's victim. Arizona State rounded out the Top Ten with a 44-28 whipping of Air Force.

The Second Ten consisted of Tennessee, Stanford, Colorado, Texas, Arkansas, Southern Cal., Louisiana State, Houston and Washington. Last week, it was LSU, Notre Dame, Arizona State, Texas, Toledo, Tennessee, Stanford, Air Force, Florida State and Southern Cal.

Lions-Packers In Tie Ending

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Detroit Lions, haunted for eight days by the emotional nightmare of teammate Chuck Hughes' death, emerged Monday night in professional football's emotional twilight zone — with a 14-14 tie with the Green Bay Packers.

The Packers. The second half was scoreless.

The Lions fell to third place with a 4-2-1 record, trailing Minnesota at 6-1. Green Bay, which had lost three straight, is 2-4-1.

"I think we were trying very hard to do well because Chuck's wife, Sharon, had set such a strong example," Landry said.

"All you have to do is see the black arm bands we were wearing and you know Chuck is missing," Landry said. "He was always around, patting people on the back and cheering people up."

But while the armbands and an ambulance on the sidelines containing a cardiac treatment mobile unit were constant reminders of Hughes' death, Lions Coach Joe Schmidt played down its effect on the outcome.

"We weren't in a state of shock or anything like that," said a bitterly disappointed Schmidt. "All it was was the funerals and a bad snap from center on the field goal."

2,000 Attend Pittman Funeral

FORT WORTH (AP) — "It was a terrible loss," a Southwest Conference official said, pausing to watch the flow of persons from the University Christian Church.

"There was just something about the guy...."

Such was the recurring theme Monday as nearly 2,000 sports figures, fans, friends and family paid their final respects to Texas Christian football coach Jim Pittman.

Pittman, 46, in his first year at TCU after a successful tenure at Tulane, died Saturday night of a heart seizure during the TCU-Baylor football game at Waco.

Sports personalities from throughout the Southwest streamed Monday into the campus church, where Pittman was eulogized as a person who risked his life to "be a man as God intended him to be."

The Rev. Jack Moore of Dallas made no mention of Pittman's two previous heart attacks, suffered during his years as an assistant to Texas Coach Darrell Royal.

But, he said, "risk involves the total person. This is what the man Jim Pittman was all about... It takes a conscious decision to be a man as God intended us to be. Jim Pittman was a man who made such a decision."

He said Pittman refused to take less than the life God had given him....

Pittman's widow, Jane, seated between her two sons, Alex, 21, and Brad, 17, viewed the services from the front row, across the aisle from Pittman's former chief aide, Billy Tohill.

Tohill, 32, named by TCU officials Sunday as an interim replacement as head coach, and other members of Pittman's coaching staff were pallbearers.

It took a 49-yard touchdown pass from Greg Landry to Charlie Sanders with 17 seconds left in the first half for Detroit to salvage the tie with the Packers.

It was the Lions' first start since Hughes, a reserve wide receiver, suffered a fatal heart attack in a game at Detroit Oct. 24.

If they needed any more incentive, it was the need to stay within range of Minnesota in the National Conference's Central Division.

But hopes of victory died at the hands of four crucial mistakes, and the gusty winds that swirled sheets of rain at Milwaukee County Stadium and took away the Lions' passing game.

It took a 49-yard touchdown pass from Greg Landry to Charlie Sanders with 17 seconds left in the first half for Detroit to salvage the tie with the Packers.

SMU Grid Star Leads SWC Rushing

DALLAS (AP) — Alvin Maxson, Southern Methodist's hardplugging sophomore, has worked his way to the top of the Southwest Conference rushing statistics which are as tight as the loop race itself.

Maxson rushed for 82 yards in a 22-18 loss to Texas Saturday and is now averaging 89.3 yards per game. Last week's leader, Dickey Morton of Arkansas, is second at 86.9.

Arkansas' Joe Ferguson hiked his per-game completion average to 15.6 passes with 31 completions in 51 attempts in that 17-9 loss to Texas A&M.

The only other changes in individual leaders since last week came in kick return categories.

Texas Tech's Marc Dove reclaimed the punt-return lead from Arkansas' Jack Morris, returning three for 34 yards against Rice. Dove is averaging 123 yards on 24 returns and Rice's Gilbert King moved ahead of Morris with an 11.9 return average.

Texas Christian's Freddie Pouncy has moved ahead of national kickoff return leader Godfrey White of Baylor with his 30.5 average.

In team categories, Arkansas retained its total offense and total defense leads.

In an interesting side note, Baylor played its fifth consecutive game without losing a fumble.

Tom Jackson Is Valley MVP

DALLAS (AP) — Tom Jackson, a 6-foot, 220-pound junior linebacker from Louisville, has been named the Missouri Valley Conference Defensive Player of the Week.

Jackson contributed 10 unassisted tackles and two assists in the Cardinals 21-10 victory over Tampa Saturday.

Hanging Out College Wash

NEW YORK (AP) — Hanging out the college football wash:

A New York sports writer received a letter last week denouncing Cornell's Ed Marinaro, the all-time major college rushing leader with 4,132 yards, and Ivy League football in general.

The letter said the Ivy League is "composed of rank amateurs" who "seem to be ignorant of the basic fundamentals of football. They do not block or tackle correctly, do not hit hard and are generally stupid in their attempted execution of plays. Putrid is the most apt word to describe their play."

"Marinaro is a straight, stand-up runner who would never reach the line of scrimmage against a first-class defensive team. If he did reach it he would get belted so hard on one or two plays that the times he didn't fall down (which would be few) he would do some very peculiar things standing up."

A couple of Ivy coaches answered back Monday.

"We never seem to see those gaps in defenses," noted Carmen Piccone, a Cornell assistant. "We see seven-, eight-, nine-man lines. Every defense we meet is some sort of unusual defense to stop Ed. All during the week we practice blocking against 'suppose' defenses because we never know what we're going to see on Saturday."

"But we don't really care what the other team's going to do or how many men they put on the line. Having Marinaro is like having a pair of aces in a poker game. We're not going to drop out. When you're holding a pair of aces against a pair of deuces, that's 50 bucks."

According to Princeton's Jake McCandless, the Ivy League "has better personnel than when I played on a Lambert Trophy team and with a Heisman Trophy winner (Dick Kazmaier) at Princeton 20 years ago. The Ivy League is constantly getting better, to the point now where it ranks some other quarters because some of the kids they'd like to have are here."

Another player, sure to poll many Heisman votes is Alabama's Johnny Musso. "He's a complete player, there's no doubt about that," says Bear Bryant. "He blocks, he runs well—in fact, he runs a lot of his own interference—and last year he was our second top pass-catcher."

"Marinaro, Musso, this must be the Year of the Italian," says Army's Tom Cahill. "But if I ever saw a guy dominate a game, it was Miami of Florida's Tony Cristiani Friday night."

Cristiani, a 5-foot-9, 216-pound defensive tackle, grew up with a balance bar in his hands. His father, who owns the Cristiani and Wallace Circus, began teaching Tony how to walk the high wire and the youngster performed the act until his junior high school days.

"I always thought the winter home of the circus was in Sarasota, Fla.," Cahill said. "But Cristiani showed up in Miami, much to our regret."

Alabama's statistician normally is Dr. Merrill Jones, a Huntsville, Ala., engineer, but Dr. Jones didn't make his flight connections on a return trip from Alaska in time to make the game with Houston on Oct. 23.

As a result, Charley Thornton, Alabama's sports information director, had to handle the job... and he made a 40-yard shortage in the Crimson Tide's rushing statistics. The totals handed out after the game showed Alabama with 258 rushing yards but a recheck boosted it to 298.

"Merrill hadn't missed a game in 10 years," lamented Thornton, "and I sure hope he doesn't miss another one for 10 more years."

WASHINGTON (AP)— A conference committee will begin work soon on a compromise of Senate and House bills to settle aboriginal land claims of Alaska natives. The Senate passed Monday, 76 to 5, a bill to give about 55,000 Eskimos, Aleuts and Indians $1 billion and 30 million to 40 million acres of land.

WASHINGTON (AP)— Former Speaker of the House John W. McCormack, unlike many of his colleagues, didn't take his accumulated stationery allowance with him last January when he retired from Congress. The Massachusetts Democrat turned back to the Treasury $23,496 which had piled up in his stationery fund. The annual allowance of $3,000, which can go as high as $3,500 upon request of individual members, is for members' district or Washington offices. Many members use it to purchase stationery and office supplies at cut rates, but they can take it in cash if they want to and don't have to account for it.

SHARON, Conn. (AP)— Bayard Rustin, a civil rights leader and the executive director of the A. Philip Randolph Institute in New York City, was reported in satisfactory condition after suffering what doctors termed a major heart attack. A hospital spokesman said Monday that the 61-year-old Rustin was resting comfortably in the intensive care unit. He was hospitalized Sunday after he was stricken while visiting friends in nearby Millerton, N.Y. The spokesman, who described Rustin's seizure as a major heart attack, said there did not appear to be any new complications. Rustin was a special assistant to the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. from 1955 to 1960, and was one of the organizers of the 1963 civil rights march on Washington.

LOMA LINDA, Calif. (AP)— Bruce Cabot, who had a leading part in the 1933 film "King Kong," is reported improved at Loma Linda University Hospital. A spokesman said Cabot was in satisfactory condition Monday two weeks after entering the hospital for treatment of lung and throat cancer. The 67-year-old Hollywood veteran had been in critical condition. Cabot appeared in more than 300 films, mostly playing a soldier-of-fortune or tough guy.

NEW YORK (AP)— Actress Bette Davis, who brought a $5 million suit against the producers of the motion picture "Bunny O'Hare," has been named in a $17.5 million countersuit. The damage action against the film's star was filed Monday in Manhattan Supreme Court by the producers, American International Pictures, Inc., and American International Productions, Inc. Miss Davis contended the producers, without her consent, had altered the script and edited the finished film so that it was a "broad, tasteless and inartistically assembled slapstick production." Her claim was challenged by the producers who said that her remarks had "seriously diminished, if not destroyed, the picture's chances of becoming a commercial and artistic success."

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)— Trainer Wayne Cool, 24, suffered a one-inch gash on his head Sunday when he was charged by "Sabrina," a four-ton elephant. Bruce Grant, a spokesman for Lion Country Safari, said Cool was apparently trying to herd Sabrina into the "Elephant Hut" near closing time when the 8,000 pound mammoth charged.

"He told me the elephant put a foot on his head and dropped a knee onto his chest but he kicked her in the eye and rolled away," Grant said. Because of the time change Sunday, cars were still rolling through the tourist attraction at dusk and "Sabrina must have freaked out since it was dark," Grant explained.

WASHINGTON (AP)— A conference committee will begin work soon on a compromise of Senate and House bills to settle aboriginal land claims of Alaska natives. The Senate passed Monday, 76 to 5, a bill to give about 55,000 Eskimos, Aleuts and Indians $1 billion and 30 million to 40 million acres of land.

Highlights And Sidelights From The State Capital

By BILL BOYKIN
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN, Tex. — The Texas Highway Commission remains convinced its new $20 million state headquarters building should be located near the capitol and the governor's mansion.

A re-evaluation study of the controversial site, ordered by the Legislature, was delivered last week to Gov. Preston Smith.

Legislators suggested the site southwest of the capitol and across the street from the governor's mansion should be developed as a park, parking lot and tourist information center. They recommended moving the new highway building far from the downtown Austin area.

The Commission, on review of its plans, concluded the massive building, rising to 10 stories at its tallest point, would "enhance the beauty and interest of the capitol complex."

At least, observed the new report, the structure will be the most-attractive thing ever located on the barren block, now given over largely to a parking lot and the remains of old buildings.

The historic Lundberg Bakery still on the site will be preserved, incorporated into the new building and used as a tourist center and Texana museum for artifacts uncovered in excavation. The temporary state capitol once stood on the block.

North and east portions of the highway building are planned at two-story level to maintain scale with the governor's mansion and preserve the view of the capitol from there. Maximum height of 10 stories will be reached at the south edge of the block.

Architects plan a public plaza with pools, greenery and shaded walkways along 11th St. nearest the capitol. Landscaping will comprise about 50 percent of the block if plans are finally approved. The building will be by far the largest of many new state structures in the capitol area.

BUSINESS GEARS FOR POLITICAL YEAR
Organized labor announced its political priorities three weeks ago, and last week in Houston business leaders in Texas looked at their "public affairs" programs for 1972.

At the 49th annual Conference of Texas Industry by the Texas Manufacturers Association, representatives of the business community heard:

Sen. John Tower ask for labor law reform.

Richard Armstrong, Washington, D.C., challenge businesses to develop public affairs departments

Irving Shapiro, vice president, E.I. duPont de Nemours & Co., ask business to work with labor to develop new national objectives — with everybody sharing the gains.

TMA also passed resolutions asking state legislators to require 10-year budget projections for all "new" state programs approved by the next legislature.

Senator Tower laid the blame on the nation's existing economic ills on "existing labor laws that are in dire need to reform."

Both Tower and TMA leaders spoke out in opposition of laws which permit strikers to receive food stamps and other state and federal aid programs while on strike.

"Labor unions should be placed under existing anti-trust laws," Tower added, and pointed out that he had sponsored legislation to establish a Commission on Labor Law Reform.

NEW SPEAKER CANDIDATE URGED
More than 30 legislators last week picked Rep. Jim Nugent of Kerrville as their choice for House speaker.

Most of the group were previously aligned closely with Speaker Gus Mutscher who now says he may not even be a candidate for re-election to the House. (Mutscher, under bribery indictment, says he has three options: running for re-election and a third term as speaker, seeking another term in the House but not the speakership and retiring.)

Rep. Rayford Price of Palestine says the lawmakers, meeting in San Antonio, were mainly trying to stop his own drive for speaker. Price claims 70 pledges of support in the 150-member House, and adds the Nugent endorsement means nothing to his candidacy. Opponents maintain Price has no more than 42 firm supporters.

Nugent finished first in the straw voting at San Antonio over (in order) Reps. Dean Cobb of Dumas, John Traeger of Seguin, James Slider of Naples, David Finney of Fort Worth and Joe Salem of Corpus Christi. Traeger, Slider and Salem indicated they will go along with Nugent, 48, who will reveal soon whether he will actually make a race.

REDISTRICTING CHALLENGED
An unexpected lawsuit filed in Dallas federal district court challenged constitutionality of the congressional reapportionment by the Legislature this year.

Another suit has been promised attacking state House of Representative redistricting.

The Dallas class action lawsuit maintains the new congressional district lineup does not meet federal requirements that 24 congressional districts be "compact, contiguous and as nearly equal in population as is practicable."

Plaintiffs offered the court a plan of their own, which they said would create districts which vary only 1 per cent in population.

AG OPINIONS — Several reserve accounts with a Veterans Land Fund division can be consolidated in a single depository account if adequate reserves are maintained and identifiable for each bond issue, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin said.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded:

Retired state employees can get increases in annuities and have their insurance premiums paid by the state, in spite of the wage-price freeze.

Proprietary schools must refund unused tuition, fees and charges when students fail to enter a course, withdraw or are discontinued, under prescribed conditions.

A board of trustees of a firemen's relief and retirement fund may not pay for an actuarial study out of monies from the pension fund more often than once every three years.

There is no provision for travelling state employees to get a flat rate transportation allowance in lieu of the standard 10 cents a mile rate.

COURTS SPEAK — State

Supreme Court upheld lower court decisions barring Sun Oil Company from using fresh water from the Ogallala formation beneath a Hockley County farmer's land for injections to build pressure in company oil wells.

High Court set a December 15 hearing on whether private non-profit water supply corporations must pay school taxes.

State laws banning LSD sale or possession were upheld by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

MOODY FOUNDATION REPORT RELEASED — Attorney General Martin, in an investigative report, has called for removal of Shearn Moody Jr. as a trustee of the $228 million Moody Foundation.

At the same time, Martin said, the Galveston-based foundation should enlarge its board of trustees from seven to nine members. Unless the action he urged is taken voluntarily, the Attorney General stated, he will ask a court order to force the changes.

The report commended six other Foundation trustees who last January asked for an investigation after they were harshly criticized by the chairman of a House of Representatives study group, Louis Dugas Jr. of Orange.

New York attorney Roy Cohn called the report a "one-sided hatchet-job," and said Martin should be removed from office.

SHORT SNORTS
Texas Public Employees Association will seek a 10.2 per cent pay raise for state workers in a special legislative session next year.

The sixth annual governor's conference on tourist development is scheduled for the Inn of the Six Flags at Arlington, November 10-11.

Texas' state governmental planning efforts won a national merit award at the American Institute of Planners conference in San Francisco.

Supreme Court memorial services were held last week for the late former Associate Justice Clyde E. Smith of Woodville who died this year at age 73.

Railroad Commission will hold a November 22 hearing to determine whether Dillard Creek is being polluted by brine from Trinity oil field in Houston County.

The Texas Public Welfare

Worry Clinic

Dr. Peale is one of our modern prophets who compare favorably with ancient Biblical Samuel and Elijah. But they all need to have their ego boosted. For Elijah was once so blue and discouraged that he asked God to let him die! Notice Ruth Peale's early diagnosis of her talented husband!

CASE S-508: Ruth Peale has written a fascinating new book that covers her 40-year marriage to talented Dr. Norman Vincent Peale.

Therein she mentions that in their early marriage, Dr. Peale would ask her for criticisms of his morning sermon.

And if she made any, he seemed downcast and blue.

So she learned that creative artists, such as orators, musicians, executives, writers et al., require a heavy dose of compliments from their wives.

"But, Dr. Crane," you may inquire, "sometimes a wife needs to correct her husband, for his own good."

"So how can she do so without deflating his ego or making him surly?"

The best psychological strategy for this delicate situation is to employ my psychological "Sandwich Method."

Therein you start with a sincere bit of praise, which is the "bread" layer of the sandwich.

Then casually, and with a smile, slide into the meaty (critical) middle layer of this sandwich.

After which, you should then fade out with another big compliment.

Ruth Peale said that even when her distinguished husband asked for her criticisms, she quickly realized he didn't want anything negative.

But in a business, as well as the classroom, and even in churches, it may be vital that glaring mistakes be pointed out.

Many people will ask for criticism, often blandly saying "I always welcome criticism."

But that's a fib!

It is contrary to human nature!

"I WANT TO FEEL IMPORTANT" is thus the indelible tattoo that is branded on every chest at the moment of birth.

And criticism, correction or reprimand obviously will NOT make us feel more important.

But you can administer your criticism and still keep the recipient's ego up to par, by use of that sandwich method.

For your opening praise will inflate his pride.

Then your casual, smiling, "meaty" layer will possibly lower his ego below its original starting point.

So fade out with another big dose of sincere praise, for then you will have restored his vanity to normal or even boosted it a few degrees.

Applied to Dr. Peale, here's a possible example that Mrs. Peale might have employed 40 years ago:

1st layer:

"Norman, you are such an interesting speaker that I never see anybody dozing while you talk."

Meaty layer (with smile):

"Do you know that when you reach a lofty emotional climax, you tend to mask your own feeling by speaking out of the left corner of your mouth in a harsher tone? So don't you think those who are a bit hard of hearing could follow your lips more easily if you spoke in your usual manner?"

Last layer:

"For you have such a wonderful talent of inspiring all those who come to hear you by your 'parable' method of sermonizing that they always leave the church, uplifted in soul."

Send for the "Compliment Club" booklet, enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Another suit has been promised attacking state House of Representative redistricting.

The Dallas class action lawsuit maintains the new congressional district lineup does not meet federal requirements that 24 congressional districts be "compact, contiguous and as nearly equal in population as is practicable."

Plaintiffs offered the court a plan of their own, which they said would create districts which vary only 1 per cent in population.

AG OPINIONS — Several reserve accounts with a Veterans Land Fund division can be consolidated in a single depository account if adequate reserves are maintained and identifiable for each bond issue, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin said.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded:

Retired state employees can get increases in annuities and have their insurance premiums paid by the state, in spite of the wage-price freeze.

Proprietary schools must refund unused tuition, fees and charges when students fail to enter a course, withdraw or are discontinued, under prescribed conditions.

A board of trustees of a firemen's relief and retirement fund may not pay for an actuarial study out of monies from the pension fund more often than once every three years.

There is no provision for travelling state employees to get a flat rate transportation allowance in lieu of the standard 10 cents a mile rate.

COURTS SPEAK — State

Supreme Court upheld lower court decisions barring Sun Oil Company from using fresh water from the Ogallala formation beneath a Hockley County farmer's land for injections to build pressure in company oil wells.

High Court set a December 15 hearing on whether private non-profit water supply corporations must pay school taxes.

State laws banning LSD sale or possession were upheld by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

MOODY FOUNDATION REPORT RELEASED — Attorney General Martin, in an investigative report, has called for removal of Shearn Moody Jr. as a trustee of the $228 million Moody Foundation.

At the same time, Martin said, the Galveston-based foundation should enlarge its board of trustees from seven to nine members. Unless the action he urged is taken voluntarily, the Attorney General stated, he will ask a court order to force the changes.

The report commended six other Foundation trustees who last January asked for an investigation after they were harshly criticized by the chairman of a House of Representatives study group, Louis Dugas Jr. of Orange.

New York attorney Roy Cohn called the report a "one-sided hatchet-job," and said Martin should be removed from office.
