County Jail Escapees Recaptured By Police

Gray County's first jailbreakers were back behind bars yesterday after city police officers arrested the pair, David A. Kerr and his brother Earl E. Kerr, hiding in Coronado Men's Wear at Coronado Center.

Mrs. W.C. Eass, wife of W.C. Bass, owner of the business, notified police at 2:17 p.m. someone had broken into the store. Officer Ken Keith was the first on the scene and was advised by Mr. and Mrs. Bass someone was still in the store. Officer Roland McGill and Detective J.J. Ryzman were called in as back-up units. When officers entered the store, they found the suspects hidden behind suits. Both were handcuffed with no resistance of officers said.

Further investigation revealed two black bowling bags, identified as items stolen during a Friday night burglary of Harvester Bowl, burglary tools, clothes and food items were stashed in the store. Officers said the pair had removed eggs and soup from a refrigerator in the store and attempted to start a fire, apparently to cook a meal.

The Kerr brothers, both without shirts and one barefooted, were booked at the city jail on charges of burglary before being turned over to Gray County Rufe Jordan.

The pair had been sought since noon Friday when they overpowered Deputy Buster Collins and fled the Gray County Jail via an elevator to the basement.

Roadblocks were immediately put into force and a helicopter used to search the area for the Pampa brothers. The pair had been scheduled to appear in court before 31st District Judge Grainger McIlhenny to answer four charges of burglary each.

DEATH TOLL 111

Searchers Nearing Plane Crash Scene

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Aviation experts and search parties, hampered by bad weather for two days, hoped today to reach the tangled wreckage of an Alaska Airlines jet that slammed into a mountain Saturday killing all 111 persons aboard.

Officials said they have no clues to what might have caused the crash, the worst involving one plane in U.S. history.

State troopers ordered winches into the trackless mountain area, 20 miles west of Juneau Municipal Airport, for use in retrieving the bodies of the 104 passengers and seven crew members.

State trooper Lt. Harry McLaughlin, directing the recovery operation, said the winches would lift the scattered bodies to a high mountain plateau where helicopters could pick them up.

Meanwhile, National Guardsmen were moving in camping gear, tents and food for recovery workers at the scene, where bad weather prevented the removal of any bodies Sunday. Thirty-four men had dug in for the night in a hastily erected tent city.

The Federal Aviation Administration imposed ban on airspace within a five-mile radius of the disaster scene, barring private aircraft from entering it. The move effectively shut off the remote mountain area for all but recovery parties.

Fifty-five of the passengers aboard the jet were believed to have been Alaskans. Six listed addresses in Juneau, the state's capital. Fifteen others were believed to be from Anchorage.

Gov. William A. Egan activated a National Guard unit in Juneau to assist in setting up a temporary morgue for the bodies.

The plane slammed into a 500-foot ridge about 1,000 feet below the top of the mountain Saturday after the pilot of the 727 jet, Richard Adams of Redmond, Wash., told the Juneau Municipal Airport tower he was on his final approach and was on a localizer directional aid from the airport.

The jet had been ordered earlier to hold over an aerial point known as the "Howard Intersection," centered 16.3 nautical miles west of the airport, while a light plane took off.

Orville Gano, chief of the flight standards district office of the FAA in Juneau, said the jetliner flew a "racetrack" holding pattern at about 12,000 feet elevation, with "about one-minute legs."

"But the holding pattern had nothing to do with it," Gano said. "He reported as beginning his approach and on the localizer directional aid."

The directional aid lines up an approaching aircraft with a low "cut" in the Mendenhall Peninsula near the runway's end. Once over the cut, the pilot must turn to the right to land, taking his bearings from the airport's lighting system.

FAA officials say this turn in the final stage of the approach prohibits the use of a glide slope indicator, which activates a warning light in the cockpit if the jet strays too low or too high during its approach.

Governor Reagan Defends Nixon's Trip To Red China

HOUSTON (AP) — California Gov. Ronald Reagan defended President Nixon's planned trip to Red China in a telephoned address here Sunday to the Young Americans for Freedom convention.

Reagan told the young conservatives organization, which Saturday named Vice President Spiro Agnew as its favored candidate for the presidency, that he felt it proper to criticize the President, but he cautioned them to consider carefully any further action.

"I think it's proper to criticize," he said, "and it's proper to pressure" the administration.

Substantial pressure from the liberals, he said, should be balanced with pressure from the right.

But on Red China, said Reagan, the young conservatives should remember that Nixon is "only going to talk" to the Red Chinese.

"He hasn't said he's going to desert any of our friends," said the California governor. "This American President who is going to China is the same man who, as vice president, stood in the glare of television lights and told Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev if he and his Russians tried any rough stuff with America we'd kick the hell out of them."

Reagan's remarks came at the day YAF convention which saw banquet concluding the four-day YAF convention which saw pro-Nixon forces lose every key vote. The young conservatives gave the President only about 40 votes out of 1,500 at the nominating convention Saturday night, while giving Agnew a hefty majority. Earlier, a resolution denouncing several of Nixon's foreign and domestic policies passed the assembly with little opposition.

Ronald Doekesal, a New York University graduate student who was elected national YAF chairman, followed Reagan's remarks with an inaugural address. He said YAF would continue to criticize Nixon, but added, "the course of action we take must be prudent."

"Conservatives will lose everything we gained," he said, "if we remain politically passive with an administration which too often promotes, implements and boasts of policies which a radical Democratic administration would not have the audacity to present to free American people."

Labor Day Winds Up Summer's Last Holiday Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Labor Day winds up the summer's last long holiday weekend today with a variety of celebrations, and ceremonies and comments by some labor leaders and President Nixon on the administration's new economic policies.

Millions of Americans out to enjoy the holiday flocked to resorts and recreation areas. For many who stayed home there were traditional parades, picnics or other local observances.

Before the holiday traffic crush has cleared the highways, the National Safety Council said 600 to 700 persons will have died on the road.

In the West and Midwest, a cold front chilled some holiday plans. Up to 10 inches of snow closed mountain roads in parks in the Rocky Mountains.

In weekend speeches, a number of labor leaders criticized the wage-price freeze in the President's new economic plan, urging greater sacrifice by other segments of the economy.

"A program which indiscriminately freezes wages and puts no ceiling on profits and interest rates is certainly designed for equality of sacrifice," said Salvatore Camello, president of the Massachusetts State Labor Council, AFL-CIO.

Stanley L. Johnson, president of the Illinois state AFL-CIO, said he would not be "hasty in criticism of the President's program. But I am and must be concerned about just and fair application of controls."

Labor has been bearing the brunt of the Nixon economic policies," said Miles Stanley, president of the West Virginia Labor Federation, AFL-CIO. "It is time that more of the sacrifices be shouldered by all segments of the economy, public and private."

Holiday Deaths Reach 49 In Texas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texans died violently on highways, in lakes and at their homes this holiday weekend.

By early Monday, 49 had died in the state, 29 in traffic. Eight persons were shot to death, six drowned, two were fatally stabbed and four died from miscellaneous causes.

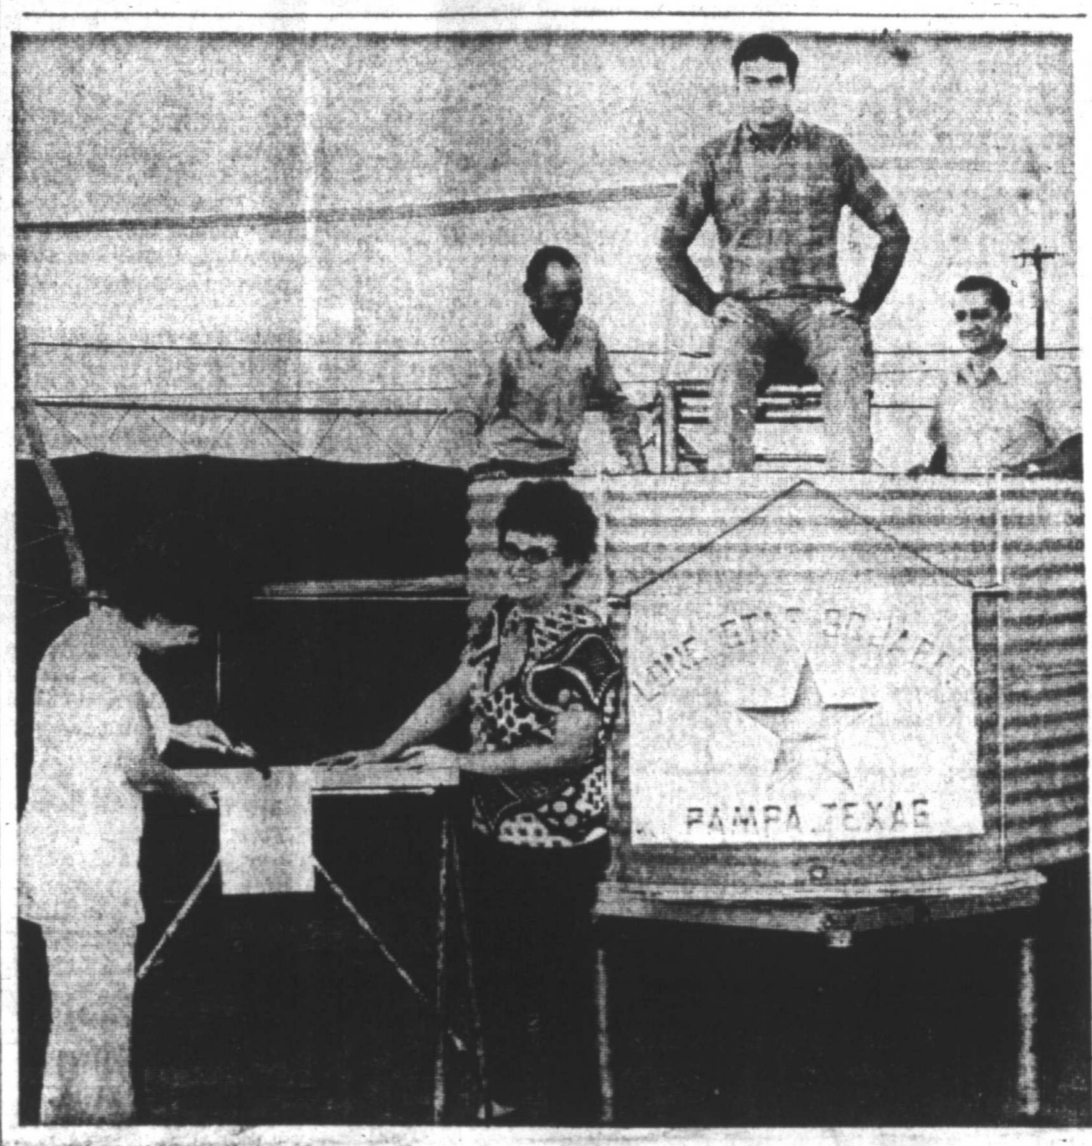

The Associated Press began its Labor Day weekend violent death count at 6 p.m. Friday and continues it until midnight Monday.

State police has predicted 52 persons will die in motor vehicle accidents and Wilson Spier, state police director, ordered all his men on duty.

Nixon Sets New Goals Minus War, Inflation

Jaycee Community Fair Opens Today At Park

Pampa Jaycees were busy early today making final preparations for today's opening of the Community Fair.

Events were set to get underway at 6:30 p.m. with a midway of concession and game booths accented by carnival rides and activities at Recreation Park fair grounds.

A preliminary judging of the "Little Miss Jaycee" pageant is set for tomorrow at 7 p.m. Entries for the 6-8 year-old contestants should be submitted to the Chamber of Commerce office or radio station KPDM by noon tomorrow, according to pageant director, David Blackwood.

Calvin Layc, fair chairman, said Wednesday night events include a quadrille and show by the Leather N' Lace Riding Club at the rodeo arena.

An Amarillo Gunfighters Club presentation, including fast-draw exhibitions and other tricks, will precede an 8 p.m. jack pot roping staged by the Pampa Roping Club Thursday.

A weaner calf judging will be conducted Friday at 7 p.m. and 4-H and FFA exhibitors awarded. Animals will be exhibited starting at 2 p.m. Saturday.

A downtown parade featuring youngsters riding decorated bicycles and showing pets will begin at 11 a.m. Prizes will be awarded to the kids for their efforts in promoting a colorful parade.

Special sky diving exhibitions will be held at 2:30 p.m.; 4:30 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. Saturday as final fair day attractions.

Civic Clubs and service groups are sponsoring booths at the midway to provide a bigger and better fair this year, said Larry Cantwell, public relations director for the event.

"Little Miss Jaycee" will be named as the final highlight of the fair at 7 p.m. Saturday.

Labor Day Talk Asks Increased Production

THURMONT, Md. (AP) — Hailing rank-and-file workers for their support of his wage-price freeze, President Nixon today pictured competition and productivity as the keys "to a better life for the American working man and his family."

In a message prepared for broadcast from his Camp David retreat, Nixon acknowledged "there have been complaints; there have been counter-suggestions; there have been criticisms by special-interest groups."

"But the most heartening reaction" to the freeze, Nixon said, "was the surge of national confidence, the reaffirmation of our competitive spirit, the willingness to make personal sacrifice in pursuit of worthy goals by the man in the street, the worker on the job and the homemaker trying to balance the family budget."

Administration officials have steadfastly maintained that the 90-day freeze has strong support from workers, despite sharp criticism of the action from many labor leaders.

The President cited as "typical" a letter he said was from a Texas state employe whose wife is a teacher.

He quoted the letter as saying: "We were both due for salary increases in September ... but we will survive ... I've heard the young people using a phrase that might fit: Right on."

Gov. Preston Smith of Texas announced shortly after the freeze was imposed that he would defy it and grant state workers scheduled pay raise. A legal showdown was avoided, however, when Texas Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin said he believed the state was legally bound to observe the freeze and Smith relented.

Nixon urged the working man to increase productivity, which he said would provide "a real increase in his wages, not just a pay raise eaten away by inflation."

Increased productivity "means that the consumer gets more for his money, the investor gets a greater return, and more money is available to help those who cannot help themselves," the President said.

"We welcome fair competition—because it keeps us on our toes, because that alertness leads to rising productivity, because that in turn leads to a better life for the American working man and his family," Nixon said.

"Our success in rising to the challenge of peace will depend on the competitive spirit of the American people."

American Troop Strength In Viet Reduced By 60%

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that American troop strength in Vietnam has been reduced by more than 60 per cent from a peak of 54,400 a little over two years ago.

An official summary said another 2,300 troops had been cut last week, dropping the strength to 216,700. This includes 170,400 Army, 35,700 Air Force, 10,000 Navy, 500 Marines, and 100 Coast Guard.

Under President Nixon's timetable, the authorized ceiling will be lowered to 184,000 by Dec. 1, but the current pace is ahead of this schedule and strength likely will drop to as low as 175,000 by the end of November.

Nixon is scheduled to make an announcement in mid-November on further troop cutbacks beyond Dec. 1.

In a related development, the 7th Air Force announced the inactivation of the 311th Tactical Airlift Squadron at coastal Phan Rang Air Force Base and said its 20 C123 transports would be turned over to the South Vietnamese air force. The inactivation cuts 7th Air Force strength by about 300 men.

On the battlefields, only small patrol actions were reported, but South Vietnamese headquarters said two terrorist attacks in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon and in Khanh Hoa province on the central coast killed five Vietnamese civilians and wounded 25 civilians, four soldiers and one policeman.

Nine U.S. B52 bombers pounded suspected North Vietnamese bunker complexes and storage depots just south of the demilitarized zone and northeast of Khe Sanh and U.S. fighter-bombers and artillery from 7th Fleet ships off the coast of Vietnam bombarded suspected enemy positions in the southern half of the DMZ for the 26th successive day.

On Saturday and Sunday the B52s had carried out about 60 strikes against North Vietnamese positions and supply routes in South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

Guerrillas Find Rough Sledding In Palestine War

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A year ago exultant Palestinian guerrillas waving machine guns strutted in front of three Western airliners they hijacked to the Jordanian desert.

Since then it has been all downhill for the guerrillas. King Hussein's tough Bedouin troops battered them in last September's civil war, then chased them from the country in July.

Now the guerrillas are quarreling among themselves about what went wrong and what should be done next. The movement is in greater disarray than ever before.

Jordanian and guerrilla representatives were scheduled to meet in Jiddi, Saudi Arabia, today, under Egyptian and Saudi auspices, to attempt another reconciliation. But the meeting was postponed until Wednesday because of disagreements among guerrilla leaders over whether to attend.

Dr. George Habash, leader of the group that hijacked the planes, the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, broke a year's silence in an interview Saturday to denounce negotiations with Jordan as treason.

He urged an "underground war of revolutionary violence" against King Hussein adding: "The overthrow of Jordan's monarchy is no less essential for the guerrilla movement than the battle against Israel. It is essential for the survival of the movement not only in Jordan but in the whole Middle East."

TO FOLLOW FREEZE Senate-House Committee Head Proposes Wage-Price Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate-House Economic Committee has suggested the Nixon administration's 90-day freeze be followed by wage-price controls based on productivity.

Under the plan advocated by Sen. William Proxmire in an interview Sunday, an industry whose productivity increased at the current average rate of about 4 per cent a year could raise wages by 5 per cent and prices by 1 per cent.

A board made up of representatives from organized labor, business and government would determine productivity rates of major industries and require that wage and price increases be based on those figures.

Such an approach, the Wisconsin Democrat said, would hold price increases to 1 or 2 per cent a year and cut the unemployment rate from the present 6.1 per cent of the labor force to about 4.5 per cent within a year.

Proxmire projected such a program would create 1.5 million new jobs and find work for 1 million now unemployed.

In another development Sunday, AFL-CIO President George Meany said he would agree to a no-strike pledge following the wage-price freeze if certain conditions were met.

"If we had a part in setting it up, drawing the ground rules and we agree, I am quite sure we would give that pledge," Meany said on the ABC's "Issues and Answers."

The Nixon administration already has asked for a moratorium on strikes during the freeze. But Meany and some other labor leaders have been reluctant to comply, saying they were not consulted before President Nixon announced his new economic program Aug. 15.

Proxmire said under his plan, most wages would be allowed to increase at the end of the wage-price freeze to the 5-per-cent ceiling suggested last week by Arthur Okun, former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers.

He gave the following examples to explain how his plan would work:

—An industry which experienced no productivity increase would be able to raise both wages and prices by a maximum of 5 per cent.

—One whose productivity rate increased by about 4 per cent could raise wages by 5 per cent, prices by 1 per cent.

Deputies Trying To Locate Stolen Saddles, Stalls

Gray County Sheriff Rufe Jordan said county officers are still trying to locate two saddles and four head stalls stolen from the Doom Aug. 28.

Thieves broke into a tack room owned by the complainant and removed the saddles and head stalls, leaving behind several pairs of bits and other tack. The saddles stolen from the building, located on Perry St. south of Highway 152, include one Herford saddle, 1 1/2 tan in color with a 1 1/2 inch tree. The other, a Buck Steiner saddle, is seasoned brown with a 1 1/2 inch tree. Both hand-stamped saddles are double-rigged.

Also taken in the break-in were a pair of child's spurs and a pair of Chianhua spurs.

Jordan said anyone having information which might lead to the recovery of these items was asked to notify his department.

West Asks Nixon To Take Governor On Trip To China

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — Gov. Gov. McCall of Oregon has asked President Nixon to take a western governor along on his trip to the People's Republic of China next year.

McCall suggested Gov. Dan Evans of Washington.

Evans, said McCall, "would be especially suitable for this role if he succeeds—as he so richly deserves—in capturing the chairmanship of the National Governors' Conference this month in Puerto Rico."

Nixon has announced he will visit mainland China sometime before next May.

McCall said communication between leaders of the highest level should be accompanied by communication between leaders at other levels "if there is to be broader understanding between the American and Chinese peoples."

Most Stores In City Close For Labor Day

Pampa city streets were deserted early today with most stores closed for the last holiday of the summer.

Law enforcement officers were on duty in an effort to curb predicted automobile accidents during the long holiday.

Schools, open for one week, were closed, giving youngsters one last summertime free week day.

Only special service workers were on duty as usual.

Holiday plans for Pampa included the afternoon hours of White Deer Lands Museum and opening of the Jaycee Community Fair set for 6:30 p.m.

No county or city offices were open and only box delivery service was planned by the postal department.

Police Discover Stolen Motorcycle

A motorcycle and helmet stolen in a Friday night burglary of Texas Garage and Transmission, 301 S. Cuyler, have been recovered by the Pampa Police Department, and investigation of the burglary is continuing.

The 1970 model Honda and white helmet were located abandoned near Panhandle late Saturday. The motorcycle is valued at $375 and the helmet is worth $40 according to the owner.

Thieves entered the building by a south door window and also took $25 in change and one dollar bills after ransacking the office, officers said.

BUT HOPE IS SLIM Talks Begin To Halt Violence In Ireland

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Jack Lynch of Ireland arrived in London today for talks with Edward Heath, the British Prime minister, aimed at halting the growing bloodshed in Northern Ireland.

After a weekend of terror that swelled the two-year death toll in the British province to 99, Lynch flew from Dublin for a summit meeting that stirs few hopes of an early peace settlement.

Chequers, the British leader's country retreat outside London, was the scene for the summit.

Heath is expected to ask Lynch to tighten security on his side of the largely unmarked, 260-mile border with Northern Ireland, informed sources said. The British want to end a situation that they feel gives terrorist gunmen and bomb throwers a sanctuary south of the border.

Lynch denies that the republic's security forces are incapable of preventing most border crossings by gunmen of the outlawed Irish Republican Army—the IRA.

The IRA wants to force Britain to give up Northern Ireland and reunite it with the Irish republic. Lynch wants Ireland reunited but rejects IRA violence.

Heath is expected to agree to consider proposals for reforms in the province that Lynch supports.

One of the suggested reforms is a proposal to introduce proportional representation in the Stormont, the provincial parliament, to give the minority Roman Catholics a greater say in the Protestant-dominated government.

This would give Catholics about one-third of the Stormont seats, in keeping with their proportion of the total 1.4 million population in the British province.

Many Northern Ireland Catholics look to Lynch, as head of the overwhelmingly Catholic Republic across the border, to represent their interests in this summit with Heath.

Lynch also is expected to press their charges of continued mistreatment at the hands of the Protestant majority despite promises of reforms in such things as housing and job opportunity.

Lynch is expected to echo Catholic protests over the introduction a month ago of internment—the arrest without trial of suspected terrorists. Catholics claim internment has worsened tensions and that Protestant extremists have not been among the more than 200 suspects detained.

According to early reports, the guerrillas fled through tunnels dug from homes close to the jail on the outskirts of Montevideo.

Tupamaros killed U.S. police adviser Dan A. Mitrone, of Indianapolis, Ind., last summer after kidnapping him and another American, agriculture expert Claude L. Fly of Fort Collins, Colo.

In an apparent IRA move to embarrass Lynch before the summit, gunmen Sunday seized a machine gun and three rifles from Irish troops guarding a television transmitter 15 miles from Dublin. Lynch ordered tighter security at such sites.

The Northern Ireland government meanwhile rejected a threat by the IRA's militant Provisional wing to step up terror unless certain demands are met.

The demands include abolition of the Northern Ireland government and new elections for a regional parliament to cover all Ulster, the official name of Northern Ireland. Six of the nine counties of historic Ulster form the existing province and three are part of the Irish Republic. Another demand is for release of all political prisoners.

The IRA Provisionals offered to stop their guerrilla campaign if the demands were met. But they were rejected immediately by the Northern Ireland government.

The Lynch-Heath summit originally had been set for October but was hastily moved up amid worsening British-Irish relations culminated by a border gun battle on Aug. 29 in which terrorists killed a British soldier.

Heath said the IRA shot the soldier from sanctuary in the republic, but Lynch said the shots came from Ulster.

Northern Ireland suffered only minor violence early today. Two small bombs in Belfast caused no injuries. A band of youths stoned a police station in Strabane and burned two cars. There were no casualties.

Yarborough Hits Nixon Policies In Labor Speech

Sen. Ralph Yarborough attacked President Nixon's new economic policies Monday, pointing out that unemployment is at an all-time high under the "New Prosperity."

Speaking at a Labor Day dinner in the American Legion Hall here, Yarborough said the steel industry is reaping the benefits of a "shopping 8 per cent increase put into effect after the wage-price freeze."

"Exorbitant interest rates remain high," he said, "and the administration refuses to freeze profits of giant corporations that are making the largest profits in their history."

"Still," he added "they freeze wages and prices of the people, but not the profits of special privilege."

Yarborough dwelt at length in his speech, interrupted by frequent applause, on unemployment across the nation. He singled out aircraft workers at Fort Worth as victims of declining employment.

He took issue with the administration's stance that corporate profits limitation would discourage efficiency in business.

"In fact," said Yarborough, "the opposite would take place. The efficiency of big business would improve if the conglomerates knew they were receiving the same treatment the small grocer receives."

"President Nixon has said the key to making his economic plan work is the 'spirits of the American people'."

"I wonder how high his spirits would be if he were a highly trained aerospace worker who had been laid off and is having to make a living in some field totally foreign to him... or who spends his time searching the want ads for a job."

"I'd like to see the President go to Fort Worth and tell the 14,000 professionals and technicians and workers who were given pink slips by General Dynamics to keep their spirits up so his economic plan will work."

ONE DEAD, ONE MISSING Survival School Graduation Exercise Has Tragic Finish

BEND, Ore. (AP) — A young married woman, participating in the graduation exercise of an outdoor survival school apparently lay down in wet snow and froze to death high on a central Oregon mountain.

A second girl, missing and feared dead, was the object of a search today by mounted sheriff's deputies and instructors of the two were withheld pending notification of their families.

The dead woman was 21, and an Oregon resident. The missing girl, from an eastern state, is 19.

A third girl, Pamela Sullivan, 18, Seattle, was found safe by an instructor Saturday afternoon near the body of the dead girl. She was taken to a Bend hospital for observation and released.

The young women were taking a course offered by the Eugene, Ore., branch of Outward Bound, Inc., a school which gives training in wilderness survival techniques. The three were a subunit of a class of 43 girls, ages 16 to 23, which had split up for an exercise.

Bill Richards, an associate director of the school, gave this account:

"The 43 girls, accompanied by eight instructors, entered the Three Sisters Wilderness Area of the Cascade Mountains on Aug. 18 and spent 10 days training in camping, climbing and survival."

On Aug. 27 they gathered at Forge Camp on the Old McKenzie Pass Highway to rest, stock up on provisions and lay plans for the ensuing graduation exercise.

They split into groups of three, four and five without instructors. Each group was assigned a specific route of from 35 to 50 miles over snow-capped mountains and rugged wilderness terrain. They left on Sunday, Aug. 29, to rendezvous the following Wednesday or Thursday at Cougar Dam east of Eugene.

By Thursday evening all the groups except the one including Miss Sullivan had arrived. A party of instructors, including Vern Bush of Eugene, began backtracking over the group's assigned route.

"At 2:30 p.m. Saturday Vern found Pamela at Chambers Lake," Richards said. "She appeared in good health. She was drying out clothes and eating a can of roast beef. She appeared ready to star down the trail."

"Vern asked her where the others were. Pam pointed off to the side. The Vern saw the girl's body. He said she was just lying in the snow. She looked like she was asleep."

The body was lifted out by an Air National Guard helicopter Sunday and the Deschutes County medical examiner listed the cause of death as hypothermia—low body temperature.

"We've found that hypothermia is a weird thing," said Richards. "It just seems to sneak up on you. All of a sudden you're losing your zip. You get tired, listless. You just want to lie down. We think that's what probably happened to the dead girl."

Richards said the girls had an ample food supply and what should have been adequate shelter.

"They had a heavy, wind-tight polyurethane enclosure," he said. "Pam said when the wind and snow came they were afraid to break the seal, to go outside—for anything. It appears their bodily wastes began to accumulate inside to the point where it was unbearable. They finally went out and when they did they got wet. That's what probably started the hypothermia."

Richards said subfreezing temperatures are not necessary in cases of hypothermia. The proper combination of moisture and wind will cause it. This, he said, apparently was the case with the three girls.

"Pam said the other girl wandered down a trail," he said. "Vern followed the trail and began finding pieces of the girl's gear and clothing. Then there was nothing more."

Richards said the Pacific Northwest branch of Outward Bound has graduated 2,000 students since it opened in 1966. He said this was the first fatality. Tuition for the 26-day course is $425, he said.

Outward Bound was started in England during World War II, and came to the U.S. in 1962, he said.

Leftists Tunnel Way To Freedom In Uruguayan Jail

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — About 100 members of the Tupamaros guerrilla organization broke out of jail here today, apparently using tunnels dug by comrades then fleeing in a bus.

The Punta Carretas jail houses about 180 Tupamaros, the leftist guerrillas who have kidnapped foreigners and Uruguayan alike in their campaign to bring down the government of President Jorge Pacheco Areco.

Raul Sencic, 44, the founder and one of the top leaders of the organization, was reported to be among the escapees, but this could not be confirmed.

According to early reports, the guerrillas fled through tunnels dug from homes close to the jail on the outskirts of Montevideo.

Tupamaros killed U.S. police adviser Dan A. Mitrone, of Indianapolis, Ind., last summer after kidnapping him and another American, agriculture expert Claude L. Fly of Fort Collins, Colo.

Some State House Members Trying To Oust Speaker

PORT LAVACA, Tex. (AP) — Some House members are going to try to oust Speaker Gus Mutscher in the special session, state Rep. R. C. "Nick" Nichols of Houston told a Labor Day audience today.

Nichols spoke at the annual celebration sponsored by local 4370 of the United Steelworkers of America.

"A number of House members—both conservatives and weak-sister liberals—who were stalwart members of the Gus Mutscher team are going to try to save their own political scalps by moving to oust Mutscher as Speaker when the legislature is called back into special session by the governor," he said.

Iowa's Hickenlooper Is Taken By Death

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, a principal author of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954 and of a foreign policy bill that bears his name, is dead at the age of 75.

Hickenlooper was found dead Saturday in Shelter Island, N.Y., at the home of a friend, Henry F. Holtusen.

A former Iowa governor, Hickenlooper was elected to the Senate in 1944 and remained there until 1968 when he decided not to seek re-election.

10 per cent would allow an industry to raise wages up to 5 per cent but it would be required to cut prices by 5 per cent.

Proxmire said he does not favor an excess-profits tax except as a last resort.

His proposals would require that the President be notified of any major wage or price boosts 30 days before they were to go into effect.

By Abigail Van Klee

DEAR ABBY: I am a professor of theology who has been fascinated with your column for many years.

How do you arrive at your answers? Do you think you have some special divinely inspired power that directs you to guide others? Or do you follow a certain philosophy of life? And if so, whose?

Your answers are so direct and to the point, I sometimes think it is just a matter of common sense. Yet so few people have it. And finally, Abby, how long did it take you to write today's column?

DEAR F.M.P.: I think my answers are simply common sense in a capsule. And it took me about 1 hour and 53 years to write today's column.

DEAR ABBY: I was recently hired to give physical therapy to a partially paralyzed child aid him in his muscular development.

My problem is I failed to complete my last year of a course in physical therapy, so although I am very well trained, I do not have a degree. I do not charge the prices professionals charge, but judging from the boy's improvement, I should have.

I am enclosing the letter I received from the boy's parents after I sent them my bill. What can I do to insure my receiving the rest of the money I am entitled to? (No names, please.)

PHYSICAL THERAPIST
"Dear —: We extend to you our sincerest appreciation for what you have done for our son. We realize that he was quite unreasonable at times and required much patience. We apologize for not paying you promptly, but we were quite unaware of the charge at the time we engaged you. We were under the impression that you wanted only a small token rather than the outlandish fee you quoted, so we have decided to pay you one-third of your asking price.

We feel that this is sufficient and hope you will understand."

DEAR PHYSICAL THERAPIST: Since you and the boy's parents obviously had no clear-cut understanding of your fee in advance, it is difficult to say how much you are entitled to.

You may be very well trained, but without a degree you cannot be considered a professional. I advise you to return to school, finish your training and get your credentials.

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter from the woman whose husband left a dirty ring in the bathtub for his wife to clean, but he wouldn't dream of doing that to his mother.

I have the same problem. I have tried demanding, begging and even leaving the tub dirty until I could write my message in the ring, but nothing has helped.

I have one suggestion for that woman, and all other women in the same dirty bathtub. Every time you find yourself on your knees scrubbing the tub after him, thank God for the opportunity to clean up after your man. A lot of Viet Nam widows would gladly trade tubs with you.

Mine came back, and I love that ring around the bathtub.
ON MY KNEES
CONFIDENTIAL TO

In these days of the "total look" fashion and beauty can no longer be separated into categories. Each is part of the look chosen for any occasion. The two Pantene-inspired pretties shown here depict (left) the gamin spirit, gently ploped spirites of hair, deceptively boyish, distinctly girlish—as free-spirited as the put-togethers pant attire of the season. The carefully co-ordinated accessories, bejeweled or be-banded, express the do-your-own thing mood. The more formal flutterer (right) was created from the latest love from Paris, the butterfly motif. Literally a winged-victory for fashion, this gently bouffant style will complement the romance in much of today's couture.

Your Horoscope

TUESDAY, SEPT. 7

Your Birthday Today: You're off and running on a lively year of accomplishing all those big projects you've had to postpone for so long. Now you tend to wait for nobody—you shouldn't depend on others for energy and initiative anyway. Today's natives often are naturally smooth politicians.

ARIES (March 21-April 20): Express your own views instead of spending time and effort propping up schemes of others. Numerous delays and setbacks are available, but no real short cuts.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Put together better financial arrangements. If a white elephant seeks repayment of whatever may be owed you, by evening several changes are achieved.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Restless moods are inevitable but you can't cater to temperament. Take a break where you can; it's a slow day.

CANCER (June 21-July 21): Your political instincts rise and shine, and you know just the right thing to say, the right touch to apply. Cultivate business connections.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 21): Be alert for a chance to be of service in a personal crisis; somebody near you needs a brief bit of understanding help. Be prompt.

VIRGO (Aug. 22-Sept. 21): Get away from people for the nonce if you can, their doing. There will be time enough to pick up after you rethink and repian your program.

LIBRA (Sept. 22-Oct. 21): There's not much to be gained by trying to interest people in new things. Make a personal holiday of it as much as you can.

SCORPIO (Oct. 22-Nov. 21): Business deals go briskly forward wherever you have something definite to offer. Little that transpires today has any later repercussions, so waste no time speculating.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Follow a quiet and conservative course. Exaggeration defeat themselves. Take the care needed to get concise statements of affairs and stick with them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Expansion. It's up to you to see life in a new light, according to fresh views and values.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Nothing works as well as a quiet, positive attitude and keeping matters simple. Here and now is more important than tomorrow, let alone next year.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Expect the unexpected and strive for a direct carry-forward from yesterday to tomorrow, with as little essential change as circumstances permit.

Radio & TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When Walt Disney died, the film industry wondered openly if the entertainment empire he built and ruled so successfully would change, if not deteriorate. Now it is obvious that Disney was not only a creative man but a good executive and foresighted planner.

In the television area alone, his "Wonderful World of Disney" soon will start its 18th consecutive season, the oldest program in network prime-time, and a Sunday night family institution.

"Even we at the studio wondered how the public would react," said Ron Miller, the Disney son-in-law who is in charge of television production. "But he had thought ahead. We are a team here but we constantly ask ourselves how Walt Disney would handle this or that."

The NBC program consists of dependably wholesome entertainment, inevitably a rotation of handsome nature studies, youth-oriented adventure films and some short animated features. It has been that way from its beginnings on AEC when the program was launched, partly as a subtle promotion scheme for Disney's then-new California amusement park.

Because of its huge audience of children, the series is able to function in a thrifty way impossible for the other producers of weekly series.

The Disney method is to take a motion picture that has made the theater rounds, cut it into TV-length segments and run it as two or three programs. After the usual summer rerun, it goes back into the Disney vault to wait four or five years for a new audience of kids—then it is run again.

At the moment the Disney hour is in the midst of showing a 1958 theatrical film, originally broadcast in 1962 and again in 1966. Almost one third of each season's programs is out of the vault.

Record Contribution To Economy Of Texas By 4 Bell System Firms

DALLAS (AP) — Four Bell System companies posted a record $718 million contribution to the economy of Texas in 1970. Leading contributor among the four operating in the state was Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. with expenditures of more than $491 million.

The company serves about 80 per cent of the state's telephone lines.

Other associated companies operating in Texas are Western Electric, manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell System; Mountain Bell Telephone Co., providing telephone service in four El Paso exchanges; AT&T's Long Lines Department which maintains much of the system's long distance network.

Payroll for the four companies accounted for the largest single expenditure—nearly $323 million of the $718 million total, according to H.D. Schodde, vice president of Southwestern Bell's Texas operations. The four companies employ more than 40,700 Texans.

Commenting on the increasing amount of construction being undertaken by the Bell System, Schodde said construction expenditures in Texas for buildings and outside plants hit a record $157 million. He pointed out that this represented six per cent of the total non-residential construction in the state.

Schodde noted that the Bell System's Texas payroll and construction program, when coupled with a state and local tax bill of more than $75 million, had substantial impact on nearly every community.

This local impact was typified by Western Electric which alone made purchase from 1,740 suppliers in 112 towns and cities throughout the state amounting to more than $103 million.

At year's end, Bell System telephones in Texas totaled more than 5,243,000.

Pitcher Hal Newhouser won 200 games during his career with the Detroit Tigers.

Municipal Bond Sale Increases

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Everyone has heard about the rising costs of state and local governments. But if there are lingering doubts in the minds of some people they should be dispelled by the latest statistics on bond sales.

In the first six months of the year, the Investment Bankers Association calculates that municipal bond sales leaped to $12.7 billion, a 63 per cent increase over the $7.8 billion in public financing a year earlier. With only half a year's sales compiled, 1971 was already two-thirds of the way toward a new annual record that would surpass last year's yearend figure of $18.1 billion.

Where did the money go? That's what the taxpayers fear asking, but the records indicate that education topped the list, taking $3.1 billion of the funds, a 29 per cent increase over 1970.

Following in order were transportation, up 86 per cent; utilities, up 89 per cent, and social welfare—which includes public housing—171 per cent.

President Plans Black-Tie Dinner For Visiting Japanese Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — A high-level Japanese delegation will receive red-carpet treatment and hear frank economic talk here this week while the Nixon administration seeks to ease concededly strained relations with the principal U.S. ally in Asia.

President Nixon plans a black-tie dinner Friday for the visiting Tokyo Cabinet ministers as part of the effort to heal wounds in U.S.-Japanese relations deepened by his Peking trip announcement and his new economic policy.

On the economic issues, the Japanese want repeal of Nixon's 10-per-cent imports surtax and adjustments of other impediments to their sales to this country. The United States seeks faster movement by Japan in opening her doors to foreign investment and goods. In the U.S. view, an undervalued yen and import barriers are fostering a lopsided Japanese trade surplus contributing to the international economic crisis.

Together, the two sides are expected in two days of talks to discuss possible cooperative approaches to thrashing out the current international monetary and trade tangle.

They are expected to deal also with aid to less-developed countries.

The occasion is the annual U.S.-Japanese meeting of Cabinet ministers on trade and economic affairs. Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Treasury Secretary John Connally and other U.S. leaders will gather with their Tokyo counterparts.

The parley is not a negotiating or decision-making affair, but the high rank of participants means their counsel will carry weight in shaping policies of the two governments.

The Japanese delegation is to arrive in San Francisco Monday, fly across the United States aboard a special U.S. Air Force plane and receive a VIP welcome upon arrival in Washington late Wednesday. The White House dinner will climax the talks.

Japan's Sato government, a staunch U.S. ally, was jolted by the July 18 announcement of Nixon's forthcoming visit to Communist China and again by Nixon's Aug. 18 imposition of stern economic measures.

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans of $283 million in new cars in 1970, the Texas Automobile Dealers Association says.

With 5.2 million cars and 1.1 million trucks and buses, Texas was exceeded only by California in vehicle registrations last year, the association said.

TADA said its figures came from a report published by the National Automobile Dealers Association.

Man With Billion-Dollar Family Enjoys Being Maryland Sheriff

By ERIC NEWHOUSE
Associated Press Writer

ELKTON, Md. (AP) — When the man with the billion-dollar family became a sheriff of Cecil County last November, he obviously wasn't after the $125-a-week salary.

Samuel F. DuPont—a great-grandson of Eleuthere Irenee duPont, who founded the family chemical empire—simply liked the work.

"Sam lives, eats and sleeps police work," says his chief deputy, Bernie Johnson. "You can call him at 3 o'clock in the morning on a case, and you can depend upon his coming in."

Sheriff DuPont, 41, lives at Hexton, his 57-acre country estate overlooking the Sassafras River, with thoroughbred stables, dog-breeding kennels, a deer herd, swimming pool, two private airstrips and a few boats.

DuPont first got into law enforcement in 1968 after then-Gov. Spiro Agnew appointed him to the governor's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice.

Before that, his principal loves were racing fast boats and flying his own plane.

Prior to his appointment to the Governor's Commission, DuPont had displayed little interest in law enforcement.

To get a little practical experience, he promptly joined this small county seat's police department, but remained on the force only a year.

"Making square corners eight hours a day almost drove me dinky," DuPont admits now. "I needed at least a county to run in."

So in May 1969, he became a Cecil County deputy sheriff, working as a K-9 officer with his own German Shepherd primarily during night shifts.

"This is a rough county," comments Johnson of Maryland's northeastern county which contains about 60,000 relatively poor residents.

But DuPont enjoyed the work, enough so that he campaigned for the sheriff's job last November on a promise of bringing professionalism to the department and was elected to a four-year term.

Mans county residents feared the Wilmington DuPonts were trying to take over Cecil County.

Much of the skepticism vanished with the sheriff's no-nonsense approach, however.

He also fired half the 12-deputy force, replacing them with men he had recruited throughout Maryland and Washington, D.C., then wangled everyone a pay raise ranging from $600 to $1,400 a year, with a top salary of $8,300.

DuPont nearly balanced the salary hike by trimming his operating budget.

DuPont also was reluctant to spend too much money on the old county lockup, partly for budgetary considerations and partly because he favors regional jails run by the state.

"The state can do a heck of sight better with corrections than some county sheriff," he says. "I'm not a trained corrections officer and I don't rehabilitate. I just warehouse human beings."

He also broadened the county's communication system to include, among others, the reception of state police calls.

Circuit Court Judge Albert J. Roney Jr. feels the changes have been all for the better.

"The officers that come in here now seem to be better qualified and more prepared," the judge said, "and relations between the sheriff's office and the court have improved markedly."

Few of the early doubts about millionaire sheriff remain.

"I don't want to glorify the guy," says Chief Deputy Johnson.

SOME NUTS AND BOLTS
NEW YORK (AP) — More than 10 million steel nuts and bolts will help hold together the most powerful electric transmission line in the United States when it is completed next year.

The 1,150-mile line, suspended in part from 2,300 steel towers, will pass through Indiana, Ohio, Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky.

IT'S NO JOKE
BALTIMORE (AP) — Two University of Maryland students say as many as 200 of their fellow students have gone from pot to laughing gas because of the high cost of marijuana.

DROP IN WELFARE
TEL AVIV (AP) — The number of Arabs receiving welfare in the Israeli-occupied Gaza Strip and the Sinai Peninsula has dropped from 70,000 to 30,000 since the 1967 Mideast war.

A High Fever Is Very Scary

When a child's temperature shoots up very high, it is very frightening to the parents. And often, this will happen without any other symptoms. Fortunately children are able to tolerate high temperatures much more easily than adults.

If a fever gets over 102 in a small child, a physician very often prescribes a sedating suppository to guard against the possibility of a convulsion. Some physicians suggest you have these prescription suppositories in the house for use if a fever is ranging late at night. Children's aspirin helps to bring down the fever but if it gets up as high as 104 or 105, your physician might recommend putting the child in a bath of cool water. Follow his advice.

Comfort is...

Fresh, warm air gently circulating from floor to ceiling... down-to-earth dependability... easy-on-the-budget operating costs. Comfort is gas heating. There's no heat more comfortable. And there's no heat cleaner than gas. Gas burns clean. It's one energy source that doesn't dirty the air.

Air-circulating gas heating systems also give you the first-half of a built-in gas air conditioning system. Adequate heat ducts can carry cool air to your whole house too — so you can add-on gas cooling right away or later if you prefer. Together, gas heating and gas cooling are an unbeatable combination for year 'round total comfort.

If you're building a home or planning to replace an out-dated heating system, choose thrifty gas heat. Check with your heating contractor.

Highlights And Sidelights From The State Capitol

By BILL BOYKIN

Texas Press Association
AUSTIN, Tex. — Gov. Preston Smith sprang one surprise after another in announcing appointments to key state positions.

One of the biggest was selection of his longtime legal aide and top political campaign worker Robert D. (Bob) Bullock, formerly of Hillsboro, as Secretary of State, succeeding Martin Dies Jr.

A few days earlier, he selected another staff assistant, V. Larry Teaver of Lubbock, to the State Board of Insurance. Surprise here was that Teaver did not replace Durwood Manford, veteran member of the board.

Manford got a new six-year term and Charles D. Mathews, a Dallas trucking executive and attorney until two years ago, was moved from the board to an Austin district judgeship.

Teaver replaced Mathews when the freshman board member became judge of the new 200th Travis County district court.

Smith stirred some controversy by naming a successor to Brig. Gen. James M. Rose as assistant adjutant general of Texas for air. On recommendation of Maj. Gen. Ross Ayers, the state adjutant general, he picked Lt. Col. Belisario D.J. Flores of San Antonio for the Air National Guard command.

Smith's other appointments included: —T.E. (Gene) Mitchell of Plainview as chairman of the Governor's Committee on Human Relations. Dies previously doubled in that job before his appointment to the Ninth Court of Civil Appeals at Beaumont.

—Robert W. Kneebone of Houston for a new six-year term as a member of the Texas Youth Council.

REDISTRICTING MOVES
—A two-way legislative redistricting fight moved toward a Supreme Court decision last week.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin filed briefs in appeal from the Aug. 2 Austin district court ruling that House of Representatives reapportionment this year is unconstitutional because it improperly violates county lines. Martin said the "one-man-one-vote" rule of federal courts eliminates state constitutional provision safe-guarding county lines.

At the same time, 53rd District Judge Herman Jones refused to prevent the Texas Legislative Redistricting Board from reapportioning the State Senate and said the Board may also do preliminary House reapportionment. Time for attack on Board's work, concluded Jones, is when it finishes.

Rep. Fred Head of Henderson brought suit in Jones' court to prevent the Board from redistricting House and Senate. He contended new census data is not complete and that reapportionment should be left until 1973. Head indicated efforts will be made to get his suit before the Supreme Court at the same time as the attack on House reapportionment of the regular session.

TAX STUDY LAUNCHED—New Legislative Property Tax Committee began a four-year study of how property taxation can be made "fair, viable and efficient."

Sen. Jim Bates of Edinburg was named chairman of the group and Jack Hart of Midland, staff director.

Hart noted a recent decision of the California Supreme Court may make the Texas committee's job more difficult. California court held reliance on property taxes alone to finance public schools is unconstitutional.

Committee's work is being financed by a charge of $1 per delinquent tax receipt authorized by the Legislature this year. Among goals is computerization of ad valorem tax records on a statewide basis.

TEACHER PAY HIKE OK—Up to 90 per cent of 138,000 Texas teachers will get their pay raise as approved by the Legislature in spite of the 90-day wage freeze, under a Texas Education Agency ruling.

Ruling by State Education Commissioner J.W. Edgar is subject to approval by federal authorities. It would go to 1,200 local school districts on Sept. 8 unless reversed in Washington, but is subject to further interpretation at local school board level.

Edgar said teachers signed contracts prior to Aug. 15, many were at work July 1, and others had reached an agreement and established eligibility to perform with a local school before the president's freeze order. Commissioner Tdgar concluded that raises were in order also in local school districts which pay salaries above the state minimum where agreements were reached before Aug. 15.

Texas Public Employees Association filed a petition for exceptions from the freeze since the Legislature last June passed an appropriations bill calling for state worker pay raises.

AG OPINIONS
Appropriations bill limitations on extended state pay to aliens do not prohibit the Texas Industrial Commission from hiring a Mexican National to work in Mexico fulltime in a Texas Industrial Commission branch office there, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded: —A justice of the peace who is not an attorney must have served a minimum of two terms of four years each to be exempt from attending a 40-hour course of instruction for non-lawyers.

—Texas Rehabilitation Commission is authorized to deposit funds received from local agencies under a federal establishment grant in a local depository.

Martin said a governor's veto of funds for payment of court costs will handicap his office in prosecution and defense of state cases.

WATER PLAN ALIVE—Master $10 billion water plan to move surplus Mississippi River waters to Texas High Plains farms is still alive, according to Harry Burleigh, executive director of the Texas Water Development Board.

Burleigh urged campaign to win congressional support of plan in 1973, when federal agency water conservation report is due.

Although Texans rejected $3.5 billion bond issue to finance state's share of giant project, it is believed much of the money can now be obtained from the federal government, Burleigh indicated. Two groups, West Texas Chamber of Commerce and Water Inc., are spearheading the new drive for financing.

WELFARE CUT DELAYED—Start of new state fiscal year Sept. 1 did not bring reduced aid to fatherless welfare families, even though Texans refused to raise $80 million a year categorical benefit ceiling last spring.

Cuts are expected in a few months, however, State Welfare Department reports. Average of $118.53 per month assistance for families with dependent children is expected to remain through January.

New program for paying medicine bills of welfare recipients through separate program helped postpone reduction, Welfare Department said.

SHORT SNORTS

Texas motor vehicle registrations topped $7.5 million mark for first time during registration year which ended March 31. Figure was 7,515,063, plus 120,295 exempt registrations.

New Texas Film Commission launched drive last week to get more movie production companies to work in state.

Top government and business leaders will brief Texas industrialists on economic and manufacturing developments at governor's conference here Oct. 13-14.

Texans spent $282 million on new autos from 1,700 franchised dealers last year. All new car dealers after Dec. 1 must have special license from new Texas Motor Vehicle Commission. Leaving keys in a car is a misdeemeanor under new state law. Overcrowding a car is also prohibited, as is failure to set brakes.

U.S. Attorney General intends to hold busing to "absolute minimum" in school integration, a state Republican official reported.

VERY YOUNG HEIRESS to a very old tradition, Princess Lella shares a family moment with father, Shah Reza Pahlavi of Iran. She is the youngest child of the Shah and Empress Farah, leading celebrations this year of the nation's 2,500th anniversary.

Texas Expected To Remain Nation's Top Deer State

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials say overall hunting prospects this fall appear only "fair" for the major game species—deer, turkey, quail and squirrel.

Early reports from the field indicate the North Zone mourning dove season which opened this week also has been less than spectacular, the department said.

A bone-dry winter and early spring was followed by rains and even flooding in many areas by mid-summer, was a key factor in wildlife production in 1971.

This pattern of extremes had mixed effect on wildlife, department officials said. Reproduction of furred and feathered game was down in virtually the entire state, with turkeys and quail perhaps suffering the heaviest losses from the weather.

Texas is expected to remain the nation's top deer state, with a herd of around 3 million animals. But hunters will see fewer young deer in most areas this year and a shortage of heavily antlered bucks is expected because of poor spring forage.

The nearest thing to a disaster area in the state this year may be the South Texas brush country, which normally is one of the top hunting areas, the department said. Chances for good turkey and quail populations are almost nil, field surveys show, and the deer situation is described as "fair."

The regional forecast for the major game species, based on observations by department field personnel, include:

DEER — The east and southeast look only fair. Gonzales County was hit hard by the drought and had low fawn production. The acorn crop is good in the post oak regions. Central and North Central Texas also are fair. Deer populations are down slightly in the Possum Kingdom area near Mineral Wells.

Children Of All Races Score Same In Intelligence, Say Psychologists

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two psychologists contend children of all races score about the same in intelligence and school achievement tests when social and environmental factors are taken into account.

"This new evidence from two separate and independent studies is the strongest ever presented documenting that environmental and social factors affect I.Q. and academic achievement test scores," Dr. Edward J. Casavantes of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission said Friday.

"Many social scientists have always felt that there was no basic intellectual difference between racial and ethnic groups but, until now, there has been an absence of scientific data."

Casavantes directed an American Psychological Association symposium where the reports were presented by Dr. George W. Mayeske of the U.S. office of Education and Dr. Jane R. Mercer of the University of California at Riverside.

The studies contradict the theory of Nobel Laureate Dr. William Shockley that whites are more intelligent than blacks.

Mayeske said his study of nearly 124,000 grade school pupils showed white and minority-group youngsters scored almost identically on school achievement tests when environmental and social factors were statistically canceled.

Determining the national average score to be 50, he said he found that Puerto Rican pupils adjusted score was 47.1; American Indians, 48.6; Orientals, 51.1; Mexican-Americans, 47.5; Negroes 49.3; and whites, 50.5.

Dr. Mercer said she found that I.Q. scores of the average Mexican-American and Negro pupil were essentially the same as for white pupils when social and cultural disadvantages were taken into account.

Last Week In Business

By DAVID BURKE
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — While the Nixon administration pressed forward in its fight against inflation and hinted at possible controls on profits, the economy showed some signs of strength this past week.

The government's composite index of leading economic indicators in July rose 1.4 per cent over the previous month. These indicators often foreshadow broad movements in the economy.

A Commerce Department spokesman said the indicators are "in a well-established and strong upturn" and that with Nixon's new economic plan, "economic growth is likely to accelerate in the months ahead."

Construction contracts during July rose slightly from June's strong gains and showed a 24 per cent increase over 1970 levels, F. W. Dodge said.

The seasonally adjusted construction of the firm's McGraw-Hill division climbed four points during the month to 151.

The July figure amounted to nearly $7.7 billion.

Factory orders in July climbed 1.7 per cent over June, the Commerce Department reported. Analysts cautioned, though, that the increase reflected temporary rebounds in a few sluggish areas and did not point to any solid economic gain.

Machine orders in the month dropped 9.3 per cent from June levels, the National Machine Tool Builders Association reported. The July decline for new orders was expected by industry officials.

Sources said they expected a pickup in capital spending and machine tool orders if Congress approves the proposed 10 per cent investment tax credit.

Meanwhile, the Nixon administration continued its efforts to cool the overheated economy. The President extended the six-month wage freeze announced for Civil Service employees and the armed forces to blue collar workers.

Oilmen, Conservationists To Hold Hearing On Sale Of Oil, Gas Leases

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Oilmen and conservationists will debate anew Wednesday and Thursday the need for another sale of wildcat oil and gas leases in federal areas of the Gulf of Mexico.

The Interior Department's Bureau of Land Management is to conduct a hearing on a proposed December sale of 86 tracts totaling 396,250 acres in water depths ranging from 60 to 330 feet.

While officially called the Eastern Louisiana federal area, the tracts from 5 to 40 miles offshore extend as far eastward as Mobile Bay. Some 45,000 acres are off the Mississippi Coast, another 25,000 off the Alabama Coast.

About 60 witnesses are to outline aspects favorable and unfavorable to opening the area for wildcat operations. Deep sea navigation will be a major topic in that 27 of the tracts are in or near ship lanes leading to the Mississippi River.

The proposed sale originally was set for early 1972 but was advanced to December after President Nixon's long-term energy message to Congress in June called for faster leasing of outer Continental Shelf areas. The Gulf tracts figure prominently in such a program because they are believed to hold significant reserves of low sulphur or "clean" oil and gas.

The sale is to be the second since a temporary shutdown after the controversial oil spill of early 1969 in California's Santa Barbara Channel.

One of the new rules developed during the shutdown was a requirement that wildcat sales of federal leases be preceded by public hearings.

The first such hearing preceded last December's sale, brought a record $845 million for 116 Western Louisiana offshore tracts that already have shown indication of a tremendous potential for natural gas reserves.

In addition to stricter air pollution standards requiring clean fuels, one of the factors behind Nixon's June message was a developing natural gas supply shortage. Distributors have had to turn down thousands of new customers the past two years as the nation's natural gas reserves declined for the first time in history.

The $845 million accepted in high bids last December reflected the industry's eagerness to move into areas with strong gas reserve potentials. The previous federal record of $602 million was set in the 1968 Santa Barbara Channel sale.

A 1969 state sale in Alaska set the all-time high, drawing $900 million for North Slope slate tracts in the Prudhoe Bay region where prolific oil reserves were discovered in 1968.

CHECKS A WASH OUT

LONG BEACH, N.Y. (AP) — Two hundred forged City of New York Finance Department checks were washed up on the beach here. Some of them were for amounts of $400.

"We don't know whether it's a new ring at work or whether the old ring is at work again," said Investigation Commissioner Robert K. Ruskin.

Some of the checks were in sheets of three and four. All had stubs attached. Some bore signatures and serial numbers.

CHOPPERS CHECKED

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP) — The city council, responding to complaints of "noise pollution," has revoked the landing permit for a popular sightseeing helicopter.

Residents under the chopper's flight path said the noise from flights, as many as 50 per day, constituted a nuisance.

Key to the Middle Sea

Newly independent after being ruled by foreigners for most of a 2,000-year history, the tiny but strategically placed Mediterranean island of Malta is the center of a complex power play involving the world's greatest powers. Pressuring Britain for a stiff increase in annual subsidies for use of air base and harbor facilities, Malta's Prime Minister Dom Mintoff barred NATO units from the island pending agreement with London. Neighboring and anti-western Libya, urging a complete break, and the Soviet Union, a growing Mediterranean influence and possible replacement for NATO's presence, have been interested bystanders. NATO, for which Malta has been an outpost of the Naples headquarters, looks to even smaller but Italian-owned Pantelleria as an alternative watchpost in the strategic narrow waist of the Mediterranean.

Stock Fraud Trial May Not Last As Long As Believed

DALLAS (AP) — When court reconvenes Tuesday after the Labor Day weekend a source has told The Associated Press that indictment papers have been drafted.

The speed up, ordered by U.S. District Court Judge Sarah T. Hughes, has brought about a drastic pruning of the government list of 69 witnesses.

Top figures in the case—former Bankers Life president John Osorio, former Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, former Sharpstown State Bank president Joseph E. Novotny, and the mastermind of the alleged stock manipulation, Frank W. Sharp himself—are now expected to testify next week. A host of lesser witnesses will be heard later, if at all.

Meanwhile, two more defendants accepted Friday night consent agreements to permanent injunctions which will prohibit them from further stock dealing.

The two—former NBL president Sam E. Stock and former NBL executive vice president Donald S. Akins—decided on the step after giving their testimony. Both said they could not afford to continue meeting the legal expenses of what looked like a lengthy trial.

The SEC's civil suit is against 28 defendants, some individuals and some corporations, alleging that they conspired to manipulate stocks so as to afford politicians quick profits and possibly influence the Texas Legislature on banking bills.

All the accused deny wrongdoing and many have signed consent agreements without admitting they performed the various acts attributed to them.

It was learned Friday that a number of the eight defendants still fighting the case might sign consent agreements if Waygoner Carr would agree to do so, too, so all could act together. But Carr refuses, saying, "I'm going to fight them all the way because I haven't done what the SEC says I've done."

The case is recessed until Tuesday, after the Labor Day holiday.

Average Working Girl Receives Less Than Man

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The average working girl gets $3,500 a year less than her worth while equally qualified men get only $27 a year less, than they deserve, says a report prepared for the American Psychological Association.

"Although we expected to discover that a woman received fewer occupational rewards than a man with equal scores on the achievement predictors, we were hardly prepared for the size of the discrepancy between observed and expected annual income," said Dr. Teresa Levitin of the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan.

The report, released last Saturday, was prepared for an annual meeting of the APA.

Dr. Levitin said the findings were gleaned from a "national probability sample of persons who were living in households, were 16 years old or older, and were working for pay 20 hours a week or more."

She indicated most of the 351 women and 695 men surveyed worked at least 35 hours a week. Before finding out what they were paid, the survey considered several factors, she said, including education, tenure, supervisory responsibility and "occupational prestige."

"The average women actually received $3,458 less than she should have received," the report said. "The comparable figure for the average man ... was $27."

The survey showed more than half the women had annual income discrepancies ranging from $3,000 through $5,999, and "the significant differences were that the women who lost $3,500 or more were the youngest, 16-29 years old, and the oldest, 55 years or more, the respondents."

Dr. Levitin added those unpaid $3,500 or more were "white collar workers; those employed in professional, technical, managerial clerical and sales work; those who did not belong to a union and those in comparatively small establishments where less than 500 employees worked."

The researcher said "the argument is often made that even though women earn less than equally qualified men, this difference is offset by the better working conditions supposedly enjoyed by women."

But she said her study demonstrated that "women were not receiving better-quality jobs than would have been predicted."

Penn State and Pitt began playing their football series in 1893. Pitt holds a 35-32 edge with three ties.

The longest 1970 hole-in-one by a woman was 225 yards. Mrs. Peg Ahern aced the 16th hole at Chicago's Ridge Country Club.

Capitol Police Chief Defends Handling Of May Demonstrations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Police Chief Jerry V. Wilson has defended his handling of the Mayday demonstrations here and says future demonstrators will be treated in similar fashion.

"I don't intend to see this city closed down," he told the National Press Club Friday. But he added future demonstrations, such as one planned for Oct. 25, would be treated differently in that "we're going to have better detention facilities."

One of the major criticisms of police handling of the May 3 demonstrations was that officers who arrested protestors were not able to identify them in court.

A second criticism was that many of the Mayday demonstrators were jammed behind a wire enclosure near Robert F. Kennedy Stadium.

Many of the 7,000 arrested were freed because the short-cut booking procedure used by police provided no link between them and demonstrators.

One of the Chicago Seven defendants, John Froines, has been trying to promote a demonstration on Veteran's Day, Oct. 25. The National Peace Action Coalition has set Oct. 25 to Nov. 5 as National Peace Action Weeks as a buildup to regional antiwar demonstrations Nov. 6 in 15 cities, including Washington.

Wilson said much of "the rhetoric" about the Mayday arrests, "especially the claims that prisoners were not fed or that serious health problems resulted, is propaganda not supported by the facts."

"Still," he said, "given the same situation again, I would like to see the government better prepared than it was in May to handle many thousands of arrests."

"Again the simple fact is that on May 3 we did not anticipate the necessity or capacity to arrest some 7,000 persons, when we were forced to take action, we also were forced, even as the demonstrators had planned, to press into use facilities which provided a minimum of security, shelter and sanitary facilities."

BOSTON (AP) — U.S. Sen. Winston Prouty has re-entered New England Deaconess Hospital for further treatment of a stomach ulcer.

It is the second time in two weeks the 64-year-old Vermont Republican has been admitted to Deaconess hospital for the ailment.

His physician, Dr. Barbara J. Rosen, declined Monday to discuss his condition. "He's just in the hospital for a rest," she said.

Top O' Texas Enters Final Round

Jurgensen Top Ranking Passer In NFL History

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sony Jurgensen of the Washington Redskins, top ranking passer in the history of the National Football League, has joined the long list of star quarterbacks sidelined by injuries.

He suffered a broken left arm in a 27-10 loss to the Miami Dolphins in an exhibition game Saturday night.

Jurgensen, 37, suffered the injury with 50 seconds remaining in the third quarter when he and several other Redskins tackled Miami safety Dick Anderson, who had just intercepted a Jurgensen aerial.

Dr. J.M. Pahumbo, Jr., the Redskins team physician, diagnosed the injury as a "fracture of the coracoid process" after an extensive series of X rays Sunday at Arlington Hospital in Virginia. The coracoid is a small bone between the upper arm and shoulder.

The veteran quarterback, who is entering his 15th NFL season, was flown to Oklahoma City Sunday night for consultation with Dr. Donald O'Donoghue, a bone specialist. Dr. O'Donoghue confirmed that surgery will be necessary and said it might be performed today.

Jurgensen said Sunday night his doctors felt he would be out of action "at least four or five weeks."

Jurgensen joins an illustrious list of injured quarterbacks. Others sidelined at present include Joe Namath, Bart Starr and Johnny Unitas.

Going into this season, Jurgensen had completed 2,184 of 3,863 passes for 29,332 yards and 236 touchdowns, with a completion percentage of 56.5. He holds NFL season records for most passing attempts, 508, most completions, 288, and most yardage, 3,747.

Redskins Coach George Allen must now turn to Bill Kilmer, Jurgensen's veteran back-up man.

In Sunday's only exhibition contest, the Atlanta Falcons scored 33 points in the first half and coasted to a 45-35 victory over the New England Patriots, spoiling Jim Plunkett's debut as a starting pro quarterback.

Veteran running back Jim "Cannonball" Butler of Atlanta ran for a 74-yard touchdown on the opening play from scrimmage, then added touchdowns runs of 1 and 11 yards as the Falcons built up their early lead.

In a doubleheader Saturday at Cleveland, Pittsburgh beat the New York Jets 35-21 behind four touchdown passes by Terry Bradshaw, and Cleveland trounced the New York Giants 30-7.

In Saturday night's other exhibition contests, Buffalo topped Detroit 31-17, Oakland edged San Francisco 34-28, Houston trimmed Chicago 37-17, Philadelphia trounced New Orleans 340, Cincinnati edged Green Bay 27-24, Denver defeated Minnesota 14-7 and Kansas City and St. Louis battled to a 17-17 tie.

Cleveland Coach Nick Skorich pointed to Bill Nelsen, the veteran quarterback who was making his first start, as the difference in the Cleveland offense. "A great catalyst was there. Bill led them o he big there. Bill led them to the big play," he raved. "Bill Nelsen's number one?" he added, referring to his battle with Mike Phipps for the starting job.

Alex Webster, his Giants winless in five outings, was understandably glum. "We have a long way to go," he sighed after the game.

Detroit Lion owner William Clay Ford had some harsh words for his club, expected to be a contender for the NFL crown but only 2-3 in preseason

The final round of the Top O' Texas Invitational Golf Tournament opened this morning with the Championship flight teeing off at 8 a.m. Lloyd Moody is leading the tournament going into the final rounds after firing his second six under par round of 65 in Sunday's play.

Moody who finished eleventh in last year's tournament has returned with a determined look in his eye and improved playing. Both seem to be keeping him on top as he has a seven stroke lead over Ken Bailey and Ted Goin.

In the first flight, last year's defending champion Elmer Wilson ran up against some stiff competition in James White and Jack Allan as they fire second round scores of 73 and 72 to bring their two round totals to 143. Wilson after having a 69 in the first round of play had some tough luck in the second and is trailing the leaders by one stroke.

Along with Wilson in the second place slot entering the final rounds is Jack Holmes.

Hartford Tournament Has David Hill Over A Slump

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — "I think I'm playing better because I don't care." Dave Hill, a colorful, controversial character who has been fighting a season-long slump, was talking about at five-under-par 66 that vaulted him into a tie for first place Sunday after three rounds of the $110,000 Greater Hartford Open golf tournament.

"The old golf game had just gotten to me. It had just been eating me up. You can't let that happen. So I'm playing my last tournament of the year in this country."

"I've just kind of lost interest this year. I'd rather be home playing a $2 Nassau than out here playing tournament golf."

Hill, a former Vardon Trophy champion and a 13-year veteran of the pro tour, shared the top spot with J.C. Snead going into today's final round in the chase for the $22,000 first prize.

Snead, a hard-hitting nephew of famed Sam Snead, had a 67 to match Hill's 54-hole total of 201, 12-under par on the 6,566-yard Wethersfield Country Club course.

Jack Ewing, the second round leader, slipped to a 70 202, one stroke off the pace and one of six at that figure. He was tied with Deane Beman, Lou Graham, Fred Martin, George Archer and Dave Stockton.

Beman, Graham and Marti had 67s in the muggy heat, while Archer and Stockton matched 68s. Gay Brewer was alone at 203, with nine more at 204, leaving 18 players within three strokes going into the final round.

Elizie Bake, Jr. Born To Win At Darlington

DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP) — If your name is Elizie Wylie "Buddy" Bake Jr., you were born to win at Darlington Raceway.

"It's a family tradition," said Baker. My daddy won three races at Dtrington. Now it's my turn."

Buddy was getting his chance today for a third consecutive trip to victory lane at the aging race track. His white Dodge was one of the pre-race favorites in the 22nd Southern 500.

Stennet Finds Home With Pittsburgs

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Rennie Stennett, busy making a home for himself in Pittsburgh's infield, has reversed one of baseball's classic scouting reports.

"Good field, no hit," was the concise way Mike Gonzales described a since-forgotten minor leager when he was a coach for the St. Louis Cardinals back in the 1940s.

Stennett, however, is anything but a no-hit batter for the Pirates—but over enthusiastic fielding has his teammates running for cover.

The 20-year-old Panamanian cleaned the batter off his fingers Sunday, though, playing flawlessly at second base, and continued his torrid batting with a single, double and his

Test For Judicial System

The judicial system is on trial again in Chicago. But this time it is facing a new challenge: Proving that it can be used against the Establishment when necessary, even against a scion of that most established one of them all, Mayor Richard J. Daley.

A prize pupil of Daley, Cook County State's Attorney Edward V. Hanrahan, has been indicted by a special county grand jury that charged him and eight Chicago plainclothes officers, along with five others, with conspiracy to obstruct justice. The indictments are the latest development in the legal fencing match that has been going on since just before dawn Dec. 4, 1969, when 14 officers, members of the Chicago Police Department assigned to work under Hanrahan, raided a headquarters of the Black Panther party in Chicago.

Two Panthers—Illinois chairman Fred Hampton and organizer Mark Clark—were killed. Three of the seven other Panthers in the apartment at the time were wounded, as were two of the officers.

The police, who had a warrant to search for illegal weapons, said the Panthers had fired at them. The Panthers contended the whole thing was a police "execution."

Hanrahan, though he said he hadn't known about the raid until afterward, secured indictments against the surviving Panthers who were in the apartment on attempted murder charges but decided not to prosecute because the evidence was "faulty." Then a federal grand jury, convened in spring, 1970, after controversy about the raid had passed the boiling point, found that he Panthers could have fired no more than one shot during the entire raid while he raiders fired nearly 100.

Because the Panthers refused to co-operate in the federal grand jury investigation, no charges were brought against anyone but the grand jury report strongly criticized the handling of the raid itself and the follow-up investigation.

Last December, the special county grand jury was convened at the urging of Chicago civic groups, notably the Chicago Bar Association. Even after the grand jury had finished its investigation, however, chief Criminal Court Judge Joseph A. Power, a Daley man, suspended the indictments, contending that special prosecutor Barnabas Sears had improperly influenced the grand jury.

An order by the Illinois Supreme Court finally released the indictments. Hanrahan insisted he was guilty of no crime. Daley hedged, sidestepped, backed off, didn't commit himself and didn't smile at Hanrahan at all the way he used to.

But the case's political ramifications for the Daley machine are trivial in comparison to the impact it'd outcome will have on blacks' faith in the judicial system.

Trials of Black Panthers all around the country, mostly on conspiracy charges of one kind or another, have almost without exception resulted in acquittals but this has only proved that the courts can be independent of the Establishment and not that they always are. Too many blacks have had too many disillusioning experiences with injustice in the American way of justice to be so easily convinced that all is well.

The Chicago trial will test the system in another way, giving it a chance to add an important bit of support to its pretensions of being truly impartial.

Hanrahan and his codefendants will start out with a bundle of advantages most black defendants don't have—money, knowledge, influence and the support of a large segment of the population. That makes it doubly important that the prosecution of the case be thorough. If the defendants are innocent, they should prove their innocence. If they are guilty, they should be punished.

Question Box

QUESTION:—How do you define "human rights" Are "property rights" similar to "human rights," or are these two in opposition to one another.

OUR ANSWER: The 13-volume Oxford English Dictionary devotes 275½ column inches to a discussion of the various shades of meaning of the word "right." Webster's Third International Dictionary devotes 27 column inches of fine print to the same term.

Obviously two persons who basically agreed in thought might disagree in conversation because each is thinking of a different aspect of the word.

From the Oxford dictionary definitions we chose just six out of the thousands of words to express precisely what we mean by the word "right." From Webster's we chose eight words. Here are the two definitions.

Oxford: "That which is just or due."
Webster's: "Something to which one has a just claim."

The word "property" is likewise defined at length by both dictionaries. Oxford gives 30 column inches, Webster's about a tenth that space. From the first, we chose what we considered to be the eight pertinent words; from the second we chose nine words. Here are the definitions for "property."

Oxford: "A thing or things belonging to or owned."
Webster's: "Something that is, or may be, owned or possessed."

From the foregoing, it can be seen that these two major dictionaries state basically the same meanings for each of the two words. Further, it can be seen that the term "right" is related by meaning to the term "property." In fact, a right is a type of property for "that which is just or due" is "a thing or things belonging to or owned."

For example, take the term "right of way," referring to a public street. As an individual you do not own the street, but you do possess the right of passage for "right of way."

When you are exercising that right in that you are proceeding down the street in accordance with traffic rules specified for its use, that usage "belongs" to you. That is, the usage is your property, and whoever tries to take it from you is subject to the penalties of the law.

In the full sense, a property is not limited in scope to material goods; to the contrary it includes whatever belongs to a person. It is a belonging, whether land or a specified use of the land; it may also be a person's time, his contracts, or his ideas. The term property is equally applicable to the scholar and to the real estate proprietor. One's property is houses and lots, the other's is the emanations of his brain.

The phrase "human rights" is simply a reference to a kind of property that humans possess by the fact of their creation. The phrase "property rights" may be understood or misunderstood in a number of ways. We believe it is erroneous to say that property has rights, since rights belong to humans. But it is correct to say that a human has a moral entitlement (right) to his belongings (property). It is also correct to say he has a property in his right for, according to Webster's, a right is "something to which one has a just claim."

In a nutshell, a human right is a type of property belonging to a human. A property right is a type of right belonging to a human. Essentially, they are different words expressing the same thought.

Joteyko did considerable research on handedness and found that exercise of the left hand and arm had a greater effect on heart action than does similar exercise of the right side. This result was true both for left-handed as well as right-handed people. So the far greater prevalence of right-handed folks may simply be an evidence of natural efficiency.

My dentist son, Dr. Daniel B. Crane, brought home a young female gibbon after his military stint in Southeast Asia. She always preferred her right hand, both for reaching for food and also for drinking. In the latter respect, she would close her right hand and then dip her knuckles into the liquid, after which she'd suck her knuckles to obtain the water, milk or soda pop that we gave her.

But another possibility may likewise predispose babies to the use of their right hand prior to birth. In the mother's womb, the baby is generally free to employ both hands till about the last month of pregnancy.

Then its head settles into the pelvis of its mother and in most cases, the left arm is not able to move as freely as the right. Since that right hand thus gains more use for possibly a month or two before the child is born, this may tip the scale in favor of right-handedness.

Quick Quiz
Q—What insect, fatal to both men and animals, is limited in range to Africa only?
A—The tsetse fly. It carries the parasites that cause African sleeping sickness.
Q—Do the colors of the stars have any significance?
A—Yes. Colors are indications of star temperatures and also tell how hot the elements make up the stars.
Q—What is meant by the term Gross National Product?
A—This is the value of all goods and services produced in a country during a given period.
Q—Do trees drink rainwater that falls on their leaves?
A—No, leaves are waterproof. Trees get their water from the ground.

I'm Taking Over This Herd —

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Dr. John B. Crane has been utphaw from birth. But tools and school chairs are usually designed for the right-handed, so he writes that way but still throws with his left hand. Note the theories of handedness outlined below. And marvel at that crack regiment of letters in Israel about 1,00y B.C.

CASE R-55: My brother John, former Harvard economist and now head of the Social Sciences Division at Iowa Wesleyan, is left handed. At a family gathering on my mother's 93rd birthday, he asked:

"What makes one person left handed while most others use their right hand by preference? Since none of our parents or grandparents was left handed, how does it happen that I am so unique in this respect?"

Southpaw Psychology
Such letters in baseball are popularly referred to as "Southpaw Pitchers." And hey often command a premium salary. Actually, this matter of handedness has puzzled scientists for ages.

Even before King Saul was anointed as the first king of Israel, about 1,000 B.C., the tribe of Benjamin numbered 26,000 men who drew the sword. "Among all this people," states the book of Judges 20:16, "there were 700 chosen men, left-handed; every one could sling stones at an hair breadth and not miss."

The actual percentage of lefties in our population has been estimated at about 5 percent, or one out of every 20. Some baseball lefties may be among ambidextrous and thus bat from either side of the plate, as was true of Mickey Mantle.

Joteyko did considerable research on handedness and found that exercise of the left hand and arm had a greater effect on heart action than does similar exercise of the right side. This result was true both for left-handed as well as right-handed people. So the far greater prevalence of right-handed folks may simply be an evidence of natural efficiency.

Even if there were no inborn tendency to employ the right hand, if it were used 100 times while the left was employed only 50 times, obviously the habit of reaching with the right hand would be fairly well entrenched.

Since musical instruments and school chairs are often designed for the right-handed, it is usually efficient to train the lefties accordingly. For example, my brother writes with his right hand but still throws with the left.

If this re-training is done tactfully and without angry cries of "no, no, the other hand!" then you need not fear that stuttering will follow!

H. L. Hunt Writes

MR. LINDSAY SWAPS

John Lindsay, the ultra-liberal mayor of New York City who once advocated making his town a city-state, has changed his political hat but not his stripes. He is now a Democrat, having jumped party lines by issuing a proclamation and simultaneously announcing his availability to run on the Donkey ticket for President. It is unlikely that the offer of this political turncoat will be accepted by the Democratic Party. The Democrats already had more than enough liberals from which to choose.

Mayor Lindsay is one of the foremost bleeding hearts in the country. He is footing the rent bills of relief recipients who live in big hotels. He has said that the only solution to acquire more money to be given away may be in the creation of a city-state which was an experiment in government that didn't work in the Dark Ages and is less likely to work now. While he pleads for help from outside sources the garbage piles higher and higher, criminals continue to attack citizens in daylight on public streets and the city goes deeper into the hole financially.

An all-out assault on the conventional Democratic Party process by the ultra-liberals has been exposed by columnists and constructive politicians who have been in the party fold for a long time. It would be a most desirable, but surprising development if those statesmen of the Democratic Party who tow the line of constructive politics got together at the convention next year and offered a platform and a ticket that stood four-square for the real principles of the great Republic. It is not too late for them to assert themselves, although time runs short as the nation flounders in the mire of foreign aid, deficit spending, second-rate power and welfare programs.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — A banner headline in the Athens newspaper regarded as the house organ of the Greek military dictatorship proclaimed on Aug. 16 that, no matter what Congress does on U.S. aid to Greece, Vice President Spiro Agnew had promised that "aid to Greece will continue."

That startling pronouncement was based on a private letter from Agnew, known to be extremely friendly to Prime Minister George Papadopoulos' ruling junta, to a pro-junta Greek-American with a Park Avenue address in Manhattan. The screaming headline in Nea Politia, the newspaper that reflects the junta's policy line as faithfully as Pravda reflects the Communist party line in Moscow, read this way: "Regardless of the opinion of the Senate, Agnew (says) aid to Greece will continue."

But in fact, the letter from Agnew's foreign policy adviser, Kent Crane, to Dr. Nicholas Destounis in Manhattan contained no pledge. Indeed, Agnew could not make such a pledge. The ban on aid to Greece passed the House by a vote of 122 to 57, but the Senate has not yet acted. Although the House contains a loophole permitting President Nixon to continue military aid, the Senate version might not.

The closest Agnew came to indicating a Nixon decision to continue aid in the face of a Congressional ban was this: "As you yourself underline," Crane wrote Destounis, "Greece offers strategic advantages to the NATO alliance and to the U.S. which are of the greatest importance to the security of the West. We believe that the resumption of these shipments (a year ago) increased the ability of the Greek armed forces to carry out their responsibilities for the defense of the NATO area."

That Aug. 16 letter jumped into page one headlines of Nea Politia exactly eight days later. Moreover, it appears that Agnew's office had no advance indication that Destounis planned to offer it for publication. As a result, Agnew intimates were scarcely pleased when they learned how the letter — and the Vice President — had been used.

Destounis is chairman of an outfit called "Justice for Greece" set up ostensibly to refute anti-junta political activity, both by Americans and Greek expatriates, in the U.S. It proclaims in one of its publicity handouts that its purpose is to show "displeasure with the elected U.S. officials who have championed the cause of 'so-called' Greek resistance leaders."

Thus, in another letter signed by Destounis, the Justice for Greece Committee wrote to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover on June 30 demanding that the FBI investigate former U.S. Sen. Charles Goodell. The letter claimed that Goodell was conspiring with expatriate Greek leaders of the pre-junta parliamentary regime to raise money for weapons to be sent to Greece to support an anti-junta uprising.

That letter was also published on page one of Nea Politia, with Hoover's name emblazoned in large headlines. Despite this apparent link between the Justice for Greece Committee and the Papadopoulos government, records of the U.S. Justice Department indicate that the Committee has never registered as a foreign agent.

Quite apart from predictable Congressional anger over the unscrupulous use made of Agnew's letter to Destounis, the affair has an even more insidious ramification. It provided a platform for Papadopoulos to make his Aug. 28 no-retreat speech against "premature" elections, a liquidation of martial law or invoking the 1968 constitution.

In short, having used the Agnew letter to claim that U.S. aid would continue despite Congressional opposition, Papadopoulos was obviously in a stronger position at home to proclaim his continuing refusal to hold elections despite official U.S. prodding. But he now may have estranged Agnew and, far more dangerous to himself, he may have alienated President Nixon, a man who does not like to have his hand forced.
