Nixon Likely To Make Peking Trip This Year

Visit Arrangements Reported Going Well

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says secret talks on his forthcoming trip to mainland China are "going very well" and he sees promise of a productive session in Peking.

Holding an unannounced news conference in his Oval Office Thursday, Nixon told reporters neither he nor Premier Chou En-lai is approaching the historic confrontation with "naive, sentimental" ideas.

The President, recognizing ideological differences and isolation of the two countries from each other for nearly a quarter century, said: "We have agreed to discuss the differences. That is all that has been agreed. There are no other conditions."

Nixon, apart from saying arrangements are going well, was cagey about acknowledging that American and mainland Chinese representatives are involved in planning his trip. He spoke only of talks about timing and agenda "that may be under consideration."

Another White House source said the American-Chinese arrangements are now being worked out. And while no one at the White House would say there has been increasing speculation that Nixon will journey to Peking this year.

The President's 38-minute news conference ranged over about a dozen topics, foreign and domestic, and included these highlights:

—The 90-day wage-price freeze will be followed by "a strong, effective follow-on program" that will seek to restrain labor and management in major industries and "vital important, it will have teeth in it."

—US policies in Vietnam will be unaffected by the scheduled Oct. 3 election in which President Nguyen Van Thieu is unopposed. While Nixon said the United States would have preferred a contested balloting, it must "keys its eye on the main objective and that is to end the American involvement just as soon as that is consistent with our overall goals, which is a South Vietnam able to defend itself against a Communist takeover and which includes, from our standpoint, our primary interest in obtaining the release of our POWs."

Nixon acknowledged a U.S. role in the 1963 assassination of South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem who died in a military takeover of the Saigon government.

"I would remind all concerned," Nixon said, "that the way we got into Vietnam was through overthrowing Diem and the way to get out of Vietnam in my opinion is not to overthrow Thieu..."

—Asked about a statement by Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, a potential 1972 Democratic challenger, that a national ticket that includes a black vice presidential candidate is not likely to be elected, Nixon said he would not talk politics at news conferences. But, he said, "It is very important for those of us in positions of leadership not to tell a large number of people in America, whoever they are, that because of the accident of their birth they don't have a chance to go to the top."

—The bloody Attica, N.Y., state prison revolt, "like all tragic events," said Nixon "has its affirmative aspects." He said it might spur prison reform, not only from the standpoint of the inmates, but from that of prison guards. He said he has been discussing the prison problem, "one that very much needs attention," with Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

—As for Nixon's quick and publicly pronounced support for the decision by New York's Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to use armed force to suppress the revolt, the President said: "When a man is in a hard place and makes a hard decision and steps up to it, I back him up and I don't try to second-guess him. The next day when some of the other returns come in, I still back him."

On foreign affairs, Nixon acknowledged that the United States, by supporting admission of mainland China to the United Nations, assumes Peking would supplant the Nationalist Chinese capital of Taipei on the Security Council.

Assistant Police Chief Attends Amarillo Forum

Assistant Police Chief George Wallace and Texas Ranger Bill Baten attended a forum yesterday at Amarillo sponsored by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

According to Jim Conner, Pampa police chief, the meeting was a routine orientation affair to bring area law enforcement personnel abreast current developments in the field.

SEN. GOLDWATER

REP. BOB PRICE

$50-A-PLATE Fund-Raising Feast For Price Tomorrow

With the appearance of Sen Barry Goldwater in Amarillo Saturday night, Republicans of the eighteenth congressional district are pulling out all the stops for the prelude to efforts to re-elect Bob Price to congress in 1972.

The Arizona senator will be the featured speaker at a $50-a-plate fund-raising feast for Price's coming campaign. Billed as a salute to Price, the affair will be at the Amarillo Civic Center beginning with a reception at 6 p.m.

Sen. Goldwater assured constituents of the Pampa rancher - cum - congressman that every cent of the money garnered will go to Price's campaign fund. The one-time Republican nominee for the presidency billed his address as a combination of political realities and comments on the world situation.

Backers of the Panhandle's Republican congressmen say the early start on financing for the re-election campaign is necessary because of the attitude of Price's potential opponent. Their allegation is that this man has offered himself to the highest bidder in deciding the district in which he might run for office.

Despite the disparity in their ages and years of political service, there is a parallel in the men, Goldwater and Price. Both are of basically the same political persuasion within their

Reporter Takes A Post-Look At Attica Prison

By BRIAN B. KING Associated Press Writer ATTICA, N.Y. (AP) — The army trucks and most of the litter are gone from the manicured lawn just inside the main gate of Attica State Prison, hit first by rioting inmates eight days ago and then by hundreds of police assault troops on Monday.

A limited look at the facility Thursday showed that only the surface had been repaired and cleaned.

Larger pieces of paper had been removed from the lawn which is banked with bright flowers. But the grass did not hide the thousands of cigarette butts and smaller bits of broken plastic foam cups.

The only other visible evidence of what happened here, now that almost all the state policemen have left, is the soot above the windows of the school building that was burned.

The sidewalks were swept, an inmate was trimming the hedges. Guards watched from a wooden hut near the side wire fences, a small American flag fastened to the shack's window-sill.

Godman Resigns As Inn Manager

George Scott, president of the Community Hotel Co. of Pampa, announced today the resignation of Roy Godman as manager of the Coronado Inn, effective yesterday.

Godman had been manager of the Coronado Inn since February of this year. He came to Pampa from Amarillo where he was employed by the Villa Inn.

Scott will assume the duties of acting manager of the Coronado until a permanent manager is selected.

The Coronado Inn went into operation here in 1960 and has served as the center of many community activities during the past 11 years.

Approximately 1,300 stockholders made possible the construction of the inn through a community campaign held in 1956.

Broom Sales Set Record

Members of Pampa's noon and evening Lions Clubs working in concert established an all-time state record for broom sales in the annual campaign to raise funds for the School for the Blind.

Some $7,800 has been counted and tabulation is not yet complete for the three day sales campaign. Charles Cooley was chairman of the effort this year.

A part of the receipts remain with the local clubs to be used for eyeglasses for underprivileged school children and to help maintain the Lions camp at Kerrville for blind and underprivileged youngsters.

SUMMER GONE? — Young Tony Tristan, 5, and his two-year-old sister, Benita were bundled up in winter fashion when they went out this forenoon to play in the driveway of their home. The temperature was 45 degrees — a far cry from the 90 degree temperature of a few days ago. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rogers, 1221 Darby. (Staff Photo)

FEELS LIKE FALL Morning Rains Drop Pampa Temperature

A couple of early morning thunderstorms brought 1.20 inches of rainfall to Pampa along with the season's lowest temperature reading of 45 degrees.

The first storm broke about 3 a.m., followed by a second downpour two hours later.

The 3 o'clock rainfall also was mixed with fine hail or sleet which piled tiny snow-like drifts in isolated corners. The rains were general over the Texas panhandle.

The morning precipitation boosted Pampa's total for the year to more than 14 inches.

The weather forecasters said more thundershowers could be expected today and tonight along with continued below normal temperatures.

The 45-degree reading around 6 a.m. caused residents to turn on heating systems to take off the chill. Children were sent to school bundled in coats and sweaters.

The thermometer reading still stood at 45 degrees at 10 o'clock this forenoon. At noon the temperature was 46.

Skies were completely overcast and the cloud cover was expected to continue through tonight.

Light rain began falling again late this forenoon. The temperature was not expected to get out of the 50s this afternoon.

The forecast called for a 60 per cent chance of more rain today, tonight and Saturday.

Dr. Billy Graham To Open Crusade Tonight In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Dr. Billy Graham opens his Greater Southwest Crusade at Texas Stadium tonight and will speak on the controversial rock opera, "Jesus Christ, Superstar."

"Most preachers have probably had their say on the ... opera, so I'm going to make some observations, then preach the gospel," Dr. Graham said.

The massive semidomed stadium was built as a home for the Dallas Cowboys football team. Dr. Graham's Crusade precedes any football game on the unfinished facilities in suburban Irving.

Crusade services will be held each night through Sept. 26, except for day services on Sundays.

Texas Railroad Right-Of-Ways, Riverbeds Reopened To Public

Riverbeds and railroad right-of-ways in Texas are now reopened to public use after Texas Attorney General Crawford Martin overruled a Parks and Wildlife decision of June 4 to close the areas to public hunting except for migratory waterfowl.

The announcement came after the Canadian River Sportsmen's Association (CRSA) started a campaign immediately following the P&W decision in June.

According to Martin, "The Parks and Wildlife Department has no authority to ban hunting in state-owned river beds nor may it turn the river-beds into state-operated wildlife refuges with controlled hunting."

"The Parks and Wildlife Department has only such authority as is granted to it by statute. A search of the Texas statutes fails to reveal the existence of any law authorizing the Parks and Wildlife Department to declare state lands to be game refuges," Martin said.

Martin's announcement included, "the only state-owned lands which the Parks and Wildlife Department might declare a game refuge are state-owned lands dedicated to the use of the Parks and Wildlife Department." Continuing along this line of thought he added: "A search of the Texas are pending.

statutes does not reveal any authority for the Parks and Wildlife Department to adopt hunter safety rules and regulations that would prohibit hunting altogether on state land."

A Parks and Wildlife decision on the Attorney General's announcement is pending a September meeting which tentatively is scheduled for Sept. 28.

It is not known at this time if the meeting will be held due to recent legislation expanding the Parks and Wildlife Commission from three to six commissioners. Gov. Preston Smith has not appointed an additional three men to fill the openings on the P&W Commission.

It is expected by the CRSA, according to Doyle Doggett, Pampa's representative on the CRSA, that the P&W Department will abide by the Attorney General's decision.

HEW Decides Not To Prosecute School Districts Opposing Busing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has succeeded in negotiating voluntary desegregation plans with fewer than half the 80 Southern and border-state school districts on a tentative target list for further integration this fall.

While gaining desegregation assurances from 34 of the small-to-middle-sized districts, HEW has dropped cases against nine school systems with remaining majority-black schools. Department civil-rights officials said action probably will not be pressed against what was termed a good many of the 37 districts whose cases are pending.

The HEW officials acknowledged that one factor in deciding not to prosecute some districts is the long-distance busing required to integrate the remaining schools with racial imbalances.

But they said President Nixon's statement last month supporting only the minimum busing required by law had a negligible impact on their negotiating policy and the response of school districts. "We've been able to find only one district that refused to go ahead with a desegregation plan on grounds they required a clarification of the President's statement," said one high official.

Northern Communities Will Face Pressure To Desegregate Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — Saying only the South is making real progress toward desegregation, a member of the Seattle School Board predicts northern communities will face increasing pressure from the federal government to desegregate their schools.

Writing in the September issue of the American School Board Journal, David E. Wagoner said the nation's public schools "are more racially segregated today than they were 17 years ago," when the Supreme Court handed down its historic decision barring "separate but equal" schools for whites and blacks.

"Only the South is making real improvement," Wagoner said. "Outside the South, the picture is grim. Eighteen city school systems no longer have a white majority. These include some of our largest cities—New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Cleveland, Detroit and Los Angeles."

Wagoner cited a district court's decision ordering San Francisco's school board to take affirmative action after holding there was "historical evidence of de jure segregation from acts and omissions of the board."

Efforts of state legislatures to enact legislation that would prevent school boards from acting have been knocked down by the courts, Wagoner said.

"State leaders have major responsibilities," he said. "They must avoid the temptation to pass legislation that attempts to interfere with a local board's efforts to work out the problem."

Wagoner said that there must be legislation to permit and even encourage cooperation across school district boundary lines.

"It is a shocking fact that most big city schools are going downhill and at a rapid pace," Wagoner continued. "The common pattern is that the white middle class is leaving city schools for the suburbs, that there is a rapid growth in the disadvantaged enrollment of city schools . . . and . . . achievement levels appear to be declining."

Farm Panel Wants Government To Help Cut 1972 Grain Production

WASHINGTON (AP) — A panel of farm and industry advisers wants the Nixon administration to help cut grain production in 1972 without returning to the tougher controls of yesteryear.

The view came during two days of meetings between the National Advisory Committee on Weight, Feed Grain and Soy Beans and top Agriculture Department officials.

Asst. Secretary of Agriculture Clarence D. Palmbly told newsmen Thursday committee members expressed concern over a variety of problems, including dock strikes and the rising stockpile of U.S. grain.

But the advisers, whose recommendations will be considered when the USDA writes its feed grains program for 1972, stuck by the "set-aside" concept of the Agricultural Act of 1970.

"This group did not recommend we go the control route, commodity by commodity," Palmbly said.

That was a reference to older programs which set individual farm acreage allotments "each year on specific crops."

Palmbly said the group agreed 1972 feed grain production be held to no more than what will be required by U.S. livestock feeders and exporters in the following season.

Similar concerns were expressed for wheat. Both feed grains, led by corn, are expected to set new production records this year, thus adding to a surplus.

State High Court Issues Guidelines For Writing Reapportionment Bills

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court explained Thursday why it held the 1971 House redistricting plan unconstitutional and issued four guidelines for writing future reapportionment bills.

Associate Justice Tom Reavley wrote the opinion giving the reasons for the court's unanimous ruling from the bench Sept. 9 that the measure violated the Texas Constitution.

In effect, Reavley said the legislature should make every effort to comply with the state constitution's prohibition against dividing counties while still obeying the U. S. Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" requirement.

The decision did not touch on the crucial issue of who now must write a constitutional House redistricting plan, the legislature in a special session or the five-man Legislative Redistricting Board.

The high court has scheduled a Sept. 23 hearing on that question.

Texas' Constitution requires that counties be kept intact when used as building blocks for legislative districts, with very few exceptions.

Reavley wrote that Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin's staff failed to justify the legislature's cutting county lines 33 times when it carved House districts in May.

The attorney general "offered no evidence to establish that the wholesale cutting of county lines . . . was either required or justified to comply with the one man, one vote decisions," Reavley wrote.

The ruling was in a suit filed by Republican Rep. Tom Cradick of Midland and the Texas GOP. Midland County was split between two House districts, one running east to Abilene, the other south and west to the Rio Grande. The court upheld a decision by Austin District Judge Herman Jones that the bill was unconstitutional.

The court rejected Martin's suggestion that it declare the county line rule invalid because it conflicted with the one man, one vote standard.

"We understand some of the difficulties of every undertaking to redistrict this state. However, the court may not abrogate any provision of the constitution for the sake of simplicity. The federal requirement of equal representation clearly has not nullified Section 26 of Article III in its entirety. Then certainly this court may not choose to do so," Reavley wrote.

Critics of the bill contend many counties were divided merely to create districts that would assure the defeat of some of House Speaker Gus Mutscher's political enemies in 1972.

The court laid down these guidelines for future House redistricting plans:

—In general, a county without enough people to justify having its own representative must be joined intact to the neighboring counties to make a house district of sufficient population. However, a county may be split "if to do so is necessary in order to comply with the equal population requirement . . ."

—"If the population of the county is slightly under or over the ideal population figure, the state constitution requires that the county constitute a separate district."

—"A county's surplus population—over that needed to justify one or more representatives within that county alone—can be split off and attached to a neighboring county to form a district."

—"It is still required that a county receive the member or members to which that county's own population is entitled when the ideal district population is substantially equalled or is exceeded."

—"The population of the county is slightly under or over the ideal population figure, the state constitution requires that the county constitute a separate district."

—"A county's surplus population—over that needed to justify one or more representatives within that county alone—can be split off and attached to a neighboring county to form a district."

—"It is still required that a county receive the member or members to which that county's own population is entitled when the ideal district population is substantially equalled or is exceeded."

Texas Republican Leaders To Meet

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Republican Leaders meet Saturday and Sunday to review party revitalization plans and discuss a new move for a GOP gubernatorial candidate in 1972.

"We've got a lot of things on our agenda," said James R. Kane, executive director, "but I'm sure a lot of talk will be about the 'draft Fred Agnich for governor' movement."

Mrs. Richard Sowell, McAllen, a deputy state chairman, said Thursday she is sponsoring a movement to draft Agnich, a first term state representative from Dallas, for the GOP gubernatorial race, and asked the party leaders to discuss the move with her at the state meeting.

State deputies, which represent different regions of the state, will hold an executive session Saturday afternoon to go over 1972 campaign plan, mainly a candidate financing program.

Sunday at noon an open session of the full GOP State Committee will be held, with talks Sen. John Tower, R-Tex; Mrs. Ann Tobin Armstrong, national GOP co-chairman; national state GOP committeewoman and Peter O'Donnell, Dallas, national GOP committeeman. A closed session also on finances will follow.

BATTIN' AROUND

Colorado Studying Tourism Potential

By C.R. BATTEN

The mountainous areas of Colorado and those of Switzerland have a great deal in common. Both have all the attributes that make mountains attractive to the recreationist seeking relief from the pressures of workday life. As Colorado is a favorite playground of Texans and residents of other plains states, so Switzerland is a favorite playground of Europe.

Those persons in both regions who are involved in the tourist and recreation industry are concerned as to how they can meet the future demands of apparently ever more affluent populations with more and more leisure time on their hands.

Colorado has about 6 million visitors a year in its mountain area of 26,000,000 acres. But in 1965, Switzerland had 14,500,000 visitors in a mountain area of about 5,000,000 acres. They hosted those visitors without damaging the recreation resource, and without detracting from the enjoyment of the visitors.

This information was brought to us by Phyllis T. Thompson in her study on The Use of Mountain Recreational Resources: A Comparison of Recreation and Tourism in the Colorado Rockies and the Swiss Alps. It was recently published by the Business Research Division, Graduate School of Business Administration of the University of Colorado.

The author is a member of the faculty of the Department of Geography of the State University College of Arts and Science, Geneseo, New York. She spent a year in Switzerland, studying the structure and current problems in the recreation development of that country's mountain resources.

Professor Thompson suggests that Colorado might eventually be able to successfully accommodate 75,000,000 visitors, if the tourist industry is able to develop as efficiently as that in Switzerland. She has some recommendations that would be worth consideration by the tourist industry of any mountainous state. But many suggestions seem confused and uncertain.

The author concludes that "improvement of Colorado's position in recreation and tourism rests on a three-point foundation: better use of present facilities, the provision of new facilities, and the creation of an institutional framework that will be able to deal efficiently with present and future problems."

Switzerland, of course, has a much greater population density than Colorado, but it is interesting to note that the highway density is about the same as Colorado's. An important part of Switzerland's transportation system is the 3,000 miles of railroad track and more than 146 aerial cableways, many of which operate winter and summer. Such modes of transportation are important in her resort areas.

But Professor Thompson runs head-on into the environmentalists when she recommends a vastly increased year-round highway network for Colorado. She is correct in that such a network, coupled with better information systems, will serve to disperse the tourists over a greater area and to relieve congestion in the most popular areas.

But nowhere does she suggest that perhaps we should look into alternative methods of transportation. Such methods will be difficult to develop, and the experience of our railroads and buslines certainly discourages any such endeavor — but if alternative forms of transportation can be made as efficient as the automobile in transporting people, they will be used. Perhaps the best way to get such forms started is simply to stop building more public highways.

The author has listed the large areas of public lands among the advantages of Colorado in developing new recreation and tourist facilities — yet, in several other instances, she reveals various problems which have their origin in the confinement and lack of flexibility of large public ownership.

She recognizes the inherent conflicts of recreation with various other uses of the same public lands, but simply shrugs it off by saying that "the angrier lies in properly weighing recreational values so that the use of resources is fairly divided among competing groups." She does not recognize that such a procedure will fail to meet the needs of any group, but that allowing the various uses to compete for private lands on the open market is a means of eliminating such conflicts.

Though many questions have been left unanswered by this study of the tourist industry, as in any such effort, it is a worthwhile contribution toward the better understanding of an important subject.

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The 16 bases of the Air Training Command have spent 41 per cent of their procurement funds — almost $1 billion — with small businesses this fiscal year.

The command, headquartered at Randolph Air Force Base, has installations stretching from Georgia to Texas to California. Small business specialists are located at each base to see that a fair share of the Air Force expenditures goes to small business industries.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — This city gets its name from a rock that juts from the bank of the Arkansas river near the downtown area. It marked the spot where a ferry transported passengers across the river during frontier times.

NEW YORK (AP) — A trio of new series were dropped into the network channels Wednesday night. None seems destined to make history and at least one of the several big-name film stars moving from large to small screen may find the transition much tougher than anticipated.

Police Lt. Columbo, played by Peter Falk in one of the three rotating series that make up NBC's "Mystery Movie," has appeared already in a couple of the network's "World Premiere" features. "Columbo's" gimmick is to permit the viewers to see the crime committed, know the identity of the culprit and then watch the superleuth move in for the solution.

Falk's cigar-chomping, rumpled detective apparently uses a grubby raincoat for a security blanket, wearing it even when whipping up an omelet for a bereaved widow.

In the premiere, one member of a mystery writing team, faced with the breakup of their collaboration, has followed a careful plan to murder his partner.

It was a well-produced, generally entertaining 90 minutes. Another diamond-in-the-rough hero making his series bow was Anthony Quinn, playing the Chicanos mayor of a large city in the Southwest. ABC's "The Man and the City" focuses on an overworked, dedicated official willing to drop his regular chores any time his emotions are aroused by a human dilemma.

UT Gets Population Research Grant

AUSTIN (AP) — The population Research Center of the University of Texas has received a $305,000, five-year federal grant designed to speed progress in research on population problems.

Only two other centers received the initial grants in the program: Vanderbilt University School of Medicine and the population Council of New York. The UT grant will encourage more research on population problems by providing "core support" in the areas of manpower and materials, the source said.

Specifically, the grants will allow the Austin center to hire, in addition to its present staff, a computer programmer, a librarian, a statistical clerk, a secretary and three graduate research assistants.

In addition, the funds will provide for other expenses:

Rural Highways Had 27 Mishaps During August

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 27 accidents on rural highways in Gray County during the month of August, according to Sergeant J.L. Dalrymple, Highway Patrol Supervisor of the Pampa area.

The crashes resulted in three persons killed and 17 injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for Gray county during the first eight months of 1971 shows a total of 142 accidents resulting in five persons killed and 71 injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for the 60 counties of the Lubbock Department of Public Safety Region for August, 1971, shows a total of 581 accidents resulting in 25 persons killed and 400 injured. This was 17 more accidents, 13 fewer fatalities, and 76 more injured than during July.

The 25 traffic deaths for the month of August, 1971, occurred in the following counties: Wise, five; Gray and Potter, three each; Garza, Hale, and Carson two each; Baylor, Crosby, Montague, Parker, Briscoe, Castro, Randall, and Roberts, one each.

More Than 17.5 Million Persons Have Visited 'The Six Flags' Park In 10 Years

Editor's Note: Amusement and recreation are part of the leisure time explosion. Americans are joying everywhere. Fun time nowadays include the whole family. And it's big business for a whole new "family" of businessmen operating theme parks in several states.

By JIM BRIGANCE
Associated Press Writer
ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — The smiles of patrons waiting outside the gates of Six Flags Over Texas could be no brighter than those of management in the main office.

In 10 years, Great Southwest Corp. has taken its theme park concept into three states.

Six Flags Over Texas celebrated its 10th birthday in August and there are now Six Flags parks in Georgia and Missouri.

The formula is wholesome fun, clean-cut and youthful employees with welcome smiles, and mini-patrons are called.

The Six Flags story has been one of growing success, best expressed, says management, by a newspaper ad recently which solicited: "Wanted, young singers and musicians for auditions... Six Flags type preferred." "They are our personality," says James K. Jones, executive vice president. "The parks can be freshly painted, perfectly landscaped and ready for opening, but they just aren't Six Flags until you add the hosts and hostesses."

Six Flags Over Georgia, near Atlanta, has met with high public approval since it opened in 1967. Great Southwest Corp. management says Six Flags Over Mid-America, opened last June near St. Louis, shows promise of meeting the success of its sister parks.

Cattle once grazed the banks of Johnson Creek on the Waggoner DDD Ranch where Six Flags was born.

Great Southwest Corp. not only preserved the acreage but dressed it up with tile and stucco from Mexico and Spain, complete woodmill from New York, rides from Europe, shops, entertainment shows, lighting displays, air conditioning, lakes, waterfalls and countless other attractions.

The park's name came from history—the six flags which at different times flew over Texas. They were the flags of Spain, France, Mexico, the Republic of Texas, the Confederacy and the United States.

"Six Flags over Texas has been consistently profitable since it first opened," said Victor Palmieri, president of GSW. "The American public has enjoyed amusement parks for well over 100 years and, today, there are 900 parks and fairs across the nation. It is projected within the industry that, counting repeat visitors, these parks will play host to over two million visitors who will spend between $400 million and $500 million at the parks in 1971.

"But," he continued, "since 1955 more and more of those dollars are being spent in theme parks. A theme park is best described as an entertainment center designed for the whole family, built around a unifying idea, with well-regulated policies, price structures and supervision carried out by a single company or management."

Palmieri said there are about 30 key theme parks in the U.S. expected to attract 30 million customers or 15 per cent of the total market.

He said these 30 million people will spend about $200 million at the theme parks, or 40 per cent of the total amusement park business.

In 10 years, more than 17.5 million persons have visited the Six Flags park here.

Great Southwest officials credit much of their success with the public to the image created and fostered by the young people who staff the parks.

Most are high school or college students. More than 9,000 of them applied this year for the 1,500 available jobs at Six Flags over Texas.

Applicants are interviewed and judged on the basis of their appearance, personality and apparent leadership qualities.

Dressed in bright costumes, they play host at the rides, maintain cleanliness around the park and staff the park's various shops and restaurants.

For youths, a fresh haircut, is a must.

Computer Device Helps To Prevent Air Pollution

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A computer system linked to super-sensitive "sniffers" is helping improve air quality for residents of this West Texas city.

The computer, installed at a nearby American Smelting and Refining Co. smelter, determines how much sulphur dioxide—a by-product gas created during copper and lead smelting—is reaching ground level.

When the computer projects sulphur dioxide concentrations approaching air quality control limits, a company spokesman said, smelter operations are curtailed or stopped.

Each of the 18 sensors placed around El Paso—some of them in residents' back yards and garages—works as a super-sensitive "sniffer" detecting concentrations of sulphur dioxide as small as one part in 20 million, the spokesman said.

Readings from the sensing units are transmitted electronically to an IBM 1300 data and analysis system, which converts the readings into sulphur dioxide reports for company meteorologists.

"For years, we've been trying to reach the point where we could act to prevent pollution rather than react after it build up," said W. R. Kelly, the company's plant manager. "The computer can give us that ability."

Kelly said the next step in the company's plan to improve air quality in El Paso also will be centered around the IBM computer.

PAMPA DAILY NEWS PAMPA, TEXAS 1961 21 September 1961

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The letters from people who are hard of hearing interested me because my mother has had that problem for years. Now she wears the strongest hearing aid she can get.

I wonder how many of your readers know about a small piece of equipment the telephone company can attach to the telephone receiver to amplify the sound? We put one on my mother's telephone two years ago and it has been a godsend.

She can push a little button with her thumb and raise the volume of the caller's voice. There was a small installation charge and only $1 added to her telephone bill each month.

I can't understand why the telephone company doesn't advertise this item as it would be such a tremendous help to so many. Perhaps if you print this, others will inquire. It would be a kindness.

LUBBOCK, TEX.

DEAR LUBBOCK: Now if Ma Bell would just come up with a gadget that would signal those nonstop talkers to say good-bye.

DEAR ABBY: This morning's paper had a cartoon of a man at a bar being asked how he would like to have dinner with a lonely woman. He jumped at the offer only to have the gal suggest that he go home to his wife! I wonder how many other wives identified with that funny-sad situation.

I have been married 17 years, and for the last 15 years I have been "lonely" six nights a week. My husband was once named in a divorce action, and when I went to see what this woman was like, she cried, "— but Mrs. —, I was lonely." This from a thrice-married woman!

My six children have never known it was like to have their father at school functions or home for their birthdays. My brother who is a lawyer told me five years ago to leave him. I wouldn't dare. Who would support us?

All the children go to Catholic schools and on Sunday when he is around, he gets them all together and walks around the convent for the nuns to see him, so they can tell me what a "wonderful" father my husband is!

He goes on binges for a week at a time, and comes home for a shower and change of clothes. Have you a solution?

LONG PAST CARING

DEAR LONG: If you can't change him, I think your brother's advice is pretty sound.

Your Horoscope

SATURDAY, SEPT. 16

Your birthday today: All trends and pressures in the upcoming year are toward simplification of your daily life. A program should be devised for clearing off bad habits, disposing of material possessions which no longer contribute to your welfare and progress. Today's natives serve their world gently with sympathy.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): A swarm of helpful friends and acquaintances arrive. Suspend actions which will not stand their getting mixed in; enjoy doing other things together.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Clear off bothersome items first; leave some time and space available for the unexpected.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Begin early with serious concern over what you would like to bring about. Pace your efforts to avoid both rush and fatigue, and to reconsider important details.

CANCER (June 21-July 21): Sometimes you must foot your own horn but this isn't such a time. Trading compliments adds ver little help, either.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22): Practical jokes are out of fashion but still occur; at scattered times and places. It pays to treat everything that happens as entertainment and a learning process.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Explore all social encounters seeking clues to your lasting romantic and sentimental concerns and riddles.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23): A charm to improve earnings pops up suddenly. You have little time for consideration—take it or leave it. Your normal chores and duties must carry on as usual too.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23): Put in your own ideas forthrightly, with some consideration of the context and other peoples' schemes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24-Dec. 23): Use your best search patterns to find workable ventures. Realize you may be idealizing others. Get an outside opinion.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24-Jan. 19): Much, if not most, of what comes to you now comes from sources beyond your reach or control. Be consistent and willing to work around imposed limitations.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Family demands, the needs of your neighborhood and community tend to override other interests. Something has to yield.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Either your immediate environment changes abruptly and for the better, or your reaction to it develops a definite pattern and fresh direction with equivalent result.

FOOD NUTRITION—In addition to convenience, foods should also be chosen for their nutritive value, remind Extension home economists. Foods represented in the four food groups become the basis for well-balanced meals and the foundation for good health.

The Weekly Message of Inspiration...

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

By JOHN FRAZIER
CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

PEACE IN TROUBLED TIMES

The prophet Isaiah said "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in the Lord." Isa. 26:3. God did not plan that one should just always live with his problems and never find relief.

Man will always have problems, as long as he is around, but we must be careful that we don't become victims of our own circumstances. Some people have problems, because they enjoy them.

Our greatest need is to stop long enough to listen unto God. We are in a very fast moving day and age, and it is up to us to do as the Psalmist said "Be still and know that I am God."

Many times people suffer from emotional stress because they fail to look at the solution to their problem, our solution is to keep our mind on Christ. The problems that cause stress we must commit them unto the Lord. Psalms 37-5.

Another area of stress is the spiritual life. Many are very uncertain about their relationship with Christ. In order to clarify this problem we must first go to the very beginning. Confess to the Lord that you're a sinner, and then ask for His forgiveness and then accept His forgiveness. 1 John 1-9.

"I will keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on the Lord." Isa. 26-3

Padres Halt Dodgers As Norman Pitches 7 Hitter

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Dodgers had defeated the Padres nine straight times before losing two crucial games of their two-game series at Dodger Stadium.

Norman, a former Dodger, earned only his third victory against 12 losses this season and defeated Los Angeles for the first time after losing four times previously.

He was in trouble several times but the only run he surrendered came in the fifth when Willie Davis singled home losing pitcher Doyle Alexander, 6-6, who had led off the inning with a single.

San Diego had taken a 1-0 lead in the second when Leron Lee singled and scored on a double by Stahl.

The Dodgers tied the game in the fifth but Colbert's homer in the sixth, his 25th of the year and fifth against Los Angeles, broke tie. Stahl hit his homer in the seventh, his seventh of the season and second in as many nights, and Jeter hit his in the eighth off of reliever Jose Pena. It was Jeter's first of the season.

Norman had control trouble in the first inning when he hit Bobby Valentine with a pitch and walked Davis with one out. But Richie Allen popped up and Manny Mota bounced out.

The Dodgers had two runners aboard in the fourth, but weren't able to cash them in. Mota singled with one out, and after Wes Parker filed out, Steve Garvey walked, Duke Sims then lined out to Stahl in right field.

After San Diego went ahead 1-0 in the second, the Padres threatened again in the fifth when Bob Barton and Norman singled with two out. But Alexander got out of the jam by inducing Enzo Hernandez to bounce out.

1950 Buffs Plan Reunion At West Tex.

CANYON—The 1950 West Texas State Football team, which is the only squad in the school's history to win as many as 10 games, will gather at noon Saturday in the University's East Cafeteria.

The West Texas State Students Association, Inc., decided to host the event Sunday in honor of Gene Mayfield's return to his old school as head football coach.

Mayfield's Buffaloes open their home season at 8 p.m. that evening in Buffalo Bowl against Lamar University.

Mayfield quarterbacked that 1950 club to a 10-1 record and a victory in the Sun Bowl over the University of Cincinnati.

The team will be introduced at halftime of the Lamar game.

Orioles Batter Yanks 6 To 2 In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — Brooks Robinson blasted a grand slam home run in the eighth inning, powering the Baltimore Orioles to a 6-2 triumph over the New York Yankees Thursday night.

The triumph curbed a three-game losing streak and reduced the Orioles' "magic number" to eight for a clinching of the American League Eastern Division pennant.

Robinson's wallop, his 18th homer of the year, followed a single by Paul Blair, a walk to Dave Johnson and a bloop single by Frank Robinson. It was his second grand slam of the year.

New York starter Mike Kekich was kayoed after the first two men reached base. Reliever Roger Hambrick then gave up Frank Robinson's single before Brooks Robinson delivered the game-winner.

The Yankees had a 2-0 lead built on run-scoring singles by Bobby Murcer and Ron Blomberg in the first before Baltimore and another by Andy Etchebarren tied it on a home run by Frank Robinson in the second run in the seventh.

Odessa Will Play Host To Fighting Harvesters

By RICKEY WRIGHT
STAFF WRITER

Odessa High will host our fighting Harvesters in Odessa Saturday night at eight. The Harvesters will start off today at 5 p.m., spend the night in Brownfield and continue on to Odessa. After the game they will spend the night there and start homeward Sunday.

They will climax their trek by facing a big Odessa squad with the line averaging about 6'2" and weighing in at approximately 294 pounds.

Odessa also has a couple of large backs. They sport a fullback who stands 6'2" and weighs in at 210 pounds and a tailback who sets the scales at 160 pounds.

Rogers missing only a little practice."

"We seem to be catching on to Odessa's offense and defense with yesterday being the last day of hitting practice before the game," commented Lee.

The starting line up will be the same as last week's with the exception of Billy Lemons, Randy Stephens, Darrell Nipp, and Marvin Elam. Lemons will be starting at both offensive tight end and defensive tackle. Randy Stephens will be alternating with John Roth at defensive cornerback, as Lee said, "This situation is to the point that I would just as soon play one as the other. They will probably alternate, because that way we keep fresh people on the field."

Coach Lee continued to say, "Marvin Elam has been moved to second string offensive guard. He is doing a good job. All of these boys will see a lot of action."

The team captains tomorrow night will be; Norman Wilshire scout teamer and defensive end, Larry Knutson tight end and Tibby Rogers guard.

Bowhunting Season Opens In Aransas National Refuge

AUSTWELL — Deer, javelina and wild hogs will be fair game for bowhunters during the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge archery season Sept. 17-30, according to Charles Ward, public use specialist at the refuge.

Ward said the gate to the refuge will open to hunters at noon, Sept. 17. All hunters must be out by 9 p.m. After the opening day, the refuge will be open at 5 a.m. each day of the hunt.

All archers who show up will be allowed to hunt on designated portions of the refuge as long as they hold a valid Texas hunting license.

The standard fee of $1 per car will be charged, an information leaflet will be provided and a deer tag will be issued each hunter entering the refuge.

Razorbacks Defeat Amarillo Christian

Robert E. Lee Junior High School Razorbacks defeated Amarillo Christian with a score of 14 to 0.

All of the scoring came in the third quarter. Amarillo met the stiff Razorback defense and could only manage to slip one first down past them in the game.

On defense there were four fumble recoveries and two pass interceptions by the Razorbacks.

Offensive standouts were Stanley Palmer at fullback and James Hoskins on the interior line. Palmer garners the hero's laurels by scoring both of Lee's touchdowns. The first came in the opening two minutes of the third quarter when Palmer went up and over the Christian guard.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission had provided the framework for the early hunt by allowing a three-deer season for the Blackjack Peninsula in Aransas County from Sept. 1 through Sept. 30 as listed in the Texas Hunting Guide. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service which administers the refuge, however, set the Sept. 17-30 dates of the hunt and established the one-deer limit.

Ward says there are plenty of deer on the refuge, and they appear to be in good shape. Mosquitoes, which plagued hunters unmercifully last year, are bothersome but aren't expected to be as numerous as last year since there is not as much standing water.

Houston Pitcher Welcomed To NL

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Houston's giant 6-foot-8 rookie pitcher James Rodney Richard was welcomed to the National League Thursday night.

In two previous games it had been the opposite as Richard had hurled two straight victories. But Richard lost his first game Thursday night as the Atlanta Braves tagged the Astros 4-3 for their third straight loss.

Palmer's second TD came on a similar play only this time from 30 yards out in the closing seconds of the third quarter.

Hoskins is sharing top honors with Palmer because of his stand out blocking efforts against the Amarillo team.

The Razorbacks will be meeting Pampa Junior High at 4 p.m. on Robert E. Lee Field next Thursday.

Pampa Junior High has defeated the Wolverines of Robert E. Lee 20 to nothing so the Razorbacks will be trying to avenge their sister team's loss.

Camping will not be permitted in the refuge, but there should be sufficient camping just outside the gate along the road right-of-way.

More information about the hunt may be obtained by writing the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge, P.O. Box 68, Austwell, Texas 77950.

State Saltwater Fish Records Established

AUSTIN — A record year, literally, is shaping up for fishermen along the Texas Gulf Coast.

Two new saltwater records have been established by the Texas Game Fish Records Committee of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department — a spadefish seven pounds, 12 ounces, caught July 7 out of Port O'Connor by Durrell Hyatt of Austin, and a 33-pound barracuda caught by D.W. Broadie of Fort Worth on June 6 at the whistling buoy off Port Aransas.

Both categories were open and both fish far exceeded the minimum entry weight, one pound for spadefish and 20 pounds for barracuda. Broadie's cuda measured 54 inches in length and the spadefish caught by Hyatt was 18 1/2 inches long with a girth of 23 1/4 inches.

And a real heavyweight contest began in July. First, Dale E. Whitehill of the Corpus Christi Shark Association caught a 375-pound tiger shark off the Port Isabel jetties. Three weekends later, Norman J. Bateman, president of the same shark club, also caught a tiger shark, this one 531 3/4 pounds. Both were verified with documents and photographs.

In the meantime, however, a Texas City angler wrote to ask the committee if his 760-pound tiger shark might "come close to a state record." Proof of weight and newspaper clippings he then sent to Austin identified Ken Higginbotham as the tentative, if temporary, tiger shark champ. He caught the monster July 3 at the Galveston jetties on 130-pound test line. It measured 12 feet, 1 inch, with a girth of 69 1/2 inches.

The shark goes into the state record book as soon as either the jaws or a tooth can be used to positively identify the species.

He'll activate Beck before Sunday's opener and one player currently on the active list will go off.

The Oilers put receiver Mac Haak, running backs Roy Hopkins and Willie Armstrong and receiver Macon Hughes on the injured reserve list along with starting guard Elbert Drungo.

Others on the taxi squad are defensive-back Leroy Howard, Guard Ron Saul, running backs Ward Walsh and Andy Hopkins.

The Oilers 40-man roster includes seven defensive linemen, six defensive backs, six linemen, four running backs, three quarterbacks and five receivers, and Spike Jones, the punter.

Oilers Trim Down To 40 Players

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers have trimmed down to the 40-player limit but head coach Ed Hughes has another move to make before the Oilers open regular season play Sunday against Cleveland.

In cutting down to the limit, Hughes left himself without a kicking specialist, placing Tom Rodgers and Braden Beck on the taxi squad.

Banks Not For Bombing

With characteristic tunnel vision many young protest-bankers have singled out banks as a symbol of the Establishment to attack.

They see banks as depositories of the nations' wealth in the midst of poverty, standing coldly aloof from society's needs (never mind that much of their assets may represent the sum total of many widows' mites).

The view is shared, though not in its extreme form, by many others. A study of the banking industry by the Harris organization found, in fact, that "the public now demands that bankers take on a new role of leading the way toward the solution of the larger problems of society."

In response to this challenge, the two largest banking trade associations — the Foundation for Full Service Banks and the American Banking Association — have launched a joint program to stimulate bank involvement in community affairs.

Examples of this new commitment are beginning to accumulate, such as the 100 playgrounds established in one day by a bank in Atlanta, the $10,000 grant a Portland, Ore., bank makes each summer to black high school students to set up a manufacturing enterprise and the business loans based on "sweat equity" which many banks are issuing to people unable to obtain loans under normal standards.

Many banks are granting low-rate loans to businesses seeking to end pollution. Banks across Kansas took part in a project to give away thousands of trees to anyone who would plant them.

Of course, the money used to finance these programs is not the banks'. It belongs to depositors and shareholders. No bank can be expected to risk the funds entrusted to it for safekeeping, no matter how worthwhile a particular social project.

But as A. W. Clausen, president of the Bank of America, has put it, "Nobody can expect to make profits... if the whole fabric of society is being torn to shreds." Clausen knows whereof he speaks. His bank's branches have been the targets of more than 100 acts of arson or other vandalism.

The Behaviorists Fail

A chap by the name of Kenneth B. Clark proposes to stop cruelty by giving preventive pills to suspected guilty-doers, including but not limited to aggressive politicians. The paradise-by-pill theory is not entirely unexpected because quacky ideas are part of having a free country. In this specific case, however, the proponent happens to have a PhD after name and a title. He is president of the American Psychological Association.

Unlike so many instances of the past, the suggested nostrum did not go unchallenged. Four other psychologists—Drs. Karl Pribram of Stanford, Conan Kretschy of Boston University, Herbert Kelman of Harvard, and Ethel Tobach from the American Museum of Natural History— took a contrary view.

"If you use chemical or behavioral control to reduce negative power," Dr. Kelman said, "you would reduce the positive power, too, and turn the person into a jellyfish."

So go to the two sides of the argument. The real problem seems to be that the behavioral scientists have failed miserably in their attempt to change human nature solely by improving the environment that they are now willing to resort to a chemical in order to blot out the mistake in their premise. The attempt to regenerate mankind by stealing from some in order to give to others has not proved out in experience. Even the behaviorists have begun to despair of the Utopia they envisioned. Hence the all-too-familiar grasping at pills.

Japan Plays Square

The Japanese foreign ministry has shown unusual courage in circulating throughout the government a 57-point compilation by its officials of American complaints against Japan.

Concerned about deteriorating relations with the United States of America, the ministry decided to "tell it like it is."

The criticisms were quoted directly from American publications, commentators, government officials, congressmen and businessmen.

They stated that the Japanese people are accused of being two-faced, arrogant, self-centered and insular; the Japanese government is called to task for refusing to act like an ally, for limiting imports, for failing to shoulder defense burdens, and for not counteracting condemnation of the United States in the media. Japanese businessmen are condemned for excessive nationalism and for teaming up with the government to form a "giant monolithic commercial entity."

The caustic catalogue spared no one. Obviously, the ministry would not have undertaken this painful exercise unless it thought that the unvarnished truth would lead to better understanding with the United States.

By their willingness to look at themselves as others might see them, the Japanese have demonstrated maturity as well as assurance. Such a novel approach to foreign affairs should prove helpful for any government, including our own.

The Law's Delay

All five suspects in the Dec. 31, 1969 slaying of United Mine Workers official Joseph Yablonski, his wife and daughter, have now been extradited from Ohio to Pennsylvania to stand trial, some 19 months after the murders.

Nineteen months. More than a year and a half of appeals, re-appeals and legal maneuverings, designed not to bring forth the full facts of the tragedy or to arrive at the guilt or innocence of the accused, but simply to delay a trial and possibly to preclude any trial at all.

Justice has been done to the defendants by this full exercise of the law's elaborate mechanism for protecting their rights. Now, perhaps, justice may be done to the Yablonski family, and to society,

Question Box

QUESTION: — I have been reading Newspaper letters about "mass murders" committed by Mao for some time now. What are they talking about? I have never read any account of these murders that people accuse Mao of, or even heard something that could be distorted into such an idea. Am I misinformed or is there really anything to these people's charges?

—G.H.

ANSWER: Older people tend to forget that they have lived through years of which younger persons cannot possibly have any recollection. Consequently, they take for granted information for which members of the new generation rightfully demand proof.

In the 1960s, the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee requested Professor Richard L. Walker of the Institute of International Studies, University of South Carolina, to prepare a study on "The Human Cost of Communism in China."

On the subject of public executions, Professor Walker stated:

"Millions were executed in the immediate post-power seizure period in Communist China. Many of the executions took place after mass public trials, in which the assembled crowds, whipped up to a frenzy by planted agitators, called invariably for the death penalty and for no mercy for the accused. He gave examples taken from Communist, missionary, and refugee sources. An eyewitness description of public execution follows:

"The gates of the Bureau of Public Security opened, and out came a police truck with about 20 policemen standing on it, guns in hand, followed by 20-odd trucks carrying prisoners and four police guards each. The trucks went slowly past our hotel, and I saw that every prisoner had been stripped of his pants and had his wrists tied behind his back. They were crouching on the trucks, still and lifeless, and at first glance, gave one the impression of many pigs going to slaughter. The loudspeakers began to boom. 'Shoot the counter-revolutionaries!' and the crowd shouted and clapped. All around me, people were calmly chatting and laughing. After the trucks went by, the huge crowd closed in after them and followed them to the execution ground."

The researcher gave a table of Communist casualties from 1927 to the present. The minimum figures dating in the Mao period from 1949 to the present are as follows: Political liquidation campaigns "Great Leap Forward" and the communes, 1 million; struggles with minority nationalities, including Tibet, 500,000; the "Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution" and aftermath 250,000; deaths in forced labor camps and frontier development, 15 million.

Much of the terrorism was reported in newspaper headlines of the last 20 years. There are also a multitude of eyewitness accounts.

Nation Seems To Be United In Opposing School Busing

By PAUL HARVEY

I like to see President Nixon knocking his golf ball way out of bounds. The other day he sliced his first tee shot over the top of the fairway — and his mulligan he hooked into the trees.

But that's all right. Think about it this way. If our President were shooting golf in the 70s, then you and I would have a neglected country to worry about.

You and I can concentrate on golf to try to forget such monumental messes as Vietnam, and school busing. He can't.

President Nixon was appointed by the people to try to undo the grotesque snafu in Vietnam, our nation's most inappropriate, inexcusable, indecent foreign involvement. And, similarly, domestically he was pledged by oath to pay for other sins of his predecessors and the Earl Warren Court.

The well-intended school bus edict boomeranged. On many vital issues our nation has been divided; on none has it been so united, in opposition.

Busing schoolchildren back and forth across towns for any reason is the most absurd, unkind and unjust discrimination ever to be court-ordered in our nation. Ever.

If half the money spent on school buses and busing were invested in improving educational facilities, everybody would benefit. From this cynical shuttle nobody does.

Most American parents, all colors, creeds and clans, love their children. That we've been using up in advance their dollars and their air and their water and their resources is defended with the plea that we didn't know what we were doing.

But in this we know what we are doing and we keep doing it.

Now Chief Justice Warren Burger of the United States Supreme Court is trying to backtrack. He says "racial balance in every school in every district is not required."

He says lower courts have overreacted to the High Court's decision.

But whoever goofed, today 350,000 youngsters are being bused back and forth—sometimes many miles away from home making of our splendid old melting pot a pressure cooker.

In San Francisco, Chinese-Americans are being bused away from neighborhood schools so excellently tailored to their customs and needs.

In North Carolina, American Indians preferring their all-Indian schools, resist this rude scrambling of everybody.

In Florida, Negro parents demand the resignation of the school superintendent who forces busing. He can't help it.

Gov. Wallace says the Nixon Administration talks one way and acts another. He can't help it either. Within the limits of the law, President Nixon is trying NOT to enforce punitive, purposeless school busing.

It's just another fiasco which we backed into where, as in Vietnam, we meant to help people—and hurt them.

Quick Quiz

Q—What is the Migratory Bird Treaty Act?

A—An international agreement in which the United States, Canada and Mexico agree to cooperate fully in giving adequate protection to those birds which migrate from one country to the other.

Q—What mammal's teeth never stop growing?

A—The beaver. The incisors never wear out because they keep growing throughout the animal's life.

Q—During which war did the U.S. Selective Service System come into being?

A—World War I, the first drawing took place June 5, 1917.

Q—Are daily prayers offered in the U.S. Congress?

A—Both Houses of Congress open their daily sessions with prayers.

Q—Who was the only U.S. president to retain the same cabinet for the four years of his administration?

A—Franklin Pierce. His seven cabinet members remained in office until the completion of his term.

Q—Which was the most powerful earthquake ever recorded in the United States? A—The earthquake that struck Alaska on March 27, 1964, and registered 8.5 on the Richter scale. The deadliest was the earthquake that leveled much of San Francisco on April 18, 1906. That quake measured 8.3 on the Richter scale.

Q—Which is the only crime defined in the U.S. Constitution? A—Treason.

Coffee Stimulates Brain and Heart

Dear Dr. Lamb — I would like to know if the habitual drinking of from one to three cups of average strength coffee a day would affect the normal healthy function of the adrenal glands over the years. Please give me your true answer, irrespective of the effect on the coffee business.

Dear Reader — I doubt the coffee business is going to shudder very much from my answer. The main problem posed by plain coffee is its caffeine content. For those who wish to avoid this problem there is a number of decaffeinated products on the market.

An average cup of coffee contains from 70 to 150 milligrams of caffeine, which means that two cups can give you a pretty good jolt. How much depends on how strong the coffee is and how strong the drinker is. A dose of caffeine of 150 to 250 milligrams stimulates the cortex of the brain, it speeds up typing performance and association of ideas. In other words, it turns one on. However, delicate muscular coordination may be hampered by this dose. And you can get that much caffeine in one or two cups of coffee, again depending upon the brew.

The bad aspect of coffee is its effects on the digestion of many people, causing an increase in stomach acidity with burning in the pit of the stomach. It should definitely not be used by anyone who has an ulcer.

It stimulates the heart and heavy coffee drinkers often have much higher heart rates than they do after they stop drinking coffee, or switch to a decaffeinated product. Some studies suggest that drinking five to six cups of coffee a day is associated with an increased rate of heart attacks.

Medical texts describe "un-toward reactions" (meaning bad) from 1.00 milligrams of caffeine, or about six or seven cups of strong coffee. These "un-toward reactions" include flashing lights, ringing in the ears, nervousness (no wonder) and tremulousness. BUT there is no evidence that it will affect the adrenal glands adversely in the amounts you have asked about.

Coffee is not a natural beverage for man. It is an Arabic drink that spread to Europe in the 17th century. Like cigarettes, its consumption has increased markedly since the beginning of the 20th century, parallel with the increase in heart attacks, ulcers, lung cancers and other common ailments. The United States consumes more than 70 per cent of the world's coffee crop.

Tea also contains caffeine, but the way it is brewed, the usual cup contains half as much as coffee. The best approach is for the coffee lover to switch to a decaffeinated product. This helps prevent "coffee nerves."

Inside Washington

McGovern Plans Asia Trip To Hypo Ailing Campaign

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Sen. George McGovern's mysterious junket abroad is a publicity gimmick pure and simple.

Sole purpose of the ultra-dove and New Left South Dakotan is to give his stagnant Presidential campaign a desperately needed shot in the arm in the hope of somehow getting it off the ground — where it has languished since he announced early this year.

Following the recent publication of a poll showing McGovern trailing at the bottom of the list as usual, one of his Democratic rivals derisively remarked, "George is still running furiously like a dry creek."

McGovern's prime destinations are Hanoi and Peking.

Pacifist, radical and other militant elements with which he has ties and connections are busily trying to arrange that for him. Some of the leftists have direct contacts with both Communist capitals, and are understood to be strongly touting a visit by McGovern.

If he can get to Hanoi, he will try to pull some kind of spectacular regarding American prisoners of war. That would assure him a dramatic publicity splash — which he sorely needs.

Just getting to Peking would be quite a stunt — especially if he could develop an opportune ailment of some kind there!

It goes without saying that if McGovern is permitted to visit Red China, he will make the most of it, personally and politically. He can be expected to expound lengthily on peace, disarmament, admitting the Peking regime to the United Nations and booting out Taiwan.

Inside word is that, if unable to make Hanoi and Peking, McGovern will shift to India to inspect camps for East Pakistan refugees.

Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., with whom McGovern has long been closely allied, made such a trip last month — with resulting considerable publicity hoopla. To the hearty appreciative acclaim of Indian officials and press, he denounced the Pakistan government for inhumane cruelty, and the Nixon administration for sending some arms to Pakistan and not providing more relief for the refugees.

If occasion arises, McGovern can be expected to stentoriously echo these sentiments.

Sugar Daddy Reportedly financing McGovern's junket is a New Left multi-millionaire and long-time ardent supporter — Max Palevsky, Los Angeles, head of Scientific Data Systems.

According to inner McGovernites, Palevsky offered to place a plane at McGovern's disposal for campaign purposes.

The leftist millionaire is also credited with providing most of the money for McGovern's extensive organizing in New Hampshire — where the first Presidential primary takes place next March. McGovern already has a sizable statewide organization there and is spending freely and working hard to enlarge it.

His New Hampshire outlays and operations are by far the most extensive of any of the Democratic aspirants.

Palevsky is also said to have appreciably helped McGovern pay off $100,000 in debts incurred in his last-minute Presidential campaign following the slaying of Sen. Robert Kennedy. McGovern's pitch about picking up the fallen torch didn't get to first base. But the would-be blitz cost quite a bit of money, and Palevsky reputedly took care of a big chunk of that.

Among Democratic politicians, he is referred to as "McGovern's Howard Stein."

Howard Stein, multi-millionaire head of the Dreyfus Fund, is former Sen. Eugene McCarthy's chief financial angel. In 1968, Stein put up an estimated $100,000 for the Minnesota's futile scramble for the Democratic nomination, and is said to be ready to again contribute heavily for another McCarthy sortie next year.

Discordant Notes

Meanwhile, McGovern's global junketing is drawing few cheers in his home state.

Sentiment appears widespread that he is grandstanding, and should be occupying himself with South Dakota's problems and affairs — particularly agriculture. It is being irately pointed out that he won his Senate seat as a farmer champion, and for some time has been largely ignoring those interests.

One rural leader noted ironically that several years ago, when McGovern was running for a second term, he hastily switched from electioneering on opposition to the Vietnam war to stressing farm and other local issues after a precipitous 22-point drop in his poll standing. For the rest of the campaign, he laid low on the Vietnam question.

"McGovern owes his Senate career entirely to his championship of the farmer," said the prominent South Dakotan. "Now there is strong feeling among us that he has let us down. He says and does little about agricultural matters; instead, he does a lot of talking about world affairs."

"He's gone cosmic on us, and we don't like it. We didn't elect him to the Senate for that."

In South Dakota, there is still much curiosity about how McGovern financed the purchase of a $160,000 home in a choice Washington residential area.

Previously, he and his family resided for years in a modest suburban six room frame house. Then suddenly out of the clear blue McGovern became the owner of the custom-built home of Chief Justice David Bazelon of the U.S. Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Test your "empathy" by Johnny's problem. And heed the wise advice of the Orphanage Superintendent. Adopted babies may never appreciate foster parents as much as boys and girls of Johnny's age, who have long yearned for the emotional security of happy family life!

CASE R-565: Johnny B., aged 11, is a colored orphan.

Recently he was sent to a local dentist for a check-up.

"Doc," he began, "can you give me a big gold tooth, right here in front?"

The dental surgeon shook his head.

"Johnny," he replied, "your front teeth are a good so why do you want a big gold tooth?"

"Because I expect to be adopted soon," pertly replied the boy, "and I figure they're more likely to pick me out if I got a shiny gold tooth in front."

The doctor sensed Johnny's great hunger to be in a normal type of home life, so he tried to bolster Johnny's ego with some honest compliments.

"Doc," he boy finally blurted out, "you are a nice man and wealthy so how about adopting me, yourself?"

Hunger For Family

The doctor later learned that Johnny would glibly assert to the other boys at the orphanage:

"I'm gonna be adopted today or tomorrow!"

Always, when it was visitor's day, he would wash his face and put on his Sunday clothes.

Then he'd smile and try to be friendly to all the guests, vainly hoping somebody would choose him.

One day he even decided to go out on his own and try to be adopted, so he wrapped his meager wardrobe into a bundle and trudged down the street, in quest of foster parents.

But his search proved fruitless so he headed back to the orphanage in time for supper.

"Johnny is a bright boy," the Superintendent of the orphanage told me later," and his hunger to be adopted is so great that he fabricates stories that people are coming to get him before nightfall.

"Perhaps it is an attempt to keep up his own frightened ego."

"Maybe he is figuratively whistling in the dark" to bolster his own courage.

"Dr. Crane, please remind your readers that they shouldn't focus entirely just on adopting babies."

"For we have a lot of bright boys and girls, just like Johnny, who would be doubly devoted sons and daughters!"

Carefully note the Superintendent's warning!

For many babies who have been adopted before they ever felt Johnny's keen hunger to be included in a family, thus may never appreciate their foster parents properly.

But youngsters like Johnny, who have lived 10 or 12 years without the emotional security of a happy, devoted family, thus become far more appreciative of being adopted.

Remember, too, that the true family bond is not based on blood lineage whatsoever, for Cain murdered his own blood brother!

And King David's son Absalom tried to kill David and usurp his father's throne!

If you play the parent-child game correctly, youngsters like Johnny will become devoted sons to you all your life.

You married couples simply "adopt" each other at your wedding, though of totally unrelated blood ancestry.

Yet you feel closer akin thereafter than to your own blood siblings with whom you grew up as a child.

So adopt love-hungry youngsters like Johnny!

Send for my booklet "Facts About Pregnancy and Foster Children."

It tells you the most tactful way to inform a foster child of its adoption.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Pampa Daily News, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

People In The News

WASHINGTON (AP) —Rep. Shirley Chisholm, the only black woman in Congress, says she will announce formally her candidacy for the presidency on New Year's Day providing she has enough campaign money.

"I'm doing it to shake the system up," the 47-year-old New Yorker said in an interview Wednesday.

"This country is run by old, old men from the South, and want to make the people at the national convention know they will have to deal with me."

Mrs. Chisholm said she would enter three of the Democratic primaries - North Carolina, Florida and California - if she can raise enough money to finance her campaign.

WASHINGTON (AP) — If businesses are to get a tax writeoff for buying equipment, why not for providing child care centers for their female employees and others, a well-known working mother asks.

The question was put to the House Ways and Means Committee Wednesday by Liz Carpenter, author, newswoman and former press secretary to Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson.

"Balancing children and a job is one of the great unresolvable acts of all time," Mrs. Carpenter told the committee. She reminded the members that "for 16 years I pounded the corridors of this Hill through thousands of bills and two pregnancies — those were prolific years for me as well as Congress."

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) — President Tito says he will step down once the collective presidency slated to replace the individual presidency in Yugoslavia streamlines its operations.

"I shall not be a lifetime president," the 79-year-old leader said in a speech to Communist party leaders Tuesday night. The speech was released Wednesday.

Five years ago, U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said the United States wanted to deescalate the war in Vietnam but North Vietnam was showing lack of interest.

Difference Between Bank And Brokerage Practice

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Among the lingering behavioral oddities of some brokerage firms, which always have liked to make their own rules, is the practice of using customers' money to finance their own trading.

Some firms argue that to deny them the use of money left in these accounts—money that isn't theirs—would impose a hardship on them. They insist that while the money isn't theirs, the right to use it is.

Moreover, for the use of this money they wish to pay no interest, arguing that to do so would impossibly complicate their affairs. They cite precedent for their no-interest stand:

Banks don't pay on checking accounts.

One big difference between bank and brokerage practice, however, involves the quality of operations. Brokerage house bookkeeping, as has been shown again and again, is vulnerable to serious criticism.
