Flood-Triggering Downpours, Tornadoes Hit Central, South Texas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Wild weather kept a wide stretch of Texas under siege today after a night of floods triggered by near-loudbursts and tornadoes knifing down from boiling thunderstorms.

Accumulated rainfall and continuing downpours posed fresh threats of flooding in areas from extreme North Texas to deep in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, with some of the severest effects in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. There were recurring reports of motorists drowned as cars washed away in and near Fort Worth, but authorities said they had been able to confirm that only one woman was missing. Tornadoes ripped through at least four localities, inflicting considerable damage. There was no word, however, of any deaths and injuries were limited. One twister battered a mobile home park north of Cleburne and another, right on its heels, unroofed four units of the Wedgwood Arms Apartments at Fort Worth and sent water pouring into a dozen units. Less than two hours later a tornado struck the Cypress Point neighborhood in Farmers Branch, on the northwest edge of Dallas, and dealt heavy damage to the roofs of 16 homes. Officials said only one person suffered injuries serious enough to require doctor's care. Still another twister lifted the roofs off five houses in the northwest corner of Dallas County. Water rose eight to 10 feet deep on Fort Worth's east side and parts of the city never flooded before were inundated. Police estimated 15 to 20 acres were affected. Dozens of cars were swept off roads and away from apartment complexes and parking lots in Fort Worth. One carried Ann Horton, 37, who disappeared after a gushing torrent swamped the car in which she and Charles Stanley,

45, were riding in the Meadowbrook section. "We were driving down the street and it engulfed us on all sides suddenly," Stanley said after being rescued from atop the automobile. "I told her to get out of the car and about five seconds later I bailed out. We were floating, and that was the last time I saw her." Firemen rescued two other men as water approached the top of a traffic sign to which they clung near the Dallas-Fort Worth Turnpike. Richard Hallen, assistant police chief at Richland Hills northeast of Fort Worth, said officers received eight reports of drownings but all eight persons feared lost had turned up unharmed. Fire trucks evacuated about 50 residents from Richland Hills homes, taking them to a city hall complex which itself was surrounded by high water for a time. Mrs. Andrew Marshall said three feet of water rose in her home and those of Richland Hills neighbors. At the tornado-damaged apartments in Fort Worth, the assistant manager, Laverne Mattson, said, "It tore roofs off and tore patio doors off. We have extensive water damage and we have a lot of people that we are trying to find dry apartments and dry linen for." At a gas station across the street, David Parr, 18, said the (See FLOOD, Page 2)

Five Members Of One Family Drown In Flood

ROCKSPRINGS, Tex. (AP) — Five members of a ranch family apparently drowned late Tuesday when floodwaters swept their pickup truck off a road northeast of Rocksprings. A teen-age daughter swam to safety and was listed in fair condition today at a Rocksprings hospital. Officers said the family of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Hummel was returning from Kerrville when the pickup truck was washed off Ranch Road 335 about 25 miles northeast of Rocksprings.

The bodies of Mrs. Maxine Hummel, 42, and a son, Eugene, 8, were found near the truck. Searchers looked today for the father, about 50, and a girl, Debbie, 6, and a son, Charles, 1. Mary Katherine Hummel, 16, told authorities she was holding her baby brother when a wall of water struck the pickup truck. She sought help at a nearby ranch house after swimming to safety. The sheriff's office said the family lived on a ranch northeast of Rocksprings.

Tank Car Blast Kills One And Injures 38

HOUSTON (AP) — A huge fireball from an exploding tank car rolled over firemen and newsmen Tuesday, killing one and sending 38 persons to the hospital. The explosion occurred in a lightly populated Southeast Houston area after 18 cars of an 83-car Missouri Pacific freight train jumped the track at a crossing. "It was instant holocaust," said one of the injured, Houston Post reporter Jim Bishop. "The whole damned world turned orange." Firemen were battling a blaze that started after a smaller explosion in one of the overturned tank cars containing chemicals. The second blast killed Thurston J. Hathaway Jr., 31, an inspector with the Houston Fire Department. The body was not recovered until several hours later when the fire was brought under control.

Vatican Attacks U.S. For Altering Monetary Policy

By PATRICK E. O'KEEFE
Associated Press Writer
VATICAN CITY (AP) — A Vatican commission attacked the U.S. government today for its recent unilateral changes in the financial system and voiced support for those who refuse to fight for the United States in Vietnam. The Pontifical Commission on Justice and Peace, in a document submitted to the World Synod of Roman Catholic Bishops, urged the synod to deplore recent "monetary decisions taken by some rich countries which involve the well being and the development of 2 billion persons" in poor countries. The 64-point message also called on the synod to support those who "refuse to participate in certain wars or certain acts of war, such as the bombardment of civil populations." It called for "understanding of those who, in the name of their faith or their conscience, refuse to bear arms." Although neither clause mentioned the United States by name, its intent was clear.

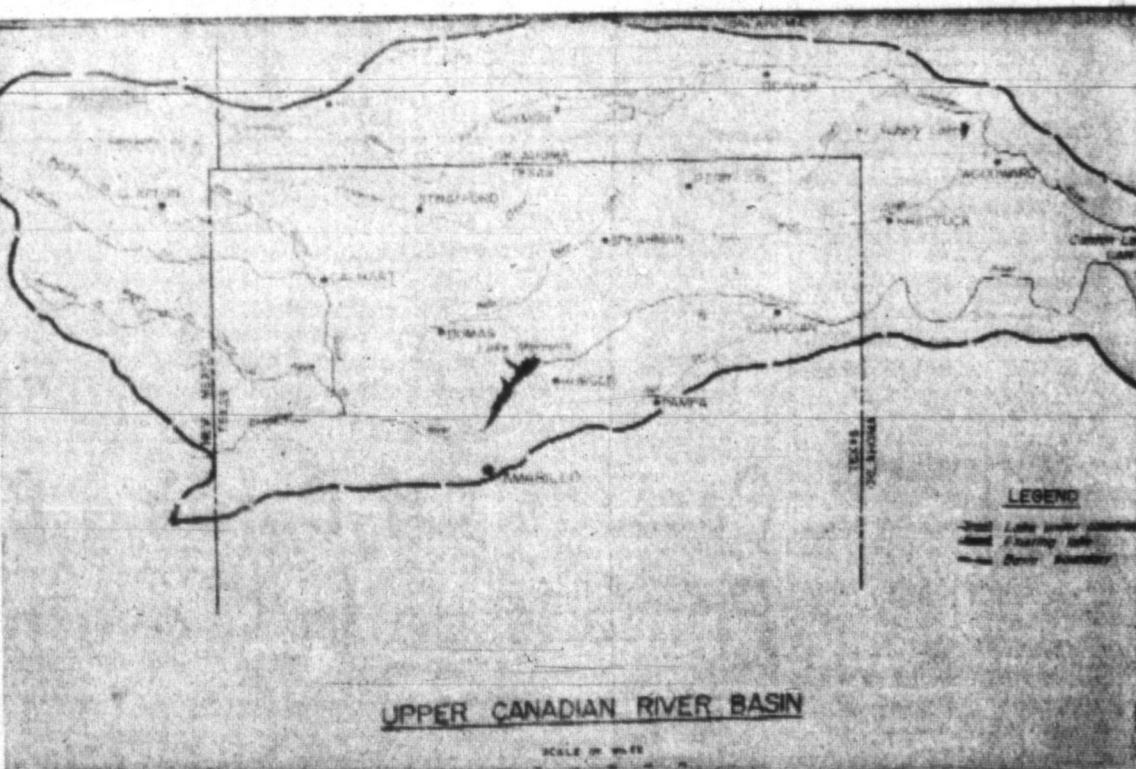

BULLETIN

DALLAS (AP)—Roy O. Orre, mayor of DeSoto, was elected state Democratic Executive Committee chairman today by a roll call vote of 32-30. The vote was decided on the last name called in the roll call vote of the state committee, meeting in a special-called session.

15 Elderly Persons Die In Nursing Home Fire

Pennsylvania County Investigating Tragedy

HONESDALE, Pa. (AP) — Fifteen elderly persons, ished Tuesday night in a fire that swept rapidly through a private nursing home near this tiny northeastern Pennsylv- and you could see it for a mile." Jennings said the fire was believed to have started shortly before 8 p.m. in a laundry room at the rear of the residential wing of the L-shaped, one-story frame structure. "There's almost no question of that," he said. "Physical evidence shows that." The fire was discovered by the nurse, Vaudine Lyon, 41, of nearby Hawley. The coroner said Mrs. Lyon reported she had gone to check clothes in a dryer and found they were still damp. "She said she then went back to the office area and a little later heard a noise like glass breaking," Jennings said. "She then started down the hallway and that's when she saw the flames in the laundry." "When she discovered the fire it was too late," he said. "She couldn't get down a hall. When she tried to use the phone it was dead. She went outside and tried to yell for help but it's in a rural area and when firemen arrived all they remember seeing was a person in a white uniform outside. She couldn't even get back inside because of the intense heat and smoke." She was taken to Wayne County Memorial Hospital suffering from burns. The hospital listed her condition as satisfactory. Jennings said all but one of the bodies were found in their rooms, in bed-in-chairs and on the floor. Another wing—jutting off to the right of the rooms and containing the dining room and kitchen, offices and the apartment of the owners—was virtually untouched by the flames. The owners, Harvey and Joyce Geiger, were out when the fire began.

Kissinger And Party Arrive In Red China

BELGRADE (AP)—Henry A. Kissinger arrived in Peking today to make arrangements for President Nixon's visit there. Tanjug, the Yugoslav news agency, reported from the Chinese capital. The dispatch said there was no arrival ceremony or Nixon's adviser on national security, but about 20 Chinese and about as many automobiles were waiting on the runway when the presidential Boeing 707 jet landed. It took about 10 minutes for Kissinger and his party to leave the plane. The visiting Americans got into the waiting automobiles and left for the city. A group of foreign correspondents and some diplomats watched the arrival from about half a mile away. A giant slogan calling on nations of the world to unite against American imperialism was prominently displayed at the airport. Another wing—jutting off to the right of the rooms and containing the dining room and kitchen, offices and the apartment of the owners—was virtually untouched by the flames. The owners, Harvey and Joyce Geiger, were out when the fire began.

Pampa United Fund Contributor To Quivira Scout Council Budget

Maturity cannot be bought for young people today—as bad as it is needed. Fortunately the OPPORTUNITY to mature and to develop self-reliance can be purchased and, thus far, local generations have been taking advantage of it through the years — thanks to the United Fund. Support of the UF agency and its subsequent support of the Quivira Girl Scout Council makes it possible for 1,700 girls from ten counties and 13 important Panhandle cities and towns to have this opportunity to become emotionally mature adults instead of chronologically old children. Forty percent of the 1700 girls currently registered in the Council are from Pampa, one out of every three girls in Pampa is a Girl Scout. The Council is administered by a volunteer board of directors and by three professional and two clerical staff members. The heart of the movement is the more than 310 adult volunteers who serve as board members, troop leaders, committee members, neighborhood organizers, camp personnel, bus drivers, etc. Council membership has remained constant despite decreases in population within the ten-county area. Quivira provides camping opportunities for girls at two council-owned camp sites. Camp Mel Davis is east of Lefors and Camp Cibola, purchased with proceeds from ten years of cookie sales, is North of Clarendon. Girl Scouts can truly point with pride to the amazing development of Camp Cibola. In use only one and one-half years after the purchase of the site, Quivira Girl Scouts worked diligently on the Council's most successful cookie sale to pay (See PAMPA UF, Page 2)

Brandt Wins Nobel Prize For Peace

OSLO, Norway, (AP) — West German Chancellor Willy Brandt today won the 1971 Nobel peace prize. The 57-year-old Socialist head of the Bonn government receives the equivalent of $88,000 from funds endowed by Alfred Nobel, the inventor of dynamite. The peace prize is awarded annually by the Norwegian parliament. Danish Socialists and fellow German Social democrats had recommended Brandt for the prize, saying his efforts to improve his country's relations with East Europe were the most important initiative for relaxation of tension in the last decade.

Engineers' Water Workshop Here Termed Huge Success

Attendance neared the century mark and interest was at a peak Tuesday night at a Canadian River Basin workshop. Conducted by two engineers from the U.S. Army Corps, Tulsa division, the workshop was "phase 4" of a ten-state plan for public involvement in planning the water project for the 27,000-square mile river basin. The initial phase began in 1970 when study of the Canadian River Basin began. This involved making the resources planning study known and in-submitting. According to Wayne Morgan, one of the engineers involved in last night's meeting, said response to the first announcement ranged from views on adequate water supply and flood control to total apathy. Those present were then divided into smaller conference groups to discuss the workbook and to add to specific information sought, any other water resource problems. Both Hill and Morgan emphasized the importance of (See ENGINEERS, Page 2)

One More Holiday For PHS Students

Monday has been designated a professional work day for teachers in Pampa public schools, according to Dr. James Malone, superintendent, which means Pampa students will receive a holiday. In-service training sessions are scheduled for all Pampa teachers, most of them to be held at Robert E. Lee Junior High School.

.50-Inch Rain Boosts Total Near Normal

Sunshine and clear skies returned to Pampa today after a cloudy Tuesday and .50-inch rainfall last night. Yesterday's precipitation brought the month's total to 2.91 inches and that's .05-inch above normal for the month. The year's total rainfall so far climbed to 19.28 inches, just .52-inch short of the normal annual total of 19.80 inches for Pampa. It was to warm up around 68 degrees today after an overnight low of 45. Continued warm is expected most of tomorrow after an expected low around 33 tonight, with another cool front scheduled to move in late Thursday.

Heated Debate Looms As Demos Meet To Pick Party Chairman

By CLAYTON HICKERSON
Associated Press Writer
DALLAS (AP) — Texas Democratic Executive Committee members were due to replace Elmer Baum as chairman today amid what was sure to be a heated fireworks display.

No party likes to air its political laundry in public but a few items on the clothesline seemed unavoidable.

Baum, linked along with Gov. Preston Smith in the bank-stock scandal which shook Texas government, resigned Oct. 11.

A nine-man nominating committee Monday named DeSoto Mayor Fov Orr as its choice to replace Baum.

That ignited the fuse.

At a hastily-called news conference Tuesday, State Agriculture Commissioner John White announced his candidacy. El Paso lawyer Travis Johnson has been mentioned as another possibility.

The battle line seems drawn between old line Democrats — those who vote for the party and then ask the candidate's name, and those who consider more than a candidate's party affiliation.

Orr, say his critics, has been quoted in interviews as saying he would support Democrats in legal and state races but declining to promise he'd actively support a presidential candidate on party affiliation alone.

That, of course, frightens party loyalists, who fear Texas party machinery may revert as it did in the 1950s when it geared up behind Dwight D. Eisenhower.

These critics have been fussed to point out that Orr might lead Democrats away from a Democratic presidential nominee next year.

Roy Evans, president of the Texas AFL-CIO, called Orr's nomination "incredible."

Although Smith said he has no plans to support "actively" any potential chairman, he noted that "the fact Roy was nominated or that John White might have been nominated on Travis Johnson doesn't necessarily mean that is who the SDEC will take."

Smith seems to prefer a party chairman other than Orr. He said last April that if a new chairman was needed, the job would be taken "by whomever I want to serve as chairman."

It's been no secret that Smith prefers White, or Johnson.

Committeeman Woodrow Bean of El Paso called Orr's nomination "a plot of ex-Gov. John Connally, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and Orr to make sure that John Tower (a Republican) is re-elected U.S. senator. This is the same thing that happened to us in the Eisenhower campaign."

White said he doesn't want the job permanently but would serve until a new chairman could be selected at the party's convention in September.

But the naming of White or Johnson to the job may touch off a powder keg.

Dr. James Gill of Waxahachie, chairman of the nominations committee, said that under party rules nominations may not be taken from the floor. The best the 62-member SDEC can do is either confirm or reject Orr's selection.

This opinion immediately drew fire from White.

"I believe," he said, "the Democratic party ought to stand for Democratic procedures. Not accepting nominations from the floor would be something I would think the Republican party would do—not the Democratic party."

He said if that is a rule, it can be changed on the spot by a majority vote.

Mrs. Carrin Patman, a committeewoman, said the SDEC has no written rules.

"And certainly none which would close the nominations. This would be a mistaken procedure to take," she said.

White switched from being a reluctant fiancée to an eager bride in a sudden turn capped Tuesday by the news conference.

It happened, he said, "when I became aware we would have a problem of trying to maintain party unity after talking to several SDEC members who represent varying philosophies."

He said a poll of the SDEC membership by Evans and Secretary of State Bob Bullock pictured him as a front runner.

"My friends say I will get 50 votes. I say I'll get 40 or 42 votes out of the 62 SDEC members," he said.

But it was no secret either that Smith came on strong Tuesday for White in some backstage maneuvering. White suddenly announced he had never turned down the party when he was wanted and was pitching his hat into the ring.

A governor's aide said, "I think the majority of SDEC members are well aware of the governor's preference, which just happens to be the same as Ralph Yarborough's."

White said, "We can't say we will support certain candidates and lie down on certain candidates. This has happened in the past and it is time it stopped."

DISCUSS DRUG PROBLEM — Shown discussing Pampa's drug abuse problem at the organizational meeting Tuesday night of a Community Task Force are, left to right, Assistant Police Chief George Wallace, who explained the police force methods and problems; Don Lusher, elected temporary chairman; and Mrs. Rex McAnally, member of the school district's committee on drug education. Group To Make In-Depth Study Of Drug Abuse Problem Here

By JANE KADINGO
There is evidence the kids from Amarillo come here to get supplied. Assistant Police Chief George Wallace told those attending the organizational meeting of a Community Task Force on drug abuse Tuesday night, in pointing out the drug problem in Pampa.

He stated, also, that in his estimation 65 per cent of high school students have "experimented" with marijuana or drugs, emphasizing that this does not mean that many are hard-core addicts or even consistent users.

During the meeting Don Lusher was elected temporary chairman.

The task force idea was first introduced in April during a drug education program sponsored by Pampa public schools.

Lusher explained that in June, Pampa's City Commission "blessed" the formation of a task force, although it will derive no authority from the commission.

The functions established by the group last night were to make an in-depth study of the drug abuse problem in Pampa, to be followed by recommendations on how to "attack the causes;" to coordinate the total drug education programs in Pampa, to avoid duplication of effort; to determine and provide assistance to the Pampa Police Force; to build a film library; and to establish a speakers' bureau.

Lusher told the group of Amarillo's ad hoc committee which studied Amarillo's drug problem, making more than 20 "very meaningful" recommendations to the city commission.

The group decided to make an all-out effort to broaden the task force membership to include a cross-section of the community, including ministers, the police force, PTA, the school system, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, men's service organization, doctors, lawyers, news media, city government and Pampa's Suicide Prevention-Crisis Information group, of which Lusher is president.

There will be no restriction on membership, however.

Programs already in effect, such as the SPCI drug education programs for parents and the public, the SPCI hot line, and Genesis House were discussed. Programs being planned include a day-long drug education program at Pampa High School in March, and a Boy Scout action program, run by the young people themselves, to take place after the first of the year.

Next meeting of the group will be Nov. 16, in the West Auditorium of the First Presbyterian Church.

Former Pampa Named PR Man With Seven Seas

Dave Webster, a former Pampa resident, has been named as Media Representative at the world's largest inland marine park in Arlington, Texas. Webster will work in group sales and public relations at Seven Seas, the multi-million dollar project of the City of Arlington.

The appointment was approved by Arlington's City Council, headed by Mayor Tom Vandergriff. Vandergriff said Webster was chosen because of his past experience in promotional and press work.

Webster served as state president of the Texas High School Press Association while in high school, and is a former writer for the Pampa Daily News.

In making the announcement a city official said, "Webster will be representing not only Seven Seas, but the City of Arlington as well."

Seven Seas, but the City of open early next spring. The multi-million dollar park is located between Turnpike Stadium and Six Flags. It has been under construction for about two years, and is about 65 per cent complete at this time.

Webster, a Navy veteran, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin C. Webster, 2315 Christine.

SWPS Employees Will Be Honored At Awards Meet

Three Pampa employees of the Southwestern Public Service Co. are among 105 from the electric company's Panhandle Division who will be honored Thursday night at a service-awards dinner in Amarillo.

Heading the Pampa group, with 25 years of service, is Virgil O. Eckroat, 315 E. Locust, who will receive his award from Roy Tolk, president of the electric company. Tolk will make all the awards presentations and they are given for periods of service ranging from 5 to 40 years.

Twenty year awards will go to Jo Fern Anderson and Norman M. Flanerty.

Three hundred and eight Southwestern Public Service Company employees with a combined service of 5,630 years are being honored this year at a series of dinners throughout the electric company's 45,000 square mile service area.

State Board Expected To Finish New Redistricting Plan Saturday

AUSTIN (AP) — Time drew short today for devising new districts for Texas House members, but Legislative Redistricting Board members indicated confidence that the job would be finished by the Saturday deadline.

Anxious state representatives pressed their views on some of the five board members Tuesday.

"They are quite interested in what is going on," said Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin, the board's chairman who commented that before noon Tuesday he had received 23 telephone calls and six personal visits from house members.

Both Martin and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes said a plan should be finished by Thursday in order to be printed before Saturday.

Martin said the board was making real good progress and hoped to sign a plan reassigning the 150 House seats by Friday, "or sooner if possible."

Barnes said the board had not met since it issued a Senate reredistricting plan last Friday. But members of his and Martin's staff were meeting with Legislative Council staffers in an effort to "come up with a bill that is constitutional," the lieutenant governor said.

The redistricting board received the problem of drawing new House district boundaries after the state Supreme Court held unconstitutional a reapportionment bill engineered by Speaker Gus Muschler.

Barnes has suggested having urban House members run at large within senatorial district boundaries, with single-member districts for Houston.

But he said he did not know how proposal "was going to fly." Martin said Barnes' idea presented "one man, one vote problems" since a senatorial district might not divide exactly into a given number of House members.

He said chances of getting a single-member district plan for the entire state through the board were "not any better than 50-50."

Flood ...

twister snatched open a door and pulled "everything right out of the station—tires, cans, everything."

Weather Service equipment in the area clocked the wind up to 70 miles per hour before the measuring device blew away.

High water closed countless streets in Fort Worth, Dallas and adjoining suburbs, including 73 in Dallas alone. Some homes and apartments were flooded at Hurst, near Fort Worth, and in Mesquite, on the east side of Dallas.

Official observers said the deluges sent the Trinity River on the rampage from Fort Worth past Dallas, and major flooding was imminent in low areas of Dallas along the stream.

Flood stage at Dallas is 30 feet and a 40-foot crest was expected.

Before the heavy rain hit Dallas, floodgates at a Dallas Power & Light Co. plant near the Dallas Naval Air Station were opened, causing flood waters to flow into an already closed street. Officials said eight feet of water was released to make room for the heavy in flow to the plant from raging Mountain Creek.

Less severe threats of flash flooding were in force through most of the night and into this morning for as many as two dozen counties from the Dallas-Fort Worth area southward as far as Laredo, where up to 6 inches of rain poured down, and Rio Grande City.

There also was a severe thunderstorm warning, finally cancelled in early morning, for Webb, Zapata and Starr counties on the Mexican border from Laredo to Rio Grande City.

Official observers reported before dawn, however, that a stalled cool front which set off the widespread and often torrential rains at last was moving toward the southeast and should push out of state and across the Gulf Coast by day's end.

By that time the forward edge of the weakening front stretched along a line linking Paris, College Station and Laredo.

Through Camp Cibola Girl Scouts will continue to reap the benefits of living out-of-doors. Getting along with new and old friends alike in a setting away from home is one more of those experiences that help girls to grow in Girl Scouting.

Council program cannot be measured in dollars and cents, for the value of Girl Scouting in Quivira Council can only be measured by our most important product: a mature and poised young woman.

As an alert, confident Senior Girl Scout, you see her performing vital community service. How did she grow in Girl Scouting from a child of seven into an attractive, neat, and vivacious emissary of the best in young womanhood? She began with Brownies, the first level in Girl Scouting. Here she began to take responsibilities for small but important tasks within her troop and her home.

In Pampa there are fifteen Brownie troops throughout all elementary schools.

In Junior Girl Scouting she began badge work and the acquisition of more difficult skills. Here, too, she began to practice democracy in action through the patrol system. Twenty Junior Scout troops are currently organized in Pampa.

As a Cadette she met important challenges that will be of value for her entire life. She has completed the Challenge of Active Citizenship, the Challenge of Emergency Preparedness, the Challenge of Social Dependability and the Challenge of the Girl Scout Promise. There are four active Cadette troops in Pampa representing 60 girls.

As a Senior Girl Scout she expanded her horizons by the achievement of Aide Bars in fields such as Office Aide, Library Aide, Laboratory Aide, Program Aide, or Aide to the Handicapped. Twenty-nine Seniors are currently registered in Pampa.

A Senior Girl Scout participating in a program to teach the handicapped to swim this summer said of the program, "In my hours of helping with this project, I really had my eyes opened. Now I more fully understand the plight of others, and I have gained a great deal from the participants' optimism and eagerness to learn."

This important avenue of growing into maturity through such experiences is a vital part of Girl Scouting, a movement numbering three and three-quarter million girls throughout the United States.

To continue this program for the girls of Pampa your support of the United Fund Campaign is essential. These funds are critical to providing excellent program opportunities and the most important product of all: a mature young woman.

considering environment and ecology through every step of any proposal or request. They noted that probability was extremely high for some group of environmentalists completely removed from the area to come in to block any project undertaken.

In the open forum discussion that followed the group sessions conservation was emphasized as much as water source.

Hill told the group that once the workbooks were evaluated at engineer corps headquarters, a team would come back into the field and talk personally with many of those submitting the workbooks at the meeting here last night.

The planning study will progress through a series of such public meetings to discuss alternate proposals until a balance between engineering studies and area needs identify the most practical plan.

The total study is to be completed in 1977. Its progress will involve a large number of people in a three state area (see map) and its results should change the quality of life in that area for generations to come.

LONDON (AP) — The Inter-Governmental Maritime Consultative Organization has endorsed a proposal by Australia for moving its territorial sea limits out beyond the Great Barrier Reef so the country can enforce measures there aimed at preventing pollution by ships.

HOUSTON (AP) — A Representative of the Harris County Grand Jury Association asked the Commissioners Court Monday that a list of proposed judicial reforms be included in the 1972 budget.

Mrs. Marie Seibert told the court the association supports a computer system to keep records of prisoners, a court administrator for criminal district courts, two additional courts, the use of retired judges in district courts and legislation to speed up trials.

HOUSTON (AP) — Robert C. Eureka, operator of the private Cherokee Security Police Patrol Service, filed a federal suit Monday against the Houston Police Department, charging it with harassing his employees.

He also seeks $100,000 damages. Burkes, a retired Army general, said his men have been harassed, arrested and threatened with arrest and denied permits to carry guns for the past six months.

Burke charged the incidents occurred after he reported incidents of alleged police misbehavior to the criminal intelligence division.

Passage Of Banking Bills To Be Prime Issue In Governor's Race

By ROBERT HEARD
Associated Press Writer
when the bills won final approval.

But a quote from a Barnes news conference July 21 shows he had a direct hand in avoiding a filibuster that would have killed the bills.

Senate President Pro Tem J. P. Word of Meridian was presiding over the Senate at the time the two banking bills won final passage on Sept. 9, 1969, according to Spellings' account.

It is important that who sits in the lieutenant governor's chair is being considered, the man designated by the lieutenant governor to fill in for him knows precisely how the lieutenant governor wants it handled.

Barnes said at the July 21 news conference that he called House Speaker Gus Mutscher on Sept. 8, 1969, to tell him the main banking bill "wasn't going to pass unless somebody got Patman off of it, and Patman was his senator."

Obituaries

VERN H. SAVAGE
Funeral services are pending with Carmichael-Whitley Funeral Directors for Vern H. Savage, 79, of the Cole Addition, who died at 5 a.m. today in his home.

Born Sept. 1, 1892, in Cowley County, Kans., he moved to Pampa in 1928 from Lyman, Okla. He retired in 1965 as a general oilfield contractor.

He was a member of Masonic Lodge 342 in Maple City, Kans., and of the Central Baptist Church of Pampa.

He is survived by his wife, Edna, of the home; one sister, Mrs. Nella Shehan of Longton, Kan.; two brothers, Floyd Savage of Snyder and Ed Savage of Perryton; and two grandsons.

After Barnes called Mutscher, the "Patman problem" was solved by switching the Senate sponsorship of the bills from Sen. Jack Strong of Longview, with whom Patman had a long-standing feud not related to the banking bills, to Sen. Charles Wilson of Lutkin.

Patman then withdrew his objection to the bills.

The measure sailed through the Senate under Wilson's name the next day, Sept. 9, the last day of the special session.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm married to a beautiful gal who's crazy about pants. She wears pants everywhere. Sometimes we go to a party and my wife is the only lady there in pants. She has pants for every occasion and she tells me they're in style and acceptable everywhere.

We've been married for two years and I can't remember the last time I saw her in a dress. She has pretty legs and no reason to hide them.

She has a nice figure and she looks good in pants, but I would like to see her in a dress again for a change. Any suggestions?

ROGER: Yes. Tell her you'd like to see her in a dress. Then you'll see who really wears the pants in your family.

DEAR ABBY: I have a four-year-old daughter I'll call Ann. Ann has many very expensive outdoor playthings. My problem is the neighbor girl I'll call Jane. Jane is seven years old and weighs over 100 pounds. Ann and Jane play nicely together, but Jane has broken the seat on Ann's tricycle. bent her swing set all out of shape, and insists on jumping on the picnic table like Ann does.

Jane is very high strung and has a nasty temper, which is why no other mother on the block will let her children play with her. She has no friends her age because of her temper and the way she breaks everything. And when the other kids tease Jane about her size, she really explodes. Her mother works all day and Jane hasn't had proper discipline. I feel sorry for the child and hate to expel her from our yard, but it's hard for me to tell her she can't play with Ann's things when all the other kids can.

Jane has been put on diets, but she cheats. Ann is her only friend but I don't know how much longer I can put up with the repair bills. Can you help me?

ANN'S MOTHER: If a child ever desperately needed a friend, Jane does so please don't reject her. It would be a tremendous kindness if you could speak with her mother about seeking professional help for Jane. The repair bills may seem burdensome to you, but thank God you're repairing only a broken tricycle. It's far more difficult to try to repair a child's broken heart.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to say a few words to Russell's Mother, who wrote, "People who work with their hands are not smart enough to work with their minds."

Look lady, who do you think fixes your car? A mechanic. Who built your home? Construction workers, carpenters, electricians, masons, painters. Who put in your plumbing? Plumbers. Who keeps your telephone working? Repairmen.

All these people work with their hands, right? And they aren't stupid.

My father is a mechanic and I am proud of him. He is raising a family of three daughters and he's doing a terrific job. He is the smartest man I know. Thank you.

JOSIE RANDAZZO, WARREN, MICH.

Features Of "Big Bend" Explained To Forum Club

"Big Bend Country" was the title of the program presented by Mrs. Robert L. Cotter and Mrs. Floyd Weathersbee at the meeting Tuesday of the Twentieth Century Forum study club in the home of Mrs. C. Mike Holmgren, 2405 Comanche.

"The Big Bend National Park gets its name from the great dip to the south made by the Rio Grande River," Mrs. Cotter explained. "It is a region unparalleled in the United States, in that it is an almost unaltered area of mountainous Mexican border wilderness. The park in itself is an impression of unspoiled natural beauty."

The women explained that illustrated talks are given in the evenings at the amphitheater in the Basin during the summer, and at the Rio Grande Village and park headquarters during other seasons. They pointed out that there are, also, self-guided nature trails and exhibits.

Visitors to the Big Bend are advised to take precautions to anticipate and avoid the hazards of this mountainous and desert area," explained Mrs. Weathersbee.

Mrs. Cotter and Mrs. Weathersbee concluded the program with a slide tour of the Big Bend area. Members present were Mmes. William Cornman, Robert Cotter, Larry Cross, Rodney DeFever, Joe Franklin, J.R. Holloway, Mike Holmgren, David Holt, Homer Johnson, McHenry Lane, M. McDaniel, Frank Sotola, Jack Ward, John Warner, Floyd Weathersbee and Ernest Wilkinson.

Scouting Scoops

By MRS. T.M. WHITELEY
Scouts are grateful to Frank Huff and George H. Need for fixing a trash can holder for the Girl Scout Little House. Brownie Troop 77 reports they are planning a bike trip and cookout. They are learning how to build a fire correctly. Their leader is Mrs. J.W. Gist. Mrs. Eugene Turner's Junior Troop 30 began cooking lessons Oct. 4.

Junior Troop 17 walked 2 1/2 miles along the Hike and Bike Trail working toward their Gypsy-Foot Traveler's Badges. They cooked hot dogs at the park, learned to whip and hang their ropes and to use a compass. They also sang several songs. Their leader is Mrs. M.L. Foxworthy.

Junior-Cadette Troop 87-75 have been practicing outdoor skills this fall in preparation for their weekend camping trip at Camp Cibola, near Clarendon, last Friday through Sunday. The girls set up a primitive camp, cooking all their meals over a campfire, including a roast beef dinner cooked in a "bean hole."

Highlight of the campout was a hike around the Camp Cibola grounds, guided by Mr. Woody, caretaker. A campfire of skits and songs was held jointly with Junior Troop, who spent the weekend in the Lodge. Attending were 23 troop members, four guests, and three adults. Girls attending were Edwina Black, Jerrie Ann Carter, Melinda Collinsworth, Carrie Lee Comer, Tracie Cox, Cecelia DeWitt, Julie Jackson, Jan Johnson, Anne Kadingo, Kem Kotara, Terry Lawrence, Susan Michael, Jolyn Page, Tracy Rice, Shelly Shearer, Martha Skoog, Brenda Smith, Suzan Davis, Kim Hagerman, Cammy Holder, Erin O'Connor, Connie Thompson and Susanne Walsh.

Lamar PTA Slates Fun Night Thursday

Lamar Parent-Teacher Association will present its annual fun night Thursday at the school.

Highlight of the event will be a performance of Hee Haw, presented by the parents of the school children. Two performances are scheduled, one at 7 p.m. and one at 8 p.m.

"The Wheels," a local band, will provide the music for the event. Band members are Carl Sexton, Dee Stroud and Humpy Matheny.

Room visitation will be held from 6 p.m. until 8 p.m. when parents will view their children's work and get acquainted with the teachers.

Homemade pies, donated by the parents, and coffee, tea and milk will be served in the cafeteria, beginning at 6 p.m.

Fun night is under the direction of Mrs. Tom Dunn, PTA president; Mrs. Robert Walker, vicepresident, in charge of the program; Mrs. Marvin Skinner, hospitality chairman, in charge of the cafeteria; and Mrs. Robert Benysek, publicity chairman.

The event is open to the public.

Your Horoscope

By JEANE DIXON

THURSDAY, OCT. 21
Your birthday today. A long search now begins for the simplest, most practical way of life. Many orthodox theories are found to be insufficient. Today's natives expect a great deal from themselves and from life in general; should never want to fulfill their goals.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Plenty of cooperation is at hand, but you can't get anything in a hurry. Take the trouble to explain what you want.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Your rational mind guides you more accurately than sentiment for the moment. All sort of preventive maintenance, security and safety education are favored.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Avoid trying to close material contracts or deals. Concentrate on social life, the amenities and comforts of healthy relationships.

CANCER (June 21-July 20): Most thought at present goes to circles, and what you fail to see the first time around should be visible another time.

LEO (July 21-Aug. 21): Pursue social activities, your share in the management of community affairs, politics if you are involved already, with no expectation of immediate results.

VIRGO (Aug. 22-Sept. 22): Deep relations take quite a while to develop. Today's things contribute very little toward them. It's good time for toothbrushing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): The urge to haste comes on full blast. Wait for a green light, settle your main ideas before you begin installing the details.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): If you were quite sure where to go and what to do right now, there'd be something wrong.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Double check facts and figures. Schedules come apart under likely contingencies. Have some alternate courses tentatively recognized.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Assume a receptive mood and a less urgent manner. Strange and unaccounted information is to be gained by silence and intent listening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Promises are easily enough given and easier broken, with all good intentions unrealistic expectations.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Technical assistance is not as proficient as it is supposed to be. Avoid a delay if you can; seek more information.

Mrs. Myron Marx Tells About Waterway Project

Mrs. Myron Marx Jr. presented the program, "The Port of Catoosa" at the recent meeting of Twentieth Century Culture Club in the home of Mrs. M.D. Griffith, 1218 Mary Ellen, with Mrs. J.M. Stallings as co-hostess.

Mrs. Marx explained the program might be called "The Impossible Dream" as she pointed out the first tugboat has traveled up the 12 billion dollar Arkansas-Verdigris waterway to the port of Tulsa.

She paid tribute to the "Not Now Generation," described by Jenkin Lloyd Jones as those who work their hearts out for things they may never see or enjoy, as opposed to the "Now Generation" which wants its kicks now.

Mrs. Marx stated that Senator Bob Kerr was among those who made the triumphant ride up the 440 mile chain of lakes, locks and canals from the Mississippi to Oklahoma.

Whether the navigation project is a gigantic bonndoggle, as its opponents charge, or whether it will open up new horizons of prosperity for a whole area of America that has sat upon a high freight-rate plateau, it represents 35 years of planning, promotion and agitation," Mrs. Marx said. "And in 35 years a lot of people die. But the great projects of humankind are built by people who struggle for what they'll never see."

She explained the power politics used by Senator Kerr in getting the project authorized. It took 4 1/2 years to complete the construction of the waterway, with the Tulsa part handling nearly 63,000 tons of cargo during the first eight months of 1971.

In closing, Mrs. Marx used a quote of Mark Twain, who in 1882 had one of his characters, the mate of the steamer Gold Dust, say: "Government is doing a deal for the Mississippi now, spending loads of money on her. When here there used to be 4,000 steam- and 10,000 acres of coal barges, and rafts, and trading sows, there wasn't a lantern, iron; Saint Paul to New Orleans, and the snags were thicker than bristles on a hog's back; and now, when there's three dozen steamboats and nary a barge or raft, the government has snatched out all the snags, and lit up the shores like Broadway, and a boat's as safe on the river as she'd be in heaven."

"An I reckon that by the time there ain't any boats left at all, the Commission will have the old thing all reorganized, and dredged out and fenced in, and tidied up to a degree that will make navigation just simply perfect, and absolutely safe and profitable."

Other members attending were Mmes. G. L. Craddock, V. L. Hobbs, Ross Buzzard, J.R. Donaldson, Rufe Jordan, Walden Moore, Doyle Osborne, E. E. Shelhamer and L.H. Hart.

Senators Considering Amending Tax-Cut Bill

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Several members of the Senate Finance Committee are considering amending the $15.5-billion tax-cut bill to give greater protection to U.S.-produced automobiles.

The amendment would continue the 7-per-cent excise tax on imported cars and repeal it only for vehicles manufactured in this country.

The Finance panel completed six days of public hearings on the House-passed bill Monday and will begin its executive sessions Wednesday. Long said he does not expect a decision until after Congress' Veterans Day recess.

The new 10-per-cent import duty on foreign cars is 6½ per cent above the old 3½-per-cent rate. Present tariff law makes it impossible to raise the duty on autos above 10 per cent.

But, if the 7-per-cent excise is repealed, foreign cars actually could be sold for ½ of 1 per cent less than prices before the administration's new economic policies were announced Aug. 15.

Some Finance Committee sources speculated the Nixon administration might oppose the suggested amendment, feeling it might complicate already delicate negotiations with West Germany and Japan over new exchange rates, defense burdensharing, and removal of nontariff barriers to trade in the two countries.

U.S. Diplomat Asked To Leave Czechoslovakia

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia ordered U.S. diplomat Samuel G. Wise Jr., named in a recent espionage trial of a Czech journalist, to leave this country within 48 hours.

U.S. Charge d'Affairs Arthur J. Wortzel was summoned to the Foreign Ministry Tuesday and informed that Wise was no longer welcome in Czechoslovakia, the U.S. Embassy said.

An embassy spokesman said the ministry was being asked for an extension of the 48-hour given Wise to leave the country.

Wise is the only American still in Czechoslovakia of a number of U.S. diplomats and news correspondents named as having received "information of espionage character" from Arnost Prazak, a former Czechoslovak journalist sentenced recently to 10 years in prison.

Japan Supports U.S. Proposal On China Issue

By WILLIAM N. OTIS
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Japan asserted Tuesday that the expulsion of Nationalist China would damage the United Nations and "would be likely to entail an abrupt change in the delicate international situation prevailing in the Far East."

In General Assembly debate, the former Japanese foreign minister, Kiichi Aichi, denounced the proposed expulsion as unreasonable and "punitive in substance and intent."

He urged adoption of the U.S.-backed plan for "dual representation" under which Red China would be given a seat in the assembly and in the Security Council, while the Taiwan delegation remained in the world organization.

Aichi urged also that the assembly approve a resolution declaring the expulsion of China to be an "important question" requiring a two-thirds majority.

He spoke during the second day of the China debate, which is expected to end next week with voting on an Albanian resolution, containing the expulsion provision, and the "dual representation" plan.

The procedural situation was complicated by a series of amendments to the Albanian proposal submitted by Saudi Arabia. One of these would seat Peking as the representative of mainland China and the Nationalists as the government of Taiwan.

U.S. Charge d'Affairs Arthur J. Wortzel was summoned to the Foreign Ministry Tuesday and informed that Wise was no longer welcome in Czechoslovakia, the U.S. Embassy said.

An embassy spokesman said the ministry was being asked for an extension of the 48-hour given Wise to leave the country.

U.S., Other Nations Cooperate To Study Communicable Disease

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House voted 341 to 0 Monday to extend the scope of United States cooperation with neighboring nations in fighting communicable diseases among animals.

The legislation authorizes the secretary of agriculture to cooperate with Mexico, Guatemala, El Salvador, Costa Rica, Honduras, Panama, Colombia and Canada to prevent or retard the spread of such diseases as horse sleeping sickness—which swept into Texas this year.

Earlier this month, similar legislation passed the Senate in the form of two bills—one for Mexico, the other for Central American countries. The House version added Canada, meaning final congressional approval awaits Senate action on the House's inclusion of Canada.

Currently, the agriculture secretary has power to cooperate with Mexico and Central American nations in measures to battle foot-and-mouth disease and rinder-pest, and to join with Mexico in programs to deal with screw-worm.

The legislation would extend that power and broaden the authority by including all communicable diseases. In addition, the United States could cooperate in programs to control or eradicate poultry diseases.

Sponsors noted that Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis (VEE)—reached southern Mexico in 1970 and was spotted near Brownsville, Tex., this July.

House Agriculture Committee Chairman W. R. Poage, D-Tex., said the latest figures showed that about 1,350 horses have died of VEE and 2,000 became ill. In addition, 94 persons reportedly have come down with the sickness, Poage said.

HOUSTON (AP) — Police here have solved the case of the missing 35-foot long bra—actually a piece of canvas sculpture—which was stolen Saturday from the building site of the Contemporary Arts Museum.

Dick Wray, 38, said the bra was dirty but undamaged when an unidentified woman turned it in to police officers Monday.

Wray said he's looking for an extra-large automatic washer and when clean he'll hang it up again on a cable clothesline, in a spot inaccessible to underwear freaks.

HOUSTON (AP) — State Reps. Jim Earthman and Will Lee both announced Monday they are candidates for the State Senate in the newly created 13th district.

Earthman and Lee both Republicans are serving their second terms in the Texas House. The senatorial district created Friday by the legislative board, stretches in a giant semi-circle around west, north and south Harris County.

Flip Wilson Realizes His Cherished Desire

By DICK KLEINER
HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — No matter what happens from here on, Flip Wilson figures he's licked the system. He's ahead of the game.

Sixteen years ago, Clerow Wilson of Jersey City, N.J., was discharged from the U.S. Air Force. He decided he would try to become a comedian. He was serious about being funny, and sat down and figured out a long-term plan to achieve that objective.

"I'm now in the 16th year of a 20-year plan — or rather, a 15-year plan to be followed by a five-year plan," he says. "When I set out to become a comedian, I did a lot of reading about comics—not the now comics, but the old gentlemen like Bert Williams and W.C. Fields.

"I learned that it takes a long time to be a good comedian. So I gave myself 15 years to learn, to make mistakes. I didn't care if I made any money or not during those 15 years.

"I never had anything to start with, so I didn't have anything to lose. We're all born naked, and if after 50 years we die with a suit of clothes on our back, I figure we're ahead."

So that's what he did, work to learn rather than to make money. He says that for the first seven years, he made less than $1,000 annually. He hitchhiked around the country, working as much as he could, practicing, trying, failing on his face, picking himself up and trying again.

"I dreamed success," he says. "I used to fall asleep under a tree or in a parked car, anywhere, and I'd dream of all this that I have now. I'd wake up and try to go back to sleep, so I could dream it again."

He worked for $10 a night. But he was young, he had no responsibilities, he could afford it. He was learning. And he was aiming toward the second part of his plan, the five years that would follow the 15 years of education.

"After 15 years," he says, "I felt I would know my business and be able to work the next five years for my own security. I figured I'd be able to make enough in those five years to hold me the rest of my life."

He figures he's a couple of years ahead of his plan.

"That is probably an understatement. Certainly, Flip Wilson has to be considered one of the major talents today. His weekly NBC show is a smash hit, now in its second year. He could write his own ticket for club work.

"My success," he says, "is not beyond my wildest dreams — it is my wildest dreams." He remembers being a poor kid back in New Jersey, with FLIP WILSON and his friend, Geraldine, have become a hit but it hasn't occurred overnight. Wilson says he is now in the 16th year of a 20-year plan he drew up when he was learning to be a comedian and working for $10 a night.

nothing or the next best thing. He would look enviously at other kids who had something. And he would want things, the things they had.

"But gradually," he says, "I came to the realization that nobody was about to give those things to me. I'd have to earn them myself. It dawned on me that I didn't want the things the other kids had — I wanted my own. There's a difference."

Now he has the money to afford anything he wants. But, as so often happens, he hasn't the time to enjoy them. The only luxury he has indulged himself with is a car — a blue Rolls-Royce convertible — because he likes to drive. But he doesn't have a big house or a swimming pool. Not yet.

Now that he's arrived he believes he'll work beyond those five years of his plan. Other ambitions have been born in his soul.

"I've had this funny idea in the back of my head lately," he says, "and I know it sounds conceited, but it's possible. I've won an Emmy and a Grammy for a record album, but wouldn't it be nice if I also won an Oscar and a Tony?"

So he may next try movies and then maybe Broadway. Those are sometime in the future; he realizes he has a lot to learn about both film and stage. But he'll learn those crafts just as he learned his basic trade, comedy.

"I made mistakes," he says, "mistake again — I may make a different mistake, but not that one. I don't make that one."

World's Only Pianist Who Played For Nixon, Brazhens And Mosygin

P4 2-30 WORLD'S ONLY DENTON, Tex. (AP) — Voytek Matushevski, a young music student at North Texas State University, claims to be the only pianist in the world who has played for the Nixons, the Brazhens and the Kosygin.

Matushevski, studying here for a musical arts doctorate, when he won the 1969 young artists' competition of the National Federation of Music Clubs. He is a student of Leon Fleisher and has made concert tours through the United States and Europe.

The Polish-born pianist began playing at the age of six and made his debut at 14 while a student at the Warsaw Conservatory. He performed with the Warsaw Philharmonic for the conservatory's centennial, but left Poland in 1965 when not allowed to enter a Copin competition. As result of that, the Polish Ministry of Culture felt it owed him a favor, Matushevski explained.

"They asked me what I wanted, and I said I wanted to come to the United States. They even paid for my ticket—one way," said the pianist.

Once in America on a one-year visa, Matushevski started studying with Fleisher and decided to stay. After three years with Fleisher, he received a diploma from the Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore, Md.

Now stateless, Matushevski is an honorary citizen of Texas—a factor which had something to do with his choice of NTSU.

He is the first recipient of Dr. Isabel Sciotti scholarship named for the donor, an internationally known pianist and teacher who lives in Denton.

"My lord, now I don't worry about anything," says Matushevski. "There's nothing bigger and richer than Texas."

AUSTIN (AP) — A new award honoring the memory of the University of Texas' distinguished Walter Prescott Webb, will be presented next spring as part of the 1972 junior historian essay writing contest.

The $100 award will be given to the high school student submitting the best paper on an ecological subject.

The junior historians organization, whose parent body is the Texas State Historical Association, was founded in 1939 by Webb. Junior Historian Clubs are organized in many Texas senior and junior high schools.

Study Shows Erosion Along Texas Beaches

AUSTIN (AP) — There are 38 areas of critical erosion along Texas beaches, a U.S. Army Corps of Engineers study shows.

The areas total 91.7 miles of beach, and it would cost an estimated $79,345,000 for replenishment of the sand and other protective measures, the study shows.

Most of the beaches suffering high rates of erosion are along the Upper Texas Coast. The initial cost of stopping the damage ranges from $60 to $200 a front foot, depending on how close replacement sand is, according to the study.

There are 2,498 miles of mean tide shoreline along the Texas Gulf, bays and estuaries, the study says. Approximately 82 per cent of this shoreline is owned privately, 16 per cent by the federal government and 2 per cent by the state, counties or cities.

In 1959, the legislature passed the open beach law, giving the public the right to use beaches between mean high tide and mean low tide.

The worst erosion on gulf coast beaches, with the estimated cost of protective measures, is occurring at:

- A 7.2-mile section along the west shore of Trinity Bay, $2.2 million.
- A 2-mile stretch along the west shore of Galveston Bay near La Porte, $600,000.
- Three sections totaling 2.2 miles along the west shore of Galveston Bay near Seabrook, $600,000.
- A 4-mile stretch of the shore of Clear Lake near Seabrook, $80,000.
- A 9.6-mile stretch along the west shore of Galveston Bay from Kemah south to April Fool Point, $2.4 million.
- A 4-mile section near San Luis Pass between Galveston and Follets Island, $200,000.
- Three sections totaling 5.1 miles along northeastern shores of Tres Palacios Bay near Palacios and Collegeport, $12.75 million.
- A 2.6-mile stretch along the ed to the north three times at some points.

Arrangements have been made to conduct a course in speedreading. The course is open to anyone above the age of 13, and guarantees to at least triple every graduate's reading speed, and increase their comprehension.

After graduation, a person can read any average length book in less than an hour and understand it better. In addition to speedreading the course also emphasizes improved study techniques, better test taking skills, and increased concentration and retention abilities.

The course requires a person to attend one class per week on the evening of their choice. For those who would like more information without obligation to enroll, a series of FREE one hour orientation lectures have been scheduled.

These meetings are free to the public and the course will be explained in complete detail, including entrance requirements, classroom procedures, tuition, class schedule and location. You need attend only one of the meetings — whichever is most convenient for you.

These free one hour orientations will be held in Coronado Inn Emerald Room on Oct. 20 and 21st, Wed. & Thurs, 6:30 and 8:00 p.m.

This course is offered under the auspices of the AMERICAN SPEEDREADING ACADEMY. The classes are limited to a maximum of 12 students in order to administer individualized attention. All instructors are professional reading teachers with degrees in education.

The guaranteed "triple your reading speed" is a bare minimum as the average student graduates at 2,000 words per minute and better, and with much better comprehension.

This course is also available to industry and other groups upon request. (Adv.)

Connally Will Visit Other Nations In Asia After Thieu's Inauguration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally will visit Thailand, the Philippines and Japan and perhaps other Asian countries after he goes to Saigon to represent President Nixon at the Oct. 31 inauguration of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu.

The announcement by presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler made official what White House officials had disclosed Monday. The foreign affairs assignment has added another feather to the Democratic Cabinet member's already crowded bonnet and spurred fresh speculation that Nixon is grooming him as a 1972 running mate.

Ziegler said the main purpose of Connally's Asian journey is to represent the President at Thieu's inauguration. "While in that area he will take the opportunity to visit other countries... to talk about international monetary matters," Ziegler said.

When asked the reason for the visit, Ziegler said Connally's full itinerary has not been completed and that it is possible he would visit one or two other countries.

One reporter, who noted that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew had been designated to represent Nixon when Thieu was inaugurated for his first term, asked whether there was any significance in the fact Agnew was not picked for this trip.

"Not really," Ziegler responded. He observed that Agnew now is completing a trip to Turkey, Iran and Greece and said it was "felt he would want to spend some time in the United States" after his travels.

A Connally visit to Japan would be especially noteworthy in view of the fact that Japanese officials have been buffeted by protests over an agreement signed last week limiting Japanese textile shipments to the United States.

Bribe Temptations Threatening Scotland Yard's Proud Integrity

By ANTHONY COLLINGS Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard is worried that some of London's 20,686 policemen are facing new temptations that threaten to tarnish the Yard's proud badge of integrity.

Two detectives appeared in court last week on bribery charges—the latest in a series of alleged corruption cases.

In one case a convicted thief told a court he paid almost $1,400 in bribes to several of the London "bobbies." Some have been jailed for extorting money from shopkeepers they falsely charged with handling stolen goods, and for taking bribes to help thieves plan a robbery.

Police say these cases represent an extreme minority. But the Yard has issued new guidelines tightening rules on police contacts with "underworld figures."

Only 24 of 3,309 reported complaints against police last year were substantiated, the Yard says, and most were minor offenses not involving corruption. But in a society so law-abiding that most policemen don't carry guns, even "a little corruption" is considered too much.

Recent press articles expressed concern that more than a dozen bobbies are awaiting trial and about 60 others are under suspension pending investigation of complaints against them. Last year 88 policemen in Britain were convicted of crimes, including corruption.

One current case dates back to an expose in the Times. Britain's most influential newspaper, alleging that a senior Yard officer and two detective sergeants took bribes.

The story in late 1969 touched off a one-year investigation by 30 officers—the biggest internal probe in Yard history.

The three policemen, arrested on bribery and corruption charges, pleaded innocent in preliminary hearings and are on bail. The senior officer is charged with plotting to extort money from a thief he allegedly framed.

The thief testified that for one alleged bribe he made payments totaling $480 in several instalments left in a book on a car seat. The policeman denies he ever took any bribe.

A defendant in another case, a detective-sergeant, faces seven counts including alleged bribes ranging from 50 to 100 pounds, $120 to $240.

In a separate case, the one that began last week, two detectives are accused with three civilians of plotting to obtain 100 pounds as a favor in return for getting an arrested man released on bail.

Court testimony and newspaper accounts in past cases show that underworld contacts often start out being legitimate, providing police with tips from informers.

"In our work," said one detective charged with taking bribes, "we have to go along with criminals on certain things. But to say that we received money is absolutely ridiculous."

Three detectives got into trouble when a crook acting as a paid informer for them wound up turning the cops into paid informers for him.

They were sentenced to up to two years in prison for sharing a $360 bribe for information they gave thieves to help them plan the theft of cigarettes and whisky.

A detective-sergeant was sentenced to four years for demanding $4,800 not to arrest an antique dealer he falsely accused of handling stolen goods. A thief plotted with the cop in the racket.

Police insist such cases are rare.

Disagreeing, Gordon Newman, author of a novel about a bribe-taking London detective, says he learned the "going rate" for various bribes during two years' research.

Newman lives in Soho, a district packed with prostitutes, gamblers and drug peddlers. The police station which covers Soho reportedly gets more complaints of corruption than other London precincts.

One theory in the press is that bribery has become a more serious problem recently as rich mobsters moved into Soho rackets.

Younger cops, often paid $3,600 a year, face the lure of big money offered during contacts with Soho informers. The Yard prefers older men for the Soho beat.

S. Viet's Senate Opposes Move To Probe Rigged Election Charges

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's Senate rejected by a vote of 19-18 Tuesday an opposition move to investigate charges that the Oct. 3 presidential election was rigged.

The proposal to form a special investigating committee was introduced by Sen. Vu Van Mau, head of the militant An Quant Buddhist faction in the Senate.

Mau accused President Nixon of "disregarding" the Supreme Court in Saigon by sending congratulations to the South Vietnamese president via Gov. Ronald Reagan of California before the court had officially validated the election results.

The action came less than two weeks before the inauguration of President Nguyen Van Thieu, who claimed a 94.3 per cent vote of confidence when he won re-election in an uncontested race.

Many independent senators who had voted with the An Quang bloc on recent issues, including a pre-election demand that Thieu resign, voted against formation of the investigation committee.

Advocates of the resolution had hoped for passage to lend "moral support" to the Supreme Court, which heard petitions from opposition figures demanding invalidation of the election.

A court spokesman said a decision on the petitions would be rendered Wednesday "at the earliest." The court has until Oct. 26 to make a decision.

TV & Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Ed Sullivan started his new career as host of television specials by recalling some of the highlights of his 23 years as host of a weekly variety show.

The Sullivan program on CBS was able to tap an enormous storehouse of talent for a star-drenched 90 minutes Sunday night.

The guest list, stretching from 1948 with the Andrews Sisters to the 1970 Jackson Five, ranged from former President Lyndon B. Johnson to the Moiseyev Dancers, from Jackie Gleason to Joan Sutherland.

It was a remarkable job of assembling all the bits and pieces — of color and black and white, from film, tape and grainy kinescopes — into a program that was, by and large, vastly interesting.

There were appearances of the Beatles, first in a 1964 show attended by a throng of queuing youngsters and with the British stars themselves looking very young and diffident. Then there was the appearance of Elvis Presley. After a brief shot showing the singer from had to foot, the camera concentrated steadily on his face and guitar. Several years later, it was noted, singer Tom Jones received much the same camera treatment on the show.

There was the unknown young singer, Barbra Streisand, putting a lot of emotion into an indifferent song. The emergence of Diana Ross as a solo star was traced in various appearances on the show over the years, starting as one of "three young girls from Detroit." — The Supremes in their Sullivan show debut.

Many of the performers seen are gone now — Bert Lahr, Sophie Tucker, Gary Cooper, Clark Gable, Charles Laughton, Janis Joplin and Judy Garland among them.

Each of the networks this year has a children's program that is something special, they tell us, in quality. CBS has "You Are There"; ABC, "Curiosity Shop"; and NBC, "Take a Giant Step."

The latter, like the rest on Saturdays, is ambitious, well-intentioned, and an effort to satisfy critics and, at the same time, attract the desired audience the post Sesame Street" and pre-Mod Squad" crowd.

Gospel-Singing Family Presented In Concert

Professional in quality and deeply spiritual is the description contemporaries in the Gospel music field give the Florence family, appearing in concert Friday at the Lamar Full Gospel Assembly.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Florence and their teen-age children, Debbie, Jerry and Bob, El Reno, Okla., have blended their separate talents into a harmonious interpretation of gospel standards, old hymns and sacred songs of the church. The result has been concert appearances in auditoriums and churches covering thousands of miles of travel.

According to the Rev. Gene Allen, pastor, Lamar Full Gospel Assembly, the Florence family looks on their singing as a ministry rather than a profession. In keeping with this concept they have woven a number of selections together as a "sermon in song" which will be an important part of their appearance.

The concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the church, 1200 S. Sumner.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Laura's editor was shrewd, so he told me she needed my recipe for cheesecake in the boudoirs but she meanwhile tried to pass the buck and blame me because her husband had started to stray. For then she thought she could evade the blame for being 50 per cent a fault. Beware!

CASE R-593: Laura V., aged 38, is fat but forceful.

"That awful Dr. Crane," she exploded over the telephone to her editor, "why do you run his column? For all he talks about is sex! I haven't read his column for months because I can't stand the way he always picks on us wives. Why doesn't he criticize our husbands occasionally?"

symptoms of women past 40 to auto eroticism in toddlers, or teen-age dating dilemmas and the Ponce de Leon Complex.

If you fearful wives wish the best recipe for cheesecake in the boudoir, just send for my booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

Remember, all the possible dramatic plots used in fiction fall into only 36 classes.

Yet how many millions of love stories have been evolved around the "love" category, which is just one of those 36 dramatic plots?

When you hear people attack this column bitterly, then grow suspicious!

Ignore the obvious and seek the deeper emotional element that may be rationalized by the spoken complaint.

This column loses a few papers but always adds more to offset them.

And in the cases where a paper cancels, we often find that the wife of some newspaper official is obese and resented my trying to make such women go on a diet, as by calling them a "baby hippo," etc.

Others blame me for the fact their husband is straying, when they themselves are actually at fault.

But they conveniently pass the buck, for this helps them feel they are 100 per cent innocent, so they thus try to wrangle sympathy from their women friends!

Laura's Gripe

What do you readers think is the underlying cause of Laura's hatred of this column?

The French police motto is: "Cherchez la femme."

Translated, that says "Look for the woman."

But in its broader sense, it means, "Seek the underlying motive."

The editor engaged Laura in a lengthy conversation and found that she never misses reading this column, despite her earlier claim that she hadn't looked at it for months!

"Do you think the fact she is 'fat' might be a factor in her ire?"

Actually, I cover 875 different, distinct family and social problems in this column.

For my "smorgasbord formula" includes the five basic instincts of motivating forces of mankind.

These are Children, Love and Marriage, Personality Development, Psychosomatic Medicine, and Applied Psychology as related to teaching, preaching, business and the professions.

The usual medical columnist covers only about 250 different medical ailments, after which he must start all over again with Appendicitis, Asthma, Arthritis, etc.

And even the Etiquette Column has less than 200 different problems, after which it must also begin repeating.

"Yes, but Dr. Crane talks about sex every week," Laura might reply.

True enough, but the medical columnist also discusses fever as a symptom of maybe 50 ailments.

And sex likewise covers a wide variety of problems, ranging from menopause!

Calif. Balance Of Trade With Japan Improves

By MIKE SILVERMAN
Associated Press Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — California's balance of trade with Japan will improve as a result of international economic changes sparked by President Nixon's 10 per cent import surcharge, some bankers here say.

Nixon clamped the temporary tariff on most foreign items Aug. 15 in an effort to halt the United States' growing trade deficit by forcing major trading rivals to revalue their currencies upward and lower barriers to U.S. products.

During 1970 the United States imported $5.8 billion in Japanese goods and exported $4.6 billion to Japan, for a $1.2-billion deficit. In the first half of 1971, the deficit reached $1.5 billion, with $3.6 billion in imports and $2.1 billion in exports.

California, which provides 29 per cent of U.S. exports to Japan, had a half-billion-dollar trading deficit in 1970, with imports outmeasuring exports $18 million to $13.3 billion.

Harold Buma, manager of Wells Fargo Bank's economic department, said he is "quite optimistic," the trade deficit will begin to decrease in 1972.

"The yen has already floated up about 10 per cent," he says. "We hope to see a revaluation of something like 15 per cent."

Bank of America officials disagree with Buma about the immediate impact of revaluation on trade.

"The absolute value of the deficit won't decline in 1972," says Kimi Narita, a Japanese-American assistant economist for international research and forecasting.

"Nixon is taking a long-term view," she said, if he can get Japan to accelerate the liberalization of trade, then California stands to gain.

Bank of America Vice President R. E. Ogle says it is important Japan remove tariffs and quota restrictions on California agricultural produce, "especially the more sophisticated goods like almonds, olives and raisins which their per capita income enables them to add to their diet."

Buma says that although the West Coast dock strike made West Coast dock strike made it impossible to gauge the surcharge's impact, Japanese imports would continue to increase regardless of the 10 per cent tax.

"We have to recognize that most Japanese goods are still going to be cheaper, because of the greater efficiency of their industrial plant and the lower cost of labor."

While all the bankers agree the surcharge is a temporary measure designed to force international monetary restructuring, they don't agree on how long it will remain in effect.

Buma thinks it will be lifted "fairly soon, a matter of weeks, not months and months," as soon as the major powers offer a "temporary package" for revaluation. But Miss Narita says, "It's not going to be such a short temporary thing."

Pampa John Birch Society Joins Opposition To Nixon China Visit

The John Birch Society has launched a new campaign. Under the firm and direct appeal, "Please, Mr. President, Do Not Go!" the nationwide conservative group is urging President Nixon to cancel his plans to visit Red China.

The plea appears in the form of a four-page "Protest Letter" to the President, with spaces at the end for five signatures. Members and friends of the anti-Communist organization are being asked to get them to the White House. The Birch Society reports that already, nearly two million copies of the letter are in circulation.

In discussing the Birch campaign, Jack Skelly, a Pampa leader in the Society, said: "We are convinced that a visit by our President to the murderous criminals who control mainland China would be disastrous for all freedom-loving people. It would mean a betrayal of our anti-Communist allies in Asia, as well as an abandonment of millions of Chinese who are suffering under one of the most despotic tyrannies in history."

Citing a recent U.S. Senate Subcommittee report entitled, "The Human Cost of Communism in China," Skelly continued: "Mao Tse Tung, Chou En Lai, and their band of cutthroats have murdered somewhere between 34 million and 63 million of their fellow Chinese while consolidating and maintaining their power. To treat these barbarians as a legitimate government, to have the President of the United States meet with them as equals, and to accept them as the rulers of the Chinese people

The Greatest In College Football Is Joe Ferguson

NEW YORK (AP) — "The single greatest performance by a quarterback against quality opposition I've ever seen."

Wouldn't you say that's a Back of the Week recommendation? The quote comes from Coach Frank Broyles of Arkansas and the object of his affection is Joe Ferguson, who passed, ran and directed the Razorbacks to their so-called Revenge at the Rock (Little Rock, Saturday, a 31-7 whumping of arch-rival Texas.

All the 6-foot-2, 175-pound junior quarterback from Shreveport, La., did was complete 14 of 24 passes for 249 yards and three touchdowns and run 10 yards for another score, which happened to be the one that broke a 7-7 tie and put Arkansas ahead to stay.

For that performance, Ferguson was named National College Back of the Week by The Associated Press. "Some of the pro scouts commented to me that he has a quick release similar to Joe Namath," Broyles said. "They're startled when they see him throw the ball. One scout told me Ferguson's the most accurate college passer he's ever seen."

Ronnie Jones Named Player Of The Week

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas defensive end Ronnie Jones covered as much ground as a middle linebacker last Saturday against Texas. He made 14 unassisted tackles, gave five assists and recovered a fumble.

For his performance in the Razorbacks 31-7 victory, Jones was named The Associated Press' Defensive Player of the Week in the Southwest Conference. "In my 10 years at Arkansas, I cannot recall a defensive end figuring in as many plays as did Ronnie Jones against Texas," said Arkansas assistant coach Farrell. "Fourteen unassisted tackles is almost unbelievable for an end. It sounds more like a middle linebacker who has a chance to make plays on both sides."

Jones and his defense cohorts were so effective that Texas' vaunted Wishbone-T attack netted only 140 yards on the ground, far below the Longhorns' average of 319.8 yards in a game in their first four games.

Big George Archer, winner of two titles and more than $100,000 this season, is another major threat. Archer also lost in a playoff in the 1969 Kaiser and hasn't finished lower than sixth the last six times he has played in this event. Other standouts include Miller Barber, Tom Weiskopf and young Jerry Heard, all $100,000 winners this season.

Arkansas dared Texas to throw, putting nine men on the line of scrimmage in anything less than an obvious passing situation. This alignment supplied Jones and the other linemen with plenty of secondary support against the triple option. "The adrenalin was really flowing," Jones said. "We got the Texas quarterback (Donnie Wigginton) a little gun-shy. Everyone was after the ball carrier and he had indecisions and Texas' linemen just couldn't block us all."

"We were a young team and it was the first chance at Texas for a lot of the players," Jones said. "It's really amazing how bad everyone wanted it (the victory)."

Arkansas has not beaten Texas since Jones arrived at Fayetteville in 1967. "It would have been bad to have been here five years and never have beaten Texas," Jones said.

Walt Alston Picked As Top NL Manager

By BERT ROSENTHAL Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Venerable Walt Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers, who says, "I can't think of anything I'd rather do than manage," was named today as The Associated Press' Manager of the Year in the National League for the fifth time.

The 59-year-old Alston, in his 18th season as manager of the Dodgers, piloted Los Angeles to a second-place finish in the NL's West Division. Los Angeles wound up one game behind San Francisco after trailing the Giants by eight games going into the final month of the season.

Alston, whose 18 consecutive seasons with the club is tops among active major league managers, received 72 votes from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters. Charlie Fox, in his first full season as San Francisco manager, was a close second with 65 votes. Danny Murtaghs of the Pittsburgh Pirates led this year's World Series championship team with 57 votes. The voting was based only on regular season performances.

The modest, effable Alston, however, paid tribute to Murtaghs' effort. "That guy in Pittsburgh did quite a job," said Alston from his home in Darrow, Ohio.

But the Dodgers' plight also was grateful to receive the award again. "It's quite an honor," he said. "I really appreciate it."

Alston also was named NL Manager of the Year in 1935, 1959, 1965 and 1966, all seasons in which he guided the Dodgers to the league championship. He also took them to the NL title in 1956 and 1963.

Asked about the Dodgers' near-miss this year, he said, "We were all disappointed that we didn't win after getting so close. But you've got to give the players credit, from the youngest rookie to the oldest veteran. Nobody quit. They all gave 100 per cent, and that's all I could ask."

Alston, a former school teacher, has been working on one-year contracts since he succeeded Charlie Dressen as Dodgers' manager in 1964. Apparently that's the way he wants it. "I'm satisfied, and I hope they are," he said.

Top Ten Picks Should Ride On Victory Road

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — This week it looks like the Associated Press' top ten teams will keep on winning.

Nebraska at Oklahoma State—State's Floyd Gass says the Cowpokes will "play well against Nebraska," but he didn't say which year. The fine sophomores may be in over their heads against the Cornhuskers, ranked by the AP as the best team in the nation. Gass isn't from Brooklyn but wait 'til next year, anyway. NEBRASKA.

Oklahoma at Kansas State—Everything may be up to date in Kansas City but things aren't even up to last year at Kansas State, when the Wildcats knocked off ... OKLAHOMA.

Michigan at Minnesota—Illinois just got through playing Ohio State and Michigan. Now it's Minnesota's turn to tangle with Michigan and Ohio State. Bryant is running Bill Yeoman's triple option disguised as the Wishbone. An upset is possible, such as last year's 30-21 'Bama victory over the favored Cougars. Surprise, surprise? Nope. ALABAMA.

Clemson at Auburn—Clemson has come alive the last two weeks but the reincarnation has to stop somewhere. Hold That Tiger is the theme, since both teams are nicknamed Tigers. Doing the legal holding ... AUBURN.

Southern California at Notre Dame—The Irish were 10-1 last season and the 1 was named Southern Cal to the tune of 38-28. It cost Notre Dame the national championship and, even though there's a freeze on the Trojans will pay through the nose. NOTRE DAME.

Texas Christian at Penn State—The Christians and the Lions? Have mercy ... PENN STATE.

Wisconsin at Ohio State—Badgers are on the rise and Buckeyes are hurting. That, however, is when Woody Hayes is most dangerous. Besides, how many times in one year can the Buckeyes lose in Columbus? OHIO STATE.

Washington State—Flood's two-year fight to make baseball subject to antitrust laws may be settled finally at the middle of next season by the U.S. Supreme Court.

For the first time since 1953 the high court agreed Tuesday to hear arguments on a legal attack on the structure of professional baseball.

In 1922 the court decided baseball is essentially a sport and not a business. In 1953 the court said any change in baseball's status should be up to Congress.

Flood's case may be delayed by two court vacancies, but a final decision is expected by June. Former Justice Arthur Goldberg will argue for the one-time all-star centerfielder at a hearing tentatively set for mid-January.

Flood and Goldberg objected in their suit mainly to the "reserve system," which binds a player to the team that holds his contract.

Archie Manning Respects Tough Dallas Unit After Upset Win

NEW YORK (AP) — "I have the greatest respect for Dallas' defensive unit," Archie Manning said.

Perhaps the defensive unit didn't have quite enough respect for Archie, New Orleans' rookie quarterback, taking full advantage of Dallas mistakes, personally ran and passed the Saints to a 24-14 upset of the powerful Cowboys.

His two touchdown scampers and a 29-yard scoring strike to running back Tony Baker gave the Saints all the points they needed Sunday and, as a result, gave Manning the nod today as The Associated Press Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

The flashy 6-foot-3, 204-pounder from Ole Miss, New Orleans

No. 1 draft choice last winter, edged out wide receiver Otis Taylor of Kansas City, running back Bo Scott of Cleveland and quarterback Bob Griese of Miami.

Manning insisted the big play of the game was not one which put points on the scoreboard but rather one which helped keep Dallas from doing so.

"We had less than four minutes to play and, with Roger Staubt throwing those two touchdowns, the Cowboys had the momentum. And we had the ball, third-and-six on our own 25-yard line."

"I went back to pass but couldn't find anyone open, so I just took off around the left side," he said. The gallop netted 13 yards, a first down and more precious time to control the ball.

Three plays later the Saints had to give it up—but Dallas fumbled the punt away on its own three-yard line and, moments later, Manning punched over from the two.

On his 13-yard scoring run, Manning acknowledged it "was actually a pass play, but I couldn't see any receiver's getting free. So I simply went up the middle."

"I had to dodge a few people," he said. In fact, six Cowboys had a shot at him—but none could bring him down. And of his pass to Baker, made on the run as he scrambled away from onrushing tacklers, he said simply: "He had two or three defenders on him but somehow the ball found its way through them."

WOMAN'S PLACE: Up there in the stands cheering or down there on the field breaking up double plays? Mrs. Janice Lawler, left, jumped on a plane in London to come to the United States and cheer on the British lads in the Ryder Cup Golf Matches, wearing her patriotic pants. But Jackie Jackson, right, a 23-year-old cost analyst, would like to break into professional baseball and has been warming up by playing first base and pitching in a men's softball league.

Lee Trevino And Billy Casper On Hand For Kaiser Tournament

By BOB GREEN Associated Press Golf Writer NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Lee Trevino and a determined Billy Casper head a bulky field of 156 players as the pro golf tour resumes after a three week break Thursday with the $150,000 Kaiser International Open golf tournament.

Trevino, who suddenly emerged as the dominant figure in the game this year, was scheduled to make a late arrival at the Silverado Country Club course, but the slump-ridden Casper showed up early to get in some practice rounds.

Jack Nicklaus, the No. 1 money winner with over $207,000 this season, Arnold Palmer and South African Gary Player all are skipping this event. Thus, the flamboyant Trevino is easily the No. 1 gate attraction for this event in the northern California wine country.

And he makes no bones about his aim of overtaking Nicklaus for the money title. Trevino has $197,000. "I think if I could win the money title, I'd have a good chance of winning the Hicoch belt (as the professional athlete of the year). That's something I'd really like to have," he said earlier this season.

But Trevino has had his troubles in recent months. He had some personal problems, was sidelined for a while with an emergency appendectomy and has won less than $1,000 official money since making his lightning sweep of the United States, Canadian and British Open titles.

The 40-year-old Casper, Player of the Year in 1970, hasn't won so far this season. It's the first time since 1966 that a year has gone by without a Casper victory.

"I'm probably a little more determined than I've been in the past," said Casper, winner of 44 tour titles including two U.S. Open championships. He lost in playoff for the 1969 Kaiser title and missed the cut last year.

Big George Archer, winner of two titles and more than $100,000 this season, is another major threat. Archer also lost in a playoff in the 1969 Kaiser and hasn't finished lower than sixth the last six times he has played in this event.

Other standouts include Miller Barber, Tom Weiskopf and young Jerry Heard, all $100,000 winners this season.

Dallas Cowboys Better Be Emotional Or No Super Bowl

DALLAS (AP) — Linebacker Lee Roy Jordan says the Dallas Cowboys had better start playing on emotion or forget the Super Bowl.

"All of winning is emotional," says the firebrand leader of the Dallas Doomsday defense. "If you just want to be cold, hard and businesslike you will end up the season 7-7 or 6-8."

Jordan says "We've got to start getting emotionally ready. When we find it we will be a great football team again, like we were when we made that drive to the Super Bowl."

The former All-American under Coach Paul Bear Bryant at Alabama says "You can't just wait until game day to get fired up. You've got to star on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday to be ready by game time. You can't wait until the day before either."

The Cowboys have faltered in the early going of the National Football League season and hold a 32 record, trailing National Conference leader Washington by two full games.

"We never lost our fire when I was at Alabama," says Jordan. "You don't realize it's gone ... and then ... gosh ... there it goes. We've just lost the spark that we had last year. Now we've got to get it back."

Jordan says the team may not have been "concentrating in practice the way it should. The offense and defense tends to take it easy on each other. Well, that's going to stop. The offense is going to have to work extremely hard if they complete a pass on us (the defense) in practice."

Jordan realizes he is playing under a coach that isn't as emotional as Bryant was in college. But he likes the way Tom Landry operates.

"He gives you approval in his own way," Jordan says. "And we've got to start earning some of it."
