Three Million New Car Purchasers Will Get Excise Refunds

DETROIT (AP) — About three million Americans who have purchased new cars since Aug. 15 can expect a Christmas bonus averaging around $200 each—or a total of about $600 million.

But Santa Claus may be a bit late in delivery. President Nixon signed a tax bill Friday that included repeal of the World War II-vintage 7 per cent excise tax on new cars. The repeal applies retroactive to all new cars purchased since the President initiated his wage-price freeze Aug. 15. The paper work required to send refund checks to buyers, combined with the Christmas postal jam, may delay many rebates until the New Year.

000 new car buyers will begin getting refunds immediately at the rate of 40,000 to 50,000 a day.

In anticipation of congressional and presidential approval, a Ford spokesman said Friday, the company already had 200,000 refund checks run out of computers and ready to go. Daily mailings, however, will be limited to keep from further overburdening the Christmas-clogged postal system.

To dramatize and advertise the swiftness of its refunds, Ford hand-delivered a $232.10 refund on a 1972 LTD to the Richard Doan family of Detroit within an hour of the signing of the bill.

American Motors Corp., taking a calculated risk that Congress would go along with the President's proposal to repeal the tax, has been rebating it immediately on the purchase of left-over 1971 models. AMC says it has rebated approximately $7.1 million on some 45,000 passenger cars and Jeep vehicles.

General Motors and Chrysler buyers looking for rebates must fill out an application and this must go through a verification process at various division headquarters before a check is mailed. The same applies to buyers of 1972 American Motors' models.

It was not determined immediately how Volkswagen, Datsun and other major importers would handle their refunds, but most industry sources forecast it would be by the application-and-verification process.

The tax is based on the vehicle's wholesale price and is paid directly by the manufacturer to the government. The tax is put into the price for which the dealer is billed and in turn is collected from the buyer and rebated to the manufacturer.

It may still be a few days before one can walk into a dealership and buy at a minus-tax price, one dealer explained. "We'll have to work out with the manufacturer how we handle our inventory, billed to us plus tax, before we can start taking it off." General Motors reported sales totaling 1.6 million, counting 23,910 imported Opels, between Aug. 11 and Nov. 30.

Chrysler estimated it has sold 473,000 cars since Aug. 15. Chrysler said it will begin mailing applications for refunds Dec. 20.

Michigan Tunnel Blast Claims 17

PORT HURON, Mich. (AP) — An explosion in a water tunnel under construction 250 feet underground near Port Huron killed 17 workers Saturday, authorities said. At least 22 workers escaped, eight with injuries.

All the men remaining in the tunnel were presumed dead, said Norman Ludy, St. Clair County undersheriff, who was coordinating the rescue operation.

Ludy said search operations were halted about four hours after the 3:20 p.m. explosion to pump toxic gases from the shaft.

At least 14 men escaped from the shaft on their own and eight others were taken with injuries to area hospitals, Ludy said.

Four persons were reported in serious condition and three in fair condition. One was transferred to a Mount Clemens hospital with a head injury.

The men had been working about one mile down the tunnel, near the Lake Huron shoreline about 250 feet below surface when the explosion ripped through the shaft near its entrance.

The major blockage in the tunnel was made of remnants of the ventilation shaft. The shaft ran along the tunnel and was forced back toward the entrance by the explosion, officials said.

The tunnel, about six weeks from completion, is part of a water system which is scheduled to provide high quality Lake Huron water for metropolitan Detroit.

By 1980, the system was slated to pump water to Ann Arbor and Lansing, and was planned to accommodate the water demands of an estimated 8.9 million people by the year 2000.

The workers were finishing laying cement in the huge tunnel, which extends out into the lake five miles until it connects with an intake shaft which extends above the surface. Another mile of the tunnel stretches back onto land.

The water system was planned by the Detroit Metropolitan Water Services Board of Commissioners, which includes representatives from Detroit and Oakland and Macomb counties. The intake tunnel was contracted to Greenfield and Associates for $13 million.

After unsatisfactory performance, however, the job was contracted to Dunbar & Sullivan Dredging Co. of Detroit and Peter Kiewit Sons of Omaha.

The cause of the explosion was not immediately known.

Grull said rescue workers wearing air-packs entered the tunnel and began cutting through tubing which was twisted out of shape by the blast.

Deputies said the force of the explosion knocked a 15-ton piece of equipment back 40 feet. Divers were at the scene and every available ambulance was called, deputies said.

Over 300 Cars Sold In Pampa Since Aug. 15

Approximately 300 Gray County residents who bought new cars since Aug. 15 will be affected by the 7 per cent excise tax refund.

The local refund checks, averaging $200 each, to be sent to Gray Countians would total around $60,000.

Cattle In County Under Quarantine

Cattle movement in Gray County is prohibited "until further notice" by a quarantine imposed at 8 a.m. Friday due to an outbreak of cattle scab. Gray is one of 34 Panhandle Counties affected by the edict handed down by George W. Apple Sr., chairman of the Texas Animal Health Commission.

Cattle scab (psoroptic scabies), a parasitic disease is believed to be widespread over the Tri-State area after discovery of infestation in two Oklahoma counties and at one point in New Mexico. The area veterinarian for TAHC, Dr. D. G. Lindsay, Levelland, working out of Amarillo with a team of veterinarians, said the outbreak evidently began with infestation on eight ranches, feedlots and other premises exposing another 29 in six counties and spread all over the Panhandle.

In addition to Gray, those counties under the quarantine include Armstrong, Bailey, Briscoe, Carson, Castro, Childress, Collingsworth, Cottle, Dallam, Deaf Smith, Donley, Floyd, Foard, Hale, Hall, Hemphill, Hansford, Hardeman, Hartley, Hutchinson, Lamb, Lipscomb, Moore, Motley, Ochiltree, Oldham, Parmer, Potter, Randall, Roberts, Sherman, Swisher and Wheeler.

There must be at least two of these vat dippings 14 days apart supervised by state veterinarian, state or federal inspectors. Movement of cattle is restricted to 14 days after the final dipping and the slaughter of fat cattle must be delayed for 28 days following the last dipping.

Before either can be done the cattle must be checked again by a qualified official. Such certificates must say the cattle apparently are free from both scabies infestation and exposure to such.

Triple Murder Is Reported In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A physician, his wife and two children were found shot to death Saturday in their fashionable apartment on the city's north side, victims of an apparent triple murder and suicide, police said.

Police said it appeared the physician killed his family, then shot himself. Each of the victims was shot in the head and one of the children apparently was cut down while trying to flee, officers said.

Neighbors reported hearing nothing at the time of the shootings apparently occurred, about 11 p.m. Friday night.

The victims were identified as Dr. Karl Aijian, 47; his wife, Blondell, 37; his son, Karl Jr., 12; and his daughter, Cheryl, 11.

Officers Not Pressed Into Holdup Hunt

Neither Gray County sheriff's officers nor Pampa police have been pressed into the search for the trio who took $43,000 from the Western National Bank at Amarillo Friday morning. The chief reason for this, police said, is that no one knows who to look for or where to look.

The trio, their identities hidden by halloween masks, entered the bank shortly after it opened Friday and quickly gathered up the money and fled in a car later proved to have been stolen in Wichita Falls. The car was found later abandoned in the city and the only clue authorities have is the possibility the bank robbers may have changed to a Mustang coupe for the next leg of their getaway.

Area authorities are inclined to agree with Amarillo officers that the "M-O" (modus operandi) of the bank holdup men closely resembles that of the robbers who hit an Amarillo Furr Food Store some weeks ago.

In the meantime, Amarillo officers, lacking clues, are checking out what they termed "possibilities" in the hope of picking up the trail of the robbers and the money.

Karchi Blocking General's Move

LONDON (AP) — Official reports reaching the British government from Dacca Saturday night said the military governor of East Pakistan offered to surrender to India on five conditions. Informants said Pakistan's government blocked the move.

The attempt was reported stymied at least for the time being by a declaration from President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan's government that the governor's approach to the United Nations had not been authorized.

British informants said the information reaching them indicated Maj. Gen. Forman Ali Khan, on behalf of the East Pakistan military governor, made a formal approach to U.N. representatives in which he said the East Pakistanis were prepared to surrender on the following conditions:

—The Pakistan army would surrender only to the Indian army.

—The East Pakistanis would have no official dealings with the Bangla Desh guerrillas fighting for an independent East Pakistan.

—All West Pakistani civilians must be evacuated to West Pakistan.

—Arrangements must be made for a phased evacuation of the Pakistani army.

—The handover of the administration must be to those representatives of East Pakistan's Awami League who were elected to the National Assembly last December, but have not been able to take their seats.

Since these conditions were made known, Islamabad has sought officially to withdraw the approach, British sources said, and as a result, the United Nations has taken no further action.

Indian soldiers are advancing by helicopter on Dacca from a bridgehead 36 miles northeast of East Pakistan's capital and Pakistani resistance is fading, with 1,800 enemy captured in the past 24 hours, a New Delhi spokesman asserted Saturday.

The Indian chief of staff once again urged the Pakistanis to "surrender immediately as the Indian army is closing in on you from every direction. There is no escape for you."

The Indian spokesman said the Indians were moving south on a main road from Bhaira Bazar, near the bridgehead the Indian army seized on the west bank of the broad Meghna River. He would not say how far the Indians had advanced.

Radio Pakistan insisted all important towns in East Pakistan were still under Pakistani control and said on the western front 1,000 miles away, an Indian attack was repulsed in the Chhamb sector of southwestern Kashmir. It added 300 Indian troops were killed.

The New Delhi spokesman, on the other hand, claimed a Pakistani attack in the Chhamb region "was repulsed and the enemy suffered heavy casualties."

The New Delhi spokesman said that in East Pakistan, the Pakistanis have no escape routes left and "the desperate Pakistani troops are now being captured in the hundreds."

Asked to explain the high number of Pakistani soldiers reported captured, the spokesman replied: "Well, they're finding their positions surrounded and when they see that it's hopeless, they just surrender."

The spokesman reported troops from conquered Jessore, 90 miles southeast of Dacca, had made a major river crossing and were advancing toward the capital.

East Pakistan's exiled leaders went to Jessore from Calcutta and set up a provisional capital. They were met by jubilant, cheering crowds. The Indians also rolled through three major district towns Saturday, meeting little opposition from the withdrawing Pakistanis, the spokesman asserted. They were Kushia in the west, Noakhali in the south and Mymensingh in the north.

The spokesman described Pakistani resistance in these latest battles as "light to moderate."

Mishaps Down Rural Traffic

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated eight accidents on rural highways in Gray County during November, according to Sgt. J. L. Dalrymple, Highway Patrol supervisor for the Pampa area.

The crashes resulted in no fatalities and only four persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for the county during the first eleven months of 1971 shows a total of 190 accidents resulting in six persons killed and 95 injured.

Red Giants Wage Verbal War In UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Communist Chinese took their seats in the United Nations a month ago—with polite smiles and handshakes.

They have raised hackles ever since.

They urged U.N. members to shelve a pet Soviet proposal, blamed India for the Pakistan crisis and clashed head-on with a U.N. institution—the ambassador of Saudi Arabia.

They criticized the United States and other Western nations but reserved quality venom for their fellow Communist giant.

U.N. exchanges between the Arabs and Israelis, Indians and Pakistanis are mild compared with those that have occurred between the hulking Jacob Malik of the U.S.S.R. and China's silver-haired Chiao Kuan-hua and round-faced Huang Hua. Huang and Chiao seemingly dived into the fray with glee, and Malik treated them like schoolboys with a lot to learn. On Nov. 15 Malik welcomed China into the General Assembly as "comrade." Things soon degenerated into "mister." That is not very polite by either U.N. or Communist standards.

"As for Mr. Huang," said Malik during the Security Council marathon on Pakistan, "if he wishes to call me mister I am quite prepared to call him mister, if he prefers to be a mister."

Such words as slander, lies, Socialist betrayal, and Socialist imperialism flew back and forth.

The Chinese said the world is divided between the two big powers and all the rest of the countries.

Malik, saying it is divided between socialism and imperialism, rejected China's claim that Russia practices both.

"Social imperialism is as great an absurdity as fried ice," he said.

In his first speech, Chiao,

Peking's deputy foreign minister, took the assembly floor and attacked imperialism, colonialism and "superpowers."

He demanded that the United States get out of Indochina and quit its military support of Taiwan. He gave China's backing to Arab countries in the Middle East.

U.S. Ambassador George Bush assailed the initial Chinese statement as "empty cannons of rhetoric," then stepped aside in the dispute.

Chiao infuriated Malik by urging the assembly on Nov. 24 not to put to a vote the Soviet proposal to call a world disarmament conference of all nations. The Chinese delegate said the conference lacked a clear aim and would just become "a permanent club for endless discussions."

Malik said that only China and the United States had voiced opposition to the Soviet proposal.

"Thus the assembly has had an opportunity to witness a curious Sino-American duet of negativism," the Soviet delegate observed.

In the Security Council Huang, China's permanent U.N. representative, threw "duet" back at Malik, saying: "The representatives of the Soviet Union and India are singing a duet openly trumpeting for the dismemberment of Pakistan."

Malik retorted: "He has repeated here my word 'duet' but that is not original; he might perhaps have invented something new."

Huang compared Indian aims in East Pakistan with Japan's Manchukuo government in Manchuria before World War II. He accused Russia of being India's boss, and he warned Malik to beware of history.

Later, Malik said war criminals had been hanged elsewhere, "but in China they became librarians."

Malik admonished Huang to improve his behavior and to consider how their behavior looked to the outside world.

"The Chinese representative, with his vicious, pathological slander against the Soviet Union," said Malik, "is aspiring in the principal organ of the United Nations to the role of an imperialist jester."

"He is amusing the imperialists with his malicious slander against the Soviet Union. Now, the imperialists have nothing more to do in this particular realm. They have a reliable spokesman."

Huang voted against Russia's Pakistan-India cease-fire resolution, but it did not count as a veto because the measure lacked a majority. Huang did not force China's proposal to a vote—and a Malik veto.

She told investigating officers she failed to see the other car because of the sun in her eyes. (staff photo)

GARDEN GIANTS—Herb Gallman, 501 Magnolia, thought vegetable gardeners might be interested in this king-size turnip and overgrown carrot that came out of his garden plot at the Kerr-McGee gasoline plant where he is employed. The turnip weighs 5 pounds, 3 ounces and is nearly two feet in circumference. The carrot, which would bug the eyes of any rabbit, is ten inches long and one-and-a-half feet around. (Staff Photo)

Good Year Is Reported By Western Beef

A MARILLO, TEXAS—Western Beef, Inc.'s operations for the year ended Oct. 31, 1971, produced record earnings according to the preliminary unaudited report issued by the company's president, George E. Feaster.

Earnings for the fourth quarter ending Oct. 31, amounted to 21 cents per share, making a total of 54 cents per share for the year on 995,600 shares outstanding. This compares with an 11 cents per share loss for the fourth quarter, and a net loss of 19 cents for 1970.

Profit for the current year amounted to $541,631 on revenues of $38,860,116. The previous year resulted in a loss of $186,443 on revenues of $42,111,738.

The increased earnings for Western Beef, which has a plant in Pampa, resulted from an improvement in profitability of all divisions of the company according to Feaster. He further stated fourth quarter earnings were a continuation of the earnings trend previously established resulting from cost reduction measures and the high level of occupancy in the company's feed yards.

At the year end the company had approximately 143,000 head of cattle in its feed yards which represents an occupancy rate in excess of 92 percent. Feaster stated he expects the high level of occupancy to continue well into 1972.

Business Mirror

NEW YORK (AP) — Tape accounted for only 4 per cent of all recorded music sales in 1966. By 1970 sales had soared to 30 per cent of the market and most forecasters called for continued growth.

In a typically exuberant mood, one big tape maker foresaw industry sales of $600 million in 1971. Tapemaking was believed to be one of the fastest growing of the booming leisuretime industries.

Instead, growth stopped as abruptly as the music ends when the tape breaks. Sales for the year are now expected to be nearer $500 million, which gives tapes only 29 per cent of the market.

What happened? Bootleggers, say industry officials. Bootleggers, primarily, but counterfeiters and pirates, too. They stole the music, paid no royalties to the performers. They skimmed away $150 million in business, one company claims.

The bootleggers made copies of authorized recordings and sold them at low prices. The counterfeiters stole the labels and packages as well as the music. The pirates made unauthorized recordings at live performances.

Now that a new federal copyright law is scheduled to be effective Feb. 15, 1972, you might expect that growth will resume from where it had been stopped in its tracks. It might not.

Old Dog Has New Teeth

MCCRORY, Ark. (AP) — It's been about a year since Taffie was fitted with her new dentures. Now she eats canned dog food and bologna instead of puppy food.

Taffie is a 10-year-old boxer dog. The idea for the new teeth dawned on her master, Dr. James Rowe.

Rowe said the amiable, brown-haired canine had worn her lower teeth to the gum line and could eat only puppy mix and other soft foods. Rowe called Dr. David Startup, a local dentist, and made the deal.

They brought Taffie into my office," said Startup. "I put her in a chair, stuffed her mouth with cotton, turned on the overhead light and went to work as if it were any other patient."

Startup, a 1967 graduate of the Memphis Dental College, said he spent about two hours on Taffie's new human-shaped teeth.

"I gave her two 14-carat gold caps and four shiny white front teeth," said Startup. "She went through it all without a whimper."

Startup says the bridge is a perfect fit, and the dog doesn't even need cement to keep them on.

"I've never seen anybody take to dentures like she did—much less a dog," Startup said. "She wore them from the first day as if they had been in her mouth all her life. It was amazing."

Future Of Natural Gas Supply And Demand Said Dim

HOUSTON (AP) — A member of the Federal Power Commission says future natural gas supply and demand projections offer little encouragement.

serious problem. He adds that this unanimity does not exist, however, in discussions of what the energy shortages portend for the future.

perhaps even a Godsend forcing the United States to slow down its rate of economic growth, to the view that the current shortages are temporary, perhaps even contrived or manipulated by the energy industry," Walker said.

of Missouri school of business and public administration says he must disagree with the extremists at both ends of the spectrum. "I am convinced the current shortages are neither impossible of solution nor artificial in nature," he said.

even after allowing for imports from Canada and Mexico, liquefied gas imports, synthetic gas, and gas deliveries from Alaska. An industry group known as the future requirements committee recently estimated potential demand for natural gas will outstrip available supply by 3.9 trillion cubic feet in 1975.

The National Petroleum Council, an advisory body to the secretary of interior, has estimated that unless public policies are modified or economic conditions in the energy industry change, the gap between the nation's gas requirements and probable supplies will be 7.6 trillion cubic feet in 1975.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily

As Yet Untold Tale

A recent Harris Survey of popular attitudes toward business has received a lot of attention.

For instance, the number of Americans giving business high marks for "bringing better quality products to people" has slipped from a high of 75 per cent recorded in a similar poll in 1966 to a low of 46 per cent today. There has been a corresponding rise in negative feelings among customers.

Back in 1966, by an overwhelming 73 per cent to 22 per cent, the public praised business for "offering young people a chance to get ahead." Now, by 50 per cent to 40 per cent, they criticize it for just the opposite reason.

By a score of 45 per cent to 36 per cent, most people do not feel that business "allows people to use their full creative abilities." Five years before, business received credit for doing just that by 62 per cent to 25 per cent.

Where in 1966 the public felt, by a thumping 75 per cent to 12 per cent, that business had been a real help in eliminating economic depressions, by 1971 attitudes had so changed that by 45 per cent to 36 per cent most Americans think business is no longer even a factor in dealing with a depression.

Clearly, says Harris, public opinion about business has been strongly tempered by the hard times people feel they have been through in recent months. But compounding the problem are rising public expectations regarding the social responsibilities of business.

And therein may lie an as-yet-untold tale.

It is no coincidence that this decline in public confidence in business has coincided with the appearance and proliferation of consumer advocated, environmental champions and others who have been slaying corporate dragons right and left.

Choice Of 'Thing'

"The biggest educational smorgasbord in America" is getting under way in Berkeley, Calif., reports Education U.S.A.

With the help of a $3.6-million grant from the U.S. Office of Education, Berkeley schools will conduct a 2 1/2-year experiment in offering 24 different educational "alternatives." By the time the program is in full swing next fall, about 5,000 of the city's 15,000 students will be able to choose from an almost bewildering assortment of school options," says the publication.

If a student wants to attend a small, all-black school, for instance, he can go to Black House. If he wants a Chicano-oriented school, he can go to Casa de la Raza. If he prefers a multicultural approach, he can go to Franklin Multicultural. Or he may want to join On Target, a cooperative program between industry and school.

Other ideas to be tested include a school with student direction, a parent cooperative school, a neighborhood open school, a school-without-walls, a child development center, an off-campus school, bilingual classrooms, learning centers and "free" schools, whatever they are.

One school will explore three alternatives at each grade level, and students will be allowed to change from one type of school option to another any time they choose.

As for any students who don't want a black or white or Chicano or open or student-directed or "free" school, or maybe don't know what they want, or maybe are just looking for a basic, simple nourishing educational diet instead of a "smorgasbord"—well, possible a place can be found for them somewhere in the system.

Bitter Aftermath Of Czech Invasion

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Information now trickling in from Communist parties worldwide indicates the Russians may have achieved a hollow victory in the 1968 Red Army invasion of Czechoslovakia.

The Russians, to be sure, brought Czechoslovakia under tight control. They demonstrated the inability of the West to protect the eastern tier countries from Soviet military incursions. And they did prevent at least for the time being, the virus of liberal communism from infecting the Ukraine.

But the Russians set up a quiet but violent reaction within the Communist world from which Moscow may not recover for a considerable time.

The invasion shocked Yugoslavia for a complete new national defense setup. Military authority was decentralized, the country divided into semi-autonomous guerrilla zones. Each zone

That Fellow Chou En Lai

Chou En-lai is no blustering Benito Mussolini with a white liver and a gangster brain. He is no shallow, screaming, hysterical Adolf Hitler.

Chou is an Oriental. He has the feel of history. He believes that China is a vast part of the rhythm of history. He believes that at the climax of history China will be the leader of the nations of the Rising Sun.

Chou knows that China's great day is approaching. And for the United States to be his great ally (as he had planned), is better than any story anybody ever heard about Santa Claus.

Do you think that a man like Chou hasn't reflected long and deeply over how "Uncle" Joe Stalin was astonished at how much he got from Roosevelt and Truman with hardly any effort?

Do you think that a man like Chou hasn't reflected long and deeply over how quickly Roosevelt sold Chiang Kai-shek down the river to Stalin?

Yes, Chou is—urbane, relaxed, agreeable, smiling. And he jokes with Americans.

Mr. Nixon and Chou, both tall, neither overweight, will make a handsome photo. It will be catnip to the news media. It will not only be something new and fresh on the international horizon, it will be against the mystical Oriental background. — Noel Smith

H. L. Hunt Writes

THE KISSINGER ROLE

Under five Presidents, Henry Kissinger has played a role which has grown from one of influence to control of U.S. policy. Kissinger first went on the government payroll in 1950, during the second year of Truman's elected term. While a professor at Harvard and engaged in studies on international affairs, nuclear weapons, and foreign policy for the university, for the Council on Foreign Relations, and for the Rockefeller Brothers Fund, Henry Kissinger held a series of influential posts in government.

Kissinger was a consultant to the Director of the Psychological Strategy Board in 1952; consultant to the Operations Coordinating Board, 1955-56; and consultant to the National Security Council, 1961-62. He became a consultant to the Weapons Systems Evaluation Group in 1956, to the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency in 1961, and to the Department of State in 1965. He held these posts until becoming Nixon's top advisor. In 1965, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge appointed Kissinger to make a study of Vietnam.

The influence of Kissinger is evident in this record. While Rostow was the visible chief of security under John Kennedy, Kissinger was the consultant whose weapons and policy ideas were implemented by the National Security Council in that regime. Since the Disarmament Agency was begun, Kissinger has been its policy advisor, and while Robert McNamara was carrying out disarmament of our nuclear forces and building unfeasible weapons, Kissinger was inside the Weapons Systems Evaluation Group. His hand has been in every phase of our foreign and security policy while our position has deteriorated to the crisis level, and his influence and power are the zenith in the current administration.

Russians Take Lead

Russia now is "far ahead" of the United States in intercontinental rockets and is closing in on America's lead in Polaris-type submarine missiles, the International Institute for Strategic Studies said in its annual report recently.

The institute's "military balance 1971-72" said the Soviets now have 1,510 land-based intercontinental ballistic missiles (ICBMs), "almost half as many again as the United States' 1,054."

The Russians deployed 280 of their latest giant 25-megaton SS9 rockets, which are now operational and may have a triple warhead system.

Soviet submarine-launched ballistic missiles (SLBMs) have tripled in the last two years to 440.

House Unmoved by Mansfield Plea for Troop Recall Date

By ROBERTS ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield was tearful — or appeared to be — but it did him no good!

House Foreign Affairs Committee Chairman Thomas Morgan was unmoved.

Whether Mansfield's tears were real or feigned is conjectural. Morgan didn't bother to find out. The tall, dapper Pennsylvanian, who practices medicine when not legislating, firmly and flatly refused to yield to Mansfield's insistent demand for acceptance of his longadvocated amendment setting a six-month deadline for the withdrawal of all U.S. troops from Vietnam.

"I'm tired of charging up this hill and coming back again emptyhanded," exclaimed Mansfield emotionally. "I've waged this fight three times and came out on the short end each time. But no more. Either my amendment fixing a definite withdrawal time limit is in this bill or there will be no foreign aid authorization bill."

Looking the lean, agitated Montanan squarely in the eye, Morgan retorted quietly but forcefully:

"Senator, if you want to take the responsibility for blocking foreign aid legislation, that's up to you. But there are two things I want to tell you clearly and unmistakably. There is not going to be a fixed withdrawal date in this bill, and there is going to be a foreign aid measure. In one way or another, there will be legislation — whether you like it or not."

Mansfield glowered, but said nothing — immediately.

Later in this closed-door meeting of House and Senate conferees, the veteran Democratic leader reiterated this adamant determination to stand pat on his amendment.

"It's either that or nothing," he ordained. "I refuse to give an inch."

"Then there is no use wasting our time," snapped Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ore., noted for his tart tongue. "We have conscientiously and earnestly sought a meeting of minds. But it takes two to do that, and apparently you don't want to. Your mind is rigidly fixed on this issue, so that's that. We might as well call it quits."

And that's what happened. After two weeks of numerous and lengthy deliberations, the conference broke up in a tight deadlock and suspended further meetings indefinitely.

This was the first time a House-Senate conference committee ended in a seemingly dead-end stalemate in the 25 years of the gigantic foreign aid program.

Cutting Israeli Aid
Sen. Mansfield, in balking at any concessions in the protracted secret negotiations, turned down four compromises offered by House Chairman "Doc" Morgan.

Under one, Morgan proposed substituting the phrase "a date certain" for Mansfield's categorical six-month version. But the Senate leader brushed it off as "unsatisfactory."

His curt rejection was clearly a disappointment to the other Senate conferees. Apparently the compromise suited them and they were willing to go along. But they kept their opinions to themselves, and didn't openly challenge Mansfield's obstinacy.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee and head of the Senate conferees, tried to avert the breakdown of the negotiations with a parliamentary maneuver. He proposed recommending enactment of a resolution to continue foreign aid spending at the current level until Feb. 15 — to provide additional time to work out an understanding.

Morgan rejected that on the ground it would "weaken President Nixon's position in his forthcoming discussions in Peking and Moscow. The President will have plenty on his hands without our adding to it."

Fulbright was more successful in putting through a big cut in $85 million in economic aid the Senate overwhelmingly voted Israel.

As a Senate conferee, it was Fulbright's function to vigorously battle for the Senate's provisions. Instead, he volunteered to steeply slash this item to $50 million. The House conferees readily agreed.

Although pleased by Fulbright's move, they were not surprised. He is noted for his anti-Israel views, and had opposed the $85 million grant when it was considered by the Senate. As the item was not in the House's foreign aid bill, those conferees were entirely willing to sharply reduce it.

What did surprise them was the silence of Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo. He makes a great show of being an Israeli champion, has been in the forefront of the bipartisan drive to vote Israel $500 million in credits for the purchase of more F-4 Phantom jet fighters.

Yet when Fulbright, in the secret deliberations of the conference room, proposed pruning $35 million in aid to Israel, Symington sat silent and acquiescent.

On two major questions the conferees had no difficulty in getting together: (1) Ditching the Senate's separate bills on economic and military aid and combining them in one measure; (2) agreeing on an overall total of $2.75 billion for such aid — $1.5 billion for military assistance, $1.23 billion for economic aid.

Mafia Activity And Its Origin

HONOR THY FATHER.
 By Gay Talese
 World Publishing, $10.

Here is a combination of journalism in depth and a documentary narrative about a topic that has been treated often in recent years — the Mafia.

Talese sketches in the whole picture, describing the Sicilian origins of the Mafia, naming major names among the 24 segments of the organization in the United States, and presenting in factual form some of the ideas expressed in Mario Puzo's novel "The Godfather." But the main thrust of Talese's report is the story of one family, an intimately personalized account focussing on two figures that seem to symbolize the rise and fall of the Mafia.

These two are Joseph Bonanno and his son Salvatore, known as Bill. Joseph built a fortune in the rackets. Miles A. Smith

Proposal Approved

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A proposal which calls for aligning the Missionary Baptist General Convention of Texas with Bishop College in Dallas has been approved by the convention's executive board.

Endorsement of the proposal came Thursday during the annual winter meeting at the Mt. Pisgah Missionary Baptist Church here.

Bishop trustees earlier voted unanimously to tender an offer of union with the Baptist Convention which would permit the convention to name one-third of the trustees of the school.

Thursday's action brings the largest body of Negro Baptists in Texas to the support of Bishop College. The Missionary Baptist General Convention represents more than 1,800 churches and has a membership of more than 450,000.

Early Discharge Planned For Draftees, Volunteers

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army announced Friday that thousands of first-term draftees and volunteers due for discharge next year will be released up to six months early to bring Army strength down to 892,000 by June 30 as ordered by Congress.

It was believed that the reductions would affect about 60,000 GIs.

The discharges will be mandatory except for those men and women who indicate in writing that they plan to reenlist, the Army said.

The new policy is effective immediately and will remain in effect until June 30.

In addition, some men will be discharged up to 18 months earlier than normal if they agree to join a National Guard or Army Reserve unit.

GIs in Vietnam must complete their 12-month assignments there, but will then be eligible for immediate discharge if they have less than 12 months remaining in the service. This will enable them to complete the 18 months' active duty required in order to receive veterans benefits. Soldiers in Europe will be discharged five months early, the Army said.

U.S. House OK's Legislation To Extend Economic Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Friday passed legislation to extend President Nixon's economic control powers after softening a provision to require retroactive payment of frozen pay increases.

The vote on passage was 324 to 33.

The House supported the full extension requested by Nixon—through April 30, 1973. It rejected proposals for an earlier cutoff.

Another amendment would require retroactive payment of previously negotiated raises caught in Nixon's 90-day freeze under specified conditions: When prices had been increased because of such raises, or, in the case of teachers and other public employees, taxes had been raised or appropriations voted, or when worker productivity had increased so as to justify the raises.

Proponents argued that such language would take care of the great majority of cases and specifically all or nearly all teachers who had been in line for raises at the beginning of the present school year.

But Rep. Frank J. Brasco, D.N.Y., contended the modified language "only codifies the existing regulations of the Pay Board."

The amendment adopted by a 209 to 151 vote was a modified version of the one offered by Rep. Robert G. Stephens Jr., D.Ga., and backed by the Republican leadership with the approval of the administration.

The original bill on the House Banking Committee provided for payment of increases unless they were unreasonably inconsistent with general levels in the economy.

A Senate-passed bill contains still another provision, for payment of raises generally conforming to Pay Board standards.

President Honors General Chapman

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon presented the Distinguished Service Medal today to Gen. Leonard F. Chapman Jr., retiring Marine Corps commandant, and hailed him as a "Marine in the truest sense" and a "splendid leader with enduring values and great patriotism."

The ceremony in Nixon's Oval Office was attended by Chapman's relatives and the nation's top-ranking military officers. Chapman steps down Dec. 31 after four years in the Marine Corp's highest post.

In his response, Chapman said one of the standout memories of his four years was "clearly the performance, dedication and loyalty of the 450,000 Marines who fought in Vietnam."

Our Men In Military

Army Private James M. Hiltbrunner, 19, son of Mrs. Nora Hiltbrunner, Shamrock, recently completed eight weeks of basic training at the U.S. Army training center, Infantry Ft. Polk, La.

He received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, combat tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and army history and traditions.

Pvt. Hiltbrunner is a 1971 graduate of Shamrock High School.

Airman Richard E. Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Berl F. Gray Panhandle, Tex., has completed his U.S. Air Force basic training at the Air Training Command's Lackland AFB, Tex. He has been assigned to Sheppard AFB, Tex., for training in aircraft maintenance. Airman Gray attended Panhandle High School.

U.S. Air Force Staff sergeant Lloyd T. Marlar, son of R. S. Marlar, Skellytown, has been selected to participate in the Strategic Air Command's (SAC) elite Combat Competition at McCoy AFB, Fla. Dec. 12-17.

Sergeant Marlar is a crew chief on the hand-picked team that will support the B-52

Stratofortress bomber crew from the 99th Bomb Wing at Westover AFB, Mass. He was selected on the basis of his technical skill, proficiency and outstanding performance.

Two FB-111, 22 B-52 and 30 KC-135 Stratotanker crews from SAC and three Royal Air Force (Great Britain) delta-wing Vulcan bomber crews will compete in the "World series of bombing and navigation." The General Dynamics FB-111 — SAC's newest bomber — will be making its second appearance in the annual meet.

Each bomber team will fly two scored missions and will be judged on navigation, coupled with simulated bombing from both low and high altitudes. Tanker crews will fly one mission, vying only for navigation honors.

The wing with highest point total in combined bombing and navigation will win the coveted Fairchild Trophy. The Saunders Trophy will go to the tanker team compiling the most point in navigation.

Accuracy of simulated bomb releases will be computed by mobile radar scoring units located along the bomber route.

Sergeant Marlar is a 1956 graduate of White Deer (Tex.) High School. His wife, Joyce, is the daughter of M.C. Nelms, Rt. 1, El Dorado, Tex.

Can Meditation Stop Wars?

HOUSTON (AP) — A psychologist says persons who meditate 15 minutes twice a day show much lower stress level than persons who do not.

David Orme-Johnson believes that transcendental meditation can stop wars.

"It won't make guns disappear," says Orme-Johnson, 30, psychology professor at the University of Texas at El Paso. "But war is nothing more than the accumulation of individual stress and the only practical solution is to make each man feel less tense and less hostile."

In a recent speech here, Orme-Johnson said persons, probably due to the jet-age freeway togetherness, are looking for ways out of stress.

Using an electrode device which he described as much like a lie detector, he said he found that people who meditate have an average of 10 stress indications in 10 minutes, while nonmeditators register 30 to 35.

He said transcendental meditation is the ancient Indian technique popularized by the Maharishi Mahesh Yogi and brought to western attention by the Beatles.

He said each person who wants to learn the technique must have a teacher and "skeptics usually make the best students."

No religious belief, special posture, exercises or particular food are involved, he said.

"The mind always is seeking a more charming level," he said. "Meditation fulfills the mind through an inward march. The result is pure nervous system and clearer mind."

He said meditation is "a big leap in human evolution" and he expects the technique to be adopted as part of the American culture.

Transcendental meditation is practical Western man," he said. "I don't have to withdraw to cave to practice it. It is beautiful blend of Eastern and Western philosophy."

He said meditation is being experimentally at La Tu Federal Correction Institute near El Paso, with some former drug addicts being trained to meditate in therapy sessions.

He said the experiment appears to be successful.

Deadlines Explained

By JANE KADINGO

In order for your Woman's Editor to meet her deadlines, which are necessary to insure the paper's going to press on time, she must impose a deadline on those submitting articles for publication.

The deadline for weddings is 5 p.m. Monday. In order for a wedding to appear in a Sunday edition, it must be submitted in time to be published within a week of the wedding. In other words, if a wedding is to take place Saturday, the information must be submitted to the Woman's Editor the Monday before the wedding. Weddings submitted later than that, will appear in a weekday edition.

Engagement announcements, club news and any other articles must be turned in by Wednesday noon to appear in the Sunday's paper. Club news submitted within a day of the meeting will be given precedence and more prominence than those submitted several days to a week after the meeting.

Your cooperation will be greatly appreciated.

It is not known when King Solomon came to the throne as king of all Israel, but the Bible uses the round number 40 when speaking of the length of his reign.

Boy friend wants part-time engagement

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I recently became engaged to my boy friend who is 23. [I am 20.] When he gave me my ring, he asked me not to wear it in front of his parents or mine, or any relatives, because he hasn't told them yet. But he wants me to wear it to work every day.

One day after I got home from work, I forgot to take it off. Altho my mother didn't notice, when my boy friend came over and saw me wearing it he was furious. Well, I took it off and haven't worn it since. [But he thinks I am still wearing it to work.]

Abby, I have been engaged for six months and I would like to wear my ring at all times and let everybody know, but for some reason my fiancé doesn't feel that way.

I know it's not that his parents or mine would object to it because my parents are fond of him and his parents seem to like me very much. I can't understand why the big secret.

I don't like being "engaged" secretly everywhere but at work. Can you figure out his angle? ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: His angle seems to have several curves. He wants you to wear a "NO TRESPASSING, PRIVATE PROPERTY" sign at work, but he isn't man enough to let his parents [and yours] know that he has committed himself for marriage. In any case, he has a lot of growing up to do before he's mature enough to marry. Tell him you're thru playing games, and to either tell the world, or keep his ring.

DEAR ABBY: When I was in the hospital having my first baby one of the nurses [she was about my age] became quite friendly with me. She would come into my room several times during the day to smoke a cigarette because she wasn't permitted to smoke on duty. She asked me the first time if I "minded" and I said I didn't, so she made it a habit of running in for a cigarette.

The truth of the matter is that I really would rather she had not smoked in my room at all because I used to be a heavy smoker and I gave it up as a promise to my husband when I became pregnant, and when I smell smoke around me the temptation to smoke again is very strong.

Let's be realistic, Abby. Could I have told her not to smoke in my room? My husband says I was chicken not to, and he has no respect for chickens. What do you say? NEW MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I say your husband is right on!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I had a big fight which I would like you to settle.

We were talking about what we would do if the other one died. My husband said if I died, he would never marry again, because nobody in the world could ever take my place, so he would live alone, and be content with his memories.

I told him I would probably try to pick up the pieces and go on living as best I could, and if I ever met anyone as wonderful as he was, I might marry again.

Abby, he really got mad at me and said that my statement was proof that I didn't love him. I do love him, and I was only being honest.

I am 26 and he is 28. We've been married for six years and have two children. What do you think? WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: I think no one knows how he will handle a situation until it occurs. [I also hope your husband grows up before he dies.]

DEAR ABBY: You're sharp. Do you know of a legitimate tax loophole for a bachelor? T. IN BEVERLY HILLS

DEAR T.: Yes, a wedding ring.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69709, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Class To Sponsor "Up With People"

Pampa High School's senior class met in an assembly Thursday morning to crystallize plans for its sponsorship in Pampa of the internationally-known singing and dancing group, "Up With The People."

The group will appear at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 10 and 11, in the Pampa Junior High School auditorium.

During the meeting, it was announced that tickets will sell for $3 and $4, with senior class members to have "first choice."

Reserved tickets may be purchased from the Chamber of Commerce, at the school business office, at the home economics room in PHS, and at various local businesses.

Danny McCaskill, senior class president, explained that proceeds from the event will finance various class activities and go toward the purchase of the class' gift to the school.

He explained that, although there are three "Up With The People" groups, the one coming to Pampa is the largest, with 180 cast members. The group travels throughout the world giving performances and is called a "traveling school," providing cast members with tutors to keep them "up" on their studies.

McCaskill stated the group is in Belgium, now, and Pampa will be its first stateside appearance after its return. He added that Pampa will be one of two appearances in the state of Texas. The group will perform in the Houston Astro Dome after appearing here.

BETTY CANARY

Although they may not think so, boys who have sisters are lucky. More to the point, the wives of men who have had sisters are lucky. Or, at least that's what I keep telling my boys.

Having sisters around the house has given them a chance to know some real facts about women. They will never, for example, after marriage, display that quaint, traditional helpless attitude most men affect when locked out of a bathroom for three hours. These boys have been conditioned by sisters.

They have also, among other things, already faced up to first-time pies and cupcakes and, from the time they were infants, have been hearing, "I haven't a thing to wear!"

A brother of girls knows, "I haven't a thing to wear!" is something even baby girls cry. They know it is a phrase inborn, something peculiar to the female of the species. It is in her blood, her soul, planted before birth in her very being much as the seeds of self-destruction are in those characters of Greek tragedies.

He explained the many ways the Department of Public Safety guards the safety and defense of each person in each community, county and state.

He told of the part the DPS plays during the threat of a tornado, being immediately on the job, following the storms progress by telephone and radio. He pointed out the greatest need in this area is an adequate alert system.

He concluded by explaining that local and area law enforcement agencies are trained and equipped to handle any demonstration or disturbance, should any occur.

Eleven guests and 20 members were present.

A tea honoring the nominees will be given in February.

Featured speaker was Sheriff Rufe Jordan, who was introduced by Mrs. W. A. Rankin. He talked about national and civil defense, stating this country's security has been brought about by many factors.

"Many men have gone into the armed services and risked their lives that that we might have that security," he stated.

"There is a vast intelligence network throughout the world whose members are constantly on the alert for any information which might indicate danger to the country. Every precaution is taken to insure that our defenses are adequate, in case of any surprise attack."

He told the women there are revolutionary groups within the nation that constitute a threat to our security. He mentioned that a change in the course of law is needed to cope with the situation.

A HISTORIC SETTING

HILTON HEAD, S. C. (AP) — History still clings to the moss-draped oaks here.

In the island's forested setting, Indians once stalked game. English settlers outwitted Spanish soldiers. Southern planters grew rich on slave labor, and brother fought brother in the Civil War.

FOR MEN ONLY—Students Kyle Trenholm (left) and Randy Emery made the ties they are wearing as part of Barlow High School class that is supposed to teach them how to live as bachelors.

Mankind Adjusts To Women's Lib

GRESHAM, Ore. (AP) — About 40 Barlow High School students have been learning how to cook, sew and balance a budget in a class called "For Men Only—Bachelor."

"It's always frustrated me to see men who can't do anything around the house," said Carolyn Kingry.

She says she and Linda Stanwood, another home economics teacher, organized the class in response to popular demand.

"The idea isn't new, but everyone else calls it boys' home economics. We wanted something with a bit more masculine appeal."

It appears to be appealing but for a variety of reasons. "I decided I'm never going to get married," junior Randy Emery said. "At least not until I'm 30. I've gotta learn how to get by until then."

"I wanted to learn something about women," said 16-year-old Kyle Trenholm.

"I figured it would be an easy grade," said another junior, Ron Crutcher. "But I'm the furthest behind on my tie."

Sewing a tie was the first project for the class.

Other projects on the schedule of "For Men Only—Bachelor Living" are shopping for clothes, furnishing a home, repairing appliances and preparation of a meal.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

SUNDAY, DEC. 12

Your birthday today: Your career-promises a thoro testing of your ingenuity and capacity for original or creative work. Effective short cuts, simplifications give you the time and space to lay out broader plans. Today's natives are hardly willing to wait until next year.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Expect no answers very quickly—remember that you may be familiar from long thought with the ideas which are strange to other people.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Excellent results come from double-checking facts for discrepancy. Most of your own projects are derailed anyway, so use the time constructively.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Do your share of community customs on time and in good order this odd-mood Sunday. Avoid detailed presentation of your views. Learn more of other opinions.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Get out of the spotlight; leave business deals alone. Make it a quiet family day.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Use your mentality, think where you're headed, adjust your behavior and remarks accordingly. There's temptation for quick talk, poor logic.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Drift thru this restless Sunday without striving to make promises permanent or to dodge earlier pledges.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Creative enterprise draws praise and rewards despite much hullabaloo over other matters. What you put together now promises to be lasting.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Work crowds out much of what you'd been expecting to enjoy today and tonight. Fill in adequate records to claim full returns.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Attend to your regular activities on a most important chore-first basis. Don't hurry. Avoid trying to force unrelated deals at once.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Take yourself and your pet projects out of the way for the day, or at least minimize the impact on the rest of your local world.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Depend on your own resources at the moment and thus avoid delays and errors. Get on thru to preliminary results.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: People do have to have their turn some time. This Sunday you may find yourself receiving what you planned to give.

Women Often Invite Attacks And Robbery

Women themselves are often to blame for criminal attacks and robbery of their persons.

So says Gordon Gordon, onetime FBI agent and now a noted author in collaboration with his wife, Mildred, under the name of The Gordons. The two, who live in Encino, have written 15 novels that have sold 12 million copies in 17 countries.

"Many girls assume it will never happen to them, so they don't stop to think about what they are doing," Gordon says. "They leave keys in the ignition, walk dark streets alone at night, and go marketing in bikinis."

In writing their latest novel, "Night Before The Wedding," the Gordons did research on cases in which women could have escaped assault by taking a few simple precautions. In their book, the heroine, who is a legal secretary, walks to her car at midnight at the far end of a dark parking lot and slides behind the wheel. A man rises up from the back seat and pulls a paper sack over her head.

"In the first place," Gordon says, "she shouldn't have parked her car in that spot, and in the second, she should have automatically checked the back seat. This should be a habit that you don't even think about, like putting on your shoes."

From his extensive FBI experience and his research for "Night Before The Wedding," Gordon set forth some precautions women should take.

Always keep your car doors locked while driving day or night, even in the summer when the windows are down. The sex-crazed fellow who waits at a stop signal, likes your looks, and tries to slide in beside you will be delayed a few seconds if he has to unlock the door. By that time the sign may change, or you can call out to someone before he has a chance to push a gun into your side.

If you have to wait in a car for a friend, take the key out of the ignition. If a criminal does get into the car beside you, it will take a few seconds to put the key back in.

If that happens, start the car, then kill the engine by giving it too much gas. Act excited but try to keep your head. Size up the fellow. Maybe you can talk him out of robbing or assaulting you. Stall for time. Do everything wrong. Remember, though, that as long as he holds a gun on you, he may squeeze the trigger any time. So in the beginning follow his orders in the hope you will get a break. Don't say anything that will anger him.

Always take the same precautions in the daytime that you do at night. People forget that many crimes of this nature are committed in daylight hours.

Never assume you are safe in a crowd. Many crimes take place on department store parking lots with scores of people hurrying by.

Never assume you are safe in a "good" neighborhood. There are no "good" neighborhoods. Just as many sex crimes, and crimes against the person, are committed per person in suburbia as in a ghetto. Crime knows no economic level.

Never carry much money in your purse. If someone grabs it, let him have it. Otherwise, you may be beaten or killed. If you must carry a considerable sum, keep it in a dress pocket or somewhere on your person.

Don't risk your life to save a dollar. If you live on a dark street, take a taxi home and scream to the authorities to get the street lighted. It's the least a city can do for your tax dollars in this crime-ridden era.

Don't carry a gun, or keep one in the house unless you know guns and have used them for years. You may shoot yourself or an innocent person, in an excited moment.

What's more, a clever criminal can easily turn that gun on you.

Rely strongly on the telephone. If you live alone and your home is especially vulnerable, install a second phone readily accessible that no one knows about, not even your friends. Hide it under your bed or inside a nightstand cabinet.

Remember that if you wear a bikini to shop in at the market, or a very abbreviated mini-skirt, you invite trouble. You are a neon sign to a man looking for an easy pick up. He may not take "no" for an answer.

Betty Canary

By BETTY-CANARY

One of the biggest problems about being sick any more is that you're seldom allowed to lean back and enjoy it. Either you're cured so quickly with a miracle drug that you haven't time to call a few friends and tell them, or the doctor assures you what you have is psychosomatic and you don't want to tell them.

Too, there was a time when a person could have a twinge or pain all his own and consider it a unique malady. Not any more. Now everything has a specific name or number, which wouldn't be so bad except that everyone reads the medical columns daily, so it is common knowledge what the diseases are. And, after mystery goes sympathy.

Actually, the only enjoyable ailment we have left to us is the common cold and I do wish everyone would stop hounding the scientists for a remedy or preventative.

The lovely thing about having a cold is that a doctor really does not know what causes it. Yet he cannot deny that you have it. The best part is that he absolutely cannot cure it!

I say let's keep what few blessings we have left to us. I can still call up a friend (as I did just this morning) and whimper, "I have this terrible cold," and I won't be greeted with a sharp reply. Friends are still sympathetic about colds.

They don't shout at you about doing what the doctor says. They don't tell you to snap out of it. They don't suggest you are neurotic. Friends still understand the hopelessness, the helplessness you feel when bedded down with a common cold. A friend still says, "You poor dear thing! I think you should stay in bed for a few days and really take care of yourself!"

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

MONDAY, DEC. 13

Your birthday today: You now realize that you have definite purposes in life and an increasing desire to fulfill your potentials by tangible achievements. Little of what you do this year is likely to be far ahead from this effort. Today's natives adopt a pleasant surface, tend to keep orderly conditions around them.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: To hurry now shuts doors before you get to them—too much too soon overloads current capacity.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Take on the heaviest and most difficult task you have on your program, get done what you can as early as conditions permit.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Let money dealings alone or at minimum, tight budget levels today. In gathering data, seeking detailed agreements.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Begin with a list of priority chores. Check security of your possessions, review reserves and resources for a better perspective.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Watching people brings more information than you'd ever plan to have fall into your grasp. Maintain your serenity.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Accept things as they are, for a start. Then if you must, work to change them, beginning right where you are, with yourself first.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: The larger pattern of progress and universal evolution is proceeding well despite current local confusion. Meditate on your share of it all.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Prepare for heavier demands on your time and talent. It helps everybody if you state directly what you can attend to.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Gather your dignity and initiative, put on a good show of any venture, the more formal the better. You'll make a good impression.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: This is another unpredictable day in a rather erratic week. Take on no more than you can see both ends of.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Seek some key to the moods of those about you. While no, primarily your problem, a peaceful resolution does concern you.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: finds an echo nearby for more creative inspiration. Make the rounds.

THE LOOK OF CHRISTMAS is universal. The gaily decorated and stocked store counters at left could be in any American city... but the setting is Frankfurt, West Germany. Below left, a familiar scene... small faces pressed against a show window the better to see the toys... in Paris. And, right, a face in the crowd which seems to be registering a minority opinion... an employee in a London toy shop isn't finding much joy in the season at the moment.

Quotable Quotes

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"I'm not going to give up. Things have got to work out. Anybody who's had these troubles—they're bound to come to an end"—Mary Nugent, who has watched two children die from leukemia and has been told a third has the disease.

"The sad thing is that community property has become a joke. The only time a woman gets an equal share is if the marriage is terminated by death or divorce"—Actress Joyce Jillsion, head of the newly formed Women's Equalization Committee.

"There's a whole new phenomenon of the loyalty of women to criminals. But I wonder how true it is that girls like a bad kind of man. It's part of a self-destructive urge. The losers are usually nicer people. But a woman will go for a man who'll be nice, friendly but not exciting, then some rat will come along and she'll fall for him"—Germaine Greer, author of "The Female Eunuch," in an interview.

"They don't understand power. God gave me a brain and I'm using it. A number of black brothers with their egos intact are moving behind me"—Congresswoman Shirley Chisolm, first black woman to run for president, replying to criticism that she deserted the cause because she had not supported another black woman for a powerful

Patterson-Nelson Betrothal Is Told

WHEELER (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Virgil A. Patterson of Wheeler announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Vickie Lynn, to William Larry Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Nelson, who reside north of Wheeler.

Mr. Nelson is a sophomore student at West Texas State University in Canyon.

Wedding vows will be exchanged Jan. 8.

BOLD BUT STEADY

Today's bold make-up requires a steady hand and careful application, probably more now than with a more subtle make-up. Lip liner is a must for the well-defined lips, reminiscent of the '40s, and colorful cheeks must be carefully blended to avoid the rosy-cheeked-doll-look.

A Lovelier You
By Mary Sue Miller

Scene in the lobby of a celebrated hotel: As ladies gather for luncheon, a kaleidoscope of fashion. The elegant black dress and turban, the crushed glove and the flash jewel—all very suave. Until, that is, a wearer sat down.

What had been a study in urbanity suddenly disintegrated. Slim damsels, slumping in their chairs, resembled nothing so much as sacks of meal. Heavy women, feet stuck out and knees ajar.

Let us be kind and skip a description.

Just so, poor posture detracts from feminine looks in every situation. And all so unnecessarily, for it is only natural to carry oneself gracefully. To take a graceful seated position, simply follow these tips:

1. Sit squarely on your "sittin' bones."
2. Pull your waist in and up.
3. Let your shoulders fall relaxed.
4. Hold your back in a straight line, whether or not it rests against a chair back.
5. Avoid crooking your neck and letting the chin sag.

Sorority To Invite Members

Mrs. Bernard Organ of Pampa, area representative for Phi Sigma Alpha International, has announced she will be mailing invitations for membership in the sorority this week.

Mrs. Organ explained the object of the organization is "to unite congenially, in fellowship and friendship, those women accepted for membership; to promote the personal development of such members; to enjoy interesting social activities; to reaffirm the individual's rights, privileges and responsibilities as a citizen, and to foster association with each other in the pursuit of these purposes in a definite concerted manner."

Membership is through invitation, only, she pointed out, adding that the chapters are deliberately kept small, meeting twice a month in a member's home.

PSA membership is for a lifetime and is transferable to any chapter in the world, Mrs. Organ explained.

The sorority was founded Sept. 22, 1960, in Corcoran, Calif., by Walter W. Ross, Dorothy L. Ross and Lois Keener Thome, starting with 17 charter-founder members.

There are now more than 7,000 members in 600 chapters throughout the United States and Canada.

Mrs. Walker Reports On State PTA Meet

"Who Says We Can't Share In Problem Solving?" was the theme of the Texas convention of the Parent-Teacher Association in Dallas, recently. Pampa's official delegate, representing the PTA City Council, was Mrs. Robert Walker, who reported on her trip at a meeting this week of the council.

Mrs. Walker reported that the majority of the delegates voted against "indiscriminate busing of children away from nearer neighborhood schools simply to achieve a balance in the ethnic structure of the student population."

Delegates were opposed, also, "to the use of public funds to support education in private or parochial schools," she said.

Mrs. Walker explained that eight regional vice presidents were elected and eight resolutions were voted upon. She pointed out the major resolution was "to seek freedom to pray in public schools."

More information on the resolutions has been issued by the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Two resolutions passed by the group recommend support for constitutional amendments to prevent assignment of students to schools on the basis of race, creed or color and to preserve the neighborhood school concept.

A third resolution backed the majority of San Antonio school districts against the possibility of consolidation by the federal courts. Edgewood Independent School District, also in Bexar County, is seeking establishment of a county-wide taxing agency for school financing, charging that the present district system discriminated against low-income districts.

Another resolution approved by delegates also supports the local school district concept, as opposed to state control. A proposed amendment stressing quality education in integrated neighborhood schools was defeated.

The group voted to write Hanoi in support of U.S. prisoners of war, to back a problems hashed out in the exchange.

The group heard an array of distinguished speakers including Dr. John W. McFarland, dean of the School of Education, University of Texas at El Paso; Dr. Bernice M. Moore of the Hogg Foundation for Mental Health, UT Austin; Dr. W. C. Newberry, director of secondary education, Southwest Texas State University; Lt. Col. O. H. Entwistle Jr. of Vienna, Va., representative of the National PTA, and Dr. Andrew Holt, president emeritus, University of Tennessee.

"The PTA has kept itself flexible," Mrs. Harris told the group. Without innovation, she said, the PTA would be dead, "because we'd be useless to our children, our schools and to our communities."

In earlier action, the Texas PTA state board of managers approved funds for 15,400 scholarships to be awarded teachers for study during the summer of 1972.

Texas teachers who have taught at least three years, who are members of a local PTA, and who agree to teach in Texas for the year following the summer study will be eligible for consideration.

History Of Christmas Cards Told At Meeting

The Progressive Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. E. A. Revard, 1100 Seneca, for its annual Christmas party and gift exchange.

Mrs. G. B. Hogan, president, announced a Tasting Party will be held in the annex.

For the program, Mrs. G. B. Hogan and Mrs. E. A. Revard recited Christmas poems.

followed by the history of American Christmas cards, given by Mrs. Hogan.

In 1875, Louis Prang, a lithographer, printed the first Christmas card for general use. Mrs. Hogan explained, adding that, prior to this, the American people purchased Christmas greetings imported from Germany, England and Bavaria.

Wanting to include only the finest messages on his cards, Prang gave prizes, to ladies only, for essays on Christmas cards.

Mrs. Hogan stated, Prang imported a special type of porous stone block from Bavaria for use in making the cards, all of which were hand-lithographed.

Mrs. Hogan told the women that Prang had no American competition until 1908. Since then, one hundred or more publishers could be included in a list of American firms that have created Christmas cards.

Mrs. Hogan pointed out the custom of using envelopes was not general until 1906. The 19th century Christmas cards were usually delivered by hand, with a calling card.

She concluded that between 1916 and 1920, the sale of Christmas cards was small, but, since then, it has become a tremendous industry in the United States.

Refreshments of coffee and homemade Christmas cookies and candies were served during the social period. The hostess gift was awarded to Mrs. B. L. Dorman.

Guests were Mrs. Betty King and Mrs. Thelma Buffington. Members present were Mmes. B. L. Dorman, Lazetta Grant, E. C. Golden, G. B. Hogan, E. A. Revard, D. A. Rife, E. P. Templin and E. L. Trumm.

Harbor Plans Tunnel

By DAVID J. PAINE
HONG KONG (AP) — The two halves of the divided city of Hong Kong, lying on the rim of China, will be linked directly for the first time when a tunnel under the picturesque harbor that separates them is opened in 1972.

The mile-long underwater route from Hong Kong Island to Kowloon, a small peninsula on the mainland, is more than half completed.

Cars will be able to speed through it in about a minute and a half, and specially constructed roads will lead them into the downtown areas of each side.

At present, vehicles going from one half of the city to the other must cross the harbor by ferry. On the main route this takes 12 to 15 minutes, but long lines at rush hour and on the weekends when the Sunday drivers are out in force can mean a holdup of one to two hours.

The tunnel will be for vehicles only, with no pedestrians allowed. It is estimated it will cost $54 million and is one of the largest engineering tasks undertaken in Southeast Asia by private enterprise.

The direct road connection between the island and the mainland portion of this British colony is badly needed and when it has been in operation for a year or two people probably will wonder how they managed without it.

But it also threatens a nostalgic tie with the past. Some of the small ferries which churn busily across the harbor are likely to become victims.

"It's just progress," says Robbie Brothers executive officer for the company constructing the tunnel. "No city in the world on the scale of Hong Kong relies just on ferries. Ferries are outmoded."

BUSY HARBOR — A tunnel under the harbor that separates the two halves of Hong Kong is slated for completion in 1972. At top-left, a tug tows a section of the tunnel into position. A small ferry (upper right) churns past U.S. destroyers moored in Hong Kong's harbor. At lower left is the southern entrance to the tunnel, and (lower right) two ferries, whose existence is threatened by the tunnel, cross the harbor.

The ferries which now provide the only mass transport system between the island and Kowloon—a small helicopter service also is available—are, indeed, outmoded as a form of modern transport.

But the ferries of Hong Kong have a special place in the colony's life and history. They have served Hong Kong well since last century and evoke many sentimental memories.

In a year, the efficiently run ferries carry 240 million passengers across the harbor, mostly between the two downtown areas. Other ferries run from Hong Kong Island to more distant parts of the mainland and to the outlying islands.

Best known to visitors are the Star ferries, which hurry between the island and Kowloon. Second class, on the lower deck, costs 10 Hong Kong cents (less than 2 U.S. cents) for this seven-minute voyage, one of the cheapest in the world. First class, at 25 Hong Kong cents (about 4 U.S. cents), is less crowded and less interesting.

All 10 green and white passenger ferries on this run have the word star in their names, like Celestial Star and Twinkling Star.

Operating more widely is Hong Kong and Yaumati Ferry Co., which has 61 ferries and last year carried 170 million passengers and six million vehicles.

The effect the tunnel will have on the passenger ferries is uncertain and may depend largely on what cross-harbor services the bus companies decide to operate.

State Approves Funds For Crime, Drug Plan

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Criminal Justice Council approved $192,000 in federal funds today to continue a crime and drug education program in Texas schools.

The council turned down the project, requested by the Texas Education Agency, at its November meeting because the legislature had failed to contribute to the program.

Twenty program coordinators in TEA regions around the state were shifted to other TEA jobs on Dec. 1 because federal grants totaling $577,000 had been used up.

Cambodia Vulnerable To N. Viet's Attack

SAIGON (AP) — American officials in Saigon think the Cambodian army is a long way from becoming an effective fighting force, and the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong could take over the entire country if they wanted to.

Highly placed officials estimate Communist forces now control as much as 80 per cent of Cambodia and can do anything they want.

"But their goal is the defeat of South Vietnam," said one source.

"As long as the South Vietnamese have enough forces to keep the North Vietnamese out and free access to go across the border, harass them and cut off their supplies, it will be difficult for them to mount a successful invasion of Military Region 3."

Military Region 3 is the most critical of South Vietnam's four regions. It includes Saigon and 11 surrounding provinces and shares 231 miles of border with Cambodia.

According to latest intelligence estimates, there are about 80,000 enemy troops in Cambodia, and about two-thirds of them are North Vietnamese. Intelligence officers say the ultimate mission of about 60,000 of these troops is South Vietnam, the other 20,000 are support troops.

Officials in Saigon believe the enemy's mission in Cambodia now is to secure his supply lines and bases. They think his attacks on Cambodian forces are politically motivated in part, a show of strength.

"The North Vietnamese are sensitive to world opinion," says one official. "They could take Cambodia in a week if they tried, if they cut loose everything they had. But the North Vietnamese army taking over a foreign country is not a war of liberation."

"World opinion would be against a North Vietnamese takeover, a foreign invasion. But world opinion has overlooked the North Vietnamese invasion of South Vietnam because they are both Vietnamese and they can keep this in the ball park as a war of liberation. The North Vietnamese leaned heavily on this because they are associated with the Viet Cong, or the National Liberation Front, in the south."

Senior U.S. and South Vietnamese officers consider the Cambodian conduct of their own defense to be confused and contradictory. These are some of their assessments:

"The Cambodian army is in essence a good, long way from an effective fighting force. They made some progress, but setbacks along the northeastern front and around Phnom Penh recently have really hurt."

"Their big weakness is leadership, which is really crucial to any developing army. The South Vietnamese are just now reaching the point of getting good leadership on their operations after all these years."

Scientists To Explore Bottom Of The World

By ALTON BLAKESLEE, AP Science Editor

AMUNDSEN-SCOTT SOUTH POLE STATION (AP) — At the bottom of the world everywhere you look is north and everywhere the scene is the same: flat, with snow and ice stretching hundreds of miles over a 10,000-foot-high plateau. Land is near—two miles down under the ice cap you stand on.

Beginning in mid-February, 22 Americans—8 scientists and 14 Navy men—will button up for a long winter night when the sun disappears for six months and blackness comes and the temperature drops to 80 and 100 below zero. And daily there is some outdoor work to be done tending scientific experiments or shoveling snow into melters for fresh water.

Why do men volunteer to stay? For some it is the interest in their science work or a sense of adventure; for others a way of getting away from troubles and of having time to think and sort things out.

They manage to stick it through but not without bouts of depression.

Eighty to 90 per cent of winterover men told an interviewing psychiatrist later that they were depressed during the long winter, said Dr. Lynn Solem, 27, of Browerville, Minn., who has studied the matter since he will stay over as base physician, fuel officer and chaplain.

"The anxiety and fear are real. For eight months you know you're not getting out. In the depth of winter you couldn't get out if you were president of the United States," explained the young physician with reddish beard and mustache.

The treatment is to talk to the man, letting him vent his feelings, perhaps give drugs and perhaps give him ridiculous jobs or take other steps that make him angry to focus his feelings upon something else, Solem said.

Still here from last year's winterover party is Gary Brougham of Marysville, Mich., engaged in geophysical and seismological studies and still here "because somebody goofed and my relief didn't arrive a month or two ago. It will be 400 days for me on Dec. 10 with another month yet to go."

"You can't describe what staying over is like—you have to experience it. Overall I enjoyed it. I was on my own in my job and I made real good friendships."

"Sure we have arguments and quarrels but those die down and we become a team. Everybody crashes into depression sooner or later and for a time he may sleep 10 to 12 hours a day or drink too much."

But, says Brougham, one man last winter found the antidote to boredom and depression. He had never played pool before, but when winter was over he was the best player on base.

Would Brougham return another year? As of now the answer is never.

People In The News

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell says prison punishment for drug users is "nonproductive."

Instead, Mitchell says he favors treatment and rehabilitation of drug addicts.

"We have worked to change the concept of federal penalties," Mitchell said Thursday night. He said his purpose was to put the addict in the hospital while "coming down hard on pushers."

Mitchell commented to newsmen before addressing a meeting of the National Council on Alcoholism.

CHICAGO (AP) — The Rev. Daniel Berrigan, the Jesuit antiwar priest, has been awarded the Thomas More Medal for his book, "The Dark Night of Resistance."

The medal, presented annually by the Thomas More Association, a literary organization, cited the book "as the most distinguished contribution to Catholic literature in 1971."

A citation accompanying the medal described Father Berrigan's writings as "a cry of conscience and of humanity."

Father Berrigan is serving a term in a federal prison for burning draft records in Catonsville, Md.

PORTSMOUTH, R.I. (AP) — Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr. says seamen aboard the USS Constellation were subjected to intense antiwar propaganda before the aircraft carrier sailed for Vietnam.

Speaking at a Chamber of Commerce dinner here Thursday night, Zumwalt cited what he called the "most extended, vicious, expensive and vigorously prosecuted propaganda campaign to defect ever leveled against a military unit."

Zumwalt was referring to an incident in October when nine sailors jumped ship hours before the carrier sailed from San Diego, where antiwar groups attempted to keep the ship from leaving port.

Zumwalt said he was "proud to report" that only nine of the ship's 4,000 sailors "knuckled under to the pressure and failed to do their duty."

LONDON (AP) — Ballerina Natalia Makarova, the Russian dancer who defected in London last year, will marry her manager next summer.

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE
PH.D. M.D.

Lorna's professor intimates that Confucianism, Buddhism and Christianity are all equal. That's definitely not so, as measured both by their "fruits" as well as their essential ideas. So discuss this case with your children!

CASE S-542: Lorna B., aged 20, is a college senior.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "I have been taking a course called 'Comparative Religions.' The professor has discussed Confucianism, Buddhism and other sects. But he seems to think they are just as valid as Christianity, saying there is good in all of them.

"But isn't Christianity superior to the others?"

MORAL YARDSTICK
"By their fruits ye shall judge them," said Jesus. Applying that yardstick, which religion has sprouted the most hospitals, the most colleges, and rendered the most foreign missionary services to feed and heal impoverished nations?

Which has furnished the major support of the Red Cross, the Salvation Army, the YMCA, Boy and Girl Scouts, United Funds, etc.?

Confucius was born 551 B. C. and Gautama (Buddha) in 563 B. C.

So they had over 500 years head start on Christ!

Yet the nations which they have dominated are still impoverished, poorly fed, and beset with idolatry.

Until the year 1900 A. D., people in India still hurled live babies into the Ganges River as living sacrifices.

And "sacred cows" are literally treated better than human infants over there!

For old cows are given penicillin that we have sent for their sick babies, because they worship cows above humans.

Christianity thus is tops in its "fruits" so let's also look at its essential ideas.

In which religion do we find the concept of the "Good Shepherd"? Did you ever hear Buddha or Confucius called the "Good Shepherd"? And in which religion is God pictured as a loving Father, willing to forgive us erring children not just 7 times but 70 times 7, as Jesus stated?

Which religion depicts its founder as the Son of God, sent down here to this planet Earth to prove the vast extensiveness of God's affection for us human children of the Almighty?

In all other religions except Christianity, people were taught to look on Deity as a cruel, sadistic monarch, apparently happy to incinerate us wayward human slaves, as by Thor and Woden's thunderbolts.

So all primitive peoples constantly kowtowed to their dictatorial gods, hoping to bribe a little favor therewith by sacrifices of rice, wine, doves, sheep and bullocks, plus even human beings!

And sacrificing was inexorably a one-way street, with humans always bowing down in terror before their cruel gods.

In all human history, only once has there been a reversal of this sacrificing to gods to appease and atone and bribe future favors.

That one startling exception was shown at Calvary when God sacrificed his Son to prove his love for us human children!

About 1,800 B.C., Abraham started to sacrifice his son Isaac to prove his affection for Jehovah (God), but was checked at the final moment.

Jehovah (God) reciprocated Abraham's action by then sacrificing his only Son to prove his love for mankind.

This is the most unique aspect of Christianity, setting it apart from ALL other religions! Note well!

Christmas is thus the initial stage in this changed concept of God by man.

Labor, Industry, Ag Balance Is Needed

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS—If America is to remain strong, imbalances between labor, industry and agriculture must be corrected. William J. Kuhfuss, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said here in his annual address to the Federation's 53rd annual meeting.

The Federation is the world's largest voluntary general farm organization with more than 2 million member families. Four of five farmers and ranchers who belong to a general farm organization, belong to Farm Bureau.

"Legislative guidelines are needed," he said, "to prevent any one segment or group taking undue advantage of other groups. With the monopoly granted labor, this workable balance between producers, labor, processors and business is impossible. With fair guidelines, that balance can be maintained and enterprise can function."

Kuhfuss said that he recognizes the right of workers to organize and to negotiate with respect to the product they have to sell, which is labor.

"I do not feel that they themselves, can work satisfactorily now, but the President has commanded the attention of the world by declaring that we will not sit idly by and allow selfish groups, either here or abroad, to take advantage of the public interest in the United States."

"Inflation, Kuhfuss said, is caused largely by excessive government spending."

"Congress prompted excessive group demands by voting themselves a 42 percent salary increase. Some day there must be a day of reckoning. We cannot continue to have a $29 billion deficit budget as has been projected this year and maintain a strong, responsible economy."

"Establishing spending priorities for America is an important responsibility of Congress. These elected people are not going to change the direction of spending until a sufficient number of voters insist that we are more concerned with the welfare of the U.S. economy than with some special selfish interest that might benefit individually, whether that legislators, labor, agriculture, or business.

"This opportunity for the promotion of a selfish interest is one weakness of our political system. Too many times we are so slow to realize the dilemma we are helping to create that we expose the very fiber of a great nation before insisting upon change. It's time to change direction from reckless government spending and toward fiscal responsibility."

The national farm leader said that agriculture deserves a better relative place in our economy than it is presently experiencing.

American agriculture, he reported, as of November 15, was operating at 70 percent of parity, only 3 points higher than in the depression month of December, 1933, when it was 67 percent of parity.

Kuhfuss noted that the present Food and Agricultural Act of 1970 will expire December 31, 1973, and asked, "Are we going to be genuinely ready to support constructive agricultural legislation to succeed the present act?"

Big Corn Crop Behind Buying

WASHINGTON (AP) — A greater-than-expected corn crop that caused prices to plummet is behind the government's decision to buy up an undetermined amount of corn, says new Secretary of Agriculture Earl R. Butz.

Announcing the decision Friday, Butz said the record crop of more than 5.5 billion bushels was caused by farmers reacting to the threat of corn blight, which heavily damaged crops last year. The blight did not materialize to the degree expected this year.

Butz said the decision, combined with the commodity loan program and the recent sale of corn to the Soviet Union, would give farmers a wide choice of alternatives in getting rid of this year's excess crop.

Despite the fact no decision has been made on how much corn will be bought, Sen. Jack Miller of Iowa, ranking GOP member of the Agriculture Committee, said the announcement was "the best news Corn Belt farmers have had for a long time."

He said the announcement was proof Nixon intends to live up to his promises to help farmers share in the nation's wealth.

Initial outside comment to the proposal varied.

The president of the Iowa corn growers association, Roscoe Marsden, said his first thought at hearing of the undisclosed amount was: "It might not mean much."

"When you don't give an exact figure, you can't rely upon any permanent boost in price," he said.

Gordon Ropp, executive director of the Illinois Agricultural Association, says: "The President has made some good sound decisions toward improving income in rural areas."

The price of corn last week was between $1.05 and $1.10 per bushel. The government currently guarantees farmers $1.35 per bushel on half their acreage, but the price on the other half is subject to market vagaries.

LITTLE GULPER. FOR CITY FOLKS, THOUGH— Looking for the world like a crane that met with an accident, the droopy aluminum boom mounted on a conventional truck scoops up debris and feeds it into bags. Designed to handle bottles, cans, cigarette packages and other small items that loom large in the total litter picture, the unit is said to be capable of reducing maintenance department costs for "picking up" by as much as 40 percent. No attempt has been made as yet to test the "trash trachea" on rural right-of-ways where such crops up in quantity.

Snow Halts Harvesting Of Cotton

Cotton harvest was halted last week by six to eight inches of snow over the Memphis Classing Office area, according to W.E. Cain, in charge of the USDA's Memphis office.

This office had classed 8,550 samples as of Friday, Dec. 3, compared to 38,800 by the same date last year.

Strict Low Middling Light Spot was the predominant grade and accounted for 60 percent of cotton classed for the week. Low Middling Light Spot accounted for 19 percent. Samples with bark accounted for 14 percent.

The predominant staple was 31 with 49 percent followed by 32 with 30 percent and 30 with 14 percent.

Pollution? -- This Is Rediculous!

AMSTERDAM, HOLLAND — There may be a brand new trend in photographic techniques, according to De Telegraaf here. A photographer from the daily paper recently took a picture of some Rotterdam houses.

He then proceeded to develop the picture with only water taken from the chemical-laden Rhine-Meuse rivers which unite in Holland — no other processing chemicals.

The printed picture clearly showed the houses! One ecological pessimist observed: "It's enough to Rotterdam houses down!"

TALKING TERRACES — Jim Roach, Soil Conservation Service technician and Morris Enloe discuss the merits of parallel terraces as they view those being constructed on the Bill Waters farm south of Grandview. This work is being done on a cost-share assistance under the Great Plains Conservation Program. (photo by Mickey L. Black)

Recent Rains Prove Terracing Technique

The use of parallel terraces on dryland cropland has proven to be an excellent soil and water conservation practice according to Jim Roach, conservation technician, with the Soil Conservation Service at Pampa.

The use of parallel terraces could have prevented much of the soil loss that resulted in the recent three to five inch rains received in Gray County according to Roach.

Soil erosion is most obvious on rolling land, but also takes place on flat land, in the form of sheet erosion, which is harder to see at times. Much valuable topsoil is lost through water erosion. Also, valuable moisture is lost. Without terraces to control the runoff of water, it leaves without having time to penetrate into the soil and is gone forever.

Roach stated, parallel terraces are constructed in a manner that the interval between the terraces have been leveled to some extent depending on how steep the land is where the terraces are built. This enables the water to be spread more uniformly over your cropland.

Parallel terraces will eliminate most point rows and can be adapted to all kinds of farming operations, according to Roach. They are also adapted to all types of soils, whether sandy loams or clays.

Bill Waters of Pampa completed a system of parallel terraces on his farm south of Grandview this year. Over the past two years, he has built approximately 26,000 feet of parallel terraces.

Cost-share assistance is available through the Great Plains Conservation Program, administered by the Soil Conservation Service, and the Rural Environmental Assistance Program, administered by the ASCS, for construction of parallel terraces and many other

Food Bank Measure Due Pre-Yule Try

WASHINGTON AP — A politically explosive package of bills to aid economically troubled farmers by creating a national food bank and raising grain-loan rates is due for a pre-Christmas opening in Congress.

With Chairman William M. Colmer, D-Miss., on the losing side, the House Rules Committee decided 8 to 7 Monday night to clear the legislation for action on the House floor.

Eight of the committee's 10 Democrats overpowered all five Republicans, Colmer and Rep. James J. Delaney, D-N.Y. The Nixon administration opposes the bills, which have the approval of a majority of the Democratic-controlled Agriculture Committee.

Before dispatching the bills to the floor, the Rules Committee voted 8 to 7 against an amendment by Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., to set a $20,000 payment limit. Eight Democrats won on this one, with the five Republicans and Democrats Delaney and Claude Pepper of Florida on the losing side.

Under the "strategic" storage agricultural commodities bill, sponsored by Rep. Neal Smith, D-Iowa, a national food bank would be stocked with about $1.5 billion worth of vital grains—300 million bushels of wheat and 25 million tons of feed grains. The reserves of grain sorghums, corn, barley, oats and wheat would be stored at an average annual cost of $215 million.

The bill was approved for floor action under terms allowing the grain-loan-rate-increase bill to be considered as an amendment to the Smith plan.

The loan bill, sponsored by Rep. John Melcher, D-Mont., would require the government to increase loan levels of wheat and feed grains by 25 percent on the 1971 and 1972 crops designed to protect producers, income when reserves of these grains are being rebuilt.

In urging approval of the loan bill, which would apply when a commodity adjustment program results in additions to reserve stocks, committee Chairman W. R. Poage said the legislation deals "only with crop loans to farmers."

"Under the long-standing Commodity Credit Corporation non-recourse loan program, the government lends money to eligible farmers on their grain production. The farmers pledge their grain as security for these loans. Eventually, these loans are either repaid with interest by the farmer, or the government takes title to the grain.

"This bill simply raises the loan levels on our most important grains."

The food-bank bill would provide for the secretary of agriculture to buy wheat and feed grain at prices not exceeding one average price for the previous five years. These reserves could be released only when market prices for wheat and feed grains were 120 percent above the previous five-year average price received by farmers.

Or, they could be used to relieve economic problems, provide help at time of disaster or in a civil-defense crisis, or to feed livestock in an emergency.

Supporters of the food bank said it would act as a stabilizer of the feed-grain and wheat market and assure adequate supplies of food for consumers. But opponents argued that it would be too expensive and would add "another price depressant to the farmers' market price picture."

Stubble Graze Raise Set At $160-Million

COLLEGE STATION — Proper grazing of grain sorghum and corn stubble could boost agricultural income on the Texas High Plains by more than $160 million. And the practice could also pay dividends in other areas of the state.

In 1970 a study was initiated by Texas Agricultural Extension Service specialists Dr. Cal Parrott and Ed Garnett of Amarillo and Castro County Agricultural Agent Charles Hotel to obtain new information about the utilization of milo and corn stubble with steer calves. Site of the study was the Bob Anthony farm in Castro County.

"With about four million acres of milo and corn harvested annually in the High Plains, a well-managed grazing program could boost yearly farm income and provide the roughage for raising seven million feeder calves annually," said Garnett in discussing the grazing study.

He said the cattle feeding industry on the High Plains will demand about 3.4 million head of feedlot replacements his year and many of these cattle are shipped in from outside the area.

In the study 421 steers weighing an average of 400 pounds were placed on 230 acres of grain sorghum and corn stubble for a 114-day grazing period. The stubble acreage was 74 percent corn and 26 percent grain sorghum.

The steers were worked and backgrounded in drylot for 40 days prior to the initiation of the study and were then allowed to graze about 57 acres for 28 to 30-day intervals.

After grazing out the stubble, the steers were placed in a commercial feedlot where they were fed out to a little more than 1,000 pounds. Complete cost records were kept on each phase of the study, and an economic analysis was made of each phase as well as the overall study.

Each steer gained an average of 162 pounds during the 114-day grazing period for an average of 1.42 pounds per head per day. Including the supplemental feed, each acre of stubble produced 2.6 pounds. Complete cost records of beef daily.

According to Garnett, air costs were figured, including a charge for the farmer's land use and labor.

The economic analysis showed a per head net return of $5.98 for the backgrounding phase; $23.25 for the grazing phase; and $19.63 for the finishing phase.

1972 FARM PROGRAM

There are many changes in the 1972 Feed Grain and Wheat Program for 1972. Now that the weather keeps you out of the field it would be an excellent time to come by the ASCS office and have them explain how the 1972 Feed Grain and Wheat Program will affect you. There will be numerous alternatives available to you this year that you didn't have last year. Study the leaflets sent you before you come to the office. This will help you to better understand how the program will apply to your farm.

Henry Harnly, immediate past president, Gray-Roberts Farmer's Union, was recently installed as District Director some 20 Panhandle counties. Henry was installed during the recent Statewide Convention at San Antonio. Henry succeeds Buck Breeding from Collingsworth County.

MEETINGS

Next week the Extension agents will be in a two-day meeting in Amarillo, December 14 and 15. The meeting is on Communications. Specialists at Texas A&M University will be in charge of this two-day training program. We are looking forward to this. Should you need to contact us, call us at the house since we will travel over to Amarillo each day and spend the night in Pampa. Contact our office and Melba Gasaway can tell you how to reach us should you need to call.

Other meetings: December 17, 2 p.m., Agricultural

Committee to set up conservation practices for 1972. Also, December 17 at 7:30 p.m., 4-H Christmas Party January 6 — Panhandle Economic Program meeting on Finance at Quality Motel, Amarillo, 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.; January 20 — Futures Trading Seminar, Community Center, Hereford, 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

SWINE MEETING

Our own Elmer McLaughlin, commercial swine producer at Laketon, was a speaker on the third Southwest Pork Symposium at West Texas State on December 6. I've heard Elmer did his usual good job in presenting a program on the topic "Breeding Management and Problems." Elmer is the editor of a Production Guideline we printed for Gray County several years ago. The publication was so popular we had requests from a number of adjoining counties for copies. I still have some left if any of you readers would like a copy. It is a must for reading by new swine producers or potential swine producers.

FARM BUREAU CONVENTION

About four weeks ago I attended my first Statewide Farm Bureau Convention at Amarillo. I attended that part of the session where the resolutions and issues were debated on the floor. The first two-hour session was centered more on the ground rules of how the resolutions would be debated. Then, the sessions that followed were debating the resolutions as approved by a resolution committee. If the resolutions committee failed to place your resolution on the agenda, you could propose it from the floor if you could get the support of two-thirds of the delegates. One such resolution on the subject of weather modification research was placed on the agenda and passed in this manner.

The thing that impressed me the most was the most democratic manner in which this convention was run. A light was on the microphone and when the red light came on you had thirty more seconds to state your opinion.

Here was the best example of democracy in action from the grass roots. Most of the proposed changes such as an increase in dues, and changing the tenure of directors failed. It seemed that some drastic changes had been made during the convention the previous year and an effort was being made to change the rules back. A limit had been placed last year on how long a director could serve. This unseated some of the directors that had been on the board for many years. Last year the method of electing the president by the board of directors was changed to elect him from the floor of the convention. I got the idea that it would be extremely difficult to slip some selfish resolution by without having your hand called.

I would encourage every Farm Bureau member to attend their State Convention. They will come back with a much greater respect for their organization.

Panhandle Water

PANHANDLE WATER

By: FELIX W. RYALS

The current Texas Panhandle weather is an every hour, every day topic. It has been this way since mid July. Once the current weather pattern became established, the weather forecasters have been able to give more accurate forecasts. Normally, the predicting of weather in West Texas is a hazardous task. A favorite expression of one of the long time forecasters is, "It takes moisture to make moisture." That being the case, we could be in for a long cold wet winter.

Last week this columnist related a visit to one of the Carson County playa lakebeds that had a good crop of irrigated sorghum grain that had not been harvested. Approximately 400 acres of the grain is under water. The lakebed grain was fattening thousands of ducks. There is a story making the rounds that the landowner has leased the lakebed for use as a game

Water has a number of qualities. When handled properly, most of these are good qualities. The moisture we now have with us is not necessarily good at the moment. Water is a combination of two gases, hydrogen and oxygen. When combined as water, it quenches the thirst of animal life and plant life. Uncontrolled water may take the life of plant and animal. When separated into its chemical elements, hydrogen and oxygen, we find that hydrogen is an inflammable gas and that oxygen supports combustion.

In recent years the news media has aroused the whole world about the dangers of pollution to our fresh water. The environmentalists have gotten into the act in a big way. A number of fake environmentalists have also gotten into a raucous noisy uproar. These fake environmentalists could become a pestilence.

The Federal Water Quality Administration has endeavored to draw up some guidelines on the prevention of pollution from heat. We are quoting some of these criteria:

"Water pollution to most people is the wastes which have been discharged or washed into rivers or lakes from homes or businesses, oil or chemicals from industry, or just plain dirt and debris from city streets or country fields. Pollution to them is usually an offense to the eyes or nose that prevents full enjoyment of the water."

"But a more insidious kind of pollution is invisible heat. When heat, natural or man-made, raises the temperature of water, changes take place, sometimes beneficial, but more often detrimental.

"Great amounts of heat are produced by industries which need water for cooling. After being used for cooling, warmed-up water is usually returned to the nearest waterway, raising the temperature of the river, lake, or estuary. The hot water not only may harm the fish in the stream, but can make the water less valuable to farmers, industries, or cities downstream."

"This type of pollution has become commonly known as thermal pollution. "Since the electric power industry uses more water for cooling than any other industry, its projected growth can illustrate the problem ahead in thermal pollution. An estimated 70 percent of the waste heat or hot water discharged into rivers or lakes in the Nation results from generating electricity. By 1980, the annual production of electricity is expected to reach 2,000 billion kilowatt-hours, which will require nearly 250 billion gallons of water per day for cooling. Fresh water sources will be used for about 200 billion gallons of the cooling water. This is one-fifth of all the fresh water available in the country."

"And the demand for electricity is doubling every 10 to 15 years, depending on the section of the country one lives in."

Next week we will pursue this further.

Sonora Keeps Top Position

Passing Tricky For Texas 500

By ROBERT HEARD
Associated Press Writer
COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Drivers say passing will be tricky on the first 50 laps of the Texas 500 stock car race Sunday because it will take that long to lay down a good groove of rubber.

Rain forced a one-week postponement of the race and also washed away the groove laid down Dec. 4 by the Permatex 200 and Alamo 200.

Heavy tire wear is expected on the asphalt track until the groove is laid, meaning the first pit stops for tire changes probably will come around the 40th lap of the two-mile oval.

A little rubber was laid in practice runs Saturday but the drivers said much more is needed.

Sure to be a crowd favorite is country and western singer Marty Robbins who qualified for the 20th starting position in the 48-car field with a one-lap clocking of 157.525 miles per hour.

Pete Hamilton of Dedham, Mass., holds the pole position with a 170.830 m.p.h. qualifying time. He is followed by Benn Parsons, Detroit, with 169.947 in qualifying time; Richard Petty, Randleman, N.C., 168.855.

Buddy Baker, Charlotte, N.C., 168.835; and Bobby Allison, Hueytown, Ala., 168.539.

Petty, 34, dominates the sport the way Babe Ruth, Bobby Jones and Joe Louis did their's. In 13 years of racing, he has finished first 119 times, including 20 this year.

Petty is the first stock car racer to pass $1 million in winnings, getting more than a fourth of that—$275,830—this year in clinching his third national championship.

Allison, also 34, has a chance to become the first man to win nine major National Association of Stock Car Racing (NASCAR) events in one year.

He is tied now with LeeRoy Yarbrough of Columbia, S.C., with eight. A major NASCAR race is 400 miles or longer.

Grand marshal for the Texas 500 is astronaut Pete Conrad.

The only resemblance between the stock cars in the race and those in an automobile dealer's window is the body. Everything inside is specially made for racing. The engine has a 13-1 compression ratio compared with 8-1 and 9-1 in standard cars.

The engines generate approximately 500 horsepower.

STAMFORD, Tex. (AP) — Powerful Sonora, ineffective most of the first half, put together scoring drives of 61 and 38 yards in the final period Saturday to clip White Deer 20-19 in a Class A semifinal high school football game that allows the Broncos to defend their state title next week against Barbers Hill.

Dominated by the tough Buck defense during the first half, the Broncos returned after intermission with a mix of throwing and the running of Steve Street and Milton Noel that gave Sonora its 14th straight win.

Arkansas Tech Ripped 14-12

BIRMINGHAM, ALA. (AP) — Livingston University rallied from a 10-7 halftime deficit to trip Arkansas Tech 14-12 and win the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics' national championship Saturday.

The Tigers defense stopped a Tech drive at the 16 late in the final quarter and gave away an intentional safety to preserve the victory.

Tech quarterback Phil Fisher hit fleet Benny Shepherd on a 67-yard bomb in the first quarter.

Joe Nettles set up the winning touchdown when he took the ball away from a Tech receiver and returned it 25 yards to the Tech 16.

rushers with 105 yards on 22 carries, set up the final TD drive with a 20-yard punt return to the White Deer's 38. Ten plays later, Knowles scored from the two, giving Sonora its victory margin with 46 seconds left.

Sonora quarterback Mark Rousselot scored twice for the Broncos, on runs of one and three yards, and kicker Henry Mata added two of three extra points.

White Deer took a 6-0 half-time lead, only the third time Sonora has trailed at the half in 14 games, on a 91-yard, threeplay drive climaxed by Kim Snagle's four-yard run. Hoskins' passes of 41 and 31 yards to Pat Hudgins were the big plays.

Hoskins kicked field goals of 25 and 50 yards in the second half. Jerry Urbanczyk's 63-yard touchdown run and Hoskin's kick gave White Deer a 19-7 lead with 11:39 left, but Sonora's final two drives wiped out the lead.

The Kansas City Chiefs can clinch their first division title since 1966 when they meet the Oakland Raiders Sunday in one of three games involving contenders for post-season action in the National Football League.

This year marks the sixth in succession that the Chiefs and Raiders will finish first or second in the Western Division of the American Football Conference or the American Football League.

But since the Chiefs won in 1966, the Raiders have been the reigning champions.

The Chiefs, however, did upend the Raiders in the 1969 AFL playoffs and went on to win the Super Bowl by defeating Minnesota 23-7.

Now, with an 8-3-1 record to 7-3-2 for the Raiders, the Chiefs can clinch with a Sunday victory.

At the same time, the Dallas Cowboys will be looking to move another step closer to the Eastern title in the National Conference in a game against the New York Giants and two of the three Western contenders—Atlanta and San Francisco meet in the West Coast city.

Both of those games also will have a direct bearing on the Monday night television clash between the NFC East runnerup Washington Redskins and the NFC West leading Rams at Los Angeles.

The Cowboys currently lead with a 9-3 record to 8-3-1 for the Redskins. A Dallas victory, coupled with a loss or tie by Washington, will give the Eastern title to the LAWTON, Okla. (AP) — Quarterback Ronny Cauliflower passed for one touchdown and ran for another to lead Howard Payne College of Brownwood, Tex., to a 16-13 victory over Cameron State in the first Cowboy Bowl football game here Saturday.

Cauliflower ran 61 yards for a score in the first quarter and passed 21 yards to L. J. Clayton for another TD in the second. Lyle Bilberry kicked a 31-yard field goal in the third quarter.

Cameron State scored on a 51-yard run by Gordon Williams and a 27 yard run by Danny Hardaway.

Howard Payne won the Texas Lone Star Conference championship this season and was ranked third nationally by the NAIA.

Cameron tied for second in the Oklahoma Collegiate Conference.

Cowboys. In the Western race, Los Angeles leads at 7-4-1 with San Francisco 7-5 and Atlanta 6-5-1.

In two head-on clashes involving Title contenders Saturday, Minnesota slammed the Detroit Lions 29-10 to clinch the NFL Central title. And Johnny Unitas propelled Baltimore past the Miami Dolphins 14-3 and into first place in the East of the AFC. The win put the Colts one-half game ahead of Miami with both teams having one game left to play.

The remainder of the Sunday program does not involve any title contenders, but does spotlight a game between the leading losers—Houston at Buffalo—that likely will leave the loser with the No. 1 pick in the NFL draft.

In other Sunday games, AFC Central champion Cleveland is at New Orleans, Denver at San Diego, New England at the New York Jets, Pittsburgh at Cincinnati, Chicago at Green Bay, St. Louis at Philadelphia.

Dana X Award To Newhouse

WACO, Tex. (AP) — University of Houston fullback Robert Newhouse, whose rushing total this year was the second highest in NCAA history for a single season, has been named winner of the Dana X. Bible Award for Excellence.

The award is presented annually to the state's foremost college player by Texas Football Magazine.

In his final game of the regular season, Newhouse rushed for 204 yards against Utah, bringing his season total to 1,757 yards, second only to the all-time record figure posted this year by Ed Marinaro of Cornell.

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio University upset fourth-ranked Ohio State 79-68 in college basketball here Saturday.

The Bobcats put on a strong defensive effort and held their own under the backboards against the taller Buckeyes to pull off the surprise victory.

The game was close throughout the first half, which ended with Ohio University holding a slim 31-30 margin.

The Bobcat defense kept a three-man guard on Ohio State's high-scoring center Luke Witte, who still managed to sink 21 points.

Unitas Passes Baltimore To Eastern Division Title

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Johnny Unitas, Baltimore's 38-year-old master of exposing defensive weaknesses, confounded Miami with two lengthy, time-consuming touchdown drives in the first half that propelled the Colts to a 14-3 victory over the Dolphins Saturday and into first place in the East Division of the American Football Conference.

The victory in the head-on clash catapulted the defending Super Bowl champion Colts past the Dolphins by one-half game with just one game remaining for each team.

The Colts, now 10-3, close out the regular season next Sunday at home against New England, while Miami, 9-3-1, takes on Green Bay.

Unitas, whose career was threatened prior to the season by an achilles injury, put the game away for the Colts with two drives as perfect as could be plotted in the first half, relying mostly on runs up the middle and short passes over the middle.

Completing 12 of 13 attempts for 103 yards in the two marches, Unitas took the Colts 81 yards in 18 plays after the opening kickoff, using up nine minutes 53 seconds. Then he came back with an 87-yard drive in 16 plays that ate up 9:36.

Tom Matte scored the touchdown on the end of both drives, with runs of seven yards and one yard—and that was it as second-half scoring was confined to a 17-yard field goal by Miami's Garo Yepremian.

In the first half not only did Unitas marshal the offensive forces for the two drives consuming almost 20 of the 30 minutes, but the Colts were just as devastating on defense, totally handcuffing the Dolphins' array of weapons.

Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick totaled just 15 yards on the ground and Paul Warfield caught just one pass for six yards. And not one Miami first down was chalked up until 3:15 was left in the opening half.

The loss was the second in a row for Miami and left them in precarious position in the chase for the Eastern title. However, both the winner and runner up from the same division can qualify for post-season action.

Unitas completed seven of eight passes during the first period drive for 48 yards as he pecked away relentlessly.

In the second quarter, Unitas cranked the Baltimore offense up again, this time starting from his own 13 and this time hitting on all five of his passing attempts for 55 yards.

From the one, Unitas called for Matte again and he smashed the final yards for a 14-0 lead.

Shockers Shocked By Midland 55-53

The Pampa Shockers fell in what might be the tightest played game this year 55 to 53 in the final seconds Friday night in Harvester Fieldhouse to the Midland High Bullpups.

The Midland School trailed by as much as 13 points at various times during the battle marked basketball game. Both sides forgot themselves at times and the court was strewn with downed cagers.

The action was hot and heavy with the Shockers being upset by two points after tying the game with less than ten seconds remaining.

According to Coach Hearne, "The team just made too many mistakes. We should have won the game there at the last but we bobbed the ball allowing them to stuff in the two points we should have made."

All of the Shockers played hard, exciting ball with two hitting double figures. Danny Nickleberry singled the baskets with 14 points while Steve Richardson kept on top for the Shockers with 15 points.

Harring and Johnson led the scoring for the Midland school with 16 and 13 points.

The next action for the Shockers will be Tuesday night in Harvester Fieldhouse at 6:30 p.m. against the Plainview B team. The Harvesters will be playing at 8 p.m. against the A team and the sophomores will start their game at 4:30 p.m.

Make plans to attend all three games and support the hustling Harvesters at home and on the road.

Texas And Penn State In Cotton Bowl Clash

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Although Eastern champion Penn State suffered a shocking loss to Tennessee on national television in its final game of the regular season, Syracuse coach Ben Schwartzwalder refuses to discount the Nittany Lions' chances against Texas in the Cotton Bowl.

"Penn State is a very solid ball club. As long as they have Lydell Mitchell and enough of their other folks, they'll give anybody a tough time," says Schwartzwalder in the latest issue of Texas Football news-magazine.

Schwartzwalder, who coached his Syracuse national champions to a 23-14 victory over Texas in the 1960 Cotton Bowl, saw his Orangemen lose to Penn State 31-0 this year in what traditionally is the season's biggest college football showdown in the East.

However, Schwartzwalder does believe Penn State will have its troubles stopping the Texas Wishbone-T attack. "Sure they'll have trouble with the wishbone," he says. "Why shouldn't they? Everybody else has trouble stopping it."

Joe Szombathy, chief of defense at Syracuse and chief scout against Penn State, believes the Nittany Lions will be able to adjust the defenses successfully "even though they haven't had much experience against the Wishbone."

"But they've got a smart staff; they should be able to make the proper adjustments," he said. "They're a very tough team to finesse, at least for us they've been. And they're almost impossible to pass against because they play a very fine zone defense."

Overall, however, Szombathy does not believe Penn State is quite as strong defensively as "the 1968-69 teams that had those two great defensive tackles, Mike Reid and Steve Smear. I don't feel that this State defense has the experience of the versatility of Reid's group of a couple of years ago." But as the season progressed, he points out, the Nittany Lions' defense did improve tremendously.

A contrasting view on Penn State is provided by West Virginia assistant coach Lide Huggins, who formerly coached on Gene Stallings' staff at Texas A&M. Huggins told Texas Football he believes Texas will defeat Penn State.

"It'll be an interesting game, but knowing Texas I really think the Longhorns will beat them," he said. "Lydell Mitchell? He's a good back, but when you see him you will have seen a lot better."

MVC Is Holding Annual Meetings

DALLAS (AP) — The Missouri Valley Conference holds its annual winter business meetings in Pasadena, Calif., this week with presidents, faculty representatives and athletic directors gathering Wednesday.

The league sessions will be held in conjunction with the Pasadena Bowl game which pits Missouri Valley champion Memphis State against San Jose State of the Pacific Coast Athletic Association Saturday in the Rose Bowl stadium.

Athletic directors from the 10 member institutions will open the three-day session Wednesday with a business meeting. Both the faculty representatives and the directors meet separately Thursday before the joint meeting of the two groups Friday.

The presidents have a scheduled meeting Friday at which time they are expected to discuss and make recommendations on the NCAA's final report on financial aid.

League commissioner DeWitt T. Weaver said that considerable time will be devoted to proposed NCAA legislation with special emphasis on the proposal to award athletic grants on the basis of need.

The league's governing bodies also will continue a study of divisional basketball play that is scheduled to be implemented in 1972-73, and will take steps to assist Drake University in its petition for major college football status.

Athletic directors also will act on recommendations from the basketball and track coaches before submitting them for final approval by faculty representatives.

Hut One, Two, Three Aaaaaugh!!

During a recent football practice in Piscataway, New Jersey, 34 members of the Quibbetown Junior High football team were simultaneously stricken with nausea, headaches, chest pains, and spasms. While the symptoms were seemingly unrelated to mass injuries sustained on the field, the players were taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, where it was determined, with the help of the State Health Department, that the illnesses were caused by "high concentrations of oxidants in the atmosphere" — i.e. air pollution.

The State Health Department also disclosed that athletes in at least nine other north-central New Jersey communities were stricken during football practice that day.

Gordie Howe Retires After Rugged Career

by LARRY PALADINO
DETROIT (AP)—Gordie Howe says he's only gained "seven or eight pounds" since he retired Sept. 9 after 25 years in the National Hockey League.

But in many respects Howe, considered by most experts the greatest hockey player of all time, is busier than he ever was as a star forward for a quarter of a century with the Detroit Red Wings.

And despite all those years of glory on the ice at Olympia Stadium in Detroit, and throughout Canada and the United States, Howe says he doesn't miss it all.

He is convinced he accomplished about all there was for him to accomplish in the game, and that his decision to give it up was the right one.

"I think if I'd have played this year they'd have buried me right where the crest is at center ice." The 43-year-old former superstar said.

"I enjoyed it. I had no inhibitions," he said of his years as a player. "I know I went out there and did it. I gave it (retiring) a tremendous amount of thought."

Howe formally announced his retirement at a banquet in his honor Sept. 9. At that time it was announced that he had been made a vice president of the team, an assistant to the president for the Norin Corporation, and a vice president of the National Investors Life Insurance Co. All are owned by Red Wings' owner Bruce Norris.

"This is a whole new career," he said. "I'm learning so much that I don't have time to miss playing hockey."

Plunkett's Aiming For Record Toss

NEW YORK (AP) — Quarterback Jim Plunkett of the New England Patriots, tied for second among National Football League touchdown tossers, will continue his drive for Rookie of the Year honors this Sunday against Joe Namath and the New York Jets.

Plunkett, described by Patriots' Coach John Mazur as the "next Joe Namath", threw two touchdown passes in an upset of Miami last week that brought his total to 17 for the season.

Only Miami's Bob Griese, with 19, has more. John Hadl of San Diego also has 17. Plunkett, meanwhile, is only one touchdown pass away from matching Namath's rookie performance. The record is 22, set by Charley Conerly of the New York Giants in 1948.

Plunkett has directed the Patriots to five victories in 12 games but all have been at home. Included in the five victories was one over New York when Namath still was hobbled by his knee operation. Namath, however, has passed well in practice this week and has been announced as Coach Weeb Ewbank's starter.

The Patriots currently hold third place in American Conference East. The Jets are a game back with a 4-8 record.

Griffith Wins In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Danny McAloon, a New York school teacher was in Emile Griffith's favorite classroom, and Griffith made his point—right in the middle of McAloon's stomach.

"I was strong all the while until I got hit with those two shots. They paralyzed me," McAloon said Friday night after Griffith almost knocked him out with a left and right to the pit of the stomach.

"When I hit him he grunted a lot," said Griffith who scored an unanimous 10-round decision and his 20th victory in 23 Madison Square Garden main events, just one short of Tony Canzoneri's record of 24 garden features.

Griffith, who was the world welterweight champion three times and the middleweight king twice, said he has several bouts in the works and bristles when it is suggested that he might be slipping at the age of 32 and after 83 pro fights, of which he has won 71.

STRANGE SHOOTING POSITION? Maybe so, but it was good for points by Gary Haynes in Friday night's game as the Harvesters met with their first defeat of the season as the Midland High Bulldogs strutted on to victory with a 75-51 margin.

Schoolboy Roundup

Upsets rocked the first round of semifinals Friday night in the Texas Schoolboy Football playoffs with Eastland and Hondo the big surprise losers.

Jacksboro stunned the No. 1 ranked Eastland outfit 17-6 in a Class AA playoff game in Weatherford.

Rosebud blasted highly rated Hondo 30-7 in the other AA game to set up at JacksboroRosebud finale. In other Friday night games, Gregory-Portland routed Brenham 49-22 in Class AAA while Bangers Hill scored with 29 seconds left to tie Schulenburg 14-14 and advance to the Class A finals on penetrations.

Fullback Ricky Perritt scored two touchdowns to lead Jacksboro to its victory.

Cowboys Are Closing In On Division Title

NEW YORK (AP) —The Dallas Cowboys haven't lost since Tom Landry named Roger Staubach as his No. 1 quarterback over five weeks ago and the National Football Conference East leaders are closing in on their sixth divisional title in a row.

A victory Sunday over the lowly New York Giants could clinch the title for the Cowboys, 9-3, if the runnerup Washington Redskins, 8-3-1, either tie or lose in Los Angeles Monday night.

The Giants have lost three in a row and have stumbled to a 4-8 record although the New Yorkers played well and narrowly lost to the Cowboys 20-13 in Dallas earlier in the season.

But head Coach Landry, who calls all the signals for Staubach, has the Cowboys rolling. The former Navy Heisman Trophy winner leads the NFC in passing statistics, hitting on 106 of 181 pass attempts for 1,503 yards, 11 touchdowns and a 58.6 per cent accuracy mark. He has only been intercepted three times. However, Craig Morton, the No. 2 quarterback behind Staubach, did lead the Cowboys to the Super Bowl last year as he still is very much in the picture if Staubach stumbles.

"I'm just happy to be playing," Staubach says. Although he would prefer calling his own plays—Landry shuffles in tight ends Mike Ditka and Billy Truax with the plays—he claims, "If anybody has to call plays for me, I'm glad it's Coach Landry. He's a football genius."

Staubach will have plenty of help with receivers Bob Hayes and Lance Alworth and running back Walt Garrison, who is the team's top pass catcher with 39 receptions. Other rushers include Calvin Hill and Duane Thomas, who have run for 961 yards between them.

The Giants will have to reply on the passing of Fran Tarkenton to Bob Tucker, the NFC's second best pass catcher with 46 for 621 yards.

Ski Areas Are In Good Condition After Snows

ALBUQUERQUE, NEW MEXICO. Early snowfalls across New Mexico have already produced good ski conditions at all 12 major ski areas in the state. Sandia Peak Ski Area, just at the eastern edge of Albuquerque, is drawing good crowds who report excellent conditions.

Next to the good skiing, probably the most outstanding feature of Sandia Peak Ski Area is its accessibility. By highway, it is only about 45 minutes from downtown Albuquerque but if you're in a hurry, you can drive out to the base of Sandia Peak Tram in about 15 minutes, take the tram to the top of the peak in another 15 minutes, and be on the slopes, making this surely the most accessible ski area to a large metropolitan city in the United States.

Sandia Peak offers a certified ski school, ski shop, and complete equipment rental facilities. Base altitude is 9650 feet, going to 10,300 at the top of Sandia Peak Five lifts, including 2 chairlifts, can accommodate up to 2500 skiers per hour. There are 17 trails ranging from novice to expert. Longest of the trails is the intermediate 2.4 mile Cibola boasting a 1750 foot vertical drop.

The rangers in the Cibola National Forest conduct snowshoe nature hikes on weekends. These are open to the public and reservations should be made by calling the U.S. Government Forest Service, Sandia District Ranger Station 282-3107.

Winter or summer, the Sandia mountains on the edge of Albuquerque are a priceless asset to the city. Their name comes from the spectacular color they turn each evening at sunset. Sandia means watermelon, and that is in the shade of pink they become in the late afternoon sunshine, a dramatic curtain at the end of a day of skiing the Sandias.

SKI AMERICAN
by Robel Straubhaar
1---Ski American

By ROBEL STRAUBHAAR
Director, Crested Butte (Colo.) Ski School

There was a time when you just didn't rate in skiing if you didn't learn it in the French style, the Austrian style, the Swiss style. Or any other you want to name.

It's true that most skiing systems originated and were refined in Europe. Not so any more.

With the tremendous boom in the popularity of the sport, as reflected by my own area in Crested Butte, Colo., a new element has entered the picture.

From now on you learn to ski American.

The system was devised to fuse all the ski schools in the United States into one technique. And the Professional Ski Instructors Association of America was formed to spread the gospel. PSIA is an active member of the International Ski Instructors Congress, a body representing countries from all over the world.

Although I'm Swiss, we ski American at my school at Crested Butte and I am chief examiner of the Rocky Mountain Ski Instructors Association.

With the growth of skiing, all ski instructors are required to thoroughly know ski technique and to be able to accurately demonstrate it.

In subsequent columns I shall carry the reader step-by-step to the safe and healthy enjoyment of skiing our way.

Lawsuits Cloud Ali-Frazier Bout

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
LOS ANGELES (AP) —Controversy, law suits and some second thoughts have thrown a dark shroud over the return fight between Heavyweight Champion Joe Frazier and Muhammad Ali, but Jack Kent Cooke vows he'll pull it off.

"My present target is April, 1972, in the Los Angeles Forum," said the multi-millionaire West Coast sports magnate who holds the contract for an instant rerun of the Fight of the Century. "It will be a great fight."

Many observers are doubtful. Some predict the bout—with all of its financial possibilities—may never take place at all.

If it does, Cooke probably will go it alone. Reports are that he is preparing to buy out the interests of his partner in the grandiose initial undertaking last March 8, theatrical agent Jerry Perenchio.

The return bout faces these obstacles:

—Some $57 million in law suits growing out of the first fight, mostly due to dispute over closed circuit television.

—Reluctance on the part of Frazier's and Ali's brain trusts to agree to the terms of the return match agreement, which expires in December, 1972.

The agreement guarantees each fighter $750,000 or 25 per cent of the gross, whichever is greater.

"I wouldn't suit my man up for $750,000," says Yancey Durham, Frazier's business manager and trainer. "I've already had offers up to $8 million. I tell them to see Mr. Cooke. He has the contract. But we're in no hurry. We'll wait if we don't get the figure we want."

A similar view was expressed in Chicago by Herbert Muhammad, who calls the shots for Ali.

gate at Madison Square Garden, $1.4 million foreign sales and massive closed circuit TV network grossed $19.25 million.

The fighters' desire for one more quick killing—or not at all—supercedes any threat posed by pending law suits, which the promoters' attorneys label as of no great consequence.

A $10 million class action suit—a suit by one or a few persons in behalf of many whom they feel were equally injured—was filed against the Fight of Champions, Inc., the Cooke-Perenchio organization, by Philip Zera of Skokie, Ill., and Richard Schrieber of Arlington Heights, Ill.

Suing in behalf of the thousands who saw the fight on the closed TV network, they contended that the promoters violated their advertisements by showing the fight film in movie theaters for $1.50 and $2.50 four days after charging $10 to $30 at the live shows.

It was a marriage of convenience. The two men were of different bolts of cloth—Perenchio, from Hollywood's never-never land, Cooke, a hardnosed business operative.

Perenchio's experience had all been in booking a combo into Las Vegas or getting Jane Fonda a choice night club spot, "an associate of the Fight of Champions combine said. "In a giant promotion like this, he was in over his head."

"Jerry is the sort of guy who flies by the seat of his pants. Cooke is strictly business. He is tough. He runs his enterprises with an iron fist. But he's as honest as they come and he'll never go back on his word."

Before the March fight, the two fighters were given checks of $2.5 million each. According to Perenchio, the bout with its $1.25 million live
