

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M.D.
Our son Philip suggests that American History be taught by the parallel comparison technique. Notice how the free landholders of ancient Egypt became enslaved by "Big Brother" who made them pay a 20 per cent income tax and herded them into cities, to corral them more easily! Beware!

CASE S-539: Dr. Philip M. Crane taught American history for 7 years at both Indiana University and Bradley University before becoming a Congressman.
"Dad," he began, "I wish you would urge the history teachers in our high schools to alert all teen-agers to the dangers facing this Republic."
"They could employ parallel comparisons with former famous governments that crumbled."
"Even before the great Roman Republic, they might show how Biblical Joseph changed Egypt into a 'Big Brother' regime some 1,500 years B.C."

History Parallels
Bible students may recall that Joseph was sold as a slave into Egypt by his jealous half-brothers.
"There he became what we'd now call an office manager of a prominent Egyptian official.
But the latter's wife tried to seduce Joseph. When he resisted her erotic advances, she seized his coat sleeve and held on.
Joseph fled but she still had his coat and thus started screaming to the servants that he had tried to assault her.

So Joseph was sent to prison for attempted rape.
There he became noted as a dream interpreter.
So when Pharaoh had his famous nightmare about the 7 fat cattle who were devoured by the 7 skinny cattle, and the soothsayers couldn't explain it, Joseph was called before the throne.
And he explained that 7 bountiful years of harvest would be followed by 7 years of drought and famine.
So Pharaoh made Joseph Prime Minister and the first official Food Administrator in history.
Joseph then stored the excess grain in bins, much like our surplus American corn, wheat and soy beans.
When the famine hit, the people bought grain with their money until the Bible says Joseph "gathered up all the money that was found in the land of Egypt."
When their cash was all gone, the Egyptians then traded Joseph their cattle, horses and other farm animals.

State Legislator Attacks The 'Pool'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Sen. A. R. Schwartz asserted Tuesday that insurance companies are using the newly created windstorm catastrophe pool as an excuse to "gouge" coastal residents with higher rates for their house insurance.
Schwartz appeared at a special hearing called by the State Insurance Board to see how the pool—established by this year's legislature—is working.
The Texas Association of Insurance Agents requested the hearing.
The chairman of the pool's temporary board of directors, Oran F. Needham of Fort Worth, said proposed rules for the pool would keep insurance companies from making a profit. The rules are set for action by the pool Thursday and would require approval by the insurance board.
The legislature set up the pool to provide insurance coverage for buildings that could not obtain coverage in the "voluntary market."
"None of us expected when that pool was created that insurance companies would let greed overcome their consciences and put everybody in the windstorm pool," said Schwartz, who sponsored the bill creating the pool.
"I checked around, found out that substantially all renewal business was beginning to be written in the windstorm pool so the insurance companies could take advantage of the higher rates," the Galveston senator said.

"In one case, he said, an apartment owner behind the Galveston seawall had a three-year policy on his buildings. The insurance company cancelled the policy in its second year, Schwartz said, and "wrote in the pool at double the rate."
He said the only remedy was to write all but exposed beachfront property at standard rates—instead of allowing higher rates for all property insured by the pool in coastal counties.
Wade Spilman, representing the agents association, agreed that standard rates and policies should be required for pool coverage except exposed property.
"We have great concern that the pool is becoming something of a dumping ground," Spilman said.
Every day, he said, agents see cases of two houses of similar construction and located side by side, one house is written voluntarily at standard rates while the other is placed in the pool with high rates for less coverage.
Standard rates for protected property would "provide little or no incentive for dumping," he said.
He recommended removing all limits on pool coverage, particularly a $500,000 cap on businesses and other buildings other than houses.

Pentagon To Cut 5,000 Intelligence Personnel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon intelligence apparatus, caught in a money-and manpower squeeze, is pruning its payroll to 134,000, while telling Congress that may leave parts of the world uncovered by military spies.
The personnel reduction involves a cut of about 5,000 over the year ending next June 30.
"We are going to have to accept the risk of not having complete information on some parts of the world..." Asst. Secretary of Defense Robert F. Froehke said in newly released Senate testimony.
"Here I am speaking of the future, although there are parts of the world where things could occur that would be a complete surprise to us because we don't adequately cover them now," he said.
Froehke, now secretary of the Army, testified June 14 at a closed session of the Senate defense appropriations subcommittee. A censored transcript was published before the Senate passed the $72-billion defense appropriations bill.
President Nixon since has ordered a reorganization of the entire U.S. intelligence operation with increased efficiency and "tighter integration" as major goals.
In his Senate testimony, Froehke said U.S. intelligence requirements are likely to increase because of decreasing American military forces.
"We had better know, it would be necessary to know more, about what is going on in the world so that we can better utilize the lesser force," he said.

In the present budget situation, he said, Pentagon officials "are faced with decisions to eliminate some of our activities entirely."
Two senior Senate Democrats suggested that might not be a bad thing. "At the present time, it is almost as though the dropping of a leaf in the far Pacific elicits a report," said Sen. John C. Stennis of Mississippi, chairman of the Armed Services Committee. Stennis said he doubts the Pentagon can make effective use of all the intelligence reports it receives.
Sen. Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, accused intelligence operatives of meddling. "That is what I say," he said. "We are meddling in everybody's business!"
"Your intelligence is used to persuade Congress to provide funds for what you think may possibly happen," Ellender said.

Kennedy Criticizes Nixon On India-Pakistan Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., sharply attacked President Nixon's handling of the India-Pakistan crisis today. Kennedy charged the crisis started with Pakistani suppression of East Bengal last March rather than the steps taken by India last week.
Kennedy said in a Senate speech that the administration has refused over the past eight months to condemn "the brutal and systematic repression of East Bengal by the Pakistan Army" yet now is condemning "the response of India towards an increasingly desperate situation on its eastern borders."
"Certainly condemnation is justified," Kennedy said, asking "but what should we condemn?"
"We should condemn, Mr. President, the silence of our leadership," he went on, accusing the administration of months of "deference to Pakistani sensibilities" followed now by denunciation of India.
He also linked the U.S. stand to the Nixon administration's efforts for closer relations with China, which backs Pakistan in the present crisis.
"This administration has rightly taken pride in its efforts to re-establish contact with one-fifth of mankind's population in China," he said. "But are we going to simultaneously alienate one-sixth of mankind in India—a democratic nation with whom we have had years of productive relations?"

He called for an immediate stand-still cease-fire on all fronts under international auspices, immediate and simultaneous talks between India and Pakistan and Pakistan and East Bengal and revival of the United Nations relief mission in East Bengal.
Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, issued a statement calling for steps to end the conflict rather than efforts "to sit in judgment" between the two warring powers.
Despite official claims of neutrality, he said that the United States failed to end economic aid to Pakistan, branded India as an aggressor, withdrew economic aid commitments to India without taking similar action with regard to Pakistan and called for a cease-fire that "would leave in place the Pakistani troops that have oppressed the people of East Bengal."

Spring Fashions Are Out

NEW YORK (AP)—Spring clothes gently prompt a woman to be ladylike, to settle down, to get organized and behave herself.

Two designers at the American Designer Showings on Tuesday, reassured customers that their clothes were not shockers.

"There is no great strange look here," said Kasper for Joan Leslie.

Adele Simpson's collection was called "newsy yet nonbiz-zare."

The immaculate prints, the carefully matched ensembles, the luminous and grand evening clothes—all suggest serenity and sculpture.

A woman who wears them seems to say, "I am settled. I have self-control. I order my activities. If I make waves, I do it very quietly and with style instead of hysteria."

may be harder to be a swinger in a small, precise, printed dress than it was in a gypsy get-up.

Miss Simpson's day costumes were said to have "calm straight lines," presumably for the calm, straight woman. Small-print silk dresses were matched with coats. This year, everything matches something.

For evening, the bareback Oriental print dresses were matched with modest cover-up shawls. There were pastel taffeta evening skirts with chiffon shirts. Taffeta was billed as the new fashion love of The Beautiful People.

Miss Simpson designs her clothes so a woman can step into them—they don't have to be pulled over the head. They zip front or back.

JUST SAY "CHARGE IT"

Heavy load calls for help, not harassment

By Abigail Van Buren
 (© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: We've been married 14 years and have four sweet kids. Over the years my husband has done some pretty mean things. Here is an example:

Yesterday my youngest cried when I told her I couldn't attend the first PTA meeting as that was my night to do the weekly grocery shopping. When I realized how much it meant to her to have me meet her teacher and view her work, I knew I had to go, so when my husband came home from work, I told him his dinner was on the table, and I was rushing out to do the marketing early, so I could attend the PTA meeting.

Well, Abby, he flew into a rage like a madman when he saw there was no full-course dinner waiting for him—but something I had quickly put together instead. He shouted that he would not put up with meals like this, as though I fed him that way every night! He also said it wasn't necessary for me to go to the PTA meeting, and I was only using it as an excuse to get out of the house. [And all of this in front of the children?]

I did the marketing with a lump in my throat and when I returned, he refused to help me carry in the nine bags of groceries!

Abby, what do you think of a 41-year-old man with a master's degree and an executive position who treats his family this way?
HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK: Maturity and consideration do not come in degrees. And by the way, your husband is as much a parent as you, and as such he should have gone to the PTA meeting with you. [P. S. I hope your husband grows up before his kids do.]

DEAR ABBY: You jokingly said, "Now, if Ma Bell would only come up with a gadget that would signal those nonstop talkers to say goodbye!"

Well, we of Standard Telephone in northeast Georgia have used a feature for some 20 years. Our apparatus signals a short warning at the end of five minutes. Sixty seconds later another warning signal is heard, after which the connection is automatically broken.

This does not, of course, prevent the parties from retreating each other. It does, however, free the line for others who may be trying to get either of the long-winded parties.
H. M. STEWART

DEAR MR. STEWART: The feature is great if one of the parties is eager to terminate the conversation. But can you imagine the resentment an automatic disconnect would create if both parties were enjoying a "long-winded" conversation about love? Or money?

DEAR ABBY: After years of accepting congratulations and gifts on my birthday just for having been born, it suddenly occurred to me who really deserved the gifts.

After that, on my birthday, I sent my mother one rose for every year of my life. I enclosed a note, "With loving thanks." She knew who had sent them.

Now that she is no longer living, I send a contribution on my birthday to my mother's favorite charity in her name. The card still says, "With loving thanks."

DEAR J.: Thank you for sharing a beautiful idea.

Oil Executive Sees No Way To Halt Gas Supply Shortage

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — A member of the Federal Power Commission said today there is no way to prevent a natural gas supply shortage from causing serious economic and social dislocation.
Pinkney C. Walker of Washington, D.C., said rationing out some users of gas can minimize the situation but only as a holding action.
"The only real and acceptable solution is more gas," he said. "Any attempt to solve the problem that does not focus primarily on augmenting supply cannot possibly succeed."

In remarks prepared for delivery before the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, Walker called for a comprehensive reevaluation of current energy policies.
"Past policies have resulted in severe imbalances in the supplies of and demand for various forms of domestic energy," he said.
"This has been particularly true for natural gas. We must now develop policies and economic conditions which will bring supply and demand back into balance."
The 33-state commission that serves as an oil and gas conservation forum adopted a resolution a year ago blaming the gas supply crisis in part on uncertainties and delays

Highlights Sidelights From The State Capitol

By-BILL BOYKIN
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION
AUSTIN, Tex.—House Speaker Gus Mutscher's bribery trial site switched abruptly from Austin to Abilene, with February or March now the expected date.

With both the defense and state filing rival motions for change of venue, Austin District Judge Tom Blackwell concluded extensive publicity in the capital city area made a transfer of the case advisable. He sent it to the 104th district court of Judge J. Neil Daniel in Taylor County, along with indictments of co-defendants Rep. Thomas C. Shannon of Fort Worth and S. Rush McGinty of Austin, a Mutscher aide.

Defense attorneys had contended widespread news coverage made a fair trial of the speaker in the Central Texas area impossible. The indictment grew out of Mutscher's and co-defendant's 1969 profits on National Bankers Life Insurance Company stock. State alleges he received the stock tips and loans for purchases in exchange for helping pass bank deposit insurance legislation favored by Houston banker Frank Sharp.

Travis County District Attorney Robert O. Smith turned the defense argument around. He said Mutscher has so much power in Austin, where many citizens work for the state, that finding a jury free to give the state's case open consideration there may be difficult.

Blackwell didn't buy either argument entirely, but conceded Austin newspapers, radio and television stations had covered the case rather enthusiastically since last January. Further, he stated the coverage blanketed counties surrounding the capital city.

Mutscher said he was satisfied with Abilene as the trial site. "The only thing that we have ever asked is that we be afforded a fair trial," Mutscher commented after the brief court hearing. "I feel that the citizens of Taylor County will afford us an ample opportunity to establish my innocence."

Along to Daniel went a stack of defense pre-trial motions, including one to quash the indictment. Mutscher's attorney predicted a February or March trial date. January 10 had been set originally.

D R U G R E F U N D S D U E—Texans who filed valid claims under an anti-trust case may receive up to 60 percent refunds on purchases of broad spectrum antibiotic drugs purchased during 1954-66.

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin said refunds will be made probably no later than March, 1972.

Tax supported hospitals and other state agencies which bought the antibiotics will share in the $4.6 million recovery against five large drug companies named in the anti-trust suit. The U. S. Supreme Court denied the companies' last appeal October 12.

Martin and his staff are working on an allocation formula. A New York federal court will hold a hearing after notice to all claimants, hopefully in January.

The drug case is the pioneer "treble damage" anti-trust case allowing individual consumers to be represented by the Attorney General and recover damages for overcharges paid as a result of price-fixing conspiracies.

L E G A L O P I N I O N S—Candidates who moved into new districts before Nov. 7 (a year prior to the 1972 general election) are eligible to run for House and Senate seats in those districts. Secretary of State Bob Bullock held in an opinion prepared as chief state election officer.

Atty. Gen. Martin released a long list of opinions including the following: The time natural gas is produced under "take or pay" purchase contracts actuates accrual of production taxation on deficiency payments. The total price paid under contracts is the measure of the market value, based on the tax rate in effect at the time of actual production.

Potter County may not legally employ a flagman at a railroad crossing on a county road, but services can be performed by a traffic officer or a signal light and bell may be provided under county contract.

Commissioners courts or boards of district judges need not give notice of an official meeting to appoint or employ a public officer or employee.

The Court of Criminal Appeals presiding judge is to receive a $33,500 a year annual salary, just $500 more than other judges of the court are paid.

The Department of Corrections can buy and maintain an airplane.

Parker County Hospital District can be charged with a portion of attorneys' fees for defending two tax injunction suits to restrain collection of taxes.

A P P O I N T M E N T S—Gov. Preston Smith designated his former aide, V. Larry Teaver of Lubbock, chairman of the State Board of Insurance. Smith emphasized Teaver's role as "consumer representative" on the board and his concern for curbing rates.

Smith appointed Kountze insurance agency owner John Blair to succeed William P. Hobby Jr. of Houston on the Texas Air Control Board.

Governor placed Charles W. Wooldridge of Dallas on the Trinity River Authority board of directors.

Smith picked as his acting press secretary 26-year-old Carlton Carl, a native of Houston.

Dr. Stanley Burnham of The University of Texas at Austin is chairman of the Governor's Commission on Physical Fitness. Albert A. Rooker, also of UT-Austin, is executive director.

Donald Eastland of Hillsboro will serve as acting chairman of the State Judicial Qualifications Commission.

A 26-member State

Advisory Council on Alcoholism has been named to advise on a state plan for combating alcoholism.

S P A N I S H T R E A S U R E A P P R A I S E D—Appraisers have completed the preliminary process of putting a value on treasure recovered from four-centuries-old shipwrecks off Padre Island.

Final reports will go to Federal District Judge Reynaldo Garza of Brownsville who directed the appraisal be made as the result of a lawsuit.

Platoro Inc., the Indiana

firm which recovered the treasure in 1967, seeks title to at least half the artifacts. The state claims all of them, and has threatened to take its case for possession to the U. S. Supreme Court.

P O L I T I C A L F I E L D E X P A N D S—Dallas attorney Barefoot Sanders stepped into the U. S. Senate race, slugging from the opening bell at Republican Sen. John Tower.

Sanders, 46-year-old former federal district attorney, U. S. assistant attorney general and White House aide, is the first Democrat to announce for the Senate. W. L. (Bill) Jones Jr., Odessa businessman, entered the Democratic primary for lieutenant governor and set up campaign headquarters here.

S A F E T Y T I P S O F F E R E D—Texas Safety Association warns holiday tippers that 70 driving drunks may end up dead in traffic crashes. Conservationists called for a minimum 100,000 acre Big Thicket National Park in East Texas.

Radio & Television News

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The public broadcasting stations came along with their own magazine-format news show, "Polopoly," Monday night. It was too little, too imitative, too ambitious and too late.

It did not help the general ambiance of the 90-minute program to know that the two cohosts, Sander Vanocur and Robert MacNeil, were receiving annual salaries, respectively, of $85,000 and $65,000 in a sector of broadcasting which has always pleaded that it would be able to do better if it had the kinds of budgets available to commercial broadcasters.

"Polopoly" is a play on words—based on the parlor game of "Monopoly"—and an effort to translate presidential politics and potentials into a kind of game.

The idea was to have Vanocur and MacNeil "Examine the political mood of the nation 11 months before the election." They went into a prison and permitted an embezzler to expound on the evils of ghettos. A woman who had recently been rugged explained that she thought law and order was important. The executive of a Nashville recording company complained about high taxes. A salesman fretted about taxes—it was all very pat and predictable.

The program worked over familiar ground from gun control laws to Phase 2, fluttering like a butterfly among assorted subjects without ever really lighting on any.
