DESPITE WAGE FREEZE

Most Texas Teachers Will Get Pay Increases

AUSTIN (AP) — Most Texas school teachers will get their pay raises, State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar said Tuesday.

However, Edgar's interpretation of the nation's wage-price freeze controls is subject to review by federal authorities before it goes to local school districts Sept. 8.

Edgar also stressed that each local school board will have to interpret his guidelines to determine which teachers get the scheduled pay raise that is part of a 10-year salary plan approved by the 1969 legislature.

Some teachers may draw raises provided in the portion of their salary paid by state funds but not local "supplementation" raises.

Edgar said there was no way of estimating the number of teachers affected in the 1,200 districts.

"We have no idea how many school boards approved their budgets and finished their teaching contracts by Aug. 15," he said. "We'll just have to wait and see."

"It is the desire of the Texas Education Agency to operate within the spirit and intent of the executive wage-price freeze order," Edgar told Arnold R. Weber, executive director of the Cost of Living Council, in a letter that accompanied Edgar's interpretation.

"We will assume that our interpretations are accurate if notification to the contrary has not been received by the Sept. 8 date scheduled for transmission to local school districts."

TEA officials said Edgar's ruling would cover 80 to 90 percent of all Texas public school personnel.

The raises will not go to any teacher or public school employee who had not been employed under a specific agreement and established eligibility before the presidential order was issued Aug. 15.

Edgar pointed out to Weber that a statewide public education compensation plan, passed by the 1969 legislature, already was in effect and superintendents, vocational teachers and other specialists already were at work under the scheduled pay raise plan as early as July.

He ruled that other teachers who had "reached an agreement and established eligibility to perform with a local elementary or secondary school prior to Aug. 15" also were eligible for raises.

Fourteen Nominated For Chamber Board

Fourteen names from which seven new chamber of commerce directors will be elected were submitted by the nominations committee at a meeting of chamber directors yesterday.

Don Lane, chairman of the nominations committee, submitted the following names from which the chamber membership will elect seven:

Doug Coon, Dr. Royce Laycock, Gene Barrett, A.S. Donner, John J. Fritsch, R.D. McAnelly, C.D. Ziomke, R.D. Wilkerson, Sharon Haralson, Hal Lilla, Foster Whaley, Gene Hanks, Jewett Scarbrough and John Lee Bell.

Dr. James F. Malone, Pampa school superintendent, told board members the Pampa school system will bid for the 16th District Convention of the Texas State Teachers Association in 1972, an event expected to attract 3,000 visitors.

The chamber's monthly luncheon will be held Sept. 27, new directors will be installed Oct. 12 and the chamber's annual banquet has been set for Oct. 26. It was announced by E.O. Wedgeworth, chamber manager.

Burglary Charge Filed Against Ex-Policeman

Danny Honeycutt, former Pampa police sergeant, was formally charged with burglary late yesterday and arraigned before Justice of the Peace G.L. "Nat" Lundsford who set bond at $2,000.

Honeycutt was dismissed from the Pampa Police Department in July on recommendation of Chief of Police Jim Conner and City Manager Mack Wofford. He had been a policeman for three years.

The dismissal of the sergeant had been presented on two occasions to the Gray County Grand Jury and the case was continued.

Action yesterday stemmed from a formal complaint presented to District Attorney Guy Hardin.

Honeycutt was charged in connection with an Aug. 18, 1970, burglary of the Hideaway Lounge in Pampa.

Ballots will be mailed to chamber members with deadline for return.

C.D. Ziomke, chairman of the oil and gas committee, reported that certificate of incorporation had been received for the proposed oil and gas museum, and a ruling from the Internal Revenue Service is being awaited.

Hank Donohue, United Fund chairman, announced the 1972 UF goal has been increased to $94,250.

It was also announced judging of the Beautiful Yard Contest has been set for Sept. 13 and a number of entries already have been received.

Chamber President Kay Fancher presented a copy of the Community Survey of Pampa recently completed by the Texas Industrial Commission.

Jewett Scarbrough submitted a report on the recent Senior Golf Tournament and W.B. Smith, tourist development committee chairman, reported on plans discussed at a meeting Aug. 11 in Amarillo regarding tourist development in the Panhandle area.

Police Investigating Burglaries In Four Pampa Business Places

Pampa police officers were alerted this morning that four businesses had been burglarized during the night.

The reports came from Jay's Lounge, A-1 Rental, the Pampa Roller Rink and the Pampa Hotel.

Investigation into the A-1 Rental burglary was still being conducted late this forenoon. Lt. Gene Aufleger, reporting the lounge burglary, said the building, located at 5614 W. Foster, had apparently been entered by a small person. The window the thief used to gain entrance was too small for a large adult to enter he said. However, once inside, the burglar caused about $400 damage to a pool table, cigarette machine, and juke box.

An inventory of the building indicated the thief or thieves took around $40 in cash from the coin boxes, before leaving by the front door.

The Pampa Roller Rink lost about $7.40 in nickels and dimes to thieves who entered the building through a window.

The Pampa Hotel reportedly lost about $725 worth of dishes and cooking utensils, some new and never used.

The manager, G.F. Brewer, told officers the back door was discovered open about 3 a.m. during a severe thunderstorm. Later the door was discovered to be open again, and the stolen items were missed. The complainant said the items were in the kitchen at 10 p.m. when a hotel resident went in for a cup of coffee.

Officers were also making an attempt to locate the owner of the Dairy Queen, this morning.

Police on duty last night advised the dispatcher doors were open at the business. The officer checked the premises and said nothing appeared to have been disturbed, however a check was to have been made with the owner today.

12 Million Voters To Endorse Union Of Three Nations

CAIRO (AP) — Twelve million voters were expected at the polls today in Egypt, Libya and Syria to endorse the union of the three countries in a new Federation of Arab republics.

There were no signs that new federation would tip the present balance of power in the Middle East and enable the Arab states to carry out their threats of another showdown with Israel.

But the federation's basic principles and its constitution were virtually certain of an overwhelming affirmative vote in the nine-hour referendum. Once the outcome is announced in the three countries tonight, the federation comes, into existence formally.

Its creators—President Anwar Sadat of Egypt, President Hafez Assad of Syria and the Libyan leader, Col. Muammar Kadafi—have gone out of their way in recent speeches to stress that the new federation is "essential recent speeches to stress that a giant Middle East state with a population of 43 million and an area of one million square miles. They claim it musters the necessary political pull and military power to recover the Arab territories lost in the 1967 war.

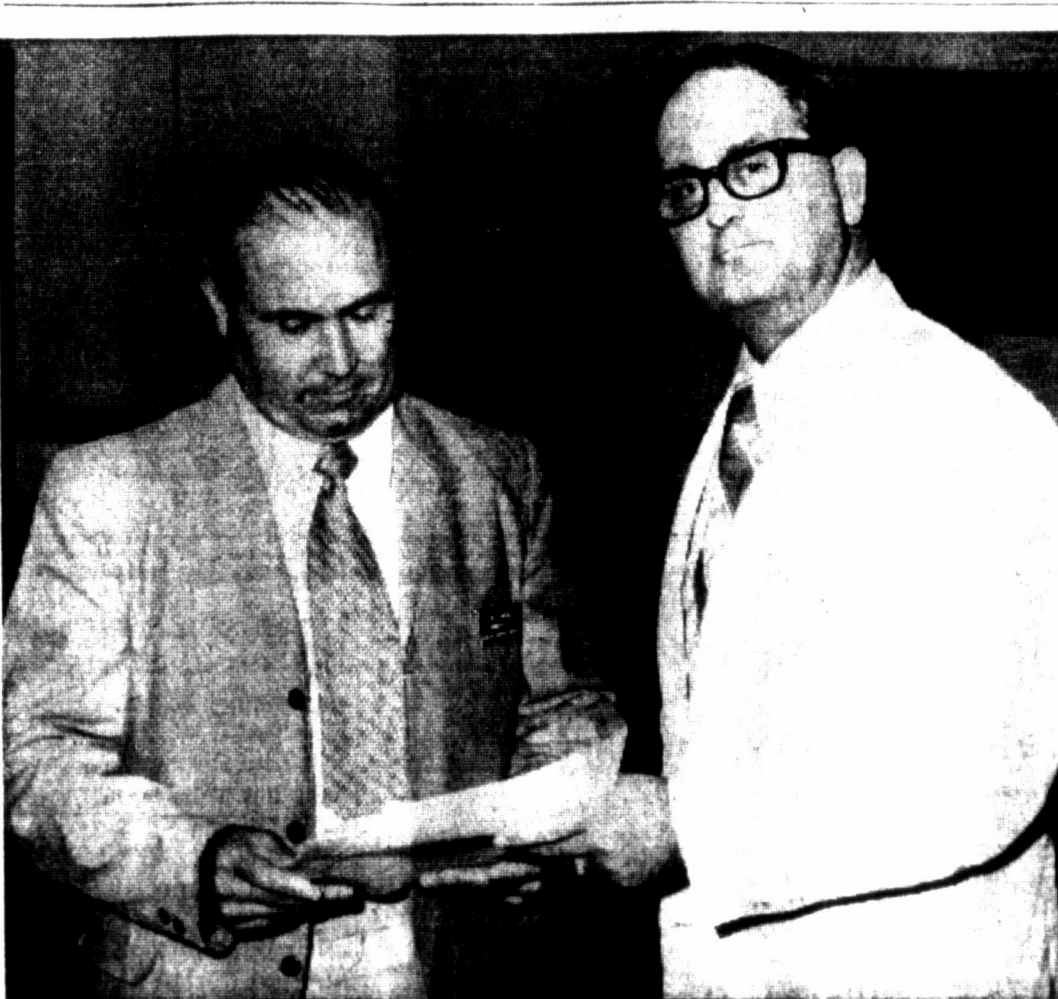

The two documents submitted to the voters in today's referendum did little to bear out the leaders' statements, which seemed designed mainly to whip up enthusiasm that would bring out the vote.

There is provision for a joint military command that eventually will take charge of training and military operations in the three countries. But other Arab nations have been joining Egypt in unified military commands for years with little or no unity of action resulting.

The union's fundamental principles give the federal state the power of decision over war or peace and pledge it never to negotiate peace with Israel, abandon one inch of occupied Arab land or give up the rights of the Palestinians.

Its constitution, however, preserves the sovereign right of each member country to negotiate and conclude separate treaties or agreements with foreign nations. Egypt therefore remains free to pursue its 14-month-old efforts to reach a peaceful settlement with Israel. (See UNION, Page 2)

Decree May Affect All U.S. School Plans

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer

Government and school officials across the nation say a precedent-shattering California Supreme Court school finance ruling could lead to similar suits in other states and ultimately revolutionize American public school education.

The California decision could be as precedent-setting as the one-man, one-vote ruling of the U.S. Supreme Court, said Michael J. Bakalis, state superintendent of public instruction in Illinois.

A spokesman for Vermont Gov. Deane O. Davis said the decision "opens a Pandora's box." If the ruling is upheld in the federal courts, it could revolutionize education in this country, he said.

M. Carl Holman, president of the National Urban Coalition, predicted the ruling would "ultimately be as momentous as the 1954 U.S. Supreme Court school desegregation decision."

The California court ruled Monday that the local property tax basis of public school financing is unconstitutional, the court found that it discriminates against the poor. It did not spell out what would be an equitable tax structure.

With the exception of Hawaii and to some extent Utah, every state in the union uses a school finance system like California's. Over the last three years, similar suits and legislation in at least eight states had failed to eliminate public school dependence on local property taxes.

The decision is the precursor to future court decisions that will bring dramatic reform and increased equal educational opportunity to poor school children throughout the country, said N.U.C. President Holman.

"We anticipate that the experimentation will flow from the California decision with a variety of remedies rather than the immediate selection of a single formula to replace the present state funding systems in education," Holman said. "Not everyone agreed the ruling was possible or desirable to give."

Bunker held the briefing only on the condition that he not be identified by name. But as usual with such grand jurors, his identity was generally known today.

Minh denied a report published after Bunker held a background briefing for selected newsmen Sunday, that the general asked the United States to organize and supervise the election scheduled for Oct. 3.

Minh said in a statement that the "diplomatic source" to whom the report was at first attributed "could only be a Minh said. 'Only the Americans could do that. Such an attitude would be positive neutrality.'"

"In the present conditions there can be no free and honest elections. In the recent legislative elections, especially in Vinh Binh, Bac Lieu, Phuoc Long, Binh Tuy . . . the government has indulged in shameless fraud and oppression of the opposition candidates. This fact is a clear indication of what one should expect from the Oct. 3 election, if it takes place."

The U.S. Embassy refused all comment on Minh's statement and Embassy spokesman Howard E. Kirchweh said Bunker would have no comment.

FULBRIGHT DEPLORES ACTION Nixon Denies Senate Committee Data On U.S. Military Aid Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, coming under increasing pressure to open administration of government would be muted."

Nixon's statement was in a memo to Laird, marking the first time since June 1969 the President claimed the need for executive privacy. At the time the White House said Nixon invoked the privilege to avoid certain FBI records.

Fulbright said he found the President's decision hard to understand, "especially since the information was requested on a confidential basis and full, frank and hearty expression of opinion which is about the desire of this administration to be open and forthcoming in its relations with the American people and the Congress."

The refusal of the executive branch to provide this material for the use of the Senate, Fulbright said, "makes it most difficult to legislate in the area of foreign military assistance."

The entire $3.4 billion foreign assistance authorization bill, which includes funds for military aid, is pending before Fulbright's committee.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said such a document never existed, but U.S. Comptroller General Elmer B. Staats looked into the matter and ruled on Aug. 17 the Pentagon has such a plan.

Fulbright had threatened to withhold pending funds for direct grants for military training and equipment unless the plan was sent to the committee, or the President claimed executive privilege.

"I am concerned," Nixon responded Tuesday. "As have been my predecessors, that unless privacy of preliminary exchange of views between personnel of the executive branch can be maintained, the

Lawyer Charged With Murder In Prison Escape

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Authorities have issued an all-points bulletin for Stephen M. Bingham and charged the 29-year-old lawyer with five counts of murder in connection with a San Quentin prison escape attempt Aug. 21.

Marin County Dist. Atty. Bruce Bales accused Bingham of smuggling a gun to George Jackson, a black militant convict killed in the attempt which also took five other lives.

"I have reached the conclusion that there is no way Jackson could have obtained the death gun, except during his visit with Bingham just before the killings commenced," Bales said Tuesday.

Bales said the pistol was found with five clips of live ammunition on Jackson's body after Jackson was shot down by prison tower guards.

Bales told a news conference after filing the murder complaint that Jackson underwent a thorough "skin search" before meeting Bingham.

'Big' Minh Attacks U.S. Envoy For Role In S. Viet Election

SAIGON (AP) — Gen. Duong Van "Big" Minh fired another blast at U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker today, accusing him of slanders, insolence and a colonialist attitude.

Minh denied a report published after Bunker held a background briefing for selected newsmen Sunday, that the general asked the United States to organize and supervise the election scheduled for Oct. 3.

Minh said in a statement that the "diplomatic source" to whom the report was at first attributed "could only be a Minh said. 'Only the Americans could do that. Such an attitude would be positive neutrality.'"

In the recent legislative elections, especially in Vinh Binh, Bac Lieu, Phuoc Long, Binh Tuy . . . the government has indulged in shameless fraud and oppression of the opposition candidates. # 35 New Teachers To Be Honored At C-C Banquet

Plans had been completed today for the Chamber of Commerce annual dinner honoring new teachers in the Pampa public school system.

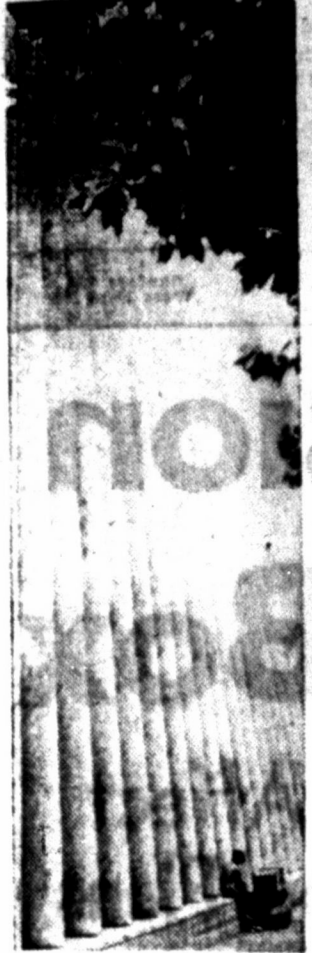

The affair is scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday at the Pampa Country Club.

Kay Panther, chamber president, will be master of ceremonies. The invocation will be given by Floyd Watson, and the official welcome to the new teachers will be extended by Neut Secrest, chairman of the chamber's education committee.

Response will be made by Karen Slate, president of the Pampa Classroom Teachers. Guests will be introduced by Dr. James F. Malone, school superintendent.

Entertainment will be by Pre Datta Chambless, vocalist, accompanied by organist Sue Higdon. Another highlight of the dinner meeting will be presentation of "The Pampa Story" by Don Lane, immediate past president of the chamber of commerce.

Thirty-five new teachers in the public school system will be honored at tomorrow night's banquet.

STRIKING CONTRAST is presented by soaring vertical columns of a work of man—New York's Lincoln Center—and a work of nature, a leafy tree. A mother and infant out for air unwittingly add the finishing touch to a photographic work of art.

Rep. Price Says Annual Income Of Welfare May Raise To $3,500

Pampa congressman Bob Price was quoted in Amarillo yesterday as saying "welfare is getting to be like Social Security—it is political suicide to oppose it."

Price reportedly made the statement at a meeting with the Legislative Affairs Committee of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce Tuesday afternoon in the congressman's Amarillo office.

Price also told the chamber of commerce group he thinks it would not be politically expedient for President Nixon to extend wage and price controls beyond the first few months of next year.

"I don't see how he can continue it beyond February," Price said. "I don't think he can carry it on into election year."

Price lauded the efforts to control inflation and spur the economy as the number one issue today with government reorganization following close behind.

The congressman said welfare legislation, now out of the House, probably will be liberalized by the Senate.

He predicted that the guaranteed annual income will go to $3,500 per year.

"Two years ago I would have said any guaranteed annual income was impossible, but now it has come to be accepted," Price was scheduled to return to his Washington office today.

Moving through positions of increasing responsibility at the Watkins and Crawford gasoline plants, he was named to his present post in 1969.

A graduate of Dardanelle, Ark. High School, Steward is a member of the Baptist Church and Phillips Country Club in Borger. He enjoys golfing and fishing in his leisure.

Steward lives on route two here, and has four children: Francis Coleman, Carolyn Kelly, J.T. and Kenneth Steward.

He plans to move to Little Rock, Ark. after he retires.

Union

The most eloquent evidence of doubt about the federation's intention or ability to take on Israel is the silence of the Palestinian guerrillas on the union.

The new federation represents the third such attempt at Arab unity since World War II. The two previous unions—a one-year federation between Jordan and Iraq and a 44-month merger of Egypt and Syria under the late Gamal Abdel Nasser—were ended by army coups in 1962 and 1963.

Vice President Of Defunct NBL Appears In Court

DALLAS (AP)—Donald S. Akins, executive vice president of National Bankers Life Insurance Co., was first of the defendants called to testify today as the Texas stock fraud suit went into its third day.

Akins, also a former president and board chairman of the Dallas Bank & Trust Co., is a stockholder as well in the Nashwood, Corp., owned by former Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, former NBL president John Osorio, former Sharpstown State Bank president Joseph Novotny and others.

All these individuals and corporations are defendants in the current suit brought by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission alleging fraudulent manipulation of NBL stock. Some of the 28 defendants accepted permanent injunctions in advance of the trial. They all say they have done no wrong.

The SEC, which was criticized by U.S. District Court Judge Sarah T. Hughes at a preliminary hearing last February for not producing enough detailed evidence to back its case, has this time overwhelmed her with it.

He said it would be wrong to fool nations in underdeveloped areas that they will ever attain North American standards.

Pornography Now Booming Business In United States

WASHINGTON (AP)—Openly sold and shown American pornography has become as explicit as anything in Denmark, says a presidential pornography commission researcher, and is probably about a $200 million-a-year industry.

John S. Sampson, who was a commission staff member, said a reasonable estimate for U.S. hardcore pornography—stag films and other erotica sold under the counter—is $5 million to $10 million a year although reliable figures don't exist.

Sampson's 200-page report on American pornography traffic and distribution as of August 1970, made for the Commission on Obscenity and Pornography that dissolved last year, was published this week.

Explicit 16-millimeter pornographic films shown in public theaters in many large U.S. cities "do not differ one iota" from those in Denmark, Sampson said. He said an American "adults only" paperbacks and magazines differ only in that they have more text along with the erotic photographs.

Calling previous unofficial estimates of a $2.5-billion-a-year U.S. pornography industry "gross exaggerations," Sampson said the commission staff's 15-month study indicated annual sales as of last summer were about $200 million.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been acting funny for the last few months, so I finally wormed out of him what was bothering him. Willie said it all started when he gave his bookkeeper a few kisses because he couldn't afford to give her a raise.

Willie says now she isn't satisfied with a few kisses, and she's after him to meet her someplace. He swears he doesn't want to get involved with her, and I believe him because she is pushing 60 and still an old maid.

Willie says he can't let her go because she's an excellent bookkeeper and he couldn't run his business without her. How should this be handled?

WILLIE'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Tell Willie the cheapest solution would be to give the woman a raise.

DEAR ABBY: What does it mean when a person puts a stamp upside-down on an envelope?

DELAWARE

DEAR DELAWARE: It could mean, "I love you," "I'm in a hurry," or "I need glasses."

DEAR ABBY: Seeing as how I was new in town, I stopped a nice-looking man on the street and asked him for directions. He said it wasn't far and since he was going that way he would walk me there. Before we parted he asked me if he could see me again and I said yes.

To make a long story short, George and I started going together, and now, six months later we are very much in love, and have even talked about marriage some time in the future.

Abby, George never talks about his parents, his life or anything to do with his past. He says he has no living relatives. No parents, no sisters or brothers. He doesn't talk about his job either. He just says he "sells" for a living. I am 28 and have never been married. George says he is 32 and has never been married.

either. He has been to my flat but I have never been to his. (I don't even know where he lives!)

Is it possible that he has no living relatives?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Possible but not probable. Before you invest more time in this mysterious character, find out what it is he "sells" and for whom. Then check up on him. I have a hunch it's a line you don't need.

DEAR ABBY: Shall we write "finis" to the foolish squabble about whether a "PhD" should use his title with this amusing story.

The late Stephen Leacock had just received his PhD in economics and being quite proud of his new title, listed himself as "Dr. Leacock" on the passenger list of the ship on which he sailed for England.

One morning, the steward burst into Leacock's cabin and said, "Dr. Leacock, come quickly, there's been an accident!" Leacock was about to explain that he wasn't a medical doctor when the steward added, "A beautiful young lady passenger fell and hurt her hip."

Leacock thought that since he had had some first aid training, he would try to help the lady — and perhaps get to know her better, so he rushed to the injured lady, but alas he was too late. Two Doctors of Divinity and an Optometrist got there ahead of him.

POLLY'S POINTERS Clever Ways Explained To Mend Rubber Gloves

DEAR POLLY: I have received so much valuable information from the column that I would like to help Mrs. R.P. mend her rubber gloves. I use plastic rubber that comes in a tube, has the consistency of hand cream and comes in black. Gloves are ready for use in a few hours. This has worked well for me and saved me quite a few dollars. Buy this product in any housewares department.

—GERTRUDE

DEAR POLLY: Mrs. R.P.B. can apply round patches of waterproof adhesive tape over the holes in her rubber gloves and she will be surprised at how long they will last. I have used inch-wide tape on cracks in the bottom of a plastic dishpan or pail. Put a strip on both sides of a long crack or cut.

—IRENE

DEAR POLLY: Do tell Mrs. R.P.B., who wants to patch her rubber gloves, that I use muleskin that is made for corns, etc. It is lightweight and can be cut to the needsize. Patch from the inside of the glove and this will last for a long time.

—MRS. W.K.S.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY: I have an antique 12-drawer spice cabinet that became moldy, full of grease and filthy from being in the basement for a couple of years. Now I want to refinish it but cannot get it clean even though I have tried scrubbing, a grease spray and so on. I need some advice concerning a solvent that would clean it before I start refinishing my cabinet.

—MRS. N.F.M.

DEAR POLLY: My Pet Peeve is the false advertising and "sex appeal" commercials on television. I would like to tell the advertisers that a good product sells itself, that people like the truth and "sex appeal" commercials are revolting to many of us.

—INEZ

DEAR READERS: Remember the Peeves are the opinions of specific readers with which we sometimes agree and sometimes do not.

—POLLY

TOASTMASTERS ON CALL

LONDON (AP) — Professional toastmasters are still popular in the British banquet circuit and you can get one on a moment's notice under a new "dial-a-toastmaster" service.

The Guild of Professional Toastmasters has set up a rescue service for organizers of banquets caught in a jam when they forget to engage a toastmaster or one falls ill.

SCOTTISH HERRING

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — Scotland's exports of herring and herring products increased by 50 per cent in 1970 over 1969 to a value of $10.8 million.

GROOVY—These bib overalls aren't the kind you can keep down on the farm. They're done in railroad striped cotton denim with a bright butterfly permanently perched on the bib front. A favorite with teen-agers, the look's endorsed by Ward's designer advisory council.

Your Horoscope

Your Birthday Thursday: Acceptance of limits puts you in position to use them in this coming year of rather smooth progress and sound personal adjustment. Desirable conditions are easier to maintain as the side-lines and activities are much harder to introduce. Thursday's natives seek the curious and the sublime in life, are essentially gentle, home-loving people.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Where you must go it alone along even familiar paths. Seek technical advice as you go. The new and unaccustomed presents extreme challenge.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): The needs of others distract you from your original plans. News and gossip get mixed. There's another side to any story you hear.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Several more days and your career advice can move ahead. Use the time for practice of unfamiliar tasks.

CANCER (June 21-July 21): Haste may close prematurely some opening for progress. A few days of reconsideration bring you out onto an entirely different level of action.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22): A lucky break will require some management and extra personal attention. Reach beyond the usual routines for social activity—get to know people better.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Temptation is toward over involvement in trivial affairs of neighbors, acquaintances. Minding your own business may be a fine act.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Pleasure beckons—make sure you've cleared all real obligations before you respond. Full understanding, checking of time and plans is more important than most people realize.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Caution is in order: deviations from custom attract definite corrections, perhaps discomfort. Consider your long-range welfare first.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Pursue social contacts, make friends, redeem past favors received as you make sure essential chores and details are attended to.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Your finest attire and best tool forward work best. Start early, to be out front and ahead of the crowd.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your money squirms to escape your wallet as all sorts of worthy or at least plausible causes demand support. Long-term commitments should come in small installments.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Simmering ideas pop suddenly into reality, perhaps before you're set to cope with them. Bring in help, specialists, older advisers.

Western Beef's Earnings Increase For 3rd Quarter

AMARILLO — Western Beef, Inc. continued its increased earnings trend during the third quarter with net earnings of 14 cents per share, making a total of 33 cents per share for the nine-month period ending July 31, 1971. This compares with 2 cents per share earnings and 8 cents per share loss for the same periods last year on 994,928 shares outstanding during both periods, according to George E. Feaster, President of the firm.

Headquartered in Amarillo, Texas, Western Beef is a vertically integrated cattle feeding and meat producing company with operations in Texas, New Mexico and California.

Feaster said net earnings amounted to $142,946 and $327,623 for the quarter and nine-month period respectively as compared to earnings of $26,265 and a loss of $75,761 for the comparable periods last year. Net sales declined $6,507,914 to $27,859,429 during the current nine-month period.

Feaster explained this resulted from the conversion of the operation of a meat packing plant from sales for its own account to a custom-killing operation for a major meat packer.

The company's feedlots continued a high level of occupancy during the third quarter, according to Feaster. He said this was a result of two factors: additional cattle placed on feed by regular customers, and increased interest from investor-feeders.

On July 1, Western Beef acquired Meloland Cattle Company, a 15,000 head feedlot facility in Imperial County, California, on a lease-purchase basis. That acquisition brings the company's total feedlot one-time capacity to 150,000, Feaster said.

He also announced the company has organized a Western Division and elevated Mr. William Armstrong to the position of Senior Vice President in charge of the company's four California feedlots, a move which Feaster said will effect improved management of the company.

Armstrong was one of the original incorporators of Western Beef, Inc. and was manager of Alamo Cattle Feeders, Inc., the predecessor subsidiary. He holds a degree in Animal Husbandry from California State Polytechnic College and has held management positions in the cattle feeding industry for the past 21 years.

Feaster said, "The cattle industry has enjoyed a generally favorable price level for slaughter-weight cattle during the last quarter and all indications point to a higher price level during the balance of the year than prevailed last year."

Austin Couple Donates Land For Possible Use As Park

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Conservation Department has announced that a McKinney Doctor and his wife have donated a 214-acre tract in Collin County to the foundation for possible future use as a state park.

The site, located near McKinney, was deeded to the foundation by Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Erwin.

If not developed within 10 years, the tract will revert to private trust.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department Executive Director James U. Cross, who also serves as secretary of the foundation, said that "while the area is not considered essential for development as a state park today it is entirely possible that such development could take place within 10 years."

Foundation Chairman Glenn Biggs explained that the foundation was established in 1969 by the Texas Legislature to perform "just this kind of service." He added, "This is the first significant acquisition in what we hope will be a growing program."

Doctors Use New Technique To Attack Cancer Of Cervix

DALLAS (AP) — Doctors in Dallas are using frozen gas best known for its airconditioning capabilities, as a promising new preventive attack on cancer of the cervix.

In a report just released by gynecologists at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School describe successful use of a tissue-freezing technique known as cryosurgery to destroy abnormally growing cervical cells in 32 of 35 women patients diagnosed to have "mild dysplasia"—an early form of abnormal change in the cervix, or mouth of the womb.

Cryosurgery also was shown to be effective in easing severe discomfort and shrinking tumor size among five women suffering from advanced malignancies in the pelvic area, says the report, written by Dr. Thomas R. Singley.

All the patients were treated by the freezing procedure in the gynecology clinic at Parkland Memorial Hospital in an experimental program under way for the past 18 months.

LUBBOCK (AP) — The Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo is supporting research at Texas Tech University with a $10,700 grant to learn more about a new concept in how raising-weaning pigs and one day of age.

There are major advantages for taking the pigs away from the sow when they're a day old, according to Animal Science Professors A. M. Lennon and L. F. Tribble, the principal researchers on the project.

Free License Plate For Disabled Vets

Certification of Texas veterans disabled 70 percent or more for qualification to receive free license plate for one auto will be done by the Veterans Administration, according to Jack Coker, VA Regional Director at Waco.

VA records show 14,150 Texas veterans are 70 percent or more disabled.

Eligible voters should act now to establish their claim for this state benefit approved by the last Texas legislature. Coker explained that Texas motor vehicle authorities must have the request by October 1, 1971, in order for the veteran to qualify to receive his free 1972 license plate.

Forms for application have been distributed by Texas officials to VA offices, Texas Veterans Affairs Commission county service officers, Tax Assessor Collector offices and Texas Motor Vehicle District offices.

Since this is a new state benefit Texas officials do not know which Texas residents qualify, so it is the responsibility of each veteran who has a 70 percent service-connected disability to make application.

Coker expressed concern that so far the Waco Regional Office has received only 1,700 applications for VA verification.

Coker noted that eligible veterans should obtain their status part and send it to 1400 North Valley Mills Drive, Waco, Texas 76710. The VA will certify the degree of disability and return the form to the veteran applicant. The veteran then tenders this certified form to the Texas Motor Vehicle Division with one dollar for handling and mailing. The dollar should not be sent with the form to the VA.

Since several days of mail transmission to and from the VA and records checking by the VA will be necessary, veterans are cautioned not to wait until the last few days in September before acting.

Duke Ellington Is About To Play In Soviet Capitol

NEW YORK (AP) — The Duke is about to play Moscow.

The occasion for Duke Ellington and his 16-piece band is a state Department-sponsored, five-week tour to Russia.

In honor of the occasion, Russian has become one of the 21 languages in which Ellington says "Love you madly" to his audience at the close of a concert.

But the music will be the same that he plays for audiences across America and all over the world.

So, the Soviets will hear such standard Ellington tunes as "Take the A Train," "Creole Love Call," "Black and Tan Fantasy," "Don't Get Around Much Anymore," and "Mood Indigo," and are likely to hear excerpts from two recent extended works of music, "The New Orleans Suite" and "The Afro-Eurasian Eclipse," as well as the composer's piano solo of "Meditation" from his second sacred concert, with which he usually opens each show.

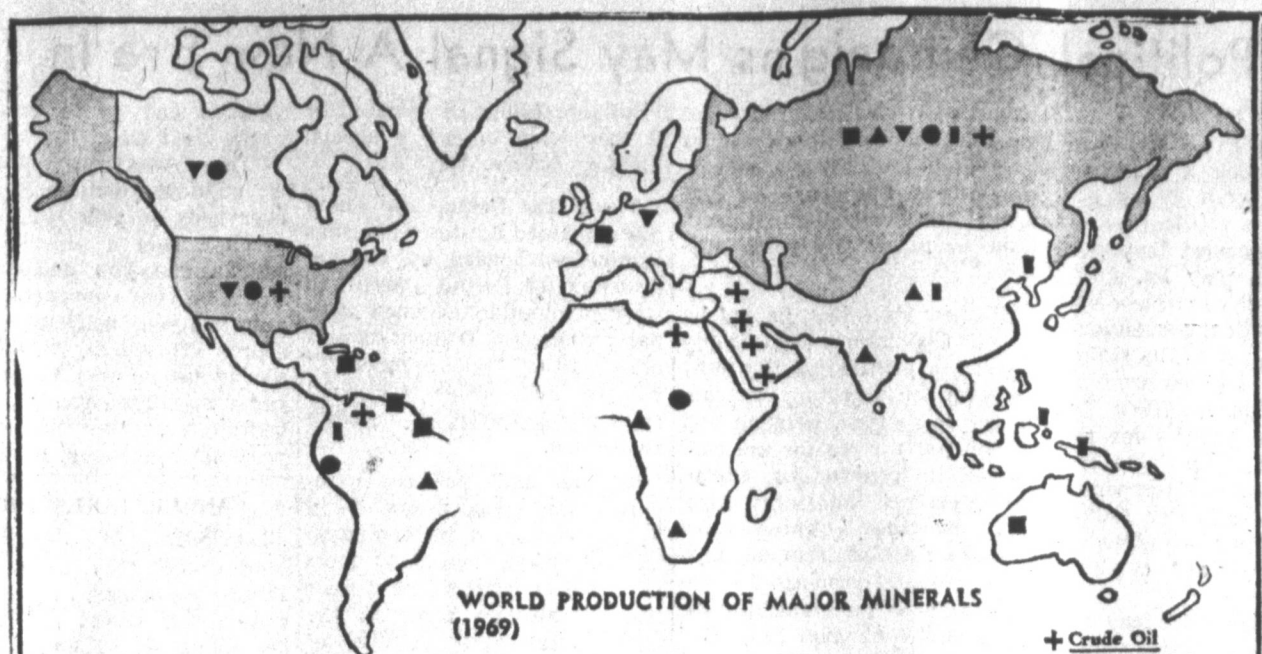

The Russian tour, beginning Sept. 10, will have the Ellington band playing 20 concerts in five weeks in five cities.

It is Ellington's first visit to Russia and also the first such trip by an important American jazz artist since Benny Goodman and his band went in 1962.

Ellington writes music every day, often through the night after he and the band have played a concert and he has urbanely, unburiedly greeted the many fans and friends who have come to see him. But he isn't composing anything to be premiered in Russia.

"When you think of going to Russia to play music and you say, 'This is where so many great composers came from,' you wonder whether you're going to be able to breathe the air. It's one of the most important music places in the world, if not the most. Rimsky-Korsakov is the foundation of orchestration, which is music today. He's the foundation of music today."

In 1964, it was announced officially that California had overtaken New York and become the most populous state.

Welfare Checks For Fatherless Families Will Remain Unchanged

AUSTIN (AP) — Welfare checks for fatherless families will stay at their present level when the new state fiscal year starts Wednesday, the Texas Department of Public Welfare said Tuesday.

A spokesman for the department said the average aid to families with dependent children check probably will stay at $118.53 per month at least through January.

The legislature was limited by the state Constitution to $80 million in state funds for all categories of welfare after voters refused in May to lift the welfare ceiling. This is the same amount as was available in both 1969 and 1970, despite rapid growth in the welfare rolls. The general appropriations bill that takes effect Wednesday includes:

BAPTISTS FAVOR ISRAEL

Richardson Has No Plan To Resign As HEW Chief

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Elliott Richardson said Tuesday he has not considered resigning as a result of President Nixon's disavowal of an HEW school busing plan for Austin, Tex., and is in complete agreement with the President's policies on school desegregation.

After an hour-long meeting with Nixon at the Western White House, Richardson told reporters that his understanding of the President's policies on school busing was "perfectly clear" before the Austin decision and is "perfectly clear now."

He thus personally put to rest continuing speculation about a rift between himself and Nixon and reports that he had been considering resigning from his post.

He said Nixon's action in the Austin case was necessary to make it clear that the legal issue involved only the inadequacy of a court-ordered school busing plan.

In 1940, the British air force attacked the center of Berlin for the first time in World War II.

proposed its plan as a matter of technical assistance to the Austin School Board and to the U.S. District Court there. When it came to an appeal of the case, Richardson said, it was necessary to make it clear that the Justice Department was asking the Court of Appeals to accept an inadequate plan.

The secretary emphasized that Nixon has and continues to make it clear that busing should be used only to the minimum extent necessary to comply with desegregation laws.

Military Power Is Not Enough

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This series of articles based on many interviews and briefings with diplomatic, military, political and economic analysts at the White House, State Department, Defense Department, National Science Foundation, Library of Congress and other government sources.

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA MILITARY ANALYST
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The greatest threat to U.S. security in the next few years is not the Russian first-strike SS-9 missile or the submarine fleet.

The clear and present danger, according to U.S. defense strategists is the Soviet Union's sharply improved techniques of political, economic and psychological warfare.

The Kremlin's political activities in the Middle East and North Africa have strengthened the Soviet Union militarily and have, at the same time, weakened the United States more effectively than a new generation of intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Not too long ago Europe's southern flank was effectively protected by the U.S. Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean and Air Force bases in Spain and North Africa.

But today the fleet is neutralized by a Soviet fleet and the major bases are gone. If Moscow can negotiate for air and sea installations along the North African coast and on Malta, West Europe's soft underbelly lies exposed.

The economic perspectives to the problem are equally real. If the Soviet Union progressively controls or influences the important industrial, mineral-rich and strategically located countries of the world, it could even strangle this nation economically, without ever resorting to military action.

The Russians could then move into other countries they covet with reasonable confidence that the United States would be unable to prevent them. The prizes, of course, are Western Europe and Japan.

If this is accomplished, it is believed that the total balance of power would be shifted in favor of the Communist orbit. This is why the United States goes to such lengths to hold tight its political and military ties with the NATO countries.

A good example of Soviet attempt to shift the power balance is the Middle East. Iranian oil now moves by pipeline to Western Europe by way of the Soviet Union. Obviously Moscow can turn the spigot at its convenience and hope to nudge Europeans into the Soviet economic sphere.

And the new Soviet influence in other Middle Eastern countries means that Moscow may soon be able to at least threaten to interrupt the oil flow from other Arab countries.

Soviet military strategists have calculated that 92 percent of the chrome, 97 percent of the nickel, 76 percent of the alumina and bauxite and 88 percent of the cobalt in a U.S. military aircraft were imported.

Although the United States is a world leader in the production of many raw materials, it must go elsewhere for a number of items.

This includes bauxite

(Jamaica, Australia and Surinam; manganese (South Africa, Brazil, India, Gabon); potash (Canada, West Germany); copper (Zambia, Congo, Canada, Peru) and tin (Malaysia, Bolivia, Thailand, Indonesia). Many of these nations are therefore critical.

The Soviet Union's disbursement of military aid to such nations as North Vietnam and Cuba is also a factor in the total balance of power picture.

Soviet diplomacy, once crude, has become considerably more polished in recent years, perhaps because the Russians have not let ideology interfere with their objectives. They work with fascist groups in Turkey and frequently ignore native Communist parties in Asia when Soviet objectives are better served by dealing with the anti-Communist governments in power.

In sum, U.S. strategists have concluded that military power alone is no longer enough to contain Soviet expansion and in fact, may even be detrimental to U.S. interests. This reasoning lies behind the administration's defense budget hold-down (a $1.1 billion increase for fiscal 1972 from the $76.4 billion for 1971) and its new relationships with Romania and China.

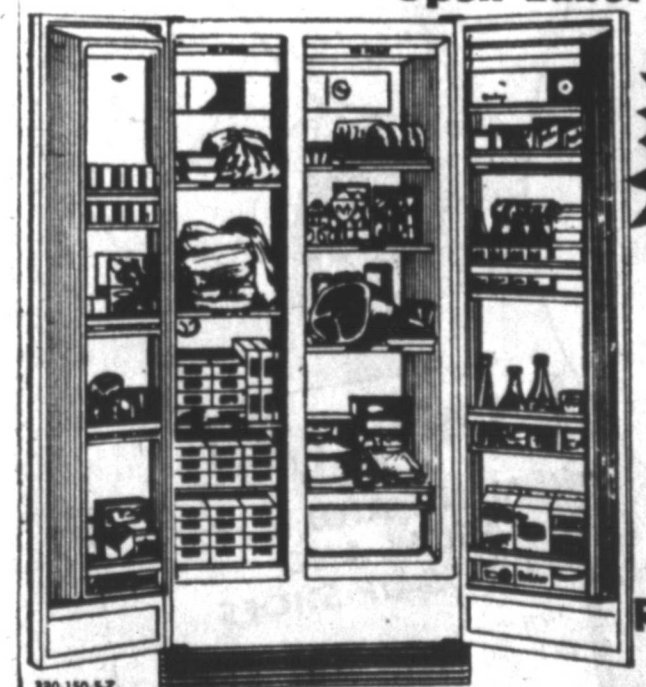

And when peace is attained in Indochina, it is certain that North Vietnam will be the object of intense diplomatic and economic attention.

In 1954, Hurricane Carol hit the northeastern United States, killing 68 persons and causing damage that ran into hundreds of millions of dollars.

Rogers Says America Opposes Unilateral Troop Cut In Europe

HOUSTON (AP) — Secretary of State William Rogers reaffirmed Tuesday the Nixon Administration's intention to oppose any unilateral reduction of American troops in Europe.

Rogers made the statements in remarks prepared for a convention of the American Legion. Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., has been pressing for a cutback in U.S. forces. Rogers said the U.S. and its European allies agree in principle that they must assume a more equitable share of the defense of Europe.

Rogers noted that President Nixon, in a message to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization last December, would "maintain and improve our forces in Europe and not reduce them unless there are reciprocal reductions by our adversaries."

"Today, I reaffirm that pledge," Rogers said.

Rogers said the United States would continue its program of withdrawing from Vietnam but in a way that gives South Vietnam "a reasonable chance" of survival.

"If we are to withdraw from Vietnam in a way that denied the South Vietnamese a reasonable chance to survive as a free people, we would have pulled the rug out from under the people who believed in us and trusted us," Rogers said. "We would have raised serious doubt that we might abandon friends and allies elsewhere in times of survival."

Rogers said the United States is approaching the strategic arms limitations talks with caution.

"We are watching the Soviet arms program carefully," he said. "And you can be sure that in any SALT agreement the President will not trade security for promises. Arms control must be a two-way street."

Rogers took a slap at demonstrators of the New Left and other opponents of the American involvement abroad.

"I have great difficulty as I know you have, in exercising restraint when on occasion I hear our military men mangled, our National Anthem ridiculed and the American flag trampled upon," Rogers said. "It is demeaning for an American to act that way—and it is so senseless."

"There is not the slightest doubt that a strong, highly motivated and proud American force is vital to the successful conduct of our foreign policy as well as to our national security," Rogers said.

American Legion National Commander Alfred Chamie told the convention the Legion is determined that Americans missing in southeast Asia shall not be forgotten.

1972 Political Campaigns May Signal A New Era In Texas Politics

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

After more than a century of off-again, on-again Texas politics, the state's political powers have finally decided they need some rules to play by.

Up to now, the first test vote in a Texas political convention—usually decided which way the convention leaned. When the majority vote was decided, many times on the single procedural question of a temporary chairman, the minority faction often rumped or withdrew to hold a separate and opposing convention.

These conflicting factions and their drawn-out convention arguments perpetuated the differences within a party—particularly Texas Democrats who have suffered through a conservative-liberal split for so many years.

"We may have seen our last legal rump convention," says Randall Wood, elections officer of the secretary of state's office. "The new state law effective Sept. 1 may cut out the rump convention almost completely. Since each party will have to have written rules that must be followed, there will be no reason for a rump convention—unless there are just as much of malcontents that don't want to follow the rules anyway."

The new state law, passed by the last legislature, says briefly that major political parties must file with the secretary of state "a set of specific, detailed and written party rules for the conduct of its conventions, executive meetings, and any other party meetings." These rules must be filed at least 30 days before the first precinct convention, which is the same day at the primary election May 6.

The Texas Republican Party has a committee drawing up some proposed rules that likely will be presented to the state GOP meeting scheduled in January. Actually the final decision on these rules could wait until the required meeting of state political party committees, March 13, to approve statewide candidate filings, or even later if they want to call a special meeting before April 6.

The Texas Democratic Party has appointed its statewide rules committee, headed by William Anderson of Corpus Christi, to start formulating their new state party rules. The Democrats promise that a "public meeting" will be held before the final rules are approved by the state committee.

So, the 1972 political campaigns may signal a new era in Texas politics. A parliamentary rule will mean something more in a Texas political convention than of an idle honor to the oldest living party member of the community. The chairman with the fastest gavel may no longer be the top political leader, because his rulings can be appealed to the next highest convention—from precinct to county to state to national.

And since the requirement for new party rules is a state law, those who think the law is being violated can go to court and argue their case.

"There was a day," recalls a political oldtimer, "when everybody on your side in your precinct held a pre-convention caucus and you decided who would be your convention chairman and your delegation to the county convention. All this just among people who thought the same way. Then you got everybody out to vote and to the precinct convention. If you carried the test vote, that was it. The other side might as well go home, or hold a rump convention."

In 1972, one test vote may not mean complete domination. Each and every question presented the conventions—from precinct to state—can be challenged and the decisions must be according to the rules now being drawn up by the respective parties.

CANCER TAKES TOLL
LONDON (AP) — Deaths from cancer rose in Britain in 1970 to the highest peak ever. A government report showed cancer killed 15,732, up 2 percent from 1969, and 20 percent of all deaths recorded.

Tuberculosis, which 50 years ago killed nearly as many people as cancer, was responsible for only 1,397 deaths in 1970, 218 fewer than in 1969.

LSO OFFENSES RISE
LONDON (AP) — A huge increase in the number of people convicted of offenses involving the hallucinatory drug LSD with 744 convictions, compared with 161 in 1969.

MORE MURDERS
HOUSTON (AP) — In this city, you stand almost twice as much chance of dying at the hands of a murderer than from a traffic fatality.

Through July, 1971 records at the Police Department show 183 persons were murdered while 101 died from traffic fatalities.

Region Leader Says GIs Missing In War Shall Not Be Forgotten

HOUSTON (AP) — National Commander Alfred Chamie said today the American Legion determined that Americans missing in Southeast Asia shall not be forgotten.

The Los Angeles lawyer opened the Legion's national convention by saying Legionnaires have sought to arouse the American people as well as world public opinion to the plight of Americans held prisoner of war or listed as missing in action in Southeast Asia.

"There are some 1,659 persons who are missing," Chamie said. "We understand 460 of these are in prison. We do not know the status of the others."

Secretary of State William Rogers and astronaut Tom Stafford also were opening day speakers.

Chamie said the Legion has used television and radio spots viewed by and heard by 44 million people in seeking to arouse Americans to the plight of prisoners of war and those missing.

The commander also said he was pleased with the progress of another top priority legion project, the "jobs for veterans" program.

"Returning veterans have been brought together with prospective employers and we have had very encouraging experiences," Chamie said.

Chamie said the Legion is not fading away in that its membership has now passed 2.7 million for the first time since 1959 and has just experienced its seventh consecutive year of membership growth.

"We also have noted the legion is actually growing younger because of the influx of Vietnam era veterans who are expected to number about 425,000 by Jan. 1 and will constitute the second largest membership component in the Legion, outnumbered only by World War II veterans," he said.

Over 230,000 Jobs Available Right Now In Health Care

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Unemployment is not always a problem of too few jobs.

Sometimes it results from geographical imbalance, with the jobs in one place, the workers in another. Often it reflects a disproportion in the talent to job ratio, with employers seeking skilled help but not finding it.

Nowhere is it more obvious than in the health care field. While millions seek jobs and cannot find them, the American Hospital Association claims that 283,000 jobs are available right now in health care.

The problem is that the skills available hardly match the needs, a very common occurrence for which some critics blame an educational system that doesn't always prepare students for the realities of life.

The importance of correcting this situation is made all the more important by the forecast of Dr. Edwin L. Crosby, AHA executive president, that the number of health care workers needed will nearly double to six million in 1980.

A few examples in the most highly skilled areas:

- The need for licensed practical nurses is forecast to reach 600,000 by 1980 compared with 370,000 today.
- The number of radiological technologists needed by the same year will be 120,000, compared with 75,000 now.
- To serve a population that is expected to grow by 29 million persons by 1980 about 50,000 more doctors will be needed in addition to 300,000 who serve the existing population.
- One of the most challenging and rewarding of the careers, AHA says, is that of physician's assistant. The assistant does many of the more routine chores of a doctor, including physical examinations.

Training ranges from 15 months to 4 years beyond high school. The 15-month program includes three months at a university and one year under a doctor's supervision. Good opportunity for former medical corpsmen and nurses. Salaries begin at $10,000, go as high as $18,000.

Some others:

- Nursing: To become a registered nurse the individual must graduate either from a hospital school of nursing, a junior college program or a baccalaureate program. Salaries range from $7,500 to as high as $20,000 for supervisors.
- Licensed practical nurses can learn their skills in high school or in a one-year junior college program. Income ranged from $4,500 to around $7,200 a year, with some receiving $10,000.
- Nurses also can specialize. The career of nurse anesthetists, which requires graduate training, can command a salary of $18,000 a year.
- Cytotechnologists. Studies body cells for abnormalities, especially in cancer research and detection. Two years of college and a year of specialized schooling needed. Pay begins $6,200, goes to $10,500.
- Dental assistant. Prepares patients for examinations, handles paper work. High school or equivalent required, plus a year or two of training, some times on the job. Salaries rise from $4,500 to $7,500.

Burger: Court Has Never Required Racial Balance For Every School

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger refused Tuesday to stay a court-ordered school busing plan for Winston-Salem, N.C., but he said the Supreme Court had never required racial balance for every school.

The Winston-Salem-Forsyth County Board of Education has asked Burger to hold up the order under which schools were to open Monday.

Burger said the application for a stay was filed Aug. 23 and response to it was received Aug. 26, giving him too little time "to deal adequately with the complex issues presented."

The chief justice, acting during a recess of the Supreme Court as circuit justice, also said the application for stay did not contain adequate specific allegations as to the claimed hardships involved in the busing.

At the same time, however, Burger said he disagreed with the apparent assumptions of courts below that racial balance in every school is constitutionally required.

In the 10-page decision, Burger emphasized that if lower courts had read this requirement into the high court's landmark busing decision earlier this year "they would appear to have overlooked specific language of the opinion."

Burger said that in ruling the Charlotte, N.C., busing petition which numerous subsequent integration orders have been based, the court only meant that examination of existing racial composition might be a good starting point in determining where discrimination existed.

The Winston-Salem board submitted a new integration plan under protest on order of U.S. District Court. The explanation:

- In 1954, the Rhode Island General Assembly banned the sale of liquor to Indians.
- In 1914, German forces defeated the Russians in the World War I Battle of Tannenberg in Poland.
- In 1935, President Franklin Roosevelt signed a Neutrality Act prohibiting the export of U.S. arms to belligerents.

Highlights And Sidelights From The State Capitol

By BILL BOYKIN
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, Tex. — The Legislative Redistricting Board, its hands tied by a court order, has called for a staff research toward reapportionment of both the Texas House and Senate.

If the Board were permanently enjoined from action, the thorny reapportionment chore may be handed back to the Legislature in a special session this fall. Board was created in 1948 to redistrict where a legislature fails to do so in its first regular session after a decennial census.

Day before the five-member panel was to meet and begin work on Senate realignment (a task left undone by the Legislature this year), an Austin judge entered a temporary restraining order. At the same time, Judge Herman Jones set a hearing for September 2 on a petition for an injunction.

Rep. Fred Head of Henderson filed the suit to stop Board action, contending 1970 census figures are not yet all in, and that reapportionment should wait until the 1973 Legislature.

On August 2 Judge Jones declared the House version of reapportionment by the Legislature this year unconstitutional. Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has promised an appeal to the Texas Supreme Court.

Meanwhile, Martin who was named temporary chairman of the redistricting Board in absentia, left a message expressing hope that the panel will begin work "at the earliest possible date" on House reapportionment in event the High Court rules that is its duty.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, another member of the Board, also called for early staff attention to a House redistricting bill, although both he and Martin agreed Senate reapportionment is the first objective.

Board has 20 separate plans already submitted for recarving the Senate's 31 districts in line with the 1970 census and federal court rulings of substantially equal population for each.

"FREEZE" BRINGS SUMMER CHILL — The President's wage-price freeze continued to be the closest-watched and fastest-changing news event at the state capitol.

Gov. Preston Smith's proclamation to state agencies to disregard the presidential order and place pay raises for state employees in effect September 1 was quickly held invalid by Attorney General Martin.

Martin then went to Washington to plead for exceptions for state workers and school teachers who had been assured raises by legislative action and in the case of teachers' valid contract well before the freeze order date, August 15.

Meanwhile, Texas State Employees Association filed a formal petition for exemption of 60,000 state employees from the order and hinted at court action if refused.

Teachers kept close watch on Washington announcements to see if subsequent federal agency rulings would permit their raises covered by contracts signed prior to August 15 to be granted September 1.

INFO OFFICES OPENED — Internal Revenue Service announced opening of nine offices in southern Texas to answer questions, study complaints and investigate alleged violations of the wage-price freeze.

Offices are located at IRS headquarters in Austin, Beaumont, Waco, Corpus Christi, El Paso, San Antonio, Houston, Harlingen and McAllen.

Questions on new import duty surcharge will be referred to the Office of Customs in Houston.

LABOR DAY TOLL PREDICTED — Fifty-two may lose their lives in traffic accidents during the Long Labor Day weekend predicts the Department of Public Safety.

If Texans can't drive more safely than that, Governor Smith told his traffic Safety Committee, serious consideration may have to be given to declaring a state of emergency on three-day holidays and calling on the National Guard to supplement police activities.

Smith's committee reviewed plans for an intensive Labor Day Safety campaign.

DPS Director Col. Wilson E. Speir urged motorists to refrain from drinking while driving, to avoid fatigue and to modify driving speed in accord with heavy traffic conditions.

All uniformed officers of DPS will be on highways Friday through Monday to enforce traffic laws. Maximum use will be made of radar and breath-testing devices. DPS special reports on fatal accidents will continue.

AP Television-Radio Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Even after three years of regular employment in the hit ABC series "Mod Squad," Michael Cole has a tentative attitude about the fame and money that have come with it.

He speaks often of the care-free, penniless days when he was "living in the street" in San Francisco during the free-wheeling days of the early 1960s.

He looks back on those days the way an old soldier looks back on his wars—only the good memories remain.

"They called them beatniks," he said during a noon beer-break on his day off. "I was working in a bookshop and I'd watch them come in and wander around picking up a book here and there and reading a little. I had no sense that there were drugs just a feeling that these people were happy and free to do what they wanted to do."

Interest in acting came later when Michael started studying with a theater workshop in Los Angeles.

Only 16 Players Are Seeded In U.S. Open

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Drama through limited seedings is expected to make up for the absence of stars in today's start of the U. S. Open Tennis Championships.

With 10 of the world's top players, including defending champion Ken Rosewall and Margaret Court, bypassing this 12-day, $100,000 extravaganza on grass, tournament officials decided to rank only eight of the 128 men, instead of 20 as last year, to make it the widest open of U.S. Opens. Eight of the 64 women also were seeded. But last-minute injuries and exhaustion forced the seedings to be pared among the women and revamped for the men.

Australian Rod Laver, seeded No. 3, pulled out pleading fatigue. Britain's Virginia Wade, No. 3 among the women, withdrew after she broke her ankle in the Eastern Lawn Tennis Championships last Saturday.

In another last-minute maneuver, tournament officials renege on an earlier plan to make opening day a "for men only" affair with the women waiting in the wings for a Thursday start. Now the top half of the men's draw and the lower half of the women's draw are playing today with the remainder scheduled for Thursday.

Longhorn Memories Stir

By DENNE H. FREEMAN Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas Longhorns' 30-game victory string is a memory, but they've got enough pure talent to start it all over again this autumn and should be the prime contender from the Southwest to unseat Nebraska for the national championship.

Arkansas and Texas Tech should be the only major roadblocks and they've got some headaches to cure before they can contend with Coach Darrell Royal's burnt orange bruisers. The Longhorns lost three All-Americans from the team that compiled the third longest winning string in modern collegiate football history before the 24-11 loss to Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl last New Year's Day.

go to the air this fall to keep Longhorn foes from loading up to stop the grinding ground thrusters of the Wishbone.

But Texas returns the chief mechanic of its intricate Wishbone T-quarterback Eddie Phillips. Royal says Phillips is the best he's had in 14 years at Longhornville. "Eddie is a flawless ball-handler and he runs the option to perfection," says Royal. "I just wish they didn't pick All-American quarterbacks on the number of passes completed."

Arkansas and Texas Tech have tremendous offensive potential but both have holes defensively.

Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles has a gifted quarterback in junior Joe Ferguson. "He is an exceptional passer, has quick feet and quick hands and can scramble with the football," says Broyles. Ferguson is capable of connecting with the big play at any moment and has running back Jon Richardson to keep opponents looking for the ground thrust. Receivers Jim Hodge and Mike Reppond have the ability to get open.

they can gain some overall game experience."

Texas Tech should be powerful again offensively behind quarterback Charles Napper, thunder-runners Doug McCutchen and Miles Langhemm, scatback Joe Barnes, and sophomore quarterback star Jimmy Carmichael. Clutch receiver Johnny Odum completes the offensive threat.

Judy Believes In TCU's Chances For SWC Title

FORT WORTH (AP) — It's not the everyday type drill you see for a quarterback.

There was Texas Christian senior quarterback Steve Judy practicing fumble recoveries under the watchful eye of offensive backfield coach Marvin Kristynik.

"I had a habit of not falling on my fumbles," said Judy. "So coach Kristynik decided he'd pitch a few balls on the ground and make me get after 'em."

Judy's fumble drill is an example of the new order under head coach Jim Pittman, a tough disciplinarian who refuses to coddle even the most valuable player on his team.

"It's the most I've ever been pushed," said Judy. "I've been petted in the past. We need the discipline."

The discipline is everywhere. Star running back Larry Harris, one of the three Negro players on the team, said, "You don't catch anybody lying around after a play. They get up quick. In the huddle, everyone is standing straight with their eyes on the quarterback. We break the huddle with enthusiasm."

"You jog everywhere you go. You're never allowed to take your helmet off on the field. When coach Pittman talks, everybody listens. You don't hear anybody whispering in the background."

Of the 32 scholarship players who quit, Harris said, "They didn't have their hearts in football. I believe you have to make sacrifices to play football." Harris added, "I believe in hard work, training and sound discipline. I'm looking forward to professional football. I don't want anybody to say I had an easy road."

Judy said he believes the discipline and hard work will lead the Horned Frogs to a Southwest Conference championship. "We wouldn't be out there sweating every day if we didn't believe," said Judy. "I tell you one thing—everybody I've seen around here is in condition."

What Makes A Fisherman? Attitude The Difference

WHAT MAKES A FISHERMAN?—How much of a role does attitude play in a fisherman's ability to catch fish? Is the way you think about fish important to your angling success?

These questions are among those considered recently by fishing experts when they sought to find out just what makes a successful fisherman.

Now that you've read and considered all these scientific views of what makes a good fisherman, the best advice the professionals can give is to forget about the reasons why... and just go fishing! It's a lot more fun that way.

Nixon Must: Stoke Economy

Less than 15 months from now, Americans will elect, or re-elect, a president.

Which it is to be will likely depend not on the pace of withdrawal from Vietnam, not on the results of high-level visits to Peking or peace moves in the Middle East, but simply on what happens to the national economy.

By this time in 1972, the country must not only be enjoying what may reasonably be called prosperous times, this prosperity will need to have been around long enough for people to be comfortable with it and believe that it is real and lasting, says Don Oakley.

When the president came into office in November, 1968, the economy was in a "superheated" state, with booming production, booming taxes and booming prices.

Following the best advice available, the Nixon administration set about deliberately to cool down the situation by raising interest rates, discouraging business investment and stretching out interstate highway construction.

Eventually, like a wounded dinosaur, the economy slumped. A genuine recession ensued, yet one in which inflation in the form of rising prices continue apace.

In the past year, despite attempts to undo the damage, the economy has burrowed deeper into the trough of recession. Unemployment refuses to budge from a high 6 per cent level. Production lags along well below capacity. Thousands of young people just out of college face an experience not known in this country for 40 years—the shock of realizing there are no jobs for them.

Meanwhile, prices continue to rise only slightly more slowly than before, fueled by new rounds of wage boosts, followed by price boosts, in basic industries.

Now, again following the best economic advice available, President Nixon has adopted what he calls "the most comprehensive new economic policy to be undertaken in the nation in four decades."

At the same time, inflation is to be held down by a lid on wage and price increases for 90 days, and maybe longer. Other steps are designed to take pressure off the U.S. dollar abroad and to curb imports.

If all these measures work or if only enough of them work to set the nation back on prosperity road, Richard Nixon will be a hard man to beat in 1972. Then, maybe, Vietnam will be the issue.

But if they don't work, if despite the best will in the world the economy continues to be disarranged, Richard Nixon, not the economists who advise him, will probably pay the political price.

Unfair Labor

What would happen if railroad owners formed a union and went on strike by shutting down all plants where organized labor demanded unreasonable pay increases, or insisted upon work rules and featherbedding practices which raise the cost so high that they threaten survival of the railroads?

Well, organized labor shuts down the railroads at will, bringing inestimable loss to business and agriculture, and great inconvenience to the people, as well as inflate the prices of transporting food to our people. Just why would it be any worse if the railroads themselves closed down to shut off wages of employees who insist upon drawing pay for doing nothing?

Purpose of raising this impracticable proposal is to illustrate how unfair our labor laws are.

Organized labor shrewdly went into politics, pays hundreds of millions of dollars every general election year to support politicians who will do its bidding. This money is untaxed. No limits have been put on it because organized labor has been allowed to get away with the sham by calling it "educational."

On the other hand, employers must pay heavy taxes on funds before any can be given to politics, and the amount is strictly limited. Politicians must publicly list the donors (corporations or private citizens).

CAPITOL EYE

Government Curbed By Voters' Voice

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The American people must surely be terribly confused these days about what their presidency is supposed to accomplish.

The recent disclosures of historical documents on the Vietnam war lead some interpreters to charge American presidents with arrogant use (or abuse) of their powers.

Behind a cloak of secrecy, we are told, our presidents have committed unforgivable error. If only the public (and its guardians in the Congress) had known, the whole awful mess could have been avoided.

This proposition is by its nature unprovable, since there can be no replay of the war, the events surrounding it, or any other past history.

But there is a deeper issue here. The presidency, in its present swollen manifestation, is in big part a creation of the American people—including some of its critics.

Most presidential scholars quickly say that Americans have made an enormous investment in their presidents.

For decades, they have been hailing them as the sole agents of all the people, not beholden to a single state or district. They have looked to them to rise above the bickering congressional arena. They have called upon presidents to lead, boldly. They have seen them as the only power-wielders able to act with the speed demanded in a swiftly changing time.

In this century of total war, of great depressions, of shattering and sometimes perilous surprises, presidents inevitably have tried to respond to the popular summons.

A book soon to emerge will chart the responsive growth of the U.S. presidency through the growth of the White House staff establishment over the past four decades. Larger than ever today, it has nearly the character of a new branch of government.

This establishment is more than just an enlarged body of advisers. It is the prod to the immense, glacierlike federal bureaucracy which is supposed to execute the will of president and Congress. It helps push Congress itself.

The American presidency, then, has grown not just in response to popular demand, but in natural offset to the frustrating immobility of bigger and bigger government.

The celebrated Pentagon papers underscore the flaws in this trend. The White House staff indeed, the whole structure of "top advisers," is a box within a box. It is screened from the direct wrath of voters. Its crucial deliberations usually become known widely only after they have already become part of past history.

Obviously there is a dangerous remoteness in all this. Yet it is not at all clear that the key war-and-peace decisions of recent years would have been any wiser, if somehow Congress and the public had played a larger role.

Some scholars of the presidency would argue, in fact, that—for all its evident growth—the power of the presidency is seriously exaggerated. The argument is taken further, to the contention that some of the fetters which limit the presidency are placed there by the very public which has wanted the White House to run the show.

Every president has learned, sometimes painfully, that the public's notions (whether rooted in reality or fancy) help define what he can do. When "balanced budgets" are the vogue, he can't roam far from the idea. That problem plagued the late President Kennedy. But times have changed. President Nixon, allegedly the fiscal conservative, can plot huge deficits in the name of "full employment." Limited wars like those in Korea and Vietnam hobble the presidents who wage them. Unable to cry that survival is the issue, they must ask only small sacrifice and move by small steps.

Writes author Louis W. Koenig in "The Chief Executive": "The imagined presidency is vested in our minds with more power than the presidency really has." The gulf between the imagined and the real presidency, he says, leads to "disappointment, frustration, and attack." That is the U.S. mood today.

Parole Him After 90 Days?

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Mrs. Allee wanted me to show teen-agers how to be more effective church workers. So heed my advice, for people will not buy your merchandise or idea or religion unless they like you personally. But there is a specific formula for winning friends. Cultivate it and teach it to your children!

CASE R-551: Mrs. Allen Allee invited me to address a Youth Rally of 21 Quaker Churches. My address was at 3 p.m. Then Don Lash, former famous 2-mile runner, was to follow me. So I told the large congregation that the first requisite of all effective church people is to be star salesmen!

But people will not buy your merchandise or your religion unless they like you. Thus, the art of winning friends is of paramount importance. Then I mentioned that an essential secret thereof is to realize everybody wears this tattoo across his chest:

"I WANT TO FEEL IMPORTANT!"

And one of the easiest ways to fulfill your companion's wish in that regard, is to give him honest compliments. These may consist of blunt praise for his new tie or broad shoulders, or her dimples and pretty white teeth. But another very vital compliment for your escort is to make him feel assured on a date. Most boys aren't very glib at carrying on conversation. They usually have only 2 lead-off topics, namely, the weather and the last ball game of their school. "It's certainly been a warp day today, hasn't it?" they may begin. "Uh-huh" replies their girl friend and the conversational machinery then bogs down again to a complete standstill.

In desperation, the boy may comment about the last ball game. "We were lucky to win, weren't we?" "Uh-huh" is the girl's answer, leaving him without any more conversational "ammunition."

So they walk along in embarrassment as the pause lengthens. And such social humiliation does not make the boy feel more important. Thus, he is not likely to ask you for another date. Such a girl has lost her chance to win his friendship and then increase the appeal of her remarks about religion. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said that as a teen-ager, she often was humiliated by the pauses in conversation that intruded when she was on a date.

In desperation she added, she resorted to the alphabet, starting with "A" and inquiring: "Do you like apples?" Most people can't think of a thing to break the awful pause. So they feel like screaming H-E-L-P.

So use that very word "H-E-L-P" as a formula, and start with "H," which stands for "Hobbies." "Did you ever collect coins or stamps? Match pads, bottle caps, bird's eggs?" you can

PAUL HARVEY NEWS

Kissinger To Cuba Next?

By PAUL HARVEY We can and will do something drastic about skyjacking.

But historians are holding their breaths because historically we react adequately only after a major tragedy. First, the public image of the skyjacker is grotesquely distorted.

By most public and some lawmen, the air pirate is pictured as eight feet tall, a tough, calculating criminal with a political passion, skill with weapons, great courage.

To the medical man he is none of these things. Psychiatric examination of two dozen of them established this composite profile: The skyjacker is 29, native-born, white, weak, ineffectual and afraid.

He has failed in business, in marriage, in sex, in friendship. He has no criminal record; even in that he is so far a failure.

He knows little about guns, is impulsive, planned his dramatic takeover of an airliner for less than 48 hours. And once aboard, he had much difficulty mustering the courage to go through with it.

Clinically, he is psychotic, tortured by anxiety, frustration and rage. He comes from a home that was brutal, ignorant, insensitive, loveless; and broken up before he was 17.

The challenge has Freudian roots. For once in his miserable life he is able to stand up, display his manhood, force a woman (the stewardess) to do his bidding and a father-image pilot to take orders from him! Researcher psychiatrist, Dr. David H. Hubbard, deduces that the skyjacker subconsciously wants to get caught. He is aware of the severe penalties for skyjacking and the increased risk increases the challenge.

If this theory is valid then two remedial measures can resolve 90 per cent of the problem.

Diplomacy first. All nations must agree to return all such pirates to wherever they came from.

And once returned they should be committed to an unglamorous beige-walled mental hospital where they belong.

Castro did return skyjacker LaBadie a year ago. Theretofore 75 per cent of all sky pirates headed for Cuba; since then only 25 per cent have.

Does this suggest a mission by Kissinger to Castro? No. Politically oriented overtures to Castro are unbecoming. Besides, they've been attempted, however clumsily, and failed.

Medical diplomacy, on the other hand, penetrates frontiers without friction. Arch-enemies can co-operate in the common social good.

Castro would like to make a deal. He no longer gets paid ransom for diverted aircraft. In fact he pays the considerable cost of harboring these average children and armor-plating cockpits and armed-guarding his own planes. A reciprocal extradition treaty would benefit both parties.

These measures would cost a fraction of the $200 million we are presently spending on magnetometers, sky marshals and court proceedings. If it is agreed that they are worth trying, let's try them this side—rather than the other side—of a major tragedy.

Dilemma: Work Or Welfare

It is no news that the government's left hand does not always know what its right hand is doing. It is not, however, always just a case of the inevitable bureaucratic bungling.

More and more of late, particularly in the areas of welfare and employment, it is a matter of the government's strategy conflicting with the very goals that strategy is intended to achieve.

Under the Nixon administration's proposed Family Assistance Plan, for instance, the federal government would assure an annual income floor to poor families at rates which would provide $2,400 for four persons. There would be a maximum of $3,600 for any one family. (States could supplement these figures to higher levels, if they wished.)

But under the concept of "workfare" instead of welfare, there would be stiff requirements for able-bodied adult members of such families to accept training and job assignments.

At the same time as Congress is musing over this plan, it is also considering the administration's proposal to increase the minimum wage from its present $1.60 an hour to $1.80 an hour by next January and to $2 in January, 1974. The administration also favors a lower minimum for teen-agers and agricultural workers to make it easier for them to find work.

However, according to Rep. John H. Dent, R-Pa., chairman of a House labor subcommittee, with anything less than $2 an hour, the head of a family would be better off on welfare.

"If a man has any concern for his family he will go under the Family Assistance Plan rather than work because he will be able to provide his family with about a 20 per cent higher standard of living," says Dent.

It is not clear where he gets his figure of 20 per cent. But at $1.80 an hour for an eight-hour day, five-day week, 50-week year, a man would gross $3,600—only equal to the maximum under the Family Assistance Plan. And not every eligible welfare recipient, of course, could count on working that steadily.

A bill introduced by Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., would set a minimum wage of $2 an hour immediately and raise this to $2.25 a year later.

The administration opposes a $2 minimum sooner than 1974 on the grounds that it would create inflationary pressures and aggravate unemployment and, perforce, drive more people to welfare. Yet as Dent points out, why should a man work if he can have better income on welfare?

Everyone wants to do the best thing for the poor and the unemployed, and for the nation as a whole, but what, in this case, is best in the long run?
