India And Pakistan Halt War On Western Front

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The war between India and Pakistan ended today, with the new nation of Bangla Desh established in East Pakistan. In 14 days of fighting more than 2,000 Indian soldiers died, at least that many Pakistanis and uncounted civilians.

President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan of Pakistan accepted India's proposal for a cease-fire on the western front.

"I am accepting the Indian proposal for a cease-fire in the interest of peace and stability on the subcontinent," he said.

Yahya ordered Pakistani forces in West Pakistan to halt the fighting at 9:30 a. m. EST, the time set by India in a unilateral cease-fire. Only 24 hours earlier he had vowed to fight "until all occupied areas are taken back."

India announced the cease-fire Thursday after Pakistan's army had surrendered in East Pakistan, 1,000 miles from the western front.

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi greeted Yahya's acceptance by saying: "I must be careful because I don't know yet whether it will be a full peace."

"Official sources in New Delhi said India suffered more than 10,000 casualties in the war on both fronts—2,307 killed, 6,163 wounded, and 2,163 missing. Of these 1,021 were killed in the east and 1,286 in the west, they added.

There have been no figures on Pakistan losses, but the Indian Defense Ministry says Pakistan's losses are much higher than India's—and few doubt this.

The future of Yahya Khan's military government is in doubt. He had moved recently to transfer control to civilians, and this trend will gain impetus under such men as Zulfikar Ali Bhutto. As deputy prime minister and foreign minister, he says Pakistan should have democratic government soon.

Lt. Gen. J. S. Aurora, who accepted Pakistan's surrender in Dacca, said his troops will remain in East Pakistan for a time to help repatriate war prisoners, re-establish law and order and communications, and help with the return of Bengali refugees from India. He expected most Indian forces to withdraw within weeks.

The general said the defeated soldiers from West Pakistan were being allowed to keep their weapons until they arrived in POW camps because of fear that vengeful Bengalis "would butcher them" in reprisal for the Pakistani Army's war on the Bengali independence forces since last March.

"The bitterness in Dacca—you have to see it to believe it," he told reporters.

Aurora said he expected all Pakistani troops to be disarmed within two days and movement of the prisoners of war to India to begin "as soon as it can."

In a short speech to her Parliament, Mrs. Gandhi said India wants to build its relations with Pakistan on a "basis of friendship."

India had Soviet backing in the war while China supported Pakistan, but there has been no evidence of direct intervention by either power.

A Bangla Desh civil administration, led by four senior civil servants, was going to Dacca to take over general administrative responsibilities.

Gen. Aurora will exercise over-all supervision.

Mrs. Gandhi expressed hope that Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, the East Pakistani political leader held prisoner by Yahya Khan, "will take his rightful place and lead the Bangla Desh people to peace, progress and prosperity."

Sheikh Mujib was arrested in March when the West Pakistani army cracked down on the East Pakistani secessionist movement.

Lt. Gen. K. P. Candeth, commanding general of Indian forces on the western front, told reporters he thought West Pakistan's military power had been destroyed "to a very great extent indeed."

The Pentagon indicated that a U.S. naval task force will remain in the Bay of Bengal.

MANGER COMES TO CITY PARK—Since Bethlehem's babe-in-a-barn almost 20 centuries ago, many cities, hamlets and towns have recreated the manger scene as a community focal point for the Christmas spirit. More fortunate than most, Pampa had an artistic native son, Charles Thomas, who not only conceived the tableau set out in central park but constructed the elements. Since the time of the first lighting at Christmas they have needed only refurbishing to erase the marks of the elements. The top picture was made at the ceremonial lighting last night. Those present were then treated to a concert by the combined Pampa Junior and Senior High choirs, below. Mrs. Louise Richardson, junior high choir director conducts here. She shared the honors with Larry Sherwood, senior high director. (Staff Photos)

UN To Pick Successor Of U Thant

(AP) — The U.N. Security Council scheduled a closed meeting this afternoon to try to choose a new secretary-general to succeed U Thant on Dec. 31.

Diplomatic sources said the five permanent members of the council listed five nominees:

Max Jakobson, Finland's delegate to the United Nations; Kurt Waldheim, Austria's U.N. ambassador; Felipe Herrera of Chile, former president of the Inter-American Bank; Prince Sadruddin Aga Khan, U.N. high commissioner for refugees; and Gunnar Jarring, the Swedish ambassador to Moscow and U.N. special representative for the Middle East.

Informants said the discussion and voting would not be limited to the five. They expected that one or another council member would propose Argentina's U.N. ambassador, Carlos Ortiz de Rozas; former Foreign Minister Gabriel Valdes of Chile, who is director of the U.N. Development Program's Latin American bureau; and perhaps S.S. Ramphal of Guyana.

These sources said there might be votes also for two announced candidates who did not make the Big Five's list: Shirley Amerasinghe, Ceylon's U.N. delegate, and Ethiopia's minister of communications, Endalkachew Makonnen.

The council may need more than one meeting to agree on a candidate to recommend to the General Assembly.

The five permanent members of the Security Council—Britain, China, France, the Soviet Union and the United States—play a decisive part in the process because the assembly can only vote on the council's nominee, and a veto from any of the Big Five can block any candidate.

The five failed to agree on a candidate in six private conferences in the past week.

19 Arrested In Amarillo Drug Raids

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — A mass drug raid resulted in arrests of 19 of 30 persons for whom warrants were issued.

Police searched today for the other 11.

Authorities said the raid Thursday night climaxed a five-month investigation by a 26-year-old undercover man. His identity was not disclosed.

It was the first major drug offensive in this area since last May when 13 persons were arrested.

Eighty officers, including Texas Rangers, staged the raid in Potter, Randall and Swisher counties.

Authorities said most of the drugs confiscated during the raid were traced to Denver, Albuquerque and El Paso.

U.S. Senate Approves Controversial Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today passed a bill authorizing $2.75 billion in foreign aid, one of the ingredients in a compromise fashioned to clear the way for the adjournment of Congress.

The vote was 33 to 21.

Even though the House isn't going to act on the measure until next year, that satisfied Senate demands for approval of authorizing legislation in advance of action on a resolution to continue the actual appropriations for foreign aid.

The next, and presumably final, order of business for the Senate was a resolution to appropriate foreign aid money until Feb. 22, while the next session of Congress works on a regular appropriation bill for the program.

The aid money resolution would authorize spending at a rate equal to $2.37 billion a year, through Feb. 22.

When House and Senate have settled on the money measure, the 92nd Congress will be ready to adjourn until Jan. 18.

The question of foreign-aid funds had threatened to tie up adjournment until Thursday's surprise action by Rep. William Ryan, D-N.Y., to force a new House vote on the amendment requiring total U.S. withdrawal from Indochina within six months.

Taking advantage of a House rule, Ryan moved to force the House conferees to accept the amendment, offered by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

Rep. Thomas Morgan, D-

Pa., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee and of its foreign-aid conferees, moved to table and thus kill Ryan's motion, succeeding by the vote of 130 to 101.

As a result of the vote, Senate conferees suddenly dropped their demand that the House schedule a yes-no vote on the Mansfield amendment, and the foreign-aid conference met for the first time in 13 days.

Asked why the Senate conferees accepted the House vote as a conclusive one on the Mansfield amendment, Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., replied that Mansfield "said it was the closest we could get" to a direct vote.

The conferees promptly agreed to drop the Mansfield amendment, marking the third time this year it has passed the Senate but failed to pass Congress.

But they agreed to include a $341-million spending limit on U.S. operations in Cambodia, excluding U.S. support of South Vietnamese operations, and a personnel limit of 285, plus a bar on transferring other aid funds to Cambodia without congressional approval.

Financial Leaders Hold Talks On Paper Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — Finance ministers of the 10 richest non-Communist nations gather here today to try to build a new system of money-exchange rates around the U.S. offer to devalue the dollar.

As the so-called "Group of Ten" prepared for a two-day meeting at Washington's oldest Smithsonian Institution building, optimism abounded that an interim system of currency-exchange rates could be worked out by the weekend.

If so, it would end the long-standing international monetary crisis in which world currencies have floated against each other without fixed rates of exchange.

President Nixon broke the stalemate earlier in the week when he announced, after a meeting with French President Georges Pompidou in the Azores, that the United States would be willing to devalue the dollar as part of general currency realignment.

Mikiy Mizuta, the Japanese finance minister, told newsmen he sees a 50-50 chance for agreement on new currency values.

U.S. Treasury officials spoke optimistically of hopes for a settlement, as Secretary John B. Connally met privately on the eve of the talks with the finance ministers of Japan, Germany and the United Kingdom.

The new currency system would include a dollar devaluation ranging from 5 to 8 per cent and revaluations of the Japanese yen and the West German mark and other currencies. The French franc would remain unchanged.

What might result, U.S. sources said, is a temporary system of exchange rates that could be ratified by the International Monetary Fund and remain in effect until Congress takes formal action on dollar devaluation.

But the United States says it considers its offer to devalue the dollar contingent on moves by its allies to remove trade barriers to American products and to share in the cost of stationing troops in their countries.

As the monetary talks got under way, informal trade negotiations also were initiated. Trade officials from Canada met with U.S. officials from the State, Commerce and Treasury departments Thursday to discuss trade barriers.

Trade talks also are considered likely this weekend between the United States and officials from the Common Market and Japan.

No Scabies Found In County Cattle

So far, not one case of scabies has been found in Gray County cattle herds.

That is the word from Sydney Thrash, an official of the Texas Animal Health Commission working with County Agent Foster Whaley during the quarantine imposed on Gray and 33 other Panhandle counties.

Thrash noted new outbreaks at Clarendon and Bovina but said Gray County's closest brush thus far with the infestation was suspected exposure of a herd that will have to be dipped according to regulations.

The quarantine, a federal restriction, was imposed on the Texas counties Dec. 14, although actual scabies outbreaks had been found in only seven of them.

Through Dec. 13, some 17 outbreaks of the parasitic disease, psoroptic scabies, had been reported affecting Oklahoma, Nebraska, New Mexico and Kansas as well as the Texas areas.

Interstate shipping rules under the quarantine vary, depending on whether cattle originate in non-infested, exposed or infested herds, according to officials of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Service, APHS.

Cattle from herds not known to be infested may move for any purpose after State or Federal Livestock Inspectors check them and certify that they are scabies-free.

Cattle exposed to scabies may move for any purpose after they are dipped at least once in a USDA approved solution.

Infested cattle may move for any purpose after they are dipped twice, with 10 to 14 days between treatments. In addition, exposed and infested cattle may move directly to slaughter without dipping, if they are inspected and then shipped in sealed vehicles.

Dipping will be conducted under APHS or State Animal Health Agency supervision. APHS or State Inspectors also will certify quarantined area cattle for interstate shipment. Environmental Quality Control officials will observe dipping operations to guard against pollution of streams or ponds.

APHS officials urge cattlemen to inspect their cattle for scabies and report any suspicious cases to State or Federal Animal Health Officials or their Extension Agent.

Red China Blasts Russia, India For Role In War

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP Special correspondent

In the backwash of the India-Pakistan conflict, the rumbling from Peking has an angry sound, as if the Red Chinese leaders were a bit frightened by their reading of the new situation.

The prospect seems to be for a new cold-war chapter involving a perilous three-cornered contest of the big powers for influence in the Orient.

From the sound of the Peking broadsides, Red China intends to give India little rest. It has been blasting the emerging Bangla Desh regime in East Pakistan as a bunch of puppets with the same sort of bitterness it has applied that epithet to South Vietnam.

The Chinese evidently are feeling frustrated in their claim to pre-eminence in decisions that shape Asia's destiny. With reason they seem to see the Russians as having strongly entrenched themselves in India and on the Indian Ocean.

The Chinese accuse the Russians of the sin they had been attributing, up to now, to the U.S. administration and the Nixon Doctrine. A Chinese statement says that the Soviet aim was to strengthen control over India and thereafter try to establish hegemony over all South Asia.

All this bodes ill for hopes of tranquility in Asia. The contest, if it was confused before, is even more so now.

Americans have lost much of whatever influence they might have had with the people and government of India because of the U.S. stand blaming New Delhi for the outbreak of the war.

It probably will be difficult to improve Indian-American relations. Meanwhile, the United States shares with Red China what position is left, astride the Arabian Sea, in terms of influence with a dismembered Pakistan, now reduced to a state about the size of Texas with a population of less than 60 million.

The Russians may seem to have gained as of now. They do not need to have a physical presence to assert their influence in the Indian Ocean area. They have a friendly power in control of almost all the subcontinent, and that power, India, became virtually an ally by the recently signed Soviet-Indian treaty.

But the Russians may find their gains expensive. India has spent much she could not afford, on the war and on supporting 10 million Bengali refugees. She will need help replenishing her military expenditures and economic aid as well. In addition, the emerging new state of Bangla Desh will need big military and economic aid.

The Russians can find themselves saddled with costly clients. If Moscow could ill afford its economic and military support to a little island nation like Cuba, it is much less likely to welcome shouldering the burden of supporting a new, desperately poor agricultural nation of 78 million.

Even the most optimistic observer could hardly look at the Asian continent today, with all its confusion, all its trouble, all its population and its underdevelopment, without feeling that of all the areas of the world it is now becoming the most dangerous.

Area Girl Named 'Outstanding Student' In Texas Tech

LUBBOCK Tex. — A woman has been named for the first time as "Outstanding Student" in Texas Tech's Department of Range and Wildlife Management.

She is Sharon Olson of Kenai, Alaska. She shares the 1971 honor with John "Steve" Harman of Perryton, Tex.

Outstanding students are selected by the faculty on the basis of academic record and their contribution to the university and the community.

As a result of their selection, the two were named to the Texas Tech delegation at the recent annual meeting of the Texas Section of the Society of Range Management, held in San Antonio.

Miss Olson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold N. Olson of Kenai, where her father, a chemical engineer, is plant manager for the Phillips Petroleum Co. facility. Following her graduation next year, she said, she hopes to work in government research or as a park ranger in Alaska.

Hannan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hannan Jr. His father is employed by Diamond Shamrock Oil Co. Hannan said he is considering graduate school and hopes to work in wildlife management as a wildlife biologist.

Representing the Tech Range and Wildlife Club at the meeting was Michael Leonard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Leonard Houston. His father is employed as a geophysicist for Humble Oil. Leonard said his major interest is in wildlife management, particularly in relation to big game and predators.

Christmas Notes

STONEWALL, Tex. (AP) — Eighteen children from a HeadStart school have decorated a Christmas tree with paper cutouts and popcorn chains at former President Lyndon B. Johnson's birthplace.

The decorations are the same type used when the Johnson family moved to this central Texas community in the early 1900s.

The tree was decorated for a Christmas celebration next Sunday at the white frame house where Johnson was born in 1908.

Nicolas Veloz Jr., acting superintendent of the LBJ birthplace, said National Park Service employees will pass out cookies to visitors Sunday at the birthplace and Johnson's boyhood home in Johnson City, 20 miles east of here.

Johnson, former Gov. and Mrs. Carl Sanders of Georgia and others watched as the children decorated the native cedar tree.

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — All Santas are created equal, according to the House Policy Committee. The committee had been presented with two rival resolutions, each wanting to name an official state Santa Claus. The politicians dodged the issue by congratulating both contenders and declining to establish any hierarchy.

Ying for top Santa were Leo Konwinski of Iron River and Kenneth Burden of Marshall. Both have been playing Santa Claus for more than 20 years. Konwinski has even grown his own beard.

"We're thanking the two gentlemen for their work in the two communities on the Santa Claus bit," said Committee Cochairman James E. O'Neil Jr. "But it would be a tragic mistake to designate one official Santa."

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel is ready for its biggest Christmas since capturing Bethlehem in 1967, the Tourism Ministry reported Tuesday.

As many as 35,000 visitors were expected before the end of the year, a tourism official predicted.

Female Agents Join Services

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Secret Service has its first female special agents to help guard presidents and defend the Constitution.

Five women, all college graduates in their 20s, were sworn in Wednesday and joined the 1,111 men who protect the president, vice president and their immediate families and guard the nation's currency against counterfeiters.

The agents' duties also include protection of major presidential candidates and visiting heads of state.

The women were trained in hand-to-hand combat, marksmanship, first aid, human relations, communications and search and seizure. They spent a year in the Executive Protective Service, a uniformed police force supervised by the Secret Service, which guards the White House and 117 foreign missions in Washington.

Secret Service Director James J. Rowley said the new special agents "will be expected to do everything the men do" and will receive equal pay.

The five women were identified as Laurie Anderson, 24, of Jersey City, N.J.; Sue Baker, 25, of Oak Ridge, Tenn.; Kathryn Clark, 24, of Salt Lake City, Utah; Holly Hufschmidt, 28, of Milwaukee, Wis.; and Phyllis Shantz, 25, of Rome, N.Y.

Santa Cruz Killer Sentenced To Die

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — John Linley Frazier has been ordered to die in the gas chamber by the jury that convicted him of killing five persons at a Santa Cruz hills mansion last year.

The 25-year-old former auto mechanic sat barefoot, impassively scanning the courtroom audience Wednesday as the verdict was read.

It took the eight-woman, four-man Superior Court jury just over five hours to decide on the death penalty over life imprisonment, which under state law were their only alternatives. Frazier had been convicted of first-degree murder.

Judge Charles S. Franich ordered Frazier to appear Dec. 30 for formal sentencing.

Frazier pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity to the Oct. 19, 1970 shooting deaths of wealthy eye surgeon Dr. Victor Ohta, 45; his wife Virginia, 43; and their sons Derrick, 12, and Taggart, 11; and Ohta's secretary, Dorothy Caldwell, 38.

The bodies were found in the family swimming pool by firemen responding to a fire at the mansion.

Scientists Trying To Convert Rays Of Sun Into Pollution-Free Energy

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — To solve a growing power crisis on earth, man is studying how to use orbiting satellites to convert the sun's rays into pollution-free electrical energy.

The Air Force, the space agency and some industrial concerns have looked into the possibility of placing a network of satellites in stationary orbits. The idea would be to have their banks of solar cells capture solar heat and transform it to electricity. Generators then would convert the electricity to microwaves, which would be beamed to an earth station for reconversion to electricity.

The studies show such a system could be developed in this country. It initially would be costly, but proponents say the eventual saving to the environment might make it worthwhile.

Peter E. Glaser of Arthur D. Little Inc., a leading research organization, said the world's supply of fossil fuel will be exhausted within a few centuries.

"This rapid exhaustion of our basic fuel can be readily understood when one considers that world demand for electrical power is doubling about once every decade," he said.

"At present, all efforts to meet the energy crisis are keyed to a single energy source— nuclear power—and to a single technology—the fast breeder reactor."

He claimed his approach is potentially harmful to the environment.

"The ecology of the earth simply may not be capable of sustaining or even tolerating the growth of power-generating capacity so long as power plants are based on the principles of thermodynamics and have to utilize the surface of the earth or its atmosphere as a heat sink or as a repository of its waste materials," he said.

That is why science is looking to the sun as a possible power source, Glaser reported.

Glaser said a stationary satellite orbiting 22,300 miles above the earth "would be exposed continually to the sun except near the spring or fall equinoxes when it would be eclipsed by the earth for a maximum of one hour, eight minutes.

Solar cells have been used for years to provide power for unmanned satellites and have lasted for as long as seven years.

Glaser said that at the present cost of about $1,000 for each pound of material carried into orbit, a network of such satellites would be very expensive.

The key to developing such a system, he said, would be the space shuttle, the reusable rocket plane which NASA is developing to operate like an airliner, making 100 or more trips into space before wearing out.

He said the price could come down as technology improves the system.

Australia To Purchase Texas-Made Warplanes

CANBERRA (AP) — Australia will go ahead with the purchase of 24 Texas-made F111 warplanes originally ordered eight years ago, Defense Minister David Fairbairn said Thursday.

The cabinet approved an extensive modification and refurbishment plan, which will start at General Dynamics in Fort Worth next April.

Fairbairn said Australia has so far paid $200 million of the $344 million cost of the fighter-bombers and expects to pay the balance before 1976. The planes now cost $44 million more than they would have done two years ago.

The first squadron is expected to reach Australia in 1973 and become operational towards the end of that year.

Bangla Desh Needs A Great Deal Of Help If It Is To Survive As A Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
India, victorious in East Pakistan, apparently intends to nurse a new-born nation, Bangla Desh, through a perilous infancy.
If it is to survive as a nation at all, Bangla is going to need a great deal of help.
With 78 million people, it will be the eighth-largest country in population in the world, but the 78 million are jammed into an area only as big as Arkansas, and they are almost all desperately poor.

Bangla Desh—meaning the Bengal nation—occupies a strategic area in the Asian subcontinent, astride the Bay of Bengal. Much of the country is a vast delta area whose fingers, poking into the bay, are formed by the mighty Ganges and the Bramaputra-Jamuna rivers.
It is a lush country, though a poverty-stricken one. It depends heavily on agriculture. It is, like much of Asia, subject to ancient calamities such as monsoon floods.

As East Pakistan in the 24 years of its association with the government in the West, the area did supply 55-65 per cent of all Pakistan's foreign exchange. One of its grievances was that the government kept the lion's share of this for development in the west.

The economy, however, relies principally on jute and burlap made of jute. This makes for a shaky outlook, since jute is gradually being displaced in world markets by synthetic substitutes.
The area's hopes lie in lively trade with its sponsor, India, plus, perhaps, massive aid from the Indians and the Russians. It will have big problems feeding the nation. On top of all its regular woes, it must receive millions of returning refugees and rebuild after the destruction of war.
Apart from economic problems, the new nation is bound to have political ones to overcome as a matter of survival. Maoist Communists are strong both in East Pakistan and in the surrounding Bengali areas of India. Red China calls the Bangla Desh provisional government a puppet, and is likely to give moral—if not material—support to whatever harassment the indigenous Maoists may undertake.
The war, the third fought between the two countries since Britain divided the subcontinent in 1947, grew out of the civil war in East Pakistan that followed Pakistani President Mohammed Yahya Khan's attempt to crush the independence movement in the province.

East Pakistanis have long complained of neglect by the central government in West Pakistan, which is dominated by Punjabis. The smaller, more populous East is predominantly Bengali, and its jute industry accounted for the major part of Pakistan's foreign exchange earnings. But West Pakistan got most of the benefits.

India had the upper hand both from a standpoint of numbers and geography. She was estimated to have more than a million men under arms compared to 392,000 for Pakistan and nearly 3-1 superiority in the air. And the 80,000 Pakistani troops in the East were cut off from the western half of the country by 1,000 miles of Indian territory.

Miss Harbert Recalls Days Spent In Communist China

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An attractive young woman who was a prisoner of the Chinese Communists for 3½ years said Thursday she was never charged with a crime.
Mary Ann Harbert, 25, of Palo Alto, Calif., said she was held in farmhouses in southern China, and never in a prison.
"I was threatened that if I didn't cooperate I would be sent to prison," she said in her first meeting with newsmen since she and Richard G. Fecteau, 43, Lynn, Mass., were released Monday in Hong Kong.

from Hong Kong to Manila, the Philippines," she said.
"Of course we had no intention of trespassing in Chinese waters. We thought we were sailing a legal course. The Chinese who captured us said we had intruded. We were outnumbered and so we agreed it was possible we were in Chinese waters. We don't know."
The Chinese reported that McLaughlin committed suicide in 1969.
Miss Harbert, an outgoing, gregarious type who showed no visible signs of her ordeal, smiled often during the 18-minute news conference, answering questions in a firm voice with a slight English accent.

She said she and McLaughlin were held in the same house, she upstairs and he downstairs, for the first nine months. She never saw him after that.
Asked if she was a spy, she replied:
"Oh, no! The Chinese government would never have released me or held me in detention if they thought I was a spy."

Both are undergoing medical tests at nearby Valley Forge General Hospital.
She said the Chinese "wanted me to obey the security rules and do what I was told. They wanted me to make anti-government statements. But I declined to make an anti-government statement or anything concerning my support of communism."
She said that "after a while they stopped pressing me about it and I was treated well."

Miss Harbert, who celebrates her 26th birthday two days after Christmas, was captured on a yacht off the Chinese mainland in April 1968 with her companion, Gerald Ross McLaughlin, also of Palo Alto.

Is her doctor kind or interested?

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am strongly attracted to my doctor. He is divorced and I am a widow. I have a hunch he feels something for me. He is very kind and gentle. He is also very ethical. He hasn't expressed any special interest in me, but he frequently brushes lint, or what have you off my clothes. Could this mean anything?

He seems concerned about my welfare in a professional way. He touches me a lot. Friendly gestures. On the arm, shoulder and hands. He listens to me attentively, however trivial my conversation.

Am I just lonely, or do you think this could develop into something more than just a doctor-patient relationship? And if so, how?

PATIENT

DEAR PATIENT: Since he is, as you say, "very ethical," you will have to find out outside his office. The next time you need an escort, invite him to do the honors. If your hunch is right, and he "feels something for you," the next move will be his. If your hunch is wrong, you haven't lost anything, and you've saved a lot of time.

DEAR ABBY: I am the secretary to an executive in a large and important firm, and as such, I telephone other businessmen in like positions. The purpose of this letter is to express amazement at the stupidity of some of the secretaries with whom I have spoken on the telephone.

Example: When I telephone and say, "Is Mr. Jones available?" Mr. Smith of X. Y. Z. Corp. is calling. "I have been told, 'One moment, please, I don't think he's come in yet.' [And this is at 11:15 a. m.]

Or: "Would you care to hold? He's on the other telephone with Mr. Schwartz." [It's nobody's business who he's on the phone with.]

Or: "He hasn't come back from lunch yet, but he won't be gone long. Nobody took him."

Or would you believe, "Just a minute. I think he's in the john."

Girls can be taught how to type and take shorthand, but I honestly believe they should be given a course in common sense. AMAZED IN NEWARK

DEAR ABBY: Please put this in the paper with your answer. Our next door neighbor gave us a Christmas gift a whole MONTH in advance. [She did the same thing last year.] Here we are, living right next door to her and she could have waited until at least two weeks before Christmas.

I have a theory about people who give gifts that far ahead of time. They want to give the recipients plenty of time in which to buy a gift for THEM. And of course, after they GET a gift, they are obligated to give one in return. Your comments, please. IRRITATED

DEAR IRRITATED: Your letter falls into the "You Can't Win" category. Your "theory" could be correct. It could also be incorrect. Many prefer to avoid the hassle of Christmas giving by sending gifts well in advance of the rush.

DEAR ABBY: Is it normal for a boy who is in the 8th grade to kiss his mother goodby every morning before he goes to school, and then wave a couple of times as he goes down the street?

I have two grown sons, and they stopped kissing me goodby in about the 2d grade. Sign me... WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: The boy's behavior in this one instance could suggest that he has a rather strong attachment to his mother. But that doesn't necessarily mean there is anything abnormal about it.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Swedish Smorgasbord Upsets Stomach, Purse

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Sweden has two first-class tourist traps: the blondes and the smorgasbord. The girls may upset your heart and the smorgasbord your stomach.

If you have not grown up with raw herring, pickled pig's feet, smoked reindeer and highly potent braennvin perhaps you better leave smorgasbord out at least.

If you have a well-lined stomach and purse this is the best time of the year to have a go at it. As the days grow darker and the cold bites his skin, the Swede tends to seek comfort at the smorgasbord. In restaurants and inns all over the country the Swedes are studying what comes to be known as the Christmas table.

Other countries have counterparts to the smorgasbord—Russia's "zakuski." France's "hors d'oeuvres varies." Denmark's "kolde bord"—but none of these can match the Swedish speciality.

The smorgasbord traces its origin to the aquavit buffet which was served in the 18th century as an introduction to a festive meal. It was set on a separate table and the guests standing before the taken were seated for the meal proper. Today's genuine smorgasbord consists of an iced section, a cold section and a hot section.

You start off with the "iced realm" where the herring is sovereign.

Here you'll find raw herring, salt herring, Baltic herring, cured pickled herring, fillets with sour cream, etc.

Then you proceed to smoked or boiled salmon and eel, anchovies, sardines, shrimps and a few colorful egg dishes.

Next come meat dishes like boiled ham, liver paste, sliced beef, pickled pig's feet, roasted spareribs.

Small warm dishes then loom on the horizon—meat balls, fried Vienna sausages, omelets.

If you still feel like it you may round off with a sweet or some fruit salad, cheese and coffee. The prevailing theory is to take aquavit with herring and boiled potatoes at the beginning of the meal. You drink it straight in a grand gulp after uttering the magic word skaal—a toast to good health.

Swedes have a way of sorting out smorgasbord beginners from smorgasbord veterans. A trainee rushes to the table and happily overloads his plate. A veteran pays several visits and puts only a few carefully selected delicacies on his plate each time.

Critics campaigning for healthier eating habits contend that smorgasbord is a dying institution in the Swedish culinary world. Swedish travelers pick up new food habits. A growing number of immigrants bring their own cuisines.

Your Horoscope

By Jeanne Dixon

SATURDAY, DEC. 18

Your birthday today: Healthy growth, normal give-and-take are the most probable characteristics of your coming year. Your enterprises include—at least one project with unsuspectedly high potential. Today's natives are sensitive to the finer nuances of social and political prestige.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: A full week-end is ahead and you're already apt to be over-committed, having promised to go more places than you can reach.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Making too much of a trivial episode comes all too easy. Each member of the family seems to have his own formula for the week-end.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Early starting gets you over the stiffer parts of the day in passable mood to enjoy the more sociable evening hours.

Cancer June 21-July 22]: Be a bit persnickety; if it's not exactly what you want, don't take it. You've made it this far with what you've got.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Many-sided deals get top heavy. Bringing in too many people very quickly upsets all arrangements. Be selective.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Whatever your public image may be, you could do some good for yourself today attending to the activities that create public image.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Treat the weekend as a holiday, whether you're on the move or not. It's a frame of mind more than movement or changes of scene. Of course, they help if you make them.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Your direct remarks reflect in places you don't expect, among people you needn't upset. Be quietly diplomatic.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Pursue romantic prospects gingerly, with care and discretion.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Hindrances, limitations remaining from another time are indicated for termination soon.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Resist the temptation of a hasty decision. Monday ought to be soon enough, particularly if it concerns a document or formal declaration.

Pisces Feb. 19-March 20]: The week-end promises normal life with no major problems and something going well for everybody.

Tops Group Plans Party

The Lotta Pounds Off Tops Club met recently in the Central Baptist Church with thirteen members present.

During the business session plans were made for the Christmas salad supper, to be held at 6:30 p.m. Monday in the home of Mrs. Frank Thomas. Weigh-in will be from 6:15 to 6:30 p.m.

Members were reminded to bring their secret pal gifts and a grab-bag gift.

Mrs. Gene Hinds, president, led the meeting. The fruit basket was awarded to Mrs. Elmer Williams and the pig went to Mrs. Gene Hinds. The "ha-ha" jar went to Mrs. Archie Chisum.

"Soul" Stuffing for Poultry

Combine packaged cornbread stuffing mix with roasted, coarsely chopped blanched almonds and cubed apples. Use bottled apple juice for part of the liquid.

Polly's Pointers

DEAR POLLY — About this time of year my mother is doing her Christmas baking and putting things away in the freezer to be ready for the holidays. Hungry kids used to eat a lot of it ahead of time, then when she wanted to serve something — the cupboard was bare. Last year mother came up with a new idea. She rinsed out one-quart milk containers and let them get perfectly dry. These were packed with cookies, the tops stapled and the contents marked on the outside. Little fingers were kept out and less freezing space was required. — N. N.

Polly's Problem DEAR POLLY — Please tell me the best way to preserve a new mahogany front door. Also, what is meant by a chemical garden? — RUNAR

DEAR POLLY — My "pettiest" Pet Peeve, and I have many of them, upsets me no end. It is infuriating to be driving and see a little old lady or man slowly walking along bent over or with a bag of groceries and maybe having to use a cane, too, and then actually have to run or certainly hasten his or her pace to get out of the way fast enough. My fury is directed at those hateful smart alecks who have blared on their horns right behind those elderly people and scared them out of their wits so they try to run for fear of being run over. I hope each and everyone of these uncaring, unfeeling people will be reminded of this in later years when they cannot get about so quickly. Some seem to delight in frightening these older ones. I am not aged in case you are wondering. I am 40 — MORRIS

DEAR POLLY — If the hinges on my eyeglasses become "frozen" from salt air or perspiration, I put a drop of machine oil on each hinge and work it gently back and forth. This saves me costly breakage. — MRS. C. E. J.

Why wrap garbage for Christmas?

Ask Santa to wrap an IN-SINK-ERATOR garbage disposer instead.

After the big Christmas meal (not to mention the other 1094 meals a year), all that's left is a lot of garbage to wrap and scrap. So why not get out of the garbage-wrapping for good? A stainless steel In-Sink-Erator disposer whisks any kind of food waste right down the drain.

And no other disposer is so trouble free. In-Sink-Erator will give you a holiday from garbage for many Christmases to come.

God Good Is Science Study For Sunday

What is the source of all that is good in nature and man? This is a question to be considered at Christian Science churches Sunday in a Bible Lesson-Sermon entitled "Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?"

The earth is full of the goodness of the Lord," a Scriptural passage to be read from Psalms states.

Opening the commentary from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is this citation: "In the Saxon and twenty other tongues 'good' is the term for God. The Scriptures declare all that He made to be good, like Himself. — GOOD IN Principle and in idea.

Therefore the spiritual universe is good, and reflects God as He is."

The First Church of Christ Scientist is located at 901 N. Frost St.

Visitor, Yule Play Set At Church Of God

A former Pampan the Rev. Robert Huff, now of Springfield, Mo., will speak at the morning worship service Sunday at the Pampa Church of God.

Rev. Huff is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Huff, 616 Doucette.

At 6 p.m. Sunday, a special Christmas play will be presented as a part of the congregation's observance of the season.

The public is invited to both these services. The Church of God is located at the corner of Gwendolyn and Zimmer streets.

Deacon Dinner Served

The Rev. Bill Foil was the guest speaker at the annual banquet for deacons of First Baptist Church. In attendance were members of the active board, other ordained deacons and guests.

Rev. Foil, pastor, First Baptist Church, Canyon, had served Rev. Dan Cameron as music and education director at a Berger church before he (Foil) entered the ministry of preaching.

Maurice Newton, chairman of the deacon board for the past year, was master of ceremonies. He was presented a bible by his pastor, Rev. Cameron and, in turn, made such a presentation.

Music was provided by a group of young people of the church directed by David Campbell, ministry of music. Sunday, Rev. Cameron will preach at morning Worship from the book of Acts a sermon entitled, "The First Martyr."

The Pampa High School Concert Choir, under the direction of Larry Sherwood, will sing the call to worship, "Angels We Have Heard on High," the choral worship numbers, "Ah Bleak and Chill the Winter Wind," "Hodie Christus Natus Est," and "While By Our Sleeping Flock We Lay," a 17th Century German Melody, Miss Eloise Lane, organist, has selected "When Christmas Morn Is Breaking" for the offertory.

At the Evening Worship service the graded choirs will present the Christmas music program. The sanctuary choir will close the service singing the Cantata, "A Carol of Christmas" by Peterson. The offertory will be a piano and organ duet by Miss Eloise Lane and Mrs. David Campbell. Their selection is "The Carol of Bethlehem" by Lorens.

Activities for the week include visitation Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. for the ladies and at 7 p.m. for the men. Wednesday evening activities begin at 5:30 with the Fellowship Supper and is followed by Prayer Meeting.

The annual Lutheran Women's Missionary League Christmas Party, for members and husbands, sponsored by the Officers, will be held at 6 p.m. Sunday, in the "Flame Room" at Pioneer Natural Gas building.

The traditional Children's and Youth Christmas Service will be presented Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the church sanctuary. The theme will be, "Joy, Unending Joy." The final rehearsal for the service, directed by Mrs. Bruce Riehart, will be Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

The Zion Lutheran Men's Club meets Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Pageantry In Costume Is Planned

"Wonderful Story of Love" is the title of the Christmas program to be presented at the Four Square Gospel Church at 7:30 Friday night.

A colorful presentation depicting people of various nations in native costume coming to worship the universal Savior, Jesus of Nazareth, Christ the Lord, the production will feature the children and young people of the church. It will be under the direction of Mrs. D. D. (Carol) Baumann.

The church orchestra will present a number as an overture, then the choir will sing as each scene unfolds. Mrs. Baumann will play piano accompaniment.

This special program of the season will be open to the public. At the close a "free will" offering for missions will be received in honor of the birth of Christ. Then there will be a Christmas tree treat for the children.

Rev. and Mrs. S. W. Godwin are co-pastors of the church.

"Peace" Is Topic By Rev. Hager

The Rev. Martin Hager, pastor of First Presbyterian Church will preach at both worship services (8:30 and 11:00 a.m.) Sunday. His sermon topic will be "Peace" from Hebrews 10:5-10.

Assisting with both worship services will be Ruling Elder Wayne Hampton.

At 11 a.m., the chancel choir will present the special anthem. The choir is under the direction of Mrs. Carol Mackey and church organist is Donnie Jones.

There will be a congregational meeting Sunday at 9:15 a.m. in the Sanctuary. The purpose of the meeting is to approve the budget for 1972.

At 4 p.m. Sunday in the West Room, Rev. Hager will continue the training sessions for the newly elected officers. At 6 p.m. Dec. 24, the church will have the annual Candlelight Service. The public is cordially invited to attend.

I'M DREAMING OF A RIGHT CHRISTMAS

TEXT: MATT. 1:21

INTRODUCTION: What does Christmas mean to you? To some people it means hard work. To some people Christmas means a visit home. To some, Christmas means revelry. They talk about Christmas liquor, they connect whiskey with the blessed Name of the Saviour. But Christmas means everything to the real Christian. It means that God has given him the best Christmas gift that even God could give. Now, if we are to have a "right Christmas," certain things must be placed in that Christmas. Let us follow the Gospel story and see what a "Right Christmas" includes.

I. A RIGHT CHRISTMAS INCLUDES MAKING ROOM FOR JESUS. When Mary and Joseph came to the inn, the inn-keeper said, "We have no room for you." Oh, he was the man who missed Christmas and all of its meaning! So today if you say, "I have no room for Jesus," if your heart and life are filled with other things, you miss everything good.

II. A RIGHT CHRISTMAS INCLUDES WORSHIP. When Jesus was born a wonderful miracle of nature took place. The heavens opened up and an angel came down to speak to a group of shepherds on the Judean hill. "Unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. You will find Him wrapped in swaddling clothes, and lying in a manger." The shepherds went to town, found the baby and knelt down and worshipped Him. If you are to have a right Christmas, you must come and worship Him also.

III. A RIGHT CHRISTMAS INCLUDES THE GRACE OF GIVING. Here we see the wise men coming to bring their gifts to Jesus. And what were the gifts? They brought gold, frankincense and myrrh. Each gift was a gift of value. Are we giving ourselves? Are we giving our time and our talents and our money to Him.

CHRISTMAS INCLUDES THE MATTER OF TELLING OTHERS ABOUT JESUS. For our picture here, we look up and listen to the angel. The long night of waiting is over, the angel has brought the gladdest and sweetest message the world over heard. In fact, the world has never been the same since then. But men are still in the darkness of sin. They need Jesus.

CONCLUSION: Let us do these four things, let us make room for Jesus in our hearts and lives; let us bow down and worship Him; let us bring our gifts unto Him; let us tell others the sweet old story of Jesus and His love.

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

The 'Big Statistic'

"Tain't what we don't know that hurts us so much," said 19th-century humorist Artemus Ward. "It's what we know that ain't so."

The words were never more apt than in this day when we toss around figures in the millions and billions, whether dollars, populations or distances to planets, as if we know what we were talking about. And like Hitler's "big lie," the bigger the statistic we use, the more likely that people will believe it.

Tell someone that highways are paving over the country at the rate of one million acres a year, as the Sierra Club tells us, and he'll not dispute you. After all, it's obvious, we see it going on all around us. We "know" it's true.

The fact is: Most road building in the past half-century has been in improvements to existing roads, not building new ones.

In 1916, the United States had nearly 3 million miles of roads and streets. Today while population has doubled and the number of motor vehicles has increased 30-fold, road mileage has increased less than one-fourth to a total of 3.7 million miles.

Even at the high rate of building since the Interstate system began in 1959-120 square miles a year-it would take 25,000 years to pave over the country.

Another often-heard example is the claim that 750,000 Americans have been killed by firearms since the turn of the century.

This wholly unsubstantiated statistic seems to have originated in the mind of the author of an antigun book, and a log of well-meaning people have taken it from there.

The fact is: Nobody knows how many people have been killed by firearms since even as recently as 1960 because the FBI did not begin compiling data until 1961. Only very limited and incomplete figures exist for the years back to 1910, and they do not always distinguish between handguns and long guns, between deaths due to firearms and deaths due to explosives or between homicides and accidents.

Somewhat smaller, but still impressive, is the statistic of 700,000 children allegedly injured by toys every year. This oft-repeated charge originated in a staff report of the National Commission on Product Safety in June, 1970.

The fact is: The figure is a sheer "projection"-that is, a guesstimate-based on an assumption that toys cause 3.5 per cent of all household accidents.

But no one really knows the number of accidents connected with toys, both because no one has ever counted them and because it is not always easy to attribute the cause of an accident.

If a child carrying a toy falls down a flight of steps and is injured by the toy, did the toy really cause the injury?

There definitely are dangerous toys, and government and responsible manufacturers are trying to eliminate them. But nothing is helped by throwing around alarming and meaningless figures.

A different kind of statistic is the one that is true enough as far as it goes, but some people go too far with it-for instance, the lamentable that the United States ranks something like 15th among industrial nations in infant mortality, behind such nations as Sweden, Norway, Finland and Switzerland.

Can the United States, with 200 million people, with its large minority groups, its big cities and vast farmlands, its slums, its Appalachia, its diverse climate, be compared with a country like Switzerland?

But it is, if a statistic is needed to prove a point or grind an ax.

No 'tain't what we know that hurts us so much. It's what we know that just ain't so.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Independence Hall in Philadelphia is where the Declaration of Independence was adopted in 1776, and the Constitution was framed in 1787. The World Almanac says George Washington accepted command of the Continental Army at Independence Hall in June, 1775, and the Articles of Confederation and Perpetual Union were signed there in 1778.

Nixon-Kennedy Race Would Be Real Ugly

BY PAUL HARVEY

So, Sen. Edward Kennedy has said again that he is not aiming at the Presidency. His actions to the contrary are drowning him out. His world travel, public proclamations and his mother's memoirs are all timed to take advantage of a potential Democratic National Convention deadlock.

A Nixon-Kennedy face-off would polarize our population as no election ever has before, inevitably it would be real ugly.

Question Box

QUESTION: Is there any way that we employers (tax payers) can limit senators and congressmen to two terms in office and change the law to provide a four-year term for members of the house? Also vote for or against their pay increases? J.D.

ANSWER: Short of a constitutional amendment, we know of no way to establish such a limit or to gain control of the salaries of the members of Congress. If there were enough interest in enough states, it is conceivable that the required 36 state legislatures could pass resolutions to demand a constitutional convention for the purpose. While it has never been done, such action is possible, if enough people would become aroused. However, it would take a vast uprising to bring about such a reform, since too many people seem to believe elected politicians become something special when they get into office.

There is no provision in the Constitution for limitation on terms of office of other than the President, nor is there provision for a direct vote on the payment of officials. The result has been that a special class of persons has been established: those in government, who are answerable only to themselves. And the trend is growing worse, as even the state legislators and county supervisors now are able to fix their own salaries.

The News has occasionally suggested that politicians would be less harmful to the people if they were limited to no more than eight years in office. One city councilman told the editor a few years ago that eight years was about as long as any human could stay in office and not be ruined.

WIT AND WHIMSY

Let a smile be your umbrella if you're partial to pneumonia.

At the local seafood palace, more than the oysters are stewed these holiday evenings.

In some countries, right now, they're busy making their New Year's resolutions.

Seeing in the New Year is what many of us won't be able to do by the time midnight arrives.

Historically, politicians have been able to flatter the home folks at every whistle stop, whatever the contradictions.

Since nationwide news media, expedient contradictions are less convenient but Sen. Kennedy is desperate.

His public relations army sees to it that he gets quoted on everything, whatever the contradictions.

Last July 19 on the floor of Congress Sen. Kennedy applauded the President's proposed trip to Peking as "a magnificent gesture," had said, "President Nixon will carry the prayers of every citizen with him to Peking and the cause of peace will be richer."

Eight weeks later that same Sen. Kennedy told POW relatives that the President's trip is a "smoke screen." He said, "While he is over there in Peking, your husbands and sons are rotting."

Significantly, Sen. Kennedy had demonstrated little interest in the POW situation theretofore. For five years he has been one of the few senators refusing to sign group letters calling for release of the prisoners or for assurances of their humane treatment.

The head of the POW organization in his home state of Massachusetts criticized his do-nothing approach.

But now, with another election year dawning - with some polls showing increasing Kennedy popularity among younger voters - the professional image-makers on his staff are prettying up their product.

If he gets the nomination, there'll be nothing pretty about the campaign.

The nomination would go to Kennedy only over the deadlocked bodies of the party's Old Guard. The subsequent Kennedy campaign would be geared to an all-out mobilization of minorities and school-agers.

All the contrived "tricky-Dick" slogans and worse would be pyramided toward a calculated crescendo thus to try with slurs and sneers to overwhelm the public recollection of Kennedy contradictions: Kennedy offers to "crawl before Communists," Kennedy "dating" other women in Paris - and Chappaquiddick.

Democrat regulars don't want that kind of a campaign.

Democrats with personal intentions in the same direction are trying to ignore Sen. Kennedy, except Sen. Hubert Humphrey. Aware there's a political swiner warming up in the bullpen, Humphrey has sought to shush him now and then with some mild paternal remonstrance.

Unofficially, President Nixon is to have said that of all the present contenders Kennedy would be "easiest to beat." Perhaps.

But, inevitably, it would be a muddy, bloody, dreadfully divisive fight.

Your Health

BY LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.

Why are sugars and starches able to trigger an attack of hypoglycemia (low blood sugar)? Almost anyone who has had attacks of weakness, sweating and nervousness associated with these attacks learns this is true.

One factor is the influence different foods have on emptying the stomach. Carbohydrates alone are kept in the stomach only a short time and then expelled into the small intestine for digestion. Proteins are kept in the stomach longer and fat in the meal will delay emptying of the stomach several hours. Fluids taken on an empty stomach several hours, the stomach with hardly a pause. Roughage and other solids stay in the stomach until they can be acted upon by the stomach's acid-pepsin juice and the churning action of the stomach.

When food is emptied rapidly into the small intestine, it may overload its capacity. The extreme form of this is seen in the "dumping syndrome," which occurs in people who have had part of their stomach removed, usually to treat an ulcer. The food in the intestine draws fluid from the blood-stream into the intestine and acts somewhat like a laxative. When large amounts of sweets are in the fluid, sugar (glucose) is absorbed into the bloodstream and causes a rapid rise in the blood sugar. This causes the body to pour out insulin to clear the blood of excess sugar and a rebound phase of low blood sugar or hypoglycemia follows.

A person who is subject to the common mild form of hypoglycemia often has a variant of this problem. When they eat sugars or starches without roughage, these are emptied rapidly into the small intestine and the whole problem begins. However, if the same person includes in the meal some protein, fat and roughage (such as salads and many vegetables) the emptying of the stomach will be delayed and will occur gradually. The intestine is not suddenly overloaded and the sudden absorption of large amounts of sugar or glucose from the intestine does not occur. This, then, is a major reason for eating meals containing limited amounts of sweets and sugars.

Since fluids move rapidly through the stomach, drinking sweetened drinks, particularly on an empty stomach is a real no-no for people who have attacks of low blood sugar. An example of a meal that will cause real problems is hotcakes with syrup for breakfast and hot coffee with lots of sugar. Not long afterward the victim will have an attack.

Please send your questions and comments to Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D. in care of this paper. While Dr. Lamb cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future.

Inside Washington

Colleagues in Inconsistency: Ted and Battling Bella Abzug
By ROBERTS ALLEN

WASHINGTON-Consistency may be a jewel, but it's an exceptional commodity among most politicians-particularly the self-righteous radical-liberal variety.

Two clangorous examples of such artful rectitude are Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., and Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y.

Whether due to unctuous fervor, pious self-delusion or sanctimonious opportunism and demagoguery, they seem utterly impervious to reason and logic in espousing some militant cause or policy. They glibly and blandly pursue directly divergent courses without blinking a hair.

They appear to have no awareness of crass inconsistency in lilytally castigating something or other, and in the next breath fervently advocating the very same thing.

While Kennedy and Mrs. Abzug differ widely in origin, background and social and economic status, they are like peas in a pod in artful high-mindedness.

Example: High on Sen. Kennedy's crusading list is scathing denunciation of the Vietnam war and vehement demand for the speedy withdrawal of U.S. combat forces. Carefully never mentioned by him is that his late brother, President Kennedy, was largely responsible for embroiling the U.S. in this tragically costly conflict.

When JFK took office in January 1961, there were less than 1,000 U.S. officers and noncoms in Vietnam acting solely as instructors and advisers. When he was killed in November 1963, there were more than 20,000 U.S. combat troops there, and thousands more were being readied to be sent there. Teddy Kennedy somehow is utterly oblivious to this historic fact.

Instead, he virtuously declaims frequently and rancorously about meddling in Vietnamese affairs, the sinfulness of doing that and the moral obligation to stop it forthwith.

As unctuously proclaimed by Teddy, intervening in Vietnam to save millions from Communist enslavement is immoral, unethical, sinful, etc. etc. We should keep out of the affairs of other peoples and countries, and firmly and sternly mind our own business.

A very sound principle, indeed! But having sanctimoniously preached it, Teddy turned right around and haughtily stuck his nose into Irish affairs.

With strident rectitude and indignation, he excoriated the British government for using troops in Northern Ireland to suppress rank murder, savage terrorism and ferocious brutality in the fratricidal religious warring that is of centuries duration.

Why Kennedy, a leading U.S. Senator and covert Presidential candidate, should feel impelled to stick his nose into Northern Ireland's agonizing tragedy is a moot question. Not only was his unwarranted meddling grossly inconsistent with his pious strictures against U.S. meddling in Vietnam, but it was outright irresponsible statesmanship and crass hypocrisy.

The only conceivable explanation for this shockingly outrageous conduct is that it is "good politics" in his home state-with a preponderant Irish constituency.

The Kennedys are noted for the facility and ease with which they rise above principle.

Example: Like Teddy, Mrs. Abzug never passes up an opportunity to harangue and fulminate against the Vietnam war. It's her favorite tub-thumping issue and political modus operandi.

If she had her way, U.S. troops would be withdrawn in toto at once.

More than that, U.S. "meddling" would be peremptorily and mandatorily ended throughout Asia-and sundry other areas.

But flatly and emphatically NOT in one-the Middle East!

There Mrs. Abzug is just as fervently and vehemently for U.S. meddling in behalf of Israel as she is raucously against it in Vietnam and elsewhere.

There isn't the slightest indication she is aware of any inconsistency in this. If by remote chance that may have occurred to her, it certainly isn't troubling her-or deterring her from loudly and belliciously continuing to advocate the two directly divergent courses.

In one regard, Mrs. Abzug is consistent.

She is a truculent dove about getting out of Vietnam, and an equally truculent hawk about the U.S. going all-out to support Israel. She is bothastomically pugacious on both standards.

She is also the same way about denouncing the Pentagon and so-called "military-industrial complex"-favorite ideological scapegoat of radicals, Communists, New Lefters and sundry other whirling dervish elements.

That Israel is virtually totally dependent on U.S. armaments for survival seems to be of no moment to Mrs. Abzug. When it is pointed out to her, she indifferently shrugs her chunky shoulders and snaps, "So what"-a revealing commentary on her intelligence, logic and sincerity.

Only an ignoramus or a demagogue would fail to see the direct and inescapable relation between this country's capacity to develop ultra-modern weapons and Israel's continued existence.

for antique cars and car fanciers may well be a place called Brighton in England where the world's most celebrated classic car rally annually climaxes a 53-mile run down from London, a road test that the veteran vehicles pass with flying colors—usually. On hand this year were a 1903 French-built one-cylinder De Dion Bouton with fringe on top, right; an 1898 Stephens, below left, and a 1900 Milwaukee (you guessed it) Steamer, below right.

Television And Radio News

NEW YORK (AP) — Rod Serling, with help from Edward G. Robinson and some other good actors, turned out a fine holiday fantasy on Wednesday night's "Night Gallery."

"Messiah on Mott Street" was a story combining Christmas and Chanukah, about a penniless and sick old Jew who is fighting to stay alive for the sake of his beloved little grandson, an orphan. He defied his doctor and then the angel of death, telling his grandson that the shadow the boy saw was the Messiah visiting to bring good news.

The story, essentially a fable about love and good will, was climaxed by a miracle.

The fascinating aspect of NBC's "Columbo" segment of "Mystery Movie" is the format that lets the viewer in on the crime and the identity of the criminal at the outset. The fun is watching dogged, apologetic Lt. Columbo as he pulls together the clues leading to his solution.

Peter Falk, working in his usual devious way Wednesday night, made some clever deductions as he solved the murder.

With all the detectives and investigators floating around network channels, it might seem that producing and selling a mystery series would be a fairly simple project. It's not. This Friday night NBC's "World Premiere" film will be "They Call It Murder," a series pilot using the late Erle Stanley Gardner's character, district attorney Doug Selby, as the leading character.

Producer Cornwell Jackson and his wife, former actress Gail Patrick, have been working on a Doug Selby series since the days when another Gardner project, "Perry Mason" was in its network heyday—more than six years.

Although the networks have yet to launch their mid-season replacements, the 1971-72 TV season is behind as far as the programming staffs are concerned: they are concentrating on next September's shows. To nobody's surprise, ABC has already renewed "The F.B.I." for another season and CBS has signed Lucille Ball for her 21st season.

Other almost perfunctory renewals will be announced, one by one—pick the names of the shows right off the top two-thirds of the Nielsen list.

BINGO IS ILLEGAL
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The state's highest court, the Court of Appeals, has ruled that bingo—whether for charity or anything else—is a form of lottery and therefore illegal under Kentucky's constitution. The 1970 General Assembly had legalized bingo for charity in certain counties.

Armed Man On Bus Subdued

DALLAS (AP) — Gunfire erupted for the third time in a month late Wednesday in confrontations of city bus drivers and armed men.

A man threatened driver E. R. Sigler with a gun following a fare dispute late Wednesday. Sigler said the man pulled a .32-caliber pistol and ordered him and all passengers off the vehicle.

Outside the bus, just as the gunman alighted, ex-paratrooper Shelton Mayfield and former detective D. L. Hamer grabbed the man and wrestled him to the ground. The gun discharged harmlessly in the fight. Hamer and Mayfield were motorists attracted to the incident when they saw the passengers alighting.

A 17-year-old woman was wounded Thanksgiving day during an argument between a driver and a 75-year-old man. Less than two weeks later, a 32-year-old man was wounded by a driver after threatening the driver with a knife.

PLENTY OF PARKING

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Officials of the new Dallas-Fort Worth Airport which will open in mid-1973 are doing their best to prevent parking problems.

More than 17,000 spaces will be available compared to 9,000 at Dallas' Love Field.

Freed Man Tells Of Lonely Years

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Standing erect in front of a Christmas tree, hands clasped, his voice low and often inaudible, Richard Fecteau told of the lonely 19 years he spent in a Communist Chinese prison.

"I was alone so long," Fecteau said Wednesday. "Because of this, the 43-year-old Fecteau said he now found it difficult to meet and speak with people."

Fecteau, an Army civilian employee who spent half of his 19 years imprisonment in solitary, held his first meeting with newsmen since he and Mary Ann Harbert were released Monday in Hong Kong.

Miss Harbert, 25, of Palo Alto, Calif., who spent more than three years in prison in China and had been given up for dead by her parents, said she would speak with newsmen today.

Previously she posed for photographs but had refused to answer questions. But Polly Harbert, her mother, said that during a tearful telephone conversation Wednesday that Mary Ann said she wants some new dresses, but absolutely no slacks.

"I guess she's been wearing pants in China. Wouldn't you assume that?" Miss Harbert and Fecteau both are awaiting final results of medical tests at nearby Valley Forge Medical Center and Hospital where they were taken Tuesday on their arrival on the U.S. mainland after a 27-hour flight from Hong Kong.

A doctor said they appeared somewhat fatigued but "otherwise essentially normal," although Miss Harbert, who weighs 97 pounds, "appears somewhat thin."

The doctor said both had experienced eye trouble during their confinement that was diagnosed by Chinese doctors as trachoma, an infectious disease attributable to poor sanitary conditions.

Worry Clinic

By - GEORGE W. CRANE, PH. D., M. D.

Notice how Bishop Quayle fooled the formal reception committee at the railroad station! This same desire to worship "Sacred Cows" and "Kowtow to Kings" afflicts many human beings, especially among college faculties and Washington bureaucrats.

CASE S-547: Bishop Quayle was one of the great orators of the Methodist Church at the start of this century.

He was scheduled for a large audience where admission tickets had been sold at 50 cents apiece, which was then a high price.

A formal reception committee met the train. These were dignified men in long tailed formal clothes and silk top hats.

They apparently assumed the Bishop was to be similarly arrayed, since he was such a famous national figure.

But the Bishop was dressed in a plain business suit, so when he saw the official greeters waiting to escort him, he tactfully merged with the crowd.

Since his address was scheduled for 8 o'clock that evening, he wandered around the town, sightseeing.

Then he entered a little grocery store, bought himself some cheese and crackers, and headed for the nearby river.

He sat down on the mossy bank to devour his food, alone.

About 7:30 P.M., he headed for the big auditorium and even paid 50 cents for a ticket of admission.

Then he went down front and took a seat with the crowd.

At 8 P.M., the Program Chairman started to apologize to the audience.

"We regret to inform you," he began, "that Bishop Quayle isn't here tonight so

At which point, the Bishop stood up and called out that he was present and ready to deliver his address!

It was a superb oration, as usual, for he knew how to produce the verbal merchandise, even if he wasn't attired in evening clothes.

Maybe his reception committee were a little bit miffed at not having had the honor of escorting him from the train to a dinner party of local notables.

But Bishop Quayle was not overly impressed by pomp and ceremony!

But Bishop Quayle was not overly impressed by pomp and ceremony!

However, we have an intellectual caste system in America that tends to downgrade ideas if they aren't couched in polysyllables and uttered by a man with many college degrees.

"So you should then add a 2-minute peroration in which you employ elegant style, polysyllables and grand gestures, which will duly impress the campus snobs.

Houston Authorities Planning Deep Sea Port On Galveston

HOUSTON (AP)—The Port of Houston Authority announced plans Wednesday for a $19 million deep seaport on Galveston Bay to be completed by 1973.

A port spokesman said work would begin before the end of the year on the 36-foot deep channel and large turning basin at Bayport.

Port officials said the project is being financed without tax funds. Revenue bonds will be issued by the port authority and later purchased by Humble Oil and Refining Co. which is providing the thrust of the money for the project.

The port is part of a 720-acre site donated by Humble in 1964. It lies adjacent to the 8,750 acre Bayport industrial development where 14 companies have plants in operation.

When expanded the channel will extend about 1.8 miles inland.

A spokesman for Humble said the new complex would handle mostly hydrocarbon products and would not compete in any way with the Port of Houston.

The port will have the option to develop up to 290 acres of waterfront property at Bayport for general or containerized cargo.

Under an agreement between the port and company representatives, the Port of Houston will own a completely debt-free deep sea port with a value of about $22 million by the year 2013.

The inland portion of the Bayport ship channel and the turning basin will cost about $19 million of which $14 million will come from revenue bonds. Humble is putting up $4.5 million in cash for the project.

EPA Plans Water Pollution Controls

By STAN BENJAMIN, Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Environmental Protection Agency plans to require basic treatment of virtually all industrial discharges into U.S. waterways, even where states don't demand it.

EPA general counsel John Quarles Jr. says EPA's 10 regional administrators are being directed to apply a minimum requirement of "secondary treatment or its equivalent" to all permits for industrial-waste discharges into navigable waters.

More-stringent controls are to be imposed where required to meet state water-quality standards, he said in an interview.

Quarles said the directive "reaffirms and clarifies" existing policy which was spelled out in writing before.

The "clarification," however, marks the first open establishment by EPA of a nationwide industrial-treatment standard.

Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus said last April that "the federal government is responsible for establishing minimum national requirements and supervising state activities."

At that time, EPA had contracted out development of what it hoped would be specific guidelines for water-pollution controls on some 20 major industrial categories.

By July, however, Ruckelshaus concluded that mandatory guidelines were not practical.

Regional administrators responsible for writing antipollution terms into federal permits required for industrial discharges, were directed only to use their best professional judgment.

To answer any questions about the policy, Quarles said, he was sending a new memo to the regional administrators, making it clear that:

—EPA will require each industrial plant subject to a permit to achieve at least a minimum level of pollution control; thus, there may not be any notreatment permits.

—The permits must specify discharge limitations and timetables for achieving them.

—Exact requirements must be determined case by case, but the general standard will be "secondary treatment or its equivalent," that is, treatment roughly equivalent to that given municipal wastes.

—The minimum requirement includes plants located on either intrastate or interstate waterways, including waters for which no state standards have been adopted.

—The federal minimum standard applies even where a lower treatment level might satisfy existing state standards.

—Where serious pollution exists, more-stringent controls must be applied if necessary to achieve applicable water quality standards.

New York state residents consider pollution the most serious problem facing their communities.
