Over 2,500 Die In Tidal Wave

Senate Unit Deliberates Fate Of Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate Foreign Relations Committee confers today amid the ruins of a U.S. foreign aid program to start deciding whether, when and how to put it back together.

Committee chairman Sen. J.W. Fulbright predicted Senate approval of a stopgap aid program, although he said the committee may do no more than discuss the alternatives today.

President Nixon let it be known he wants temporary extension of a coordinated aid bill while he drafts a new assistance program.

Senate Republican leader

Hugh Scott also urged passage of an interim program and called on Congress to develop a new bill "to keep the peace." He said he supports temporary extension of aid at existing levels.

The prospect was that major portions of the program would indeed be salvaged despite the Senate vote that killed a bill authorizing $2.9 billion to keep overseas assistance flowing.

Exactly how was another question, and Senate sources said that would take some time to settle. There isn't much available since the resolution under which the aid program and the agency that runs it are financed will expire in 15 days.

The White House said Sunday that Nixon rejects the idea of piecemeal appropriations for one or another of the aid programs included in the defeated bill. Nixon and a key White House lobbyist, William Timmons, conferred during the weekend on strategy for persuading the Senate to temporarily extend the aid.

More GIs Leaving Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) - Thirteen more U.S. Army units totaling 1,335 men were phased out of combat today, prior to withdrawal from Vietnam, and the U.S. Command said American troop strength in the country was reduced to 196,700 men last week.

Informed sources disclosed that Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird is bringing to Saigon Wednesday a broad outline of President Nixon's plan to speed up the disengagement of U.S. ground forces from the war.

The sources speculated that the Nixon administration is thinking in terms of a residual force of 40,000 to 50,000 troops, and perhaps less, by July 1.

Laird will spend three days in Saigon meeting with U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker Gen. Crighton W. Abrams, the commander of American forces in Vietnam, President Nguyen Van Thieu and other Vietnamese officials.

The troop strength figure of 196,700 men, the lowest since January 1966, does not include the 1,335 phased out today nor another 2,890 which the U.S. Command announced had been moved out of combat zones in connection with the deactivation Sunday of the Americal Division. Deactivation of the Americal leaves only one full U.S. combat division in Vietnam, compared to the equivalent of 11 1/3 divisions at the peak of the war.

Today the Saigon government observed South Vietnam's National Day with prayers for peace and tributes to the 135,000 government troops killed in action since 1960. The holiday, eighth anniversary of the overthrow of President Ngo Dinh Diem, was designated a day of prayers for peace.

American forces were on a special alert in anticipation of enemy attacks during the holiday and the inauguration of President Nguyen Van Thieu Sunday. But the battlefields were reported quiet, and it was disclosed that U.S. air strikes are at their lowest level this year.

Informed sources said Air Force fighter bombers averaged only 10 missions per day last week, compared to more than double that number the week before. B-52 bombers have flown only two missions in South Vietnam in the past nine days, the sources said.

"The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong are just attacking, they're not moving," said one source. "We attack targets, and thus (drop in air strikes) reflects a lack of targets. The enemy is not doing much. The over-all level of activity speaks for itself."

LOCAL WOMAN DIES IN U.S. 60 CRASH - A retired nurse was alone in this sedan traveling west when it veered across the opposite lane and burned itself beneath a diesel semi rig eastbound Mrs. Lovie Melton Fry was pronounced dead at the scene. A highway department truck had to be summoned to cover spilled diesel fuel and motor oil on the highway. The accident occurred about a mile from the scene of a mishap that killed three men three weeks ago.

Pampa Woman Perishes In Car-Truck Collision

A stretch of U.S. 60 west of White Deer for years offering no undue hazard, claimed its fourth victim in as many weeks at 8:15 a.m. Sunday.

A late model sedan driven west by a retired Pampa nurse, Mrs. Lovie Melton Fry, 64, 625 Hobart, veered across the opposite lane of traffic and burned itself beneath the front end of an oncoming diesel trailer truck. The driver of that vehicle reported seeing the woman slump at the wheel and had pulled off the pavement in an effort to avoid the crash.

The truck, driven by Bennie Mack Weedle, 1112 Varmon Drive, belonged to a Clovis firm and was used to haul offal from a local slaughter house to a Clovis processing plant.

An autopsy was ordered for Mrs. Fry by Justice of the Peace C.H. Bell, Panhandle, who pronounced her dead at the scene.

Ray Finstead and Truman Richey, of the Texas Department of Public Safety, investigated the accident. It occurred about a mile from the scene of a crash three weeks ago that claimed the lives of three men.

Funeral services for Mrs. Fry are scheduled for 10 a.m. Tuesday at Carmichael Whitley Colonial Chapel with the Rev. Vernon Willard pastor, First United Methodist Church, Miami, officiating.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Inez Branscum and Mrs. Eudell Burnett, Pampa, a brother, B.A. Melton, Melrose, N.M., a sister, Mrs. Ruth McCollum, Dallas, and two grandchildren.

Mrs. Fry had lived in Pampa since 1928. She had worked as a nurse for a number of years at Highland General Hospital before her retirement in 1965.

She was a member of First Methodist Church.

Scotland Yard On Full Alert

LONDON (AP) - Scotland Yard ordered a full emergency alert today and posted police guards on public buildings throughout Britain following two mysterious bomb explosions in London.

One bomb early today blasted the headquarters of the Royal Tank Regiment a quarter of a mile from the houses of parliament. Twenty-one hours earlier another rapped a hole in the 31st floor of the Post Office Tower, the tallest building in Britain.

At first the explosions were believed to be the work of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, which has threatened to extend to Britain its guerrilla war on British troops in Northern Ireland. But the IRA in Dublin denied bombing the Post Office Tower.

This morning an anonymous telephone caller claimed both explosions were set off by the Angry Brigade, a secret anarchist movement dedicated to wrecking British society by violence. The call to the British Press Association claimed the Post Office Tower was bombed to protest Britain's entry into the European Common Market and the blast at the Army barracks was to demonstrate against the government's handling of the crisis in Northern Ireland.

Guards will be out in force at Parliament Tuesday when Queen Elizabeth II opens a new session.

The Angry Brigade has been blamed for half a dozen previous explosions in London, including blasts at the home of a government minister and the head of the Scotland Yard police force.

No one was injured in the weekend blasts.

Guards were posted on public buildings and communications centers in London. Scotland Yard flashed warnings to cities around the island, giving lists of possible bomb targets. Police throughout England, Scotland and Wales took up security stations.

Russian Fleet Visiting Cuba

MIAMI (AP) - A Russian Navy task force, composed of two subchasers, two conventional powered submarines and a tanker, has arrived in Cuba on an "instructional cruise," according to Havana radio.

They arrived in Havana Sunday, a day after Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin returned to Moscow following a four day Cuban visit.

The broadcast monitored in Miami said the task force was received by thousands of Cubans who lined up on the waterfront and waved Soviet flags.

A report of reconnaissance sightings by U.S. planes and ships had earlier described two of the Russian vessels as a modern guided missile cruiser and a guided missile destroyer.

Annual C-C Meet Set For Tuesday

One of the highlights in Pampa's civic year will be the annual Chamber of Commerce membership banquet tomorrow night when new officers for the 1972 year take over official duties.

The affair is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the Robert E. Lee Junior High School cafeteria and a capacity crowd of 400 persons is expected. Banquet tickets have been sold out for several days.

The Rev. Dan Cameron, pastor of First Baptist Church, will be the speaker and Kay Fancher, outgoing president, will emcee the program.

The banquet will be buffet style and serving lines will be opened at 7:15 p.m.

The program will consist of a musical revue presentation by students from Frank Phillips College in Borger, directed by Mrs. Evelyn Hubbard.

Dinner music will be by the Pampa High School Stage Band under direction of Harris Brinson.

The incoming executive officers are Roy Sparkman, president, Jerald Sims, vice president, and Newt Secret, finance director.

Chamber directors and their wives also will be introduced at the banquet.

$20 Bogus Bill Discovered At Local Bank

Officials of First National bank identified a counterfeit $20 bill in currency received from Sears according to the police report.

Upon contacting that firm, the identity of the person passing the bogus bill was established, the police account said.

Upon contacting that individual, he established that he has only opportunity to acquire the spurious certificate was when he cashed his check at First National Bank.

Thus the worthless twenty had made a round trip without leaving any clue to how it got into local circulation. The police account noted bank officials were going to notify the treasurer department of the discovery.

14 Texans Shot To Death, 12 Die In Traffic

Death by gunfire headed the list of those persons who died violently this last weekend in October.

Traffic accidents took a backseat to the gun as the violent death toll reached 30, with 14 persons being shot to death. Twelve died in traffic, two were stabbed, and one drowned. A high school youth was butted to death by a bull during a rodeo.

The Associated Press began its count at 6 p.m. Friday and continued it until midnight Sunday.

As of last week, Texas traffic accidents had killed 2,813 persons so far in 1971, compared with 2,713 at the same time last year. Fatal accidents totaled 2,320 compared to 2,246 for the same period in 1970.

Richard Garcia, 15, of Houston was found shot to death in a house in the city Saturday night. Officers who questioned a friend of Garcia said the case would go directly to the grand jury without charges.

India's Villages Hit By Disaster

NEW DELHI (AP) - The Indian Government Radio said today that at least 2,500 persons were killed when a 16-foot tidal wave swept through their villages along the Bay of Bengal last Friday.

Unofficial reports put the toll at more than 5,000 dead, the broadcast said, adding it might go higher when communications are restored with the devastated region in the Cuttack and Balasore districts of eastern Orissa state, 150 miles southwest of Calcutta.

The Times of India, in a dispatch from Cuttack, said more than one million persons were left homeless by the tidal wave and accompanying cyclonic winds of up to 100 miles an hour.

The paper also said that air drops of food were urgently required in some areas where all roads, rail lines and air strips had been flooded or destroyed.

The low-lying coastal villages are the target of annual cyclonic storms and tidal waves that roar in from the Bay of Bengal and devastate an impoverished region of East Pakistan and India in which the inhabitants survive on a bare subsistence diet even in the best of times.

A storm and tidal wave last November killed at least 300,000 persons in the Ganges river basin in East Pakistan 300 miles northeast of the disaster area this weekend.

The weekend storm passed Sunday from Orissa to neighboring West Bengal state, destroying homes and rice crops in coastal villages that only two months ago were ravaged by the annual monsoon floods.

The area in West Bengal is filled with East Pakistani refugee camps, but initial reports said most of the camps had escaped the brunt of the storm.

Israel Bolstering Defenses On Suez

WASHINGTON (AP) - American intelligence analysts are telling U.S. officials that Israel is strengthening its defenses along the Suez Canal, showing no sign of intention to pull back.

The reports, circulated in the past 10 days, come at a time when Israel and Egypt appear to be toughening their diplomatic positions.

U.S. diplomats have been trying to arrange an interim settlement that, among other things, would include a ceasefire, withdrawal of Israeli forces from the canal, and Egyptian crossing of the canal to clear and open it.

Defense sources said the Israelis have thrown up a tall, earthen wall along the entire length of the Bar-Lev line, a system of underground bunkers linked by trenches.

Built into the wall are more than 150 protected ramps onto which tanks could be driven to bring their guns to bear on any Egyptian forces crossing the canal.

Israeli engineers also have provided about passageways through which infantry and armor could counter-attack, U.S. sources said.

An extensive effort is under way to improve and enlarge strong points. Reports tell of large quantities of pre-cast concrete modules, barb wire, sandbags and other materials stocked in those strong point areas. The areas are manned by infantry rifle companies supported by tanks.

Over the weekend, a Lebanese newspaper claimed Egypt has prepared a plan for limited crossings of the canal, to be followed by a major invasion of Sinai Peninsula.

U.S. sources have reported in past months the Soviet shipment to Egypt of increased numbers of troop-carrying helicopters. And, there have been recent reports of Egyptian troops engaging in night helicopter exercises.

Furthermore, Russians are said by U.S. sources to have provided the Egyptians with amphibious and mobile bridge equipment that would be required in mounting a sizable cross-canal offensive.

Albert Hopes To Push School Bill In House

WASHINGTON (AP) - Speaker Carl Albert hoped to slip a $1.5 billion school desegregation bill through the House today without making Northern liberals face an embarrassing vote on busing.

The bill, a long-delayed administration measure, is designed to spare the Northerners from such a choice. Only 40 minutes of debate will be allowed, then the bill must be voted on without any amendments being offered. The procedure is generally used to speed House action on non-controversial measures.

The desegregation bill, formally titled the Emergency School Assistance Program, would provide $500 million this year and $1 billion next year to help school districts devise special programs, train teachers and otherwise meet added costs of desegregating.

The chief cost, however, is busing and Nixon's edict against using the money for that purpose has also created a problem for Southern school officials.

They don't really like the bill, which they say is continued federal interference in their affairs, but they want the money to operate the busing programs the federal courts have forced on them.

Oil Men Assessing Recovery Techniques

HOUSTON (AP) — The nation's independent oil operators have been told every oil operator should assess his properties for possible application of new oil recovery techniques.

Dr. Paul B. Crawford, petroleum engineering professor at Texas A&M, said more than 15 new and novel oil recovery methods have been developed during the past two decades but only 25 per cent of the oil held in geologic formations is being produced at present.

Crawford spoke Sunday at a technical session that preceded today's opening of the 42nd meeting of the nationwide independent Petroleum Association of America.

He said that under current practices a few billion barrels of oil remain underground to challenge the oil operator possessing creative thinking and practical thinking.

"Domestic operators have produced 100 billion barrels of oil within our nation's boundaries," he said.

"Yet nature has bound the crude oil so tightly within the pores of the rock that only 15 per cent of the oil originally in place is usually recovered by primary methods. An additional 10 per cent may be recovered by waterflooding or gas cycling, leaving about 75 per cent of the original oil in place at abandonment due to economics.

Crawford said new recovery methods range from the use of chemicals to the use of nuclear detonations.

"New oil recovery methods have been developed for recovering heavy crude oils, medium heavy, and light crude oils," he said.

"Methods have been developed to recover oil at shallow depths and great depths. Every oil operator should assess his properties for possible application of some of these new oil recovery methods to his holdings."

A New York banker told the independents higher international oil prices appear to be developing.

Robert C. Seabring, vice president of the petroleum department of the First National City Bank of New York, said the nation should be aware of the fact 80 per cent of the foreign crude oil imported into the United States comes from the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC). These countries, he added, control over 90 per cent of the free world's crude reserves outside the United States.

Five-year price agreements were negotiated by OPEC and international oil companies earlier this year but OPEC has indicated a desire for even higher oil income and for participation in existing oil concessions.

"Certainly the next round of OPEC meetings will be increasingly difficult with both the quasi devaluation of the dollar and the minority local ownership problem," Seabring said.

He said the nation should be aware of the implications involved in an apparently unavailing continuing trend toward importing increasing amounts of foreign petroleum.

Policy committees of the association were meeting today to draft reports to be submitted at a Tuesday general session.

Tom B. Medders Jr., 41, Wichita Falls, Tex., oilman and rancher, was elected president of the 4,500-member nationwide trade group.

Medders succeeds Robert E. Mead of Dallas, Tex., MacDonald Oil Corp. board chairman who has headed the organization the past two years.

Red China's Flag Goes Up At U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The white-starred red flag of Communist China goes up at U.N. headquarters today, weather permitting, for the first time.

The guards who routinely raise the flags of all 131 member countries every weekday morning could finally include that of the People's Republic of China because they finally knew where to put it in alphabetical order a week after Red China was voted a U.N. seat.

Acting Foreign Minister Chi Peng-fei messaged Secretary-General U Thant Sunday that his country should be listed on the U.N. rolls "with the English letter 'C' at the beginning, that is, China, People's Republic of."

That meant that Peking's seat in the General Assembly hall and its flag on the poles outside would, like Nationalist China's before, be between Chile's and Colombia's instead of down in the P's the flagpole had been flagless since Chiang Kai-shek's government was expelled from the United Nations on Oct. 25.

New York's Rockefeller Center also flies the flags of all U.N. members around its plaza, and China's flagpole there also has been without a flag for the past week. A spokesman said Sunday night that the Communist Chinese flag had been ordered from the same flagmaker that made the U.N.'s, but it had not arrived yet.

Chi's message also cleared the way for Poland to be president of the security Council in November instead of being bumped a month back in the alphabetical order by the People's Republic. As "China," Peking will not get the presidency until next July.

Chi messaged Thant on Friday that his government would send a delegation "in the near future" to the General Assembly. But he has not replied to another message from Thant, sent last Wednesday, asking him to name a representative to the Security Council as soon as possible.

Delegates from governments close to Peking expect the first Chinese Communist delegation to arrive Thursday or Friday.

U.S. Ambassador George Bush, for whom the ouster of Nationalist China was a personal defeat, said in a television interview Sunday on ABC's Issues and Answers that Communist China's coming would make the U.N. "more a realistic mirror of the world."

He conceded that it would complicate the negotiations to name a new secretary-general to succeed Thant, which "must start soon," and would "cause some arguments and some crises."

"We are prepared to face this shifting around," he remarked. He expressed hope that Communist China would not be free with its Security Council veto, and he reported that diplomats familiar with the Chinese Communists "do not think they will come simply to obstruct."

Bush accused Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., of playing "shabby politics" when he criticized President Nixon's China moves in a speech Friday.

DIESEL TRAILER-TRUCK IN FATAL CRASH—The driver of this rig eastbound at 8:15 a.m. Sunday, took to the ditch to avoid a collision with a westbound car that veered into his lane. The impact knocked the front end completely from under the massive diesel unit. The driver was unhurt but shaken by the experience that killed a Pampa woman. The truck belonged to a Clovis firm that operated it between Pampa and a plant in the New Mexico city.

'War Of Worlds' Touches Off Flood Of Phone Calls

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Despite advance billing, a radio station's localized version of H.G. Wells' "War of the Worlds" touched off a flood of telephone calls to news media and law enforcement offices.

Buffalo police described public reaction to WKBW's program Halloween night as "nervousness" rather than the panic which met Orson Wells' fictional account of a Martian invasion of earth on Halloween Eve 33 years ago.

"One man ran up shouting to one of our cars, but he calmed down," a deputy in the Erie County sheriff's office said. He reported the office had received eight calls about the program.

Bruce Kaplan, the line disc jockey on duty at the station, said he was swamped with calls.

Buffalo police received some 100 calls and news media in Boston, Washington, New York, Rochester, and Providence, R.I., also received inquiries.

An officer at the State Police barracks in Buffalo said 18 calls had been received there.

"About half the calls were from frightened women and the other half were from people angry at the station," he said.

The station had presented its version of the Wells classic on the past three Halloween nights and Sunday night's program was promoted with spot announcements throughout the preceding week, a station spokesman said.

Preceded by a five-minute explanation of the nature of the presentation, the program started shortly before 11 p.m. as a bogus news bulletin reporting a Martian landing at nearby Grand Island.

The voices of WKBW newsmen "reporting" from the scene by walkie-talkie were then woven into the dramatization. The account of the "invasion" was interspersed with announcements that it was only fantasy.

"We had been promoting the program all day every 10 minutes, yet some guy called up during the broadcast and said, 'Hey, when you gonna have "War of the Worlds"?" Kaplansaid.

"Then a girl said she was calling for her grandmother who wanted to know whether this was for real or another one of our crazy tricks."

Wells, then 23, spread panic across the nation in 1938 on Halloween Eve with a fictional account of a Martian landing in New Jersey.

Anti-Smoking Clinic Opens Five-Day Run

A smoking withdrawal clinic sponsored by the Top O' Texas TB and Respiratory Disease Association will start at 6 p.m. today in the Pampa Junior High School.

The clinic will run nightly through Friday with the starting time 7 p.m. beginning Tuesday.

Breath-meter tests are scheduled at this evening's opening session, according to Charles McIntosh, executive director of the TBRD association.

Fulbright said Sunday he foresees continuation of the more popular aid programs, although attempts to include military assistance could endanger any revival efforts.

The Arkansas Democrat said he does not believe any interim program would include funds "for the military domination of other countries."

program at existing levels of funding.

If the temporary extension is approved, officials said, Nixon then plans to prepare and push for enactment of an entirely new aid program.

The new lobbying effort was mapped as some senators blamed administration "over-lobbying" for the foreign aid defeat.

Pampa Police Experience Busy Halloween Weekend

Pampa police officers had a busy weekend but little if any of it was directly attributed to the fact that it was Halloween.

Activities ranged from an attempted suicide to an egg-spattered residence including theft-from-cars, punctured tires, attempted break-ins and stolen laundry.

Officers answered the suicide call and found a 28-year-old Pampa woman, apparently intoxicated, sitting in a pool of blood from cuts on both wrists, according to the police report. The official account said she had made previous attempts. She was taken to Highland General Hospital.

Thieves attempted to break into the Dairy Queen over the weekend but failed to get further than a store-room. Damage there was estimated at $40.

Tenon Jones, 931 Denver, reported the theft of a 22 Remington pump-action rifle from his pickup in front of his home. Pat Casey told police tapes were taken from his auto in front of the Hughes building and the vehicle was filled with something like sawdust. Casey was on duty at the radio station.

A storage house behind a residence on S. Barnes was broken into and a box of clothes was found sitting out when police arrived according to the official account. Charlie Walker, 815

S. Barnes, reported more successful clothing thieves. They took garments he had placed in a dryer at 721 W. Brown while he was gone 15 minutes.

Robert Sanders reported that someone Sunday night had stuck an ice pick in all four tires on his car parked at his home.

Late Saturday night someone in a pickup pelted the home of John Gikas with eggs and fled north on Mary Ellen. Police located the identified vehicle later but it was parked and no arrests were made at that time according to the police record.

WHAT IS GLAUCOMA?

Glaucoma is characterized by a slow progressive loss of visual fields, followed later by loss of central vision. In a person over forty, it is a real danger. Anyone who requires frequent changes of lenses, has mild headaches, sees halos around electric lights or has trouble adapting to darkness should be suspect.

Using a device called a tonometer, which measures intra-ocular tension, glaucoma can usually be detected. There are many prescription drugs that we have available, drugs called miotics, which are useful in helping to control glaucoma. Everyone should have their eyes checked periodically but for older people it is essential. Uncontrolled glaucoma can result in absolute blindness.

Readers comment on 'mama's boys'

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You told "HAVING DOUBTS" to grab the guy who was extra good to his mother. It's obvious that you don't know what it's like to be married to a mamma's boy. You're lucky!

Please print my true story for her to see: Before marriage, I thought Ralph [fake name] was a real jewel. Several said: "A guy who is especially good to his mother will make a fine husband."

Maybe this is true, if the guy draws the line. Ralph didn't. In spite of the fact that I tried my best to make Ralph happy, loved, feel like a man, here are a few things he did to ruin our marriage:

[1] Stopped off at Mom's house on the way to work, after work, and he called her daily on his lunch hour.

[2] Sat back and didn't say a word to defend me when his Mom put down me and my family.

[3] Took Mom out every Sunday to visit friends. When I asked to go along, Ralph said: "You wait here. I'll be back in a little while." [His "little while" was all day.]

[4] Told Mom all about our sex life. [How's that for a shocker?] She told me herself, and it was accurate, so I know she wasn't bluffing.

[5] When Ralph got sick he wouldn't let anyone near him but his Mama.

Abby, I could go on, but I think you get the point. Most guys who are soooooo good to their mothers are usually mama's boys.

Of course, our marriage didn't last long. Ralph's doctor told him if he didn't go back to his mother he would have a nervous breakdown. He went. And now I'm glad he did.

RALPH'S "EX"

DEAR ABBY: To "HAVING DOUBTS" because her boy friend always puts his mother first, you said: "Grab him. For a preview peek of how a man will treat his wife, take notice of how he treats his mother."

Not true, Abby. He will always put his mother first as long as she lives, and his wife will have to play second fiddle.

Believe me, I know. Well-cared-for invalids usually outlive their grandchildren.

O. W. K.

DEAR O. W. K.: The feedback on "Having Doubts" surprised me. Ninety per cent of those who wrote disagreed with my answer and expressed the view you expressed above. For a beautiful letter from the opposition, read this:

DEAR ABBY: I agree with your answer to "HAVING DOUBTS." When I was 19, I was engaged to a young man who seemed to have more consideration for his mother than he did me.

She was a widow, nearly 60, with a bad leg. She liked to go for rides in the car, and stop for ice cream, so my fiance always put Mom in the front with him while I sat alone in the back. I resented it because sometimes they would have conversations about people I didn't even know.

And Mom stuck like a burr. She was one of those people who said good-bye 20 times before leaving. She really was a bore to a 19-year-old girl who wanted to be alone with her boy friend.

Then I took a closer look. Her son always helped her in and out of the car. He spoke politely to her, and if her chatter bored him, he never showed it. But most important, here was a woman who had raised her son alone. And he was a fine man who believed in God, and in getting a good education and in marrying instead of chasing around. She must have been quite a woman to have raised such a wonderful son.

We married, and Mom's real character came thru. She died at 73. That was 20 years ago. I still miss her.

TUESDAY, NOV. 2

Your birthday today: Promises a sparkling triumph in your chosen specialty, provided you really choose and center your efforts. Most opportunities come in pairs—and seldom so you can enjoy both at once. Today's natives present a restless casual surface, rarely revealing their sensitive inner nature.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Minor adjustments cry for your attention—take the handiest first and keep busy. Be explicit.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: You can't avoid being in the middle today. Make the best of an opportunity to solve any open questions; coax others to deal directly with each other.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Expect life to include some special exertion. Reach beyond your usual range for a higher goal, particularly in group efforts.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Reactions are quick, decisions abruptly taken and quite final. Just be sure what you do expresses what you really have in mind.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Imagination brings you out on some untenable or unreal direction. Hold still long enough to check facts.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Teamwork, particularly among younger people, produces unusual results. Gathering of similar items introduces new ideas and a surprise.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: What you skipped yesterday remains to be done or accounted for today—along with added developments. Get busy.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Progress begins to make itself felt and you should find others encouraging. Celebrate the later hours with entertainment.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Double check your information to be sure you have the story straight.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Where you seek advice tells the counselor exactly how qualified you are. Give thought to quality.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Where you offer leadership or supervision, you should exercise your finest tact. Give people time to react.

CHANGE IN POLICY

With the change-over to the new off-set press, some changes will be made in deadlines and other policies.

One such policy change will be that wedding write-ups, to be published more than seven days after the ceremony takes place, will not appear in Sunday's paper, but will be published during the week.

For further clarification of this policy, you may call Mrs. Jane Kadingo, Women's Editor, 600-2525.

Twisted Judges, Law

Alexander Hamilton is one of the more controversial figures in American history. It was he who first involved this country in socialized banking. Yet for all his substantial faults, Hamilton in his brief 47 years of life left his country a legacy of wisdom on some points. Among these was his argument against the venerated Bill of Rights that was adopted contrary to his advice.

Briefly, Hamilton contended that once a right is stated in legal language it can then be interpreted away by lawyers and courts.

How correct he was is demonstrated by recent decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court, interpreting the Ninth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. This amendment states: "The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people."

For 150 years after its ratification in 1791, this amendment lay virtually untouched by the judiciary. Then, beginning in the 1950's the courts took hold of it. What happened is told in a study by Dr. Fred A. Swide of the University of Southern California.

Swide, a practicing attorney, credits Associate Justice Arthur Goldberg with giving a significant boost to the new passion for applying the Ninth Amendment. He describes the Goldberg touch in this way:

"This, in effect, points up to future courts the thoughts and concerns of the framers of the Constitution in regard to future individual right; that is the duty of the courts to recognize individual unenumerated rights of future generations in times when social forces have changed. The Founding Fathers acknowledged in this amendment that they were unable to foresee future developments and their effects on man's position in Society."

As an illustration of a court's recognizing an unenumerated constitutional right, Swide cited the recent decision of the California Supreme Court that voided property taxes for schools.

"This held," Swide said, "that all citizens have an absolute right to an education, and in effect that each school district in the state must provide the same amount of money per student for education. If this decision is upheld in the U.S. Supreme Court, it will have a tremendous impact on the financing of public education."

Socialized Electricity

Bureaucracy never tire of trying to avoid the laws of economics by going into the power business. Often, after a number of years of municipal ownership and after financial systems are voted back into private ownership—that is, the ownership of inventor-owned, business-managed companies.

The Worthington, Minn., Globe tells why that city would be better off if its municipally-owned power system were sold to a taxpaying, private utility. In 1970, city operation of the plant netted $332,000—a return of investment of 6.6 per cent. Less than half of this "profit" notes the Globe, was used to lower the general tax rate. One hundred and eighty-two thousand dollars went into a surplus fund to pay for plant expansion.

in California, and perhaps throughout the country. It would mean that all education tax revenues would have to be channeled to a central source, at the state level, from which equal distribution would be made.

Other landmark court decisions pertaining to the Ninth Amendment, he pointed out, have dealt with such unenumerated rights as those of privacy, the right to travel and the right to public welfare. The full impact of some of these decisions has yet to be felt, he said. And then he asked a question and offered an answer.

"What if," he inquired, "the U.S. Supreme Court were to hold that it is the absolute right of every citizen to have equal medical care? By necessity, such a decision would revolutionize the entire face of medical services and practice. It is not inconceivable, either, that the courts could hold that every citizen has the right to a clean environment. The law of the land, then, would order that all means be taken to clean up the environment. The massive mobilization of forces that would be needed is undreamed of at present, even by today's staunchest ecologists."

So that is the manner of legal interpretation, current style. Of course, even the average high school student will recognize the obvious fallacies in the line of reasoning that Dr. Swide described. The total context of the Bill of Rights at the time of adoption was to curtail the powers of the national government. The whole endeavor was to keep the political authority from invading the sanctuary of the individual. But, by wresting the words of the Ninth Amendment out of their historical setting, today's jurists use them to enlarge the menace that they were supposed to guard against.

Thus Dr. Swide foresees centralization of the mighty powers of tax-supported schooling, the revolutionizing of the medical services, and a "massive mobilization" of governmental force.

Is it not ironic that the words intended to subject government to the consent of the governed should become the very means of tyranny over them?

Such is judicial interpretation; more specifically, judicial mis-interpretation. Alexander Hamilton, being a politician and a lawyer, knew something about unfortunate tendencies in both professions.

Officials have estimated that the city plant could be sold for between $6 and $7 million and calculated that with funds now in surplus, the proceeds could be invested at interest alone of about $348,000 a year. "In addition," observes the Globe, "Worthington would receive substantial tax payments from a private utility. Municipal systems, of course, pay no taxes."

Government ownership of business whether at the local level or at the federal level offers no miracle of efficiency and no economic shortcuts—facts that sometimes are learned only by costly experience.

'WHERE ARE MY WANDERING BOYS TONIGHT?'

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—in the paper you mentioned the use of electrical devices to strengthen the abdominal muscles and how dangerous they were. You suggested they be discarded immediately. All I am interested in knowing is what kind of device—I have a Relax-a-Cizor and was wondering if you meant this particular machine.

Dear Reader—Many people have written in about this since I mentioned the young man of San Antonio, Tex., who was killed by electrocution with one of these devices. I usually do not mention brand names but will make an exception. The Federal Trade Commission has banned the Relax-a-Cizor from public sale as a health hazard. This device and any other similar device that uses electricity to stimulate the muscles to contract for the purposes of slimming the waist have been banned. I think the death of the healthy young man mentioned above should be adequate explanation for the FTC action.

The safest and best way to fight the bulge is with proper exercise and a sensible diet to prevent obesity. I repeat, throw away or turn in any electrical devices you have purchased for this purpose.

I am not talking about vibrators—these do not deliver an electric current to the muscles. The vibrators might be relaxing but will not do much for muscle tone or weight reduction. The simple truth is there is no short cut to prevention of obesity and treating pendulous pots.

Dear Dr. Lamb—You wrote that menstruation is unusual at 57. I will soon be 62 and I still menstruate, two to three times a year. It stopped for six years, now for four years I have menstruated six days each time.

Dear Reader—You are definitely unusual. I hope you have had a checkup by your doctor to be sure that it is menstruation. Your story is so unusual that I would like to repeat again, that any woman in middle life who has stopped menstruating and starts bleeding again should have an immediate examination by her doctor. Let your doctor decide if it is important or not after he has had a chance to examine you.

Chinese Danger In Tanzania

Communist Chinese penetration of Tanzania, which has long been alarming to her African neighbors, has now reached danger point.

Chinese military personnel in the country now exceed in number the total strength of the small Tanzanian Army, which is itself falling under Chinese control.

The latest figures given by the Tanzanian Government reveal that the 50,000-strong labor force working on the 1200-mile Tan-Zam Railway project (from the coast inland to Zambia) now includes 13,000 Chinese "technicians." What the figures do not reveal is that almost all of these technicians are, in fact, soldiers of the Chinese People's Liberation Army. They come from its Railway Corps, its Engineering Corps and its Signal Corps, but have all had basic military training.

This is not the first time that the Chinese Army has been used for such major construction projects abroad.

Furthermore, it has an awkward habit of sitting tight even after its work is completed.

Thus Chinese Army personnel in civilian guise, as in Tanzania, built the strategic highway linking Katmandu and Lhasa, the capitals of Nepal and Tibet. The job was finished in 1967.

But the Chinese soldiers are still in Nepal. They persuaded the Nepalese Government to allow them to remain for 10 years to "maintain" the 72-mile Nepalese section of the road.

Whether President Nyerere will need 10 years to get his 13,000 Chinese helpers out of Tanzania remains to be seen.

But quite apart from the alarm spreading throughout East Africa, there are already signs of friction between the Chinese and the Tanzanians themselves. Hints of labor unrest and racial animosity have appeared even in official Tanzanian reports. — London Daily Telegraph is half the battle. Braces usually are not helpful in correcting posture unless there is a skeletal problem that needs correction. Muscles supported by a brace become weaker and less effective. One of the best aids to good posture is a good all-around exercise program. If your muscles are strong enough, you will be less likely to slump. Much of the rest is habit.

Start a regular set of exercises to strengthen the muscles between your shoulder blades and the muscles along your back. If you have a physical education teacher or gym teacher, ask for help in developing a good set of exercises.

MARILYN MANION

Deceitful Peace

President Nixon plans to visit Red China. Mack Truck is going to build a $750 million truck manufacturing plant in the Soviet Union. Everywhere the signs of "peaceful coexistence" are evident.

Can we coexist with Communism? Has Communism really mellowed? No casual observer can answer questions like these. So the Manion Forum summoned an expert to its microphone. He is Dr. Gerhart Niemeyer, Professor of Government at the University of Notre Dame. Dr. Niemeyer's latest book is titled "Deceitful Peace." It is a diagnosis of Communism and copies are for sale at the Manion Forum.

Listen to Dr. Niemeyer's analysis of the current state of Communism:

"The newest Soviet policy since 1956 is called Peaceful Coexistence. It is a policy which does not mean what it sounds like meaning. When we hear 'peaceful coexistence,' we have in mind a condition of living and letting live. This is not the Soviet outlook. This is not the Communist outlook. The Communists believe that they, as Communists, rank above all other human beings. They are the army of the future and their ultimate and total triumph over all other men is the sole objective which animates them.

"They have defined peaceful coexistence in two terms:

"1. a policy of trying to avoid an out-and-out military clash with the West, which would be very unsecure in its outcome, and

"2. of proceeding against the West by means of what they call national liberation wars and popular uprisings. National liberation wars, as in Vietnam; popular uprisings, as in Cuba.

"With the help of these events, they hope to get a sufficient amount of momentum, a pacifist momentum and anti-war involvement momentum, that would also include and accept domestic Communists, so that the domestic Communists could come to power with the help of a coalition of progressive liberals. Once in power, they could then move with direct action and also mob action, encouraged by the government, against the enemy. This latter process they call peaceful transition from capitalism to Socialism.

"As for mellowing, this would mean that the Communists give up their ultimate objective, which is to destroy all existing societies and on the debris erect a new world, dominated by Communism. This core—the ultimate objective—has remained unchanged.

"Our modern revolutionary destructionists all subscribe to one thesis, namely, that in the present day society nothing at all is good, that everything is false, rotten, corrupt, and the only thing you can do with this society is to destroy it.

"In Lenin's case, he believed that upon the present society, which they called the bourgeois society, there would follow the socialist society. And whereas the present day society, in the eyes of Lenin, was totally evil and corrupt, the future society would, by contrast, be totally good, totally just, totally peaceful. In his eyes, all he had to do was destroy the present society and the good would automatically emerge by decree of history.

"There is no struggle between the Soviet Union and us as equal things. They are not a system in the sense that we are a system. We are a society, a going concern based on our tradition residing in the consensus of our people, but they are an enterprise, a militant enterprise trying to disrupt and to destroy this society. There is ultimately no symmetry between them and us." — The American Way Features

Increased Might At Sea Urged By U.S. Admiral

ABOARD THE SUBMARINE CARVER (AP) — Lurking deep in the sea, the Carver is equipped to launch more destructive power than all the explosives detonated in all the wars of history.

But despite the Carver's potential destructive force, a symbol of overall U.S. naval power, the old admiral aboard the submarine was worried.

Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, at 71 still on active duty battling Pentagon bureaucracy and urging increased U.S. might at sea, said the United States soon may become "the No. 2 naval power in the world."

The possibility could become reality, Rickover said, unless action is taken to match what he calls an increasing buildup of Soviet naval strength.

The buildup ranges from nuclear-powered, nuclear-missile-equipped submarines similar to the Carver to conventional warships and the Russian merchant fleet.

Assessing responsibility for what he called this nation's growing naval weakness in relation to the Soviet Union, he referred to his recent testimony before Congress in which he attacked "the incompetent and torpid bureaucracy in the Pentagon."

"In a sense it seems that every day at the Pentagon is amateur night," testified Rickover, director of naval reactors for the Atomic Energy Commission and deputy commander for nuclear propulsion for the Navy.

Now aboard this submarine named for Negro educator and chemist George Washington Carver, Rickover renewed his warning about "the growing Soviet naval threat."

The Carver is one of 41 submarines equipped to launch 16 nuclear-tipped missiles in a 2,500 nautical mile range. Thirtyone of the submarines are being readied for conversion to carry even more powerful Poseidon missiles that may have multiple hydrogen warheads.

From hiding places on deterrent patrol the Polaris submarines are capable of firing missiles aimed at almost any target on earth.

But Rickover, talking with a few newsmen invited for an overnight ride and dive on the Carver, said the Soviets are developing even greater capacity from submarine warfare.

"Today the Soviets are ahead of us in numbers of nuclear submarines and are building three times as many per year, and will have up to about 50 more than we will have in five years," he said as the Carver cruised underwater off the Virginia coast.

The Russian submarines are "much faster than we previously thought," he said, adding:

"They also have a type of submarine, the tactical missile-firing submarine, designed to attack surface ships and land targets. Some have a missile range up to 400 miles. They already have about 65 of these types of craft, whereas we have not a single one, and as I see it, these will become the capital warships of the future."

Rickover said also that the Russians' Yankee-class submarines, similar to U.S. Polaris submarines but carrying missiles with only a 1,300-mile range,

Americans Will Spend $1.4 Billion On Dog, Cat Food In '71

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans are expected to spend $1.4 billion on dog and cat food this year, according to the Pet Food Institute, an industry trade association.

This represents a 14 per cent increase over last year for an industry that in the past has been growing at an annual rate of 10 per cent, industry spokesmen say.

"And the market still remains largely untapped," says Bill Stirtz, a vice president at Ralston Purina, makers of Dog Chow and Chuck Wagon brands.

If America's family-owned dogs and cats ate only commercially prepared food, instead of table scraps and regular human food, he says, "The market would be perhaps three times its current size."

Pet food companies are spending heavily to increase their share of the market, trying to convince families that commercially prepared food is more nutritious than table scraps.

Ralston Purina's animal nutrition expert, Dr. Jim Corbin says: "America's dogs and cats receive better balanced rations when fed the best commercial diets than the majority of America's children receive."

Advertising expenses will jump nearly 40 per cent this year to $75 million, says a spokesman for Quaker Oats, producers of the Ken-L Ration and Puss n Boots line. Quaker Oats has approximately doubled its outlay, he says.

The industry is aided in its effort by the growing trend toward convenience foods for humans, Stirtz says. The family that sups on a TV dinner will have fewer table scraps to feed the dog, he notes.

Also, more people are buying purebred dogs, says a spokesman for the Friskies Pet Foods Division of Carnation Co. "These animals represent a sizeable investment, and people tend to be more conscious of their diets," he declares.

Specialty diets are available for the ailing. Pfizer Co., for example, puts out a low sodium food for dogs with heart conditions and a bland mixture for animals with stomach problems. These specialty foods, available only from veterinarians, constitute only a small part of the pet food market, a spokesman says.

The Pet Food Institute estimates that there are presently about 33 million dogs and 22 million cats in American households. While the pet cat population has apparently remained fairly stable in recent years, family-owned dogs have been increasing at a rate of about 5 per cent a year, it says.

The average dog in the United States this year will consume about $29 worth of commercial dog food. His feline counterpart will eat about $18 in commercial food.

Astronaut Shepard Jr. U.S. Delegate To U.N.

By SHIRLEY CHRISTIAN Associated Press Writer UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — America's first astronaut is the first U.N. delegate who has been on the moon. Alan B. Shepard Jr. is an alternate representative to the current General Assembly.

Dressed in a modish knit suit with a tiny U.S. flag in the lapel and looking much younger than 47, the astronaut causes heads to turn and runs into an occasional polite request for an autograph as he walks through the U.N. halls and attends meetings.

Ambassador Jamil Baroudy of Saudi Arabia noted one day on the assembly floor that a man who had been on the moon was in the delegates' midst, but did not name Shepard.

"I guess he meant me," Shepard said later. "There were only six of us."

Some of the 131 member countries of the United Nations are strongly anti-American, but Shepard says he hears only complimentary remarks about the U.S. space program.

"People don't realize the positive impact of the space program. I've found it both here and in my travels around the world," he told a reporter. Shepard has been attending sessions of the assembly's main political committee, which is discussing ways to carry out the declaration passed last year on the "strengthening of international security."

He will be the U.S. delegate in charge of several other assembly agenda items when they come up. They include preparation of a treaty concerning the moon, the peaceful uses of outer space, U.N. peacekeeping operations and the protection of human rights in armed conflicts.

Bear Facts Boom As Cowboys Crash

CHICAGO (AP) — "Run, run, as fast as you can, you can't catch me I'm the gingerbread man" sang a happy Ron Smith, the Chicago Bears' hard nosed kick return man.

Smith was one of many Chicago Bears stars Sunday in the wake of a stunning 23-19 victory over the Dallas Cowboys in a game in which the Cowboys totaled 481 yards on offense to 194 by the Bears.

Smith disdains the fair catch signal on punts and seldom allows Cecil Turner to return the kickoffs any longer. He returned a kickoff 38 yards in the fourth quarter to set up the Bears' final and winning touchdown.

There are those who fear Smith will get broken in two one of these days but the freckle-faced veteran of seven years laughs off such warnings.

"If I were afraid I wouldn't be helping my team," said the 195-pound cornerback. "I catch the ball and go as far down the field as I can. I don't believe there's a man big enough in this league to tear me apart. And when I get going a step or two, the combination of my weight and speed equalize matters against those 260-pounders.

Then Smith, who returned three punts for 44 yards and three kickoffs for 91 yards went into his gingerbread man routine.

The Bears didn't appear to be bothered by Dallas' system of shuttling quarterbacks. Craig Morton would run one play and then be relieved by Roger Staubach.

"After a while I didn't even pay attention to who was in there for them," said linebacker Doug Buffone who intercepted a Morton pass on the Bear 10-yard line as the game ended.

It was the fourth Bear interception and the seventh Dallas turnover including three lost fumbles.

"The shuttling quarterback system would have worked if we hadn't made so many mistakes," said Cowboy Coach Tom Landry, "but I don't think we'll use it again."

Dallas drove 68 yards for a touchdown the first time the Cowboys got the ball to take a 7-0 lead. The Bears came right back to tie it with quarterback Bobby Douglass going nine yards on an option play for the score.

Three field goals by Mac Percival, who once toiled for the Cowboys, gave the Bears a Baltimore virtually abandoned its strong running game and took to the air, with Earl Morrall passing for 286 yards and touchdowns of 19 and 49 yards to Willie Richardson and 60 yards to Ray Perkins against Pittsburgh.

San Diego's John Hadl blitzed the Jets' patched-up defense for 19 completions in 27 passes for 358 yards and four touchdowns and scored once as the Chargers overwhelmed New York.

Linebacker Bill Hobbs blocked a Denver punt, recovered it and ran six yards for the decisive touchdown in Philadelphia's victory over the Broncos.

Houston posted its first victory under Coach Ed Hughes, edging Cincinnati on Ken Houston's tie-breaking 48-yard touchdown run with an intercepted pass in the third period.

Cleveland, 4-3, the AFC's Central Division leader, dropped its second in a row, as former teammate Dick Shiner of Atlanta helped beat them with scoring shots of 39 yards to Ken Burrow and 23 yards to Jim Mitchell.

16-9 lead as Dallas picked up two points on a safety.

Dallas picked up three points on a field goal by Mike Clark, who missed three others, to make it 16-12. Smith's return of the ensuing kickoff gave the Bears fine field position.

Douglass then hit Dick Gordon with a 26-yard pass and came back with a 28-yard touchdown shot to Gordon to put the Bears into a comfortable 23-12 lead.

"I would have gone all the way if it hadn't been for Mel Renfro," said Smith. "He's the one guy I can't beat. Even when I was with Los Angeles, he's the guy that would stop me. This time when I thought I had cleared the field, I looked up and there was No. 20 in front of me."

The Bears boosted their record to 5-2 to remain one game behind Minnesota in their division. Dallas dropped to 4-3 and two games behind Washington in their division.

Record Boot For Blanda

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press

The Oakland Raiders again are letting George do it—and 44-year-old George Blanda, the oldest player in pro football, is not letting them down, but keeping them up.

Blanda, whose amazing career started in 1949 and now is in its fourth decade, became the game's all-time leading scorer Sunday as he rallied the Raiders to a 20-20 tie with Kansas City and kept Oakland in a first-place tie with the Chiefs in the Western Division of the American Football Conference.

Blanda, who replaced starter Daryle Lamonica the last two times Oakland had the ball, fired a 24-yard touchdown pass to Fred Biletnikoff, then kicked an eight-yard field goal with 2½ minutes left.

The tying three-pointer and a previous field goal and two conversions gave Blanda a career total of 1,609 points, one more than former Cleveland kicker Lou Groza. Following the eighty-yard kick, the game was stopped and Blanda was presented with the football.

"These things just happen to you when you play 22 years," he said.

On Blanda's first play, he hit Ray Chester with a 37-yard strike, and defensive end Aaron Brown of the Chiefs said later "that first pass gave them lots of confidence ... George has done this so many times it works for them psychologically."

Two plays later, Blanda connected with Biletnikoff, who had outmaneuvered young cornerback David Handley. Handley had replaced injured starter Jim Marsalis immediately before the play. "I'm sure George knew who we had in there," said Chiefs' Coach Hank Stram.

"George Blanda is a rare individual," said Oakland Coach John Madden. "The amazing thing is that he's throwing and kicking better than he did four years ago. We both came to this team the same year and I know he's stronger now than he was then. Don't ask me why. He doesn't have any secret formula that I know about."

The tie kept the Raiders and Chiefs deadlocked with 5-1-1 records.

Elsewhere in the National Football League Sunday, it was: San Francisco 27, New England 10; Miami 20, Los Angeles 14; Washington 24, New Orleans 14; Minnesota 17, New York Giants 10; Atlanta 31, Cleveland 14; Chicago 23, Dallas 19; Baltimore 34, Pittsburgh 21; San Diego 49, New York Jets 21; St. Louis 28, Buffalo 23; Philadelphia 17, Denver 16; and Houston 10, Cincinnati 6.

In a nationally televised game tonight, Detroit will play Green Bay at Milwaukee.

San Francisco, 5-2, took over first place in the National Football Conference's Western Division, one-half game ahead of Los Angeles, beating New England with the help of John Brodie's 71-yard touchdown toss to Gene Washington.

Miami knocked the Rams, 4-2-1, out of the top spot in the NFC's West, downing Los Angeles on the strength of two scoring strikes by Bob Griese, one a 74-yarder to Paul Warfield. The victory kept the Dolphins in first place in the AFC's East with a 5-1-1 mark, just ahead of Baltimore's 5-2.

Washington, the surprising pacesetter in the NFC's East, built its record to 6-1 and its advantage over runner-up Dallas to two games, holding off New Orleans on Pat Fischer's 53-yard touchdown run with an intercepted pass midway in the final period.

Minnesota, on top in the NFC's Central Division, handed the Giants their fourth consecutive setback on Norm Sneed's 55-yard touchdown pass to Bob Grim with 1:04 remaining. The Vikings are 6-1 to 5-2 for second-place Chicago.

Two touchdown passes by Jim Hart, starting his first game since opening day, helped St. Louis hand winless Buffalo its seventh loss.

Top Seven Teams Undefeated

By HERSHEL NISSENSON Associated Press

With Nebraska and Oklahoma continuing their merry chase toward a Thanksgiving Day college football showdown, there has been a tendency to overlook Michigan, but the unbeaten Wolverines put a stop to that trend Saturday with a 61-7 rout of Indiana.

"Our goal is to go undefeated and win the Rose Bowl," said star runner Billy Taylor, who ripped the Indiana defenses for 172 yards and two touchdowns on only 11 carries, boosting his school record to 2,694 yards and coming within three of Tom Harmon's career mark of 33 touchdowns. "Then they will have to pick us No. 1. I think we're No. 1 right now."

The Wolverines currently are ranked third behind Nebraska and Oklahoma. Nebraska defeated ninth-ranked Colorado 31-7 while Oklahoma overpowered Iowa State 43-12.

The top seven teams all maintained their perfect statures. Fourth-ranked Alabama trimmed Mississippi State 41-10, No. 5 Auburn downed Florida 40-7, sixth-ranked Penn State took West Virginia 35-7 and Georgia, No.

7, stopped South Carolina 24-0, the third consecutive shutout turned in by the Bulldog defenders, who have permitted only 21 points in their last seven games.

The three other major unbeaten continued their winning ways, but two of them needed late field goals. Toledo, ranked 15th, upped the nation's longest winning streak to 31 games by trouncing Miami of Ohio 45-6, matching the 1948-50 Oklahoma teams for the second longest skein in modern times.

Cornell and Dartmouth, the Ivy League pacemakers, are heading for a Nov. 13 confrontation: Cornell's Ed Mariano gained 272 yards, erasing the major college career rushing standard of Oklahoma's Steve Owens and passing the 4,000-yard barrier, but the Big Red needed John Killian's 37-yard field goal with five minutes left—after Mariano carried the ball on nine consecutive plays to edge Columbia 4-21. Dartmouth nipped Yale 17-15 on Ted Perry's 40-yard three-pointer with 53 seconds to play.

Rounding out the Top Ten, ninth-ranked Arkansas suffered its second big upset, bowing to Texas A&M 17-9 behind Mark Green's two touchdowns and a defense that prevented the Razorbacks from establishing a running attack. Ohio State, ranked 10th, stopped Minnesota's Craig Curry inches short of the goal line on a disputed fourth-period two-point conversion attempt to preserve a 14-12 triumph over the Gophers.

The big news elsewhere ranged from the sublime to the tragic. Eric Allen of Michigan State set a major college record by rambling for 350 yards (he carried 29 times and scored four touchdowns) in a 43-10 rout of Purdue. Coach Jim Pittman of Texas Christian collapsed and died during his team's game with Baylor. The players, informed at halftime that Pittman was dead, rallied to defeat the Bears 34-7.

Michigan's Bo Schembechler apologized for running up 61 points on hapless Indiana. "I didn't think we would win this way," he said, "and I didn't want to. I would have liked a closer game. The coach at Indiana is one of my best friends and I didn't want to beat John (Pont) that way."

John was not only my teammate, but my roommate at Miami of Ohio," Schembechler recalled. "He was the greatest player in Miami history. They retired his number. He's a great competitor and a class guy. I wish I have as much class as John Pont if I ever get beaten this badly."

Nebraska combined a rugged defense and Jerry Tagge's pinpoint passing to defeat Colorado, which Coach Bob Devaney called "the finest team we've played yet."

Colorado's Eddie Crowder called Nebraska "a magnificent football team," but declined to predict the outcome of the Cornhuskers' game with Oklahoma. He did say it would take "a really super game" to beat Nebraska.

Ken Johnson, the Colorado quarterback, said: "Nebraska's got the better defense, but I think Oklahoma has got the better offense. It's gonna be unreal."

For the record, Oklahoma defeated Colorado 45-17.

The Sooners rolled up 504 yards on the ground in beating Iowa State. Quarterback Jack Mildren passed for 175 yards—that's right, Oklahoma threw the ball—and two touchdowns and ran for 148 and two more scores.

"You could prepare four different game plans and they could find another way to beat you," said Coach Johnny Majors of the losers.

Alabama pulled-away from Mississippi State with 24 points in the final period as Bear Bryant tied Jess Neely for fourth place on the all-time coaching list with 207 victories. Auburn also broke loose after being held to a 12-7 halftime lead and swamped Florida with Pat Sullivan and Terry Beasley teaming up on two scoring strikes.

Lyell Mitchell and Franco Harris led Penn State's 250-yard ground game against West Virginia, with Mitchell scoring twice and Harris once. Hometown boy James Ray came off the bench and sparked Georgia over South Carolina at Columbia, S.C., by scoring on runs of one and 84 yards.

In the Second Ten, Mississippi averaged last year's 6117 battering by upsetting No. 11 Louisiana State 24-22. No. 12 Notre Dame cruised by Navy 21-0. No. 13 Arizona State outslugged No. 18 Air Force 44-28 and No. 14 Texas shaded Southern Methodist 22-18 and tied Arkansas for the Southwest Conference lead. If it winds up that way, Arkansas goes to the Cotton Bowl.

Tennessee, ranked 18th, swamped Tulsa 38-3. No. 17 Stanford overtook Oregon State 31-24. Houston turned back No. 19 Florida State 14-7 and No. 20 Southern Cal blanked California 28-0.

Jim Pittman Remembered As A Master Coach-Recruiter

EDITOR'S NOTE: Jim Pittman, Texas Christian's football coach who died of a heart attack Saturday night, never demanded more of his players than he gave himself. Associated Press Southwest Sports Editor Denne Freeman had a long talk with Pittman about his football philosophy before the season began and was on hand to cover the beginning of the Pittman era at TCU on Sept. 18 when the Horned Frogs met UT Arlington. Here are some of Freeman's impressions about the coach.

youngsters into football players and men.

"The most gratifying thing is to see greenhorns develop, improve and get poise to the point that they later turn into outstanding citizens," Pittman would say. "It is pleasing to hear one say what value he gained from football and from our association."

Pittman had the reputation of getting the best—and then some—out of the material on hand. He was a master recruiter who could sweet talk a prospect with his soft Boy Scout drawl.

He took Tulane from a laughed-at ragged doormat to the Green Wave's first bowl game in 30 years in 1970 with a 17-3 victory over Colorado in the Liberty Bowl.

But the lure to come back to the Southwest Conference was too strong although he was secure at Tulane.

"I'd always wanted to see how I could do against Darrell," Pittman laughed. "I learned a lot from him to use against him."

But he never got the chance. Pittman was an assistant under Murray Warmath at Mississippi State and spent 12 years with Royal at Mississippi State, Washington and Texas.

You can learn a lot working with men like that," Pittman said.

Pittman was a hard disciplinarian.

Bengals Go To Bottom With Thud

HOUSTON (AP)—Safety Kenny Houston's 48-yard touchdown interception return did more than give Houston its first football victory of the season—it sent the Cincinnati Bengals to rock bottom with a thud.

"This is the poorest game we've played since our first game against Kansas City when we were an expansion team," said a dejected Bengal Head Coach Paul Brown. "It was just pathetic."

After posting a 5-0-1 pre-season record and winning the season opener, the Bengals have lost six in a row, including Sunday's 10-6 decision to the victory-hungry Oilers, now 1-5-1.

"It was a poor football game and we did more than our share," Brown said. "Our defense was O-kay but our offense was embarrassing. It was as poor as I've seen."

Super Mex Goes To Top Money

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Lee Trevino, with his sixth title of the year in his pocket and an all-time money winning record in the books, set out for Mexico today in search of a fourth national open golf championship.

"That's what I really want to do, win a fourth national open championship for a grand slam, the Super Mex said Sunday after taking the Sahara Invitational and establishing a single season money winning record of $227,243.

Trevino, four strokes off the pace starting the final round Sunday, fired a six under-par 66 and vaulted past third round leader Bob Dickson with a 72-hole total of 280.

It was his first victory since his unprecedented sweep of the American, Canadian and British Open titles was completed in Southport, England, July 11. While most of the American touring pros are taking a couple of weeks off, Trevino is entered in the Mexican Open, a $30,000 event, at the Club de Golf in Mexico City starting this Thursday.

But he hinted that he may change his announced plans of playing in the rest of the tournaments on the American tour. It all depends on the chase for the money winning title.

Big George Archer also had a 66 and took second at 281, but never really challenged Trevino, who has emerged this season as the dominant figure in the game.

Dickson slipped to third with a 72 for 282, falling behind when Trevino reeled off a string of three consecutive birdies.

SWC Small, But It's Mighty

Associated Press Sports

The Southwest Conference may not be big nationally this year, but it's involved in one of those family brawls that used to be commonplace before Texas and Arkansas started dominating things.

The Texas Aggies shocked Arkansas 17-9 in Little Rock Saturday night to put the race for the Cotton Bowl in chaos.

Arkansas and Texas are now tied for the lead with 3-1 records with Southern Methodist and Texas Christian in hot pursuit with 2-1 records. Texas A&M still has a chance with a 2-2 mark.

The tragic death of TCU Coach Jim Pittman overshadowed a tremendous night for A&M Coach Gene Stallings of the Aggies.

The SWC was saddened by the loss of Pittman who died of a heart attack after collapsing during the TCU-Baylor game in Waco which the inspired Horned Frogs won 34-27.

Stallings said the victory over Arkansas was "the greatest victory for me ever."

In danger of losing his job, Stallings said the victory was sweeter "because of the situation, losing five games this season, playing here in Little Rock, and our team playing like it did—it has to be the greatest."

"It was better than beating Bear Bryant in the Cotton Bowl because of the way the team played. We played conservatively and whipped them physically."

Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles agreed, saying "They outplayed us soundly. A&M outplayed us and they deserve to win."

Texas Coach Darrell Royal, whose team barely survived Southern Methodist 22-18, said upsets "are the nature of the game. Football is so much emotion. I've seen it happen. These big upsets occur. I've been involved both ways. It scares a coach."

In other games Saturday, Rice downed Texas Tech 9-7 in Lubbock on homecoming and Houston beat back tough Florida State 14-7.

SMU Coach Hayden Fry mentioned he would like to see cameras set up along the goal line so there wouldn't be disputes such as the ones in the Mustang-Longhorn game Saturday. Dennis Howell of SMU was ruled stopped short of the goal on one play and Bobby Callison of Texas was credited with a touchdown on a similar play.

Unexpected Walkout Has Winter Concerned

"I think he is upset because he is not playing like he wants to," said Houston Coach Tex Winter in trying to explain the unexpected walkout of his star center, Elvin Hayes.

Hayes, the Rockets' high-scoring 6-foot-9 pivotman, left Sunday night's National Basketball Association game against Buffalo in the second quarter and did not return.

Despite Hayes' absence, the Rockets went on to win 102-87, but it was only their second victory in 10 games this season.

In other NBA games, Milwaukee beat Cleveland 118-102, and Golden State defeated Los Angeles 109-105.

Hayes, who scored 10 points before his surprising departure, said he left because of an injured leg. But Winter, in his first season as Houston coach, apparently thought otherwise.

"He's not as effective as he would like to be," said the former Kansas State and Washington coach. "He makes it very difficult for me to coach the team as a unit. I don't think the way some of the players have been playing is good enough. I think we can do better if we can play together as a unit."

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Nixon have returned to Washington after a weekend stay at the presidential retreat at Camp David which drew a Halloween trick-or-treat visit from costumed children. The youngsters—children of Camp David personnel—appeared at the Nixon's lodge Saturday night and pledged no tricks after selecting candy treats from Mrs. Nixon. Before returning to the capital by helicopter Sunday night, Nixon watched the televised Washington Redskins-New Orleans Saints professional football game.

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico (AP) — Actor Peter Lawford and Mary Rowan, daughter of television personality Dan Rowan, have been married in a civil ceremony at this Pacific coast resort. Lawford, 48, and Miss Rowan, 21, were married Saturday night in a private ceremony conducted in a friend's home by Puerto Vallarta's municipal president Luis Fabela Icaza. Lawford's son Christopher acted as one of the witnesses and British actor Laurence Harvey was one of the guests. It was Miss Rowan's first marriage. Lawford divorced his wife of 11 years, the former Patricia Kennedy, four years ago.

DETROIT (AP) — Rep. Charles Diggs Jr. plans to get married in New York next weekend.

The Michigan Democrat has a problem, however. As far as the law's concerned, he still has a wife. "I don't want to be mean to Charles," said Wayne County Circuit Court Judge George E. Bowles. "But until he reached a property settlement with his wife and I sign the final decree, he's still married in the eyes of the law."

Diggs' divorce action with his wife Anna is pending before Judge Bowles. The judge said he has informally agreed to the divorce, but will not sign the decree until the congressman pays a $5,000 property settlement. Diggs' attorney said Sunday he hopes final details of the divorce can be straightened out before the weekend.

Diggs' wedding to Janet Elaine Hall of Washington is scheduled for Saturday afternoon at Riverside Church in New York with a reception following at the St. Moritz Hotel.

CAIRO (AP) — President Anwar Sadat has returned to Cairo after a three-day visit to Libya, which along with Syria is one of Egypt's two partners in a new Arab federation. The government said Saturday that Sadat and Libya's Col. Muammar Kadafi discussed "plans for meeting Israeli aggression," but gave no further details.

Girl Misses Duck, But Not Bridge

PONTIAC, Ill. (AP) — A duck walked into Susan Bayles' life Sunday—right in front of her car. State Police said the 18-year-old Plainville girl swerved the car to avoid hitting the duck, but rammed into a bridge abutment, sending a passenger to the hospital for treatment of minor injuries. The duck was unharmed, the car was demolished and Susan was ticketed for failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident.

U.S. Heart Specialist Impressed By Red China's Medical Practices

EDITOR'S NOTE—At an energetic 85, Dr. Paul Dudley White, eminent Boston heart specialist, fulfilled a lifelong desire recently to visit mainland China. In the following question and answer session with AP Science Editor Alton Blakeslee, he tells of what he found and learned there.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE, AP Science Editor BOSTON (AP) — Dr. Paul

Dudley White, the famed heart specialist who just returned from a visit to mainland China, says the Chinese "are doing a tremendous job in bringing health, welfare and education to more than 600 million rural people."

He also says he is much less skeptical than before about the use of acupuncture—the art of inserting needles into various areas of the body to relieve pain during surgery—and thinks the knowledge of Chinese doctors—both native-trained and Western-trained—is on a par with our own.

The 85-year-old Boston doctor told of his September visit to China with three other American physicians and their wives in an interview with The Associated Press.

Q: Dr. White, how did you happen to go to China?

A: For more than 60 years I had been wanting to go but it didn't seem possible as the years went by.

Then to my great surprise the invitation suddenly arrived. I believe it was arranged primarily through the efforts of Edgar Snow, the American writer on China, whom I know, plus the efforts of Grey Diamond and his wife, Mary. (Dr. E. Grey Diamond, Kansas City cardiologist, went to China with Dr. White.)

Q: And what did you find?

A: I went, I must confess, very skeptical about the worth of the old or traditional, Chinese medical practices, especially acupuncture, but I returned with the impression there is something to it, something that we should at least investigate.

Q: Did you witness surgery with acupuncture?

A: Yes. We didn't really see any treatment of chronic diseases, for which acupuncture has been used for thousands of years.

But we did see surgery in the totally new thing of using acupuncture as the only anesthetic. I wouldn't have believed it possible. We saw to our satisfaction that the Chinese surgeons weren't faking it—I am quite sure the patients had no preparatory drugs ahead of acupuncture, except for a rare tranquilizer. They were awake and quite alert during the operations.

Several hospitals we visited displayed surgery with acupuncture—on purpose, I think, to elicit our interest in helping to determine how it works; for the Chinese say they don't know, either.

Q: What type of operations did you witness?

A: We saw three patients have vigorous tooth extractions with only an acupuncture needle stuck into a jaw, or firm pressure over such a point. One 10-year-old boy immediately afterward shook hands with us and ran off.

We watched a woman whose skull had been opened for removal of a brain tumor, and I talked with her, through an interpreter of course, with her skull lying open. It was incredible. We saw a man having an upper lobe of a lung removed, and a woman operated upon for removal of an ovarian cyst.

Q: What is the technique, or techniques, of acupuncture?

A: The needles don't need to be near the area being operated. Putting them between the tendons of the right wrist seemed to be a favorite location that we witnessed. Sometimes the acupuncturist twisted the needles during surgery. Maybe this is a bit painful and distracts the patient. Sometimes they sent a small electrical charge through the needle.

Q: Do you have any ideas about how acupuncture may be successful in this way of being an anesthetic?

A: No, not really. Grey Diamond, he's a distinguished professor of medicine at the University of Missouri-Kansas City, says he plans to start research into the matter.

It could be the personality of some selected patients, or stoicism, or enthusiasm in a kind of religious belief in Chairman Mao.

TV And RADIO

NEW YORK (AP) — The fuming and complaining about the quality of children's television programs over the past few years is beginning to pay off. There is much over-all improvement in network fare this season, not only in the shows worked into the Saturday morning children's blocks but in the occasional specials.

CBS' "Aesop's Fables" Sunday night, for instance, was a completely delightful half hour, combining film with actors and animated cartoons which told two stories.

Bill Cosby played Aesop, gently emphasizing the points of both fables. Both starred the same winsome little tortoise.

First he wanted to fly like an eagle—only to realize he was happier as he was. Then he won that big race with the hare.

The program's only jarring notes were the commercials—the same Cosby turned up in the role of Mr. Tooth Decay. Perhaps, however, we may be treated to many more of Aesop's Fables told in the same simple and charming way.

NBC's "The Bold Ones" tried a different format in the Sunday program, one of its "Lawyers" segments. During the hour three cases were followed and the picture moved from courtroom to courtroom to report a narcotics case, a rape case and a mercy killing.

The shift provided an interesting change of pace, but as a steady diet, the development of a single story line is likely to be more satisfying for the viewer.

Worry Clinic

Goldie's husband is much like the toddler who tells his mother "I hate you." Such a child has missed his normal feeding or skipped a nap. Internally he is irritable so projects his ire upon his mother. Same goes for husbands who feel deflated in their erotic ego.

CASE S-507: Goldie J., aged 38, is distraught.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "I am totally confused by my husband."

"For he is hypercritical of everything I do."

"And he often rages at me, even to the point of saying he hates the very sight of me."

"Tearfully I have told him I'd give him a divorce if that is what he wants."

"But he forbids my doing so. Yet how do you explain his hating me, yet wanting me to stay with him?"

LOVE AND HATE
Goldie's husband actually loves her.

Which is the reason he refuses to consider a divorce.

"Then why," you may ask, "does he keep reducing her to tears with his tirades and deflating remarks?"

The answer is simple! He is a platonic husband!

But Goldie doesn't realize that fact, for she thinks his lack of affection in their boudoir is due to his expressed hatred.

When husbands pass the age of 40, they often grow comparatively impotent.

This is terribly deflating to the sex ego of the usual male.

So he tries to hide his own erotic inability behind various "red herrings," such as:

(1) Excessive use of whiskey.

For when he staggers home drunk at 2 A.M., his worried wife will then imagine that his lack of love-making is merely because he is inebriated.

Alcohol is thus the popular crutch that panicky men seize upon after they pass the age of 40.

For it not only diverts the attention of their wives from the basic erotic problem.

But it likewise offers the worried male a chance to anesthetize his brain so he can gain a brief respite from a constant "to be or not to be" inner debate!

(2) Hypercriticism.
By deflating his wife's ego with caustic remarks and even telling her, "I hate you," such a husband puts her on the defensive.

So she begins to wonder what is wrong with HER, not HIM!

Thus, the humiliated husband passes the buck and diverts her attention from his own deficiency.

Besides, if a husband is spiteful and tells her he hates her, this seems an adequate reason why he doesn't kiss her or show desire for physical affection in their boudoir.

Hence, his wife still doesn't dream that he is a victim of his own sexual inferiority complex and thus is impotent.

Remember, the usual impotent husband is not organically platonic but is a victim of his own imaginary sexual inferiority complex!

Wives, if you can realize that his hateful remarks are merely a camouflage, and can seduce him, you will change your spiteful mate back into a devoted husband.

Many a hungry toddler who has missed his afternoon nap, will also tell his mother, "I hate you."

But she knows differently and ignores the insult. Goldie needs to do likewise!

Send for my medical booklet "How to Prevent Impotence," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents. (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)
