Wheat Harvest Now Underway

Leads of wheat from fields in the area surrounding Muleshoe had begun to arrive in the rapid succession at elevators Friday afternoon as the momentum of harvest picked up.

Recent rains, wind, and sun has helped to mature and dry the grain.

The crop from sections of the southern part of the county is reported to be lighter due to dry weather, however, in the Lazbuddie community, Joe Moore, manager of Sherley-Anderson Grain said the yield and the amount grown was better than it had been for the past two years.

The peak of harvest is expected by mid-week if the weather permits.

"You mean we really can — finally — get in that library and to read???" asks a ball player on his way to practice. "I've been coming by here for ages and I sure was wondering why I couldn't come on in and browse around and get me some books to take home to read (See BOOKS, Page 5)

It was also learned that the Muleshoe club still has room for six more members before the (See NUMBER, Page 5)

Horacio Cavallero Leaving Muleshoe Will Go To Argentina After Tour

Friday, Horacio Cavallero, will be leaving Muleshoe and behind him will remain the memory of an Argentine youth, who loved life and living and especially that he found in this small West Texas town. He will be remembered by most of the students with whom he attended Muleshoe High School as "Hoss" a nickname that stuck following an interesting interview with a magician putting on an assembly show at school . . . the magician could not believe anyone could have a name such as Horacio Cavallero, so he called him "Hoss".

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Williams and family with whom the Santa Fe, Argentina foreign exchange student has made his home for the past nine months, will accompany him to Midland where he will board a bus with other exchange students for a tour of the United States. The bus will depart the morning of June 29.

After almost a month of touring and sightseeing, Horacio will fly to Miami, then on to Buenos Aires where his parents are to meet him.

"I'll talk the entire 200 miles back by car to my home town", Horacio said "and then have plenty more to tell for days to come."

"I wonder if I want to go home," he said, "I have made so many friends here and my deepest wish is that my family could come here and see the many things I have seen and be able to do everything I have done and enjoyed so much during my brief stay here."

"On my way by air to Amarillo where Mr. and Mrs. Williams met me when I came to Texas, I could see the green vegetation below and I was shocked. My impression of Texas had always been oil wells and dry desert land. It was also a great shock to see huge elevators in every town and scattered about over the country every few miles. One would never imagine Texas harvests so much grain."

After concluding a term of school here, in comparison, Horacio said both the United States and Argentina have good systems. That of his country is more strict, but the freedom to choose subjects here was a privilege. In Argentina, the term is divided into three sections of three months each. Subjects are chosen by the principals and during the 9 months 13 to 16 subjects are required and are taught for

Cotton Varieties For Late Planting Listed

Are you having to replant cotton? It may even be you have not planted the first time yet. In either case, you need to plant a cotton variety that will produce good yields with mature bolls at harvest.

"It is important at this late date to plant only varieties which offer good yields," says Bill Gunter, Area Extension Agronomist. Based on research at the South Plains Research and Extension Center, Lubbock, several varieties have proved suitable for late planting (June 20-30) over a several-year test period.

Among these are Gregg, Paymaster 101-A and 54-B, Rilcot 90, and Stormrider, Paymaster 54-B is an open-boll variety, but when planted late in the season, there is little cotton loss, says Gunter.

According to data from J. D. Bilbro, USDA Agronomist at the Center, yields of several cotton varieties have been compared for four years at several different planting dates. Two of the varieties are among those recommended for late plantings. Gregg

Cavallero--

(Continued from Page 1) three months each. They attend classes 5 hours, each class 45 minutes long with two 10 minute breaks between. Lunch time is from 12 until 2 p.m., then they return for three hours, 45 minutes in the afternoon with a 1555 minute break.

Sports are not included in the regular school activity in the same manner as they are here. Schools have sports team, but are not classified in the manner as done here. Large schools compete in sports with other large schools as well as the very smallest ones. They compete with schools within the city and no games are held out of town. They do not have pep rallies or school bands.

"I missed the food of my country," Horacio said. "This does not mean that I did not like American food; I do. My favorite food here is hamburgers, Jello, Kool-Aid, French toast, and pancakes."

The food, like the customs are different and I like most of the American customs. I found adjusting to a completely different way of living hard at first. Imagine yourself in my position and you can readily see why, however, after the adjustment was made, I am reluctant to leave.

Of the many things I think is fabulous here is the highways and the big cars, the expressways and freeways. I love hot rods and when I get back to narrow streets and foreign cars as they are called here, I will sure miss all this.

The records, KOMA, the teen age dances and parties, dragging Main Street, Drive-Ins, and TV shows such as Candid Camera, My Favorite Martian, Wonderful World of Color and Bonanza, water skiing, trips people have taken me on are some of the things I'll miss very much.

Something unusual to me is the friendly way people driving along wave and speak whether they know you or not. This is something people here take for granted, yet it is a great thing. "Perhaps I have become too American . . . too Texan," he said.

"In Argentina, instead of having a wonderful Youth Center for teenagers like you have here, the young people gather at a bar for one beer, singing, and telling jokes. In my country, people go for a beer in the same way that the young people of Muleshoe go to the drive-ins for a coke. It is regarded in the same sense as drinking coles and like here, one beer, like one coke is all they drink for one evening's recreation."

Parties and recreation differ greatly. There parties began around 10 p.m. and are over about 4 a.m. Many of the dances here are unknown there and I plan to introduce them when I get home.

"Another thing that has impressed me is American people buying new cars so often while the average car is used by a family in Argentina from six to 10 years.

"Politics the world over are similar, I suppose, however where you have the two strong parties here, to say we have 20 there would likely be an understatement.

"I think the exchange student program is a wonderful thing and it has been remarkable to be able to support the challenge to study and graduate from a school where everything is thought and done in English.

"Every whole day here has been completely different. No two days have been alike. Each has brought a new experience through some activity, place I visited or someone I met, and to the Williams family and the people of Muleshoe I am eternally grateful to have been here for the past few months.

Horacio plans to enter college in Argentina and hopes to obtain a job as an assistant English teacher during his college years.

Donald Williams says he has also learned much from Horacio's stay in their home.

"Most of all, since I only have two sisters, I have learned what it is like to have a brother and liked having him around."

"I feel that Horacio represented his country real well, so much so that I would like to visit there."

FRANKLY SPEAKING

By J. Frank Peery

Antidote for Loneliness
 A house full and a heart full — then in a flash of uncertainty, loneliness comes swooping down and literally fences one in. The most terrifying and heart-sickening words in the English language have been reserved to describe the lonely person. Alone, ignored, exiled — are but a few of the words that describe those who are in the pitiable state of loneliness. A stressful experience may assume tragic dimensions when it is coupled with loneliness. An individual life cut off from others of his kind, as in a mining accident, a mishap in a wilderness, or even the deliberate isolation of such a one as Albert Schweitzer, can arouse the sympathies of a nation or a civilization.

Yet, the one person may have no sense of loneliness. In the nighttime silences on a hillside an individual may find no loneliness but a confident feeling and knowledge of God's presence. The researcher absorbed in an experiment in the lab may have no sense of loneliness.

We may rest assured that the presence of other people is no assurance that one will not experience loneliness. Perhaps, the most intense form of loneliness is that in which one is surrounded by people who seem to be completely indifferent to one's existence. A strange young man at his first high school party, surrounded by a hundred classmates but acutely lonely. In an overflow crowd at a college football game with people everywhere, some are possessed with profound loneliness.

The individual in a conforming society who acts differently, thinks differently, or even feels differently from his fellows quickly encounters the experience of loneliness. What a strange loneliness this is. Just because the individual tries being himself he sometimes stands alone. You see, in our day when efficiency and high-speed production are disrupted by individuality and uniqueness, persons who insist upon such expressions cannot be tolerated. Thus, the loneliness of the non-conformist in a conforming society is rooted in the experience of rejection. Perhaps, the most painful form of loneliness is that in which the person not only experiences rejection and confusion but also feels sorry for himself and says it's all necessary. I met such a man last week.

Frankly Speaking — Loneliness is a relatively brief form of suffering, mostly self suffering. The proper love of God and the proper love of self can banish any loneliness. You simply forget yourself.

NITROMITE
 82.7% NITROGEN

Wouldn't it be a shame not to get all the profit you can from this year's crop. If your young plants don't now have all the nitrogen they need, you're liable to miss the big end of the profit. A side dress of Nitromite, Shamrock's anhydrous ammonia, is the sure way to get the maximum yield. Considering how little it costs compared to the extra yield it's a mighty shrewd investment. cited with the delinquent and current tax rolls. A detail of taxes receivable will be found under Section I at Schedule II.

The investment in U. S. Government Bonds on the General Fund Balance Sheet is the assets of a Municipal Auditorium Bond Fund. These bonds were retired with funds from the Interest and Sinking Fund in 1960-61. Payments on paying liens owned by the General Fund, as shown under Section I at Schedule IV, are all past due.

Fixed assets purchased this past year amounted to $14,287.29 for the General Fund and $26,895.37 for the Water and Sewer Revenue Fund. All General Fund fixed assets were purchased out of general revenue. Water and Sewer Revenue Fund fixed assets were purchased with $20,064.77 out of water and sewer revenue and $830.60 out of the Water Works and Sewer System Bond Fund.

The Tax Interest and Sinking Fund has cash on hand of $23,648.88 and $13,500.00 invested in a non-negotiable certificate of deposit at the Muleshoe State Bank due June 11, 1964. Bond requirements for the ensuing fiscal year are $36,740.00 plus agents fees. This fund will require approximately $24,027.00 between April 1, 1964 and October 1, 1964. This amount was available at the end of the fiscal year ending March 31, 1964.

The Water and Sewer Interest and Sinking Fund has a cash balance of $9,112.49. Revenue Bond requirements for the ensuing fiscal year are $24,437.50 plus agent fees. The reserve fund has a cash balance of $2,010.52 and investments in U. S. Treasury Bonds totaling $17,753.75. The reserve fund can be used to pay principal and interest on the Revenue Bonds only if other funds are not available. Monthly payments equal to 1-12 of the next years requirements are made to the Interest and Sinking Fund from operating revenue. In addition, $180.00 a month is paid into the Reserve Fund and will be paid until the fund has a balance of $24,500.00.

The Water Works and Sewer System Bond Fund has a cash balance of $15,530.22 representing money available for expenditures for capital improvements.

Several coupons totaling $4,505.00 on General Obligation Bonds had not been received from the paying agent as of March 31, 1964.

Coupons totaling $225.00 on Water and Sewer Revenue Bonds had not been received from the paying agent as of March 31, 1964. The money to cover the above outstanding coupons has been deposited with the paying agent.

170,305,000 gallons of water was metered out to customers during the year ending March 31, 1964. There were approximately 1,500 meters in service at March 31, 1964, an increase of 106 over the previous year.

The General Fund, and Water and Sewer Fund owed a total of $5,506.09 on March 31, 1964 for expenses incurred in March, 1964. These expenses are not recorded on the books as liabilities because the books are kept on a cash basis. Under the cash method of accounting, expenses are not recorded until they are paid.

Old utility accounts receivable in the amount of $5,094.34 were written off the books at March 31, 1964. The old accounts were accumulated over a period of years prior to April 1, 1961. These accounts were considered uncollectible.

Old meter deposits totaling $3,802.25 were written off the books at March 31, 1964. The meter deposits were accumulated over a period of years prior to April 1, 1964.

RECOMMENDATIONS

We recommend --

(1) The eventual use of an inventory of supplies on hand and a general reporting on an accrual basis by setting up liabilities for purchases when made.

(2) A physical inventory of fixed assets and records made and maintained.

(3) That the council review Section 1102 of the charter, and determine whether a violation of this section occurred in the purchases of supplies and services from Heathington Lumber Company, and C & H Chevrolet during the past year. One check for $1.15 was paid to Heathington Lumber Company and three checks totaling $26.90 were paid to C & H Chevrolet.

Your books and records have not been kept according to generally accepted Governmental Accounting Procedures in that: (1) there are no records maintained on fixed assets, and (2) the books are kept on a cash basis of accounting. For these reasons, we are unable to express an opinion as to the fairness of the financial position as shown or the results of operations for the year ending March 31, 1964.

Yours very truly,

when it's so hot!"

This youngster -- one of many who have similar requests to the Bookmobile staff and library volunteers -- is typical, said Georgia Pena, bookmobile librarian.

"We felt it necessary several weeks ago to lock the doors when doing required filing work, because we have been swamped by children (and lots of adults) wanting books," she added. "We hated to do it -- not give them books when they wanted them so badly -- but the bookmobile schedule keeps us busy after hours sometimes as it is. We're pleased that the AAUW women are going to help fill the demand -- at least for the children -- for books they want from this (bookmobile storage center) library."

The bookmobile was very busy last Saturday, June 13, with 339 books checked out and 29 new borrow cards (most family cards with 4 to 8 per card). The bookmobile, because of the July 4th holiday, will not be back in Muleshoe until July 25, Mrs. Pena noted.

"Because children thirst for information -- on the anatomy of the owl, structure of the atom, life of Davy Crockett, baseball tips, hobby interests, or simply a good book to read; and because our organization feels that pleasure reading is for the purpose of savoring the language, absorbing thought and ideas, acquiring information, learning to think in depth and for relaxation, this program was volunteered 'in time of need,'" Mrs. Ed W. Johnson, AAUW chairman in charge of reading program said.

A national coordinator of public libraries, on TV no less, said recently that television has lured boys and girls back to the pleasures of reading. It's "in" again to have your nose in a book.

TV, long viewed as a villain which would foully murder the art of reading, has instead emerged as the hero of a reading renaissance -- in big cities as well as small communities. TV has sharpened the hunger of children -- and adults -- for a rousing adventure story, a good mystery and printed facts of life's great nonfiction realities, such as history and sports, it was reported.

Muleshoe and youth everywhere are lively, enthusiastic, eager and fresh in their approach to problems, and are totally receptive to new ideas. The world is exciting and new; their far-ranging minds are impatient to explore it through books which open windows upon that world, by enlarging their minds and spirits through the world of books, a prominent educator said.

"Thank heavens children's imagination, sense of wonder and simplicity have not yet been modified to what adults call 'valuable experience' and 'adjustment,'" one mother of two exclaimed.

READING CLUB
For the elementary students, grades one through four, a special picture-chart entitled "Famous American Indians" and matching bookmark will be given each Reading Club member of that age group, Mrs. Johnson said.
Children may begin their reading at any time during the June-August period. Members of the club will receive colorful pictures of famous Indians, such as Hiawatha, Pontiac, Sitting Bull, Geronimo and Pocahontas, to glue on their charts as they read the 10 or more books required for Honor certificates.

When completed and signed by AAUW sponsors, the card becomes the readers and he will have earned himself a place on the roll of Honor Readers. This roll will be displayed in the library in September and a copy will be sent to his school principal, officials announced.

Fifth graders through high school age students may participate in the Youth Reading Club. Honor Roll letters will be sent to their respective principals next fall.

Both parents and school officials have already lauded the local program for its proposed informative start in library check-out services for the youths, Mrs. C. E. Moore, AAUW president, said.

PRE-SCHOOL "STORY TIME"
All pre-schoolers are invited to come to the Muleshoe library building at 3:15 p.m. each Wednesday for the "read aloud picture book" Story Time. The thirty-minute period is for children who will enter school this fall (reach the age of six by Sept. 1, 1964).

Parents and children are reminded that doors close promptly at 4 p.m. and open at 2 o'clock Wednesday, the first registration and participation day. A parent must accompany any child under 14 to obtain a bookmobile library card. AAUW officials stressed. Cards may be obtained and membership started in the Reading Program begun any Wednesday during the 10-week period.

AAUW members sponsoring the program locally include: Mrs. Ed Moore, Mrs. Ed W. Johnson, Mrs. Neal Dillman, Mrs. John Watson, Mrs. Ray Daniel, Mrs. R. E. Everett, Mrs. Joe Costen, Mrs. Wilson Witherspoon, Mrs. G. A. Beddingfield, Mrs. Holly Frances, Mrs. Ola B. South Plains of Texas. "It's just down the road from Farwell, not very far from Bovina and Lazbuddie."

He described the flat farming land around Muleshoe, crops grown, and how, through a cooperative movement a nine-hole golf course was built.

Dill, who attended the University of Texas, went on the pro tour in 1962 sponsored by two Austin businessmen, Morin Scott and Gary Morrison.

"Morrison owned some hotels in Hot Springs, so I represented Hot Springs, Dill explained.

"They lost $11,500 on me in 1962 and 1963. I made $8,590 and my expenses were $20,000."

"The people back in Muleshoe kept telling me, 'What's the matter, are you ashamed of your homefolks?'"

"So when my contract ended in April, I quit and signed up to represent Muleshoe, and since I started making money."

The Dill family moved to Muleshoe from Sweetwater when Terry was 16 and his father was Muleshoe's High School principal.

AUSTIN -- Are the "childhood diseases" here to stay? Is it still necessary to have a smallpox vaccination? Do babies inherit a "natural immunity"?

The "childhood diseases" are a myth. The fact is that these diseases are so contagious among children that most people have had them and thereby developed immunity by adulthood. But adults can and do catch them, and when they do they are sometimes much sicker than children.

Two of the so-called "childhood" diseases--mumps and German measles--have special dangers for the adult patient.

Mumps can be damaging to adults--both men and women. And German measles, when occurring in the early part of pregnancy can result in damage to the unborn child. So, if you are exposed to any "childhood" disease and believe you have never had it, ask your doctor what you can do to protect yourself.

It is extremely important that you and your children keep protection against smallpox up to date. True, the absence of smallpox in this country has led to a lack of public concern about this serious disease and large segments of the adult population are unvaccinated or require boosters. In some parts of the world, smallpox continues to be a serious problem. If just one single undetected smallpox case should be introduced into a U. S. community, it could touch off a serious epidemic.

Is it true that a baby is protected by his "natural immunity" acquired from his mother? Some of a mother's natural or acquired immunities, if any, can be passed on to her unborn infant as her blood courses through the placenta that nourishes him, but this inherited immunity remains effective for only a short time.

In the case of whooping cough, a highly contagious disease that is especially dangerous and often fatal for small babies, there is evidence that immunity is only occasionally passed on.

Every parent, medical authorities advise, should plan an immunization program beginning at six weeks of age against tetanus, poliomyelitis and smallpox. Booster shots to maintain complete protection should follow at prescribed intervals throughout childhood and in the case of certain diseases, well into adult life.

BULA NEWS

By MRS. JOHN BLACKMAN

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Kessler and children, also her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Thomas, visited friends in Rankin, Texon, and Big Lake, Thursday thru Monday.

They attended the Texon reunion Saturday and Sunday reported a wonderful time getting acquainted again with old friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas lived at Texon when they first married when it was a thriving, small oil town of about 1,900 population and now only 9 families live there, they said.

This was the first reunion for the former residents and present ones too, but plans are being made to make it an annual affair.

Approximately 700 were in attendance for this reunion. Six states were represented.

Recognition was made of those traveling the farthest distance, which was 1,800 miles. The first baby born there, former school teachers, doctors and nurses were introduced, and also the first baseball team.

Debbie Speck and Mike Capeheart are visiting their grandmother and other relatives at Rochester and Rule this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Aduddell and children visited Sunday with his parents, the John Aduddells at Lazbuddie.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Thomas are spending this week with friends in McCamey.

Rev. and Mrs. R. D. Thommarson and grandson, Patrick Thommarson, who had spent two weeks in their home, drove to Cloudcroft, N. M. Friday morning and returned Saturday afternoon. They were met there by their grandson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Thommarson, Fort Huachuca, Ariz.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bogard spent Saturday night and Sunday in McLean, with her mother, Mrs. Lura Rhodes, and also visited Monday in Clarendon with relatives.

Diane Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Richardson, Lovington, is spending this week with her grandmother, Mrs. Rowena Richardson.

Gary and David Kessler are attending the two week's singing school being held this week at the Church of Christ in Muleshoe.

Jerry and Diane Teaff spent the weekend in Goree with their grandmother, Mrs. Nell Hargrove.

Ferris, Steve, Danny and Jo Dean Foby, Littlefield, spent several days last week here with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Bryan, and attended the Bible School at the Bula Church of Christ.

Beverly Martin, Lubbock, returned home Friday, after spending a week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cannon.

Anthony and Lisha Pierce, children of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Pierce, returned home with their grandfather, M. O. Shaw of Tipton, Okla., Saturday for a stay of several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Wes Davis, Roswell, spent Tuesday night in the F. L. Simmons home. Mrs. Simmons accompanied them Wednesday to Elgin, where they will help Mrs. Simmons' sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Houghton, Elgin celebrate their Golden Wedding anniversary.

Utley Award Goes To Muleshoe Man
