

Detroit Newspapers Settle Union Strike

DETROIT (UPI)—The Detroit News and the Detroit Free Press signed a tentative contract agreement with the Teamsters Union shortly before midnight Monday, ending a strike that has kept the nation's fifth largest city without its regular newspapers for 82 days.

The two sides emerged from a 14-hour closed door bargaining session to say that all outstanding issues between the publishers and Teamsters Local 372 had been settled.

In a joint statement the publishers said they "consider the pattern has been set with the striking union."

The two papers still have to negotiate contracts with 13 non-striking craft unions. "In view of our long established practice of negotiating with other unions any pattern that is set, we will now endeavor to reach agreement on the same basis with the non-striking unions if there is to be prompt resumption of publication," they said.

The tentative contract now goes to the Teamsters' rank and file for ratification.

The new contract will give the Teamsters $30 per week extra over three years, Clara O'Conner, president of Teamsters Local 372, and Roger Hildebrand, labor-relations manager for the News, announced.

In the first year, there will be an $11 weekly raise followed by hikes of $10 and $9 in the second and third years, they said. The Teamsters had earlier turned down a $27 a week offer. Currently, Teamsters average $150 a week.

One of the main bones of contention had been the length of the contract. Both sides agreed the pact would expire three years after the newspapers resume publication.

The strike began Nov. 16 when the Teamsters struck the News as their contract expired. The Detroit Free Press ceased publication the next day under a publishers' agreement.

The walkout and lockout have idled about 4,300 employees at both papers. During the strike Teamsters have been collecting approximately $15 weekly in strike benefits.

Fourteen Candidates Now in Governor Race

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Eleven Democrats and three Republicans were in the race today for governor of Texas, the largest field since 1946 when 14 Democrats sought the state's highest office.

Filings for the May 4 primary ended at midnight Monday.

State Republican and Democratic headquarters are required to accept papers sent by registered mail and postmarked before midnight. Candidates have until midnight Thursday to pay the $1,000 filing fee.

State Democratic headquarters said Johnnie Mae Hockworth, pastor of the Grace Church in Houston, mailed her papers in late Monday. She was an unsuccessful candidate in the 1964 and 1966 primaries.

Houston banker files Alfonso Delor, a bank supervisor from Houston, surprised Democratic Party leaders by filing late Monday. He did not pay his filing fee either.

Other late filers for the governor's office, thrown wide open by Gov. John Connally's decision not to seek a fourth term, included Republican John Trice of Dallas, who said he was entering the GOP primary against the wishes of state party leaders, and liberal Democrat Don Yarborough.

Another potential Republican candidate, Jack Cox, meanwhile announced he had rejected an appeal from some party members for him to enter the race.

Fourteen Austin Republicans met with Cox at noon Monday and offered to pay his filing fee if he would get in the race.

The group openly expressed dissatisfaction with the way its party had handled a "candidate selection" meeting earlier.

Trice, however, said he was in the primary "in a very serious way."

Trice said state GOP chair (See RACE, Page 3)

More Candidates Enter Political Race in County

Two eleventh-hour candidates committed themselves to wage political battle in Gray County yesterday on the last day of filing for political office.

Homer Gibson, a Republican, filed shortly after noon yesterday as a candidate for justice of the peace, Pct. 2, Plc. 1. He will oppose the incumbent, Nat Lunsford, a Democrat.

W. E. (Bill) Whitsell, a Democrat, threw his hat into the ring three hours before the midnight deadline for the post of Gray County Sheriff. He will oppose the incumbent, R. H. (Rufe) Jordan, a Democrat.

County chairmen of both political parties also announced Monday that they would seek re-election to their present posts.

Wiley Reynolds is chairman of the Gray County Democratic Executive Committee, and George Cree is chairman of the Gray County Republican Executive Committee.

Following is a list of district and county offices which expire in 1968 and the candidates who seek them:

U.S. Representative, 18th Congressional District—Bob Price, Republican, incumbent; J. R. (Dick) Brown, Democrat.

State Representative, 84th Congressional District—Malouf Abraham, Republican, incumbent.

District Attorney, 31st Judicial District—Don Cain, Democrat; Guy Hardin, Democrat.

County Attorney, Gray County—Ben Sturgeon, Republican; Harold Comer, Democrat; John Warner, Democrat.

County Commissioner, Pct. 1—Joe K. Clarke, Democrat, incumbent; Buddy Cockrell, Republican.

Constable, Pct. 1—W. R. Combs, Democrat, incumbent; J. L. Bromlow, Democrat; Floyd McMiner, Democrat.

Constable, Pct. 2—H. A. Doggett, Democrat, incumbent; James Lewis, Republican.

Sweden Gives Asylum to US Deserters

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—The Swedish government today granted asylum to six more U.S. military deserters seeking escape from Vietnam war duty.

The Swedish Aliens Commission said the six would be permitted to remain in the neutral nation for "humanitarian" reasons.

They brought to 12 the number of U.S. deserters granted asylum. Another 10 have applied for asylum, most of them from U.S. military units in West Germany.

Those who won asylum today were:

Edward Kelly Johnson Jr., 21, Cleveland, Ohio; James H. Grant, 30, Meridian Miss., who fled to Sweden with his German born wife; Joseph E. Norwood, 20, Newport Beach, Calif.; John Dowling, 20, San Diego, Calif.; Lawrence Teeland, Wassell, Alaska; and Gregory Graham, 19, Dallas, Tex.

Johnson was refused asylum last month while "further investigation" was conducted in his case.

Today, however, the commission said its decision was unanimous.

The first to reach Sweden and apply for asylum were four U.S. Navy men who left their aircraft carrier in Japan to protest the Vietnam war.

With the aid of a Japanese peace organization they managed to reach the Soviet Union, and then Sweden.

Marines Fly Flag in Hue; Saigon Fighting Spreads

Officials Pleased In Korean Talks But Say Nothing

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. officials are privately gratified that direct American-North Korean talks are continuing but they decline to disclose how they are developing or what specifically is holding up the release of the crew of the captured USS Pueblo.

As of late Monday night, negotiators for both sides had met three times and officials here were hoping for another meeting, probably at the truce village in Panmunjom.

While no official here ventured to say that any definite progress was being made, there were indications that the meetings were dealing less in propaganda barrages and more in substantive issues.

State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey told a news briefing Monday that the fact that meetings were continuing could be considered "some progress."

But he added: "I should caution you against any suggestion that we here feel we are on the verge of settling the problem."

Publicly, the North Koreans have suggested that the incident could be solved if the United States would admit that the intelligence ship was operating in North Korean territorial waters and make a formal apology.

Coupled with this public demand, the North Koreans have also said that the United States should promise not to send another such ship into their waters and pledge to discipline those responsible for the Pueblo's mission.

The United States has taken some public moves which would appear to go part way toward the Korean position.

For example, in a specially arranged joint broadcast interview Sunday, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara indicated that they could not be 100 per cent certain that the ship had never crossed into North Korean territorial waters, although at this point they have no concrete evidence to suggest that it did.

Furthermore McNamara said that the military establishment would discipline a commander who violated his orders. In the case of the Pueblo, the orders forbade crossing into North Korean territorial waters.

ANOTHER AWARD — Kenny Hebert receives a special plaque from Dr. Joe Donaldson, representing the Chamber of Commerce sports committee at yesterday's luncheon which highlighted Kenny Hebert Day in Pampa.

Railroad Strike Hits Missouri Pacific System

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Trainmen struck the 12-state, 12,000 mile Missouri Pacific Railroad (MOPAC) without warning late Monday and early today in a dispute over restoration of jobs. The walkout could affect movement of vital ammunition supplies for Vietnam.

Also hit by a strike of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen was the Texas and Pacific Railway, with which the MOPAC covers the entire Midwest south to the Gulf of Mexico.

It was feared the walkout might spread to all parts of the nation. Other possible union targets, according to the Association of American Railroads, included the Gulf, Mobile & Ohio; the Southern Railway; the Union Pacific; the Boston & Maine; the Chesapeake & Ohio; and Seaboard Coastline.

A railroad spokesman at MOPAC headquarters called the strike "a callous disregard of the need for ammunition and supplies for Vietnam."

MOPAC serves several major arsenals and military establishments, the spokesman explained, and "effects of the strike will be felt almost immediately on supplies moving to war zones."

L.R. Johnson, BRT Local 637 business agent, said the walkout was over the "basic failure of the Missouri Pacific to bargain faithfully on crew consist issues," which he said involved the number of members of a crew and minimum union standards on rules and schedules.

The "crew consist" settlement of 1963 was a congressional award that cut the number of crewmen on trains. The award expired in 1965. Since then the BRT has exhausted all the remedies of Railway Labor act and is now free to strike.

Hebert Praised As Pampa All-American

By CURTIS MONTGOMERY

Kenny Hebert received praises from local sportscaster Warren Hasse as "the most versatile of Pampa's four All-Americans" and from his coach Bill Yeoman for excelling not only on the field but also in the classroom as Kenny Hebert Day reached its peak at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon yesterday.

Hebert, who set or tied 23 records at the University of Houston, was recently drafted by the Pittsburgh Steelers. He said, "I was really thrilled to be drafted by them."

Besides receiving a bevy of vocal plaudits, Hebert took home a bunch of awards. The first one presented came from Hasse, who had accepted it for Hebert at the Panhandle Hall of Fame ceremonies in Amarillo recently. It was the plaque naming him the "Baseball Player of the Year" in the Panhandle.

Hebert played first base on the U. of H. team which went to a second place finish at the NCAA tournament last year. He likely will be sought by major league baseball scouts for his talents on the diamond.

Hebert and coach Yeoman received honorary memberships in the Top O' Texas Club. Yeoman also received a jug of "white lightning" from North Carolina, whose team managed a victory over the Cougars last season.

Mrs. Walter Hebert was presented with a dozen roses and her husband and she received the official certificate naming Kenny Hebert as an All-American. Yeoman gave them the framed certificate with the comment: "To the ones who had such a big part in the making of Kenny."

Yeoman's biggest compliment to Hebert was the fact that Hebert was graduating in four years while participating in two college sports. Many athletes do not make it through in the prescribed time.

"He contributed many things which you can't see," Yeoman said. "Toughness of mind, body and instinct to win. He took more of a chance coming to Houston than we took. We were an unproven staff."

But Hebert's chance paid off. He went from Pampa High to the top of the sporting world and is still going. He was the (See HEBERT, Page 3)

Air War Blazes On With Increased Fury

SAIGON (UPI)—Enraged U.S. Marines ripped down a North Vietnamese flag in the still-embattled city of Hue today and ran up the Stars and Stripes. But fighting spread in the Saigon streets and the air war blazed with new fury.

U.S. spokesmen said about 900 Viet Cong moved from the flaming Cholon sector of Saigon back into the center of the city where street fighting broke out anew. There were battles in the suburbs and at the gates of the Tan Son Nhut airport.

U.S. Marines fought large scale engagements around the coastal city of Quang Tri just below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) and outside Da Nang as spokesmen warned the Communists appeared to be trying to isolate the big cities of Saigon, Hue and Da Nang.

In the air war U.S. planes battled Communist MIGs in a series of dogfights near the northern capital of Hanoi and each side lost one plane shot down. B52s again hit the Communist troop buildup near Khe Sanh while other planes pounded Communist positions in South Vietnam with 782 sorties.

The Communist offensive that began a week ago with start of the Tet lunar new year celebrations was proving a costly one.

Spokesmen put the Communist toll at 21,330 killed and 4,727 suspects captured—more than a quarter of all the Red troops lost in 1967.

Allied casualties were put at 1,729 dead including 546 Americans and 7,185 wounded including 3,084 Americans.

Untold thousands of civilians were dead or wounded and authorities estimated 300,000 persons were made homeless.

American authorities issued a steady stream of warnings that the Communists might renew their offensive against the cities at any time to back up the expected onslaught across the Demilitarized Zone against the Marine bastion of Khe Sanh.

They did not want the defenders to be caught napping as they were when the Communists Tet offensive started. Many South Vietnamese officers and men were on leave when the Viet Cong struck into 40 or 50 cities and towns and scored one of their great propaganda victories of the war.

At Khe Sanh, seven miles below the DMZ and only a few miles east of the Laotian border, the Communists rained in more than 170 rounds of mortars and rockets today, killing one Marine and wounding five. But probing attacks there Tuesday were thrown back.

The U.S. Command disclosed that 12,000 men—almost a full division—had been shifted into position just below the DMZ at the western end of the line—two brigades of the 1st Air Cavalry and one brigade of the 101st Airborne Division.

This brought U.S. strength in the two northernmost provinces to more than 50,000. Opposing them was a like number of North Vietnamese.

In fighting in this area the Americans were reported to have killed 627 Communists since Jan. 24 with a loss of 24 American dead and 172 wounded.

The most dramatic battle was at Hue, the ancient capital of the former Annamese kings and the cultural center of Vietnam.

Marines fighting inch by inch through the rubble of a city that resembled the bombed out European capitals in World War II were beginning to see the light.

UPI correspondent Alvin B. Webb Jr. reported that Marine Capt. Ron Christmas' H Company swore at the sight of the North Vietnam flag atop the provincial capitol. They smashed through Communist fire, seized the building and Christmas radioed his chief: "We have the building, sir! We're going to run up the American flag!"

Teacher Firing Rumor Leads to Gang Fight

CHICAGO (UPI)—The rumor of a teacher firing and what appeared to be a gang retaliation for a party crashing erupted into separate outbreaks of violence at two South Side high schools Monday. Two students were shot and wounded.

Police quelled rampaging students at Dunbar High School after sealing off an entire neighborhood. Students threw rocks, disrupted classes, blocked traffic and damaged cars, after an apparent rumor spread that a teacher had been fired.

Schools officials said Robinson was being transferred to another school since his class was being dropped from the Dunbar curriculum.

Twenty-one police cars surrounded the high school and police sealed off the surrounding neighborhood. Three youths were arrested after the crowd outside the school grew to more than 400.

War Protesters Thwarted Again

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An interfaith group of Vietnam war protesters was thwarted again today in an effort to force the Army to allow them to conduct a "memorial service" at Arlington National Cemetery.

But they decided to go anyway.

The U.S. Court of Appeals upheld a ruling by a federal district judge who refused Monday to overrule an Army decision banning the gathering at the cemetery on grounds it would be political.

But the group calling itself "Clergy and Laymen Concerned about Vietnam" said the 2,000 participants in the two-day protest would go to the cemetery across the Potomac River and hold a "silent Vigil" at the Tomb of the Unknowns.

Originally, the gathering was to have included addresses by the Rev. Martin Luther King and Methodist Bishop John Lord. The Army contended this could not be separated from the partisan nature of the rest of the peace group's meeting here.

LBJ Urges Investigation Of Automobile Insurance

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson urged Congress today to authorize a federal investigation of the nation's "overburdened and unsatisfactory" automobile insurance system.

The proposal was included in an eight-point program submitted by the President to insure that the American consumer gets a "fair and honest exchange for every hard-earned dollar."

Johnson told Congress in a special message on consumer interests the automobile insurance system has become a national problem with rising premiums and "arbitrary coverage and policy cancellations."

"Accident compensation is often unfair," Johnson said. "Some victims get too much, some get too little, some get none at all. Lawsuits have clogged our courts.

"With more than 100 million drivers and 96 million motor vehicles in the United States, the insurance system is severely handicapped," he said.

"We must move to streamline the automobile insurance system—to make it fair, to make it simple and to make it effective," Johnson said.

The President also proposed:—A crackdown on fraud and deception in sales to consumers.—Rigid inspection standards for fish and poultry products.—Authority for the Federal Trade Commission to seek court orders to halt fraudulent practices while a case is pending.—Appointment of a government lawyer to represent the consumer.

Lincoln Actually Had Plenty Of Girl Friends In Younger Days

By JERRY KLEIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

It's a common misconception that Abraham Lincoln had but one real love in his life, that he lost that love with the death of Ann Rutledge and never really felt deeply for any woman afterward.

"He was not very fond of girls," Abe's stepmother remarked. But the fact is that Lincoln had plenty of girl friends and came close to matrimony more than once in his younger days. His nearest approach to the altar involved the almost-forgotten Mary Owens, whose cherubic features you may see in this rare picture.

The judge, incidentally, had a niece who sat in on the trial. Afterward, she congratulated Lincoln and another romance flowered. Caroline Meeker saw young Lincoln often in

Mary Owens

Lincoln's first romantic dalliance came in his early teens. The girl was Ann Roby, a school chum in Indiana.

She'd listen by the hour while young Abe spoke of what he had read in books. But the farm boy had no tongue for sweet phrases, so their romance cooled.

In later years, Ann admitted that when they met, Abe spoke to her not so eloquently of love as of algebra. At 18, Ann was married to a rival of Lincoln, who knew better how to woo a mate.

Abe went off to run a ferry on the Ohio River between Indiana and Kentucky. Rival boatmen had the ragged youth arrested for ferrying passengers without a license. But young Lincoln stood up in court and defended himself successfully before the backwoods judge.

the weeks following the trial. The Meekers were a proud, successful family. Soon they forbade Caroline to encourage the lanky farmer. Conscious of his poverty and ignorance, Lincoln ended his ferry trips over the river to the Meeker home.

To Macon County, Ill., the Lincolns came by oxcart in 1830. Abe was 21 and hard as the point of his plow. He got a job splitting rails for the county sheriff, Major William Warnick. The sheriff liked the way Lincoln attacked the wood pile but frowned on Abe's growing friendship with his daughter, Polly. Unschooled Lincoln seemed hardly a suitable suitor for Polly's hand. Polly listened to her father, and gradually Abe stopped calling.

In 1831, Lincoln got a job ferrying a barge-load of goods down the Sangamon River. The boat became stuck on a mill-dam at New Salem, Ill., and there young Abe met Ann Rutledge, daughter of a local tavern-keeper. There was to be a romance emphasized of all proportion to the facts.

Ann came to the river that day to see Lincoln's stranded boat. Lincoln saw her blue eyes and pleasing face, learned her name and vowed to return to New Salem.

He did return after delivering the cargo and got a job in a store across the road from the Rutledge tavern. Soon, he was introduced to the auburn-haired, 18-year-old girl.

When Lincoln was finished at the store and Ann could leave the tavern, they walked together by the river.

So far as we know, Lincoln never spoke to Ann of marriage. He left New Salem to take a seat in the Illinois Legislature. Meanwhile, Ann became engaged to an Easterner. In the spring of 1835, Abe returned but there is no proof he and Ann planned to marry.

That summer heavy rains swept Illinois and there was an epidemic of malaria. In August, Ann became ill while Abe was out surveying some land a few miles from town. Surely, if he and Ann were engaged, he would have come to her bedside, but he did not.

Peruvian bark, boneset tea and calomel failed to help Ann. She died on Aug. 25. Without doubt, Ann Rutledge and Abraham Lincoln were good friends. But the time-honored legend that her death broke Abe's spirit and made him forever a brooding melancholic is plain nonsense.

Proof that he was not in love with Ann is the fact that a year after her death, Lincoln was having a light-hearted affair with a girl named Mary Owens. He was even considering asking her to be his wife.

Lincoln met Miss Owens when she came from Kentucky to visit her sister in New Salem. To Lincoln, she seemed "intelligent and agreeable" and he said he saw "no good objection to plodding through life hand in hand with her."

Miss Owens returned to Kentucky but Lincoln told her sister that if she ever returned to New Salem he would "catch, tie and marry" her.

Back came Miss Owens not long afterward. "Abe courted her for four months and offered to marry her, although the offer wasn't too enthusiastic."

The reason Lincoln's ardor cooled is difficult to say. He was sad, of course, over Ann's death; he was disappointed with a stumbling political career, and he was alarmed by Miss Owens' increasing plumpness.

Lincoln's final letter to Mary Owens ended their romance. If further meetings, he wrote, "would contribute nothing to your happiness, I am sure it would not to mine. If it suits you best not to answer this, farewell. A long life and a merry one attend you."

Another visitor from Kentucky was Mary Todd. Lincoln was in the legislature in Springfield, Ill., when she first came there in 1837. She was 19, and Lincoln 28. Abe was immediately captivated by Miss Todd's energy and intelligence.

Mary Todd spoke French, knew the topics of the day, and was a sprightly dancer. But Lincoln felt he had little to offer so remarkable a woman. After a round of dances and receptions, Miss Todd returned to Kentucky.

DEE HAWKINS
 ... Lieutenant Governor

Hawkins Elected To Office In Workshop

Dee Hawkins of Pampa, a sophomore at Frank Phillips College, was elected lieutenant governor of Division VII of the Texas-Oklahoma District of Circle K International at the division workshop held at Texas Tech in Lubbock last Saturday.

Hawkins is an active member and secretary of the Frank Phillips College club. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Hawkins, 1700 Evergreen, and a 1966 graduate of Pampa High School. He is an electronics major and plans to transfer to Texas Tech after graduation at Frank Phillips College.

Hawkins has 12 years experience in Boy Scout work and holds certificates in water safety and radio-communications.

In 1933 Adolf Hitler, the new chancelor of Germany, issued an order dissolving the Reichstag.

Board May Get New Proposal on Carver School

A delegation of South Pampa residents reportedly is planning to ask the Pampa school board to consider a new proposal to keep Carver School in operation.

It was learned today the plan probably will be presented at Thursday's monthly meeting of the board. If not then, it would come at a later meeting.

The Pampa board last Dec. 14 voted to close the Carver School for class purposes, effective with the beginning of the 1968-69 term.

Reports today were that parents of children in the Carver School area would ask for an extension of the district to include adjacent Prairie Village on an integrated basis.

The board voted to abandon Carver School on orders from the federal Health, Education and Welfare Department to complete compliance for the integration of Pampa public schools.

At that time the HEW was understood to have offered one alternative — move 50 per cent white students into the school and move 50 per cent of Carver's Negro students into white elementary schools.

House Writers Take Hard Look At LBJ's Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House taxwriters, showing little enthusiasm for a tax on Americans traveling abroad, planned a hard look today at President Johnson's plan to help curb the dollar drain by keeping tourists at home.

The House Ways & Means Committee, recalled for further testimony from Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler, who presented the administration's case Monday for taxes on travel to Europe, Asia and Africa.

Most committee members were noncommittal on Fowler's presentation, but two Democrats said it appeared the tax plan would fall hardest on the low-income traveler making his once in a lifetime trip abroad.

Whitsell Files For Sheriff

W. E. (Bill) Whitsell, 1812 N. Faulkner, has announced that he will be a candidate for sheriff of Gray County, subject to the action of the Democratic primary.

The 44-year-old World War II Air Force veteran, is a graduate of Pampa High School. He is a former Pampa, Clarendon and Lefors businessman.

Whitsell filed his candidacy last night with Bob Baker, secretary of the Gray County Democratic Executive Committee.

Senate Divided Texas Offices

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate conservatives and liberals were still far apart on the Johnson administration's civil rights bill today and prospects appeared dim for an early settlement of the three week dead-end.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., were faced with the task of starting all over again on a compromise that would satisfy both factions.

With Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., as spokesman, the liberal bloc rejected in advance a compromise the two leaders were drafting Monday.

The changes in the administration bill "would not be a compromise," Kennedy said, "they would be a surrender."

The legislation, passed by the House last year, would make it a federal crime to injure, or intimidate Negroes or civil rights workers in specified activities such as voting, registration, serving on juries, employment, schooling and the use of public accommodations.

High Court Candidate Is Visitor in Pampa

Judge Tom Reavley of Austin, candidate for Place 2 on the Texas Supreme Court, was in Pampa this forenoon visiting with lawyers and voters.

Reavley currently is serving a district judge of the newly-created 167th District Court of Travis County. He was appointed first judge of the district in 1961 and was elected in 1965 to his current full term.

Judge Reavley left Pampa for a luncheon speaking engagement in Perryton.

Lincoln Actually Had Plenty Of Girl Friends In Younger Days

By JERRY KLEIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
It's a common misconception that Abraham Lincoln had but one real love in his life, that he lost that love with the death of Ann Rutledge and never really felt deeply for any woman afterward.

"He was not very fond of girls," Abe's stepmother remarked. But the fact is that Lincoln had plenty of girl friends and came close to matrimony more than once in his younger days. His nearest approach to the altar involved the almost-forgotten Mary Owens, whose cherubic features you may see in this rare picture.

Lincoln's first romantic dalliance came in his early teens. The girl was Ann Roby, a school chum in Indiana. She'd listen by the hour while young Abe spoke of what he had read in books. But the farm boy had no tongue for sweet phrases, so their romance cooled.

In later years, Ann admitted that when they met, Abe spoke to her not so eloquently of love as of algebra. At 18, Ann was married to a rival of Lincoln, who knew better how to woo a mate.

Abe went off to run a ferry on the Ohio River between Indiana and Kentucky. Rival boatmen had the ragged youth arrested for ferrying passengers without a license. But young Lincoln stood up in court and defended himself successfully before the backwoods judge.

The judge, incidentally, had a niece who sat in on the trial. Afterward, she congratulated Lincoln and another romance flowered. Caroline Meeker saw young Lincoln often in the weeks following the trial. The Meekers were a proud, successful family. Soon they forbade Caroline to encourage the lanky farmer. Conscious of his poverty and ignorance, Lincoln ended his ferry trips over the river to the Meeker home. To Macon County, Ill., the Lincolns came by oxcart in 1830. Abe was 21 and hard as the point of his plow. He got a job splitting rails for the county sheriff, Major William Warnick. The sheriff liked the way Lincoln attacked the wood pile but frowned on Abe's growing friendship with his daughter, Polly. Unschooled Lincoln seemed hardly a suitable suitor for Polly's hand. Polly listened to her father, and gradually Abe stopped calling.

In 1831, Lincoln got a job ferrying a bargeload of goods down the Sangamon River. The boat became stuck on a milldam at New Salem, Ill., and there young Abe met Ann Rutledge, daughter of a local tavernkeeper. There was to be a romance emphasized out of all proportion to the facts.

Ann came to the river that day to see Lincoln's stranded boat. Lincoln saw her blue eyes and pleasing face, learned her name and vowed to return to New Salem.

He did return after delivering the cargo and got a job in a store across the road from the Rutledge tavern. Soon, he was introduced to the auburn-haired, 18-year-old girl.

When Lincoln was finished at the store and Ann could leave the tavern, they walked together by the river.

So far as we know, Lincoln never spoke to Ann of marriage. He left New Salem to take a seat in the Illinois Legislature. Meanwhile, Ann became engaged to an Easterner. In the spring of 1835, Abe returned but there is no proof he and Ann planned to marry.

That summer heavy rains swept Illinois and there was an epidemic of malaria. In August, Ann became ill while Abe was out surveying some land a few miles from town. Surely, if he and Ann were engaged, he would have come to her bedside, but he did not.

Peruvian bark, boneset tea and calomel failed to help Ann. She died on Aug. 25.

Without doubt, Ann Rutledge and Abraham Lincoln were good friends. But the time-honored legend that her death broke Abe's spirit and made him forever a brooding melancholic is plain nonsense.

Proof that he was not in love with Ann is the fact that a year after her death, Lincoln was having a light-hearted affair with a girl named Mary Owens. He was even considering asking her to be his wife.

Lincoln met Miss Owens when she came from Kentucky to visit her sister in New Salem. To Lincoln, she seemed "intelligent and agreeable" and he said he saw "no good objection to plodding through life hand in hand with her."

Miss Owens returned to Kentucky but Lincoln told her sister that if she ever returned to New Salem he would "catch, tie and marry" her.

Back came Miss Owens not long afterward. Abe courted her for four months and offered to marry her, although the offer wasn't too enthusiastic.

The reason Lincoln's ardor cooled is difficult to say. He was sad, of course, over Ann's death; he was disappointed with a stumbling political career, and he was alarmed by Miss Owens' increasing plumpness.

Lincoln's final letter to Mary Owens ended their romance. If further meetings, he wrote, "would contribute nothing to your happiness, I am sure it would not to mine. If it suits you best not to answer this, farewell. A long life and a merry one attend you."

Another visitor from Kentucky was Mary Todd. Lincoln was in the legislature in Springfield, Ill., when she first came there in 1837. She was 19, and Lincoln 28. Abe was immediately captivated by Miss Todd's energy and intelligence.

Mary Todd spoke French, knew the topics of the day, and was a sprightly dancer. But Lincoln felt he had little to offer so remarkable a woman. After a round of dances and receptions, Miss Todd returned to Kentucky.

man Peter O'Donnell Jr. of Dallas had tried to talk him out of running. O'Donnell said some other party leaders are backing Paul Eggers, a Wichita Falls lawyer, in the governor's race.

Monday was also the filing deadline for legislative races and hundreds of county offices.

Republican Manuel A. (Manny) Sanchez of Brownsville filed Monday for state treasurer. He ran for the legislature in a special election last fall but lost to Democrat Henry Sanchez. He will oppose veteran state treasurer Jesse James.

Another Republican, Millard K. Neptune of New Ulm, filed against land commissioner Jerry Sadler. Neptune is a rancher and former executive of Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. in Houston.

E. G. Schuhart II, a rancher from Dalhart, filed for the Republican nomination to oppose Agriculture Commissioner John C. White. Schuhart, 52, is a former mayor of Dalhart and a member of the 10th District Farm Credit Board.

And, Waco businessman Doug DeCluit informed Republican headquarters in Austin late Monday he had mailed in his filing papers for the lieutenant governor's post.

Hawkins Elected To Office In Workshop

Dee Hawkins of Pampa, a sophomore at Frank Phillips College, was elected lieutenant-governor of Division VII of the Texas-Oklahoma District of Circle K International at the division workshop held at Texas Tech in Lubbock last Saturday. Hawkins is an active member and secretary of the Frank Phillips College club. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Hawkins, 1700 Evergreen, and a 1966 graduate of Pampa High School. He is an electronics major and plans to transfer to Texas Tech after graduation at Frank Phillips College.

Hawkins has 12 years experience in Boy Scout work and holds certificates in water safety and radio-communications.

Board May Get New Proposal on Carver School

A delegation of South Pampa residents reportedly is planning to ask the Pampa school board to consider a new proposal to keep Carver School in operation.

It was learned today the plan probably will be presented at Thursday's monthly meeting of the board. If not then, it would come at a later meeting.

The Pampa board last Dec. 14 voted to close the Carver School for class purposes, effective with the beginning of the 1968-69 term.

Reports today were that parents of children in the Carver School area would ask for an extension of the district to include adjacent Prairie Village on an integrated basis.

The board voted to abandon Carver School on orders from the federal Health, Education and Welfare Department to complete compliance for the integration of Pampa public schools.

At that time the HEW was understood to have offered one alternative—move 50 per cent white students into the school and move 50 per cent of Carver's Negro students into white elementary schools.

House Writers Take Hard Look At LBJ's Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House taxwriters, showing little enthusiasm for a tax on Americans traveling abroad, planned a hard look today at President Johnson's plan to help curb the dollar drain by keeping tourists at home.

The House Ways & Means Committee, recalled for further testimony from Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler, who presented the administration's case Monday for taxes on travel to Europe, Asia and Africa.

Most committee members were noncommittal on Fowler's presentation, but two Democrats said it appeared the tax plan would fall hardest on the low-income traveler making his once in a lifetime trip abroad.

Furthermore it would base its constitutional grounds on the commerce clause involving interstate issues rather than the 14th Amendment guaranteeing equal rights regardless of race, color or creed. The commerce clause would be a more limiting approach because it would exempt state functions such as jury selections and elections.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What does a wife do when she's lost practically all communication with her husband? Our children have left the nest and live out of state.

My husband has done very well financially, and I must admit he has been extremely good to me and the children—but our lives seem so empty now.

He comes home from the office at 5:30, has one scotch and soda, then he eats his dinner. After that he buries his nose in the Wall Street Journal, Barrons, or some other dull publication. Then if he doesn't watch television, he reads some more.

We rarely talk. He tells me he spends his time talking to people all day (he's a stock broker) and when he gets home he's all talked out. We're not old. I'm 57 and he's 59. Any suggestions?

MARGE: DEAR MARGE: Yes. Bury your nose in the Wall Street Journal, Barrons, or some other publication before he gets home, and hone up on all the financial news. Then hummer him, pamper him, baby him, pet him, and flatter him. And if that doesn't work, when he gets to bed—

DEAR ABBY: Please tell parents of youngsters who are taking piano lessons (or violin, or any other musical instrument) that no matter how the kid HATES it, not to let him quit.

Kids will cry and carry on, and tell you they don't have time to practice—that you are wasting your money, and they will give you a dozen other excuses for their laziness, but wise parents will pay no attention to it. They will tell their children that music is a part of their education—like going to regular school and Sunday school, and they have to practice whether they like it or not. (Even under these conditions, you'd be surprised how much they learn.)

I hated piano with a passion, so my mother, like so many other well-meaning mothers, finally got tired of fighting with me, and she let me quit.

I thought I won that battle, but now I realize, I lost. How I wish my mother had been firmer and MADE me continue.

MISSED THE BOAT: DEAR MISSED: Boats are leaving every day, I don't know your age, but if you're young enough to read this letter, you can learn to play the piano if you're still not too lazy, that is.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with this very eligible gentleman for about six months. My problem is that I am not making very good progress.

For instance, he has never said, "I love you." He says, "I am very fond of you."

We're not kids, Abby. I am a widow, 51, and he's a widower, 55.

I have a girl friend who is 53 and never been married and she says the way to get a man to tell you he LOVES you is to tell him first. Should I?

Council of Clubs Hears Report on Letters

The Council of Clubs met in the City Club Room Thursday for the regular monthly meeting with president, Mrs. Virginia McDonald presiding.

The meeting was opened with an invocation by Mrs. Fidelia Yoder, followed by several items of routine business.

Several letters of special interest to all club members were read. One from the American Business Women's Association invited all club members to attend their annual Boss' Night Banquet Feb. 27. Reservations can be made with committee members.

Also a letter from Mrs. J.T. Richardson of Harrah Methodist Church was read, suggesting members and special groups attend the special services in their "Week To Believe," beginning Feb. 25. Rev. Dr. Clovis Chappell is to be in Pampa to conduct these services at the Harrah Church. All Pampans may attend. The night of Feb. 27 is set aside for recognition of special groups.

Mrs. McDonald also announced that the Chamber of Commerce has a film for various groups, which depicts Pampa as a desirable convention city.

She ended the meeting with historical facts of the early years of the council, and also presented facts from the constitution.

Members present were Mrs. Lee Harrah and Mrs. J. M. Turner representing the American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. Jack Hatcher of the Rebekahs, Mrs. Carl Shafer of Pampa Music Teachers Association, Mrs. Fidelia Yoder of Treble Clef Club, Mrs. Etta Powers of Business and Professional Women's Association, Mrs. Libby Showell of Pampa Altrusa Club, Mrs. Roy Sparkman of Kappa Kappa Iota and Mrs. McDonald of the Pampa Credit Women's Association.

Good things come in small packages. For small families or quick snacks, choose cranberry sauce in 8-ounce cans—just enough for two or three servings with no leftovers.

HOLDING OUT: Don't tell a man you "love" him in order to trick him into telling you he loves you. (If it's not sincere, who needs it?) Yes, five seconds is long enough to hold a kiss with a man who is only "fond" of you. (P.S. with reference to your unmarried girlfriend, I wouldn't accept coaching from someone who has never made the team.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO MISERABLE IN MIAMI: If you forgive him you will have solved only part of your problem. First you must for give yourself.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90009. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

ARTFUL CANVAS—Black splashed on white cotton canvas creates a cool spring picture. Arpeja softly gathers this youthful empire junior dress and adds asymmetrical jet ball buttons.

Mrs. Lam Feted At Area Coffee

LEFORS (Sp1) — Mrs. Hubert Lam was given a going-away coffee in the home of Mrs. D. C. Read recently in Lefors.

Mrs. Lam and children have joined her husband Hubert, and moved to Waco where he was transferred with Cities Service.

Mrs. Lam remained in Lefors until semester tests were over and enrolled the children in school at Waco Jan. 22.

The family were members of the First Baptist Church and were active in civic affairs. Mr. Lam served as president of the Lions Club, and served on the Board of Trustees for the Lefors School System.

Mrs. Cook Hosts Circle Meeting

CANADIAN (Sp1) — Mrs. Frank Cook was hostess to the Lois Circle of First Christian Church recently.

Mrs. Homer Thomas began the meeting with invocation. Mrs. Warren Harrington gave the devotional. Mrs. Harry Haines was study leader.

Those present were Meses. Vance Stickley, Lela Kindel, Warren Harrington, Homer Thomas, Harry Haines and the hostess, Mrs. Cook.

By MRS. O. A. WAGNER

Get ready for six weeks of winter weather; the ground hog has seen his shadow!

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Evans spent one day last week with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Oats and family and returned their grandson, Bob Oats to his home. He had spent a couple of days with his grandparents here.

Roy Bell from Perryton was in town Thursday on business and called on his aunt, Mrs. Mollie Hethcock.

Mrs. L. E. Lewis has returned from Leedey, Okla., where she spent two and a half weeks caring for her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Gordon who are ill.

Mrs. Myrtle Enloe attended the wedding of her granddaughter, Miss Linda Marie Skidmore Jan. 20 in Central Baptist Church. Rev. T. O. Upshaw performed the wedding ceremony. A large crowd of relatives and friends attended the ceremony. A reception followed in the Fellowship Hall. The rehearsal dinner was given at Jim's Steak house by the bridegroom's parents. After a short wedding trip, the couple are at home at 2816 S.W. 5th St., Oklahoma City, where Mr. Kinney is presently employed.

Frank Carter was back with us, and is getting his artificial leg next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Henderson attended the funeral of Mr. Henderson's brother, Ward Henderson, who was fatally injured in a car wreck last week. We extend our sympathy. Mr. and Mrs. Henderson both came down with the flu on their return.

Miss Cathy Wilkie who is a student at Oklahoma State University at Stillwater, Okla., visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Wilkie at 604 Sloan during midwinter recess, and grandparents Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Wilkie.

Mrs. Lee Meadows attended the wedding of her granddaughter Miss Malinda Moore to Rony McFair, Jan. 25 at Clarendon.

This was the birthday meeting, hosted by the Altrusa Club. All those present with birthdays in February were honored with a gift. Those present serving refreshments were Meses. Louise Sewell, Lora Dunn, J. Flanagan, Lillian Snow and Flossie Anderson. Favours were Valentines.

Red Cross volunteers serving with transportation were Meses. A. D. Hills and Louise Britton.

The birthday cake, decorated in Valentine motif, was furnished by Mrs. Emily Coston. The centerpiece of mixed flowers set off by a plastic heart and cupid, was furnished by Mrs. Ann Kay. The floral centerpiece was sent to Mr. J. E. Adair, who is in the hospital.

Those having birthdays this month were Meses. Marian Taylor, C. G. Miller, Edith Mills, Mina Benham, Rudell Lightfoot and a guest from Amarillo, Melvina Scarberry, and Meses. Fred Cullum, R. W. Tucker and O.L. Ray.

Mrs. Cora Long was reported doing nicely after her surgery. She was expected to be released from the hospital Saturday.

HOT CUSTOM

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI)—The Chinese light firecrackers on their lunar New Year traditionally to drive away the demons. But fires started by the holiday custom burned 45 homes and 10 shops to the ground this week, leaving 900 members of the Chinese community homeless, the newspaper Malay Mail reported.

YEMEN BATTLE

CAIRO (UPI)—Republican forces in Yemen defeated a Royalist force occupying positions west of the capital, Saudi News Agency (MENA) said. Royalist commanders were fleeing to the borders as the republic forces claimed to be in full control of the main road into the capital.

Kennedy Says Viet Cong Scores Political Victory

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said today the Viet Cong have scored an "outstanding political victory" in their attacks of the past few days.

Noting Johnson administration claims of a "military defeat" of the Viet Cong attackers, Kennedy said in a speech prepared for the Advertising Federation:

"All these evaluations may have some merit. But I suggest that we would be wiser as a nation to recognize that during the past week, the Viet Cong and their allies from the north achieved an outstanding political victory. Such recognition would not be a sign of weakness on our part."

And renewing his charge of corruption and laxity among South Vietnamese officials, the younger Kennedy brother said the U.S. reaction to the crisis should be one that "attacks the deadly apathy of the people toward their government."

Calling for a confrontation by the United States with the South Vietnamese, Kennedy said: "The crisis of the moment, the increases in the losses of American lives, and the amount of national treasure flowing to Vietnam with a dangerous impact upon our own domestic tranquility demand such a confrontation."

Dallas Peace Group

Sends Out Resolution

DALLAS (UPI)—Phillip Kaat of the Citizens for McCarthy organization in Dallas said Monday the group has sent a resolution to U.S. Sen. Eugene McCarthy asking him to propose a "U.S. Department of Peace."
The department, suggested by Thomas Hudson McKee of Dallas, would turn effort to maintaining peace with the same intensity as effort that is now turned to defense work.

Arlington Production To Befriend Veterans

By TOMMY GEDDIE ARLINGTON, (UPI) — A group of students and the mother of a GI killed in Vietnam take their "Operation Troop Group" on the road for the first time Feb. 25 to befriend wounded Vietnam veterans.
The 11-act show will entertain troops at Ft. Hood at Killeen, and then will present its show March 2 at Texas hall at the University of Texas at Arlington.
"It is an extremely unique show," said Mrs. Beverly Lasher, founder of the group. "By the time the final curtain comes down, everyone will have chill bumps down their backs. We don't wave the flag as such, but the audience knows we care."
Mrs. Lasher said the members of Operation Troop Group would not only present a show, but also would "go to church with these young men, and dine with them in the enlisted men's mess as well as make ward visits at bedside in the hospital."
Named for Student
The group was formed in the name of the Rick Lasher Memorial Fund. Rick, a former University of Texas at Arlington student, died at the age of 20 in Vietnam last Aug. 20.
Mrs. Lasher, operator of a secretarial service in Arlington, founded the memorial fund and started "Operation Gift Life" to remind men in Vietnam they were not being forgotten.
After learning that her son's replacement in Vietnam had been blinded and maimed, and after a visit to Darnall Army Hospital at Ft. Hood, Mrs. Lasher started organizing the group.
She felt she should do more because "the boys are so hungry for this type of entertainment."
"I feel that by the end of this month we will be booked up for about a year," she said.
Most From Arlington
Most of the cast are students at Arlington, though several come from high schools in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.
Included on the program are Phyllis Good and Fred McFarland, both of Garland, who recently returned from a USO tour overseas; singer and dancer Sally Solido, who has been featured on statewide television programs; The Tush Robinson Trio; and several other groups; as well as a young tenor from Fort Worth I. M. Terrill High School with the unlikely name Glenn Miller.
A major part of the group is the Military Brass, made up of 10 pretty girls selected through a screening process from a larger group of applicants.
"They are specially trained to talk to these boys," said Mrs. Lasher. "They sing and they dance, but their main function is to let these youngsters know the rest of the Americans—the responsible Americans appreciate the fact that they wear their uniforms."

Embattled Board Issues Instructions to Personnel

AUSTIN (UPI) — The embattled liquor control board Monday gave its personnel a new set of instructions that includes tougher rules on private club guests.
The three-member LCB adopted the new rules at an unannounced board meeting.
The section on private clubs contains a new rule prohibiting club managers and employees from issuing guest cards.
In the past, some clubs have served liquor to virtually anyone through guest cards issued by club employees. The new regulation says club employees cannot issue guest cards.
What It Says
The four-page memorandum warns that "failure by any employee to comply with the foregoing instructions shall constitute grounds for immediate dismissal."
The new regulations require LCB employees to report any evidence of gambling in a place licensed by the LCB immediately to the district attorney, county attorney, sheriff, chief of police, department of public safety, the governor and the LCB.
The LCB created a "complaint committee" to "consider all complaints and reports of irregularities. The panel will be Limited Information orator, assistant administrator, composed of the LCB administrator, accounting and enforcement attorney, and heads of the department.
LCB employees are forbidden from giving "any unauthorized person privileged information concerning license or permit applications" or violation reports.
LCB employees are forbidden to bid on confiscated vehicles offered for sale by the LCB and notice of all such sales must be published twice in a local newspaper.

Who Is He? An Army VIP Test

Before retiring in May 1949, after 31 years of service, this general officer served as United States Military Governor in Germany and Commander-in-Chief of U.S. Forces in Europe. In 1942 and 1943, as Assistant Chief for Materiel, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, in Washington, D.C., he served on the Production Executive Committee of the War Production Board. Rats Run Wild In NY Garbage

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rats played over mounds of garbage in slum areas today and refuse spread across sidewalks in exclusive residential sections in the fifth day of a garbage collectors strike. City health officials were meeting to consider declaring a state of emergency. The city health department said Monday the uncollected garbage was already a "real hazard" to health in some areas. Under a state of emergency, Mayor John V. Lindsay would be permitted to take drastic action such as asking the governor to call up National Guard units to haul away the refuse. Lindsay was already considering such a move, an aide to the mayor said. More than 40,000 tons of garbage in bags, barrels and boxes has piled up on sidewalks and in streets since the 10,000 members of the Sanitationmen's Association of the Teamsters Union went on strike Friday for higher pay. The refuse was growing at the rate of 8,000 tons a day. Lindsay, grim and angry, vowed the city would not surrender to the "unreasonable and excessive" demands of the strikers, who have been working without a contract since last June 30 are seeking $600 annual raises. "To submit to blackmail, brute force and muscle would only corrupt relations with other city employ unions," the mayor said. The city has offered the garbage collectors $300 annual raises retroactive to July 1. The strikers now earn annual salaries ranging from $6,424 to $7,966.

Distributive Education Students Honored at Meet

Four Pampa High School Distributive Education students rated both club and individual honors in the area D. E. contest in Odessa recently and have two students eligible for the state D. E. events in March. Pampa area D. E. winners were Anna Johnson and Billy Davis, both second runner-up for outstanding girl and boy D. E. student; Donna James, second runner-up in sales demonstration and Susan Lowe, first runner-up in job interview. "This is the 37th annual contest and the first time two students from one school have placed as high as second runner up for outstanding D. E. student," Clinton Forbes, D. E. sponsor and teacher, said. "With their accumulative points, these four students placed Pampa club second out of 93 schools," Forbes said. Other club awards they won for Pampa were best dressed at conference, best behaved club in the area, and most student attendance at the conference. "The award for behavior is one of the highest a club can receive, because it includes their contest behavior, sportsmanship and out of contest behavior, from the time they leave school until they return," Forbes said. Judges for all events were Texas Education Agency Officials.

Miss Johnson and Davis will enter the state contest in Houston March 8 and 9. Davis will compete in advertising, which he won on the local level. Area contest had no advertising event. Miss Davis will be the Pampa delegate to the business sessions. During the D. E. contest, Anna Johnson was named as one of 10 finalists for the $2,000, two-year scholarship to the University of Houston. The final award will be announced at

UCLA Gains on Cougars in Poll

By SANDY PRISANT
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — The University of Houston basketball bandwagon began to lose momentum Monday when the nation's coaches moved UCLA to within 10 points of the top-ranked Cougars in the 10th weekly major college ratings for the 1967-68 campaign.

With only five weeks to go before United Press International's 35-member Board of Coaches picks the season's national champion, Houston began to show signs of tiring in the stretch. The unbeaten Cougars voted No. 1 for the third week in a row, picked up 22 first place votes and 337 points, compared to UCLA's 13 votes for top ranking and 327 points.

While the two giants continued to battle for supremacy the remaining eight members of the top 10 found themselves huddled far behind.

North Carolina remained third, but was still 59 points behind the Bruins. Tennessee made the biggest move, leaping past New Mexico and St. Bonaventure and into fourth place.

Columbia received its highest point total ever, but remained seventh, followed by Kentucky, Vanderbilt, and Duke.

Riding a 21-game winning streak that is the longest among the nation's major colleges, Houston (20-0 this season) had rolled up 28 first place votes and 343 points in each of the past two weeks, following the Cougars heralded 71-69 triumph over the Bruins.

But in the balloting based on games played through Feb. 3, Houston lost six first place votes after a lackluster 102-93 triumph over Marshall and an easy victory over Fairfield.

UCLA's only outing last week was a 101-67 bombardment of Pacific Eight contender Southern Cal that enabled the Bruins (16-1) to cut Houston's ratings lead by more than half.

North Carolina (14-1), shooting for another Atlantic Coast Conference Title, raised its point total slightly to 268 after a pair of victories last week.

Tennessee (14-2) also won twice and the Vols, who lead the Southeastern Conference, garnered an even 200 points—29 more than a week ago—to edge past New Mexico and St. Bonaventure.

The Lobos (17-1) suffered their first loss of the season Saturday night, a 69-68 setback at the hands of Arizona, and fell to fifth with 190 points.

Seven points behind was St. Bonaventure which remained undefeated in 16 outings with a 66-62 victory over Villanova at Philadelphia's forboding Palestra.

Coaches Seek Job Opening

A number of football coaches are now contacting the school board as the late hour interviews go on, according to McHenry Lane, acting superintendent of schools.

"We want to talk to everyone who is interested in the job, and we have come to no definite decision as yet," Lane said.

Radio Station KPDN last night reported that the field had been narrowed to six coaches, but Lane denied this, this morning.

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Indians signed their star player for the 1968 season when catcher Duke Sims signed a contract. The 26-year-old hit .202 with 12 homers and runs batted in last season.

The Sports Patrol

By STEVE SNIDER
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Phil Rizzuto, the old New York Yankee shortstop, came up with pretty fair question the other day.

"What does an infielder have to get into Baseball's Hall of Fame?"

"Only two infielders have been elected by the writers in the last 12 years," says Phil. Only two in 13 years have been elected by the old-timers committee and one of those died in the last century."

Pitchers and outfielders have dominated the selections the 23 from that group shined at Cooperstown, N.Y., in 1955.

Luke Appling (1964) and Eddie Robinson (1962) are the only infielders picked by the writers in a dozen years. John Montgomery Ward (1964), who died in the 19th century and had a lot going for him, was elected by the old-timers committee as was Home Run Baker in 1955.

"Holy cow, what do they have against infielders?" L'il Phil wants to know.

Rizzuto, picked four straight times on the major league all-star team during his Yankee years, passed along some of his feelings on his CBS radio network show last week but he says the old-timers committee isn't listening.

"My fate may be in their hands some day," he said. In this year's election by voters, Joe Medwick finally made it a few days later, the 6-timers committee — which picked two more outfielders for Cooperstown.

Goose Goslin and Hazen (Kiki) Cuyler were the pair selected by the committee on veterans headed by former commissioner Ford Frick and including Joe Cronin, Charley Gehringer and Frank Frisch, Hall of Fame infielders.

Medwick piled up 240 votes in the writers poll with 213 required for election. Catcher Roy Campanella had 205, eight short.

Lou Boudreau led the infielders with 146 but the next infielder, down in eighth position, was Marty Marion with only 89.

Phil was in 13th place with 74 votes.

Baseball's truly famous infielders from Tinker to Evers to Chance, to Hornsby, Wagner, Traynor, Foxx, Collins, Gehrig, Heilmann, Sisler and Terry all are in the Hall.

But lately, the accent has been on pitching and home run power to the neglect of the glove men who can beat you a lot of ways other than with a potent bat.

Boudreau, shortstop-manager of Cleveland's 1948 champions, has led the infielders consistently in recent balloting but is nowhere near a winning year.

The last time we saw Marty Marion, he still looked like "Mr. Shortstop," a nickname he carried through many a campaign with the St. Louis Cardinals. He's nowhere, either.

Rizzuto insists he's not harvesting a crop of sour grapes over his own status, conceding that's the quickest way to alienate the voters.

"But us infielders got to stick together," he says. "We're just not doing so good at the polls."

Ranked Broncs Beat Corpus

The Pan American Broncs, ranked 12th in the nation along with Northern Michigan whom they have defeated, coasted to a 94-42 victory over the University of Corpus Christi Monday night.

Otto Moore and Lloyd Mitchell each gathered 28 points for Pan Am. The Broncs built up an early lead and then took it easy for the rest of the game.

In other games Monday night, Stephen F. Austin thrashed Sul Ross on the 18 point shooting of Ervin Polnick and Surry Oliver, and ran its Lone Star Conference record to 7-1 with a 78-62 victory.

The record is second in the conference behind the 8-0 mark of Howard Payne, who downed Sam Houston 93-83 for the 18th win in a row Monday. Fred Davis paced the winners with 22 points.

Southwest Texas, tied until Monday night with McMurry in the LSC, moved firmly into third place with a 102-75 drubbing of McMurry. Chet Cook provided 24 of the SWT points.

The game also marked the first time this season the Bobcats passed the century mark. In other Lone Star Conference action, Texas A&I moved into clear control of fifth place with a 73-60 defeat of East Texas State.

The loss dropped East Texas even deeper in the cellar with a 1-7 conference record. Memphis State downed North Texas State 67-65 in a battle of the cellar-dwellers of the Missouri Valley Conference.

But the game was a close one and was tied five times and the lead changed hands six times in the last eight minutes. NTSU pulled within a point, 63-64 with 30 seconds left.

Then Mackie Smith hit one free throw and Herb Hilliard hit two of two, making it 67-63. Lee Winfield hit a layup at the gun to bring the losers within two points.

Smith's 16 points was high for the winners. Willie Davis hit 22 for the losers.

Don't Call Quarry

By JOE SARGIS
UPI Sports Writer

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—If you were thinking about calling Jerry Quarry today to congratulate him on his big victory over Thad Spencer in the World Boxing Association's heavyweight elimination series, please don't.

Quarry is home with his wife today and the two are about as nervous as any young parents. Their little boy, who is 17 months old, has a severe bronchial condition, and that has all their attention.

"My son's condition was on my mind all the time during the fight," Quarry said after he dropped Spencer twice and then knocked him out in the 12th and final round Saturday at the Oakland arena.

"Winning the fight was important, but my son comes first. I'll start thinking about what I'll do next later."

What the 22-year-old Los Angeles Irishman will do next is meet Jimmy Ellis, former heavyweight king Cassius Clay's stablemate, for the vacant world title, probably in April and in Oakland.

Ellis was a ringside observer Saturday and saw all he wanted to see as Quarry, billed by many these days as the "new white hope," battered Spencer from every conceivable angle and then was awarded a knockout at 2:57 of the 12th when referee Jack Downey figured Thad had had enough. Quarry landed a glancing right off Thad's head early in the first round forgot to get out of the way and Spencer hung on. Jerry hit Spencer a half dozen good blows in the next five rounds, dropped him late in the fourth and then seemed to let up in the middle sessions.

With Spencer apparently gaining an edge and making it close, Quarry rallied to drop the San Franciscan again in the 10th, and in the 12th, he battered Spencer all over the ring after first setting him up for the kill with a straight right to the chin.

The victory was the 26th of Quarry's pro career compared to one loss (to Eddie Machen) and four draws. For Spencer, it marked the third time in his 38-fight career that he was stopped.

Winless Westerners To Tangle With Harvesters

The Pampa Harvesters, presently ranked ninth among basketball teams in the state 4A classification, tangle with a winless Lubbock Westerner team in Lubbock at 8 p.m. tonight.

Pete Stopped; LSU Beaten

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Towering Tennessee clamped the defensive lid on Pete Maravich and rolled to an easy 87-67 win over Louisiana State University here Monday night.

Bill Justus, Tennessee's classy junior guard, paced the sixth-ranked Volunteers to their 16th victory against one loss. The win gave Tennessee a 9-1 record in the Southeastern Conference.

Maravich, the nation's leading scorer with a 45-plus average, was held to 21 points as the Tigers dropped to 10-7 for the season a 5-5 evened their SEC mark at 5-5.

Tom Eoerwinkle, the Volunteers' seven-foot center, added 16 points to give Tennessee undisputed first place in the SEC. Forward Tom Hendrix added 13 points for Tennessee.

The tenacious defensive work of the Volunteers bottled up Maravich, limiting him to only nine points in the first half. Maravich fouled out with just over two minutes remaining in the contest.

Cokes Victorious In French Bout

PARIS (UPI)—World welterweight champion Curtis Cokes' long left proved just as baffling to France's Jean Josselin Monday night as it had in November, 1966, when the two fought in Cokes' hometown of Dallas, Tex.

Cokes knocked Josselin down twice during the 10-round non-title bout in the Palace of Sports and dominated all but the 8th and 9th rounds in taking an easy decision.

Cokes battered Josselin throughout with long lefts that the Frenchman could not block and floored Josselin in the 2nd and 10th rounds. Josselin was on the floor at the final bell.

The Frenchman put on a torrid rush in the 8th and 9th rounds, but appeared to tire from the flurry and couldn't get inside Cokes' reach advantage in the final round.

HOCKEY QUALIFIER
GRENOBLE, France (UPI)—West Germany qualified to play in the group A Olympic hockey competition by beating Romania 7-0 Sunday night.

George Bailey, Pampa's leading shooter, is again entering the game one little point out of first place in ousting scoring with 289 points to Plainview's Tim Lane's 290.

Pampa is 4-1 for the second round and the host team is 0-5. It is doubtful that Pampa will have much trouble unless they go down there with the attitude that they won't have any trouble.

Charlie Begins Winter Games

By MIKE HUGHES

GRENOBLE, France (UPI)—Perfumed paper roses and flags shot from cannons, substituting for the traditional launching of doves, formed the backdrop today to President Charles de Gaulle's official opening of the 1968 winter Olympics.

More than 65,000 spectators rose as one in the makeshift, $600,000 arena built especially for the opening and closing ceremony as the 76-year-old French president took his seat at the tribunal of the ceremony.

Bands blared martial music and parachutists dropped into the arena shortly before De Gaulle's arrival to preside over the carefully staged ceremonies which reportedly cost more than a million dollars to organize.

Athletes Parade
As the French chief of state took his place in the stands the 1,355 athletes from the 37 nations competing in the winter games began their parade into the stadium to the accompaniment of composer Jacques Bonfond's symphonic march.

They were led by the blue and white striped flag of the six-competitor Greek delegation in accordance with Olympic tradition dating back to 1896 when the ancient games of the Peloponnesian peninsula were revived.

As De Gaulle announced "I proclaim the opening of the 10th winter Olympics of Grenoble," the Olympic flag was raised, on

'Horn Beaned

AUSTIN (UPI)—Pat Brown, a junior outfielder for the University of Texas, was beaned in practice Monday and broke his cheekbone.

Team officials said Brown probably would be out three weeks. Erwon, of Odessa, was an all-conference pick last season as a sophomore.

Thousands of other Olympic flags were unfurled in the arena as the original Olympic hymn composed for the 1896 Athens Olympics was played.

Five hundred small flags were shot from cannons over the arena to join 30,000 perfumed paper roses dropped over the audience by the French air force helicopter.

The flags and roses were a Grenoble substitute for the traditional launching of doves which organizers considered as unsuitable and not colorful enough for their opening spectacle.

Torch Brought In
Nine cannons boomed a salute at five-second intervals as French 1964 figure skating silver medal winner Alain Charnet loped into the stadium carrying the propane gas fed Olympic torch. The torch has been winding its way through France from Mt. Olympus, Greece, for almost two months.

He placed the torch in the Olympic urn where the flame will burn during the games.

Six runners then lit special torches from the flame to carry the Olympic fire to the six different locations in and around this industrial city where the actual events will be held.

The secondary Olympic flames will burn at Chamrousse, site of the glamorous alpine skiing events, Alpe D'Huez, site of the bobbed competitions, Autrans, where the nordic events will be held, Saint Nizier, site of a spectacular 90-meter jump, Villars de Lans, where the huge events are situated, and the multi-million dollar ice palace in central Grenoble where ice events are set.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Survey Unmasks Schools

The News and its sister Freedom Newspapers have attempted to point out that there is no way young people in the compulsory tax-supported school systems can learn the principles of free market capitalism, since the schools themselves are the very antithesis of freedom and the market place.

One of our sister papers, the Colorado Springs Gazette Telegraph the other day published information which furnishes confirmation of our contention. The Gazette Telegraph published the results of a survey in Colorado, which probably are comparable to the results which would be found in most of the country.

According to the survey of 603 pupils in 14 high schools made by Dean James E. Brinton and Dr. James R. Hickey of the University of Colorado School of Journalism, as reported in the article, "Colorado teen-agers favor rigid government controls on newspapers, radio, television and magazines regarding false statements in advertising, obscene words and pictures, and statements promoting Communism."

The survey recently completed, "showed 78 per cent of the teen-agers favor rigid control on false advertising, 55 per cent for tight reins on obscene words and pictures, and 58 per cent for rigid controls on pro-Communist statements."

The results of the survey indicate an appalling failure of the educational system to teach its charges what Communism actually is, including the facts that both the public school system itself and governmental control of communications me-

Fascist-Type Controls

That the unthinking and illogical obsession, inherent in the government controlled school system, with trying to control the lives of others has wiped out on the majority of the high school students surveyed is made quite evident by a comparison of the two following statistical results of the poll:

While the survey showed that 78 per cent of the students favored rigid controls on advertising, it also revealed, according to the news item, that "53 per cent look at a few, but not very many ads... while 25 per cent pay no attention to the advertising."

Thus, by the students' own admission, a revealing total of 78 per cent of those surveyed indicated that they were themselves either completely unaffected or very little affected by "false" or "obscene" advertising, yet, an identical percentage of 78 per cent wanted to impose controls over what other people are to be permitted to read and see.

Here, in cold statistics provided by the victims of the socialistic school system in a survey conducted by representatives of that system, is evidence of what a slave training system is doing to the minds of children.

Instead of teaching them to concentrate on minding their own business, in freedom, it is inculcating them with the obsession of trying to mind the business of others to the neglect of the only person it is possible to improve—oneself.

And, finally, there is one last lesson to be learned from the results of the survey.

It will be noted that the controls on obscenity and pro-Communist statements favored by the majority of the students polled are of a type traditionally advocated by the "Conservative" or "Right-Wing" element rather than the "Liberal" or "Left-Wing" element of the socialist conglomerate. All of which should tell both the "Conservatives" and the "Liberals" something; that being:

Anytime a school curriculum is socialist oriented, designed to undercut and destroy beliefs in individual freedom and the free market, replacing them with dia are two of the primary planks in the Communist Manifesto, as well as being two of the absolute prerequisites of any and all dictatorships.

Obviously the high school students voting for rigid controls on "false" advertising, tight reins on "obscene" words and pictures, and rigid controls on "pro-Communist" statements have never been taught:

That freedom of choice, the right and liberty to say "No" or "Yes", in a free and uninhibited market place, is the best way (and ONLY way consistent with human freedom) of controlling false advertising and obscene words and pictures.

That the only alternative to freedom of choice in a free market is a system in which bureaucrats—themselves human and fallible like the rest of us—will decide arbitrarily what is to be advertised and reported as news; and that, once the called for rigid controls over communications media are instituted, freedom of speech and, consequently, freedom itself, would be a thing of the past.

That "obscene," having as many definitions as there are people, in a term which defies any objective and meaningful definition. Even the United States Supreme Court, in all its vaunted wisdom, has shied away from defining the term in any consistent, comprehensive language.

And, finally, that any government once given the power to decide what constitutes and to silence "pro-Communist" statements, has, at the same time, been given the power to silence any and all protests of what it, the government, wants to silence. (continued below.)

beliefs in collectivism and bureaucratic controls, the end product can very easily be fascist instead of the communism which the public school system was calculated to instill.

Under the impetus of war hysteria and the pounding of governmental propaganda day after day, the "liberal" socialism taught in our government controlled schools has backfired and, almost overnight, become "conservative" socialism.

Fascism and communism are twin sisters and, when paying court to one of them, one can be and usually is paying court to the other.

It was not by mere quirks of chance: that fascist Germany and Communist Russia were able to sign a mutual non-aggression pact; that the government of Communist East Germany is today liberally sprinkled with former Nazis; that our former "friends" are today's "enemies" or that today's "enemies" will be tomorrow's "friends"; that LBJ could run on a "conservative" ticket, then, at the last moment, switch to "liberal" and, still later, adopt the war policy of the "conservative" Goldwater; or that the "conservative" Goldwater could favor the Socialist Social Security program, although modified.

That is the name of the game of socialism-politics.

The answer to false advertising and obscenity, where they exist, is free men and women exercising their parental responsibility and their right to turn thumbs down on what they, individually, consider to be false and obscene while turning thumbs-up to what they, individually consider to be honest and decent.

While the answer to socialism (both fascist and communist, "conservative" and "liberal") is capitalism and an economy unhindered by government controls—that includes free market schools.

A thought for the day: English author Jane Austen said, "Those who do not complain are never pitted."

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

SW EDP Pull up a chair Adlai Stevenson's plan to resign his post as U.N. Ambassador over United States policy in Vietnam is only one of the startling revelations in Kenneth S. Davis' book "The Politics of Honor" (Putnam), which we read recently. Although we often thought Adlai was added during much of his public career, we did admire the man for the exquisite manner in which he expressed his convictions. The only public pronouncements in modern history that compare with his prose was that of Churchill. But it came as quite a shock to us to learn from reading this comprehensive biography that the U. S. representative at the world body was never proud of his confrontation with the Soviet delegate Zorin and that he lacked rapport with President Kennedy. It was also revealing to learn that Lyndon Johnson "snowed" Adlai into accepting the U.N. post, despite his long-disagreement with many foreign policy issues. If you're an admirer of Stevenson, you'll love this book; if you're not one of the cult you'll learn that he was a good diplomat, a fine statesman who tried to do a good job against insurmountable odds. At any rate, it sheds a new light on current history and is worth reading.

Today's smile: A proud father told the local census taker his son, who had attended art school, was a painter. The census taker asked: "What does he paint, houses or pictures?" The father replied: "He just paints men and women." "Oh, I see," said the census taker, "he's an artist." "No," cautioned the father, "he just paints women on one door and men on the other."

Thoughts while shaving: If you wonder where your tax money is going, give a look at some of the defense spending. The Tax Foundation recently disclosed that the armed services bought some gears listed in the manufacturer's catalog at $3.43 apiece for $194.30 each. And another sized gear listed in the same catalog at $10.75 each, were bought for $62.50. But that's not all, because thumb screws supposed to sell for 65 cents each cost Uncle Sam $6.25. Don't ask us about the difference in price. Write your Congressman instead and ask him about it. Notre Dame cathedral is one of the last monuments in Paris to get a bath. Since 1960 most of the French landmarks there have been carefully scrubbed and the grime of centuries removed. Only cold water is used because detergents of any kind might affect the ancient stone work. The workmen use nylon scrubbing brushes. It's expected cleaning Notre Dame will take about three years because the workmen can only perform the labor between April and November. Seems the cold weather cleansing might affect the 700-year-old church and the French don't want to chance it. Back in the days of the horror movies everyone thought Boris Karloff, who was the symbol of those evil epics, was a Russian because of his name. Actually he was an Englishman and his real name was Pratt before he adopted a stage name. Never knew until now the stork is a sacred bird in Sweden from the legend that it flew around the cross when Jesus was crucified. New York's WOMEN'S WEAR DAILY headlined a story: "Canada To Tackle U. S. Tax Plan." American have tried that every year and never scored.

Country Editor speaking: "When you get in on the ground floor on something you frequently find there's no elevator."

'Relax, He's Your Best Friend!'

It's Up To You

BY HOWARD KERSHNER

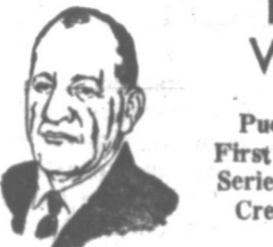

Dream Of Western Liberals

Liberal groups in our country, such as Americans for Democratic Action, Foreign Policy Association, Association of University Professors, and the National Council of Churches, are largely in agreement with liberal groups in Europe such as the Labour Party in Britain, the Socialist parties in Scandinavia, and the Social Democrats in other western European countries. There is agreement on the idea that the best way to overcome communism is by a government-directed economy which they think will bring about economic well-being. Their program, therefore, calls for a constant expansion of the power and authority of the federal government. They think that a government-directed, that is a socialist economy, can be successfully operated by a free people through the intelligent exercise of the franchise.

The Marxist or communist leaders, such as Lenin, Stalin, Mao Tse-tung, Trotsky, Cheddi Jagan, Tito, Gomulka, Nkrumah and Ho Chi-Minh also desire to improve the living conditions of the people, and they likewise believe in a government-directed economy.

However, they are wise enough to know that this cannot be done by a free people through the exercise of the vote. They are quite resigned to the fact that all political power must be monopolized by themselves and a few of their trusted advisors. At best it is shared by the party members who constitute possibly three percent of the people. Curiously, therefore, we have the western liberals agreeing with the communists that we must have a government-directed economy. The communists realize that this means tyranny and enslavement of the people while the western liberals are hoping that it can be done while preserving political freedom.

The poorer countries have not usually fallen prey to communism as readily as the more prosperous countries and groups. Cuba was the most prosperous country in Latin America, and yet it was the first to be conquered by the communists. Ireland, Spain and Portugal are among the poorer countries of western Europe, and yet communism has made the least inroads there. Nevertheless communism, or Marxism, not as it actually is but as the rosy dream it is pictured to be, has great appeal for the uninformed. It is easy for the planners to make a government-directed economy appear very prosperous on paper, but it is very strange that so many of our intellectuals seem unable to distinguish between theory and practice. The people in all communist lands are hungry, poorly clad and poorly housed. It is difficult to see how anyone who wants to help his fellows can believe that progress can be made by advocating a greater measure of government direction of our economy.

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — President Johnson is being warned that the seizure of the USS Pueblo is only the first of a series of converging crises the U.S. will face before the coming presidential election.

The President's intelligence advisors believe the Kremlin is setting the stage for a series of closely connected crises in Korea, Vietnam, Cuba, the Dominican Republic, and Berlin that will involve U.S. forces with those of other Communist nations, but not the Soviets directly.

At all of these East-West confrontation points, the Russians are supplying vast new amounts of arms, increasing their military advisers and technicians, and encouraging local Communist leaders to stir up new trouble for the U.S.

An interchange of information between the Central Intelligence Agency and the Federal Bureau of Investigation reveals that the new crises will be linked closely to the outbreak of new racial rioting and increased anti-war demonstrations in the U.S.

For example, North Vietnam's big offensive against the U.S. Marines near the demilitarized zone is being timed to coincide with the February 5-6 invasion of Washington by 3,000 to 5,000 anti-war protesters, most of whom will be clergymen.

PAUL SCOTT

edly helping Castro without all Cuban officials and party leaders opposed to involving Cuba in the dangerous Dominican Republic operation.

Since the seizure of the USS Pueblo, the U.S. has intercepted a message Castro sent Kim Il-Sung, the Soviet-trained premier of North Korea, pledging to open a "third front" against the U.S. "at the appropriate time."

Significantly, Castro in his message praised Premier Kim "for diverting American men and ships from the Vietnam war and helping to increase the peace-war contradictions inside the U.S."

Premier Kim, who reached the rank of general in the Soviet Army before going to North Korea, wrote in a publication that followed the Tri-Continental conference of Communist nations in Havana early in 1967 "wars of national liberation should be started around the globe." He stressed that "nations like North Korea and Cuba should take the lead in launching diversionary military actions."

Arrival of late model jet aircraft from Russia during the past nine months has boosted Cuba's air force to 250 planes and makes it clearly the dominant force in the Caribbean. In the past year several crack regiments of Castro's 90,000-man army have been equipped with new Soviet arms and shifted into nearly prepared defense positions near the U.S. Naval base at Guantanamo Bay.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

'Quickening' Is a Clue To Date of Confinement
A question of prime concern to most pregnant women is: When will the baby be born? A valuable clue, often overlooked, is an accurate record of the day of quickening—the first sign of movement or kicking by the fetus. This occurs during the 18th to 20th week of pregnancy. Recent studies have shown that, in 85 per cent of pregnancies, delivery occurs five months from that date, give or take three or four days.

Although 15 per cent do not fall into this pattern, this is still as accurate as any other method of calculating the date of confinement. One must not, however, be fooled by false quickening caused by intestinal rumblings. Many a woman who says that her pregnancy ran into the 10th month has been shown to be wrong when the five-month-from-quickening rule was applied, or when her baby weighed less than 7½ pounds.

Q—I have chronic bronchitis. When I lie down, I get severe coughing spells. What do you advise?
A—Chronic bronchitis and other chronic chest diseases are being studied intensively by chest specialists with encouraging results. Of prime importance is the avoidance of cigarettes. The inhalation of an aerosol containing a 2 to 5 per cent saline solution is believed by many observers to loosen the secretions in the bronchial tubes fully as well as to do some more complicated methods. If thick, yellow sputum is being raised, ampicillin, a prescription drug given by mouth may be helpful.

For patients in the hospital, the new intermittent positive pressure breathing apparatus has given excellent results when supervised by a trained inhalation therapist.
Q—What drug is best for treating bronchitis?
A—A new drug that your doctor may want to prescribe, 2G-DM, has a combined action. It loosens secretions and helps to check your cough. It is not habit forming and has few side effects.

Q—My husband, 86, has what the doctor calls a heart cough. Is there any cure for it?
A—A heart cough, also called cardiac asthma, has no relation to the asthma caused by an allergy. It is one of the manifestations of a disease of the heart valves in which compensation is failing to prevent back pressure and waterlogging in the lungs. A person with this condition should be in the hospital and should be given oxygen by inhalation.

OUR BALANCE PROBLEM
The "balance of payments" problem in Britain and other nations is high in the news. What does it mean?
Two neighbor families, let us assume, have long been friendly among themselves and most other neighbors, except for a little warring now and then. One of them, Mr. English, works in a mine; Mr. Unitas, the other, sells cars. Over many, many years their incomes have been rising until they are now living at a level their grandfathers would not have believed possible. In fact, their living standard has gone up even faster than their incomes, as they have lived "higher and higher on the hog."

How could they live so much higher than their incomes seemed to dictate? Both families, being of honorable ancestry and rare good names, were able to borrow all these years from other neighbors and live much beyond their incomes. In former days we might have simply said they were squandering money, or were spendthrifts, or something. But now it is said that they are suffering "balance of payments" problems—which they surely are, even after dusting off the jargon. Their spending has been out of proportion to their incomes.

The imbalance of payments can be corrected in either of two ways: (1) by earning more income or (2) by spending less. There is no other true solution to their balance of payments problems. They have tried the first to no avail, leaving the curbing of expenditures as the only solution.

Mr. French, who is one of the many neighbors who has loaned them the money, suggested one day that perhaps the English and Unitas families should begin to live within their incomes. This angered the two families intensely. "The selfish man wants to bleed us merely to benefit himself," they charged. "He is attacking our families for greedy reasons." Even the English and Unitas children began writing essays for their school newspaper calling Mr. French an evil and selfish man. "Why does he attack innocent people? Why doesn't he pick on his own children?"

Finally, the English family boldly asserted that they would not pay more than 86 per cent of the debt. Mr. French then increased his efforts to get the Unitas family to repay its loan, fearing that some day soon they might do likewise. This induced the Unitas children to wall louder than before. "Mr. French is trying to ruin our Christmas," they wailed, "and is even saying that Santa Claus is a mythical character who does not exist in real life."

The rest of the play will be interesting to watch.

Mr. —Yes, dear, but you can't always go by looks. They probably say the same thing about us.
The young man sneaked up behind her, covered her eyes with hands, and announced:
Bob — I'm going to kiss you. You can't tell who this is in three guesses.
Betty — George Washington? Thomas Jefferson? Abraham Lincoln?

In former days we might have simply said they were squandering money, or were spendthrifts, or something. But now it is said that they are suffering "balance of payments" problems—which they surely are, even after dusting off the jargon. Their spending has been out of proportion to their incomes.

The imbalance of payments can be corrected in either of two ways: (1) by earning more income or (2) by spending less. There is no other true solution to their balance of payments problems. They have tried the first to no avail, leaving the curbing of expenditures as the only solution.

Mr. French, who is one of the many neighbors who has loaned them the money, suggested one day that perhaps the English and Unitas families should begin to live within their incomes. This angered the two families intensely. "The selfish man wants to bleed us merely to benefit himself," they charged. "He is attacking our families for greedy reasons." Even the English and Unitas children began writing essays for their school newspaper calling Mr. French an evil and selfish man. "Why does he attack innocent people? Why doesn't he pick on his own children?"

Finally, the English family boldly asserted that they would not pay more than 86 per cent of the debt. Mr. French then increased his efforts to get the Unitas family to repay its loan, fearing that some day soon they might do likewise. This induced the Unitas children to wall louder than before. "Mr. French is trying to ruin our Christmas," they wailed, "and is even saying that Santa Claus is a mythical character who does not exist in real life."

The rest of the play will be interesting to watch.
Wit and Whimsy
South Australian natives use the hollow skull of a former enemy as a drinking cup — an ingenious way indeed to satisfy the thirst for revenge.
Mrs. —They look like a happily married couple, John.
Mr. —Yes, dear, but you can't always go by looks. They probably say the same thing about us.
The young man sneaked up behind her, covered her eyes with hands, and announced:
Bob — I'm going to kiss you. You can't tell who this is in three guesses.
Betty — George Washington? Thomas Jefferson? Abraham Lincoln?

The rest of the play will be interesting to watch.
