Thant Leaves Burden of Vietnam Peace Parleys Up To Washington

'No Provocation' In Gulf Incident

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee released secret testimony Saturday indicating a majority belief that the United States did not provoke the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin incident but overreacted to an attack some members still doubt ever took place.

The committee published the full transcript of a grueling, 7½-hour meeting Tuesday with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara. Only a few minor security deletions were made by the Pentagon in the 110-page document, and the committee's changes were mostly grammatical.

McNamara and his critics on the committee, notably Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., both made strong cases but no agreements or conclusions were reached.

The transcript served only to heighten the confusion surrounding circumstances involving the U.S. destroyers Maddox and Turner Joy that night of Aug. 4, 1964, and to pinpoint the feeling of some committee members that the administration had not furnished all the facts at the time.

It was on the basis of the incident—McNamara called it an unprovoked North Vietnamese attack on the high seas—that President Johnson ordered the first U.S. air strikes against North Vietnam and won overwhelming congressional approval of his conduct of the war.

If Tuesday's confrontation between Fulbright and McNamara seemed to be a standoff, Fulbright has made clear he intends to pursue his investigation if the committee agrees.

McNamara, however, who becomes president of the World Bank April 1, made it equally clear he considers the case closed with publication of the transcript.

Fulbright made public for the first time two cables from the commander of the Maddox-Turner Joy task force which were related to issues the committee had been investigating—whether the attack actually occurred and whether it was provoked.

Cable Sent
According to Fulbright, Capt. John J. Herrick, who was aboard the Maddox, sent the following cable to Philippines headquarters three hours after the engagement:

"Review of action makes many recorded contacts and torpedoes fired appear doubtful. Freak weather effects and overeager seamen may have accounted for many reports. No actual visual sightings by Maddox. Suggest complete evaluation before any further action."

Five hours after the cable was received in Washington, retaliatory strikes by 64 U.S. warplanes against North Vietnamese torpedo boat bases and fuel depots were ordered.

During those five hours, McNamara said, there was a "complete evaluation" of intelligence reports from all sources. (See INCIDENT Page 3)

Contract To Be Let for Summer Paving Program

Contract will be awarded at Tuesday's meeting of the Pampa City Commission for the 1968 phase of the city's overall residential street paving program.

Bids for the paving of approximately 80 city blocks were opened at the last meeting of the commission.

Approximately 140 city blocks in residential areas were paved in 1967 as the first phase of the approximately $1.5 million paving project, approved by Pampa voters in March of 1966.

Letting of the contracts Tuesday will mark the start of the final phase of the city-wide street improvement program on which work will begin as soon as weather permits.

Lewis Construction Co. of Dumas submitted low base and alternate bids for the 1968 program. It was the low bid contractor on the first phase of the project last year.

In addition to awarding the paving contract the city commission will adopt legislation for assessment of the property owners' share of the cost.

Contracts will also be awarded Tuesday of seven vehicles to be purchased for city departments.

A date will be set for a hearing to determine if Pampa needs additional taxicab service. Only one company now furnishes taxi service within the city limits.

The commission will be asked to approve investment of $1.5 million in U.S. Treasury Bills from various city funds.

Several other routine matters are on the Tuesday agenda, City Manager Jim White said Saturday.

Arab Saboteurs Shot by Israelis

By ELIAV SIMON
JERUSALEM (UPI)—An Israeli patrol killed five Arab saboteurs who opened fire on them on the west bank of the Jordan River with Communist Chinese-made mortars and rifles, an Israeli spokesman said Saturday.

The Arabs had crossed the river from Jordan into the Israeli occupied west bank and tried to ambush the patrol about six miles north of Allenby Bridge, the announcement said.

The Israeli officials said there were no casualties among the Israeli troops. It added, two Communist-made rifles and a small mortar were seized after a brief fight.

In Amman, Jordanian civil defense officials staged two mock air raids Saturday and Sunday night. The air raid drills were part of a stepped up civil defense program which followed the Feb. 15 Israeli air attacks on Jordanian towns on the east bank of the river.

In London, Israeli Ambassador to Britain Sharon Remez warned Saturday that it would be a "disaster" for Jordan to provoke a new war with Israel.

Banquet To Conclude Veterans' Meeting

Billie L. Dorris of Amarillo, adjutant-quartermaster of the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW), will be guest speaker at the 9th District Convention banquet of the VFW to be held at 1 p.m. today in the Pampa Hotel.

The banquet will conclude the two-day district meeting.

Approximately 75 persons registered yesterday. Registration will continue today from 9 to 10 a.m. in the VFW Hall, at the corner of Foster and Russell streets.

Registration for the VFW Auxiliary will be from 9 to 10 a.m. in Lovett Memorial Library with a business meeting scheduled at 10 a.m.

Pampa Post No. 1657 of the VFW is host for the convention.

Besides being adjutant-quartermaster of the VFW, Dorris is editor of the Texas VFW News. He has served as a state and national officer for more than 15 years.

Dorris is a veteran of World War II and wears the Purple Heart, Southwest Pacific ribbons and the Bronze Star campaign medals, and has received decorations of the Bronze Star with three clusters.

Democrats Reject Anti-LBJ Plan

AUSTIN (UPI)—Texas liberal Democrats rejected a resolution Saturday which would have put the organization on record as opposing the re-election of President Johnson.

The group also refused to adopt a substitute resolution supporting Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The resolution opposing Johnson's re-election lost a 41-47 vote at the Saturday TLD conference after the resolution committee had recommended it be rejected.

Several TLD members expressed the idea that passage of the resolution would have no effect on the presidential race but could damage the chances of liberal Don Yarborough in the Texas governor's race.

Thompson Files For School Board

Jimmy E. Thompson, Pampa attorney, appointed as school trustee Jan. 11, filed his candidacy Saturday for one of the two school board vacancies. Thompson's post and the term of H. Creel Grady Jr., board president, are to be filled in the April 6 election of Pampa Independent School District.

Contacted Saturday, Grady, who is in his second three-year term, would not indicate whether he would file for re-election.

Red Rockets Attack US Base at Da Nang

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist forces launched a rocket attack Saturday night against the big U.S. Marine and Air Force base complex at Da Nang on the northern coast of South Vietnam. Reports from Da Nang said eight to 10 rounds of rockets hit the sprawling American base area.

There was no immediate report of damages or casualties in the attack which followed a similar rocket assault early Saturday on Saigon's Tan Son Nhut air and military complex. Four Americans were killed, 41 wounded and a number of planes damaged in that assault.

Bombing Raids
Northwest of Da Nang, huge U.S. B52 Stratofortresses hit out in at least seven saturation bombing raids against North Vietnamese gunners who had blasted the beleaguered U.S. Marine base at Khe Sanh Friday with their heaviest concentrated barrage of the war—1,307 rounds of artillery, rockets and mortars.

The Americans also threw 353 tactical fighter-bomber sorties against the Communist around Khe Sanh in one of the war's greatest concentrations of air power.

In the northern city of Hue, only a pocket of Communist guerrillas fought on in the Citadel's southwest corner after hard-charging South Vietnamese troops seized the old Imperial Palace, tore down the Viet Cong flag that had flown over the Citadel for 25 days and brought the bloody battle for Hue near an end.

American artillery laid down a thunderous barrage as troops of the 1st South Vietnamese Division's elite "Black Panther" company charged into the palace through the south gate and overran it against light Communist resistance.

Grimy American Marines who had done much of the fighting to liberate the Citadel looked on as the Vietnamese made the final charge into the palace. But American and Vietnamese troops sweeping through the two-square mile "Forbidden City" surrounding the palace fought a series of bitter battles that left a reported 250 dead.

The city was in ruins in the wake of almost four weeks of the heaviest fighting of the war as allied soldiers closed their noose around remnants of a 4,000-man Communist force that took over Hue 25 days ago.

Good Samaritan Turns Out To Be Youths' Undoing

By JEFF HOLLADAY
Daily News Staff Writer

A pair of youthful motorists bumped into the wrong Good Samaritan on the highway early Saturday morning and his offer to help resulted in their finally winding up in jail.

Patrolman R. C. Parker was on routine patrol of U.S. Highway 66 early Saturday morning when he spotted an apparently stalled late model station wagon.

He politely stopped and inquired whether he could be of assistance.

Rockefeller Would 'Accept' Nomination for President

United Press International
DETROIT (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said Saturday he would "accept" the Republican presidential nomination if the GOP tries to draft him at its convention next summer.

But the New York Governor, in Michigan on a money raising mission for Michigan Gov. George M. Romney's presidential candidacy, stressed he is still solidly in the Romney camp.

And he added, "I don't believe there is such a thing as a draft."

He also said he did not believe Romney would lose his bid for the nomination.

Rockefeller talked money to 200 luncheon guests at a closed hotel room meeting Saturday at the invitation of financier Max Fisher, Romney's finance chairman.

At a news conference after the meeting, Rockefeller spoke glowingly of Romney, calling him the "proven winning candidate." He predicted Romney's showing in the New Hampshire primary March 12 would "surprise a great many people."

But most of the questions were directed at Rockefeller's own "noncandidacy."

Rockefeller was asked if he would accept a draft, assuming that Romney was not the party's choice and the convention tried to draft him.

"I said before if there was a draft, I'd face it," he said. "But I don't believe there is such a thing as a draft."

Asked if such a thing as a draft did come to pass, and Romney was not in the field, would he "face" the issue with a yes or a no, Rockefeller finally said:

"If what you say was true, I'd accept it."

He also said he would support Richard M. Nixon if the former Vice President were the Party's "faith" rather than knowledge that Romney would show strength in New Hampshire.

Predicts Surprise
"I think his record and his achievement in New Hampshire is going to surprise a great many people," Rockefeller said. He said any talk of what (See ROCKEFELLER, Page 3)

'Indispensable First Step' is Bombing Halt

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Secretary General Thant put the burden of any Vietnam peace talks on Washington Saturday and said he was convinced that "the indispensable first step" must be a stop to the bombing of North Vietnam and "other acts of war" against it.

He said he was sure peace talks would then follow within a few days.

Thant thus echoed previous Hanoi conditions in a report to the world body on his recent peace mission to New Delhi, Moscow, London, Paris and Washington. The statement also reflected his previously stated belief that the bombings must first stop before there can be meaningful peace talks. But he saw some hope.

"The increased intensity of the hostilities during the past few weeks should not lead to the conclusion that the door is closed for negotiations," he said.

Want Formula
The Burmese diplomat said President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk at their meeting in Washington last Wednesday had emphasized U.S. insistence on Johnson's "San Antonio Formula." This provides, in general that the bombing would stop on the understanding Hanoi would not then try to increase its land advantage in South Vietnam.

In his statement, Thant did not make clear Hanoi's response to his questions about this American formula.

"In my view," he said, "the indispensable first step of ending all bombing and other acts of war against the Democratic Republic of Vietnam (North Vietnam) should be taken and could be taken without too great a military risk."

"If such a step were to be taken, I am more than ever convinced that meaningful talks will take place much earlier than is generally supposed, even perhaps within a matter of a few days."

Reasonable Assumption
"As for the questions concerning the conduct of the fighting after the unconditional cessation of the bombing, particularly in the Demilitarized Zone and across the frontier, it can reasonably be assumed that these will be dealt with in good faith."

"The parties themselves should solve this problem in order to allow for the larger negotiations to take place, with the participation of all parties concerned, including the government of the Republic of Vietnam (South Vietnam) and the National Liberation Front of South Vietnam (the Viet Cong)."

Westmoreland Wants More Troops in War

SAIGON (UPI) — America's commander in Vietnam, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, wants between 50,000 and 100,000 more troops in order to mount an allied offensive, U.S. military sources said Saturday.

The sources said Westmoreland's request for more troops is the main topic of conversation this weekend between the Vietnam commander and Gen. Earle C. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The extra troops would be in addition to the 30,000 soldiers scheduled to reach Vietnam by this spring. According to the U.S. Command, there are presently 495,000 American troops in Vietnam and the addition of those ticketed for duty there this spring will bring the U.S. commitment to 525,000.

LBJ Agrees
It was only last fall that Westmoreland reportedly asked President Johnson for 250,000 more troops. The President agreed to send 50,000 and the new arrivals this spring will complete that figure.

Now, the sources said, Westmoreland wants between 50,000 and 100,000 more.

The sources said Westmoreland is telling Wheeler he can maintain the present allied defensive position with the men (See TROOPS, Page 3)

Final Plans Shape Up For 3-Day Stock Show

Buildings and grounds will be put in shape this week for the Top O' Texas Stock Show and Sale here March 4, 5, and 6, under Pampa Chamber of Commerce sponsorship.

The Gray County Junior Livestock Show, sponsored by the Pampa Noon Lions Club, will be held Saturday, March 2, at Recreation Park prior to the Top O' Texas show.

Six counties, Gray, Roberts, Wheeler, Carson, Hemphill, and Ochiltree, comprise the territory included in the Top O' Texas show.

Approximately 75 steers and 150 hogs will be entered this year. Judges will be Dr. Don O. Pinney of Oklahoma State University, judging the steers, and Eural Liner of Lubbock will judge the Swine Division.

Pancake Supper Slated by Church

The 13th annual Pancake Supper of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church will be held from 5 to 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Parish House.

The supper will be held in observance of the English custom of eating pancakes on Shrove Tuesday, the day preceding Ash Wednesday. Legend has it that the custom arose from the economy of using up eggs and fat, once forbidden articles of diet during Lent.

Admission price is $1 for all persons above pre-school age. Pre-schoolers accompanied by an adult will be admitted free. Tickets may be purchased at the door or at the church office.

KILL TERRORISTS

LUANDA, Angola (UPI)—Portuguese armed forces said that troops killed at least eight terrorists among rebel bands fighting for independence of this African colony from Portugal. Twenty-two rebels were captured and 19 Portuguese soldiers wounded in skirmishes after two rebel groups harassed army barracks and native settlements, a communique said.

STAGE SIT-DOWN

VIENNA (UPI)—A hundred left-wing students staged a sit-down demonstration at the traditional Vienna Opera ball to protest the "luxurious high society festival" and the Vietnam War.

IN MAIL PROMOTION

Official Charges Pampa Insurance Deception Found

Joe Cree, president of the Top O' Texas Association of Life Underwriters, called attention Saturday to results of an investigation of what was called deceptive insurance selling practices recently completed by the Federal Trade Commission. Cree said the investigation revealed a number of abuses in which insurance is sold through certain types of advertising and other promotional material sent by mail to residents of Pampa and other Texas cities as well as in other states.

"Public awareness of such promotional practices can save embarrassment, and provide more adequate protection for his family," Cree said. "When buying insurance, a person should fully understand what he is paying for and the provisions of the policy. This understanding can be accomplished through an ethical agent who represents a reputable company."

Cree said abuses were primarily found in the selling of accident and health insurance, but included some life insurance.

Some protection for the public, Cree stated, was provided by a new insurance law passed by the 60th Legislature and sponsored by the Texas Association of Life Underwriters.

The Unlicensed Insurers Regulatory Act (H.B. 1080) allows the State Board of Insurance to regulate unlicensed out-of-state insurers and prohibits them from doing the business of insurance by mail in Texas. However, Cree said, it has no effect on the practices used by insurers licensed to operate in Texas.

Many complaints received by FTC dealt with improper claim settlement, alleged unfair cancellation of policies after long periods of premium payments, and alleged unfair premium increases. "These can be avoided," Cree said, "if the consumer carefully examines the agent, the company, and the policy before purchasing insurance."

He further pointed out that local complaints should be brought to the attention of the Top O' Texas Life Underwriters Association which can provide guidance in channeling such complaints to the proper authority.

Price Seeks To Release Loans To Cotton Farmers

A resolution to free Federal disaster loan funds for distressed cotton farmers was introduced in a House Agriculture Subcommittee last Tuesday in Washington.

Panhandle Congressman, Bob Price, a member of the Agriculture Cotton Subcommittee, offered the resolution which would make $36 million of disaster loan funds available through the Farmers Home Administration.

The money has already been authorized by Congress for loans to farmers and cotton ginners in crop failure areas. The $36 million has been withheld by the Bureau of the Budget and, according to Price, the Farmers Home Administration is using the disaster loan program only on a limited basis.

"An effective disaster loan policy for distressed cotton farmers and cotton ginners can ease the hardship of this rural disaster," Price said. An expanded disaster loan program would also forestall more Federal expenditures in caring for growing numbers of rural refugees in already overcrowded and riot-threatened cities," he said.

Easter Seals On Sale in County

Easter Seal Appeal letters are to be delivered this week in Gray County, according to Paul Keim, Gray County representative for the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas. As Representative, Keim serves as contact representative for disabled persons needing Easter Seal rehabilitation services and also serves as Treasurer of the Easter Seal Appeal in Gray County.

The Easter Seal Society offers physical and occupational therapy, speech and hearing programs and special equipment loans to enable disabled persons to make the best use of their abilities to overcome handicaps. The services are financed by the annual Easter Seal Appeal. During 1967 the Texas Easter Seal Society provided treatment and services to 17,622 children and adults who were in need of rehabilitation services. These services are available to any disabled person who can benefit from help provided by the Easter Seal Society, Keim stated.

The Easter Seal campaign will run through Easter Sunday, April 14.

T-Bone Club Slates Meet

The winter meeting of the North Texas T-Bone Club will be held at 7 p.m. Monday in the Terrace Room of the Coronado Inn.

A social hour at 7 p.m. will precede dinner at 8 p.m. Rex McAnelly, president of the club, said "This is a very important meeting and we urge all members to be present."

Theme of the program will be "It Could Be Later Than You Think," dealing with labor and politics.

"This is a recording of a speech made by a lawyer dealing with the labor situation in the Rio Grande Valley," McAnelly said.

The T-Bone Club is an organization of cattle feeders and producers.

Reservations at $5 per plate may be made at the Chamber of Commerce through 5 p.m. Monday, McAnelly said.

TO THE PUBLIC AND PATRONS OF GROOM MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

Due to the financial circumstances of the Groom Memorial Hospital we can no longer operate on our present policies.

First you should know that we have no hospital tax. We have no foundation or endowment funds. We can only operate this hospital from patient's fees for service rendered.

The Board of Directors of the Groom Memorial Hospital have adopted a new policy commencing on March 1, 1968. The policy is:

1. No patient shall be admitted without a cash deposit.
2. Reliable insurance policies will be accepted on account to the extent of which they will pay.
3. No patient shall be dismissed until all financial arrangements have been made.
4. Emergency patients may be admitted, but not dismissed until all financial arrangements have been completed.
5. All Maternity cases must have made financial arrangements before admission to the hospital.

We regret that we must take these measures, but in order to remain in operation, we have no other alternative.

Social Security Leaflet Available

A new leaflet describing recent changes in the social security law is now on hand at the Pampa social security offices, according to Virgil Holloway, local manager. The leaflet is free and may be requested by telephone or mail, or picked up at the office. All beneficiaries will get an increase in their monthly payments with the checks to be delivered on March 2. The leaflet points out that no action is necessary to get the increase as it will come automatically, Holloway stated. Copies of the leaflet may be obtained at the Pampa branch office in the Hughes Bldg., telephone MO 4-3381.

Incident

(Continued From Page 1) and that authorities in Washington established "beyond a shadow of a doubt" that an attack had taken place. McNamara acknowledged that some of the attack reports were "confusing and ambiguous" and that at one point he had told Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, the U.S. commander of Pacific forces by telephone: "We obviously do not want to carry out the retaliatory strike unless we are damned sure what happened." McNamara told the committee that "then the instruction was to go find out."

Patrolman

(Continued From Page 1) said their car had run out of gasoline. Parker offered to take them to a McLean service station. They gratefully accepted. Their desultory conversation was rudely interrupted just outside McLean by the loud squeak of Parker's two-way car radio: "Two suspects wanted for theft of 1960 Chevrolet station wagon in Amarillo. . . . Believed heading east on U.S. 66." Silence ensued as Parker pulled his patrol car off on to the shoulder of the highway. Neither of the two men made a move. Parker opened his door, got out, drew his revolver, and asked them to step out. They did, he frisked them, then placed handcuffs on the pair. They were later brought to Pampa and arraigned before Justice of the Peace E. L. Anderson on a charge of theft over $50, from a warrant issued by the Potter County Sheriff's office.

Charged were Albert Ray Williams, 17, an AWOL soldier from Ft. Sill, Okla., and Allen Nathan, 21. Williams' bond was set at $5,000 and Nathan's bond at $2,500. They were extradited to Amarillo late Saturday afternoon by the Potter County Sheriff's office.

Vending Machines Robbed of Coins
Burglars took a total of $5 from two coin-operated vending machines sometime Friday night or Saturday morning, two service station operators reported to Pampa police Saturday. The burglaries were committed at the Drinnon Humble service station, 2131 Perryton Pkwy., and Jordon Conoco service station, 2101 N. Hobart. Police said a screwdriver was used in both burglaries to pry the vending machine doors open. Unsuccessful burglary attempts were also made on several other service station vending machines.

Another cable Fulbright made public was one Herrick sent to the commander of the U.S. 7th Fleet 15 hours before the Aug. 4 attack. It read in part: "Evaluation of info from various sources indicates DRV (North Vietnam) considers patrol directly involved with 34A Ops (the code name for a South Vietnamese naval bombardment of North Vietnamese island in the gulf). "DRV considers U.S. ships present as enemies because of these Ops and have already indicated their readiness to treat us in that category." McNamara said the Pentagon could find no basis for Herrick's conclusion and that "Herrick himself now states he can recall no basis for coming to that conclusion." He added that subsequent interrogation of a North Vietnamese torpedo boat officer showed that "it was clear in his mind" that the Maddox-Turner Joy patrol was separate from the South Vietnamese operation.

Scouts Urged To Use Abilities

Dr. Royal Bowers, dean of education at Panhandle State College, Goodwell, Okla., urged Boy Scouts at the Eagle Recognition Banquet last night to accept challenge for full development of their potential. "Accept the most difficult challenge you can, and I know you and those around you will be amply rewarded," Dr. Bowers told the audience of 31 Eagle Scouts and their parents and sponsors at the banquet in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn.

Bowers, a psychologist, said perception—the evaluation of sensation—was one of the most important qualities in the development of the human being, but intelligence—experience of perception—was something that depended more on training than any other factor.

"Those of you here who have sons who are Eagle Scouts can be especially proud. Your experience has been one of the greatest influences in the development of your children," Bowers said.

"Your training and the challenge that a young man learns to take on as a result of scouting are the main reasons your sons are being recognized as Eagle Scouts tonight." The Eagle Scouts recognized at the banquet are:

No Action Taken By School Board

No official action was taken in the Pampa school trustees' meeting Saturday with Dr. Kenneth Laycock, dean of teacher education of West Texas State University, but the board discussed "qualifications needed" in a superintendent for Pampa schools and decided to ask for recommendations from colleges and universities. It was announced Saturday Dr. Laycock will write to educational administrators of colleges and universities and request from each school five recommendations for the job of superintendent here.

Dr. Laycock, hired by the board as personnel consultant to help secure a superintendent, will meet with trustees in a series of consultations between now and the next regular board meeting March 12, according to board president, H. Creel Grady Jr.

"We discussed qualifications of the man we are looking for as superintendent for Pampa schools," Grady said. Trustees and Dr. Laycock met at 9 a.m. in Pampa Junior High School library and adjourned at 11:45 a.m. Saturday. McHenry Lane, curriculum coordinator and acting school superintendent, also attended. The board appointed Lane as acting temporary superintendent after the Jan. 16 executive session in which the contract and salary of ex-superintendent, Dr. John Damron were terminated.

Dr. Damron recently accepted the board's settlement of $9,375, one-half his annual contract of $18,750. Damron now is employed as administrative officer for curriculum development, in-service training and supervision with the West Texas Education Center in Midland. Dr. Damron said Saturday he was not certain when he and his family will move to Midland.

he now has but cannot sustain a prolonged offensive without the extra men. There have been a flurry of reports that America's military brass are pressing Johnson to send more men to Vietnam. On Friday, it was reported from Washington that the Joint Chiefs of Staff had recommended that 50,000 more reservists be called up.

To Meet Thieu
President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam has made several statements recently propounding the need for more U.S. troops. Wheeler was also scheduled to meet Thieu on his visit to Saigon.

Upon his arrival in Saigon, Wheeler issued a statement that the purpose of his visit was to survey damage caused by the Communists' Tet offensive which began Jan. 20. In the three weeks of the offensive U.S. troops have lost 1,359 men killed.

The military sources said it was unlikely Westmoreland would get 100,000 new troops but thought there would be more soldiers committed to the Vietnam war.

The United States also suffered casualties at Khe Sanh, where the big North Vietnamese artillery barrage was viewed as a possible prelude to the long-awaited battle for the Marine combat base in the northwest corner of South Vietnam.

Panhandle Water District News

By FELIX W. RYALS
Floyd Dominy, commissioner of the Bureau of Reclamation, in his talk before the first annual meeting of WATER, Inc. on Feb. 20, had high praise for the work done by the Texas Water Development Board.

However, he did point out that Texas, a water-deficit state, must necessarily go beyond the borders of the state to secure the needed water.

He pointed out in graphic detail that a state agency, such as the Texas Water Development Board, was limited in going beyond its boundaries for sufficient water to meet its foreseeable needs.

In order to carry the position of the federal government on the plan to bring in outside water we will carry a portion of the Dominy address as follows:

"The agencies of the federal government, such as our Bureau of Reclamation, are not constrained by state boundaries in our search for solutions to national water problems. Accordingly, we provide a mechanism to pick up where state-wide water planning ends. This is fundamentally what we are now doing in collaboration with the Corps of Engineers.

"We are not duplicating the state effort; we are not intruding on a matter that is within the capability of state to handle. We are, in short, seeking to fulfill a classic role of central government to help with a problem that is, by its nature, beyond the scope and capability of an individual state.

"The Bureau has recently completed an interim appraisal of water resources in Oklahoma entitled 'Water—the Key to Oklahoma's Future.' Our studies indicate that Oklahoma has sufficient water within its boundaries to supply the needs of the state for the next 100 years. The supply can be met by proper development of available surface and ground water and by redistribution of surface waters available for this purpose. We are continuing our studies on the Oklahoma Basins project to aid the state in charting the future course of its water resource development.

"With respect to West Texas and Eastern New Mexico, we in the Bureau are currently conducting a reconnaissance study in cooperation with the Mississippi River Commission and the Corps of Engineers. While this study involves the possible import of water from out-of-state sources, we must keep in mind that the first step is a determination as to the potential needs of the basin of origin and that such needs must be fully protected. The rights of that area are of prime importance.

"With most of the nearby rivers and streams fully developed, the Mississippi River system must be considered as a potential source of supplemental water for West Texas and Eastern New Mexico in the quantities needed.

"Estimates indicate West Texas will require 15 million acre-feet annually while New Mexico needs three million acre-feet for existing and future development. The bulk of these 18 million acre-feet would be utilized by agriculture, with less than one million acre-feet assigned to municipal and industrial use. Water in the quantities I have described may be available in the lower reaches of the Mississippi below its confluence with the Ohio River.

"I caution you and emphasize that only water in excess of the foreseeable needs of the states of the lower Mississippi Valley can be considered surplus and possibly available for importation into the High Plains area of Texas and New Mexico."

Gray County Jr. Livestock Show Is Slated

The annual Gray County Junior Livestock Show will be held next Saturday, March 2.

The show, not to be confused with the Top O'Texas Livestock Show and Sale March 4, 5 and 6, is being sponsored by the Pampa Noon Lions Club.

Approximately 75 head of livestock from 4 H and FFA organizations have been entered so far, Ray Thompson, chairman of the agriculture committee of the Lions Club, said Friday.

Judge for the show will be E. J. Roberts, vocational agriculture instructor at Canadian High School. Judging will start at 2 p.m.

Ralph Thomas, retired Gray County Agricultural agent, and Foster Whaley, county agent, will be in charge of weighing and classifying the stock.

Ribbons and trophies will be furnished for the top three entries in each class. Showmanship trophies will be furnished by the Production Credit Association and by the Federal Land Bank Assn.

County SCD News

By WILLIAM M. SOWERS
With the recent good rains occurring over Gray County, it appears that 1968 will be a good year for the seeding of grass.

At the present time, several Gray County S&WCD co-operators plan to sow grass this spring. Some of them plan initial seedings on cropland being turned back to grass, while others plan on improving the existing cover of their native grasslands.

Abe Lewis, who farms east of Pampa, already has the jump on the rest of the county. He has just completed seeding three acres of rangeland on his farm. He used a mixture of Sideoats grama, Buffalo grass, and Blue Grama. Early seedings have certain advantages when planted in moist soils such as we have had following the recent rains.

While the seed will not germinate until the weather turns warm, it will soften and swell. Then when the warm weather comes it will be ready to germinate and start growing. This will enable the grass to keep up with the weeds and other competition seeds already in the soil.

If the grass seed is not planted until warm weather, it will lay in the soil sometimes for 2 to 3 weeks before germination. Usually by then, the weedy competition is already up and growing.

Some of the other Gray County S&WCD co-operators who plan to plant grass this year are O. R. Blankenship of McLean, Bill Crisp who farms north of Alanreed, M. C. Burdine of Alanreed, Harris King of McLean, and Craig Morris of Alanreed.

Alaska was sold to the United States by Russia for $7.2 million.

In 1925 a rescue crew reported that Floyd Collins was dead after having been trapped by Boulder in a cave in Cave City, Ky., for 18 days.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY
On Thursday of last week we completed and mimeographed 500 copies of our 1967 Result Demonstration Handbook.

The 1967 handbook is a 16-page, mimeographed reproduction giving a summary, results, and conclusions on eight timely agricultural projects set up to demonstrate or test certain practices in Gray County. These demonstrations are evenly divided between field crops and beef cattle.

A list of the topics follow: (1) Soil fertility test on the D. W. Swain Farm; (2) Soil fertility demonstration on dryland Milo on the Amos and David Harris Farm; (3) A small grain winter hardiness test on the Earl Smith Farm; (4) A wheat variety test on the Abe Lewis Farm; (5) Cattle feeding test to determine gain cost and other data on steers; (6) Cattle feeding test to determine gain cost and other data on heifers at the J. D. Skagg's Farm and Custom Feed Lot; (7) A cattle feeding demonstration showing the outcome of steers hedged on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, and (8) A cattle feeding test that demonstrates how to hedge heifers on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange and the returns thereof.

Most of the demonstration required a great deal of detailed record keeping as well as several hours over a calculating machine to analyze the results. The wheat variety test results on the Abe Lewis farm should be of keen interest to the wheat growers. The wheat allotment in Gray County is 86,338 acres.

The dryland Milo growers should be interested in the fertilizer test on the Amos and David Harris Farm.

There are four demonstrations on beef cattle that treat four different aspects of the stocker calf and cattle feeding industry. What does it cost to gain steers in one of our custom feed lots? What does it cost to gain lightweight heifers in the feed lot that have been backgrounded on wheat pasture? What is the economic return for feeding such backgrounded heifers? How does the hedge work on steers and heifers? All of these questions are answered in an easy to understand method.

If you would like to have a copy that shows how one of the county producers netted $14.39 per head on lightweight heifers in less than 140 days that were hedged on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, give us a call and we will see that you get a copy. If you would like to have a breakdown on the actual cost per pound of gain on steers in the feedlot, based on each single ingredient or item, we have a copy for you.

If you would like to know how one local producer netted over $6,500 on 262 cattle in less than 155 days, the answer is in this Result Demonstration Handbook. Incidentally, this was done by selecting the right class of cattle at the right time.

With our two commercial feedlots sporting a 30,000 head feeding capacity, all farmers that don't capitalize on this big advantage of utilizing stocker cattle in their farming operations are missing a real bet. Call me and we will see that you get one of the Result Demonstration Handbooks.

Q. I recently received a refund check for a faulty tire. The tire company misspelled my name and I can't get the check cashed even though I spelled my name right when I signed the back of the check. What should I do to get the check cashed? —W.W.

A. The check must be endorsed (signed) in exactly the same way on the back as the name is written or printed on the face; then, sign your name correctly immediately underneath that signature. Normally, you will have no difficulty in cashing the properly endorsed check at the bank where you maintain your deposit account.

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL
Executive Secretary, ARC

The Red Cross Board met Feb. 20, with 12 members and 2 guests. Mr. A. A. Schuneman, president of the UF board and Mr. Claud Payne, field representative from Amarillo precinct. John Skelly presided and Mr. D. V. Biggers gave the invocation. Reports were given by the standing committees and Mr. Payne talked to the group on the necessity of a supplementary drive during the March campaign month for Red Cross to assist with the "S. O. S. For Servicemen" need. Mr. Payne said that Red Cross had a deficit of over $9,000,000 which must be raised by chapters in the UF as well as those in March Campaigns. He said, "There are only three persons who know that there is a war in Vietnam, the serviceman, his family and the Red Cross." The ordinary person is not aware of the work that the American Red Cross is doing each day for our servicemen away from home. Over 700 messages a day are sent to and from Red Cross offices to Vietnam, telling our servicemen of home problems and occasionally sending a birth message to the servicemen. We urge everyone to send his contribution to our Red Cross office and help in this war effort for our servicemen—surely SOS is needed NOW!

Dick Myers, Assistant director of disaster services, from St. Louis is in Amarillo this week working with chapters in planning for disaster services to a community. Pampa will meet with Mr. Myers March 1 in Amarillo.

Ray Fisher, first aid instructor has completed a standard first aid class for Boy Scout troop 14 from the Presbyterian Church, with 11 boys and their leaders taking the course. These boys have been taking the Red Cross first aid course each two years and are proficient in the work. The following completed the Standard Course: John Power, Richard Stowers, Steve Holcomb, John McCarroll, Jim Daniah, Terry Neslage, Jeff Dunn, Curt Farmer, Dennis McCarroll, Steve Wesley, and Bobby Ebenkamp.

Fisher has completed a standard First Aid Class for 3 firemen in the Pampa Fire Department. They are: Richard D. Shay, Ernest L. Wickeser, and Austin Laverty. All of Pampa firemen are trained in Standard first aid and most of the men carry an advanced first aid card.

We have another young girl who has joined the Red Cross Hospital Volunteers, Miss Patricia Cable who will work on the 1st, 3rd and 5th Saturday afternoons with Annette Dunham, Dana Martin, and Nancy Elshelmer.

JFK View Denials From Outsiders

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Eackstairs at the White House: Curious thing about the new Evelyn Lincoln book, "Kennedy and Johnson," to be published early next month. The first and most specific denials of her basic premise, that the late President John F. Kennedy planned to "dump" Lyndon B. Johnson as a 1964 running mate, came from the two men who should know more about JFK politics than just about anybody.

Mrs. Lincoln was personal secretary to the late president and in her new book, she reports that he told her on Nov. 19, 1963, that his next running mate would not be Johnson, then the vice president, but more likely Terry Sanford who was then governor of North Carolina.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., says that to his knowledge this was not true. Theodore C. Sorenson, special counsel to the late president and an alter ego privy to Kennedy's innermost political thoughts, also says that as far as he knew, JFK never gave and consideration to running with any other vice presidential candidate in 1964—that Johnson was his man.

News To Sanford
Furthermore, Sanford says the Lincoln version is the first he'd heard of it.

There are, as any student of current politics knows, numerous members of the so-called Kennedy circle who have little use for President Johnson. But they do not like the tone and some of the claims in Mrs. Lincoln's book.

The public reaction of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, Sorenson and Sanford has been amazing in itself. But a man who knows these people well and continues to be on frequently close terms with Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, says members of the family are

Mounted Police Surround Building During Hearing

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—Mounted policemen rode around the Federal Building and officers were stationed at every door Friday for the bond violation hearing of black power leader H. Rap Brown.

The hearing was set for 12 noon CST but was postponed an hour.

City police—deputized as federal marshals so they could make arrests on federal property—guarded the door when about 35 of Brown's bushy-haired supporters entered the courthouse.

It was believed that Brown—held overnight in nearby Hanover Jail—had been slipped into the building early this morning to await the hearing.

He was to appear before Federal Judge Robert R. Merhige Jr. to explain why he violated the travel restrictions on his $10,000 bond.

Business Slows in Texas

By United Press International
Business in many clubs has slowed down under pressure from a Texas Liquor Control Board crackdown on the illegal sale of mixed drinks, but some places still sidestep the law, a United Press International survey showed.

guests, with employes no longer permitted to hand out guest cards.
In Houston, four of five clubs refused to serve persons walking in off the street. The other club did serve a customer after some hesitancy. The man had a guest card given him by a manager with a guest's name on it. In Austin, a club refused to serve a man who had been to the club with the manager on several occasions because he was not a member or a member's guest.

However, one McAllen club was not so strict. A man said he was waiting on a friend and asked if he could have a drink in the meantime. He was told to go to the front desk and ask for a guest card. He was served with no questions asked.

Another McAllen club, the Casa De Palmas, refuses to serve the thirsty traveler. The bartender shakes his head and says, "No card, no drink."

In a Lubbock club a waitress told a customer she could not serve him because he was not a member. But she pointed to a man at the next table and told the customer this man was a member and, the customer would be his guest. She then served the customer without having spoken to the member.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Charlie Manna is the type of entertainer who learned to sing before he could walk.

In his 15th birthday, his mother said to him: "for God's sake, Charlie, stop that singing and start learning how to walk." It was the turning point of his career.

Manna still sings a bit, but mostly he walks around the stages of night clubs giving incisive commentaries on contemporary cultural patterns.

The other evening when I attended one of his ambulatory lectures at the Shoreham Hotel here Manna was holding forth on what it might be like if people still spoke as they did in Shakespeare's time.

I found that subject so fascinating I began to explore it a bit on my own. Here is what happens the first time the middle-aged laired of a suburban manor sees his wife in a miniskirt:

"O shame—Where is thy blush?" he cries. "Is there no respect of place, persons, nor time in you?"

"He hath strange places cramm'd with observation," his wife mutters. But she thinks she looks pretty good in a mini. So she says, "Is it a world to hide virtues in?"

"There is something in this more than natural," her husband replies. "Let me take you a button-hole lower."

She refuses. "It adds a precious seeing to the eye," she insists.

"They are too thin and bare to hide offenses," he reports, looking at her legs. "Through tatter'd clothes small vices do appear; robes and furr'd gowns hide all."

"Cudgel thy brains no more about it," she snaps. "My words fly up, my thoughts remain below," he says.

"A thing of custom, 'tis no other," she says, picking up a copy of Vogue.

grace and blush of modesty," he says. "This is very midsummer madness. You and I are past our dancing days. Crabbed age and youth cannot live together."

His wife shows him the young model on the cover of Vogue. "The fringed curtains of thine eye advance," she says. "Is she not passing fair?"

He now sees that she has backed him into a corner. "We have some salt of our youth in us," he admits.

"There is nothing either good or bad, but thinking makes it so," she says with a knowing smile.

We Dispense Many Generic Drugs

All pharmacies dispense generic drugs in certain prescriptions. The control over what we dispense is determined by the physician only. If he writes for a product by the brand name of the manufacturer, we cannot legally and will not dispense anything else. In 91.5% of all prescriptions filled, according to the National Prescription Audit, brand named drugs were prescribed.

When the physician writes for the product by its generic name, we will dispense a drug made by a reputable firm which has the lowest price. We enjoy saving you money. But, despite their lower costs, we will not dispense any generic drug unless we are certain of its dependable quality.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN TELL YOU WHEN YOU NEED A MEDICINE. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Attorney Says Law Is Unconstitutional

AUSTIN (UPI) — An attorney for three anti-war demonstrators filed a federal court Friday the state's breach of peace law is unconstitutional "because it is too broad and too vague."

Sam Houston Clinton Jr. of Austin representing three demonstrators who were arrested at a speech by president Johnson in Killeen, asked the three-judge court to restrain enforcement of the law.

The court gave no indication when it would rule.

Three members of the University of Texas committee to end the war in Vietnam were charged with disturbing the peace Dec. 12 in Killeen after a fight with soldiers on the campus of Central Texas College.

The charges were dismissed Feb. 13, but Clinton told the court the dismissal "does not which remain."

He contends the arrest violated the free speech rights of

James M. Damon, John E. Morby and Zigmunt W. Smigaj Jr. He said the breach of peace statute violates the First Amendment because of its "over-breadth and vagueness."

Howard Fender, assistant attorney general, contended the matter is immaterial now because the charges were dismissed. He said the Texas breach of peace law is constitutional "because it sets out specifically the ways in which it can be violated."

He said the three were arrested not because of their anti-war placards but because local sheriff's deputies felt they were to blame for an altercation with soldiers "in the presence of the President."

Fender said the law "could have been improperly applied in this case, but that doesn't make it unconstitutional."

Fender said one reason the charges were dropped was that

'Charro Days' No Lawmen's Picnic

BROWNSVILLE (UPI) — In Brownsville, "Charro Days" means fun, frolic, and fiesta for everybody except the lawmen who guard the international frontier against the steady incursion of smuggled narcotics.

For U. S. customs agents at the international bridge across the Rio Grande, and for police who must cope with marijuana among school children, there will be shadows amid the sparkling floats and bright costumes this weekend.

The four official days of Brownsville's big pre-lenten fiesta stress the good neighbor policy with Mexico. Hence, during those four days, a general "open bridge" policy will be in effect, with people from both sides of the border mingling and walking back and forth, free of the usual scrutiny of customs officers.

Local authorities discovered the incident had taken place on a federal enclave where the state had no jurisdiction.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Around the perimeter of the war in Vietnam, other East and Southeast Asian nations slowly are welding together agreements which, although not of a military character, they hope will become their best defense against aggressive Communism.

Among these is the five-nation Association of Southeast Asian Nations currently holding its first meeting in Jakarta, the capital of Indonesia.

Other Members

Other members are the Philippines, Singapore, Malaysia and Thailand.

It will function within the framework of a larger grouping formed last year in Seoul, South Korea, called the Asian and Pacific Council. The council besides the above five, also includes South Korea, Japan, Nationalist China and South Vietnam.

The council also is of a non-participating nations of our region learn to trust each other on an equal and amicable basis, then we can attempt to work out the major differences of Southeast Asia.

It is an objective ardently to military nature, devoting its efforts toward economic development.

A third grouping, although with its efforts seriously curtailed by the war, involves Vietnam, Cambodia, Laos and Thailand in the development of the lower Mekong River basin.

The United States, as a principal supplier of economic aid, is deeply involved in the Mekong River plan and stands by as a most friendly observer of the other two.

Deeply Involved

Even more deeply involved as the richest and most highly industrialized nation of Asia is Japan.

The approach of these groupings to their problems is a cautious one because others before them have tried and failed.

Said a delegate to the current meeting at Jakarta: "We hope that if the initial projects are successful and the participating nations of our region learn to trust each other on an equal and amicable basis, then we can attempt to work out the major differences of Southeast Asia.

Pampa Tackles Bell In Bi-District Clash

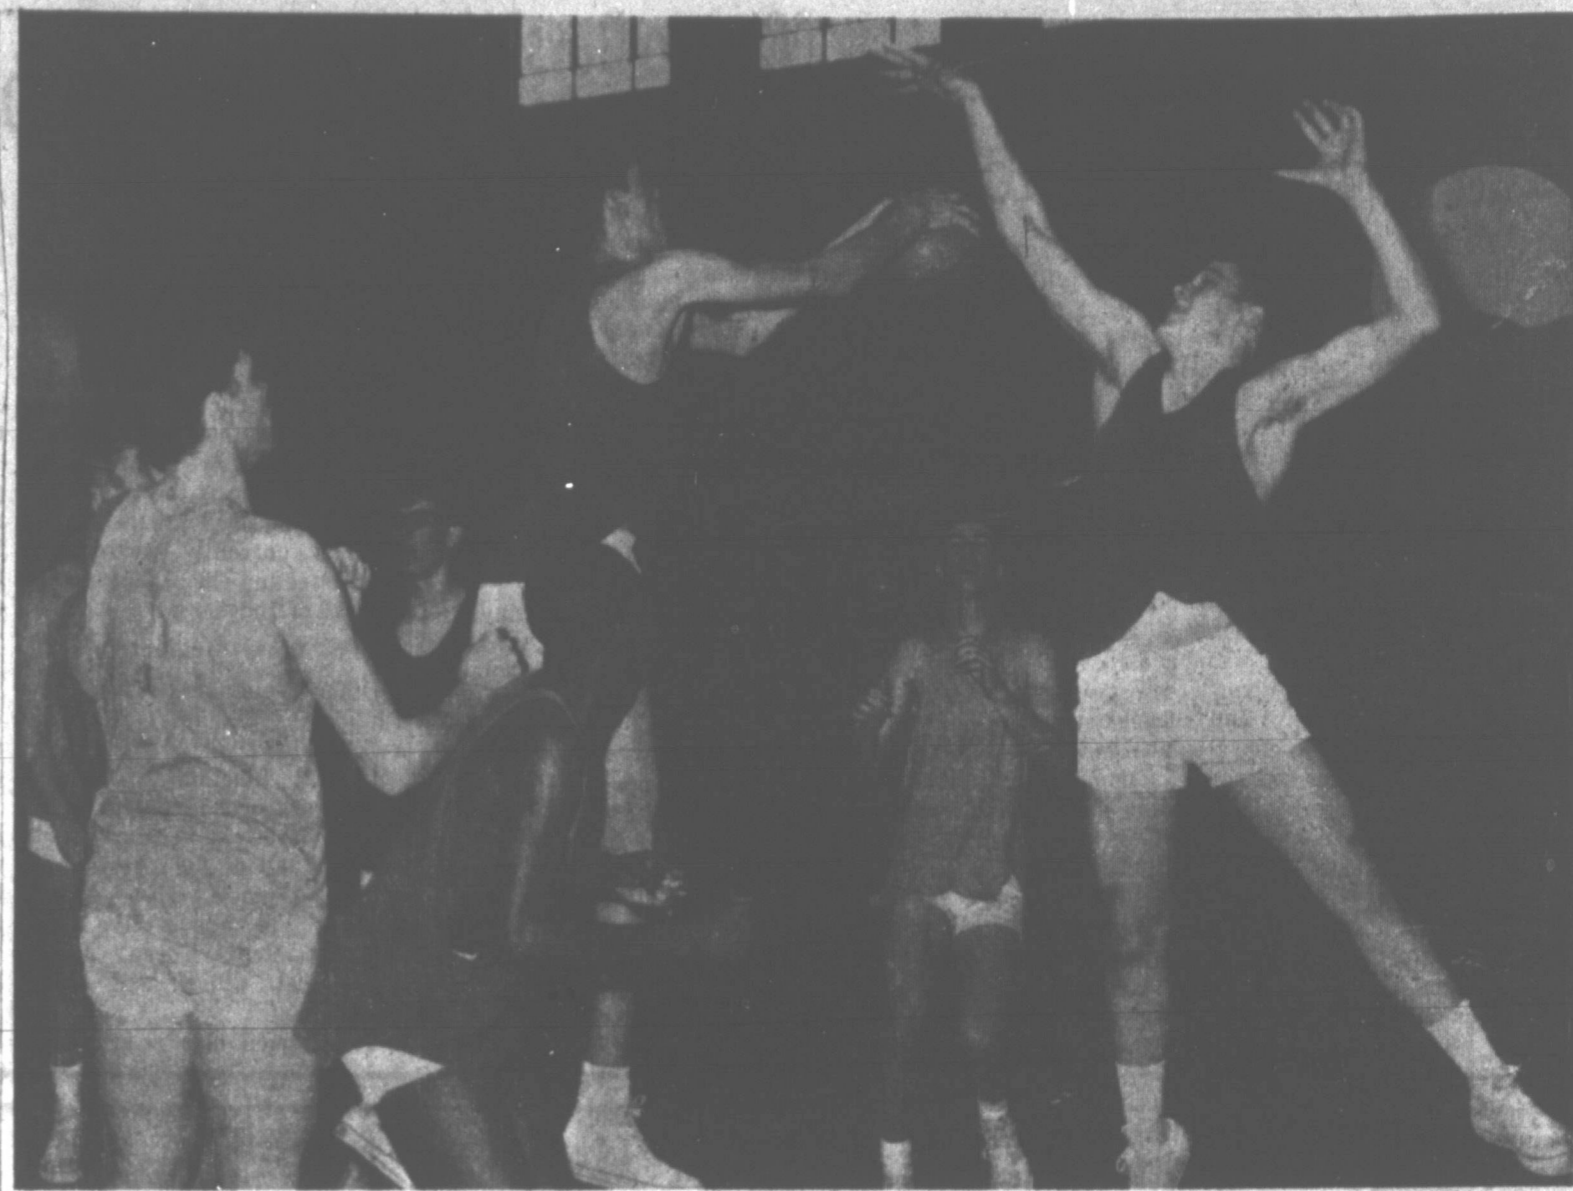

By CURTIS MONTGOMERY Sports Editor
FT. WORTH — L. D. Bell's Blue Raiders won a berth in the bi-district game with the Pampa Harvesters by virtue of a successful raid in Birdwell colliseum, with Haltom yielding by 43-41 Friday night.
Pampa and Bell meet in the Abilene High School gym at 8 p.m. Tuesday to decide who plays in the regional championship game with the winner of the El Paso, Jefferson-Odesa, Permian game to be played in El Paso Tuesday night.
That regional game will be played Friday or Saturday. Coach Terry Culley stated that if Jefferson won, they preferred to play on Friday night.
A neutral site was arrived on when Coach Nelson Moore and Coach Culley could not agree on which night to play, Monday and Tuesday being the only alternatives. Culley wanted a Monday game in order to leave traveling time for the bi-district winner to get to El Paso in the event the Jefferson team wins the bi-district game.

Moore wanted a Tuesday game and actually wanted the Birdwell colliseum, where the Blue Raiders have played twice this year, to be the neutral gym.
Cameron Marsh, PHS principal, was present at the post-game discussion, along with several officials of the Bell school. Coach Bill Brown and Warren Hasse were also there.
Abilene gym seats 2,400; each school is to receive 1,200 of the tickets. Pampa stage band will make the trip. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and $1 for students.

Haltom and Bell missed two. Both teams had 25 rebounds. Bell won both games on Haltom's court in the best of three series, losing their only district game in their own gym.
I. M. Terrell, the Ft. Worth champ, plays Dallas Thomas Jefferson Tuesday night in Dallas.
Jefferson beat Dallas Samuel 56-50 Friday night. If Pampa wins their next two games, she could meet one of these two teams in the state tournament.

Blonds may have more fun running around in bikinis on the beach, but on the basketball court redheads are having more fun and the Professional Red Heads basketball team is going to be in Pampa Monday at 8 p.m. March 4 to prove it.

CLOSE TO HOME

Bobby Bragan, former manager of the Pirates, Indians and Braves, is putting in his bid for a fourth managerial job. According to an article in SPORT magazine, Bragan, who resides on the west side of Fort Worth 40 yards from this scribe's old high school, has announced that he would like to manage in his home town, if the Dallas-Fort Worth area gets a major league team.

Doris Jones—Red Head—Red Heads playmaker

"That way," explains Bragan, "I'll be within 15 minutes of home when I get fired."

IF PRICE IS RIGHT

Bob Price, Pampa pitcher who worked in the ad department of the News, has thoughts of going back to college if he does not land a pro contract. Bob will be on his own in Casa Grande, where he will be trying for a spot on a Class-A baseball team. As a free agent he will get no salary until he signs a contract, which means he will still be an amateur legally and therefore able to continue his schooling in the event that he does not make the grade during the three weeks of trials beginning March 11.

The hurler thinks he will go to Grand Canyon College in Phoenix. Grand Canyon finished the last season in seventh place in NAIA national standings. Bob has two years of eligibility left.

TV FOR US

The game between Houston, number one cage team in the whole wide world and West Texas State University, number two basketball team in the Panhandle (Pampa No. 1), will be on the tube March 4 beginning at 8 p.m. over channel 4. That might hurt the turnout for the Red Heads game.

UTEF POET

The sports information director and poet laureate of the University of Texas at El Paso Eddie Mullins is at it again in his 1968 spring sports publication which has as its cover boy Bob Beamon, world champion broad jumper. Mullins describes Beamon as being able to "run faster than cream disappears in a cat kennel."

Mullins ain't got nothin' on us. Out Pampa Harvester cagers are tougher than a tornado, faster than a Toronado and shoot prettier shots than part-time poet is able to paint words for. We predict that George "The Bombardier" Bailey, Bo "The Blond Bomber" Lang, Beau "Bad News on the Boards" Bond, John "Quick-as-a-Cat" Carlos and Jim "Wise as a walnut and a little bit quicker" Cornutt will go to state. All the walnuts we've ever known have been wise enough to remain silent when barber shop discussions turned to trips to Austin.

We learn by way of the Sporting News that the Christian Science Monitor believes that "taste makes waist."

The Red Heads are an all female cage team which plays all over the country playing all male teams and all games are played according to regulation men's basketball rules. Last season the Red Heads played 203 games all against men teams and won 153 games. The Pampa Coaches will play the Red Heads here.

The Red Heads bill themselves as "undisputed world champion women's basketball team." They are noted for their antics and "behavin'" on the court. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and $1 for students. Buy your tickets early for this Harvester Field House attraction. The Pampa High School National Honor Society is sponsoring the game for the purpose of raising funds to buy paintings to hang in the halls of the high school. All members of the Honor Society have tickets. Or you can get them at the door.

HEADRICK TO BENGALS

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Middle linebacker Sherill Headrick, a former American Football League all-star with the Kansas City Chiefs, has signed his contract with the new Cincinnati Bengals.

Headrick, 6-foot-2 and 240 pounds, played eight years with the Chiefs and was named to the all-star team three times. He was picked up Cincinnati in the allocation draft.

PHS Track Team Last in Plainview

The Pampa High School track team came in last at the Plainview meet yesterday with only 16 points, but the Jr. Varsity captured a hearty third with 85 points.

Donnie Snapp took fourth in the 100 yard dash with a time of 1:26. The mile relay team placed fifth with a 45 flat time. Paul Anderson was fourth in the 100 yd. dash with a time of 1:05.

The mile relay team also placed fifth in the 440-yd. dash. Monterey won the meet with 157 points followed by Estacado with 89 points. Lubbock was third with 71.

There were some seven teams entered in the meet according to Coach Ed Lehnick.

Baird Runs Away In Panama Open

PANAMA, C.Z. (UPI)—Eutch Baird of Galveston, Tex., continued his runaway march toward the $15,500 Panama Open golf tournament championship Saturday with a sizzling third-round five-under-par 67 that gave him an eight-stroke lead over his nearest rival.

Baird's 67 gave him a 54-hole total of 197 over the Panam-Golf Club course. Wayne Etherington of St. Charles, Ill., shot a 69 for a 205 total—eight shots behind Baird.

Veteran Dow Finsterwald turned the day's best round—a seven-under-par 65 to move into a tie for third place with defending champion Eert Weaver of Beaumont, Tex., Bob Little of Athens, Ohio and Rocky Thompson of Shreveport, La., all with 207s.

Matson has been training slowly this winter with an eye to reaching his peak by the Mexico City Olympics in October rather than the spring and early summer meets. He even missed qualifying at one indoor meet this winter, but fouls rather than poor distance was

Basketball Race Takes Step Towards Clarity

By United Press International
The Southwest Conference basketball race takes a step toward clarity today. Then again, maybe it won't.

With the finish line drawing nearer and six teams still mathematically in the running, the picture could not get much more muddy.

But the possibility remains that by Sunday morning, four place with two more just a teams could be tied for first game back.

The Southwest Conference lineup finds the three league leaders—Texas A&M, Texas and Baylor—all on the road. All three won 7-4 conference records.

Buses Chartered For Bell Game

"Charter busses will be scheduled for Pampa High School students who wish to attend the Hurst-Pampa basketball game," Principal Cameron Marsh stated.

The price of the tickets will be $9.93 per person for the round trip. The bus will leave Tuesday at 1 p.m.

Tickets will be on sale all day Monday in the high school Co-op.

PHS Golfers Capture 12th

NEW YORK (UPI)—The last of the lower priced $20 seats for the March 4 fight doubleheader at Madison Square Garden were sold during the weekend. Remaining are $100 ringside seats and $75, $50 and $30 tickets for the bouts that pit Middleweight Champion Emile Griffith against Nino Benvenuti and Joe Frazier versus Buster Mathis in a battle of unbeaten heavyweights.

NOT WORTH IT

LONSON (UPI)—Ann Haydon Jones, the leading woman tennis player in Britain, has received permission from the British Lawn Tennis Association to pass up the first "open" tournament, the British hard court championship at Bourne-mouth April 22-27.

Mrs. Jones, who said the prize money offered to women "was all out of proportion" to that offered the men, will play instead in the United States.

CINDERS, DIAMOND

Strike three! You're IN! Yes, IN. Pampa High School's baseball and track season is in and we hope to stay, but with the weather the way it is, no one knows when the cinders will start to burn.

Track season opened in early February with a new head coach and five returning lettermen. Coach Ed Lehnick, last year's assistant coach, moved up to take the place of head coach, Don Myers, who moved to Lubbock. Coach Eugene Jenkins became assistant coach.

Thirty boys signed up for track this year as compared to last year's number of 23. Of these, five are lettermen: juniors Paul Anderson and Leslie Morgan, and seniors Danny Reed, Danny Stokes, and Lonnie Richards. Richards lettered as a sophomore.

The tracksters officially opened the season yesterday at Plainview where they met their first competition in the form of a track meet. At least one athlete was entered in each event, according to Coach Lehnick.

The meet was attended by seven schools: Plainview, Estacado, Lubbock, Monterey, Coronado, Borger, and Pampa.

At this meet a Division 2 was held. This consisted solely of sophomores from each attending school.

Pampa's victories were few and far between, but what could be expected from a team who has worked out all of—maybe five times.

The next meet the team will enter in is Vernon next weekend.

Now on the other side of the spring sport picture is the baseball diamond where three starters and seven lettermen are returning.

The Harvester baseball team will open its season against Canyon three March 1.

Coach Bobby Stephens' team will try to better last year's season record of 24-6. All six losses were in district play as they finished third in the district with a 12-6 record.

March 5 the Harvesters trage Bulldogs. Both games will begin at 4 p.m.

Starters returning are Alvin Achord, third baseman; Dickie Henley, pitcher; and Alan Woodward, pitcher. All are seniors.

Other lettermen are Dan Carlton, pitcher; Claude Combs, second baseman; Mike Fortin, second baseman; and Fran McGahan, pitcher. All are juniors del to Borger to battle the Bor- except Fortin and McGahan, who are seniors.

Coach Stephens reports that there are some 39 boys out for baseball.

"I should have a pretty good ball club if we hit," Stephens stated. "We have pretty good pitching."

The "B" teams first game is March 15 in Shattock, Oklahoma. The "B" team is coached by Curtis Didway.

Henning Leads Tucson Open After End of Third Round

By JOE ST. AMANT
TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—South Africa's Harold Henning busted loose from a pack of other par-breakers Saturday and shot a 68 to take a one stroke lead after three rounds of the 72-hole $100,000 Tucson Open with a 54-hole score of 204, 12-under-par.

Dale Douglass, 31-year-old, Denver pro, had Henning tied up until the 18th green but missed a seven-foot putt and took a bogey five.

His third round was a two-under-par 70 and his 54-hole total was 205. He was joined in the 205 bracket by three other pros hungry for the $20,000 first prize which will be awarded Sunday. They were Frank Beard, Louisville, Ky., with a 65, best round of the day; Bill Ogden, 41-year-old Chicago pro, who had a 70; and Australia's Bruce Crampton, who shot a 66.

During a summer like day on the Tucson National Golf Club Course 48 golfers out of the field of 78 broke par which is 36-36-72.

Al Geiberger, the 1966 PGA champion, shot a 67. This put him at 206, 10-under-par. Geiberger also took a bogey five on the 18th when missed a putt of four feet.

Jack Montgomery of Fort Worth, Tex., who had a 70.

Baylor managed to whittle down the lead with a full court zone press in the closing minutes. Tommy Bowman stole the ball and made a layup with 11 seconds left to cut the score to its final margin.

Bowman led Baylor with 16 points, and Vernon Paul had 16 for Tech.

Tyne missed Tech's single game rebounding record by one.

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—Sophomore Lee Tynes scored 17 points and pulled down 18 rebounds Saturday night to give Tech a 65-63 win over Baylor.

The game knocked the Bears out of a share of the Southwest Conference lead.

The lead changed hands several times in the first half with neither team leading by more than four points, and the game was tied 28-28 at the half.

Vernon Paul hit a layup with 15:20 to play to give Tech a 36-35 lead and the Raiders kept it the rest of the way. Their biggest lead of the night was

Welcome Coffee Scheduled For New Grid Coach

A coffee is scheduled for 10 a.m. Monday in the West Starlight Room of Coronado Inn for "Swede" Lee, Pampa High School's new football coach and athletic director. The affair is being sponsored by members of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce Sports Committee and chamber directors. In a memorandum to committee members and chamber directors, Ray Thompson, sports committee chairman, urged them to "bring along with you any friends and neighbors who may be able to attend." Said Thompson: "Come out and welcome the new coach."

'Twilight of Gods' For Mantle, Mays

By IRA BERKOW NEA Sports Writer NEW YORK (NEA) — In German it is called "Gottterdammerung." In American baseball slang the term is "over the hill." Both, however, mean the same: The twilight of the gods. Some of baseball's most celebrated heroes may be entering their last season. After basking for nearly two decades in the warmth of national acclaim, players like Willie Mays and Mickey Mantle, and somewhat lesser lights such as Zollo Ver-

Managers Make Most Pitches

By United Press International The most important pitches in major league spring training camps are still being made by general managers who hope the hurlers with whom they are dickering will prove as effective in the summer as they are stubborn in the spring. Personnel director Harry Dalton of the Baltimore Orioles and general manager Lee MacPhail of the New York Yankees are among the front-office executives having their troubles throwing strikes. Dalton reached an agreement with relief pitcher Moe Drabowsky Tuesday but still is dickering with Tom Phoebus, who led the Orioles' staff with 14 victories in 1967, and Stu Miller, a veteran star reliever. In the meantime, manager Hank Bauer is fretting over getting on with the No. 1 job in the Orioles' spring camp—reorganizing his pitching staff. MacPhail announced the signing of 18-year-old high school star Bob Elliott, who had a 35-6 record at Massapequa, N.Y., high school but failed to reach agreements with Al Downing and Dooley Womack. Downing had a 14-10 record and 2.63 earned run average last season while Womack was the star of the Yankees' bullpen with a 2.41 era and 65 appearances. MacPhail indicated that he is close to an agreement with Womack but that he and Downing are pretty far apart. The New York Mets signed Al Jackson, reacquired during the winter from the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals, for an estimated $30,000. Jackson, who pitched for the Mets from 1962 through 1965, had a 9-4 record and 3.95 era for the Cardinals last season. Dick Hughes, Larry Jaster, Jim Cosman and Mike Torres all signed with the Cardinals; the Chicago White Sox announced contract agreements with Gary Peters, Pete Ward, Tom McGraw, Wayne Causey, Gerry McNertney and Bob Priddy; George Culver signed with the Cincinnati Reds; Denny LeMaster suddenly came to terms with the Houston Astros after indicating he might engage in a lengthy holdout and the Oakland Athletics announced the signing of George Lauzerique and Reggie Jackson.

Mexican 1000 For Tuff Only

By TERRANCE W. MCGARRY United Press Sports International The "race track" is over 900 miles long, and filled with rocks, sand and occasional cows. Spectators must bring their own private planes. Entries can be anything with an engine that travels—mostly on the ground. This is the Mexican 1,000, the world's most unusual motor race. It all started years ago when daredevil motorcyclists and jeep drivers set off on excursions from the California border down Mexico's Baja California peninsula. "The roads in general are still as they were in the year one after the creation of the world" wrote a Jesuit missionary, Fr. Johan Baegert, of Baja California in the 1700s. There has been no noticeable change since. A U.S. magazine recently called the route South down the 1,000-mile-long peninsula jutting into the Pacific Ocean "the most bone rattling excuse for a road this side of Mongolia." To be fair, there really is no road at all over vast stretches between Tijuana, on the border, and La Paz, near the tip. After several generations of efforts by trucks and hardy motorists, there is a network of improvised trails through the sandy wastes and moonscape lava rock that make the Baja Peninsula one of the most forbidding areas on earth. The race was the brainchild of Ed Pearlman, a 44-year-old florist from Woodland Hills, Calif., and four-wheel-drive desert racing buff. It was promptly named, to no one's surprise, "NORRA's Folly."

But the first running last November was a big success, and an even bigger field is expected for the second "madman's dash" next November. In the meantime, those who are just dying to batter themselves to sensitive pulps and drive their vehicles and nervous systems to the breaking point can take part in NORRA's warmup this year. Called the "Stardust 711," it will be a cross-country race through the deserts of Nevada, Utah and Southern California June 11-13. The "Mexican 1,000" as the Baja race is called, is unique in that it pits all type of vehicles—motorcycles, passenger cars, light trucks, dune buggies, four wheel drive vehicles and anything else—against each other on even, competitive terms. The Baja landscape is the great equalizer. And though the race is not much of a spectator draw (the only way to follow it is from a light plane) it has its share of entertaining incidents.

YC to Host TOT Tourney

Pampa Youth and Community Center will host the Top O' Texas Basketball Tournament Feb. 26 - Mar. 4. Eight teams are entered in the tournament including three from out of town. Action will begin tomorrow night at 7:15 p.m. when the Berger Bombers, league leaders at Berger, meet Gibson's Discount Center. At 8:30 Pater, one of the top teams in the Amarillo league, will play First National Bank. Winners of these two games will meet in semi-finals Feb. 29 at 7:15 p.m. Richard Drug will play Cock O' Walk Drive in Wednesday at 7:15 p.m., followed by Celanese vs. Perryton YMCA, All Star team from the Perryton league, at 8:30. Winners of these games will meet in semi-finals Thursday at 8:30. Winners of the semi-finals will meet in final play March 4 at 8:30 p.m. Semi-final losers will meet at 7:15 March 4 to determine third place. Trophies will be given to the first, second, and third place teams. Team rosters will be limited to 12 players and must be turned into the tournament director before each game. Spectator charge is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

Ski Feats Earned, France's Killy Doesn't Really Care

GRENOBLE, France (NEA) —The morning of the day Jean-Claude Killy won his first Olympic gold medal, he reported early from the Olympic Village at Bachtat Boulood to the downhill site at Chambrousse. Not having anything to do, Jean-Claude wandered over to the apartment of Sheri Lindsey. She's the fiancée of Jimmy Heuga of the American skiing team. Jimmy and Jean-Claude are old traveling buddies. Sheri brewed up a cup of tea for the boys. Jean-Claude, the greatest skier in the world, stirred his with one lump of sugar and said quietly, "This one I know I am going to win." And then he went out and beat French teammate Guy Perillat by eight-hundredths of a second. And afterward, Jean-Claude sat nonchalantly, tilted back in a chair, with his legs encased in those skin tight racer togs that look like striped leotards, the toes of his unbuckled boots in the air, and said, "This is not the happiest moment of my life. I was more thrilled at Portillo (two years ago) when I won my first world championship." He looked as though he meant it. There was no emotion on his strong face, just an occasional flash of tight smile. He looked like a guy who could be sitting in a chair waiting for a haircut, which Jean-Claude happens to need. In describing his run down the descent, which is how the French say downhill, Toni Sailer, the Killy of another era when he won three skiing gold medals in the '56 Olympics, said, "He was quiet and composed." "Killy's a marvel," said Bob Beattie simply. Beattie's the coach of the American skiers, who have been struggling to get some place in international competition. "So he won by 8-100ths of a second, and you have to be lucky. But I could tell he was something special the first time I saw him. It was 1961 at Val d'Isere, and he was an 18-year-old. He won a downhill race by two seconds." In skiing parlance, that is like lapping the field at Indianapolis. "Jean-Claude used to be first between falls," continued Beattie. "He was like a Yo-yo, up and down, very wild on skis. At Innsbruck (in the '64 Games) he fell just skating out of the starting gate. In the slalom he went through the wrong gate. Those are the kind of mistakes a 21-year-old makes. "But now he's a controlled skier. He became a man in Portillo. He has unbelievable courage and great nerves. "But I believe he'll quit after this season. Skiing is a sport

'Je m'en fou'

So the man asked Killy, "Will you go on racing (or running around) in other ways, too?" Jean-Claude smiled brightly and said, "Naturally. And I will not have to worry about the brand markings on the skis." That reference to the Olympic rhubarb over commercial infiltration by ski manufacturers caused the French press representative to interrupt. "Now, gentlemen, that should be off the record." "Let it go," said Killy. "Je m'en fou." Which means, loosely, "I do not give a damn." And pretty well sums up his whole reaction to the fury over Jean-Claude Killy, French national hero.

Hayes Captures Hundred Yarder

MELBOURNE (UPI) — Bob Hayes, star flanker for the Dallas Cowboys, won the 100-yard dash Saturday night, his eighth straight victory in the world pro sprint championships. Hayes, an Olympic gold medal winner in 1964, beat Australia's Dave Irvine by about two feet to win the 100-yard dash, but was upset by Irvine later in the 220-yard run. Hayes had taken both events in the first day's competition Friday night, winning the 75-yard dash in 7.4 seconds and beating Irvine by more than three yards, and sweeping the 130-yard sprint with a 12.3 clocking. Hayes, who was favored to win both of Saturday's events, expected his main competition from Bill Howard of Australia, but Howard was forced to pull out of the competition when he injured his thigh at the start of Friday's 75-yard race.

DEAR ABBY: There is an elderly gentleman who lives on the same street where my married daughter lives. She knows him only by sight, and I understand that he's in very poor health and is rather an unfriendly person.

I won't go into details here, but I would like very much to buy his house after he passes away. I hear he plans to live there until he dies. I know that another party is also eyeing his house so how can I be sure I will be first in line to get it?

Should I go there, introduce myself, and make him an offer? I really want that house and I don't want to spoil my chances.

THINKING AHEAD
DEAR THINKING: The idea of approaching an elderly, ailing, "unfriendly" home-owner with an offer to buy his home is for the birds. (The vultures.) Ask your lawyer, banker, or a real estate dealer to negotiate for you.

DEAR ABBY: The lady who signed herself "FLAT IN BACK" and wanted to know where she could find a foam rubber fanny is lucky. She has all her problems behind her.

Those forward-looking engineers in the foundation industry seem to have dedicated themselves to the proposition that "it's what's up front that counts."

Not so. A few years back, several manufacturers came out with a "falsie derriere." (One such item, appropriately named "FANCY THAT," is still on the market.)

I won't say that the demand for such an item hit bottom, but almost no one makes them anymore. So it would seem that these "bras" for the fanny were a bust.

Sincerely,
WILLIAM B. GLEESON,
(Powers, Knollwood,
Hopkins, Minn.)

DEAR ABBY: Our cat is to have kittens soon. My wife and I disagree on whether our boy, age 4 years and 5 months, should witness this event.

We consider the child to be above average in intelligence and reasonably well-adjusted. He has already asked where babies come from. We would appreciate your opinion.

DEAR MR. AND MRS. M.: I see no reason why the boy should not witness this event. One picture is worth 10,000 words.

DEAR ABBY: My family and I were invited to the home of a friend we had known for many years.

On our last visit for dinner our hostess prepared a colorful (but highly inedible) buffet of Jewish dishes, none of which we had ever eaten in our home. This included bagels, lox, smoked sturgeon, pickled herring, chopped liver, sliced tomatoes, creamed cottage cheese, jellied tuna, sour cream, pickles, and lotkes. Also kichel and strudel for dessert.

When I was invited to the buffet table I blurted out, "There is nothing here I can eat."

I have weak kidneys from a scarlet fever attack in my earlier years and I can't eat spicy foods.

Was my remark rude? Or should I have tried to make a meal out of sliced tomatoes and bagels?

HUNGRY GUEST
DEAR GUEST: Your remark was rude. You should have eaten what you were able to, and said nothing.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

FOR SUNDAY, FEB. 25
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A wonderful Sunday to first attend the services of your choice to get some new ideas on how proven principles can be utilized to advantage in everyday life after which you can get out socially, see and be with the persons you like the most and have a very happy time romantically or at the pleasure of your choice.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Make a point to listen to very elevated philosophical talks that could make your life much richer in the days ahead. Then out to make excellent contacts in a social way. These could prove to be very important in business, too.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Attend some group meeting today and show your fine ability in whatever the cultural exchange may be. Make new arrangements where your vocation is concerned. You can have far more success thereby in the future.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Fine new openings are possible to you right now, but if you do nothing about them, you lose out completely. Show others that you are very much on the beam. Hit on the right idea which someone gives you.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) — Listen to what your most dynamic associates have to suggest for greater success in the day ahead. Put wheels in motion. Come to agreement with real estate and intelligent action. Be happy.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) — Get today for a delightful time. First contact good friends and plan what you are going to do in the new week ahead. Advance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Permit those who dwell under the same roof with you to see the real you and come to a true and happy understanding. Stop hiding your fine qualities. Make about more charming. Plan new week's activities wisely, also.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Get together with persons who will understand your ideas and cooperate with your plans. Take the time to be with relatives, some good neighbor who has your interests at heart. Be active, happy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — You have to raise your level of consciousness to greater abundance if you are to achieve it. Be with clever persons so that you get their fine ideas. Plan to emulate their example in the days ahead.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — If you rise from all that work you solahorously handled, and so well. Then the p.m. is fine for the cultural or artistic. Show that you are a spiritual person.

Dust lampshades with a clean soft cloth or a vacuum cleaner attachment. Plastic and other washable shades can be wiped with a damp cloth.

the Drama of DRUGS
by Tom Beard

There still exist in our world today many isolated tribes who still practice a combination of magic and medicine which possibly stem from primitive Stone Age practices of eons ago.

These practices include such things as the regular use of fetishes, the sucking-out of evil that causes sickness in a patient, magic bones, and incantations.

Progress in medical treatment has been and continues to be one of the greatest advances of man, particularly in recent years. At Richard Drug we take pride in preparing the most effective medicines your doctor prescribes.

FOR MONDAY, FEB. 26
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to discuss much that is modern and stream-lined in its nature and that you can apply to your own life and affairs and, then you can place such a course definitely in motion with the help of good friends who understand what you are trying to do and who are willing to give you the benefit of their backing.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Contacting understanding pals will mean their cooperation in a fascinating new plan you have. Out to the social highlight. Then be sure to accept invitations you receive of worth for some time in the future.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Contacting the most powerful persons you know is wise if you are going to get the support you need for your most practical projects. Handle that civic affair wisely. Avoid getting so upset over some unimportant matter.

MRS. T. A. MASTIN SR. ... ABWA president

MRS. C. P. REDD, LEFT, AND MRS. CARL THOMAS ... arrange bronze, gold, and red floral centerpieces

By WANDA MAE HUFF
Womens' Editor

Employers of Pampa will discover Tuesday night their women employes consider they have "bosses with hearts of gold" when they attend the American Business Women's Association annual Boss Night Banquet.

ABWA members will honor their bosses in the annual banquet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Coronado Inn Starlight Room, and will also honor the organization's 1967 Woman of the Year, Mrs. Vernon (Helen) Graham.

A. C. Wimpee, representative of H. L. Hunt Oil Co., Dallas, will be guest speaker. Wimpee, known as a magician and as a spokesman against Communism, is a Garland resident, and has spoken to men's and women's groups throughout the United States and 23 foreign countries.

Banquet officials are executive board members. Mrs. T. A. (Babe) Mastin Sr., president; Mrs. C. P. Redd, vice president; Mrs. Ben Organ, recording secretary; Mrs. James Culpepper, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Carl Thomas, treasurer. Others are Miss Maxine Nabors, banquet chairman, and Mrs. C. A. Herd, program and publicity chairman.

The banquet will feature a "Boss With a Heart of Gold" theme, announcement of the Boss of the Year, and honoring of the 1967 Woman of the Year.

The boss honoree will receive an engraved trophy. To select the boss of the year, employes were issued numbers and asked to write letters of recommendation. Instead of names, these numbers were used on letters and envelopes to keep honorees secret, Mrs. Mastin said.

Letter judges are three Pampa businessmen. Miss Vermell Meador, 1967 Boss of the Year, will announce the 1968 winner. The winner's employe will present the trophy and crown to her employe.

Soloist for the banquet is Miss Sharon Bruce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bruce, 1200 Williston. Her accompanist will be Donnie Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jones, 2429 Navajo.

The 1967 Woman of the Year, Mrs. Vernon Graham, is employed as a bookkeeper and secretary with Bruce and Son. She is a member of First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Graham assists her husband, who is history teacher at Pampa High School. They have two daughters, Mrs. Alvin Alexander, Pampa, and Mrs. Daniel Kautzky, Detroit, Mich.

A Pampa resident about five years, she has been an ABWA member four years, is a past ABWA president and is currently serving as membership chairman. She and her husband moved here from Lakeview.

Mrs. Graham has worked with Parent-Teacher Associations in Graham, Sierra Blanca and Estelline before moving to Pampa.

Mrs. Mastin is administrative secretary in the engineering department of Cabot Corp. Machinery Division. She is the only member of the Pampa chapter who is a member of the ABWA's Inner Circle.

An ABWA member since 1961, Mrs. Mastin and her husband, Ted, live at 1100 Charles. They have one son, Lt. Ted Mastin Jr., who is in the infantry and lives in Columbia, S. C., with his wife, the former Judy Neef, and 19-month old daughter, Lisa.

Mrs. Mastin is a member of the First Methodist Church and past matron of Pampa chapter, 65 Order of Eastern Star, and past Nobel Grand of Pampa Rebekah Lodge, No. 355.

Mrs. Redd, vice-president of the Pampa chapter, lives at 917 Bernard Ave., with her husband C. P. Redd. She is a member of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church and is employed as bookkeeper at Thompson Parts and Supply.

She is past recording secretary and has served as "Hand of Friendship" Tea chairman. She has been an ABWA member three years. Her daughter, Mrs. Charles Suits, lives with her husband and two sons in Las Vegas, Nev.

Mrs. Carl F. Thomas, treasurer of ABWA, and a member

MRS. VERNON GRAHAM ... 1967 woman of the year since March, 1967, lives with her husband and four children, Pam, Paul, Carl III, and Cathy, at 1909 Williston. A Pampa resident 12 years, she is a member of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, and has been employed as bookkeeper at Wright's Fashions three years.

Mrs. James Culpepper, corresponding secretary of ABWA, has been a member two years here and lives with her husband at 309 W. Decatur. They have one son Bill, who is a high school counselor at Fairbanks, Alaska, and a daughter, Mrs. Gary Shultz, a fifth grade teacher at Bedford Elementary School, Arlington.

Mrs. Culpepper, a member of First Baptist Church, is personal supervisor at F. W. Woolworth's.

Mrs. Ben Organ, recording secretary of ABWA here, has been a member a year and a half. She and Mr. Organ live at 1101 N. Starkweather. Their three children are Mrs. Barbara Jones, Mount Morris, N. Y., Mrs. Foy Gill, Amarillo, and Richard Organ, Mount Morris, N. Y.

Mrs. Organ, a teacher for Hopkins Schools, is a member of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church.

The American Business Women's Association is an educational organization founded in 1949 with headquarters in Kansas City, Mo. More than 719 chapters are organized with 45,000 members in the United States. Mrs. Margie Drennan of Dallas is the national president.

"ABWA's purpose is to elevate social and business standards of women in business by uniting them nationally for training designed to make them more efficient, more considerate, and more co-operative toward their employers, and their employer's customers," Mrs. Mastin said.

"Locally, chapters are limited to 100 members. Pampa group has 44 members on its active membership roster, and is one of 383 standard of achievement chapters," she added.

In March the Pampa chapter and others sponsor a "Hand of Friendship" Tea. Date of the tea, March 17, is set by the national board of directors for ABWA chapters throughout the United States to sponsor the teas simultaneously to acquaint women with benefits of ABWA. Mrs. Herd is the tea chairman.

"To help further women in education, the national headquarters has a scholarship fund set up where money can be borrowed and paid back after the honoree completes her education. Headquarters also has a national grant educational fund to provide college and university women the chance to further their education.

"More than $160,000 was given in scholarships last year, including the Pampa chapter's $200 scholarship.

The Pampa chapter meets at Furr's Cafeteria the second Tuesday each month for a dinner and program. District meetings are held annually on dates specified by the national board of directors. The southwestern district meeting this year is March 30 and 31 in Lubbock. The national convention will be held in Jacksonville, Fla in October.

Former Bosses of the Year have been Lou Troja, 1961; Hugh Peoples, 1962; Wallace Bruce, 1963; Mrs. Velma Sutton, 1964; Rue Hestand, 1965; Harold Barrett, 1966, and Miss Vermell Meador, 1967.

Women of the Year, honored by ABWA have been Mrs. C. A. (Dorothy) Herd, 1961; Mrs. O. E. (Ruby) Wylie, 1962; Mrs. Mary Lee Wright, 1964; Mrs. Tony (Lucille) Smith, 1964; Mrs. Wayne (Leoto) Neff, 1965; Mrs. James (Clara) Quary, 1966, and Mrs. Vernon (Helen) Graham, 1967.

Past presidents were Mrs. Herd, 1961; Mrs. Quary, 1962; Mrs. Glen (Allene) Ritter, 1963; Miss Nabors, 1964; Mrs. Wright, 1965; Mrs. Earl (Velma) Sutton, 1966 and Mrs. Graham, 1967.

Chapter colors are black and gold. The white carnation is its flower.

MRS. LARRY EARL DAVIS
... nee Bonnie Lou Winegeart

Miss Winegeart Exchanges Vows With Larry E. Davis

Miss Bonnie Lou Winegeart was united in marriage with Larry Earl Davis in an evening ceremony Feb. 9, in Calvary Baptist Church.

Rev. Joe Hawn, pastor, performed the double-ring ceremony before a floral arrangement of gladiolus.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Winegeart, 1116 Darby. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Gene Johnson, Elkhart, Kans., and John Earl Davis, Tucson, Ariz.

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I avowal," the bride wore a formal-length, imported silk organza dress over bridal taffeta and Venice lace. The dress was designed with a Sabrina neckline and long, petal point sleeves. The controlled, A-line, skirt was attached to a fitted basque bodice which was trimmed with seed pearls. Venice lace traced a pattern down the front of her gown which was also accented with seed pearls.

Her detachable train fell from the back waistline, which was enhanced by two roses and bows. Her veil of illusion was fastened to a crown of seed pearls. Her bridal bouquet was fashioned of heart-shaped nylon from which cascaded an arrangement of miniature carnations and a spray of white cat-tleya orchids.

A white orchid centered in lace was carried over a lace covered Bible.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Doss Dupuis, Amarillo, was matron of honor. Connie Winegeart, of Pampa, a twin of the bride, was her maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Linda Adkins, Delores Ruddick, Kathy Boyd and Janie Delsing, all of Pampa. Flower girl was Pam Looper, of Pampa.

Bridal attendants all were dressed in formal pink satin empire dresses. They each carried heart shaped frames with cascades of glamelias, a nd Lily of the Valley, with pale pink ribbon and silver accents. Best man was Will Breinich of Trevorton, Pa. Other attendants were Fran McGahen, Wayne Mitchell, Jerry Waddington, and Robert McDougle, all of Elkhart, Kans.; Billy Johnson, Springer, N.M.; Johnny Jacobs, and Art Hyer, both of Guymon, Okla.

Candlelighters were Janie Winegeart, the bride's sister, and Stan Johnson, the bridegroom's brother.

Organist Richie Land, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Zebbie Land as she sang "True Love," "Because," and "Wedding Prayer."

The bride's mother was dressed in blue lace dress over taffeta with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a two-piece green knit suit with brown accessories. Both wore white carnation corsages. During the ceremony, the bride presented both mothers with a pink rose.

RECEPTION

For the reception in the church Fellowship Hall, the serving table was decorated with a white cloth covered with pink net. The centerpiece was fashioned of pink candles and bouquets of wedding attendants.

Sue Crawford assisted at the punch service as Sharon Patterson served the three-tiered cake. Pat Davis, the bridegroom's sister, registered the guests.

For the honeymoon to Guymon, Okla., the bride traveled in a white knit dress with a shocking pink knit coat and wore the orchid from her bouquet.

The couple plan to live in Elkhart, Kans.

The bride is a 1968 semester graduate of Pampa High School. The bridegroom attended Tucson High School and served two years with the Army in Germany. He is employed with Northwest Servicing in Elkhart.

Church Women Schedule Prayer Observance Here

United Church Women World Day of Prayer will be observed in a one-hour service from 9:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. March 1, at St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church.

About 10 Pampa ministers will direct the community-wide program. Rev. William Brennan, C. M. of St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church, will give the opening prayer. Children of St. Vincent School will sing. Altar Society members will be hostesses for the coffee hour before the prayer service.

The same basic service is used by groups in 126 countries to stress the importance of prayer, Mrs. John Sweeney, a program coordinator, said.

Mrs. Jess Duncan of the Salvation Army, will direct the program.

Mrs. Dial Hosts Women's Meeting

Goodwill Home Demonstration Club met in Mrs. Robert Dial's home, 3013 Rosewood recently with the president, Mrs. V. E. Wagner, presiding.

Others participating in the program were Mrs. John Winters, who gave the secretarial report and Mrs. K. Elsheimer, program director, who spoke on "Storage Space."

After June Rowan gave the council report, council recommendations were read and approved.

Those attending were La Vern Coombes, Pat Dial, Francine Duggan, Olney Elsheimer, Eva Sue Frazier, Laura Kilgore, June Rowan, Mickey Tivis, Lucile Wagner, Fayanna Winters, Lettie Smith, Ronda Norton, Pat Utzman, Nancy Farrell, Mary Johnson, Sidney Jackson and Lorene Holder.

B&PW Club Has Business Program

Business and Professional Women's Club met recently in the City Club Room for its regular business program with Mrs. M. E. Powers, president, presiding.

After the business session, Mrs. Elsie Cunningham showed slides of places she visited on her recent trip around the world, on a sponsored tour for retired people.

Mrs. J. J. Rance, assisted by Mrs. Vickie Williams, crowned the "girl of the month," queen for February, Miss Linda Skaggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Skaggs. Miss Skaggs is a senior in Pampa High School.

Delta Delta Delta Members Attend February Social

An evening social in Mrs. Warren Fatheree's home 1132 Charles, was recently attended by members of Pampa Alumnae Chapter of Delta Delta Delta.

Mrs. John Eird, president, conducted a short business session and asked members to attend the 33rd national convention of Delta Delta Delta in Miami, Fla., in June.

Members were also reminded they would serve on a welcoming committee for Pampa Panhellenic Tea for senior girls at Lovett Memorial Library, at 3 p.m. April 7.

Following the business meeting, members played bridge.

Other members present, were Mmes. J. L. Chase, Jr., William Easley, William Greenlee, E. L. Henderson, Myron Marx, Jr., Richard Seawright, and Ralph Thomas.

Mrs. Tom Greenwood was hostess to Twentieth Century Club recently in her home at 1935 Grape. Quoting Emerson, "In art, the hand can never execute anything higher than the heart can inspire," Mrs. David McGahey introduced Mrs. J. W. Gordon who presented a program on modern art.

Wedding Scheduled In Oklahoma City

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gorman, Oklahoma City, Okla., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Leslie Jane Major to Richard Keller Goodwin of Norman, Okla. Miss Major's fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Goodwin, Jr., of Electra.

Wedding vows will be exchanged March 23, in Nichols Hills Methodist Church, Oklahoma City.

Miss Major attended Oklahoma University two years and is working in a bank in Oklahoma City. She pledged the Alpha Chi Omega Sorority, and lived in Dallas before moving to Oklahoma City. She was a graduate of John Marshall High School, Oklahoma City in 1965.

Her fiancé is a senior at Oklahoma University where he is a member of Sigma Chi Fraternity and is a member of the O Club. He is on the university's football team, and is majoring in finance and accounting. He plans to attend law school. Goodwin was a Pampa High School graduate in 1964.

facts from South Africa which she obtained on a recent trip to the African continent. These included original paintings, wood and soapstone sculptures, beaded ornaments, and implements of wood and iron.

"Fashioned from crude handmade tools and from original designs, these art objects reflect beauty and sophistication. Many artists, including Henry Moore and Picasso, have been influenced by African art," she said.

Mrs. Gordon stated, "Culture is the soil from which art derives its form and content. Art for the African serves first and foremost a religious function. Since South Africa is a blend of many cultures, the art is rich and varied."

Mrs. Gordon also emphasized "the unspoiled beauty of the vast African continent, its wild life and peoples by an exhibit of colored photographs taken on her journey."

Following the program, Mrs. Lorene Locke, president, adjourned the meeting and refreshments were served.

Other members attending, were Mmes. W. R. Campbell, F. M. Culbertson, William East-

Miss McNutt Weds Glen White Eagle

Miss Glenda Kay McNutt, of Pampa, exchanged wedding vows with Glen Charles White Eagle of Weatherford, Okla., in an evening marriage ceremony in the First Methodist Church Chapel Feb. 17. Rev. M. B. Smith, performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe T. McNutt, of 416 Carr. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Agatha Lance, Frederick, Okla.

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I avowal," the bride was dressed in a white satin, floor-length gown designed with a rounded neckline and petal point sleeves. The fitted bodice was accented with embroidered flowers and seed pearls. Her illusion veil was fastened to a white satin rose and seed pearl headpiece.

She carried a cascade arrangement of gladiolus with white satin ribbons.

ATTENDANTS

Edith McNutt of Amarillo, a cousin of the bride, was her maid of honor. She was dressed in a blue velvet, floor-length gown and carried a single gladiolus.

Darrell Fant, of Quanah, nephew of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Richard Gordy and Tommy Whittaker, both of Pampa.

Baskets of white gladiolus and white pew bows decorated the church for the exchange of vows. Donny Jones, organist, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Miss Mona Grady of Pampa as she sang "Because," and "Never Walk Alone."

The bride's mother was dressed in a blue two piece suit. Mrs. Lance wore a green knit, two piece suit. Both wore orchid corsages, a gift of the bridegroom.

RECEPTION

For the reception in the church parlor, Sue Zan McNutt, sister of the bride, assisted at the punch service as Wanda McNutt served cake and Mrs. T. M. Woodruff, an aunt of the bride, registered guests.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

The 'Philadelphia Plan'

Much has been said in and out of government about the need of jobs for the "hard-core unemployed." Although some jobs are "liberated" as this country's young men are forced to go off to war, there are not enough, and too many of those who seek jobs are not fitted to fill the "liberated" ones.

A widely heralded effort is getting into full swing to provide training for unemployed. It started in 1964 as a small private venture, the "Philadelphia Plan," which aimed to teach Negroes to hold jobs. Now it has spread rapidly across the country, has organized as the Opportunities Industrialization Center (OIC), with a record of finding jobs for more than 4,000 men and women.

Philadelphia's OIC started with private contributions under the leadership of the Rev. Leon H. Sullivan and 400 other Negro ministers of the city. According to the OIC emerged from a boycott against alleged job discrimination, when businessmen sought Negroes for better jobs but could not find enough who were qualified. Thinking at first that this was just a dodge to avoid hiring Negroes, Rev. Sullivan looked into it and determined that the Negro potential must not go unused.

Quarters were found in an abandoned police station and training commenced, stressing motivation (attitude) and close relationship with business. The main goal was to get the trainee to pull himself up by his own pride and sweat. Here, unlike some other programs, trainees are forbidden to take any pay for training.

Listed among things a trainee is taught are good grooming, the value of a dollar, how to walk and how to talk. "But most of all, we teach him how to put his head up, and his shoulders back, for we have found that the most important aspect of motivation is self-respect," stated Rev. Sullivan. Now, four years later, he says, "OIC trainees now realize that their work means a dollar, and that industry is in business for a profit, and that they are not just there to receive some sort of a check, or to hide in the corner when they can run away. They are there to produce, or, if they don't produce, I say: 'Let the man get rid of you, and I'm not going to fight for you at all. Come back to OIC and get your attitude straightened out.'"

With such noble goals and approaches, it sounds as if a realistic effort is underway. Although it did not start as a government program, the Philadelphia Plan was chosen by two federal agencies as a model for job training and given support. Federal funds now finance OIC programs in 24 cities, according to U.S. News & World Report. A few whites and Latin Americans participate, but it remains essentially a Negro program.

Congratulations are due Rev. Sullivan and the other Negro ministers who pioneered the project. And it can be earnestly hoped that the trainees will not be turned from the knowledge that they were fully involved in getting the training, as in those first days when they all had to do some work just to get the building ready, to feeling the training is given them through government support instead of their own efforts. Surely pursuit of self betterment and resultant jobs will benefit both them and their communities.

Much Ado About...a Savory Meal

It is not generally known that the last week in February is National Kraut and Frankfurter Week—specifically, Feb. 22-March 2. Even less generally known is that this is the 21st annual National Kraut and Frankfurter Week. Least generally of all does anybody care.

But the public relations release containing this announcement notes an interesting fact. When the first K&F Week was observed (by somebody) back in 1947, the nation was in the middle of the postwar baby boom. This year's presidential election will be the first one for those millions of boom babies who have now entered man's estate.

It seems as if there should be some sort of profound comment to make about this fact.

This is the first generation of voters who have never known a world without atom bombs, ballistic missiles, a Cold War, a hot war in Vietnam, commercial television, civil rights turmoil, the draft and so many other life-disrupting things they blame their parents for.

Yet, neither have they known a year without a National Kraut and Frankfurter Week. As Emerson said, there are compensations in every situation, if only we look for them.

Big 'Aye' for Democracy

There are so many other problems to choose from these days that no one worries any more about how democracy is faring in Germany—in that half of the nation that is privileged to try the system, that is.

Nevertheless, it is reassuring to learn the results of a recent poll of a cross-section of the citizenry of the Federal Republic (West Germany).

Asked the question, "Do you believe that democracy is the best form of government for Germany, or could you imagine a better one?" 74 per cent of the persons interviewed opted for democracy. Undecideds amounted to 22 per cent. Only 4 per cent thought another form of government would be better.

On the question of one party versus two or more parties, 55 per cent of the people asked said they thought several parties were better for the country. Another 26 per cent preferred "not more than two or three parties"—a total of 81 per cent.

Those preferring only one party came to 9 per cent; another 9 per cent were undecided, and 1 per cent wanted "no party at all."

By contrast, in a comparable survey made in 1951, more than twice as many—22 per cent—favored a one-party system. In the matter of democracy familiarity is definitely not breeding contempt among Germans.

Even So, We Feel Nervous

Income tax officials assert that while that little old groan-maker, the computer, first spots any, or, mistakes in our returns, "humans" in the Internal Revenue Service actually make the final decisions on hauling us in for questioning.

The IRS boys, no doubt, mean this announcement to be reassuring to the timid taxpayer. But as we recall it, careless chumps who entered the wrong figures on their tax returns in the precomputer era brought back word that the "humans" who grilled them weren't any soft touch.

These "humans," the shock-up suspects reported, expressed keen interest in the taxpayer's gigantic generosity to his church, and in the distressingly low mileage his car seemed to be getting per gallon, as indicated by the gas tax reduction.

IRS insists, however, that "humans" do disregard the hard-hearted computer's sus-

Hollywood has finally discovered Shakespeare. Of course the film moguls have been stealing his plays and plots for years, but until now they never realized that the Bard of Avon led a lusty and eventful life that combined everything you'll find in one of today's "adult" films. Only the costuming was different. This super epic has been aptly titled "The Bawdy Bard" and if it proves to be historically correct it will be just that and well worth seeing. At any rate, Kenneth Hymen of Warner Bros.-Seven Arts tells us it will be a spectacle-loaded pageant of Elizabethan England "humorous, dramatic and swinging." We'll bet it will be.

Today's smile: A teen-aged girl, shopping for a greeting card, asked the clerk: "Do you have any get-well cards for a boy who has just started to shave?"

Frequently after a winter storm in the West you see news photos of cattle killed as a result of exposure to the elements. Not so, says the U.S. Department of Commerce, because autopsies have shown the cause of death to be dehydration, not cold or suffocation. They say the cattle perish because they cannot lick enough snow to satisfy their thirst and they advise stockmen to use hesters in water tanks to provide livestock with water and feed after prolonged exposure. Glad to have that cleared up.

Thoughts while shaving: If J. Paul Getty, the world's richest man, were to convert his wealth into gold he would have about 2 million pounds of the precious metal. That's more than all the gold accumulated by the Egyptian Pharaohs over 2,000 years. And, if he did that he would need the whole U.S. Marine Corps to guard it for him. . . . We always thought the name Joe Zilch was phony and something coined like Joe Doakes. John Doe, Robert Roe and John Q. Public. It was actually the square monicker of a real guy. Seems the real Joe Zilch was a well-known vaudeville performer of the early 1900s and he somehow gave his name to the American vocabulary. . . . It's estimated 24 million feet of movie film run through the projectors at New York's Radio City Music Hall every year. That measures out to about 48,000 miles of celluloid. . . . Although it may be too early to seek commonplace innovations from the recent EXPO '67 at Montreal, such international expositions have given us many things we have gladly accepted and have come to enjoy. The 1904 St. Louis Fair gave us iced tea and ice cream cones. The earlier Chicago Fair of 1893 introduced the Ferris Wheel and electric lights. And New York's 1939 World's Fair gave us TV and a General Motors exhibit that accurately showed the world of the 1960's would be a complex of super-highways. . . . The Boston (Mass.) RECORD-AMERICAN headlined a story: "New Yorkers Ride Subways to Work." That's not news. They've been doing it for years.

Country Editor speaking: "The unhappiest father we know is the fellow whose son got a set of bongos drums and a guitar for Christmas."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Mars, more than any other planet in our solar system, approximates earth's physical conditions, as well as being only 34.6 million miles from earth at its closest approach. The World Almanac notes that Mars has about half the diameter and 1/10th the mass of the earth, and therefore only about 40 per cent of the earth's gravitational pull.

When a man buys a can of peas, he does not force anybody else to buy the same brand, or peas instead of beets, nor can he force another man to pay for the peas if that man does not want them.

But when a political democracy makes a choice, even those who don't want the chosen items or services must pay for them. Even in the United States, at one time, some states forced everyone to pay for churches. They no longer do that, but they still make everyone pay for schools—even those who have no children in the schools and those who believe that government schools cannot educate but only indoctrinate, and that they cannot set an example of living by the commandment "Thou Shalt Not Steal." Question Box

QUESTION: Is there a great difference between political democracy and the free, competitive market democracy? If so, which is the one that gives every person an opportunity to develop his talents to his fullest extent?

ANSWER: Yes, there is a great difference between political democracy and democracy of the market.

Thomas Carlyle said, "Democracy is, by the nature of it, a self-canceling business; and gives in the long run a net result of zero." He also said, "Democracy means despair of finding any heroes to govern you, and contented putting up with the want of them."

W. H. Seward in "Eulogy on John Quincy Adams," says, "Democracies are prone to war and war consumes them." That seems to verify the statement made by John Quincy Adams that political democracies always destroy themselves from within.

T. B. Macaulay wrote: "Institutions purely democratic must sooner or later destroy liberty or civilization or both." No pure democracy ever lasted long with one-man, one-vote. The democracy of the market is an entirely different thing. Democracy of the market is not based on coercion as political democracy is, but is based upon individuals voluntarily making willing exchanges of goods and services where both parties make a profit, materially and spiritually. Walt Whitman expressed it in these words: "I speak the password primeval—I give the sign of democracy: My God! I will accept nothing which all cannot have their counterpart on the same terms."

When a man buys a can of peas, he does not force anybody else to buy the same brand, or peas instead of beets, nor can he force another man to pay for the peas if that man does not want them.

But when a political democracy makes a choice, even those who don't want the chosen items or services must pay for them. Even in the United States, at one time, some states forced everyone to pay for churches. They no longer do that, but they still make everyone pay for schools—even those who have no children in the schools and those who believe that government schools cannot educate but only indoctrinate, and that they cannot set an example of living by the commandment "Thou Shalt Not Steal." It is difficult for one who is supported by taxation where people are forced to pay his salary, to set a good example of freedom and voluntary exchanges.

A political democracy always leads to monopoly and results in coercion while democracy of the market uses no coercion. In a market democracy a man is free to make his own decisions so long as he respects the equal rights of every other person to do the same thing.

It is the ability, in a market democracy, of the individual to make his own decisions respecting his own life and property, that enables him to grow and develop. He may make wrong decisions, but from the poor results of his wrong decisions he will quickly learn to make better ones, and in this way he will develop his talents to the fullest.

It is democracy of the market that this country really aimed to have, not a political democracy.

The founders of this nation called it a Republic. Isabel Paterson says, "Republic" means, as the roots of the word signify, regarding & public things of a public nature. This implies also that there are things that are not of a public nature, that the state must not have anything to do with. Now, however, political democracy is setting wages, hours, travel limitations, progressive income tax, etc. It interferes with the development of men of talent and the accumulation of tools without which men cannot produce more and thus earn more.

Democracy of the market leaves a man free to trade with anybody in the world, but through the power of political democracy labor unions limit the division of labor and greatly reduce production. This is a direct inhibition of the individual's ability to develop his talents.

Yes, democracy of the market is one that enables each and every individual to develop his talents to his fullest capacity.

It's Up To You

On-The-Job Training The Job Corps is spending about $9,000 on each person it trains. The training is, of course, theoretical and does not necessarily qualify the graduate for a specific job. We have said it before, but it needs to be said again—that the best way to provide jobs for the unemployed is to give them on-the-job training in industry. Of course, this will be expensive and a headache for the industries attempting to provide jobs for the unemployed, but it will cost much less in the long run than to maintain an increasing number of people in idleness.

If government would stop spending the tens of billions of dollars now paid out for unemployment, dependent children and a variety of welfare payments made because the heads of families are not working, and would reduce the taxes on business by a corresponding amount, we believe business could readily pick up the load and do a far better job of it as a fraction of the cost of attempting to do it the government way.

Government-administered relief aggravates the problem and causes an increasing amount to be spent year after year. On-the-job training provided by business tends to solve the problem. Along with this program should go some arrangement whereby people in training should be paid what might be termed an "apprentice" wage,

H. L. Hunt Writes

FOREIGN AID AND PERPETUAL POVERTY

Recently a Washington economist toured India to study the economic situation there. His report shows that our massive foreign aid to India has prevented the healthy development of its economy and has actually helped to perpetuate rather than reduce poverty.

India has received more than ten billion dollars in economic aid, yet its economic condition today is the worst since independence was achieved. Inflation rages in India. Between June 1966 and June 1967, the wholesale price index rose nineteen per cent; the price of food rose thirty-three per cent. The government had to devalue the Rupee by more than one-third in 1966. Food is extremely scarce; rice can be obtained only two days a week and wheat one day.

These conditions are largely the result of foreign aid. Because foreign money and U.S. food grains were so easily available to India, the government was encouraged to undertake an industrialization program, diverting resources needed for food production. Serious food shortages have resulted.

India's government is strongly socialist. Its marketing and production controls inhibit business development. The economy is shored up only by foreign aid. If the aid were not available, the government would be forced to allow more economic freedom. With the controls off, the Indian economy would be better able to support its people.

Once again a government program has been conclusively shown to do more harm than good. No matter how much foreign aid is poured into India, that country will continue to suffer poverty. Only freedom and personal enterprise can ever change that condition.

As distinguished from the full union scale, until such time as the trainee is qualified fully to discharge the duties of the job. We believe an arrangement of this kind would save the taxpayers billions of dollars and would be far more effective in providing jobs for those who need them. At the same time it would allay much of the frustration and anger of those who are honestly seeking work and cannot find it. Furthermore, it would deprive those who do not want to work of any excuse for remaining idle.

Branch Head Bill Says:

By BILL KENNEDY "About That Cur Tail On Travelling" I wasn't planning on doing no overseas traveling much now. So I don't reckon that I ort to rile me so for ole Lyndon to start in to laying down the law about not going out of the country none.

But it does. It seems like I have got to despising the man so much that everthang he com up with I don't like—and I don't like this already. It makes me mad. I don't know right off hand of anything that he could propose that I would really take a liking to. I'm plumb positive that I would be busy looking for the hooker in it if he perposed to treat my Mama-in-Law to a world wide touring trip with an extensed stay in ever country that she toured to.

Like I said, it ain't no skin off of my shinbones; cause I ain't even got no five dollars a day to spend traveling all around in Europe in the first place, not to mention the extra five-a-day that Lyndon is threatenning to charge if fools don't listen to him about not traveling none.

I reckon that you noticed that he waited til he had jest got back from a worldly tour when he made up this announcement! It used to be that presidents would even leave the U. S. while they was in the office. They had plenty to do here at home and figured the folks need ed 'em here to take care of 'thangs. But not Lyndon; he is about that like he is about folks sackerficin their money in the government programs—he he wants us to sackerfice our money but he don't never find no place where he ort to sackerfice none of his.

I will admit that it would be cheaper on us to keep Lyndon gone than it is to keep him in Washington, but the way I see it he is aiming to keep on spending us blind both ways.

Now that he has brought the whole thang up, I might jest decide to try to make me atouring trip at that, jest cause he said I couldn't. There ain't no place I specially want to go, and I don't rightly know how I would swing the financing of it since I ain't no congressman. But why should Lyndon want to allow the Government Class of people to keep on spending all them dollars "traveling around junketing . . . and make the Working Class stay on the job?"

That don't take much figuring out, though, if you get right down to it. If the Working class don't stay here and keep their noses to the grinding rock, he knows the Ruling Class might not keep on having plenty of tax money for them to take and send to all them other countries.

I do believe the man has lost most of his thanking marbles—or he thanks that we have, one! First he finished spending us broke; then he as for more tax increases so 'we' can stay prosperous. And he wants to give the rioters all that they can thank of to ast for so that there won't be nothing to riot over and we will have "peace" in the streets. And he keeps on letting our boys git killed in a war that he ain't got the guts to let 'em—or help 'em—win. And he keeps on proing America gold out of the country like it's going out of style (which it is), and wants us to stay home to save him some more and pay more taxes.

"The way to stop crime is to give the criminals everthang everybody else has got, so there won't be nothing left for 'em to take." That's ole Lyndon's way!

If somebody that wasn't already in the bug house (or in Washington) was to start doing things like that, folks would see to it that he was locked up some place for safety. But it loks like all of us is going to tuck our tails like cur dogs—and let Lyndon keep on doing it. I will promise one thang. If Lyndon will go on back to Vietnam and promise to stay there until somebody gets whapped, I will promise to cut down on my abhoard junketing.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT Periodic Checkups Help The Asthma Sufferer

Q—I in the last three years, my husband has suffered with asthma. As a result of allergy tests, his doctor told him to avoid a long list of foods. I am going crazy trying to find things for him to eat. How effective is the operation in which the carotid body in the neck is removed? The pills he is taking help some, but he still has a bad cough. What do you recommend?

A—The operation mentioned was at first greeted with enthusiasm. Some patients were apparently benefitted, but most surgeons have had such poor results with the operation that they no longer recommend it. More recently, good results have been reported with a special apparatus for intermittent positive pressure breathing. A new device for the inhalation of negative ions, also experimental, shows some promise.

Q—Is there any truth in the common belief that a Chihuahua dog will help asthma?

A—Since the inhalation of animal dander is a common cause of asthma, I would be more inclined to believe that a Chihuahua would help you to get asthma.

Q—I have been taking Decadron for asthma. Will it cause any bad side effects?

A—This drug is closely related to cortisone. When used for prolonged periods, it may cause peptic ulcer, moonface, decalcification and collapse of the spine, insomnia and bleeding in the skin. Anyone taking this drug should have periodic checkups.

Q—Could a bad reaction to the Salk vaccine cause an allergy to eggs?

A—No. The Salk poliovirus is grown on a monkey kidney culture.

Q—What causes sneezing spells? What can be done to control them?

A—Anything that irritates the mucous membrane of the nose will cause sneezing. Other causes include allergy, head colds and, in some persons, sitting in a draft. The best control is to remove the cause, if possible. Sometimes a sneeze can be suppressed by hard pressure on the skin below your nose.

Q—For three or four years, I have had a neuroma on the sole of my right foot. My doctor advised a metatarsal arch support. This gives me only partial relief. Will it go away by itself if I stay off my feet as much as I can and wear roomy shoes? If it isn't removed, will it become cancerous?

A—Your nerve tumor will not disappear spontaneously and will not become cancerous. If it is very painful it should be removed. In 1948 John Constello was elected Prime Minister of Eire replacing Eamon de Valera who had held office 16 years.

Now you know what happens when you get a chief who speaks with forked tongue. He says that the Joint Chiefs of staff have got to sign a guarantee that they will win in Khe Sanh. And if they should lose I reckon they will be stood against the wall and shot.

Well, this is a fine time for Forked Tongue to be asking for guarantees, ain't it. Look what has gone on before:

In 1965 them Joint Chiefs wanted to air strike 94 targets, keep up the pressure and close the port of Halphong. No, says Chief F. T.

In 1965 the JC's urged a build-up of 400,000 men in the first 6 months. No, says F. T. It took 3 years to get to 525,000, barely struggling along.

In '65, '66 and '67 the JC's asked for the reserve call-up to have a "winning strategy." No says, F. T. Only in 1968 has he called a few air reservists.

All along the JC's have asked for new equipment as they was using Korean War radios and flying WW2 bombers. F. T. and McNamara each year cut budget requests for the war services.

JC's wanted to cut the Ho Chi Minh Trail and hit the Mekong Delta in 1966. F. T. vetoed this and told the military to pursue the Mekong campaign with less than a division if it insisted. They needed 100,000 men.

JC's wanted to take over the war, run it thru a joint command the way they saw it. F. T. is still vetoing the joint command. All command decisions still come from a bunch of civilians in Washington, 8000 miles from the battles. The Joint Chiefs have got 180 yrs. of experience including a total of 50 yrs. of actual war. Its too bad its wasted because of one chief Forked Tongue.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Every so often, someone writes to ask what I would watch on television if I were locked in a room without a book or a drink, and had only a video set for diversion.

The letters usually refer to night time programs. And my answer would be as follows: Almost invariably, I would choose a movie, a sports show or a news broadcast, preferably a documentary in the latter category. Faced with regular series programs, I would probably hunt desperately for a Frankenstein or Dracula or Mr. Moto or George Brent movie on a local outlet.

But this answer, in a way, is a copout, because the writers of the letters want to know which regular network series we would choose if we absolutely had to choose them. And so, on that basis, here goes, night-by-night:

On Mondays, it would be "Gunsmoke," Lucille Ball, "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In" and "I Spy."

On Tuesday, the CBS news hour, the NBC movie and a peek at Red Skelton to see what kind of form he's in. If a full moon is out, maybe a look at "The Invaders" too.

On Wednesdays, "The Avengers," the ABC movie and a quick look at "He and She" because I like Paula Prentiss and Dick Benjamin even if the show wastes their talents.

On Thursdays, the CBS movie, "Dragnet," Dean Martin and a few minutes of "Daniel Boone" because I like Fess Parker's authority. And authority is a quality you don't see much in actors anymore.

These two programs alternate, and a fast glance at "Tarzan" because I like to root against him. The main reason is that I wish I owned the property.

On Saturdays, the NEC movie, "The Saint," "The Hollywood Palace," Jackie Gleason and possibly a look at "Mannix" because of the technical effects—no other reason.

On Sundays, the ABC movie, the Smothers Brothers if they are in form—and sometimes they are just not—and also Ed Sullivan if I like the cast, "Mission: Impossible" and "The High Chaparral" because I like Henry Darrow and Linda Cristal.

I can also give you a night-by-night breakdown of some series I would never watch again if I had the choice:

Monday: "Rat Patrol," "Feloxy Squad."

Tuesday: "N.Y.P.D."

Wednesday: "The Second Hundred Years," "Lost in Space," "Green Acres."

Thursday: "Climax Strip."

Friday: "The Wild, Wild West."

Saturday: "Dating Game," "Newlywed Game," "Hogans Heroes," "Peticoat Junction."

Sunday: "The Mothers in Law."

"Bonnie and Clyde" Dominate Academy Award Nominations

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Spencer Tracy, who died last June, was nominated posthumously today for an Academy Award for his performance as the gruff newspaper publisher in "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner."

"Bonnie and Clyde" and "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner" each won 10 nominations in the 40th annual awards competition. Both were named among the top five pictures of the year.

The other three contenders were "The Graduate," "In The Heat of The Night," and "Doctor Doolittle."

Nominated for best actor were Warren Beatty ("Bonnie and Clyde"), Dustin Hoffman ("The Graduate"), Paul Newman ("Cool Hand Luke"), Rod Steiger ("In The Heat of The Night"), and Tracy.

Nominated for best actress were Anne Bancroft ("The Graduate"), Audrey Hepburn ("Wait Until Dark"), Katharine Hepburn ("Guess Who's Coming to Dinner"), Faye Dunaway ("Bonnie and Clyde") and Dame Edith Evans ("The Whisperers").

Nominated for best performance by an actor in a supporting role were John Cassavetes ("The Dirty Dozen"), Gene Hackman ("Bonnie and Clyde"), Cecil Kellaway ("Guess Who's Coming to Dinner"), George Kennedy ("Cool Hand Luke"), and Michael J. Pollard ("Bonnie and Clyde").

Academy members voted best supporting actress nominations to five newcomers to Oscar: "Casino Royale," "Talk to the Animals" from "Doctor Doolittle," and the title song from Mildred Natwick ("Barefoot in the Park"), Estelle Parsons (Bonnie and Clyde), Beah Richards ("Guess Who's Coming to Dinner"), and Katherine Ross ("The Graduate").

Richard Brooks was nominated for directing "In Cold Blood," although his picture failed to receive a nomination. Other nominees in this category were Norman Jewison ("In The Heat of The Night"), Stanley Kramer ("Guess Who's Coming to Dinner"), Mike Nichols ("The Graduate"), and Arthur Penn ("Bonnie and Clyde").

Best song nominees were "The Bare Necessities" from "The Jungle Book," "The Eyes of Love" from "Banning," "The Look of Love" from "To Crawl Back Into My Arms," "Casino Royale," "Talk to the Animals" from "Doctor Doolittle," and the title song from Mildred Natwick ("Barefoot in the Park").

Gable Will Be In Spotlight Again March 5

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Clark Gable spent the last years of his life avoiding television appearances. Now NBC-TV will beam "Dear Mr. Gable," a biographic documentary that might have enraged the late, great star.

The hour-long special to be shown March 5 was put together by the MGM documentary department with the producer Nicolas Noxon, a man who never met Gable.

Because MGM owns 67 of the 75 pictures Gable made, there will be many brief film clips from Gable's most memorable movies, including his first major role in "The Painted Desert," a William Boyd western made in 1930.

Burgess Meredith, who knew Gable, will narrate the documentary which Noxon describes as a sentimental picture of the man and his career rather than a "hard look" at the man himself.

In addition to his pictures Gable's life story will be told with still photographs of Gable from the time he was a boy at Cadiz, Ohio, until his death at age 59 in 1960.

"Some of the best footage was sent to us by a friend of Clark's who used to go hunting and fishing with him, Noxon said. "I think viewers will find it an interesting show."

And so they may. But I knew Gable and a show of this nature would not have set well with him. He was a man who separated his public and private life, and woe betide the man who crossed him.

Title Change
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The title of 20th Century Fox's "The Connecticut Look" has been switched to "The Feminine Mistake."

Drilling Responsible for Only Half of Nation's Oil Since War

NEW YORK — Drilling was responsible for only half of the 70 billion barrels added to the nation's recoverable oil supply since World War II, Oil Facts reports.
Quoting a new study by the National Petroleum Council, the publication says the other half of the increase resulted from improvements in recovery technology.
Oil Facts explains that the industry places great emphasis on extracting the maximum amount of oil and gas from the earth. Recovery rates range from 10 per cent in some fields to more than 80 per cent in others, with an overall average of about 26 per cent.
Injecting water and applying heat to underground formations are some of the modern techniques being used to increase oil and gas production. Oil facts points out that several states have recently modernized their oil and gas conservation laws and regulations to permit the application of advanced technology.
The NPC report emphasizes that no matter how much recovery may be improved by technology, the energy demands of the future can be met only by continuing to search for new fields.
Drilling Continues On Exploratory Well
DALLAS — Atlantic Richfield Co. announced that it has set 9 1/2-inch casing at a depth of 8708 feet in its Prudhoe Bay State No. 1 exploratory well on the Arctic Slope of Alaska. The pipe was set through a sand body covering an interval approximately 470 feet thick which had previously been tested.
The lower 70-foot interval of this sand body is believed oil saturated on the basis of core examination. No flow tests have been made other than the gas flow at 8500 feet previously announced.
The well is now drilling in the Mississippi at approximately 8820 feet toward its projected depth of 13,000 feet.
Atlantic Richfield is operator of the well, a joint venture with Humble Oil and Refining Co., which is being drilled on a 90,000-acre block owned by the two companies. The well is located approximately 300 miles north of Fairbanks and 150 miles southeast of Point Barrow.

Desk & Derrick Club Schedules Monday Meeting

The Desk and Derrick Club of Pampa will have its monthly dinner meeting Monday at 7 p.m. in the Quivera Room of the Coronado Inn.
William G. Van Bember, area landman with Mobil Oil Corporation, will speak on "The Landman's Role."
Van Bember, stationed in Amarillo, is a past president of the Panhandle Petroleum Landmen Assn. and a director of the American Association of Petroleum Landmen. He has been employed with Mobil Oil since 1951.
The Desk and Derrick Club of Pampa is a local chapter of the national organization for women in oil or oil-related industries.

IPAA Executive Warns On Federal Control

LOS ANGELES — The Federal Government is just "one step" from federal control of the petroleum industry in its current efforts to balance supply and demand of home heating fuels and when it interferes with "the normal function of price," a spokesman for independent oil producers warned here today.
Minor S. Jameson Jr., executive vice president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, referred to actions leading to granting of "emergency" import quotas for East Coast imports of No. 2 fuel oil, "based on an alleged but unproven shortage."
He said the domestic petroleum industry demonstrated its ability to supply more than 1,000,000 barrels daily of additional oil during the recent Middle East crisis.

Comparing trends in the oil producing industry to those in the economy generally, Jameson said the projection of an $850 billion gross national product for 1968 represents an 85 per cent increase over the 1957-59 base period, while independent oil producers' latest output of money to find and develop new oil supplies shows a drop of 40 per cent.
Similarly, he said, the Federal Reserve Board's index of 1968 industrial production shows a 65 per cent rise over 1957-59 while domestic drilling activity in which independent producers predominate will be down 40 per cent from 1957-59.
He said domestic oil producers had experienced a "private recession" during an 11-year period of "unprecedented economic growth" because it "has a been and continues to be, the victim of a cost-price squeeze resulting in inadequate incentives to find and develop adequate petroleum supplies for the future."

Such trends wouldn't concern anyone outside of the industry, he said, "except for the fact that 200 million Americans depend for their comfort and economic welfare on adequate petroleum supplies."
Even more important, he said, is the fact, dramatized during the recent Middle East crisis, that adequate oil "within our own control" is indispensable to prevent aggression, and fuel whatever international conflicts may confront the nation.

Spiraling Demand for Oil Indicates Need for Search

Spiraling U.S. demand for petroleum is emphasizing the need to search for oil and gas in all likely places.
Petroleum from federally owned lands already plays an important role in supplying the nation's needs, according to government statistics. Government and industry leaders agree that among the most promising areas for future oil and gas exploration are the federal lands of the Rocky Mountain region, Alaska, and the Continental Shelf.
A testimony presented at a recent hearing of the Public Land Law Review Commission in Washington, D.C., oilmen called attention to their proven ability to make petroleum activities fully compatible with other land uses such as recreation and wildlife conservation.
It was pointed out that oil companies have demonstrated their concern for wildlife protection everywhere from a moose range in Alaska to coastal areas along the Gulf of Mexico.
One industry association asserted that the nation's growing demand for oil and gas cannot be supplied without continued multiple use of federal lands.

Six Graduate Fellowships To Be Renewed by Fund

TULSA, Okla. — Six graduate fellowships in marine geological and geophysical research, created last year by the Pan American Petroleum Foundation, Inc., will be renewed for the 1968-69 scholastic year, F. R. Yost, president of the foundation, has announced.
The program is designed to encourage advanced study by outstanding students and to promote research in geological and geophysical oceanography. Fellows are selected by participating institutions and are under no obligation to the sponsor.
During 1968-69, the foundation will renew oceanography fellowships to Columbia University (Lamont Geological Observatory), New York, N.Y.; Oregon State University, Corvallis;

Guerrillas Give Up

SANTIAGO (UPI) — Chile held three Cuban and two Bolivian guerrillas who fled from the Bolivian highlands where their leader Ernesto "Che" Guevara was killed.
Interior Minister Edmund Perez Zujovic said the five would be given safe conduct "to a nation where they face no danger." He said the five guerrillas surrendered to a police patrol in northern Chile.

Alaska Becomes Producer of Oil

By FRED LANKARD
United Press International
Alaska, its first oil field only nine years old, has already become one of the nation's premier oil producing states.
One year ago 58 Alaskan wells were producing just over 52,000 barrels per day but by the beginning of 1968 the number of wells had increased to 90 and daily production was at 144,000 barrels.
That figure was good enough to push Alaska past Colorado, Montana, North Dakota, Utah and Arkansas into 10th spot among the producing states.
Forecasts for Alaskan oil moving to West Coast refineries by the end of this year range from 200,000 to 280,000 barrels daily. This would move the North Star State over Mississippi and Illinois and into a race with Kansas for 7th place.

Most of the production comes from southern Alaska's Cook Inlet where on Jan. 1, 50 wells were flowing 106,000 barrels per day. The state's first producer, the Swanson River Field on the Kenai Peninsula, is producing at about 38,000 barrels daily for 40 wells.
Cook Inlet currently sports 11 rig platforms at work in three giant fields, Granite Point, Middle Groud Shoal and McArthur Mover, and a smaller field, Trading Bay. Predictions call for McArthur, a producer since only last October, to become the state's number one field with output of some 95,000 barrels per day by the end of the year.
Beyond Cook Inlet, Alaska's eventual standing as an oil state is anybody's guess, according to the Oil and Gas Journal.

No oil discoveries were recorded in 1967 and by year's end only four wildcat wells were active. A more accurate assessment of Alaska's future potential can probably be gained from interest in Bristol Bay state lands, up for leasing next month, and the later offering of the Gulf of Alaska.
Even if oil should be found in abundance, development of these and other areas, such as the North Slope where one wildcat is drilling, will depend on the economic climate.
The Alaskan tax structure with regard to oil is uncertain and oilmen will have to be assured there is at least a promise of profit before they tackle the rugged terrain and severe weather.

The nation's refiners need "Alaskan oil," the Journal observed. "But oilmen, unlike mountain climbers, do not develop reserves merely because they are there."

New Books on Shelves At Public Library

New books on the shelves of Lovell Memorial Library, beginning week of Feb. 26, are:

"Bedlam in the Back Seat," by Janet Gillespie; the hilarious adventures of an American family in Europe.

"A Shoal of Stars," by Hugh Downs; a true-life account of everyman's dream, sail across the Pacific to exotic lands.

"The Rescuer," by Peter Maas; the extraordinary life of the Navy's "Swede" Momsen and his role in an epic submarine disaster.

"Modern ABC's of Bow and Arrow," by G. Howard Gillian; of equipment, stance, draw, aim practice... bow to bullseye in target and field archery, skills with moving targets... the latest in mastering a new-old sport.

"The Art of German Cooking," by Betty Wason; an inviting travel and eating tour of Germany; featuring all the great German specialties.

Transistors: Principles and Applications," by R. G. Hibberd; covers just about anything the technician might have reference to.

"Painting and Decorating," by Walter Chlustyk; all about paint, painting equipment, wall-paper hanging, etc.

"America's Political Dynasties," by Stephen Hess; from Adams to Kennedy the American families who have, through several generations, been prominent in political life.

"Prisoners of the Mahdi," by Byron Farwell; the story of the Mahdist Revolt which frustrated Queen Victoria's designs on the Sudan, humbled Egypt, and led to the fall of Khartoum, the death of Gordon, and Kitchener's victory.

"LSD, Man and Society," by Richard C. DeBoid; the facts about LSD - its pharmacological characteristics and effects, its impact on the individual and on society—soberly stated and analyzed by nine authoritative scientists.

In 1933 President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt narrowly missed being assassinated in Miami, but bullets fired by ally wounded Chicago Mayor fanatic Giuseppe Zangara mortally wounded Chicago Mayor Anton Cermak

Snow Shoveled From Walk But It's All By Mistake

What was described as a pleasant surprise happened at home of Don Riddle, 704 Lowry, during the snowstorm Thursday. Mrs. Riddle looked out at the snow and was surprised to see a man vigorously shoveling snow off her walks and driveway.

Mrs. Riddle asked the man, Orval Batson, if he were at the right house. He too was surprised, since he had intended to shovel his sister-in-law's walks. She lives next door to Mrs. Riddle.

Batson finished the job before venturing next door to do the job he had originally set out to do.
