General Motors Still Facing Two Strikes

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp., after pocketing a pair of zero hour agreements with the United Auto Workers within 24 hours, still faced two walkout threats today.

However, two strikes at Flint, Mich., plants which were settled late Wednesday and early Thursday, threw a kink into the mammoth automaker's cross-country car building.

Strike deadlines, which could see 13,000 men walk off their jobs, were scheduled for tonight at Parma, Ohio, and Detroit, for Wednesday night at Massena, N.Y.

The flow of Chevrolet engines to 17 assembly plants was knotted by the walkout at the Chevrolet V8 engine plant at Flint, jumbling the Chevrolet division schedule.

Just an hour before a 10 p.m. strike deadline at a Chevrolet motor plant at Tonawanda, N.Y., Thursday, GM and the UAW announced a tentative pact for the 4,200 workers at Local 774. The same feat was pulled off earlier Thursday when, after nearly 49 hours of continuous bargaining, negotiators settled on a contract at a Chevrolet manufacturing plant at Warren, Mich.

GM spokesmen said 7,000 workers at all four GM production lines in St. Louis, Mo., would be idled by late today. Thursday, the auto firm laid off 1,200 at its car assembly line in Flint, and 2,250 at a Fisher body plant there.

Six Hours Before Jury Make Singer Weary

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A weary gospel singer emerged from the courtroom Thursday after spending more than six hours before a grand jury investigating the assassination of President Kennedy.

to videotape the trial from a small storeroom at the rear of the court and to withhold the tape until the trial was completed.

Thomas Beckman, of Omaha, Neb., said the session "was the most disgraceful violation of civil rights I have seen in my life."

"The defense is wholly against it," Haggerty said. "Haggerty said the final decision was his."

"I don't really know what kind of repercussions the whole thing will have. All this mess makes me glad I left Louisiana when I did," Beckman said.

"I don't have to ask anyone's permission," he said. "The trial was set for this month, but a defense motion to move the case at least 100 miles away from New Orleans has delayed it at least a month. Haggerty will conduct a hearing March 5 to determine whether he should grant a change of venue."

Beckman, a 27-year-old western singer and evangelist, said he "did not know a thing about the Kennedy assassination conspiracy."

Asst. Dist. Atty. James Alcock said Beckman answered all questions before the grand jury and was "cooperative."

Haggerty said he personally favored filming the trial for educational purposes but he thought it would be ethically wrong to allow commercial networks to film the proceedings.

Beckman acted as his own attorney and tried to avoid the grand jury appearance by filing a motion with Dist. Judge Matthew S. Braniff.

The Ford Foundation has offered to spend $350,000 or more to grant me a right to have a counsel. I didn't have a lawyer because I thought that since I should be subpoenaed they should furnish me with one," Beckman said.

In his motion Beckman said he knew nothing about the assassination, that his civil rights were being violated and Garrison was trying to frame him. Braniff denied the motion, saying Beckman had nothing to fear if he told the grand jury the truth.

Communists Driven Back To Citadel Walls in Hue

MACHINE GUNNER — Framing a line of United Nations tanks on guard near Pamunjon, where representative of the United States and North Korea continue talks over the captured American intelligence ship Pueblo stands a lone machine gun operator.

Tanks Fire Shells At Red Guerrillas

By EUGENE V. RISHER

SAIGON (UPI) — A Leatherneck charge drove Communist troops in Hue back up against the towering walls of the imperial citadel today and Marine tanks fired shell after shell into the guerrillas trying to flee their last urban stronghold in South Vietnam.

UPI correspondent Richard V. Oliver reported from the battle on the banks of Perfume River that the Marines hoped their drive would finally snuff out the last major remnant of the Communist legions that swarmed into the nation's cities Jan. 31.

The U.S. Marines charged the guerrillas who had burrowed into and under the 12-foot thick walls on the north bank of the river and routed them out in close combat, Oliver reported.

Leatherneck tanks rumbled up to the edge of the south bank of the river that divides Hue, 400 miles north of here, and pumped their shells into bands of Communists fleeing toward the water and away from the charging Marines.

The Marines were firing phosphorous shells which explode and send out fiery clouds that burn anything they touch, Oliver reported.

The charge against the south wall of the two-mile-square citadel followed what Oliver described as the greatest combined air, land and sea bombardment any South Vietnam city has undergone. Allied divebombers, American artillery and U.S. destroyers offshore blasted the southern sector of the citadel where the North Vietnamese had been flying a Viet Cong flag the Leathernecks vowed to bring home as a souvenir.

"Wave after wave of Navy F9 Crusader jets first dropped heavy bombs. Then they hit with Zuni rockets and finally splashed flaming napalm on the Communist positions," Oliver said.

Huge orange balls of fire rose above the walled city built a century ago for Annamese kings and until Jan. 31 the national architectural treasure of South Vietnam.

South Vietnamese Black Panther marines and government rangers had joined in on the attack. The assault followed allied intelligence reports that the North Vietnamese planned a dramatic rescue of the 300 to 500 survivors of the 2,500-man guerrilla force that had swarmed into the citadel grounds 16 nights ago.

U.S. radar screens picked up evidence of Communist troop truck convoys heading for Hue and the three-story-high citadel walls. One column was marked on the screens as coming from the southwest and the other from the northeast. American artillery boomed in the night. No more was heard of the reinforcements.

Report Says Red Bombers Forced To Turn Back

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI)—Jim Lucas, a correspondent for the Scripps-Howard Newspapers, reported today U.S. Air Force fighters intercepted five Russian bombers over Greenland earlier this week and forced them to turn back.

STRATEGY SHAPES UP

Romney Will Pin LBJ Label on Nixon

By ROBERT J. TAYLOR
United Press International
Michigan Gov. George Romney's New Hampshire campaign strategy was shaping up today as an effort to pin an LBJ brand on rival GOP presidential candidate Richard Nixon's Vietnam stance.

The war has become the issue of major contrast between the two Republican hopefuls in the early weeks of the primary contest, and Thursday Romney criticized the former vice president for what he said was Nixon's failure to propose alternatives to President Johnson's policy.

"Sadly, he evades suggesting what to do about our present dilemma in Vietnam," Romney told a Bedford news conference. "He only offers more to the same. It is truly ironic that Mr. Nixon has become a me-too candidate on Vietnam."

Fires First Volley
It was Romney's first attack on Nixon, and the governor's campaign statements of late evidenced careful preparation of the issue.

Romney renewed in speeches across the state his own proposal to attack the Vietnam problem by working toward the gradual "neutralization" of all southeast Asia.

Nixon, sticking to the theme that aggression must not be allowed to succeed in Vietnam, told a Boston audience it was "vitally important that we not compromise on the principle of resisting aggression abroad because any aggression now runs the risk of escalating into global destruction."

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination on an antiwar platform, stumped in Keene, N.H., for votes in the March 12 balloting.

The Minnesota senator told a student group the idea American security is threatened in Vietnam is "so preposterous it ought not to be discussed."

"If we were really concerned about our security, we should have our troops in Korea, Japan and Australia—if we're that afraid," he said, adding that Vietnam was the worst place to have troops so far as America's security was concerned.

In Lincoln, Neb., Republican Gov. Claude Kirk of Florida accused Johnson of conniving in the third party presidential candidacy of former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

BOW TO MOTHER NATURE

Nuclear Scientists Dedicate Los Alamos Research Center

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (UPI)—Nuclear scientists, bowing to unconquerable Mother Nature, broke ground symbolically Thursday for a $55 million medium energy atomic research facility at the home of the atomic bomb.

The dedication marked the 25th anniversary of the famed Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory where the United States struggled to conquer the atom during the dark days of World War II.

The ceremony Thursday was symbolic because four-inch snows and freezing rain forced it indoors. Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, Atomic Energy Commission chairman, presided.

sandbox full of New Mexico dirt served to mark the official start of construction on the new meson physics facility.

Breaking ground with Seaborg were U.S. Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., former chairman and current member of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, and Dr. Louis Rosen, head of the new meson lab.

The facility, first of its kind in the United States, will be available at least 50 per cent of the time to scientists other than from the Los Alamos laboratory, Seaborg said.

Both the laboratory and the commission are committed to build and operate this important new accelerator as a unique national facility where the basic research to be conducted on it will be determined solely on the basis of its scientific merit and not on the basis of where the proposal originates," he said.

LASL was founded as the Manhattan Engineering District and scientists working in the high New Mexico mesa developed and exploded the world's first atomic bomb two years later, in 1945.

Its major function is still nuclear weapon development.

Sheriff, Tax Collector Missing From Stratford

STRATFORD, Tex. (UPI) — Acting Sheriff Clois Vaughn said Thursday there has been no word of Sheriff A. L. (Doc) Wilson, and the Sherman County tax collector, Mrs. James Lowe, whose departure from Stratford Sunday were officially regarded as more than coincidence.

"We are assuming that they left together," County Judge W. S. Frizzell Jr. said.

Sheriff Wilson is 65. Mrs. Lowe is 35.

Mrs. Lowe's husband, who works in a grocery store, said there was no indication his wife left town against her will after 12 years of marriage.

"That is completely out of the question," Lowe said. Frizzell said Mrs. Lowe was missed Sunday morning. Wilson left Sunday afternoon, after picking up his personal belongings at the sheriff's office and telling Vaughn he was leaving and not coming back.

Commission Ups Oil Allowable

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The Texas Railroad Commission Thursday raised the February oil allowable for Texas crude oil to 49.6 per cent and set the same figure for March.

Last month the commission based the February allowable on a 47 per cent market demand factor, but purchasers said they had encountered unexpected demand for oil this month.

The revised February allowable is effective immediately and will apply to the whole month. Thus producers will be allowed to produce at a rate higher than 49.6 per cent for the rest of February to make the month's output average out at that figure.

Commission chairman Jim Langdon said purchasers revised their February nominations upward by 42,500 barrels daily, and there was another 26,000 barrel increase in demand that was not reflected in the nominations.

He said the commission now estimates demand for February at 3,206,051 barrels a day. "We tried to figure the total demand for both months and spread it out over the next 45 days," he said.

Mrs. Wilson, still living in the jail, said her husband's clothes also disappeared Sunday.

Frizzell said that Mrs. Lowe's car was found in Guymon, Okla., Monday and that the sheriff was seen in Guymon, but Mrs. Lowe was not seen. "We haven't got a warrant out for him or anything like that," Frizzell said. "There is nothing we can charge him with."

The county commissioners named Vaughn, who was chief deputy, as acting sheriff "until we can contact the sheriff or he can contact us to find out his intentions."

It was Mrs. Lowe's second marriage. She has a daughter by a previous husband. Lowe said he did not know of any relatives in Oklahoma she could be visiting.

Wilson has been sheriff 16 years. Mrs. Lowe has been tax collector five.

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I am bragging, but my problem is that I am too attractive. When I was in high school I never had any girl friends because they were all afraid I'd take their boy friends away from them. When I went to work I had to quit one job after another because my bosses were forever making passes at me. Now that I am married I have the same problem.

All my husband's friends proposition me and I have to tell them off. And we don't have any married couples to go around with because the wives are afraid of the competition. Sometimes I wish I were born ugly. What's the solution?

TOO ATTRACTIVE
DEAR TOO: Quit fooling yourself. If you aren't consciously inviting the attentions of the opposite sex, you must be unconsciously doing so. No man in his right mind makes a pass at a statue. He needs some encouragement. A woman who has to beat off every man she meets should find out why.

DEAR ABBY: We recently lost a beautiful baby girl and if one more person tells me "it was a blessing" that she died, I am going to scream. Our little girl was born with a defective heart. We knew it soon after she was born, but the doctor said she had a 50-50 chance to live a healthy normal life, so what kind of a "blessing" is it that she died?

We are mourning just as the she had been a healthy, normal child. It would have been a "blessing" had she LIVED — not died. Will you please print this, without my name, to let people know that they are not consoling parents when they say "it was a blessing" that their child died. Thank you.

A GRIEVING MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: All who offered their condolences meant well, but I shall pass on your sincere and illuminating words to those who may find them helpful.

DEAR ABBY: Say a couple invite my husband and me to their home for dinner, and we decline. Do we owe this couple an invitation to our home for dinner or not? I say we don't, and my husband says we do.

YES OR NO?
DEAR YES OR NO: That depends entirely on your reason for declining. If you declined because you don't care to socialize with these people, you are not indebted to them. If you declined because you were UNABLE to accept, but would like to be invited again, return the invitation as soon as possible.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with this very nice eligible bachelor for about five months. We haven't been going steady, but he had asked me out more than he has asked anyone else out. Of that I am quite sure.

I have a birthday coming up, which he knows about, and he has asked me if I wanted anything special.

I would really like a hope chest. If I were to tell him that do you think he might get the idea I am trying to rush him?

GLADYS
DEAR GLADYS: Probably. Are you? How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

BY HELEN HENNESSY
NEW YORK — (NEA) — About three years ago the ailing hosiery industry got a shot in the arm.

The life-giving prescription was the patterned stocking — the gal behind the hypo the young, the daring, the uninhibited lass who would rather switch than be called old hat.

Fashion reporters, quick to be on to anything "new" did a fine job of making anyone who resisted the trend feel out of things.

I recall reading one comment by a fashion writer about how drab and monotonous it was to watch hundreds of beige legs ascend a department store escalator. A picturesque phrase—but I agree, a boring pastime.

Yet it is a fact that a n y hosiery designer with the dourment, tricky, colorful leg coverings aren't "new" at all. As far back as the late 1800s fancy gams were "in."

In the Gay Nineties, lace stockings tripped their way through the Turkey Trot. Today they Swim, Banana, Frug and Watusi. (Or do they anymore? I can keep up with the hosiery, not the writhings.)

Plaid hose may strike a bright, new note on campus today, but "new" it isn't. In 1895 the ladies wore plaid stockings to indulge in a little mild tennis.

Even today's designers who create the total look with stockings done in the same color and fabric as the ensemble have nothing on great-granny.

She cut and sewed flannel stockings to match her long-sleeved flannel nightgowns.

The cotton stockings of the early '20s gave way to Hile. Then when skirts went up, Hile gave way to silk. Next came nylon and everyone delighted in the sleek, sheer beauty that clung and enhanced dainty ankles and trim calves. And no one complained about the monotony of beige legs.

And here we are now, with the latest leg look — the opaque stockings, non-see-through in dark shades. And the appearance of the leg simply reverts to the look of Hile — a look that caused a horrified shudder among the beautiful young people of another era once silk came on the scene.

Even shoes hark back to chunky heels of yesteryear. So, as we say on Seventh Avenue: "What's NEW?"

Sister Mary Says Parents, Educators Misjudge Children

By GAY PAULEY

UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sister Mary Corita Kent, the painting nun and teacher, believes that both parents and educators underestimate the abilities of children.

"Sometimes I think they have no concept of what a child is capable of," says the Iowa-born sister whose art hangs in many museums. Sister Corita taught elementary school for seven years, then graduated to college faculty, heading up the art department at Immaculate Heart College in Los Angeles.

The sister talked of training children and also of what it's like to go from nun's habit to plainclothes during a visit to New York for an exhibit of her serigraphs (silk screen printing) at Lenox School for Girls.

She sat there in her hotel room, wearing a coed type of dark skirt and red sweater, and brightly colored calf-high boots. "I was up in New England. It was cold," she said. "I needed them." That took care of that, so far as the sister needed to explain her "hippie" footwear.

About the neglect in cultivation of children's potential... "first graders can dance, sing, draw, do almost anything," said Sister Corita. "But then their imagination gets stymied by the system... they're channeled into conformity by both parents and teachers."

"I wish both were more conscious of pulling things out of young people, instead of pouring so much in."

When she thinks of all the knowledge available to today's young people, she says, "the whole world now comes into our living room. I sometimes think this part of what is happening to our teen-agers. So many big bites for them to take."

She faults the system of training teachers for part of the educational neglect of the young — "I'm amazed at the teachers who have majored in education, but come out of college with no depth in any one field."

Needle Club Meets

GROOM (SpI) — The Thimbletic Needle Club met recently in the home of Mrs. C. L. Culver Sr. with Mrs. Marion Kendrick as co-hostess.

At the end of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostesses to Meses. Crim Goodlett, Jake Lacy, Turner Kirby, Lee Kirk, Charlie Fields, Rudolph Tucker, Ross Nix, Bob Newton, John L. Witt, Bill Cornett, Allen Knorpp and Leldon Hudson.

Today, there is a new freedom with color in clothing. Bright, clear colors never before used together are being combined. Sometimes these colors are used in equal amounts, other times as accents.

An awareness of pleasing color combinations can be developed with practice and by observing the use of color all around. Ideas for using colors might be found on a poster, a magazine cover, a store window display, an exhibit, a flower garden or a print fabric.

She shall have music wherever she goes, with the newest in portable radios — a tiny transistorized portable packed in a carrying case that doubles as an elegant brocade evening bag.

Secretary Asks Tax Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler is asking Congress to come up with a tax increase and end the danger of a return to the "boom or bust" economic cycles of an earlier era.

The immediate danger is an inflationary "boom," he told the House-Senate Economic Committee Thursday, but the long-term threat is the destruction of orderly economic growth, putting the nation back in the inflation-recession cycle that was finally broken in the 1960s.

The current inflationary trends are dangerous, Fowler testified, and can be checked chiefly by enacting the 10 per cent surtax on income taxes President Johnson requested last year.

The Treasury chief encountered an old familiar answer from both Democrats and Republicans in his audience: The President should first cut spending.

Do both, replied Fowler. "Let's get this bird in hand," he said. "If you can then reduce federal expenditures more, well, goodspeed to you."

"While we're waiting and waiting, we've lost $4.5 billion in additional revenues. Meanwhile, I'm one who has to go out and borrow the money to pay the bills."

In his annual report to the joint committee, Fowler made these points about the economy's current status and the trends that he said would accelerate without the tax increase of about $13 billion a year:

—Inflation. "The economy is in grave danger of excessive overheating," he said, and a tax increase would restrain inflation by reducing consumer demand.

—Deficit. The $13 billion federal deficit that would result if taxes are not increased will add inflationary pressures, he said.

—Tight money. "An excessively large budget deficit with a corresponding need for continuing heavy federal borrowing would tip the odds toward a return to tight money conditions," he said. "Interest rates are already at extremely high levels..."

—Balance of payments deficit. He cited figures released Thursday which showed the U.S. balance of payments deficit totaled $3.6 billion last year—$2.2 billion greater than in 1966.

The dangerous trend, Fowler said, was that the "rate of deficit" for the last three months of the year was more than three times as large as the average for the first nine months.

—The dollar's stature. "Action on the tax increase has become a critical and symbolic test in European eyes of our ability to control domestic inflation pressures," he said. "It is the acid test of fiscal responsibility and confidence in the future of the dollar in financial circles here and abroad."

Two phases of study for the Adult Night School course are medical terminology and anatomy. The course will be taught until May 13.

Anatomy subjects for class study are structural units of the body, disorders of the body's skeletal, muscular, nervous, circulatory, respiratory, digestive, urinary, reproductive and endocrine systems.

Other anatomy subjects are disorders of the skin and breast, blood and blood forming organs, obstetric and neonatal conditions, sense organs of vision and hearing and disease of the body as a whole.

Seawright Resignation Leaves Five Vacancies

Announcement of the resignation of Lt. E. D. Seawright from the Pampa police department brings the police department shortage to five men, Chief Jim Conner announced today.

Seawright, who has been with the Pampa police since 1960, said he was moving to Oregon to accept another position.

According to Conner, Seawright "has been wanting to move there for several years, but is just now getting to where he can. He told us a couple of years ago that if he got a chance to go out there, he would."

Chief Conner has started a recruiting campaign to fill the vacancies (See advertisement, classified page).

"It seems like it's getting harder and harder to fill vacancies, but that's a problem that all police departments are having now," stated Chief Conner.

Starting salary for policemen in Pampa is $422 per month. Requirements are a high school education or its equivalent, must be at least 5'7" in height and weigh at least 145 pounds, excellent physical condition, 21 to 45 years of age, and make a qualifying grade on a written test.

"Interested persons should apply in person at the police department," Conner said.

Patrol Reports On Accidents

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 18 accidents on rural highways in Gray County during the month of January according to Sergeant James Dalrymple, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in 7 persons injured and an estimated property damage of $10,635.00.

April 15 is the deadline to have your motor vehicle inspected. During the past 5 1/2 months approximately 2,000,000 or 35 per cent of the approximately 5,750,000 registered vehicles in Texas have been inspected. This leaves 3,750,000 vehicles to be inspected in approximately two months.

The Sergeant reminded car owners that under new provisions of the law there will be additional inspection this year including: steering, wheels and rims, and front seat belts where the anchorages are part of the manufacturer's original equipment.

Motorists who wait until the last weeks of the inspection period may find that they will need to install seat belts. With the last minute rush, there may not be enough seat belt kits to take care of the demand.

"Disregarding danger to himself, he advanced 100 meters along a ditch and killed six snipers with automatic weapons.

"When his ammunition was exhausted, he engaged and killed two more enemy soldiers in this fight, which saved the lives of many members of his platoon who otherwise would have fallen to sniper fire from the ditch, he was mortally wounded."

Religion in America

By LOUIS CASSELS
Young people who find church-going a drag might dig the kind of worship services held by the early Christians.

"The earliest gatherings of the followers of Jesus... lacked the cultic solemnity of most contemporary worship," he says.

So says a noted Protestant theologian, Dr. Harvey Cox of Harvard Divinity School. In an interview with Colloquy a monthly magazine published by the United Church of Christ, Dr. Cox discusses a problem that is painfully familiar to parents and pastors.

Exuberant Celebration
They had bread and wine, recalled the words of Jesus, read letters from the apostles and other groups of Christians, exchanged ideas, sang, and prayed.

Local Minister Attends Opening Of Mission Home
SAN ANTONIO (Sp) — Dr. H. DeWitt Seago, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Pampa, was among the representatives from the Northwest Texas Methodist Conference who attended the consecration yesterday.

Experiments in recapturing the spontaneous joy and fellowship of early Christian worship are already underway in some congregations. They often take the form of "Agape Feasts" (agape being the Greek word used in the New Testament to describe unselfish Christian love for others).

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

MR. CURT WALLIS
THE BIBLE

One man was watching another pack a suitcase in preparation for a trip. After all clothing had been neatly arranged, a small corner of the valise was still empty. Noticing the space, the fellow who was doing the packing said, "Well, I still have enough room for a lamp, a mirror, and telescope, a book of poems, a bundle of valuable letters, a hymn book, a sharp sword, and an additional library of thirty volumes."

The friend was puzzled. "What are you talking about?" he exclaimed, "You have only a small corner left unpacked."

"Yes," the fellow replied, "but that is room for my Bible, and it contains ALL these things."

How difficult it is to define the Bible, to tell exactly what it is. Any explanation that can be given is inadequate. It is the Word of God, yes! But, it is much more. It is the Revelation of God! Yes, and even more. It is the guidebook for all human life! And more! The descriptive list is inexhaustible.

However, the important thing is not to phrase an acceptable definition, but to make an effective application. What the Bible DOES is much more important than what the Bible IS! The Bible understands us, instructs us, guides us; it shows us what we are, and then reveals the Will of God to each of us.

Yes, these unique God inspired writings are applicable to every age group, in all generations. Every individual enjoys the privilege of claiming the promises of the Bible or is held accountable for rejecting God's commands and instructions. One's choice determines his happiness through life and eternity.

II. Tim. 3:15-17. The holy scriptures are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus. All Scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all his products, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

A Common Enemy

One of the greatest and most tragic illusions of all time is that inflation can be beaten by keeping ahead of it with higher wages, higher prices and higher taxes. Inflation is a great destroyer—the workers, the producers, the savers, in short the vital core of an orderly society, go down the drain together with their depreciating money.

End of the Road

Great Britain is finding, as the U.S. is surely to discover one of these days, that the doctrine of the pure welfare state is unworkable for one very good reason. No government can tap its people for enough tax revenue to pay the bill.

Incentive Produces Oil Reserves

Almost from the time the first barrel of oil was taken from the ground, there have been forecasts that by the year so and so our oil reserves would be gone.

'Misterogers' Neighborhood

In the pre-school years, children form basic attitudes of self-worth, respect for others, stability in the face of change, tolerance and constructive approach, which are attributes of the productive individual able to make something of his own life and contribute to the lives of those around him.

Romney May Stay in Fight

By BRUCE HOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Some associates of Gov. George Romney of Michigan think he will stay in the fight for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination even if he loses both the New Hampshire and the Wisconsin primaries.

Even if they should prove wrong on this long-range forecast, even if two such defeats should dry up his big money sources and make really effective campaigning thereafter almost impossible, these individuals are convinced Romney will be a hard campaigner through the April 2 Wisconsin primary.

What they are saying is that, in the event of a really bad defeat in New Hampshire, the governor would not quickly take himself out of the picture and clear the way for Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York or some other moderate candidate.

Since Rockefeller is heavily committed to support of Romney, then so long as the latter's breath steams up his political mirror even slightly, the New Yorker is completely locked in.

Of course, Rockefeller already has said both publicly and privately that he has no intention of moving to advance his own cause at any stage. But the point of this Romney news is that it cuts down Rockefeller's options. At least through April 2 and possibly much longer, he could not change his mind if he wanted to—unless he were willing to cast away his credibility.

Romney has done well so far in New Hampshire, according to most on-scene accounts. His ground-level, face-on campaigning has been every bit as good as predicted by his most optimistic backers.

But his open rival, Richard Nixon, is also off to a strong New Hampshire start and the polls indicate that he began with a sizable edge.

Possibly only some Nixon mistakes of high magnitude, or a sharp turn among New Hampshire's allegedly hawkish voters toward further disillusionment with the increasingly chaotic Vietnam war, could benefit Romney enough to make him a close threat in the March 12 primary.

What Romney associates fear, however, is that Romney's rather disastrous 1967 so thoroughly put voters off that the public is today virtually tuned out to him. Conceivably, he might be making as good sense today as any candidate in the field.

There is no point at this juncture in reviewing all the 1967 events and utterances which have brought the Michigan governor to his present pass.

It is obvious that the effect of his verbal confusions on Vietnam was a cumulative one, and that his "brainwash" statement of early September was scismatic. He has never really made it back from there.

Herbert Hoover received more honors and academic degrees than any of our other Presidents. During his career in public service he was awarded 84 honorary degrees, including 25 from the world's leading foreign universities, along with 70 other medals and major awards but yet, during his administration he was submitted to harsher criticism than all the other chief executives in our history.

Cannel At Bay

Barks of a Genealogical Tree NEW YORK (NEA) — The other day got off to an astonishing start with a news announcement from the American Kennel Club.

It seems that the AKC now has a record registration of 885,200 purebred dogs, with the poodle holding first place by a two-to-one margin over the runner-up German Shepherd.

The announcement went on to list in order of popularity the remaining 113 pure breeds — many of which we have never seen, and quite a few we had never even heard of.

Needless to say, we found the whole thing a rather dismaying reflection of the quality of American values. And we said so at lunch to a friend of ours whose name is Legion.

"I am shocked at your ignorance," he said. "This here French poodle is not the dog people refer to when talking about Gen. De Gaulle."

"It's not the poodle," we explained. "It's the whole purebred business. What happened to the good old days when a person was happy to own a Part Fox Terrier?"

"That kind of investment is all right for an underdeveloped nation," he said. "But the country's economy is simply too big nowadays for hit-or-miss speculation."

"Hit-or-miss speculation?" we inquired reluctantly. "What do you call it?" he said. "Unless you get these here registrations to count, how can you tell which is the most popular breed?"

"Who cares?" we asked. "Millions of investors," he said. "Where do you think the market would be without these popularity reports? How would anybody know to buy a best-selling author, or a beloved actress, or a popular young comic...?"

"That is absurd," we remarked. "Don't sell America short," he snapped. "Why, I read just the other day that President Johnson himself closed 10 points higher after mixed trading over his October low."

"For heavens sake," we gasped. "What's that got to do with registrations of purebred...?" "Ha!" he said. "You think it's just by chance that this here Nixon girl is marrying the Eisenhower grandson? You think them Percy-Rockefeller nuptials are a whim? And what about Mia Farrow and Frank Sinatra...?"

Your Dental Health

By DR. WM. LAWRENCE
Dentist Will Welcome Another Opinion
By WILLIAM LAWRENCE,
DEAR DR. LAWRENCE: "I have always considered my dentist as not only our family dentist but our family friend. However he now says I need lots of dentistry and it worries me that after all these years of routine treatment I should suddenly need so much done. It's not that I don't trust him but I'd feel better if I had another opinion. Yet I don't wish to offend him."

ANSWER: It is apparent that you never completely trusted your dentist as a dentist, and probably not as a friend, either. If a serious problem is "suddenly" recognized, it's most likely because a number of small problems which he has skillfully kept under control for many years have finally blossomed into a condition that requires comprehensive treatment.

It's not his fault that you've developed periodontal disease, or tumor or cyst, or impacted wisdom teeth. In fact his preventive measures may have saved you much pain and money. So it's not fair to make this accusation against him.

At least two other important considerations must be noted. The first is that doctor-patient relationship must be based on appreciation of your dentist's skill and knowledge, and on mutual trust and understanding, not on friendship. Friendship should be left at the door of the operating or consulting room.

There's no reason why doctors and patients can't be best friends but not in the office. It is strictly business there. On the other hand, cocktail and dinner parties should not be used as consulting rooms.

The second consideration has to do with getting another opinion. This isn't a true dilemma. When your health, possibly your life, is at stake, it doesn't make sense to worry about hurting anyone's feelings. Be selfish about your health. You have only one life to live. Think of your health problems without prejudice to yourself or your doctor.

Besides you'd be doing your dentist a big favor if you got another opinion since he could share responsibility for diagnosis and treatment. But don't second guess him. Tell him you're worried and you'd like another opinion. Ask him to recommend more than one dentist so you may have a choice. And after he's done that, don't ignore his choices and accept those of your canasta partner.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

A total of 4.5 million families (1.8 million of them nonwhite) lived in poverty areas of the 100 largest U.S. metropolitan areas in 1960, reports The World Almanac. The poverty level for a nonfarm family of four was about $3,100. Although the total number of white families in poverty areas exceeded those of the nonwhite, the proportion of nonwhite was far greater—72 per cent of the nonwhites lived in poverty areas compared with 14 per cent of the whites.

Teacher—I understand you're a magician. What is your favorite trick?
Billy—Sawing a girl in two.

Teacher—Marvelous! Are there any other children in your family?
Billy—I have ten half-sisters.

When Viet Cong leaders stated recently they might come to the United Nations, administration officials announced they "would not stand in the way of" such a visit. But allowing Viet Cong agents to come to this country would be a blow against U.S. efforts for freedom in Vietnam.

Senator Strom Thurmond (R-S.C.) has said that if representatives of the Viet Cong are given U.S. visas, "we give credence and support to the myth that the Viet Cong are conducting a 'civil war' motivated by nationalism." We would be saying in effect that the Viet Cong were legitimate representatives of the South Vietnamese people, rather than puppets of the communist regime in Hanoi. The communists would gain a tremendous propaganda advantage by their U.N. appearance.

Country Editor speaking: "Whenever your children do not mind, you can be sure they won't if you don't."

State Department officials have said that by the terms of the U.N. Headquarters Site Agreement, the U.S. cannot prevent entry into this country by anyone who has received an official United Nations invitation. But the draft of this agreement approved by U.N. officials and the General Assembly is not identical to the one approved by Congress. The House of Representatives added amendments to deal specifically with the question of enemies of the U.S. and their entry into this country. Since these amendments were passed by Congress and signed by the President, the U.S. has no legal obligation to let Viet Cong representatives into this country.

Our government will make a serious mistake if it allows the avowed enemies of our country, leaders of the forces that are killing American soldiers, to enter the United States.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—Judging from the number of people who are being arrested for growing the stuff, marijuana production in this country is on the upswing.

Concurrently, hippie leaders and spokesmen for certain other cultural groups are advocating that pot smoking be legalized. I am inclined to side with the pro-pot forces on this issue. But not, I hasten to add, because I am pro-pot. To the contrary, I am convinced that legalizing marijuana would be the most effective way to suppress it.

For if growing marijuana were lawful, it would then pass from the hands of the Narcotics Bureau into the arms of the Agriculture Department.

John Farm Market

In other words, marijuana would be treated like any other farm crop. Right away you can see how that would have a depressing effect on the marijuana market.

It would become a part of the agriculture "paradox" we are witnessing in this country. Those who grow it would find themselves, like other types of farmers, unable to make ends meet because prices are too low. Those who buy it would find themselves, like other types of consumers, unable to afford it because prices are too high.

Within a few weeks after marijuana became legal, it is a sure bet there would be a marijuana surplus. At this point, the Agriculture Department would step in with a system of acreage controls.

The next move would be a system of price supports. After which much of the marijuana that had been going into the market would wind up in government warehouses.

But marijuana is different from other crops. Any attempt to dispose of the surplus through the school lunch program likely would encounter objections from the PTA.

The Agriculture Department undoubtedly would undertake a research program to find new uses for marijuana, such as using the leaves for salad green. But the benefits of such ventures usually are marginal.

As the surplus increased, the retail price of marijuana would rise 67.3 per cent, adding 4.7 points to the cost-of-living index.

Hayes Paces Cougar Win

By United Press International
Miami of Florida stayed close to the University of Houston Thursday night through most of the first half—but the Cougars got rolling behind Elvin Hayes' 34 points and coasted to a 106-64 win.

The game was the 23rd win in a row for Houston and increased their record this year to 22-0.

Miami's 2-1-2 zone defense and a deliberate offense gave the Cougars trouble in the first half but a scoring spurt in the last two minutes left the top-ranked Houston club with a 42-30 advantage at the half.

In other games Thursday, Cincinnati left North Texas State still winless in the Missouri Valley race with a 75-61 victory.

John Howard paced Cincinnati, now 7-5 in the conference, with 25 points and Willie David led the losers with 24 points.

Bishop downed LeTourneau College 92-90 and Dallas Baptist College defeated Christian College of the Southwest 101-93 Thursday.

Meanwhile, it looked as if the Lone Star Conference was shaping up to a deadlock between Stephen F. Austin and Howard Payne.

with 9-1 records and are due to remain in the win column through the last four games. If they are co-champions they will meet in a one-game playoff to decide post-season play. If the neutral-site playoff is necessary, the winner will advance into a best-of-three series against Big State Conference champion St. Mary's with a trip to the NAIA national tournament in Kansas City, March 11-16, at stake.

USSR Falls to Czechs

GRENOBLE, France (UPI)—Olympic hockey fans looked to weekend action today to pick a gold medal winner after Czechoslovakia toppled the Soviet Union's five year unbeaten streak and put itself in a three-way tie for the lead with the Soviets and Canada.

The U.S. team will be battling to stay in fifth place in order to automatically qualify for the 1972 Olympics. Only the top five teams are assured of a place the next time around and the U.S. will have a crucial match with Finland Saturday to decide the last qualifier. The Czechs took a 5-2 lead with only 3:59 left in the third period and withstood a late rally Thursday night for a 5-4 victory over the Soviets.

Canada stayed in the top ranks with a 3-0 victory over Sweden Thursday. The three top teams have 5-1 records. Sweden is fourth with a 4-2 mark and the U.S. and Finland are two games back in the win column.

The U.S. notched its second win against four losses Thursday with a last minute 6-4 victory over East Germany.

Pampa Visits Palo Duro

By CURTIS MONTGOMERY
Sports Editor

The District 3-4A basketball championship is riding on the outcome of the game tonight in Amarillo Palo Duro's Gym between the Pampa Harvesters and the Dons of Palo Duro and if Pampa wins, the crown will ride home with them.

The tip-off is scheduled for 8 p.m., following the "B" game which is to begin around 6 p.m.

Coach Tom Gilley of Palo Duro said on the eve of the decisive game, "We could play 'em a good game. We hope we can stay with 'em long enough to make it interesting for the fans."

Another basketball attraction is slated for another part of Amarillo tonight but it won't keep the game from selling out, since there is room for only 1,100 "sitting comfortably", according to Gilley.

A large delegation is likely to make the trip to Amarillo from Pampa, since it is such an important game.

Palo Duro has little to gain from a victory except the opportunity of bragging that they beat the best in the Panhandle.

Three other high schools will be eagerly awaiting the results of the contest, because if the Dons upset the Harvesters, there could be a play-off.

"If we do get lucky, it would be up to one of the other teams to beat Pampa in a play-off. We are out of it, of course," commented Gilley.

Palo Duro stands 15-12 for the season and 3-5 for the second round of district action. Caprock and Tascosa play tonight at Caprock. Both teams are tied for first with Pampa with 6-2 records.

Amarillo fell before Tascosa by 62-55 Tuesday and Caprock beat P D by 59-48. Plainview stomped Coronado by 77-53.

Tonight Tascosa is at Caprock, Borger at Plainview and Lubbock at Amarillo. Last night Monterey was eliminated from contention for a tie for the second half crown with a loss to Coronado, 50-49.

Pampa is now 25-4 for the season and 6-2 for the second round of district play. To tie for the second half crown is as good as a win as the Harvesters took the first half and will not have to play off a tie because of that.

Any play-off game will have to be played between Feb. 19-24. The dates for the bi-district game between the District 3-4A champ and either Bell or Haltom will be played on Feb. 26 or 27. The dates open for the regional game are March 1 and 2.

Gilley's Palo Duro starters will be Willie Cunningham, 6-2; Leonard Majors, 6-1; Charles Jones, 6-0; Roger McLain, 6-0; and Jim Tarr, 6-1. "I may go with Tom Weatherly instead of adr," said Gilley.

Coach Terry Culley plans to start his regular line-up with the possible exception of Jim Cor-nutt who was injured in the game before last against Coronado in the final seconds of play. Cornutt left the floor with a cut in his mouth which later required stitches. The senior guard also sustained serious bruises on his hip.

Culley said he would start Alvin Achord if Cornutt was not ready. Achord played an outstanding game against Borger coming off the bench to lead the assault on the 'Dogs Tuesday night in the 68-54 victory for Pampa.

If Borger upsets Plainview and the Harvesters should fall, either Tascosa or Caprock will be the lone winner of the second half. But if the Harvesters fall and Plainview wins as expected, the winner of the Tascosa-Caprock game will play one game with Plainview to decide the winner of the second half. That winner will play the Harvesters for the bi-district play-off berth.

'Human Side Is Out of Sports' Says Miller

The first of a provocative five-part series on SPORTS: THE INTELLECTUALS' HANGUP, by NEA Sports Writer Ira Berkow. America's leading thinkers discuss sports in relation to religion, sex, commercialization and other aspects of American life. It starts off today with Arthur Miller's pungent views.

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Writer

WILLY: Like a young god. Hercules—something like that. And the sun, the sun all around him. Remember how he waved to me? Right up from the field, with the representatives of three colleges standing by? And the buyers I brought, and the cheers when they came out—Loman, Loman! God Almighty, he'll be great yet. A star like that, magnificent, can never really fade away. — (Taken from Death of a Salesman.)

NEW YORK (NEA) — Arthur Miller, 52, is one of the most successful playwrights in the history of the American theater. His hits include "Death of a Salesman," "The Crucible" and "All My Sons." He is now directing his new Broadway play, "The Price."

As a youth growing up in Brooklyn, Mr. Miller avidly participated in athletics and was an enthusiastic follower of the sports scene.

Interviewer: "Mr. Miller, do you still have time for sports?"

Mr. Miller: "I play tennis as much as I can, but on a purely amateur basis. I have almost no interest in the big spectator sports any more. Oh, once in awhile something or other will penetrate my haze, but rarely. Now, I just see the commercial side of it. There doesn't seem to be any humanity left in big-time sports."

Does this hold true for college athletics?

Mr. Miller: "On those bowl-team type schools it does.

People go to watch a machine operate. They admire the efficiency with which it was put together. That wipes out connection between spectator and team. The human side is out."

(In "Death of a Salesman," Willy Loman's son Biff, a former high school football star, has been unsuccessful in making the adjustment to the outside world.

(Willy, confidentially, desperately: "You were his friend, his boyhood friend. There is something I don't understand about it. His life ended after that Ebbets Field game. From the age of seventeen nothing good ever happened to him.")

(BERNARD: "He never trained himself for anything.")

How does the commercialization of sport, even amateur sport, affect the athlete?

Mr. Miller: "People still worship the star athlete as though he were a physical god. Athletes are the glory of some elements of society. And this is a pity. The athlete has to live up to his glorification and to the commercialization of the machine he is a part of. The gate depends on his performance. That puts a squeeze on him. Ultimately he gets chewed up by it. It's like being a ballerina. He can't make a mistake. He can't trip up. That can drive a guy nuts."

What is your reaction to the tremendous growth of football in America?

Mr. Miller: "Football is a metaphor for violence and war, both of which are very big in our society today. Baseball interest is declining because it's too civilized. God knows it's neurotic, too, but not as neurotic as football."

How did you benefit from sports in your boyhood?

Mr. Miller: "I was swept up in it. I was a starting end on my high school team, Abraham Lincoln in Brooklyn. It was a terrible team and I was as good as everyone else. I was six feet tall and weighed 125 pounds. But I was all will. Then I went to the University of Michigan. Of course, I did not go out for the team. I would have busted all my bones. But the thing I enjoyed about that high school team was the comradeship of my teammates. That is the beauty of athletics."

Interviewer: "What other sports interested you then?"

Mr. Miller: "I was wild for the baseball guys, especially the Yankees and Gehrig, Ruth, Bob Meusel. I liked to play baseball, too, and ice hockey. I think my favorite, though was track. I liked to run. Maybe I felt I was running away from something."

"The guy I idolized most was that track star. What's that old bird's name. My God, to think I would have forgotten his name. You know, he was called the fastest human. He once ran 30 yards against a race horse and beat him. At the time I thought that was the greatest thing that ever happened."

At the time, Jesse Owens probably thought so, too. (SUNDAY: Sex in Sports.)

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN — Eleven Democratic and three Republican candidates for governor squared off for an action-packed May 4 primary election as filing deadline closed last week.

Most of the interest centers in the gubernatorial contest. Only one Democratic incumbent in state office, Comptroller Robert S. Calvert, has primary opposition. The lieutenant governor's office and two Supreme Court places being vacated by incumbents are contested by Democrats.

While Republicans provided candidates for all statewide offices except judicial, only in the governor's column is there a GOP primary race. The rest are unopposed.

Here's the way the primary ballots will look:

DEMOCRATIC
Governor— Lt. Gov. Preston Smith of Lubbock; John L. Hill of Houston; Waggoner Carr of Lubbock; Eugene Locke of Dallas; Gordon McLendon of Dallas; Dolph Briscoe of Uvalde; Pat O'Daniel of Dallas; Don Yarborough of Houston; Johnnie Mae Hackworth of Brenham; Edward L. Whittenburg of Houston and Alfonso Veloz of Houston.

Lieutenant Governor—House Speaker Ben Barnes of DeLeon; Rep. Don Gladden and Gene Smith, both of Fort Worth.

Comptroller—Robert S. Calvert and Dallas Blankenship, Paris.

Supreme Court, Place 1—Matt Davis of Texarkana and Sears McGee of Houston.

Supreme Court, Place 2—Tom Reavley of Austin and James G. Denton of Amarillo.

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin, Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler, Agriculture Commissioner John White, Treasurer Jesse James, Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon, Supreme Court Associate Justice Zollie Steakley, Court of Criminal Appeals Judge W. A. Morrison and Leon Douglas, a candidate for the Court of Criminal Appeals have no Democratic opposition.

REPUBLICAN
Governor— Paul Eggers of

Wichita Falls, Wallace Sisk of Houston and John R. Trice of Dallas.
Republican candidates with no primary opposition are: Lieutenant Gov.—Douglas DeCluitt of Waco; Attorney General— Sproesser Wynn of Fort Worth; Treasurer— Manuel Sanchez of Brownsville; Comptroller— John Bennett, San Antonio; Agriculture Commissioner— E. H. Schuhart of Dalhart; Land Commissioner— Millard Neptune of New Ulm; and Railroad Commissioner— Jim Segrest of San Antonio.

DRINK BATTLE RENEWED
—Gov. John Connally told a press conference that he may renew his effort to strengthen state liquor laws and legalize and tax liquor by the drink at the special session of the Legislature he must call this year.
Connally said the liquor proposal he made in 1967, which was killed by the Legislature, may well be a part of his program for raising the $150,000,000 to $190,000,000 which will be needed to operate state government next year.

He renewed his attack on the "subterfuge" of the private club, and said that his efforts in 1967 to tighten up the liquor law were opposed by some who now profess to be shocked at the shortcomings of the liquor laws.

But Connally said he has not yet decided when to call the Legislature back to Austin. Speculation is that the session will be in June, after the primaries.

He suggested that if the liquor issue is not handled by the first special session, he might call another session to work on it. He also announced that he wants a strong conflict of interest law to prohibit any member of the Legislature from practicing before any state agency.

MIGRANT EDUCATION BOOSTED—Migrant education will get a $6,300,000 federal boost in the next six months, if State Board of Education preliminary plans are carried out.
Board also agreed to widening federal aid application due to congressional action which increases U. S. funds available in Texas for 1967-68 from $3, 900,000 to $10,300,000. While program now is limited to children whose parents were in the "migrant stream" when school started, it will in future cover those whose parents left intermittent agricultural work up to five years earlier.

COURTS SPEAK—State Supreme Court agreed with lower court verdicts that a 76-year-old San Antonio man, who was pardoned after being sentenced to death in the electric chair, should get $20,000 in false imprisonment compensation. Catch is the governor last year vetoed appropriation set aside by the Legislature to pay the oldtimer, Anastacio Vargas.

High court also upheld the jury award of $75,000 to owners of property condemned by city of San Marcos to expand Southwest Texas State College.

Third Court of Civil Appeals affirmed a ruling that the 1963 law limiting state-licensed lenders to 60 offices is constitutional and denied the request of a Midland-based finance company for license of its first Texas office. Court said the firm is in poor position to attack constitutionality of an act which permits "the privilege of making loans at rates of interest which would be and are usurious and illegal to lenders not licensed."

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES—Attorney General Martin has held that the state comptroller cannot make payments on state building contracts which exceed appropriated funds and "must certify sufficient money is available to cover project."

In other recent opinions, Martin held that:
—State depository board may accept both guaranteed "preliminary loan notes issued by public housing authorities" and "participation certificates" of Federal National Mortgage Association as collateral for state deposits.

—Second or alternate retirement program may be established for state-supported college and university employees.
—FILLED MILK SUIT FILED—Wholesome Dairy Inc. of El Paso filed suit in the 53rd District Court against the State of Texas in an attempt to keep the State Health Department from blocking the sale of "Farmer's Daughter High Protein Drink," a mixture of dry and powdered milk, vegetable oils and other materials.

State law prohibits the manufacture or sale of "filled milk," any milk or milk product mixed with fat or oil other than milk fat.

LCB MAKES NEW RULES
—Texas Liquor Control Board issued new rules for its agents, including a bar against LCB agents bidding for purchase of confiscated cars or trucks. A Dallas LCB agent's purchase of a confiscated truck was one of the incidents that kicked off the Board's current self-examination.

New rules warn agents against revealing any details of investigations, and tighten accounting procedures for keeping track of illicit alcohol that has been seized.

RETARDED CHILDREN WORK FOR HANDICAPPED—Retarded children (some as old as 60) at Travis State School in Austin are having the time of their lives potting and planting more than 9,000 flower, shrub and tree cuttings which will be raised for transplanting at other state schools and state hospitals all over the state.

The idea of a beautification project for the grounds of state institutions for the mentally ill and mentally retarded was sparked by MH-MR Commissioner John Kinross-Wright who donated and potted some of the first plants. Since then, others have been donated by gardeners who heard about the landscape program by word of mouth.

JONES SENTENCED
FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI)—A U.S. military court sentenced Pvt. Lewis Welton Jones, 19, of Chicago to life at hard labor for murder in the knife slaying of Lt. Steven L. Bowen, 19, of Philadelphia. Bowen was killed in front of a bar Sept. 19 less than 24 hours after arriving in Germany from the United States.
