

Explosion, Fire Rock Houston

HOUSTON (UPI)—A collision between a ship and a string of gasoline-filled barges today turned the Houston ship channel into an inferno shortly after an explosion and fire swept through a quarter-block area of a nearby Shell Oil Co. refinery.

Tugboats and Coast Guard rescue craft, including a helicopter, raced to the channel fire as flames shot hundreds of feet into the air.

Flaming gasoline spewed from the ruptured barges and turned the channel's surface into a floating pyre, hampering rescue work.

The explosion Monday night at the Shell refinery also sent flames high into the air and shook homes in the suburb of Deer Park.

Three workmen were injured and a guard collapsed of a heart attack.

Authorities could give no immediate estimate of damage at either site.

The two incidents, although unrelated, were within sight of one another. Rescue and emergency units at the Shell fire rushed immediately to the channel area.

Frank Caddy, a plant manager for Shell, said a broken fuel line caused the explosion in a solvent manufacturing area of the plant.

The three injured persons were identified as Frank Howard, 42, LeRoy Ford, 50, and F. M. Butler, 56. A guard identified as C. H. Campbell collapsed from a heart attack. Firemen, allowing the fire to burn itself out, kept a blaze alive deliberately to keep gas pockets from forming and causing other explosions.

A couple aboard the ship, Mr. and Mrs. Heber Gingerich, of York, Pa., had been watching the shore fire before they retired for the night.

Their ship, the Christiana, a Liberian cargo vessel with a Greek crew, collided with Humble Oil barges pulled by a tug boat.

Mrs. Gingerich said "I wasn't excited. The only time I got excited was when I went to the lifeboat."

"There was pieces of metal flying all over the deck. There was fire in the water and fire on the boat," she said.

All crewmen from the ship were evacuated except the captain, Pete Panagiotou, 41, an engineer and two crewmen as the fuel barges turned the area into an inferno.

The crewmen, the captain's wife, Sigrid, 31, and daughter, Nicole, 5, were later brought back aboard the vessel which limped toward harbor at Galveston, Tex.

W. L. Nix, of Baytown, Tex., a guard where a highway tunnel goes under the channel, said "I looked out just as she went up in flames."

Nix said the ship burned about five minutes before it exploded the first time in a "real fierce explosion I saw the second explosion about 10 minutes after the first. Fire shot up about 300 feet straight up in the air."

Rough Time Set For LBJ Program

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The newly convened second session of the 90th Congress, embroiled in controversy from the opening gavel, has served notice on President Johnson that his policies and programs are in for a rough time this election year.

Minor committee meetings and a routine House session were the order of the day today. The lawmakers were marking time, awaiting Johnson's legislative shopping list in Wednesday night's nationally televised and broadcast State of the Union address before a joint session of Congress.

But the Chief Executive got a foretaste of things to come on opening day Monday.

Resents Peace Proposal

Senators Wayne L. Morse, D-Ore., and Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, sought unsuccessfully to break the Senate precedent of not doing business before the State of the Union address by attempting to put in the record a peace petition calling for U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

The petition came from the nation's first congresswoman, 87-year-old Jeannette Rankin, who led an estimated 5,000 women antiwar demonstrators on snowy Washington. A one-time House member from Montana, the pacifist Miss Ranking voted against U.S. entry into both world wars.

Sen. Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., said he was not entirely happy about it, but moved to adjourn to prevent the action. The Senate voted 53 to 3 to adjourn, with only Morse, Gruening and Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., in opposition.

All three dissenters have been sharply critical of the administration. (See PROGRAM, Page 3)

Weapons Were For Assassination Plot

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian authorities today reported finding a huge Communist arms cache intended for use in assassination attempts against Prince Norodom Sihanouk and President Josip Broz Tito of Yugoslavia.

Police said the arms were found among the ancient ruins of Angkor visited in November by Jacqueline Kennedy during her "dream" trip to Cambodia.

Tito, the Yugoslavian Communist leader probably most hated by the Chinese-Communist regime, arrives Wednesday and was scheduled to visit the ruins later this week.

An official police announcement said the arms included about 1,000 hand grenades and were to be used by pro-Chinese Communists.

Sihanouk charged in a radio speech Friday that Cambodian Communists planned to "blow Phnom Penh sky high" in an effort to kill the Yugoslav leader but he did not mention himself as being a target of assassins.

He said police and army troops had uncovered about four crates of hand grenades and had arrested a group of Communists who he charged were backed by Red China.

The Cambodian chief of state last week twice met Chester Bowles, the U.S. ambassador to India who was dispatched by President Johnson to Phnom Penh for talks aimed at preventing the spread of the Vietnam war.

They agreed to a plan for strengthening the International Control Commission to patrol the Cambodian-Vietnam border.

HEW Divides US Into Air Pollution Areas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government has divided the adjoining 48 states into eight air pollution areas, the first step toward cleaning up the nation's air under tough new federal laws.

The procedural move, made public in the Federal Register Monday, opened the way for the eventual designation of air control regions within which states will be required to apply air quality standards or the federal government will step in and do it for them.

Under the Clean Air Act Congress passed last year, the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) is empowered to apply for court injunctions to restrict traffic or shut down industries when a region's smog or pollution reaches the emergency level.

The eight atmospheric areas defined by HEW Monday were fixed by research on the speed and direction of winds and on the occurrence of thermal inversions, the atmospheric condition in which a layer of relatively stagnant warm air hovers over an area long enough for pollutants below it to become concentrated.

The areas are: the Great Lakes-Northeast, which includes all of New England and ranges to Minnesota; mid-Atlantic-Coastal, from New England down the Atlantic Coast to part of North Carolina; South Florida; Appalachian, stretching from Pittsborough to New Orleans; Great Plains, from northeastern Illinois to most of Texas; Rocky Mountain, stretching from the western two-thirds of Montana to West Coast mountain ranges; California-Oregon coastal, and Washington coastal.

Areas covering Hawaii and Alaska will be defined later.

US, Allies Slay Over 5,000 Reds In Two Weeks

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. and allied troops have killed more than 5,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in ground action the past two weeks, government spokesmen said today.

Much of the killing took place in battles along the Laos-Cambodia border of South Vietnam, fighting that observers said may have prompted the resurgence of Communist action in Laos.

The spokesmen said, 2,216 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were killed last week. Added to the 2,968 reported killed the previous week, it raised to 4,084 the number slain.

American spokesmen said another 37 guerrillas were killed Monday in two ambushes of U.S. supply truck convoys. They said three Americans were killed and 23 wounded in smashing through the Viet Cong road traps in the central Highlands.

Police Chief Executed

In other action, Viet Cong terrorists Monday slipped into Tan Tao village, seven miles west of Saigon, and machine gunned to death the local police chief, Nguyen Van Man, and the commander of a platoon of defense troops, Nguyen Van Tai.

WHAT WILL IT BE? Fate of School Head Will Be Decided at Meeting Tonight

The Pampa School Board will meet in closed door session at 7 p.m. today in Pampa Junior High School to decide the fate of Dr. John Damron as local school superintendent.

Dr. Damron tendered his resignation late Saturday afternoon, subject to the board's decision on acceptance or rejection. If accepted, Dr. Damron asked that a date for terminating his services be named.

It was learned today that Dr. Damron last night sent a report to the board entitled "Misconceptions Presently Held by the School Superintendent." Each board member, it is understood, received a copy of the report.

It purportedly sets forth a long list of incidents and happenings involving the superintendent and board and actions of the board president relating to the superintendent's administrative duties since Dr. Damron became superintendent here in July, 1966.

Since tonight's meeting is scheduled as an executive session for the purpose of discussing only the superintendent's proffered resignation, news media representatives will not be permitted to attend. Discussion of personnel matters is one

Woody Guthrie Is Paid Tribute On Television Show

A tribute to the late Woody Guthrie, former Pampa man who died last Oct. 3 in New York City, was given on NBC's Today Show this morning.

Guthrie, nationally known composer of folk lore songs whose hit song, "Your Land is My Land," catapulted him to fame and made him a wealthy man, attended Pampa High School from 1929 through 1931.

Sheriff Wade Jordan, who went to school with Guthrie, recalled today that Guthrie came to Pampa from Oklahoma with his parents when he was 14.

Sheriff Jordan said Guthrie always was occupied in his spare time at composing songs or making pencil sketches of fellow students.

Jordan's father and Guthrie's father both were employed as deputy sheriffs by the then Sheriff E. S. Graves.

Guthrie, who played guitar and banjo, had a small band, Sheriff Jordan said. Pampans George Hamlin and Jimmy King played with him, according to Jordan, as did Cluster Baker, who recently moved from Pampa.

"I think Guthrie was around 25 or 26 years old when he left Pampa," the sheriff said. "He went to New York and from then on his place in the music and songwriting world sky-rocketed."

Guthrie's songs in the 1930s dealt with the depression, songs of the west and hardships of the dust bowl days.

"One of his better-known songs, among the hundreds he wrote, was 'Oklahoma Hills Where I Was Born.'"

On this morning's NBC program several of Guthrie's best. (See GUTHRIE, Page 3)

Locke Reported In Running For Texas Governor

DALLAS (UPI)—The Dallas Times Herald said today in a copyrighted story Eugene Locke, deputy ambassador to Vietnam, will come back to Texas to run for governor.

The newspaper said Locke will quit his diplomatic post to make the race.

Locke was in Dallas during the Christmas holidays, talking with party leaders and testing support of the idea of his running. The Times Herald said the 50-year-old attorney appears to have received many pledges of money and support, including the possible backing of Gov. John Connally.

Connally was reported to have told Dallas businessmen in a conference in Austin Monday he will stand firm by his decision not to run for a fourth term. There were indications Connally's sentiment for a candidate ran for Locke or Secretary of State John Hill, but the Times Herald said observers in Washington and Austin think Locke has the edge in Connally's thinking.

Cab Strike Jams Buses, Subways

NEW YORK (UPI)—Almost a million persons who normally ride cabs fought for space on crowded buses and subways today as a 24-hour work stoppage by cab drivers left city streets virtually bare of taxis.

Temperatures in the teens and biting winds up to 35-miles an hour made hailing one of the few driver-owned cabs in operation a test of endurance.

The one-day work stoppage, called in an effort to force higher fares that would raise drivers' pay, could be just a warmup for a full-fledged strike, the leader of the drivers' union warned.

The New York City taxi drivers' union had pledged there wouldn't be a fleet-owned cab on the street after 5 a.m. today and they apparently had made good on that threat.

Cabs were sitting idle in garages after being driven there when shifts ended shortly after midnight.

The city has 11,000 cabs for some 90,000 daily riders and the only taxis in operation were a few being driven by their owners. The union representing about half of the 4,600 driver-owners said its members would remain off the streets in sympathy with the 29,000 fleet drivers.

High Court Strikes Down Anti-Subversive Program

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court today struck down a government program aimed at keeping subversives out of the nation's merchant marine.

The program stems from the Magnuson Act, adopted by Congress during the Korean War. Regulations were set up under a section of the act authorizing the President to safeguard the merchant marine "against destruction, loss, or injury from sabotage or other subversive acts."

Justice William O. Douglas wrote the 8-0 Supreme Court opinion that said the regulations exceeded the authority provided by the Magnuson Act.

Douglas commented, "we hesitate to conclude that Congress told the executive branch to ferret out the ideological strays in the maritime industry."

"The words it used — 'to safeguard . . . from sabotage or other subversive acts' — referred to actions, not to ideas or belief."

Justice Thurgood Marshall did not participate in the decision. Justices Hugo L. Black, Byron R. White, John M. Harlan, Abe Fortas and Potter Stewart gave brief concurring views.

The test case was started by Herbert Schneider, a Seattle marine engineer who decided to go to sea in 1964 after having worked at other trades for 15 years.

Anglo-French Delay Gives Soviets Lead

PARIS (UPI)—The unexplained indefinite postponement of the Anglo-French Concorde's maiden flight means the Soviet Union probably will win the race to fly the first supersonic transport (SST), its Tupolev 144, aviation experts said today.

The Concorde so far has cost England and France $800 million to develop. The 1,450-mile an hour SST had been scheduled to make its maiden flight Feb. 5, but the prototype's flight was set back some weeks ago to April or May.

Monday the Sud-Aviation Co., co-builder of the Concorde, announced an indefinite postponement. No reason was given.

Sud-Aviation said a "possible date" for the first flight would be announced "within several weeks." Aviation experts considered this iffy at best.

The Soviets displayed the TU144 last June at the Paris air show and said it would fly in early 1968. Moscow's latest indications show the TU144 will fly "sometime this year" and be in production by 1970.

But the experts, while conceding the maiden flight would be a propaganda victory for the Soviets, said Western airlines with options on the Concorde would not drop them to order the Russian plane.

The experts said the airlines trust the British-French manufacturing program more than the Soviets' and the first plane into the air is no indication it is a better product.

Court May Kill Death Penalty

By United Press International

Men who think the electric chair is a barbaric holdover of the Anglo-Saxon penal system said today they think the Texas death penalty will some day die at the hand of the U. S. Supreme Court.

The Texas Society for the Prevention of Capital Punishment has waged a fight against the death penalty in the Legislature since 1961, but some observers believe that the courts will abolish the measure before the lawmakers do.

Houston attorney Percy Foreman said he had no hope the state Legislature would repeal the death penalty even though battles against the law have been waged in successive sessions since 1960.

Foreman said, capital punishment would eventually be interpreted by the Supreme Court as a "cruel and unusual punishment," forbidden in the Constitution, and would be overruled.

The decision will not be left to "the barbaric inclination of legislators," Foreman said.

Other opponents, however, pledged to continue the fight in the legislature and said they were gaining support among legislators.

Robert Cogswell, of Austin, secretary of the society, said, "Legislatures have failed to do their job" in striking the penalty from law books. Because of judicial decisions, he said, capital punishment already is abolished.

There have been no executions in Texas since 1964 and the number nationwide has dropped from 199 in 1935 to one (in California) in 1967.

The death penalty has been challenged by civil rights groups who contend it is unconstitutional to exclude potential jurors from juries because they are opposed to the death penalty. The issue was a key one in a murder trial in Waco this week.

Executions across the country have been stayed on request of prisoners on death row pending the outcome of hearings on the law.

However, Harris County District Attorney Carol S. Vance said federal courts should have "enough confidence in state courts to let decisions (on the death penalty) stand and be carried out."

Vance defended the exclusion of jurors opposed to capital punishment because a qualified juror "has to believe in the law."

Vance, and others, who believe capital punishment should be kept, said it was a deterrent to crime.

State Rep. James E. Nugent of Kerrville said fear of execution in the electric chair restrains criminal behavior.

"Old Sparky" has restrained the brutal edge of many criminals," he said.

And State Sen. Jim Bates, of Edinburg, who has favored the penalty, said repealers were "a bunch of dreamers about the criminal law."

McCarthy Gives Plan To End US Role in Viet War

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy has proposed a three-point program to end American participation in the Vietnam war.

McCarthy said the United States should recognize the National Liberation Front (NLF) of the Viet Cong, negotiate with the NLF, and begin a phased withdrawal from Vietnam after the South Vietnamese and the NLF are able to negotiate on their own.

He winds up four days of campaigning in northern California today with an appearance before a Junior Chamber of Commerce lunch.

The Minnesota senator, challenging President Johnson for the Democratic nomination this year, Monday appeared at Stanford University, a public rally on San Francisco's Nob Hill and a $100 a plate dinner at the Fairmont Hotel.

Rusk Denies Rumors Of Split With Saigon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk issued a statement designed to dampen speculation concerning differences between Washington and Saigon over peace talks with Hanoi and related issues.

The statement came only a few hours after South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu criticized the United States for taking the initiative in seeking peace talks, declaring that such a role belonged to his government.

Robert J. McCloskey, State Department press officer, declined to relate the secretary's statement to Thieu's speech. He said Rusk decided to issue his statement because of comments by the North Vietnamese and various "individuals" following Hanoi's year-end declaration of willingness to hold talks if the United States stopped bombing the north.

In the statement, read to newsmen by McCloskey, Rusk made the following points:

—The United States, still seeking to clarify Hanoi's offer, has discussed the "implications with the South Vietnamese and others, since it is obvious that there could be no discussions on negotiations without full consultation with them." McCloskey declined to identify the "others."

—The South Vietnamese people must "determine their own future without external interference." The State Department stands by its Dec. 8 statement that "the imposition of any coalition government would be at variance with this principle."

—There are no differences between Saigon and Washington on the advisability of Saigon officials having "informal contacts" with representatives of the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong.

There appeared to be a difference after President Johnson, in a television interview last month, endorsed such possible contacts and Thieu seemed to take a slightly different view.

However, the two later subsequently issued a joint statement, while attending memorial services in Australia for former Prime Minister Harold Holt, saying there was no difference between them on this issue. Rusk said the Canberra statement "remains unchanged."

SANDIGGERS KILLED

ROVIGNO, Italy (UPI)—Four sandiggers were killed today when the diving bell in which they were working exploded as it was being lowered under the Po River. The bell was being used to cement supports for the new Ezalona-Padua superhighway over the river. Inflammable breathing chemicals were blamed tentatively for the disaster.

New Cardinal In Curia Said 'Quiet American' Type

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Francis Cardinal Brennan, a "quiet American" from the Pennsylvania coal country, was named Monday to the highest Vatican agency as head of the Congregation of Sacraments which rules on such matters as marriage annulments. An Italian cardinal resigned to make way for him.

Pope Paul's appointment of the 73-year-old native of Shenandoah, Pa., made him the second American prelate elevated to the Roman Curia, the Vatican's policy-making body. Chicago's Samuel Cardinal Stritch was elevated to the Curia by Pope John XXIII but died before he could take the post.

Along with Erennan, Pope Paul named Maximilien Cardinal de Furstenberg, 63, of Belgium to the Curia as head of the Congregation for the Eastern Church. He also succeeded an Italian.

Cardinals Brennan and De Furstenberg were the fifth and sixth appointments by Pope Paul in the last week designed to streamline the church headquarters and bring in younger, more vigorous leaders.

Benedetto Cardinal Aloisi Masella, 88, resigned to make way for Brennan. Gustavo Cardinal Testa, 81, gave up his Curia post for De Furstenberg. Erennan, a short, white-haired man with flashing blue eyes, is the only American cardinal serving in the Vatican.

Brennan was one of a number of young Americans who went abroad after World War I to study for the priesthood. He was ordained in Rome in 1920. In 1924, he returned home and served as a priest in St. Carthage's Parish in Philadelphia, then taught at West Philadelphia Catholic High.

He became a professor of canon (church) law and as a teacher of theology and canon law, he was called back to the Vatican in 1940 to serve as a judge on the Sacred Rota which passes on requests for annulment of marriage.

Brennan was given the red hat of cardinal just last year.

Cong Notes Say Battle Is Only Way

SAIGON (UPI)—A captured Viet Cong notebook released Monday by the U.S. Mission says Communist leaders believe the Vietnam war can only be won on the battlefield.

"Peace negotiations will be entered into only from a military position of strength and will serve primarily to provide us with the groundwork to launch our general offensive. one entry in the notebook said. "This means the war will be settled only on the battlefield, not in the conference room."

U.S. officials said the notebook was written by a Viet Cong cadreman and captured in May 1967.

Comments in the notebook were attributed to President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam. Another section says the Soviet Union wants the North Vietnamese to go to the conference table with Communist China and is "determined to help us fight until the generations of our sons and grandsons."

"The Soviet Union does not provide us with modern weapons because they fear that the modern weapon types would be copied by China," the entry says.

Martin Will Run For Election to New Term

AUSTIN (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin announced today he will seek reelection today to a second term as the state's chief lawyer.

Martin said he would file formally with the State Democratic Executive Committee before the Feb. 5 deadline.

"The office of attorney general offers many great opportunities for significant service to the people of Texas," Martin said in his announcement. "I believe that I have given the people the competent and forthright legal representation essential to protect their interests."

Thief Seems To Like High Living

The thief apparently liked to drink well, smell good, and listen to music.

He broke into the George Cree residence at 1912 Charles and took whiskey, champagne and liqueur valued at $150.

He also took several bottles of shaving lotion and cologne valued at $15.

Additionally, he took approximately 20 car stereo tapes valued at $60 and approximately 30 stereo record albums valued at $50.

To top it all off, the thief took a set of dishes.

The latter was the first indication to Cree that something was amiss.

He and his wife have been away visiting. He returned home but his wife remained for several more days.

Cree tried to find the dishes yesterday and couldn't. He called his wife and asked where the dishes were.

He called police at 4:23 p.m. A Pampa police report said there were small jimmy marks on one of the patio doors, but the outside door was locked. Police theorized that the thief found a key rack with the house and car keys on it near the front door and used these to unlock an automobile in the garage, and take the stereo tapes from it.

An unsuccessful attempt was made to open the garage door. Police are not certain at this time how the thief entered or left.

Mothers' March Slates Coffee

A coffee is planned from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Wednesday in Mrs. Jake Osborne's home for mothers working in the Mothers' March for the March of Dimes.

Those working in the march may get their material at the coffee. Anyone who wants to work, but has not been contacted, may call the school district chairman.

Chairmen are Mrs. Audra Cary, Austin School; Mrs. J. T. Lambricht, Baker School; Mrs. Robert Smith, Houston School; Mrs. Charles Terrell, Lamar School; Mrs. Earl O'Neal, Mann School; Mrs. Richard Blain, Travis School; Mrs. Jack Chisum, Wilson School and Mrs. Artie Mae Moultrie, Carter School.

The Mothers' March is slated for Monday, Jan. 22.

McCracken Resigns From Pampa Police

Pampa Police Chief Jim Conner said this morning that Patrolman Ronald F. McCracken has announced his resignation from the force.

McCracken, who has been on the force for six months, said he considered it a "privilege to have worked for the Pampa Police Department" but that "due to the high cost of living" he felt that he had to seek employment elsewhere. McCracken has reportedly applied to the Dallas Police Department for a job.

of opinion and conflicts that have occurred since Dr. Damron came to Pampa. They are said to pertain to matters of school administration.

They also are said to include things agreed upon by the board and Dr. Damron before he was hired—matters that had caused conflict in the past. It was also understood that the great majority of causes for conflicts listed in the report related directly to the school board president.

There was much speculation today as to just what action the board will take at its meeting tonight.

If the resignation is accepted it would be assumed that the board also would set a time for termination of Dr. Damron's contract. If it is not accepted, or no action is taken at all, it would be assumed that the superintendent will not violate his contract, but remain until its original termination date in July, 1980.

H. Creel Grady Jr., board president, said yesterday he would notify the News of what action was taken when the meeting concluded tonight.

Cahall To Return To Pampa Plant

Theodore C. Cahall has been named industrial relations manager of the Celanese Chemical Co. plant in Pampa, succeeding C. Eugene Steel who has been transferred to Bay City, as industrial relations manager of the Celanese chemical plant here.

Cahall returns to Pampa after an absence of nine months, when he was a personnel administration supervisor at a new Celanese plant at Clear Lake, near Houston. Mr. Cahall joined Celanese in July, 1966, at Pampa as personnel administration supervisor.

Cahall has been associated previously with the Rockwell Standard Corp., in Coraopolis, Pa., and Fairfield, Ia.; the Homestead Valve Manufacturing Co., Coraopolis; and the Iowa State Manpower Development Council, Des Moines, in various personnel capacities.

Born in Georgetown, Ohio, Cahall is a graduate of the University of Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Cahall and their three children will reside at 2332 Comanche Drive after Jan. 22.

Steel, who had been industrial relations manager of the Pampa plant since mid-1966, was active in Pampa community affairs and served as a member of the Pampa Board of Education.

Born in Anson, Steel is a graduate of Texas Technological College, where he received his B.S. degree in 1967. He joined Celanese the same year as a chemist at the Pampa plant. Transferring to personnel work in 1960, he was supervisor of personnel here until 1963 when he went to the Celanese fibers plant at Cumberland, Md., as a personnel assistant. Later, he was a labor relations supervisor at the Celanese fibers plant in Narrows, Va., before going to Bay City for the first time in 1965 as employee relations supervisor.

Obituaries

Mrs. Noble Joy Urbanczyk
Funeral services for Mrs. Noble Joy Urbanczyk, 49, will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday at St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church with Rev. C. J. Welton, C.M., and Rev. B.C. Elswick, pastor of Bethel Assembly of God, officiating. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery, directed by Carmichael-Whalley Funeral Directors.

Pallbearers will be Fred Neslage, Tom Snow, Vincent Urbanczyk, T. C. Jackson, and Russell McConnell.

A rosary will be said at 7:30 p.m. today in Carmichael-Whalley Colonial Chapel.

She is survived by her husband, Henry Urbanczyk; two daughters, Mrs. J'Non McKinney, Olympia, Wash., and Mrs. J'Hon Lathy, LaCrosse, Wisc.; two sons, Jonathan Urbanczyk and Christopher Urbanczyk, both of the home; her mother, Mrs. Genieve Griffin, Amarillo; one brother, Roy D. Griffin, Amarillo; two sisters, Mrs. James Atkinson and Mrs. Larae Moore, both of Amarillo; and three grandchildren.

Rash of Fires Causes Only Slight Damage
A rash of fires yesterday afternoon and evening caused only light damage to floor joists at a frame house at 1536 Williston.

Two other fires, both of them grass fires, one in the 100 block of Starkweather Street and the other at 326 Naida Street, caused no damage.

The house fire was caused by an accumulation of gas under the floor. It was ignited by a bathroom heater. Firemen answered the alarm at 7:30 p.m. The frame dwelling is owned by C. B. Bruton.

Firemen theorized that the grass fires were set by children.

Runaways Being Detained in Jail

Six runaway youths from Connecticut were being detained in Gray County jail this morning following their apprehension yesterday afternoon in McLean, their escape in Pampa, and a chase by units of the Highway Patrol, Pampa police and Gray County Sheriff's office, before they were finally caught again in a wheat field east of the city.

The youths, five of them 16 and the other 17, all boys, were first apprehended by Charles Henderson of the Highway Patrol near McLean. Henderson said he stopped the youths because he thought they were too young to be out of school, especially since their 1960 model Ford sedan was bearing Connecticut license plates.

The youths said they were on their way to California.

Constable J. D. Fish of McLean was to bring them to Pampa so the Sheriff's Department could determine whether they were runaways.

The youths agreed to follow Fish to Pampa in their own vehicle, but when they got to Pampa they tried to lose Constable Fish.

They ditched their car behind the Black Gold Motel on E. Frederic after losing Fish near the intersection of Barnes and Cuyler.

Fish radioed police, highway patrol, and sheriff's department units that the youths had escaped.

Gray County deputies C. L. Wallace and Jimmy Shelton, Pampa patrolman Dorman Lewis, and State Highway patrolmen Vernon Cawthon, Paul Geiser, Gary Davenport, Paul Fisher, and Sgt. J. W. Wilson joined the hunt.

The youths were located in a vacant house a mile and three-fourths east of Pampa. They were apprehended after a short chase through a nearby wheat field.

The Gray County Sheriff's Department, in the meantime, had sent out a teletype message to Connecticut authorities asking if the youths were wanted as runaways. The answer came back "yes."

The youths are being held in Gray County jail for detention until their parents arrive to return them to Connecticut. Most are expected to arrive tomorrow or Thursday.

AUDITIONS HELD — Dr. Richard P. Condie, director of Salt Lake City, Utah, Mormon Tabernacle Choir, points out an important passage in a hymnal to Curt Beck, chairman of the musical art committee of the Pampa Fine Arts Association. Dr. Condie directed auditions today for a March 31 spring concert.

Day Care Plan Slated To Begin

A day care program for retarded children will start at 9 a.m. Wednesday in the First Presbyterian Church Educational Building. Sponsored by Amarillo State Center for Human Development and the Gray County Unit for Retarded Children, the program will continue Monday through Friday, 12 months a year.

"This is a special program for children who are retarded or who are suspected of being retarded. Pre-school children and older children who are not already attending special education classes in Pampa public schools are eligible," Bob Carmichael, representative of the county association said.

The trained teacher, Mrs. Stan Friend, will be assisted by 11 aides who will help her develop the children's coordination, speech and attention span. The idea is to work with each child on the basis of what he is capable of doing, Carmichael said.

Pampa is one of five Panhandle area satellite units of the Amarillo State Center for Human Development. Others in the Panhandle are at Borger, Dumas, Dimmitt and Spearman. They are all partially financed by federal grants and by contributions, he said.

"Parents who have children eligible for this program may call Mrs. Friend at MO 4-3050. We have three pre-schoolers registered for these classes, but we know there are other children in Pampa who are eligible and need to receive the help the day care program can give," Carmichael said.

Advisory committee members for the program are Carmichael, Mrs. B. R. Shultz, Gray County Welfare; Mrs. Jack P. Foster, Junior Service League; Rev. H. DeWitt Seago, Ministerial Alliance; Rev. Monroe Woods; Jim Hughes, Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Doris E. Wilson.

The lieutenant received his B. S. degree in 1967 from West Texas State University, Canyon. He received his commission through the Reserve Officers' Training Corps program at the university.

Discussion, Awards Given by Chamber

A five-member panel of the Legislative and National Affairs Committee presented the program yesterday at the membership luncheon of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

The panel discussion centered on major issues now before the U.S. Congress: tax increase and tax reforms, uniform Monday holidays, federal aid to education, electoral college reform, and a consumer education agency.

Panel speakers were Jimmy

Thompson, Bill Power, Dr. Joe Donaldson, Jimmie Wilkinson, and W. A. Morgan. Hugh Peoples was the moderator.

Special guests at the luncheon were Miss Mary Gerik, Pampa's winner of the National "Miss Drive-In Teller" contest, and Dr. Richard P. Condie, director of the Salt Lake City (Utah) Mormon Tabernacle Choir.

Miss Gerik was honored by being presented with an official Top O' Texan Award. She was also presented a bouquet of roses by the Chamber of Commerce designating her as an "ambassador of good will for Pampa."

Dr. Condie is here in Pampa conducting auditions for the Pampa Oratorio Chorus Spring Concert.

Also honored at the luncheon were the winners of the best Christmas decoration awards. Mrs. Thelma Bray, civic beautification chairman of the Pampa Garden Club, presented first place plaques to these winners: Mrs. Lester Herr, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Burkhardt, and Eddie Polnac, Mr. and Mrs. Dewayne Mercer were unable to attend to accept their award.

Pampan Rated Expert On Weapons Test

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. — Army Private Robert B. Kenney III, 21, son of Mrs. Lucille C. Johnson, Garden St., Chippewa Falls, Wis., was rated expert with the M-14 rifle near the completion of basic combat training at Ft. Campbell, Ky.

The expert rating is the highest mark a soldier can achieve on his weapons qualification test.

His father lives at 500 Perry St., Pampa.

White Deer Man Made Information Officer

FT. BLISS, Tex. — Army 2nd Lt. Harry W. Hughes, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry I. Hughes, White Deer, has been assigned as an assistant public information officer in the Center Information Office, U. S. Army Air Defense Center, at Ft. Bliss.

The lieutenant received his B. S. degree in 1967 from West Texas State University, Canyon. He received his commission through the Reserve Officers' Training Corps program at the university.

Astrological Forecast

By CAROL R. RIGTER

FOR WEDNESDAY JAN. 17
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until mid-afternoon excellent influences are in effect for whatever has to do with the lighter side of life in obtaining new wardrobe or any type of beauty or improvement of appearance interests and activities, while the rest of the afternoon and evening are NOT good for taking chances of any kind. Keep steadfast.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): A new friend who comprehends your ideas can make this a most interesting and happy day for you, but take care tonight you do not argue with love. Don't neglect your work, though. Bedtime early tonight.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): If you study the situation at home intelligently but steer clear of irate associates in P.M. Don't become overly confident because of some early success. Later there could be some disappointment.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): It would be wise to give regular associates a pat on the back and come to a real meeting of minds. But avoid hasty conclusions. Be present at important meetings. Take the health treatments that you need.

SCORPIO CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Get into that business project that has every chance of success and requires some full thinking. There are hints and watch it work beautifully. Enjoy the inexpensive and wholesome pleasures to be had.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23): Early morning is best for handling some very personal matter but take care later you do not start an argument at home. Show that you have perfect control of a serious affair. Do some quiet thinking by yourself later.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Listen to what some expert has to suggest early in the day, but take care in driving later on. Don't be so egotistical that you later regret thoughtlessly taking risks of any kind could be very bad.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Contact good pals right away since they hold the key to your advancement right at this time. Call your problems. Renew old acquaintances. Be of a happy frame of mind and get right results.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21): Make such a fine impression at a bigwig that you get the credit or career advancement you are seeking. However, do not expect to get more than you really need. Get that civic matter attended with dispatch.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): A new attitude is necessary if you are to gain the support and cooperation of the right people today. Be sure that you garner the data you need. Study it well so that you understand and put it best use.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Tap your own subconscious for the best solving of present problems without going to others for advice right now. Pay your bills and make collections also. Some irritating situation crops up in P.M. Keep calm.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Go directly to that wise associate for the advice or support you require at this time. Get it in big time. Be most cooperative in dealing with those in the outside or business world.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Be very sure you dig right into all that work ahead of you and give co-workers the cooperation they need and deserve. Being expert in your field gains you much respect. Profits increase also.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY...
 ...he, or she will have such charm that everyone will want to spoil your progeny early in life, so be certain you teach early to have a little work to do, be more independent, otherwise you will have a rolling stone that gathers no moss later in life, instead of a squisquish. A little display of discipline fine, too.

Dear Abby

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My daughter wrote a letter to you, but she didn't mail it. I found it on her desk. Everything she wrote was true, but she left out a few very important facts. Here is her letter:

"Dear Abby, I am a 16-year-old girl 'in trouble,' and my mother refuses to let me get married. The boy I'm going with is 19 and wants to marry me. We have gone together for seven months. My mother THINKS she is going to send me to a home for unwed mothers and get me to give the baby up, but she is altogether mistaken and I have told her so.

CARES' Abby, I think you ought to know that my daughter is not yet 16. The boy is married, but not living with his wife. He says he will get a quick divorce and marry my daughter, but in my eyes he will make a very poor husband.

I want her to go to a home for unwed mothers and give her baby up, but she doesn't want to.

Abby, is it such a terrible thing for a girl to give her baby to a family who can give it all the advantages if the girl is not equipped to care for it?

I married at 16, had a family right away, and had to raise my children alone as my husband walked out on me. No one knows how rough this kind of life can be unless she has gone through it.

I wouldn't wish it on my worst enemy, let alone my own daughter. I want her to finish high school, go on to college, and meet a nice man who will marry her and give her a better life than I have had. She's pretty and intelligent and could easily do it if she doesn't spoil everything now. She has already made one mistake. How can I keep her from making two?

HER MOTHER: First I do not think it is so "terrible" to give a baby up for adoption if the mother is not "equipped" to care for it. (By "equipped" I don't mean with material things—I refer to a good home with two parents who love each other and have a solid marriage.)

A 19-year-old married boy who has "gone with" a girl who is not yet 16, and has gotten her pregnant, is not my idea of a very promising husband. Even if he were to get a "Quick divorce" and marry the girl, it would offer no real solution.

If your daughter is wise, she will listen to you. If she won't listen to you, I hope she'll read these words, and listen to me. I agree with you wholeheartedly.

DEAR ABBY: I recently attended an open-house party honoring a couple who were celebrating their golden wedding anniversary. I took them a very nice gift.

I noticed a beautiful three-tier wedding cake on the buffet table, but the guests were served plain home-baked cake. Far as I know, no one even got a taste

By Mrs. G. J. Boyd
 The Patrol Leader Workshop previously scheduled for Jan. 30 has been changed to Wednesday, Jan. 31. Leaders are asked to call the Girl Scout office to confirm their registration for this training. The date was changed in order to take advantage of the experience and training of Mrs. H. E. Martin. Having worked in many councils throughout her extensive travel, she has much to share with others interested in Scouting.

Arts and crafts, songs and games and previous Patrol Leader workshops are only a portion of her contributions to Girl Scouts. Leaders will profit by learning of "first-hand" experiences concerning the patrol system. The time is 9 to 1 p.m. at the Girl Scout Little House.

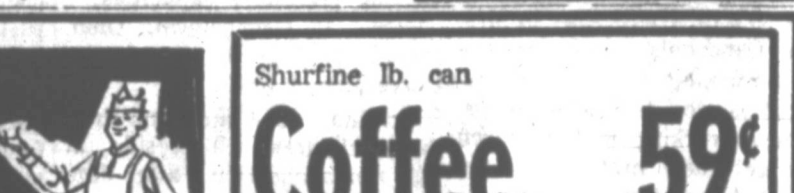

The patrol leader conducts meetings, gets opinions from patrol members and relays the troop-business to them. The patrol leader represents her patrol on Court of Honor conducted by the troop leader. As Junior Scouts, the girls make and carry out short-term plans with the leader assuming responsibility for long-term plans. Cadettes and Seniors may make yearly plans with additional major projects projected a few years ahead.

An example of Senior troop planning is underway through Senior Choir council-wide project with Mrs. C. L. Garrett, Phillips, troop advisor for Senior Troop 151. Senior Troop 2 from Pampa with advisor Mrs. J. P. Brumley, has taken part in choir activities. Troop 2 includes Senior Scouts from Miami and is becoming quite an active troop. Clocking about 100 hours through service projects. The girls have stuffed and addressed envelopes for the tuberculosis fund drive, assisted a Brownie troop learn Scout songs, sorted clothes for Welfare Index, served at council banquet and participated in the choir.

POSTMASTER SAYS:

Six-Cent Stamp Is Still A 'Good Buy'

"It's still one of the best bargains in the world." That's what Acting Postmaster R. W. McPhillips Jr. said today about the six-cent stamp, and he recounted some interesting facts and figures from postal history to back up his claim.

Even though the five-cent letter rate has suffered the same fate as the nickel cigar, first class postage is cheaper today than it was in many bygone eras when a few pennies meant much more than they do today, Acting Postmaster R. W. McPhillips Jr. said.

In 1816, for instance, a single sheet letter cost six cents for delivery up to 30 miles. More sheets and more miles cost more money. A letter going 400 miles cost 25 cents per sheet.

In those days the recipient had to pay the postage, not the sender. And if the letter was actually delivered to the recipient, rather than picked up at the Post Office, there was an extra charge that was kept by the carrier.

It wasn't until 1855 that the sender was required to pay in advance for mail, Acting Postmaster McPhillips said.

Uniform rates regardless of distance and free city delivery were written into the postal law books in 1863. When distance was dropped as a factor in computing rates, so was the practice of charging per sheet. The basic unit for letter postage became a half ounce in 1863. The basic unit of one ounce that still prevails today went into effect in 1885.

Turning to more recent history, McPhillips pointed out postal rates since 1932 compares that the 100 per cent increase from 3 to 6-cents in first-class very favorably with general increases in prices and wages.

General consumer prices have gone up about 200 per cent since 1932 and the average hourly earnings of manufacturing workers have risen by about 550 per cent, McPhillips said.

"Back in 1947 the letter rate was still three cents and everyone agreed that was a really good deal. Since then family income has gone up about 175 per cent while the cost of mailing a letter has increased 100 per cent. If letter postage was worth three cents in the 1940s, in terms of today's dollar it's worth more than six cents," the postmaster said.

McPhillips estimated that the increase in postal charges that went into effect Jan. 7 will add only $2.25 a year to the $16 the average household spent on postal services under the old rates.

Despite the great distances many letters travel in the United States, our postal rates are lower than in most other major countries, particularly when based on ability to pay, McPhillips declared. He said the average American worker earns the price of a six-cent stamp in 1.3 minutes. It takes the average British worker 2.5 minutes to earn letter postage, the West German worker 2.7 minutes and the French worker 5.6 minutes.

McPhillips said the higher postal rates mean that a greater share of the cost of running the Postal Service will be borne by the users of the mails rather than the taxpayer.

Texas Republicans Go All Out For Mexican-American Votes

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Republican Party in Texas is going all out for the Mexican-American vote and developments in having substantial success.

Republican leaders began to move into the potential huge bloc of votes more than a year ago when it became obvious that there were serious differences developing between Mexican-Americans and the state Democratic administration headed by Gov. John Connally.

A smattering of the results of GOP inroads in this area were visible in special legislative elections held late last year. Even more indicative was the evidence of Mexican-American leaders present at the State Republican Executive Committee meeting in Austin this weekend.

Cites Example

For example, A. F. (Tony) Rodriguez of San Antonio has just been named assistant Republican state chairman. Mrs. Alonso Benavides de Laredo is now secretary of the SREC.

In addition to these statewide leaders, the Republicans are moving in on the local level. In the past few days five Mexican-Americans have agreed to serve as assistant county chairmen in five South Texas counties, according to Mrs. Tobin Armstrong, state vice chairman.

She also said that Manny Sanchez of Brownsville, who lost a close runoff in a special legislative election late last year, has agreed to serve as assistant deputy state chairman of the SREC.

Sanchez, according to Mrs. Armstrong, received more votes in that Cameron County election than any Republican before in history.

Looking for Leaders

Mrs. Armstrong said Rodriguez, the new assistant state chairman, "in the weeks ahead plans to find Mexican-American leaders to serve as assistants or chairmen in every region, district, county and precinct with significant Mexican-American population."

Sen. John Tower, she said, plans to make a tour of South Texas in the near future to help recruit workers and candidates among Mexican-Americans. Tower also has named a Mexican-American, Roy Honojosa of San Antonio, to his Texas staff.

Hundreds Killed in Earthquake In Sicily; Thousands Homeless

PALERMO, Sicily (UPI)—A series of violent earthquakes rocked the extreme western tip of Sicily today, opening yawning chasms which sent up the smell of burning sulphur. Government agencies said hundreds were killed and thousands were homeless in near-freezing weather.

Many persons were injured. The devastated area was southwest of Palermo, a mountain area that for years has been a Mafia stronghold, an area where bandits roamed at will or carried on deadly feuds with other bands of outlaws.

Large cracks opened in the mountainsides and the stench of burning sulphur seeped out. The devastation to the mountain towns and villages was so great that it may be days before the full death toll will be known. Authorities said they feared a heavy toll when they reached the isolated areas.

The Italian state-owned radio and television network RAI reported in a news broadcast that 200 members were feared dead in the village of Montegao.

Fire Kills Jail Inmates

DAYTON, Tenn. (UPI)—Fire which apparently started in a padded cell spread through the Rhea County Jail late Sunday night, killing three prisoners and hospitalizing six other persons.

The jailer and a deputy sheriff heard the prisoners screaming, "Get us out, get us out," and tried to open the cellblock. But they were driven back by the intense heat and smoke.

A wrecker was used to tear out the iron bars of a rear cell window, and four prisoners were brought from the building.

Fire chief Carl Smith said the three prisoners killed were Glenn Leacham, 45, of Scottsboro, Ky., who suffered burns, and Robert Hensley, 23, and Ralph Yother, 50, both of Dayton, who died of smoke inhalation.

Smith said the fire, which started shortly before midnight, apparently was set off by defective wiring in the one-story brick building located one block from the courthouse which was the site of the famed "Scopes" monkey trial.

Jailer Robert Albey said he and Deputy Sheriff Earl Howell were "sittin', eatin' hamburgers when we noticed smoke comin' out from under the jail door."

"We jerked open the door and the flames like to have knocked us down. We couldn't get to anybody," Albey said.

"We opened the door and fire was plumb around everywhere," said Howell. "They were hollerin', 'Get us out, get us out.' But we couldn't do anything because of the fire."

Sigma Chi Has No Blondes To Choose For Sweetheart

ALBION, Mich. (UPI)—"Sweetheart Week" at the Sigma Chi chapter of Albion College this week just won't be the same this year.

The Sigma Chi chapter at Albion is famous for one reason. Each in 1911, two members wrote that memorable song "The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi."

In it, of course, is that famous phrase about "The blue of her eyes and the gold of her hair."

Well, the chapter members have selected their Sweetheart of Sigma Chi for 1968, Nancy White, a senior from East Grand Rapids, Mich., a hazel-eyed brunette.

Chapter President Loren Musilek explained, "We just don't have enough blue-eyed blondes."

OFFICIAL DIES

UPS BUDGET

ALGIERS (UPI)—Algeria announced a 17 per cent increase in its national budget for 1968 but promised to hold the line on defense spending. The government said it would spend $1.3 billion in 1968 compared with $1.15 billion last year. The defense budget was set at $98 million.

Civil Rights Movement Directed Largely By Middle-Class Negroes

By United Press International

Negro leaders such as Dr. Martin Luther King and the Urban League's Whitney Young agree that the civil rights movement of the past 10 years has been directed by the middle-class Negro, primarily for rights that take money to enjoy.

"This means eating in desegregated restaurants, sleeping in desegregated hotels or buying a better home.

"In the present doldrums of the civil rights movement," says Negro psychologist Dr. Kenneth B. Clark, "the cleavages between the masses of Negroes and middle-class Negroes have become more clear."

"The masses of Negroes are now starkly aware of the fact that recent civil rights victories primarily benefitted a very small percentage of middle-class Negroes, while their predicament remained the same or worsened," Clark says.

Respond To Change

In some ways the Negro middle class has responded to the change. More than half the young militants at the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee's (SNCC) national office in Atlanta are the sons and daughters of middle-class Negro ministers.

Black power itself—in a strict economic sense—is a middle-class Negro proposal that dates to the early 1900's and Booker T. Washington. Considered "Uncle Tom" by many Negroes today, Washington advocated black-owned business, employing Negroes spending their salaries at more Negro businesses, creating more jobs for Negroes in an ever-expanding cycle.

Anti-Semitism, ascribed to SNCC today, was found to be widespread among middle-class Negroes 10 years ago in "The Black Bourgeoisie," Negro sociologist E. Franklin Frazier's study of the Negro middle class.

Frazier's work rejected economic black power, calling it a myth put out by the Negro middle class in hopes it could monopolize Negro buying power.

ONLY 12 DAYS LEFT — Deadline for 1968 voter registration is January 31. Gray County Tax Assessor-Collector Jack Beck has reminded those who have yet to register. Application for the voting certificate may be made by either going in person to his office on the first floor of the Gray County Courthouse or by using this form. Fill in all the blanks and mail it to the tax assessor-collector without delay. Eligibility requirements are to (1) Be a citizen of the U.S. (2) be a Texas resident, and (3) have resided in the county for at least 6 months. Returning servicemen who were residents of the state at the time they entered service, provided they have not established state residency elsewhere, are considered to be state residents. Persons who will have lived in the county less than 6 months at the time of the deadline are still eligible to register if they will have resided in a county six months at the time of the first election they vote in.

Marcos Arrives in Thailand

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI)—The government Monday welcomed President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Philippines with a royal reception more splendid than that accorded President Johnson when he was here in October, 1966.

Marcos and his wife Imelda arrived for a state visit that will include talks with Thai leaders on the nations' roles as allies with the United States in the Vietnam war.

Marcos stepped off the plane on to a red carpet covered with jasmine and rose petals, strewn by 38 Thai maidens in colorful native garb.

This was Marcos' first visit to Thailand as Philippine president. He arrived from Indonesia on the last leg of an Asian tour.

The Panma Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP OF TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Panma News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less.

Afraid of Definitions?

The United Nations is still unable to define "aggression."

Article 39 of the U.N. Charter states very clearly that "The Security Council shall determine the existence of any... act of aggression and shall make recommendations, or decide what measures shall be taken in accordance with Articles 41 and 42, to maintain or restore international peace and security."

Article 41 provides for actions not involving the use of armed force, such as "sanctions."

Article 42 says: "Should the Security Council consider that measures provided for in Article 41 would be inadequate, it may take such action by air, sea or land forces as may be necessary to maintain or restore international peace and security."

Articles 43 and 44 specify how the U.N. may arrange for troops to be supplied by member nations. Furthermore, Article 45 states: "In order to enable the United Nations to take urgent military measures, members shall hold immediately available national air-force contingents for combined international enforcement action."

Thus, all the aggressive machinery for dealing with "aggression" is provided, and the peace-loving peoples of the world have been repeatedly and continuously reminded that the primary value of the U.N. is its function of halting aggression-wars.

Yet the fact is that the U.N. can't even define what it is empowered to preclude.

The Yearbook of the United Nations for 1965 states that the committee appointed in 1957 to define aggression adjourned without doing so.

Adjourned, in fact, for five years to 1962. At the 1962 meeting of the committee, it was voted to postpone action to April, 1965.

The 21-member committee met on April 5 to 16, 1965, and decided only upon a further adjournment to April of 1967.

At the 1967 meeting, the committee recorded that it had received replies from only 11 of the 118 member nations giving their ideas on a definition of aggression.

And that is how the U.N. works.

Strange? Not really. Just as the government controlled, tax supported "public" school system dare not permit an objective definition of theft for fear of indicting itself, the U.N. is reluctant to define aggression in terms objectively acceptable for fear of identifying itself as an aggressor in the process.

Drinking Is Risky Job

Research by an epidemiologist has led to a number of striking conclusions about alcoholism.

On the basis of his study of some 1,300 of them over about a five-year period, it was found that alcoholics are seven times as likely as non-alcoholics to be victims of fatal accidents.

When the figures are broken down into kinds of accidents, they tell much about the special dangers that confront the alcoholic.

It was found that excessive drinkers are about 30 times as likely as others to die of accidental poisoning, about 16 times as likely to die from an accidental fall, 4 1/2 times as likely to meet death in a motor vehicle accident, and about three times as likely to die from other accidents.

Women alcoholics, in particular, are vulnerable; they have nearly 16 times as many accidents as women who are not alcoholics, while men were expected to have an accident-rate of six times that of their non-alcoholic counterparts.

The intensive public focus on narcotics abuse of late has tended to obscure the broader and perhaps even more serious problems of alcoholism. The time appears to be ripe for reinvigorating attempts to deal with the causes and cures of this condition which poses such grave dangers.

Education, not scare propaganda or more coercive laws, is what is needed.

Centennial of Plastics

It may be a little difficult to believe, but the plastics age is 100 years old this year. And it all came about because of a shortage of ivory for billiard balls.

In 1866, a young Albany, N.Y., printer and tinkerer named John Wesley Hyatt decided to see what would happen if he mixed certain chemicals together. The substance he came up with—Celluloid—soon found use in a wide range of products, from dental plates to shirt collars.

It also incidentally created a revolution in photography—the roll film—and made the motion picture industry possible.

The next great development came in 1909, when Dr. Leo Henriak Bakeland invented Bakelite, which could be heat-formed into such practical items as electric iron handles.

Today, the types and varieties of plastics and their uses would take volumes to describe. Since 1946, the plastic industry's output has increased by 1,257 per cent and it employs nearly 200,000 men and women.

So don't say that nothing good ever came out of a poolroom.

ALLIES AND COST-Cutting As the outlook for the Vietnam war in 1966 is continued heavy fighting, costing huge sums to the American taxpayer, it is essential that the United States find new ways of limiting defense expenditures in regions other than the Far East.

In this connection, Americans have to consider the defense problems arising in the Indian Ocean as a result of growing sea power. The Soviet Union, long considered a land power exclusively, today is turning to the seas. It has a big naval task force in the Mediterranean and has even greater naval ambitions in the Persian Gulf and Indian Ocean areas.

The United States cannot afford to ignore Soviet communism's power drives in these areas. Yet the question arises: where will the U.S. find the financial resources to take on new military commitments in the Indian Ocean and adjacent areas of Africa, threatened by communist pressures?

The answer to this question may lie in making better use of diplomacy and in accepting friendship that has been offered and rejected in the past. A case in point is the willingness of the Republic of South Africa, a powerful anti-communist nation, to assume burdens of defense in the Indian Ocean area.

With a strong economy and a currency based on gold, South Africa is in a position to devote extensive resources to the curbing of communism in and around Africa. With the naval traditions of the British and Dutch—two great seafaring peoples behind them, the South Africans have the know-how to develop a sizeable fleet to deter communist ambitions in the Indian Ocean.

One of the best-known high school drop-outs these days is the popular TV-Oscar award winning actor, Ed Begley. However, he advises against following his example, saying: "My career should never be a guideline for anyone else to try to emulate. Luck has played a great part in my success." That is true in anything. You have got to be at the right place at the right time...

Today's smile: Two new brides were shopping at a supermarket when one noticed something about the other and said: "You are wearing your wedding ring on the wrong hand." The other replied: "Yes, I've since learned I married the wrong man."

Curiously enough, one of the features in selling a new car are the stainless steel wheel covers. They are second only to whitewall tires. The automobile industry knows this and has created more than 60 distinctive wheelcover designs for this year's new cars.

Thoughts while shaving: No one likes to change the tires on his car, but sometimes you are forced to do it. No matter how fast you accomplish the distasteful chore you'll never equal the time of the pit crews at the Indianapolis Speedway during the 500-mile race. They can change all four tires in just 20 seconds...

Some mathematical genius figured out that if all the cuts, boys and inlets on Florida's coastline were accessible an even 14,829,760 anglers would stand side-by-side, and fish. Now isn't that something...

Today's industrial caters had nothing on England's King Richard II, whose reign extended from 1377 until 1399. He employed 2,000 cooks who served free meals to as many as 10,000 persons in a single day.

Fishing is big business in Florida where nearly one-third true Western states in Africa are accepted, and if America's military know-how is shared with them, it will not be necessary for the United States to spend vast new sums to create military bulwarks against the expansionist Russians in the Indian Ocean and Africa. These anti-communist states in Africa are natural bulwarks to Red aggression.

Decision on Civil Disorder Program Faces President As Commission Splits on $4 Billion or $1 Billion Plan

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Before the end of the month, President Johnson must decide on the nature and final size of the program he will send to Congress to combat the growing civil disorder in the nation's major cities.

When measured in dollars, the President's decision will be between massive federal expenditure of $4 billion a year and a more modest program of $1 billion a year for new jobs, housing, and riot control measures.

At this juncture, the President's Commission on Civil Disorders, considering both programs, is deeply split over the urban crisis problem.

The two different plans have one thing in common—both are based on the assumption that civil disorder is the most critical domestic issue facing the nation in 1968.

Favoring the "king size" program are commission members Mayor John Lindsay, New York; Representative James C.orman, D-Calif.; I. W. Abel, president of the United Steel Workers; Senator Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., and a number of commission research personnel, many of them members of the "city teams" which visited 23 cities torn by riots and civil disorders last summer.

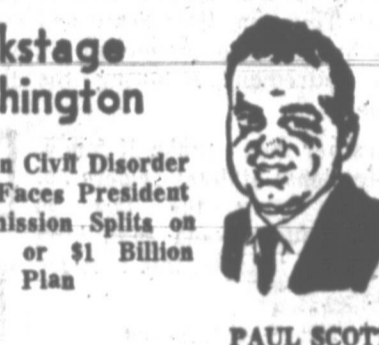

Generally, they are the younger commission and staff members, who tend to be more radical in their political outlook. They believe that a massive federal expenditure in the neighborhood of $4 billion a year is needed to bring racial peace to the larger cities.

This group also tends to support riot control measures that include programs designed to tighten civil control over the big city police departments. They want President Johnson to earmark funds for cities that establish civilian police review boards or similar institutions.

THE OTHER PROGRAM — Supporting the lower keyed $1 billion program are a group of the residents spend upwards of $200 million annually for supplies and equipment. And after spending all that dough most of them wind up telling you about the big one that got away...

The Pasadena (Calif.) INDEPENDENT STAR-NEWS reported in a story: "Roz Russell was present, wearing a long brown crepe gown with jeweled midriff, as was Ross Hunter, a producer of the Universal production, and a number of lesser lights. We'll bet Roz boiled when she found all of them wearing the same thing.

by Illinois Governor Otto Kerner, chairman. They include former Deputy Defense Secretary Cyrus Vance, who represented the President in Detroit during the rioting, Attorney General Ramsey Clark, Representative William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, and Kentucky Commerce Commissioner Katherine Peden.

While deeply concerned about the prospects of renewed rioting this spring, these members are aware of the political limitations that President Johnson faces in Congress and want what they consider a practical approach.

The Kerner group, as its members are called, favors building on existing programs rather than introducing new approaches. They want the President to seek an additional $1 billion for these programs, with the so-called "law and order" projects being given first priority.

Miss Peden, the only woman member on the President's panel, has taken the lead in presenting the latter argument of the group both inside and outside the Commission.

Warning that "the big-city riots threaten to tear apart the fabric of our cities," Miss Peden, in a little-noticed speech, recently added:

"Only in an atmosphere of law and order can our nation set about correcting justifiable grievances which our disadvantaged citizens have. The nation's first concern must be with protecting the lives and property of its citizens."

RIOT FACTS — In support of this argument, Miss Peden pointed out that only a small portion of ghetto dwellers have been involved in the disorders which have occurred so far.

Commission findings, she said, revealed that 8,397 Negroes were arrested in riots in Detroit, Newark, Cincinnati, and Grand Rapids, but that this figure represents less than one per cent of the total Negro population in the four cities.

"These statistics say to me that while thousands were involved in the rioting," Miss Peden stated, "many more thousands stood clear of active involvement."

Rather than programs to place new controls on local police, the Kerner group favors projects to improve internal control of police departments—a federal-aid program which most cities are likely to accept.

Because of the deep division within the commission, efforts already are underway to resolve the dispute by having Vance, a long time friend of the President, sound him out on whether they should recommend a compromise program.

WASHINGTON: Students 'Solid Citizens' Survey of Beliefs Shows

By RAY CROMLEY Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — News reports on a four-year survey of students at Stanford University and the University of California have left unsaid very pertinent findings on student beliefs.

Studies of 1,000 men and women students showed attitudes toward family life, human values and ambitions which vary greatly from those one would imagine from the publicly given student riots and student marches in the nation's colleges.

The women seniors at both Stanford and California seem to have said overwhelmingly that when they were married they wanted their husbands to wear the pants in the family.

Faced with the statement: "After I am married when it comes to making decisions, if I had to choose one or the other, I would want my (husband's) wishes to have priority," a whopping 82 per cent of the women questioned said "yes." Only one out of nine wanted her wishes to have priority over her husband's.

Most of the senior women, in fact, said they "would not want a husband who could not control me." Only 7 per cent of the women questioned disagreed strongly with this idea.

A third of the senior men apparently did not get the message. They said they would want their wives' wishes to have priority over theirs in making decisions, if it had to be one or the other.

Each of the senior students questioned listed three things he expected to be most important in his life after graduation. In addition to his career, these objectives turned out to be "relations and activities with future family," "love and affection" and "developing a personal identity."

All through the questioning, the great need felt for building a home life, the urge for love and affection and the quest for finding themselves seemed to be uppermost in the minds of a majority of senior students. The primary needs the students listed also included a desire for "emotional well-being," "maintaining self-respect" and "being accepted and liked by others."

Wealth, fame and recognition, sexual needs, sensory and aesthetic pleasure were listed as among the three most important human needs by only a tiny minority.

One out of nine of the Stanford and California senior men and between a fourth and a fifth of the senior women said that they prayed "frequently."

Another quarter said they prayed "occasionally."

Most of those who prayed said they did so "because it puts me in touch with a power greater than myself," "to find out what God's will is" or "because I feel anxious."

Now these are not the "wild" thoughts of people who are about to do violent harm to society. These are, on the whole, quite conservative views.

It would be well to judge our college students, not by the gyrations of small minorities, but by the quiet beliefs of the majority.

H. L. Hunt Writes

YOUNG WRITERS AND SPEAKERS

A number of groups, including veterans' organizations, patriotic societies and service clubs, engage in sponsoring contests in which young Americans are encouraged to write essays and prepare speeches on patriotic themes. This kind of activity is of great value, especially at a time when our schools are too much inclined to neglect the patriotic education of students.

The organizations which conduct patriotic essay and public-speaking contests deserve to be highly commended. Their thoughts, expressed by many of these young people give eloquent testimony to the character and strength of American youth today. Preparation of essays and orations on patriotic themes causes the youngsters to gain knowledge of our American heroes and understanding of the principles on which our Republic was founded.

Participants also develop proficiency in writing and speaking. These are basic forms of means of transmitting ideas from one person to another. The importance of speaking and writing forcefully and intelligently can hardly be over-emphasized. The man or woman who has learned as a youth to speak in public can have great influence over those who listen.

The clubs and organizations which sponsor "Voice of Democracy" contests and movements such as Youth Freedom Speakers are providing excellent training for many young people and rendering a tremendous service to the nation. So long as such endeavors as these attract our brightest young people, hope remains that freedom can be preserved. The youthful speakers and writers understand that freedom does not happen automatically and is not to be taken lightly. There is a most constructive undertaking.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

As U.S. military pressures have forced the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese to fight more and more a border war, the Cambodian sanctuary has become that much more important to both sides—for the United States to seal it off and for the Communists to use it. Chester Bowles' mission to Phnom Penh, then, must be credited with a measure of success since it did win from Prince Norodom Sihanouk a promise of action against Communist intrusions rather than his usual harsh denials that such intrusions even exist.

But the United States still has its fingers crossed. Washington quickly tempered Bowles' remark that "hot pursuit (into Cambodia) is not our intention and should never be necessary." The United States specifically reserves the right to take action in self-defense, the State Department said.

Bowles, U.S. ambassador to India drafted by President Johnson for this special mission, and Sihanouk agreed to a strengthening of the International Control Commission to police Cambodia's frontiers.

Additionally, the United States promised to supply two helicopters and money to help support the commission's expanded activities.

Further, the text of a Bowles statement said, "We were able to assure Prince Sihanouk of our country's continuing respect for Cambodia's sovereignty, neutrality and territorial integrity."

While the United States has not approved Sihanouk's methods, it has not doubted his sincere desire to insulate his country against the Vietnam conflict.

And it may be assumed that Communist use of Cambodian territory made up an important part of the conversations held with North Vietnamese leaders in Hanoi by Sihanouk's foreign minister, Prince Norodom Phouissara.

Sihanouk's desire for neutrality becomes the more believable when it is recalled he has no love for the Vietnamese whether they come from north or south.

New Plan for Junior Colleges Is Approved

AUSTIN (UPI)—The college-coordinating board today approved a long-range plan designed to cope with a 40 percent increase in junior college enrollment in Texas in the next 20 years.

The policy statement adopted with only one dissenting vote is the first segment of the board's long-awaited master plan for higher education.

Dr. J. C. Cigarroa Jr. of Laredo wanted to wait and vote on the junior college portion of the master plan after the board has seen the senior college portion of the master plan. He objected to the strict division of junior and senior colleges.

"In some areas the ideal would be senior colleges that incorporate the functions of junior colleges," Cigarroa said. He also objected to the board's statement that junior colleges should not try to become senior colleges.

But Dr. J. K. Williams, commissioner of higher education, said the board's staff is convinced that "there is no possibility for the junior college role to be filled by senior colleges," and that it is essential that junior colleges concentrate on their role instead of trying to move up.

The plan for junior colleges calls for community oriented schools and divides the state into 53 regions that will be capable of supporting at least one junior college within the next 15 years or so.

It calls for an open door admissions policy, transfer level programs that will be equal in every way to the first two years at a senior college and heavy emphasis on technical programs.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Miniskirts, it appears, are coming to an end.

Or, to avoid any misunderstanding, perhaps I had better say that miniskirts are on their way out. They have already reached the end.

The demise of the minis can be foreseen in the news that two leading designers are dropping hemlines in their spring collections.

When one designer drops a skirt, it can be taken for granted that skirt-dropping soon will become rampant in the fashion industry.

These are indeed felicitous tidings for those of us who are old enough to remember when there was more to women than knees and eyelashes.

Knees are all right in their place, which is somewhere between the ankle and the hip. But when three-quarters of a woman's sifanks are left dangling below her hemline, knees become domineering and overbearing.

One begins to feel intimidated by knees and one longs for some relief.

The most natural place to turn to is the eyes. But that refuge has now been rendered discommodious. Miniskirts, unfortunately, became fashionable

HOW'S BUSINESS

Economy Outlook for 1968 Is Definitely Optimistic

By The Babson Staff

At this outset of 1968, economic projections predominantly expect a good increase in business. There is no doubt that, despite the areas of danger cited in last week's column, there are some definite grounds for optimism. In the first place, the economy is already on an upswing which commenced in the fall of 1967. This head start is supported by a healthy backlog of unfilled orders at the manufacturers' level, which is sufficiently powerful to bolster business well into the current year.

In the early portion of the year, at least, industrial activity is expected to receive good support from the automobile industry. Part of this stimulus represents the post-strike catch-up efforts of the Ford Motor Company, but the industry also is looking forward to a very good year in terms of both production and sales.

Another source of stimulus to 1968 business is expected to be steel activity. Except for the capital goods field, most consumers of steel products should operate at high levels. In addition, there is an added impetus to steel demand from strike-hedge inventory stockpiling, although this is an iffy factor which could be short-circuited if labor peace is achieved before the current labor contract expires. But bear in mind that swollen steel inventories could be a depressant later in the year, when the economy may need all the help it can get!

Residential building has maintained a surprising degree of vigor in recent months, despite the ominous monetary situation. This could be a source of strength... if an acute credit scramble is to be averted. Credit conditions can also affect another "likely" source of strength, namely inventory accumulation. Brisk business early in the year would normally heighten business inventory accumulation, particularly with prices rising.

The important consideration to bear in mind, however, is that many of the positive factors in the business picture may center in the first half of 1968. As the year progresses further, signs of erosion may crop up, unless a new source of stimulus alters the economic climate.

New Airline Is Asked

AUSTIN (UPI)—A proposed new airline backed by half a dozen of the wealthiest men in Texas told the Texas Aeronautics-Commission today it wants to start a new streamlined commuter air service between Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston, and San Antonio, by next April.

Jack M. Brown of San Antonio, president of Air South West Co., seeking the charter, said the firm would start "an intensive" promotional activity to attract passengers to the commuter routes it proposes to fly with Lockheed Electra turboprop jet aircraft.

A group of lawyers from some of the biggest firms in the state, in Washington and Los Angeles attended the hearing to represent both backers and opponents of the service.

Braniff International, Trans-Texas and Continental Airlines opposed the application.

Brown said Air Southwest would offer streamlined passenger services designed to speed up the flights for busy people between the big cities. Fares will be 20 per cent below those charged by major airlines, he said, including $12.95 between San Antonio and Houston and $14.95 between San Antonio and Dallas, and Dallas and Houston.

Supreme Court Will Rule On ADC Residence Requirement

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court agreed today to rule on Connecticut's one-year residency requirement for aid to dependent children.

A special three-judge federal court in Hartford found the law unconstitutional on June 19, 1967, by a 2 to 1 vote.

The Supreme Court will hear arguments in a test case later this term and decide it by written opinion.

Forty other states have laws like Connecticut's. The 10 without residency requirements are Alaska, Georgia, Hawaii, Kentucky, Maine, North Dakota, South Dakota, New York, Rhode Island and Vermont.

Connecticut law differs from some in one respect: Those who can show they arrive in the state with some cash resources or the likelihood of employment can get help after three months. The three-judge panel struck down the law because of what was described as its "chilling effect" on the right to travel.

DEATH SENTENCES

MOSCOW (UPI)—A Latvian court has sentenced three men to death and two to jail for murdering thousands of Soviet citizens during World War II, a Latvian press report said.

The death sentences bring to 19 the number of persons condemned for war crimes in the past two months and to about 90 the number doomed in the past 13 months.

ORDER HAIRCUTS

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI)—Government authorities ordered all beatniks with long hair to cut it within two weeks. "The mop-haired look has not been accepted as decent in Jakarta," Gov. Ali Sadikin said in telling parents and teachers to see to it that longhairs were shorn.

Retired White Seeks Move From Neighbor

By United Press International

Russell Fagan, the University of Denver-educated editor of the Dallas Post-Tribune, recently moved into an integrated section of Dallas. Fagan is a Negro and his new neighbor, a retired white man, promptly put up a "For Sale" sign.

Fagan said he resented that "I hardly see the man," he said. "And at his age, he should be thinking more about a cemetery lot than buying a new home."

The white man's attitude is one of the things that makes some middle class Negroes in Texas feel a bond with the masses of Negroes involved in the so-called racial revolution in the United States.

Say I am at a party and am trying to ignore the knees of a woman seated next to me. I raise my eyes to hers, and find something equally disturbing. Her eyelids are fluttering.

Weather Gauge

This no longer signifies that she is either flirting or bombed. It may only mean the barometer is falling. A slight change in air pressure is enough to start false eyelashes vibrating.

Women apparently have the idea that eyelash appendages are coquettish. Actually, they are unnering.

Thirty minutes in a room full of fluttering eyelashes is about all my nervous system will tolerate. At my last party I developed a severe tic.

Since the advent of miniskirts, many women use kneecap cosmetics. If the trend continues, they are certain to start pasting false eyelashes on their knees.

This is why I am eager for the miniskirt requiem. Fluttering kneecaps would surely destroy the last vestige of my social composure.

Polaris Missile

Flight Fails

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—A Polaris A2 missile failed seconds after launch from a submerged submarine today about 30 miles off the Florida coast.

The Air Force would only say that the 30-foot rocket was launched from the USS Sam Houston and that it cleared the ocean's surface. It was not visible to shore observers even though the weather was nearly perfect.

The Polaris A2 is an older model of the Navy's submarine launched missile and is carried by 16 of the nation's 41 missile submarines. It has a range of 11,725 miles.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis reports 1968 may be the year when the Dow Jones industrial average finally cracks the "magic" 1,000 mark. More than half of 74 business and financial writers polled by the firm feel the average will reach 1,000, the company said. The writers' predictions cover a wide range, but the consensus is at the DJIA to hit a high of 1,001.43, a low of 898.75, and close the year at 960.

Indicator Digest Inc. notes that buying "now seems to have taken on a very defensive stance," with investors taking on "safer" and better quality stocks, while taking profits on high-priced speculative issues with vulnerable, unwieldy high price-earnings ratios. This normal phenomenon of playing-it-safe may prevail a little longer than usual this year, the digest feels. It predicts 1968 to be a year of "sharply conflicting cross currents."

Goodbody & Co. feels the financial markets have placed a favorable interpretation on President Johnson's balance-of-payments program. There is some skepticism as to how effective it will be. The firm offers that "peace reports no longer scare the market," with the realization that an end to the fighting in Vietnam might ease many problems: The budget deficit and the tax question, high interest rates, the dollar in world markets. "Confidence continues to be the market's keynote," Goodbody reports.
