Houston Claims Money Capital Of Texas Title

By United Press International
Houston became the money capital of Texas at the April 18 bank call, figures released Tuesday showed. Houston edged Dallas for the title.

Houston banks showed $4,264,038,305 on deposit and Dallas banks were second in the state with $4,174,443,203.

Most banks over the state had more deposits than they did a year ago except in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, where the figures were somewhat below the previous figures.

San Antonio banks listed $1,182,246,831 in deposits. The totals a year ago in the HemisFair city were $1,043,051,469.

Gain at Amarillo
In Amarillo, deposits in seven banks totaled $276,434,326 last April, the banks showed $270,179,343.

totals hit an all time high. Longview reported $88,224,529 and Gregg County had $119,853,868.

Fort Worth and Tarrant County banks listed $1,368,061,087 on deposit, compared with $1,280,007,221 last April.

Deposits in Austin's eight commercial banks totaled $584,631,086.

The bank call in the Lower Rio Grande Valley indicated deposits somewhat below the previous call in December.

Slight Loss Noted
First National Bank of McAllen had deposits of $30.07 million as compared with $32.87 million in December.

Calvin Glover, vice president, said he considered the drop the result of distribution of Small Business Administration payments in the Valley after Hurricane Beulah.

"I think we have seen the worst of the drop," Glover said. "We now should experience the normal uptrend."

First National Bank of Harlingen had $38.1 million deposits, First National Bank of Brownsville $33.1 million and McAllen State Bank $25.8 million.

Third Swing-Wing Is Lost In Combat

By JACK WALSH

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. Air Force today temporarily cancelled all combat missions of its crash-plagued F111A jets. On the ground, allied troops rounded up scores of prisoners in a series of battles near Saigon, military spokesmen said.

The Air Force decision to pull the F111As out of combat came after the loss of the third swing-wing fighter — bombers Monday.

Hanoi Radio today claimed North Vietnamese anti-aircraft defenses have shot down all three of the jets lost in a month of "combat testing."

The heaviest ground fighting reported by spokesmen today was in three Mekong Delta provinces south of the capital, where large Communist troop concentrations were reported, possibly preparing for another large-scale attack on Saigon.

Spokesmen said a total of 111 Communists were killed in the fighting, including 95 slain in the three Mekong Delta provinces Tuesday.

In Binh Duong province about 25 miles north of Saigon, U.S. 1st Infantry Division troops sealed off an entire village believed filled with Viet Cong soldiers and held 268 suspects for questioning.

The spokesmen said the infantrymen set up an ambush near the village of Chanh Luu Monday night and watched 200 Communist soldiers march past their positions and into the village.

Some passed as close as 10 yards to the hidden Americans, the spokesmen said.

Just before dawn the troops sprung their trap.

They closed in and sealed off the village. They searched about 75 houses and seized about six tons of rice from them.

The spokesmen said they rounded up 272 persons and all but four were held for further interrogation by Vietnamese national police stationed at nearby Phu Cuong.

The biggest of the delta battles erupted in Dinh Tuong province Tuesday, about 50 miles southwest of Saigon. U.S. 9th Infantry Division troops and South Vietnamese troops reported killing 56 Communists in a daylong fight.

South Vietnamese casualties were described as light and the U.S. troops reported 15 men injured and none killed.

South Vietnamese police and troops around the capital have been on alert since last Sunday and the Saigon police chief, Col. Nguyen Van Luan, said he expected an attack, possibly on May Day. But he said he did not believe the Communists could attack with as much force as during the new year offensive.

There was no official Air Force indication today of how long the $6 million F111As would be confined to their base at Takhil, Thailand.

Kay Fancher's 'Six Shooters' Lead Wranglers

Kay Fancher's Six Shooters team was leading the pack today at the first check-in of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce annual membership drive.

The Six Shooters had chalked up 135 points so far in the campaign which opened Monday. In second place today was the Petticoat team, captained by Frances Cree, 105 points; third, the Lazy Bucks, captained by Floyd Watson, 95 points; and fourth the Rocking Old Timers, headed by Roy Sparkman, drive chairman, 85 points.

Sixty volunteer wranglers are soliciting roundup memberships and the goal has been set at $42,000.

Wranglers are vying for prizes with incentive awards going to the top three crews. Top wrangler also will get a prize as will members of the "drag rider" team.

Next check-in is scheduled for 10 a.m. Friday in the Chamber of Commerce corral at the Hughes Bldg.

The Gray County Clerk's office will be open until noon Saturday for the benefit of absentee voters. Absentee voting opened April 15 and will end next Tuesday.

Voters in the May primary who moved into the county on or after Nov. 4, 1967, must vote before April 30 in the county clerk's office. Voters must vote in the county of their present residence.

A new law enacted last year permits registered voters with less than six months' residence in the county to vote on all statewide offices and issues if they have lived in the state longer than one year.

The voting is done under procedures similar to absentee voting. The new law puts into effect a constitutional amendment adopted in November, 1966.

There was no official Air Force indication today of how long the $6 million F111As would be confined to their base at Takhil, Thailand.

46 Are Killed In Racial Disorders After King Death

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Forty-six persons were killed in the disorders that broke out around the nation after the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King April 4, according to official Justice Department figures.

The compilation, based on reports from 76 cities, listed a total of 2,561 injured and 21,271 arrested.

The 46 deaths occurred in 13 cities. They included: Chicago 12, Washington, D.C., 1; Baltimore and Kansas City, 6 each; Cincinnati, and Detroit, 2 each; and Highland Park, Mich., Trenton, N.J., Jacksonville and Tallahassee, Fla., St. Louis, Mo., Memphis, Tenn., and Minneapolis, 1 each.

Reagan Indicates He's 'Available'

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan indicated Tuesday he is "available" for the Republican presidential nomination but insisted he "could not conceive of myself soliciting that job."

Reagan told his weekly news conference: "I am not an announced candidate for President"—adding the word "announced" to his usual disclaimer of ambition for higher office.

Then a newsmen asked: "Are you available for President?" After a pause, Reagan replied: "I don't know what the answer to that question is. I think any citizen of the United States is available for that office if his fellow citizens decided he was the individual they wanted."

In Death Of Martin Luther King Suspect Boasted Of Slaying 'Bounty' Offer

By RICHARD LEGGITT
DALTON, Ga. (UPI)—Fugitive James Earl Ray once said he would collect a "million-dollar bounty" put up by a mysterious "businessmen's association" for the death of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., according to a prison friend.

Ray, an escaper from the Missouri state prison, has been charged with conspiracy and murder in the assassination of King at Memphis April 4.

Raymond Curtis, in jail here awaiting an appeal of a murder conviction, said he had served with Ray in jail once and in prison twice and the matter of King first came up shortly after President Kennedy was assassinated in 1963.

"Well, somebody made a pretty penny on that," Ray told Curtis after hearing of Kennedy's death.

About a week later, in the yard of the Missouri State prison at Jefferson City, a "new man just in off the street" told them "the businessmen's association has a million-dollar bounty out for Martin Luther King," Curtis said Tuesday.

He said Ray smiled and said "If there's a million dollars out on King, I believe if I ever get out I'll collect it."

Curtis said the subject of King came up "a couple of times" thereafter. Curtis finally was freed and Ray fled the prison last year by hiding in a bread truck.

Curtis said he had no idea what the "businessman's association" was. Authorities said Tuesday they were pursuing several reports—some circulating in prisons—that there was a "contract" out for King's death.

"I didn't think much about it at the time," said Curtis. "In prison, you hear all sorts of hellacious ideas." FBI agents have questioned him about his talks with Ray.

Curtis said Ray never mentioned racial matters. He didn't care if a man was white or colored," Curtis said. "He was only interested in money."

Jordan Seeking Emergency Meet Of Security Council

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Jordanian army relief column sped to the area and fired at one of the Israeli reconnaissance planes. They said the land rover belonged to a British firm of consultants and that the Jordanian driver was seriously wounded.

Another gunbattle between Jordan and Israel violated the truce Tuesday.

Jordanian and Israeli troops fought a machine gun duel across the Jordan River in the northern section of the Jordan Valley near Manshiya. It was the fourth clash of the week.

Jordanian Premier Bahjat Talhouqi said Jordan called for the Security Council session to prevent the parade through Israel occupied Arab Jerusalem on May 2 to mark the 20th anniversary of Israeli independence.

Secretary General Thant also asked Israel to call off the parade as a violation of the cease-fire agreement, but the Israeli newspaper Maariv reported in Tel Aviv Israeli officials angrily sent the complaint back.

An Israeli helicopter taking part in a search-and-destroy operation against Arab guerrillas shot up a British land rover inside South Jordan and kidnapped a Jordanian surveyor, eyewitnesses reported today in Amman.

The witnesses said four helicopters, two jet fighter planes and two light spotter planes were involved in the two-hour mission at Darba, 15 miles north of Aqaba and about two miles inside Jordanian territory, Jordanian sources said a

McCarthy's Car Is Attacked By Jeering Negroes

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI)—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy emerged shaken but unhurt Tuesday night from an encounter with several shouting, jeering Negro youths who kicked, rocked and pounded his limousine in Newark's riot-scattered Central Ward.

Several other persons were trapped in the car with McCarthy—including Paul O'Dwyer, a contender for the Democratic senatorial nomination in New York—for a few tense moments before the driver pulled away from the crowd.

A supporter of the Minnesota Democrat said McCarthy seemed more concerned about possible injury to the youths surrounding the car than he was about himself.

"He shouted out of the car window, 'Get the children out of the way!'" said Douglas Ireland, coordinator of the New Jersey Volunteers for McCarthy, who was riding in the car. "Get them out of the way before they get hurt!"

The incident came on a day when McCarthy delivered his most fervent speeches yet on the nation's racial situation. It was the only unfriendly moment during an otherwise warm and enthusiastic reception for the senator.

Earlier, in New York City, he urged a creative political attack on the "moral monstrosity" of racism in the cities in response to the "cry from the ghettos."

Wallace will be in Texas tomorrow, Friday and Saturday with scheduled night rallies in Dallas, San Antonio and Houston. The former Alabama governor will make 17 stops in Texas during the three days, Perry said.

Wallace far outstripped his opponents in a 30-minute radio poll taken by station KGRO this morning.

Mrs. Faye Eaton at the station reported that of 49 "votes" tallied during the 30-minute period, Wallace got 35. Other votes were cast for Ronald Reagan, 8; Robert Kennedy, 2; Nixon, Humphrey, Johnson and Mickey Rooney, 1 each.

Mrs. Eaton said there was a possibility that several callers did not get to vote since the station has only two lines on which to receive in-coming calls.

Volunteers Search For More Mideast Tornado Victims

FALMOUTH, Ky. (UPI)—Volunteers using bulldozers, shovels and bare hands searched through rubble and debris-filled basements today for more victims of killer tornadoes that ravaged 10 Kentucky and Ohio communities.

University Of Colorado's Student Union Grill Named After Cannibal

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI)—University of Colorado students voted Tuesday to rename the Student Union Grill in honor of Alfred E. Packer, the only man ever convicted of cannibalism in U.S. history.

The student resolution said the grill, long the target of gibes for alleged poor food, "has consistently striven to attain the high standards exemplified by the life of Mr. Packer."

Packer was convicted in Lake City, Colo., in 1883 of having killed and eaten five companions caught with him in a blizzard while prospecting for gold in Colorado's Uncompahgre Valley.

A Democratic judge later sentenced Packer to die for the crime.

There were only seven Democrats in Hinsdale County and you, Alfred Packer, you man-eating so-and-so, you ate five of them," the judge said. "I sentence you to be hanged by the neck until you are dead, dead, dead."

Federal Loans Are Available To Some In Area

Many low-income rural people in the Gray, Armstrong and Donley County unit have increased buying power, as a result of Federal opportunity loans, according to Claude Moore, local representative of the Farmers Home Administration.

Moore, who has been Farmers Home Administration's County supervisor for the unit for 5 years, said three rural families received over $9,400 in economic opportunity loans since July 1, 1967.

They used the loans, Moore said, to develop small businesses.

More than 2,700 opportunity loans have been made in Texas since the beginning of the program in January 1965 with more than 430 being made this fiscal year.

The opportunity loans are part of the Federal anti-poverty program, which Congress enacted three years ago. The loan program is administered by the Farmers Home Administration for the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Low-income rural people, people, through the local Farmers Home Administration office may receive loans up to $3,500 to develop income-producing businesses or to enlarge farming operations. Borrowers may take up to 15 years to repay the loan.

For the first time, according to Moore, people who could never before qualify for loans now can get the money they need to develop or expand a business enterprise or a farming operation.

"But in all cases," Moore added, "the enterprise—whether it is farming or business—must have a reasonable chance of success."

Through the Gray, Armstrong and Donley County unit, loans have been made for such non-farm enterprises as cafes, service stations, house moving, trucking, highway mowing, and te-

Quotes In The News

NEW YORK—Vice President Humphrey in a foreign policy address to the Overseas Press Club Monday night:

"I believe the power of the free idea will in time infiltrate mainland China as it has infiltrated and is infiltrating the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe."

NEW YORK—Whitney M. Young Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, proposing a "white march" on Washington to back Negro demands:

"Such a march led by people in top leadership roles will say to Congress: 'The time is now... you must now bring economic security and social justice and equality to every person in the land.'"

WASHINGTON—A Pentagon official explaining regulations under which U.S. Special Forces in South Vietnam may attack elephants:

"The rules of engagement for elephants are that an elephant may be attacked when he is carrying a burden, but he may not be attacked when he is not carrying a burden."

WASHINGTON—Sen. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., asking civil rights leaders to call a moratorium on marches and demonstrations:

"No one wants to limit freedom of assembly speech or dissent, but we don't permit people to walk around a fire with an open can of gasoline, and masses of people marching in our country can only create the opportunity for emotionally unstable people to limit a similar fuse."

STRONG AVERSION

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—Stephen V. Somerville and Richard K. Hoffmaster, both students at the University of Wisconsin, reported Monday that two gunmen invaded Somerville's apartment, called the pair Communists and forced them to shave off their mustaches and left.

Briscoe Says Victory Is In Sight

Editor's Note: This is another in a series of on-the-spot reports on campaigns of the major Democratic candidates for governor.

By DAVID ANDERSON
United Press International
Delph Briscoe Jr. — "Mr. Agriculture" to thousands of farmers but "Mr. Unknown" to thousands of urban voters — claimed today that victory is in sight for him.

Polls and estimates of most politicians put Briscoe no higher than fifth among the 10 Democratic candidates for governor. But Briscoe said he believes uncommitted voters will pick him out of the pack because of his "qualifications and experience."

"The campaign will be won in these next few days," he said. "A large percentage of people have yet to make up their minds."

He said he will use as many television spots in the next 10 days as he can afford, which could mean plenty. Briscoe is a multimillionaire who owns part of six South Texas counties and is reputed to be the largest individual landowner in Texas.

Campaign Costs Divided
He said his campaign funds so far have come about equally from his own pocket and contributions, mainly the proceeds of a $100-a-plate dinner that netted more than $50,000.

Briscoe's campaign, a strictly amateur affair run almost entirely by volunteers, has perplexed political observers from the beginning.

Monday, he spent the entire day in South Texas, the area in which he already is the strongest. He began with a rally in Uvalde, his home town, where residents already have made his candidacy a community civic project.

Monday evening, he attended a barbecue for about 500 persons on a ranch 15 miles west of Raymondville, where many of the guests were rancher friends. He also attended a reception at the country club in Alice.

Briscoe is not an aggressive campaigner. He shook a few hands at a packing shed in Raymondville but it is obvious that he would rather chat with old friends than court new voters. Friends say he is humble to the point of shyness.

Briscoe, 45 years old today, has done nothing to shake the country image he gained 20 years ago as a legislative sponsor of the farm-to-market road program.

He wears a five gallon hat, a conservative business suit and black alligator cowboy boots.

In his standard speech, he invokes the spirit of former Vice President John Nance Garner, President John Nance Garner, who was a local hero in Uvalde but is little known among generations grown up since the FDR era.

He refuses to say a critical word about any of his opponents. His credentials are impressive. He was a high school valedictorian and an influential legislator in the late 1940s. He has been president of dozens of public-spirited organizations from State Chamber of Commerce to the screwworm eradication program.

Briscoe surmised that it will take about 400,000 votes to get him in the run off and said he hoped to get half that many votes from San Antonio southward.

He also said he has strength in East Texas and in the West Texas ranch country.

Solon Suggests Special Coin

HONOR SLAIN MAN
WASHINGTON (UPI) — A million commemorative Martin Luther King 50-cent pieces would be minted and sold to help educate the underprivileged under a bill introduced by Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa.

Scott has proposed that the coins, bearing the profile of the slain civil rights leader, be sold at par value to the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. fund at Atlanta's Morehouse College. The fund would be permitted to resell the coins and use the profits to educate the underprivileged.

BIG-TIME CRIME
CHICAGO (UPI) — If one of the latest thefts is any indication, crime in Chicago is becoming computerized. Five desk top computers valued at $19,260 were taken from the design engineering show at the international amphitheatre.

SENSITIVE GORILLA
ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Zoo Director Marlin Perkins reported a first Monday. He said Mzuri the gorilla is the first of his species to have been discovered to be allergic to strawberries.

Park Official Sees No Increase In Attacks Against Tourists By Bears

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (UPI) — An official at Yellowstone National park has disagreed with naturalist who said attacks on park tourists by bears might increase this summer.

Such attacks resulted in the deaths of two young girls in another park last year.

Glen Cole, Rocky Mountain research supervisor for national parks, said, "I don't think you could draw that conclusion, because there had been no correlation between the number of visitors and an increase in incidents."

Last August, killer grizzly bears attacked two 19-year-old girls and tore them from their sleeping bags in Glacier National Park. The reason for the attack has never been fixed by the Park Service.

Dr. John Craighead, who has studied grizzlies for 10 years in Yellowstone, warned that unless there was more refined management of bears in parks with tourist trails there might be more incidents of attack.

"These attacks are very, very rare," Cole said. "There is just no connection between visitation by tourists and attacks. Attacks are just too rare."

Cole said most of the reported attacks come when persons try to feed black bears in the parks, which the Park Service constantly warns against.

Cole said attacks such as those in Glacier last summer were few and far between. He said "those were the only two fatalities (from bear attacks) in 57 years."

"It is kind of hard to draw a correlation between that attack and visitation that has occurred and doubled or tripled over a period of time."

Zoning bear areas to keep out tourists is regarded by Cole as a great aid in preventing more incidents but he said the method does not work in all parks.

"There are two different kinds of parks," Cole said. "One type of park has a lot of backcountry hiking, and the other one does not."

Cole said he was not too sure if suggested zoning would work as a sure-fire preventative to bear attacks in all parks.

"I just don't know if you could say it is an all or nothing proposition," Cole said. "Zoning is one management that is used (for bears). Another tool used is monitoring." He said monitoring an area might result in closing it to tourists if there was an indication incidents might occur.

THE INDIVIDUALIST AT KIDDER, PEABODY

SHOULD HE HANDLE YOUR INVESTMENTS?

YES, IF YOU CAN TAKE NO FOR AN ANSWER.

He's no "yes man," so he'll disagree with you when he believes he's right. If you're an individualist you'll agree this is the intelligent way to do business.

Our registered representatives have been carefully selected. And then carefully trained by Kidder, Peabody management. We give them no formula, because no two investors, no two situations, are alike. But each is encouraged to incorporate the back-up of our wide range of financial activity with his own experience and judgment, and to bring this wealth of investment skill and knowledge to bear on recommendations for individual accounts. Here's what we mean:

Kidder is a major underwriter. In the last five years we managed or participated in 1550 corporate financings totaling over 25 billion dollars. This involvement tells us a lot about a lot of top corporations—and their managements. Further, during this time we negotiated more private financings than any other firm, finding new capital for growth-minded companies.

Kidder also ranks among the top half-dozen investment firms in the specialized fields of municipal finance, tax-exempt bonds, preferred stocks, and block sales.

This same professionalism applies to mutual funds, international financing, Euro-dollar securities, mergers and acquisitions, investment advisory service—and, most importantly, to the research department that supports these operations.

What do our customers derive from all this activity? We believe some of the best investment thinking today.

If you agree that the scope of the Kidder organization can improve your opportunities for making more accurate judgments and more profitable investment decisions, talk to one of our individualists. Tell him yes, you can take no for an answer.

THE LIGHTER SIDE Bombs Go Splat!

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Heard this story from a friend whose daughter has a friend whose husband is a helicopter pilot in Vietnam. So I am certain it must be authentic.

Seems that after the siege was broken at Khe Sanh, helicopters began flying in fresh fruit, ice cream and other goodies to troops who had been living for weeks on field rations.

Most of the cargo was sling-loaded outside the choppers and on one flight the rigging broke, dumping hundreds of oranges over an area still held by the Viet Cong.

This happened at about the same time the North Vietnamese indicated a willingness to engage in peace talks. Therefore, I began to wonder if there might be a connection.

Pending clarification from captured documents, I have taken the liberty of reconstructing what may have been the chain of events:

Pvt. Doc Qui Diem, who has been manning a Viet Cong outpost, runs breathlessly into the headquarters camp and approaches his commanding officer.

"What's up, Doc?"

"Sir, outpost 609 is undergoing a heavy bombing attack!"

"That's funny. I haven't heard any explosions."

"No, sir. These bombs don't go 'boom!' when they hit. They go 'splat!'"

"I don't know, sir. They are small and round and orange colored."

"That sounds like an... no, it couldn't be that. It must be a new weapon of some sort. I'll send a demolition team to investigate."

A couple of hours later, Sgt. Qui Eang Diem, head of the demolition squad, reports back to the C.O.

"Frankly, Sir, I don't know what to make of it. We recovered one of the bombs intact. It had landed on Pvt. Doc's hat. When we dismantled it, we found these little seed like things inside."

"They look like... no, they couldn't be that. I had better send them to Hanoi to be analyzed."

One week later the chief of North Vietnamese intelligence seeks an urgent conference with Ho Chi Minh.

"Bad news, excellency. We have just obtained confirmation that the Americans have developed a citrus bomb."

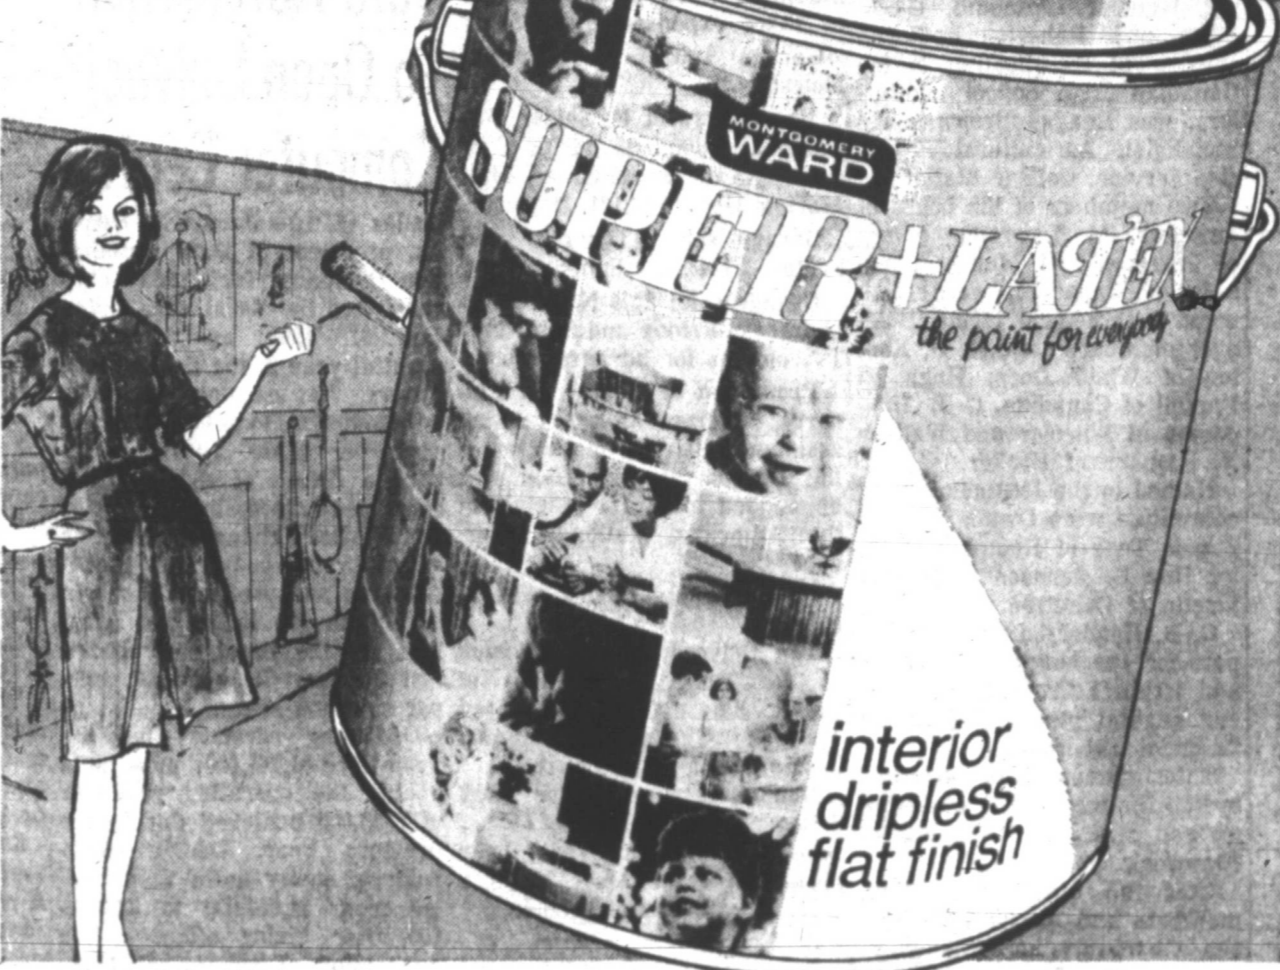

"A citrus bomb? What's that?"

"I don't know, sir, but we had better make peace while we can."

Director Howard Morris Has Strange Friendship With Writer Mel Brooks

UPI Hollywood Correspondent HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Howard Morris, the little comedian, writer, and director who once appeared with Sid Caesar in live television, is now directing Doris Day in a new movie. Exciting as that sounds, it's not as thrilling as his friendship with writer Mel Brooks, a long-time pal.

Brooks and Morris met when both were writers for Caesar's old "Show of Shows." Once they became buddies Howie began to regret the association — Morris, difficult as it may be to believe, has been robbed twice by his pal Brooks who has a far out sense of humor. "One night Mel and I were walking down a New York street when he threw me into an alley, peeled my coat back over my arms and tied me up. "This is a stick-up," he said. Then he took my wallet and watch."

Just A Quirk Howie, naturally, was dismayed but figured Mel just suffered from a little quirk. Nothing serious. "Later he returned the wallet and the watch but didn't say a word," Morris recounted. "In fact we never mentioned it again. "Then a couple of years later we were rowing on Central Park lake on a beautiful May afternoon. Mel threw the oars overboard and said, 'okay,

Howie, this is a stick-up. Leave your wallet and watch in the boat and get out.'"

Morris dutifully left his belongings in the boat, removed his shoes, socks, rolled up his trousers and waded ashore. "I get the stuff back again later, but we still don't talk about it," Howie explained. "Now I'm just waiting for it to happen again."

Morris had taken time off between scenes of "With Six You Get Egg Roll," Miss Day's new movie for CBS films. He feels fairly safe from another robbery because Brooks (married to actress Anne Bancroft) is living in New York.

Pals "Mel's still my closest friend," he said. "When I came out here to California he gave a car. And I've still got it." Morris made his debut on the Caesar show because he weighed only 105 pounds and wore a well-stitched suit jacket. "They sent out a call for a little guy who Caesar could lift off the ground by his lapels. I was perfect," Howie said. "They paid me $30 for that first show and $50 for the second one. "In fact I kept working for $50 a week writing, singing, dancing and doing sketches. "When I joined the writers, they were all helpful and friendly except for one strange character who spoke only in

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Alexander Hamilton Institute says the general feeling in Wall Street is that the market is "overbought" and due for a short-term drop. The market adviser suggests that long-term investors can confidently accumulate stocks on a selective basis, with particular attention paid to companies with good growth prospects and reasonably modest prize-earnings ratios.

Shearson, Hammill Co. says it's fairly obvious that much cash is on the sidelines for investment and this is what will keep any selloff from going too far. The analyst says it "would continue to look for spots" to pick up attractive stocks "without having to chase them."

Harris, Upham & Co. notes that while the market is in its presently "overbought" condi-

N. Viets Use Elephants To Transport Supplies

KONTUM, South Vietnam (UPI) — North Vietnamese troops are literally slipping elephants under the noses of American pilots attempting to cut the flow of Communist supplies into South Vietnam.

The pack bearing animals, loaded with hundreds of pounds of weapons and ammunition, are being led into South Vietnam from Cambodia through the heavy jungles of the off-flares the U.S. 4th Infantry central highlands each day.

the North Vietnamese. Capt. George Long, of East McKeesport, Pa., came down from his ambush position and met us on the trail. He explained that parts of the path already had been mined to blast the next group of elephants coming by.

Long then explained that the North Vietnamese had cut bamboo alongside the trail-wide enough for an American car to pass through—and matted the tops into a tunnel formation under which elephants could be led through.

Long said there were numerous trails of this type leading from Cambodia into the central highlands. When U.S. observation pilots spot them, troops usually move in and mine the paths.

By that time, it is often too late. The North Vietnamese become aware that American forces are in the area, and usually will steer the pack animals through a different course. Within minutes we were triggering booby traps setting Division had planted to surprise

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is contrary and sovereignty to oneself. No more, no less. It is consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Propping Up Communism

Despite mountains of evidence that freedom and private enterprise work and that socialism, the bureaucratically controlled economy, doesn't, the political rulers of the world, along with their administrative staffs, continue in their head-in-the-sand outlook on life. . . our own government being no exception.

Socialistic (communist) Yugoslavia and the U.S. government's babying of communism in that country is, perhaps, the most outstanding example.

Each time that idiotic economic controls have brought Yugoslavia to the brink of ruin, that country's rulers have relaxed the controls a bit and permitted the market place to function after a fashion. And each time our own government has gone running to Tito's assistance with funds plundered in taxes from the American producer. In all, the U.S. government has given the Yugoslav government more than TWO AND A HALF BILLION DOLLARS.

"The effect," said Barron's, the National Business and Financial Weekly, in an editorial entitled "Marxism's New Economics - Liberal 'Reform' in Yugoslavia Has Failed Repeatedly" has always "been to increase his (Tito) regime's external ability to aid and comfort our enemies, and its internal ability to stay in power without being forced, by the cumulative bogdown of a Marxist-directed economy, to move effectively toward a genuine free market. Such a market would erode the political controls which hold Yugoslavia in Communist serfdom, a result which Washington, presumably, desires but which its policy has managed to thwart."

And each time, the Barron's editorial went on to emphasize, saved by the infusion of American tax dollars, Tito has promptly reimposed rigid controls on the Yugoslav economy and the peoples' lives.

Makes one wonder, doesn't it? And wondering, we were reminded of an observation made by Hans Sennholz, economist and writer, who said: "It is no exaggeration, indeed, that the United States' foreign aid program is the strongest single force for the growth of socialism all over the world."

There is no doubt, either, that U.S. foreign aid has served to finance and encourage war all over the globe. In addition, foreign aid dollars sent abroad have been one of the primary drains on our dwindling gold reserves.

As it seems to us, if our government is really interested in opposing communism, really wants peace, really wants to strengthen the U.S. economy, as its spokesmen claim, then the time has come to discontinue foreign aid in its entirety.

Demand and Supply

The law of supply and demand is known to every American. School children learn it in the early grades in school. It states as an economic principle that if demand exceeds supply, prices rise, thus discouraging demand and enabling the supply to meet demand and vice versa.

But recently, a new law called demand and supply has come to be almost as inexorable as the old law of supply and demand. This new law of demand and supply is a tool of pressure groups and it seems to have a special appeal to public officials. The pressure groups demand, and the politicians supply. All established laws of economics are abandoned or circumvented to supply the demands.

Friendly nations demand foreign aid; politicians supply foreign aid.

Government employees demand pay increases; politicians supply pay increases.

Poverty pockets demand largesse; politicians supply largesse.

Social Security recipients demand increases; politicians supply the increases.

The list is endless. Demand and supply has been a paramount law of political life for 35 years now.

But the law of supply and demand is beginning to make itself felt again, because the supply of money to meet the demands is running out. The taxpayer who replenishes the public treasury is rapidly approaching dehydration. It's revealed, for example, that in the week ending on January 25, commercial and industrial business failures climbed to 216, a rise from 176 for the preceding week.

Manufacturing failures rose from 34 to 43; retailing from 74 to 85; construction failures from 28 to 42, and service business failures from 17 to 25. The tax burdens on business failures from 17 to 25. The tax burdens on business failures—do you substitute the word "employers" for the word business—are taking a heavy toll.

Somewhat we think that the law of supply and demand will outlive the law of demand and supply.

Anti-Pollution Demonstration

Chances are you have never heard of Old Soda Lake out in Wyoming. This is because it is a wildlife haven rather than a mecca for sportsmen. As a refuge for wildlife, it is said that it has "a few peers in the Rocky Mountains." The reason Old Soda is newsworthy is that it is a man-made lake—a lake that did not exist a decade or so ago. Beyond that, it was not created for the sole purpose of attracting wildlife.

Its use by wildlife is a by-product of its primary purpose as a depository for the effluent from a refinery of a major oil company. In 1955, this company decided to divert emissions previously discarded in the North Platte river to a holding pond of some 500 acres in the center of a huge basin in hills near the refinery.

Refinery scientists harnessed sunlight, air and natural chemical reactions to oxygenate and purify some 2 million gallons of refinery effluent a day. The result is Old Soda Lake. The project cost $1.5 million, and no one knew whether the experiment would prove to be an effective natural treatment facility or an odoriferous, lifeless pond. What they got was a wildlife refuge. The water is relatively clean, and the shores of the lake are edged with reeds, cottonwood and willow trees 30 feet high. A herd of 50 antelope live in the fenced off acreage drinking the

Of more than 250 species of sharks, only nine are known to attack man. The World Almanac says. The odds against being attacked are perhaps millions to one—yet it is estimated that sharks kill or maim from 40 to 300 persons a year. Sharks are prone to prey on the injured and weak. Swimmers, it is said, should avoid thrashing about un rhythmically.

HOW TO WIN
 Americans who love freedom have no choice but to resist those who would destroy freedom. When necessary, resistance must be made on the field of battle. But if freedom is to win, it is necessary also to resist the enemy on the home front.

To win, we must maintain faith in our personal enterprise system, and we must convince our young people that propaganda setting up the communist economic system as superior to ours is just that—propaganda—and nothing more.

To win, we must maintain faith in the ability of a free people to govern themselves in a community of law where mutual respect exists for the rights of others.

To win, we must display enthusiasm for American ideals and belief in the future of America. We must spend no time in hating anyone, even the enemy, since hate will win no battles for freedom.

To win, we must gain the knowledge necessary to oppose communist subversion effectively and work all the time to further the truth that the real "wave of the future" is man's right to freedom and personal integrity. We must understand and aid others in understanding that nothing in the world is more important than the fight to save freedom.

These are not impossible undertakings. They are not even really difficult. There is something everyone can do every day to advance the cause of freedom. No freedomist is alone. Americans opposed to communism have not become so rare as some would have us believe. It is they who will save Republic USA.

Now they're using compute at golf courses and they've come up with some interesting findings. The IBM portable computer used at 11 of the 37 official professional golfer's tour events was fed the performance of more than 200 plays in over 5,000 rounds. Golf Digest magazine has these statistics of 1967 from the electric brain and we'll bet you don't agree with some of them. They declared Julius Boros was the best overall shotmaker in the events surveyed. Arnold Palmer rated third and Jack Nicklaus, the leading money winner of the year, placed 15th. Palmer also rated fifth as the most accurate driver, trailing behind four lesser knowns. Nicklaus rated as the longest hitter, followed by Bobby Nichols and Palmer. Surprisingly, Palmer ranked 44th as a putter and Nicklaus was 66th in the category. Now that the computer has had its say in downgrading Palmer and Nicklaus maybe it can tell us why they consistently win the tournaments in which they participate.

Tight Gag On Discussion Of Offensive Military Action In Vietnam Imposed by Administration

ROBERT ALLEN PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has imposed tight restrictions on what the military can say publicly about his Vietnam peace overtures and the outbreak of U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

This censorship of the military was ordered in a classified directive prepared by Defense Secretary Clark Clifford and approved by the President.

Under its blackout provisions, officers in Vietnam and Washington are barred from discussing their personal views on talks between Washington and Hanoi with newspaper reporters or radio-TV correspondents.

American field commanders in Vietnam also have been instructed to play down in their public statements all U.S. military actions which appear to be offensive rather than defensive.

Significantly, the President's censorship edict comes at a time when State Department officials are being encouraged by the White House to accept speaking engagements around the U.S. to support the President's peace overtures in Vietnam.

U.S. military authorities here are expressing concern that the State Department is giving the American public the impression there will be a military de-escalation of the war, when the evidence indicates that the opposite will occur.

Citing the Communists' Tet offensive, these military officers warn that the North Vietnamese are building for another push against major South Vietnamese cities and U.S. bases by mid-May. Several believe the attack will come here before the end of the month.

THE CLAMP DOWN — Administration insiders say Clifford and Secretary Rusk recommended the censorship move after U.S. military officers in Saigon began playing up their latest offensive operation—called "Toan Thang" or "Complete Victory"—which was ordered by the Joint Chiefs of Staff to protect Saigon from another Communist blitz. More than 100,000 American and Vietnamese troops took part in coordinated military action in 11 provinces surrounding that capital.

But, after their first announcements, U.S. briefing officers were barred from using the term "Complete Victory" to discuss the operation.

U.S. military authorities are also upset over the Pentagon's ban on giving out news that a key American radar installation in northern Laos was wiped out by North Vietnamese troops.

The mountain radar station kept track of Soviet-built MIG-21s and jet bombers flying from Southern China into North Vietnam.

The strategic station was the prime target of the recent Communist offensive in Northern Laos. It was also the objective of a surprise raid by two North Vietnamese aircraft into Laos several weeks ago.

Since the capture of its key installation, at least two dozen MIG-21s and two medium-bombers, capable of carrying nuclear weapons, have been flown to fields near Hanoi, U.S. intelligence reports.

Under the President's latest military censorship edict, U.S. officers can say nothing about these ominous developments on grounds they might upset the prospects for negotiations.

THE DOG DAYS — The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have launched one of the strangest offensives of the war in South Vietnam.

During the past month, the Communists have been killing all the dogs in or near the provincial capitals and other strategic villages.

South Vietnamese intelligence officials say the all-out dog-slaughtering operation was apparently launched to silence the animals. The barking of dogs during the Tet blitz warned numerous communities of the enemy's surprise attacks.

The dogs were credited with keeping many of the understaffed South Vietnamese home guard units from being caught by complete surprise, and in several instances enabled the guard units to call for reinforcements from American and South Vietnamese regular troops.

"The role that the barking dogs played in saving South Vietnam is one of the great untold stories of this war," states a U.S. Army report which has just arrived here from Saigon.

By killing the dogs now, the Communists hope to destroy this deadly alarm system so their "second round" of attacks against the cities and

Pine Tree Features

By ROBERT LEFEVRE

I Protest
 "The greatness of America lies in our right to protest in favor of our rights."

These are stirring words, and I heard them roll forth from a gifted orator's throat. The occasion was Dr. Martin Luther King's last public speech in Memphis, before an assassin's bullet snuffed out his life.

King had spent the bitter part of his adult life in becoming a symbol of protest. He did not favor the violence of direct assault. He spoke in favor of freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom of assembly. I don't see how anyone could fault either these words or the sentiment behind them.

And since freedom of speech and of basic beliefs and of assembly are some of the rights contended for, I'd like to protest some of the rights I have lost as a result of all the protesting that has occurred.

I've lost the right to mind my own business. Today, not only the government intrudes into virtually everything I do and how I do it; unwanted guests may even intrude upon my property and insist that they have a right to invade the sanctity of my home and my property without my consent. What happened to my right to privacy?

I've lost my right to my own earnings. Instead of permitting me to make my own way in this world, for better or for worse, I have lost the right to large portions of my own earnings and large portions of my own property. What happened to my right to support myself in peace?

I've lost my right to bargain individually. Instead of permitting me to sit down with an employer and bargain for the best situation each of us can conceive, we are both bound by the rulings of a referee who sits, ghostlike, at each meeting. I may not do as I please and neither can my employer. What happened to my right to make up my own mind?

I have lost my right to exercise my best judgment. I am told that I may no longer select my own friends and associates. If I do, I am told that I am discriminating against those who want to be with me, but with whom I do not wish to mingle. Here, I have not only lost my right to discriminate, but that right has been transferred to others who may now discriminate against me if they please.

What happened to my right to anticipate peaceful and orderly behavior among my neighbors? Today as I move about, I move warily, realizing that snipers are hiding and hoodlums are ready to pounce. I pay enormous sums for "protection," but my "protector" merely guarantees his income by being able to victimize me ahead of unauthorized victimizers who lurk in alleys and in major U.S. bases will not be signaled in advance.

Note: In Hanoi for their carefully guided tours of bomb and missile damage recently American network TV commentators were served "dog meat" while being wined and dined by North Vietnamese officials.

VIETNAM FALLOUT — Local communists in Hong Kong are mapping their strategy for the summer against the colony's British Administration.

Last summer local Chinese Communists brought chaos to Hong Kong with riots and terrorism. But they were unable to get the popular support so their campaign fizzled in the face of British firmness. The critical time will now come when schools and colleges close for the hot summer next month and thousands of students become exploitable by agitators. Informants say Peking agents plan to pay up to $20 a day to rioters.

I have lost my right to be as productive and constructive as possible. Instead, my efforts to produce are overshadowed by regulation and intrusion and I am penalized for success. If, in spite of it all, I do manage to succeed, then I am penalized by being made to support those who will not or cannot succeed on their own. What happened to my right to succeed?

I protest the loss of these rights. And I protest the world of special privilege that is being made out of my rights. I do not approve of special privilege for businessmen who can obtain some kind of governmental assistance, payment, contract, or benefit. I protest the same type of governmental privilege when it is extended to racial or religious groups or to certain economic groups, whether they are high or low. I protest the concept of special privilege, governmentally derived.

I claim the right to freedom of speech and of the press, so that I can say that I protest all this protest! I protest the notion that the people of this nation can succeed by stopping production and looting each other, governmentally or no. I protest the loss of the moral law that says I have no right over any other man, woman, or child. I protest that I have no such right over anyone on earth but myself. I protest that no one has right over me and that such a presumed right cannot be rightfully obtained.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Although many new ideas occur to you, it is best you do not jump into any of them until you have studied their possibilities well. Then act with younger persons who are cheerful instead of the overly serious ones. Be happy.

TAUROS (Apr. 20 to May 20) There are many limiting conditions that need to be handled right away and exactly so that all improves quickly. Be sure to show good advisors that you will listen to what they have to say and follow through. Be wise.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Listen to what elders have to say so that you gain your most cherished aims. They will refer certain good pets who are always a joy to you and can be relied upon for favors. Do not be too extravagant.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take time to observe all rules and laws that come within your own sphere of activity. Handle civic duties intelligently. Please should await the completion of these, as well as home duties.

He has a "thing" about tipping which embarrasses me to tears. He absolutely refuses to tip. And I mean he will not leave one thin dime anywhere. He says, "I run a business, and I don't expect the public to pay my help, so why should I go somewhere and pay somebody else's?" This goes for bellboys, taxi drivers, waitresses, etc.

I once slipped a dollar bill under my plate as we were leaving a fine restaurant, and my husband saw me and made me take it back. I walked out of there red-faced, but there was nothing I could do about it.

My husband says it's not the money, it's the principle of the thing. If I were to tell you what his income was last year, you would faint. What's the answer?

EMBARRASSED: When people say, "it's not the money, it's the principle of the thing—it's usually the money. Someone should tell your husband that most people who serve the public depend on tips to make ends meet.

Ideally, no one should have to rely on tips to make a decent living, and I for one would like to see all tipping abolished. But we have to deal with the system as it is—not as we'd like it to be.

DEAR ABBY: My 15-year-old daughter and I have been going around and around over the length of her skirts.

She has been told many times that she has nice legs and she has, but I say it doesn't matter how "nice" her legs are, there is a difference between what is decent and what is not, and I say a skirt that shows the leg right up to the top of the thigh is indecent.

Of course she can't wear dresses like that to school because the authorities won't permit it, but she thinks what she wears outside of school should be up to her. I would like your opinion.

MRS. C.: What she wears outside of school should be "up to her," providing it isn't "up to here."

DEAR ABBY: As a happily married, faithful husband of 16 years who has been strongly attracted to other women from time to time, I have a suggestion for "BEWILDERED," who loves her husband, but is attracted to other men.

Stop battling your emotions. Enjoy your daydreams. Then when your husband comes home from work, hug him and kiss him as if he just got back from the moon. You married each other to have loving affection when you need it. You need it now.

If he questions your sudden passion, tell him you've been reading ABBY's column, and realize how lucky you are to have him. Do this every day for a year (he won't question it after a week) and let me know the results.

HAPPY PAPPY: Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

South Africa Out Of Olympics

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (UPI)—The International Olympic Committee (IOC) today was expected to make official what has been a certainty for the past three days—South Africa is out of the summer games in Mexico.

It is already known that a majority of the 71 IOC members approved an executive board recommendation to withdraw the invitation to South Africa to take part in the games.

Although IOC President Avery Brundage ordered complete secrecy to surround the vote, sources disclosed that more than the required number of members (36) has approved the board's recommendation.

It is understood about 50 telegrams have been received at IOC headquarters in Lausanne and that at least 32 of them favored withdrawing the South African invitation.

These 32, together with the nine members of the board who already voted against South Africa, add up to well over the required majority.

Brundage, however, was said to be determined to make nothing official until all the answers are in or at least as many as can be expected.

A statement was considered likely during the course of the day. Brundage himself may be leaving Lausanne either tonight or Thursday.

The 80-year-old president of the IOC denied reports he intends to resign now but said he would not decide on accepting a new term, if offered him, until October.

Brundage had been in favor of South African participation following South Africa's pledge to field a mixed team. He is said to fear the ousting of South Africa may result in stricter apartheid measures.

In Johannesburg, South African Olympic Games Association chief Frank Braun Tuesday night re-affirmed his country's determination to carry on as a member of the world Olympic

Bill Harris, Lonnie Johnson Elected Supporting Officers

Dr. Harbord Cox was elected president of the newly-formed Harvester Booster Club at its organizational meeting held last night at the PHS cafeteria.

Bill Harris was elected vice president and Lonnie Johnson was elected secretary-treasurer. A nominating committee recommended the state of officers, who were elected by acclamation.

Swede Lee, athletic director at PHS, spoke briefly at the meeting and urged a strong booster club as the starting point for a strong athletic program.

"One of the most important aims of a booster club is getting to know the parents," he added.

"Communications solve a lot of problems and I think this can be one of the most important functions of this kind of group."

Besides serving as a bridge with parents, Lee said he hoped to stimulate more interest in athletics with educational programs.

"We hope to make this club more educational so you can enjoy games more. If we call somebody's son a weak guard, for example, we don't want some mother to think we're discriminating against her boy."

Basketball Coach Terry Culley gave a brief report on the upcoming basketball banquet, saying "it was coming along very nicely." The banquet is slated for next Monday night in the PHS cafeteria. Tickets are now

Cards Play Is 'As Always'

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

Watching the St. Louis Cardinals play this season is like watching the rerun of an old movie.

The Cards Tuesday night put on one of those come-from-behind rallies in the ninth inning which were so characteristic of the world champion team last season.

Trailing the Cincinnati Reds 2-0 after eight innings, the Cards took advantage of a break in the ninth inning to score two runs and send the contest into extra innings.

Lou Brock, who's been one of the few Cardinals who seemed

Kentucky Derby Is 'Wide Open'

By STEVE SNIDER
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—The little old lady with a hatpin may be the gal to watch in Louisville on Derby Day.

Or, if you're catching it on television, it might be well to heed those sweet young things who stab at exciting names and come up with winners to the disgust of studious handicappers with their pace-rating slide rules.

This year's Derby, to be contested on May 4 by a group of three-year-olds considered by the experts to be below average, is wide open.

Hatpin stickers have as good a chance as any. And gals who go for the names have a wide choice.

From Aristides in 1875 to Proud Clarion just a year ago, Kentucky Derby winners generally have carried bold, courageous, fighting and colorful names. This year apparently will be no exception.

There are casualties almost daily in the list of possible starters for the rugged mile and a quarter on Derby Day but now's as good a time as any to start sorting out the favorites in the name game.

Second and third alternate choices are advised, race horses being as prone as they are to injury and illness, but how about:

Alley Fighter, by Rough'n Tumble—Crafty Donna. Whether you're overly-aggressive or a Casper Milquetoast, there's a name to consider. He was good enough to win the Santa Anita Derby at a mile and an eighth.

Dancer's Image, by Native Dancer—Noor's Image. He'll be hellbent to avenge his old man's defeat in 1953. Won the Governor's Cup at Bowie at 1-16, the Wood Memorial at Aqueduct at 1-1-8 with late runs that indicate he may stretch out nicely to 1-1-4 at Churchill Downs.

Bill Monbouquette pitched eight innings of shutout relief as the Yanks topped Oakland.

to have lost the touch of a year ago, then slammed a two-run homer in the 10th inning to beat the Reds 4-2 and keep the Cards in first place.

"In a way, this does remind me of the same way we were playing last year," Brock smiled after the game, "we are getting timely hitting."

First Grand Slam

Jim Davenport hit the first grand slam homer in the majors this season as San Francisco snapped Philadelphia's five-game winning streak. Davenport's slam came in the sixth off Chris Short. Juan Marichal, working out of numerous jams, gave up 10 hits but still boosted his record to 3-0.

The Cubs exploded for six runs in the fourth inning and buried the Atlanta Braves. Randy Hundley's two-run double off reliever Ron Reed climaxed the rally that started off starter Phil Niekro. Joe Niekro worked eight innings and got his first victory over his brother.

Ken McMullen hit a three-run homer in the first inning as Washington beat California. Phil Ortega went the first 5-2-3 innings and got the victory while George Brunet suffered the loss.

Bill Monbouquette pitched eight innings of shutout relief as the Yanks topped Oakland.

Land-Coastal Trade. Blue chip man. The horse will go only if he's fully recovered from current disability.

Dof B., by Fleet Nasrullah—Early Frames. Owned by Don B. Wood and a natural if you're a Don B. Jones, Smith or what have you?

David Cole, sophomore from Austin, received the Canyon Rotary Club's Fighting Heart Award for his basketball play.

Hill and junior Mike Mitchell were chosen as co-captains for next season's basketball team.

Pampans Fall To Caprock

The Pampa Harvesters couldn't stop the hot bats of Caprock's Longhorns yesterday and fell to the host team, 13-5.

Ted Liles was the batting star for the 'Horns, driving in three runs and batting .750 for the day.

Starting pitcher Cliff Gage of Pampa gave up three runs in the first inning and the Caprock team was never headed. Three Pampa pitchers went to work against Caprock but gave up two more runs in the second, three in the fourth, one in the fifth and four in the sixth.

The Longhorns starting pitcher Van Franks picked up his second win of the season as he went the distance for the host team.

Dick Henley and Larry Kotara labored on the mound for Pampa in relief.

Billy Tucker of Caprock homered for the 'Horns while Larry Morris got two triples and Liles one.

Fort Cobb Fish

Sue Cathey, 1009 S. Dwight, an employee at Ogden & Son, is shown here with some of the better bass caught by a party of Pampa fishermen over the past weekend at Fort Cobb Lake in Oklahoma. Ben and LeRoy Ogden, Bill Lee, Fred Smart and Ray Dudley had a good weekend at the lake in spite of rain, wind and stormy conditions. The bass in this photo average five pounds. The party also caught several smaller bass, 60 "eater" crappie and a few channel cat.

New Point System Planned In S'West

DALLAS (UPI)—The Southwest Conference announced Tuesday it will use a new point scoring system in its conference track meet next week in Fort Worth.

The old system had been in effect since 1951.

Card of Thanks

J. T. WALKUP
Each day I pray "God give me all I need, but I don't wish to do, to find someone who will do, to see the world and see the way to look at a world in the face to cheer for those who pass me in my life."
I measure my burden daily, to find a heart to those who need my help.
I measure what I can by what I give.
I give me strength that I may "gladly die."
Our deepest thanks to all the people who helped to have such a wonderful funeral for my husband J. T. Walkup, the funeral in the Church, to all the people for the beautiful service, the good food and the flowers that were sent.
