CHOPPER GUEST — Jim O'Conner, right, manager of Coronado Inn, welcomes a helicopter-pilot guest forced down today on the hotel lawn by the weather. He is Carl Flippin of Beaumont who was flying the helicopter from the Panhandle Whittenburg Ranch to Beaumont and decided to set down, when visibility became poor and the copter's rotary blades started to ice over in this morning's snowfall.

Snow, Cold Weather Usher In Spring; Hazardous Driving Conditions Seen

Spring rode into the Panhandle today on a winter bandwagon accompanied by snow that melted almost as quickly as it fell and a thermometer reading in the 30s.

Traveler's warnings were issued at noon for the Panhandle with more snow and colder weather on the way tonight.

According to the calendar, Spring arrived at 7:22 a.m. on the Pampa scene. At that hour it was snowing and the temperature was 31 degrees — one degree below the freezing point.

Snow was reported at late forenoon in an area as far south as Lubbock and north of Dalhart.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Fort Worth issued a livestock warning for west portions of the Panhandle and South Plains and predicted cold rain and wet snow throughout most of the Panhandle area through this afternoon and into tonight.

A weather bureau spokesman said the sudden drop in temperatures from relatively warm weather, coupled with cold rain and wet snowfall, could cause livestock to become ill or take colds.

Outstanding effect of the unusual spring weather locally came shortly before 10 o'clock this forenoon when Carl Flippin of Beaumont decided to land his helicopter on the lawn just south of Coronado Inn and wait for the snowfall to subside before continuing to Beaumont. Flippin was on his way from the Whittenburg Ranch, northwest of Pampa, but decided to set down when the chopper's rotary blades began to ice over.

The noonday weather forecast from the Amarillo Bureau called for traveler's warnings. It was expected the snow, general over the Panhandle, would begin to stick by late today and tonight and cause hazardous driving conditions. The forecast said the snow would continue and it would turn colder tonight with a low in the mid-20s.

Rain fell over much of the state early today although it had appeared for a while that a second cold front that entered the state behind the first one Tuesday would clear the skies.

Fighting Continues In Rhodesia

SALISBURY (UPI)—Premier Ian Smith's regime today battled vengeance seeking black guerrillas in the bush and fought an extreme rightwing faction in the ruling party that wants Rhodesia to adopt apartheid policies.

Len Idensohn, the most senior of six divisional chairmen of Smith's Rhodesian Front party, said Tuesday he would set up a party to oppose Smith and end the "clandestine racial integration" taking place under Smith's government.

House Rules Committee Delays Vote On Senate's Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Dealt a stunning setback by the rules committee, House Democratic leaders today faced a key decision on whether to abandon their attempt to push through the Senate's open housing bill unchanged.

"We are considering several courses," said Democratic Leader Carl Albert, Okla., Tuesday in the wake of the rules committee vote delaying any action on the measure until April 9, two days before the start of Congress' 10-day Easter recess.

The rules action killed the plan of the leadership to have the bill returned to the House floor next week for a quick "up or down" vote, and it hurt the chances of House passage of the measure in the form in which it came from the Senate.

While the committee action shocked Democratic leaders who were confident they had the votes on the panel, it clearly improved chances for an alternative plan pushed by Republican leader Gerald R. Ford, Mich., to have the bill sent to a House-Senate conference committee for modifications.

Ford and other key GOP leaders were to present their plan for modifying the bill to a party caucus today.

As passed by the Senate, the bill would forbid discrimination in the sale or rental of two-thirds of the nation's housing by 1970. It also contains anti-riot provisions, new safeguards against racial intimidation, and a statement of rights for

Pampa Realtors Oppose Open Housing Bill

The Pampa Board of Realtors went on record at its semi-monthly meeting in Coronado Inn yesterday as opposed to the so-called open housing bill just passed by the U. S. Senate and now pending in the House of Representatives.

H. W. Waters, president of the Pampa board, stated today the local realtors authorized a letter to Congressman Bob Price setting forth the local board's stand and urging him to fight the measure in the House.

Waters said realtors over the entire country are registering their opposition to the bill.

"Its dangers and disfavor with the people needs to be emphasized," Waters said. "We are calling on all of our citizens to join in a nationwide campaign to gain defeat for the measure in the House."

In discussing the housing bill and the board's official opposition to it, Waters issued this statement: "Basically, the bill denies the

De Gaulle Defies US, Asks Return To Gold Standard

Monetary System Said 'Inapplicable'

By GEORGE SIBERA
PARIS (UPI) — President Charles deGaulle said today the world monetary system based on the U.S. dollar and pound sterling as reserve currencies is no longer workable. He demanded a full return to the gold standard in defiance of U.S. policies.

The 77-year-old French leader told his cabinet meeting: "the crisis of the dollar and pound sterling which is presently developing shows that the present system, based on the privilege of the reserve currencies is not only unfair, but also henceforth inapplicable."

He told Washington and London that continuation of the system based on the dollar and pound would precipitate a world crisis.

"To pretend to impose it longer would mean condemning the world to serious economic and social trials," he said.

Financial quarters believed De Gaulle's blunt attack on the dollar and pound could unleash a new round of speculative pressures on the two currencies.

As De Gaulle met with his cabinet, Britain's harsh new austerity budget which increases taxes nearly 10 per cent was having an effect on the market. The pound sterling rose to $2.4072 on the London market at midday. It had dipped to $2.39 last week.

The price of gold on the Paris gold market dropped from Tuesday's $1,235 for a 2.2 pound (one kilogram) gold ingot to $1,200. On the Zurich market gold slid again to $36.50 an ounce, only $1.50 above the official price of $35. Prices last week were nearly $45 an ounce.

De Gaulle long has opposed the present monetary system and instead favors dependence on gold reserves.

In the face of this, France has bought up huge quantities of gold bullion.

Today De Gaulle demanded a full return to the gold standard in blunt defiance of U. S. policies.

De Gaulle's statement on the gold crisis was relayed to newsmen by Information Minister Georges Gorse.

De Gaulle pulled France out of the international gold pool that cooperates to keep gold at $35 an ounce. French government sources said he was miffed because France was not invited to last weekend's gold crisis talks in Washington and that to show his displeasure he kept the French bullion market open when other world markets closed pending outcome of those talks.

Gold buying reached panic proportions when he did.

De Gaulle pronounced the 24-year-old world monetary system defunct as gold prices on the Paris free bullion market fell heavily again and the dollar and pound struggled back to recover some of the strength lost in last week's international speculative attack.

Red Tank Position Hit Near Khe Sanh Base

by JACK WALSH
SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Air Force B52 Stratofortresses today bombed a North Vietnamese tank position within striking distance of the surrounded Marine fort of Khe Sanh on South Vietnam's northern frontier.

The eight-engined Strategic Air Command bombers hit the armor base built up by the Communists at the site of the U.S. Army special forces camp at Lang Vei, overrun by tanks Feb. 7.

More of the biggest American bombers staged three other raids late Tuesday and today against the 16,000 North Vietnamese that U.S. intelligence said have ringed Khe Sanh, western anchor of the allied anti-invasion line on the northern border.

In other action, the toll of Communist dead in the 10-day-old allied antiguerrilla drive around Saigon—the war's largest campaign, the 50-battalion Operation—Resolved To Win—has risen to 903. Another 204 Communists have been captured. Government spokesmen said South Vietnamese Rangers Tuesday night killed 21 of the Viet Cong just five miles north of Saigon.

The Rangers also captured a

Panty Raid Ends Up In Big Melee

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—What started out as a panty raid at the University of Pittsburgh Tuesday night ended in a two-hour melee between police and hundreds of students who pelted the officers with mud, water balloons and trash.

Police used water hoses and 59 units to quell the disorder. Twenty-nine students were arrested, one a co-ed, on charges of disorderly conduct. There were no injuries.

Police Supt. James Slusser said he ordered all available patrol cars, patrolmen and police wagons to the university campus after about 700 students gathered at five women's dormitories, spilling into streets.

Traffic on three streets was blocked by police until midnight, about two hours after the disturbance broke out. Police used water hoses briefly to force the students off the streets and onto the campus.

Special police vans were used to take the arrested students to jail. The students each posted a $2 forfeiture bond and were released pending a hearing today at a magistrate's court.

Pitt Chancellor Wesley Posvar went to the police station when he was notified of the disorder and arrests. He told the students the university would pay the bonds.

Posvar then returned to the campus and addressed students in a lobby of a women's dorm. The crowd dispersed shortly afterward.

Rioting Chases US Tourists To Crowded Hotels

SAINT JOHNS, Antigua (UPI) — American tourists sought safety in crowded hotels today and Antigua's small defense force mobilized to prevent a third day of bloody labor rioting across this Caribbean resort island.

A spokesman for the 200-man defense force said special measures were taken to protect the tourists and he said none had been hurt so far in the violence, which began Monday and intensified Tuesday.

Antigua serves as a secluded, offbeat resort for celebrities the world over but most of the island's 60,000 annual visitors are Americans or Canadians. Jacqueline Kennedy vacationed there with her children last year.

It is located in the West Indies 1,700 miles southeast of New York.

Prime Minister Vere Bird mobilized the defense force and declared a state of emergency Tuesday because of shooting, burning and property damage that had spread out of control over the capital city of Saint John's. Four persons were wounded in shooting incidents during the day, official spokesmen said.

Bird ordered a nighttime curfew in the capital that left streets deserted Tuesday but several fires were reported in various parts of the city.

The island was given independence from Britain in February, 1967, and since then has been troubled by hostility between Bird and several island labor organizations. The dispute began when Bird, president of what was then the island's major union, fired two key officials and accused a third of forcing the shutdown of government owned sugar refineries.

The dispute split the union and set off a series of strikes and demonstrations of increasing violence.

Reds Fear Strategy Is Revealed

LONDON (UPI)—Reliable reports today said the Russians fear that Communist military grand strategy has been revealed to the United States by a Czech general who defected to Washington.

The reports said the Soviet Union no longer considers the long term strategy and overall defense plans of its Warsaw Pact defense alliance to be "safe."

Further, the worried Soviets have asked for and received assurances that rumbling Czechoslovakia and restless Poland—key members of the pact, the Communist counterpart to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—will remain loyal to the Red military alliance.

As a result of the Soviet worries, a major defense and policy review of the Warsaw Pact and its implication for Communist strategy in Europe were said to have been necessitated by the events, including the defection last month of Maj. Gen. Jan Sejna, a ranking Czech and Warsaw Pact defense official.

The full story involving the future of Warsaw pact policy has not yet unfolded.

Fire Causes Heavy Damage

A fire at 1313 E. Frederick at 3 p.m. yesterday resulted in damages described by Pampa firemen as "heavy."

The fire was caused by a faulty hot water heater according to the official report.

There was heavy damage to the bath room and smoke damage to the rest of the house which is owned by Bill Hulse and rented by Jim Corbeith.

Alabama Sheriff Arrests Police Chief, Trooper

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (UPI)—Alabama's first Negro sheriff since Reconstruction arrested a white police chief and a state trooper Tuesday on charges of threatening and beating a Negro man.

Sheriff Lucius Amerson said Police Chief Bobby Singleton of nearby Natasulga was arrested by his Chief Deputy, Eddie Ivory, a Negro, and Trooper James H. Bass surrendered voluntarily at the Macon County Jail in the company of several fellow officers.

Both Singleton and Bass immediately posted $300 bonds and were not jailed. Their cases are scheduled for April 1.

Amerson, who became sheriff of this county with an 80 per cent Negro population in January, 1967, said the two white officers were arrested on a complaint signed by Oscar Lee Devance, about 22, in connection with an incident at Natasulga Saturday night.

Two Charges

Singleton was charged with drawing and threatening to use a dangerous weapon and Bass was charged with assault and battery, Amerson said.

Bass shot and killed a Negro last Dec. 9 near Auburn when he said the man attacked him with a knife and tried to escape after being arrested for driving while intoxicated. Bass was treated at a hospital for slash wounds.

Amerson said Devance filed the complaint against the two white men late Monday, saying he had been arrested and beaten Saturday night.

Devance told Amerson he was in his car outside a nightclub near Natasulga when Singleton approached him and charged him with disorderly conduct.

Devance said the police chief took him to jail, and that Bass, who was at the jail, began calling him names while he was being booked.

"He said they called him nigger and a lot of other words," Amerson said. "Then the trooper knocked him down and kicked him several times in the stomach and chest."

Amerson said Devance told him he was then driven to the Natasulga Police Pistol Range where Singleton held a gun beside his head while Bass beat him.

"He said they shot all around him. He said the chief told him to dance and fired at his feet," Amerson said.

Midland Group Experiments With Plastic For Airplanes

MIDLAND, Tex. (UPI) — A group of men experimenting with plastic airplanes in Midland may be on their way to revolutionizing the airplane industry.

K. M. Smith, president of Windecker Research, Inc., said recently the price of the craft, dubbed the Windecker Eagle I, has not been definitely determined.

"We can say with conviction," he said, "that the Eagle I will sell at a price considerably under the current prices of airplanes of comparable size, weight and power."

The plane is built entirely of reinforced epoxies developed during research by Dr. Leo J. Windecker, under contract with Dow Chemical Co.

Different Objective
"We didn't set out to build a plastic airplane," Windecker said. "At the outset, our objective was to find or develop the materials and technology by which we could apply mass production techniques to airframe fabricating."

"We found that reinforced composite plastics of highly adhesive epoxy resins met all the requirements far better than the multitude of other materials and processes we tried."

Windecker said the firm can mold a part of the plastic, named Fibaloy, and bring the part from the mold with a finished surface, including color and decals.

Another Advantage
He said another advantage of the material is that aerodynamically ideal compound curves, not possible or extremely expensive in metal forming, were easily achieved.

Smith said Federal Aviation Administration certification of the craft was anticipated in late 1968.

He said the material of which the plane is constructed is similar to a human bone and combines a tough exterior surface with a cellular interior.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Almost overnight, it seems, the political atmosphere in this country has become fraught with melodrama.

Fraughting the atmosphere with melodrama is, of course, a favorite pastime of politicians, but this year they are outdoing themselves.

Unforeseen circumstances have suddenly become visible. Strange tales are told of men on the mountaintops, lighting signal fires and dancing in the moonlight. Messages are thrown over fences.

And the people cannot yet be certain whether the sounds they hear are voices crying in the wilderness or merely the wind whistling through the credibility gap.

In such a situation, I automatically turn to that old master of the melodrama, William Shakespeare. With his help, perhaps we can reconstruct what happened when Sen. Kennedy met Sen. McCarthy after the New Hampshire primary.

Kennedy: "Eid me discourse, I will enchant thine ear. We'll pluck a crow together."

McCarthy: "I do not perceive here a divided duty."

the affairs of men, which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune. Delays have dangerous ends. We must take the current when it serves, or lose our ventures."

McCarthy: "You may as well say that's a valiant flea that dare eat his breakfast on the lip of a lion."

Kennedy: "Out of my lean and low ability I'll lend you something."

McCarthy: "A plague on such backing! In the gross and scope of my opinion, this bodes some strange eruption to our state."

Kennedy: "We cannot all be masters."

McCarthy: "Do you think I am easier to be played on than a pipe Honor pricks me on. I am tied to the stake, and I must stand the course. Let the world slide. I will not budge an inch."

Kennedy: "Mend your speech a little, lest you may mar your fortunes. We know what we are, but know not what we may be. The hardest knife ill-used doth lose his edge."

McCarthy: "Though I am not splenetic and rash, yet I have in me something dangerous. I'll rant as well as thou."

Kennedy: "You pay a great deal too dear for what's given freely."

McCarthy: "But in the way of bargain, mark ye me, I'll cavil on the ninth part of a hair."

NEW YORK (UPI)—Spear and Staff Inc. thinks that, in view of the possible near-term market prospects, the most prudent policy now for investors is a wait-and-see attitude. The firm advises investors to hold strong stocks which "can fluctuate widely in response to crisis developments, but if they represent good value they should quickly rebound as the market adjusts to new conditions."

E.F. Hutton & Co. feels that a budget cut and a tax increase would serve to take some of the burden off the Federal Reserve Board which now may not have to resort to any further monetary moves. Against this background, according to the investment firm, the market "seems to be in a good technical position."

Two Wrecks Reported

Two accidents occurred this morning in Pampa while all the snow was flying.

A two-car collision between cars driven by Ben Fallon, 49, of Box 319, Pampa and Edward Meekeley, 37, of 4607 Hayden, Amarillo, resulted in damages estimated at $808 for both vehicles but no injuries were reported.

There was $690 damage to the car owned and driven by Fallon. Damages were estimated at $206 for the other vehicle.

Passengers in the car, driven by Meekeley were also from Amarillo, James O. Swafford and Bobby McCafferty.

Fallon was traveling south at the intersection and had a green light. Meekeley was going east on Brown St. near the Cuyler intersection. When Meekeley tried to stop for the red light he slid into the intersection and was hit in the left rear fender with the front of Fallon's car according to a police report made out by Pampa Policeman Fred Brown. Meekeley was given a ticket for "failure to control speed to avoid an accident."

In another accident around 7:50 a.m. today Dennis Jack Queen, 25, of 310 E. Francis, hit a parked car in the 600 block of W. Francis, police reports show. Queen hit the car when backing out and was given a ticket for unsafe backing. Damages to the parked car, owned by Wilma Lou Mason of Box 1621, Pampa, was estimated at $100 and $35 to the car driven by Queens.

QUINCY C. ROGERS ... returns

Rogers Back At Celanese; Regan Is Being Transferred

Quincy C. Rogers has been named Supervisor of Safety and Plant Protection of the Celanese Chemical Company plant in Pampa, succeeding Robert B. Regan, who has been transferred to Corpus Christi as Personnel Administration Supervisor of the Celanese Chemical Technical Center located there.

Rogers returns to Pampa after an absence of six years during which time he was in the Bay City and Clear Lake plants. Rogers transfers to this position from the Clear Lake Plant, near Houston, where he was the Supervisor of Safety and Plant Protection.

Born in Oklahoma, Rogers has been with Celanese since April, 1967. Mr. and Mrs. Rogers and their two children will be moving to Pampa in early April.

Regan, who has been Supervisor of Plant Protection and Safety at the Pampa Plant since January 1, 1964, was active in many community organizations. He was District Chairman of the Boy Scouts of America and a member of the Board of Directors of the American Red Cross. He was also president of the Panhandle Chapter of the American Society of Safety Engineers and an Area Governor of Toastmasters International.

Regan was born in Kingsville, Texas and holds Bachelor and Master of Science degrees from Texas A & I University. Prior to his Safety Supervisor's position, Regan had attained 13 years of experience with Celanese in both personnel administration and safety.

Rain fell over much of the state Tuesday with the heaviest amounts showing 1.22 inches at Fort Worth, 0.66 at Dallas, 0.69 inch at Mineral Wells and 0.22 at Waco.

A drop in temperatures was predicted for most of the state tonight and the cold front was expected to move on toward the Gulf Coast.

More Snow Likely

The Weather Bureau said the air over the High Plains was cold enough to cause snow.

Lubbock reported both rain and snow early today and the temperature there before dawn hovered around the 34 degree mark.

Other early morning temperatures through that area were 30 degrees at Childress and 38 degrees at Dalhart.

Rain blanketed much of the Southern Panhandle and South Plains early today, covering an area running roughly from just south of Amarillo east to Shamrock and then through Wichita Falls, Dallas and back through Lubbock.

Showers Reported

Thundershowers were also reported in the southern sections of the state in the vicinity of the front with moisture falling in areas around Abilene, and Pampa. He participated in speech three years and took parts in plays and musicals. He also was in the A Capella Choir for three years, was sports editor for the Little Harvester and received an award for the best editorial in Texas school publications, entitled, "Cream of the Crop Award."

He plans to enter college at either North Texas or Texas Tech and study law.

Speaker Hits COG Plan In Address Here

Members of the Gray County Republican Club and guests heard Dr. John G. Whinery of Amarillo discuss "Council of Governments" at the club's meeting last night in the Hospitality Room of the Citizens Bank.

The speaker explained the Council of Government as a newly-created concept of government which would have a president member on a local school board, county commission, city commission and many other local agencies. The speaker suggested it was "fine to receive government dollars, but government dollars shackled by government rulers is the worst kind of political evil."

"In the end you have nothing less than federal men running local government," Dr. Whinery stated.

He said a good example of COG control would be a city needing and wanting a new water plant. The board of the Council of Governments would review the proposal and, if they so desired, could put it aside and give another project priority.

"The COG method of government, Whinery stated, would be contrary to the principles that built the nation."

Ray Rodgers Is Speaker For McLean Group

Members of the McLean High School chapter of Future Business Leaders of America heard Ray Rodgers, personnel manager for Cabot Corp., Machinery Division speak on "Prospects in the Business World" Tuesday evening in McLean High School.

Rodgers pointed out the unprecedented opportunities available in industry today for business graduates. He said the population is expected to increase 30 per cent or from 192 million to 250 million within the next 10 years. However, the demand for college graduates is expected to increase many times faster than the population.

"In Engineering fields," he stated, "a senior student has an average of seven jobs offers before he ever receives his diploma."

The McLean Future Business Leaders chapter is made up of sophomore, junior and senior students interested in entering business.

Donna Glass is chapter president.

Frank Mueller, with the United States Chamber of Commerce in Washington, D. C., gave the keynote address in which he stressed the importance of better communications between the chambers of commerce and the communities they serve.

E. O. Wedgeworth, executive vice-president of the Pampa Chamber, was in charge of a group meeting for chamber executives.

Attending from Pampa were Harold Barrett, Dick Evans, Norman Henry, Gordon Lyons, George Newberry, Bill Power, Roy Sparkman, and Wedgeworth. Lyons and Power are WTCC directors.

Scouting Scoops

By Mrs. G. J. Boyd
A completely revised edition of Smoke Signals is being compiled. This is a much needed resource booklet issued to Girl Scout leaders. It contains information, consultants, places of interest to visit, etc. to help leaders create a more varied Scouting program.

Mrs. J. R. Holloway, chairman of the Smoke Signals committee, has scheduled another meeting this week to organize more material recently obtained by the committee. Committee members, having been busy selecting consultants and securing permissions for troop visitations, are interested in additional consultants. If you or an acquaintance, have a talent or interest and willing to share it with a Girl Scout troop, contact a member of this committee. Committee members are: Mmes. Jack Miller, Dick Bray, Frank Kelley, Bill Roots, Walter Colwell, Eugene Turner, Jim Chase, Smoke Signal consultant Mrs. Dick Stowers and chairman Mrs. J. R. Holloway.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Five months ago I hired a 25-year-old Scandinavian girl to live in and help with the cooking and cleaning. She proved to be a wonderful girl with a sweet disposition and potentially an excellent domestic. We grew to feel towards her as we would a daughter.

Last Sunday my husband and I went out to make a social call and we returned home earlier than we had anticipated. I went to this girl's room. Well, I found this girl and my 17-year-old son in a state of complete disarray and in the midst of a heated embrace.

My son said immediately, "Don't worry, Mom, we're in love and plan to get married soon as I'm out of high school."

This is the most absurd idea we've ever heard of. We don't want to fire her because it might turn our son against us. He seems serious about this girl. We want to make the right decision. Can you help us?

PERPLEXED

DEAR PERPLEXED: Apparently your son is under the impression that all a boy needs to get married is a girl who will say yes. You and his father ought to tell him about the birds and the bees, and the lure of an "older" woman. And a couple of hundred other things concerning the difference between a solid marriage as opposed to a groovy Sunday afternoon.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a husband who retires each night very early, except when a very attractive friend of mine is visiting me for the evening?

He will stay up, and try to be in her company, showing off and being very clever, witty, and charming all the while.

Yet after this guest leaves, he will tell me that he thinks she is conceited, selfish, and not at all pretty—which certainly is not true according to everyone else's evaluation of her. Then he says he cannot stand her, and wonders how I can. Even my children noticed this.

PERPLEXED

DEAR PERPLEXED: Actions speak louder than words.

Beauty of Trees Is Program For Rose Society

The Pampa Rose Society met recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mills Carlson, 2221 Charles.

Mrs. Dan Glaxner, vice-president, conducted the business meeting due to the absence of the president, Mrs. Bill Campbell.

A program was given by Mrs. Lee Harrah on "Beauty of Trees as Expressed by the Bible." Mrs. Harrah said "beauty of trees is expressed by more than just looks; it also represents service to man. The relation of man to plant life has been close. Man gets food, clothing, and shelter from plants.

"Trees have played a great part in man's life. Under the shade of trees, justice was meted out and also religious services were held. There were 2,300 plants during Bible times, and most are still grown today," she said.

"In the Bible the Cedar tree is mentioned more than any other tree. It is mentioned 70 times. The Cedar tree was not a native of Palestine; it was grown in Lebanon and sent to Palestine.

"Some fruit trees mentioned in the Bible are: The Carob tree, the dried pods of which were fed cattle; Sycamore tree, the fruit is inferior but eaten by the poor; the fig tree bore two crops a year; the olive tree, valuable for food and oils and long life and the date palm, good for food and leaves used for covers of the house.

"Trees of the forest were important for building houses, temples and palaces. Even forest fires are mentioned in the Bible," she said.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Spring is here to stay, and it's a very good day to think of exactly how you would like your life to be in the future, the practical benefits that you desire, the persons who are able to help you to attain them and the many material things you can do to make your life operate on a more skillful and comfortable basis.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Persons in high places are more than willing to do some favor for you now, so be sure you contact them. Find the right items that will make your work easier, more efficient. Attend some party in P.M.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Experts are willing now to give you advice on how to advance more quickly where it counts the most. Make new business contacts so that you can mutually get ahead faster. Save yourself from one who is trying to put it all over you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are reasoning in a very practical way and have good hunches also how to delight all allies. Romantic delights you have lost out on can occur very soon. Make yourself as charming as you can and be happy.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Consult with associates and see what should be done to have greater mutual profit, success, improve your reputation, and all in all, whatever your family expect of you are a friendly, sensible person.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Being practical at the work favors you, it is wise since you get far better results. Higher-ups and co-workers will then appreciate you far more. Avoid getting all worked over some trifling error. Be poised.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Plan to eat sensibly during your spare time, whether for lunch or other. You need some success from work, lessons. Avoid these persons who make you feel upset in one way or another.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) You are able to analyze just exactly what you want out of life in a.m. and then contact allies to get their backing. Take it easy in P.M. Do whatever your family expect of you most and make them happy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23) Ideal day to contact anyone whom help you to start able upswing in all of your affairs. Talk over your most ambitious with regular associates, too. Then you get just the right results you have wanted for some time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23) Most people are thinking about money and this is fine as long as you get into the swing of things also, since you need to build up your own reserve. Improve appearance of your property. Make the future brighter.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 to Jan. 20) Forget about others and think of your own interests and affairs today. Know what should be done in the future. Making new contacts who could offer you new opportunities in the days ahead is fine.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Pick up that plan you put aside some time ago and then confer with some expert in a confidential manner so that you can make it really workable. Some quiet conference can bring big results. Be eager.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Close ties are in a mood to assist you to gain your fondest aims especially where the personal is concerned. Clarify your wishes. Do not be so close-mouthed or you find they cannot read your mind.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he, or she, will possess a definite pioneering quality from being born in the spring time of the year and be full of understanding how to build a firm and solid foundation beneath his, or her, feet. Give the kind of education that will highlight both sides of this most unusual nature. Give sports religious training.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Communist trenches have reached the outer wire entanglements protecting the besieged U.S. Marine fortress at Khe Sanh, and Dien Bien Phu comes back as a common word in the language after a 14-year absence.

The Marines say Khe Sanh never will be another Dien Bien Phu, the ill-fated French fortress whose fall on May 7, 1954, broke the will of the French in Indo-China.

North Vietnamese propagandists say it will become a "real grave yard" for American troops.

Both sides agree that the battle for Khe Sanh could be the turning point of the war.

Whatever may be the intentions of Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, the winner over the French at Dien Bien Phu and chief North Vietnamese strategist in this war, there are comparisons that are noteworthy.

These are not confined to geographic similarities but when studied in connection with overall North Vietnamese intent and overall strategy of the war as the North Vietnamese are fighting it.

It may be assumed that one intent is to inflict a humiliating defeat on the Americans with its resultant effect on home-front morale and to render at least two and possibly five of South Vietnam's northernmost provinces indefensible.

This would depend upon one

Communist victory at Khe Sanh and another in the Central Highlands in the vicinity of Dak To to open the way to the South China sea coast, possibly as far south as Qui Nhon.

This was believed to be the Communist strategy in late 1964 and early 1965 when they began attacking in regimental strength before the United States entered the war in force.

Had the strategy been successful, they then could have approached the conference table from a position of strength.

In 1954, as Giap closed his trap on the French at Dien Bien Phu, he simultaneously was expanding his hold on the kingdom of Laos.

It could be that Giap is looking for a long, long war, or that he is planning to throw in the works in a massive two-pronged drive from both north and west.

In any case, it looks like the same old Giap.

Marines Keep Quiet About Their Wounds At Khe Sanh

By NAT GIBSON
KHE SANH, Vietnam (UPI)—U.S. Marines at the heavily bombarded Khe Sanh fortress often keep quiet about minor wounds, avoiding medical attention and the Purple Heart that goes with it.

Most of the non-reported wounds are minor shrapnel injuries known as "dings." Some are more serious. One Marine, for instance, used his own penknife to carve a hunk of steel from his leg.

It was the Marine's third wound since arriving in South Vietnam and he wanted to stay with his buddies at the surrounded outpost. This feeling coupled with a desire not to worry families back home seem to be the main motivating factors behind the Marines' reluctance to report wounds.

Under Marine regulations, a man's family is informed each time he is hurt. After three battle injuries, he is automatically rotated back to the states.

Khe Sanh's commander, Col. David Lownds, 47, of Plantation, Fla., said he has heard reports of his men resorting to self-practice was not widespread. Men in the line tell a different story.

"I have heard a lot of guys doing it," said S. Sgt. Bryson Allen, 26, of Wichita, Kan. "If they have a major wound, they go to the medics, but not for treatment, but believes the any of these petty things." Allen should know. Since the siege began on Jan. 21, he has been hit by shrapnel three times but reported none of his injuries to the medics.

"They were nothing but scratches and I do not want a Purple Heart," he said. "They can give me any medal they want, but I can do without a purple heart!"

The sergeant said the criteria for Purple Hearts should be raised. Presenting them to men with minor wounds diminished their significance, he said.

Another Marine, who declined to be identified because his parents think he is stationed in Da Nang, said he did not report his wound because he wanted to stay in Khe Sanh and feared the medics would want to evacuate him.

"I have a lot of good friends here," he said. "I want to see it through to the end with them."

Rod Steiger To Play Part Of 'Illustrated Man'

By VERNON SCOTT
 UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Rod Steiger, an odds-on favorite to win the best acting award this year, is about to slip his moorings for a new movie which requires full days just for him to be made up.

In "The Illustrated Man"—which co-stars his wife, Claire Bloom—Steiger portrays a man tattooed from neck to toes.

Much as he loves his art, the actor naturally eschewed the opportunity to be tattooed all over his body—even at no charge.

Instead the makeup folk at Warner Bros. 7 Arts have made silk screen stencils, outlining the tattoo marks. Thereafter they hand paint the designs on Steiger. A ticklish business to be sure. Also tedious.

For those scenes in which he is seen clothed Steiger takes a tranquilizer and spends three days being painted before he goes on camera.

Mercifully, these scenes are rare.

In most of the picture he is seen fully clothed except for his gloveless hands. Still, it requires three hours of makeup just to "tattoo" his hands every day.

"It's a real project," Steiger sighed. "When they do the full job I try to convince myself I'm a saint. I can't read or watch television because there are two men working on each arm, two on each side of my body and men working on my chest and back.

"The painting lasts only two days with a touch up. After that my skin absorbs the paint and on the third day it wears off.

"I turn the radio on to soothing FM music while the men do their painting. It has to match up perfectly every time because the tattoos play an important part of the story." The picture is something of a fantasy, covering the years from 1918 to 4,000 A.D. and the end of the world.

"The story is about fate and how it cannot be avoided," he explained. "It also demonstrates that man should not know his own future."

The screenplay is a compilation of four Ray Bradbury short stories. The Steiger character is a catalyst that knits them to-

More Papers For 10 Cents

NEW YORK—More daily newspapers than ever before are selling for 10 cents per copy, according to a survey by the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. here.

The survey includes single copy street sale prices of English and foreign language dailies in the United States, Canada, Bahamas, Bermudas, Puerto Rico, U. S. Virgin Islands and West Indies.

The survey shows that at the end of 1967, 1,392 daily newspapers were selling at 10 cents per copy, an increase of 180 over the number one year ago.

The number of 3-cent dailies dropped from four to three; 5-cents from 334 to 237; 6-cents from 27 to 19; 7-cents from 227 to 152 and the number of 8-cent dailies from 37 to 28.

Reports from 1,258 dailies indicated that 538 had increased their prices to readers during 1967, compared with 457 in 1966.

The survey also showed increases in the prices of Sunday newspapers.

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Back
stairs at the White House:
Changes in operational methods at the White House often are so gradual and subtle that procedures of substance can go into effect without attracting much attention.
An example of subtle but important change may be found in the war the White House carefully blacks out public knowledge of many important persons who confer daily with President Johnson.
This has been a gradual development. During the Truman administration, most persons official and otherwise, who conferred with the Chief Executive passed through the West Executive Lobby leading to the President's office.

News Seldom Big
While these visitors seldom produced big news, they were interviewed by reporters as they left the White House and the public was given a relatively detailed idea of how the President spent his day and the issues under discussion.
When Dwight D. Eisenhower became president, his chief assistant, Sherma, ... and an idea. He wanted to move the press out of the White House entirely across West Executive Avenue to the old Executive Office Building to which they would be confined except on ceremonial occasions.

Adams saw no reason why presidential callers should be identified or questioned by the press unless the White House wanted it. Before the plan could be put into effect, details
"leaked" and the journalistic outcry was such that the Adams muzzle was abandoned before it could be tested.
JFK Protective
The late President John F.
Kennedy was more protective of his conferees than either daily visitors passing through the office lobby became fewer and fewer, although Kennedy, himself, emerged before the country in progressively larger proportions because of his televized news conference.

Today, virtually no officials calling on Johnson are seen or questioned by the press except under controlled circumstances.
The White House is frequently cooperative by presenting officials to discuss administration programs, but much of the President's daily schedule never is announced. Reporters, for example, almost never know about or have access to members of the House and Senate or key political figures who see Johnson daily.
The White House does not regard this as interfering with freedom of information, pointing out that Johnson, himself, probably appears before reporters more than any President in history. This does apply to his making statements largely for the benefit of television cameras and radio recorders.

Also, it applies to the frequency with which Johnson talks personally with smaller groups of reporters or individuals from the world of journalism. Such meetings, however, usually are not reportable.
Johnson press conferences are not conducted on anything resembling a regular schedule.
He much prefers talking with smaller groups, even when his remarks are for direct quotation, than the larger, preannounced televised and broadcast sessions.

Comes From Hill
When the President, as he does frequently, calls ranking House and Senate members to the White House, seldom is there any White House announcement or acknowledgment.
The news usually comes from Capitol Hill.
Johnson also confers frequently with business and labor leaders with no word of it to the public. When such conferees do appear on the President's daily calendar of appointments, the participants arrive and depart via the White House south grounds—which means reporters have no opportunity to see or question them.
Legally, of course, a President is entirely within his

Pampa Wins

The Pampa High School baseball team won one and lost one to Liberal, Kansas High yesterday there winning the second one by 8-1 with Fran McGahn on the mound and losing the first one by 4-3.

COMING AROUND the first turn at Roosevelt Raceway in New York City, Idle Ralder (right) with driver Darrell Heath, pulled ahead of Instinct Yates and went on to win.

The Harvesters go into District 3-AAAA play this Friday and Saturday with Lubbock High at McKenzie Park in Lubbock Friday at 4 p.m. and Monterey at Lowry Field at 1 p.m. Saturday in Lubbock.

Coach Bobby Stephens plans to start Dick Henley against Lubbock High and Alan Woodard against Monterey Saturday. Monterey is favored to win the league crown in a pre-season poll of the district coaches.

Yesterday McGahn went all the way for Pampa in the victory and had his job described by Coach Stephens as "beautiful." He fanned nine and walked none. Liberal managed only four hits, all singles, in 27 trips to the plate in seven innings as Pampa won by 8-1.

Pampa got six hits in the triumph, one of those a round tripper by McGahn who blasted it out of the park at the 360-foot sign in left center. McGahn hits left and throws right. Two were on base when the Pampa hurler hit it.

Gary Parrish and Hal Claubough hit doubles for the Harvesters. Three bases were swiped by the Pampans, two by Steve Summers and one by Claubough.

Pampa scored six runs in the fourth inning. The other two were counted in the fifth.

Mike Macon was the losing pitcher for Liberal. He scored their only run in the sixth inning. Of Pampa's six runs in the fourth, five were earned.

(Second Game)
Pampa 000 620 0-8
Liberal 000 001 0-1
(McGahn and Summers for Pampa; Macon and Rogers for Liberal—Home Runs: McGahn, Doubles: Parrish and Claubough for Pampa).

Tim Ratzlaff got the first laugh by edging out the Pampa team by 4-3 in the initial game of the afternoon. He tossed a three-hitter at the Harvesters, but it was a balk by young thrower Dan Carlton of Pampa that enabled the Liberal team to nip the home towners by one in the last inning.

Carlton hit his leg when he was following through and the umpire called it a balk sending the runner on third base to home with the decisive margin of one run.

First baseman John Jenkins hit a double for the Harvesters, and Alvin Achord went one for three with Summers going one for four. Those were the only hits for Pampa. Liberal had no extra base knocks and only the four singles.

(First Game)
Pampa 000 012 0-3
Liberal 101 002 0-4
(Carlton and Summers for Pampa; Ratzlaff and Rogers for Liberal—Doubles: Jenkins for Pampa).

McNeil's, Cree Win in Bowling

McNeil's Produce and Cree Oil won bowling titles in Amarillo and will compete in Lubbock for regional crowns March 24.

Members of the winning teams were Danna and Debbie Jagger, Tommie Hastings, Beverly Hackley and Mary Thornton of Cree Oil. For McNeil's Produce Ralph Barnett, Lee Waters, Bryan Walls, Bobby Chury and Randy Beck were members.

Waters won top honors with games of 210-210-235-655. The sponsors for the junior and senior high bowling program are Hilland Pharmacy, Zebbie's Bar B Que, Debra's Service Station, Cree Oil, Panhandle Packing, Bruce and Sons, James Material in Lefors and Mitchell Grocery.

Money Problem Before League

By ED SAINSBURY
UPI Sports Writer
CHICAGO (UPI)—Player proposals for minimum salaries of $15,000 a year and an annual contribution of $5 million to a pension fund were in the hands of National Football League owners today.

The proposals came in a 25-page two-hour presentation by the player representatives of the 16 NFL clubs to a four-man management committee Tuesday.

NFL President Art Modell, also President of the Cleveland Browns and head of the NFL committee, promptly declared that "economically some (of the proposals) are impossible."

However, both Modell and Dan Shulman, counsel for the players, declared that negotiations were expected. Shulman said "the items we asked are not negotiable."

UCLA's Allen Not No. 2

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer
Lucius Allen, who's accustomed to playing in a losing game about once every five years, probably explained the situation in the best manner.

"I've never been No. 2 in anything pertaining to basketball in my life and I don't want to get used to it," Allen said. But Allen and his UCLA teammates became No. 2 on Jan. 20, 1968 when Houston toppled the Bruins 71-69 at the Astrodome.

Allen's last losing game before that came when he was a junior in high school in Kansas City in 1963. Lew Alcindor's last losing game was when he was a senior in a New York high school in 1965—and his team had won 71 straight before that.

Houston Loss
Allen, Alcindor and the other three starters—Mike Warren, Lynn Shackelford and Mike Lynn, all veterans of NCAA title teams—are used to winning. But now they face their toughest challenge when they attempt to reverse that loss to Houston and become No. 1 again. UCLA meets Houston in the Los Angeles Sports Arena Friday night in the NCAA semifinals. The winner will meet the Ohio State-North Carolina for the national championship on Saturday night.

The Houston-UCLA rematch will be televised nationally by Sports Network Inc., but many of the nation's fans will have to stay up late to watch it since the opening tip is set for midnight EST.

Step Out In Style this EASTER Mark of a MAN

Playmate 'Grooves' With Bo

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

Playmate Jo Collins may have thought Bo Belinsky was the best looking pitcher in the Houston Astros' camp this spring but the eyes of Manager Grady Hatton are on Wade Blasingame.

Blasingame doesn't have the charm which enabled Belinsky to attract the statuesque "Sun Goddess of Cocoa Beach" but he does have a streak of 14 consecutive scoreless innings in three exhibition appearances. And, boy, that's enough to catch the eyes of Hatton, whose No. 1 job this spring is to rebuild a pitching staff from the shambles of 1967.

Blasingame also is the reason Hatton yawned and wondered how Belinsky will enjoy the summer weather in Oklahoma City when the playboy pitcher lit out of camp after the pinup girl last Sunday.

Blasingame, who has had a sore arm since he posted a 16-10 record for the Milwaukee Braves in 1965, was one of 26 pitchers in the Astro camp at the start of spring training.

NAMATH SURGERY
NEW YORK (UPI)—Surgery will be performed on New York Jets quarterback Joe Namath today for a torn tendon in his left kneecap. Namath underwent two operations previously on his right knee.

Netters Win Over Borger

Tennis was everywhere in Pampa yesterday with matches being played between PHS and Borger High with the Pampa youngsters winning 6-5 and receiving praise from PHS Coach Bill Brown.

In the outstanding match of the day, according to Brown, Janette McAdams of Pampa lost in a split set match to Marsha Howell by 6-0, 5-7 and 6-2. Brown said, "She did very well and I was pleased with the outcome of the match in that we used mostly 'B' division material in our sophomores and won six of 11 matches."

Brown applauded the showing of a sophomore who played Borger's number 1 player Kelly Clements and lost by only 6-3 and 6-4. "I was pleased with Mark. He will compete with the boys in the 'B' division because he has a good chance of winning that in the District 3-AAAA tournament in April."

Results for PHS vs. Borger
Winners: Bill Mayo of PHS beat Shaw Grady by 3-6, 6-2, 6-0. Doubles match: Matt Braly, Joe Daniel of PHS beat Louis Wright and Thomas Sherlen of Borger 6-4, 6-3. Robbie Valeris of PHS beat Jack Janow by 6-3, 7-5; Ray Kenney of PHS beat Joe Anderson by 6-1, 6-1. In another doubles match Steve Bossay and David Murphy of Pampa beat Jack Jayno and Sandy Bucy 6-1, 6-0.

Joe Millcan and Sam Virden of Pampa beat Louis Wright and Sherlen of Borger by 6-2, 6-0.

Losers: doubles for PHS: Mayo and Mark Shakleford lost to Kelly Clements and Grady by 6-1, 6-1.

Brenda Duncan and Carolyn McKinley of PHS lost to Diane McGraw and Kathy Niles, 6-0, 6-1.

Debbie Veal of PHS lost to Lynn Powell by 6-1, 6-1. Jamie Lou Schaffer and Ellen McDaniel of PHS lost to Donna Ranould and Marsha Howell by 6-3, 6-3, according to coach Brown.

"We had to use Hobart Street Park courts, the city park, and three courts which were in very poor condition at PHS but overall the match was successful," Brown said.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities. We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Will Farm Subsidies End?

Washington bureaucrats are thinking of adapting the "spy-in-the-sky" space satellite to enforce their rules on American farmers. According to Rep. Paul Findley, this is but one more step in a series of facts by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) to enforce "a mass of rules and regulations that fill a 12-foot shelf." Writing in the March Reader's Digest, the Illinois Republican contends there has never been a better time for government to scrap the Depression-born subsidy-and-control program, which has cost $51 billion. He has introduced legislation toward that goal, claiming technology means an ever-lessening need for farm labor, and that crop surpluses are down to record lows in some places. Yet, he says, USDA bureaucrats are pushing to expand the program and tighten the screws on farmers who come under its rules. "In a typical Illinois county," he writes, "patrols of a dozen or more tramp the fields with 'measuring worm' chains every summer, surveying to be sure that farmers are not overplanting their allotted acreage. In addition, airplanes fly over farms from coast to coast to see that government rules are obeyed. In fiscal 1966 alone, aerial photographs were snapped at 251,535 square miles of farmland at a cost (to the taxpayers) of $60,951.28." Despite the battle to bolster the sagging program, it has "manifestly failed when tested against its advertised objectives," says Rep. Findley. "Since 1950 the farm population has been cut in half, and farm units are disappearing at a rate of 100,000 a year," he writes. "Reliable estimates indicate that today's farm population of 11 million will decline again by almost half in the next 12 years." While failing the small farmer, the subsidy program has helped make others rich, Findley charges. In Lake County, Ill., retired executive Dennis

Rising State, Local Taxes

Mesmerized as the public generally is by Washington, date-lines when it comes to news of government finances, the Internal Revenue Service nevertheless is only part of the national tax story. During fiscal 1966, the 50 states and thousands of local government units rang up a thumping $56.7 billion in revenues from all sources, a jump of $5.5 billion over the previous year. Worked out on a per capita basis by the Commerce Clearing House, a private organization that keeps close tabs on government finances the state and local tax burden came to an average $290 for every man, woman and child in the country, up $25 from the previous year. With New York leading the list — $7,485 in revenues and a $410 average—the 15 states in the top per capita categories showed a wide geographical spread from Massachusetts in the East to Hawaii in the far West. At the other end of the scale were 11 border and southern states. South Carolina was at the bottom. Much of the spread, of course, is a reflection of difference in economic and social profiles of the state — natural and indus-

Straight Talk

By TOM ANDERSON Last night I dreamed that several thousand chief officeholders, Party faithful, financial angels and people called "dignitaries" attended a fabulous fund-raising dinner for the Democrat Party honoring Thomas Jefferson, who is claimed as founder of that political organization. The master of ceremonies was banging his gavel for quiet before introducing the final speaker when strangely the lights in the great hall grew very dim, and after a few long and sobering seconds came on bright again, revealing a dignified man of commanding presence walking slowly toward the speakers' table. The Chairman and the guests at the head table looked on in surprise as the stranger proceeded to the microphone. The crowd sat hushed, expectant, as the courtly white-haired gentleman began to speak: "The first object of my heart is my own country. . . . If once (the people) become inattentive to the public affairs, you I, and Congress, and assemblies, judges and governors, shall all become wolves."

"Wolves! He's talking about Republicans!" chuckled an exuberant guest to his wife. "The God who gave us life gave us liberty at the same time; the hand of force may destroy, but cannot disjoin them." The audience was silent. "The great principles of right and wrong are legible to every reader. . . . The whole art of government consists in the art of being honest. Only aim to do your duty, and mankind will give you credit where you fail." "Who let that crackpot in here?" muttered a public servant. "Had the doctrines of Jesus been preached always as he had talked at length with Rep. Bob Price about it. The Civil Rights Act of 1964 was law, and the HEW setup was organized, many months before Bob Price was elected. Why not talk to Senator Yarborough about it? He voted for it. Senator Tower voted against it. Rep. Walter Rogers did not vote one way or the other. Senator Yarborough is the logical representative to contact concerning just what he had in mind by his vote. itself. . . . I am for preserving to the states the powers not yielded by them to the Union, and to the Legislature of the Union its constitutional share in the division of powers and I am not for transferring all the powers of government and all those of that government to the Executive Branch. I am for a government rigorously frugal and simple, applying revenue to the discharge of the national debt. "He's Ronald Reagan in a wig!" a drunk exclaimed. Everybody laughed but the old gentleman. "I am not for a multiplication of officers and salaries merely to make partisans (nor) for increasing by every device, the public debt on the principle of its being a public blessing. The old fool doesn't realize that debt has no meaning," explained a young Keynesian to his fluttering date. "We owe it to ourselves. Eventually, we can cancel all debt, create a world money system, and start over. All the same real estate will remain intact, but it will have different owners. All the people will own it!" The girl giggled and referred to the somber gentleman at the microphone as "Pops." "Our country is too large to have all its affairs directed by a single government," continued the speaker. "I do verily believe that if the principle were to prevail of a common law being in force in the United States (which principle possesses the general government at once of all the powers of the state government and reduces us to a single consolidated government) it would become the most corrupt government on earth. . . . The shock that had gripped the room now gave way to pandemonium as the audience screamed: "Kook! Reactionary Traitor! Bircher! Throw him out!" Some even began to throw napkins and bang the table and clank their silver against their goblets. The speaker stopped, and for a long moment looked pityingly at the stunned and angry faces. Those close by heard him murmur, "Oh, God, forgive them!" as two policemen rushed to the stage and took the old man gin-

Editor: According to the write-up in the 3-17-66 Pampa Daily News the school board was asked if it had sought help from Pampa's congressional representatives in Washington concerning the desegregation plan whereby Carver School must be closed. One board member said he had talked at length with Rep. Bob Price about it. The Civil Rights Act of 1964 was law, and the HEW setup was organized, many months before Bob Price was elected. Backstage Washington

ROBERT ALLEN Kennedy, King Form Alliance For 'Peace, Prosperity' — And Politics — on Negro, Poverty, Student, Anti-War Coalition

WASHINGTON — Senator Robert Kennedy is counting on Dr. Martin Luther King's forthcoming invasion of Washington to give his presidential ambitions a big lift. With his full approval, Kennedy's closest political lieutenants are passing the word to give the anti-war leader's "poor army" campaign in Washington all the support King requests. In addition to deciding to endorse publicly the "announced objectives" of King's drive, Kennedy has instructed aides to help King raise money and organize a broad coalition of Negroes, poor whites, students, and anti-war groups. Under his carefully planned strategy, Kennedy plans to use this coalition to bolster his political strength at the Chicago convention, hopefully to help him seize control of the Democratic Party and become its presidential nominee. Should this bold campaign strategy fail, the brother of the late President Kennedy is considering the fourth party route. As worked out backstage between their advisers, the Kennedy-King political alliance will be built around the twin issues of "Peace and Prosperity." In his coming confrontation with Congress and the Johnson Administration, King will try to spotlight these goals by pressing demands for swift approval of three proposals: (1) A guaranteed annual income of $3,000 a year for all families; (2) a national emergency public works and reconstruction program, (3) an end to the Vietnam war, to pay for these programs. PLAYING WITH FIRE — While King stages his "demonstrations" and wages his campaign of "disruption" for these proposals, Senator Kennedy will be spotlighting the same issues in his across-the-country campaign for a national political base. Aides of both Kennedy and King say they are counting on growing opposition to President Johnson, the Vietnam war, and the worsening U.S. financial crises to create conditions favorable for the formation of their broad-based political coalition. The proposed Kennedy-King timetable calls for organization of this new "united political front" by summer so Kennedy can use the movement to support his presidential nomination bid at the Democratic Convention. Already, one of Kennedy's political confidants, William J. Vandenberg, New York, is at work helping King raise money for his massive demonstrations, which begin here on April 22. They are scheduled to last until the two national political conventions convene in August. King will then take his protesters to Miami and Chicago. Vandenberg, who served under Kennedy in the Justice Department, played a major role earlier this year in keeping King from supporting the candidacy of Senator Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn. In exchange for withholding his political commitment, King was given a pledge by Kennedy that he would support the organization of the new political coalition regardless of whether he sought the presidency in 1968. OTHER SUPPORT — Significantly, both Kennedy and King have been given assurances of support in the development of a broad-based political movement from Walter Reuther, powerful president of the United Auto Workers. For several years, Reuther has advocated such an alliance in order to force a drastic realignment of political power within both parties and Congress. Like Kennedy and King, Reuther sees the coalition as the catalyst for effecting sweeping social changes in the country and forcing an end to the Vietnam war. WATCHING KING — Dr. Martin Luther King paid an interesting and unpublicized tribute recently to the late Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, the noted Communist Negro educator. Speaking at a New York dinner honoring the DuBois Centennial year, King declared: "We can't talk of Dr. DuBois without recognizing that he was a radical all of his life. Some people would like to ignore the fact that he was a Communist in later years. I never do. It is time to cease muting the fact that Dr. DuBois was a genius and chose to be a Communist. Our irrational obsessive anti-Communism has led us into too many quagmires." POLITICAL FLASHES — Former Presidential Assistant Richard Goodwin is serving as Senator Kennedy's main political link with Senator Eugene McCarthy. A ghost writer for both Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, Goodwin is now writing political speeches for McCarthy. He also advises Senator Kennedy. Mary Brooks, assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee, predicts that suburbia will be the battleground in this year's presidential election. "The Democrats have their newly created Division of Suburbia Services. The AFL-CIO," she pointed out in an interview, "has a suburban program too, because so many of their members are moving out of the inner city. We have our Hi-Neighbor program. Both parties plan to spend double the amount of money in the suburbs as in 1964."

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank Jay Markey Most folks think of the University of California at Berkeley as being the "riot capital of the campuses," but there must be some students there who would rather study than protest. The Berkeley campus leads all other U.S. universities in the number of Ph. D.'s awarded each commencement. In the past six years 3,228 doctoral degrees were conferred. The University of Illinois was a close second with 3,224. Today's smile: A fellow tried to get out of jury duty. He said to the judge: "Your Honor, I don't like the shifty eyes of that man and I believe he is guilty." The judge replied: "Sit down in the jury box. That man you referred to is one of the lawyers." Country Editor speaking: "Just before spring should be the happiest time of the year with no snow to shovel and no grass to cut."

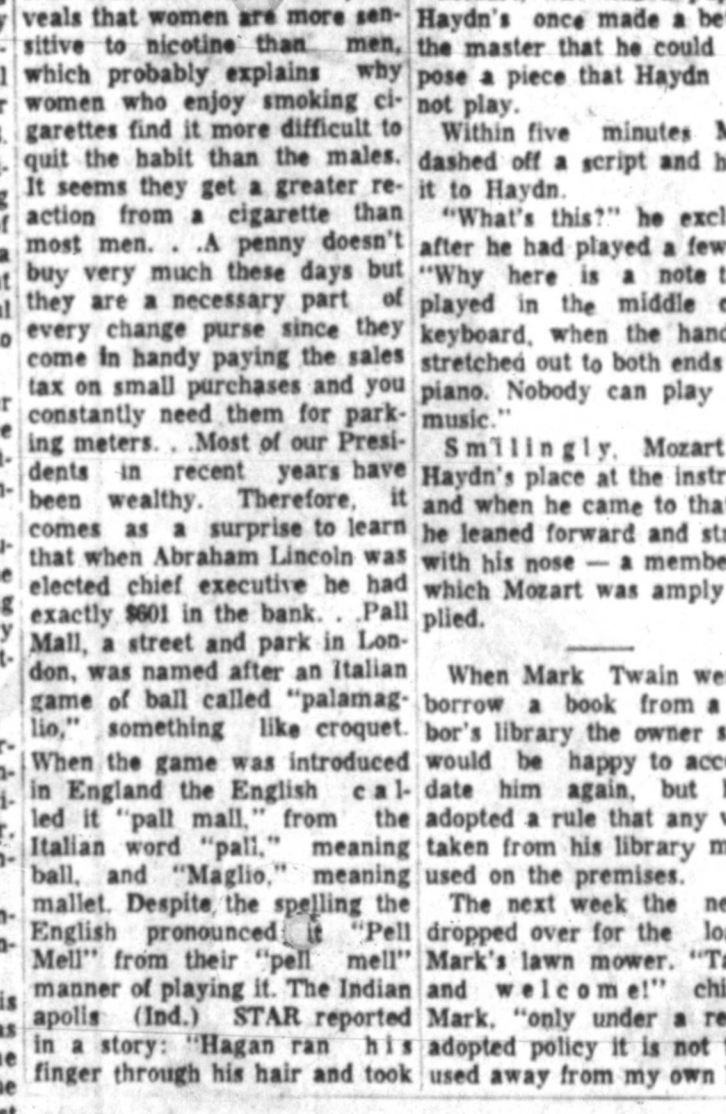

I have to laff at them union strikers out in Los Angeles. They have been on strike for 12 weeks. Now that they have been locked out they are trying to find a way to get back in. Old Rupert is frustrated as a caterpillar in a French Horn. George Hearst, Jr., who runs the Herald-Examiner has been publishing every day with some tricky typographers and rah-rah reporters and has missed only 2 days since the strike commenced. Happy Hearst don't have to worry any more about time-wasting jurisdiction dispute cause there just ain't anymore jurisdictions. The printers help the mailers and the pressmen help the mailers and they all work together like a team without benefit of the "Teamsters" or the "Guilders."

If Hearst is happy the union bosses ain't. They beat up some people, burned some trucks and smashed windows but the paper kept rolling. One printer was murdered and Hearst offered $10,000 reward for the hoodlum's capture. "I wish I could see the end in sight," says Robert Rupert, representative of the "Guild." But about the only way Rupert can see the "end in sight" is if he rips his rompers. He says that the management won't talk to him. He says when he goes into negotiations with them it turns into a monologue with him doing the talking and them just settin there staring. I bet its funny, don't you?

Thoughts while shaving: James Smithson, founder of the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, never visited the United States. He was an Englishman who left his fortune of $550,000 to the U.S. "to found an establishment for the increase and diffusion of knowledge among men." . . . Encyclopedias are indispensable in libraries, schools and colleges these days. The first one was compiled by Pliny the Elder in ancient Rome about 69 A.D. and it remained an authoritative work throughout the Middle Ages. . . . The average man in the U. S. is generally known as John Smith or Joe Doakes. If he's a taxpayer he's John Q. Public and in the legal field he's John Doe. His French counterpart is Paul Dupont and in Soviet Russia he's called Ivan Ivanovitch. . . . A survey reveals that women are more sensitive to nicotine than men, which probably explains why women who enjoy smoking cigarettes find it more difficult to quit the habit than the males. It seems they get a greater reaction from a cigarette than most men. . . . A penny doesn't buy very much these days but they are a necessary part of every change purse since they come in handy paying the sales tax on small purchases and you constantly need them for parking meters. . . . Most of our Presidents in recent years have been wealthy. Therefore, it comes as a surprise to learn that when Abraham Lincoln was elected chief executive he had exactly $601 in the bank. . . . Pall Mall, a street and park in London, was named after an Italian game of ball called "palamaglio," something like croquet. When the game was introduced in England the English called it "pall mall," from the Italian word "pall," meaning ball, and "Maglio," meaning mallet. Despite the spelling the English pronounced it "Pell Mell" from their "pell mell" manner of playing it. The Indian apollo (Ind.) STAR reported Mark, "only under a recently in a story: "Hagan ran his finger through his hair and took used away from my own lawn!"

BERRY'S WORLD

Out Of Balance

Tension and indignation were now mounting as the old man went on: "Our judges are as honest as other men and not more so. . . . It is characteristic of a good judge to expand his jurisdiction — and their power (is) the more dangerous as they are in office for life and not responsible, as the other functionaries are, to the elective control. . . . Do not talk to me about the integrity of public officials. I say chain the politicians to the limitations of the Constitution"

Oil Allowable In Decrease

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Texas Railroad Commission cut the state's April oil allowable Tuesday by 160,508 barrels.

The commission set a production factor of 46.7 per cent of potential, compared with 49.6 per cent for March. The new allowable represents estimated production of 3.59 million barrels a day.

That compared with average March production of 3.75 million barrels daily.

Commission chairman Jim Langdon said there were three reasons for cutting the allowable—a drop in nominations of 76,331 barrels daily, an estimate by the Bureau of Mines of a 50,000-barrel drop in demand, and the good condition of Texas crude oil stocks.

Officials of companies represented at the hearing said in a “state of the industry” outlook would be somewhat below the 1967 rate, because of the level of crude exports in 1967.

The lowest prediction of growth, 2.8 per cent, came from Shell Oil Co. The most optimistic came from Skelly and Standard of Indiana.

Richard C. McCurdy, president of Shell, said he thought the Texas production increase would be caused by continued growth in the U. S. economy, particularly in government and consumer spending and business investment.

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Wednesday, March 20, the 80th day of 1968 with 286 to follow. This is the first day of spring.

The moon is between its full stage and last quarter.

The morning star is Venus.

The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1852, Harriet Beecher Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was printed in book form and eventually appeared in more than 20 languages.

In 1942, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Commander of Allied Forces in the Pacific, issues his famous "I shall return" statement.

In 1951, Argentine dictator Juan Peron seized control of the opposition newspaper "La Prensa".

In 1963, a volcano on the island of Bali began erupting and the death toll eventually went over the 1,000 mark.

A thought for the day: Biologist Thomas Huxley said "Irrationally held truths may be more harmful than reasoned errors."
