Vietnam Regime Reported Riddled With Corruption

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Corruption has infected the Vietnamese government from top to bottom and is unnecessarily prolonging the war, a high-ranking U.S. official in Saigon has told a Senate subcommittee.

In a bitterly worded report, the official, who was not identified, urged the Johnson administration to stop treating official corruption in the Saigon government as a "delicate, unmentionable subject" and take steps to end it.

The official said corruption in South Vietnam is "an ever present fact of life, permeating all echelons of government and society, corroding the vitality of this nation, eroding the framework of this government and unnecessarily prolonging the war."

As a result of the report, written last November by the head of an American team investigating corruption in Vietnam, the Senate Foreign Aid Expenditures subcommittee announced Wednesday it would hold hearings later this year on the subject.

Although the subcommittee declined to name the official's agency, other government sources indicated he was an official of the Agency for International Development (AID), which administers most of the nonmilitary U.S. aid to Vietnam.

In a sharp attack on Washington's failure to meet the corruption, the 14-page report said American authorities "must stop burying our heads in sand like ostriches whenever we come face to face with the problem."

Not only is this lack of action prolonging the war, the official said, the continued existence of the problem is "probably the single most important reason for the steady erosion of American public confidence and support for our overall effort in Vietnam."

Two Men Jailed Here on McLean Burglary Charge

Two Ontario, Canada, men were being held in Gray County jail today in lieu of $2,500 bond each on charges of burglarizing a McLean drive-in restaurant.

The pair, Gordon Forgis, 20, and Paul James Coles, 25, were apprehended yesterday.

Eddie Barkley, owner of the drive-in, said he accosted two men as they were apparently trying to burglarize the place shortly after midnight Tuesday.

Barkley said he had been helping a friend put the finishing touches on a drive-in that he was constructing. Barkley and his friend had to go to Barkley's drive-in to get some tools.

They noticed a car bearing a Canada license plate parked near the rear. Barkley said he was putting the key in the door when he realized that it had been unlocked. He saw the two men and challenged them, pretending he had a pistol. The two men then ran and jumped out a service window, Barkley said.

Forgis was later picked up by a McLean constable as he was hitch-hiking some 10 miles east of McLean.

Coles was arrested in a McLean motel. He was later identified by Barkley as one of the men he had seen in the drive-in.

Sheriff deputies said the two men acted as if they did not know each other when they met after being brought to Pampa for arraignment.

BREAKS SILENCE

LBJ Urges 'Do What You Can'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson has broken his public silence on the sweeping recommendations made by his anti-riot commission with a request to American businessmen "to do what you can" to help improve the lot of big city ghetto-dwellers.

"I don't ask you to embrace every recommendation they made, but I do ask you to do what you can," Johnson told a group of visiting bankers at the White House Wednesday.

It was his first public comment on the controversial report since it was released last week.

At the same time, Secretary Robert C. Weaver of the Housing and Urban Development Department told a Senate committee that the commission suggested twice as big an increase in federal housing as the administration has proposed.

In reply to a question on whether the recommendations could be carried out, Weaver said, "it's not physically impossible, but it's highly improbable. Our best judgment, based on analysis of labor and the construction industry, is that we've gone about as far as we can go."

Weaver's statement brought a sharp rejoinder from Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., a member of the anti-riot panel. Brooke, a Negro, told Weaver, "we didn't recommend any pie in the sky. We consider our recommendations very real. These goals are not only possible, they are needed."

Weaver and Johnson's statements were the first official administration comments on the riot panel's report. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said earlier this week he disagreed with the panel's conclusion that America is splitting into two separate societies, black and white, but the White House emphasized he was speaking for himself and not the administration.

Johnson discussed the commission report in the context of what needs to be done to rebuild decaying inner cities and ghettos.

"If we do not get on with the (See PRESIDENT, Page 3)

Nuclear Protection Agreement Reached

GENEVA (UPI) — The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union declared today they will give immediate help to any country that feels threatened by nuclear attack or is the victim of such aggression.

They said the nuclear "umbrella" will cover all nations renouncing their own nuclear weapons under the U.S.-Soviet joint draft treaty to stop the spread of atomic arms.

The pledge was presented to the Geneva Disarmament Conference in the form of a

Sound of Engine Is Only Hope Remaining

MORGAN CITY, La. (UPI) — Two rescuers in a cage were lowered into the hot, smoky depths of a salt mine shaft today to look for 21 men trapped since midnight Tuesday. They found 80 feet of water but no sign of the men.

But they could hear a diesel engine running somewhere. "It is smoky down there and gloomy and there is carbon monoxide," Clayton F. Tonnemaker, vice president of Cargill, Inc., operator of the mine, said. The sound of the engine gave hope some miners were still alive.

Edward Holeman, 34, one of a team of rescuers from Kentucky brought to the swampy southern Louisiana area near Morgan City to look for the miners, was bruised on his descent into the mine by debris falling down the shaft. Officials postponed another team's descent to build a protective cover for the cage.

Holeman and his partner in the descent, Gilbert Holmes, said they found some 80 feet of water in the bottom of the mine shaft, but the trapped men could have gotten into a side horizontal shaft. When the two rescuers looked to their left and right off the main shaft, they saw smoke and haze in one direction and a small fire blazing in a fan in the other.

Officials said the diesel engine whose clatter they heard could not have run unattended the 30 hours since the men were trapped at midnight Tuesday by a fire that burned the elevator cables. So somebody would have had to start it up since midnight Tuesday.

"The crucial thing is, where did the men go when the fire broke out?" Tonnemaker said. "How far away were they able to get from the main shaft?"

It took more than 30 minutes for the two men to reach the bottom of the shaft of the Cargill, Inc., mine. Going down slowly, the two men in a makeshift cage called out into the dull-white cavern.

They said the concrete-lined walls of the shaft were in good shape but that elevator guide beams were burned out. The miners were trapped when fire roared up the shaft.

The descent by rescuers into the shaft was delayed more than four hours while workmen constructed a smaller cage. The men made an earlier attempt to go down in a larger cage, but it hit an obstruction and had to be pulled up.

Hope that the miners would be rescued was high. (See RESCUERS, Page 3)

Joe Martin, Last G.O.P. Speaker, Dies in Florida

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI) — Joseph W. Martin Jr., a one-time newsboy who rose to become the last Republican speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives, died Wednesday night in a Hollywood hospital. He was 84.

The former speaker's brother, Albert T. Martin, editor of the North Attleboro, Mass., Chronicle, said his brother left Massachusetts in October to spend the winter in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., with his nephew and secretary, George Telly.

Martin, who served as speaker in 1947-49 and 1953-55, was dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital, a spokesman said. He arrived in an ambulance about 5:50 p.m. (CST).

Cause of death was not known. Albert Martin said his brother had suffered from arthritis in recent years.

The flinty, Yankee townsman, who down through the years from Calvin Coolidge to Lyndon Johnson, made easy congressional victories a habit, was handed his first and final defeat in a September, 1966 Republican primary.

He was upended by a petite mother of three, Margaret M. Heckler.

It was the end of 42 years in Congress, four years as speaker.

542 KILLED LAST WEEK

U.S. Suffers Heavy Losses in Vietnam

SAIGON (UPI) — The United States suffered 542 men killed in combat last week, one short of the Vietnam War record, American spokesmen said today. Most of the casualties came in South Vietnam's northern provinces where more heavy fighting raged today.

The spokesmen said that last week another 2,191 U.S. servicemen suffered wounds in action. Allied troops reported killing 3,840 Communists in the same week.

Sons-In-Law of LBJ May Be In War Zone Soon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Both of President Johnson's sons-in-law, Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb and Airman L.C. Patrick J. Nugent, may be serving in the war zone in Southeast Asia before very long.

Robb is already on orders to report to Camp Pendleton, Calif., March 29 for assignment to Vietnam. Nugent has transferred voluntarily back to his former Air National Guard unit in Washington, which was mobilized Jan. 25 and is rumored to be headed for Thailand.

Body of One Of 9 Missing Found

QUANTICO, Va. (UPI) — The body of one of nine enlisted men missing in a Potomac River accident was found today several miles south of this Marine base.

U.S. forces suffered a record 543 men killed in the week of Feb. 11-17. The spokesmen said that most of the 542 killed last week fell in battles along the North-South Vietnam border and in the former imperial capital of Hue, 40 miles below the border.

U.S. commanders reported Marines of the 3rd and 1st Divisions today battling North Vietnamese invaders near the Leatherneck border bastion of Con Thien.

High-ranking American military sources said the Communists apparently aim at pushing through the border defenses and once more driving against Hue, scene of a 25-day battle last month that was the bloodiest of the war—more than 4,600 Communists were slain.

Leathernecks supported by Army helicopter gunships and artillery killed 91 Communists Wednesday in a series of clashes below the northern border's Demilitarized Zone (DMZ). U.S. spokesmen said 15 Marines were killed.

The North Vietnamese have up to 50,000 troops poised in the border area for Hanoi's largest offensive of the war, according to U.S. intelligence. The big Red push could come at anytime, the intelligence reports said.

At Khe Sanh, the surrounded Marine fort that anchors the western end of the Allied anti-invasion line, Communist fire shot down a U.S. Air Force C123 Wednesday, killing all 48 persons aboard. American spokesmen said. Earlier the spokesmen said 49 men had been killed in the two-engine transport's fireball crash.

Searchers Unable To Find Any Trace of Missing Boy

By JEFF HOLLADAY
Daily News Staff Writer

A widespread manhunt in the area where Larry Joe Pitts, 18, of Berger is thought to have disappeared failed to turn up any new leads yesterday, the Gray County sheriff's office said today.

Pitts, who will be 19 on March 17, has been missing since Friday night.

Six men on horseback, 12 on foot and three in cars combed the Bowers City area yesterday near where Pitts was last seen early Saturday morning. Officials feared that the youth might have perished from exposure to weather Saturday night.

"We combed out the whole Bowers City area very thoroughly but we didn't find any kind of evidence that he was around there," a Gray County sheriff's official said.

Pitts was last seen at the farm of Curt Morris, who lives nine miles south of Pampa on Texas Highway 70.

He reportedly went to the house around 5 a.m. Saturday morning and asked to use the telephone, saying his car had broken down. He left and was last seen hitchhiking by Morris and his wife.

Truitt Wren of Pampa, an employee of Pioneer Natural Gas Co., later identified a hitch-hiker he had picked up as being Pitts.

Wren said he gave the youth a ride for a short distance and last saw him near the intersection of Texas 70 and Farm-to-Market Road 749.

The youth has not been seen since.

Then, before the two rescue workers went down, a walkie-talkie with a light on it was lowered into the shaft. Nobody touched the walkie-talkie in the bottom of the shaft and it was pulled back up again.

Earlier tests had shown evidence of deadly carbon monoxide at the bottom of the shaft, 6 feet in diameter.

JACK MALON
... K and F speaker

Expert on ESP Next Speaker At K & F Club

Final dinner meeting for the current season will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Coronado Inn, when Jack Malon will be the speaker. Dinner tickets are on sale at Malone Pharmacy in Coronado Center to members of the Knife & Fork Club. Deadline for purchasing tickets is 1 p.m. Monday, March 11.

Malon has spent many years studying Extra Sensory Perception and contends that not all one sees or hears about that science can be taken at face value. An expert in the science himself he performs a good deal of mental magic during his program.

In New York City he performs at night clubs, special parties and many other events, and is considered to be among the nation's best and most entertaining performers.

Intelligent audience participation is one of Malon's suits. He not only tells how certain ESP "adventures" occur, he has persons chosen at random from the audience take a part in them.

According to Malon there is a certain monumental value in the science; and it has its application in the growing space program in which our nation and others of the world are engaged.

His address in Pampa is billed as "A New Slant in Comedy," and is purely an escape program; although inserted in it are some worthwhile facts which, as Malon explains, can be used by almost anyone who trains himself to take advantage of them.

Malon will be introduced by Roy Kay, and Herman Whalley will give the invocation. Paul Bowers is president of the Knife & Fork Club.

DEAR ABBY: Four years ago, while serving with the United States army in Korea, I read an item in your column that impressed me so much that I clipped it and posted it on the bulletin board.

Several G. I.'s copied it and sent it home to their wives. Later many others told me that their wives had read the same item in their hometown papers and had sent it to them.

I still think it is one of the best pieces of advice I have ever read concerning the very real problem of remaining faithful to one's spouse when many miles and many more months separate young married couples.

I am enclosing a copy of this piece with the hope that you will reprint it, for it is just as timely today as it was four years ago. Perhaps more so. May God bless you.

Very truly yours,
The Rt. Rev. J. D. H., D.D.,
Former Army Chaplain
My dear Reverend J. D. H.:
With pleasure. And here it is:

DEAR ABBY: My problem is one that bothers thousands of other G. I.'s so I hope you will print your answer because it is needed badly. I am a happily married man with a wonderful wife and two small children back in the States. I've been in Korea for four months. After living a normal married life for three years, what is a young, healthy man supposed to do for his physical needs?

There are 12 women for every G. I. over here, and the women practically throw themselves at our feet. Don't get me wrong, Abby. I love my wife and always will, but I have a long hitch over here and I am only human. This letter is sincere, and I am not ashamed to sign my name, but if you use it, please sign me.

"JERSEY"
And my reply:
DEAR JERSEY: Assume for a moment that I received the following letter:

DEAR ABBY: I am a happily married woman with a wonderful husband and two small children. My husband has been in Korea for four months. After living a normal married life for three years, what is a young, healthy woman supposed to do for her physical needs? There are plenty of men around, and when they learn that my husband is in Korea they practically throw themselves at my feet. Don't get me wrong, Abby. I love my husband and always will, but he's going to be gone a long time and I am only hu-

THE LOST-LOOKING COCKNEY WAIF who is underendowed with figure but overendowed with facial beauty suggests tweezing the eyebrows to practically nothing from the highest point of the brow to the outer end. With a soft brown powder, she fills in the line beyond the end of the eye. To put on Twiggles, she uses a pencil-thin brush using 9 to 11 strokes under the lower lashes and, like real lashes, they should get denser and longer towards the outer ends of the eyes. The heavy black mascara she uses is the lash-building type and after applying this she puts on double thick real hair eyelashes.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

FOR FRIDAY, MARCH 8

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is the day and evening for you to avoid feeling that you have been imposed upon and require some very definite school of thought that imparts a highly objective and impersonal no matter what happens. Accept delays philosophically and do not waste valuable time later.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) - Being diplomatic at home is important so that you avoid a serious argument. Be thoughtful and will save the day. Do whatever is necessary to improve financial status and this also improves conditions.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) - Do not utter that produced word or make unkind remarks to one who is not feeling well, or you get into real trouble. Come to a better understanding with usual allies. Be willing to do more work in the future.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) - Safeguard the assets you have so carefully meet building up and forget temptation to spend too much. A fascinating associate can give you practical advice. Follow it to the letter. Be efficient.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) - Others who do not comprehend you make you think they are imposing on you but this is not the case. Keep busy with your own affairs. Begin saving money for a rainy day, as the saying goes.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) - Meditating is important first if you are to get the inspiration for whatever it is that you have to do today, otherwise you could meet with a sad disappointment. Avoid group meetings. These could lead to trouble.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) - If you quietly sit down and observe the operations of close friends, you know what to do to improve own affairs. Don't criticize a good friend. Be thoughtful and kind instead.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) - A high-spirited looking for a scapegoat and it could be you, if you are not on the alert. Get busy getting problems straightened out where civic work is concerned. Be efficient.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) - Doing whatever will better show you what conditions really are around you is wise. Avoid making radical changes, however, in also wise. Some outside communication could be disturbing. Forget it. You really don't need it at all, so be polite and don't accept. Get your bills paid. Show male you are most devoted, though you may be under some pressure.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) - Take care to do nothing that could disturb some good partner you have, just because you feel belligerent. Find some new way to have more harmonious relations with others. Be very charming with everyone.

Betty Canary

The Ideal Woman

By BETTY CANARY
We were finishing dessert after dinner at the home of friends and the mother asked her daughter if she would mind doing the dishes. "Not tonight, mother, please!" Judy said. "You know I have my telescope set up and everything."

"You might as well get used to it, young lady," the father said. "You're a woman and you are going to be doing dishes all your life."

Shades of Betty Friedan, I thought, this family could have been a case history in her book, "The Feminine Mystique." Why didn't father merely point out it DISHES. He could have said was Judy's turn to do the there is time for both star-gazing and kitchen cleaning.

Mother folded her hands and said, "There are times I wish I had never given her my old telescope."

"Oh, I didn't know you were interested in astronomy."

"Why, yes! From the time I was a Girl Scout and had my first trip to a planetarium. In college I even planned to . . . well, it doesn't matter about me. My problem is to get that girl's head out of the clouds."

"I wish I'd known," I said. "Remember when the Leonid meteor shower made such a spectacular display? We sat outside until almost dawn and the children still talk about the night of the falling stars. Just think! You could have explained it all to us."

"Well," she said, rather uncomfortably. "I don't think about that kind of thing any more." She smiled around the table at her children and husband. "I have my family."

Not understanding why this should keep a woman from looking through a telescope, I said nothing.

T.E.L. Class Has Business Meeting

Practice Enunciation

Poor articulation or slurring words so that whole sentences run together is the fault of a lazy mouth. To test your own enunciation, hold a matchstick in your teeth the next time you phone your best friend. Can she tell it's there? If so, you need practice.

French Ready-to-Wear Invades U.S.

NEW YORK - French ready-to-wear ("pret-a-porter" if you want to sound knowing about the French counterpart of New York's Seventh Avenue) has been cited as sounding the death knell for the Paris couture.

The ready-to-wear manufacturers have not only kept abreast of the wants of young people, but also their prices are more in keeping with the contents of a young woman's purse. Yet their designs have chic and flair.

But until now there has been such a lack of the instant communication needed by American retailers on orders and reorders that French ready-to-wear hasn't had much exposure here except in the newspapers and magazines.

France's second largest dress manufacturing firm, has now devised a way to put French pret-a-porter on the U.S. market. The firm, which does an annual $6 million business, is installing machines to guarantee swift, modern and efficient service to its American accounts. And it now has opened a showroom and sales office in New York.

Renata Vaskene, designer for the firm and wife of the owner, is a vital, electrifying personality. She has an outdoor freshness that is captivating. And that's not surprising. Because contrary to the towers of brick and mortar that shelter the garment industry, the French modern, complex, mechanized organization is nestled snug in the heart of the French chateaux and hunt country in an 18th century paper mill.

Pariken, the line designed by Renata, is for the junior and young miss. It is completely "with it" without being the least bit wild. She has a fresh approach to today's young look that has fashion knowledgeable agog.

There are designs that hark back to school days, yet are as sophisticated as Claudine, Collette's star pupil for whom the group is named.

Brighter-than-pale pastels in airy brushed flannels, combed woools and gabardines turn up in deceptively simple, undarted shapes, lightly flared. There are strict little tailleurs, and springy knits seamed like a swimmer's swimsuit for man-trapping. And there is nostalgic lace. And they will all be available here.

In the past 12 years the Vaskenes have built a fairy tale fashion world that owes its great success to M. Vaskene's ingenious business acumen and his wife's designing talent.

In direct opposition to the highly efficient workings of this business is the private world of this couple. Their 100-year-old home overlooks a sprawling park, flower-filled gardens and a winding river. Charming cottages provide their many guests with hunt country atmosphere and the welcoming hospitality that is so much a part of life in Solgne, their country home.

"I love my work," Renata Vaskene said at the Plaza Hotel while setting up their New York office, "but everyone needs to get away."

"For a change of pace we escape to our hunting lodge and our horses."

The lodge is a second home to this nature-loving couple from Paris.

Here candles take the place of electricity, giant bales of hay provide lazy, restful comfort and a huge spit is often found to be slowly turning a deliciously aromatic mutton.

But for all her love of country living, Renata Vaskene is a sophisticated woman. She and her husband keep a year-round home in Paris. And the combination of her love for the country and the city combine in her ability to make a woman look soft, young and feminine and chic without contrivance.

"My new skirt shift," she said, "was inspired by the Paris butcher's smock. My burr-nose and harem pants were conceived on my travels to India, Morocco and North Africa." And, a wide traveler, she gathers her prints from every corner of the world.

This delicate, blonde, light-eyed lady is a powerhouse of energy - interpreter (she speaks French, German and English fluently), she is sidekick, designer, wife, hostess, equestrian, and she's currently studying flying.

Her designs, due no doubt to her wide range of interests, are cut with a wonderfully liberated feeling.

She designs a line that is as lithe and alive as she is, with a glamorous spark for every hour and every aspect of a woman's life.

And if Renata Vaskene's clothes are an example, French ready-to-wear can find a warm welcome here.

Cleanliness is the best insurance against insect damage to clothing and furnishings. Regular vacuuming of out-of-the-way places is recommended since the larvae of clothes moths and carpet beetles generally are found in warm, humid, dark areas.

Spotless Spots - Jaguar-printed cotton twill is the choice for a stylish all-weather coat by Lawrence of London. Protected against rain and stains by a Zepel finish, it's teamed with thigh-high boots.

Stuff peppers with chicken, cheese, chives.

Try Stuffed Peppers For Different Menu

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food Editor

Almost everyone likes stuffed peppers. This recipe uses left-over chicken, rice, Cheddar cheese and, for bright fresh flavor, frozen chopped chives.

CHICKEN, CHEESE and CHIVE STUFFED PEPPERS
6 medium-sized green peppers
Boiling water
3 cups cooked rice
2 cups cubed diced chicken
1 cup grated Cheddar cheese
1 cup (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
2 tablespoons frozen chopped chives, ...

Slice tops from green peppers and remove seeds. (Save those tops and chop them into your next salad.) Drop peppers into boiling water, par-boil 5 minutes. Combine remaining ingredients and spoon into drained peppers. Put peppers into a shallow casserole. Add 1/2-inch of water to casserole to keep peppers from sticking. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) for 30 to 35 minutes or until peppers are tender and easily pierced. Serve garnished with parsley. Six servings.

Cornmeal Pancakes Have New England Inheritance

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food Editor

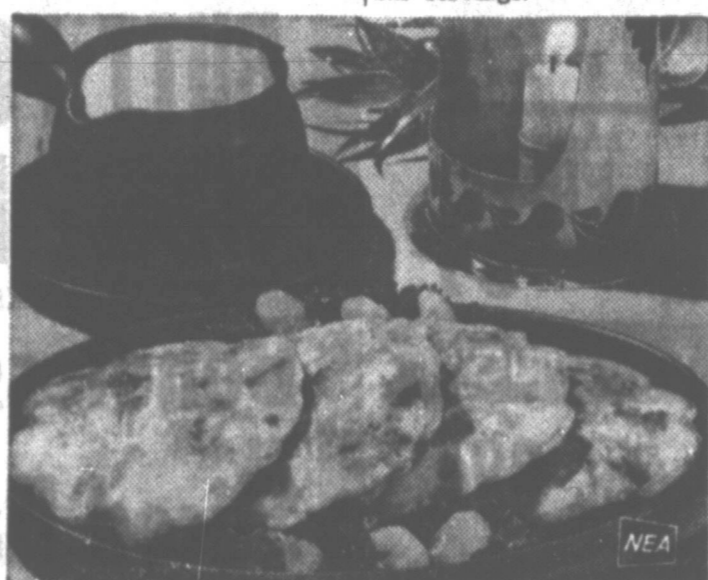

Cornmeal pancakes have a colonial inheritance, being related to the cornmeal journey cakes or "johnny cakes" of early New England. Now, in our modern American era of the pancake, something new has been added — cubes of cooked ham, chopped onion, and a mushroom and cheese sauce to serve with them.

CORNMEAL PANCAKES
1/4 cup enriched corn meal
1/4 cup sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup chopped onion
2 cups cubed cooked ham
1 egg
1 1/4 cups milk

Sauce:
1 10 1/2-oz. can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup grated Cheddar cheese
1/2 cup milk
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, ...

For corn cakes, sift together corn meal, flour, baking powder and salt into bowl. Add onion and ham. Stir in egg and milk. Mix until all ingredients are thoroughly moistened. Using a scant 1/2-cup batter for each corn cake, pour onto hot, buttered griddle. Turn when underside is brown and edges look cooked, about 3 minutes on each side. Turn only once.

For sauce, combine all ingredients; mix thoroughly. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally until piping hot. Top each corn cake with hot sauce. Six servings.

Leprechauns to Aid Cooks on March 17

OAK BROOK, ILL. (Spl) — Perhaps it only seems as though there is an Irish legend that leprechauns come to the aid of the colleen in the kitchen. Nevertheless, St. Patrick's day dinner for March 17 is mighty easy to prepare when the corned beef is oven roasted. Tis away with the kettle of hot water and into the oven with the meat.

There are two ways to roast corned beef which is specially identified as "for oven roasting". The easiest is to remove the roast from the vacuum sealed package and place it fat side up on a rack in a low-sided open pan. No water or cover is added. A 325 degree oven temperature is used and about three hours roasting time is required. Fork Tender is the key to doneness. This means that when a sharp-tined meat fork can be inserted and removed easily, the meat is fork-tender.

Another method for roasting this corned beef is to braise it in a Dutch oven with a cover. The roast is placed on a rack, a cup of water added, and the lid put in place. A 350 degree oven is used for the braised roast. Again, fork tender is the guide to doneness.

The vegetables for the corned beef dinner may be cooked either in the oven or on top of the range. Carrots and cabbage do nicely in the oven.

Food Buying Guide

The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the Departments of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—USDA's consumer and marketing service reports that excellent supplies of meat and poultry and good supplies of some fresh vegetables will be available to weekend shoppers in food stores and supermarkets. Supplies of fresh fruits are limited.

Broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys should again be featured as the most abundantly available meats. But many pork cuts are again on the abundant lists and these include bacon, chops, roasts, and hams. Beef cuts in the abundant category are roasts, steaks, and ground and stew meat. North Pacific halibut steaks, ocean perch fillets, and canned tuna are fish buys to watch for, according to the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Cabbage, lettuce, and potatoes continue to rank as the most abundant vegetables. Apples should be abundant in most areas and grapefruit and oranges in good supply in some areas.

CORNED BEEF
and
CABBAGE AND CARROTS
3 to 4 lb. corned beef for oven roasting
1 cup water
1 medium head cabbage, cut into 6 wedges
6 medium carrots, pared
1/2 cup water. ...

Place meat on a rack in a large Dutch oven. Add 1 cup water. Cover. Place in a moderate oven (350) degrees for 2 1/2 hours. Arrange cabbage wedges and carrots around meat. Add 1/2 cup water. Cover and continue cooking 30 minutes or until meat and vegetables are tender.

To Ripen Avocado
Firm avocados ripen at room temperature in a few days. To hasten the ripening process, put an avocado in a brown paper bag or wrap it in plastic or foil. Wrapping speeds the ripening process by confining and concentrating gases that the fruit "exhales." An avocado is fully ripe when it feels soft to gentle pressure in the palm of the hand.

Long storage below 40 degrees turns potato starch to sugars, causing a sweet taste when they're cooked. Use a cool, dark place for home storage—not the refrigerator.

UPI Education Specialist

Adults are seeking an increasing amount of additional education in many different subjects. The need for advanced training is increasing with the growth in technology. The elimination of some jobs and the creation of new ones requires retraining. In addition, individuals with more leisure time are pursuing their personal interest through special courses.

Adults, young and old, are taking courses which help them in their pursuit of social and recreational activities. These include courses to learn how to play bridge, paint in oils, cook, as well as "do it yourself" programs in carpentry and other industrial arts areas. Music appreciation, creative writing, understanding political issues, and literature are surely important aspects of adult education.

Hours Of Enjoyment

These and other similar courses provide many hours of enjoyment and development for individuals with leisure time. These are often the activities which many adults have been unable to pursue in their earlier years of formal education.

There is an increasing participation in adult education programs which provide high school diplomas and college degrees. These are part time programs which usually take place in the evenings and allow the individuals to hold full time jobs at the same time.

Many employers encourage workers to further their education by paying partial or full tuition and sometimes giving time off from the job when necessary.

The need for retraining has placed an increasingly important responsibility on adult education programs. The problem is a result of rapid developments in technology. Although this may provide machines which replace men, it also creates jobs for men who can run and service the machines.

Two Choices

The employee who holds a position which may be eliminated has two choices. He can either prepare for another type of position or he can wait and try to find a similar position in another organization. Careful consideration should be given to these two choices. It may be advisable to discuss the situation with an expert in the field of employment.

The most advisable approach is to plan ahead. Consider your position and interests. Decide on what future positions you might desire. You can then proceed to prepare for these positions on a part time basis while continuing in your present full time job.

A boy in business for himself doesn't worry about summer jobs

Or fall jobs, or winter jobs, for that matter. Because the boy with a newspaper route—a junior independent merchant—has a year 'round income. The few hours he puts in each week not only provide monetary returns but the even more significant dividends of learning how free enterprise operates.

The business of learning the value of money, of keeping books, collecting, buying at wholesale and selling at retail is important. But not even money can buy the other skills acquired from route experience—learning to deal pleasantly with people, for instance, or the value of punctuality.

Your newspaperboy is learning all the time. His route experience helps him acquire the intangible skills so necessary for success both socially and professionally. He makes money at it, too.

Only about one boy in ten gets the opportunity to have a newspaper route. If you think your son or some other youngster might profit by newspaperboy route experience, why not suggest that he come in and talk to us.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSON
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Foreign news notes:

Death Came Close:

According to a senior U.S. adviser in the Mekong Delta provincial capital of Can Tho, Americans there came close to death during the Tet offensive—not from the attacking Viet Cong, but from the hands of the defending South Vietnamese army forces. The adviser says the Viet Cong spread rumors that the United States was in favor of a coalition government, that the U.S. was prepared to let the South Vietnamese go it alone, and were preparing to pull out of Can Tho. As the rumors hit their peak, the U.S. Command found it necessary to transfer a piece of radio equipment from midtown to the airport. This was all the proof the ARVN (Army of Viet Nam) needed that the Americans were pulling out. They let it be known that if the Viet Cong attacked again that night—early in February—they were going to kill all the Americans. Only some fast U.S. counter-propaganda and failure of the VC to attack saved the situation.

Return To Normalcy:

Salon is lapsing back into its lax ways of security again—barely a month after the great enemy Tet offensive. One night last week, for example, there were no guards around one of the city's major hotels. A pedestrian walked the streets at 11:30 p.m.—four and a half hours after the curfew went into effect—and no one challenged him. Barbed wire which was supposed to seal off the block had not been unfurled. Where were the security guards? In the hotel lobby watching television.

Sihanouk To Switch Again?

Asia affairs experts no longer rule out the possibility that growing Communist insurgency in Cambodia's outlying provinces will one day force Prince Norodom Sihanouk to make up with the United States and perhaps even seek its military aid. These experts take seriously Sihanouk's warning that unless the Communists lay down arms, he will hand the reins of government over to Gen. Lon Nol, the pro-Western military leader, who might call for American help.

TOO COLD FOR WADING, but icy coating on trees is pretty to look at. Ten-year-old Raymond Bailey watches water pouring out of hydrant opened by crewmen in Ann Arbor, Mich., where temperatures were near zero. Workmen opened the line to relieve pressure when repeated freezing and thawing had broken a nearby main.

SUPPORT FOR MCCARTHY

TOKYO (UPI)—More than two dozen Americans living in Tokyo formed a club to mobilize support among overseas Americans for Sen. Eugene

J. McCarthy, campaigning for the Democratic nomination for President. The group was formed by five professors headed by Dr. Robert O. Blood Jr. of the University of Michigan.

FIND GOLD BARS

COPENHAGEN (UPI)—Five gold bars, missing from a 1966 shipment from London, have been found in the home of an airport baggage handler, police said. Police said the unidentified man confessed to stealing $5,300 worth of bars when he unloaded a plane and hiding them in his attic. His stepson found the bars and notified police.

PARACHUTE RECORD

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet news agency Tass said former kindergarten teacher Lyubov Masich has become the first woman in history to parachute from an airplane at an altitude of only 329 feet. Tass said it was the 1,064th jump for Miss Masich who holds seven world parachute records.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Graham Loving & Co. believes that a rally "is about to commence lasting until approximately April 15 and that the bottom of the next decline will probably be the low point of 1968." The firm says a change in direction on an intermediate trend basis is expected sometime within the next week.

Moody's Investors Service says the market's inability to develop sustained strength apparently stems mostly from deepening concern about Vietnam, fed by repeated news that the U.S. position is becoming increasingly hazardous. Many stocks are moderately priced in relation to nearby earnings prospects, Moody's said, but there is doubt whether earnings gains will persist into late 1968 and early 1969.

E.F. Hutton & Co. thinks that a divergent pattern seems to be forming during the present decline whereby all segments of the market are not completely in gear. In the past, the firm says, such a pattern "has often been a sign that a market trend in force will not carry very much further or longer."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Spontaneous generation, the theory that known forms of life emerge from inanimate matter, was proved incorrect by Francesco Redi in 1668 and Louis Pasteur in 1862, says The World Almanac. Redi showed that insect larvae appearing in rotting meat are not produced spontaneously but come from eggs laid in the meat by other insects. Pasteur proved that bacteria causing fermentation are not spontaneously generated, but are carried in the atmosphere.

Suggestions Made On Urban Education

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The national commission which studied causes and cures of urban rioting said this about education:

"For the children of the ghetto, the schools have failed to provide the educational experience which could overcome the effects of discrimination and deprivation. This failure is one of the persistent sources of grievance and community... we must drastically improve the quality of ghetto education..."

"The commission recommends: 'Sharply increased efforts to eliminate de facto segregation through substantial federal aid to school systems seeking to desegregate either within the system or in cooperation with neighboring school systems...' 'Yearround education for disadvantaged students...'

"The pre school program (Head Start) should be expanded into a major nationwide educational effort and strengthened by extending its reach to younger children..."

"Extra incentives for highly qualified teachers working in ghetto schools..."

"The adult basic education program... should be strengthened and expanded to make a major impact on illiteracy..."

"Full implementation of vocational training programs for high school dropouts..."

"The principal burden for funding the programs we have proposed will necessarily fall upon the federal government... the cities are not able to generate financing sufficient to the need."

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Spring training camp items from the presidential league:

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—The Johnson Bombers tried out a new defensive maneuver at today's workout. It is called the "Fulbright shift."

At a signal from the bench, the entire team moves to the right of the Tonkin Gulf resolution and tries to keep any hits from going through the credibility gap.

"Birdie" Johnson, the team's owner-manager-player-coach-trainer-scout batboy, said the shift will be used when the Bombers are playing the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Meanwhile, rookie Clark Clifford joined the club, replacing the veteran Bob McNamara, who was traded to the World Bank. The Bombers also are trying to sign up a new elevator mechanic.

ORLANDO, Fla.—The Nixon Comebacks, who have not been a pennant-contender since 1960, expect to field a stronger team this year, thanks to the off-season acquisition of a new utility makeup man.

The Comebacks announced they will play all of their 1968 games in the early afternoon to avoid the 3 o'clock shadow, which has proven troublesome in the past.

VERO BEACH, Fla.—The Rockefeller Drafts were late in opening their spring training camp. Until recently, the entire team was a holdout.

The Drafts are expected to call up some players from their farm club, the Romney Dropouts, who recently moved their franchise back to the Michigan State League.

However, they will be unable to look to the Goldwater Resentfuls for bench strength. The Resentfuls, who lost the playoff game to the Bombers in 1964, have joined the Nixon Comebacks farm system.

The Drafts will play no exhibition games this year. Their only pre-season content was the intra-squad garbage game against the Lindsay Puritans.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—The McCarthy Doves, one of the new expansion teams, have signed up Richie Goodwin, a free agent, as relief speechwriter.

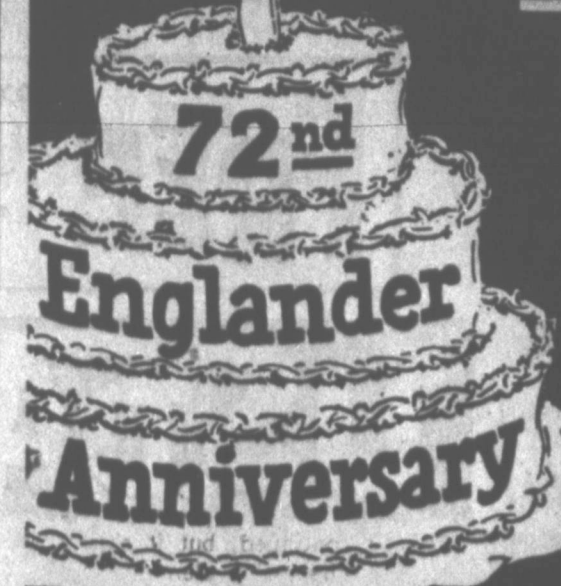

Goodwin formerly played with the Kennedy Whiskies. However, the rumored big trade between the Doves and the Whiskies has not materialized.

MIAMI Fla.—The Stassen Perennials have added a wig-fitter to their roster. Otherwise, it is the same team that has finished in the second division since 1948.

"We are afraid they will forget us and people are still dying back home," said one of the Sicilians outside the building with placards and bags of bread, cheese and salami.

MONTGOMERY WORD

How Do You Make All-SWC If You're a Hog?

By CURTIS MONTGOMERY
Daily News Sports Editor

The University of Texas placed two cagers on the All-Southwest Conference basketball team for the 1967-68 season. A team that defeated them twice had not one man on that five. That team was the University of Arkansas Razorbacks — sometimes just referred to as Hogs.

Billy Arnold is a good one. He was the leading scorer in the SWC this year averaging 19.9 per game. Billy and I went to Abilene Christian College coach Dee Nutt's All-America Basketball Camp in Breckenridge, Colo., back in August of 1961 and he showed promise even then at the age of 15, the year before he played his sophomore year for Halm, which is located in the same county as Fort Worth. Incidentally, our Arlington Heights team beat Arnold and his team with Norman Reuther setting a city scoring record of 50 points for Heights. Reuther later was named All-State in 4-A and played for Texas Tech. Arnold was All-State his senior year.

Texas had another boy on the All-Conference first team, Gary Overbeck, a 6-6, 225-pound senior from Hobbs, N.M. He may have deserved the honor also instead of James Eldridge of Ark., a 6-5, 180-pound sophomore who was selected on the second team of the coaches and the UPI version chosen by the sports information directors and UPI. Bobby McKenzie of Arkansas made UPI's honorable mention.

But, of course, there is the case of the first Negro being chosen to the All-SWC team, Tommy Bowman of Baylor. The coaches listed six players on the first team. Ronnie Peret, 6-9, 235-pound junior, of Plainview, and Texas A&M, and Lynn Phillips of SMU tied in the balloting making the six-member team necessary. Phillips was on UPI's second team. Baylor was in there until the final game with the sophomore leading the scoring for the Bears in TCU's victory last Saturday in Waco, 72-65. The Horned Frogs had a good Negro also in James Cash, a Fort Worth I.M.

Terrell boy, was listed as honorable mention on the coaches team. Cash scored 25 in beating the Bears in the last road game of the year for the Frogs. Mickey McCarty missed being unanimous by one, while Arnold got all the votes; he was the guiding force in the Frogs taking the crown with Johnny Swain coaching.

Whether or not they were putting Bowman on the honor team ahead of Eldridge to quell any talk of racial bias is a good question. If it helps keep riots out of the streets in Texas in any way, it's fine with us. May be the young man from the big city of Green Forest, Ark., will not be too unhappy about being overlooked in the interest of harmony in the Dallas and Fort Worth slums. After all, he was the only sophomore besides Bowman on either team.

HAWPE TOPS

Mike Hawpe, who recently signed on the dotted line, designating that he will attend the University of Oklahoma and play linebacker for them, will be the mainstay on the White Deer track team this season according to WD coach Sherrill Bottoms.

Hawpe, considered by OU coaches as one of the top prospects in the entire country, is an all-around athlete. He just completed the basketball season coming directly off the football field to participate on the hardwood.

Hawpe, who had 36 college offers, is fast and runs the hurdles, highs and lows and muscles the shot put also. Coach Bottoms said Hawpe could have played any position on the White Deer football team. He is a 6-3, 195-pound boy.

The first track meet of the season for WD is this Saturday at Lefors. Coach Bottoms says

LONGHORNS PLAY

Darrouzett Will Face Friendswood Tomorrow

AUSTIN (UPI)—Friendswood upended Bronte 62-48 in a Class B opening game of the 48th Interscholastic League state basketball tournament today.

Junior Tom Long paced the Friendswood victory, pitching in 24 points. Don Reed hit 13 and Kent Ballard 10 for the victors.

Davis Corley was high point man for Bronte, scoring 16 points in the losing effort. David Glenn was the only other Bronte player in double figures with 10.

In the second game, Kennard plays Prairie Valley of Nocona, also in Class B.

Italy and Louise round out the morning schedule with a Class A contest.

Big Schools Friday

The "big boys" of the tournament, Class AAAA schools, led by unbeaten Houston Wheatley, will not see action until Friday.

Preliminaries in Classes A, B, AA and AAA will cut the 22-team field in half before today's schedule ends.

Other games today sent West Sabine against Aspermont in he has 36 boys out for track.

Going over the hurdles with Hawpe is Jerry Grange. In the discus throw Johnny Kresse is providing the WD punch. John Paul Guinn is a 220 and broad jump man. Hawpe, Guinn, Grange and Kresse all went to the regional meet last year.

In the 440-yard dash Johnny Slagle is the man for WD and another shot putter is 6-4, 220-pound freshman Ricky Thurman.

"We'll have a fairly good sprint relay team," coach Bottoms said.

Class A and Mexia against Colorado City and Kirbyville up against San Antonio Cole in Class AA.

The Class AAA opener sees highly regarded Conroe, 33-2 for the year, go against Richardson Lake Highlands, which is in the state playoffs for the first time.

Also in Class AAA, top-rated Lubbock Dunbar, with a 27-5 season record and has a 75-point-per game scoring average, tackles Seguin, which has the lowest point average among the AAA teams.

Only Unbeaten Team Wheatley's Wildcats are the only unbeaten team in the tournament, whipping off 34 straight victories while averaging 92.4 points per game compared with their opponents' 54.8.

Wheatley meets Odessa Permian in the opening AAAA game Friday and Dallas Jefferson meets San Antonio Brackenridge in the lower bracket.

The Wildcats, formerly an all-Negro school and in the state tournament for the first time, are paced by the double-figure scoring of three players. Jerry Bonney is the top gunner with a 21.4 average, followed by Eldridge Small's 10.0 and Dwight Jones with a 13.4 average.

Houston Starter Out of Tourney

HOUSTON (UPI) — George Reynolds, a starting guard for the University of Houston's top-ranked basketball team, will not be able to play in the NCAA tournament coach Guy Lewis said Wednesday.

Lewis said Reynolds, a junior college transfer, had completed too many academic hours to participate in post-season play.

Lewis said the restrictions applied only to post-season play and made no difference in the regular season which the Cougars finished with a 28-0 record.

Lewis said Reynolds "made the transition from junior college to major college competition as well as any player we've ever had at the university. His hustle is contagious. His scoring and passing will definitely be missed. I plan to move Vern Lewis into the starting lineup in Reynolds' spot."

Reynolds, who came to Houston from Imperial Valley Junior College in California, led the team in assists this season with 157.

Texas At El Paso Beats Arizona

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI)—The University of Texas at El Paso ended Texas' regular basketball season on a winning note Wednesday by edging Arizona State, 85-81.

Several Texas teams, including top-ranked Houston, still have post-season tournaments to play in, but Wednesday's game was the last regularly scheduled contest of the season. Houston still will play in the NCAA championships.

Willie Cager hit a tip-in with 2:19 to go to break a 79-79 score and give UTEP the lead for good Wednesday. The Miners then padded their lead with four free throws.

Nat Archibald for UTEP and Seaborn Hill for Arizona State shared high point honors with 22 points each.

UTEP ended the season with a 14-9 record while Arizona State was 11-17.

It's All Over For Hawks

NBA Roundup

By United Press International

It's all over but the celebrating for the St. Louis Hawks.

The Hawks virtually wrapped up the Western Division crown in the National Basketball Association Wednesday night by whipping the second-place Los Angeles Lakers 112-96. The victory cut the Hawks' "magic number" to two for the title clinching as they stretched their lead to 6 1/2 games. St. Louis has five games left and Los Angeles has 10.

It was also a satisfying victory for the Hawks because they'd lost six straight games to the Lakers. They now trail 2-6 in the season series.

Zelmo Beaty scored 25 points and Don Ohl added 21 as the Hawks romped to the victory. Elgin Baylor had 20 for Los Angeles while Richie Clark added 17.

In other games, Detroit beat San Diego 140-118, Cincinnati topped Philadelphia 108-106 and Boston whipped New York 103-91.

The Cincinnati victory kept it one game ahead of Detroit and two ahead of Baltimore for the final playoff spot in the Eastern Division. The club that finishes last will flip San Diego for the No. 1 draft pick—figured to be Houston's Elvin Hayes.

Tour Resumes

MIAMI (UPI)—The Doral

$100,000 Open blasts off today with 144 top-rank pro golfers and one amateur hoping to tame the lake-locked Blue Monster course.

Heading the pack of par-busters will be dapper Georgian Doug Sanders, the defending champion who is aiming for his third win here. Top money this year in the four-day tournament is $20,000.

The pros turned up for the 72-hole sweepstakes Wednesday with a pro-am event in which young Dudley Wysong Jr., of McKinney, Tex., proved he wasn't scared of the monster. He set a course record with an eight-under-par 64. Frank Beard, R.H. Sikes and Bruce Crampton tied for second in the pro-am with 66.

PHS DIAMOND ACES — The mainstays on the Pampa Harvester baseball team this year are front row: Alvin Achord, Steve Summers, Alan Woodard and Mike Fortin and back row: Al Clabaugh, Dick Henley and Fran McGahan. The Harvesters go after their third and fourth straight wins of the season against Woodward, Okla. this Saturday in Oklahoma. Pampa has defeated Borger by 9-2, and Canyon by 11-0.

TCU Beaten On Diamond

By United Press International

Texas Christian stepped out of the Southwest Conference Wednesday and promptly got whitewashed 3-0 by Trinity of San Antonio. Texas also stepped out against Texas Lutheran, but the Longhorns were luckier. Their game was rained out.

The Texas-Texas Lutheran was rescheduled for 3 p.m. today in Austin.

Craig Cook pitched a four-hit shutout while going the distance for Trinity. He was helped by a two-run homer by Billy Robertson in the fourth inning.

The loss was TCU's first of the season against three wins. Trinity is now 2-1.

TCU will get another shot at Trinity today and in other SWC action Texas Tech travels to Sul Ross.

Miami Has Some Good Prospects On Track Team

Miami's track team, coached by Roger McFarren, has several good prospects for the current season on the cinders.

Charles Coffee and Bobby Brines are a couple of quick ones and should do well in the dashes of 100 and 220 yards in Miami's first track meet March 15-16 at the Panhandle Relays.

Jim Moore and Curtis Holland will give some strength in the weights department. Both handle shot putting and discus chores.

The district track meet for Miami is April 6 at Lefors. Coach McFarren said that he has nine boys out for track this year.

All home games will be played at the Pampa Optimist Club Park. There will be dressing rooms available for the visiting teams. Pampa Optimist Club Park is located at 601 E. Craven —two blocks off Highway 60. All games at 4 p.m. except on Saturdays which are played at 1 p.m.

SMU's Record Now 65 in Row For Swimming

DALLAS (UPI) — Southern Methodist University stretched its dual swimming meet record to 65 consecutive wins Wednesday, defeating the University of Texas at Austin 79-35. It was the Mustangs' 10th victory this season.

Russell Phagen of Texas set a pool record of 10:17.6 in the 1,000 yard freestyle and P. K. Brown of SMU broke the pool record in the 50 yard freestyle race with a time of 21.6.

Phagen also won the 500 yard freestyle and Dana Curtis won both the 200 yard freestyle and butterfly events to account for all four Texas wins.

Bryan Robbins of SMU won both the one and three meter diving events.

Hunt Purchases World Tennis Inc.

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Dallas multi-millionaire Lamar Hunt has bought the World Championship Tennis Inc. (WCT) and its headquarters will soon be moved to Dallas.

Hunt, who owns the Kansas City Chiefs football team, the Dallas-Fort Worth Stars baseball team and a Dallas soccer team bought the WTC recently, according to a spokesman for WTC president Dave Dixon.

The spokesman said WTC executive director Bob Briner has already moved his office to Dallas.

Hunt and a nephew, A. G. Gill, owned 50 per cent of WTC interest and Dixon owned the other 50 per cent.

Dixon, who helped professional football get off to a big start here, ordered his WTC tour cut in half for "promotional reasons" late last month.

Gov. John J. McKeithen Tuesday asked Dixon to give up his professional tennis tour and return to the Louisiana Dome Stadium, where he once served as executive secretary.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control, himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Inflation and Prices

"Probably no word in the English language," observed columnist John O'Reilly, appraising current trends in business and finance in the Wall Street Journal, "is more sloppily used than the word 'inflation.' Prices are said to be headed up." He went on to add, "But what prices? The cost of living is soaring. What cost? Prices don't move in unison. The divergence among them, often lost sight of under the 'inflation' blanket, is important."

We certainly agree. The word "inflation" is sloppily used, and Mr. O'Reilly, by his use of the two words "inflation" and "prices" as if they were the same or almost the same thing, is as "sloppily" guilty as the next in his inaccurate use of the term.

It is of utmost importance that we understand the difference between inflation and prices; for, if inflation and prices were the same thing, as your government, the real culprit, would have you believe, its job of convincing you, the consumer, that business and industry are to blame for rising prices would be made that much easier.

Inflation, which causes prices to rise by upsetting the balance between supply and demand (more money chasing the same goods and services), is both counterfeit money and a particularly vicious, secret tax.

It is counterfeit money in the sense that it's backed by neither gold nor silver and in the further sense that it is "money" in EXCESS of what the government, for political reasons, dares to exact in open taxation.

It is a secret and vicious tax (hurting those on fixed incomes the most) in the sense that, by causing prices to rise artificially, it steals from the purchasing power of your income like a thief in the night with the difference as represented by the artificial increase, benefitting the bureaucracy and its favorites and the blame as a result of widespread economic ignorance, falling on the helpless caught in the predatory businessman who is himself caught in the predatory squeeze.

But if Mr. O'Reilly, the columnist referred to above, is to be censured for his sloppy use of "inflation" and "prices," he is to be no less commended for emphasizing an economic fact which we, perhaps, have not given enough attention in the past.

"Prices," indeed, "don't move in unison;" that is prices during an inflationary spiral (and it applies to wages and salaries as well as to goods and services in general) don't all rise at the same rate or at the same time.

Due to the presence or absence, relatively speaking, of competition, automation, and efficient management (all of which tend to push wages and salaries up and prices of goods and services down); taxes, government red tape and restrictions; and union interference (all of which tend to push ALL prices up), and many other factors, of course, prices (including wages and salaries) rise unevenly across the economic board. (Concluded below).

LJ EDP LEAD 2-18 The Differ

If all prices did rise at the same rate or at the same time, no one would be either benefitted or injured by the government's inflation of the money supply; in which case, with neither monetary nor political advantage to be gained, your government would have no reason for resorting to that practice. It is precisely because some people are benefitted by inflation (the indirect buying of votes) and other are injured (an excuse for the government to raise taxes, impose controls and grow in order to "help" them in exchange for still more votes) that the government indulges in it.

The author, John O'Reilly, provides two examples of what we are talking about.

In modern farming and stock raising where, relatively speaking, keen competition and efficient management prevail, and automation, not proscribed by unions, is increasingly resorted to, prices, even during our inflationary spiral are down in stead of up. "Hogs that brought $27 a hundred pounds in the big Chicago market as far back as mid-1966," O'Reilly notes, "now sell about $20. Corn that sold then above $1.50 a bushel is now around $1.12."

Whereas in medicine, increasingly hemmed in with government controls, not being a field readily lending itself to automation, notorious for its paucity of business acumen, and competition being restricted by a form of unionism (the AMA) and state licensing, just the opposite is the case. "The cost of medical service," the author states, "has gone up some 50 per cent in less than a decade. It has jumped 8 per cent in the last year. And you can expect it to keep going up in 1968."

From the foregoing, two important facts emerge. Prices, in the true sense of the term, far from being synonymous with inflation, are precisely the converse.

Prices are a market place phenomenon which, when not interfered with by non-market forces (i.e., government and its partner, unionism) are set by the laws of supply and demand, that is, by the individual consumers saying "yes" or "no" in accordance with the values the buyers and sellers place on things.

Whereas inflation, which distorts and corrupts, is a political trick by which the government increases its size, power, scope and area of control.

As shown in the two examples: in the areas of farming and stock raising, where market place forces still outweigh bureaucratic intervention, even though grievously injured by the fires of inflation and stifling controls, prices are down to the benefit of all consumers; whereas, in the field of medicine, where market place forces and freedom of choice are outweighed by interventionism, prices are going out the roof — to the injury of those, the sick, injured, and aged least able to pick up the tab.

Straining hard to hit a cheerful note and provide some practical helpful advice, for the weary, tax-stopped, bill paying individual, and while admitting it is not much, all things considered, we come up with this:

In the grim days ahead, it will behoove one to study the market place as it has never been studied before and steer clear, to the greatest degree humanly possible, of those areas where government and union intervention outweigh market place choices.

'Economy' in Congress

House of Representative approval for members of two committees to travel abroad was granted recently, says Tax Foundation, Inc., with the proviso that there be no collecting for more than one day's expenses, rupees, drachmas, lira, escudos, marks and kroner. And what else is new on the balance of payments!

they are visiting, but, according to Rep. Gross (Iowa), some members in 1966 collected $100 a day more than once by going to two countries on the same day. The trip resulted, he said, in overlapping collections of expense money of $50 per day in the currency of the country

Who's Brainwashing Our Kids? If you've got a dollar, and a half hour, try this little experiment.

Go to any well-stocked news counter. Select a few well-known magazines. Read them. Odds are that you'll find at least one article describing the "liberal trend" among our youth.

The particular piece you read may deal with the fact that a declining percentage of college graduates want a career in business. They prefer social work or government service—because the latter fields "help people" and business "does not."

Or you may be informed that today's young people are rejecting the "sick, materialistic" way of life in today's America.

To all appearances, our kids are turning left. Why? Perhaps, some say, it represents the normal rebellion of the young. Parents are conservative, so children become liberal. But this explanation is too simple to be true. Youngsters with liberal parents don't rebel; they stay liberal. So there must be something more. Something like — what they learn in school?

Many textbooks are intellectually slanted; not necessarily deliberately; and most of the slanting stresses liberal doctrine.

The above words are those of George A. Membrez, Jr., who spoke over the Manion Forum radio network a few weeks ago. Membrez is in a position to know about such matters, for he is the executive secretary of the Textbook Evaluation Committee of "America's Future."

This committee has reviewed some 500 textbooks in the fields of economics history, sociology, political science and civics. Only 175 of these have been "favorably" reviewed. Which is to say that 325 books reviewed have been found to be slanted. They are all widely used texts—your own child is probably studying one of them now.

Membrez cited examples of book slanting. One text lectures its young readers that: "A centrally planned economy can with in wide limits direct the resources of the economy in a variety of ways. . . . Do we really want tail fins on our automobiles, mink coats in our closets. . . . If these things mean adequate . . . educational expenditures and continued city slums?"

While he admits that an overwhelming liberal bias exists in today's textbooks, Membrez does not think it is a conspiracy. "I think what these authors are doing is presenting what we would call the indoctrination of the approved attitude of the prevailing political philosophy in our country," he says.

And what can you do about it? Find out what books your children are using. Send the titles and authors' names to "America's Future," 542 Main Street, New Rochelle, N. Y. 10802. You will receive critiques free of charge.

If, upon receiving your review, you realize your child is receiving slanted information, there's much else you have to do. It's all outlined for you by Membrez in his Manion Forum speech (Broadcast No. 693). A copy is yours for 15 cents from the Manion Forum, South Bend, Ind.—American Way Features

Well, I see where the mothers are in arms in White Bear, Minn. its because of the schools. They have got a new 'Sex Class' this year that is required study for all the kiddos from kindergarten to the 12th grade. One mother says she wants her two daughters, aged 8 and 9, to play with dolls, not boys. The trouble is, the way the dolls come equipped today she might still be only half-safe.

Another mother says that it is pagan to teach the kiddos Sex at that age. She says even the animals don't teach their young about sex until they're ready for it. She's got a point there. Then a bunch of the mothers said they was going to sue the school board — "Sexless Classes vs. Sexy Schools." They seem to think that sex education leads to experimentation. I wonder why?

Of course, there was these two little boys who were brothers and one said to the other one, "Mommy says we are 6 and 7 years old, Jimmy. But I don't know which one of us is

Romney Withdrawal Makes Reagan Key Man As GOP Congressional Leaders See Presidential Race

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Despite all the big Rockefeller headlines, Governor Ronald Reagan could turn out to be just as big a gainer from Governor George Romney's early withdrawal from the GOP presidential race.

That's the private opinion of Republican congressional leaders, who have carefully refrained from publicly committing themselves to any of the party's hopefuls.

According to Senate Minority Leader Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., Romney's political debacle will strengthen Reagan's position as a leading contender. The California governor, he figures, will go to the convention with enough committed delegates to "make or break" former Vice President Nixon.

Here's how the political arithmetic of Senator Dirksen and the other Republican legislators adds up:

Regardless of what happens in Oregon's May 28 primary, Nixon will go to Miami with between 500 and 525 votes — including the uncontested New Hampshire, Wisconsin, and Nebraska primaries — not enough to win the nomination on the first ballot. That would require 667 votes.

Since Nixon will be able to pick up only a few delegates from the big states of New York (92 delegates), Pennsylvania (64), Ohio (58), Michigan (48), and New Jersey (40), he will need at least the delegations from California (86) and Texas (56) to obtain the margin for nomination.

Reagan, who will go to Miami as California's favorite son, will control a majority of the Texas delegates as well as those from South Carolina (22). He will also have considerable strength in the 56-member Illinois delegation and in two or three smaller states.

NIXON-REAGAN ALLIANCE — As these GOP legislative leaders see it, the comparable strength of Nixon and Rockefeller leaves Reagan, with his 150 to 200 delegates, in a strategic political position. Nixon will have to either turn to the California governor for the votes to win on an early ballot or face a deadlock with Governor Rockefeller.

keffeler to enter other primaries.

Until Governor Romney's pull out turned the first three presidential primaries into no-contests, Nixon had counted on victories in these races to give him the momentum to win the nomination on the first ballot.

Now, Nixon and his chief political aides make no bones that his political future rests increasingly with that of Governor Reagan.

There is no doubt—Mrs. Lyndon Johnson has broken her political silence.

The First Lady has given her first private indication that President Johnson will seek reelection this year. And she approves.

In a White House conversation recently, Mrs. Johnson told Senator James Eastland, D-Miss., a close friend of the Johnsons, "Only the devil could keep Lyndon from running this year. I am all for it."

Until this remark, Mrs. Johnson's failure to hint whether she wanted her husband to seek reelection had caused considerable speculation among their congressional friends. Many wondered privately if the First Lady's silence indicated the President had not made up his mind and was waiting the results of the New Hampshire primary.

Although it isn't generally known, Mrs. Johnson played a major role at the 1960 Democratic Convention in getting her husband, then Senate majority leader, to accept Senator Kennedy's offer to be his running mate.

After the late Speaker Sam Rayburn, Johnson's chief political adviser, had argued against accepting the Kennedy proposal, Mrs. Johnson called her husband aside, and told him:

"Honey, you will live a lot longer as Vice President than you will as majority leader. And that is the way that I want it. Accept Jack's offer."

(DR. MURRAY ROTHBARD) THE VIETNAM CRISIS

The Johnson administration is sinking ever deeper into its quagmire of lies about the war in Vietnam. Now, as these lies come into ever greater confrontation with reality, they are becoming more openly ludicrous. Is there anyone left who really believes that the latest phase of remarkable Viet Cong victories represents the "last convulsive gasp" of the virtually defeated enemy? If it has done nothing else, the administration has added a great new law to military strategy: the more you're being defeated, the more this simply means that the enemy is becoming "desperate." The more you lose, the closer you come to "winning." How many more such "victories" can we stand?

Recently I wrote that the crucial new fact about the war in Vietnam is that the VC has permanently seized the strategic and tactical initiative in the war, an initiative which we had during the previous dry seasons (approximately November to May), and which the Viet Cong had now obtained. But even I underestimated the extent to which the VC is now winning the war.

The last stronghold of the U.S. and Saigon puppet forces had been the cities, and now they are strongholds no longer. For the VC launched a phenomenal simultaneous attack against 70 South Vietnamese cities — including 35 of the 40 provincial capitals in the country. The VC still holds part of many of these cities, including Saigon and Hue, the largest. This means that they will remain there permanently, and that now we are permanently faced — short of wiping out the entire urban Vietnamese population; people we are supposedly fighting to "defend" — with guerrilla warfare in the urban as well as the rural areas.

The success of the VC in storming the cities reflects their ever-growing support among even the Saigonese and urban population, and the overwhelming public defection from the Saigon puppet regime. For how did the VC suddenly manage to pop up in the cities? By sneaking arms and equipment in among the civilian population in advance, and then walking into the cities in civilian guise. This can only be done with the overwhelming support of the population that aids you and secretes your arms in advance.

The VC also succeeded in capturing and raiding all the major South Vietnamese arsenals, and has won mass desertions from the Saigon army. Whole battalions of Saigonese troops have either returned to their home villages or have gone over in a body to the VC. How else can one explain the fact that U.S. infantry was needed to hold on to Saigon itself?

There are no safe areas whatever for American troops in Vietnam; there is no safe military rear area; the front is everywhere, and we are losing rapidly. We had best get out, and get out fast. If General Westmoreland leaves the 6,000 American troops isolated and sur-

Question Box

QUESTION: Is the United Nations a desirable organization in that it promotes freedom and cooperation among the world's countries, or is it working toward an undesirable ultimate end—world government? —Greece Parr, Clovis, N.M.

ANSWER: While the United Nations Organization was sold to the people of the United States at the end of World War II as an agency to promote freedom and cooperation among the nations of the world, it has failed dismally, as demonstrated by the warlike conditions which have been accelerating during the more than 20 years of the UNO's existence. The Korean conflict, the turmoil in the Congo and the Mideast strife are all examples of the failure of the organization.

All evidence indicates the United Nations is working toward world government and has been since the start. A number of years ago, Clark M. Eichelberger, who was director of the American Association for the United Nations said:

"The answer to the subject of 'world government via the United Nations' can, according to my point of view be given easily. World government has evolved and will evolve through the United Nations as the people are willing for it to evolve. The process has already begun. . . .

"First, the law of the individual sovereignty must be above the sovereignty of the individual nation. . . .

"... The Charter (of the United Nations) is a comprehensive but loosely worded document; that almost any step we want to take toward a greater world authority is possible under the present charter if the nations will take full advantage of its provisions. . . .

We suggest that all individuals should get a copy of the Charter of the United Nations from the U.N. Headquarters in New York and study it. They also should study such documents as the U.N. "Universal Declaration of Human Rights." While purporting to protect rights it refuses to recognize the rights of individuals to own property, and says various "freedoms" are subject to some law approved by those in government.

Theoretically, the Charter protects against massive coercive action by the U.N., because of the veto power held by the five permanent members of the Security Council (United States, U.S.S.R., France, England and China). However when the Korean conflict broke out, the U.N. by-passed the Security Council where Russia would have vetoed it, and approved the action by a two-thirds vote of the General Assembly. The precedent now has been established for the U.N. to take "police action" anywhere in the world. The story is told in "Should We Strengthen the United Nations," by Dr. V. Orval Watts, published by Pine Tree Press, Larkspur, Colo.

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

Whenever a group gets together for a sing-along you'll invariably hear them harmonize on "There's a Long, Long Trail Awaiting," a sentimental hit their fathers and grand-fathers sang in World War I. Actually, it was not a war song, but was written by two Yale students about 1913 for a fraternity banquet. The committee rejected the song and no publisher was interested in it. Zo Elliott, one of the composers, later attended Trinity College in England and paid to have it published there. Soon after World War I broke out and the song became a tremendous hit, just as Irving Berlin's "White Christmas" did in World War II. Its popularity has remained constant ever since.

Today's smile: A school teacher was annoyed by little Johnny's constant sniffling and said: "Johnny, have you got a handkerchief?" Little Johnny replied: "Yes, teacher, but my mother told me not to lend it to anybody."

The movie moguls consider such films as "Gone With the Wind," "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," "Around the World in Eighty Days," and other epics as annuities because they can be released every few years and bring in additional millions to the producers' coffers. For example: "Gone With the Wind," now in its seventh re-issue, has grossed $47,400,000 since its first time around in 1939. That ain't hay!

Thoughts while shaving: Herman Webblewus of Stanford, Calif., claims to be the No. 1 moonlighter in the U.S. He worked as janitor at the West Coast's largest astronomical observatory and after finishing his cleaning chores each night he took another job of peeking through a telescope for four hours at the moon to see if he'd be striking it or heading for it. That's really moonlighting. . . . Mushrooms have been considered a delicacy since the days of ancient Greece and Rome, but the name itself as we know it comes from the French "mousseron," meaning soft and spongy of texture. In the last 500 years there have been 20 different English spellings, including such oddities as "mushrump," "moushrumpes" and "mushcherons." The mushroom industry in the U.S. produces 170 million pounds each year, worth about $60 million. But what would your steak be without 'em? . . . Skiing is not only a great winter sport, but also a booming business in many parts of the U.S. A survey shows there are 710 recognized ski areas around the country having ski lifts that can carry 121,000 persons simultaneously. . . . Ever hear of Alley Donald? Well, he was the fastest pitcher of all time in big league baseball. Back in 1939, while hurling for the New York Yankees against the Cleveland Indians, his fast ball was clocked at 94.7 miles per hour. That was twice as fast as the average ball pitched in the average game. . . .

The Santa Ana (Calif.) REGISTER reported in a story: "Mr. and Mrs. L. J. are announcing the adoption of a baby son, who was born November 1. He serves as city councilman." Nothing like trying to stay in right with City Hall.

Country Editor speaking: "They tell you a father can never plan a family budget and these days most mothers can't either."

rounded — by about 30,000 men — at the northwest outpost of Khe Sanh, we will probably get another Dienbienphu, and such a massacre will accelerate the getting-out process.

H. L. Hunt Writes

JUAN BOSCH AND THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

Recent statements by Juan Bosch, who attempted to seize power in the Dominican Republic in April 1965, show that the United States was well-justified in helping to prevent his takeover.

Bosch taped a radio broadcast in Madrid, where he now lives, to be heard in the Dominican Republic. His words confirmed that he is violently anti-American, pro-Communism, and pro-Castro. He said: "I would rather die being a communist than pro-Yankee. Anyone wishing to draw conclusions from these words is free to do so."

He praised the Soviet Union as a country of good-will and moderation, accusing the U.S. of "threatening the peace of the world" and of "subjugating the peoples of Latin America." He called for "American revolutions; to be 'waged by guerrillas,' and the establishment of a people's dictatorship" in the United States.

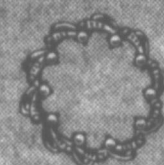

Of Castro, he said: "Events have proved Castro to be right, and a man who has shown he is right in something so fundamental to America's life must be respected. It was the Yankee democrats who fooled us, not communist Fidel Castro." He urged his representative in Santo Domingo to speak in favor of "people's dictatorships" in Latin America.

The Dominican people themselves are aware of the danger that Bosch posed. In their first election after the attempted communist takeover, a conservative was overwhelmingly elected.

If Bosch had taken power, the Dominican people today would be suffering under the same kind of dictatorship that ruthlessly controls Cuba. Through its intervention, the United States helped to save the Dominicans from this fate.
