

'Misleading' Is Charged

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A top secret Senate Foreign Relations Committee staff study concludes that the Johnson administration misled Congress about the 1964 Tonkin Gulf incidents that led to the bombing of North Vietnam, it was learned today.

Essential parts of the study, which has been a closely guarded secret up to now, were made public by Sen. Wayne L. Morse, D-Ore., in a senate speech Thursday. Morse did not identify them as such in his address, but reliable sources said his remarks were taken nearly verbatim from the staff study.

The study formed the basis for a searching review by the full committee that has led several members to express doubts that the Aug. 4, 1964, attack on the destroyers Maddox and Turner Joy ever occurred. Members have also questioned whether the United States might not have provoked the incidents or at least overreacted to the whole affair.

The staff study, which is based on a review of secret documents, including U.S. Navy messages and logs during the period, concludes that:

—Maddox and Turner Joy were not on "routine" patrol as described to Congress in 1964 but were assigned to a "provocative electronic spying mission. They were authorized to stimulate the radar and other electronic systems of Red China and North Vietnam.

—Maddox was attacked by North Vietnam on the afternoon of Aug. 2, 1964, but North Vietnam had every reason to believe that the U.S. destroyer was an enemy ship. The North Vietnamese Navy may have thought the Maddox was associated with a South Vietnamese bombardment expedition against two North Vietnamese islands.

—After the Aug. 4 incident the United States decided to bomb North Vietnam despite messages from the commander of the Maddox-Turner Joy task force that he had doubts an attack had taken place.

The staff study notes that the Maddox's appearance along the North Vietnamese coastline on Aug. 2 was only the third time that a U.S. ship had been spotted in that area since 1962. The Maddox was coming from the same direction that South Vietnamese gunboats had come from 40 hours before when they attacked the North Vietnamese islands of Hon Me and Hon Nieu.

"The Maddox could have led the North Vietnamese to believe that it was part of the South Vietnamese operation, or in any event, was a provocative mission," Morse told the senate.

Political Lesson Is Learned in Elevator

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The way President Johnson sees it, there's a political lesson to be learned in being imprisoned for 12 minutes with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara in a Pentagon elevator.

The Chief Executive brought up the incident Thursday evening in a toast to governors attending a White House dinner.

"Let me give you a confidential briefing on what really happened in the Pentagon today," he said.

"First of all, the elevator was No. 13. And there were 13 of us in there. And today is Leap Year.

"I felt sorry for that poor elevator operator. A voice came over the intercom and asked: 'Do you have a full load there?'"

"I was interested in his reply."

"The operator looked at the secretary of defense and swallowed once. He looked at me and swallowed twice."

"Then he snapped: 'A load? Affirmative, buddy.'"

"I turned to Bob McNamara. 'What's wrong with this thing?' I said in my softest voice. 'Don't ask me,' he replied. 'I don't work here any more.'"

"I looked at him sadly and thought that's real efficiency for you—he's not even out of the building and the computers have broken down."

"The secretary must have read my thoughts. He clicked his fingers and explained: 'I've got it Mr. President. This is February 29th and we didn't program the computer for Leap Year.'"

"As we walked away I saw Bob McNamara whip out his famous little black book. I peeked over his shoulder and looked at the notation. 'Check elevator budget at the World Bank.'"

"Standing stuck inside that elevator today, I thought of my Republican friends. I hoped they would realize that it can take a long time to get to the top in this town."

"A few minutes after the elevator jammed to stop between floors, the door was opened mechanically and a chair passed down to the passengers."

Johnson and McNamara stepped up on the chair to reach floor level and crawled out. They were delayed 12 minutes in getting to a ceremony marking McNamara's departure as defense secretary.

RUINS KREMLIN HOPES

Rumanians' Walkout Ends Accord in Meet

BUDAPEST (UPI)—The Soviet-sponsored world Communist party meeting went on today but a walkout by angry Rumanians appeared to have all but ruined the Kremlin's hopes of solid support in its struggle with Red China, diplomatic reports said.

The Romanian delegation, independent minded all along, charged that pressure tactics had "changed the character" of the meeting.

What brought matters to a head was a shouting match in which Khaled Bagdes of Syria accused Romania of nationalist chauvinism, undermining Communist unity and being a "tool of Zionism."

Bagdash was referring to the fact Romania was the only eastern European Communist nation that failed to break off relations with Israel following the June Mideast war.

Chairman Protests

Paul Niculescumizil, Romanian delegation chairman, protested vigorously and the Syrian finally agreed to strike the attack from the record.

The international Communist movement, already split by the Sino-Soviet feud, Cuba's ideological conflict with both Moscow and Peking and Yugoslavia's earlier defection from the Communist bloc, appeared to face a new and hard to define problem caused by the departure of the Romanians.

The Romanians walked out of the meeting Thursday night and planned to return to Bucharest today.

They said they were also incensed because the meeting permitted attacks on fellow Communist parties such as Communist China.

Indirect Swipes

The Romanians referred to criticism against Mao Tse-tung, Chinese Communist party chairman, and indirect swipes at Romania by Mikhail Suslov, chairman of the Soviet delegation.

An official communique issued by the meeting more than eight hours after the Romanians left the meeting said the remaining 66 delegates acknowledged with regret Romania's departure.

Teachers Strike In Four States; More May Come

By United Press International

Teacher strikes kept thousands of students out of school again today in Florida, Pennsylvania, Missouri and California.

In San Francisco, the latest target of strikes for more money and educational improvements, 1,500 teachers ignored personal pleas of Mayor Joseph Alioto and stayed away from classes.

In Florida, school books gathered more dust as the statewide strike of 22,000 teachers entered its 10th day. A possibility that classes would reopen in the Sunshine state looked bleak after one of the state's biggest school boards rejected a compromise settlement.

Gov. Claude Kirk, who has tried but failed to get Florida teachers back to their desks, said he planned to allow a special $254 million educational spending program—a program teachers claim is insufficient—to become law March 7 without his signature.

One strike, however, was ended Thursday—in Albuquerque, N.M., where 2,500 of the city's 2,900 teachers walked out for more pay, lighter class loads and improved facilities.

After Gov. David Cargo agreed to appoint a nine-man panel to find more revenue for the state education program, regular classes resumed for the 20,000 students who had enjoyed a week of winter vacation.

Strikes continued today in Pittsburgh and in the St. Louis suburb of Wellston. In Oklahoma City, the Oklahoma Education Association Thursday called for a one-way statewide "professional holiday" by its 27,000 teachers next Wednesday to try to convince the legislature to push through a school bill and tax package.

The San Francisco teachers' strike was the first for that city of 750,000. A spokesman for school Supt. Robert F. Jenkins promised classes would go on—with the help of substitute teachers.

THEN AND NOW — Discussing Pampa's growth in the past and plans for the future at a meeting of all past Chamber of Commerce presidents in the area, were left, E. O. (Red) Wedgeworth, manager, Harold Dapett, president, and Roy McMillan, Pampa, who was president back in 1931.

Minutes of Jan. 16 School Board Meeting Still Kept 'Under Wraps'

By WANDA MAE HUFF

There still was question today as to whether or not the minutes of the Jan. 16 closed school board meeting at which Dr. John Damron was discharged on two-hour notice as superintendent of Pampa schools, will be made available to the public.

H. Creel Grady Jr., board president, said today he didn't know when they would be available.

"I don't know," Grady said. "I haven't even visited with the board. I don't know if they're available or not. It's up to the board."

Homer Craig, school business manager, was asked today if he had seen the minutes of the Jan. 16 meeting.

"I sure haven't seen them," he replied.

The next question was: "Do you know where they are?" he was asked.

"I don't know a thing," was his reply.

Waters, the board's attorney, was in conference and could not be reached up until noon today.

Laws Asked For Protection From Chloromycetin

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A government admission that it can do nothing prompted a call for legislation today to protect Americans from the needless peril of indiscriminate use of the Parke, Davis Co. antibiotic chloromycetin.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., chairman of a Senate subcommittee that has been looking into misuse of the drug, said some form of law was needed. "I think it may flatly restrict use of the drug to hospitals and, even then, approval by two doctors will be needed before it can be administered," he said.

In a startling admission Thursday, Commissioner James L. Goddard of the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) told the panel: "I'm at my wit's end for doing what must be done. What it comes down to, in bald terms, is: What can be done to protect you from your doctors."

The FDA says the chloromycetin, which has been on the market for 20 years, should be used only for serious infections like typhoid fever. But Goddard said that most of it was used to treat acne, colds and other minor ailments.

Johnson Hires New Secretary

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson has called back to his staff for secretarial duties a long-time family friend and helper — Mary Rather of Hillsboro, Tex.

She worked for Johnson about 15 years on Capitol Hill before returning to her ancestral home in Hillsboro. She had helped the Johnsons during periods of need in the past few years and she is now on the President's permanent staff again.

Anti-Riot Commission Gives Challenge To Johnson for Laws, Money To End Riots

By MIKE FEINSLBER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson has been challenged by his top-level anti-riot commission to return to Congress and ask for laws and more money to save America from "large scale and continuing" race warfare in the streets of its cities.

Since the hot July when Newark and Detroit erupted at a cost of 69 "lives a week" such as no nation should live through," Johnson called it—not much has been done to prevent it from happening again, the President was told.

Instead, the President's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders said, "our nation is moving toward two societies, one black, one white—separate and unequal."

"Little basic change in the conditions underlying the outbreak of disorder has taken place," the commission said in its 1,400-page, 250,000 word report, the result of a seven-month, $1 million study of the cause of the 164 racial outbreaks in American communities during the spring and summer of 1967.

Kerner Headed Commission

The commission, headed by retiring Democratic Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois, included New York's Republican Mayor John V. Lindsay, the vice chairman, and four members of Congress, one representative each of labor, business, state government, city police and the civil rights movement. Two members were Negroes, one was a woman and one a southerner.

They said their recommendations may not be enough to prevent more bloodshed in America in 1968 but it is "a commitment so clear that Negro citizens will know its truth and accept its goal" might be enough so that "the likelihood of disorder can be markedly lessened."

The commission asked for "national action—compassionate, massive and sustained." It asked for a guaranteed income as high as the $3,335 poverty level for a family of four; the creation of 2 million jobs in the next 24 months and 6 million housing units in the next five years; federal disaster aid to cities hit by riots similar to that offered places hurt by floods or hurricanes; and year-round federal schooling programs for slum children.

The commission did not say what this would cost. But Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okl., one of its members, suggested its recommendations could be as expensive as the Vietnam War—$32 billion a year.

Navy, Coast Guard Nab Steel Trawlers

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. forces destroyed five Communist supply ships and captured a sixth today in what military officials called the "most important" naval battle of the Vietnam war.

U.S. Navy and Coast Guard patrols caught three 100-foot steel trawlers carrying munitions trying to break through the allied blockade on the South Vietnam coast.

They sank two of the three gun-runners in predawn battle and drove the third into the beach where the crew blew the vessel and themselves up to avoid capture. A fourth big trawler turned tail and fled, not daring to enter South Vietnamese territorial waters, spokesmen said.

At the same time two 40-foot guerrilla sampans tried slipping into the Cua Viet River just under the North-South Vietnam border. U.S. forces caught them, sinking one and capturing the other. A third sampan gun-runner got caught by a U.S. Army 25th Infantry Division ambush patrol on a waterway only two miles north of Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airport and warbase.

The ambush patrol blew the arms-laden vessel apart.

A U.S. military spokesman cited the water action and said, "The most important naval battle of the Vietnam War was fought and won in the early hours shortly after midnight this morning.

Never had the Communists tried such a large blockade run. U.S. intelligence sources said the vessels made their fatal runs in an attempt to rearm Communist forces heavily depleted of weapons during the past month's urban warfare.

Military officials said the trawlers came from either North Vietnam or Communist China. Two American sailors were injured in the incidents.

For two days before the unprecedented blockade run, the trawlers had been tracked by allied ships. The vessels had hovered in international waters, more than 12 miles offshore.

Then one trawler plunged toward shore on the northern coast, 40 miles southwest of the marine base at Chu Lai. The Coast Guard cutter Winona and the U.S. Navy's five-man swift boats chased it down. The Red ship hit the beach but helicopter-borne allied troops raced across the sandy beach to capture the vessel and its tons of guerrilla arms. U.S. spokesmen said the ship's crew blew it up.

Stock Show Scheduled In Pampa Tomorrow

A four-day round of livestock shows will get underway at Recreation Park tomorrow with the annual Gray County Junior Livestock Show, which will last all day Saturday.

The six-county Top O' Texas Stock Show and Sale will unofficially start Sunday with weighing and sifting of animals. Judging will begin Monday and the show will conclude Wednesday with the sale.

Approximately 75 animals from 4-H and FFA organizations have been entered in the Gray County Junior Livestock Show, which is sponsored by the Pampa Noon Lions Club.

Judging for the show will start at 2 p.m. Saturday. E. J. Roberts, vocational agriculture instructor at Canadian High School, will be the judge.

Ralph Thomas, retired Gray County agricultural agent, and Foster Whaley, county agent, will be in charge of weighing and classifying the animals.

Ribbons and trophies will be furnished for the top three entries in each class. Showmanship trophies will be furnished by the Production Credit Assn. and by the Federal Land Bank Assn.

Official activities in the Top O' Texas Show and Sale will be kicked off at 9 a.m. Monday with judging of the swine. Judges for the show are Dr. Don Pinney of Oklahoma State University, judging beef animals, and Eural Lamer of Lubbock, who will judge the swine.

Approximately 75 steers and 150 hogs have been entered.

WEATHER

PAMPA AND VICINITY — Fair and warmer this afternoon, with increasing cloudiness late tonight. Partly cloudy to cloudy and colder on Saturday. High today will be in the lower 70s. Low tonight expected in the lower 30s. High tomorrow near 50. Westerly winds 10-20 m.p.h. YESTERDAY'S HIGH 55 headed toward the $76 billion-a-year level.

Clifford Sworn In As Defense Head

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Clark McAdams Clifford, Washington lawyer and adviser to Democratic presidents for two decades, takes command today of the giant U.S. military machine.

Clifford, 61, was to be sworn in as secretary of defense by Chief Justice Earl Warren at a ceremony.

He succeeds Robert S. McNamara, who ended a record seven-year term as secretary Thursday and departed with warm acclaim and high praise from President Johnson.

Clifford, who rose to the rank of captain in the Navy and became naval aide to President Truman, takes over the Pentagon at a time when the nation is faced with critical military decisions in the Vietnam war and the defense budget is headed toward the $76 billion-a-year level.

DEAR ABBY: I am going to have my first baby in six months, and both my husband and I are excited about it. A friend told me that if I let my doctor give me something to knock me out during the labor and delivery I will miss the greatest thrill a woman can know—hearing her baby's first cry. She said when she had her baby, she knew what was going on every minute and she wouldn't have missed a thing for the world.

I talked to my doctor about this, and he said he gives his patients something to keep them as comfortable as possible, and for a doctor to deliver babies any other way is brutal and unnecessary. Now I don't know what to do. I hate to change doctors but I don't want to cheat myself out of woman's greatest thrill. My husband says it's up to me. Have you (or any of your readers) any experience in this line?

HAVING A BABY
DEAR HAVING: I have had two experiences. For Number One (a daughter), I was "knocked out." For Number Two (a son), I was wide awake. If I had it to do all over again, I'd elect to be knocked out, thank you.

Enjoy the "thrill" of hearing your baby's ninth or tenth cry. It's the same as the first, and it won't take long before the crying loses its charm, and the novelty wears off.

DEAR ABBY: Not long ago a mother wrote to you complaining because a girl who looked to be "not much older" than her 17-year-old son was sent in by the doctor to stand by the table while her son had a lamp treatment for a skin ailment. The mother said the boy was embarrassed and refused to go back for another treatment because of this girl.

Then a REGISTERED NURSE wrote in saying the girl HAD to be at least 21 to be a nurse. Who said she was a NURSE? I have worked in doctors' offices, have worn a nurse's uniform and a nurse's cap, and have been called "nurse," but I am not a nurse. And I think if you will inquire, you will find that this is true in many doctors' offices today. And dentists', also. Sincerely,
GIRL IN WHITE

DEAR ABBY: When a person is under the influence of liquor does it make him tell the truth? Or does it just help him to lie better? Please hurry up your answer as I have to know before Saturday night.

PEGGY
DEAR PEGGY: The effects vary with the individual. But if you remember this rule you can't go wrong: "If you can't believe a man when he's sober, don't believe him when he's drunk."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "A-B-E-R" IN NEW LONDON, CONN.: Your son had 15 years in which to change the beneficiary. Inasmuch as he left his wife and family well-cared for and you were a widow when he married, you may safely assume that he intended that policy for your security. Keep it, and don't apologize.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

FACIAL BEAUTY STARTS WITH SPARKLING CLEANLINESS as every smart girl knows. Unless your complexion is free of impurities, and very few are, a moisturizer and cleansing cream won't filter through the pores. The skin needs nourishing emollients for pampering whether it's dry or oily. A rich cream will smooth your face and neck. It will float away dust, grime and make-up when rinsed off, leaving your complexion with a radiant glow. Wake up your face with facial exercises as you apply your cleansing cream. Tone and stimulate your muscles as you wipe away tired lines and ugly wrinkles.

Twentieth Century Culture Club Has Marian Anderson Report

The Twentieth Century Culture Club met in the home of Mrs. Irene Osborne with Mrs. Warren Hasse as co-hostess. Mrs. Weldon Carter presided. In the business meeting a letter was read from Mrs. Naomi Sautter, expressing her thanks for the gifts sent to the Papago Indians.

Mrs. Hasse introduced the program by playing the record, "My Lord, What a Morning" sung by Marian Anderson. Mrs. J. L. Chase reviewed the autobiography of Marian Anderson. "Her early years were happy," said Mrs. Chase. "She was born in Philadelphia and had two younger sisters. Her mother was small and had been a school teacher before she married. Her father was tall, standing over six feet. He sold coal and ice and worked hard to provide for his family. Services at the Union Baptist Church were never missed as he had charge of ushers."

"When Marian was age six her father enrolled her in the church Junior Choir. He bought an old piano. It never occurred to Marian she might be able to play the piano properly until one day when she was delivering a basket of laundry and heard the sound of a piano. She looked through the window and saw the woman playing the piano beautifully had dark skin like her own."

"Marian's aunt arranged a concert for a church building fund and told Marian she was to sing. Once en route to the grocery store for her mother, she saw a hand bill lying on the street and picked it up. In the corner was her picture with her name and 'Come and hear the baby contralto, 10 years old written beneath. She has a more vivid memory of the handbill than of the actual singing at the concert." Mrs. Chase said.

"When Marian was in her teens she accompanied herself on the piano when she sang at different churches, at Negro colleges, at Y.W.C.A. events, and other social functions.

"Unable to get in the Philadelphia Music Conservatory, Marian entered William Penn High School with the idea of taking a commercial course so she could get a job. She sang some solos at an assembly and did so well she was transferred to South Philadelphia High School where she could take a straight college preparatory course and was given free voice lessons.

After Marian graduated from high school she toured Negro colleges in the south and performed in theaters with Billy King as her accompanist.

"At a reception following a concert she met Orpheus H. Fisher—called King or Razzle by his friends. He was an architectural engineer and liked Marian from the moment he saw her. It wasn't long until he asked Marian to elope with him but Marian, although she liked him, was not ready to marry. "She still wanted to sing. But when she sang in New York's Town Hall the enthusiasm drained out of her when she saw only a scattering of people in the audience. For sometime after this she had a complex about music and poured herself into another project.

"She and her mother bought a small house and re-decorated it. The little house was like a refuge from disaster. But her savings were small and she had to return to singing.

"She acquired a scholarship to go to Europe for six months. In Germany she met two Norwegianians who were looking for new talent and accepted an invitation to go with them. Since European audiences were not accustomed to Negroes the reaction was a mixture of open-mindedness and curiosity. Her accompanist helped a great deal in leading her to being accepted as an international singer. She appeared in many places all over Europe for a two year period. Arturo Toscanini told her, 'Yours is a voice such as one hears once in a hundred years'.

Marian's first appearance on her return to the United States was at New York's Town Hall. On Mrs. Roosevelt's invitation, Marian sang before the King and Queen of England at the White House. Later, on invitation from Secretary of Interior Ickes, she sang from the Lincoln Memorial to a large crowd.

"King Fisher and Marian, who had been in love with each other for many years, were married in 1943. They got an apartment in New York where King worked and also bought land in Connecticut where, on week-ends, King built a house.

"Easter Sunday in 1965, Marian Anderson sang her farewell from Carnegie Hall. She said the faith and confidence of others in her had been like shining; guiding stars that pulled her up," concluded Mrs. Chase.

Art, Civic Club Attends Program On 'Conservation'

LEFORS (Spl) — Mrs. Jerrel Julian presented the program on "Conservation" at the regular meeting of Lefors Art and Civic Club recently.

In the business session Mrs. Ray Chastain was appointed to direct the Anniversary Scholarship Tea, with Mrs. Howard Archer and Mrs. Iris Barron assistants.

Mrs. Tom Florence was accepted as a new member. The group voted to contribute to the International Gardens Project.

Mrs. Julian gave the program, showed a film strip and discussed the growing importance of the ocean as food and water source. Mrs. Julian spoke of the weather versus the ocean. In conclusion Mrs. Julian quoted "America must not lapse in her quest for knowledge of the sea."

Mrs. G. N. Mounger and Mrs. Helen Aikens served refreshments to Mmes. Ray Chastain, James Gattlin, Carl Hall, John Harris, Jerrel Julian, Loyd McKnight, H. L. Teel, Hugh Terry, Tony Timmons, Joe Watson, Tom Florence, Howard Archer, Iris Barron, Helen Lette, and guest Mrs. Mark Harper.

Members of the homemakers class of the school will present a style show for the next meeting.

Schools Week Plans Announced

Pampa schools will observe Texas Public Schools week Monday through Friday by class visitations, a mid-winter band concert, civic club luncheons at schools and Parent-Teacher Association meetings.

Robert E. Lee Junior High School band will present its annual mid-winter band concert at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. Joe DiCosimo is director. The cadette band, advanced sixth graders, will perform directed by Charles Meech, elementary school band director.

Cecil Darby will direct Pampa Junior High School band after the cadettes perform. Harris Brinson will direct the Pampa High School band as the last concert number.

In the mid-winter concert, both junior highs and the high school will present their contest numbers for the Borger Band Festival March 15 and 16.

Admission to the festival is free, and is open to the public, Brinson said.

Civic clubs which have scheduled noon luncheons with school children are Rotary Club, Wednesday; Austin Elementary School; Lions Club, Houston Elementary School, Thursday; and Junior Chamber of Commerce, Travis Elementary School, Tuesday.

P-TA units meeting this week are Baker Elementary School, Lamar Elementary School, and Woodrow Wilson Elementary School.

All are meeting at 2:15 p.m. Thursday.

Other activities connected with public school week are P-TA Teachers' Night at 7 p.m. March 14 and a Kiwanis luncheon at noon March 15, both at Horace Mann Elementary School. The activities are scheduled after this special week because of conflicting dates, according to Sam Begert, Mann principal and chairman of public school week events.

School will be dismissed March 8 for teachers to attend District IX Texas State Teachers Association meeting in Amarillo.

Past Presidents Hold Meet At Chamber of Commerce

All the past presidents of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce who are still living in the Pampa area met with E. O. (Red) Wedgworth, manager, and Harold Barrett, current president, at 10 a.m. today in the chamber office.

The past presidents include:

Roy McMillan, 1931; Travis C. Lively, 1933; F. M. Culbertson, 1941; Crawford Atkinson, 1942; Frank D. Smith, 1947; Fred Thompson, 1949; Gene Fatheree, 1951 and Charles B. Cook, 1952.

Also Clinton Evans, 1954; Floyd Watson, 1955; Ed Myatt, 1956; Paul C. Crouch, 1957; E. L. Henderson, 1958; Warren Hasse, 1959; H. V. Wilks, 1960; Gordon Lyons, 1962; Dr. Joe R. Donaldson, 1963; Aubrey L. Steele, 1964; E. L. Green Jr., 1965; Norman C. Henry, 1966 and E. E. Shelhamer, 1967.

Ideas for improvement of the chamber's program were discussed informally by the group.

'Brigadoon' Has Harmony, Color

By WANDA MAE HUFF

It's colorful. The music harmonizes where it should and for most parts can be heard easily. The singers and dancers are amateurs, but know their lines and present the production numbers with vigor and with feeling. In short, Pampa High School choir's staging of "Brigadoon," scheduled at 8 tonight and Saturday in PHS auditorium, is worth seeing.

A near capacity audience, though sometimes slow on applause reactions to the performance, rated the first night performance Thursday as "well done."

Bill Davis directs a cast of 17 characters, a chorus of 34 townspeople and 16 dancers in their presentation of "Brigadoon," the mystical story of a city which by a "miracle" arises for only one day only once every 100 years.

A central character spotlighted throughout is Mary Jane Rose as Meg Brockle, that irresistible, boisterous girl who has as she says several times "found the real love of my life."

Gail Craddock must have practiced her voice lessons, for she performs well in her musical numbers as Fiona MacLaren, singing "Waitin' For My Dearie," and in her duets with Fillmore Merrill as the New Yorker, Tommy Albright. They sing "Heather on the Hill," and "Almost Like Being in Love."

The non-singer of central characters, Greg Gunter as Jeff Douglas, the other 20th Century New Yorker, makes a believable drunken youth who is "ancient, decrepit and disintegrating rapidly," as he says in a scene with Meg (Mary Jane Rose).

The kill-dressed lads and Scottish lassies with ribbons in their hair looked typical of the period of "Brigadoon," the 17th Century, in the forested and mist filled Highlands of Scotland.

Pampan's Father Dies in Oklahoma

Walter Martin, 82, of Arnett, Okla., father of Mrs. Bessie Kosonen, 417 N. Zimmers, died Thursday at the Shattuck, Okla., Hospital.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in Arnett with burial in Debolt Cemetery in Arnett.

Mr. Martin was born in 1885 and was a retired farmer. His wife preceded him in death 2½ years ago.

He is survived by two other daughters, Mrs. Mary Gross, and Mrs. Ruth Coykendall, both of Arnett, Okla.; three sons, Clarence Martin and Walter F. Martin, both of Arnett, and Buran Martin, in Colorado; several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Street Sweeper, Auto Collide

Two men were in satisfactory condition at Highland General Hospital today after the automobile in which they were riding collided with a city street sweeper early this morning at the railroad underpass in the 200 block of S. Cuyler.

They are Royce L. Ayers, 40, of 1011 S. Clark St., and Ben Johnson of Booker.

One other passenger in the car, Jack Sargent of 421 Doyle St., and the driver of the street sweeper, Joe Harrell Fox, a city employee, were not injured.

The accident occurred at 12:45 a.m. this morning on the west side of the underpass when the driver of the southbound auto failed to see the northbound street sweeper in time to avoid the collision.

Commissioners Okay Motions

Gray County commissioners court approved today the following motions:

—Deposit of $200,000 voted for Perry Lefors Airfield improvements in a 90-day time deposit account.

—Payment of $50 a month for the local National Guard unit, Company B, 2nd Battalion of the 36th Infantry Division.

—Payment of $50 a month for mileage expenses for both county Juvenile Officer Bill Leonard and county Welfare Officer Mrs. Geraldine Schultz.

The $200,000 was put in time deposit account pending approval of additional state and federal money, at which time construction will begin on improvements at Perry Lefors Airfield.

Sgt. H. W. Patterson, unit administrator of Company B, the local National Guard unit, and Captain Dave Crossman, unit commander, asked the commissioners for the money because, they said, the armory is available during times of emergency and the local unit is subject to call-out in times of local emergency. State law authorizes county governments to pay up to $100 a month to local guard units.

In other business, the commissioners:

—Delayed action on a proposal to increase the salary of the county trapper by $25 a month. The trapper is part of the Dept. of Interior's animal damage control program.

—Accepted the low bid of Culbertson-Stowers Chevrolet - Co. for a two-ton truck cab and chassis with trade-in of a 1958

Riot

row the people would not want to spend that $32 billion to prevent riots," he said in an interview. "Our goal was to show the country that this sort of thing must be done."

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., a commission member and the only Negro member of the U.S. Senate, said today he will sponsor legislation to carry out the report's recommendations.

"I can only hope and pray," that the congressional Republican leaders, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., and Rep. Gerald R. Ford, Mich., will go along, he said.

The commission said that if it wants to do so, America has the wealth to raise the money—by raising taxes—to prevent the nation from becoming two states at war with each other with "white retaliation" following "large scale and continuing violence" on the part of Negroes.

Turning to its investigation of the riots, the commission found that they did not result from "conspiracy" but blamed both "white racism" and black extremism. The extremists were condemned for creating a mood of violence which needed only a spark to touch off rioting. The commission gave low marks to police departments in riot cities.

"The abrasive relationship between the police and the ghetto community has been a major—and explosive—source of grievance, tension and disorders," it said.

It said the first shot in Newark, where 26 persons died, was fired by a national guardsman and the first shot in Detroit, where 43 were killed, was fired by a Negro private guard.

A thought for the day: Epictetus said, "The good or ill of man lies within his own will."

Still Only Three City Candidates

With the filing deadline just hours away, there still were only three candidates in the race for the Ward 2 and Ward 4 commission posts to be filled at the April 2 municipal election.

The deadline was set to fall at 5 p.m. today when the city secretary's office closed at City Hall.

Only candidates in the race, up until noon today were Hugh Burdette, unopposed for Ward 2 commissioner, and Clyde Caruth and Earl D. Hilton, contesting for the Ward 4 place on the city council.

Absentee balloting in the city election will start March 11 and run through March 29.

Firemen Answer Three Minor Calls

Firemen answered three calls yesterday, none of them of major significance.

An 11:38 a.m. alarm sent firemen to 401 N. Christy, but a small carburetor fire on a jeep had been extinguished when they arrived.

A 4 p.m. alarm four miles east of Hoover sent firemen to fight a grass fire. Approximately 10 acres of grassland was burned on the John Spearman ranch. The fire was apparently started by a passing train, fire officials say.

The last alarm came at 5:55 p.m. A well house and contents were totally destroyed on a farm eight miles west of Pampa on Texas 152.

White Deer Alumni Choose President

SKELLYTOWN (Sp1) — The White Deer High School Alumni Association met recently to elect a new president and to discuss plans for the 10th quadrennial alumni banquet honoring all graduates. Horace Williams, class of 1938 was chosen president.

The banquet, honoring graduates from classes 1929-1968 will be held June 8 in the Robert E. Lee Junior High School cafeteria in Pampa. All graduates, teachers and associates of the school are eligible to attend.

To help notify all graduates, a secretary has been appointed for each class. In all but five classes, area residents were available for the job. The classes yet to be filled are 1933, 1936, 1939, 1947 and 1967.

Indian Organization Schedules Meeting

The Pampa Southwest Indian Organization will have its monthly meeting at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the Gray County court house.

Delegates who attended a meeting in Seattle, Wash. of the National Indian Urban Consultation will give a report at the meeting.

One of the delegates, Marland Hayes, president of the Southwest Indian Organization, said the 84 delegates to the meeting had asked the Bureau of Indian Affairs to update records on which Indian funds were based. Many of the records are obsolete, Hayes said, dating back as much as half a century.

Religion in America

By LOUIS CASSELS United Press International Christian observance of the Lenten season, which began this week and will continue until East Sunday (April 14), has undergone great changes over the years.

Catholic Church permitted a light breakfast in addition to the noonday meal and evening snack. Meat continued to be banned, but milk, eggs and cheese were permitted.

The biggest change of all came two years ago, when Pope Paul VI issued a new "apostolic constitution on fast and abstinence."

The bishops pointed out that there are other ways of imitating Christ. They mentioned, for example, ministering to the sick, the poor, the underprivileged, the imprisoned, the derelict, the discouraged, the stranger, the lonely, and persons of other color, nationalities or backgrounds than our own.

The new rule called for a main meal at noon, followed by a light snack (usually bread and water, or bread and wine) in the evening.

"In the light of grave human needs which weigh on Christian conscience at all seasons, we urge particularly during Lent, generosity to local, national and world programs of sharing of all things needed...to implement the right of the poor to their part in our abundance," they said.

Practices varied widely over Christendom until the 7th Century, when Pope St. Gregory the Great laid down a uniform rule. He enjoined Christians to eat only one meal a day during Lent and to abstain, even at that meal, from "flesh meat and all things that come from flesh, such as milk, cheese, eggs."

They also recommended that Lent be regarded as a time for extra attention to spiritual studies, including Bible reading; for special diligence in mass attendance and other devotions; and for voluntary acts of self-denial, other than fasting.

This rule remained in effect for two centuries. In the 9th Century, the church modified the rigors of the fast for the benefit of laborers who found it difficult to keep working on one meal a day.

The new Catholic approach to Lent is quite similar to that which a number of major Protestant communions, including Anglicans and Lutherans, have followed in recent centuries.

The new rule called for a main meal at noon, followed by a light snack (usually bread and water, or bread and wine) in the evening.

The public has been invited to attend by Rev. T. O. Uphaw, pastor of the church.

Unusual Cross Is Lent Symbol At Dallas Church

DALLAS (UPI) — First Methodist Church put up a cross for the Lenten period it hoped would symbolize not only man's inhumanity to man, but also sense of hope for the future.

Christian Scientists Set Lesson-Sermon For Sunday Services

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the Lesson Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday.

Christian Scientists Set Lesson-Sermon For Sunday Services

The Golden Text for this Bible lesson is from Micah: "Thou, Bethlehem Ephrathah, though thou be little among the thousands of Judah, yet out of thee shall he come forth unto me that is to be ruler in Israel; whose goings forth have been from of old, from everlasting."

CALL TO PRAYER

Probably the wisest prayer one should pray today is, "Lord, teach us to pray." Jesus was a man of prayer. He often prayed all through the night on a mountain side. His example and the example of John provoked them to ask, "Lord, each us to pray."

We are living in a world filled to the brim with crises. Poverty, war, crime, selfishness, addictions and diseases. One has said, "People do not learn to pray unless taught by some commanding example or forced by some eye-opening discipline." This was Daniel's experience while captive in Babylon. "Daniel kneeled upon his knees three times a day, and prayed." Is this not our call today? to all Christendom? to pray?

A troopship was torpedoed in the Atlantic. In the confusion four soldiers lost their life belts. Four Chaplains — a rabbi, a catholic, and two protestants removed their own life belts and fastened them on the soldiers. They were last seen kneeling in prayer on the deck of the ship clasping hands as the ship disappeared, and four soldiers floated off to safety. Let us all clasp hands and kneel in prayer for our boys in Vietnam, our President and government representatives, the sin and sickness of the world and our nation, and for each and everyone of ourselves.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Socialism Under Attack

Sooner or later, we venture to predict, several devastating facts of life are going to begin sinking into the consciousness of the American people and, when that happy event occurs, the concepts of "public schools," "urban renewal," "governmental training programs," "the job corps," "vita," "head start," etc., "welfare payments," and the entire mishmash of socialistic schemes designed to "help" some people by robbing others are going to come under such a storm of criticism as to make earlier attacks seem like mild summer squalls in comparison.

A few of these facts of life may be stated:

That illiteracy, "dropouts" and juvenile crime, out of all proportion to population increases, are advancing at approximately the same rate as the size of the governmentally-controlled, politically-oriented, tax supported "public school" system is expanded.

That slums and so-called ghettos are spreading at essentially the same rate as tax money is siphoned off from the productive sector and poured into bureaucratically-conceived programs designed, supposedly, to wipe slums and "ghettos" out of existence.

That government so-called job training programs are, for the most part, training individuals, not to assume productive and responsible positions in society, but to fill buck-passing, time-serving, non-productive slots on government payrolls at taxpayer expense.

And finally, that welfare rolls are increasing in direct ratio to the amount of tax money made available to support them.

These, we realize, are harsh charges and, if for that reason alone, we would not make them in the absence of weighing evidence in substantiation.

Authors R. B. Pitkin and Edward Jablonski, in a penetrating article, "How to Destroy the Slums," in the February issue of The American Legion Magazine, although seeming to make a pitch for that old cliché, "greater cooperation between government and business," offer, in the process, considerable proof that what is really needed is for the government to simply get out of the way and let private enterprise do the job which only it is fitted to do.

"The failures of public education," say the two authors in a passage not calculated to make public school proponents of mass indoctrination jump with glee, "are now widely recognized as prime causes of the whole complex of slums, despair, violence, crime and war in an era of great prosperity for the better educated."

The key to real urban renewal and slum elimination, the authors make quite clear, is not capital-consuming governmental programs which, too often, bulldoze productive businesses out of existence replacing them with tax-eating boondoggles and destroy far more housing, much of it adequate and above, than they ever replace, but in better jobs for, and instilling a sense of pride in, the slum dwellers themselves. These, the authors make equally clear, only the market place and private enterprise are capable of accomplishing.

With respect to job-training, Pitkin and Jablonski, quoting Mayor Alfonso Cervantes of St. Louis, said that, "... the weakness of the government programs that offer 'pre-employment training' is that government at no level really offers a job-setting for its training, nor does it show a (productive) job at the end of the trail. Without visible jobs to work for, government job-training looks to the poor like one more exercise in futility."

And, finally, the authors describe existing welfare programs as, "... a system that nobody wants, including those who depend on it. It is a prison that locks the poor in poverty, and everyone knows it. It should be done away with. ... At no level do the usual forms of social work lead people to independence. ..."

But get the February issue of The American Legion Magazine and read the article for yourself. It's most enlightening!

Those Census Questions

Should a person be liable for a fine and jail term for refusing to answer a Census question about his plumbing?

Is one's constitutional right to privacy violated if the Bureau of the Census compels him to answer whether he owns an air conditioner, how many weeks he worked the previous year, and how many times he's been married?

The questions propounded above, having to do with the 50-question, 20-page questionnaire which the Bureau of the Census plans to mail to one-fourth of U.S. households in 1970, were asked of a cross section of the nation's independent businessmen in a poll conducted by the National Federation of Independent Business, Inc., with the results of the poll being made known in the federation's February bulletin.

Congressman Jackson Betts of Ohio who, according to the NFIB bulletin, "doesn't like" some of the privacy invading questions in the Census Bureau snooper sheet, has introduced legislation, not to eliminate the violation of privacy completely, but "to limit the questions in the Census of Population and Housing that can be asked under penalty of fine and imprisonment."

Failure to answer all questions asked in the questionnaire, which is part of the National Census taken every ten years, can result in a $100 fine and 60 days in jail.

Apparently a majority of independent businessmen agree with the congressman from Ohio since, as reported by NFIB, 83 per cent of those polled agreed that such limiting legislation is needed, with only 13 per cent opposed and 4 per cent undecided.

In our considered opinion, the congressman, and the majority of businessmen responding all missed the point completely.

In the first place, the right to privacy is not a right bestowed by the Constitution but a right belonging to each individual by virtue of his very existence as a human being.

This being so, ANY question, Constitutionally authorized or otherwise, asked under threat of fine and imprisonment is a blatant invasion of the right to privacy and unbecoming of a society consisting, supposedly, of free people.

Wit and Whimsy

A nervous lawyer rose and began his maiden address to the jury.

Lawyer Brown—My unfortunate client... (he stammered, stopped and began again.) My unfortunate client... (he quavered and could go no further.) Judge Bass (interrupted)—Come, come, proceed with your statement. So far the court agrees with you.

Mother (to her wailing young son) Mommy's sorry she ran over your tricycle, dear, but what on earth was it doing in the garden?

He was earnestly but prosily orating at the audience. Mr. Lane—I want land reform, I want housing reform, I want educational reform, I want— And said a bored voice in the audience: Mr. Brown— Chloroform.

THE SILENT REVOLUTION

Amidst the welter and confusion of all kinds of revolutions going on, there is a rather quiet revolution under way. We don't hear much about it because there are no pickets or protest marches. Nobody stands up to clamor for more jobs or bigger pay or free handouts. But the revolution moves forward inexorably.

What kind of revolution is this? It is an intellectual revolution that is slowly but surely spreading throughout the length and breadth of the land.

You hear about it on college campuses where young men and women stand up and say: "Thanks just the same, but I'm going to pay my own way to college. I won't accept a state subsidy."

You hear it from the returning veteran, who says: "Thanks just the same, but I don't want a pension. I didn't want to fight, but now that I have, I'm not going to make myself a permanent burden on the taxpayers."

You hear it when the business man says: "Let's try to avoid another government contract. I don't see why we can't get enough business by seeking customers in the ordinary competitive market."

You even hear it among the elderly who turn down social security payments. And you hear it among the very young children in school. A high school girl recently revealed her own position to me, by writing the following:

"See the man. 'He is a neutral. See him hate the U.S. See him curse the U.S. See him bomb the U.S. We will fix him. Next week we won't send him foreign aid."

See the embassy. It is in Russia. It is bugged. The phones are bugged. The walls are bugged. The bugs are bugged. The Russians are finding out about our democratic policy. This is OK. Maybe someday they will explain it to us.

See the world. It is divided into three parts. One part consists of friendly nations.

One part consists of neutral nations.

We push our democratic policy at each of these. Has the policy worked? You bet it has! Our friends hate us. The neutrals hate us. Our enemies hate us. This proves a democratic idea.

All men are equal." There's a young lady who says she plans to mind her own business and pay her own way. She is about fourteen years old. But she's a new intellectual, equipped with something that is quite rare these days. It is called common sense.

That is the new revolution, the quiet revolution, that is going on. The hippies and the beats and the Black Power people and others grab the headlines. But quietly and like a great tide the new intellectuals are beginning to emerge across the country. They don't have to grab headlines. Instead, they take firm hold of their emotions and dedicate themselves to constructive and meaningful lives.

It is usually the quiet, deep, and unobtrusive who matter. It is they who matter now.

All best-sellers don't make the headlines. Only 6 per cent of all books sell more than 20,000 copies.

On a blizzard-bound Boston to New York train we met the author of a quiet and consistent best seller, William D. Hersey, who wrote "How to Cash in on Your Hidden Memory Power" (Prentice-Hall). This book has sold over 22,000 copies. He became interested in memory on a train trip several years ago when he chanced to pick up a book on the subject. Since then he has become one of the most competent memory specialists in the country.

On this particular trip Mr. Hersey was entertaining homeward-bound students by recalling the contents of each page of the current issue of Life magazine. He also had them studying his book and proving to themselves that they too could pick up and use memory systems quickly and easily.

Today's smile: A National Park Ranger was explaining some of the features of the Grand Canyon to a group of tourists and pointing to a section of the huge gorge said: "It took thousands of years to carve this great canyon." A skeptic in the group observed: "It must have been a government job."

The first record of the Olympic Games was at Olympia, Greece, in 776 B.C., but it is generally believed they originated much earlier, perhaps in 1370 B.C. They were continued during the Roman Empire, but were abolished in 394 B.C. by the Emperor Theodosius because all of the contestants were professionals. You hear the same cry these days. The modern games were revived at Athens, Greece, in 1896 and have been held in various parts of the world since. The winter Olympics were instituted in 1924.

Thoughts while shaving: There is an old New England weather proverb that says if it storms and clears up during the night the weather won't remain clear very long. That's something to remember for the rest of this winter. The nation's telephone companies distribute 85 million telephone directories every year. And they offer statistics showing that it takes 1,320,000 trees to make the 120,000 tons of paper needed for this gigantic printing project. You can buy almost anything from a vending machine these days, but since they were first introduced years ago the No. 1 item is cigarettes, followed by soft drinks and candy bars. We always thought "Blue Monday" was a modern expression noting the beginning of another work week for just about everyone. It was surprising to learn it originated in Europe centuries ago to denote the Monday before Lent, which it was the custom to spend in dissipation. No doubt Lent gave those medieval sinners 40 days to get over their hangovers. Jack E. Leonard, the brash comedi-

HUNT FOR TRUTH

By H. L. HUNT

COMMUNISM ON TRIAL Communism, a weekly Catholic newspaper, TWIN CIRCLE, joined by the patriotically-oriented Young Americans for Freedom, returned a formal indictment against the Communist Party and the Soviet Union for a half-century of crimes against humanity. The trial began Monday, February 19, in the Hall of Nations at Georgetown University, Washington, D.C. A summons was served on the Soviet Embassy and the Communist Party headquarters in New York City.

Ten Communist organizations were named in the indictment charging Communism with these crimes: Genocide, 30 million victims; Slave Labor, 15 million imprisoned annually; Religious persecution of all faiths; International Duplicity, violating every agreement made with other nations.

Reverend Richard Wurmbrand and other clergymen persecuted under Communism appeared as prosecution witnesses. Millions of innocent victims of Red tyranny can voice no protest.

This expose of the international communist conspiracy is the biggest news on the anti-Communist front since the Chambers-Hiss confrontation. It dramatizes the heinous crimes perpetrated by the most diabolical conspiracy in the history of the world at a time when a propaganda campaign is under way to portray communism as a progressive philosophy which promises to be the wave of the future to all mankind. Members of the Soviet delegations to the U.S. and to the U.N. will shun this trial, for it spotlights the crimes and perfidy of communism against the human race.

I am glad that they are coming out with a bill to see that the consumer gets a 'fair' and honest exchange for his hard-earned dollar. Oh, if they only would.

But when they use that word 'honest' in congress these days it makes you wish you had four sets of eyes so you could watch for the sneak attack.

For instance, this Bill is a whopper crew of experts to in-boondoggle to put on another spect everything for us. They are first going to inspect all the poultry. I wonder if they will wear badges saying "Chicken Inspector."

And magnesium carbonate have been used to neutralize the acidity of aspirin, which is acetyl salicylic acid. This is done to reduce stomach irritation. There is no harm in such a combination, but its effectiveness is still a matter of controversy.

There's going to be crews for the inspection of Home Improvements in case you ain't got enough of them already. There is to be "Sales Fraud Inspectors" and "Auto Insurance Business Inspectors."

Why, there's even going to be "Boat Inspectors." I wonder if they will prevent us from going up the creek without a paddle.

O, yes. There will be a new Panel of experts called a Council of Consumers and some others to police Warrantees, Guarantees, and Chimpantees. Now, comes the sneak attack. Elbee Jay says this will be in vain 'if we fail to protect' the buying power by not invoking the 10 percent income tax surcharge.

Yessir, when they send out that word 'honest' from Washington you might as well get ready for the big show.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Wise, Safe Precaution: Discard OLD Aspirin

Q—I take aspirin every day to keep going. What harmful effects could it have on me?

A—The effects would depend on the amount taken and your individual tolerance to the drug. An overdose could cause nausea, heartburn, bleeding from the stomach or intestines, dizziness, sweating, watery nasal discharge or mental confusion. Prolonged overdosage could cause peptic ulcers or anemia. For most adults, the effective dose is one five-grain tablet—not two as commonly believed.

Q—I was told to take bicarbonate of soda with my aspirin but now my friends say this is harmful. I have had a peptic ulcer. What do you think?

A—Both sodium bicarbonate gastric distress caused by aspirin is to take it after a meal or between meals with a full glass of milk. Anyone who has had a peptic ulcer should take aspirin very sparingly.

Q—Is it harmful to use aspirin that smells like vinegar when you open the bottle?

A—When aspirin has been kept on the shelf for a long time either at home or in the store it breaks down into acetic acid and salicylic acids. It is the acetic acid that smells like vinegar. Since salicylic acid is much more irritating to your mucous membranes than aspirin, such tablets should be discarded.

Q—When I take aspirin my right eye swells up and I get nauseated. Is there any substitute I can take without a prescription?

A—There are many non-addicting pain killers that do not contain aspirin, but none that are safe to use without medical supervision.

Q—Where can I get the sun screen containing naphthaquinone with dihydroxyacetone mentioned in one of your columns?

A—This product, developed by Dr. Ramon M. Rusaro and his co-workers at the University of Minnesota, has not been produced commercially but another new product for this purpose, oxybenzone with dihydroxyacetone (Solbar), is available.

WASHINGTON:

Atrocities Cong's Best 'Persuader'

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON Correspondent—WASHINGTON (NEA)—A number of years ago the Communists developed such an effective technique for immobilizing South Vietnam's rural police that the Viet Cong were able to run rampant in wide areas of the countryside.

It is worth-while studying that technique today because a variation of that old Communist tactic was attempted widely in the Viet Cong 45-city terror attacks.

In the old days, the Viet Cong would gather in force and strike a terror campaign outside a rural Vietnam village. This would cause the police in that village to assemble, move out to block and capture the VC terror units.

While the police were gone from the village, chasing the Viet Cong, other VC agents would sneak into the village and capture or murder the wives and children of these constables.

It didn't take long for the police to understand the lesson. In many areas, the local constabulary became extremely reluctant to move out of their villages. This, of course, left the Viet Cong free to take over the countryside without police harassment.

In some villages, the Viet Cong would capture the families of village officials during these decoy raids. They would then offer to trade the wives and children back if the officials would cooperate in the future or would promise at least not to aid the government.

Look now, for comparison, at what has happened in the 45-city terror attacks.

A VC terror squad assigned to Sa Dec had the mission of capturing the commanding general of the 9th Vietnamese Division, Brig. Gen. Lam Quang Tsi, and his family.

The Viet Cong scenario called for offering Gen. Tsi his choice of two alternatives. He was to turn over his division intact to the Reds or be shot along with his wife and children. Tsi was not captured.

A second VC terror squad had orders to capture the commanding general of the 7th Vietnamese Div., Brig. Gen. Nguyen Viet Than. Than was to be given the same choice as Tsi. In other areas, the Viet Cong terror squads selectively picked for murder the families of province chiefs, military officers and other government officials.

It is too early, of course, to know how many officials and military officers lost their families, or how much influence the murders and murder attempts will have on the morale of these men.

But in one province, at least, the Viet Cong assassinations did not work out as planned. They did kill the province governor's wife and children. He reacted by fighting the VC with new vigor.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Reynolds & Co. says it is inclined to be optimistic where the market is concerned despite some "weak spots" which seem to need further correction. The company suggests that investors maintain a "constructive" attitude toward favored issues and keep some cash in reserve.

Shearson, Hammill & Co. says that neither the technical behavior of the market nor political and economic developments justify an optimistic approach toward near term prospects for stocks. It advises that long positions in any portfolio should be concentrated in relatively conservative stocks and that investors should maintain "well selected" short positions or cash reserves.

Spear and Staff Inc. makes the observation that investors must be very selective to make money in the current stock market since trading seems to be disjointed and cautious. The firm suggests that investors avoid a totally committed position and keep up to 20 percent of cash in reserve in order to be able to buy bargains on short notice.

EXPLOSION AT REFINERY ROTTERDAM. The Netherlands (UPI)—Two men were killed in the second explosion in one month to hit the massive Shell Oil refinery near this port city. The cause of the explosion was not determined immediately.

QUAKE HITS JAPAN TOKYO (UPI)—An earthquake shook buildings in downtown Tokyo and on all the four major islands of Japan. No casualties or damage was reported.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)— Suppose, for supposition purposes, that you create an entirely new and different type of plant—something totally unlike anything else that grows on this planet, or wherever you go.

This might be done, say, by crossing a Giant Sequoia with a Huckleberry bush, thus producing for the first time on earth a Redwood Huckleberry.

Yes, friends, what I'm leading up to here is another of my lectures on the insect kingdom. I regret I have no lantern slides with which to illustrate the key points, but if you close your eyes real tight you can picture it all for yourself.

All Specialist
Insects, I've discovered from reading Agriculture Department press releases, are the most highly specialized creatures yet developed.

Virtually every type of plant has its own individual insect enemy. Or if it doesn't, it soon will have.

Harmonious Attack
Some plants are even subdivided, the corn rootworm leaving the ears to the European corn borer and the stalks to the corn sap beetle.

With perhaps cereal leaf beetles occupying the extremities. All of this may seem like small beer, but as the world becomes more crowded and the struggle for survival by each species becomes more intense we may be able to learn something from it.

Why is the insect kingdom producing specialists rather than all-purpose, or utility, bugs?

One might surmise that the insect kingdom is tightly unionized, the International Federation of Tobacco Hornworms being wary of jurisdictional disputes with the Amalgamated Association of Mexican Fruit Flies.

Or one might surmise that the insect kingdom has merely gone the way of the medical profession.

Settle Appointed Office Manager

Promotion by American National Insurance Co. of Clayton E. Settle, 41, from district supervisor of the Lubbock branch office to district manager of the Pampa branch office was announced by W. W. Cherry, senior vice president and director of Combination Agencies, at the home office in Galveston.

Settle started as an agent in the Amarillo branch office in 1959, was promoted to assistant district manager in Denver, Colo., in 1960, to district supervisor in Aurora, Colo., in 1961, and transferred to Lubbock in 1962.

He succeeds Jerry L. Black, who has been transferred as district manager in Wichita Falls.

White Deer Elections Scheduled for April 6

SKELLYTOWN (Spl) — On April 6 residents of White Deer will hold elections for mayor, city councilmen, corporation court recorder, and school board members.

Two Skellytown men, Charley D. McCloud and Leroy Snodgrass, have announced candidacy for places on the school board. Both are electricians and Skellytown residents for several years.

School board elections are set for April 6 at White Deer. The positions must be filed on the board, for the expiring terms of Miller Hawpe, Kenneth Craw-

Montgomery Word

BY CURTIS MONTGOMERY

How did that suggestion on public whippings on page 10 of yesterday's News grab ya? Dr. Earle Griffey, a Brownsville city commissioner, thinks public whippings would deter crime in the young generation, using as his chief argument the fact that he did not as a youth do right because of respect for the law or love of parents or some such but the fear of the razor strop which his papa used when he did wrong.

The story says that Dr. Griffey was shocked by the growing number of young people using marijuana on a fairly steady basis. Dr. Griffey probably isn't shocked by the number of folks in his generation who are passing on because of smoking cigarettes and lung cancer.

I can't endorse smoking pot or turning on with LSD or anything along that line, but I won't condemn anyone for it. First of all because I have my doubts as to the danger of smoking pot compared with regular tobacco. And secondly because the folks—smoking variety or no-smoking variety—who came before the "tuned on teens" with all the fantastic scientific advances that many of them have made—they still seem to have let the ethical side of the world go to pot. (No pun intended.)

The cigarette peddlers surely will be upset by this, and a number of others, but that does not bother me. The "wild teenagers" both in Pampa and in the rest of the country didn't become wild on their own. They had a few choice examples. And some of them may sit on the front row at the local church, synagogue or temple.

Instead of whipping them in public, why not give them something to do instead of telling them "thou shalt not" 47 times daily? Say, perhaps encourage them to go out for sports or become involved in some good music program or any number of activities for young people today. Not everyone can play on a championship basketball team such as the one that Pampa had this year, but there is something for nearly everyone to become involved in here in Pampa.

Dr. Griffey might encourage the older folks of his generation to stop running stop lights, or red lights with the young kids in the car with the attitude that it doesn't make any difference because nobody's looking or nobody's coming. So many things that a parent says or does in passing that he never thinks about having any effect on his children can really mold a child's outlook.

"Ten good whacks with a leather strap" is the prescription of Dr. Griffey to deter crime. I'll put my money on 10 good mature adult examples with positive attitudes and positive advice instead of betting on a beating to sidetrack the rising

Borger Holds Up Local Bank In Tournament Semi-Final Here

Borger held up the First National Bank of Pampa last night or at least they held them from getting into the finals of the Top O' Texas Cage Tournament by beating the bankers by 91-54.

In another semi-final game in the Youth and Community Center last night Cock O Walk dumped Perryton by 79-44.

The Borger Bombers proved to be too much for the smaller bankers. The First National stayed with the visitors for all but the final six minutes for the first half when Borger pulled from away from a 27-25 lead to the 13-point advantage they held at intermission. Vernon Welch hit 30 for the winners and Gene Brown had 18 for Pampa's bankers.

Cock O Walk had two above

20 points in its win over Perryton's YMCA team. Frank Schaffer had 24 and Coyle Winborn added 21. Davey Wite had nine for the losers.

This set the stage for Monday night's showdown between Cock O Walk and Borger for the championship. George Smith, director of the Center, said, "It could prove to be one of the best final games we've ever had here."

The two teams collide at 8:15 p.m. Monday with a third place game to be played before that one between the First National and Perryton YMCA.

Trophies will be awarded to first, second and third.

Culley Applies For New Job

Coach Terry Culley, head basketball coach at Pampa since 1961 and regarded as one of the outstanding coaches in high school or college in Texas, has applied for a job as basketball coach at Richardson High School.

He has not been hired, however. He went to Dallas before scouting the game between Halton and L. D. Bell last Friday night. Richardson is located on the outskirts of Big D.

An official at Richardson said in a telephone interview this morning that no one has been hired as yet and invited anyone interested to apply for the job.

Looks Like Year For Roger Maris

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI)—This looks like Roger Maris' lucky year.

The Bell's palsy on the right side of his face has cleared up nicely, his new beer distributorship in Gainesville is working out fine and he is also a big winner in one of those national contests.

"Take a look at this," Maris said Thursday in one of the huge meeting rooms that are part of the St. Louis Cardinals' dressing quarters here.

Maris handed over a letter which read: "Congratulations! You have won a 4-day and 3-night vacation in Florida by registering at one of our stores. Please send a check or money order for $12 to cover processing and handling of your winning ticket. This vacation is for two people."

The letter came from Sparta, Tenn. "I never registered for any contest," laughed the amused 33-year-old outfielder. "I've never been in Sparta, Tenn., or was in any one of these people's stores in my life."

Maris put the letter aside and opened some of his other mail. He looked good and said he felt good.

Palsy Gone
There was no trace of the mild palsy which afflicted him after he hit .385 in the World Series and helped the Cardinals beat the Red Sox.

"It's all better," said Maris, touching the right side of his face. "I still feel it a little whenever I smile or yawn but it wasn't as serious as they made it out to be in some of the papers.

"Here's somebody writing me about it," he said, reading one of the letters. "He says he never heard of Bell's palsy. I never heard of it either until I got it. Everybody I ever talked with said they never heard of it until they got it, too."

Maris discussed his new business in Gainesville where he's selling his baseball boss' beer and he talked about the fine year he had for the Cards last season.

"I couldn't ask for anything better than the way things worked out," he said in the impassive, unemotional way of his. "It was perfect. Couldn't be any better."

A year ago in this same clubhouse, Maris had just come over from the Yankees and wasn't at all sure how things would go for him with the Cardinals.

He hinted then 1967 might be his last year and there were those who put some store in his statements because the Cards had persuaded him not to retire after they obtained him from the Yankees. Maris doesn't talk that way any longer.

Glamor Faded
"Right now I have to concentrate on this year," he said in answer to a question whether it might be his last. "There's always that possibility. It depends on how things go. But I'm not thinking about quitting."

People don't bother Maris the way they once did. They remember him as the man who broke Babe Ruth's record with 61 home runs in 1961 but a lot of the glamor has worn off since.

Meeting Planned To Begin Leagues In Volleyball

Three volleyball leagues are slated to begin March 11, 13, 14 at the Youth and Community Center, with an organizational meeting to be held this Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Center.

The three leagues are for men, women and one mixed league. The women's league starts March 11 and will be played on every Monday night through May. The mixed league begins March 13 to be played every Wednesday after church and the men's league plays on Thursdays, starting March 14.

Director George Smith said that there is an entry fee of $15 per team to enter. Eight teams are hoped for in each league. Four games are played nightly.

A person is not restricted to just one league, but they are restricted to two. A woman can be in the women's league and the mixed league also. The same being true for the men.

Aggies Start Track Year At Own Home

COLLEGE STATION (UPI)—Three of the four teams expected to battle for the Southwest Conference track championship in May—Rice, Texas A&M and Texas—meet at Kyle Field Friday afternoon in a triangular meet.

It will be the first competition of the season for Rice, the defending conference champion, and the Aggies, but Texas won a dual meet against Abilene Christian last week.

The sprints, the 440-yard and mile relays were expected to be the most heated events of the late afternoon meet since they will be featuring many of the freshmen newcomers who are eligible for varsity competition this year for the first time.

Diamond Play Begins Today

The Pampa Harvester baseball team initiates the season at Canyon at 4 p.m. today.

The Harvesters finished with a 24-6 record last season, which sounds a lot like the record this year of the basketball team (26-5). Coach Bobby Stephens' team ended the 1967 season with a third place in district play as all six losses came at the hands of District 3-4A foes. The district record was 12-6.

Alvin Achord, Pampa cager who ended the basketball season before he probably wanted to, is a returning starter at third base. One the mound for Pampa where they saw regular action in '67 are Dickie Henley and Alan Woodard, who is slated for action today.

Other returning lettermen are "Dangerous Dan" Carlton, pitcher; Claude Combs, at second; Mike Fortin at second and Fran McGaben in the out field.

Coach Stephens said that there are 39 boys out for baseball this year.

The only sophomore on the starting line up is John Jenkins at first.

NIT Tourney Goes to 16

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Invitation Tournament continued its attempt to match the NCAA for post-season basketball prestige today with a record high entry for the 1968 classic—at Madison Square Garden March 14-23.

Aware the National Collegiate Athletic Association had for all intents and purposes dwindled to a two-team battle between UCLA and Houston, the NIT selection committee Thursday decided its field would be increased from 14 to 16 teams to accommodate some popular also-rans in conference competition.

John Bach, chairman of the committee, said the night of Friday, March 15, would be added to the playing dates and that byes would be eliminated.

Seven teams currently make up the lineup, with nine more to be added. Long Island University and St. Peter's were invited Wednesday night to join Fordham, Army, Notre Dame, Duquesne and Oklahoma City.

Runnersup in the Atlantic Coast, Big Eight and Missouri Valley Conferences are virtually assured of receiving membership of the 1968 NIT club.

Civilian Army Ready To Labor on Farms

By ROY MCGHEE WASHINGTON (UPI) — Any day now, a civilian army will start breaking camp in southern winter quarters and head north to work the fields that produce America's food and fiber.

First, vegetables and cotton will be planted in the southern latitudes from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

As the spring season moves north, so will the army. By the beginning of harvest-time, mid-summer in some areas, more than 1 million persons will be on the move.

These are migrant workers and their families—foot soldiers of the campaign to keep the nation fed and clothed.

More than 30 years ago, in "The Grapes of Wrath," John Steinbeck painted a shameful portrait of how America treated her migrants. They were at the very bottom of the economic heap; for the most part, their housing was miserable; sanitary facilities so rudimentary as to be unpeakable; education for their children practically nonexistent.

Special Report Have conditions changed materially since? Not noticeably. Here is what the Senate subcommittee on migratory labor said in a special report just issued:

"Despite their vital role in modern agriculture, particularly in filling the crucial needs at harvesttime, our migrant citizens have been grossly neglected by society.

More often than not, in addition to low living standards, the influx of migrants to supplement local labor forces creates problems in the areas of health, education, sanitation and housing which the community is not equipped to meet.

"Statistics... indicating the low wages, unemployment, lack of education, poor housing, malnutrition, disease and lack of adequate medical and dental care tell only part of the story of the shocking degree of impoverishment of the migrant."

These workers, the report continued, have been "expressly excluded or at best only minimally included" in worker-benefit legislation, both federal and state.

No Agreement Is Reached on State Constitution

By DAVID ANDERSON AUSTIN (UPI) — The 25 Texans who are attempting to rewrite the state constitution still have not reached agreement on the extent of their task.

Some members of the Constitutional Revision Commission want to start from scratch, try to write what they consider an ideal constitution, and worry later about the realities of getting it adopted.

Others want to retain the basic structure of the 1876 constitution, but shorten it and revise it to the extent that seems politically possible.

So far, the commission's decisions have been on the side of limited revision.

Oked Rights Section The group tentatively agreed to retain the present Bill of Rights only with a word changed here and there, and to reject a unified judicial system that would give the State Supreme Court all powers of creating, abolishing and administering courts.

Kenneth Tollett, dean of the Texas Southern University law school and a member of the commission, is unhappy with the commission's approach.

"One should start with that is ideal, then think about the political realities after we have drafted what we consider an ideal document," he told the commission this week.

He said a group of top educators who testified on the education section of the constitution "felt that the constitution should be revised and shortened, but as soon as you get down to details, there is very little that they are willing to shorten."

Tollett mentioned the possibility of modifying provisions on church-state separation to permit a closer relationship between the state and church colleges.

Ira Butler of Fort Worth, chairman of the Bill of Rights Subcommittee, shot that idea down immediately. "If you go tampering with the provisions on church and state as they exist now we're wasting our time," he told Tollett.

Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo is an exponent of the pragmatic approach. He likes to repeat the observation of state AFL-CIO president H. S. Hank Brown, who said "the legislature is going to do as it damn well pleases."

Cities' Neglect Represents Neglect of United States

By JOAN HANAUER 11 per cent of the city's land area. New York also has a long record of urban renewal—and a long record of Negro discontent with the manner in which ghetto families were relocated as well as the final use to which the reclaimed areas were put.

New York's federal grants under the model cities program are being concentrated in three hard core slums—Harlem, Bedford-Stuyvesant and the East Bronx.

While the city demolished 1,000 unreclaimable buildings last year and began work on more than 20,000 units of publicly aided construction, a major aim is rehabilitation of existing structures and stimulation of low and middle income housing construction on vacant lots or under-utilized sites. New York, unfortunately, has few of these.

Chicago Complaint Chicago also is struggling with the complaint that urban renewal means Negro removal. Renewal in Chicago also has reinforced de facto segregation, according to some critics, including Pierre de Vise, city planner and professor at DePaul University.

De Vise said that where urban renewal areas were developed by private industry, about 80 per cent of those forced to relocate were Negro but 90 per cent of those moving into re-used the upgraded areas were white.

Where renewal took the form of public housing, De Vise said only the worst land was chosen because it was not resalable for private development.

"The high-rise starlings of public housing on the South and West sides," he said, "coincide with the black belt of the 1920s."

De Vise is concerned over the lack of attempts to "renew" the slum dweller or change their living habits.

Urban renewal has eliminated the slums where the urban renewals took place, but dispersed the residents to other places.

Cleveland became the only city in the country to be cut off from federal financing after it "lost" 20,000 relocations—persons displaced by renewal who somehow couldn't be found again.

Urban renewal planning in Cleveland goes back to 1957 and seven major projects have since been approved by the federal government. Not one is near completion.

The Los Angeles urban renewal story, critics say, has been one of inaction rather than bungling. There now are three renewal projects underway, one in Watts.

During the 1965 violence the riot area was described as "Watts" but actually that community comprises roughly two square miles of Los Angeles housing an estimated 34,300 persons. The riot curfew embraced 50 square miles.
