Will Start Work On May 1st

Charles Volney Hill Is Named As Pampa's New City Manager

Charles Volney Hill, 34-year-old assistant city manager at Austin, was hired this forenoon as Pampa city manager, effective May 1.

Hill will succeed City Manager Jim White who resigned effective April 30 to accept a city managership at Denton.

In a special 11 a.m. called session of the city commission today, White's resignation was officially accepted and Hill was employed.

His first public appearance came at the noonday membership luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce where Hill was introduced to the luncheon guests.

The new city manager flew in from Austin and was met at the Amarillo airport at 9:30 a.m. by City Manager White.

Hill was employed here at an annual $17,500 salary plus $125 per month automobile allowance.

He is a native of Chillicothe, Texas, where he was born April 15, 1934.

After graduating from Lubbock High School in 1953, Hill received a BA degree in Government in 1957 and an MA degree in Public Administration in 1959 from Texas Technological College.

His professional memberships include the International City Managers' Association, Municipal Finance Officers' Association and the American Public Works Association.

He was an administrative and personnel officer of the 665th

Air Force Radar Squadron from 1959 to 1962. He presently is a captain in the Inactive Reserve.

Hill was an administrative aide to the city manager of Lubbock while in college and for one year served in the same capacity to the city manager of San Antonio prior to moving to Oklahoma City as assistant city manager in 1963. He served in the latter post until July of 1966. He was Federal and City program coordinator in Oklahoma City from July 1, 1966 until Sept. 1, 1967.

Hill became assistant city manager at Austin in September of 1967 and has held that post up until the present.

He and his wife, Patricia Ann, are the parents of two children, Charles V. Hill Jr., seven, and Leanne Hill, four. Their church affiliation is Methodist.

Hill spent most of the day in Pampa and was scheduled to fly back to Austin tonight or tomorrow. He will take over his new duties here on Wednesday, May 1.

At this morning's brief council session a resolution accepting Whites resignation and one officially employing Hill were adopted.

The resolution for acceptance of Whites resignation read: "Be it resolved by the Pampa City Commission: that it is with regret it accepts the resignation of James V. White, city manager of the City of Pampa, effective May 1, 1968. We feel that Mr. White has done an excellent job as our city manager and that Pampa has made great advancement and improvement under his capable management and the City of Pampa wishes him well."

Viets Renew Accusation About US Delay In Talks

Four US Jets Lost In War

By JACK WALSH

SAIGON (UPI)—The United States lost four planes bombing North Vietnam Monday in one of the air war's heaviest losses of the year, military sources said today. They said two jets were downed in heavy anti-aircraft fire and two collided and crashed en route home.

Five of the six men aboard the four lost planes were rescued. An Air Force "jolly green giant" helicopter plucked one pilot to safety 12 minutes after he ejected, a record for such combat rescue, according to military observers here.

American spokesmen said the losses came as the North Vietnamese threw up their heaviest anti-aircraft fire since President Johnson limited bombing to the Communist nation's southern panhandle supply routes March 31.

In South Vietnam, U.S. B52 Stratofortresses today repeatedly bombed the main Communist supply route feeding guerrillas who ambushed two American army units and a Navy river patrol force Monday.

In the north, U.S. spokesmen said two Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs were shot down in the Dong Hoi area, just above the South Vietnam border. Pilots reported the flak especially heavy near Dong Hoi, North Vietnam's southernmost port and major military center.

Military sources said that following the same strikes two Navy F4B Phantom jets—fastest naval planes in the war—collided and plunged into the sea while heading back to their 7th Fleet aircraft carriers.

There was no indication what caused the collision. Sources said the two-man crew of both planes was saved.

Spokesmen said one of the F105s hit over Dong Hoi area, headed out to sea and remained aloft until reaching the South Vietnam coast. There, its pilot, Col. David W. Winn, 44, of Minneapolis, Minn., ejected. He was picked up almost immediately by the helicopter.

The second Thunderchief fell victim to fire from the ground northwest of Dong Hoi. Spokesmen said the plane did not make it back to the coast, where rescue is easier. They said a search and rescue operation was still underway.

The four downed planes raised to 825 the number of American aircraft reported lost over North Vietnam.

The spokesmen said American jets flew 88 missions against North Vietnam Monday. All strikes hit below the 19th parallel, northernmost target point allowed under Johnson's limited bombing order, designed to fetch Hanoi to the negotiation table.

In South Vietnam, the eight-engine B52s struck supply dump areas in the A Shau Valley, after the three ambulances left nine Americans killed and 87 wounded. The bloodiest of the ambushes came in the Central Highland jungles, 250 miles north of Saigon, where Communist troops caught about 200 men of a company from the 4th Infantry Division's 3rd Brigade.

She Was 'Built' Too Near Ground

BIRMINGHAM, England (UPI) — Mrs. Mary McKeown was being helped today in a hunt for a new apartment even though city housing officials recently offered her one in a new multistory building.

The apartment was on the thirteenth floor and Mrs. McKeown, 4 foot 2 inches tall, could reach only as high as the elevator button for the fifth floor.

Former Minister Is 'Activated' By Hanoi

By VIRGIL KRET

TOKYO (UPI) — North Vietnam accused President Johnson again today of stalling on a site for preliminary peace talks but brought out of retirement former Foreign Minister Xuan Thuy who could be a tough negotiator once the talks actually start.

Nham Dan, the official Communist party newspaper in Hanoi, said in an editorial broadcast by Hanoi Radio that Johnson was guilty of a lack of goodwill and said the United States had failed "to match its deeds with its words."

It accused the Johnson administration of trickery "to delay contacts and ease public protest." There have been a series of such charges since diplomatic maneuvering over a site began March 31 when Johnson de-escalated the air war against North Vietnam.

So far North Vietnam has suggested Phnom Penh, Cambodia, and Warsaw as site of the talks. The United States proposed Geneva then New Delhi, Jakarta and Rangoon, Burma, Vientiane, Laos, Johnson called on Hanoi Monday to agree to one or the other since "precious time is being lost."

But there were indications Hanoi was getting ready for negotiations. A Radio Hanoi broadcast monitored in Saigon said Xuan Thuy, one of its most experienced diplomats, had been named a minister in the government. It did not say which ministry he was given.

Thuy, 56, was foreign minister for the Hanoi government from April, 1963, until April 1965, when he retired because of ill health. Informed observers in Saigon expressed belief he would be named chief negotiator.

Thuy is considered a member of the Moscow faction in Hanoi as opposed to those who favor Peking. Diplomatic reports in London have said Russia itself has been applying brakes on the more militant faction in Hanoi although its influence is limited.

The Saigon government apparently was convinced the preliminary peace talks would start despite the squabbling, and Manila reports said South Vietnam had proposed a summit conference of nations fighting in Vietnam to formulate a common policy on the peace negotiations.

School Board To Discuss Student Problems, If Any

Student problems at Pampa High School will be discussed at tomorrow night's meeting of the Pampa School Board in Pampa Junior High School.

County Judge Sherman Lanning, Police Chief Jim Conner, County Juvenile Officer Bill Leonard and Cameron Marsh, high school principal, will meet with the board.

The board will convene at 7 p.m. and John Gikas, board president, said today the session had been called to study and work out steps of cooperation among various agencies involved to reach solutions, if any were needed, to any problems that might exist.

"The discussion has been called," Gikas said today, "to have the various officials who will attend examine any problems with members of the board."

Gikas said immediately following the meeting on student problems, the board will go into session with Dr. Kenneth Laycock of West Texas State University, to consider approximately 30 applications received for the job of Pampa school superintendent.

Dr. Laycock was employed by the school board to assist in screening applications.

The board will consider names in three categories which have been submitted by Laycock.

It will be the new school board's first meeting with Laycock to discuss the applications.

Board president Gikas said the new superintendent would not be selected tomorrow night.

'Pandering' Ads Through Mail Can Be Stopped

Mail patrons offended by pandering advertisements can now take steps to curb such mail, Postmaster R. W. McPhillips Jr. said today in announcing plans for administering a new law which gives each family the right to decide when an ad is "erotically arousing or sexually provocative."

When an advertisement sent through the mails is offensive on these grounds, a postal patron can now ask the post office to direct the mailer to send no more mail to him and to remove immediately the patron's name from all mailing lists he owns, controls or rents.

To assist patrons, the Post Office Department has published a brief pamphlet, "How You Can Curb Pandering Advertisements," which is now available at the Pampa post office. In addition to explaining how the law works, the pocket-size leaflet contains a form letter one can use when sending his complaint to the post office.

The pamphlet explains that when a patron receives an advertisement which is, in his opinion, pandering, he must send the ad, its envelope and the form letter, or one which includes its language, to his post office with the words, "Request for prohibitory order" on the face of the envelope.

Postmaster McPhillips said: "This new law should give some protection to American families offended by advertisements they believe to be morally harmful, particularly to their children."

"Last year the Post Office Department received some 140,000 complaints from those offended by pandering advertisements. While in most cases the ads were not legally obscene and were therefore mailable, they are often offensive and are usually not the type of material one would want his children to read," Postmaster McPhillips said.

He added that "because the law gives a mail patron the sole right to decide what is offensive, and does not deny others the right to receive the same mail, the Congress felt it does not violate Constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech."

While the patron's complaint will only be directed to the sender, Postmaster McPhillips believes that one or two complaints will provide substantial protection because "the great bulk of this advertising comes from fewer than 20 so-called 'smut dealers' who are frequently swapping mailing lists."

If a mailer does not strike a complainant's name from the mailing list, and the patron receives a second mailing 30 days after the firm has received the prohibitory order, he may bring the matter to the attention of the postmaster issuing the initial order by writing him and enclosing the second pandering ad with its envelope. If the mailer still fails to respect the order, the Postmaster General may ask the Attorney General to apply for a Federal Court order.

Vote Procedure Outlined For Gray Residents Of Less Than 6 Months

Voters in the May primary who moved into the county on or after November 4, 1967, must vote between April 15 and April 30 in the office of the county clerk in the county of their present residence, according to information supplied by Charlie Thut, county clerk of Gray County.

A new law enacted last year permits registered voters with less than six months' residence in the county to vote on all statewide offices and issues if they have lived in the state longer than one year, but they must vote in the county clerk's office under procedures similar to absentee voting. The new law puts into effect a constitutional amendment adopted in November, 1966.

Formerly, a person who moved from one county to another within the state was totally disfranchised for the first six months after he moved, unless one or more of the various types of districts (congressional, legislative, judicial, etc.) included both the county of his former residence and the county of his new residence. If he had lived in a district for six months before the election, he could vote on statewide offices and issues and on the offices for districts in which he had six months' residence, but he could not vote on local offices and issues within the county.

The new law preserves the voting rights which existed under the old law, but the procedure for voting has been changed. Heretofore, a person entitled to vote on the basis of six months' residence in a district voted on election day at the regular polling place for the voting precinct of his new residence. Under the new law, no one who has resided in the county less than six months may vote at a regular polling place, and all voting by such

Gubernatorial Candidate In Hand-Shaking Pampa Visit

Don Yarborough, Democratic candidate for governor, was in Pampa today on a hand-shaking visit among the voters.

Yarborough, on a visit to The News, discussed his program for bringing new industry to small towns in Texas.

He said he plans a new industrial commission attuned directly to small town industrial progress which would operate separately from the present industrial commission.

Its purpose would be to develop a program, on a regional basis, to discover the natural resources offered in various areas of the state.

The commission would develop eventually 100 industrial teams to work with Industrial Foundations and chambers of commerce in the small town areas throughout the state.

"This is something that would not cost the state a penny," Yarborough stated, "except for the relatively small cost of administration."

Foreign News Commentary

Just as the Saigon government has suffered from official corruption and sabotage, so in some degree at least has Hanoi. A recent decree published in Nhan Dan, the official North Vietnamese newspaper, set penalties up to the death sentence for such offenses as plotting to overthrow the government, espionage, armed rebellion, banditry and sabo-

Also included was an attack on jails to free prisoners. Publication of the decree carried with it the clear implication that the North Vietnamese population was not wholly dedicated to the war effort as the Communist propagandists would have us believe. Nonetheless, while there may be a certain amount of disunity and certainly war-weariness within the country, there is no evidence of any division at the top. One of the most recent impartial newsmen to visit Hanoi was Yasumasa Ota, an executive of Kyodo, Japan's biggest news agency. He described the top three or four North Vietnamese leaders as completely united. President Ho Chi Minh, he said, is the uncontested leader of the government and the country, despite reports that he recently has been ill.

Next to Ho, and giving him complete support, he said, were Premier Pham Van Dong, Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh and party Secretary Chari Le Duan. Of these three, Dong Duan would be rated the most important.

Dong was described as a positive man exuding confidence. He also was said to be the most knowledgeable about foreign affairs. Dong, in a recent interview, declared that "it is we who will win the war, whatever its duration and cost."

The premier also made it clear North Vietnam would be prepared for long and arduous negotiations.

"We will be as serious in negotiations as we are on the battlefield," he declared.

These are the men, along with Gen. Vo Nguyen Gian, who agreed to preliminary peace talks. They also undoubtedly agreed to press the war effort even as negotiations proceed in an attempt to better their bargaining position.

Paintings Exhibit By Navy Artists Set In Amarillo

AMARILLO (Spl) — "Operation Palette," a traveling exhibit of original paintings and on-the-scene drawings by official U.S. Navy combat artists, will be on exhibition to the public without charge in Amarillo at the Western Plaza Shopping Center from April 24 through April 30.

Widely acclaimed in New York, London, and other large cities where they have been shown, these eye-witness records are a graphic portrayal of the Navy's role in war on the seas, on the beaches, and in the air. Many paintings in the group have become reproduction in lic through reproduction in Life, Life, Time, The National Geographic, Colliers and such books as "The Navy at War" and "Victory at Sea."

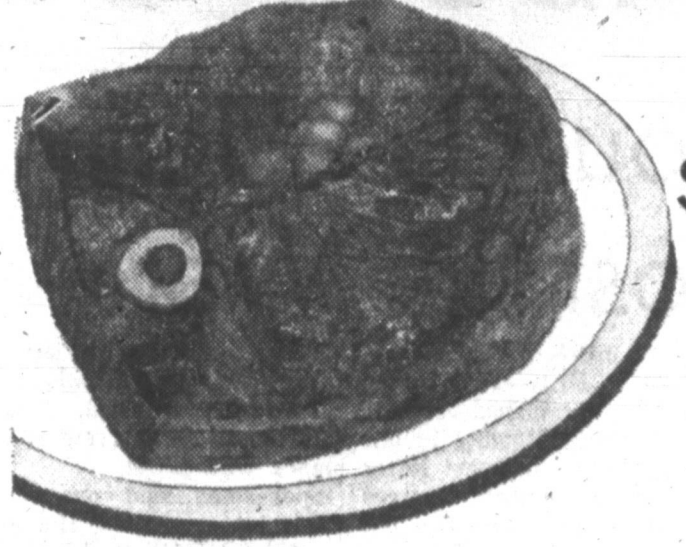

Brought to Amarillo by the Navy Department, under the local sponsorship of the Panhandle Council of the Navy League of the United States, the exhibition represents 120 of the outstanding works of combat artists who are nationally known painters in private life. A special mobile unit will bring "Operation Palette" here. The exhibit has been shown throughout the United States, and has been seen by more than 50 million persons.

Conference Is Scheduled In Amarillo

AMARILLO — Cowmen from throughout the Southwest are scheduled to gather in Amarillo Saturday, April 27, for a Panhandle Beef Cattle Improvement Conference which will be held in the W. M. Gouley Sale Arena at the Amarillo Tri-State Fairgrounds.

F. Jake Hess of McLean, president of the Panhandle Hereford Breeders Association said his organization and the Texas Hereford Association are co-sponsoring the one-day event, and the conference is open to all commercial and registered beef breeders of the Southwest.

The theme of the conference is "A Look Into the Future of the Beef Cattle Industry." Coordinator of the speaking sessions will be Gaines Franks of Amarillo, secretary of the Panhandle group. Lee Campbell of Dublin, president of the Texas Hereford Association, will be master of ceremonies.

The speaking sessions will begin at 9 a.m. with a speech by Henry Mattiessen, Jr., president of the American Hereford Association, who will talk on "Beef Breeders Role of Tomorrow."

Mattiessen's talk will be followed by a lecture by Dr. W. T. Berry, executive secretary of the American Hereford Association on "The Role of the American Hereford Association in Helping the Cowman."

Witnesses'
Supervisor
Starts Visit

Gerald D. Grizzle, circuit supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses in this area, has arrived in Pampa and will be visiting here through April 21, it was announced today.

Grizzle has oversight of 16 congregations including the one here. He has been associated with Jehovah's Witnesses since 1947 and in the full-time ministry for the past five years.

His visit will officially start this evening at 7:30. The congregation's weekly Ministry School and Service Meeting will be held at this time. The two meetings will be shortened to allow for a thirty minute discourse to plan the week's activity.

Many family problems arise today resulting in broken homes, divorces and juvenile delinquency. Sincere persons are concerned with these problems but really don't know where the answer lies. Grizzle will accompany some of the local witnesses as they visit residents of the area in an effort to show how the Bible contains the only solution to the problem of today.

On Saturday evening at 8, there will be a special program to review new thoughts that have been learned over the past few months called "New Things Learned." On the same evening Grizzle will deliver a discourse on how the local congregation can improve in their ministry.

The highlight of the week's activity will be on Sunday at 10 a.m. with a talk by Grizzle on the subject "Provision for Rejoicing to Time Indefinite." This will be at the local Kingdom Hall, 17th and Coffee Sts. All persons are invited to attend these meetings during the visit of Grizzle. All are free and no collections are taken.

Two Children Found
After 'Disappearance'

Two children wandered away from home yesterday afternoon, but both were found shortly after their disappearance was reported, according to a Pampa police report.

A woman at the Post Office Texaco service station reported to police at 2:42 p.m. that a four-year-old girl had wandered into the station. The father was informed of the child's whereabouts after he came to the police station a short time later to report her disappearance.

A baby sitter for a family in the 2400 block of Comanche St. reported to police at mid-afternoon that a three-year-old boy she was caring for had strayed off. Police found him shortly thereafter a short distance away.

Youths Involved In Incidents Here

Two incidents of malicious mischief were reported yesterday to Pampa police.

A nine-year-old boy made a hoax telephone call to police, alleging that another youth was letting air out of tires. Confronted with the incident, the youngster's mother promised to take corrective action.

The other incident occurred at a vacant house at 825 E. Frederic. Three teenage youths were apprehended after taking copper and brass from the house. They were later released to the custody of their parents.

31st Court
Civil Case Continues

Hearings continued in 31st Judicial District Court today in the civil case of Texas Pipeline Co. Inc. vs Shaw Tank Cleaning Co. Inc.

The trial got underway at 10 a.m. yesterday. Jury selection and opening arguments took up most of the day yesterday and testimony and arguments are expected to continue for most of the day.

The suit was filed in 1961. Texas Pipeline Co. and Shaw Tank Cleaning Co. entered into a contract in 1959 whereby Shaw Tank was to perform cleaning and refitting of new material for two oil storage tanks near Lefors.

Texas Pipeline alleges that the cleaning company was negligent and that its negligence resulted in a fire and explosion which destroyed one of the storage tanks. The firm submitted a petition for damages amounting to $94,631.

Two criminal cases are on the docket for the court session later this week.
Judge Grainger W. McIlhenny is presiding.

DEAR ABBY: A housewife recently asked who should say the grace when a clergyman is a guest at a table. She wondered if a clergyman would feel "put to work" if he were asked, or would he feel slighted if he weren't. Count me as one Presbyterian minister who would prefer to pray along, while my host recites the blessing. I sometime suspect that the family is not accustomed to saying grace (some may not even know how) but they feel it should be said because I am present. In that case, if I am asked to "lead the prayer," I proceed without delay to save embarrassment.

CHICAGO MINISTER

DEAR ABBY: I certainly do not feel slighted if this honor does not come to me. A clergyman has no more influence with the Lord than the business man-host who sits across the table from him.

H.C.W., D.D. (Associate Minister Emeritus) PARK AVENUE METHODIST CHURCH, N.Y.C.

DEAR ABBY: After 41 years as a pastor, I concede to the wishes of the host. If he asks me to give the thanks, I do. If he offers the thanks, I thank God that here is a man who is taking his rightful place as the head of his house, and I pray that more men would do likewise.

Sincerely, W.H.S. (PORTLAND, ORE.)

DEAR ABBY: According to the Orthodox Jewish Law the host offers the benediction (blessing before the meal) regardless of who else is present. However, the blessing at the end of the meal should preferably be led by a guest, since it gives him the opportunity to bless the host in his prayer.

L.M.K. (DOVER, N.J.)

DEAR ABBY: For a host to ask a clergyman to say grace at a meal when the host normally does not, is hypocrisy, not courtesy.

REV. D.N., FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH OF WESTERLO, N.Y.

DEAR ABBY: I say the minister should always be asked to say the grace. As a minister, I have been humiliated on more than one occasion by being treated as an ordinary guest. Very truly yours,

P.E.I. (MARTINSVILLE, VA.)

DEAR ABBY: I don't care who says "grace" before a meal, but whoever says it should say it with sincerity. I have heard people race thru the grace with such speed that it means nothing.

A PRIEST (FREEPORT, TEX.)

Civic Culture Club Has Study on Music of Youth

Mrs. Chester Williams was hostess to the Civic Culture Club when it met recently. Mrs. A. C. Houchin had charge of the business session, and led the club in the pledge of allegiance to the flag and the club collect given in unison.

Mrs. Irvin Cole gave a report of the TFWC District Convention held in Borger March 21-22. She was assisted by Mrs. John McKerney, Mrs. A. D. Hills and Mrs. Floyd Pennington, who also attended the convention.

Roll call was answered with a variety of subjects, after which the program on Fine Arts was introduced by Mrs. Houchin. Mrs. Frank Grantham had as her subject "Opportunities for Youth in Music" with the title of the lesson "Don't Knock the Rock". Thoughts given were those of James Michener, famous author who helped judge a rock and roll contest last summer.

Mrs. Grantham began by stating "The middle and older generations have little love of the music of the younger generation of today but one must confess, the knowledge and ability of our youth to be able to play so many different instruments and the electronic equipment that is synoptic of their music is really quite astounding. For almost every member of a rock and roll band can play from

Las Pampas Chapter, D.A.R. Hears Reports on Defense, Air Pollution

Las Pampas Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution met recently for lunch in Furr's Cafeteria. Mrs. Henry Merrick, regent, led the pledge to the flag and the American Creed. During the business meeting she announced most of the Honor Roll requirements had been met.

Mrs. John Skelly gave the National Defense Committee Report and quoted from several articles in the National Defender.

She said "many of our so called 'friends' are shipping supplies to the North Vietnamese. It is not inconceivable Americans are making fat profits by transshipping supplies via ports in Latin America and Asia."

She also mentioned "when most Americans were honoring George Washington Feb. 22, a group called Pride Inc. in the Nation's Capitol, announced they would celebrate, Feb. 23, the birthday of W.E.B. DuBois who is the father of most if not all of the DuBois Club in this country. Pride Inc. is financed by the Labor Department, using taxpayers' money."

Mrs. H. H. Boynton, guest speaker, was introduced by Mrs. A. D. Hills who substituted for Mrs. W. S. Dixon, vice regent.

Mrs. Boynton spoke on "Air Pollution" and cited times and places when people became ill and died from effects of smog. "Air line pilots are able to locate distant cities on the horizon by individual bubbles of smog that hang over them. Sixty per cent of the nation's population live in communities with some kind of air pollution problem," she said.

She said a key factor in industrial progress is the phenomenal consumption of fossil fuels. Burning fossil fuels requires huge amounts of oxygen. A single automobile traveling at 40 miles an hour consumes as much breathable air as a small army.

"It has been calculated one car going a mile a minute between Santa Monica, Calif., and Pasadena, 30 miles away may consume more oxygen than all the residents of either of the two cities during the same period of time.

"Gasoline consumption in motor vehicles is expected to increase by 50 per cent in the next decade. Domestic air transport fuels will quadruple by 1977. The result may be once clean and quiet communities will be added to the list of American towns with pollution problems," Mrs. Boynton said.

She concluded her talk by pointing out dangers of indiscriminate spraying of insecticides—citing cases of illness and death resulting from the deadly chemicals.

Other guests beside the speaker were Mrs. Claire C. Roane, member of the Ester McCrory Chapter DAR of Amarillo and Mrs. Teresa Humphreys of Pampa.

Other members were Mmes. Turner Kirby, James Hopkins, Lois Young, Harold Miller, D. C. Gassaway, Geraldine Shultz, Vernon Hobbs and Lou Ella Peterson and Ruth Huff.

The next meeting will be at noon May 4 in Furr's Cafeteria.

 This week end as Christians prepared for Easter and the commemoration of the resurrection of Christ, Jews begin their special thanksgiving for release from bondage in Egypt, the days of Passover.

But for some 30,000 Jews in Poland, the thanksgiving must be colored by a new rise in anti-semitism.

That it is largely a smoke-screen to cover internecine warfare within the Communist party, to the scores of Jews fired from their jobs and held up as "nihilists" disloyal to their country this can be of small comfort as they take over their traditional role as scape-goats of history.

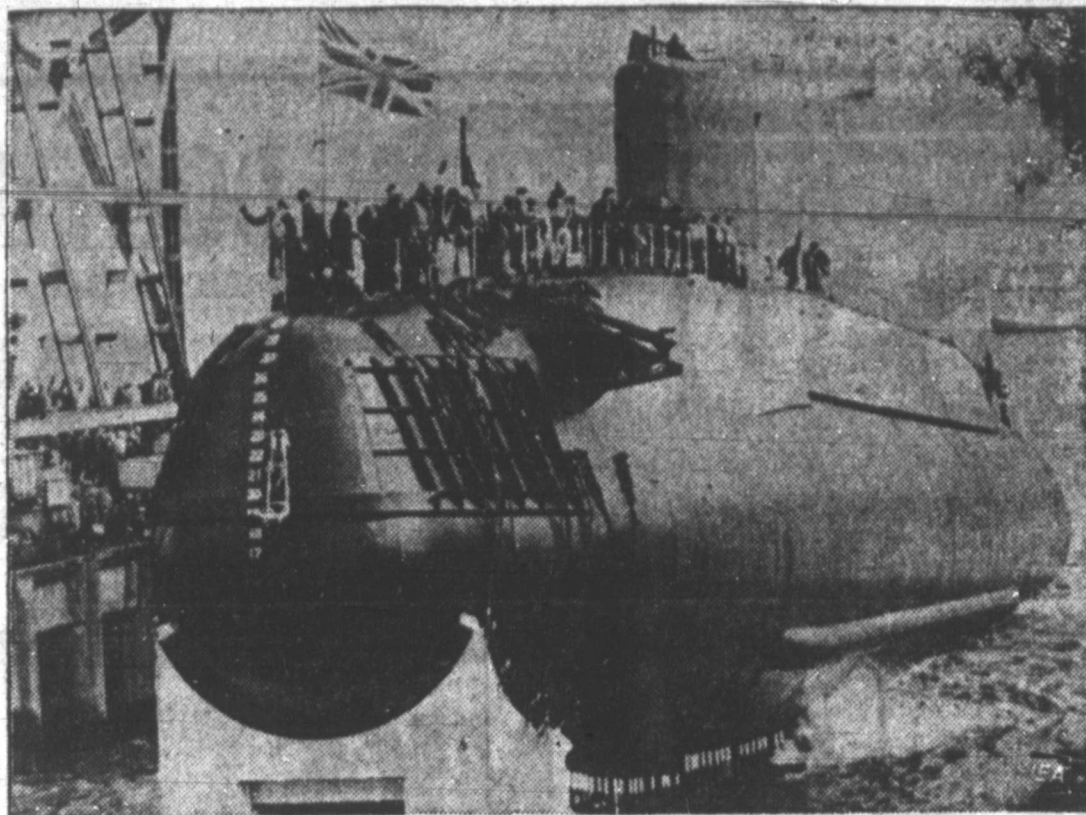

Real Sin
 Their real sin is that among them are some of the intellectuals and liberals who clamor for a liberalization such as is occurring in Czechoslovakia, others are associated with the harsh days of Josef Stalin and all are caught in the pincers of a power struggle within the party unequalled since the rise to power of party leader Wladyslaw Gomulka after the riots of 1956.

And Gomulka's own failure to bring a measure of moderation into the resurgence of anti-semitism in Poland may be regarded also as a measure of the deterioration of his own position within the party.

Gomulka, whose wife is Jewish, himself opened the door to a rise of anti-semitism when last July he denounced that portion of the population whose sentiments lay with Israelis in the Mideast war and opposed the official policy of support for the Arabs.

His suggestion that Israeli sympathizers were disloyal to Poland opened the door which later he was unable to close.

In Poland there are today some 30,000 Jews remaining of a pre-war population of some 3.5 million. Today they are accused of crimes ranging from Stalinism to revisionism and of selling out to West Germany in hopes of financial gain.

Quint Plans Marriage

DALLAS (UPI)—Maria Cristina Diligenti relaxed at her fiance's apartment in Dallas and told of her plans as the future Mrs. Bruce Robert Zimmerman.

Maria's plans are not unlike those of any bride, but most brides are not one of a set of quintuplets. Maria and her two sisters and two brothers were born 24 years ago to an Italian couple in Buenos Aires.

The Diligenti quint is the only group that has lived to adulthood.

Maria, a petite dark-eyed brunette, will be the fourth quint to marry. Her twin sisters married at ages 16 and 18 and each has three children. A brother, Franco, was married last December.

The bride-to-be flashes a small oval shaped diamond in a white gold setting. She plans to marry Zimmerman, an in-terne at Dallas Parkland Hospital, who will specialize in internal medicine, May 25 at St. Paul, Minn. The couple was introduced by a mutual friend, an Argentine doctor last September.

Maria will be given in marriage by her older brother, a resident of Canada. Her parents will not attend the wedding because her father is ill.

A twin brother, Carlos, who plans to marry in July, also will be at the wedding.

Though her mother had two multiple births—the first were triplets, two of whom died—Maria is not worried that the same fate will befall her.

"It only happens to every third generation," she explained.

Neither of her twin sisters have had a multiple birth.

She hopes to have a child soon after she is married, and

Demo Candidate Returns From Naval Reserve Duty

J. R. "Dick" Brown, democratic candidate for United States Representative, 18th Congressional District, Texas, returned this past week end from two weeks' active duty for training aboard the USS Haleakala in the San Francisco Bay area. During Brown's tour of duty, the USS Haleakala (AE25) was undergoing pre-deployment inspection and exercises prior to reassignment to Vietnam. When Brown departed the ship, she was loading ammunition at Port Chicago, preparatory to leaving for Vietnam.

Brown is a lieutenant in the U.S. Naval Reserve, attached to the Reserve center in Amarillo.

Citrus Grower Says 'This Is The Year' In Texas Orchards

McALLEN, Tex. (UPI) — Mother Nature can be a fickle friend to the citrus growers in the Rio Grande Valley, and no one knows it better than Fuller Duke, who runs "Duke's Golden Acres" just outside McAllen. The former insurance salesman has had a pretty rough time of it during the past several years. But he's optimistic about the immediate future. "This," he says, "is going to be the year."

Duke cited the winter moisture and cold temperatures as being helps in creating favorable spring conditions.

He said, "Trees blossomed well with heavy bloom. Right now, the bloom is off and the fruit is about pea size. It looks like to me it could be a bumper crop."

The situation was not always so rosy.

Duke was for many years a salesman with Combined Insurance Co. of America. With the help of a friend in the firm, he got set up on the 300-acre farm, complete with orange and grapefruit trees.

From then on he had nothing but problems. First there was a disastrous freeze, then price problems. Last year Duke got a good crop ready for harvest — just in time for Hurricane Beulah to tear the fruit from the trees and send it floating away.

"It was a sea of fruit, floating down the road," Duke said. Fortunately, however, the big wind did little damage to the trees themselves. Duke said the conditions seem to point toward a good crop this year.

"We have a lot of competition from Mexico oranges," he said. "but we are also getting into some eastern markets we had not had before."

TOO MUCH WELWYM GARDEN CITY, England (UPI) — For most of his 44 years, Napoleon Potter's name has been good for a laugh on him. He's grinned and endured it as long as he can remember.

No more. "I just can't take it any longer," he said Saturday. "I'm changing my name — to Joe. I've always envied people named Joe."

A&M Chosen For Training Institute

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Texas A&M University had been chosen by the U.S. Office of Education as the site for one of several training institutes for vocational and technical educators this summer.

The A&M institute will be held under the auspices of Ohio State University, which has received nearly $50,000 in grants from the federal government for the project.

Grants totalling about $500,000 have been awarded to colleges, universities and school districts in 15 states for 20 training institutes. The institutes will consist of workshops and seminars lasting from one to two weeks, lasting from one to two weeks.

THE LIGHTER SIDE
 'Desexualization'

By DICK WEST
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two small boys are having a quarrel.
 First boy: "My dad can beat up your dad."
 Second boy: "Big deal—so can my mother."
 I read this joke, if it is a joke, in a book published this week under the title "The New People."
 Written by Dr. Charles E. Winick, an anthropologist and sociologist, the book deals with "Desexualization in American Life."
 It is Winick's thesis that the differences between men and women are rapidly being phased out, leading to the creation of a society in which everyone is neuter.
 Winick frowns on that sort of thing and I must say it sounds rather impractical to me too. For one thing, I can't afford a new set of towels right now. My wife and I have made a sizable investment in "HIS" and "HERS" towels. If the neutering trend continues, we will have to replace them with towels labelled "UNDECIDED." Desexualization also will require a rewriting of thousands of songs. Take, for example, "Little Old Lady," which was popular about three decades ago.
 The lyrics used to start like this: "Little old lady passing by—Catching everyone's eye—She has such a charming manner—Sweet and shy."
 The new version presumably will start like this: "Little old lady passing by—Catching everyone's eye—How can you tell that little old lady—isn't a little old guy?"
 According to Winick, there has been widespread "role reversals" among men and women. Which means a lot of plays will need revising. Such as "Romeo and Juliet." Here's the new balcony scene:
 "O Romeo, Romeo! Wherefore art thou Romeo?"
 "I'm up here on the balcony."
 Winick says the blurring of sexual distinctions make it increasingly difficult for a person to establish a sense of personal identity.
 Yes, and it also will make a lot of the old movies you see on television more obsolete than ever.

HOW'S BUSINESS? Emphatic Peace Bid Gives Confidence 'Shot in Arm'

By THE BABSON STAFF. As a result of the most emphatic bid for peace talks since the war in Vietnam began, public confidence has taken a new lease on life. The impact was particularly evident in the stock market. Stocks of those companies which stand to benefit the most when peace comes paced the explosive market rally. While peace is neither certain nor likely to be immediate, it might be well to examine economic prospects based upon a return to peacetime conditions.

Due to the vast productive capacity of American industry, adequate supplies of both guns and consumer goods have been produced during the Viet war. Hence, there is no vast pent-up demand of the type which prevailed at the end of the first and second world wars. Consequently, we should not expect a vigorous and protracted business boom. Any real dynamism in business must come from the forces of natural growth.

About the only real backlog is to be found in public construction where a moderate degree of pent-up demand exists due to curtailment of federal spending. The stringency of credit and the high level of money rates have created some backlog in private construction, but not much. The advent of peace would undoubtedly be beneficial to the building of new residential, factory, and commercial units, but this would be due primarily to the natural

'Convention' Is Planned In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Students at Arlington Heights high school — though still too young to vote — will hold a political convention May 4. It won't be for real, but the students have made every effort to make it look that way.

Some 450 students of government and American history will stage the mock convention — Republican convention — Complete with bunting, special delegates' badges, speeches and an agenda designed after that of a major national convention.

Coy Clement, a senior at the school, said, "We chose to have a Republican convention, since we assumed, as did many others that it would provide the most to stimulate equal interest. As we intend to keep a sharp eye on developments in the Democratic race, we will proceed as planned."

Government teacher Mrs. Betty Quimby is credited with the idea for the mock convention. She said the event is a good exercise in government and is not designed to give students any particular party's philosophy, but rather to show them precisely how a man is nominated to be president.

Last year Mrs. Quimby's students staged a mock election and inauguration of governor. The details were completely thought out, including having "inauguration officials" arrive by limousine for the speeches.

Classes have been studying conventions, the election process various candidates and other parts of democratic process in preparation of the convention.

TWO FOR ONE CHAMONIX, France (UPI)—Mountain climbing guide Guido Franchino watched in horror Sunday as his client slipped and tumbled into a crevasse. He immediately lowered a rope to haul out the trapped man.

But the figure that clambered over the crevasse lip was that of another man — followed, (moments later, by Guido's client.

"I'd been there for an hour when he fell in," the stranger explained.

FOREIGN NEWS COMMENTARY — US Sellout In Vietnam?

By PHIL NEWSOM UPI Foreign News Analyst South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky are not particularly happy with the present direction of the search for Vietnam peace talks.

They fear the United States will attempt to pressure them into a coalition government with the Communists, and this, they have said, they never will accept.

There are others, too, who fear a U.S. sellout. Here is a partial rundown: BANGKOK: The prospect of imminent peace negotiations is causing a bad case of heartburn among top echelon Thais, who fear the prospect of being left defenseless as the only pro-Western nation remaining on the Indochina peninsula. The fears have been compounded by recent Communist advances in Laos.

TAIPEI: The Nationalist Chinese government is expected to advise the United States against formation of a coalition government in South Vietnam. It will inform Washington of its strong belief that a government in which a Communist party backed by its own army is represented will only lead to a Communist takeover of the whole country in a very short time.

SEOUL: In Hawaii, South Korean President Park Chung Hee will make clear his country's opposition either to prolonged Vietnam peace talks or to a Geneva-type conference. The Koreans, with memory of prolonged armistice talks in their own country and frequent Communist violations of it, believe prolonged talks can lead only to Hanoi's advantage. They also fear that Vietnam War allies would be excluded from talks in a Geneva style conference.

There are others, too, who fear the consequences of any U.S. withdrawal from Southeast Asia.

Among these can be counted Malaysia, Laos and Burma, even though the latter could not be expected to take a public stand. All would feel forced to make an accommodation of their own with Red China.

Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos also would oppose such a withdrawal but might be forced to accept it because of opposition at home to the 2,000-man civil action force now on duty in South Vietnam.

The famous Spanish Armada consisted of 132 ships, 33,000 soldiers and crew members. London's Great Plague killed 68,000 persons in 1665.

NOT LBJ, but French hotel owner Herbert Marboutis, whose resemblance to Lyndon B. Johnson landed him a part in an Italian film, portraying the President.

Unique College Helps Student Pay Own Way

NEW YORK, N. Y. — There is a college in this country where all qualified high school graduates who are accepted have half their tuition and fees paid, earn a minimum of $11,000 while enrolled in a unique Work-Study Program, and gain two and a half years of experience as a management trainee.

It is The College of Insurance, a fully-accredited co-educational college located in the heart of the financial and insurance center of New York City. The college was established in 1962 and now has students from 12 states enrolled.

Two undergraduate degrees are offered by the college. One is the Bachelor of Business Administration (BBA) degree, with a major in insurance, and the other is the Bachelor of Science (BA) degree, with a major in actuarial science, an area with a financially sound future for those who are outstanding in mathematics.

Contrary to what the name of the college might imply, 50 per cent of the curriculum is in the liberal arts, with the balance divided between business administration and insurance.

Under this program, students alternate four month periods of study at the college with four month periods of work with their sponsoring organization as a management trainee. The college arranges interviews with companies for all students who are accepted into the program and the student then selects which company he wants as a sponsor. Many students work for sponsors in their home town.

In addition to teaching the student as much about the business as possible during his or her work terms and paying half the tuition and fees, the sponsor will also reimburse the student the half of the tuition and fees he paid if he remains with the company for two years after graduation.

This Work-Study Program is especially appealing to youngsters who might otherwise not be able to attend college because of financial reasons and also to youngsters who would like to enter the business world as soon as possible and not wait for four more years of interrupted school.

In addition to the tuition scholarships and the earnings during the work periods, the college also has available scholarship funds for the scholastically deserving but financially needy student.

The Selective Service System has ruled that students attending the College's Work-Study program have the same draft-exempt status as students at other colleges.

NEW YORK—Mayor John V. Lindsay criticizing Congress for not heading the meaning of the recent riots: "You are not going to get a teenager to sit down and write a careful letter to his congressman, but he is sending him a message."

CAMP DAVID, Md.—President Johnson, reporting to newsmen on progress toward proposed talks with North Vietnamese leaders: "We are in agreement with our allies and are prepared for ambassadorial contacts just as soon as arrangements can be completed."

Kaul Says Oil Industry To Meet Large Demand

ORGER — A spokesman for oilfield manufacturing, service and supply industry predicted Monday night that the industry would meet the growing demands for petroleum.

Frank Kaul of Halliburton Services, Amarillo, spoke to members of the Borger Desk Derrick Club at their regular meeting at the Hotel Borger.

Kaul introduced a film, "One Inch in Nine," produced by Petroleum Equipment Suppliers Association, which tells the story of the drilling of an oil well and the role played by manufacturing, service and supply companies.

In 1956, there were only 140 wells drilled to depths below 1000 feet," Kaul said. "In 1965, this total had increased to 320 wells. In 1966, wells drilled below 15,000 feet totaled 400, and in 1967, it was 400 more. Indications are that the total will continue to increase."

He emphasized that PESA member companies are working with the oil industry "to fill these deeper wells by furnishing better products and services. And we're working only to help your companies do better, but also to help you produce more oil once a discovery is made."

He said that during a recent eight-year period, consumption of liquid petroleum in the United States climbed from over three billion barrels a year to over four billion—almost a 25 percent increase.

"Consider again," he said, "that this is the year of the HemisFair in San Antonio—Texas' first world fair. If San Antonio had staged HemisFair thirty years ago, it would have attracted about 130 million Americans. That was the population of this country during the 1939 New York World's Fair."

"Now here it is 1968 and our population has passed the 200 million mark—200 million compared to 130 million just 30 years ago. No wonder the demand for petroleum is skyrocketing."

He said that this presents a challenge that research by manufacturing, supply and service companies will help meet.

"PESA member companies and others in our industry today are spending between $65 and $70 million annually on research and development," he said. "It is a logical conclusion that this expenditure will increase."

OSTLY CATCH
MOUNT HOLLY, N.J. (UPI)—Patrolman John McDonough got his man Sunday after an auto chase at speeds up to 75 miles an hour. But it cost the policeman a patrol car.

McDonough said he attempted to stop a car driven by David Mollica, 22, for a routine check but Mollica sped away. McDonough was soon in close pursuit—so close that when Mollica's car crashed into a tree it bounced back into the patrol car, causing extensive damage.

Television In Review 'Reality Programming'

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—I was thinking the other day about Edgar Allan Jones, the UCLA law professor who was so brilliant as a judge in the old, authentic television series "Day in Court" and "Traffic Court."

I was thinking about him and television for a lot of reasons. For instance, there is a lot of talk at the networks nowadays about "reality programming."

And there is a definite trend toward the so-called "entertainment documentary."

And outside of the industry itself, there are much more significant matters, such as the presidential commission's report on civil disorders, and the concern throughout the land about urban and racial strife, personal rights, traffic safety and other subjects touching each individual.

Timely Offering
Offhand, I can think of few people who could bring as timely and significant programming to network television now as Prof. Jones could. And I can think of few things that could benefit television more these days than the kind of "law-oriented programming" that Prof. Jones has continued to advocate even since he left the airwaves, and which he rightfully believes would be valuable and excellent for a network to reinstate, with topical substance, at the current time.

Furthermore, the fact that Prof. Jones is still very active, being a young man, and is an established television personality, would seem to solve the problem of any network considering such a project, and seeding a proven figure on camera. The professor is, to this day, the best ad-libber I have ever seen on video, and the reason was his search for exactness in the law.

He believed, in his shows, that even though the cases were researched thoroughly by top students, tones and innuendoes could change impressions and result in different conclusions when acted out. And to react naturally and with legal logic, he often ad-libbed, even decisions, demanding sharp reactions from casts.

Good Reviews
The court series with which Jones was identified struck a responsive chord in keen observers of television. In 1958, for instance, Marya Mannes wrote in the Reporter Magazine: "The surprise is... that TV should have taken so long to tap this rich documentary vein running through all the courthouses in the United States and supremely adaptable to the small screen."

Jones quit "Day in Court" in 1964 when ABC-TV turned it into a legal soap opera and killed it. He couldn't abide the change. The series, after all, had received the American Bar Association gavel award, among others. Authenticity was everything to him.

Not long ago, he tried to interest ABC-TV in reviving the solid concept of the old series. But there was an executive shakeup at the network at the time, and the idea got brushed off in the flurry.

But this is 1968, and the need for an understanding of law is suddenly urgent. And, as Jones says, "The large number of white and Negroes are wondering whether there is in the legal system something with which they can identify. Nothing in commercial television now holds out any kind of instruction or hope. I'd love to be doing it—but somebody ought to be doing it."

Black Africa Today, II Native 'Exploitation' Continues In Self-Rule By African States

Black Africa Today
By PETER LYNCH
United Press International

The tribes of Africa bickered and battled long before the white man first explored what he chose to call the "Dark Continent."

The colonizers paid tribute to tribal chiefs for favors granted and taught the Black African corruption.

Finally the colonized learned the art of revolution in order to overthrow their white rulers.

The colonial powers are gone now from most of Africa and in the last decade 30 Black African nations have emerged—to be faced with the triple perils of continued rebellion, corruption and tribalism.

And the Africans have learned that in the wake of the "winds of change" some things have remained very much the same.

Few Left
Few of the old guard African nationalist politicians who led their nations to independence remain to help them through the chaotic period that now is following freedom from white rule.

One of the best-known Kwame Nkrumah, emerged from James Fort Prison in Accra to lead the Gold Coast colony to independence from Britain as the new nation of Ghana in 1947.

Ghana in 1957. Ghana was hailed as the rising black star of the continent.

Today he is an unwelcome exile in Conakry, the capital of Guinea, a discredited dictator whose homeland has put a $140,000 price on his head, dead or alive.

Ghana itself is a fallen star, trying to extricate itself from the financial bankruptcy of Nkrumah's nine-year reign.

Nkrumah perhaps is lucky—he is alive. President Sylvania Olympio of Togo was gunned down trying to claw his way over a wall to the sanctuary of a United States embassy following an army coup that overthrew his government in 1963.

Statesman Murdered
Three years later the Nigerian prime minister, Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa, regarded by many as Africa's most able statesman, was murdered in a roadside ditch after the military took over his country.

The former Nigerian president, Nnamdi Azikiwe, a founding father of African nationalism, was shuffled out of office in two successive military coups and now is living in retirement in a small village near Umuhia in the secessionist state of Biafra.

The oldtime nationalists still in power literally can be counted on the fingers of one hand—Jomo Kenyatta in Kenya, Julius Nyerere in Tanzania, Felix Houphouet-Boigny in the Ivory Coast, Leopold Senghor in Senegal and Hastings Banda in Malawi.

Some Africans blame tribalism on the "divide and rule" policies of the colonial powers, but bitter tribal rivalries predate colonialism and African history and mythology are riddled with stories of vast tribal wars.

Problems Aggravated
If the European colonizers were more than willing to reinforce their power by appealing to these traditional emities, independence has not eased them. Sometimes it has aggravated them.

Corruption presents a more subtle problem in the new nations—but not too subtle when practiced in the African manner.

"Dash" is a common term on the continent's west coast, where business firms keep a "dash box" for payoffs and hospital patients often pay a penny "dash money" for a bedpan.

On the east coast it is called "baksheesh," but whatever the name the game remains the same—payoffs for political and economic favors.

Politicians have openly demanded—and received—thousands of dollars for building permits, currency favors and preferential treatment.

Leslie Caron Is Turning Attention To The Stage

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Petite Leslie Caron came to Hollywood to present an Oscar at the Academy Awards and during her stay explained that she is turning her attention to the stage.

A magnificent success in movies—"Gigi," "Lili"—"American in Paris"—Leslie's finest performance was in "The L-Shaped Room."

Still, she is not content with movies.

"I would like to do the unorthodox," she said. "Maybe join a repertory company and do some good plays. I don't want to become the biggest movie star or earn the most money."

Wants Greatness
"What I really want is to become a great actress. I think an actress can develop better on the stage than she can in films. But it depends on the individual."

"The last play I didn't like the public. It depressed me when they did not respond to what was happening on stage."

Leslie said on her return to the stage she will worry less about the audience and try to improve her techniques.

Her reason again is candid. "I'm looking far ahead," she went on in her charming Gallic accent. "When I am old I want to be a better actress than I am right now."

"I am looking forward to becoming an old lady. You must begin preparing early for that."

Long Way
Leslie has a long way to go. She makes her home in London now, blending an English accent with her native French for a thoroughly enchanting combination.

Rather than accept second rate parts in films, Leslie would prefer not to work at all. She seeks a distinguished director as well as a promising script.

Her most recent film is "Head of the Family" for Italian director Nanni Loy.

Engineers In Houston Monitor Data On Injured Marine Via TV Setup

Houston (UPI)—Men crowded around television-sized medical monitoring units in the Bluebonnet Room of the Shamrock Hilton Hotel recently were silent, because it was far from a routine patient monitoring operation.

They were studying the heart beat, brain wave and sleep patterns of a 19-year-old Marine, lying seriously wounded in a Tokyo hospital. He had been brought to Japan from Vietnam.

That the medical data on the young soldier could be seen in Houston was a result of an arrangement among International Telephone and Telegraph Worldcom, Intersat Pacific satellite, land line facilities of American Telephone and Telegraph and the University of Texas Institute of Biomedical Science in Houston.

The data was also being monitored in Washington, D.C. "Someday soon I believe we will find such a system financially feasible for any number of people around the world," said Dr. Fred B. Vogt, chairman of the institute's biomedical engineering department.

The data was brought more than 50,000 miles along the electronic connections to 1,600 engineers at the 1968 National Reletemetering Conference of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers.

Vogt said the system could be done with a minimum of doctors and paramedical personnel.

He also said regions that now have few or no physicians could be linked to a medical center for rapid diagnostic purposes.

The demonstration began Tuesday and continued through Wednesday when a definite diagnosis on the injured Marine will be made based on the data.

The information moved from Camp Drake Hospital in Tokyo to an earth satellite station on the Japanese coast across the Pacific by satellite relay to the Brewster Flat earth station in Washington State. Signals were then sent to San Francisco by IT&T and then by AT&T to conferences in Houston and Washington.

CoC Committee Slates Meeting

The Chamber of Commerce's fire prevention and safety committee will meet at noon Wednesday to make plans for the annual Spring Fix-up, Clean-up, and Paint-up drive.

Bill Fraser, chairman, said the annual drive is cosponsored by the committee and the city of Pampa. The drive this year will be held May 6-22.

OKAY RIP
AVIGNON, France (UPI)—Police rushed Dutch tourist Hans Van Den Boyvenz to a local hospital after passers-by alerted at finding him unconscious on a park bench, were unable to wake him.

Hans—and the doctors—were just a bit embarrassed when, hours later, he finally awoke. "I'm a deep sleeper," he explained.

Randy's Father In Hospital In Amarillo Now

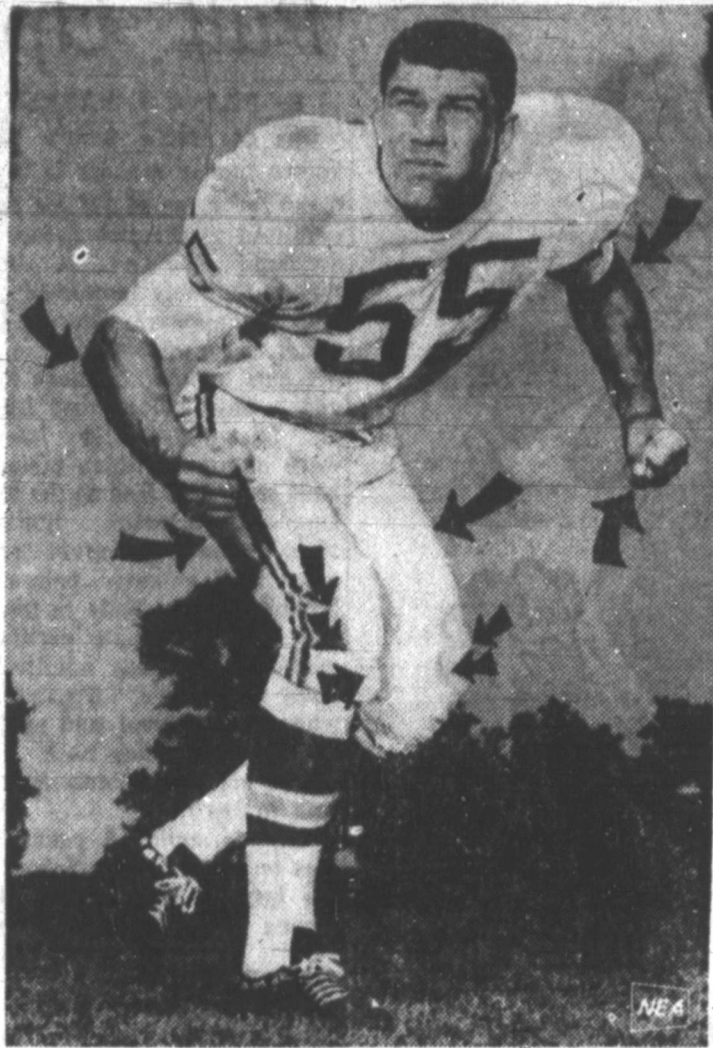

World Champion shot putter Randy Matson's father, Charles Matson of Pampa is now in Amarillo Northwest Texas Hospital after surgery yesterday and is described as being in good condition today.

Mr. Matson is in room 327. The nurse in charge said, "He slept very well; and had a comfortable night. He is in very good condition."

Randy was in Pampa with his wife to visit with his parents over the Easter holidays. The last time Mr. Matson was in the hospital was when Randy was being honored as the Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame's Athlete of the Decade.

Mr. Matson told the News Saturday afternoon while watching Randy work out at Pampa High School that he felt all right but that he needed to have the surgery.

"This operation Monday (yesterday) is not as serious as the last one. I feel pretty good, but I could feel better," Mr. Matson said Saturday.

ARROWS INDICATE the many injuries sustained by Kansas City Chiefs linebacker E. J. Holub, who is being moved to center this season. The seven-year AFL veteran has undergone eight operations during his football career.

National Association, Industry To Develop Cycle Education

NEW YORK (SpI) — A joint effort to develop motorcycle driver education source materials and standards specifically adapted for use in public schools has been announced by the National Commission on Safety Education of the National Education Association and the Motorcycle, Scooter and Allied Trades Association.

The joint announcement of the new program was made by Dr. Norman Key, Executive Secretary of the Commission on Safety Education, and Paul L. McCullis, Director of Governmental Relations for MS&ATA.

South African Fights Cokes In Big D Today

DALLAS (UPI)—Wildswinging southpaw Willie Ludick of South Africa challenges champion Curtis Cokes for the latter's welterweight title tonight with hopes his unorthodox style will minimize the champion's explosive counterpunching.

Neither the champion nor the challenger was expected to have any trouble making the weight limit at the noon CST weigh-in and Cokes promised he was going home to take a sound, nerve-free nap before the 9 p.m. CST bout in Municipal Auditorium.

The size of the crowd for the champion's fourth title defense remained in doubt pending an expected ticket-window rush in frigid pre-fight hours.

But, a 30-city television hookup and a $50,000 guarantee to Cokes by South African David Levin to give Ludick the title shot left no financial strains bothering the two fighters. Ludick will get 15 percent of the proceeds, but he confidently expects to wrest away the title and make his fortune defending it back home.

Cokes and the oddsmakers think very little of Ludick's chances of turning that trick, which Jean Josefine, Francois Pavilla and Charlie Shipes have failed to accomplish in past title bouts.

Cokes' recognized ability as a boxer and counterpuncher, and his proven ability to hurt his opponent damagingly from inside with either a left or a right hand have caused the odds to hold steady at 9-5 in Cokes' favor.

Harvesters Go Today With Plainview At 4

The Pampa Harvester baseball team was scheduled to play Plainview today at 4 p.m. in Plainview to be broadcast over Radio Station KPND, starting at 3:45.

Coach Bobby Stephens' team belted the Palo Duro Dons last Friday with Dick Henley blasting an extra inning homer to win his own ball game. Henley went two for four Friday in the victory which stopped a five-game losing streak for PHS.

Henley knocked the ball over the left field fence in the eighth inning. The senior right-hander held the Dons to eight hits, scattered over the eight frames. This game today is the final game of the first half. Starting Friday the Harvesters get another chance to grab a half crown in District 3-AAAA and go on to the state tournament.

Stephens was pleased with the showing of the team Friday and was really torn up over the close, heartbreaker Saturday. The Amarillo Sandies clipped PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Philadelphia Flyers suffered their fourth playoff casualty Monday when it was learned that left wing Claude LaForge will miss Tuesday night's Stanley Cup game against the St. Louis Blues.

LaForge suffered a mild concussion in Saturday night's game that left the Blues with a 3-2 series lead. Other Flyers knocked out of action were Gary Dornhoefer, Art Stratton and Simon Nolet.

Hal Clabaugh allowed only four hits to the top ranked Sandie team Saturday. Coach Stephens was pleased with his job.

Henley is tentative starter for the Pampa team today in Plainview.

Aggies Win Two

HOUSTON (UPI)—The Texas A&M Aggies swept a doubleheader from the University of Houston Monday, taking the two error-filled games 6-4 and 9-6.

IN 24 INNINGS

Astros Win By 1-0 To Stay Atop Loop

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

Baseball's longest night was filled with moments of humor, drama, dullness and frustration—but most of all, it was a nightmare for Al Weis.

Weis, the utility infielder of the New York Mets who was filling in at shortstop, let a bases-loaded grounder go through his legs Monday night to end the longest night game—and the longest scoreless contest—in baseball history.

The Houston Astros and Mets matched zeroes for what seemed like forever before Bob Aspromonte's grounder skipped through Weis' legs to score Norm Miller, who jumped on the plate to make it official, from third base in the last of the 24th inning. It gave Houston an incredible 1-0 victory in a six-hour and six-minute marathon that ended at 1:37 a.m. in Houston.

No game had ever gone longer than 20 innings with no scoring. No night game had ever gone longer than 22 innings before.

Pitching Duel As the pitchers completely dominated the action—a trend that is starting to worry baseball officials since the trend to low-scoring games bores the fans who like a lot of action—there were only brief moments of drama. Each team got a runner to third three times before the Astros finally scored.

—and the Mets loaded the bases in the 12th and the Astros had a runner cut down at the plate in the second.

Weis, who led off and went only 1-for-9 including a ground-out in the 17th inning with a runner on third, was the unwitting goat after rookie Les Rohr—the eighth Met pitcher and 22nd Met in the game—got himself into a jam.

Miller led off the 24th with a single—the only hit the Astros got that inning. He moved to second on Rohr's balk and after Jim Wynn was intentionally walked, the runners moved up on Rusty Staub's groundout. After pinch-hitter John Bate-man was walked intentionally, Aspromonte hit his grounder.

Weis, normally a second baseman, couldn't come up with the grounder and it was all over. "I hoped he was going for the double play," Met manager Hodges said after the game. "It looked like it hit the edge of the turf and skidded, I think he touched it."

The game tied the mark for the longest game ever played to a decision—the 24-inning Philadelphia-Boston contest on Sept. 1, 1906. The longest game of 26 innings was played on May 1, 1920 when Boston and Brooklyn battled to a 1-1 tie.

Pitching was the whole game as there were only 11 hits on each side. Starter Tom Seaver allowed just one hit over the first nine innings and two hits in 10 innings. Astro starter Don Wilson—the Astros used five pitchers and 17 players—allowed five hits in his nine-inning stint. Reliever Jim Ray allowed only two hits in seven innings and he was followed by

Celtics Down Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Alex Hannum "Told it like it was" for the Boston Celtics.

"They came in here with an uphill fight starting them in the face," the 76ers coach Bill Russell said.

"They were dedicated. They played a great defense, and when they forced us to take bad shots they seemed to get every rebound and take off down the court on the attack."

The way it looked from the opposing coach's bench was the way it looked from the stands. Boston just couldn't be beat Monday night as it downed Philadelphia 122-104 to keep in contention for the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division championship.

The loss cut the 76ers' edge in the best-of-seven competition to 3-2 with the next game in Boston on Wednesday. If a seventh game is necessary, it will be played Friday night at the Spectrum here.

Russell said he had no words of inspiration for the Celtics before the game. "I just told them to go out there and play the kind of basketball I know they're capable of."

Wade Blasigame, who allowed just one hit the final four innings and got the win.

Several players went in instant slumps. Ron Swoboda and Tommie Agee of the Mets went 0-for-10 and Ken Boswell was 1-for-10. Ron Davis was 1-for-10, Aspromonte 0-for-9 and Hal King 1-for-9 for the Astros.

There were also two other games played in the National League Monday night as St. Louis edged Atlanta 4-3 in 10 innings and Los Angeles beat Pittsburgh 3-2.

Hank Aaron's two-run seventh-inning homer off Bob Gibson gave Atlanta a 3-1 lead but Roger Maris' two-run double in the eighth tied it. Dal Maxvill then doubled in the 10th and pinch-runner Dick Simpson scored on a single by pinch-hitter John Edwards' off Pat Jarvis.

The Dodgers had scored just one run in their first four games but Jim Lefebvre hit a three-run homer in the ninth to blanked the Dodgers on one-hit until they rallied in the ninth and Lefebvre beat him.

Amendments Passed On Water Safety

AUSTIN (SpI) — Amendments were made to the Water Safety Act by the 60th Legislature according to J. B. Phillips, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department law enforcement coordinator.

The definition of motor boats now includes documented vessels which must now abide by the regulations provided for motor boats. Documented vessels are those registered with the U.S. Bureau of Customs.

All watercraft are included in the definition of vessels. All vessels, including row boats, rafts, or barges, which are operated at night, must exhibit at least one bright light, lantern, or flare.

A third amendment provides that the certificate of number or facsimile thereof required by the Act must be carried on board the vessel at all times. The facsimile must be a reproduction made by the Texas Highway Department.

A rotating blue light has been authorized for Parks and Wildlife Department boats and police vessels. A blue light on any other boat is a violation of the law.

The blue light on a boat is the aquatic equivalent to the red light on patrol cars, ambulances, and fire trucks. Since bow lights on boats must be red, blue was selected as the color of authority.

Other lighting requirements for boats vary with the length of each boat and are unamended.

Boats up to 26 feet must have a red bow light capable of being seen from the front in a 112.5 degree radius to the port side and green bow light capable of being seen from the front in a 112.5 degree radius to the starboard side.

A white stern light capable of being seen in a 360 degree radius must be displayed on vessels required to have the above lights.

Boats 26 feet and over must display a white bow light capable of being seen from the front in a 225 degree radius, a red light on the port side capable of being seen from the front in a 112.5 degree radius, and a green light on the starboard side capable of being seen from the front in a 112.5 degree radius.

ABA Playoffs Begin Thursday

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The American Basketball Association announced Monday the best-of-seven league championship playoff series between Pittsburgh and New Orleans will open at the Civic Arena here Thursday night.

The second game also will be played at the arena Saturday night with the third and fourth contests scheduled tentatively at New Orleans April 24 and 25. The fifth game, if necessary, will be played at the arena April 27.

If sixth and seventh games are necessary they will be played at New Orleans and Pittsburgh respectively. Dates for those games, however, have not been announced.

More Tryouts Slated For Little Leagues

More tryouts for boys who want to play Little League baseball were scheduled today at 5:30 p.m. at Optimist Park according to league officials.

Boys of ages nine through 12 must tryout this week. Today and Thursday Charlie Hammons and Ed Henley, League Presidents, said they wanted boys of ages 11 and 12. The boys of nine and 10 years worked out yesterday and should work out again tomorrow at Optimist Park.

Henley, president of the National League, mentioned to the News, "We want only those boys who are not already on a Little League team. The youngsters who are already on a roster should not work out."

"If someone wants to play but is unable to come out for the tryouts this week, they should call me or Charlie Hammons and give the reason why they can not come out," Henley said. Henley's number to phone is MO 4-2942. Hammon's number is MO 5-5637.

The total number of boys participating in the Optimist baseball program is around 650 according to President Hammons. In order for a man to manage a team, he must be a member of the Optimist Club in Pampa.

The Club does all the ground-keeping chores and owns the land (along with the First National Bank) where the ball park is located, according to Hammons.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE.

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Keep the Politicians Out

Governor George Romney exercised remarkable restraint. In those feverish days last summer when Detroit was being sacked by rioters, President Johnson, the politician, allowed as how if the Governor of Michigan could not control the situation in his State, then Federal forces would be sent in. And thereupon, the President sent not only troops, but also a personal representative to "take charge."

Washington's agony was longer, more costly, more dangerous. But Governor Romney maintained a Christian silence. He refrained from embarrassing publicly if Johnson could not control the situation. Meantime, the President figuratively fiddled, like Nero, while the Rome of our country burned.

What possible inhibition can there be for a public official to protect the life and property of 99 per cent of the population against the illegal looting of one per cent? Truth be known, 99 per cent of the Negro population of Washington is asking that question, as are the police.

Police on Washington's streets expressed open bitterness about the orders under which they operated. They were instructed to make no arrests other than for feldees. Under such instruction, arrests for looting were barred. It's necessary only to remember that it is these uniformed police who will have

Prepare To Choose

It is more than high-flown philosophy to assert that in a very practical sense each of us shares the burdens of that office. The ultimate test of our understanding of that fact is when we put an "X" opposite the name of a candidate for the Presidency in the lonesome confines of a polling booth.

That test tells whether we are serious or frivolous, thoughtful or careless, and whether we have solemnly reflected on the choice or have let ourselves be moved by emotion. Have we selected the candidate who addressed the issues or the galleries?

"Is yours an old button, too?"

PINE TREE FEATURES

by Robert K. Newell

I deplore and condemn the recent murder of the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. But no more and no less than I deplore and condemn any murder of any man. The attention paid to the King murder was more than a little ridiculous and more than a little revolting.

Every day thousands of people are murdered, and nobody gives a hoot; no flags fly at half mast, no stores and banks and ball games close down for close to a week. When the great black leader, Malcolm X was assassinated, no banks and no schools shut down, and no vice president appeared at his funeral. It appears to me there was more fuss and feathers about the assassination of the Rev. King than there was about the assassination of President Kennedy—or at least as much.

Why? Why should this one murder and this one funeral command the continuing and uninterrupted attention of the entire nation? The civil rights movement is opposed to discrimination, and yet to single out Dr. King's funeral for sole and unremitting attention appears to me an affront and discrimination against all other victims of murder and foul play, here and throughout the world.

I have a goodly hunch about the answer to this mystery, and the answer makes the whole spectacle hypocritical. I have a hunch about why department store after department store took out black-bordered ads with Dr. King's portrait, proclaiming that they would shut down in honor of his funeral. The hunch: that these worries acted not out of grief and respect, but out of pure fear.

Fear that unless continual obeisance is made in the direction of the Rev. King, the Negroes of this nation would rise up and level them to the ground. In a sense, these stores and schools were paying a kind of anticipatory blackmail. It's a truly degrading spectacle.

So intensely did this fear grip midtown Manhattan on the Friday after the murder that firm after firm released its employees early, in response to wild rumors that permeated New York that the whole of midtown Manhattan was in flames and ruins. Invariably, these employees rushed home and barricaded their doors, waiting for the holocaust that never came.

Rev. King, far away the Number One leader of the Negro people, was also its leading apostle of absolute non-violence; hence he was the major restraining force on the developing Negro revolution. All the more was this true because, in moments of crisis, he relaxed his absolute non-violence to come out in favor of the use of violence by federal troops to put down Negro rioting—as he did in Watts three years ago, and as he did in last summer's urban rebellions. Now that influence is gone: like Gandhi, his mentor in non-violent mass movements, he was cut down by an assassin's bullet.

Perhaps the most important sign of radicalizing of the Negro mood in the wake of Dr. King's death was the extensive rioting in Washington, D.C. For the Negroes of Washington had always been very quiet and docile, most of them being civil servants with a general status in the Negro community. But Washington, for the first time, erupted, and we were treated to the highly revealing picture of soldiers with machine guns on the White House steps. The veil, the mask, the illusion that the government rules by voluntary "consent" of the public was, in those photographs and in that reality, stripped away, and we saw clearly, some for the first time, that the government rules, in the last analysis, by the gun and the bayonet—and by these alone.

Coming Two Weeks Called
Critical for Violence,
Disruption, Firebombing
of Activists' Timetable

WASHINGTON—The coming ten days to two weeks could be the most critical in American history.

Unless there is a last minute switch in the Communists' timetable, this is the target period which the Kremlin has set for massive new violence and disruption in American cities.

Only the presence of federal troops and national guardsmen may head off the brewing trouble.

Most likely objective of the firebombs this time could be the vast U.S. postal system and the millions in federal income tax returns, checks, and money orders that flood the mails during this period.

In the final rush to beat yesterday's deadline, American taxpayers have clogged the mails with more than $30 billion that the Internal Revenue Service will pick up and record from April 15-30.

Although the famous motto inscribed on the U.S. Post Office here boasts that "Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds," it is anybody's guess whether the mails would go through if the nation's main postoffices were assaulted and firebombed, as many business areas were following the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King.

While numerous delays in delivering the mail occurred in the big cities during the riots, the mail eventually got through. As if "soul brother" were written on the buildings, none of the post offices was hit during the "first round" of the organized firebombings that shocked more than 115 of the nation's cities.

Arrest records forwarded to the Justice Department show that more than 100 of the thousands arrested during the riots throughout the country were Post Office employees.

Since more than 50 per cent of the nation's mail is handled in only 33 post offices in the large cities, the destruction of the U. S. postal system and the millions of income tax returns could bring on a temporary financial catastrophe and service problem for the federal government.

APRIL REVOLUTION—Unless there are last minute changes in schedule, massive demonstrations planned by other radical groups will be telescoped during this critical period.

As reported in an earlier column, the Communist-infiltrated Students For a Democratic Society, in a series of meetings throughout the U.S., have laid plans for 10 days of violence and disruption in major American cities from April 21 to 30. The ambitious plans of these campus bolsheviks might seem a little fanciful except for present events. Also, "Firebomb"—their organ—calls for the beginning of a coordinated national program to "destroy and recreate" this country.

These critical days could also see the start of the Washington invasion by the followers of the late Dr. King. April 22 was the original date, since postponed "a week or two."

Before his assassination, King himself had threatened "massive dislocation" of Washington and organized demonstrations to "disrupt the functioning" of other major cities, including Chicago, New York, and Miami.

"We are going to the seat of government," King said, "not begging but demanding. We are willing if necessary to fill up the jails of Washington and surrounding communities."

The Rev. Ralph Abernathy, successor to King, has announced that he plans to carry on the Washington invasion as originally planned by King and other members of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. King had been the SCLC president.

FIREBOMB SQUADS—As this crisis period begins, there is growing evidence the Kremlin is flooding this country with millions of dollars so local Communists can buy the services of black militants, teenagers, and others.

Testifying behind closed doors before the House Appropriations subcommittee which handles funds for the FBI, Director J. Edgar Hoover told the startled legislators that in recent years the Kremlin had pumped more than $5 million into the U.S.

Another high-placed government security official stated that Hoover's estimate "is a very conservative one." "The Kremlin has sent that much money into the U.S. in the past 12 months to ignite the present revolution," he charged.

Significantly, Chicago police reported to the FBI last week that arrested rioters in that city had amazingly well-lined pockets. A total of $85,000 was found on 2,000 prisoners, according to the Chicago police report. On an average, adults carried between $400 and $500 and juveniles somewhat more than $100. Much of the money was in brand new U.S. $20 bills.

Government security officials report that Communist funds, agents, and instructions for making "dozens of types of firebombs" have in recent months come into the U.S. via Canada. To complicate the present crisis still further, telephone workers are poised to strike April 19 in many parts of the country unless Bell System companies meet their wage demands. This strike, originally set for April 12, was postponed because of King's assassination.

POST OFFICE PROBE—Rep. Robert N. C. Nix, D-Pa., believes that Congress may be paving the way for government-wide strikes, if it decides to turn the Post Office Department into a government-owned corporation. His postal operations subcommittee expects to hold hearings on proposals to turn the 740,000-

The Doctor Says:

By Dr. Wayne Brandstadt
Hard Boiling of Eggs
Cuts Salmonella Danger

Q—Is there any harm in eating eggs that have been removed from the shell and kept in the refrigerator?

A—If the eggs were good to begin with and are not kept so long as to have spoiled, they can be eaten raw or cooked. If, however, the shells were cracked before you took the eggs out of the carton there is danger of poisoning. Refrigeration does not lessen this danger but thorough cooking (hard boiling) will eliminate it.

Q—My husband eats about six eggs a day. He is 46 and not overweight. Could that number of eggs have any bad effect?

A—Although eggs are an excellent food, their yolks have a high cholesterol content. Most doctors now advise eating three to six eggs a week.

Q—Does eating raw egg whites harm the kidney?

A—No.

Q—What foods are permitted on a bland reducing diet?

A—A bland diet omits vinegar, catsup and spices in general. Also, it should contain a minimum of roughage—no raw fruit or vegetable and no bran. A small amount of pureed vegetable or fruit is sometimes allowed.

A reducing diet omits most but not all of what's left. That explains the popularity of the several products that give 225 calories per serving and still supply all of the body's needs.

Q—Is it beneficial or harmful to take a little nap after a meal? Could it cause obesity?

A—A 15- or 20-minute nap after the noon or evening is an excellent restorative for both muscle and mind. Obesity will result only if a person eats more food than he needs for his daily activity—too much food and too little exercise.

Q—I have rheumatism and was told not to eat acid-forming foods. What foods should I avoid?

A—The acidity of any food in your body depends on its ash or residue when it is fully man operation into something like the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Outgoing Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien suggested the idea, but wasn't able to muster any strong support in Congress. A presidential panel has studied the proposal for nearly a year and will tell President Johnson what it thinks very soon.

Nix recently warned members of his subcommittee to be very careful in considering the corporation proposal. The government now forbids strikes by employees. And most government employes unions have renounced the right to strike. But, Nix says, things could change under a corporation.

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK J. MARKEY

One of Uncle Sam's little-known money makers is to tap a lawyer a fee of $25 for being admitted to practice before the Supreme Court. It simply means that any lawyer in good standing appears before the Court at an appointed time and presents his qualifications to argue a case before that tribunal. Last year 3279 lawyers were admitted, which meant about $80,000 in fees to the Treasury Department. Statistics show that only one out of 20 may ever have a case before the highest judicial body in the nation, but the ornate certificate presented to those admitted is quite impressive. Particularly when it is framed and hung in the lawyer's office back home where his local clients are certain to see it.

Today's smile: A young lady was teaching Sunday School and the lesson was "The Rich Young Man." The text was,

"One thing thou lackest." The teacher asked a youngster to repeat the two and looking at her he said: "One thing thou lackest—a rich young man."

Travelers from the U.S. who like good tailoring at bargain prices might include the Island of Rhodes in their itinerary. Rhodes is an island of tailors where a 24-hour suit with fittings at six-hour intervals can be made for an impatient traveler. The average charge for making the suit is $20. (Material charges amount to about $40. But don't forget when you leave the island you'll be wearing a made-to-measure, silk-lined, top quality material suit that only cost $60.

Thoughts while shaving: The airlines, our highways of the skies, are 10 miles wide and one on top of the other every 1000 feet up to 20,000 feet. In the U.S. there are as many as 70,000 of these lanes, all laid out by radio. If you've ever wondered why the telephone company is so efficient and constantly brings out more sophisticated equipment just remember that 13,000 skilled engineers and scientists work at the Bell Laboratories seeking ways to improve telephonic service. In the last half century they have progressed from the hand-cranked telephone to bouncing messages off satellites in outer space. What next? "Never put off until tomorrow what you can do today" is credited to many writers, but seldom to its own author. It appears in Lord Chesterfield's "Letters to his son" and was included in a massive dated Christmas 1749. About the only thing remembered of Vanderbilt, the railroad magnate, was that he once said: "The public be damned." Curiously he didn't utter those words in a derogatory manner, although it is generally believed he did. It was simply his amused retort when some of his associates wondered if the public would pay extra fares to ride on luxury trains. The Seattle (Wash.) TIMES reported in a story: "About $4000 alone would be spent on rest rooms. A fireplace would help warm the 22nd-seat establishment." Nothing like having a warm rest room, even if you have to share it with 224 others.

H. L. Hunt Writes

AVERELL HARRIMAN

Averell Harriman inherited a 100 million dollar fortune and in 34 years of government service has an unusual record of achievement.

His government career started with NRA in 1934; later Overseas Administrator of Lend-Lease, Ambassador to Russia, then Great Britain; Secretary of Commerce for 2 years, then U.S. Representative abroad for the European Recovery Program. Later Harriman was Governor of New York, and in 1961, President Kennedy's roving ambassador and Under-Secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs during the early days of the Vietnam conflict. Harriman negotiated the Test Ban Treaty in 1963. He also negotiated the Geneva Agreement on Laos in 1962 and helped establish the neutral government in Laos. The Laotian Agreement "guaranteed" neutrality of Laos and forbade foreign troops and the Vietcong from entering Laos.

Since 1941, four Presidents, Roosevelt, Truman, Kennedy and Johnson, have used Harriman as an international emissary and trouble-shooter.

An Ambassador to Russia Harriman attended the Yalta and Teheran Conferences with President Roosevelt. Following Yalta, Russia came into the war against Japan.

In the Presidential campaigns of 1960, Mr. Harriman sent messages to Khrushchev urging him to be equally harsh about Kennedy and Nixon. Later Khrushchev reminded Harriman he had complied.

Says Mr. Harriman: "Men who have worked their way step by step to the top in business are no good for anything big in government. They have acquired too many bad habits along the way."

March 31, President Johnson designated Averell Harriman as his representative to seek a peace conference with Hanoi in Geneva or any other suitable place. The President was shrewdly taking advantage of the warm relations and trust that exists between the Communist leaders and Mr. Harriman.

consumed. Peas of any kind help to alkalize your system. The same is true of cherries and rhubarb in spite of the fact that they contain a weak acid and have a tart taste. If you wish to avoid ash-formers, you should cut down on, but not eliminate from your diet, fish, fowl, red meat, corn, peanuts and sweets.

When Elbee Jay dropped out of dissent it sent Geo. Meany and W. Willard Wirtz to the bit for a boom-boom.

Right off the bosses of the unions said their situation was disastrous. If they didn't get out a big vote they'd be murdered in Congress. And they might not have a buddy in the white house to veto legislation.

Why, heavens to murgatroid, that might even mean the country could go back to the people.

Union publications have already started their attacks on Nixon. They accuse him of the crime of anti-labor votes in congress. The bosses are trying to wrap up Hubert as the only effective advocate for the Johnson programs.

McCarthy don't hold a candle with the unions. Mebbe he don't hold a candle with anybody, and Bobby ain't much better. But the unions would rather settle for him than Nixon. They're afraid he might pay attention to what is good for the country. Of course, nobody can be sure that the workers will pay any attention to old Meany anyhow. That's why he's starting his cryin' jag early.
