ALLOWABLE OF STATE
MAY BE SLASHED,
SAYS OPERATOR

AUSTIN, June 18. (AP)—Operators attending the monthly proration hearing of the railroad commission heard warnings today that Texas oil production might have to be reduced.

The warning sounded coincidentally with an announcement by Ernest O. Thompson, commission chairman, of a slight increase in the United States bureau of mines estimate of the market demand for Texas crude during July.

The bureau's estimate was 1,465,000 barrels daily, compared with 1,139,750 barrels estimate in June.

Houston Boltin, independent operator of Wichita Falls, addressing the commission, asserted it was apparent that Texas allowable production must be reduced, and "improved" the production be kept in line with the bureau of mines figures.

Thompson himself called attention to the continued drilling of wells in all Texas fields with a resulting boost in the production.

A little later V. E. Cottingham, chief petroleum engineer of the commission, reported that in the last 30 days bottomhole pressure in the big East Texas field had dropped 7.88 pounds per square inch to 1,124.44 pounds on June 12 and recommended a reduction in allowable.

"It is very apparent that it may be necessary to cut the state's allowable," Boltin said. "In the North Texas district, there are about 18,000 wells, and the per well allowable is very low. In fact, because most of the wells come under the marginal well allowance, a few other wells must take the reduction."

"Nevertheless, Texas should lead the way in taking a reduction, and I believe other oil producing states will follow suit. I implore the commission to keep Texas' allowable in line with the bureau of mines estimate."

BIG FIGHT IS POSTPONED

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—Rain today caused postponement of Joe Louis' 15 round heavyweight bout with Max Baer at the Yankee Stadium until tomorrow night.

A steady rain and weather bureau predictions that showers would continue throughout the day and night led promoter Mike Jacobs to announce the postponement. Originally the bout was to have been held tonight.

The postponement came a few minutes after Schmelzing and Louis had been weighed in. Louis, at 198 pounds, had a six pound pull in the scale.

Jacobs said that in the event of further rain tomorrow he would try to hold the fight Saturday, possibly in the afternoon if that can be arranged.

TEX'S TOPICS

BY TEX DE WEESE

These past couple of days where in the mercury has been dilly-dally about the 100 degree mark serve to dig up memories of the old swimming hole and such.

With this in mind we just naturally drifted out to Pampa's swimming pool where the boys and girls seem to be getting relief from the heat in a right smart A-1 way.

We leaned on the fence lazily and watched the splashes at work. Every swimming pool has its splashes. They were having a load of fun. In retrospection we "saw" a childhood playing "chewing" clothes into a half dozen knots on the bank of a river once frequented by the younger young blades of the old home-town.

He was the "ornery" kid in the outfit. As we leaned over the rail of the Pampa pool we jotted out of the mental reminiscence song enough to mull over the fact that today our swimming hole companion of years ago is a revered minister with a devoted following in one of the nation's large cities. Still, to us, he'll never live down his swimmin' hole carelessness.

Time does things to you. We understand the river that once was our swimming hole has dried up. Even the weeping willow from under whose roots sprouted a spring-board, now is only a stump at the spot where it used to reflect gorgeous shade on that old gang of ours on hot August afternoons long ago.

Some day, no doubt, we shall be on a vacation and perhaps get the opportunity to go back there and stand with boyhood ghosts at the old swimming hole meeting place.

Certainly the passing years have scattered us to the four winds. We often wonder if the others at times drift off into space like this—and suspect that they do. We have a hunch that right now many of you will pause to recall some outstanding childhood event that you'd give all the world's gold if the years could be shaken off so that you might be transplanted once more to the pleasures of boyhood and girlhood days.

Foregoing paragraphs go to show just what the heat will do to a fellow if he doesn't look out.

To change the subject: The men who supervise the distribution of the world's newspapers had a good word today for the cross word puzzle.

Many new features and fads have flashed into prominence since cross word puzzles first appeared about ten years ago, but delegates attending the convention of The International Circulation Managers Association at Dallas, agreed that the vertical-horizontal word tester still is a top-notch attraction. Omission from one edition, one circulator said, was enough to start protests from readers.

At a round table discussion of the circulators, comics and news pictures were rated higher than news and editorials in attention values. Serial stories, women's page features, society and style news also were rated highly by the men who are supposed to know what the average reader desires most in his newspaper.

Columns like this one probably trail the list. Well, personally, if we can get the surveyors to say the effort is useless, we'd much prefer to spend the time fishing or something.

New York and London cowboys are not so hot, if results of the Dallas Centennial Exposition contests are any barometer of their prowess. Texas and Oklahoma cowboys have been taking the city fellers to town, so to speak, in the steer wrestling and bronco riding departments.

We'd like to bet that the New York and London rodeo champs didn't expect to get very far in the first place—probably just had a hankering to make the trip and do the exposition. Certainly a hot-house cowboy couldn't hope to

HUGH JOHNSON FLAYS 'LUNATIC FRINGE' AGAIN

SAYS GOP ADOPTED A 'COUNTERFEIT NEW DEAL PLATFORM'

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—Hugh Samuel Johnson, the one-time NEA administrator, dusted off his 15-month old "lunatic fringe" accusation today and plopped it in the lap of the potential third party presidential campaign to which the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin tentatively has lent his voice.

"It can't win," said the retired brigadier general in a hotel room interview. "It's too late."

He enlarged the "lunatic fringe" charge which he first flung at the followers of Father Coughlin and Senator Huey P. Long in an address here March 4, 1935, to cover all divisions of an entente announced Tuesday in Chicago by the late senator's political heir, the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith.

These, besides the Detroit priest's National Union for Social Justice and the Long-Smith Share the Wealth clubs, are the followers of Rep. William Lemke (R-ND) and the pension-seeking adherents of Dr. Francis E. Townsend, Mr. Smith said.

"I certainly do consider them the lunatic fringe," Johnson declared. In a mood different from that which marked his attack on Father Coughlin and Senator Long as "Pied Pipers" threatening to lead the United States into "dictatorship and chaos," Johnson said he felt that the Republican adoption of a counterfeit new deal platform at Cleveland indicated the electorate is sanely liberal."

BORGER WOMAN IS FOUND DYING OF STARVATION

Dies After Removal From Abandoned Farm House

SHAWNEE, Okla., June 18. (AP)—Prolonged ill health and starvation apparently caused the death of Mrs. Mary V. Lovett, 44, of Borger, Tex., who was found emaciated and dying late yesterday in an abandoned farmhouse near Asher, Poy Edwards, assistant Pottawatomie county attorney, said today.

Edwards said an investigation disclosed Mrs. Lovett had not been ejected from a cabin where she had been staying, but that she had asked to be taken to the place where she was found dying because she wanted to be alone and self supporting if possible.

"Our inquiry disclosed no foul play," said Edwards. "Relatives said Mrs. Lovett had been in ill health for some time and had been found in a semi-conscious condition several times, once in New Mexico where she had taken a claim and attempted to live by herself."

"She apparently wanted to go to the farm to take care of herself and did not wish to be dependent upon anyone. She had taken to the farm some chickens and some feed for them."

'Dinner on Ground' to Be Feature of Convention

Between 1,500 and 2,000 singers from over the Panhandle Plains are expected here Saturday and Sunday for the 16th annual Plateau Singing convention.

John F. Taylor, Borger, president of the convention since its organization at Clovis, New Mexico, in 1920 has been here the past few days making last minute arrangements for the convention.

The high school gymnasium has been selected as convention headquarters. The convention will open at 10 a. m. Saturday morning with W. H. Blankney, Alameda, Gray county president, leading. C. E. Ward, Pampa, local chairman will direct the next song. Rev. C. E. Lancaster, pastor of the First Baptist church will give the invocation. Arrangements have been made for the use of Central park, just a few blocks north of the high school gymnasium, for the lunch hour Saturday and Sunday. Anyone, including singers, desiring to bring basket lunches may use the park as a convenient eating place at the noon hour, President Taylor has announced.

The Pampa band, under the direction of Winston Savage, will be featured on the Saturday evening program.

Business session of the convention when officers for the coming year will be elected and other business matters will be transacted will be held at 4 p. m. Saturday afternoon.

Among the prominent singers and singing organizations expected here for the convention are the following: Will Ramsey of Little Rock, Ark., publisher and composer; J. S. Earp of White Deer, president of the Carson county association; Miss Gladys McCall of Eddy, N. M., secretary of the Eddy county association; R. E. Jordan of Willis Point; the Sykes quartet, Canyon; Homer Morris and the Morris-Henson quartet of Atlanta, Ga.; E. M. Bartlett of Little Rock, Ark.; the Beacon quartet, Amarillo; Farley's entertainers, Amarillo; the Marsh quartet, Canyon.

Lynch-Bent Mob Fails to Seize Negro Slayers

EL CAMPO, June 18. (AP)—A lynch-bent mob, thwarted in its attempts to seize nine negroes, dwindled away early today after firing a cafe here in which Deputy Sheriff Tip Simmons, 48-year old world war veteran, was stabbed to death.

Wary officers, who kept one jump ahead of the armed, howling mob of 300 and finally placed the negroes—five men and four women—in an unnamed jail, believed tension was lessening. Deputy Sheriff A. H. Reitz said he didn't believe the mob would form again.

Peace officers outwitted the mob, some members of which were armed with sawed-off shot guns, by speeding the negroes from one jail to another during the night.

Late last night the mob formed at Wharton, 13 miles from here, and stormed the jail. Leaders demanded the negroes and Sheriff J. Koehl permitted members of the mob to search the jail. They found that the negroes had been removed. The mob next appeared at the Bay City jail, where a group of men searched the jail upon invitation of Sheriff Harris Milner. The baffled mob again found that the negroes had been removed before them and disappeared, apparently trying to trail the officers with the negroes.

Mercury at 104 On Wednesday

The mercury climbed to a new high for the season at 5 p. m. Wednesday when it shot to 104 above in Pampa.

At 5 a. m. today it was 70 degrees and at 1 o'clock this afternoon the reading was 96, a jump of 26 degrees in eight hours.

"Fair tonight and Friday," was the weatherman's official forecast this afternoon.

DEATH TAKES MAXIM GORKY, NOTED WRITER

BECAME COMMUNISM'S LEADING PROPAGANDIST

MOSCOW, June 18. (AP)—Maxim Gorky, 68, most famous of contemporary Russian writers, died today.

Gorky, 68 years old, had been seriously ill of influenza and lung complications since early in June. Although regarded as Soviet Russia's leading writer and holding office as a member of the central executive committee of Soviet Russia, Gorky was not a member of the communist party.

Gorky was born March 28, 1868, and rose to fame for his revolutionary writing. During the first year of communist power in Russia he was opposed to communism but later he became its leading propagandist.

Because of his health, Gorky lived until four years ago at Sorrento, Italy. He left there in 1932 however, to reside permanently in Russia.

Held in the highest esteem by the Bolsheviks, he was one of Moscow's few residents with a private home. The great Soviet land plane, which crashed last year with a loss of 50 lives, was named for him.

Of late Gorky had devoted his time to writing plays and newspaper articles. He criticized younger Soviet writers severely, declaring they showed lack of imagination and were failing to develop a new "revolutionary" school of writing.

Seward, Alaska, Mercury Soars To 110 Degrees

KANSAS CITY, June 18. (AP)—An oppressive blanket of early heat, extending from Alaska to Florida, brought new omens today to warn farmers of an old enemy—drought.

Along with the threat of a dry season came more reports of its companion scourge, grasshoppers, prevailing on midwestern crops, and giving rise to calls for outside aid.

From Alaska, "the land of the frozen north," came reports of an unofficial reading of 110 degrees at Seward yesterday. The Alaskan danger was in forest fires more than in drought, but showers checked the outbreaks, on Prince of Wales Island and in the Homer district.

Only 100 miles south of the Arctic circle, Fairbanks had a high of 82 degrees, and Dawson, Yukon territory, had a maximum of 84.

Guilty Pleas In Court Here Draw Stiff Penalties

Three Sentenced or Fined in Drunk Driving Cases

The law began today to crack down on drunken drivers in Gray county when District Judge W. R. Ewing meted out stiff penalties which included jail sentences, fines and suspended drivers' rights in the cases of three persons who pleaded guilty.

In one of the first cases called this afternoon, Buck Harrell entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to 90 days in jail for operating a motor vehicle when in a state of intoxication. Harrell's right to drive a car was suspended for two years.

Flora Quinn, one of two women to face the court on a similar charge was given 30 days in jail and her driving rights were taken away for one year.

Lena Benton, the other woman who pleaded guilty, was fined $50 and costs and deprived of driving privileges for one year.

A sentence of five years in the penitentiary was given to Elmer Asbell, New Mexico resident, after his plea of guilty for theft of a truck from the Culbertson-Smaling Chevrolet Co. of Pampa.

C. H. Callicote was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary on a plea of guilty to a charge of time brought by J. H. Casey of the Phillips camp, and by William Salonia, of LeFors.

The trial of cases in county court was held up again today when attorneys for both sides asked continuances.

The county jury was excused until Monday when the damage action of Mark Long versus the City of Pampa has been set for trial. Eight or ten criminal cases, scheduled in this term, are expected to go over until the August term of court, according to court attaches.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Bass Clay and daughter, Ruth, accompanied by Miss Dixie Vanderburg, visited in Amarillo Tuesday during the Panhandle Bankers convention.

People You Know

Last week a car from Georgia stopped at a Shamrock filling station. Said the driver, "We want to fill up these cans with water. Do you suppose they'll hold enough water to get us across the desert to Amarillo?" Something like that happens every day on Panhandle highways.

Travelers from the deep south and the east drive across the emerald-green plains and are amazed to see a "green desert."

That's why Gene Worley is serious about punching Rex Tugwell's handsome nose. Gene has been incensed ever since he saw Tugwell's movie, "The Plow That Broke the Plains." Here yesterday, he joked at first. Said he'd been in training; getting in a lot of "road work." Wanted to know "how big Tugwell is."

He said he would leave Dallas this week as a delegate to the national democratic convention at Philadelphia, punch the Tugwell schnozzle and return home.

COMPROMISE ON TAX BILL APPEARS NEAR

NEW PLAN FOR GRADUATED TAX BEING CONSIDERED

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—Congress completed action today on the $2,375,000,000 relief-deficiency appropriation bill and sent it to the White House.

Congressional action on the long-fought measure carrying $1,425,000,000 for relief was completed when the senate agreed to elimination of its amendments for reviving the Florida ship canal.

The balance of the conference report on the big appropriation bill was approved by the senate with little debate.

Final action on the relief measure left only the tax bill standing in the way of congressional adjournment Saturday night.

Leaders long have planned to end the session when the relief and tax bills were passed.

The senate quickly concurred in the house's refusal to accept an amendment for reviving the canal project.

With new revenue estimates on a compromise tax program not yet prepared by the treasury, senate-house conferees were unable today to reach a final agreement on the tax bill.

They said, however, they expected to seal a tentative understanding on the vital measure this afternoon or tonight.

Lacking treasury calculations on a new plan for a graduated tax both on normal corporation income and undistributed corporation earnings, the conferees spent the morning working out minor details of the involved measure.

Exact details were withheld pending a final drawing up today of a compromise in a senate-house conference but it was revealed that the conferees had tentatively agreed on the most controversial angle of the proposed revenue bill.

This was the question of taxing undistributed earnings of corporations. The tentative agreement, reached in a session late last night, was hailed as the end of the long deadlock between a legislator of the two houses, which had passed markedly different bills in response to President Roosevelt's demand for tax legislation.

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the house conferees expressed confidence that by tonight "we shall be able to turn the bill over to the drafting service." After it is drawn, it must be drafted by both chambers.

Changes in the truck laws of Texas were demanded by speakers at a meeting of the Texas Truckers association, held at the county courthouse Tuesday night.

R. H. Waters of Amarillo, regional organizer, stated that the taxes paid into the state treasury by the trucking industry amounted to $14,782,000 yearly, as compared to $4,021,000 in taxes paid by the railroads of the state annually.

Mr. Waters explained that the taxes paid by the trucking industry were divided as follows: $3,700,000 to the public school fund, $3,700,000 to the county road funds, and the balance of approximately $7,400,000 to the state highway fund.

Other speakers stressed that the truckers of the state were not asking for "unreasonable legislation but rather for recognition with the right to survive and operate legally, with safe, fair and intelligent regulations."

Rayburn Thompson called the meeting to order in the absence of V. L. Boyles, president, who was ill. Short talks were made by Judge Ewing, Carl Brashear, Judge C. E. Curry of Pampa, E. C. Puryear, candidate for state representative, Mr. Pickens of White Deer, Mayor Boyles of Panhandle after a short talk, introduced Ralph Randle, automobile dealer of Panhandle, who stressed the need of a change in the truck laws of Texas from the standpoint of the truck dealers. Several new members joined the association.

The next meeting will be held at the courthouse Monday night at 8:30 p. m.

By that time the police had gotten in the chase, City Officer W. C. Dillman and Burns, who arrived with his breath in "short pants," found the negro a few minutes later, hiding at the rear of the Johnson hotel. He was breathing hard, but not winded.

Later, in city police court, Judge W. M. Craven assessed Abbott's fine at $12.50 on a charge of theft.

But no sign came from Washington of a change in the attitude of President Roosevelt, who declined to commute Gooch's sentence after the prisoner's record was laid before him. An aide of Attorney General Homer S. Cummings said the President was not giving further consideration to the case.

Some Oklahoma club women were reported to be considering a last minute demonstration here against the hanging of the Lindbergh law violator.

Mrs. Mary Gooch, pretty 25-year-old divorced wife of prisoner, came here today for a final talk with him. She brought with her the couple's six-year-old boy, Billy Joe, and was accompanied by Gooch's sister, Mrs. C. F. Banks, and the latter's husband. Prison officials said they would permit Gooch to talk to any of them.

Billy has heard his father is to die, but his mother will not admit it to him.

What accounts for the sustained resiliency of trade? The official Washington view credits two main causes. They are: 1—Evidence that Government spending finally is beginning to click in a big way.

Effects of the WPA. Now in WPA, with its 3,000,000 jobs paying a cash wage comparable with that paid by private industry, the spending theorists think that they have the mechanism for getting purchasing power into circulation on a broad base.

A further shot in the economic arm of the country comes now with cashing of bonus bonds. More than 3,000,000 veterans will receive an average of nearly $575 each and all signs suggest that this money is going quickly into the stream of purchasing power.

The present large injections of purchasing power come at a time when the pressure of deflation is eased and when debts have been adjusted sufficiently so that the cash that goes out can be used to buy goods and start a cycle of circulation.

UNCLE SAM, HOST TO VACATIONIST

With vacation-time just around the corner—your Uncle Sam reveals himself in a new role—that of No. 1 Vacation Guide and Travel Agent.

Through the winter and spring months dozens of his bureaus have been making preparations for that season of the year which spells recreation to millions.

Although the National Park Service is commonly known as the "official out-door host" for the nation, there are many old-line and emergency agencies whose work blends with the purpose of providing attractive vacations for the American people.

This summer for the first time will see the network of vacation camps spread over 24 States—all within reach of some 30,000,000 metropolitan folk. Inexpensive as they are hospitable—they are all within a half day's round trip from urban centers.

More than $12,000,000 has gone into the making of these recreational areas, part of the land utilization program of the Resettlement Administration.

Tying in with this comparatively new approach to Federal recreation is a network of playgrounds, swimming pools and sport centers, financed in whole or part by the Public Works Administration and the Works Progress Administration.

The WPA's recreational program works in a unique way: Not only are the play facilities provided, but with the professional service project, instructors ranging from expert swimmers to arts and crafts teachers are employed to guide adults as well as children along the leisure road.

Out of the hinterlands the Civilian Conservation Corps has boosted the value of the nation's scenic sights. In addition thousands of miles of roadside trails have been constructed for the hikers. In this work the Corps has been aided by the Department of Agriculture's Forest Service and engineers from the War Department.

For the hunter—the Biological Survey has added to the depleted stocks of wild life and migratory birds. For the fisherman—the Bureau of Fisheries with its scores of hatcheries has stocked streams and lakes with species that fight the line or (for the benefit of those who like to laze) just snap at bait.

Of course transportation is the key to the whole vacation scene. And once again your Uncle Sam is in the picture. With the coming of Summer railroads and buses offer attractive vacation rates. This summer, however, an added inducement is the Interstate Commerce Commission order bringing rail rates down to a striking "low."

This summer, too, will find a greater number of railroads air-conditioned. With air-conditioning has come a general improvement in traveler aids—from reclining coach chairs to miniature bars.

With motor travel constantly increasing, Congress has seen fit to make new provisions for road construction. One section of the Hayden-Cartwright Act amending the Federal Aid Highway Act of 1916 would authorize appropriations of $20,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1938 and 1939 to be used in the construction of forest highways, roads and trails.

Accommodation services for tourists and travelers throughout Uncle Sam's vacation-land are carefully supervised by Federal inspectors—from the initial construction of the guest-quarters to the rates charged. Some of the camps and hotels are operated directly by the government itself. Facilities range from luxurious hotels like the PWA's modernized "Bluebeard's Castle" in the Virgin Islands to "wayside" cabins for overnight picnickers.

It wasn't long ago when emphasis on the nation's park areas was placed on the preservation of scenic sights. Now, however, the parks are being made available to the public as a great out-door school of nature, where recreation goes hand in hand with education, each adding to the enjoyment of the other.

How well the American public is responding to this new attitude is reflected in the flow of visitors to the national parks and forests. Last year more than six million visitors hiked, camped, horsebacked and fished their way through vacation weeks. And this figure does not take into account the millions more of week-ending parties to national and state park sites and tourist areas.

Q. How many V nickels were issued without the word "cents"? D. S.

A. The Office of the Director of the Mint says that the 5-cent pieces dated 1933 were made omitting the word "cents" as it was thought that the numeral "5" was very distinct. MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—Personal notes off a New Yorker's cuff:

If you need a reminder of how old you are, it's been 10 years since Gertrude Ederle swam the English Channel.

Most successful Broadway press-agents either become producers or authors—at least, a resume of the currently active ones indicates as much.

For instance, Ray Henderson, who handles the affairs of Katharine Cornell, has written any number of musical hits.

Russel Crouse, who directs public relations for the Theatre Guild, has authored several important shows and has a new one coming out this fall.

Willie Morris, the singer, is a girl. Arthur Byron, the actor, is a nephew of Ada Rehan, who won fame on the English stage 50 years ago as Lady Teazle in "The School for Scandal."

There's been a revival of interest in the printed version of all Shaw plays, due no doubt to the recent (local) revival of "St. Joan." At least three of the Shaw comedies have been reissued by his publishers.

An interested spectator at "St. Joan" recently was The First Lady, who came up from Washington just to see the play. Ernst Lubitsch, the director, is slight, dark, and extremely energetic.

He seldom relaxes. They say Jean Harlow has a photographic memory for names. If she talks with you five minutes she will remember you and be able to call your name five years later.

BY PRESTON GROVER. WASHINGTON—Some of the demerits of the party to the job of writing the party platform are disturbed by their task this year.

They believe that the platform, regardless of what it says, will be superceded by the issues President Roosevelt (they concede his nomination, of course) raises in his speeches.

Debates in congress and comment elsewhere would indicate not all democrats are in favor of certain measures and policies that must be defended in the platform. Notable among those that have come in for critical comment are the reciprocal trade act, large governmental expenditures and centralization of government. (Democrats fear the republicans will call it bureaucratic government.)

These three, together with the unemployment problem, are listed by capital politicians as the spots in the administration armor the republicans will hit hardest.

LOUIS EXPECTED TO KNOCK OUT SCHMELING IN 4 OR 5 ROUNDS TONIGHT

QUICK ENDING FORESEEN BY RING EXPERTS

CROWD WILL NOT BE AS LARGE AS EXPECTED

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—The weather man forecast showers for today, the experts predicted taps for Max Schmeling tonight, while fight fans served notice that million dollar gates no longer can be swung by the soft warbling of ballyhoo birds.

Joe Louis, still the No. 1 magnet of pugilism, his punching artistry worth watching under any circumstances, lured the fight faithful to the big town today from all parts of the country. But at the box offices, thousands of tickets remained unsold at all prices, up to and including $40 top, for tonight's proceedings in Yankee stadium.

In heavyweight history there have been upsets of such startling character as to make one and all a bit wary, including the experts, but there has not been an occasion in this writer's memory when such complete, unqualified unanimity prevailed on the day of a big fight, with so much at stake. Presumably the entire press section will collapse from the recoil if Max Schmeling so much as lays a forcible glove on Joe Louis. We shudder to think of the reaction if Schmeling, the 10 to 1 shot, beats the brown bomber.

The weather, it appeared, might take a sufficiently sour turn to force postponement for a night.

Max will collect around $200,000 for a few clouts to the chin and probably will be glad to get it all over with.

All signs point to a quick ending. The consensus of pre-fight views was that the bomber would win, by acclamation and a knock-out, within four or five rounds. It is this writer's opinion he can name the round and punch, either right or left.

The day of the fight leaves no doubt that the drawing power of Schmeling was over-estimated in making this match and that the promoters over-estimated the demand for tickets scaled from $3.50 for general admission to $40 for ringside planks.

Promoter Jacobs ascribed the failure of Schmeling to respond adequately to the "buildup" processes as the main factor checking advance sales. He also conceded the effect of a Jewish boycott, due to anti-Nazi sentiments, likewise contributed to absence of another million-dollar gate.

Not even a sudden rush for cut-price tickets, it seemed, would develop a crowd of more than 60,000 and gross receipts in excess of $700,000. Speculators who had loaded themselves up with pasteboards in anticipation of eleventh-hour demands were "holding the bag."

All things considered, however, figures represent a sensational tribute to the drawing power of a 22-year old neophyte. Demand for it was unknown outside of midwestern amateur ranks, two years ago.

They mean that for his three big fights in New York within a year, each against a former world heavyweight champion, Louis will have attracted more than $2,000,000 in gate receipts.

Assuming Louis disposes of Schmeling, leaving the German to console himself with life on his Bavarian estates, the company of his screen star wife and a substantial addition to his personal fortune, there remains the problem of matching the brown bomber with James J. Braddock for a title fight this September.

The fact that the Louis-Braddock fight will be a "fistic" "natural" doesn't mean, however, that it can easily be arranged. Demand for it has grown this spring, largely because of a popular notion that the game Irishman stands a better chance to test Louis than any other man he has met, but financial demands, as well as promotional cross currents, have complicated the situation. Whether untangled in time to make the match possible this year is uncertain.

Louis and his managers have a long term agreement to fight exclusively for Mike Jacobs, the Broadway ticket broker who has become the dominant figure in boxing promotion. Madison Square Garden has Braddock under contract for his first title defense. Braddock naturally wants the big end of the purse but Louis won't be permitted to fight for the customary challenger's end of 12 1/2 per cent.

Houston Defeats Beaumont And Steers Lose To Indians

Louis, Schmeling Fight Tomorrow 'Ira Smith Night' Is Celebrated at Houston

Joe Louis, above, and Max Schmeling, below, will fight tomorrow night in Yankee Stadium for right to meet Jimmy Braddock champion, in September. The fight will be broadcast over NBC and will begin at 8 o'clock. Pampa time.

(By The Associated Press)
Today's games:
Oklahoma City at Dallas.
Tulsa at Fort Worth.
Galveston at San Antonio.
Beaumont at Houston.
(All night games.)

Ira Smith, who manages and pitches for the Houston Buffaloes, knows how to return the compliment.

Last night 6,300 fans turned out to do him honor as a hustling, popular sapper who has kept the Buffs in the Texas league fight all season. They named it "Ira Smith Night" and before the game many nice things were said about him by civic leaders.

In turn Smith marched out to the mound and set down the second-place Beaumont Shippers 6-4. He allowed but two earned runs although he was touched for 12 hits, fanned 10 men and got a double and a single. His mates, meanwhile, were not idle. After two were down in the ninth, the Houston batsmen opened up for three runs.

The loss kept Beaumont from taking the league leadership from the Dallas Steers.

The Steers discovered that a change of climate didn't improve their luck in their game with the Oklahoma City Indians, who won, 5 to 3. Klærner pitched 6-hit ball for the Indians and blanked the Mavericks after the fourth innings.

San Antonio continued its trick of losing by the thinnest of margins as Galveston came through in 13 innings to win 6-5. Howard Mills, pitching for the Missions in the last four innings, retired 12 of the 13 men he faced. The thirteenth was his nemesis. Jim Moore belted a homer to break up the overtime contest.

Fort Worth gave evidence of its recent resurrection and won its fourth consecutive game, a record this season for the Cats. They trounced Tulsa 8 to 4 in the first of a series of home games. It marked a turning point in the Cats' season because it was the first time this season the Cats have beaten Tulsa in nine attempts.

They have been working out daily in anticipation of the game tomorrow night, and the feathered covey may find a determined opposition when they walk out on the diamond.

The Borgans have a smart, capable pitcher and if he is given flawless support, trouble looms ahead for the Pampa boys.

Next Sunday afternoon the Dainger boys will play at LeFors in Shaw park, beginning at 3 o'clock, with Mc's LeFors Pirates furnishing the opposition. The Peepees will go to Phillips and Hoover will go to Berger to play the Christians.

The Peepees have not been practicing this week, due to injuries and other problems. Unless all are playing Sunday in their regular positions, and are cooperating with one another to the fullest extent, they may have trouble at Phillips diamond. The 66 crew has been improving with every game. Hoover is destined for more trouble at Berger. The big Hoover team is now the cellar occupant.

The second half of the season will start June 27, and it has been suggested that the first, second and third place winners of the second half will play for the title at the end of the season.

Manager Joe Parkinson of the Little Road Runners will have the following new roster available for tomorrow night: Fred McGabe, Jr.; Harold Nicholson; Bob Mage Keyser, Jr.; Bob Bailey, 1b; Leon Crane, cf; Denver Hubert, 2b; Henry Stevens, c; Paul Montgomery, p; Jack Cunningham, c; Brownie Boyington, rf; Carl Noland, Dug Keyser, Carpenter, utility.

Chapter 36
THE COSSACK

No clue—nothing. Perhaps Rupert's note held something. Briefly hesitating, Dirk tore it open. She had written:

Dear Rupert:

Thank you for all you have done. It would not be right for me to stay longer. The five thousand dollars you gave me when I came, is ample payment. I accept it as such, and will never trouble you.

HOPE

Gone without a trace.

But Hope must be found, for Rupert's sake, as well as his own. Rupert, Graves had reported that morning, had been asking for her, destined urgently to see her, though he would not consent to her coming on to Old Forge.

They would bring Rupert home the moment it was safe, because of his desire to be near Hope. Apparently he had emerged from his illness with some new resolve, some goading sense of duty, with even—though Dirk's mind veered from such a conclusion—some new affection. Such change was not unusual after violent illness.

Dirk telephoned to Logan who restrained him from going to the Araby to question Pazzini.

"That's my quarry," Logan said. "But I don't question him."

He asked for Mrs. Joris' home address—"Though it's not likely she's gone there."—And said he would report next morning.

Dirk went into Hope's room. Impossible to feel that it would not furnish some trace, some betrayal of what she had meant to do.

One thing was absent—the guitar. It had lain in its case on the floor of the kas. Dirk thought of the revolver, and opened the wall-safes. The revolver was there. She had forgotten, or abandoned it.

He went about the room, knocking on the walls, seeking for some spring, some hollow sound, that might indicate a sliding panel. There was no sign of either.

He could not stay in the house, but got into his car and drove into Manhattan, past the Araby. Opposite the Araby was a Russian restaurant whose doorman, dressed in red coat and Cossack boots, contributed a dash of color to the crowded sidewalk. Dirk, driving slowly, chanced to catch the doorman's eye, and that vivid personage winked, almost imperceptibly. The Cossack, tonight, at least, was Dinwiddle.

So they were at work on what, to Dinwiddle, was something of a lark. Dirk could himself see the grimness of the joke.

Logan found Hope on the day before Rupert was to return.

"You were right," he said, as he drove with Dirk to the house in which she was staying, a house in whose neighborhood Dinwiddle was at the moment lurking watchful.

"You were right when you said this Pazzini might not be Tony, but one of his brothers.

"He's not Tony—I knew that as soon as Dinwiddle showed him to me. Dinwiddle bought the doorman's job at the Russian Bear, and I've been inside eating caviar or waiting on tables. At ten o'clock this morning this man came out—the one Dinwiddle says Mrs. Joris went to see."

"He and several bags hopped a taxi, and I hopped another. Looked like he was bound for a train, but I figured—since I was pretty certain she wasn't in Pazzini's house—that he wouldn't go without seeing her."

"He didn't. He drove straight to this house in old Chelsea. She was evidently on the look-out for him, for she and another girl came out as soon as he got there. The other girl look Scandinavian, or maybe Russian. A blond, ugly and strong looking, with bushy hair and knotty legs. I'd seen her before, coming out of Pazzini's place."

"They got in the taxi with the man, and they all drove to the dock. The man and the blond went aboard the 'Forsa,' a Finnish freighter, and Mrs. Joris came back alone, on a surface car. I saw her go into the house, then I phoned you. I didn't leave to meet you till Dinwiddle came.

"There's the place. I don't see Dinwiddle anywhere. She must have gone out."

Logan had designated one of a row of modest gray stone houses that must once have been private homes. They were in Twenty-second Street now, and had just turned out of Tenth Avenue.

"I haven't asked any questions in the neighborhood," Logan added. "Don't want to scare the bird away. . . There's Dinwiddle now."

They had driven across Ninth Avenue, and had come upon Dinwiddle parleying at a fruit-stall. Dinwiddle, dressed like a decent American, eating an apple.

Dinwiddle approached them casually, waited for an elevated train to thunder by.

"She's just gone in that new house," he said then, and with his apple covertly indicated a Gothic doorway further along. "Black suit, red hat. Carrying a guitar?"

It was a cold day with unmelting snow piled in the street. Dirk had been at home when Logan telephoned, and knowing he would see Hope, had brought her raccoon coat. He got out of the car now, and Dinwiddle took his place. The two men drove off, and Dirk walked on, waiting near the Gothic doorway for Hope to appear.

"Oh, but you shouldn't! You had no right."

He was certain she would have cried if they had not been on the street. He had overtaken her, had gently but firmly appropriated the guitar-case, managing a low and smiling, "Hello, Hope."

She released the guitar-case, but began to walk fast and faster, as if with some wild hope of escaping him. Presently—perhaps because people were noticing them—she let him put the fur coat over her cloth one. Then, as they walked on.

"What right have you to trail me like this?" she asked shakily, her face still white under the red beret. "I told you in my note not to find me. It was easy, I suppose, but why. . . Why can't I . . . What right have you?"

"Wouldn't the fact that you left your coat," he said, "give me the right to bring it to you? It's enough to make you ill, going without it, when you're used to it."

"Very well," she said haltingly. "You've brought it. Don't come any farther."

"But I've got to talk to you. Hope," halting too, and adding at once, "Don't worry, I'm not going to ask you any questions. I haven't trailed you, as you say, to find out why you ran away red hat. Carrying a guitar?"

"I thought how you could do it when you knew how I cared, and what it would do to me—No matter. Can't we go somewhere and have lunch? It's about Rupert," he added.

She looked at him for the first time since that shocked and startled glance.

"Rupert?" she repeated. Then, consulting her watch, "It will have to be somewhere near."

"They found a neighborhood restaurant where they sat in a booth, eating they scarcely knew what, while Dirk explained to Hope that Rupert was asking for her, was straining to get better, and come home, that he might be with her. She seemed puzzled, slightly incredulous.

"Why? Why should he want to see me?"

"That I can't tell you. I'm merely quoting Graves."

He paused and she said, "I can't understand it. Can you?"

"No. Sick men have their vagaries. But it may be serious for him if you're not there."

Presently she said, "It's decent of you not to say it's my obligation to come back; not to remind me that I married him, and all that. I'll go back with you, but. . . It's only fair to tell you I can only stay awhile."

"Fair," he repeated. "It's good to hear you say that word. Won't you be fair again, and tell me when you leave? Not sneak off the way you did this time, and let me go to the devil, if I wanted to?"

"I know," she said. "But. . . I love you. You knew it. You would have stopped me. I had to go. You would have made it hard."

"Will you tell me, Hope. . . if I promise to tell you?"

"I do."

"Then," she said, "I promise to tell you."

"And you're coming back with me?"

"Yes," quickly. "But not this minute. I've got. . . There's something I must see to first."

Dirk and Hope go home to tragedy, tomorrow.

COC workers are building a Pacific coast trail over which it will be possible to ride horseback or hike 3200 continuous miles on high mountain trails from Canada to Mexico.

G. O. P.'s Number 2 Couple

Should the republican combination of Landon and Knox be swept into office at next November's election, this couple would become the nation's No. 2 man and wife—Colonel and Mrs. Frank Knox, pictured in their Chicago apartment, as composed as though being nominated for the presidency were an everyday event in the life of the Chicago publisher.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE, NEA Service Staff Writer.

I know good housekeepers who say that they can't make good gravy, that they always have bad luck with pie crust, that their coffee is terrible. Seems pretty silly, though, doesn't it, when these things are so simple to get right?

Coffee-making is the most universal problem of the lot. The fact that coffee is expensive doesn't necessarily mean that you will have good coffee if you use it. The price you pay is not all-important, nor the guarantee. That it be fresh, though, matters greatly.

Measure ingredients. Decide how many cups you will need for the meal. Then allow one full measuring cup of water to each cup of coffee required. If you use a percolator, start with cold water.

Alternate Recipe. The other way to make it is to add water to the fat in the pan and bring it to the boiling point. Put some sifted flour into a bowl and slowly add cold water, stirring to make a perfectly smooth paste. Add enough more water to make the paste pour easily and pour into the boiling gravy stock. Season with salt and pepper and cook and stir until boiling. Use two tablespoons flour—level—to thicken two cups of gravy. This kind of gravy should boil several minutes after it thickens. It's easy to make but you MUST have the paste perfectly smooth and free from lumps. Lumps will not cook out, you see. They will swell in the hot stock and be even larger.

Bacon is another simple food often poorly cooked. Remember that all cured meats must be cooked slowly. The curing process dries and firms the tissues to a certain extent, making it imperative to cook it over a low flame to prevent crisping before the meat is sufficiently done. Put bacon in a cold spider and cook slowly, pouring off the fat and never letting it smoke.

Use two level tablespoonsfuls of coffee for each cup of water and two extra tablespoonsfuls for the pot. This formula always applies whether you have a percolator or some other kind of pot.

Let the water boil and the minute it begins to come up through the top of the percolator, notice the time. When the coffee has percolated ten minutes, take the pot from the fire. Filtered coffee is made by pouring boiling water—but it must be actively boiling—over finely ground coffee. Gravy can be made successfully

Cards Split With Bees As Browns Beat A's 14 to 13

Virgil Davis Shows Up Well at Hot Corner

BY SID FEDER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

While Frankie Frisch and the St. Louis Cardinals ivory department have been hunting here, they and everywhere for a spare infielder to stand up under the strain of the National league pace, the answer to its problems may have been hiding on the roster all the time, behind a catcher's mask and body protector.

Anyway, Frisch has found out through the simple expedient of inserting big Virgil Davis into the infield lineup that the six-foot husky, whose entire 10-year career in organized baseball has been at laststop, can take over the third basing job as if he had been born to it.

The discovery comes at a time, too, when Davis can be spared from the catching department, now that Rookie Bruce Grodowski has taken over so capably.

An umpire's exile order for Frisch and "Lippy" Leo Durocher after an argument uncovered Davis as a potential hot corner guardian late in the first game of yesterday's doubleheader, which the Cardinals split with the Boston Bees, taking the second game 10-2 after dropping the opener 9-6. Ordered out of the game, Frisch looked over the few possibilities, then called on Davis, and the big fellow wound up the afternoon at third by accepting five chances without a flaw, and, in addition, helping himself to three hits in the nightcap, driving in four runs.

Two other factors, however, more than offset the break in discovering Davis' infield possibilities. One was a hand injury which may keep Roy Farmer out of pitching action for several days. The other was a half game slice off the gas house gang's National league lead.

This cut off the pace setting edge to two games came about through the 13th straight victory for the hot Chicago Cubs, who found the going tough against the Phillies, but pulled out a 5-3 decision nevertheless, chiefly through the stickwork of young Ken O'Dea.

The lead of the New Yankees in the American league didn't suffer, however, for the revived "murderers' row," with Charley Baugh and Monte Pearson leading the batting barrage as well as doing the pitching, belted the Cleveland Indians 15-4 and 12-2 in a twin bill, while the second place Boston Red Sox were taking their one game 9-4, over the Chicago White Sox, with Jimmy Foss clubbing his 17th homer.

The double defeat sank the Indians to a fourth place tie, with the injury-ridden Tigers, as the Washington Senators turned back the world champions 2-1 in a game called in eight innings because of darkness, to advance to third place in the standings.

For sheer dizziness, however, the St. Louis Browns' 14-13 victory over the Athletics had them all stopped. On the short end of a 13-3 counting into the seventh, the Browns suddenly came to life and piled 11 runs across the plate in three innings.

The Pittsburgh Pirates found the Brooklyn Dodgers easy for the second straight day, as Bill Swift pitched seven-hit ball for a 14-5 victory, while the still slipping New York Giants were unable to hit with any consistency, and fell before the Cincinnati Reds 4-2.

ENID OILERS TO PLAY HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

RUBBER GAME WILL BE PLAYED BY TWO TEAMS

Pampa baseball fans will have an opportunity to show the Enid Oilers baseball team of Enid, Okla., that they support their team as strongly as the Oklahomaans support theirs tomorrow night at Road Runner park when the Pampa-Danciger Road Runners and the Enid Oilers meet in the deciding game of the five-game series. Crowds at Road Runner park this season have been disappointing. The Pampa nine has been displaying a brand of ball far above the average. Manager Sam Hale has his boys hustling all the time and as a result, they have won more games than they have lost to date. The team may not be as strong as it was last year. A look at the records, however, shows that it has won more games. This year's aggregation may lack colorful players but it has replaced them with a bunch of hustlers that have been winning ball games where they might have been lost.

Tomorrow night's game will be at 8:30 o'clock. Admission will be the same as usual, 40 cents for men and 25 cents for women.

Manager Sam Hale will have four hitters ready to send against the Oilers in an effort to take the fifth and deciding game. Big Gene Ledford, who won a 3 to 0 game Sunday afternoon, will have the inside track, with Carl Stewart, Sam Gray and George Bull also in line.

Respectable Andy Bednar will be sent back against the Road Runners, Manager Nick Urban announced this morning. Bednar beat the Road Runners in Enid and lost here. His fast ball should give the birds all the trouble they want.

The games here last Sunday and Monday were unusual. The Pampans won the first game, 3 to 0, and lost the second by the same score. The opening battle was staged in one hour and 30 minutes and the second in one hour and 35 minutes.

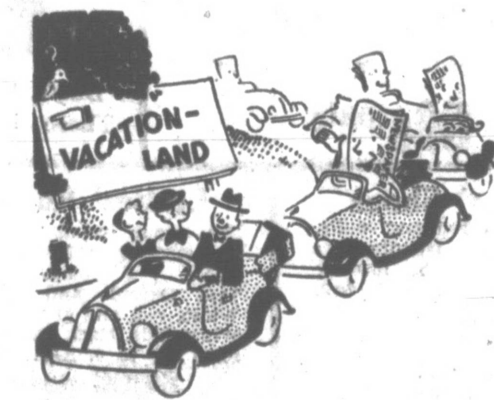

A disastrous second inning cost the Oilers a 9 to 5 game in Berger last night. With two men away, the Oiler infield went into a huddle and no one handled the ball cleanly. Huber then proceeded to go wild and sent six runs across the plate.

Old Pete Stegman was in rare form in hurling Huber to victory. He was opposed by John King, young fireball hurler. The two teams will meet again tonight. John Clowers, veteran portside who bested the Road Runners here Monday night, will be on the mound for Enid. He will be opposed by Byron Chedy, ace of the Huber hurling corps.

The Enid baseball team is making its headquarters in Pampa and playing from here, so well do they like this city.

Observance of Emancipation to Start This Eve

Observance of June Tenth Day in Pampa will begin tonight with a baseball game at Road Runner park at 9:15 o'clock. The newly organized Pampa Black Cats will meet the Oklahoma City Black Indians. Another game will be played at 3:30 tomorrow afternoon. Admission will be 40 cents for men, 25 cents for women and 15 cents for children. A special section will be reserved for white fans who desire to see the games.

The Black Indians, organized three years ago, are reported to have a bunch of well known negro stars on the roster. The team was to arrive here late this afternoon. Tonight's game was set back to 9:15 o'clock because of bank night. Fans from many Panhandle cities started arriving here this morning and the negro population of Pampa is expected to be swelled by many hundreds tomorrow. The day of celebration will be closed with a big dance tomorrow night.

Elephant Saved By Court Order

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18. (AP)—The case of Wally, six-ton elephant who killed a man, moved into superior court today for a judicial decision on whether men in turn should kill him.

Judge Frank Deasy set 10 a. m. as the hour to hear arguments on a temporary restraining order which prevented execution of the beast but a few minutes before the scheduled time yesterday.

The temporary order was obtained by Attorney Alexander Mossalin acting for another attorney, Emilio Lashetto, who contended "such dignity should not be destroyed."

The petition asserted Wally fatally gored and trampled his keeper, Edward Brown, 45, Tuesday, "because of the cruel and inhuman treatment" accorded him.

Brown at the time was leading the big tusker back to his own pen from a group of four female elephants.

Mossalin sped by taxicab from Judge Deasy's courtroom to the zoo to serve the restraining order on Superintendent Edmund Heller and two police-marksmen just as they were leading powerful rifles to execute Wally, who tugged at chains which bound him to concrete pillars.

COLUMN

stand up under the attack of the home-grown product.

Growing success of the Pampa chapter of the American Red Cross is reflected in reports read at the annual meeting. The organization sails away again under the leadership of Alex Schneider with even a still greater goal in view for 1936.

The Red Cross is a mighty neighborhood service to our fellow-men in the time of emergency need. When November roll call comes, one feels certain that the citizenry of Pampa again will rally to the cause of humanity and to the appeal of Allen Hodges, 1936 roll call chairman.

Comes a visitor, the Rep. Gene Worley, of punch-in-the-nose Tugwell fame, asserting that he is off soon to Philadelphia where he will speak personally about that dust-bowl business to Mr. Tugwell.

The representative, to illustrate his point about the so-called adverse publicity, tells of the man who wished to drive through the Panhandle with the back of his car filled with cans of water so that he would be sure to make it "across the desert."

And so, with an lead coke on the legislator, to the end of another day.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, June 18. (AP)—Displacing wheat leadership to some extent, corn came into greater prominence today, and December corn contracts outdid the previous high price record for the season.

Death of moisture over most of the corn belt, together with excellent shipping demand, had a stimulated effect on corn values. In some cases, corn futures climbed more than 1 1/2 cents a bushel.

Corn closed firm 1/4-1 1/2 above yesterday's finish, Sept. 60 1/2-5/8, Dec. 66 1/2, wheat unsteady, 1/4-1/2 off, July 87 1/2-3/4, Sept. 88 1/2-3/4, oats 1/2-3/4 advanced, and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to an equal gain.

GET GULFLUBE—It's "Stripped for action"!

Poorly refined motor oils, like a swimmer with all his clothes on, can't do an efficient job. They carry too much excess baggage—waste that should be "stripped off" by refining.

Most 25c oils, like a swimmer stripped of part of his clothes, are rid of some waste—but not enough for best performance. No refiner of 25c oils could afford to go further, before Gulf's Multi-sol process was perfected.

GULFLUBE MOTOR OIL, like a swimmer stripped for action, is rid of every bit of excess waste. It's the only Multi-sol-made 25c oil—the finest, purest oil a quarter ever bought. Gulflube gives you better lubrication, lower bills and a cleaner motor. Prove it—at the Sign of the Orange Disc.
