TOPICS today inherited something from the reign of WORDS, namely, the government rain-gauge which once graced the Hinkle back yard in Pampa.

Effective today it now must rain in our back yard in order to get on the records of the government weather bureau at Houston.

All day yesterday the gauge stood by a desk in the office. If rain had fallen on the Panhandle we'd have had to run outdoors like everything in order to keep the books straight.

Pampa draws tri-mention in the just-out Texas Centennial number of Editor & Publisher, trade mag of the fourth estate.

In this very attractive special edition, honoring the state of Texas, cowboys ride off the cover at you, waving their ten-gallon hats in all the splendor of the old west.

Within its pages is a special tribute to Pampa in which mention is given for this community being the first in the state to hold a centennial celebration.

Pampa boy scouts are lauded for their splendid production of "The Cavalcade," and particularly the scene, "Great Scouts of the Old West."

Some days things look brighter than usual. Getting out of the wrong side of bed, as the saying goes, often puts a different color on the outlook. Take the current pessimistic trend of mind of one great man, for instance:

H. G. Wells, world historian who for years preached a political philosophy of intellectual optimism, now looks with complete disillusion and disgust upon democracy, the League of Nations and the earth's present organization into highly nationalistic, or what he terms "combatant," states. He even goes so far as to forecast the possible extermination of civilization.

Mr. Wells recalls sadly that he once made himself responsible for the phrase, "the war to end war," but now sees world catastrophe as the "plain and reasonable probability" at the present time.

He admits himself to be one of a group of "baffled on-lookers," and finds himself unable to take sides on any of the resounding disputes of the day. He says he "would not slap a cat for one side rather than the other."

Says Mr. Wells: "A great mental turn-over is going on and practical reconstruction has to wait upon intellectual revision. If within a few generations we do not build an instructed, educated and disciplined world community, the good things for us will be withheld inexorably—one collapse will follow another and our children will pass into darkness, suffocating each other, flaying each other with bomb and gas, tearing each other to bleeding rags."

Not a pretty picture Mr. Wells paints. Along this line—on a much smaller scale—we respectfully call attention to an editorial on the editorial page of The Daily News today, in which is set forth a plan of the paper's management to foster better community understanding, locally, through the medium of "guest editorials" which will appear as a regular feature, beginning next Sunday.

In these "guest editorials" it is the hope of the Daily News to foster an exchange of opinions from thinkers of the city, county and Panhandle area which will lead to solution of community problems on common ground. "Guest Editors" will be permitted to choose their own subjects. Naturally, their views do not have

'Great Fun,' Says Wife Of Houston Liberty Leaguer

Commander

Clayton's Wife Is at Philadelphia Convention

O. K. GAYLOR

Veterans of Foreign Wars in session at San Angelo yesterday elected O. K. Gaylor, district commander of the 18th district Veterans of Foreign Wars, Gaylor is a charter member of the Pampa post and one of its past commanders.

PHILADELPHIA, June 25. (AP)—A liberal democratic campaign fund contributor from Texas—the wife of a man who helped finance the Liberty league—almost shouted herself hoarse at the democratic convention and remarked, "I think this is great fun."

This delegate-at-large had the privileges of the speakers' platform but chose the second row of the state's large delegation "because I'd rather be down here and have a much better time."

She was Mrs. William L. Clayton, wife of the Houston cotton shipper and once an outspoken opponent of the New Deal.

Above the din of the convention's first major demonstration, she managed to shout:

"But he isn't a liberty leaguer any longer. He resigned, and not at my request, either. I think now he is a democrat at heart."

"I'm a loyal New Deal supporter and on the way here I stopped in Washington and told President Roosevelt the Texas delegation was on the way to Philadelphia to knock out a home run for him."

She told about giving $7,000 to the democratic fund.

Her husband, she said, remarked casually one day he had joined the league.

"Right there and then I decided to match what he gave. So when my check from a telephone company dividend came along, I just sent it to Mr. Farley with a personal check of my own to make up $7,000. I told Mr. Farley I wished I could make it $10,000 but the family budget just couldn't stand it. I think my husband gave the liberty league $5,000."

This was Mrs. Clayton's second national convention. The first was in her home city in 1928.

GAYLOR NAMED DISTRICT HEAD OF VETERANS

PAMPA VFW POST IS RECOGNIZED AS LEADING ONE

Pampa was in the foreground at the state Veterans of Foreign Wars convention in San Angelo Tuesday and yesterday when O. K. Gaylor of the local post was elected district commander of the 18th district and the Pampa post was recognized as the No. 1 post of the state by Commander E. E. Wiseman from the floor of the convention.

The secretary of the convention read inspection reports from all posts in the state. When Pampa post 1567 was reached, the reading officer said, "no criticism, post in excellent standing having the full support of the citizenship." At that point State Commander Wiseman took the floor and for nearly 10 minutes spoke on Pampa and the Pampa post.

In his remarks, the commander praised the special issue of the Pampa Daily NEWS issued upon the occasion of the visit of National Commander J. W. Van Zandt of Altoona, Penn., and the hearty cooperation of the merchants and citizens with the post. He praised Commander D. A. Bartlett and members of the post on their membership campaign, which nearly doubled the post membership.

O. K. Gaylor was unopposed for the election of commander of the district. His candidacy was advised.

Pampa to Send Bands to Berger And Clarendon

Clarendon sent a band to Pampa during her celebration and Berger was represented by a large delegation of citizens.

MUNICIPAL HALL IS RIOT OF COLOR FOR CONCLAVE

In this colorful setting, Democratic leaders of the nation met in Municipal Auditorium, Philadelphia, for the opening sessions of the national convention at which they will renominate President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner. With only a few empty seats in the great hall they listened to the opening speech of National Chairman James A. Farley and staged wild demonstrations at the mention of the name of the president.

SOLON WALKS OUT AS NEGRO SAYS PRAYER

South Carolinian Is Indignant as Invocation Is Said By Minister.

PHILADELPHIA, June 25. (AP)—The walk-out of South Carolina's Senator Ellison D. Smith on the Democratic national convention yesterday when a negro offered the invocation was interpreted by the minister today as "simply an indication that Brother Smith needs more prayer."

Smith, a cotton planter who has served 27 years in the Senate, said he would walk out "whenever a negro has a part" in the convention proceedings.

The Rev. Marshall Shepard, pastor of the Baptist church here who offered the prayer, commented:

"If that is the way he feels, I don't see what he can do. If he goes to the Republican party he will find negroes in their convention and if he goes to the Socialists or any left-wing parties he will find them even more important in the activities."

"If he is looking for a party without negroes it looks like he will have to form his own little party right here in South Carolina."

Questioned by newsmen on his personal reaction, Shepard said he is "not bitter" but thought the incident "unfortunate."

"Rather than being bitter about it," he continued, "I feel sympathy and pity for him and pray to God that he may be emancipated from his prejudices."

Officials said it was the first time a negro ever had offered prayer at a democratic convention. Smith and one or two others from the South Carolina delegation strode toward the door. Wry comments came from other southern delegates but only Smith voiced his resentment publicly.

As he left the convention floor Smith declared he was "through" and would "go home and do some talking," adding that he was "sick of the whole damn thing."

Later he modified this to say he would stay at the convention at least through today to vote against abrogation of the two-thirds rule.

BUDGE FLASHES BRILLIANTLY TO WIN NET MATCH

Could Have Played Perry on Equal Terms, Claim

WIMBLEDON, Eng. June 25. (AP)—Bombarding his French opponent from the baseline, red headed Don Budge of Oakland, Calif., trounced Jean Lesueur in the third round of the all-England tennis championships today as two of his compatriots were ushered to the sidelines.

Budge won at 6-1, 6-1. Expert observers agreed that based on the dazzling form of his exhibition against France's third ranking star, Budge would have fought Fred Perry, the defending champion, on even terms.

Earlier, Perry turned in a masterful performance in crushing John Van Ryn of Philadelphia, 6-3, 6-2, 6-0, after trailing 1-3 in the opening set.

The other American to meet with defeat was Carolin Babcock of Los Angeles, who bowed to Hilda Krahwinkel Sperling of Germany and Denmark, 7-5, 6-1.

Wilmer Allison, the American champion, and Bryan (Bitsy) Grant, the pint-sized Georgian, also entered the fourth round of the men's singles competition.

Picnic Banquet Is Enjoyed by McLean Firemen

MLEAN, June 25.—A meeting of the Lone Star Firemen's association was held at McLean Tuesday evening with a picnic banquet served on the local fire station lawn.

The next meeting will be held in Groom the latter part of August at which time the ladies will be entertained.

Directors and alternate directors of the Pampa Junior chamber of commerce will meet with the baseball committee tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the city hall to discuss the baseball tournament situation for this year.

President Tommy Chesler will call the meeting on time so that business can be transacted in time for those present to attend other functions. Citizens interested in baseball will be welcomed at the meeting.

Official Protest Is Ordered From Washington

PEIPING, June 25. (AP)—Protest against the "rude, rough treatment" of American citizens during a military display Tuesday was lodged with the Japanese embassy today by Nelson T. Johnson, United States ambassador to China.

The official protest, complaining of the activities of Japanese soldiers, was made on instructions from Washington.

The Japanese embassy replied it would submit the complaint to the Japanese commandant and make a formal answer later.

(Chinese reports told of Japanese soldiers, armed with bayonets, pushing foreigners, including an American, from the roads and sidewalks as 3,000 Japanese troops marched to an army demonstration.)

(The American involved was Capt. Henry S. Jernigan, attached to the United States embassy as a language student. The cavalry officer in civilian clothes, was reported to have pushed aside a Japanese bayonet to avoid being injured. A French woman was also reported to have been shoved into a muddy gutter.)

Ambassador Johnson's complaint did not name the Americans involved and the embassy declined to disclose them, but one was presumed to be Captain Jernigan. The other was reported threatened with a sword by a Japanese officer as he force her from the pavement on a legation street, while Japanese soldiers were marching.

The French embassy also made representations concerning the unceremonious handling of the wife and child of an officer attached to the French embassy.

All the incidents occurred at a time when virtually the entire legation quarter was under occupation by Japanese troops, who for reasons unstated were posted outside the United States, German, French, Soviet and Belgian embassies and at foreign banks in the quarter.

TEXAS DONKEY THROWN OUT OF GARNER OFFICE

Clarendon Man Rides Mule to Phillie Convention

By EDDIE GILMORE Associated Press Staff Writer

PHILADELPHIA, June 25. (AP)—Col. Arthur Lee Yowell's donkey that he rode all the way from Texas got thrown out of Vice-President Garner's headquarters today.

As a fitting climax to the two months' journey from Clarendon, Tex., Col. Yowell thought it would be appropriate to enter the Garner suite astraddle the living model of the Democratic mascot.

He started into the hotel but did not get as far as the lobby before uniformed help blockaded his path.

"You can't bring that horse in here," said a bell captain.

"Who's got a horse?" asked the colonel.

"Well, whatever it is, you can't bring it in here unless you get permission."

People You Know

(BY A. F.) The gangling youth was waiting at the head of the stairs. It was mid-day and the heat bit into one's stomach, and left you exhausted. The boy, nearly 16, gazed dreamily, unseeing at the passing traffic. He was thinking of a hammock under the trees in the back yard at home. He waited impatiently for the occupant of room 201 to arrive.

The solitude of the back yard suddenly became a passion with him. There he could do as he pleased by himself... in peace. "I wonder," he mused, "why I want to be alone so much."

Up the stairs came the one person in town who always flashed instantly upon the retina of his absent gaze. He vowed not to tell it but he did; "I've been waiting up here to take lessons on the guitar... I guess I'll go now."

DELEGATES TO BE BASED ON VOTING POWER

AMENDMENT TO CONSTITUTION NOTE MENTIONED

PHILADELPHIA, June 25. (AP)—A platform which does not contain a proposal for a constitutional amendment was completed today by the drafting subcommittee of the democratic resolutions committee.

An agreement on the platform was reached by the predominantly new deal subcommittee shortly before the scheduled meeting of the full committee at 3 o'clock. Completion of the party program made it likely that the platform would be presented to the convention tonight as scheduled.

Senator David Walsh of Massachusetts told newsmen the draft contained no proposal for a constitutional amendment, but did discuss the constitutional question.

PHILADELPHIA, June 25. (AP)—After abolishing the century old two-thirds nominating rule by an overwhelming 36 to 13 vote, the Democratic convention rules committee today unanimously adopted a resolution urging a reapportionment of delegates at future conventions.

A resolution was adopted which urged the national committee to work out a new plan of apportioning delegates based on Democratic strength in each state and territory as contrasted with the present population basis of apportionment.

The democratic vote necessary for a subcommittee. The new apportionment plan by its terms, would be submitted to the 1940 convention. It was in the nature of a concession to southern and other states which had urged a reapportionment to compensate them for any loss as a result of apportioning delegates based on population. The plan, which would be submitted to the 1940 convention, was in the nature of a concession to southern and other states which had urged a reapportionment to compensate them for any loss as a result of apportioning delegates based on population.

Its adoption apparently appeased the abrogation opponents. They said it would be unnecessary the filing of a minority report. Republicans now base their apportionment on voting strength.

PHILADELPHIA, June 25. (AP)—The democratic vote necessary for a subcommittee. The new apportionment plan by its terms, would be submitted to the 1940 convention. It was in the nature of a concession to southern and other states which had urged a reapportionment to compensate them for any loss as a result of apportioning delegates based on population.

The subcommittee voted to present the following resolution to the full committee for submission, if accepted, to the convention tonight: "Be it resolved that the democratic national committee is hereby instructed to formulate and to recommend to the next national convention a plan for improving the system by which delegates and alternates to the democratic national convention are apportioned and be it resolved that in formulating this plan, the national committee shall take into account the representative strength within each state and territory in making the said apportionment."

Beeman Strong of Texas, a subcommittee member, who had argued strenuously for retention of the two thirds rule before the full committee, said there would be no minority report to the convention in view of the separate delegate apportionment resolution.

Southerners stressed that their states had gone down the line for years for the democratic national ticket, and thought they should be compensated for any loss of prestige and power in selecting candidates that may result from abrogation of the two thirds rule.

New York's surprising vote against repeal of the rule was made after the roll call of the states had been completed, showing a big majority for repeal.

An implacable southern minority in the rule committee forced a concession, if the century old nominating rule is to be abrogated tonight, as expected.

Outvoted by 36 to 13 in committee, they obtained the unanimous

PUBLIC OPINION GUEST EDITORIAL

The Daily News believe that public opinion which will permit proper social relations to bring about health, happiness and prosperity, is the biggest problem facing the American people today.

As Professor Whitehead, the eminent British mathematician and philosopher, expressed it, "the problem is not how to produce great men, but how to produce great societies. The great society will put up men for the occasion."

We know of no better way of helping bring this about in our own community than to get the practical, prominent citizens to, figuratively speaking, "think out loud" on fundamental questions.

With this idea in mind the Daily News will start on Sunday a series of Guest Editorials, written by citizens of Pampa and the Panhandle area.

The first guest editor will be C. H. Walker, of Pampa, former editor of the Dalhart Texan, who recently was appointed postmaster of Pampa and who will assume duties of that office July 1. Whatever is discussed by Mr. Walker in his editorial will be of his own choice. This will be true of all the guest editors.

The Daily News management does not propose that ideas in the guest editorials necessarily coincide with those held by the newspaper.

It will be the purpose of the guest editorial column to carry the cross-section of opinion of the thinkers of the community and district.

We feel that having problems of the day discussed by various Pampa, Gray county and Panhandle citizens will bring about a much better general understanding and solution of these problems.

For, as Spencer said: "It is for each to utter that which he sincerely believes to be true, and add this unit of influence to all other units of influence and let the results work themselves out."

SIGNS OF PROGRESS

Figures compiled by the federal housing administration justifying an optimistic outlook for the construction industry will be hailed with satisfaction by observers of the business scene.

According to a statement given out by Stewart McDonald, federal housing administrator, substantial gains in home building for 1936 are certain. After the first week in May, mortgage insurance arrangements approved by the FHA passed the $300,000,000 mark.

During the first nine days in June mortgages accepted for insurance totaled $14,285,387—indicating that this month would surpass the increases shown in May. The latest cheering figure is that mortgage insurance agreements are being offered for FHA approval at the rate of $1,500,000 a day for each working day.

In many cities field representatives of FHA are making extensive efforts to acquaint persons with the possibility of financing new home building by means of low cost mortgages. Doubtless such educational campaigns will give further shots in the arm to the lagging construction industry.

As taxpayers read the news of potential revival of an industry which has been slow to respond to recovery encouragement, they will be gratified to reflect that FHA is operating efficiently. All the financing of new mortgages is being handled by private financial institutions. FHA merely insures the private concerns against loss.

Meanwhile, too, the construction industry is sitting up and taking notice.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA. — Congressman William Lemke's third party candidacy hangs vaguely like a cloud over the Democratic convention. Not too black, nor too low, at least as yet, but conspicuous enough to cause politicians to ask one another whether it is going to rain and, if so, how hard.

The "Union Party" holds a possibility of disaster for the Democrats. How imminent or how remote that possibility may be will be a matter of argument until the campaign gets under way and one can begin to estimate the extent to which Lemke, with the support of Father Coughlin and his appeal to followers of Dr. Townsend and the late Huey Long, is going places and in which direction.

The question here, where it is commonly believed Roosevelt has a definite edge on Landon, is whether Lemke could draw off sufficient votes in enough states to give Landon the election.

That brings up the all-important question: How close is the contest between Roosevelt and Landon, other things being equal, going to be? The answer to that one is that nobody knows.

Anyone will comprehend the situation who looks at the election results in two previous years, 1916 and 1924. In the first instance it will be seen how a few thousand Lemke votes in a single state might decide whether Roosevelt or Landon was to be the next president if the race were close.

The second instance demonstrates how Lemke might poll a much bigger vote than anyone supposes he will and still have no effect on the result if there were a strong national trend toward, let's say, Roosevelt.

J. Frank Hanly of Indiana, and Ira Landrith of Massachusetts, ran on the Prohibition party ticket in 1916 and polled 220,000 votes.

You may remember that the issue hung in the balance for three days because of a close contest in California, which finally by 3773 votes gave her 13 electoral votes to Woodrow Wilson and elected him over Charles Evans Hughes, now chief justice, by an electoral total of 277 to 254.

The Prohibition party in California polled nearly 28,000 popular votes. If there had been no Prohibition ticket and Hughes could have won four out of every seven of those dry voters, Wilson would not have been president. There was good reason for believing that the dries would have gone for Hughes.

The contest was close in all respects. Wilson's popular vote was only 9,129,000 as compared with 8,538,000 for Hughes. The moral is that if there's any neck and neck finish aspect to 1936, Lemke is likely to elect Landon over Roosevelt.

NEW YORK—The photographers and reporters were racing like mad after a wild rumor of Nellie Granger's engagement got abroad the other day. Nellie is the altheast heroine of a recent transport plane crash, who just returned from a West Indies cruise. Glimpsing his grinning countenance at the pier, she raced down the gang-plank and gave him an embrace. Whereupon the news-hawks, scenting a romance, spent the rest of the afternoon trying to confirm rumors of an engagement.

For men's wear my favorite hue continues to be wrinkled herringbone.

No. 2 Lafayette Street is the address of the local office of the National Emergency Council—but don't let the name fool you. This is where you get your questions answered—any question that puzzles and annoys you. Headed by Harriet Root, who is a Lorain, Ohio, girl, who saw the war as a Red Cross nurse, the council has ready answers for anything you care to shove its way. By way of initiating you into the thoroughness of its coverage—here are some questions that have been received—and answered. One man wants to know the locality of Proze To Death creek. Another requests information on clipper ships. "Where may good markets for angle worms be found?" asks a third. Another recently discovered a pot of gold—buried treasure stuff—and wants to know what he should do with it. So it goes. Questions pour into the council's offices every day. Last year more than 75,000 individual queries were received.

How's your HEALTH Edited by DR. IAGO GILDSTON Sunburn The health advantages derived from sunlight are obvious, but excessive exposure, especially in those unaccustomed, may be harmful. Tanning is desirable and beneficial, but burning is injurious. Prolonged exposure to bright sun light in those not accustomed to its rays may be dangerous. In addition to the resulting sunburn the individual may suffer headache, irritation of the lining membranes of the brain and spinal cord, called meningismus, and when the atmosphere has a high humidity, sunstroke or heat stroke may result. For severe cases of sunburn, expert medical treatment is required. In milder cases, the individual should go to bed and apply to the burned area a lotion made of vinegar and water, half and half. Where large blisters have developed and the upper layers of the skin have been raised and ruptured, the application of a brew made of strong tea will bring relief. This should be applied directly to the burned skin, without a dressing. Those who, while exposed, desire protection against ultraviolet light, may cover the exposed portions of the body with peanut, olive or sesame oil. However, these "physical umbrellas" interfere with the heat radiation of the body, and may bring on what is worse than sunburn—"heat burn." When using any of the above named oils one should not be exposed to the sun more than 30 to 45 minutes. Most of the "sunburn preventives" on the market contain a salicylic radical. Not all are safe to use. It is better to take the medicine of sunlight in graduated doses until the body develops its own protection in the form of skin pigmentation.

Reasons are far more important than the form the punishment takes... The child who sees the reason for his punishment and acknowledges it, needs very little correction beyond a word of reproof and advice here and there, and should need no punishment at all by the time he is eight or ten. The child who always has been punished because his parents were annoyed or hurt or tired, and took these personal feelings out on him by scolding or spanking, will probably never learn the rules by which the world lives, but will be a rebel and need correction all his life. Frequent punishment of any kind defeats its own end. Punishment should never be given in a spirit of revenge. It cannot undo the past, but should look toward the future. If this is kept in mind, what one does to attain the desired end becomes unimportant.

Jap Naval Officer Indicted With American In Spy Plot

Charge Conspiracy to Sell Secrets To U. S.

Home of U. S. Flag

LOS ANGELES, June 25 (AP)—The oft-rumored "navy spy case" was an open court affair today, with two men under indictment charged with conspiring to furnish U. S. navy information to the Japanese government.

Defendants are Harry Thomas Thompson, erstwhile petty officer in the U. S. Navy, and Toshio Miyazaki, identified in the indictment as a lieutenant - commander of the Imperial Japanese navy.

Thompson, the government charges, masqueraded as a naval officer to obtain information, then sold it to Miyazaki.

A federal grand jury returned the indictment yesterday, tearing aside the secrecy with which navy officials and government prosecutors have cloaked their long investigation.

The allegations contained in the indictment read like the plot of familiar espionage fiction. They have the full complement of routine elements, involving two first-class powers, an Oriental savant, east and west meeting in illicit and mutually-profitable alliance.

Adding to the story book flavor of the affair, a Japanese woman was injected into the picture today.

It was learned that federal operatives have questioned the woman regarding the case, and are keeping her accessible for further interrogation.

The woman, it was disclosed, is an acquaintance of Thompson, who is serving a county jail sentence for illegally wearing a naval officer's uniform.

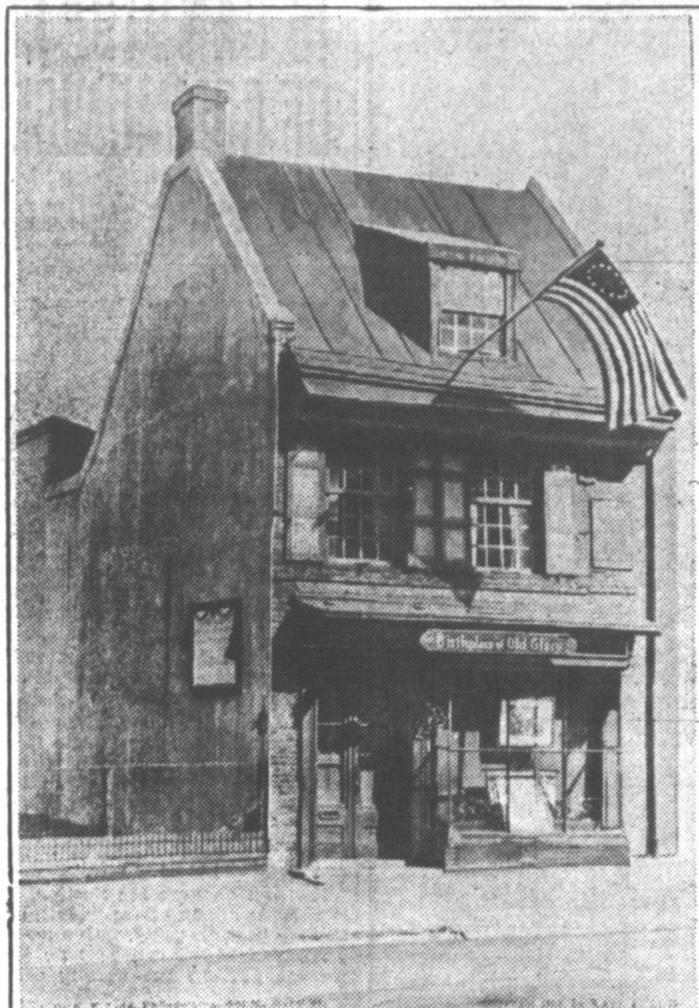

Thompson, the indictment charged, began selling his country's secrets on August 26, 1934 when he boarded the U. S. S. Brooks at San Diego with this episode as an opening chapter, the indictment continued with this story:

Dressed as a navy officer, Thompson went aboard U. S. warships at San Pedro and San Diego and obtained assorted documents—code books, signal books, photographs, blue prints, plans, maps, models . . . and information relating to the national defense.

Miyazaki, described in the indictment as one-time honor student at Stanford University and, federal investigators said, language officer at the institution, met Thompson on several occasions, in San Pedro and Los Angeles and paid him for naval information.

The information, according to the indictment, was to be used to the injury of the United States and to the advantage of a foreign nation, to-wit, Japan.

The jury alleged "divers other persons unknown" were involved in the espionage plot.

A shrine which thousands of Americans visit annually, this quaint house in Philadelphia was the home of Betsy Ross, where the first American flag was fashioned in 1777.

COURT RECORD

Remainder of the week was expected to be taken up in district court with the trial of the compensation case of J. F. Perkins versus The Texas Indenture Co., court attaches stated today.

Preferential setting has been given for next Monday to the case of Larry Ray versus The Texas Panhandle Stages, Inc., a damage action for personal injuries.

In the trial Judge S. D. Stennis, of Pampa, will represent the plaintiff, and Atty. William R. Saunders, of Amarillo, will be defense counsel. In the Perkins trial, plaintiff's testimony still was in progress today, the third day of the hearing. Court attaches predicted it would be Saturday before the case goes to the jury.

In county court witnesses still were parading before the six-man jury listening to evidence in the damage case of Mark Long versus the City of Pampa, in which the plaintiff seeks $500 damages for damage which he alleges was done to his property thru improper drainage facilities.

In district court, according to District Clerk Frank Hill, next week will be devoted exclusively to the hearing of civil cases. A special session of commissioners' court was under way at the court house this afternoon. Charles Thut, county clerk, stated that the session was called to authorize payment of current bills.

Baer Manhandles Boxer, Is Boosed

SAN ANTONIO, June 25, (AP)—Max Baer gained a three-round technical knockout decision here last night to the accompaniment of angry booes.

Wilson Dunn, 183-pound Ponca City, Okla., Indian was the victim of what 5,000 irate fans thought was Baer's rough and unfunny tactics.

The philatelists will have plenty of stamps to look at during the Texas Centennial Exposition. More than $1,000,000 worth of commemorative stamps are on display in the Federal Building at the Philatelic exhibit.

In the third round Dunn was tossed from the ring and was unable to continue.

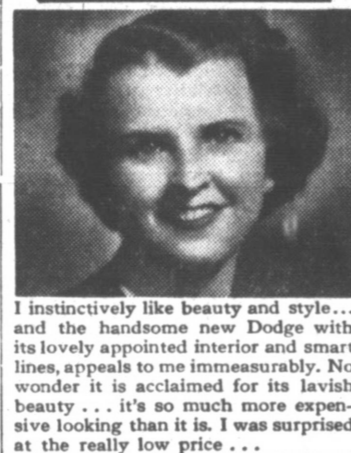

The former heavyweight champion wrestled his lighter opponent and four times Dunn left the ring.

I instinctively like beauty and style... and the handsome new Dodge with its lovely appointed interior and smart lines, appeals to me immeasurably. No wonder it is acclaimed for its lavish beauty... it's so much more expensive looking than it is. I was surprised at the really low price...

And with all this luxury... at so low a price... I was quite surprised to note the remarkable savings on gas and oil. For a combination of beauty, style and money-saving features, it seems to me that it would be hard to surpass this handsome new Dodge.

Company Labor Union Is Flayed By Bishop Lucey

CANYON, June 23.—Bishop R. E. Lucey of the Amarillo Catholic church spoke before students of the West Texas State Teachers college today on the subject "The Need for Labor Organization."

Advising that the company labor union was a tool of the company officials, Bishop Lucey advocated a broader union of labor embracing many trades, having a common treasury out of which it can pay its own executives. Such a union front for labor could effect labor legislation, exact better wages, hours, and working conditions and make for better efficiency in production, according to Bishop Lucey.

Bishop Lucey will give two more lectures to Canyon college audiences. On June 24 he will speak on "What is Wrong with the Economic Order?" and on June 25 he will lecture on "Government and Industry."

Ten cottages are being built on the campus of the West Texas State Teachers college. They are to be occupied on September 15 by married students and responsible students who are attending the college.

G. S. Lambie Construction company of Amarillo is in charge of building the cottages at a cost of $45,000. The buildings will be of frame construction with a stucco finish and will be of Spanish architecture. Each will contain four rooms; three bedrooms, and a kitchen and dining room combined, and is designed to accommodate six persons. All are to be provided with furniture.

The exterior of the buildings will be beautified with cactus and other desert shrubs and the yards will be landscaped in Spanish style.

SOMETHING COOL IS APPETIZING FOR FIRST COURSE IN SUMMER

BY MARY E. DAGUE NEA Service Staff Writer The sun may be scorching, the air sultry, but don't be deceived by the complaint that it's "too hot to eat." Hot weather months are the time when wise housewives plan more carefully the meals to set before their families.

The first rule is that caloric consumption should be low. The heat, that much-talked-of humidity, and the general tendency to avoid physical activity whenever possible make it unnecessary to provide a diet rich in heat-producing foods.

Eating to Keep Cool But meals must be nourishing. If the family is to keep healthy and even-tempered during June, July and August, the foods served should be easily digested. The stomach is as sensitive to heat as the rest of the body and resents being overtaxed and overworked. Fresh fruits, vegetables in quantity, meat or a meat substitute once a day, and plenty of milk to drink will supply the elements of a well-balanced diet.

Don't depend on iced beverages to keep your temperature down. Sudden chilling of the stomach may create discomfort. If you must have iced drinks, sip them slowly. Eat frozen desserts the same way, for this will create more lasting coolness. Ices and sherbets are more cooling than ice cream, since they have a lower fat content and caloric count.

Avoid fried foods, rich cakes and desserts, hot breads, rich sauces and gravies. Eliminate these dishes altogether or serve them only in combination with other foods that do not have a heating effect on the body. All fats are heat producers, and some are difficult to digest as well.

Liquids Are Important See that the children drink plenty of milk, fruit juices and water. The body must have liquids, whether the weather is hot or cold, but heat causes more rapid evaporation from the surface of the body and a larger amount is required in warm weather. When a luncheon is planned with salad or sandwiches as the chief dish, see that something hot is served also—soup, a soufflé or a hot drink.

The diet in summer should be well-balanced, just as at other times of the year. It should include protein, carbohydrates and fats, but it is desirable to reduce the carbohydrates and fats to the minimum amount. Proteins are always needed to take care of wear and tear on the body. However, since protein foods increase energy production in the system, it is advisable to cut down on the amount of proteins, also.

The familiar phrase, "Cool as a cucumber," is more than a graphic description. Cucumbers, owing to their lack of calories, are utterly incapable of producing heat. Lettuce, endive and the other salad greens are all extremely low in calories.

The Social CALENDAR FRIDAY Chatterbox sewing club will meet at the home of Mrs. Paul Clifford with Mrs. A. Hefflin as hostess. Royal Neighbors society will meet with Mrs. Roy Aldin, 642 N. Banks, at 7:30. TEXANS DETAINED BATON ROUGE, La., June 25, (AP)—Three Texans were detained here today in connection with the death of Stanley Reid Brashier, 5, who was injured fatally last night when struck by an automobile. The accident occurred on the scenic highway on the outskirts of Baton Rouge, near the home of Stanley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Brashier.

Training Course Of Baptists Has Big Attendance

The training course sponsored by the B. T. U. department at First Baptist church this week, under the direction of Miss Helen Gardner, has been well attended. Last night there were 134 present. Central and Calvary churches are participating and Sunday school and W. M. U. workers are finding Miss Gardner's class attractive and helpful.

The adults and juniors and running a close attendance race, the adults having 38 and the juniors 34 last night. Mrs. John Scott is teaching juniors for the second time this year in a class at First Baptist church.

The Rev. C. E. Lancaster and the intermediates are having a good time together and the beginner-primary groups with Mrs. A. L. Lee and Mrs. H. G. Covington have a record attendance and much fun together with a fine lesson each evening.

The classes responded to "twirl night"; many stood with their "twirls" when the opportunity was given last evening, even to the youngest group which presented real twirls.

The work starts each evening with a surprise period and refreshments. This evening the period will be given to a rodeo on the lawn. Miss Gardner declares this will be a real rodeo and all are invited to come and witness the stunts as well as to enjoy the class work offered.

Texas Delegates Will Attempt to Beat Rule Move

PHILADELPHIA, June 25, (AP)—Texas delegates to the democratic convention today waded into the thick of the fight to retain the two-thirds rule of selecting party nominees, despite apparently overwhelming odds against them.

Should the rules committee decide to recommend its abolition on the convention floor, several of the Lone Star state delegation said they would attempt to defeat it in general debate.

Beeman strong, Beaumont, Texas member of the committee, and former state Senator Tom Pollard, Tyler, said they would ask to be heard if the committee should file a minority report representing the wishes of Texas and at least one other state.

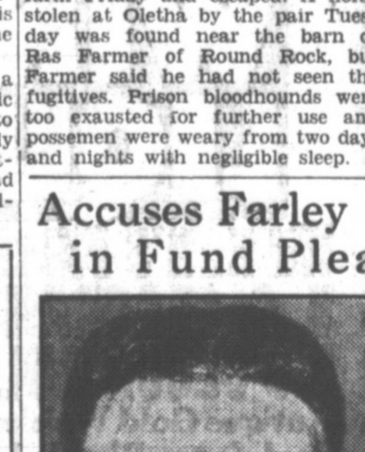

Rep. John Rankin of Mississippi, who joined the Texans in a discussion on procedure last night, said he also would ask the committee to discard a plan to the administration to abolish the 104-year old rule.

Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President and a delegate from Port Worth, arrived with Raymond Buck, former president of the Young Democrats of Texas, last night and sat on the front row with delegation leaders. For the first time since the convention opened, Governor James V. Allred was absent. Friends said he had decided to rest.

A horse stolen at Oetha by the pair Tuesday was found near the barn of Gas Farmer of Round Rock, but Farmer said he had not seen the fugitives. Prison bloodhounds were too exhausted for further use and possmen were weary from two days and nights with negligible sleep.

Olive Branches Are Offered by Blum Cabinet

PARIS, June 25, (AP)—Olive branches of industrial and political peace were offered by the French government today.

The popular front administration agreed to halt further occupation of factories by striking workmen, a delegation of French chambers of commerce officials reported.

The croux de feu won a new lease of life when the government announced the rightist league would be permitted to continue as a "political party" on the condition it drops all semblance of a "private militia."

The chambers of commerce representatives said they received assurance from Premier Leon Blum no further manufacturing plants would be tied up by "folded arms" strikers, whose numbers at their height approximate 1,000,000 employees.

Woodsman Charged In Island Slaying

BEAUMONT, June 25, (AP)—Joe Slack, a bachelor woodsman living in a cabin on lonely Pine Island bayou eight miles northeast of Beaumont, was charged with murder here today in connection with the fatal shooting of Charley "No Nose" Rogers.

Slack told officers he had trouble with Rogers, who was a neighbor, for about a year and that the latter had tried to "run him out of the woods." Slack was quoted by officers as saying he fired a shotgun from the bayou bank at Rogers, who was in a skiff. Rogers fell dead into the water.

The 63-year old Rogers got his nickname from losing most of his nose and part of his upper lip in an accident several years ago. Slack was held in the county jail here.

EARL BROWDER IS CANDIDATE OF COMMUNISM

UNRELENTING FIGHT ON MAJOR PARTIES PLANNED

NEW YORK, June 25, (AP)—Earl Browder, a mild mannered former Kansas bookkeeper, held firm control of the communist party today and was practically assured of its nomination for the presidency.

Browder, since 1930 general secretary of the party, to all intents and purposes assumed its leadership after its ninth annual convention tumultuously approved his keynote address yesterday.

Browder called for "determined participation in the national presidential campaign and an unremitting fight on both major parties."

The republicans, he said, must be stopped at all costs as the chief exponents of fascism. The democrats, he added, must be attacked all along the line to force the new deal as far as possible to the left.

"To support Roosevelt," he said, "is to invite his further reaction. He fights reaction only to the degree necessary to hold the left."

His own chances for election, he is frank to admit, are negligible, but he feels that his party, with a membership of 30,000, can play an important part in the coming campaign.

The broad outline, he indicated, the communist platform will be based on the following planks:

- 1. Consolidation and extension of social and labor legislation with minimum standard of living guaranteed. 2. Immediate balancing of the budget at the expense of the rich. 3. A curb on the power of the Supreme Court. 4. A pledge to keep America out of war.

Browder was born May 20, 1891, in Wichita, Kan., the son of a school teacher.

The presidential nominee has rented the McGraw ranch, buildings of which are shown at left and center beneath tall pines. The ranch contains 1280 acres, half of it being inside the park, and five miles north of Estes Park village. Cow Creek, a mountain stream, well stocked with trout, runs through the ranch. To the Landons it will seem like a homecoming, as they have spent several summers in the park and have many friends in the vicinity.

Amarillo Jaycees Join Both State, National Groups

The Amarillo Junior chamber of commerce will become affiliated with both state and national Junior chambers of commerce, it was decided at a meeting of directors last night. The decision was unanimous, it was learned here this morning.

Pampa's Junior chamber of commerce was one of the sponsors of the Amarillo club. More than a year ago, a group of young men from Pampa, attended a luncheon and urged organization of an Amarillo Jaycee group. Last year Pampa and Berger Jaycees gathered in Amarillo and a junior division of the Amarillo chamber of commerce was organized.

A few months ago the Amarillo Juniors became independent and affiliation with state and national organizations was immediately advocated. The Pampa Jaycees have been affiliated with both the national and state chambers of commerce for several years.

Drought Destroys Mid-West Crops

CHICAGO, June 25 (AP)—Intense heat hastened the destruction of crops in drought scorched sections of the west today.

Concern grew apace as the federal forecaster of Chicago described the current month as the second driest June on record. No relief was sighted. Meteorologists cited the "likelihood of a few scattered thunder-showers in the northern third of the north central states" but predicted generally fair weather accompanied by "abnormally high" temperatures. In North Dakota—where officials reckoned half the state's 87,000 farm families were in need of assistance—readings of 107 degrees at Bismarck, 105 at Jamestown, and 101 at Fargo were recorded yesterday.

The veteran Berger catcher was playing in his second game since he broke a small bone in his ankle here last month. Polvogt got in front of one of Ledford's fire balls here.

back step of the three-room cottage one of Mrs. Herwig's shippers, evidently lost in her flight from her assailant. The other shoe was on her foot when her body was found.

Mrs. George Byars, telephone operator at Johnson City, said that she and "practically all of Johnson City" went to the Herwig home after hearing of the double killing.

"Mrs. Herwig was lying on the floor on one side of the bed and the little boy was on the other," Mrs. Byars said.

Mrs. Herwig's head had been split open from behind. The boy's head had been mashed in by a hard blow.

The telephone in the new, unpainted cottage on Miller's creek had been jerked from the wall, Mrs. Byars said.

Hampered by darkness when they first reached the slaying scene, officers today found the axe with which the crimes were committed in some grass about 50 yards from the house.

"The axe had been washed but there still were blood stains on it," Sheriff King Casparis said.

"We haven't established the identity of the slayer," the sheriff said, "but we believe a solution of the case is near."

Officers questioned Herwig and his small daughters closely in an effort to get all possible information on circumstances surrounding the slayings. Herwig said he could think of no motive.

Mr. and Mrs. Herwig had been married about two years. He is around 42 years old.

Texas, Col. Yowell edged thru the mass of delegates to the manager's office and finally received permission.

After receiving a round of applause in the lobby, the colonel got the animal up the broad marble stairs to the floor which houses the Democratic national committee.

While Texans whooped up he rode into the Garner headquarters. First the donkey made for a vase of flowers. The ladies screamed. Then he began to paw the deep carpet and generally misbehave.

"Get him out of here," someone yelled.

Bellboys and chamber maids who had been standing by nervously rushed up and escorted the colonel and his mount out of the headquarters, down the steps and into the street.

"You just can't tell about animals," sighed the colonel.

consent of a subcommittee for the recommendation of a plan whereby convention representatives in the future would be apportioned on a basis of democratic strength in the states instead of total population as now.

The committee row, in which no feelings were spared, forced adjournment of the fifth session soon after it had unanimously accepted the reports of the credentials and permanent organization committees.

Plainly, supreme efforts were being made to reconcile all differences in conference—by way of a prelude to the renomination of Roosevelt and Garner. Success or failure could only be guessed.

Both friends of the two thirds requirement said there would be no minority report by them; but a minority report on endorsement of the Townsend plan in the platform was still discussed in the Washington state delegation.

Senator Millard Tydings of Maryland led the fight for the rules compromise. He insisted the convention itself should act on the proposed reapportionment plan, which republican long have followed.

The leaders apparently expected it to be endorsed with little if any difficulty.

Chaves Opposes
Senator Dennis Chavez of New Mexico, opened debate by denying the south was the only section opposing abrogation.

"If we are to make a change shouldn't it be done when the necessity arises?" Chavez asked.

"This rule was good enough to give us Jackson, Cleveland, Wilson and Roosevelt, so why can't we proceed along sound lines."

Rep. John Rankin of Mississippi interrupted to observe it was "the same pernicious peas favoring abrogation of this rule that is favoring senate representation based on population."

Senator Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri, committee chairman, sat on the convention floor while Rep.

Moves Against Drunk Driving To Be Continued

After being in session since Monday, the jurors wound up their current examination of cases and reported nine indictments. One was on a forgery charge.

The grand jury was excused until Tuesday, June 30, when it will return to consider additional cases.

Van Mungo Ties League Record

NEW YORK, June 25. (AP)—Van Mungo, speedball pitcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, today equalled the major league record for consecutive strikeouts by fanning seven Cincinnati Reds in a row.

Mungo's feat tied the modern major league record set by George Wiltsie of the New York Giants in 1906 and tied later by Dazzy Vance of the Dodgers in 1924.

He started his string by getting Kampouris and Schott on strikes to close out the second inning.

Fanned Cuyler, Riggs and Goodman in the third and added Scarsella and Herman to the list in the fourth before Campbell popped up to end the streak. At this point Mungo had fanned nine men.

There is something new under the sun. Now, an evangelistic meeting at a centennial celebration is new and certainly sets up another frontier for Christian activity.

The Disciples of Christ will engage in such an enterprise at the Texas Centennial in Dallas under leadership of one of their foremost preachers, Dr. Raphael H. Miller, pastor of the National City Christian Church, Washington, D. C.

Services will be held in the Chrysler Gardens each evening from June 28 to July 11. Services will last for one hour daily, 6:45 to 7:45 p. m.—providing a haven of rest to the weary for an hour following supper.

The man who fell off the flying trapeze says:

This is the month in which politicians are beginning to kiss babies.

Personally, we'd say it is the month in which the veterans are kissing baby bonds.

ROBBERY FRUSTRATED
LAWRENCE, Mass., June 25. (AP)—A gun battle between robbers attempting to seize a $19,000 payroll and a policeman and bank employee sent two of the gunmen and the bank employe to Lawrence general hospital today. One of the robbers was reported near death.

Doughton of North Carolina presided.

W. W. Durbin of Ohio asserted that minority elements would control the convention by blocking nominations in the future unless the rule of majority was restored.

Durbin insisted he wanted majority rule "to prevent a yipping minority led by a sky pilot from Detroit" from dominating the convention.

"The two thirds rule," he declared, "is a relic of the dead hand."

Beeman Strong of Texas offered a substitute which would provide for repeal and that hereafter each state be given six votes in the convention with two additional for each representative and two for each senator in congress.

Rankin spoke before the committee voted on this.

"If you are going to change this rule you must give us something in its place," Rankin said. "We have yielded to you on presidential candidates for 75 years. Roosevelt will be nominated by unanimous votes and so will Garner."

R. W. Robins of Arkansas broke with his southern colleagues and favored repeal.

He referred to the 1922 Chicago convention and said the big eastern states might have blocked the nomination of President Roosevelt.

"I don't think sectionalism ought to be raised here," he said. "We should all work together."

Clark, whose father lost the nomination to Wilson in 1928 because of the two thirds rule, argued that the question was referred to this convention by the last one and that this was the only time to act because of the absence of a presidential contest.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, June 25. (AP)—The bloom faded from the stock market today as the steels, along with a number of other leaders, broke fractions to around 3 points.

Despite the general profit taking movement, buyers were found for some of the oils, sugars and specialties. The close was heavy. Transfers were about 1,250,000 shares.

Three Crashes Reported
Faulty brakes and "star-gazing" were blamed for three car accidents last night in downtown Pampa. No one was injured but cars were damaged in the crashes. The first accident was in the 100 block on North Cuyler street where a car crashed into the rear of a bus.

The second was in the same block when the driver of a car started window shopping and let her vehicle run into a car in front. The third accident was on South Cuyler street and it also was a "rear action" collision.

Snake Torture Trial Proceeds

LOS ANGELES, June 25. (AP)—Charles Hope, the state's chief witness in the murder trial of Robert James, was ready to resume his story today of the snake torture death of James' fifth wife, MaTy.

Hope, clipping off his words and irritated when they weren't immediately understood, summed up in one sentence the main portion of the state's case. In his first appearance on the witness stand, he said:

"James came to me early in June last year and said he had a friend who wanted to kill his wife and that it would be worth $100 to me to get a couple of rattlesnakes."

The prosecution branded the former master barber as the "friend," his own wife as the victim, and charged that her death was murder by drowning after hours of torture by the bites of snakes and black widow spiders.

ONLY ONE OF NEW DEAL MAJOR ALPHABET BUREAUS TOTAL LOSS

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Although the New Deal of the Roosevelt Administration has suffered one defeat after another at the hands of the Supreme Court of the United States, only one major alphabet bureau has been obliterated. Parts of other agencies, certain activities carried on by them, have been ruled out by the high court, but substantial vestiges remain and large organizations continue to function.

In the first two years of the Roosevelt administration, far and away the most spectacular of the alphabet bureaus was the NRA. Those initials became known probably to more people than the names of some of the executive departments which had been in operation for many years. This fame was due in part to the prominence of General Hugh S. Johnson who had been named National Recovery administrator. With a gift of almost lurid oratory, a knack for a telling phrase, whether written or oral, and a way of doing things with a bang, he captivated the imagination of millions of Americans.

The Washington Corps of correspondents, ever eager for the picturesque as well as the important and fundamental in developments at Washington, became voluntary and enthusiastic press agents for the fiery General. His military background, the glamour of West Point, his unquestioned record for efficiency in shaping the draft in the World war, all these added to his prestige—most of all his actions in his new role. One day he was issuing dynamic statements to the press. The next found him, after a night airplane journey, addressing a business group in a distant city. The following saw him back at Washington laying down the law to industrial leaders or appearing before a Congressional committee. Moreover, he was known to have in a high degree the confidence of President Roosevelt.

Then the National Recovery administration itself marked a new departure in American conceptions of government. Just as no other man had held such a job as National Recovery administrator, so no such law as the National Industrial Recovery act ever had been placed on the statute books. It reversed, it inverted ideas and practices relating to the conduct of business. It was inevitable that General Johnson and the NRA should become famous and come, in the minds of many Americans, to represent the very genius of the New Deal. For long, other activities appeared pale beside it.

Supreme Court Decisions

Then, on May 27, 1935, the Supreme court, by a unanimous decision, set at naught the whole system of NRA control of business as being contrary to the provisions of the American constitution. It immediately suspended the operation of the codes, governing minimum wages, maximum hours, and many other business practices including price fixing and control of output, constituted the very soul of the NRA. The suspension meant the death of this great agency. For a while a diminished force was maintained to clear up the vast amount of loose ends of administration left over and to carry on a certain amount of statistical work. Finally, even that remnant was discontinued. Only the ghost of the NRA now hovers over the national capital. It is as dead as the sick chicken, the lawsuit involving which brought the Schechter case before the Supreme court, thus ending the great NRA adventure.

The supreme court handed down a decision denying to the Agricultural Adjustment administration, the second most famous of the alphabetical bureaus, the right to levy processing taxes upon manufacturers and processors in order to raise money to pay farmers benefits for refraining from production. That this was a blow to the New Deal was not denied. It deprived the AAA of power to continue indefinitely the gentle rain of checks over the farms of the land. Contracts already entered into had to be carried out so the shower could not stop with the same suddenness that operation of the NRA codes stopped. The falling from adequate source of further funds, there must come a halt.

But even though the AAA was crippled in its chief function, it was by no means wiped out. There are other activities which remain, and the organization, to the outward eye at least, seems to be as big and as vigorous as ever. It survives. It has not joined the NRA in limbo.

The supreme court found the first Railroad Retirement act contrary to the constitution and that put a question on the Railroad Retirement board which had been created to administer the law. But this was not a large and important agency. Indeed, it had scarcely begun to function. In the same category comes the Guffey Coal act. While an office had been set up and preparations made to administer the act, there was but a company's guard in office before the supreme court found the law invalid.

There have been supreme court decisions which were hostile in effect to New Deal policies, but which did not destroy any agency.

The Frazier-Lemke act was declared invalid by constitution, but no organized agency was thereby destroyed. This act provided for certain special measures of relief for farmers deeply in debt. The court held that interests of creditors could not be destroyed in such a manner, but no organized bureau was obliterated as none had been set up.

Then, too, there was a high court decision which found against a part of the Home Owner's Loan act. The decision was on a technical point regarding the change from state to federal incorporation of a building and loan association. The decision was critical of a part of this New Deal legislation, but did not have the effect of eliminating an agency. The Home Owner's Loan corporation has plenty of other activities to bestir it.

The decision of the supreme court which has, by many observers, been regarded as the most far-reaching in its economic effects of any was the decision in the gold clause cases. This was, in the main, a victory for the New Deal gold policy as the chief points involved were ruled on in accordance with the president's contentions. Other aspects of the policy were criticized but this resulted in the abolition of no bureau or agency, for there was nothing to abolish. The issue involved merely a general policy, almost one might say an abstract policy. Not a man lost a job because of the decision, so far as the government service goes.

The court's decision in the Tennessee Valley authority case was a victory for the government and a vindication of one of the pet New Deal schemes. The right of the government to sell power was upheld. There are other aspects of the law which may come before the court. There is always a possibility that some lawsuit may result in the court's decreeing the almost complete downfall of the TVA, but as matters now stand that agency stands apparently as firmly as the North Dam or the surrounding everlasting hills.

In recapitulation, then, while the New Deal has been considerably buffeted and knocked about by the supreme court, the NRA is the only ghost that stalks around the national capital.

He'll Present Garner's Name

At the Democratic national convention in Philadelphia, Gov. James V. Allred of Texas, above, will have an enjoyable role. He is scheduled to offer for renomination the name of his good friend, Vice President John Nance Garner.

CAPITOL JIGSAW

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, June 25, (AP)—If you want a real thrill out of the Centennial exposition, says Gov. James V. Allred, go there at night.

"It is the most beautiful thing I ever laid eyes on," he said. "The lights afford a magnificent spectacle."

On opening day the governor toured the grounds with Lieut.-Gov. Walter F. Wodul but said they did not go through the "Streets of Paris."

Before the exposition, the governor frowned on the suggestion that nude or semi-nude women be put on display.

A number of business men from St. Louis visited the Centennial, making the trip on a special train. Reports were that more wanted to go than could be accommodated.

The interest of St. Louis in the exposition recalled an incident during the nationwide "bank holidays" several years ago.

The government had made plans for re-opening banks gradually beginning with those at strategic centers. A newspaper editor requested special information on what the banks at St. Louis would do.

"Whatever people may think," he said, "the commercial life of Texas, especially North Texas, still flows from St. Louis. That's been true since pioneer days."

On the day Gov. Allred was to meet President Roosevelt at Texarkana, he flew to Waco where he addressed a convention of peace officers, then to Palestine, where he met Mrs. Allred, and the two boarded a train for Texarkana.

Although Mrs. Allred went to Palestine by railway it was no indication she had not flown or especially disliked it. Nor had she made objection to the governor flying.

"I don't fly much," she said later, "but I'm not afraid of it. I don't have many opportunities. Moreover, there are the children. Jim Boy has gotten sick in a plane."

For Centennial opening day, Allred flew to Dallas, leaving Austin late one afternoon while Mrs. Allred left by train before noon. They arrived in Dallas about the same time.

Just what part the secret service plays in guarding the president is not quite clear to inexperienced observers during the visit of Mr. Roosevelt in San Antonio.

Very few secret service operatives were recognized as such and reports were there were not as many along as most people thought. It was suggested they were mingling with the crowd.

"The secret service depends a great deal on psychology," said a peace officer. "That's one of the reasons for the advance bally-hoo and the mystery."

"If the crowd thinks there are a million secret service men about and doesn't know where, it is likely to observe the rules."

The first daily news broadcast ever given at a world fair has been inaugurated at the Texas Centennial Exposition. International news reports will be given from 6 to 6:05 p. m. daily over the Exposition network.

Housing problems of visitors to the Texas Centennial Exposition during the first 10 days were solved on a gigantic scale as the Centennial Housing Bureau placed 63,000 persons at an average cost of $1.75 per day.

Police within and about the Texas Centennial Exposition grounds are really walking information booths rather than bogey men. That goes for traffic officers too, said Robert L. Jones, Chief of Dallas police. "A visiting driver would have to do something awfully bad and really prove himself an incorrigible before we would give him a ticket," he said.

PISTOL SHOT JEOPARDIZED LIFE OF BARRYMORE SIRE AT MARSHALL

MARSHALL, June 25, (AP)—Interest in Texas history incidental to the celebration of the state's Centennial has revived the story of a pistol shot that jeopardized the life of the founder of the Barrymore family of actors.

The shot struck Maurice Barrymore, a leading actor of his day and father of the Barrymores of this generation, in the shoulder a few seconds after Ben Porter, a fellow actor, was shot and killed at a railway station here.

That was in 1878, when Marshall, because of its railway facilities, was the eastern gateway for theatrical companies touring Texas. Theatrical troupes invariably stopped here for performances at the Opera House, with its kerosene footlights and the primitive trappings of its day, and then went on to Dallas, Fort Worth, Austin, Waco, San Antonio, Houston and Galveston.

Several accounts of the incident have appeared, the one usually accepted coming from Clifton Seymour, then a messenger boy who saw much of the occurrence. Seymour told his story several years ago in the Frontier Times, a monthly publication devoted to Texas history and published by J. Marvin Hunter at Bandera.

Barrymore, Seymour said, was nursed back to health by Miss May Cummings, member of his company and over whom the shooting assertedly took place.

Jim Currie, a railroad locomotive engineer, was charged with the shooting but was acquitted.

It was a winter night. Seymour's chronicle related, and a company headed by John Drew had prepared to take a midnight train after a performance.

Barrymore, Porter and Miss Cummings were sitting in a lunch stand near the station when Currie entered.

Exactly what started the trouble, Seymour was unable to say.

"When I first saw Currie," he related, "he was addressing a maudlin remark apparently to the theatrical company."

"Just at the moment, actor Ben Porter got up and said something about being unarmed but that he would defend a lady from insult. At this remark, Currie jerked out his big pistol and the shooting commenced. The train caller and I dodged out to the platform. Peering through the window, we saw Porter stagger and fall over dead.

"By this time the debonair Maurice Barrymore was on his feet. I saw him glance at Ben Porter. His eyes snapped as he pushed Miss Cummings behind him and faced Currie. He must have known he did not have any chance in ten thousand as he stood in front of Currie.

"There was another shot and Barrymore, with a bullet through his shoulder, staggered and collapsed."

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking acids and wastes out of the blood. A healthy person should pass about 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, waste stays in the body and may become poisonous. It may start nagging backaches, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't let it lay you up.

Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills.

Dusting The Covers Of Texas History For THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF 1936

AUSTIN.—Continuing the narrative of the adventures and tragic ends of the members of the exploring expedition of Cavalier de La Salle, as written by Don Carlos Sigüenza y Gongora and translated by Dr. Carlos E. Casteneda, detailed information is given of what purpose he had in mind when he began in despair from this time on to explore the country to the north in the year 1685 (1686). While on the road, he treated his men badly, and even with cruelty. Not the least of these cruelties was the abandonment of those who could not follow. He even encouraged them to kill each other in order to appease their hunger. M. Violette, one of the King's captains, was one of the victims. Thus, La Salle reached the town of the Asinias, who were called Texas, (which is the same as almost everybody. Neither the three Recollect Friars, who were with him, whose names were Anastasius, Maximus, and Xenovle, nor his brother, the Cleric Cavalier, nor Chefdeville, also a priest, were able to dissuade him from his cruel purpose.

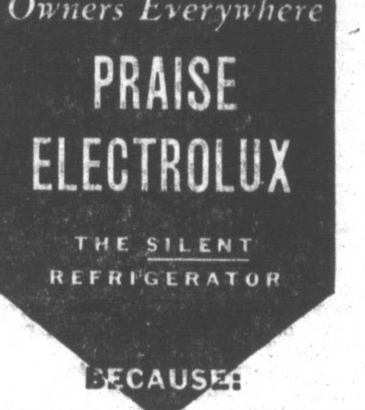

ALLRED TO OPEN CAMPAIGN AT WAXAHACHIE WITH GIANT RALLY

AUSTIN, June 25.—One of the biggest political rallies in the history of Texas, both in point of attendance and enthusiasm, will be staged in Waxahachie at 8 p. m. June 30, when Governor James V. Allred opens his second-term campaign there at that time. Marvin Hall, Allred state campaign manager, predicted today. The introductory ceremonies and Governor Allred's speech rendering an accounting of his administration to the people will be broadcast over a statewide radio hook-up from 8 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. for the benefit of those unable to attend the rally in person, Mr. Hall announced. Advance indications pointed to a crowd of around 10,000. Delegations from El Paso to Texarkana and from Amarillo to Brownsville were wired state campaign headquarters their intention to be present. Arrangements have been made to have on hand no less than seven brass bands to entertain the crowd before the speaking begins. Official duties as Texas Centennial governor, as host to President and Mrs. Roosevelt on their tour of the state, and as nominator for Vice President John Nance Garner at the national Democratic convention in Philadelphia, have delayed the opening of Governor Allred's campaign.

Tolley Will Be Farmers' Short Course Speaker

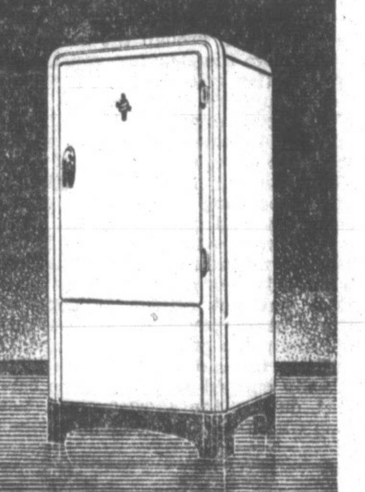

COLLEGE STATION, June 25.—H. R. Tolley, newly appointed head of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, will be one of the chief speakers on the A. & M. Farmers' Short Course program to be held at College Station July 20 through 24. Tolley was born on a farm in Howard county, Indiana; graduated from high school at Converse; attended Marion Normal college; received his A. B. degree at Indiana University; and taught school for the first few years after graduating. In the position of assistant administrator of AAA and director of the unit called the division of program planning, he developed the regional and land-use plans which are now being used in working out the programs under the new Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act. Tolley, who is director of the Giannini Foundation of Agricultural Economics at the University of California, has done his AAA work on leave of absence from the Foundation. He will speak in Guion Hall at 11 o'clock on Friday, July 24, during the short course.

He offered me a refuge. Such a refuge! It was like a door into heaven. Looking back, I see how silly my thoughts were. I thought he wanted me because he liked me.

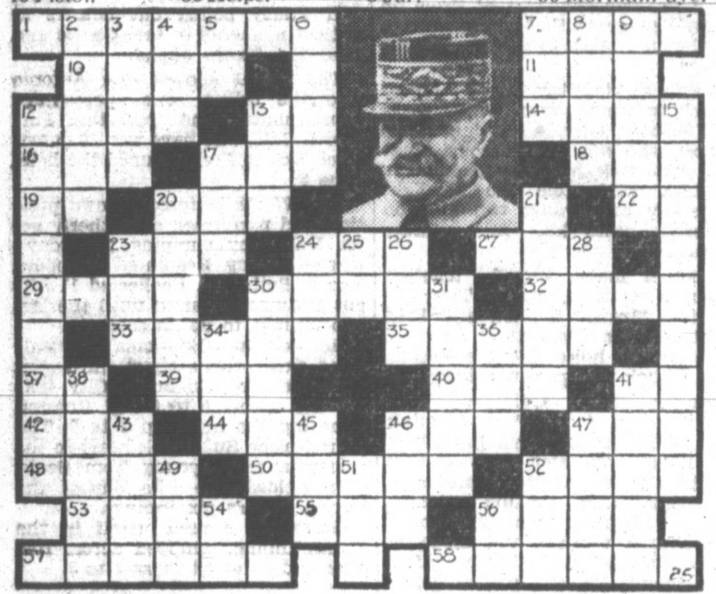

"Of course I realized he hardly knew what he was doing, but even so, I thought I could win him. I make him love me, and Roddie would be safe. Roddie would have everything he needed — and with Rupert's influence and knowledge of the law . . .

"Later I realized how wrong it was to bring my trouble into your house, to make it yours and Rupert's. But then I was thinking only of myself and Roddie.

"And when you came home, and I saw you again — most of all when we sat together on the stair that night — I came to realize that everything I had done for you, that I had done for Rupert, that I had done for myself, was all wrong. I had brought my trouble into your house, to make it yours and Rupert's. But then I was thinking only of myself and Roddie.

"I went and got my trunk, too, with the money Olga had lent me, and I telephoned Pipolo in Atlantic City. I told him where I was staying. Nothing more over the phone. He said he would meet me, as he promised, would send for me.

"He sent a taxi for me, a taxi owned by a friend of his. That was the night of 'The Black Swan'. I told him that night about my marriage — not how it had happened, only that I had married, and

UNTANGLED

Dirk remembered. Remembered Madame's mention of a pale girl — a fair girl. He said, "I remember." He had never thought of it again.

"Torrobin said if you were a lawyer you weren't a safe prospect. Chow said yes, you were, because you were young. Young enough to be a fool. She gave him your name, said you lived in Westchester, and to look you up. She gave him Freddy Nevin's name, too. Natalie was certainly a talker. But Torrobin said lawyers were out. Said he'd like to get you, himself. Meaning about his nose.

"I went back to the van and Olga. Pipolo's wife was there. She said Pipolo had gone out to phone for an ambulance, that we must get Roddie to a hospital. We took him to Bellevue that night. He was still unconscious, and seriously hurt.

"I found your name in the phone-book. More than ever I wanted to see you, since I knew you were a lawyer. I knew that Roddie had to break away from Torrobin, whatever happened. I wanted to know about extradition laws; to know if — with only Torrobin's word as evidence — they could take Roddie out of New York and bring him down to Texas.

"Looking back now, seeing more clearly, I know Torrobin could have proved nothing without involving himself. He had used the money. But then — then I was frightened. I couldn't think. I wondered if they would take Roddie while he was ill. He said that Roddie would live — with an operation, and the right care. I wanted him to have everything. It would take money. Pipolo said he could get the money, would bring it to me Monday.

"The show was going to Atlantic City, and Pipolo and Olga were going with it in their trapeze act. But Pipolo would come back. Olga gave me some money that night, so that I could go to a hotel. They wouldn't let me stay at the hospital with Roddie.

"I didn't go to the hotel. Instead I found out where you lived, and came here to your home — by a subway and surface cars. It was a long trip. I thought I would never finish it. But I knew you would help me if I could find you.

"It was Rupert I found. I thought Chow had made a mistake. In my wild state I never thought there might be more than one Joris who was a lawyer. But he was a lawyer, he assured me of that. And since I had come so far, I found though I couldn't tell him everything, it seemed I couldn't trust anybody with Roddie's secret. . . even Pipolo and Olga. I believe I could have trusted you. But that was before.

"Rupert questioned me about other things. I told him the truth in everything except my name. Even that was the truth. Hope is really my name, though I've never been called that. My father named me Lasca. You know 'Lasca'?"

"Lasca used to ride on a mouse-gray mustang, close to my side. With blue serape and bright-belled spur. . .

"Cowboys like the poem. But my mother tucked in the name of Hope. I think Hope Devine is a . . . It's embarrassing as a name. But I felt if Rupert knew my name — the name I was known by — he might be able to trace Roddie through it. He might. . . He wasn't himself that night. He might somehow give Roddie away — for I meant to tell him all I must to get advice.

"I couldn't think clearly, as I say. I only knew I was sorry Roddie was known as Roddie in the circus. Only there he was known as Roddie Torrobin. Every one assumed he was Torrobin's son. Only Olga and Pipolo knew he was not.

"Rupert wouldn't advise me, but whom, Pipolo warned me not to let Torrobin know.

"Pipolo had sensed that Torrobin had some deadly hold on Roddie and me, and he feared, since I had married, well, that he would try extortion of some sort.

"That was why I hadn't wanted it in the papers — my marriage, I mean. That was why I was glad I had used the name of Hope. Torrobin had never heard that name.

"Torrobin did not show up at the hospital while Roddie was there. He was probably nursing his bruised face. Pipolo — knowing I had a secret — asked me if I had made a clean breast of everything to Rupert and when I said no, he was troubled.

"I was troubled, too. It began to look as if marriage might not prove a solution. Yet Rupert seemed to want me to be happy, to be trying to please me. I still hoped I might win him.

"That night the taxi-driver thought some one was following us, and later he told Pipolo that a man came to his house and questioned him, accused him of wrecking his car. Pipolo supposed it was some scout of Torrobin's, but the description of the questioner sounded as if it might have been you. I couldn't believe it was you. But I began to be afraid.

"I didn't dare. I didn't know what you might do, how you might feel. My whole thought was to get Roddie well, and away. I didn't need Pipolo's money that night, and I was able to pay back what Olga had given me. I had deposited my check from Rupert, and I had brought money for Roddie's operation, and care."

"You had money on you," Dirk said, "in addition to the jewels? I'd have been more worried still if I had known. It was I following you. I think you know my motives now. I had just got home, when you came to the gate and waved, and went off alone in a taxi, and later picked up a man."

ROAD RUNNERS COME FROM BEHIND IN 7TH TO BEAT PHILLIPS CREW 7 TO 2

DANCIGER HELD TO SINGLE HIT FOR 7 INNINGS

ROY WINKLER PITCHES GREAT BALL FOR VISITORS

After being held helpless for six innings before the curves of Lefty Roy Winkler, the Pampa Road Runners broke loose in the seventh to defeat Phillips of LeFors 7 to 2, at Road Runner park last night.

The little portlander started to weaken in the seventh and with one run in and two men on base, Manager Eddie Pulliam sent Rex Dilbeck, former Road Runner hurler, against his former teammates.

White Winkler was holding the birds to a single hit, Phillips jumped on big Gene Ledford for two runs and six hits in five innings. Freddy Newsome greeted Ledford's second pitch on the nose for a home run and Phillips first score.

Ledford was saved another run in the fifth when Seitz made a great throw to the plate to get Christian who was trying to score from second on Bleu's line single to center field.

Winkler was also up in a class of his own in strikeouts. He sent eight birds to the bench on strikeouts during his tenure on the mound.

Don Bailey, Road Runner left fielder, was the big hitter of the game with three singles on four trips to the plate.

Hale opened the seventh with a single Bailey and Cox followed and the count was 3 balls and two strikes on McLarry when Dilbeck relieved Winkler.

The game was without a doubt the strangest played on the local diamond this season. Only two balls were caught in the outfield, one by Seitz and one by Newsome.

Manager Sam Hale and his Road Runners will be in Amarillo Friday night in an attempt to make it four in a row over the Phillips Parrots.

On Saturday morning the birds will leave for Duncan, Okla., where they will play the Halliburton Cementers on Saturday night and Sunday afternoon.

Di Maggio Hits Two Homers In One Inning Against Sox

Yankees Boost Lead In League to 5 1/2 Games

For a youngster just breaking into the big time, Joe Di Maggio has a surprising way of grabbing off the baseball headlines from the boys who've been around.

Not only is he crowding lots of other stars out of the limelight, but to him and Lou Gehrig must go a large share of the credit for the growing conviction that the New York Yankee "murderer's row" can come pretty close to using water boys for hurriers and still coast into a pennant.

Just when "Di Mag's" bat had quieted down to a level with other able, but less sensational sluggers, up he pops again with a record-equalling stunt that has been done by less than ten others in the history of the game—hit two home runs in one inning.

In the fifth inning of yesterday's game with the White Sox, Joe let go his young trip clouts, one with two mates on base, the other with one, provided five runs in the ten-run Yankee putsch in that inning, sewing up the ball game for an 18-11 victory.

Against any other club, the White Sox' 12 hits and 11 runs probably would have gone for a win. But not the Yanks.

Despite their victory over the Red Sox, the Tigers slipped from fourth to fifth place, for the Cleveland Indians defeated the Athletics in both ends of a twin bill, 5-3 and 14-2, to pull up to a third place deadlock with the Senators, who found the Browns easy behind Buck Newsom's seven hit pitching job and posted a 7-4 win.

Rain washed out warfare on three National league battlegrounds, and it remained for the Pirates and the Giants to provide all the action in splitting their doubleheader.

"General" Alvin Crowder, whose sore arm and stomach ailment have cut his effectiveness this season, left the Tigers last night after asking for the rest of the season off.

More Pampans Contribute to Sluggers' Fund

Chances of the Pampa Sluggers, local girls' playground ball team, to attend the regional tournament in Wichita Falls on July 4, 5, and 6 looked brighter this morning when it was reported that 31 more Pampans had contributed to a fund being raised to send the team to the event.

The team winning the regional event will go to the state tournament in Austin on July 17, 18, and 19.

Donors, other than those published yesterday, are: Service Cleaners, Puritan Bakery, Dunigan Tool & Supply, Lone Star cafe, Plains Electric, K. C. Waffle House, Green Lantern cafe, Davis Plumbing, City Drug, Pampa Office Supply, Dave Davis, Pampa Retail Liquor store, Texas Furniture store, Pampa Press, Union Bakery, Pampa Pawn shop.

Moreland Again Is Striving to Win 'Trans' Title

WICHITA, Kas., June 25. (AP)—Exactly four years from the day he shot his way to a trans-Mississippi golf championship Gus Moreland of Dallas found himself striving to annex a third-round match with Johnny Goodman, the defending titlist from Omaha.

The Goodman-Moreland contest, however, was only one of three on today's program that approached a final-round battle in gallery-drawing power.

Two outstanding dark horses matching mashes were Walter Bliven, Kansas City, a driving range keeper who won the Missouri amateur last week, and George Matson, Wichita, who stole the limelight yesterday by carding two 31's, on different nines but in separate rounds.

Another match brought together Leland Hamman, Paris, Texas, a previous "trans" finalist, and Fred Doid, Wichita. Yesterday's matches were for 18 holes but the players had 36-hole assignments today.

Walter Emery, Oklahoma City, the medalist, faced F. J. Fleming, also of Oklahoma City; Jim Black, St. Louis youngster, met O'Hara Watts, Dallas; Maurice Hankinson, Oklahoma City putting wizard, matched strokes with Hal Chase, Des Moines veteran, and Lieut. K. A. Rogers (San Antonio) was paired with Johnny Dawson of Chicago, an outstanding favorite.

Panthers Also Boost Percentage One Notch

(By The Associated Press) Today's games: Houston at Dallas. Galveston at Fort Worth. San Antonio at Oklahoma City. Beaumont at Tulsa. (All night games.)

Dallas and Fort Worth, ever alert to steal a march on each other, came out even last night on the diamond as each advanced a notch in Texas league standings. The Steers swept into first position again in squeezing out San Antonio, 6 to 4, Stroner and Tauby poling out homers at critical moments to break a tie and send the Steers ahead.

The defeat shoved San Antonio into the cellar, one percentage point under the rocketing Fort Worth Cats, who have won 16 games since Homer Peel assumed the helm June 3.

Fort Worth bettered its own position and performed a brotherly act for Dallas by dumping yesterday's league-leading Beaumont Shippers, 5 to 3. Both teams collected 11 hits but Beaumont waited until the last two innings to do its scoring.

Houston and Oklahoma City nullified each other's efforts in a split doubleheader, Oklahoma City taking the opener 6 to 5 and Houston annexing the nightcap 3 to 0. The fourth-place Buffs took heart in the performance of young Tom Seitz, who yielded two hits during the second game's six innings.

Galveston roused itself in the eighth inning, whipped across five runs and defeated Tulsa 5 to 3. Read The News Want-Ads.

Hoover Shows Improvement; Danciger Is Still Favored

Phillips May Have A Surprise For Borger

Consistent and enthusiastic practice sessions are likely to crop out as startling improvements in Junior Baseball league games Sunday.

The Hoover team is practicing daily this week. The club showed great improvement Sunday, especially when one considers that the Little Road Runners were held to a margin of a few runs by the Borger Christians who whipped Hoover 12 to 3.

The Hoover team will be hosts to Mc's Pirates of LeFors, and hope to show they are improving. Phillips 66 will journey to Borger to play the Christians who still believe they have the best team in the league by far.

Hale opened the seventh with a single Bailey and Cox followed and the count was 3 balls and two strikes on McLarry when Dilbeck relieved Winkler.

FORT WORTH FANS GROGGY OVER THEIR RECENT WINS

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT Associated Press Sports Writer DALLAS, June 25 (AP)—Days reminiscent of those between 1925-30 have Fort Worth baseball fans groggy.

Twenty days ago they watched the Panthers flounder about in the cellar with only 11 wins against 38 losses. Today they're hoarse from talking about 16 victories, four losses and a tie since June 3.

Success has moved even those statistically inclined. Pencils wagged for a few minutes and the more optimistic ones came up with this deduction: That if the Panthers win 55 of their remaining 86 games they will barge into the first division and a Shaughnessy play-off.

The men of Homer Peel, appointed manager June 3, are a new bunch. They talk like college freshmen—and mean it. The fans believe in them now, as witness the average daily attendance of 2,000 paid since the spurt started.

Overheard: That Fred (Fip) Marberry, veteran major league relief hurler and umpire, will sign with the Dallas Steers ere long. Steer officials want him if he can round into shape and if his price isn't too high.

That Dough Rollins, assistant coach of Texas A. & M. college football, assured a Houston audience that every man counted on for the 1936 Aggie team had passed exams and that "regardless of stories of dis-labeled every boy will be there when training starts. They're happy and looking forward to a big season."

That the University of Texas will remodel a Texas Wesleyan college dormitory and rent the building to 40 or 50 Longhorn athletes. All athletes quartered there, the report goes, will pay for accommodations.

That the Palestine pals of the East Texas league designated last night as "wolf night" at the ball park, inviting all the "wolves" of the city to be present. Fresh meat was placed at vantage points in the grandstands for those still hungry after figuratively "gnawing" on the players and microphones—for those particularly versed in pan-ning ball players placed here and there.

That Ancel Hoffman, Max Baer's manager, is interested in a fall match at Dallas between Maxie and Jimmy Braddock. That a group of Tyler oil men are interested in the same thing—and may do something about it.

GOING TO THE CENTRAL EXPOSITION? Play Safe. Stop in Fort Worth. Be sure of accommodations. Your mind at rest, you'll enjoy the short, pleasant drive to and from Dallas and the FRONTIER CELEBRATION IN FORT WORTH.
