Republicans Hit Johnson 'Drift'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republicans responded Tuesday night to President Johnson's State of the Union address with an across-the-board attack on his "drifting" policies at home and his "vacillation" in Vietnam.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, Calif., the assistant Republican leader, and Sen. John Tower of Texas accused Johnson of prolonging the war by failing to make America's goals in Vietnam clear to the Communists.

"It is no wonder that the Communist enemy is confused about American intentions and doubts American determination," Tower said. "The administration ping-pong pronouncements have left even Americans confused."

Kuchel said Johnson has "not been candid with the American people in facing up to the complex and difficult road which lies ahead."

Seventeen Republican senators and House members gave the GOP's annual answer to Johnson's address, delivered six nights before.

They appeared on a nationwide telecast (CBS).

House Republican leader Gerald Ford, Mich., was sharply critical of Johnson's statement that he detected "a certain restlessness" in America.

"Riots, murder and robbery—is that just restlessness?" Ford asked. "Deepening disbelief in our nation's policies, doubts about our most sacred institutions and traditions, concern over the credibility of our government's word, the worth of our government's dollar—do you call that questioning?"

Rep. George Bush, Tex., attacked the President's call for a 10 per cent income tax boost and the prospect of restrictions on U.S. investment and travel abroad. He called this "a bankrupt policy."

In a pre-filmed leadoff segment of the Republican hour-long program, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower called present times the most perilous he has known and asked the GOP to adopt "new measures and directions" to keep America strong.

Unlike the other speakers, Eisenhower did not criticize President Johnson or the Democrats.

"We know that these are critical times for our beloved (See REPUBLICAN, Page 3)

Investigation Focuses on Pill Maker in Dallas

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Senate investigation of drug firms and doctors who specialize in treating overweight Americans today focused on a Dallas diet pill manufacturer who had $500,000 worth of his products seized by federal agents.

The man summoned to testify before the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee is Carroll D. Brown, president of Lanpar Co. of Dallas. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) officials confiscated thousands of the firm's capsules and pills Tuesday, contending the drugs were dangerously mislabeled for persons using them to lose weight.

At the same time, the FDA also seized similar products of Western Research Laboratories, Inc. in Abilene, Tex. L. C. Tobin, president of Western, also was to testify.

Brown said his company has had the pills on the market 30 years without interference from the FDA until the seizures this week. He said the federal agency never mentioned previously any allegation the pills did not comply with regulations.

Threatens to Sue

Lanpar threatened today to sue Life Magazine for statements in a Life article this week.

"The sole purpose of the Lanpar program is to aid good doctors who are practicing good medicine," Brown said.

"If the FDA had been so concerned about these products before Monday, why did they not inform us before dispatching their seizure agents?" Brown asked.

The congressional subcommittee chairman, Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said an estimated 5,000 doctors are involved in the $250 million diet pill business. Some earn $100,000 to $300,000 a year by emphasizing drugs rather than diets for overweight patients.

After an initial examination, patients are charged for weekly visits to pick up prescriptions for a variety of drugs that allegedly suppress appetite. It has been tagged the "rainbow regimen" because treatment involves simultaneous doses of red, pink, blue, green, and yellow pills.

Wilson Winds Up Visit in Moscow, Gap 'Narrowed'

MOSCOW (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain today wound up a three-day visit to Moscow which he feels has "narrowed" differences with the Kremlin over Vietnam, British sources said.

Wilson today met with Soviet Premier Nikolai V. Podgorny for 90 minutes then hurried to a one-hour final meeting with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin before returning home.

The British sources said Wilson told Kosygin during a Tuesday luncheon that despite the many issues on which we disagree... I believe the differences in this tremendously difficult problem (Vietnam) have narrowed.

However there was no indication the Soviets shared Wilson's optimism and nothing specific emerged before he met with Podgorny.

The British leader spent Monday and Tuesday in lengthy meetings with Kosygin and Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev.

Hickman Named 'Boss Of Year' by Jaycees

Chick Hickman, owner and manager of Crall Products Inc., was presented the "Boss of the Year Award" last night at the annual "Bosses Night" banquet of Pampa Jaycees.

Hickman was out of town on business and the award was accepted for him by J. A. Wells, general sales manager for the firm.

Others who received awards were Jake Webb, Don Litchfield, and the guest speaker, Art Hoera of Fort Worth, president of Texas Jaycees.

Webb, an employe of Southwestern Public Service Co., received the Distinguished Service Award. He is a past president of the local chapter of Jaycees.

Don Litchfield was presented the Bill Swift Memorial Award. He is an Area I vice president of the state organization. The award is presented to the member of the year.

Aim Is To Drive US To Negotiating Table

SAIGON (UPI) — North Vietnamese troops hit the mountainrimmed U.S. Marine garrison at Khe Sanh with a massive artillery barrage tonight for the first time.

The heavy shells struck as military spokesmen reported the Communists grouping for their biggest offensive of the war.

U.S. spokesmen said the Communist offensive by up to 40,000 men appeared to be aimed at capturing the two northernmost provinces of South Vietnam and driving the Americans to the negotiating table.

They had warned the offensive could start before Monday and the truce marking Tet, the Chinese new year.

The Communists had used mortars and rockets against the An Khe positions but a spokesman said they used 150 millimeter (about six-inch) artillery for the first time and hit the American positions from the heights with 150 rounds.

An Khe, expected to bear the brunt of the assault, is 12 miles below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) and four miles from the Laos border. The Communists have a total of four divisions and elements of a fifth along the DMZ, including the two in South Vietnam, the spokesman said, but the main force is near An Khe.

Other large North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces were reported menacing the coastal city of Quang Tri, 17 miles below the DMZ, and the ancient imperial city of Hue, 50 miles below the zone. Spokesmen expressed belief an assault from the DMZ could coincide with attacks on Quang Tri and Hue and a general offensive the length and breadth of South Vietnam.

Evacuate Refugees

Before tonight's artillery bombardment the Americans had evacuated South Vietnamese and some Laotian refugees from 12 villages around An Khe which is surrounded by mountains, as was the French fortress of Dien Bien Phu.

A North Vietnamese lieutenant who defected to the American side said the Communist offensive was being directed by Vo Nguyen Giap, Hanoi's defense minister who smashed the French 14 years ago at Dien Bien Phu.

U.S. planes flew a record 600 sorties in South Vietnam on Tuesday, most of them against the An Khe area.

Ship Lay Dead In Water Before Korean Boarding

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The USS Pueblo lay dead in the water for an hour and 45 minutes after it was first threatened by a North Korean gunboat but did not ask for help until it was actually boarded. It was learned today.

The disclosure added to the mystery of why the lightly armed ship did not ask for support from fairly close U.S. bases in South Korea as North Korean patrol boats—backed by MIG fighters circling overhead—closed in and seized the intelligence vessel.

A Pentagon source said an analysis of messages from the Pueblo indicated the skipper, Cmdr. Lloyd Mark Bucher, did not realize he was in trouble until the Communist boarding party was actually coming over the rails of his vessel.

By the time he asked for help, the Navy said it was too late to dispatch planes or ships to his rescue. The vessel with 83 men aboard was taken to the port of Wonsan.

Rejects U.S. Demand

North Korea said today it has no intention of releasing the ship, rejecting a U.S. demand for prompt return of the ship, loaded with sophisticated eavesdropping gear.

The nuclear powered aircraft carrier USS Enterprise, spearheading an American task force sent to the crisis area, moved to position off the Korean coast while U.S. diplomats tried through the Soviet Union and other channels to secure the return of the Pueblo and its men.

Barnes Enters Race by Official Filing for Office

Speaker of the House Ben Barnes officially filed Tuesday for the office of Lieutenant Governor of Texas in Austin.

Barnes, who was honored at a coffee today in the Pampa Club of the Coronado Inn, announced his intention to seek the office several months ago.

Barnes told newsmen gathered at the state Democratic headquarters in Austin that he would conduct a vigorous campaign throughout the state and that he hoped to see as many citizens as possible in every county.

His only announced opposition so far is Don Gladden, a 37-year-old legislator from Fort Worth.

The 30-year-old legislator, completing his eighth year in the House of Representatives, said today that "the people of Texas need and deserve strong leadership in our legislative halls if they are to continue to meet the ever-increasing challenges of our rapidly growing and changing state."

Barnes has kicked off his campaign and it is moving in full swing this week as he makes appearances at Pampa, Amarillo, Fort Worth, Waco, Van Horn, Georgetown, Bryan, Dallas and Austin.

LBJ Praises Draft Of Nuclear Treaty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson said today the Soviet-American draft of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty would "reduce the chances of nuclear disaster."

Johnson made the statement in a message to Congress asking for a three-year extension of the U.S. arms control and disarmament agency. The agency played a leading role in drafting the treaty.

"We believe such a treaty represents the most constructive way to avoid the terrible dangers and the criminal waste which all men recognize would flow from the further spread of nuclear weapons," the President said.

"This treaty will not end the tensions between nations nor will it eliminate the shadow of nuclear war which now menaces all mankind. But it will reduce the chances of nuclear disaster arising from local disputes."

Britain, Canada and Czechoslovakia Tuesday praised the revised, completed draft of the proposed treaty as it was presented to the Geneva conference last week.

West Germany expressed some reservations. However, Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger said in Bonn he approved of the treaty language to provide at least a 25-year period in which countries with nuclear weapons could not transfer them to other countries.

The treaty also would prohibit any non-nuclear weapons state from making its own weapons.

Scientist Astronauts May Quit Program in Near Future

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—A number of the nation's 16 scientist astronauts are unhappy with the space program and some may quit in the near future, a highly placed source said Tuesday.

The scientists' discontent springs from two sore points, the source said:

—They feel the 75 per cent of their time devoted to training in the arts of spaceflight has not left enough time for laboratory research and studies, causing them to fall behind former colleagues outside the space program.

—Cuts in the space budget have postponed or cancelled America's science oriented spaceflights. These flights were the ones which attracted the scientists to the astronaut corps in the first place.

"It's a rather widespread thing among the experimenter types, who feel they've been let down—been led down the primrose path," the source said.

Voter Registration Estimate Is Lowered, Total Still To Be High

AUSTIN (UPI)—Voter registration workers have lowered their estimates, but still expect more voters this year than ever before.

The committee's previous goal was 5 million, but Mrs. Latane Lambert, executive director, said that figure was more of a hope than an expectation.

Four million voters would be 1 million, or 33 per cent, more than have ever registered before, she noted.

Mrs. Lambert said she believes registration would have reached 5 million except for a ruling by Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin that prevented block workers from delivering registration applications en masse.

Will D. Davis, state Democratic chairman, said he expects registration to total about 3.5 million.

Liberal Democrats who have done most of the house-to-house canvassing have criticized the state and national Democratic organizations for doing nothing about voter registration.

Davis said "we have contacted all the state Democratic committeemen, the county chairmen and precinct chairmen, that's over 6,000 people—in two separate mailings urging them to do what they can in their areas to help voter registration."

One unknown factor in this year's figures is the fact that persons over 60 who live in towns of less than 10,000 population are required to register under a new law. Until this year, these persons could vote without registering.

Bits of Plane, Slight Radioactivity Found

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Searchers found plane fragments and slight radioactivity at the crash scene of a U.S. B52 bomber on frozen North Star Bay, Greenland, but no parts of the B-52s it carried, the Pentagon reported today.

Arctic darkness and 27 below zero cold limited the initial survey to two hours at midday Tuesday, the Defense Department said. The Air Force searchers were unable to tell whether any parts of the giant nuclear bomber had burned into or through the bay's 6-to-9 foot ice.

The radioactivity encountered was "light, fixed and closely confined," and consisted of "alpha particles," the Pentagon spokesman said.

Alpha radiation could indicate that one or more A-bomb triggers of the B-52s aboard the plane disintegrated in the crash.

The Pentagon has stressed

Spring to Arrive in Daring Styles

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—Daring rather than demure is the word for necklines on the new spring evening clothes.

After several seasons of the high at the throat, prim necklines, they've taken the plunge again. So much fabric is missing in the more extreme numbers that it's a case of the clothing bill covering something the fabric does not.

One of the champions of baring the fact is Oscar de la Renta, the New York designer-manufacturer, who does a whole series of black crepe dresses, in both short and long versions, with V-plunges to the waist in front and back. There also are T-strap arrangements, halter necklines, shoulder treatments cut deep beneath the arms.

But de la Renta gives a girl her money's worth in trim—he o-tlines the plunges with nailhead jewel borders or with rhinestones. In some instances, the dazzlers form double bands around the waistline. The silhouette of this group: Slim.

Press Week
De la Renta is one of some 90 designer-manufacturers of women's ready-to-wear and industries in the allied fields participating in the marathon series of spring style shows, or "Press Week," for the nation's fashion reporters in all news media.

The New York Couture Business Council sponsored the series until Jan. 7; the American designers group took over until the closing, Jan. 12. All over Seventh Avenue, heart of the New York garment industry, the evening look harkens back to the 1930's. Those were the days when Jean Harlow and Carole Lombard were slinking around in bias-cut crepes.

Harking back also are the exaggerations of ruffles and laces. Tiers of ruffles form whole skirts, ruffles border high on deeply slashed necklines, cuffs and hemlines, ruffles run down the front of shirtwaists. Ruffles have become an epidemic.

Some Highlights
By individual collections, here are some highlights from showings thus far:

Harvey Berin—The head designer, Karen Stark, believes in the belt and cuts it wide, narrow, places it just at the hipbone, and constructs dresses so that belts can be optional.

David Styne—Designer Eloise Curtis makes news with shirts. A white shirtlike jacket is trimmed with ruffles at cuffs and is paired with a narrow shell of a skirt.

B. H. Wragge—This firm features the "houseboy" coat for spring. These are short sleeved, with slashed side that break above the knee, and slip over skinny little dresses.

Monte-Sano—"The short coat has been neglected," says the boss of this firm, Vincent Monte-Sano. So he shows it hip length and a bit longer in numerous versions of light weight tweeds and twills.

Townley—Designer Chuck Howard liked very wide belts, but just beneath the bosom or low on the hips. The dresses are slyly cut so they can be worn without a belt.

Children's Togs to Have
Chuck & Linda Namesakes

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI)—It's too early in the game for Chuck and Linda Robb to have a bridge or building named after them.

But the newweds might be tickled to know that a maker of children's togs has named a pink pique coat, dress and matching roller for spring after them.

The "Chuck and Linda," seen during an 11-day fashion marathon in New York, was in romantic company. Antony and Cleopatra had an outfit named after them. Ditto for Romeo and Juliet.

The shows of togs for children featured outfits with giveaway names, too.

The "Drum Major" in the Joseph Love collection, for example, featured a navy cape with red braid. A life saver coat was made of a navy and white lifesaver print. It was worn over a white dress.

For jet set children, seen everywhere, smart outfits were named "The Met," "Philharmonic Hall," and "Palm Beach." The latter was a high waisted provincial print sun dress with matching pants.

Highlights of collections from pace-setting makers of children's togs:

Lefors 4-H Club
Installs Officers

LEFORS (Spl)—Lefors 4-H Club met in the Civic Center recently to elect new officers with Mignon Nickel as the installing officer.

Miss Nickel presided over the brief business meeting, and Elaine Webb led the group in the 4-H club pledge. Niona Nickel read the minutes, called the roll and gave the treasurer's report.

New officers installed, after election were Cynthia Youngblood, president; Elaine Webb, vice president; Vickie Cochran, secretary-treasurer; Skipper Youngblood, council delegate, Miss Nickel, county council delegate.

The ceremony was held in a candle light setting with the 4-H club emblem as centerpiece. Miss Nickel used the 4-H emblems head, hands, heart and health as representative of the new officers.

Refreshments were served to Cheryl McKnight, Paula Hartman, Pam James, Connie Stroud, Kathy Sierman, Jaylene Wallis, LaWausa Ring, Elaine Webb, Vickie Cochran, Miona Nickel, Joy Hollenshead, Jerry Withers, and Skipper Youngblood.

Hostesses were Miss Nickel and Miss Youngblood. Adults present for the meeting were Mrs. Harry Youngblood, Mrs. K. L. Nickel, and Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Webb.

Mr., Mrs. Clemons Will Be Honored At 50th Anniversary

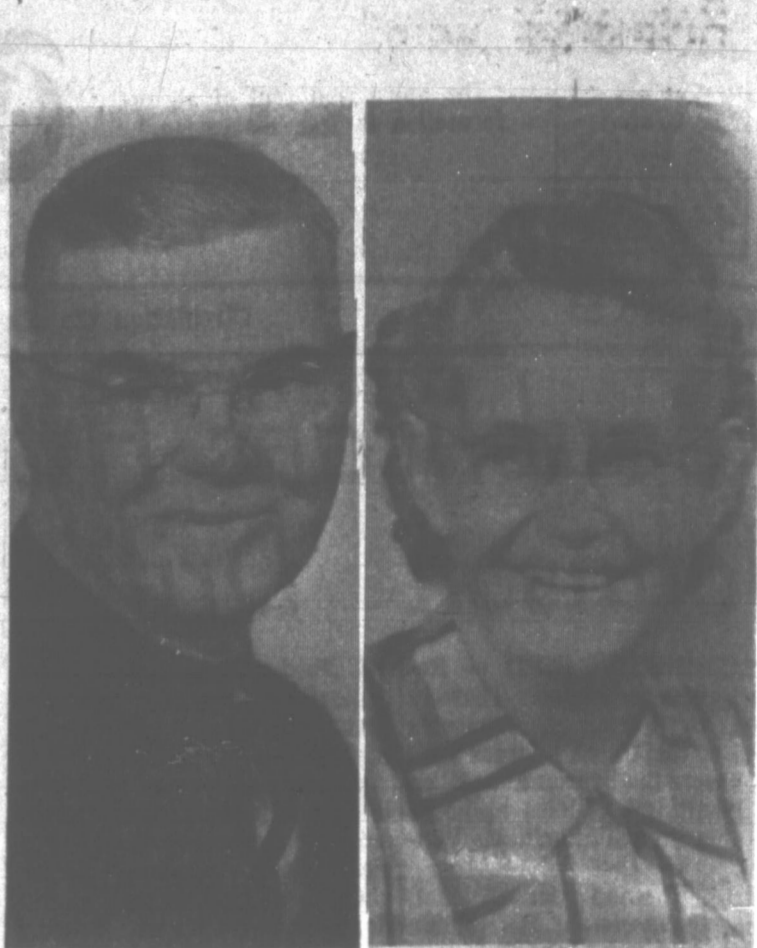

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Clemons of 927 Scott Street will be honored at their Golden Wedding anniversary Sunday in their home.

Children from out of state are Mrs. Margaret Rodgers, Valljo, Calif.; Mrs. Betty Welch, Garden Grove, Calif.; Mrs. Gladys Ellington, Paden, Okla.; and Robert L. Clemons, Lincoln, Ark.

Others are Mrs. Dorothy Keelin, Mrs. Virginia Bookout, Mrs. Fern Cozzell, Glen D. Clemons, and Mrs. Bonnie Harvy, all of Pampa.

Robert H. Clemons and Miss Lilly May Harris were married in 1918, at Roll, Okla., and moved to Pampa in 1942.

An open house is planned 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday for friends who wish to visit or call. The last family gathering was 12 years ago.

VFW Auxiliary Has Two Guests, Plans Conference

Ladies Auxiliary of Pampa Post No. 1657 met in VFW Hall recently. Mrs. Carl M. Wright, president, opened the meeting with introduction of special guests from Amarillo, Mrs. Cecil Rhoades, District 9 president, and Sammy Collins, District 9 conductress.

After a Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was offered, Mrs. Vernon Stuckey, chaplain, gave the opening prayer. Mrs. Georgia Mack, secretary, read thank you notes from members receiving flowers and gifts during illness and bereavement.

Get Well cards were signed by the group for two members confined to the hospital.

Mrs. Rhoades spoke on membership and discussed the traveling attendance plaque to be awarded to the district with most members present at district business meetings.

The next quarter conference will be held in Pampa, Feb. 24-25.

Mrs. Rhoades stated she had asked for a representative from the Auxiliary Department of Texas to attend the meeting here in February.

Members present included Mmes. Earl Eckroat, Emmett Gee, Jess Hatcher, Roy L. Jones, Harry Hoyer, Sr., Georgia Mack, R. D. Morris, May Muse, Tony Smith, Vernon Stuckey, A. L. Walling, Carl M. Wright and the two guests.

The next meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 6 at the VFW Hall.

Home Hair Setting Hints

Here are some hints for home hair setters: With knock or not, you are going to need a good hair setting gel. A gel adds body to the hair and makes the setting easier and faster. Stroke the gel on with your fingertips, either wet or dry, and comb it through. It spreads evenly from scalp to ends, making the hair hug the roller. You'll need a wide-toothed comb for combing wet hair, assorted-size rollers and clips or bobby pins. The largest rollers make the smoothest

Dear Abby

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband died 19 years ago and left me a small estate which was to be security for my old age. Well, I have three daughters and one son. They are all married and have families. The girls have good, hard-working husbands, who provide well for them, but my son has had such hard luck. He dropped out of high school so he can't get a very good-paying job.

My daughters' children have nice clothes, music lessons, good bicycles, and things like that, so naturally, my son feels that his kids are entitled to have it as good as their cousins, so he has asked me to help him out. I have helped him about as much as I can, and now all my money is used up.

My son can't pay me back, so now I have to go to live with someone. I kind of planned on living with my son, but he says a mother's place is with her daughters, not her son. What am I to do? If I tell my daughters where my money has gone they will surely be mad.

WORRIED MOTHER
DEAR WORRIED: Your son seems more familiar with hard LUCK than hard WORK. You were foolish to have given your "security" money to your son. His children were "entitled" to only what their father was able to provide for them. Tell your daughters the truth, and take your medicine.

DEAR ABBY: When a man marries a girl fresh out of college he doesn't expect to get the world's greatest cook and housekeeper. But how brainy does a girl have to be to know she should not starch her husband's underwear?

UNCOMFORTABLE
DEAR UNCOMFORTABLE: That's a pretty stiff question. Give her time.

DEAR ABBY: I feel I must talk to someone about a problem that has been on my mind for a long time. It's my mentally retarded niece, I'll call her "Lucy."

She can't go to school with normal children. Lucy's mother has taken a day time job outside the house. Not that she needs the money, she says the child gets on her nerves and she has to get away. This mother will put Lucy off on anyone who will keep her. I've kept her quite a lot myself. She's a sweet child and seems willing to learn, but Abby, I have four of mine to look after.

Shouldn't Lucy's mother stay at home and teach that unfortunate child to do things for herself, so she won't go through life depending on others to do things for her?

Lucy is now 14, and she needs the teaching that only a mother can give a daughter that age if you know what I mean. Must I take Lucy full time? Maybe I should. Your answer will ease my mind.

CONCERNED AUNT
DEAR CONCERNED: Yes, take Lucy. That you would write shows you have a heart and a conscience. You say Lucy can't go to school with "normal" children. I hope she is going to a school for retarded children. If not, please call your local Board of Education for information on such schools and see that Lucy attends. God bless you.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Pampan Honored At Bridal Shower
Miss Linda Gardner was honored with a bridal shower recently in the lounge of the First Baptist Church.

The table was decorated in the bride's colors of blue and white. The centerpiece, was of blue feathers arranged in a crystal holder with green fern, blue candles in crystal holders. A silver service was used for hot punch.

Mrs. Floyd Watson presented Miss Gardner and her Mother, Mrs. Marshall Gardner, with blue corsages. Mrs. Jewett Scarborough served punch.

The guest list included 60 people. Hostesses were Mrs. Albert Doucette, Mrs. Don Egeron, Mrs. Luke Fennell, Mrs. L. B. McKay, Mr. C. O. Millen, Harmaline Nolte and Mrs. Floyd Watson.

Astrological Forecast

For Thursday, January 25
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Showing gratitude for favors extended by new acquaintances is the best thing you can do. Avoid following that new temptation, which could prove to be very disappointing. Be practical.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — You feel that you should just let bills ride but this week, get up further in debt if you follow such a course. Any radical change in your emotional life would not be wise now. Take it easy.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Take some time to show gratitude to good associates for all their loyalty and assistance in the past. Be steady. Certain situations arise that test your perseverance. Show that you have courage, wisdom.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) — Don't procrastinate. It only piles up terribly later and complications arise. Be consistent where commitments are concerned. Don't let petty matters bother you.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) — Don't deviate from regular pleasures if you want to have a fine time and be satisfied. Do not take any risks with persons who can not be relied upon. Stay with your own kind and be happy. Be kind to others.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) — Stop talking so much and do what you expect of you and let all be more harmonious at home. Don't make any sudden changes. Show that you have poise, savvy, faith, be kind.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) — New friends you have made are endeavoring to get you to do something that is not at all to your liking, so show that you have will power. Get busy studying something that is of value to you. Show that you have real ability.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23) — Being dissatisfied with your present position slightly makes you feel more abundant, but don't push yourself like a bull in a china shop. Show big-wigs that you have good sense. Get into the right channel.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23) — Anything you wish to do of an intimate nature is fine provided it has proved itself in the days gone by. Don't facie the new at this time. Show gratitude for loyalty and prestige others have given you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 to Jan. 30) — Instead of dashing around without a good plan, course, first schedule time and activities for best results. Be practical. Private worries can now be straightened out with very little difficulty.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 31 to Feb. 29) — Being most careful in motion is of paramount importance today otherwise there could be an accident that would prove most expensive, unfortunate. Be sure to finish those odd tasks that have been accumulating. Be thorough.

PISCES (Feb. 30 to Mar. 30) — Try not to jeopardize your position with big-wig in your endeavor to make money very fast. Use right methods. A most ethical way of operating now can give you even better income in the days ahead.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he, or she will be one of those clever young people who will every day be thinking of new fields to conquer and could start going off on tangents if you do not early indicate the importance of a good plan for operating in the most intelligent and successful way. Fine for work in distant lands.

Second Oratorio Rehearsal Slated

The second rehearsal of Pampa Oratorio Chorus, which will present Brahms' German "Requiem" April 21, will start at 2 p.m. Sunday in First Christian Church.

About 40 singers from Pampa, Skellytown, White Deer and Spearman attended the first rehearsal Jan. 21, which Bill Davis, Pampa High School choir director, conducted. Mrs. John Gill played the accompaniment for the first rehearsal.

All area singers are asked to attend the meeting Sunday and to bring another singer to the rehearsal.

Pampa High School A Capella Choir will join the adult members of the chorus after March 1, when the choir's production of the musical "Brigadoon" has been completed.

Curt Beck, musical arts committee chairman for Pampa Fine Arts Association, which sponsors the concert, said today the chorus needs more tenor and bass singers.

Dr. Richard P. Condie, director of Mormon Tabernacle Choir, Salt Lake City, Utah, auditioned soloists for the chorus and will direct the final rehearsals and the performance April 21.

Soloists are Fred Watkins, baritone, Pampa; Mrs. John Garcia coloratura lyric soprano and Mrs. Eidean P. Reed, coloratura soprano, Borger, alternate soprano soloist.

Jerry Whitten, Pampa, will be organist and Mrs. Gill, pianist.

Khe Sanh's fortress lies in a valley ringed by North Vietnamese-infested mountains of jungle, nine miles below the border Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

More than 800 North Vietnamese troops have been reported killed along the border the past week, a large portion of them near Khe Sanh. The Leathernecks whirled in about 5,000 reinforcements Tuesday.

Scattered fighting in the area left at least 61 North Vietnamese killed Tuesday; no American losses were reported. But the spokesman said the past week's fighting apparently has been only a warm up.

Investigate Defectors' Report
The officer said that the defector's report of Hanoi's hopes for crushing U.S. might in South Vietnam's northern two provinces and then going into peace talks had not been fully evaluated by American intelligence officers.

Allied officials would not give exact data on their strength on the 40-mile border. But it was known that 70,000 U.S. Marines were within striking distance of the border plus the 10,000-man South Vietnam 1st division and about 10,000 more militia troops.

About 4,000 to 5,000 men of the U.S. Army's 1st Air Cavalry Division were moved in just below the Leathernecks this week.

North Vietnamese ground fire Tuesday downed the third U.S. jet strike plane lost in the Khe Sanh battle area in three days. The pilot ejected and was reported rescued.

Ford attacked Johnson's domestic policies; Kuchel criticized the administration's foreign policy and Tower said its Vietnam policy had confused the nation.

Industrial Meet Set Tomorrow

A joint meeting of the Industrial Committee of the Chamber of Commerce and the Pampa Industrial Foundation board is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in the west Starlight Room at Coronado Inn.

Business of importance to both groups is slated for discussion, according to E. O. Wedgeworth, chamber manager.

Former Pampan Gets Promotion

Earl G. Schmieding, chief process engineer and manager of engineering at the Celanese Chemical Co. plant here from 1957 to 1963, has been appointed director of Celanese Corp. manufacturing systems, according to an announcement today from New York City.

Schmieding was transferred to New York City from Pampa four years ago.

In his new position, he will be responsible for promoting the effective participation of the manufacturing function in the total planning process at both company and intercompany levels. He will also serve as secretary of the Capital Expenditure Review Committee.

Board Head Says Charge Political

ODESSA (UPI)—The chairman of the Texas Liquor Control Board Tuesday said Odessa was brought into a statewide controversy concerning alleged TLCB misconduct simply because he lives in the city.

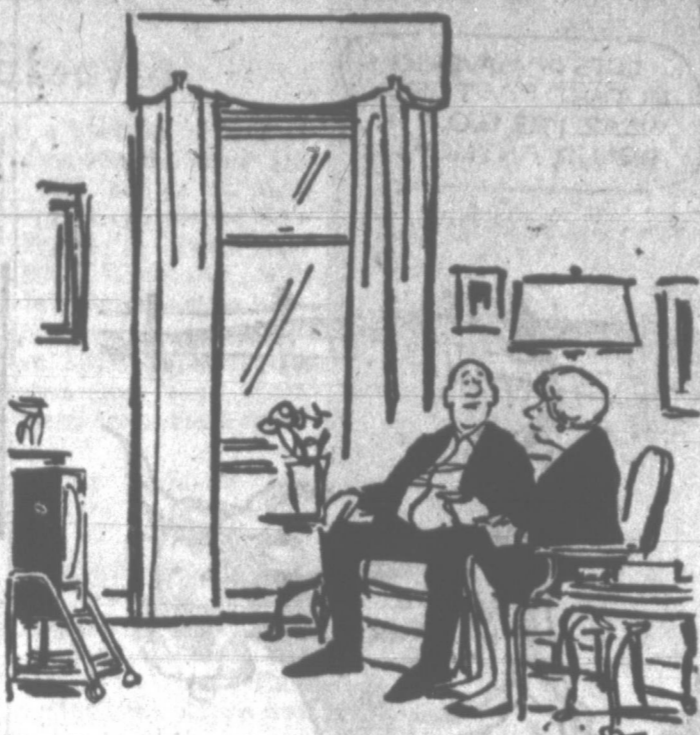

William D. Noel said Jasper, Tex., another city involved in the current statewide investigation, is the home of another board member, O. R. Crawford. "I think without a doubt much of this is political," Noel told United Press International.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin sent a special investigator to Odessa Monday after a Dallas newspaper published a story Sunday mentioning Noel and State Rep. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo in connection with Tom (Pinkie) Roden, owner of liquor stores throughout West Texas.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Here we are watching the news during cocktail hour—why DO we PUNISH ourselves?"

Congressman Price Reports On His Trip to South Vietnam

By BOB PRICE
Member of Congress

One of the major aspects of U.S. efforts to halt Communist aggression in South Vietnam is our PL—480 or Food for Peace program. In addition to the U.S. AID program in that country, more than $500 million in agricultural assistance is now being furnished in the form of rice and other food as well as technical assistance in better methods of farming, livestock and poultry raising.

Before the end of the first session of the 90th Congress, Rep. W. R. Poage, Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, authorized a trip, for a committee delegation, to the Republic of South Vietnam, Thailand and Japan for the purpose of looking into the operation of our agricultural programs in those countries.

Six of us embarked from Washington, D. C. on January 2 and returned on Jan. 13 just before the new session of Congress convened.

Johnson Again Asks Housing Law

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson asked Congress again today to pass an open-housing law.

It was one of four stalled civil rights bills on which the President asked action this term. All were proposed in 1967. By far the most controversial is the proposal for a three-stage law to make discrimination illegal in sale or rental of all housing.

The Senate already is stalled in a semi-filibuster over one of the bills on which Johnson asked action: A proposal to strengthen federal criminal laws to prohibit violent interference with the exercise of civil rights.

Liberals have talked of the possibility of adding an open-housing amendment to the bill. Southerners already are staunchly opposing the protection bill, and have served notice they will do everything possible to talk to death any housing law.

Congressional observers view chances of adoption of open-housing legislation as virtually nil in this election year.

In a long review of the racial situation contained in a special civil rights message to Congress, the Chief Executive also urged action on these bills:

—To give the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission expanded authority in dealing with job discrimination.

—To assure nondiscriminatory selection of federal and state juries.

The President told lawmakers that living conditions for Negroes actually have worsened in the past decade. He added: "A fair housing law is not a cure-all for the nation's urban problems, but ending discrimination in the sale or rental of housing is essential for social justice and social progress."

The villagers do not like the Viet Cong but have been intimidated through fear of death or dismemberment, and have lived with this fear most of their lives. The Viet Cong have demanded a share of the rice the natives raised and have stolen it as they pleased.

I will discuss other aspects of the war I observed in following newsletters.

I would like to report on what we learned during our tour which also included visits to a number of U. S. air bases, combat areas and an aircraft carrier.

In the first of a series of reports, I would like to emphasize the importance of our technical agricultural assistance program in South Vietnam under which the U. S. Department of Agriculture has major responsibilities in cooperation with the government of South Vietnam in such areas as Provincial Agricultural Advisors; Credit and Cooperatives; Irrigation and Rural Engineering; Plant and Seed Multiplication; Forestry; Statistics and Price Reporting and Agricultural Economics.

Also, of course, Japan and Thailand are of great value to the success of our efforts in Southeast Asia. Japan, in fact, is now our largest cash customer of agricultural commodities and imports. This country has imported about $140 million a year in cotton alone, much of it produced in Texas.

In 1967 alone, the U. S. furnished South Vietnam 800,000 tons of rice and an additional $190 million dollars worth of agricultural commodities have been donated to Vietnam, both directly from government-to-government, and through voluntary contributions to the needy of Vietnam. And, I can assure you, after a visit in that country that there are many who are in real need of all the basic necessities of life, including food.

Under the pacification program, the residents of entire villages are moved from areas controlled or infiltrated by the Viet Cong and relocated in new areas where they are secure from enemy threats and intimidation. More than one million natives have been relocated and more than 750,000 more will be relocated this year. These people are being fed with U.S. PL—480 food and housed in entire new villages built with U.S. assistance.

This, the pacification program, is but one of the three phases of the war but a most important one. The others are the ground and air war in South Vietnam and our air and naval harassment of North Vietnam as well as the interdiction of supplies from North Vietnam to the South.

The South Vietnamese natives have lived in the most primitive conditions — no sanitation facilities, no roads, water from canals, and few, if any medical facilities.

Our people are now teaching them how to build such facilities, and we saw new schools and modest dispensaries. We met several agricultural advisors including graduates of Texas A&M and Oklahoma State University who were living with these villagers and improving their chance in life by teaching them new methods of raising food and ways to improve their diet with what they have.

The villagers do not like the Viet Cong but have been intimidated through fear of death or dismemberment, and have lived with this fear most of their lives. The Viet Cong have demanded a share of the rice the natives raised and have stolen it as they pleased.

I will discuss other aspects of the war I observed in following newsletters.

Concert Unusual But Palatable

By JERRY P. WHITTEN
Pampa's Community Concert Association patrons were served an unusual but most palatable musical banquet Tuesday night in Pampa Junior High School Auditorium. The Lee Evans Trio presented this imaginative bill of fare. Assisting pianist Evans were Bill Smith, percussionist, and Barry Mintz, contra-bassist.

Although some classical, or serious composers were named on the program, such as Bach, Tschalkowsky and de Falla, the sound of music was definitely popular or modern.

The trio, based fundamentally on Evans' phenomenal pianistic talents, is a model of ensemble playing—each performer sensing precisely the feelings of the others.

Combining the serious or classical and the jazz idioms, the trio opened with five sections of "The Nutcracker Suite," a la Evans. This was a delicious foretaste of what was in store for the balance of the program.

A monumental offering was Evans' treatment of "El Amor Brujo" (Love, the Magician). He transcribed for trio all but two of the 13 sections of de Falla's orchestral-vocal score of de Falla. It was perhaps in this presentation that the group exhibited the most variety of coloration, expression and dynamic range.

In the second half of the program, Evans gave a perfectly orthodox reading of Bach's "Prelude and Fugue" number two from the "Well Tempered Clavier," with an overlay of percussive accents (drums) and harmonic reinforcements (contra-bass). This was great theatre and a daring innovation.

Lovers of the great popular composers such as Kern, Ellington, Richard Rodgers and Leonard Bernstein were treated to "The Way You Look Tonight," "Satin Doll," "My Funny Valentine," and a medley from "West Side Story."

The closing number, "Teachers Blues," an original composition of Lee Evans, did well to exemplify the amazing and exciting pianistic style of Evans. As a listener, one could hear rapid, brilliant octave pyrotechnics reminiscent of a Carmen Cavallaro one moment, and in the next the precision and tone of a Horowitz.

Tax Bill Down In Committee

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson's tax increase bill has gone down for the third time in the House Ways & Means Committee, but Chairman Wilbur Mills says it is not too late to rescue it with a little more government economizing.

"I do not believe we have yet done the best we can" to reduce federal spending, the Arkansas Democrat said Tuesday as he once again shelved the year-old plan.

He indicated to administration fiscal experts the committee was willing to go along with parts of the President's tax package—postponement of telephone and auto excise tax cuts scheduled for April 1—and perhaps a speedup in corporate income tax collections as well.

But the 10 per cent surcharge in income taxes that Johnson wants will require some more belt-tightening, Mills said. The administration will have to see if it can cut the budget deficit below its current $20 billion level.

It appeared the earliest the committee could restudy the tax increase would be late February.

Registration Is Being Taken For Clinic on Letters

Registrations are being taken at the Chamber of Commerce for the Letter Writing Clinic to be conducted next Tuesday in the chamber conference room.

E. O. Wedgeworth, chamber manager, reminded today that the clinic will be three and a half hours long from 7 to 10:30 p.m.

The instructor on business correspondence will be W. H. Butterfield, lecturer, author and consultant on business letters. He is widely regarded as America's leading authority on the subject and has written 16 books dealing with business letters that are now used in business offices' libraries and college classrooms.

Pampa Utilities Director Honored

Notice was received today by City Manager Jim White that B. M. Wofford, the city's director of utilities, has been issued a Grade A waterworks operator's certificate of competency.

The Grade A certificate is the most difficult one to acquire and the highest grade certificate issued by the State Health Department, according to G. R. Herzig, deputy commissioner for environmental engineering.

In his letter to the city manager, Herzig stated that "Mr. Wofford has attained a distinction that reflects credit upon your utility operations."

Wofford also received a letter containing his operator's certificate. In the letter of certificate presentation, Herzig wrote Wofford:

"Through your continued diligence and study you have been able to meet the experience and educational requirements and pass the rigid examination needed for this certificate."

Wofford, who came to Pampa as city engineer in May of 1966, recently was promoted to director of utilities when the post of water superintendent became vacant. He has since been handling both jobs. City Manager White said today he is seeking a new city engineer.

Eight Members Of Squad Are Killed

SEOUL (UPI)—Eight more members of the North Korean assassin squad which tried to kill President Park Chung Hee and other government officials last weekend were killed today in a series of gunfights, one in the U.S. 2nd Infantry Division sector.

The South Korean counter-infiltration center said seven of the infiltrators were killed by South Koreans and implied that the eighth was killed by the Americans who man an 18-mile sector in the western end of the Demilitarized Zone.

The infiltration center said 16 Communists had been killed and one captured since North Korea sent a 31-man commando squad into Seoul on Sunday. This left 14 North Koreans at large.

Cancer Society Plans Crusade

Committee reports and discussion of the upcoming Cancer Crusade were featured in the directors meeting of the Gray County Unit of the American Cancer Society this morning in the Coronado Inn.

District 3-N executive secretary Jack Cromartie announced that the Crusade Training Meeting will be held Jan. 31, in Amarillo at the Holiday Inn West. Featured speaker will be Dr. A. B. Joldston.

Also on the program will be Pampan Don R. Lane who will talk on "Special Gifts and Business" and Mrs. Kermit Lawson who will take part in the Leadership session.

All interested parties are invited to attend.

Wilson

The talks reached a climax during the luncheon when Wilson rose to render a toast to Kossygin. The British sources said he spoke of "what is now a much shorter bridge to peace" and urged that the Soviets help him "narrow the differences."

He also declared that they should "avoid encouraging the hawks, whether they be in Washington or Hanoi," the sources said.

Kossygin dissented. The sources said he replied to Wilson by putting the blame for the war solely on American "aggression" and pledged Soviet support for North Vietnam's "legitimate and well justified demands."

The trademark of a Jaycee should be enthusiasm, determination and interest in work, Hoera told his audience, "and this is best reflected through major undertakings."

One Week Left For Polio Vaccine

Only one week remains in Gray County's concentrated polio immunization program, local residents were reminded Tuesday.

The project which began on Jan. 15 and will continue through Jan. 31, is designed to provide protection against polio for those adults and children who have not received polio vaccine in more than three years.

A joint effort of county medical doctors and the local chapter of The National Foundation—March of Dimes, the program is being underwritten by The Foundation for those county residents who could not otherwise afford the vaccine.

In urging the public's participation in the program, Dr. Frank W. Kelley, president of the Highland General Hospital Medical staff recommended that all children and adults who have not received the polio vaccine within the last three years consult their personal physician.

Last mass polio immunization program in Pampa was held in the fall of 1962 and in the spring of 1963.

Driver Ed for Shoppers?

A man who doesn't frequent supermarkets because his wife has this feeling that he, well, he—well, frankly she thinks he is a big, fat nuisance when he shops with her and a big, fat flop when he shops alone—insisted on tagging along the other day.

He wanted to see if that spectacular supermarket scene in the television commercial is for real—the one where the supershopper runs into her friend in aisle 6, looks at her in horror and yelps:

"SOPHIE! Do you know that THAT shortening contains ANIMAL FAT?"

And instead of telling the brassy babe to keep her nose in her own highly unpolysaturated shortening, Sophie acts as if she's been caught shoplifting and meekly replies, "I thought they were all alike."

Whereupon the supershopper gives Sophie the facts of life and they both live happily and highly unpolysaturated ever after.

"Well, our man didn't run into this scene and doesn't believe it actually takes place too often. But he did find the shopping spree worth-while because it changed his whole outlook on driving.

Up to then he had regarded copied with congested traffic as quite a deal. Now he thinks it's kid stuff.

Supermarket shoppers, he reports, do everything automobile drivers do, and go on from there.

He claims they cut in and cut out on you. They tailgate you from the rear and slowpoke you crazy from in front. They turn without signaling, stop on a dime-to-be-saved, and even back up without warning.

They speed and they swerve. They block your path as they pause to ponder and meditate and compute. They squeeze oranges and lemons and tomatoes and pinch cucumbers. They laboriously check one can against a bigger can to determine the cost per ounce.

They outmaneuver you in getting to the checkout counter, even if they are carrying a week's supply and you have one item. And they bury their checkbook in the bottom of their purse. And by the time they have found it, and a pen, your frozen food is thawing and your oven-fresh bread is turning stale.

All this, you understand, is just one man's version. The ladies we know would no more act like this in a supermarket than they would on the highway. No, sir, not one bit more.

Core of Threat to Dollar's Value

One of the goals of the steps taken by President Johnson to curtail U.S. spending abroad is to restore international confidence in the soundness of the American dollar.

But even should restrictions on U.S. foreign investment, military and government purchases and tourism succeed in shrinking the balance of payments deficit—and assuming they do not cause undesirable repercussions of their own—they are at best emergency, stopgap measures that do not go to the root of the problem.

"We should remember," says Frank C. Genovese, associate dean of the Graduate School of the Babson Institute in Massachusetts, "that foreigners do not buy the strength of the U.S. economy. Rather, they buy goods and securities from us."

"The relevant question is," he says, "Are goods and securities a good buy?"

At present they are, generally. We sell more goods than we buy. However, with unilateral price inflation by the United States, says Genovese, the things we have to sell become increasingly less of a good buy. In terms of hard goods, the more that foreigners have to pay for American products, the more they will seek to produce themselves or obtain them elsewhere. Not only that, but the higher U.S. prices go, the more Americans will tend to buy cheaper foreign duplicates.

The steady inroads being made by imported steel and automobiles are prime examples of this process.

It is inflation, not the balance of payments, that threatens the dollar.

But since most people, from the ordinary citizen on up to the President, demands more and more services from government at all levels and are increasingly unwilling or unable to limit those services or increasingly reluctant to tax themselves enough to pay for them, deficit spending—a major cause of inflation—gallops on apace.

The balance of payments problem is only a skirmish in a bigger battle we have not yet brought ourselves to face.

Global Back Scratching

Britain has an agreement with the United States to purchase 50 of our F-111 swing-wing jet fighter planes. In return, we are committed to purchase some $225 million worth of British arms.

Now, however, because of the scarcity of pounds, the British are thinking of canceling the order. To ease their problem, the United States is offering to buy an additional $100 million of their arms.

West Germany has been buying arms from America for years as part of a deal to help pay for the stationing of U. S. troops over there. A while back, with weapons coming out of their ears, the Germans hinted they would like to cut down on their arms purchases. We counterintuitively that if they did, we would have to reduce our troop strength.

The Germans don't want this to happen because the Americans bring a lot of money into the country, as well as a lot of security in the face of Communist divisions on the other side of the curtain.

There's an old story about the town whose citizens tried to support themselves by taking in each other's washing. Economists say it's as impractical as trying to lift yourself up by your bootstraps.

Somewhere, someone must understand how it works in international finance.

Some Fun, Eh, Comrade?

Communist rulers in Russia have finally conceded that the automobile may be here to stay, and they have graciously decreed that factories there will be permitted to turn out cars at assembly-line pace.

So the number of cars in Russia is expected to rise from the current 90,000 to a million or more by the early 1970s.

Russia's roads and highways are woefully inadequate to carry a heavy volume of traffic. Well, the Soviets may have outmaneuvered us now and then at the conference table and led at times in the space race.

But just wait until some pleasant Sunday afternoon in the 1970s when every Russian motorist decides to get out on the highway for a breath of gasoline fresh air. Then they'll see that we Americans have ways of our own to get even!

A soft landing by a Russian space capsule on Venus is one thing. But a manned-landing in an automobile at home in Yan-

"SONS OF LABOR"

That's what Lyndon Johnson called the bosses of the AFL-CIO during his speech at Bal Harbour, Florida. Such unfortunate euphemisms blossom like cactus flowers in the desert of his rhetoric.

Union President George Meany was not at all offended by this metaphor, although he and his helpers have not tolled for years. On the contrary, he pledged his unconditional support to Johnson. They both played the political speech game which obfuscates true communication; a game which demands that terms are never defined and need have no relationship to reality. The rule of the game is to employ as many clichés as possible, in an appeal to unchecked emotion, but never, no never to reason.

Johnson has played this game throughout his political life with great success. Americans pretend to understand him, at the cost of footing the bill for his wild spending. They are confronted with a host of unintelligible ideas, resulting in political embroilment and war. But this is not merely a polemic against Mr. Johnson.

In their so-called rebuttals to Johnson's speech, Senator Dirksen and Representative Ford used the same methods. They met nonsense with nonsense, emotion with emotion, clichés with bromides, and the strong wind of their verbiage was intended to change the direction of the weathervane of the masses.

If Mr. Johnson's "Society" becomes "Great" by the amount of his spending, we have to agree that it is well qualified. He has surpassed the New Frontier in all directions, without regard to cost or consequence. By his own estimate, we will wind up with a federal deficit of $35 billion.

Apparently, we have failed to learn from history, and will accept any alternative to truth and reason. When all else fails, perhaps we will begin to use our brains and try to understand the meaning of the speeches of politicians.

A graffiti I saw in a public place struck me as an indication of the first step toward taxpayer wisdom. It was inscribed on a hot air hand dryer and read, "If you want a Johnson speech, push here!"

The Doctor Says:

Monthly Bicillin Shots
Offset Rheumatic Fever

Q—What is meant by heart failure on the right side? Is it serious?

A—In right heart failure, the tricuspid valve is diseased. Almost always this is associated with mitral valvular disease as well. Any form of cardiac decompensation or failure is serious.

Q—I have an enlarged heart and a murmur. Can this cause dizziness, weakness, nervous tension and headache?

A—If your enlarged heart is still functioning well, it would cause no symptoms. If it becomes decompensated, shortness of breath on exertion, easy fatigability and a doughy swelling of your ankles are the symptoms you should watch for.

Q—I am a housewife, 29. I had open heart surgery three years ago. Since then my doctor has been giving me Bicillin shots every month just in case I should get a sore throat. Wouldn't it be just as well to wait and get the penicillin when I do get a sore throat?

A—Penicillin in the form of Bicillin can be given more easily by mouth. You should certainly take some form of penicillin if you are subject to a sore throat or other streptococcal infection.

Q—My electrocardiogram showed signs of pericarditis. Is this serious? Should I be taking anything for it?

A—Pericarditis is an inflammation of the membranous sac surrounding the heart. If it is associated with fluid in the sac (pericarditis with effusion) or sticking of the heart to the wall

President's State-of-Union Declaration on Local Control of 'Disorder' Borrowed As Weapons by Opponents of His Civil Rights Proposals

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's decision to leave the problem of race rioters to local law enforcement officials has presented a strong new weapon to Senate opponents of one of his major civil rights proposals.

They are now using the president's anti-crime statement in their fight to kill or drastically alter legislation intended to protect individuals in the exercise of a wide variety of civil rights.

Headed by Senator James Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, these opponents are attacking the Administration's measure in the Senate, where it is now being debated. The group is circulating a memorandum charging, "The provisions of this (civil rights) bill could be used to harass and deter local law enforcement officers."

The Eastland group memo calls attention to the President's declaration in his State-of-the-Union address, "Those who preach disorder and those who preach violence must know that local authorities are able to resist them swiftly, to resist them sternly, and to resist them decisively." Then it warns:

"It is manifestly unfair to put these local officials in the front line of the struggle to maintain a society of law and order while placing them under the terrible omnipresent threat of being hailed into federal court on a criminal charge because the attorney general determines they had used an unreasonable amount of force in suppressing a riot."

THE SAFEGUARDS — To rule out this "threat," the Eastland group will attempt to add to the administration's civil rights proposal an amendment written into a similar bill on the House floor. It provides:

"...nothing within this section shall be construed so as to deter any law enforcement officer from lawfully carrying out the lawful duties of his office and no such officer shall be considered to be in violation of this section for carrying out the lawful duties of his office or enforcing lawful ordinances and laws of the U.S. or their political subdivisions."

In addition to this protection of the sac (adhesive pericarditis), it is indeed serious. Effusion requires drainage through a hollow needle—otherwise the treatment is symptomatic (restriction of activity and relief of pain).

Q—Is it safe for someone with rheumatic heart disease to use a sauna bath?

A—In general, medical authorities do not recommend sauna baths for any purpose. Anyone who wants to use them anyway should have a physical checkup first and if he has or has ever had any disease of the heart or circulation he should forget about the sauna baths.

for local law enforcement officers, the Eastland group will try to add to the Senate bill another House-passed amendment, designed to make sure the bill is not used to protect agitators such as H. Rap Brown and Stokely Carmichael, the Black Power militants.

This amendment, which obtained overwhelming Republican support in the House, states:

"As used in this section, the term 'engaged in speech or peaceful assembly' shall not mean the urging, instigating or inciting of other persons to riot or to commit any act of violence in furtherance of a riot."

Both of these House-approved amendments were defeated by narrow margins in the Senate Judiciary Committee, which cleared the controversial civil rights measure by a cliff-hanger eight to seven vote.

SPELLING IT OUT—In mounting their campaign the Eastland group will attempt to label the administration's civil rights proposal publicly as "a protection measure for agitators like Brown and Carmichael."

This attack plan is clearly indicated in the minority report prepared by Senators Eastland and Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., which charges:

"This bill will give added protection to roving fomenters of violence, such as Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown."

"Under its terms and provisions, if a person had been present during the inflammatory speech of H. Rap Brown which led to the Cambridge, Md., riots on July 24, 1967, and, becoming enraged at the inflammatory statements made by Brown, had shouted a threat to him from the audience, that person could be tried under this act and fined up to $1,000 and imprisoned for one year."

"If such person had jumped up on the platform and struck Brown, giving him a bloody nose, he could be punished by 10 years in prison and fined up to $10,000. No punishment could be imposed on H. Rap Brown under these circumstances."

The Eastland group is also planning to offer the House-passed anti-riot bill as an amendment to the civil rights measure. Senators Edward Kennedy, R-Mass., and Philip Hart, D-Mich., co-authors of the administration's bill, blocked a similar effort in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Since the House by a 347 to 70 vote passed the anti-riot bill last July Senators Kennedy and Hart have also succeeded in keeping the Judiciary committee from reporting it out as a separate bill.

Unless it is set aside for other legislation, Senate debate on the civil rights proposal could tie up that body until next spring. Since liberal supporters are planning to try to attach an open housing amendment to the bill, both supporters and oppo-

At last they are coming around with some art that might have a future. Its made out of dry ice and disappears after 24 hours.

Out in Los Angeles there were these three artists that made a sculpture of dry ice that was 110 feet long and 22 feet wide. Nobody knew what it was and before anybody could ask it was gone.

This sculpture cost $1200 dollars to build. The money was put up by the Union Oil Co. which shows what they think of sculpture and money both.

But just to prove that the people was art conscious they holed for a encore. So the artists come back and built 3 pyramids out of 20 tons of dry ice blocks.

I always did have trouble with art. Like the time I got lost in that Metropolitan museum for three days. I was wandering around when I came up on a giant statue. I was gazing at it when a guard come over and sized me up like I was trying to steal the thing. "What do you think of it?" he asked.

"Well," I says, "I bet that was a beautiful rock before some idiot chopped it up and made a man out of it."

ents are threatening to "debate the measure for months."

CONGRESSIONAL REFORM — The first major congressional reform bill since 1946 is due for early approval by Congress.

After delaying action on the Senate-passed measure for more than 10 months, House Democratic leaders have finally decided to bring the legislation to a floor vote early in February.

That's the private report House Majority Leader Carl Albert, D-Okla., has given to Senator Mike Monroney, D-Okla., principle author of the legislation.

"How did you ever arrange that?" asked Monroney.

"We warned them that the Republicans had decided to make a major campaign issue out of Congress' inaction on reforming itself," replied Albert. "Members have enough campaign problems without having to face that issue too."

The reform bill, approved on March 7 by a 75 to 9 roll-call vote in the Senate, is known as the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1968. It provides:

"A 'bill of rights' for committees; a Senate Veterans affairs committee; more systematic informing of Congress on budgetary matters; increased committee staffs and a legislative assistant for each senator; a permanent joint committee on congressional operations to work on matters of common interest to the Senate and House; elimination of patronage in the selection of postmasters; and strengthening of the lobby registration law."

Despite what you may hear or read more than 40 per cent of the world's gold is on deposit at Fort Knox or the Federal Reserve Bank in New York. At last count there was some $8.5 billion at Fort Knox and another $13.5 billion in Manhattan.

It's the custom to pelt brides with rice these days as they leave the church, but back in 17th century England they tossed wheat at the newlyweds. The "Missouri Waltz" enjoyed renewed popularity when Harry S. Truman occupied the White House. We wonder if the stormy petrel of Missouri ever knew his favorite song was written in 1914 by J. R. Royce, who later wrote the Bing Crosby hit, "It's An Irish Lullaby."

Today's smile: A father was remonstrating with his daughter about her latest big friend and said: "I don't see why you like that fellow." His daughter said: "Well, for one thing he takes me out in a $5,000 sports car." Her father snorted: "Your mother can tell you that I was quite a sport too. I used to take her to the movies in a $25,000 street car."

The Faust legend is the most popular theme in grand opera. More than 50 composers have written music dramas about the aged scholar who sold his soul to the devil for restoring his lost youth. However, Gounod's "Faust" is the only one that ever achieved lasting popularity and it is sung regularly each season by the world's opera companies.

Thoughts while shaving: Veterinarians are scientifically trained these days, but years ago one of their favorite methods of curing indigestion in cattle was to smear an old sock with grease and force it down the cow's throat. The next thing the housewife can expect to find at her favorite supermarket will be vending machines that dispense food. One merchandising consultant says the housewife will adjust to buying from a machine as easily as she accepted the self-service system now in vogue. It's just another phase of automation.

Research and development will continue as big fields in 1968. The federal government plans to allocate $25 billion in the quest for new knowledge for the production of useful products and the processes involved in developing them. If Edison were alive today he could become a multi-millionaire on government contracts alone.

Word from Hollywood says there's likely to be a revival of Clark Gable's films as a result of the huge grosses of the re-issued "Gone With the Wind." Back in silent picture days when a star died all pictures showing him or her were withdrawn from circulation.

One of these days someone will invent an electric calculator, similar to a computer, that will accurately diagnose a person's ailments. It will check all data from birth and feed it into the electric brain, which will then come up with all the facts why a person feels low-down. And, we'll bet every home will have one. . . The Lowell (Mass.) SUN headlined a story: "Firemen's Wives Have Party." That is nothing to get alarmed about.

Country Editor speaking: "The thing that bothers us most is what happens to the rest of the $10 bill after we have offered it to pay for a $1 item?"

In 1945 a syndicate headed by Larry McPhail and Dan Topping bought the New York Yankees baseball team for $8 million.

Question Box

(We invite questions on common sense and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: What would you think of the desirability of free private schools? Just so we are discussing a complete system, suppose there are only as many teachers as would volunteer for the pure joy of teaching; only as many locations, and hours, and subjects, and pupils as would get together for the pure joy of learning. Teachers or pupils could walk out any time—the owner and donor of the space could throw them all out, etc. No curriculum, no accreditation, no enrollment. How far would you need to restrict these participants' freedom to make it work? Am I describing Sunday school?

ANSWER: It sounds as if Mr. T. is describing the various Sunday Schools, Sabbath schools and other schools sponsored by churches or other voluntary organizations. It could even describe the so-called "Free Universities" promoted by various "liberal" or socialist organizations.

While these satisfy the ideas of voluntary activity, we suspect there would be objection that the pupils or their parents would not pay for the training, and the teachers would not be paid for their work. Granted there would be some teachers who would be teaching only for the "pure joy of teaching," which they would consider sufficient payment. But, on a day to day basis, we suspect most of them would feel they needed payment for their services.

The students and their parents, too, might feel that since they were not paying for the service the quality of teaching might not be sufficiently high. We believe most parents would willingly pay. The act of paying, with the ability to withdraw patronage for unsatisfactory performance by the teachers and school officials, also would give the parents a voice in the operation of the schools.

If there were such voluntary schools as Mr. T. describes, the payment problem might well be solved by voluntary contributions of money or goods or services from the students and their parents. Those financially or physically unable to contribute would not need to be denied from attendance because of the voluntary aspects of the schools. And others would be willing to contribute to the needs of others, just as human needs are supplied daily by voluntary contributions.

We also believe there should be a curriculum, so that the students and their parents would have advance knowledge of the subject matter and methods of teaching. As for accreditation, we think the best method of accrediting a school would be the acceptance of the graduates by employers or by advanced schools.

Miami Superintendent Sets Move to Electra

MIAMI (Sp1) — Weldon Snodgrass, Miami School Superintendent nine years, has resigned his position in the Miami Public Schools to assume the superintendency in the public schools at Electra Feb. 1.

At a special board meeting Monday night, when he resigned, the board named Hollis D. Adams, Miami High School principal, as acting superintendent, effective Feb. 1.

The board has stated it will receive applications for the superintendency and will consider Adams along with other applicants, according to Wayne Greenhouse, board president.

Snodgrass' experiences include the superintendency of Miami Schools and of Knott Public Schools, high school principal of Sterling City, and teaching positions of math and science at Eldorado and Lockney.

He has a Bachelor of Science degree from North Texas University with majors in math and biology. His Master of Education degree is from East Texas State University with majors in administrative education and math. He has worked toward his doctoral degree in education at Texas Tech and Southern Methodist University.

Mr. and Mrs. Snodgrass have three daughters, aged 11, 8 and 4.

The Snodgrasses are members of First Christian Church. He is a member of the Masonic Lodge; chapter, council, and commandery; Order of the Eastern Star; Phi Delta Kappa and the American Legion.

He is past president of Gray-Roberts Teachers Association District Nine, Texas State Teachers Association.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE — Truteen membership chairman Suzy Palmer, left, of 2232 N. Sumner checks over a membership application with Truteen president Carol Campagne of 1824 Chestnut. The membership drive started Monday and ends Friday. About 16 sophomore girls of Pampa High School are expected to join the Community Service Club. Mrs. Thelma Bray is adult sponsor.

Washington Window

By MERRIMAN SMITH
 UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House: In adding Clark M. Clifford to the Cabinet as secretary of defense, President Johnson picked a man long known to Washington insiders of virtually every political stripe as a person of broad talents.

The day of his Cabinet selection was announced, news reports were referring to Clifford as "an insider's insider." That may have been a bent cliché, but it is decidedly accurate. Through four national administrations — Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson—few people knew more information than Clifford, or said less about it.

A few years after World War II, Clifford was playing poker one afternoon aboard President Truman's yacht, the U.S.S. Williamsburg. One of the players was George E. Allen, the shrewd Mississippian whose record for helping presidents rivalled Clifford's.

Beat out in a close hand by Clifford, Allen threw in his cards with dismay.

"Let me tell you something about this Clifford," Allen said to the other players. "He may look like Nelson Eddy, but there's nothing musical about it when he says 'aces, back-to-back.'"

Early in World War II, Clifford entered the Navy from a big-time law office in St. Louis. As a junior officer, word of his efficient ability and yet silky-smooth social composure spread rapidly.

Not long after Truman succeeded to the presidency, Clifford was transferred to the White House as assistant naval aide under Commodore James K. Vardaman who had known him in Missouri.

His Navy career had included zero sea duty when he reported to the White House.

One afternoon, not long after the White House acquired the yacht Williamsburg from her war years of bobbing around in the north Atlantic as a convoy command ship, Clifford happened to be on the bridge as the vessel cast off with the commander in chief aboard.

The skipper of the Williamsburg was an old salt who ate reserve officers for breakfast and he decided to take Clifford in one bite.

As seamen cast off the Williamsburg's lines at the naval gun factory, the skipper said deferentially to Clifford, "Would you like to take the con (actual command), commander?"

"Take the con, hell," Clifford exclaimed in candid terror. "This is the first time I've ever been on one of these things!"

This endeared Clifford to the professional sailors who would have hated him if he had tried lame excuses.

Human Back Not Good Engineering

SAN FRANCISCO — The human back is not a good example of engineering design, according to an orthopedic surgeon at the University of California Medical Center here.

Dr. Verne T. Inman said a good many complaints about backache can be traced to nature's faulty design.

"If we were to construct a derrick, we certainly wouldn't run the lifting cables almost parallel to the shaft," he said. "We would run them off at an angle to achieve better lifting capacity." But in the human back, the muscles supporting the spinal column lie almost parallel to it.

Dr. Inman suggested holding the breath while lifting — since it turns the abdomen into a semi-rigid mass which reduces the compressive forces on the lower back by one-third. He also advocated wearing a firm girdle as a back brace to gain relief from backaches.

Foreign Commentary

 UPI Foreign News Analyst

Americans in Korea call theirs the second front of a two-front war, the first being South Vietnam.

North Korean seizure of a U.S. naval intelligence vessel 25 miles offshore in international waters provides a glaring example of what they mean. It is the second North Korean offensive action in three days and for the war against aggressive Communism in Asia by far the most dangerous.

Falling also into the pattern of North Korean harassment of allied forces in the south was Sunday night's daring attempt by uniformed North Korean infiltrators to attack South Korea's Blue House, official residence of President Park Chung Hee in Seoul.

It was the first terrorist attack in the capital city since the 1953 armistice.

Communist seizure of the U.S.S. Pueblo off Wonsan carries with it the danger that the Asian war, already threatening to expand to Cambodia and Laos in the southeast, now could spread to that second front in Korea.

Such a move has been threatened in the past both by Communist China and the North Koreans.

If so, it would seem to be an act of extreme foolhardiness on the part of the Communists. It was only 15 years ago that North Korea lay in ruins as result of its 1950 surprise attack on the south.

And this time it would not face an unprepared South Korea.

Instead the North Koreans would face a tough and prepared South Korean army of 600,000, bolstered by nearly 50,000 Americans.

On such a basis then, it must be considered that the North Koreans intend their actions to be short of war and inside the general pattern of harassment.

Twin purposes lie behind the North Korean tactics.

One is to prevent further buildup of South Korean forces in South Vietnam, which today total some 46,000 battle-hardened troops plus 10,000 engineers.

Another is to slow the spectacular growth of the South Korean economy, which is an effective barrier to North Korean hopes that the south finally will go Communist.

Helium Has Place In Age of Space

AMARILLO (UPI) — Helium, something people used to think about only for dirigibles, has a place in the space age, and Texas produces all but a small amount of the helium in the country, a Bureau of Mines official said Tuesday.

When the first commercial helium plant went into production in Hamilton, Ont., Canada, in 1918, helium was used to propel dirigibles through the sky. Now helium is being used to help push space crafts into the heavens.

The several modern uses of helium will be counted this year in Amarillo, the center of a 300-mile area producing 90 per cent of the known helium supply in the United States, during the observances of the 50th anniversary of the beginning of commercial helium production.

The centennial is set for May 17.

Odorless Gas
 The normally colorless, odorless gas, which does not combine chemically with other gases, is completely inert.

Over 50 per cent of the helium produced in the United States is used in the nation's space program as a purge in fuel systems of space craft.

A spokesman for the Bureau of Mines, which is in charge of government helium production, said the liquid fuel and oxidizer systems used in space ships are highly combustible and must have clean containers before and after testing to prevent accidents, primarily explosions.

Helium is also important in cryogenics, the practice of slowing down molecules by a cooling process.

Government Big User

Helium sales in the United States stand at a billion feet a year, with federal markets handling about 70 per cent of the total. The United States has three private industry helium plants. The Bureau of Mines has five plants, and four private firms operate five more helium conservation plants under long-term contract to the government to extract helium from gas on its way to fuel markets.

The Amarillo spokesman said the primary Amarillo plant uses a 426-mile pipeline system that gathers crude helium from

Persons Over 65 Lose Some Tax Advantages

By RAY DE CRANE
 NEA Publications

The new rules for medical deductions this year help those under 65, but they take away a tax advantage formerly enjoyed by senior citizens.

For the past several years all the medical expenses of taxpayers over 65 were fully deductible without reference to the 1 per cent and 3 per cent rules. This now changed.

Regardless of age, all taxpayers are treated alike on medical deduction amounting to 50 per cent of their payments for health and hospital insurance up to $150, but to get a further medical deduction their total expenses must exceed 3 per cent of total income.

The $3 monthly Medicare insurance is to be considered to a 50 per cent deduction but the hospital insurance tax which is included as a part of the Social Security tax is not deductible.

As the oldsters are, in effect, penalized by the new rules, so too are children who are furnishing the chief support of their aged parents, including the payment of their medical expenses.

Last year and for several prior years children could obtain a 100 per cent deduction for medical expenses paid for their parents for whom they were furnishing the chief support.

Under the new rules the children supporting parents must include the parents' medical expenses with their own and subject the grand total to the accustomed 1 per cent and 3 per cent rules.

The lawmakers apparently felt that the new Medicare provisions of the Social Security Act now protect those over 65 from abnormal medical expenses.

conservation centers in central and southwest Kansas and the Texas Panhandle to the Cliffside Field near Amarillo.

He said 10 million cubic feet of contained helium is being deposited at Cliffside every day. Amarillo's first plant, which is still producing helium, was opened in 1929.

Pampa Harvesters Drop One To Lubbock Monterey By 62-61

More Trouble Arises At Berkeley Campus

By CURTIS MONTGOMERY
Daily News Sports Editor

Lubbock Monterey held on to a slim margin through a near riot just three seconds before the final buzzer and two clutch free throws by Johnny Carlos of Pampa to stop the Harvesters' winning streak in district 3-A at ten with a 62-61 decision in the Plainsmen's gym last night.

Carlos' time at the gratis line was the result of the "false double foul" which had been called with :03 showing on the clock. That call had three steps as its result: Monterey had two free shots, Pampa had two and the final tip off.

Bo Lang was blamed by the officials for Carlos' infraction and was credited with his free throws in the Amarillo Daily News this morning. The paper also reported that Monterey "controlled the ball after Monterey missed a second free throw." It did not transpire in that way.

With four seconds to go Carlos put his arms around Spencer Marcum intentionally, hoping that the Plainsman would miss the tosses. Marcum never got to shoot them, however, because he went wild and started throwing fists and elbows all along the side lines opposite the scorers' table and was ejected from the game with a technical foul.

When Marcum reacted to the perfectly normal intentional foul which was to be expected as the Harvesters trailed by three points and could win no other way, Carlos held on for dear life in self defense.

"Ouch!..."

The next few minutes saw fists flying everywhere along that sideline amidst the Monterey cheerleaders. Carlos was hit several times in the head as was Jimmy Cornutt, who played a superb game, scoring 16 points—two behind George Bailey who led the Harvesters with 18.

Carlos and Jimmy Cornutt both were decked first by Monterey players and then by a berserk mob which flooded onto the floor. Cornutt was kicked in the head as he lay on the floor.

After Neal Young of Monterey blew his free throws while standing alone on the court Carlos hit his. The tip off followed with Beau Bond controlling for the first time all night. However, David Stanfield swiped the precious ball from Carlos, held on for two seconds and threw a wild shot at the rim after the buzzer sounded. It was not counted.

Many Pampa fans along with Pampa coach Terry Culley thought the Harvesters should have had the ball awarded them at center court as is customary in a technical foul, but this was a horse of another color. Color that horse a false double foul.

"They handled it exactly right," commented coach Bill Brown of Pampa. The rule states in the case of such a foul, the ball will be put in play with a jump at center court.

An overflowing crowd of around 1,200 raised the roof in the cracker box gym more than once in the Harvesters' initial loss in district. Pampa is now 1-1 for the second round and Monterey is 2-0.

Four to Go

With four minutes to go the Harvesters trailed by nine at 57-48. The situation which transpired was about the only way for them to come out a winner.

The Plainsmen trailed at the end of the first quarter, 11-7, but took over the lead for good with 3:35 remaining in the first half when Marcum hit a lay up. The count was then 19-18.

George Bailey was fed by Carlos at :03 and hit a five-foot jumper with one second on the clock before intermission. Monterey took a 25-24 lead into the dressing room.

Pampa was cold the first half, hitting only 33 per cent of their shots (10-30) as Monterey hit 37 per cent (11-29). In the first quarter Pampa hit five of 15 and Monterey hit 2 of 14 for 28 per cent.

Following Bailey and Cornutt scoring for Pampa was Lang with 14 and Carlos with five. Jim Hollis, tabbed by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal as "Ray Hollis", was the only sub for the Harvesters, but failed to score.

Pampa hit 38 per cent from the floor for the night (22-58) and Monterey hit 51 per cent (26-50).

With 2:08 to go in the third quarter Bailey's driving jump shot tied the game at 40-40 but that was the last time. Just 18 seconds later Gary Wright hit a jumper to put the Plainsmen out front to stay.

With 5:48 left in the last stanza Monterey led by 10 at 54-44 with Rick Deyer's shot.

Bailey went into the game with as many district points (554) as he had the whole season last year.

Good grief, Charlie Brown! What a game.

One thing is certain. Coach Joe Milalka's team was not embarrassed.

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—The University of California, Berkeley, faced a two pronged upheaval today in athletics.

A group called the "Black Athletes of the University of California" said Tuesday it might boycott the schools' athletic program unless basketball coach Rene Herrerias and two assistant football coaches were fired.

On another front, 12 white members of the varsity basketball team announced they would quit the squad unless junior Bob Presley—the star Negro center—was placed back on the suspended list.

Support Herrerias

The Caucasian players repeated their stand Tuesday night, claiming in a prepared statement that the school administration had pressured Herrerias into taking Presley off the suspended list for fear of racial repercussions.

"The administration feared that Presley's dismissal would or could bring racial problems to the campus," the statement said.

"Significantly, racial problems have arisen as the result of this afternoon's Black Athletes news conference during which Presley stated that Coach Herrerias should be replaced for reasons of his competence."

Pete Newell, Cal's athletic director, met for nearly an hour Tuesday night with the Negro group.

No Agreement

"Nothing was resolved," said Bob Smith, a star California football player who has become spokesman for the Black Athletes. "But Mr. Newell has become aware of our grievances and now that much at least has been accomplished, so we'll give him time to make a statement or form an opinion."

Smith's organization asked at a Tuesday afternoon news conference that Herrerias be discharged along with football aides Willie Dutton and Joe Marvin. The group cited "their inability or unwillingness to relate to Black Athletes and general incompetence."

The organization also listed such other alleged abuses to Negro athletes as failure by the university to provide them good jobs, and a tendency by members of the athletic department to "ridicule" them. They also complained of poor housing for Negro athletes and the fact that coaches viewed injuries as signs of "goldbricking."

Pampa 8th Wins, 43-27

Pampa Junior High's eighth grade basketball team took a 43-27 decision over Austin of Berger yesterday in the PJHS gym.

Larry Knutson had 17 for the winners.

The ninth grade lost, however, to the Austin ninth graders, 61-52.

Austin is leading the league. Mike Jordan hit 19 in a losing cause.

Both the eighth and ninth grade teams will play Thursday here against Phillips.

more, but I didn't vote for him because of what he said but because of what he did. I've seen few better hitters in my time.

The nervousness in Joe Medwick showed when he received the news in St. Louis via telephone from the Commissioner's Office Tuesday.

"We have an announcement for you, Joe," said Jack Lang of

Medwick, Hall of Famer Campy Barely Misses

By MILTON RICHMAN
NEW YORK (UPI)—Joe Medwick's election to Baseball's Hall of Fame, 10 years late, points up society's oldest truism—it's nice to be important, but it's more important to be nice.

Look up the meaning of the word "important" and you'll know immediately it applied to Joe Medwick in his days as a ballplayer even if you never had the pleasure of seeing him perform.

Any man who can put in 17 years in the majors, mold a .324 lifetime batting average, win an MVP Award and the triple Crown as well as stir up a crowd enough to halt a World Series game for more than half an hour certainly rates being considered important.

Joe Medwick was an important ballplayer during his years with the Cardinals, Dodgers and Giants.

But he wasn't always nice. He was opinionated and argumentative. He'd as soon pop one of his own teammates on the button as someone from the other club. He wasn't the most popular boy in the fraternity.

That shouldn't matter, you say. If Medwick was a great ballplayer, then that's all that should count. What difference does his personality make?

A lot. A whole lot.

I'd like to say right here and now that despite all the nippers, the balloting for Hall of Famers by the Baseball Writers' Association of America is conducted as well, if not better, than any other voting I've ever seen.

I've never heard anybody ask for a recount. Nor have I ever heard any charges of tampering with the ballots.

Occasionally, sentiment creeps into the voting. It shouldn't, but it does. That's not such a tragedy. Doesn't the same thing occur when people go out and vote for the President of the United States? This is not to say that Joe Medwick's personality kept him out of the Hall of Fame for 10 years. But he can be sure it didn't hasten his entry. And if he thinks that's some kind of high crime, he can sue the same people who voted him in for keeping him out.

Off his performance, Medwick deserved to be in the Hall of Fame long before this. He knew it. And he said so.

"If players are judged on what they did on the field," he said when passed over in 1963, "I should be in. I don't know why anybody would want to keep me out."

Medwick was more upset when he got the go-bye again in 1966, the year Ted Williams was elected first crack out of the box even though there were writers who had their opinions about him.

"What are they waiting for?" Medwick snapped, after missing that year. "Are they waiting for me to die? I know I'll make it. But I want them to present that trophy to me, not my widow."

This is to let Joe Medwick know his pleas had absolutely no effect on me. His name always was 1-2-3 on my ballot the last five years and maybe more, but I didn't vote for him because of what he said but because of what he did. I've seen few better hitters in my time.

The nervousness in Joe Medwick showed when he received the news in St. Louis via telephone from the Commissioner's Office Tuesday.

"We have an announcement for you, Joe," said Jack Lang of the Long Island Press, the man who counts the ballots as Secretary of the Baseball Writers' Association.

"Is it good?" inquired Medwick, looking for a clue.

"We're happy to be able to tell you that you have been elected to the Hall of Fame," said Lang.

"Thank you very much. This is wonderful."

"How do you feel?"

"I'm speechless," said Medwick. "Did (Roy) Campanella get in?"

"Just missed."

"I'm sorry to hear that, I hoped someone else would go in with me."

Later on, Medwick explained he didn't mean to be sarcastic in past years when he said "some of the writers should do their homework," and that all he meant is that they should have looked at the record book.

As for his temper, which caused him to mix it with Detroit third baseman Marv Owen in that 1934 World Series game which was halted, Medwick laughed and said, "Maybe it was the Hungarian in me. I hated to lose. I always wanted to win. Everything tasted better."

For every winner, though, there has to be a loser. It was Roy Campanella this time.

The guy who got through to him said, "I've got some bad news for you, Roy. You missed by eight votes."

"Well, what are ya gonna do?" the ex-Dodger catcher shrugged it off. "There's always next year."

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The first flight test of America's moon landing ship was termed a "fantastic job" Tuesday by a top official who predicted that "we will be able to press on with the flight of men in the next Lunar Module."

The comment was made by Chief Flight Director Christopher C. Kraft, who was brimming with praise for the way his crew handled the flight and snatched success from failure by quickly substituting a flight plan when trouble developed in the original plan.

In keeping with the plan, the moonship plunged to a fiery death in the earth's atmosphere early Tuesday on its sixth swing around earth after proving its engines are capable of ferrying astronauts back and forth between the moon's surface and an orbiting mother ship.

A robot was at the controls for the maiden flight.

The 16-ton ship was shot into a near-perfect orbit around earth Monday evening by a Saturn 1 rocket. It performed like a veteran during the first four hours of its maiden trial run, but then the first attempt of its robot pilot to fire the spacecraft's 10,000 pound moon landing engine ended in failure. The engine quit four seconds after it burst into life.

Engineers said later the craft's electronic brain failed to give the rocket time to build up sufficient power.

Flight Director Gene Kranz picked an alternate plan written months ago for just such a mission by firing the engine twice later without using the computer's strict controls.

Looking back over the past week for a clue to the steady erosion of stock prices, Thomson & McKinnon concludes that investment decisions are being withheld pending clarification of the many unresolved issues on national economic and political scenes, plus, of course, Vietnam.

In the absence of stimuli from the outside, the firm looks to "the market's manifestation for a sign of nearby improvement or a further erosion of values."

Shearson, Hammill & Co. notes that the heavy volume on both major New York exchanges last week obviously "should not and certainly will not go on indefinitely."

Much of the recent activity in low-priced stocks, the company comments, "amounts to nothing more sophisticated than dice rolling, betting at the window, or playing the numbers, more than likely it is being done by the same people who indulge themselves in those pursuits."

The question on the minds of some serious investors is "how much the market as a whole will be battered when some of the current hot-shots go down in flames."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Alexander Hamilton Institute, Inc. interprets the "huge volume of buying and selling" last week as an indication that the country is at a "critical economic juncture."

"Seldom have the bulls and bears been locked in such close quarter combat with neither side making any meaningful gains."
