Fighting Heavy In New Viet Campaign By Reds Communist-Led Unions Widen French Troubles

By EUGENE V. RISHER
SAIGON (UPI)—Fighting ambushes and 100 degree heat. American troops have killed at least 600 Communists mounting a major drive in South Vietnam's northern provinces. U.S. spokesmen said today.

In the heaviest battling, about 850 U.S. Army troops joined Leathernecks, South Vietnamese and South Koreans in smashing into a North Vietnamese jungle fortress 20 miles south of Da Nang. So far in five days at least 401 Communist bodies have been counted. Sixty-five Marines have been killed. The intense heat and bullets felled 250 Leathernecks listed as wounded.

troops Sunday killed 108 Communists in mopping up after a Red try for the past two weeks at invading Saigon.

The North Vietnamese action possibly was aimed at bolstering the bargaining position of Hanoi's delegation in Paris talks with American negotiators.

Bomb Supply Lines
In the air, U.S. jets flew 136 missions against the supply lines of North Vietnam's southern panhandle Sunday. They hit 41 trucks, five bridges, 10 barges and four weapons sites.

Heavy Italian Vote Seen In Election Today

ROME (UPI)—Despite a postal strike that bottled up tons of political propaganda, Italians today voted by the millions in the windup of an election that could stall Communism's growth in Italy.

The two-day election ended without incident after a record turnout at the polls. Unofficial estimates were that more than 92 per cent of the voters, about 33 million persons, cast ballots in elections to decide the fate of premier Aldo Moro's center-left government.

Officials attributed the high turnout to a new law which would make it difficult for a person to get a passport or a government job if he did not vote.

Most political observers, citing the lack of sharp campaign issues and an air of apathy among the voters, predicted the Communists would fail to gain for the first time since World War II and might even lose votes.

Near the Marine fort of Khe Sanh, just under the North Vietnam border, Leathernecks Sunday killed at least 126 Communists in two fights.

In one, a Marine supply convoy charged through Red rocket, mortar and machinegun fire clogging a mountain pass and killed 66 North Vietnamese. In the second, Marines killed 43 North Vietnamese who tried to overrun their post just outside Khe Sanh, the U.S. bastion that withstood a three-month siege earlier this year.

Con Thien Battle
At the nearby Con Thien base, Marines killed 16 more North Vietnamese. The Khe Sanh-Con Thien battling killed 12 Marines and wounded 47.

U.S. military commanders said the North Vietnamese are making one of their greatest threats to the northern provinces of South Vietnam, switching the main war arena from Saigon, in the capital area, U.S.

Mexico's Reds Deny Charges

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—The Mexican Communist party Sunday labelled "barefaced lies" charges by J. Edgar Hoover that Mexican Communists are planning an armed revolt against the government.

National party headquarters distributed a statement in response to the charges by the director of the U.S. Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), who was quoted in Mexico City newspapers Sunday as saying they had decided on an armed revolt at a meeting last year.

New Connally Tax Plan Would Give Cities Sales Tax 'Rebate'

AUSTIN (UPI)—State officials are worried that the proposal to rebate part of the state sales tax to cities will create some "ghost towns."

Bill Cobb, Gov. John Connally's budget director, said today the legislature will have to be very careful to make sure some areas can't just set up dummy cities just to get the rebates.

Under Connally's proposal the state sales tax bill will be increased from 2 to 3 per cent and part of the increase will be returned to cities on a per capita basis.

The city sales tax—adopted by more than 175 Texas cities—will be abolished, if the legislature approves the governor's proposal.

"For those cities that haven't passed the city sales tax, it's just a windfall," Cobb said.

Rebates for All
Cobb said "every incorporated city" will get a rebate, but said drafters of the bill to be presented to the special legislative session June 4 will include special requirements "to make sure we don't get a bunch of ghost towns."

Cobb said the cities must be "levying some kind of tax and providing some sort of service."

"Otherwise, we might have some people incorporate just to get the money and decide not to have police or fire protection or anything," Cobb said.

Cobb said the rebates would be based on 1960 population figures — at least until the 1970 census results are available.

Official Figures Only
"After all, we can't use chamber of commerce figures because they'd jack them up on us," Cobb said.

In a news conference Thursday, Connally suggested using the 1960 census figures would discourage new areas from incorporating just to get a rebate.

Connally said he had given consideration to the prospects that the rebate plan might encourage formation of "bedroom cities."

Cobb said using 1960 figures "won't make any difference" for the major cities because the percentage of the total state population living in each "hasn't changed."

Cobb said he could not say exactly how much per resident the state would rebate to the cities, but said $18.25 was "in the ballpark." He said the amount will be between $15 and $20 per person.

May Cut Exemptions
Cobb said all cities will get more under the rebate plan than they would under the city sales tax — but his estimates assume the legislature will abolish certain exemptions.

Whether exemptions are changed or not—replacing the city sales tax with rebates will

EDUCATION HEARING — State Representative Hudson Moyer of Amarillo, at the mike, is testifying in this photo at today's hearing concerning area vocational and technical training, being conducted by the Legislature's Education Committee, at the Coronado Inn here. hearing in the Coronado Inn to review current programs and determine needs for expansion of technical and vocational training in the Texas Panhandle at a day-long public

The Committee, headed by Rep. George Hinson of Mineola, included Rep. Malouf Abraham of Canadian, Rep. Alonzo Jamison of Denton, Rep. Cordell Hull of Fort Worth and Rep. David Allred of Wichita Falls.

First witnesses as the hearing got underway at 9:40 a.m. were from Amarillo. They included Rep. Hudson Moyer, Amarillo City Commissioner Bill Mays and William Henderson, superintendent of properties at Amarillo Air Force Base.

The Amarillo group testified for about an hour, using an illustrated slide appeal showing facilities at Amarillo Air Force Base that could be used for technical training in the aerospace industry.

At 11 o'clock, the first Pampa witness appeared before the committee. He was H. P. Donohue, manager of Cabot Corporation's machinery division. Donohue, who said his plant has about 700 employees, stated that one of his main problems was maintaining workmen on the skilled level and getting new skills developed among workmen.

"We are faced with increasing problems of technology," Donohue said, "and we must constantly increase the skill and level of technology of our labor."

Today's hearing was the fifth in a series of approximately ten hearings the House Education Committee is conducting across the state.

Before the testimony started, Chairman Hinson said: "The Committee finds that going out and getting information at the local level—such as this hearing today—is much more (See WITNESSES, Page 3)

Oil, Gas Activity Creates $38 Million Income In Gray County

Oil and gas wells provide approximately $38.4 million a year of Gray County's economic output, according to statistics released this week by Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

Based on most recent U.S. Bureau of Mines production figures, the Association compilation showed that Gray County produced crude oil valued at $34.7 million in 1966 and natural gas worth $3.7 million.

Texas oil production in 1967, responding to demands for more domestic crude as a result of the Israeli-Arab conflict, totaled 1,050,000,000 barrels, a statewide increase over 1966 of about 5 per cent. Production last year varied widely among state Railroad Commission districts, however, ranging from 3.5 per cent below 1966 to 15 per cent above.

"Production from Gray County last summer helped prevent any oil scarcity for U.S. consumers at a time when one-third of the world's supply was cut off," said Corbin J. Robertson, Houston, Association president. "We must keep in mind, however, that it may be difficult for Texas fields to sustain production in future emergencies if the discovery of new reserves continues to lag due to lack of exploratory drilling."

The annual study showed that Gray County ranked 31st among Texas counties in total value of its production of some 11.7 million barrels of oil and 28.2 billion cubic feet of natural gas.

Texas oil men, according to Rinehart's yearbook, drilled 65 wells in the county risking some $4.4 million. Seventeen per cent of them were dry holes, costing about $642,000.

County landowners and others with mineral interests cashed royalty checks totaling about $4.8 million during the year. Likewise, the county's flow of oil and gas generates $1.9 million a year in production taxes paid by producers and royalty owners to the state treasury.

Reports from the Texas Employment Commission show some 1,237 persons directly employed by the oil and gas industry in the county, with an annual payroll of $8.8 million.

Plants which convert crude oil and natural gas into useful products also add to the value of a county's output. The Oil and Gas Journal lists one carbon black plant, one petrochemical plant, and six gas processing plants, with a total capacity of 266 million cubic feet a day for the county.

Millions Of Workers Are Out On Strikes

By VIC WILCZUR
PARIS (UPI)—The series of strikes that has crippled France in a threat to President Charles de Gaulle gained momentum today and unions reported 5 to 6 million workers on strike. Public services were at a halt.

Housewives panicked as more and more Communist-led unions seized control of factories the length and breadth of France. Supermarket shelves were swept clean of sugar and canned goods by housewives who swarmed through them like locusts.

Chaos Spreads
It was the biggest labor walkout since the end of World War II and the greatest threat to De Gaulle since he came to power 10 years ago. The spreading chaos came as he faced a threat of censure in the National Assembly Wednesday on his economic policies.

The situation was out of control of the government for the time being as workers seized giant automobile factories and small town plants and as political opponents demanded De Gaulle resign.

De Gaulle cut short a state visit to Romania this weekend and rushed home to size up the crisis which started when students seized control of the universities in a demand for reform. The unrest touched off the wave of strikes.

De Gaulle after a meeting with his cabinet decreed: "Reform yes, chaos, no." But the strikes spread and he called in his cabinet ministers today to confer on the situation. He already had mobilized the National Gendarmerie (national guard) and thousands of police were on duty.

Airports were closed. Railroad traffic was at a standstill. Buses and subways were halted and the heart of Paris was jammed by thousands of cars brought in by office workers not yet on strike. Tourists were stranded, unable to leave the country or to get money. There was a run on filling stations and some banks had run out of ready cash.

Ports Close
The closing of France's two major ports, Marseilles and Le Havre, added to the tourists' chaos and Americans flocked to the U.S. Embassy in search of a way out of a country where even the police threatened to walk out.

The French army mobilized 200 trucks for commuter service in Paris. Troops also guarded radio and television stations. They took up guard positions around De Gaulle's residence.

In Marseilles, crews of five ships hoisted the red flag. Stars of French stage and movies visited factories occupied by workers to encourage the strikers.

By Sunday night 120 plants had been taken over by workers.

Police Arresting Curfew Violators After Race Riots

SALISBURY, Md. (UPI)—State police and National Guardsmen armed with rifles, shotguns and tear gas, patrolled Salisbury and its suburbs today, arresting curfew violators in an area wracked by two successive nights of racial violence.

About 25 curfew violators were arrested during the night but a National Guard spokesman said most were for minor traffic irregularities "having nothing to do with the racial situation."

On Sunday night a sniper fired shots at a state police car and police fired tear gas at a crowd of rock-throwing Negroes in this eastern shore community. A suspect in the sniping was apprehended.

There were several reports of window smashing and looting in the Negro section of the city Sunday but the violence was not as severe as Saturday night's when about 1,000 Negroes ran through the downtown section, (See POLICE, Page 3)

Student Problems Continue

By United Press International
Students at Ohio University stoned campus buildings Sunday night and blocked a downtown intersection in the college town of Athens in protesting against a decision not to end the academic year two weeks early.

At New York's Columbia University, 25 undergraduates involved in recent campus disorders were ordered to report to the dean's office this week as a possible prelude to disciplinary action. The letters summoning the students warned them they may be suspended if they fail to comply.

In Chicago, a handful of alumni of Roosevelt University endorsed student protests which inspired a series of sit-ins and lock-ins last week. A threatened boycott of classes at the University of Chicago was called off because of the threat of firm action by the administration against unruly students.

Fourteen Negro students at Marquette University in Wisconsin withdrew a threat to quit in protest against "institutional racism" when university authorities yielded to their demands.

Harriman Says, 'We Want Serious Talks'

By STEWART HENSLEY
PARIS (UPI)—U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman today called on Hanoi to quit making propaganda and get down to serious Vietnam talks.

"We want immediate substantive talks. We want them right away," Harriman told newsmen.

The U.S. envoy made the statement as he left the South Vietnamese Consulate after a one-hour meeting with Saigon's ambassador to Washington, Eui Diem. He was accompanied by his deputy, Cyrus Vance.

Harriman said Washington and Saigon are in full agreement that it is up to Hanoi to decide now whether serious negotiations should start in place of the propaganda broadsides that marked the first three meetings last week with North Vietnamese envoy Xuan Thuy.

"We had a very frank exchange of views on the conference here," Harriman said of his talk with Diem. "We agreed we should adopt an affirmative attitude rather than get involved in propaganda."

Asked about reports that Hanoi has predicted no progress before June, Harriman said he "deplored" the fact Thuy is "making propaganda" in the Paris talks.

Harriman said one subject he and Diem discussed was formation of the new South Vietnamese government headed by Premier Tran Van Huong. Diem said their meeting was "part of our regular consultations." He said he and Harriman agreed on all points discussed. Earlier, American officials said the United States is more determined than ever to continue bombing North Vietnam until Hanoi proves its willingness to "scale down the war."

Three factors have convinced the United States it would be suicidal to stop bombing North Vietnam before Hanoi shows some "restraint" on its part.

They are:

—Hanoi's refusal to admit North Vietnamese troops are in South Vietnam. To U.S. eyes, this makes the American-North Vietnamese talks here appear unrealistic.

—North Vietnam's dispatch of more men and arms to South Vietnam at a record or near-record rate.

—The Communist intensification of military action against the United States and its allies, with the Viet Cong being ordered on hopeless missions just to aid the Communist cause in the talks.

The preliminary peace talks here led by U.S. Ambassador-at-large W. Averell Harriman and Hanoi's Xuan Thuy are in recess until Wednesday. They met three times last week. The two sides are as far apart as ever on how to scale down the fighting and prepare the ground for a real peace conference.

There was a stiffening during the weekend in the U.S. delegation's attitude on the talks. The change came after consultations with Washington.

Some Western diplomats—not Americans—were known to be quietly urging various French officials to tell the North Vietnamese that the United States is dead-serious on refusing to stop all bombing unless North Vietnam does something in return.

U.S. diplomats said they had expected Thuy to refuse to make any concessions while demanding the bombing halt. They hoped for a change later. But last week's meetings made Harriman decide Hanoi was laboring under a delusion that it could trap the United States into a bombing halt without offering anything in exchange.

Some 12 or 15 witnesses were expected to appear before the Committee this afternoon, including other representatives of Cabot Corporation, the Celanese Chemical Company and persons representing Pampa businesses and public schools.

In his introductory remarks, Hinson also said that about 75-80 per cent of high school students go on to college, but only 18-20 per cent finish their college courses.

"These college dropouts need vocational and technical training and that is why the House Education Committee is trying to stimulate a well-rounded program in technical and vocational training."

Among officials at today's session were Sen. Grady Hazlewood, Rep. "Red" Simpson and Rep. Hudson Meyer, all of Amarillo, and Rep. Bill Barton of Borger.

The committee was welcomed to the Panhandle by Senator Hazlewood and to Pampa by Mayor Jim Nation.

Poll Shows Nixon Leading Everyone

NEW YORK (UPI) — The latest Gallup Poll shows Richard Nixon leading all other presidential aspirants in "highly favorable" ratings but running well behind the percentage won by President Johnson in May 1964.

According to the poll results issued Sunday, Nixon drew highly favorable" ratings from 28 per cent of those questioned compared to 26 per cent for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, 24 per cent for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, 23 per cent for Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and 19 per cent for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

Four years ago Johnson won 59 per cent against 15 per cent for his Republican opponent, Barry Goldwater.

Death Ruled By Natural Causes Here

Death by natural causes was ruled in a coroner's inquest this morning after the body of a man was found in his room at the Hillson Hotel.

He was identified as Childress James Irvin, 51, of Fairview, Okla., a Santa Fe Railway worker.

The body was discovered shortly after 6 a.m. today after several other Santa Fe workers who were living at the hotel notified the hotel clerk that the man failed to respond to their calls.

Justice of the Peace E. L. Anderson ruled that the death occurred by coronary occlusion.

The body was taken to Duencel Funeral Home, pending arrangements for burial.

Woman Tries Suicide In Jail

A negro woman in city jail attempted suicide early this morning by hanging herself, but the attempt failed because "the piece of material used was rather flimsy and would not support the female prisoner's full weight," according to a police report.

Guy Bowers, duty dispatcher and night duty jailer, discovered the attempt at 3:35 a. m.

The woman was apparently despondent because she had been abandoned by her boyfriend for another woman, police said.

She was charged with intoxication Sunday after a man in the south part of Pampa reported she was an "uninvited guest" in his house, the police report said.

Casper's Thinking Wins Colonial Golf Title

By ED FITE
UPI Sports Writer
FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI)—Billy Casper, in a manner of speaking, figures he "out-thought" what he described as a "thinking man's golf" course when he won the Colonial National Invitation title Sunday with the tour's only sub-par score—a five-under 275.

"Colonial requires thinking to play it well," the 36-year-old Casper said after his final round 34-34-68 over the 7,136-yard par 35-35-70 layout that won him $25,000 and made him the first pro ever to surpass the $100,000 earnings mark this early.

"You have to creep up on it...you don't bowl it over," Casper commented of his five-stroke victory over runner-up Gene Littler, whose 35-35-68 totaled even par 280 and won him $15,000.

Casper, who now has won three tournaments this year and pocketed better than $103,000 to rank No. 1 on the tour, says he plans to take off a couple of weeks and return to the tour at Indianapolls and then play in the U.S. Open, Canadian Open, British Open and the PGA championship.

Casper had started the final round tied at 207 with Gary Player after rounds of 63-71-68, and they were four strokes in front of the field.

Casper set the tone with back-to-back birdie putts of eight and two feet on the first two holes and never had to worry after that since Player turned in his "worst round in five years" and wound up with a 38-38-76 and finished in a tie for fourth at 283.

The battle really was for second place money of $15,000 and the winner there was Littler when Tommy Aaron bogeyed three of the last five holes to finish with a 33-37-70 and was alone at 281, worth $9,375. Littler had birdie putts of 20, 10 and 40 feet against lone bogey on No. 11 when he missed a 6-foot putt.

Player won $5,812.50 as he shared fourth place with Lee Trevino of Horizon City, Tex., who shot a 38-33-71 for his 283.

Dancer's Image Is Controversial

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (UPI)—Remember Exterminator? He was among the greatest horses ever and they called him "old bones."

Citation was another great one and he was known as Old Reliable. Then there was Silky Sullivan. He wasn't so great but they called him Old Comed-From-Behind.

Now along comes Dancer's Image, nobody really knows whether he's great or not and if he doesn't get out of this rut, soon, they'll start calling him Old Controversial.

He has gone to the post twice now in the last two weeks, in the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness, and although he hasn't won a nickel, more people are talking about him today than they ever did about Tin Tin—probably the most famous animal in history.

Most race horses never are disqualified once in their lives; Dancer's Image has managed it twice in a row now. Once for phenylbutazone in his system after finishing first in the Derby again and in the Preakness here Saturday after he ran third, but was placed eighth for bumping another horse in the stretch.

There are those who suggest that either the horse or his owner, Peter Fuller of Boston is jinxed or snake bit.

No Connection

"Nonsense," laughs Fuller. "These were two entirely disconnected events which merely happened."

Then there are those who make jokes about Dancer's Image. They say laughingly he could be the first Triple Crown winner never to win a race. This also is rather nonsensical because Dancer's Image has won many races in his time.

Two things seem sure, Fuller certainly plans to run his horse in the third leg of the Triple Crown, the Belmont Stakes on June 1 and he is not the least bit worried about the $135,000 Dancer's Image "lost" because of his last two disqualifications.

Fuller fulfills his horse. That's obvious by the way he talks about Dancer's Image and by the way he treats the handsome dark gray colt.

"He's such a nice horse," says Fuller, "it's a shame to hurt him in any way. We want very much for him to run in the Belmont. We feel it could be the easiest race of all for him but his physical condition will determine everything. If the horse isn't right he won't run. It's as simple as that. But I have no information to indicate anything is wrong with him."

Fuller was far more concerned about the physical condition of Dancer's Image following the Preakness than he was about his failure to win.

He hurried back to the stable area after the race and anxiously kept looking at his horse's ankles while two grooms were washing down Dancer's Image.

Worried About Injury

"Has he got a mark on him at all?" Fuller asked trainer Bob Casey.

"Only a little mark up here,"

JOE FRAZIER, recognized as the world heavyweight champion by New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Maine, Massachusetts and Mexico, announced Thursday that he will make the first defense of his crown against Mexico's Manuel Ramos on June 24 in Madison Square Garden. Ramos, a former soccer player, is ranked fourth by Ring Magazine and has rolled up 15 straight victories, including 12 kayoes.

Stanky Gripes When Winning

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer
Eddie Stanky, who loved his team while it was losing, doesn't even like it now that it's winning.

The spunky Chicago White Sox manager suffered through his team's 10-game losing streak at the start of the season by joggling in the outfield after the game. He insisted the team would bounce back and, despite all the losses, claimed, "I still love my team."

But after the White Sox jumped from ninth to sixth place Sunday by chalking up their 15th victory in the last 22 games, Stanky wasn't happy or even pleased with the team's play.

"I wasn't particularly impressed with my team's showing," Stanky grumbled after the White Sox blasted Oakland 6-2 and 7-3 to complete its first series sweep this season.

Too Many Mistakes

"The people down in Texas and Mobile who read about our victories probably think we're doing great. But we didn't play well in this series, we made far too many mistakes," he added.

Despite Stanky's misgivings, the Sox have come up with quite a turnaround and are now six games behind the Detroit Tigers, who swept a doubleheader from the Washington Senators 5-4 and 7-0 to retain first place.

Cleveland remained two games back by sweeping Baltimore 11-6 and 2-0. In other games, Minnesota beat California 3-2 after losing 2-1 and New York snapped Boston's seven-game win streak with an 11-3 triumph.

In the National League, Philadelphia topped St. Louis 4-3, Cincinnati beat Pittsburgh 9-3, Atlanta swept a doubleheader from New York 3-2 and 2-0, Chicago beat San Francisco 6-3 after losing the opener 1-0 and Houston swept a doubleheader from Los Angeles 2-1 and 3-1.

Tommy John hit a three-run homer in the fourth inning and pitched a six-hitter to carry the White Sox past Oakland in the first game.

Al Kaline's 30th career homer and Ed Mathews' 110th said Casey, pointing to a spot directly above the right back leg. "but it isn't anything serious."

Lee Praises Squad In Initial Effort

Head football coach Swede Lee was "well pleased" with the intra-squad football game Saturday night in which the White varsity team defeated the Green varsity squad, 24-18.

In a telephone conversation Monday, Lee said the football team displayed "enthusiasm and got after each other like they were supposed to do."

He refused to predict who would be the starting quarterback when Pampa's high school football team opens the season against Hereford there. He did say that Gary Parrish played "well."

He added that Parrish "threw well and ran well. He had the better performance Saturday. It is hard to say who will start at quarterback, however."

On the line, Lee had praise for John Stokes, Eddie Hopkins and Phillip Long. "Long played well on both offense and defense," the 31-year-old coach said. "I was also impressed with Randy Cantrell. (Cantrell scored an 83-yard touchdown on what may be considered the most spectacular run of the game).

Dan Carlton, who intercepted one pass, played "extremely well," Lee noted. "This boy hasn't played football since the ninth grade. He's participated strictly in baseball and basketball. When you consider this is his first football game, he did very well."

Fall football practice gets underway in mid-August, Lee noted.

Astros Sweep Pair Over Los Angeles

By STU CAMEN
UPI Sports Writer
Chicago Cubs Manager Leo Durocher, one of baseball's better hunch players, "stuck to the book" Sunday and former pupil Herman Franks learned a valuable lesson.

The Cubs had two runners on base with two out in the sixth inning of the second game of a doubleheader against San Francisco when Franks decided to remove Giants' starting pitcher Bob Bolin. Bolin, a righthander, was removed in favor of southpaw Joe Gibbon with lefty swinging Dick Nen coming to bat.

Nen had belted a two-run homer in his previous trip to the plate, but Durocher countered Franks' move by sending up righthanded hitting Ernie Banks, who promptly proved his manager's wisdom by slamming his sixth home run of the season. The Cubs went on to gain a 6-3 victory and a split of the twinbill after dropping the opener 1-0.

"I was forced to put in Banks because Herman switched to a left-hander. It's part of baseball strategy," Durocher said with a straight face. "And that Banks—He's a beauty," Durocher added.

Franks, who served as a coach under Durocher when the lip managed the Giants when the club was located in New York, defended his pitching change.

Notes Bolin Tiring

"Gibbon hadn't allowed an earned run in the 6-1-3 innings he'd worked this season and Bolin appeared to be losing his stuff after walking two batters in the sixth," Franks said. "So, I decided to bring in the left-hander to face Nen, whom I figured to be the next batter."

The split enabled San Francisco to move into one game of National League-leading St. Louis as the Cardinals lost to Philadelphia 4-3 for their fourth straight setback. In other NL games, Cincinnati walloped Pittsburgh 9-3, Atlanta beat the New York Mets twice, 3-2 and 2-0, and Houston swept a doubleheader from Los Angeles 2-1 and 3-1.

In the American League, front-running Detroit took a pair from Washington 5-4 and 7-0, Cleveland topped Baltimore twice 11-6 and 2-0, Chicago swept a twinbill from Oakland 6-2 and 7-3, Minnesota won the nightcap of its doubleheader from California 3-2 after the Angels won the opener 2-1 and

New York whipped Boston 11-3. The Giants used Jim Ray Hart's home run in the second inning and the six-hit pitching of Gaylord Perry to gain their victory in the opener. Three of the hits off Perry were collected by Billy Williams, who tied Richie Ashburn's major league record for outfielders by appearing in his 694th consecutive contest in the nightcap, which was won by Bill Hands.

Ninth Inning Rally

Pinch hitter Gary Sutherland's two-run double in the bottom of the ninth carried the Phils past St. Louis. The Cards had taken a 3-2 lead in the top half of the inning when Julian Javier walked, Curt Flood tripled and Tim McCarver singled to account for two runs, but reliever Dick Farrell, who allowed McCarver's single, got the third out to pick up his second win.

Rookie catcher Johnny Bench drove in four runs with a double and two singles as Cincinnati boasted a 9-0 lead before Pittsburgh scored its runs in the seventh inning off winner George Culver. The Reds' Vada Pinson collected his 1,764th major league hit during the contest to tie Hall of Famer Edd Roush for the club record.

Atlanta rookie Ron Reed hurled a two-hitter and Felipe Alou and Felix Milan collected run-scoring singles in the eighth inning in the Braves' opening-game win. Dick Kelley limited the Mets to eight safeties in the nightcap as the sweep moved Atlanta into a tie for second place with San Francisco.

Lee Thomas' homer and run-scoring single paced the Astros to their second game win after Ron Brand drove in Houston's winning run in the opener with a fifth inning double. Mike Cuellar tossed a six-hitter in the nightcap to pick up his first win after Denny Lemaster held the Dodgers to seven hits in gaining his fourth triumph in the first game.

AUSTRALIAN WINNER

ROME (UPI)—Top seeded Lesley Turner of Australia defeated second seeded Margaret Smith Court of Australia 2-6, 6-2, 6-3, Sunday to win the women's singles title of the 24th Italian tennis championship for the second straight year.

Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., and Tom Okker of Holland captured the men's double title while Riessen and Mrs. Court won the mixed doubles title.

SIGN PITCHER

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Twenty-three year-old Mike Paul, who had a 2-1 record and a 1.09 ERA at Reno, was purchased Sunday by the Cleveland Indians.

Paul, a lefthander, is scheduled to join the Indians in Anaheim next week after classes end at the University of Arizona.

Is your head pounding—nose running—your eyes watering and are you sneezing—sneezing—sneezing? Have you blown your nose, until it is raw? We're sorry you're suffering because obviously you're not aware of our product SYN-A-CLEAR and this is our fault. SYN-A-CLEAR is the original timed release tablet that gives you up to eight hours of relief from head cold symptoms and clogged up sinuses.

We do not have millions to spend on T.V. to tell you about SYN-A-CLEAR. Just this small ad. We do not gimmick our advertising and product by offering twelve hours of medication. What is medication without relief? SYN-A-CLEAR is what we offer and it gives you eight hours of relief per tablet or your money back in full.

We could go into detail how our product works and about the fine formula, but we would rather you ask the experts about SYN-A-CLEAR. The druggist at the store listed below or your family doctor can tell you about the merits of our fine formula. SYN-A-CLEAR costs more ($1.50 and $3.00 sizes) because it does more. You're buying relief and not gimmicks. Try SYN-A-CLEAR as soon as possible—you know—all your head cold symptoms and clogged up sinuses are all you can lose.

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

The Electoral College

Nearly everyone who has written on the subject for the last 180 years or so has called for doing away with or drastically altering the Electoral College method of choosing the nation's president.

The criticism has been especially vigorous this year because of the possibility that the third-party candidacy of former Alabama Gov. George Wallace could throw the election into the House of Representatives. The wheeling and dealing that might accompany that eventuality gives some people nightmares.

There are 538 electoral votes, which is the total of the representatives and senators of the 50 states plus three for the District of Columbia. When John Q. Public votes in November, he votes not for the presidential and vice presidential candidates of the party of his choice but for a state of electors. The elected electors in turn meet in their respective state capitols in December and are morally—but not legally—bound to vote for the candidates they represented on the ballot.

The Constitution provides that when no candidate receives a majority (270) of the electoral votes, the House of Representatives must choose the president from the top three candidates, with each state's delegation casting one vote. (Senators vote as individuals for one of the top two vice presidential candidates.)

There are two main proposals for reform. One is to abolish the Electoral College outright and elect the president and vice president by direct vote like every other elective federal official. The other proposal is to retain the college, but make its votes proportional

Blazing A Trail

The government's program of free medicine for the needy—known as Medicaid—is costing taxpayers hundreds of millions of dollars more than expected. It has led to the expansion of welfare rolls to some 9 million persons. States have had to dip into emergency funds to support their share of the program, and Medicaid piled on top of Medicare is blamed for overcrowding hospitals and doctor shortages, which have forced up prices for all medical care.

The foregoing are typical of press reports concerning the federal government's greatly expanded role in the health care picture. Against this backdrop of the seemingly insoluble problems of government health care, the president-elect of the American Medical Association, Dwight L. Wilbur, M. D. summed up a formidable list of profound changes in medicine and society that have taken place in recent years. He believes it is the responsibility of the medical profession to exert the great leadership needed to help bring order out of the chaos that these changes have wrought.

Better In Russia; Still Bad

Something slightly resembling free enterprise is credited with making life in Soviet Russia a little more tolerable. The Chicago Tribune says 10,000 enterprises have been placed "under the so-called economic reform system—the communist euphemism for a system under which profits are laudable and local initiative replaces central planning. These enterprises, almost wholly in consumer goods, now are said to account for half of Russia's industrial output.

Moscow reports that during 1967 the Russian people are able to buy 9.6 million more pairs of shoes than in 1966. 194 million more square yards of cloth, 160,000 more televisions sets and 69,000 more tons of meat. However, the quotas for rolled metal, steam turbines and metallurgical equipment will do well to compare were not met. Heavy industries of workers in the two still runs mainly under the old rules and restrictions.

But despite the slight improvement, people in Soviet Russia are still as far worse off than those in comparatively free countries, and to realize that workers under Soviet rule have been eased.

The NCC's Irresponsibility

As concerned churchmen weigh the moral tragedy of widening violence and lawlessness in American cities, they cannot ignore the role of the National Council of Churches in recent years and months or fail to ask themselves whether the NCC has contributed to the breakdown in public order.

For those citizens who are acquainted with the positions adopted by the NCC in the area of political action, consideration of the subject is almost inevitable. Year by year, the NCC has been moving out of the realm of religious work and into the field of political policy-making and encouragement of direct political action. This situation has been clearly cited by the editors of Christianity Today in their comments on recent meeting of the General Board of the NCC in San Diego, Calif.

According to Christianity Today, "the San Diego sessions signaled a full-speed-ahead socio-political-economic drive by the General Board that may lead many churchmen to re-evaluate their support of the National Council of Churches."

At the meeting, the NCC adopted a report that called for U. S. trade and cultural exchanges with Red China, recognition of Communist China, acceptance of the brutal Red regime in East Germany, removal of travel restrictions on Soviet citizens in the U.S., admission of Red China to the United Nations and reduction of American forces in the Far East. The communist world certainly could not have asked for a nicer report— from their standpoint.

But of special concern at this time are the actions of the NCC General Board with respect to the domestic scene. For example, the NCC increased support for poverty-rights action groups by Church Women United and gave financial backing to the National Urban Coalition. It called on local churches to provide "funds for local black groups to strategize for the summer" and to support "inclusion of black power and black nationalist organization in local task groups seeking action and solution to problems."

The General Board also called for observation of police behavior and reporting of any so-called police brutality. Churchmen were further urged by the NCC General Board to form action task groups to move on basic issues in cooperation with the "ghetto" community rather than through "white paternalism" programs. In short, the General Board recommended a big package of programs that are highly political in content and controversial in character. Arthur S. Fleming, in presiding in the NCC meeting, frankly stated that "the church should become more and more involved in political action. We're going to push hard on this one."

Though the NCC professes to speak for 30 million Protestants, there is no real evidence that the ordinary churchman believes as the General Board believes. Indeed there is a very strong and insistent grassroots protest in the churches against the increasingly-political and "ultra-liberal" nature of the NCC.

In the past, church programs were not regarded as material or public commentary. But the NCC has virtually ceased to be a religious organization in the accepted sense and instead has become an instrument for political change and re-orientation of public opinion. Thus informed citizens, irrespective of their religious background, feel it entirely proper — indeed necessary — to discuss the political positions adopted by the NCC and distributed around the country in printed and broadcast form.

It is deeply unfortunate that the NCC has taken this political bent, for there is need of cooperation among churches and churchmen in works of charity and in discussion of spiritual questions. But religion and politics do not mix. Certainly the pulpit is not the place for a partisan plea in behalf of specific legislation or controversial public programs. The introduction of the content and spirit of politics into religious life simply drives out the element of genuine spirituality.

It is true that some churchmen in our time believe that they have a duty to be "activists." If activism is confined to good works, to giving a personal example by way of faith and dedication and love, then it always will be welcomed by men of good will. But activism that is defined in political terms and that manifests it by supporting movements and organizations that disrupt a nation or community — that kind of activism is contrary to everything for which religion is supposed to stand.

And when the NCC turns activist, in giving money and moral support to black power and black nationalist groups, it is contributing to the breakdown of peace and good will in the country. It is heaping coals on the fires of unrest and bitterness.

LBI Stalls On Justice Department's Recom. Endorsement For Prosecution Of Powell For Misuse Of U.S. Funds

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Johnson is stalling action on a Justice Department recommendation that former Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., be prosecuted for misuse of federal funds. This politically explosive proposal has been pending for more than a month.

It was made by Assistant Attorney General Fred Vinson, following an exhaustive investigation by a squad of FBI agents and a federal grand jury. Powell, his estranged Puerto Rican wife and one-time members of his staff were among the numerous witnesses interrogated by the jury.

Vinson, head of the Criminal Division and son of the late Chief Justice, recommended Powell be indicted and brought to trial. That was submitted to Attorney General Ramsey Clark.

After a detailed study of these findings, Clark took them directly to President Johnson. They have discussed the matter at length several times. Insiders attribute the block on action entirely to the President.

There is no indication when if anything will be done about Vinson's recommendation. The whole affair is very hush-hush; shrouded in tight official silence and secrecy.

Last month, during a Harlem sortie from his Bimini retreat, Powell announced he would again seek election to Congress as a Democrat. But, he intimated he was still undecided whom he would support for President. This recalled that in 1952, when a possible tax case was pending against him in the Justice Department, he declared for General Eisenhower, the Republican standard bearer. Subsequently, the Justice Department shelved the case.

It is authoritatively understood Vinson's recommendation that Powell be tried is based on a series of charges. They include misappropriation of funds involving a federal salary paid his wife; misuse of funds for unauthorized travel and other purposes; and income tax allegations.

"Wrongfully and wilfully appropriated $28,505.34 of public funds for his own use from July 31, 1965 to January 1, 1967, by allowing a salary to be drawn on behalf of Y. Marjorie Flores as a clerk-hire employee when, in fact, she was his wife and not an employee in that she performed no official duties and further was not present in the state of New York or in Mr. Powell's Washington office as required by Public Law 89.

"Wrongfully and wilfully appropriated $15,683.27 of public funds to his own use from Aug. 31, 1964 to July 21, 1965 by allowing a salary to be drawn on behalf of said Y. Marjorie Flores as a clerk-hire employee when any official duties performed by her were not performed in the state of New York or Washington, D. C. in violation of House Resolution 294 of the 88th Congress.

Representative Thomas Curtis, R-Mo., who led the fight that expelled Powell, is equally firm, saying, "Powell was accused of criminal activities by his peers. I don't see how the house could ever change its mind about that. The overriding question is still the integrity of the House, and that doesn't change."

Meanwhile, President Johnson is uneasily pondering what to do about Assistant Attorney General Vinson's strongly bulwarked recommendation that Powell be indicted and tried.

COVERT RED BACKING — All leaders and units of the U. S. Communist Party are under orders to "mobilize in support" of the so-called poor people's march in Washington.

The secret directive, issued under the signature of William L. Patterson, long-time CP functionary, went to "all District and National Committee members, heads of all Negro Work Departments and chairmen of all CP commissions."

In The Worker, the party's newspaper, Patterson is identified as chairman of the "National Negro Commission." His May 1 directive is signed "William L. Patterson, for the Negro Work Department."

In his militant pronouncement, Patterson hails the march as a revolutionary development that calls for "all-out CP support."

"The dominant factor of it all," he declares, "is that it shows the limitless potentialities for successful struggle. The people are in motion. The battle for their clarification, unification and direction is a challenge we can neither evade nor avoid."

Under a subtitle "Our Tasks," Patterson enjoins all district leaders to engage in aggressive organization and propaganda activities, particularly in the south.

"The Negro Work Department," declares Patterson, "calls on all district leaders to recognize and through action acknowledge the possibilities for deepening and sharpening the struggle against poverty. This leads logically to the organization of the south, the unorganized and the unemployed. This is not only vitally important in relation to a successful fight against poverty, but in relation to every major issue before the nation. Correct steps in publicizing the march and its massive ramifications can help awaken the creative imagination of black and white alike."

Patterson proclaims the dictum that "if poverty is to be abolished, the people must become abolitionists."

"The march and its many ramifications," he states, "reveals the power of Negro leadership, the dire need for unity and coordination in the struggle. The tragic picture of the polarization of poverty and consequent degradation alongside of unequal wealth, ruthless rap-

If Powell is re-elected to the House, he still faces tough hurdles before he can regain his seat. Bipartisan leaders are emphatic that the "wrongfully and wilfully appropriated" $40,000 is still a debt he had to pay. Says Representative Celler, "He would have to face the same charges as he did in this congress. Those circumstances have not changed one bit as far as I am concerned."

Representative Thomas Curtis, R-Mo., who led the fight that expelled Powell, is equally firm, saying, "Powell was accused of criminal activities by his peers. I don't see how the house could ever change its mind about that. The overriding question is still the integrity of the House, and that doesn't change."

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK J. MARKEY

Tea is the most popular beverage in the world and ranks second only to water as a thirst quencher. In some countries certain ceremonies accompany tea drinking. For example, in Iran tea is served hot in glasses and the host touches his heart and forehead as he passes the drink to his guests. In some European countries the natives always put a lump of sugar or a spoonful of jam in their mouths before they drink the tea. And in the mid-East they flavor the beverage with mint leaves. Americans usually drink hot tea in cups and about the only time it is served in glasses is during the summer when the beverage is iced. Incidentally, iced tea was invented in 1904 at the St. Louis World's Fair and soon became very popular there. That its popularity has increased through the years is attested by the fact Americans drink an estimated 18 billion glasses of iced tea every year.

Today's smile: A teacher asked her class: "Can anyone tell me what a fish net is made of?" "Little Johnny answered: 'It's a lot of little holes held together by strings.'"

Safety experts estimate there is an accidental death in the U.S. every five minutes. And motor vehicles are involved in one fatality every quarter hour. Whenever you use the expression that someone "eats like a bird," be careful. Some birds eat their own weight in food in a year and other species like the parakeet can eat nearly 100 times its own weight in food every 12 months.

sea measure an average of 60 feet, a U.S. naval vessel sailing from Manila to San Diego once reported a wave measuring 112 feet from trough to crest. . . . Disraeli once said: "There are amusing people who do not interest and interesting people who do not amuse." How true! . . . In ancient Rome the ladies used face cream too. It consisted of fat of lions mixed with the essence of roses. . . . "The nth degree" is a common expression, which derives from mathematics. It means an indefinite power and "to the nth degree" means to an extreme. . . . Wonder how many hands a politician shakes in the course of a campaign? . . . The tallest statue in the world is a Buddha idol in Afghanistan that is 173 feet tall. It dates back to the 3rd century . . . A friend just back from Alaska tells us most Eskimos can't swim although they live near the water. He said the reason would probably affect most white folk too—the water is too cold. . . . That reminds us that the fishermen of Aran, the tiny island off the coast of Ireland, can't swim either. Yet they go out on rough seas daily in small boats. The Chicago (Ill.) SUN-TIMES reported in a story: "Gathered around him were Mayor Daley and his two sons, Rep. Dan Rostenkowski (D-Ill.) and Dr. Frank Stanton of CBS." The mayor's "sons" don't spell their names the way he does, do they?

Country Editor speaking: "Just a few years ago a family was rated on domestic prosperity if they owned two cars; these days the status symbol is owning two colored TV sets."

Thoughts while shaving: Although most of the high waves at city and influence is present. The impact can be strengthened by the polarization of the march everywhere, in schools, churches, labor bodies, students, youths and the black citizenry.

FLASHES — Senators Clinton Anderson and Joseph Montoya, D-N.M., have assurances their bill barring imports of Egyptian extra-long staple cotton will not be pigeonholed in the Foreign Relations Committee. This promise was made in a personal letter from Senator J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman. He wrote Anderson and Montoya after they vehemently protested Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield's extraordinary action in sending the bill to Fulbright's committee after it had been approved by the Agriculture Committee and was awaiting consideration by the full Senate. Mansfield did that while Anderson and Montoya were absent and knew nothing about his maneuver—which they charge was designed to scuttle the measure.

The action of Maryland's 49 delegates to the Democratic national convention in deciding to support Vice President Humphrey was a stinging rebuff to Senator Joseph Tydings and Baltimore Mayor Thomas D'Allesandro 3d, ardent Kennedyites. Their last-minute attempt to stall a Humphrey endorsement was overwhelmingly voted down. . . . With the United Auto Workers "disassociated" from the AFL-CIO, as a result of President George Meany's blunt ultimatum "to pay up (dues) or get out" the way is clear, insiders say, for the return of the giant Teamsters union. It was expelled some years ago on charges of racket relations with top officials. With former President James Hoffa serving a federal sentence, early resumption of ties is predicted.

Walter Reuther, militant liberal UAW chief, now 60, is slated to retire at 65 under the union's mandatory retirement system. Credited as his most likely successor is Douglas Fraser, 52, head of the Chrysler Department.

"School children and other tourists are keeping away from the Capital in increasing numbers this summer because of fear," declares Byrd. "I can document that Bus drivers are subjected to constant harassment; they are assaulted and robbed nightly and live in fear of their lives. Women cover behind locked doors; men and women, old and young, are afraid to venture out on the streets at night, and, in some areas of the city, even in broad daylight."

"The city is a paradise for animalistic hoodlums. For those who don't believe that, all they have to do is drive a few blocks from the Capitol in almost any direction and see the young hoodlums gathered on street corners and in front of business establishments."

Senator Byrd scored a significant victory when the Senate by an overwhelming 61 to 9 adopted his amendment to the crime control bill requiring the discharge of federal employees convicted of felonies during ci-

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating a guy named Jake for the last month or so. My problem is that Jake doesn't know how to kiss. He is 24 years old, hasn't been around much and he kisses me like he's kissing a wall.

I know how a guy should kiss a girl, and poor Jake doesn't know what he's missing.

Is there some way I could tell him without offending him? I would like to hang on to him, but I'm afraid if I criticize his kissing he will drop me.

Can you please give Jake and guys like him a simple 1-2-3 lesson on how to kiss? I'm sure I'm not the only girl with this problem.

LIKES JAKE

DEAR LIKES: Sorry, but each girl will have to give her own kissing lessons. An inexperienced kisser may be clumsy at first, but with practice, he should improve. Kissing, when inspired by honest affection, is instinctive. Don't tell him. Show him. If he's normal and genuinely interested in you, he will catch on.

DEAR ABBY: My wife is one of those women who knows everything. And her most thorough area of knowledge is what most husbands do and do not do, although I can't figure out for the life of me where she gets all her knowledge.

The specific question at the moment is who should shampoo the rugs? The husband or the wife?

We have had an electric shampooer (price $85) for a year, and it's been used only once.

I am employed full time. My wife is not employed outside the home, nor does she participate in any volunteer work, church activities or social activities. Our three children are in school all day. We live in a well-furnished home with all the modern conveniences. She expects me to shampoo the rugs because "most" husbands do. Do they?

POOR RICHARD

DEAR RICHARD: I can't speak for "most" husbands and neither can your wife. But what they do should have no bearing on who does what in your home. If a person doesn't want to do something—one excuse is as good as another, but if you can not agree—take turns.

DEAR ABBY: My fiancé and I set the date for our wedding and I went ahead and made all the plans. Then his mother tells me that I should change the date because it conflicts with her high school reunion.

I told her it was impossible to change the wedding date, so she said, "Well, I may just have to miss the wedding."

Abby, which do you think is more important? A high school class reunion or your own son's wedding? And do you think I was wrong for not changing the date?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: I would say that one's son's wedding would take precedence over a class reunion, and I don't blame you for not changing the date.

CONFIDENTIAL TO B. L. F.:

When a woman marries John Jones, she becomes Mrs. John Jones, and remains Mrs. John Jones as long as he lives and is his legal wife. Should John die, she is Mrs. John Jones (not Mrs. Mary Jones) unless she marries another man. However if Mrs. John Jones divorces John she does not retain the name of "Mrs. John Jones," she is Mrs. Smith (her maiden name) Jones. It makes sense to me because if John marries again, his wife becomes Mrs. John Jones, and if his former wife (and, heaven forbid, former wives) all retain the name of Mrs. John Jones, wouldn't they have a time with their charge accounts, mail and identification.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR ABBY: When I read the letter from the woman whose neighbor named her dog "Lester," which was the name of the man next door, I had to write:

Nearly 15 years ago, my father and I were living together alone, having just lost my mother about 6 months before.

One evening Dad heard someone calling "Junior, Junior." Since that is his nickname, he went to investigate, and discovered a neighbor woman calling her cocker spaniel.

Well, it couldn't have turned out better because she was attractive, single, and very nice. A year and a half later my father married this woman.

Of course this woman had named her dog "Junior" before she met my father, but she could not have made a wiser choice.

She has been a wonderful wife to Dad, and a wonderful "mother" to me, doggone it.

JUNIOR'S DAUGHTER
