Senate Okays Tough Crime-Fighting Bill

TALKS ON ICE FOR FOUR DAYS

U.S. Seeking Ways To Break Peace Stalemate

By STEWART HENSLEY
PARIS (UPI)—The United States is studying various ways of getting Hanoi into secret negotiations that could save the stalemated Vietnam talks, U.S. officials said today.

They said U.S. roving ambassador W. Averell Harriman is discussing them with delegation aides and Washington while the talks are on ice for four days. At the end of their fourth unproductive formal session Wednesday Harriman and Hanoi's envoy Xuan Thuy agreed to meet again Monday morning. Both delegations were using the recess to prepare tactics for their next confrontation.

The North Vietnamese scheduled another news conference for 2 p.m. (10 a.m. EDT) today.

BULLETIN

PARIS (UPI)—North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong today rejected U.S. demands for a reciprocal deescalation of Hanoi's war in return for a halt to American bombing. But an official Hanoi spokesman said the North Vietnamese had no intention of breaking off the stalemated Paris talks.

They were expected to produce more charges of alleged American "aggression" in Vietnam.

Both sides for the first time were facing up to the possibility the talks might break down altogether. Both parties said they did not want it to happen and did not regard it as inevitable. But they were pinning the blame on the other it should occur. U.S. officials saw the only hope of a breakthrough if Thuy could be persuaded to end the semi-public propaganda duelling that has been the keynote of the talks so far and get down to secret discussions on a broader Vietnam peace settlement.

However, Harriman's chief concern at the moment was said to be to get Thuy to admit the presence of 85,000 North Vietnamese troops in the South. Thuy has consistently refused to do so.

Harriman was said by U.S. officials to feel any future agreement with Hanoi would be useless if the Communists continue to deny what the United States has proved with chapter-and-verse evidence.

House Expected To Approve Clamp-Down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After an eventful year of thinking it over, House members are getting another chance to try to do something about curbing crime. Indications are they will join the Senate in getting tougher than the administration might prefer.

The Senate expressed its sentiment in no uncertain terms Thursday, passing an anticrime measure that would provide $400 million to boost local law enforcement, authorize regulated wiretapping, curb handgun sales and rescind Supreme Court expansion of criminal suspects' rights.

Approval came on a 72 to 4 roll call, with Senators John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., Hiram Fong, R-Hawaii, Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., voting no.

The Senate bill went far beyond the version passed by the House last year, which provided only $75 million for the law enforcement boost and ignored the wiretapping, criminal procedure and gun sales issues.

The House has the prerogative of simply accepting the Senate amendments. But Chairman Emanuel Celler of the House Judiciary Committee, floor manager of the bill, said he would move to have it sent to a House-Senate conference committee.

In view of the upsurge in crime and violence since the first time around, a majority of House members was expected to push for and get acceptance of virtually the whole Senate bill—despite Celler's opposition. Celler objects to provisions in the Senate bill which would override Supreme Court rulings and allow a trial judge, after taking all safeguards into consideration, to determine himself whether a confession was voluntary. It also would declare that eyewitness testimony is admissible as evidence even if the suspect did not have a lawyer when he was picked out of a lineup.

The Senate adopted an amendment to the "safe streets act" that would provide for 85 per cent of the two-year $400 million authorization to be allocated to state anticrime agencies, which would distribute the funds to communities. The remaining 15 per cent would be handled by the Justice Department.

The authorization would provide for a program of matching federal grants to improve local law enforcement through training, education, and the development of new techniques and equipment. It would specifically earmark $15 million in the first year for riot control and $15 million for the fight against organized crime.

Other sections of the Senate version would: —Permit federal agents and police to wiretap in the investigation of national security cases and major crimes, including virtually every felony. The taps would be under court order and court supervision but limited to 30 days unless extended.

—Ban the mail order sale of handguns and limit over-the-counter sales to state residents 21 and over. All attempts to include rifles and shotguns were beaten.

Bonnie Parker's Tombstone Stolen In Dallas Cemetery

DALLAS (UPI)—A vandal commemorated the May 23, 1934 death of gangstress Bonnie Parker by stealing her tombstone from a Dallas cemetery Thursday. Police reported they recovered the bronze marker later in the day.

The 80-pound, doggerel-inscribed bronze marker was found at a West Dallas intersection by police acting on an anonymous phone tip.

Officials also said the tombstone of Clyde Barrow, Miss Parker's partner-in-crime, was taken from an Oak Cliff graveyard. Police were still searching for it.

Miss Parker's tombstone bears an inscription reading: "As the flowers are all made sweeter by the dew so this old world is made brighter by the lives of folks like you."

Barrow and Miss Parker, gangsters who terrorized most of the nation's midsection in the 1930's, were brought back to the public eye last year in the film "Bonnie and Clyde."

DE GAULLE IN APPEAL

Fresh Violence Sweeping Paris

By ALLAN A. PRIAUX

PARIS (UPI)—President Charles de Gaulle today brought forth his ultimate weapon — words — in an attempt to call back Frenchmen from the brink of revolution.

The 77-year-old apostle of the grandeur of France, his nation in chaos from paralyzing strikes and bloody student rioting, was speaking to his countrymen on radio and television this afternoon. Words have won the general's battles before.

In 1940 De Gaulle's broadcasts from London to Nazi-occupied France rallied his people for liberation. De Gaulle's speeches during the

New Zealand Is Rocked by Quake

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (UPI)—An earthquake so strong it shifted bridges and knocked a train from its tracks rumbled down the west coast of New Zealand today.

At least one person was known dead—a woman killed when a landslide swept over her home—and 15 persons were injured, officials said.

The shocks were felt as far away as Auckland where Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth of Britain, spent the night during a tour of New Zealand. Scientists put the quake's intensity at seven on the open-end Richter scale.

Worst hit was the village of Inangahua where officials said 70 per cent of the houses were destroyed and the rest were so badly damaged they were useless. The village and its surrounding area had a population of more than 1,200 persons.

In Greymouth, largest city of the west coast, several buildings were evacuated when wide cracks appeared in their walls. Officials said the quake cut road and railroad links along a 130-mile strip of the coast. Roads were closed by large cracks, bridges were knocked askew and a train was derailed.

N. Viet Troops Fall Into Trap Set By Marines

By EUGENE V. RISHER

SAIGON (UPI)—American Marines caught about 1,000 North Vietnamese driving into South Vietnam and killed at least 203 of them in a two-day battle, U.S. spokesmen said today.

The fighting Wednesday and Thursday along the southern edge of the Demilitarized Zone may have crippled Hanoi's attempt to flood men across the frontier for a major offensive, observers said.

The Leathernecks suffered 23 men killed and 86 wounded before the Communists fled Thursday night under fire from the Marines, tanks, artillery and jet bombers.

In other action, guerrilla fire shot down a Marine F4 Phantom jet near the northern coastal city of Tam Ky but the two crewmen parachuted to safety. It was the 264th U.S. plane downed in South Vietnam.

Near Saigon allied troops killed more than 50 Viet Cong in anti guerrilla sweeps Thursday and captured a Viet Cong battalion commander.

Near Da Nang, 360 miles up the coast from Saigon, Marines announced that for the past week they have been sweeping the foothills to catch guerrillas raiding lowland rice harvests. So far 76 Communists have been killed in Operation Mame-luke. U.S. losses included 16 men killed and 82 wounded.

Over North Vietnam, U.S. bombers Thursday hit Southern Panhandle supply lines in 129 missions. They struck 35 trucks, 23 cargo boats, five bridges and three anti-aircraft gun sites.

The border fighting raged just north of the allied frontier fort of Con Thien. A company of the 3rd Marine Division's 3rd Regiment ran into the invading North Vietnamese.

Auxiliary members and friends of the auxiliary will be offering the red poppy in remembrance of those who have given their lives in war.

The poppies were made by veterans in VA hospitals in Texas. The Auxiliary buys the poppies and pays each veteran who made them. Remainder of the money goes to assist veterans in Pampa and their families who have a need during the following year.

Auxiliary officers ask Pampans to pay tribute Saturday by purchasing and wearing a red poppy.

Poor People Leaders Seek Ways To Win More

By RICHARD LERNER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Leaders of the Poor People's March, one government commitment to their cause already in, conferred today on how to win more without further confrontation—with police.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, was meeting in New York with Bayard Rustin, who will direct a mass demonstration in Washington June 19.

They planned to discuss further plans at a 1 p.m. EDT news conference.

There were reports that Rustin, who engineered the 1963 civil rights march in the capital, would recommend some modification of goals set by the Poor People's Crusade now nearly two weeks old. But an aide, Norman Hill, said, "I have no knowledge of any plan to announce new objectives."

On Thursday, Abernathy and about 200 of his followers heard Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman promise an increase of about 30 per cent in the money his department will spend to make free food available to hungry Americans.

And, in another boost for the movement, Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., announced organization of a bipartisan group of House and Senate members to help the poor present "realistic proposals" to help the poor, and to push for their approval.

Brooke, the only Negro in the Senate, said the move had the backing of the leadership of both parties in both houses.

The meeting of Abernathy and his delegation with Freeman followed the first arrests released in the custody of since the marchers began arriving here 13 days ago. Eighteen persons, six of them teen-agers, were taken in custody on Capitol Hill when the group of about 200 refused to quit singing and praying and move on.

The adults, arraigned on charges of violating a law against parades or assemblages on the Capitol grounds, were released in the custody of march leaders. The youngsters were released without charge.

On hearing of the incident, the Rev. Jesse Jackson, one of the march leaders, came hurrying up and successfully urged the police to halt the arrests.

"We had not yet decided to escalate our campaign to civil disobedience," Jackson said. But he added: "No jails are going to stand in our way now."

High School Choir To Stage 'Showboat' Here Next Fall

Jerome Kern's "Showboat" to that time, he said, will make a landing in Pampa next fall with a crew composed of the Pampa High School Concert Choir and Bill Davis, choral director, at the helm. Rehearsals will start Sept. 16. Wanetta Bayless and Bruce Childers have been cast in the leading romantic roles of Magnolia and Ravenal for the production, which will be staged in-the-round at Harvester Field House Nov. 21, 22 and 23.

David Murphy as Joe, a Negro dock worker, will sing "Ol' Man River," which conveys the hopelessness he feels in contrast to the might and indifference of the Mississippi River, Davis said.

Other singing leads will be portrayed by Jan Autry as Ellie, Judy Brown as the tragic mulatto Julie LaVerne, and Glenda Howard as Queenie. Capt. Andy Hawkes will be played by Tommy Roberts.

Cast in speaking roles will be Wyatt Earp, John Duggan, David Webster, Sherry Watkins, Randy Cantrell, David Cory, Jay Losher, Mike Heiskell, Jeannie Turner, Reggie Thompson, Marsha Ellis, Carolyn McKinley, Jan Elder and Allison Davis.

Based on the novel by Edna Ferber, which she wrote to portray life on the Mississippi River, the show which was heralded as "an all-American musical comedy" arrived at the Ziegfeld Theatre in New York Dec. 27, 1927, preceded by the largest advance ticket sale up

Two Injured In Highway Crash

Drivers of two vehicles involved in a collision four miles west of Pampa on the Borger Highway yesterday afternoon escaped serious injury, although both vehicles were heavily damaged.

The accident happened at approximately 2:10 p.m.

Lloyd Allen Crittenden of Borger, driver of a two-ton truck owned by Russell Pole Line Construction Co., was released from Highland General Hospital after being taken there for observation.

Jake D. Bose, 71, a retired Perryton farmer, was also taken to Highland General Hospital and later was taken to his home in Perryton. He was listed in satisfactory condition today.

According to the Texas Highway Patrol, both vehicles were traveling west and Bose's auto, which was attempting to pass, struck the front end of the truck as it attempted to turn left. Force of the impact caused the front axle of the truck to be sheared off and caused extensive damage to Bose's 1967 auto.

No charges were filed, according to investigating officers Doug Wright and Ted Poling.

Editor To Speak In Pampa Tonight

H. M. Baggary, editor and publisher of the Tulia Herald, a national award-winning newspaper, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Gray County Democratic Club at 7:30 p.m. today in the Hospitality Room of the Citizens Bank and Trust Co.

Baggary served as an aide to Adm. Chester W. Nimitz during World War II and served on the staff of Lyndon Johnson during the 1960 presidential campaign.

The column in his weekly newspaper was judged best in the nation in 1957 and prior to that he had won an around-the-world trip in an editorial writing contest.

Baggary also conducts a weekly radio commentary on eight radio stations. Plans are underway for him to do a five-minute editorial on an Amarillo TV station. As a result of his newspaper column, he was once invited to be a panelist on an NEC television program to discuss the Little Rock, Ark. crisis. For the past 15 years, Baggary has been organizer for the Tulia Presbyterian Church. Leroy McBride, president of the Gray County Democratic Club, invited all interested persons to attend tonight's meeting.

Rocket Program Saved From the Economy Axe

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Space Committee has apparently saved most of the space agency's nuclear powered rocket program from the congressional economy axe.

President Johnson's $60 million request for the Nerva program in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's (NASA) budget, certainly faces some cutting, but not nearly so much as the House would have liked.

The House originally chopped the $60 million to $11.7 million. NASA Administrator James E. Webb said the sum would not even finance orderly cancellation of the project.

The Senate committee chaired by Clinton V. Anderson, D-N.M., has now approved a $55 million

NASA, outlay, and there are indications that the Senate itself will go along. Eventually a sum between $35 million and the $11.7 million authorized by the House must find its way into a subsequent appropriations bill.

Anderson has come a long way with the nuclear powered rocket. In the mid-1950s, before the Soviet Union's Sputnik propelled the United States into the space race, Anderson, then chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, was pressing for development of a nuclear-powered missile.

It was then known as Project Rover. Even in the pre-Sputnik period the nuclear rocket seemed to have possibilities as a weapon. In the space era it has been the dream of space scientists as a power plant for interplanetary space flights and for such tasks as resupplying space stations hovering over a given point on earth.

In fact, with Congress demanding cuts in expenditures, the Nerva project has become just a little bit too dreamy.

While military and civilian space scientists talk confidently of the ability of the Nerva engine to maneuver large payloads in space, they have not yet assigned it a mission. That is, they have not yet identified an approved U.S. space project which only the nuclear rocket could accomplish.

A Favorite Target

In addition, the entire space program has become a favorite target for congressional economizers. Strongly urging approval of the President's overall $4.4 billion request, Webb told Congress it was a bare bones budget. The House responded with only $4 billion in authorizations, and the Senate committee has recommended only $4.2 billion.

Two factors were instrumental in persuading the Senate committee to restore most of the House cuts for the nuclear powered rocket:

The investment to date: By the end of the present budget year more than $1.1 billion will have been spent on developing a nuclear powered rocket. In its report, the Senate committee said those sums, the knowledge gained and the scientific team now at work, would be wasted under the House-approved cuts.

Future prospects: The committee said a flyable nuclear rocket would be a "major advancement in space propulsion capability." Its report said: "Nearly everyone agrees that nuclear rocket propulsion will be required for space exploration, and attempts to reinstate the program at some future time would be extremely costly both in time and money."

A thought for the day: Norwegian poet Henrik Ibsen said—"I hold that man is in the right who is most closely in league with the future."

Seeing-Eye Dog Misses Classes

EDINBURG, Tex. (UPI) — A blind student completing his first year at Pan American College is doing just fine, but his dog-companion, Major, is having trouble academically.

Major does not get to class often enough.

The trouble started when fellow students of Charles Leroy of Weslaco, Tex., began petting the dog in class. Such treatment is bad for a seeing eye dog, so Leroy decided to leave him at home.

As it turned out, Leroy's class mates pitched in and helped the blind student around. Now he does not need the dog as much as before.

Leroy, blinded by an explosion while a serviceman, is working on a degree in elementary education.

Committee Says No Pressure Should Be Exerted for South Vietnam Coalition

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A private committee on the Vietnam War, which includes former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, said yesterday that South Vietnam should not be pressured into deciding if it wanted a coalition government with the Viet Cong when peace is restored.

"The United States should not exert pressure on South Vietnam to accept a coalition government," the panel said in a policy statement, and added that the road to peace is going to be long and hard with "the unhappy prospect of continued bloodshed."

The group, called Citizens Committee for Peace with Freedom in Vietnam, set up a 14-man subcommittee to draw up the special statement on negotiations. A spokesman said Eisenhower "actively participated in the drafting of the statement" before his recent heart attack.

The committee whose members also include Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Gen. Lucius D. Clay and former Sen. Paul H. Douglas, said:

Television In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — I usually finish work about midnight or one in the morning, and most of the time I like to unwind before going to bed by—what else?—watching television.

The stuff I like to unwind with is the stuff that requires an absolute minimum of thinking—maybe a half hour or so of an old, bad crime movie that you can just tune into and out of at random, without feeling committed to it. It is a sort of visual version of the old detective novel habit before going to sleep.

"Any representation of the National Liberation Front in political structure in South Vietnam should occur as a result of a free political choice expressed by the South Vietnamese themselves."

Well, here in the Hollywood area we have quite a few television stations that go late into the night—and the wee hours that follow. But they are all getting pretty thin on good movie material that hasn't been seen before, and I know some of the parts in the old pictures by heart.

So naturally one switches channels looking for something new. Well, we have had some really wonderfully terrible Italian sex-and-scandal epics, with bad dubbing, ridiculous plots and everything else a late-night television fan loves in his heart.

But guess what the real surprise is. Friends, some of the best reruns in the late night hours are the old television series that we all pretty much thought were pretty good for video but wouldn't hold up too well against movies, no matter how bad the ancient Hollywood films. It's not true.

For example, recently I have been hung up on reruns of one of the best television series ever made, "Naked City." It is not only better than many good small pictures from Hollywood's past—it is a lot better than numerous so-called quality films. Of course we knew "Naked City" was fine stuff even when it was first shown, but I confess I am surprised at how really well it holds up.

I've seen late-night reruns of "East Side-West Side," the George C. Scott series about a New York social worker which was cancelled after a short run on CBS-TV, but was very good. And it holds up too.

And even a series that I thought was vastly overrated, "Eleventh Hour," about psychiatrists and their cases, is a great improvement quite often over some of the hashed-over old movies.

So never fear that television

Kennedy-Rockefeller Jitters

Our Presidential campaign is giving the managers of the Central Banks in Europe the jitters. If the voter will put himself in the shoes of one of those bankers, he will understand why.

These bankers hold something more than $16 billion of our dollars. We have only $10.5 billion in gold to honor those dollars. The bankers have charitably agreed to wait for payment upon assurance of the US government that we'd increase taxes, cut spending and stop all extravagances until we have enough gold to cover the obligations. So what happened?

Congress has not yet increased taxes as our officials promised. The man presently in the White House announced that he will not stand for reelection and consequently will not be responsible for cutting expenditures. And prominent candidates of both political parties are big-spending, welfare-statists.

For the Democrats, there is Robert Kennedy, whose primary campaign theme is one of promising federal spending to assist every voting group he addresses. The bankers read these promises in the realization that the young Kennedy has no experience in managing financial affairs and that his own father took the precaution of setting up a trust fund for Bobby rather than making him responsible for managing his share of the family fortune. So the bankers don't see much prospect of US solvency in a Kennedy victory in November.

At the same time, the polls say that Nelson Rockefeller is a leading Republican candidate. The bankers know that in New York State spending under Rockefeller mushroomed from $1.99 billion in 1958-60 to $5.49 billion in the 1966-69 budget, and that the annual cost of servicing bonded indebtedness of the State rose from $33 million in 1965 to $80 million for fiscal 1969.

There is nothing reassuring to the creditors of the U.S. in that historical performance. The very fact that these two particular men are prominently mentioned as Presidential candidates has put the dollar in renewed jeopardy. The gold market is heating up again; pressure on the dollar is mounting. Our European creditors have a sharpened sense of uncertainty about who will be elected in November. In short, as we said above, they have the jitters. If they panic, they can force devaluation of the dollar.

The fate of the dollar may prove a bigger election year issue than the war, civil rights, and crime.

Something To Think About

It is clear that 1968 is not a year like all others. It may not even be a year like all other Presidential election years. All of us who reflect about the character of our times know that great affairs are stirring. This stirring clearly has affected the quality of everyday living. There is much talk about peace. But the aim often appears to be to stir up violence. There is much talk about progress. But the steps proposed often seem to suggest regulatory straitjackets. There is much talk about civil rights. But the rights talked about often require restrictions upon the freedoms of most of our citizenry.

What may be common to all these stirrings is the great sense of unease and uncertainty which they induce. Who can live among us today and feel certain that regard for the individual's life and property is a preeminent concern of the modern politician? Who has confidence that the phrase, "sound as a dollar," is not a cruel joke? Who is proud of the system of government which has evolved in our country in recent years—a system which promises everything to all, but frustrates many, deceives more, and inspires few. Not to anyone's surprise, there are some statistics which give us a reading on our current state. One of the fundamental series of numbers which tell us about ourselves is the national birth rate.

In 1935, in the depths of the Great Depression 16.9 infants were born per 1,000 persons in this country. In 1957, 25.0 infants were born per 1,000 persons in our country. The peak rate, in recent times, was in 1947, when 25.8 infants were born per 1,000 persons.

But in 1947 and in 1957, Americans could be said to be eager to bring children into our world, confident that a good life would be possible for them and, probably, a better world than their parents had enjoyed.

But, since 1960, the birth rate has fallen each and every year. The rate has now dropped below that of the years of the Great Depression.

Can it be said that the promise and the fulfillment of the New Frontier and the Great Society are as barren as the desert years of unemployment and physical hardship in the 1930's? It is something to think about.

Proposing A Law

This is to propose a law. The proposition is that no law be introduced in the Congress of the United States unless it incorporates in the text of the law:

- 1) How many dollars the new law will cost?
- 2) Where the money will come from?
- 3) How many new employees will be required to administer the law?
- 4) How much time taxpayers and/or businessmen will be required to spend filling out forms, questionnaires and reports?

It is realized that only estimates are possible, but any lawmaker who puts a bill in the hopper ought to be able to provide the Congress with reasonable firm information on those four questions. If somebody had stipulated those four questions on all the bills which Congress in its wisdom has passed over the past 30 or 40 years, this country would be infinitely richer, more stable, and better humored.

Ideally, the law would provide the Congress with reasonable information on those four questions. If somebody had stipulated those four questions on all the bills which Congress in its wisdom has passed over the past 30 or 40 years, this country would be infinitely richer, more stable, and better humored.

News to Sadden a Philosopher NEW YORK (NEA) — Answering criticism that Sen. Kennedy was spending too much money on his primary campaigns, his mother, Mrs. Rose Kennedy, told newsmen the other day:

"It's our own money and we are free to spend it any way we please."

Now, that is an item to sadden the soul of a philosopher. It has money. It has power. It has not one but two Kennedys. And most important, it is completely in character.

Under ordinary circumstances, we generally take a philosophical approach to items of this nature and speculate on how much more helpful and lively the world would be if people would only act out of character once in awhile.

To illustrate that contention, we usually put on a pair of old football shoes and kick a few news items around. And the more around, the better. To wit:

MACLEAN, Va. — Sen. and Mrs. Robert Kennedy said today that if a child of theirs had been throwing rocks at passing cars, they were very sorry and would take immediate steps to find out if David Kennedy, 12, was one of their children.

On looking that item over, however, we have had to admit that it is really not out of character at all. In the light of recent developments in the size of Sen. Kennedy's family, it seems to us almost impossible to deal in any exaggeration whatsoever.

And the same problem seems to exist every place else we look. For example:

Columbia University President Grayson Kirk (left) surveys riot-tron campus after announcing that student demonstrators would be punished by having to take all their meals in college coffee shop.

In our school days, if memory serves, the whole idea was to get through as quickly as possible and get on with the business of living.

That is all turned around now, of course. And to stand that item on its head does not make any more sense out of it. But, to continue:

PARIS: Gen. De Gaulle said tonight he was "certain that a just peace will be worked out" in the Vietnam negotiations under way here. "I am certain that a just peace will be worked out," De Gaulle said, "as soon as both sides submit their proposals to me."

Whether we could have done better on that one is beside the point. The nub is that one cannot think of anything too absurd for the president of France to say nowadays. Or anybody else, it seems:

NEW YORK — Cosmopolitan Magazine announced that it will break with tradition and cover the presidential race with Christine Keeler and Mandy Rice Davies as its chief campaign followers.

There was a time, of course, when Cosmopolitan published works by Ring Lardner, for example, and F. Scott Fitzgerald. But those names don't sell any more. What sells, it seems, is:

SARDINIA — In a TV interview broadcast around the globe via satellite, Jacqueline Kennedy told the waiting world that she would "go anywhere at any time."

Well, Mrs. Kennedy is always good for a laugh these days, although we remember when she was the president's wife.

But, as we said, there is no point in trying to rewrite the news into a more hopeful and lively frame. Now people are just too rigid to step out of character, even for a second. So, under the circumstances, we have no choice but to quit dealing in hyperbole and be content with sticking to the facts.

NEW YORK — The Dow-Jones average showed the people market down nearly 100 points today, with the only gains being made by Christine Keeler and Mandy Rice Davies.

Question Box

QUESTION: According to U.S. News & World Report, $55 billion is being spent now to aid the poor. Yet we have a poor people's crusade to Capitol Hill who is getting the $15 billion? ANSWER: No one seems to know just how much tax money is being spent to aid the poor.

In the May 6 issue of the same magazine, Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, a Democrat said "the federal government is now spending at an annual rate of $25 billion to help the poor." So apparently there is no way to be sure how much is being spent on the programs, which is not unusual for government projects.

It probably is equally difficult to find out how much of the tax money actually goes to help the poor, and how much is spent on salaries and expenses of those administering the projects. However, there have been enough disclosures of high executive salaries to indicate that a large percentage of the spending goes to the bureaucrats rather than to those intended to be helped.

Government spending programs definitely are not the answer to helping the poor, as demonstrated by the increasing programs out of Washington during the past 35 to 40 years. Despite the billions in taxpayer funds which have gone into these programs the number of persons officially listed as poverty-stricken has been increasing.

I've lost 40 pounds since last Christmas. Of course, I lost 5 of them 8 times.

The port of authority has gone and put itself on the list of Richard Burton and Lizard breath Taylor because they were dog tired of hearing jokes about their going into the Kennel business.

The $500 thousand yacht was tied up there because England has got a six-month quarantine against animals. The Burtons hired the yacht and put their 2 Pekingeses and 2 Yorkshires on it and it turned out to be quite a puddling.

They used to visit with the dogs. But now that the yacht has been towed into the river they will have to dog-paddle out to the boat to see them.

After the Beatriz (the Yachts name) was moved out into the mainstream of life the Burtons (the family name) sent to Mar-high muckey-mucks as "puttin on the dog."

UNFAIR TO AMERICAN GIs A U.S. soldier stationed in South Korea has asked an American court to declare unconstitutional an agreement between the United States and South Korea that our servicemen can be tried in Korean courts. The soldier has filed a petition in the Washington, D.C., district court for an injunction against the U.S. — South Korean Status of Forces Agreement.

Qualified U.S. military sources in South Korea are quoted as agreeing that the constitutional validity of this treaty is questionable. The agreement has never been ratified by the U.S. Senate.

These observers, who are in a position to be well informed on American soldiers' experience in Korean courts, say that the GIs receive unfair trials. They point out that Korean law is not well enough developed to insure fairness.

Legal guarantees that are supposed to protect American rights are not fully observed. Experience has shown that accused soldiers are considered guilty until they prove themselves innocent. There are no juries in South Korea. Accused soldiers are not permitted to have private conversations with Korean defense counsels, who are selected by the accused and paid for by the United States. The judge may refuse, if he wishes, to call witnesses the defendant considers essential to a fair presentation of his case.

It is not surprising that in every case brought to trial under the Status of Forces Agreement in South Korea the American soldier involved has been found guilty. The U.S. court test of the constitutionality of the agreement will be awaited with interest.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

A little known facet of Abraham Lincoln's career is that he is the only president ever to have been granted a patent. Thomas Jefferson, a prolific inventor, never patented any of his devices. The World Almanac notes that, in 1849, Congressman Lincoln received a patent for "buoying vessels over shoals," a device for lifting boats over shallow water by means of inflated cylinders.

Many Americans still think of microfilm in terms of Whitaker Chambers and the pumpkin papers, but it's a quarter-of-a-billion-dollar a year industry and includes such giants as Eastman Kodak, 3M, Xerox, Bell & Howell and IBM. According to Van B. Phillips of Kodak, president of the National Microfilm Association, microfilm is the 20th century development in the evolution of man's record-keeping which began thousands of years ago when the caveman took up hammer and chisel to carve a record for posterity. Searching for a more convenient method, he turned to stone tablets, then parchment finally to paper before discovering the compactness of 16mm. and 35mm. microfilm used today. You'll find microfilms used now in every type of business from the corner pharmacy to government agencies where it is helping to tame the paper tiger threatening to engulf us all.

Today's smile: A teacher said to her class: "There is a wonderful example in the life of the ant. Every day the ant goes to work. Every day the ant is busy. And in the end, what happens?" Little Johnny, in the rear of the room said: "Someone steps on him."

Cure For Inflation

Britons are angry over the devaluation of the pound. Americans are extremely unhappy over continuing inflation. But few on either side of the Atlantic seem to realize that both of these disasters are caused by the desire of the people to consume more than they produce. Something for nothing is just not possible, but politicians and public alike are reluctant to admit this stubborn fact.

On the whole, British workers produce about half as much per man hour as American workers and receive roughly half the pay. There is plenty of featherbedding in our country, but not so much as there is in Britain. Two men to do one man's work and men working one, two or three hours a day in our country is not an uncommon sight, but abuses of this nature are much worse in the British Isles.

A plasterer who is limited to four or five square yards a day is not earning his pay and is making housing more costly than it should be. He thinks he is getting something for nothing, but most of it is taxed away to pay for housing and other subsidies. It's the same with a paperhanger who is not permitted to paste up more than six rolls a day, or a pair of carpet layers only one of whom works at a time — the tacker waiting for the cutter and sewer and the sewer in turn waiting for the tacker. Two men doing the work of one is a fifty percent featherbedding operation, making labor costs twice as high as they should be.

In Britain today it costs nearly five cents to get one brick laid, whereas before World War II a workman would lay more than four bricks for one cent.

Demanding more than one earns is the cause of many economic ills, including devaluation in Britain, just as it is the cause of inflation and economic problems in other countries, including our own.

When we learn to limit consumption to production and not to try by every devious means we can think of to get some of the wealth produced by others, the world may enjoy permanent economic prosperity.

Country Editor speaking: "Don't hesitate to tackle today's small job because it's only putting you a shape to handle tomorrow's big one."

DEAR ABBY: Last Saturday night my husband and I went to the movies. Upon arriving home earlier than expected, we found our 15-year-old daughter on the couch with her boyfriend. They were all wrapped up in each other in a most disgusting position.

We ordered the boy out of the house and forbade our daughter ever to see him again. She flew into an angry rage and screamed that when two people are "in love" anything they did was "beautiful." She threatened to leave home if we don't let her see her boyfriend again.

What's a mother to do? DEAR STUMPED: Try to be more understanding. Your daughter obviously doesn't know the difference between "love" and a healthy, normal adolescent physical attraction. If you do, try to explain it to her. (If you don't, ask her to write to me and I'll try.)

I think you made a big mistake in ordering her boyfriend out of the house and forbidding your daughter ever to see him again. You should have had a frank talk with both of them about the dangers of playing with fire. The boy should have been made to feel welcome in your home, but only on your terms. (You make the "rules" as to how often he may come, how late he may stay, etc.) If you drive them to meeting on the sneak elsewhere you will create worse problems.

DEAR ABBY: I was born and raised right here in this small town, so I know nearly everyone and they know me. My problem: I get an invitation to every graduation, wedding, baby shower, tea, and luncheon in town. Just name the occasion that calls for a gift, and I get my notice.

Abby, I am not cheap, and I don't mind sending gifts to my friends. But how about all these acquaintances? Right now I am swamped with "invitations." I have a good name in town and don't want to ruin it. But I refuse to be a sucker to people I hardly know. What is your advice?

DEAR SWAMPED: Every announcement and invitation is not necessarily a big broad hint for a gift. The best rule to follow is: If you would derive real pleasure out of sending a gift, send one. If you don't feel "close" enough to send a gift, send a card. If you feel like a "sucker," forget it.

DEAR ABBY: I have a bone to pick with you. Someone wrote and asked you if it was considered "proper" to use a toothpick in public and you said absolutely not.

Well, how come they sell fancy gold toothpicks in the finest stores? SEEN THEM DEAR SEEN: You will find toe-nail clippers and back-scratchers in some of the "finest" stores, to, but that doesn't mean it's "proper" to use them in public.

DEAR ABBY: How well I understand that poor newlywed girl who wants some freedom and time to adjust before being "rushed" into pregnancy. She is absolutely right. We waited 7 years before having a baby. We traveled, got solvent, entertained, and got to know and understand each other. Then we were relaxed and ready to care for a child.

Furthermore, we waited until our first child was 5 years old before we had another baby. They are 4 and 9 now, and they really "like" each other, but she has her friends and he has his. They do not compete as brothers and sisters who are "nearly the same age." Pushing one child aside for another is unfair. I cannot say enough for planned parenthood.

HAPPY PARENT Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Civic Culture Club Names '68 Officers

Officer installation was conducted by Mrs. J. B. Townsend for members of the Civic Culture Club during a meeting in the home of Mrs. A. B. Cross. Mrs. Irvin Cole is the club's new president.

Other positions are filled by Mrs. A. E. Cross, A. D. Hills, J. W. Duke, A. C. Houchin, Emmett Osborne, and Floyd Pennington. In the ceremony, Mrs. Townsend lit a candle for each officer giving her charge, and compared the light to her work of progress. Mrs. Emmett Osborne gave a tribute to the memory of Mrs. W. C. Scott, a member who recently passed away. A vacant chair held a bible with a rose placed on the book.

Mrs. A. C. Houchin presented Mrs. Osborne, outgoing president, with a gift and the club voted to have her name placed in the "Golden Book" of honor of the Federation of Women's Clubs.

The closing meeting of the year will be a picnic at 7 p.m. May 28, in Central Park on the Russell Street side. An alternate place of meeting will be in the home of the A. D. Hills if the weather does not permit meeting in the park.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Chester Williams, Katie Vincent, Frank Grantham, J.W. Duke, J.B. Townsend, Emmett Gee, A. C. Houchin, A. D. Hills, A. B. Cross, Emmett Osborne, Irvin Cole and Floyd Pennington.

Astrological Forecast By CARROLL RIGTER

(FOR SATURDAY MAY 25) GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a day to apply yourself to the business at hand and to be very materially minded as to just what you are going to do about money and possessions in the future. This is a day and evening when social affairs and even romance can be hard to get off the ground so arrange for such matters at a better time. ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) - It is wise to handle all practical affairs, even the personal, instead of going out for pleasure, since the latter could prove to be very disappointing. Show others that you are a very sensible person. Be efficient.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) - Doing whatever will make you stronger and more charming is best now instead of doing whatever is of an artistic or cultural nature. Take a good look at yourself. See where there are flaws to be gotten rid of.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) - A little while spent concentrating can reveal how to acquire more "power" and be more practical since the planets are favorable. Assist that person who is in great need. Be less self-centered.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) - A good Saturday to talk over with a higher-up certain matters that are uppermost in your mind. Get right advice. Ideas. Stop acting like the conquering hero and be more concerned with the humanities.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) - Some vital new arranging is necessary with partners now, so be precise and meticulous and all goes fine. Get rid of whatever is of little use now. Show loved ones that you are practical and have good common sense.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) - Be certain you do not get so bogged down with details that you and your associates fail to keep focused on the big issues at hand. Show all that you are operating on the highest ethical level. Be clever.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) - Face all of your responsibilities very intelligently and efficiently today and show others you are not a slacker. Get a head start. Take time to have more "social" contact around you, also. Be a 4 to 10.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) - Write new arrangements if you can, try to earn some via such avenues instead.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) - Once you have hobbies or "hacks," get out around the house and doing whatever else makes you happy. Think over what will improve security now. Stop dreaming and get right to work on what will give you added abundance.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) - Ideal day and a.m. to correspond with others and be sure you know just how close you are to reaching mutual goals. See to it that your car indeed is in good running order, or there can be an accident. Plan some trip today.

Priest Suggests Guidelines for Problems Of Sighted Persons in Dealing with Blind

By GAY PAULEY UPI Women's Editor NEW YORK (UPI)—"People want to be helpful. But sometimes they don't know how to be."

It was a blind priest speaking of a problem that both the blind and the sighted encounter. The blind person knows what he is capable of doing for himself. The sighted person puzzles about whether or how to help the estimated one million blind.

Now, basic and practical guidance comes from the Rev. Francis E. McDonough, chaplain of the Loretto Home for the Aged, in Rutland, Vt., a center supported by the Vermont Catholic Charities. The 58-year-old priest knows whereof he speaks. He was totally blinded three years ago in an automobile accident.

He prefaced a letter to United Press International with a biblical quote from Leviticus, Chapter 19, admonishing "Place not a stumbling block for the blind."

"Few people would want deliberately to place the stumbling block for a blind person to fall over or to injure himself," the father wrote. "But many find it difficult to understand the needs of a blind person... Perhaps a few guidelines may be of assistance to those who have to deal with a blind person."

In a telephone interview the priest discussed these guidelines which he had written and how in an auto crash his spectacles were smashed, injuring his eyesight permanently.

His guidelines for the sighted: "A blind person is for the most part an ordinary person. Don't shout. I am not hard of hearing. Neither am I a child. Don't ask my companion whether I take cream in my coffee. Ask me."

"I can walk more easily with another person and with my cane than I can with a dog. Don't grab my arm, let me take yours. I will keep a half step behind to anticipate steps up or down, curbs, etc. Please do not pull or push me. Especially don't say, 'back up.' I am not a horse."

"I like to know who's in the room with me. Speak to me when you enter, identify yourself and tell me who else is with you. Include children and tell me if there is a cat or dog in the room. Lead me to a chair and show me the ash tray."

"The most hazardous object for a blind person is the sharp breaking things or injuring edge of a door or a room or a myself."

"Generation Gap" Is Cause Of Youth Revolt

By DAVID POLING
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
The collapse of the Columbia University community may take 10 years to properly analyze and understand. The militant students—not one group but maybe as many as six or seven—have no agreement on goals. The faculty is at a name-calling, reputation-shredding stage. The university trustees are having their head-cracking sessions in private. Clusters of shocked alumni are trying to figure out where to send their money—or their children—next fall.

Negro Says That Ghetto Isn't Crux Of Racial Trouble

The Living God

Anyone whose life has been touched by the healing power of divine Love, anyone whose prayers have brought a glimpse of what R means to be spiritually alive, knows from his own experience about "the Living God" spoken of in the Bible. ## SCRIPTURES GIVEN BY INSPIRATION

Men who wrote the Bible believed it to be the Word of God. Ezekiel, the prophet, believed the scriptures. "And the Word of the Lord came unto me saying." (Ezek. 12:21)

Paul, the apostle, believed the scriptures. "All scripture is given by the inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness." (Tim. 3:16)

Peter, the disciple, believed the scriptures. "Knowing this first, that no prophecy of the scripture is of any private interpretation. For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man; but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost." (II Peter 1:20-21)

Jesus Christ believed the scriptures. "And beginning at Moses and all the prophets, He expounded unto them in all the scriptures the things concerning himself." (Luke 24:27)

THE SCRIPTURES SUPPLY EVERY NEED.

First, they produce faith. "So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the Word of God." (Romans 10:17)

Second they induce Spiritual growth. "As new born babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby." (I Peter 2:2)

HOW TO FIND HELPFUL THOUGHTS

First, read the Bible regularly. Have a certain time each day when you can read it without hurry.

Second, read it prayerfully. "Open thou eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of thy law."

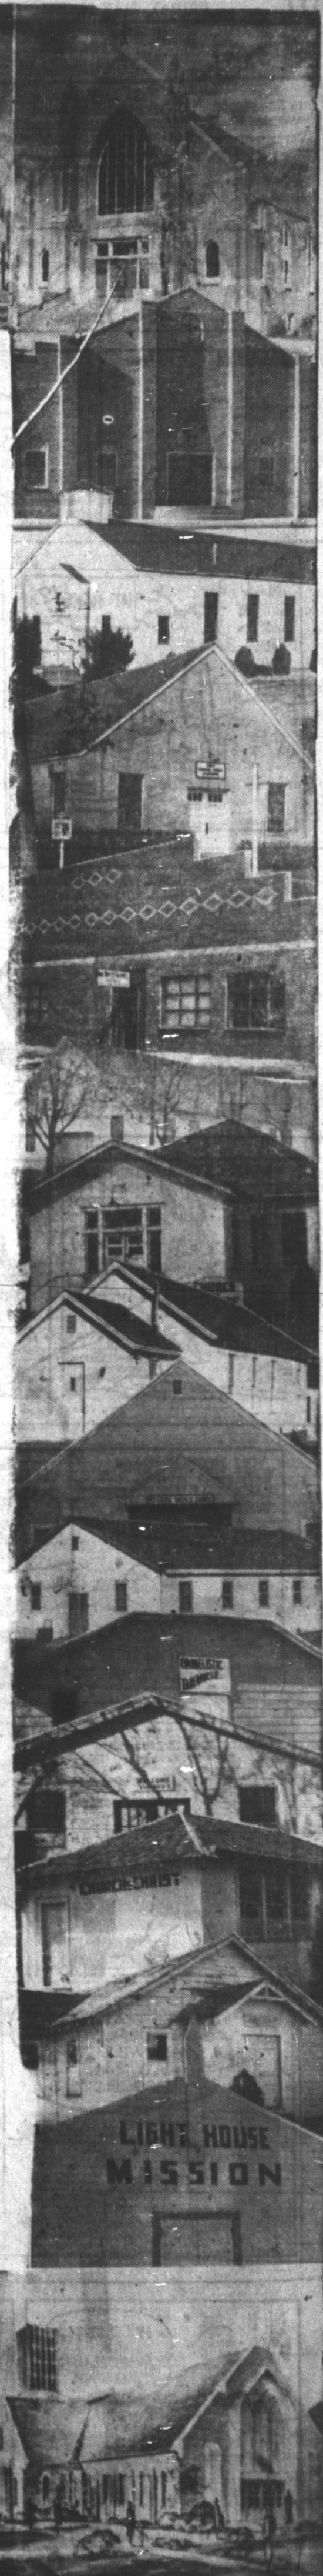

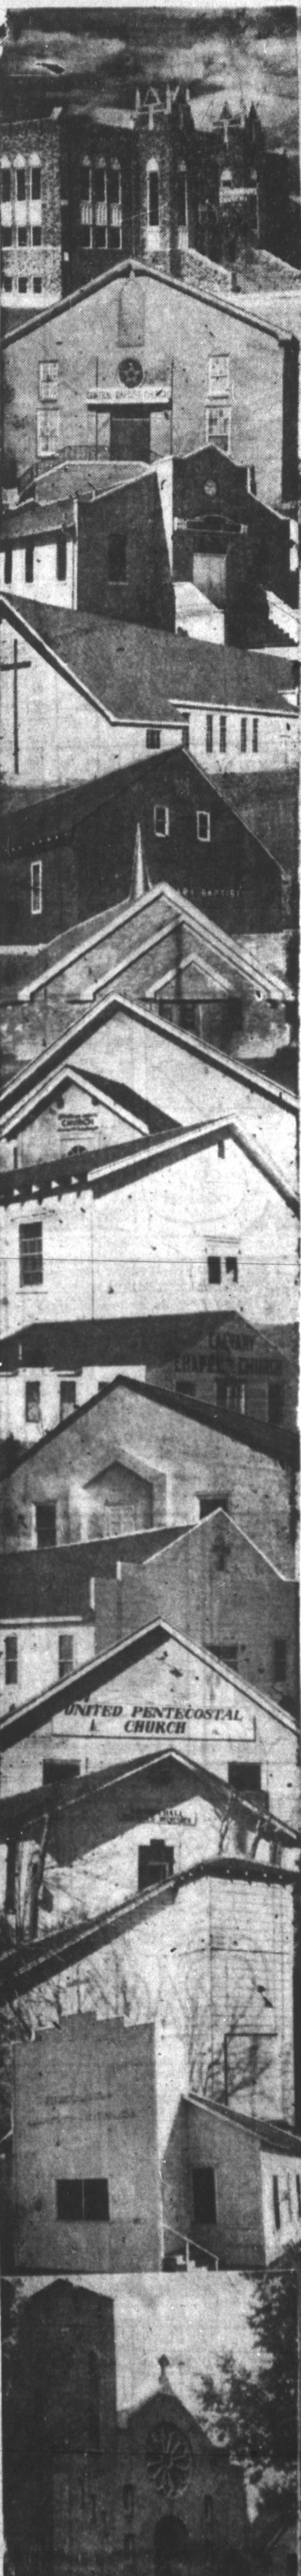

The Bible is the word of God, showing the state of man, the way of salvation, the doom of sinners, and the happiness of believers.

Its doctrines are holy; its precepts are binding.

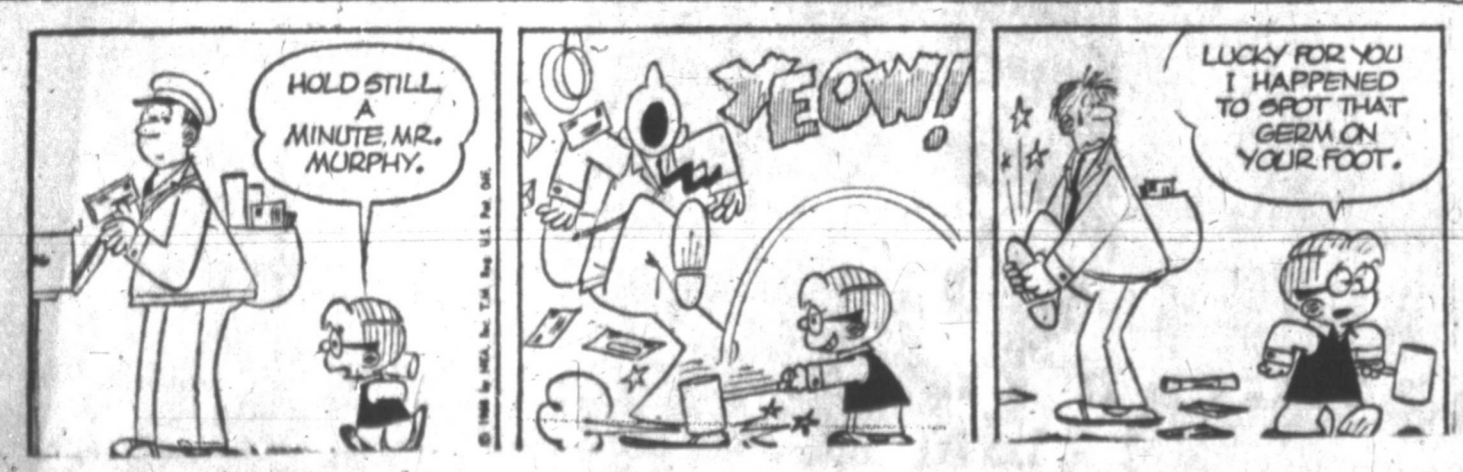

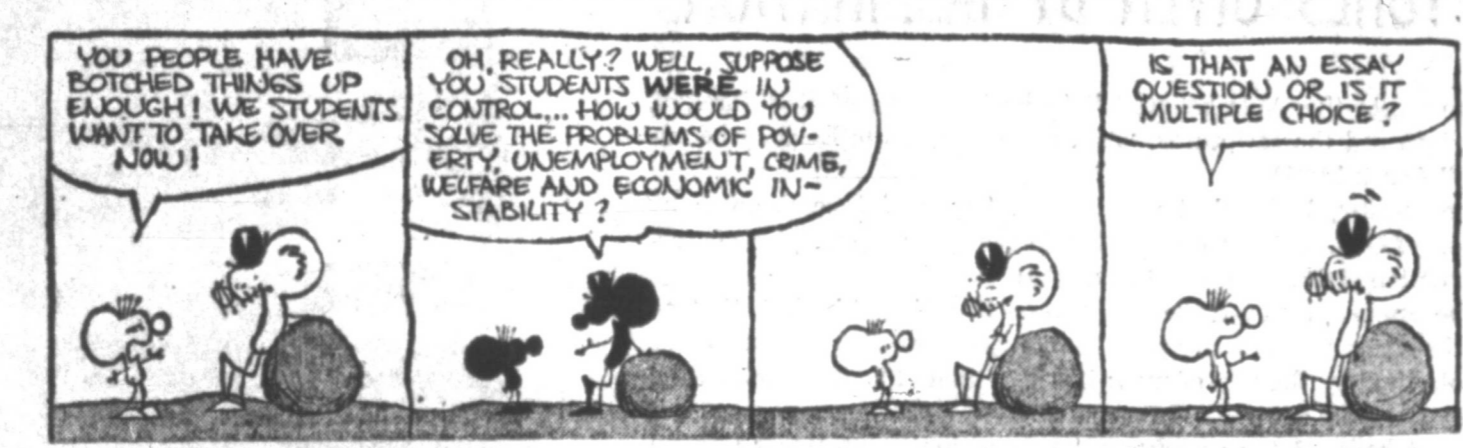

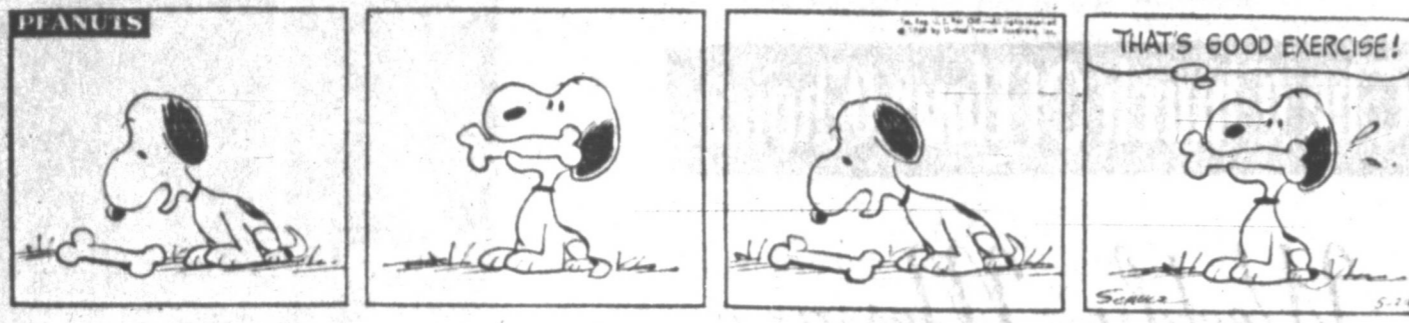

Read it to be wise, believe it to be safe, practice it to be holy, and live it to be happy.

It contains light to direct you, food to support you, and comfort to cheer you. When you open your Bible never forget that it is God's word, not man's word.

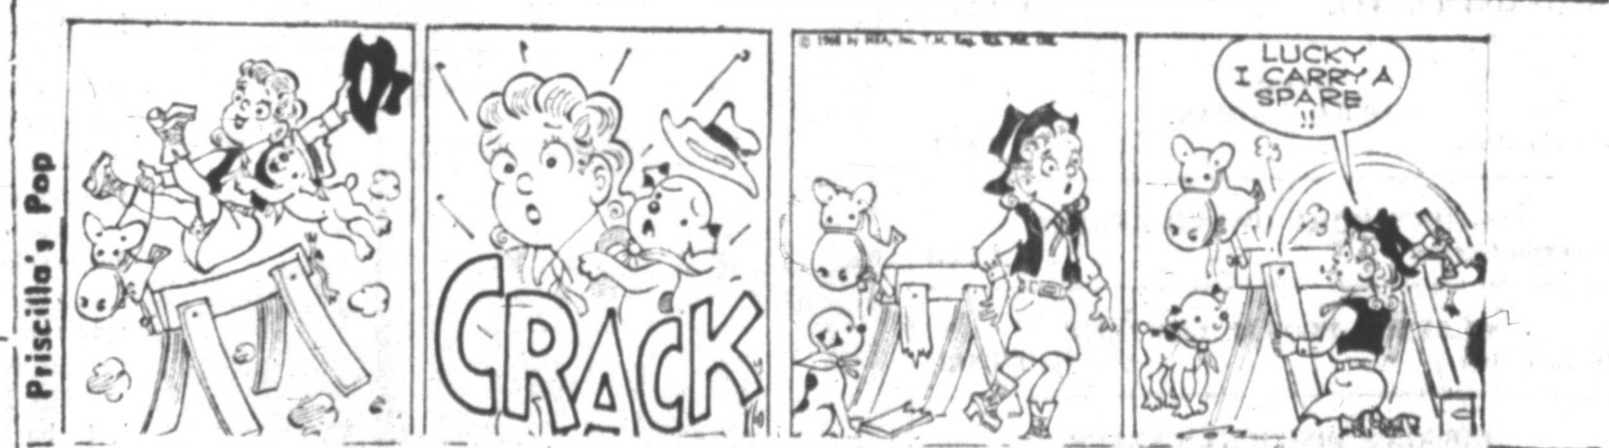

"For whatsoever things were written aforetime, were written for our learning, that we, through patience and comfort of the scriptures might have hope." (Romans 15:4)

San Francisco Giants Take Over First Place

Foster Favored 12-5 Over Aging Champion

NEW YORK (UPI)—The odds are that Dick Tiger's reign as light heavyweight champion, and possibly his boxing career, will come to an end tonight when he meets Bob Foster.

The oddsmakers don't even consider the fight close and have made the lanky challenger from Washington, D.C. a 12-5 favorite to capture the title at Madison Square Garden.

However, being on the short end of the odds is nothing new for the 36-year-old champion.

During his two reigns as middleweight titleholder and in all three of his light heavyweight bouts, he has been an underdog.

But as a slow, undersized, overaged fighter, Tiger has continued to pile up the upsets. Written off as being washed up after losing the middleweight title to Emile Griffith, Tiger went on to win the light heavy crown from Jose Torres in 1966 and then successfully defended it against Torres and No. 1 contender Roger Rouse. Tiger, who serves as a lieutenant in Biafra, a secessionist state at war with Nigeria, has rolled up a record of 58 victories against 15 losses and three draws during his 16-year pro career.

Foster, with a 29-4 record, has all the physical advantages. He is only 29 years old and one of the biggest men in the division, standing 6-foot-3½ and having a 79-inch reach. Tiger is only 5-8 and has a 71-inch reach.

Frisco Claims Top Spot By Edging Atlanta, 5-4

By STU CAMEN
UPI Sports Writer

Herman Franks has been there before, but never when it really counted.

It's not surprising then the San Francisco manager seemed almost nonchalant Thursday night following his club's 5-4 victory over Atlanta which boosted the Giants into first place in the National League.

"It's a long way to the end of the season," Franks said in the unusually quiet Giants dressing room. "There's still a long way to go."

"But, it's great to be in front. I'd rather be there, instead of trying to catch up," added the man who has coached the Giants to second place finishes in each of his three seasons as manager.

June Waterloo

The Giants are notorious for their quick starts, but have a bad habit of falling prey to the "June swoon," a malady they hope has been cured with the month of June quickly approaching.

The Giants took over the top spot with help from the Los Angeles Dodgers, who whipped the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2 in 11-innings to hand the slumping world champions their seventh loss in the last eight games. The only other two scheduled contests in the senior circuit, Pittsburgh at Chicago and New York at Philadelphia, were rained out.

The only action in the American League saw Cleveland use four homers and Sonny Siebert's seven-hit pitching to beat California 9-2. Chicago at Washington was rained out while all other AL clubs had the day off.

Ron Hunt and Ty Cline each contributed three hits in the Giants winning game.

With the score tied 4-4 in the ninth, Hunt led off with his third single, moved to second on Jim Davenport's sacrifice and reached third after Cline grounded out. Hunt then scored on a wide pitch by relief pitcher Cecil Upshaw which catcher Maty Martinez couldn't handle.

Linzy Wins It

Frank Linzy pitched the final 1 2-3 innings for the Giants to pick up his second victory against four losses.

Bob Bailey's 11th inning single scored Willie Davis with the run that gave the Dodgers their win over St. Louis and dropped the Cardinals out of first place for the first time since April 20.

Len Gabrielson hit his first homer for Los Angeles and John Purdin allowed just one single in two innings of relief to gain credit for his first win.

Max Alvis, Jose Vidal, Tommy Harper and Jose Cardenal homered for the Indians, who moved to within 1½ games of league-leading Detroit with their victory. Siebert, in addition to notching his sixth victory against two defeats, singled home the first two Cleveland runs.

Highlands, Sul Ross Clash In Tournament

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (UPI)—New Mexico Highlands and Sul Ross College of Alpine, Tex., who remain unbeaten in NAIA tournament play, meet today in the feature game of the NAIA Southwest Regional baseball tournament.

Highlands beat Jackson State of Jackson, Miss. 8-7, Thursday, and Sul Ross defeated Tarleton State of Stephenville 6-4.

The winner of the regional will go to Joplin, Mo. June 3-7 for the NAIA championship.

Highlands scored seven runs in the first two innings and then held off a late Jackson State rally sparked by home runs by Cliff Hayes and Russ Stevens.

Sul Ross used homers by Steve Peters and Reggie Tredway and strong pitching by winner Mark Farquar to beat the host team.

Jackson and Tarleton meet today in the double elimination tournament. The winner of that game meets the loser of the Highlands-Sul Ross contest tonight. The finals will be held Saturday.

Off The Top

By WES DUMONT
Pampa News Sports Editor

Joel Combs, city editor for the Pampa News, was away on a trip to St. Louis today.

This brought back memories for us.

We have visited the metropolitan city twice, once as a fourth grader and once as an adult. Our recollections of the city comprise the following facts:

1. The St. Louis zoo, one of the world's best.
2. The St. Louis Browns, one of the world's worst (The Browns played in the American major league for some time before calling it quits a long time ago).
3. J. G. Taylor Spink, the late publisher of the Sporting News, whom we visited.
4. The Showboat, a ship with big dance hall which sailed the Mississippi.

Since we now toil for the sporting gentry, we shall try to emphasize the St. Louis Browns and our meeting with Spink, who is known in baseball circles as one of the greatest producers of a magazine devoted to the national game that ever lived.

First, the Browns. Even though we were only ten at the time and it was the first trip away from home, it is interesting to reflect on the old Browns.

Even though they were a second division team when we saw them, it was a thrill to see major league ball players in action.

The big difference noted between a major league game and a sandlot game at the time was the spectacular fielding plays, particularly by the outfield. Some of the catches by the outer garden patrol bordered on the impossible.

One fielding gem—this time by a third baseman—was one which we feel every youth league baseball player in Pampa should have seen.

It was a slow roller down the third baseline which looked as if it would go for an infield hit. However, the alert third base man charged fast toward home, scooped up the ball with one hand and in underhanded, one-motion throw barely threw the runner out at first. It was one of the best infield plays ever watched.

An unusual play also happened in this game. One batter hit the ball directly in front of home plate. The ball hit on the ground once, then went sky-high into the air (like a fly ball). By the time it lighted in the hands of the pitcher, the hitter was safely on first (probably clucking to himself to have gotten such a "flake" hit).

The Browns never made it in St. Louis but a little boy can remember some fond memories about the club.

SPINK RECALLED

J. G. Taylor Spink, a St. Louis publisher who died some years back, was one of the most respected baseball publishers in the world in point of ability. He was publisher of the Sporting News, considered the top baseball publication in the world.

However, he was also, perhaps, one of the more egotistical members of the baseball wheels.

His signature was almost as large in size as his stationery letter head. He is said to have been one of the most difficult but competent men in the baseball publishing business.

Many writers reputedly quit under Spink because of his outbreaks of temper. It is doubtful if anyone, however, could produce a better baseball magazine.

The publication has now entered other fields of sport—notably football and basketball—and today, it is rated by many as better than even under one of baseball's magic names J. G. Taylor Spink.

WATCH CARDINALS

By the way, if any Pampanians ever visit St. Louis, don't overlook the zoo and by all means see the St. Louis Cardinals play.

If you do, you'll probably be seeing the next world's champion.

MAGNUSON SIGNS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Fullback Bryan Magnuson, a 6-foot-1, 222-pounder from the University of Montana and an eighth round draft pick, signed Thursday with the Washington Redskins.

Kaszas, who played last year for the Philadelphia Spartans and the St. Louis Stars, was signed Friday by the Generals. He is a native of Budapest, Hungary.
